Western Ridge, Overin Field on Council's agenda

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

From parking to Hank Overin Field, from issuing a liquor license to the purchase of a new wheel loader, Wayne City council members dealt with a wide variety of topics during Tuesday's meeting.

Council members took action to move two ordinances forward that will prohibit parking in certain areas in the northwest quadrant of the city, and limit times when vehicles can be parked in other areas.

At issue is the Western Ridge subdivision, which is continuing to be developed.

Members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department recently raised concerns about the congestion in the area, with vehicles parked on both sides of the street. They indicated that should fire personnel and trucks be called to the area, they would not be able to get through the streets.

Also expressed during the meeting was a concern at rate of speed in which vehicles travel in the area. It was suggested that a speed limit sign be installed at the entrance to the subdivision, reminding motorists of the speed limit in a residential area.

Council members also spent a considerable amount of time discussing the future of the grandstand at Hank Overin Field.

The grandstand was destroyed by a storm in late June and the city has been working with its insurance company to determine the fate of the 70-year old structure.

It has been determined that the grandstand itself cannot be repaired, but at question is the cement foundation of the building. The city's engineer has recommended that the city not rebuild on the foundation; however, the city's insurance agency will not pay to replace the foundation.

A committee of local citizens has been working to come up with plans for a grandstand. They are aware that the only money the city can contribute to the project is the insurance money received from the damaged structure. Any additional funds needed would have to be raised by the group.

"There is nothing in the city budget for any changes or upgrades to the facility other than making the bathrooms ADA accessible. I recommend not starting any type of re-building project until the funds are in hand," said City Administrator Lowell Johnson.

Winside's Doffin among 48 Believers & Achievers

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Victoria Doffin is passionate about one-act plays and being a part of the Winside High School speech team – but says she's camera shy.

That might be the only bad thing for her about being named one of the 48 finalists for the Believers & Achievers scholarship program, where she is a finalist for one of eight $500 scholarships from U.S. Bank to the college or university of the winner's choice.

"When I first heard about (the honor), I was really excited about it and everybody was saying congratulations, and then I found out I have to be on TV and I wanted to cry," she said, laughing. "I guess if I don't pass out, I'll be fine."

She's doing a lot better than fine in the classroom, as she was the only member of the Class of 2015 at Winside High School with a high enough grade-point average to qualify for nomination for the award, according to Winside High School guidance counselor Julie Volwiler.

"She's worked extremely hard to get this, so it's a wonderful experience for her and to do what she has done, it's great that people have taken notice," she said. "To be involved in all the activities she's in and keeping her grade point average that high is remarkable."

Doffin has been involved in a number of activities at the school, but loves play production and speech. She was a district finalist in the serious prose competition last year, and is hoping she can make it to state this year.

"I used to do a lot of sports, but I've just been focusing on one-act and speech," she said. "I've been close to going to state, and hopefully I can get there this year."

After high school, her plans are to go to college and major in biology with a minor in psychology, with the hope of going to medical school and become an oncologist.

A total of 437 high school seniors from across the state were nominated by their represented schools for the award, which is co-authored by U.S. Bank and the Nebraska School Activities Association. The 48 finalists for the award will be recognized at NSAA championship events throughout the 2014-15 school year, and their faces will be included on posters sent out to all NSAA-member schools and U.S. Bank branches throughout the state. The eight scholarship winners will be announced in May.

Community celebrates, one year after storm

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The fact that Friday was a windy day was not lost on two guest speakers who were at the rededication ceremony for the rebuilt Nancy Braden Terminal at Stan Morris Airport.

"It was pretty windy flying up here this morning, and I was hoping we weren't going to try for a third time," Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman joked.

"Did anybody think to check the weather before they planned this," added John Dunning.

Dunning, who nearly lost his life in the Oct. 4, 2013 tornado that destroyed the east side of the industrial area, including Wayne's airport, made light of his situation during a speech inside the new terminal building as the wind blew loudly outside.

"I saw that it was going to be windy for the ceremony, and then I thought how ironic and idiotic it is for me to think that THIS is windy out at the airport," he said as the reporter-estimated crowd of 250 people laughed.

One year ago, the Braden Terminal had just been dedicated and was awaiting some final touch-ups and an inspection before officially being declared open for business – only to be flattened by the EF-4 tornado that ripped through the east part of town.

A number of local officials and state dignitaries were among those present for the rechristening of the terminal building, and the praise to the people of Wayne for their

Iris F. Larson

Iris Larson, 91, of Wakefield, died Monday, Sept. 29, 2014. Services were held Saturday, Oct. 4 at Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery.

Iris Faith Frederickson was born to Alvin F. Frederickson & Evelyn E. (Gunning) Frederickson on June 25, 1923 in the farmhouse on what later became known as "the old Crane place" southeast of Wakefield. She grew up on a farm southeast of Allen. She attended District 44, South Valley country school through the eighth grade, and graduated from Wakefield High School in 1940. As was common at that time, she attended Wayne Teacher's College in order to be able to teach in rural schools, which she did for five years in the Allen and Emerson area. She taught some of the time at South Valley, teaching her youngest brother, David. On June 8, 1946 she married Orville D. Larson, a 1933 graduate of Emerson High School in Emerson. For most of their married life, the couple farmed in the Allen and Wakefield area. They had five children, each of whom was born while the family lived on a different farm. The last farm on which the family lived was the old Frederickson home place, where Iris' father and his siblings were raised from the turn of the 20th century. It was there that Iris was widowed on Sept. 11, 1972 when Orville died suddenly of a heart attack. In January of 1975 she moved into Wakefield, and shortly thereafter, she began working for Charles Soderberg at the Fair Store and did so for many years.

Iris was baptized and confirmed in the Mission Covenant Church in Wakefield and was active therein for most of her life. When she was 77, she moved into an apartment across the street from Salem Lutheran Church and began enjoying activities with the XYZ group there. She then joined Salem Lutheran on June 11, 2000 and was a member there until her death. Iris sold Avon for 35 years and also Stanley Products for nearly as long. For several years she delivered Meals on Wheels in Wakefield. At nearly 84 she worked part time with Jean Ann Douppnik at the Emerson Senior Center for nearly two years. She served two terms on the Graves Public Library Board, was active in the WCTU in her early married life, and a member of American Legion Auxiliary for 46 years. She belonged to the Thursday Club many years ago, and more recently Club 16 and The Royalty Club. For enjoyment, Iris loved people and visiting over many a cup of coffee. She had a winning smile and a hearty laugh. She bowled on the Women's Bowling League for years. Until this past March, she worked the daily crossword puzzle and jumble in the newspaper every day. She always loved to play cards and dominoes, enjoyed many rousing games of cribbage with her brother, Bob, and worked countless jigsaw puzzles.

Survivors include her five children, Ron, Randy (fiancee Linda McCoy), and Ray (Lynette) all of Wakefield, Cyndee of Omaha, and LuAnn (Chip) Wilkins of Lewisville, N.C.; a brother, Bob of Omaha; three sisters-in-law, Darlene (Mrs. Keith) Frederickson, Marge (Mrs. Bob) Frederickson and Marie (at one time Mrs. Don Frederickson) Hughes of Arvada, Colo.; her only remaining aunt, Clarice (Mrs. Emerson) Gunning of Roseville, Calif.; eight grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and 28 nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband Orville; her parents; three brothers, Don of Denver, Colo., Keith of Omaha, and David of Wakefield; eight sisters-in-law, brothers-in-law and nine nieces and nephews.

Traffic Signals Downtown
The council has made a request to the Nebraska Department of Roads for a trial period to add seven seconds more time to the Highway 15 green signal time for the Second and Third Street intersections down town. County tax rates going down

There is good news for just about everybody in Wayne County – your county tax rate is going down for fiscal year 2014-15.

The Wayne County Commissioners approved the tax rates for the coming year during Tuesday's meeting in the county courthouse, and only one subdivision will see an increase in their county tax asking for the coming fiscal year.

That honor goes to the Village of Winside, whose increase is hardly noticeable, rising less than four hundredths of a cent per $100 of valuation. Their tax rate goes from 65.6457 cents to 65.6829 cents for the coming fiscal year.

All but one of the 16 government entities in Wayne County will see their tax rate go down for next year. The biggest drops are in the three school districts in the county. Winside's tax rate takes the biggest dip, down 19.55 cents, Wayne Community Schools' tax rate will drop 16.8 cents and Wakefield Public Schools' tax rate will be down almost 5 3/4 cents. ESU No. 1's tax rate is unchanged, and the Village of Sholes does not have a tax rate.

The county board discussed a closed bridge north of the Wayne airport that will be the subject of a meeting next week between city and county officials, along with the Wayne Airport Authority.

Board member Randy Larson said that the airport authority is looking into expanding one of its landing strips, and there is concern about whether or not the bridge needs to be reopened or not. He said that it will have to be a joint decision between the county and the City of Wayne, which recently annexed the airport that sits adjacent to the bridge north of the airport facility.

The meeting between the government entities is open to the public and will be held Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. in the meeting room at the Wayne City Auditorium.

The board gave its blessing to a request by Amy Topp, UNL Extension Agent in Wayne County, for closing the extension offices during the time period between Christmas and New Year's.

The office would close on Christmas Eve and remain closed through Friday, Jan. 2, 2015, and would reopen the following Monday. Topp said that employees would use vacation time during the break.

The board also discussed an ongoing ditch drainage issue in the eastern part of the county. County Attor-

'Bag Ladies' Vicki Pick, Jean Lutt, Nancy Jo Powers, Lorraine Johnson and Joyce Voyles work diligently to get the materials ready for more plarn mats.

'Bag Ladies' enjoy time, give back to help out vet shelters

Approximately three years ago, several women in Wayne saw a presentation at an Orphan Grain Train Convention on sleeping mats for the homeless made out of plastic bags.

Since that time, a number of these women, often as many as 10 or 12 at a time, get together every Monday morning to construct the four foot by eight foot mats that are then taken to Omaha and distributed to veterans shelters.

"After Fauneil Bennett told me about the mats from the presentation she heard, I got on the Internet and typed in 'mats made from plastic bags' and found information on how to go about making them," said Jean Lutt, who hosts the group at her home, as does Nancy Jo Powers.

The "Bag Ladies" as they call themselves spend time each week working, drinking coffee and catching up on the news in their lives.

Approximately 50 of the mats have been made so far, with each person having a job and "Job Title" in the process.

Those taking care of cutting the clean bags into three inch strips are known as "Strippers" and tying the strips together classifies you as a "Loopy Lady."

The plarn (plastic yarn) is then rolled into a ball by the person known as the "Holy Roller."

After each of these steps is completed, the plarn is ready to be crocheted into a mat, by "A Hooker."

While several members of the group have been responsible for crocheting the mats, many while on vacation or away from Wayne for the winter, the majority have been completed by Alice Mohr. Mohr said that once she gets started, she often can't put the crochet hook down and has completed a run in as little as three days, "if I don't do anything else."

Members of the group include Rita Grosnichal, Jude Milliken, Alice Mohr, Vicki Pick, Deb Daehnke, Donna Ewing, Lorraine Johnson, Rozan Pedersen, Jan Liska, Joyce Voyles, Fauneil Bennett, Shari Paige, Ellen Imdieke, Phyllis Rahn, Sue Larsen, Marilyn Carhart, Mary Jo Gross and Nancy Jo Powers.

It takes approximately 800 bags to complete one mat and donations of clean grocery, or other store, bags are welcomed by the group and can be dropped off at any of these volunteers' homes.

After the mats are completed, they are taken to Omaha to be distributed to those in need.

Band beginning competition season

The "Pride of the Blue Devils" marching band will be participating in three marching competitions on consecutive Saturdays in October.

The Pierce Marching Band Competition will take place on Saturday, Oct. 11, with the Blue Devils scheduled to perform at 3:30 p.m.

The Schuyler Community Schools Marching Band Invitational will take place Saturday, Oct. 18, with the Wayne band performing at 3 p.m.

The NSBA State Marching Contest is set for Saturday, Oct. 25 in Lincoln at Seacrest Field. Wayne High School performs at the State Marching Contest at 4:30 p.m.

The Blue Devil Marching Band is in need of adult bus sponsors for the Marching Band trips to Schuyler and Lincoln. Anyone interested in being an adult bus sponsor for either or both of these trips is asked to contact Carolyn Sinniger at (402) 518-0113 or Alex Wieland, director of the band, at the high school.

"Your time, effort and support would greatly be appreciated. The students are very excited to begin their field marching competition season and we hope to see you there to cheer us on," Wieland said.

Local Pheasants Forever chapter set to host Youth Mentor Hunt

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

The Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever's 15th Annual Youth Mentor Hunt will be held Sunday, Oct. 12 at the Izaak Walton Lake, starting at 12 p.m. with a hot dog lunch.

Pre-registration is required for youth ages 11-15, and youth must have successfully completed a Nebraska Game and Parks Hunter Safety Course.

"We encourage all youth who meet the requirements to register to participate, even if they have participated in the past. We especially encourage those who have not had an opportunity to participate in previous hunts to sign up for this year's hunt. This year's hunt will be limited 16 youth," said Tim Reinhardt, chairman of this year's youth hunt.

The day's activities will get started at 12 p.m. and should be wrapped up by 5 p.m., with numerous activities during the afternoon, including the opportunity to participate in a live hunt. Russ Hamer with Nebraska Game and Parks will be on hand to discuss the importance of habitat for the survival not only for pheasants but all wildlife.

Each youth taking part in the event will receive a hunting vest which is a bit oversized, so it can be used for a lifetime, a blaze orange hat, and will be entered in a drawing to win a shotgun that day. The youth that attend the chapter's 25th anniversary banquet next March will also be entered in a drawing to win a Nebraska lifetime hunting permit.

Pheasants Forever-mentored pheasant hunts are the ideal way to introduce kids and teens to hunting, as experienced volunteer hunters from Pheasants Forever coach youth on the importance of firearm safety, wildlife habitat and hunting technique.

"Along with the need for youth to participate, there is also a need for adult volunteers to serve as mentors for the youth and maybe pass along some hunting experiences they have had throughout the afternoon. It takes about four adults for each youth taking part in the event. We are currently in need of some volunteers for this event. Anyone who would like to be a part of this great event should contact us," Reinhardt said.

"This is a great opportunity for the kids and adults to learn some things and have some fun in the great outdoors. These kids are the next generation of sportsmen and we would like to teach them the importance of firearm safety and also the importance of wildlife habitat," he added.

For more information or to sign up for the hunt, contact Reinhardt at (402) 518-0597 and check out the chapter's Facebook page – Logan Creek Pheasants Forever Chapter #303.

Agenda

Council members discussed whether the current structure and foundation should be demolished at this time, or whether demolition should wait until the city's attorney meets with the insurance company to determine if removal of the foundation is covered under the city's insurance policy.

Following considerable discussion, the item, along with a related item that would approve Otte Construction, in partnership with Sand Creek Post & Beam to design and construct a new grandstand, were tabled.

Council members did approve a liquor license request for El Tiquila, LLC, doing business at Fiesta Brava. It is anticipated that the restaurant, located at 117 Main Street, will be open for business on Monday, Oct. 20.

A resolution to approve specifications and advertise for bids for a new wheel loader for the city was approved.

Todd Hoemann, with the city's Public Works department, told the council that the new loader would replace one currently being used by the city that is approximately 25 years old. He also explained that the loader is used for, both during snow removal and during the remainder of the year.

A considerable amount of debate was held on what to include in a letter to be sent jointly by the city and Wayne Community Schools to the Nebraska Department of Roads for a traffic study for a school crossing near the corner of Seventh and Sherman streets, and the crossing located on East Seventh Street, near St. Mary's Elementary School. Council members were told they need to have specific requests when submitting a letter.

It was noted that the light has been located at its current location since 1999, and was placed away from the intersection to allow motorists turning onto Seventh Street the opportunity to see it.

Council members debated what could be done to make the crossing safer, and also discussed other sections of Seventh Street, which is a state highway and, therefore, any changes along the street would have to come from the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Suggestions included lowering the speed limit on East Seventh Street from Providence Road eastward and adjusting the areas of lower speed limits on the west edge of Wayne.

A recommendation will also be sent to the Nebraska Department of Roads on a request to change the timing of the traffic signals on Main Street. An additional seven seconds of green will be added and a request will be made to have the lights flashing yellow between the hours of 11 p.m.-6 a.m. It is anticipated that these changes will allow for traffic to move more smoothly through downtown Wayne.

City Administrator Johnson told the council that the changes could be made on a trial basis and if the city is not happy with the changes, the signals could be changed back to the current mode.

Council members also gave first reading approval to Ordinance 2014-30, which will amend the hours of sale for alcoholic beverages. State statutes have been changed, allowing for on and off sale of liquor from 6 a.m.-2 a.m. every day.

Council members voted to amend the city code for the on sale for to these same times, with the off sale of alcohol to end at 1 a.m.

Council members will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 21 at 5:30 p.m. in Council chambers.

WSC Homecoming

spirit and their willingness to work hard to get the facility back up and running was uplifting to those in attendance.

Heineman was quick to praise the people of Wayne for their work, not only with the airport, but in rebuilding the community the wake of all the damage that was done last October.

“What you’ve done here is absolutely incredible, and it’s very special to see how you’ve come back from the challenges you faced,” he said. “You could have easily given up, but that never happens in Nebraska and it especially would never happen here in Wayne.”

Heineman said that the tornado may have destroyed the area, but it didn’t damage the makeup of what people of the area are made of.

“That tornado may have done some material damage, but in no way did it damage the spirit and the generosity of this community,” he said. “What you did here and how you responded . . . it’s those attributes that make me proud to be governor of the best state in the United States of America.”

Dunning, who was the guest speaker of the weekly Chamber Coffee event that was held in conjunction with the rededication, recalled a speech he heard at a recent convention he attended in Orlando, Fla., and how it connected with him as he thought about what happened here in the aftermath of last year’s tornado.

“She talked about the leadership style and characteristics of people like Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt and FDR . . . and one theme that wove its way through the presentation was that, time after time, they chose to do the right things, sometimes at significant personal expense.”

He said he would not be alive today had people here not chosen to follow what those past Presidents had done.

“Whether it was friends, or people in the medical profession or in public service, they chose to do the right thing,” he said. “And I believe people are changed and places are changed when that kind of intense focus occurs. I would not be alive today if our community had not chosen to do the right thing. This building would not exist – again – if our community had not chosen to do the right thing.”

Dunning said that he looks at the new airport a lot different than he did before.

“To me, this building is a shrine, a memorial of what happens when communities work together for good,” he said. “It’s wonderful to be a part of this community.”

Wayne Mayor Ken Chamberlain, who emceed the ceremony, thanked a lot of people who were involved in the rebuilding and recovery efforts, and gave particular mention to two people who have had a tremendous impact on the airport.

“A lot of people spent a lot of time out here, and fewer people have put in as many hours with this airport as Nancy Braden,” he said. “Sadly, the one person who probably has her beat on that passed away not too long ago, Stan Morris.”

Braden also praised the caretakers at the airport, Jim and Sandy Hoffman, who had only lived there a few days before the storm hit. She praised their spirit and their willingness to help others at the airport.

“They lost their home in the tornado, but they’ve done a wonderful job out here and we get a lot of compliments from people about the service they give here,” Braden said.

State Sen. Dave Bloomfield – who said that, when asked what he did during the storm, said, “I said that I mostly stayed the hell out of the way” – praised the people of Wayne for their hard work.

“It’s been done by the people in this room and around this community. It’s amazing to see what’s here now compared to what was here a year ago,” he said. “We should also not forget to thank God, because that storm could have been a lot worse . . . and we’d have a whole different ball game.”

Helicopters checking out LENRD in area

Residents in Wayne County shouldn’t be too alarmed if they see a low-flying helicopter in the area this month.

Beginning this week and lasting up to three weeks, instruments mounted below a helicopter will collect and record geologic measurements to learn more about buried sand and gravel aquifers. The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources district, along with the Eastern Nebraska Water Resources Assessment (EN-WRA), the Nebraska Department of Natural Resources (NDNR) and the University of Nebraska Conservation and Survey have planned and sponsored the flights.

According to Katie Cameron, coordinator of ENWRA, the flights “will improve our understanding of the available ground water resource and potential ground water/surface water connections in an area of the state made more complex by the presence of glacial deposits”

Exploration Resources International LLC (XRI) will oversee the flights, process the data and information, and produce a final report. Cameron added, “This technology allows for fast data acquisition, upwards of 50 miles per hour, with exploration depth down to 900 feet below the land surface from the air.”

The helicopter will fly lines spaced three-miles apart over much of Wayne, Pierce, and Madison Counties and the western edge of Stanton County. The remaining flight lines will be on the order of 12 miles apart and will cover the northern part of eastern Nebraska in the Lewis & Clark, Lower Elkhorn, and Papio-Missouri River NRDs.

Scientific equipment is towed about 100 feet below the helicopter in a ‘spider web’ array and is designed to map geologic structures beneath the earth. The helicopter will be manned by experienced pilots who are specially trained for low-level flying with this equipment (owned by Native American Helicopters llc/SHI is a 100 percent Native American owned minority certified company). They operate under FAA unlimited part 135 unscheduled air-taxi operations, part 133 a,b,c and d external loads, and part 137 agriculture dispersal.

This scientific program is designed to study the area’s water resources such as sand and gravel aquifers using an aerial perspective. It is part of an ongoing program of the agencies listed above to identify physical occurrences such as changes in geologic materials and sediment types.

Conference champions once again

Blue Devils avenge defeat, hammer GACC in title tilt

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

One year ago Saturday, the Wayne High softball team wondered where they would play their next softball game after a tornado destroyed their home turf.

One year later, the Blue Devils were not only playing on their home field, but winning a Mid State Conference title on it.

"It's hard to imagine it's been a year," coach Rob Sweetland said after the tournament. "It's hard to describe, but to get the win and the conference championship on top of it all, that's a pretty special thing."

The Blue Devils avenged an earlier loss in the conference tournament with a dominating effort in the championship game, beating Guardian Angels Central Catholic 9-3 in the third meeting between the two teams in less than 48 hours.

Wayne had pounced on the Bluejays for five runs in the eighth inning to break a 5-5 tie and win 10-5 on Thursday in West Point, but the Bluejays returned the favor in the winner's bracket final on Saturday at the Wayne Softball Complex, blowing the game open with six runs in the seventh on their way to a 12-1 win.

After that beating Saturday afternoon, Sweetland asked his team how it would respond to the defeat.

"We got it handed to us and I just challenged the kids," he said. "The last time we got beat by 12 runs, we went on a 15-game winning streak. Sometimes you need something like that to get refocused, and once we got it rolling it became contagious."

Wayne opened the conference tournament with an 11-0 shutout of O'Neill in a game where Hannah Belt threw a four-inning no-hitter, striking out six and walking one batter. She got plenty of help on offense, as Abbie Hix was 3-for-3 with three RBI's and three runs scored, Kennedy Maly tripled and drove in three and Kiara Hochstein and Danica Schaefer each scored twice.

Guardian Angels jumped on Wayne early in their first meeting Saturday, taking a 4-0 lead after three innings. Kortney Keller hit a solo homer in the fourth, but the Bluejays got that run back in the fifth, added another in the sixth and tacked on six more in the seventh to secure their spot in the winner-take-all finals.

Wayne got down early to O'Neill, trailing 3-0 after three innings. They got a run in the fourth, then broke it open with a seven-run fifth inning that seemed to carry the team through the rest of the tournament.

The big inning was capped by a two-run double from Hix, who had two hits in the contest. She came home with Taylor Gamble when Jamie Gamble reached on an error to start the big rally, and Maly and Schaefer both added RBI singles in the big inning.

Call me crazy, but: playoffs?

No. 2 Oregon loses to unranked Arizona.

No. 8 UCLA falls to unranked Utah.

No. 18 BYU gets rolled by unranked Utah State.

Five top 10 teams and 11 of the top 20 go down to defeat.

What a crazy Saturday in the world of college football – proof that, on any given day, even Goliath can get rolled by David.

Which brings me to the Wayne High football team, owners of a 3-3 record and, for all intents and purposes, playing those contractually-obligated games to finish out the regular season. With only 16 teams making the playoffs, a sub-.500 record doesn't even get us in the neighborhood to think about the Class C-1 postseason.

As Lee Corso would say – not so fast, my friends.

What if I told you that it is mathematically possible, as this column is being written the Monday afternoon before the Blue Devils' game with third-ranked Norfolk Catholic, for Wayne to make the playoffs with a 6-3 record?

(Cue the old Jim Mora "Playoffs???" We're not talking about playoffs . . ." sound bite.)

Here's the deal – two things need to happen. First, Wayne has to win the final three games on the schedule. Granted, the next two feature two of the top three teams in the state, and we'll discuss that later – just roll with me for now.

Three wins would give Wayne a 4-1 record in the district, which brings us to the second item – a Pierce loss at home next week to the Knights, which would guarantee them no better than a 3-2 district record.

If Wayne beats both the Knights and Boone Central/Newman Grove, the loser of that season-ending matchup in Albion would finish 3-2 in the district, while the winner would be tied with Wayne, but lose on head-to-head.

Voila – Wayne High, Class C-1 state playoff-bound.

Now, if you haven't already mailed in your Blue Devil Fan Club card for this football season, you can see how the math works out. All the Blue Devils have to do is win three games – two against teams who, in recent history, they've had about as much luck with as I did getting a date for senior prom when I was in high school.

And, let's face it – when it comes to Norfolk Catholic, it's safe to say that there isn't a team on the planet who would LOVE to get one over on the Knights than our boys in blue. We had a golden opportunity five years ago, only to see the Knights pull it out at the end on a cold and rainy night in Norfolk.

But it IS possible.

Seriously – most fans of Arizona, Utah and Utah State couldn't do more than HOPE that their team might play well and give their ranked opponents a good battle. "Keep it respectable" was the mantra of Wildcat, Ute and Aggie fans going into last week. Who in their right minds would have believed, before last week, that any of those three teams would have a snowball's chance in a pot of boiling water of beating three of the top teams in the nation, all within 48 hours of each other? That's part of the magic of team sports – the better team doesn't always win, and when the underdog comes through, the story takes on a life of its own.

I'm not saying that Wayne High WILL beat Norfolk Catholic and Boone Central/Newman Grove in back-to-back weeks. The logical thinker says that Wayne High has two chances against either team: slim and none – and Slim has ridden off into the sunset.

But that doesn't mean the boys shouldn't go out and leave everything they've got on the field. Sometimes, lucky breaks happen. Balls

Kaitlyn McAllister (left) and Anna Loberg both shot their season-best rounds on Monday to help the Wayne High girls golf team win the C-3 district title and advance to next week's state tournament in Columbus.

Golfers' best round nets district title

NORFOLK – The Wayne High girls golf team seems to be peaking at just the right time.

The Blue Devils slashed 15 strokes off their season-best round of the year and ran away with the C-3 district title Monday at Fair Play Golf Course in Norfolk, putting them in a nice position heading into next week's Class C State Girls Golf Championships in Columbus.

Wayne High shot a season-low 404 to come away with a 21-stroke win over Battle Creek and Norfolk Catholic, the latter of which won a playoff with Crofton to take the third and final spot in the state tournament.

"Usually, the Boone Central meet is one of our better rounds because it's an easier course, but to do this at districts was fantastic," coach Josh Johnson said of the team's effort, which included two career-low rounds by Wayne High golfers Kaitlyn McAllister and Anna Loberg.

McAllister led the Wayne girls Monday with a career-low round of 95, which was good for fifth place individually; and Loberg also shot her best round as a Blue Devil, coming in two shots behind her teammate to finish sixth with a 97.

"The last couple of days, Anna and Kaitlyn have both played really well," Johnson said. "There were times where they got frustrated out there, but they kept with it and kept working hard and things just clicked at the right time Monday. It was priceless to see their faces afterward."

Senior leader Emma Loberg was not far behind with a 101, good for ninth place overall, and would have been inside triple digits were it not for one bad hole at the end, Johnson said.

"She wasn't our low girl, but to get that score out of her was great," Johnson said. "If you take away one bad hole, she'd be down there with the other two. She did what I needed her to do."

Senior Holly Grosz shot a 111 to round out the team scoring, and freshman Jewel Kneif came in with a 134 to cap what was a solid effort by the Blue Devils.

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge girls golf team also competed in district play at Norfolk, finishing eighth in the 12-team tournament with a team score of 532. Emily Klooz had the low round for the Lady Bears, carding a 117. Brooke Young shot 131, Gail Leapley had a 139, Lindsay McCoy had a 145 and Nicole Hanson had a 168.

Looking ahead to next week's state meet at Quail Run Golf Course, in most years, a team shooting in the 400's would be happy to be at state and would be lucky to finish in the middle of the pack. However, this year has not been a year of low scores in girls golf overall in the state, and with Wayne posting the seventh-lowest team score of the 15 state-qualifying teams, Johnson said the team has the chance to finish very high in next week's state tournament.

"Looking at the field, I'd say Minden, Grand Island Central Catholic, Columbus Scotus and Lincoln Lutheran are the top teams, but with the way we've played lately, we're just going to go down there and play our butts off and see what we can do," he said. "The girls all said they left some shots out there at districts on Monday, so we're going to go down and have some fun and see if we can go a little lower the two days at state. If we keep trying to play the best we can and let the chips fall where they may, it will be interesting."

Soccer team falls on road

The Wayne State women's soccer team is still seeking its first conference win of the season after a rough weekend in Minnesota.

On Saturday, Minnesota Crookston posted a 3-1 win over Wayne State in Crookston, Minn. The Golden Eagles scored twice in the first half, the first from Courtney Armbrist in the 17th minute and the second by Delaney McIntyre at the 24:31 mark, to take a 2-0 lead at intermission.

Armbrist scored again for Crookston at the 72:25 mark, and just over one minute later Wayne State's McKenzie Hallstrom found the back of the net on a penalty kick at the 73:44 mark to close out the scoring.

Crookston held a 17-11 shot advantage over Wayne State and an 11-7 edge in shots on goal. Josie Brown was credited with a team-high three shots followed by Mallory Hoyt and Kyhlie Hansen with two apiece. Sophomore Kylie Comba played the first half in goal and was credited with six saves while giving up two goals. Freshman Margaret Harma played the second half and allowed one goal while recording two saves.

On Sunday, Bemidji State handed Wayne State a 5-1 loss. The Beavers scored twice in the first half, at the 5:31 and 28:15 marks, to take a 2-0 lead at intermission. Bemidji scored five minutes into the second half for a 3-0 lead before Wayne State got on the board at the 55:26 mark when junior forward Kelsea Lambert scored on a free kick. The Beavers scored two more goals late to come away with the four-goal win.

Bemidji State held a 23-8 advantage in shots over Wayne State, including 11-4 in shots on goal. Lambert led Wayne State with two shots on goal and her first goal of the season. McKenna Adams also had two shots on goal for the Wildcats. Harma played 70:39 and allowed three goals with five saves, while Comba played the final 19:21 and was credited with one save while allowing two goals.

Wayne State, 1-8-1 (0-7 NSIC) will be at home this weekend, hosting Minnesota Duluth Saturday and St. Cloud State Sunday in 1 p.m. matches.

Ruggers one win away after tie

Garrett Toner of the Wayne State men's rugby team breaks away and advances the ball for the Wildcats during Saturday's battle against South Dakota State. A win would have sent the Wildcats to regionals, but South Dakota State came back to forge a 12-12 tie, making this weekend's matchup at Creighton a win-or-go-home proposition for the Wildcats. If they win, they advance to the regionals later this month in Siloam Springs, Ark. The Wayne State women were also in action on Saturday, beating Nebraska 17-5.

Lady Bears struggle in recent losses

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge volleyball team continued to struggle last week, losing their last four matchups.

On Thursday, the Lady Bears dropped a three-set match to Creighton on the road, losing 25-17, 25-22, 26-24.

Audra Corbit led a balanced net attack with nine kills and three blocks. Ellie Arduser had seven kills and at team-high 12 assists, Katie Leapey added four kills and Kaci Groene had three. Katelyn Cook had eight assists and Candice Rastede led the defense with 13 digs.

Wakefield came up short on both sides of a triangular with area foes Wakefield and Wayne, losing to the Trojans 25-15, 25-20 and falling to the Blue Devils 25-17, 25-15.

In the Wakefield loss, Arduser and Leapey each had three kills. Corbit had three blocks, Cook had five assists and Arduser picked up three. Bryn Schutte had three digs.

In the Wayne game, Corbit had five kills, Arduser had four kills and seven assists, Groene had three kills and Leapey had two. Cook had five assists and Rastede had three digs and two ace serves. Schutte also had two digs.

LCC played Hartington-Newcastle tough at times, but came up short in a 26-24, 25-10, 25-20 loss to fall to 4-17 on the season.

"We played very well the first set, struggled in the second and played somewhere in between in the third," Cunningham said. "The search for consistency, both mentally and physically, continues to disrupt our performance."

Corbit had seven kills and four blocks for LCC. Arduser added six kills and 10 assists, Leapey had four kills and two blocks and Groene had three kills. Cook had 11 assists, Rastede had six digs and two ace serves.

"I wasn't sure we deserved to win that game after the first couple of innings, but we took advantage of some opportunities and put them away, and I was happy with how we came back," Sweetland said.

The Bluejays got to Belt early in the championship game and led 2-0 going into the bottom of the third when the Blue Devil bats got hot again.

Consecutive two-run singles by Hix and Keller gave Wayne 4-2 advantage, and Ashton Gibson followed that by corking a two-run blast over the wall in center field to make it a 6-3 game.

The Bluejays got a run back in the fourth, but Wayne scored again in the fifth on an RBI single by Gibson, then added two more in the sixth when Maly scored on an RBI single by Schaefer, who came home on a Hix double.

"It's been a few years since we won this, so it was nice," Sweetland said.

The Blue Devils had 10 hits in the championship win. Hix and Schaefer each had two hits and Hix and Gibson each had three RBIs.

The conference tournament title was sandwiched in between the final two regular season games for the 24-4 Blue Devils, one an extra-inning thriller and the other a season-ending blowout.

On Thursday, Wayne came from behind to force extra innings, then unloaded on Guardian Angels on their home field for a 10-5, eight-inning thriller.

Jenna Trenhaile came up with the big double in the extra frame, as she just missed a home run with a blast off the wall that brought home two runs. Hix followed with a two-run single and Schaefer scored on a wild pitch. Belt pitched well in the win, striking out 12 and scattering five hits and four walks.

On Monday, the Blue Devils spanked South Sioux City with a 14-hit outburst that included three home runs in a 15-1 drubbing to head into the postseason on a high note.

Two of the home runs came off the bat of Keller, who hit a three-run homer to spark a four-run first inning, then highlighted a nine-run outburst with a grand slam round-tripper. She also had a sacrifice fly to finish the game with a career-high eight runs driven in.

Gibson hit her second home run in as many games and her third of the season right behind Keller's grand slam. Keller, Gibson, Hix, Hochstein and Maly each had two hits in the contest and Sierra Scardino added an RBI. Belt threw a two-hitter, striking out five.

The Blue Devils have the top seed and a first-round bye in the C-4 district tournament that starts Thursday at Timmerman Park in West Point. Getting the conference championship win was a big key in giving Wayne a boost heading into the postseason, where they have a pretty good shot at qualifying for state as the No. 2 team in the wild card point standings heading into district play.

"I think this win was important, because if you see a team again at district and you've just lost two to them at home, it can be kind of demoralizing," Sweetland said. "Now we know that we've beat them here and beat them there, and we just need to go out and play well and that's the key."

get tipped the right way. A defender slips while covering a receiver. A field goal hits the upright just so. A call goes the right way at the right time.

ANYTHING can happen these next two Friday nights - and that's why the kids and the coaches do the work, come up with the game plan, work out the kinks and take the field. They do it for that opportunity to BE the team nobody expected to "get this far."

Wayne High has nothing to lose these next two weeks against two of the top teams in Class C-1. In fact, some experts are saying that a Knights-Cardinals showdown in the finals is all but imminent. Depending on how the playoff points pan out, they could wind up on opposite halves of the 16-team bracket and have their season-ending rematch again a few weeks later down in Lincoln.

On paper, it says Wayne doesn't have a chance against Norfolk Catholic this Friday. That's funny - they said the same thing about Arizona . . . and Utah . . . and Utah State - which is why we don't play football games on paper.

Abram Walker sacks the Winona State quarterback, one of eight sacks on the day for the Wayne State defense in their 27-7 upset over 25th ranked Winona State on Saturday.

Wildcats whoop Warriors in upset

The Wayne State football team celebrated homecoming in about the best way possible - knocking off a ranked conference opponent.

Zach Osborn completed 26 of 42 passes for 372 yards and two touchdowns to lead Wayne State in a dominant 27-7 win over 25th-ranked Winona State in the annual Homecoming/Hall of Fame Game Saturday afternoon at Bob Cunningham Field. WSC improves to 3-2 on the season and 1-0 in the NSIC South Division while the visiting Warriors fall to 3-2 and 0-1 in the NSIC South.

Wayne State set the tone early with a combination of stellar defense - that included a pair of early sacks - to go with an offense that scored on its first two possessions.

Ryan Ludlow found the end zone on a two-yard run on the Wildcats' opening drive to give Wayne State a 7-0 lead with 10:26 to go in the first quarter. On Wayne State's next possession, they needed just three plays to cover 75 yards, with Osborn firing a 16-yard strike to Marcel Dunson to increase the Wildcat advantage to 14-0.

Midway through the second quarter, the Wildcat defense forced a Winona State fumble at the Wildcat 46-yard line and converted the turnover into seven points as Ludlow found the end zone for the second time on a five-yard jaunt to culminate a six-play, 54 yard drive to give Wayne State a 20-0 advantage at halftime, and the visiting Warriors would not threaten the lead the rest of the afternoon.

Wayne State made it 27-0 lead toward the end of the third quarter as Osborn and Dunson teamed up for a second scoring strike. Their 18-yard connection capped an 11-play, 81 yard drive, with 4:29 to go in the third quarter to give Wayne State its biggest lead of the game. Winona State would avoid the shutout with an early fourth-quarter touchdown pass to close out the scoring.

Wayne State racked up 510 yards of total offense while holding Winona State to just 196. The Wildcats gained 138 yards on the ground and 372 passing while the Wayne State defense was outstanding in holding Winona State to just 22 yards rushing and 174 passing.

Ludlow led the Wildcat ground attack with 30 carries for 99 yards and two scores while Osborn added 33 yards on seven rushes. to go with his 372-yard passing performance. Ten different Wildcat receivers had catches, led by Adam Stark with seven receptions for 106 yards. Dunson had a career day with six catches for 73 yards and two scores.

The Wildcat defense had a season-high eight sacks on the day, led by defensive end Abram Walker, who had a team-high seven tackles with 3.5 sacks and 4.5 tackles for loss. Nick Monzu added six tackles with one interception, a forced fumble and a pass breakup. Defensive end Jeff Van Den Top contributed five tackles with two sacks while senior J'Ron Erby had an interception with four pass breakups.

Wayne State will try to make it two in row in the South Division, as the 3-2 Wildcats go on the road Saturday to visit Concordia-St. Paul in a 1 p.m. contest in St. Paul, Minn.

Trojans dominate everywhere but final

BLOOMFIELD - Wakefield won just about every statistical battle against Bloomfield except for one - the final score.

The Trojans rushed for 363 yards and came from behind, only to see the Bees force overtime and come away with a win in a rare Saturday afternoon game, 34-32.

The loss dropped the Trojans to 1-4 on the season, and coach Mike Hassler saw some good and bad in

Area runners medal at Stanton

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge and Winside cross country teams both saw action Thursday in the Stanton Invitational.

On the boys side, the Bears finished fourth out of 12 full teams in the tournament with 101 points and had a pair of top-10 finishes. Aaron Haahr led LCC with a seventh-place effort of 17:21, while Jordan Jansen came home in 10th at 17:34.

Also running for LCC were Colton Jansen, finishing 47th (20:16); Ethan Gubbels, placing 49th (20:27); Logan Hansen, coming in 58th (21:08); and Billy Barelman placing 68th (22:06).

Winside's two boys runners were Kevin Ross and Josh Gruenke. Ross was 80th while Gruenke placed 87th.

The only area runner in the girls race was LCC senior Sadie Petersen. She finished second overall in a time of 20:09.9.

the team's effort.

"With the exception of two busted plays where we gave up long touchdown runs, I thought we played really well defensively," Hassler said. Bloomfield was a physical running team and we stood toe to toe with them. They had two really good backs that were difference makers and they made us pay for our mistakes a couple times. To basically hold them to six points for the final three quarters was impressive, but it's getting to that point in the season if we want to start winning football games we have to take care of our business mentally. The effort is there, we are playing physical football, but when it comes down to it we just make some mistakes that keep us from winning ball games."

The Trojans fell behind 20-0 early in the second quarter, but battled back with four touchdowns to take a 26-20 lead into the fourth quarter.

"To fall behind 20-0 and then battle back to have a 26-20 lead late into the fourth quarter says a lot about these boys," Hassler said. "They fight, they don't give up, but in the end when the opportunities present themselves to win a football game we need to step up and produce."

The Wakefield offense cranked out 458 yards in total offense, with Alex Conley and Levi Nelson carrying a lot of the load. Conley rushed for 232 yards on 25 carries and a score and also hit on a pair of touchdown passes while going 5-for-9 for 95 yards. Nelson added 125 yards on 22 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns.

"If you put up 363 rushing yards on the board you are gonna give yourself a chance every time out," Hassler said. "I thought our line dominated from the first whistle, but penalties, mishandled balls or incorrectly run plays in the backfield, and turnovers really just came back to bite us in the end. I really thought our offensive line took care of their business, but I need my backs to step their game up a notch next week if we want to win another football game."

Defensively, Nelson and Conley led the team with 16 total tackles each and Efen Godinez added 14 total tackles.

The Trojans hope to end a five-game losing streak on their homecoming this Friday when they play host to Plainview.

"We haven't won on homecoming since 2008, so it would be nice to get that monkey off our back," Hassler said. "Plainview likes to throw it around quite a bit, so we'll definitely need to have our noses in our scouting reports and make sure we play sound responsibility football. I think we have an advantage up front and can move the ball on them. It will be another closely contested game, and it's time we came out on top of one of these."

Kickoff is at 7 p.m. Friday at Eaton Field.

Allen gets big win on road against L-D

LYONS - Allen had two running backs go for more than 100 yards and combine for seven touchdowns to get the Eagles back in the thick of the eight-man playoff race.

The Eagles scored 46 unanswered points in the second half to turn a halftime deficit into a runaway win, pouncing on Lyons-Decatur for a 52-14 win in district action here Friday.

The win puts Allen back over the .500 mark at 3-2 and gives them some important momentum heading into a big district matchup against Wynot.

"This was a tremendous defensive effort against a team that hung 46 on Bancroft-Rosalie last week," coach Dave Uldrich said. "Our team played a complete game - defensively, special teams and offensively. The kids did their assignments and trusted one another. It was a spectacular effort."

Allen got on the board first in the opening period when Brian Boese cut loose for a 70-yard touchdown run late in the opening period to make it 6-0.

Lyons-Decatur's Dylan Harde-man scored on a one-yard run to tie the game, then gave the Cougars a 14-6 halftime lead with a 62-yard run on their next possession.

It was all Allen after that.

Caleb Thomas scored two times in the third period, sandwiching a couple of short touchdown runs around a 12-yard sprint by Boese. The duo did it again in the fourth quarter, with Thomas scoring on runs of 21 and 18 yards around Boese's third score, a one-yard run, to turn a close game into a laugh.

The Eagles finished the night with 351 yards in total offense, the bulk of it coming on the legs of Boese and Thomas. Boese finished with 188 yards on 36 carries and three touchdowns, while Thomas added 111 yards on 18 tries with four scores.

Defensively, Thomas and younger brother Cody Thomas led the way with 14 and 13 tackles, respectively. Boese added 10 stops while Wade Connot and Brady Krakau each had eight.

With a potential trip to the state playoffs still in Allen's reach, Uldrich said his team will need a similar effort in all areas to match up with Wynot in Friday's 7 p.m. game at Allen Field.

Offensive changes nets school record, 29-0 victory

A change in Wayne's offensive scheme netted a new school record and a nifty homecoming shutout.

Tayib Toussaint rushed for a school-record 279 yards and had two long, exciting second-half touchdown runs to help the Blue Devils get back to the .500 mark at 3-3 on the season with a 29-0 whitewashing of the Madison Dragons in district action Friday at Memorial Stadium.

Blue Devil coach Terry Bear said the team had been working on a "ghost" package - a derivative of the popular "wildcat" package used in the college and pros - and the change proved to be an exciting, and record-breaking, outcome.

"Our kids played really well," Bear said of the win. We could've played a lot better and left some things on the field, but I was happy overall with how the kids played."

Key to the change in the Wayne offense was moving starting quarterback Zach Keating to a receiver spot to take advantage of his 6-foot-6 frame and put Toussaint in the shotgun formation, where he could run, hand the ball off or look for an open receiver.

"We went to a different style of offense with Tayib in the backfield, and it changed the dynamic of our offense and the kids really responded to it," Bear said. "Tayib played receiver when he was in Florida, and we found out he's able to create a lot of issues in the backfield because he's elusive and creates space, and he can throw the ball pretty well."

It was the Wayne defense, however, that would score first, as Keating was able to tackle a Madison ball carrier in the end zone late in the first period to give Wayne a 2-0 advantage.

Three of Toussaint's four touchdown runs were 40 yards or longer, including the first one, a 41-yard gallop on the Blue Devils' ensuing series following the safety to make it 8-0 after one period.

Late in the first half, Toussaint faked a handoff and went left, dodging a couple of defenders and sprinting down the far sideline for a 65-yard run to make it 22-0. After the Wayne defense held midway through the fourth period, he capped the night with a mesmerizing 90-yard jaunt that included at least four cuts that left Madison defenders grasping at air, putting the finishing touches on a single-game effort that eclipsed the mark of 271 set by Joel Munson in 1999.

And while the offense racked up 409 yards in total offense against the Dragons, Wayne's defense shut down the visitors on just 157 yards in total offense.

"We moved a few people around on the line and stunted some people on the edge, and our defense was really stingy out there and I was very proud of them and the work of our defensive coaches," Bear said.

Drew Davie added 35 yards on five carries and Tyler Pecena had 18 yards on two tries for Wayne on the ground. Jack Belt was the leading receiver with 23 yards on three catches, while Davies and Brook Bowers each caught a pair of balls.

Defensively, Davie led the team with six tackles, Brooke Bowers had 5.5 and Toussaint and Lucas Longe each had four.

The Blue Devils have back-to-back matchups against two of the top three teams in Class C-1 coming up, starting with Friday's 7 p.m. battle at Norfolk Catholic. Bear knows his team will be a heavy underdog for this district matchup, and he's just fine with that.

"We're the underdogs and we know it, but as long as we believe good things are going to happen, then what better opportunity than to go up against a great unbeaten team like Norfolk Catholic," he said. "West Point did some nice things against them last week that I think we can attack, but they're a fundamentally-sound and well-coached team. It's a challenge we're going to take head on."

Wildcats handle Northern State, MSU Moorhead in home battles

The Wayne State volleyball team bounced back from last week's loss to No. 2 Minnesota Duluth with a pair of conference victories at home.

On Friday, Alyssa Frauendorfer recorded 18 kills and Katie Hughes notched her seventh double-double of the season with 15 kills and 13 digs to lead the 13th-ranked Wildcats to a 24-26, 25-14, 25-22, 25-23 win over No. 24 Northern State in a key NSIC showdown at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats had a chance to make it a straight-set win over the Wolves, but Northern came back from a 24-22 deficit in the opening set to take the first set. Wayne State forced seven Northern attack errors and dominated the second game to tie the match at 1-1 at intermission.

McClintock

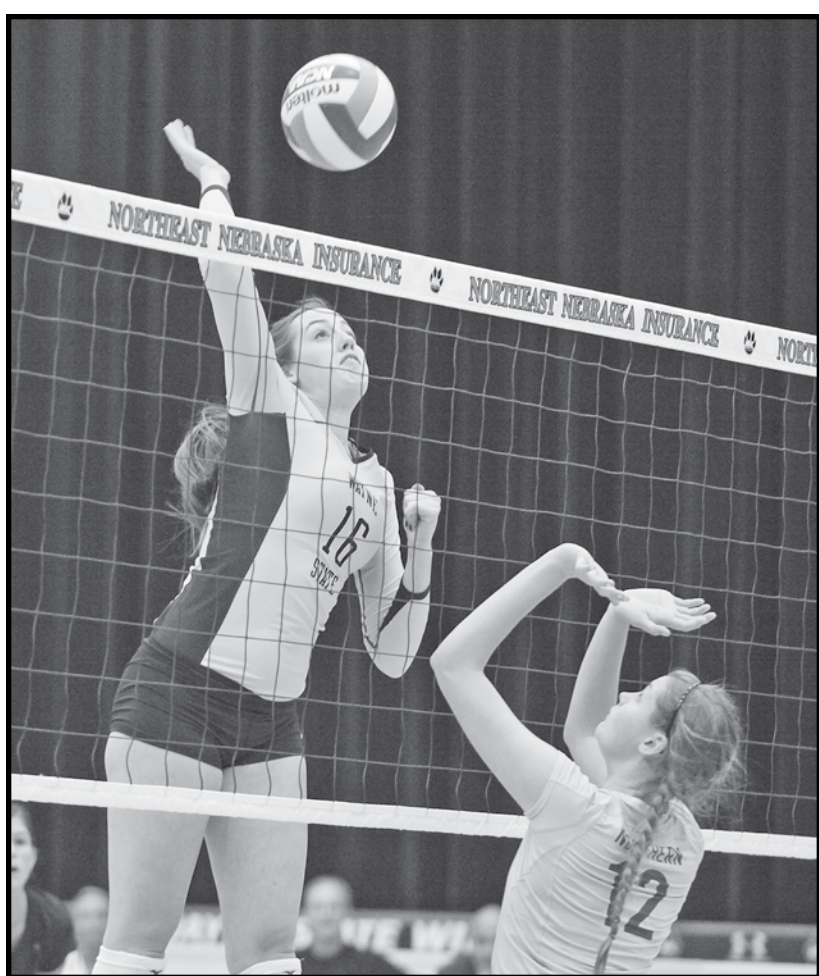

Wayne State came back from a five-point deficit in the third set to take control of the match. Michaela Mestl served six straight points at one stretch to turn a 17-12 deficit into a 19-17 advantage on their way to a third-set win. Wayne State held off the Wolves in the final set and came away with the four-set win.

Frauendorfer led Wayne State with a .378 attack percentage to go with four blocks. Elizabeth Gebhardt contributed 11 kills, Mestl led the team in digs with 23 and Leisa McClintock served up 51 assists in the Wildcat win.

On Saturday, four Wildcats hit for double figures in kills, led Alex Opperman's career-high 11, to take care of MSU Moorhead in four sets, 25-14, 23-25, 25-21, 25-17 to improve to 14-2 overall and 7-1 in the NSIC.

The Wildcats controlled the first set, forcing nine Dragon attack errors, but the Dragons rallied from a 22-20 deficit in the second set to even the match at a set apiece.

Daulton Burris, Edwin Espino and Dylan Anderson, sixth grade students at Wayne Elementary, work on their Dot Day project.

Wayne students celebrate International Dot Day

International Dot Day was celebrated at Wayne Elementary the week of Sept. 15 - 19. It was in connection with the book "The Dot" by Peter Reynolds. Students at Wayne Elementary joined online with 1,874,893 participants from 83 countries.

"The Dot" sparks creativity by having an art teacher frame a "dot" the student made when she refused to complete an art project. She is inspired and encourages a boy to do the same.

The book was read to all elementary students and each decorated a Dot paper. Students and teachers used the ColArMix app to make them come alive. When students looked at their dot, it became a swirling circle, suspended sphere or a world with duplicate spheres revolving and rotating around it. All the dots are displayed at the school near the library.

Joan Hansen, Wayne Elementary School Library director, contacted the author through email, and he made a template "just for us" for a bookmark with the Dot Day emblem on it, encouraging students to "make their mark."

"Every student received one, but we were the first in the world to get them," Mrs. Hansen said.

Wayne Izaak Walton League involved in Re-Tree Project

J. Sterling Morton said, "Each generation takes the earth as trustees. We ought to bequeath to posterity as many forests and orchards as we have exhausted and consumed."

With this thought in mind, the state of Nebraska has implemented ReTree Nebraska and set a goal of planting 1 million trees in Nebraska by 2017.

In this area, the Izaak Walton League has taken the challenge to heart and engages in tree planting activities on a regular basis.

"The local chapter has planted trees in three of the last four years on their lake grounds northeast of Wayne as a part of the ReTree Program," said treasurer Scott Brummond. This year a number of the Wayne State College Wildlife Society members helped with the planting on Oct. 2. Trees planted this year were two American Elms and a Sugar Maple.

According to information provided by ReTree Nebraska, "Now is the time to reverse the decline of our community forests. We must restore our community forests to retain the many important benefits trees provide and enable Nebraskans to continue living "The Good Life" in the Arbor Day state. ReTree Nebraska's ambitious goal of planting 1 million trees in Nebraska's towns and cities by 2017 will engage communities, businesses, organizations, clubs and individuals across the state to restore their communities' forest resources."

ReTree Nebraska is a cooperative effort currently led by the Nebraska Forest Service, Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, Inc., University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Agronomy & Horticulture and the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. ReTree Nebraska is partially funded by the Nebraska

Environmental Trust, a beneficiary of the Nebraska Lottery.

The primary goal of ReTree Nebraska is energy efforts to properly plant 1 million high quality trees in Nebraska communities by 2017. But, because ReTree Nebraska is about restoring and revitalizing Nebraska's community forests, ReTree Nebraska goes beyond planting trees to:

- significantly increase the planting of high-quality, large-growing, long-lived trees in communities across the state with the goal of planting more trees each year than are removed;
- significantly increase the diversity, quality and average canopy cover of most Nebraska community forests;
- strengthen the capacity of most Nebraska communities to develop and implement sustainable community tree management programs; work with the nursery industry to secure higher-quality trees and a wider variety of trees for local tree planting efforts;

engage professional arborists and other green industry professionals to help improve and expand high-quality tree care;

increase Nebraskans' knowledge and understanding of the value of trees and the importance of properly planting and caring for them;

significantly increase Nebraskans' awareness of the threats of pine wilt, emerald ash borer, drought, weather and other events which could collectively kill millions of trees across the state in the coming years;

correct poor planting and maintenance practices that have significantly reduced the health of many community trees planted in the last 30 years; and assist communities in the development of "Community Tree Recovery Action Plans" that will evaluate and quantify the local community tree resources, identify community goals for enhancing those resources and develop action plans for achieving those goals.

What Will ReTree Nebraska Accomplish?

- Encourage Nebraskans to properly plant and maintain at least 1 million new community trees by 2017.
- Increase by at least 25 percent the average tree canopy cover in at least 200 communities by the year 2020.
- Provide direct assistance to at least 50 communities each year.
- Increase species diversity by at least 25 percent in at least 100 communities by 2017.
- Develop at least 100 "Community Tree Recovery Action Plans" by 2017.
- Increase the number of certified arborists (International Society of Arboriculture or Nebraska Arborists Association) by 2017.
- Increase the number of nurseries selling produced by root production methods trees by 25 percent by 2017.

'Joy On The Job' focus of Fall Workshop

The Friday Workshop titled "Joy on the Job" is planned and hosted by WEOPA (Wayne Educational Office Professionals Association) and explores the topics of "Joy on the Job", and "It's Laughter We're After" by keynote speaker Jenny Herrick; "Identity Theft" by Jason Mrsny; and "Social Media" by John Dunning.

2014 has been difficult year for laughter

Because I have nothing better to think about, here's a run through the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— It's been a rough year if you love to laugh.

Recently, comedy legend Joan Rivers passed away at the age of 81. Her death came less than a month after the tragic suicide of one of the masters in Robin Williams, and earlier this year we lost John Panette, whose bits on standing in line and being a fat man eating at a Chinese buffet are comedy classics.

I take a lot of inspiration from funny people. It is not uncommon for me to blow a night in front of my laptop, watching comedy bits on YouTube. I can't get enough of people like Williams, Richard Pryor, or even Foster Brooks (watch his roast of Don Rickles on the old Dean Martin Roasts — I've watched that a zillion times and it never ceases being side-splitting hilarious).

Even at bedtime, I'll hit the sack laughing at recent comics like Lewis Black, Brian Regan (his bit on Pop Tarts is insanely funny) and Gabriel Iglesias. It's people like them who help me forget about all the garbage that's going on in the world.

— Speaking of comics and YouTube: If you get the chance, search for Frank Caliendo's latest piece of comic genius.

As you know, Caliendo is the 21st century version of Rich Little, a comic who does fantastic, spot-on impersonations of notable celebrities of the day. From sports personalities like John Madden and John Gruden to former Presidents Bush and Clinton, Caliendo hits the nail square on the head with the way he incorporates the voices and various twitches and nervous tics these celebrities have.

Caliendo's latest gem is the re-creation of the classic "We talkin' 'bout PRACTICE" rant by Allen Iverson, done in the voice of actor Morgan Freeman. He did the piece live on the "Mike & Mike" show, and it is so beyond funny that it's insane.

— One of the things about Wayne, America that I've always appreciated is the fact that you can be different, and nobody really gives much thought to it.

I'm one of probably a half-dozen people in this town who is a long-standing, die-hard passionate fan of the Seattle Seahawks. I've found a brotherhood with those few people here in town who are part of the "12th Man" group of fans who root for the Silver and Blue.

The NFL season kicked off recently, and those of us who have long suffered through one bad season after another as Seahawks fans got the opportunity to enjoy our first game with our team as the reigning Super Bowl champions. There was a different vibe to the start of this season, and they opened up with a nice win over Green Bay.

Of course, if you know the local bar scene here in town, you know that White Dog Pub owner Bill Melena is equally as passionate about his Packers as I am with my Seahawks. In spite of those differences, he allowed the Seahawks fans living here in town to watch the game in Wayne's semi-official Packers' Fan Club establishment. We co-existed without incident, enjoyed good drink and some tasty food, and wished each other luck on the rest of the season.

Now — if Melena were a fan of the Arizona Cardinals . . . we'd have probably gone somewhere else to watch the game and spray-painted a Seahawks logo on his front door. There ARE some teams' fans we simply can't hang out with while the season is in progress.

— By now, I'm sure you've heard about the big controversy surrounding the "leaked" nude photos of some noteworthy Hollywood celebrities. Nude pictures of themselves were hacked off of some kind of "cloud" storage device and were posted on the Internet.

Here's my question — and I'm sure this is something NOBODY in Hollywood has thought of yet — why would you TAKE a picture of yourself naked in the first place AND THEN put it somewhere out in cyberspace where someone with more technical expertise than you could even fathom can gain access to them?

Every time I hear about something like this, it further cements my belief that the gene pool has become far too diluted.

— Now here is an example of putting tax dollars to good use in this age of technology: Officials in Chongqing, China have created a special walkway for people who like to text and walk.

We already have this here in Wayne — they're called alleys. Keep an eye on those potholes as you walk.

The Pipeline Saga continues

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Help me get my head around something here, friends. There are nearly 21,000 miles of hazardous liquid and natural gas pipelines in Nebraska already. So what makes the battle over the latest one proposed — the Keystone XL — so special? Just asking.

Nearly 8,000 people gathered on an Antelope County farm on a beautiful fall Saturday afternoon to listen to music legends Willie Nelson and Neil Young perform. If you don't know these artists, stop reading right now. The crowds gathered in protest of the pipeline and in support of alternative energy proposals. They also saw members of several Native American tribes honor the musicians who have been familiar performers at the scattered series of Farm Aid concerts over the years.

The Nebraska Pipeline Association says the prairie is criss-crossed by interstate, intrastate, and distribution lines. Those pipelines may include large-diameter lines carrying energy products to population centers, as well as small-diameter lines that may deliver natural gas to businesses and households in your neighborhood, the Association says. The industry association calls pipelines the safest method for transporting energy products, but admits that when pipeline incidents occur they can present significant risks to the public and the environment.

The Nelson-Young concert and a number of protest-related activities have been sponsored by a group called Bold Nebraska. That group's activist leader Jane Kleeb says a report by University of Nebraska civil engineering professor John Stansbury predicts that there could be as many as 91 leaks in the anticipated 50-year lifespan of the Keystone XL pipeline if it is built. Stansbury apparently researched pipelines' history and TransCanada regulatory filings to predict that the leaks could potentially put 6.5 million gallons of tar sands oil in the Ogallala aquifer and essentially contaminate drinking water.

In May, TransCanada — the company that wants to build the Keystone XL Pipeline — submitted a revised route to the State Department, bypassing an original Sandhills route but still passing over parts of the massive aquifer. That action followed President Obama's rejection of the original route some months earlier.

Protestors have planted crops and built a barn and Native Americans have planted sacred grasses in the proposed path. The outdoor concert occurred on land near Neligh that also lies in the proposed path. While the Harvest of Hope Concert was going on, looking not-unlike a miniature Woodstock or another version of Farm Aid, thousands of other people were driving trucks with trailers and SUV's and station wagons along the multi-stop Junk Jaunt route from Arcadia to Wood River and a number of points (and towns starting with other letters of the alphabet) in between. The garage sale atmosphere in those communities was heart-warming as people turned the event into an outdoor fair. In fact, county fairgrounds in a number of those towns were crammed with flea market booths offering everything from homemade food to antiques and crafts.

I was driving in the Sandhills as well, enjoying the beauty of the crops and the trees and the sky filled with puffy white clouds on a day that was perfectly perched on the edge of fall. Occasionally I would see an orange and white pipe with a warning sign poking up several feet out of the ground, often at the edge of a pasture or near the rustling stalks of brown and nearly ready for harvest corn or soybeans. Over the years, I have come to recognize these as the indicator that pipelines are buried below.

Knowing this and seeing the passion of the folks who are protesting the Keystone XL, I have pause to wonder if we need another pipeline . . . another threat to the peace and tranquility of the environment and the lifestyle we have come to appreciate in one of those mostly square states out west.

But I also have to ask if there is a political agenda or a social undertow that I do not recognize. It has been six long years since this pipeline was proposed. Hopefully we can see the matter resolved, one way or the other, sometime soon.

Legislative Update

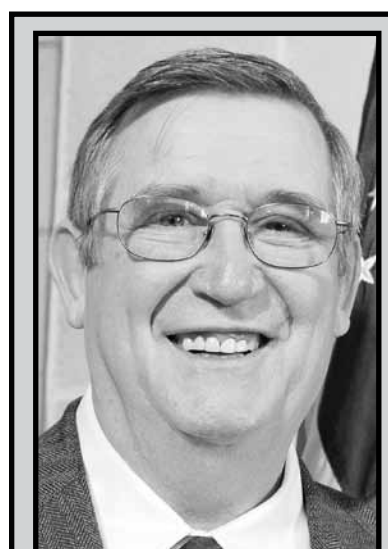

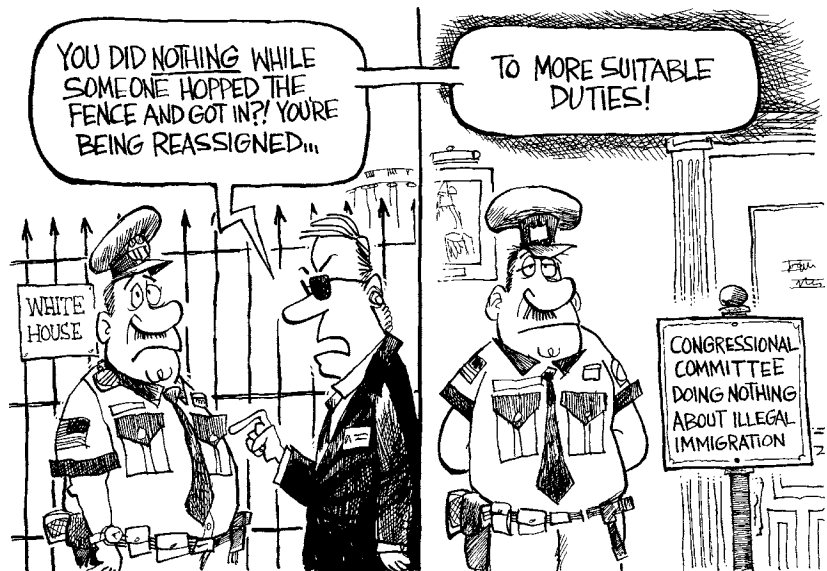

Reaction to tornado the Nebraska Way

One year ago, a large part of Nebraska was severely affected by adverse weather. Western parts of the state were hit with an early snow storm, the central part of the state was pummeled by tremendous amounts of rain and northeast Nebraska was ripped apart by tornadoes.

The city of Wayne and Wayne County was probably the hardest hit area, but we cannot forget there was also much damage in Thurston County including the town of Macy.

Dixon County also did not escape the wrath of the storms.

Oct. 4, 2013 and its aftermath is a date and time that no one who was even slightly involved in will forget anytime soon. There was a great deal of damage and devastation, homes and business were destroyed, lives were changed and how God could allow these kind of things to happen was questioned. One thing I do not remember is a lot of hand wringing or questions of why me or why us. What I do recall

Legislative Update

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

is a lot of: "Do you have a place to stay?" "What do you need?" "What can I do to help?" "Where can we donate?"

Fast forward one year and look around at what has happened — not all of the scars are gone nor are all the shattered dreams of each individual completely restored, but what has happened is nearly miraculous.

First and foremost among the many good things is that people have come together. Folks who did not even know one another now call each other friend. People have found within themselves a strength and courage that they never knew existed. Life has a greater meaning to a lot of people than it did before "the storm." New buildings have sprung up to replace those that were destroyed, new businesses have come to Wayne and for the most part the "old" businesses have rebuilt better and stronger.

There is one glaring exception to this pattern, and that is too bad. Pacific Coast Pillow decided not to rebuild. While the jobs lost were — and are — a hard hit to the Wayne area, I truly believe that the greater loss will be to that company. Northeast Nebraska has, I think, the best labor force anywhere in the country.

While we were working to rebuild what was taken in the October storms, northeast Nebraska was hit again in June of 2014. Pilger in Stanton County was devastated and lives were lost. Farms in Wayne and Dixon counties were destroyed; Coleridge and farms in Cedar County were also hit. Once again we saw and are seeing the grit of the people of Nebraska. These people and places will also rise again, it is the NEBRASKA WAY.

Remove clutter to control those pesky spiders

This fall, when the weather starts to get colder, spiders will attempt to get inside buildings, homes and other structures.

Besides being a nuisance, spiders also can be harmful. There are about 2,000 kinds of spiders in the United States. Of these, only a few species are considered to have bites that are of medical importance. Spiders often are blamed for many more bites than they actually commit.

Most people get bitten because they are cleaning an area that has not been cleaned for a long time and they disturb a spider's web or nest. Although only a few spiders are toxic or cause allergic reactions, if one has been bitten, it can be important to save the spider for identification purposes.

Unlike the majority of spiders, black widow and brown recluse spiders are of concern because their venom contains toxins that can cause medical problems.

Black Widow

The female black widow constructs an irregular, tangled, criss-crossed web of coarse silk in an undisturbed place.

The venom contained by a black widow is even more toxic to humans than the venom of a rattlesnake. Fortunately, the dosage injected from the bite is very small. These are the common symptoms when bitten by a black widow: elevated blood pressure, nausea, vomiting, difficulty in breathing and profuse perspiration may occur in severe cases. Symptoms usually diminish within several hours and are gone after several days. Specific medications can be given by a physician that will reduce pain and reduce muscle spasms.

Brown Recluse

The brown recluse constructs an irregular web outdoors and indoors in undisturbed dry locations such as basements, garages, closets

Kim Bearnes
Extension Educator

and farm buildings. Brown Recluses tend to hide out in seldom-used clothing hanging in dark closets, in boxes of magazines, papers and other stored items, on the underside of furniture, in cracks and spaces around baseboards, around window and door facings, and in dark cellars and garages.

Most victims are bitten after they put on clothes stored in a secluded closet or that have been laying on the floors. Bites also can occur when cleaning closets or storage areas. Initially, there may be little or no pain from a brown recluse bite, but, over the course of several hours, an intense localized pain develops followed by inflammation of the area. Early diagnosis and treatment are essential to alleviate pain and speed healing of the ulcerated tissue.

Spider Control

A consistent presence of spiders in structures may be a sign of insect infestation because spiders cannot survive long without food. Reducing insect infestations also will decrease spiders. Habitat modification is the most important tactic for good spider control. Whether indoors or outdoors, most spiders prefer undisturbed areas.

Outdoors, remove debris near the building to disturb the habitat. Also remove webs in outdoor areas, especially porches, under eaves and other likely breeding places around the home. Inside, clutter in garages, basements, closets, and other storage areas should be removed.

Be sure to dust and vacuum frequently around windows, corner rooms, shelves, under furniture and behind mirrors and pictures. If you see sac spider capsules, remove them. It is a good idea to wear gloves when cleaning. Because most spiders enter houses through small cracks and crevices, sealing entry points with caulk will be the most permanent solution to spiders wandering inside in the late summer and early fall.

If you are concerned about spiders inside your home, place sticky glue boards in the rooms where you are seeing spiders, especially on outside walls and in closets. Take captured spiders to someone who can identify them. Check with your local extension office or UNL.

If you have an infestation of brown recluse spiders, you may want to work with a licensed pest control company — one who has experience treating structures for brown recluse infestations.

Congratulations Taylor Huck

~ Employee of the Month ~

"This Med Aid shows exceptional team work, a can do attitude, and willingness to learn. She is always there to provide assistance to our residents even when she is in the middle of a task. If something doesn't make sense to her she is the first to ask questions and owns her faults. Whenever there is a hole in the schedule or someone needing help covering a shift, she is reliable and flexible to help someone out. She is rarely seen without a smile on her face, and is always looking for ways to improve.

Taylor Huck is a valuable team player on The Oaks team and is much appreciated by her fellow co-workers. She truly lives out the family values each and every day!"

Supporting life

Residents of Wayne and several surrounding communities took part in the annual Life Chain on Sunday. Those attending gathered at the corner of Seventh and Main Streets in Wayne and formed a cross in all directions from that corner. They stood in silent prayer for one hour, holding signs in defense of life. Above, Ben Klein of Wakefield was one of those taking part. At right, Kevin Kielty and his father, John, hold signs, while acknowledging motorists who drove past during the event. This annual event is sponsored, in part by the Wayne Area Right to Life group.

"A Bit of Light"

The Women's Fellowship of Praise Assembly is inviting the ladies of the community to come to the monthly meeting at Praise Assembly of God Church in Wayne on Monday, Oct. 13 at 7 p.m.

Jim Cymbala, pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, says this about prayer: "Persistent calling upon the name of the Lord breaks through every stronghold of the devil, for nothing is impossible with God. For Christians in these troubled times, there is simply no other way." About the prayer meetings in his own church, Pastor Cymbala says that it is "the engine that drives the church – no matter how many or how few attend."

With this in mind, Pastor Jason Pickering felt the Lord impress him several months ago that the Wednesday evening (mid-week) 6:30 p.m. Adult Service at Praise Assembly of God should become an "hour of prayer," held in the sanctuary of the church.

Each week, people gather to worship the Lord, intercede for the needs of people in the church family and the community, and to ask God to intervene in the spiritual climate here in Wayne. Pastor Pickering – as well as the other pastors in this community – want to see the Holy Spirit freely stirring in the hearts of area residents. For 2 Peter 3:9 indicates that God wants all people to be able to come to faith in Christ. Everyone in the community is welcome to come to the weekly prayer meeting. At Praise Assembly of God, the congregation has come to believe that there is "Always More to Pray For!"

Concurrent with the prayer meeting in the sanctuary is a weekly "Kids' Praise" gathering for children in Grades K-6, led by Pastor Pickering, his wife, Jane, and Heidi Labs. This fast-paced weekly event includes crafts, songs, a Bible Study and treats – all aimed at children. It concludes at 7:40 p.m. so that adults and children leave at the same time.

This past Sunday morning, Pastor Pickering continued in the "James Series", beginning in chapter of that book. His message dealt with the tendency of people to judge and be harsh with each other, stating that the Biblical admonition is to not think "more highly of ourselves than we ought to think." It is easy to draw lines between ourselves – both in and out of the church – and to allow differences to make divisions that God does not want to happen. Why? In his four points, the Pastor gave his answers – found in the early part of James, chapter 2.

1. God blesses all people. In this passage, James is challenging individuals to stop making distinctions based on appearance or social standing and wealth. Above all, James tells the reader to NOT let pride get in the way.

2. Appearances are not all that they seem to be. Pastor Pickering reminded the listeners that, "when we begin to judge, then we get into careless thinking" and urged us to "not do something or say something that would be demeaning. It is so easy to judge other folks – as we try to put them into a realm either below us or above us." This kind of judgmental attitude inevitably creates divisions in the local church.

3. Pastor Pickering said that "God intended that the Church (with a capital "C") would be a class-free zone, without discrimination going on."

4. In his final point on Sunday morning, the Pastor said that "We must practice the royal law of love – and that means to love your neighbor as yourself."

Rev. Jason Pickering and the congregation of Praise Assembly invite everyone to join with us this weekend (Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. and Morning Worship at 10:30 a.m.; and the Wednesday evening prayer meeting and children's activities that start at 6:30 p.m.).

The event runs from 5-7:30 at The Barn, which is located four miles east and one-half mile south of the corner of Seventh and Main streets in Wayne.

The event will include food – soup, sandwiches and bars, along with hot cocoa and apple cider; and fun – log jousting and laser tag, outdoor Twister, produce launching, carnival games and crafts.

Dixon County Historical Society

The Dixon County Historical Society is excited about telling Allen that the Allen newspapers are digitized from 1892 to 1948. Anyone can research them on your own computer. We hope you enjoy finding what your families were doing during this time. These newspapers were copied from the newspapers that were stored on microfilm at Lincoln Archives.

We have also digitized Newcastle from 1895 to 1944 and Dixon-Concord from 1920 to 1942. They are on the same web site, dixoncounty.advantage-preservation.com/

Ponca and Emerson have their newspapers on microfilm at their own libraries and Martinsburg, Maskell and Waterbury did not have newspapers that were stored at the Archives.

Wakefield Gardner Public Library had Wakefield newspapers digitized that are online also. Go to Gardner Public Library and click on Wakefield Republican starting in 1892 to present.

So with 10 towns in Dixon County and three towns not having newspapers, the Dixon County history is out there for you to research. The Dixon County Historical Society is happy to do this for Dixon County families.

Northeast CC named military-friendly school

Northeast Community College has again been named to the Military Friendly Schools list by Victory Media, the leader in successfully connecting the military and civilian worlds.

Now in its sixth year, the Military Friendly Schools designation and list by Victory Media is the premier, trusted resource for post-military success. Military Friendly provides service members transparent, data-driven ratings about post-military education and career opportunities.

The Military Friendly Schools designation is awarded to the top 15 percent of colleges, universities and trade schools in the country that are doing the most to embrace military students, and to dedicate resources to ensure their success in the classroom and after graduation. The methodology used for making the Military Friendly Schools list has changed the student veteran landscape to one much more transparent, and has played a significant role over the past six years in capturing and advancing best practices to support military students across the country.

"We know the transition from military to civilian life is not easy. Add to that the stresses of enrolling and succeeding in college, and our veterans may feel overwhelmed at times. Helping them successfully make the transition from military to civilian to student life is the least we can do to thank them for their service to protect us and our freedoms."

"We are again honored to be designated a Military Friendly college," said Dr. Karen Severson, Northeast's vice president of student services. "We know the transition from military to civilian life is not easy. Add to that the stresses of enrolling and succeeding in college, and our veterans may feel overwhelmed at times. Helping them successfully make the transition from military to civilian to student life is the least we can do to thank them for their service to protect us and our freedoms."

The survey captures over 50 leading practices in supporting military students and is available free of charge to the more than 8,000 schools approved for Post-9/11 GI Bill funding.

The Military Friendly Schools designation process includes extensive research and a data-driven survey of schools nationwide approved for Post-9/11 GI Bill funding. The school survey, methodology, criteria and weightings are developed with the assistance of an independent Academic Advisory Board comprised of educators from schools across the country. The survey is administered for free and is open to all post-secondary schools who wish to participate. Criteria for consideration can be found at the website www.gijobs.com.

Victory Media is a service-disabled, veteran-owned business serving the military community since 2001. Its data-driven lists are published in G.I. Jobs, Military Spouse, and Vetpreneur media channels, republished in periodicals such as USA Today, Wall Street Journal, Fortune, Bloomberg BW, and frequently cited on national TV by NBC, ABC, CBS, CNN, CNBC, Fox News and others.

Dr. Severson said any current serviceman or servicewoman or veteran interested in enrolling at Northeast Community College should contact Karen Hoefler, associate registrar, at (402) 844-7730 or go online to www.northeast.edu/Records-and-Registration/Veterans.

Controlling broadleaves during the fall

Fall is the best time to control broadleaf weeds, whether in the lawn or pasture.

Mid-September through mid-to-late October is easily the best time to control weeds like dandelion, clover, and chickweed in lawns with an application of a broadleaf weed herbicide.

Why? Broadleaf weed herbicides are systemic and move through the plant in the phloem, which also transports photosynthate. The effectiveness of control increases when the herbicide reaches as much of the plant as possible.

In the fall, perennial plants are "preparing" for winter, translocating photosynthate and storage products to the crowns and roots. Herbicide applied in the fall will translocate with the photosynthate throughout the plant, thus usually causing a complete kill.

In early spring the weeds tend to be moving storage products from its roots and crowns to initiate leaves and flowers. Thus herbicide applied in the early spring tends to remain in the leaves, not translocating throughout the plant, and not providing nearly as effective long-term control as a fall application.

Fall applications have limited drift risks because most of the non-target susceptible plants have either lost their leaves, are dead or soon to be dead, or mature enough to withstand some limited drift. Plus, fall applications that control weeds allow turf to fill in this fall before crabgrass or other weeds germinate next spring. We normally will recommend treating well into late October.

This is also true with thistle control in pastures. October to early November is one of the best times to use herbicides for thistle control. Walk pastures and check those suspected infested areas soon. Look close. There will probably be many thistle seedlings. Most thistle seedlings this fall will be small, in a flat, rosette growth form, and they are very sensitive now to certain herbicides. So spray this fall and thistles will not be a big problem next year.

Several herbicides are effective and recommended for thistle control. Maybe the most effective is a newer herbicide called Milestone, or a combination of Milestone and 2,4-D called Forefront. Two other very effective herbicides are Tordon 22K and Grazon. But be careful with Tordon and Grazon since they also can kill woody plants, including trees you might want to keep. 2,4-D also works well while it's warm, but you will get better thistle control by using a little less 2,4-D and adding a small amount of Banvel or dicamba to the mix.

Other herbicides also can control thistles in pastures – like Redeem, Cimarron, and Curtail. No matter which weed killer you use, though, be sure to read and follow label instructions, and be sure to spray on time. Next year, avoid overgrazing your pastures so your grass stands get thicker and compete with any new thistle seedlings.

THANK YOU

With a heartfelt "THANK YOU" I would like to let each and every one of you who so kindly sent cards, gifts, memorials, food and expressions of sympathy in words and deeds, know how much it has meant to my family and me.

Just hearing many of you share how Tim touched your life has truly blessed my heart. Tim believed and lived out Galatians 2:20: "For it is not I that live, but Christ who lives in me". And it was this love for Christ that overflowed from Tim and was felt by all those he did business with, worked with, and everyone he met throughout his life since knowing Jesus as his personal Lord and Savior.

And now we thank and praise God, for because of Tim's decision to follow Christ and live for Him here on earth, he is now rejoicing with his Heavenly Father! (Romans 10:9-10)
God Bless you all, Yvonne Hansen and family
