Allen teacher suspended for test altering

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Officials at Allen Consolidated Schools expressed disappointment over the discovery that a teacher at their school compromised a statewide writing assessment of fourth-grade students at the school.

According to a final order by the Nebraska State Board of Education, the teaching certificate of Michelle Jacobsen was suspended for a year after it was discovered that she had corrected punctuation and capitalization on the tests of her fourth-grade students' state writing assessment tests during the 2013-14 school year. Jacobsen resigned from her job with Allen Consolidated Schools prior to the start of the 2014-15 school year in August.

"It's not something any school wants to have happen," said Mike Pattee, Allen superintendent of schools. "We pride ourselves on integrity and being honest, and this is not something we want to see happen."

"It's not something any school wants to have happen. We pride ourselves on integrity and being honest, and this is not something we want to see happen."

— Mike Pattee
Allen superintendent of schools

According to information obtained from the Nebraska Department of Education website, the mother of a fourth-grade student at Allen Consolidated Schools was told by her son that Jacobsen — who was also serving as the district's testing assessment coordinator — corrected capitalization and punctuation on his rough draft. This information was noted on documents filed by the state Department of Education's professional practices commission. A subsequent investigation by Allen school officials confirmed the parent's concern, finding that Jacobsen corrected mistakes on at least eight students' rough drafts, and had committed a similar infraction the previous year as well.

According to information in the 63-page electronic document obtained by The Wayne Herald, Jacobsen told school officials that she felt pressure for students to perform well on the statewide tests, which are submitted to the U.S. Department of Education as part of the state's "State of the Schools" report that is part of the federal No Child Left Behind Act. Allen school officials reported the incident to the state education office, and the district's fourth-grade writing test results were invalidated.

Jacobsen submitted her resignation to Pattee on Aug. 8 of this year. The resignation was accepted by the Allen Board of Education at its Aug. 11, 2014 meeting.

The professional practices commission, which is made of school administrators from across the state, rejected a request that Jacobsen's teaching certificate be revoked for a year, opting instead for a year-long suspension. That suspension was brought before the State Board of Education on Friday by assistant commissioner and chief of staff Brian Halstead, who noted that while there had been reprimands for other lapses of protocol documented in the past, this case was unique in that Jacobsen was the district's assessment coordinator and was fully aware of the protocol that was in place regarding the interference with students' taking of the test, meaning something stronger than a reprimand was needed as punishment.

After voting down a motion to revoke Jacobsen's teaching license, the board voted unanimously and ordered a one-year suspension of her teaching certificate, effective Nov. 7, 2014.

Pattee said the Allen school district is disappointed with what happened, and he said the district will work to correct the situation.

"Schools need to make sure they have proper protocols in place and make sure there are a number of people with oversight on the process," he added.

Wakefield school goes in lockdown

Authorities investigate self-inflicted shooting

Wakefield Public Schools was in lockdown mode on Wednesday as officials with the Nebraska State Patrol and the Dixon County Sheriff's Office investigated a death that happened on school property.

According to a news release from Dixon County Sheriff Dean Chase, a complaint of suspicious behavior on the property of Wakefield Community School was received Wednesday morning. An investigation revealed that an unidentified 20-year old male had died as the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

School officials placed the building in lockdown mode as a precaution, pursuant to school policy. Chase said that students and staff at the school were not in any danger and classes were running normal schedules.

The identity of the deceased is being withheld, pending notification of family. The Dixon County Sheriff's Office was assisted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, Dixon County Emergency Management, Wakefield Volunteer Fire and Rescue and the Nebraska State Patrol.

Christmas parade set for Dec. 4

The Wayne Community Christmas Parade Committee is conducting a special contest to encourage potential participants to pre-register their entry for the parade, scheduled to take place on Thursday, Dec. 4.

The 12th and 25th entry received that participate in the parade will receive $50 in Chamber Bucks. In addition, four at-large entries will be drawn and they will receive $25 in Chamber Bucks if they participate in the "Parade of Lights." The awards will be made the day following the parade at the weekly Friday Chamber Coffee.

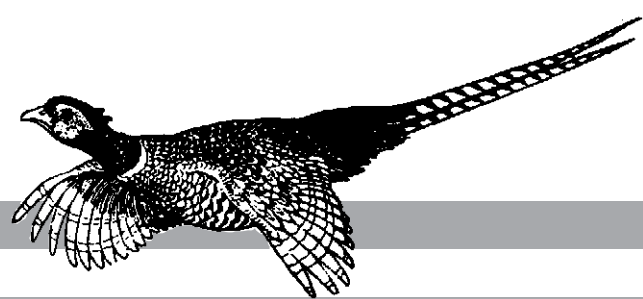

Parade chair Tony Kochenash said that the committee feels strongly that if parade entries pre-register, it will help the committee in planning. Although pre-registration is not required to enter the parade, it is encouraged. Those who chose not to pre-register are still welcome to join the parade and if they show up on West Sixth Street at or near 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 4, they will not be turned away.

Parade entry forms can be found in the November issue of the WAED "Wayne Works Exchange" newsletter. They can also be picked up at the WAED office or obtained by calling the WAED office for a copy to be e-mailed.

"Dec. 4 is creeping up, so it is important to make your organization's plan for a parade entry, fill out the entry form and get it to the WAED office by Dec. 2 or sooner," Kochenash said.

Harley Urwiler

Harley Urwiler, 96, of Laurel, died Thursday, Nov. 6, 2014 at Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

Services were held Monday, Nov. 10 at United Methodist Church in Laurel. The Rev. Jaime Farias officiated.

Harley Jay Urwiler was born Feb. 20, 1918, on a farm north of Laurel to James and Kathrine (Beckman) Urwiler. He graduated from Laurel High School in 1937 and began farming with his family near Laurel. Harley married Laverne Stoneburg on Sept. 10, 1962 at Dakota City. They farmed northeast of Laurel until moving to Hillcrest Care Center in the fall of 2008. Harley was an active 75 year member of United Methodist Church, serving on boards and enjoying the card parties. Harley was a devoted husband and father. He enjoyed farming, watching the crops grow, and caring for his well-fed livestock.

Survivors include his daughter, Jaylene (Joe) Bauerly of Sioux City, Iowa; sister, Phyllis Campbell of Laurel; brother, James (Mary Ann) Urwiler of Laurel; brother-in-law, Ralph Milliken of Laurel; sister-in-law, JoAnn (Kenneth) Huffman of Yuma, Ariz.; nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Laverne in 2010; brother, Adolph Urwiler; sister, LaVera Milliken; brothers-in-law, James Campbell, Vanner (Helen) Stoneburg, Bert (Gerry) Stoneburg; sister-in-law, Margaret (Robert) Stanley; and a niece, Colleen Knudsen.

Pallbearers were Terry Campbell, Tom Schmitz, Alan Quail, Tim Urwiler, Scott Urwiler, Tom Urwiler, Mark Ebmeier, Lathan Detlefsen and John Knudsen.

Memorials may be directed in care of the Hillcrest Care Center or a favorite charity.

Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery at Laurel. Hasemann Funeral Home in Laurel was in charge of arrangements.

John W. Berry

Former Wayne resident John W. Berry, 92, of Prescott Valley, Ariz., died at his home on Tuesday, Oct. 28, 2014.

Memorial services will be held at a later date.

Survivors include his wife, Judith Berry, and their family, his brother, Dick Berry, and several nieces and nephews.

Leather and Lace to hold dance in November

The Leather and Lace square dance club held their second October dance on Friday, the 24th and Jerry Junck was the caller.

There were 11 members present and 19 visitors were welcomed. The free pass went to Jerry Meyer and split the pot prizes to Rick Christensen, Jeanne Henery, Evelyn Velder and Sandy Kteswetter. The Leather and Lace banner went to the Single Wheelers.

The club will hold their November dance at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 14 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne with Dean Vederman as the scheduled caller. Vernon Bauermeister will be celebrating his November birthday on the 25th.

Dance lessons are also being organized in the area at this time and anyone interested in taking lessons may contact Pam Willers at (402) 375-4911 for more information.

Long Term Costs of our Garbage
Is there a better and cheaper long term way to get rid of some of our garbage?

We invited the Nebraska Recycling Association to do a "waste sort" to determine the general contents of the normal Wayne garbage flow. They sent a recycling consultant on Oct. 1, to monitor the contents of an average garbage day at the Wayne Transfer Station.

Their sampling found 42 percent of our normal garbage is paper fibers which includes cardboard and packaging. They also found 28 percent of our garbage sampled was food products, which come from homes, restaurants, grocery stores, schools, retirement centers and WSC food service. Nationwide average food content in normal garbage is 20 percent. Wayne has a little higher concentration of food service institutions.

A new alternative being developed for discarded food is to blend with grass, garden waste and shredded wood at a rural site to produce compost instead of burying in a landfill.

About 65 percent of our total garbage sampled has an existing recycling market. Although there is no way to sort out the food at this time, if the discarded food was also sorted out at the institutional locations, and recyclable materials were diverted back into the market, there could be a significant reduction in the cost to landfill our garbage. We don't know how to do this yet. We may try some demonstration projects to see what all is involved.

Scholarship presentation

A $1,000 Rotary Scholarship is given annually to a Wayne High School senior who attends Wayne State College. Anna Kruger of Wayne was the recipient of this scholarship for 2014. A $500 Wayne State Foundation Endowed Scholarship is given to a Rotaract member. Alyssa Bich, who has been very active in the WSC Rotaract organization, was the recipient for 2014. Wayne Rotary member Ric Wilson has assisted with the Rotary Scholarship Committee for many years. Galen Wiser currently serves as the president of the Wayne Rotary Club for the 2014-2015 term. The main fundraiser to help raise money for these Rotary Club scholarships will be a Potato Bake on Sunday, Dec. 7 from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium. Tickets are available at the door or may be purchased ahead of time from a Rotary member. Taking part in the scholarship presentation were (left) Galen Wiser, Ric Wilson, Alyssa Bich and Anna Kruger.

Salvation Army Kettle Campaign to begin soon

It is that time of year again, when in the hustle and bustle of the holidays, the sight of The Salvation Army's Christmas Kettles and the sound of the bells remind us to be thankful for what we have and to think of others less fortunate.

Often when people think of those in need, they picture the homeless in large cities, not realizing The Salvation Army is hard at work here in Wayne America.

As cuts in social services takes a toll on the poor-particularly the rural poor- The Salvation Army in Wayne is asking for our community support. Proceeds from the campaign help local residents with emergency rent, utilities and prescriptions.

The Salvation Army is a United Way Agency. Several local businesses have consented to have the Kettles on display. Businesses with Kettles are Wayne East, Shopko, Bomgaars, Quality Foods, and Pac 'N' Save.

The Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers have consented to bring their youth and parish members out to ring bells for an hour when possible along with a few Boys Scouts.

There still are vacant slots that need to be filled Friday evenings and Saturday mornings through the month of December. Any organization or individual interested in helping is encouraged to contact Phyllis Rahn at (402) 375-1667.

"Your assistance will be much appreciated," Rahn said.

In the past two years, the Salvation Army was one of the first agencies that were on the spot during our tornado disasters in 2013 and 2014. Please keep this in mind as you give this season.

Books for Kids

Members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club recently visited a number of daycare facilities in Wayne and presented each of the children under the age of five with a book. They were assisted in the project by members of the Wayne Action Club and the Wayne State College Circle K Club. Funds for the project were provided in part by a grant from the Nebraska-Iowa Kiwanis Foundation. Above, Kiwanian Ray McCalla reads one of the books to the two-year olds at Rainbow World.

Wayne State College International students to represent cultures

Wayne State College students will celebrate International Education Week, Nov. 17-21. The International Club of Wayne State College is sponsoring an International Education Week activity on Tuesday, Nov. 18.

Everyone is welcome to join the International Club in the atrium of the WSC Student Center from 3-5 p.m. to learn about diversity and the cultures represented on the Wayne State College campus. There is no admission charge.

"Our Wayne State College International Education Week offers an opportunity to celebrate the benefits of international education and exchange worldwide," said Ron Vick Sr., Wayne State College counselor and organizer for the International Club. "This joint initiative of the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Education is part of the efforts to promote programs that prepare Americans for a global environment and attract future leaders from abroad to study, learn, and exchange experiences in the United States."

For more information, please call (402) 375-7321 or check on the Internet at: wildcat.wsc.edu/clubs/international_club.

Briefly Speaking

Bridge played at Senior Center

AREA — Bridge was played at the Wayne Senior Center on Tuesday, Nov. 11 with eight ladies attending. Bridge was played at two tables.

Margaret Kenny was hostess.

Bridge will be played again on Tuesday, Nov. 18. Hostess will be Lucille Peterson. For reservations, call (402) 375-1858 by Sunday, Nov. 16.

Pet of the Week

This week's Pet of the Week at Tenderheart Animal Rescue is Smokey, an Australian Shepherd who took full advantage of the free feed at his former owners. Downtown holiday promotions coming up during December

The Wayne Community Christmas Parade Committee has added two new Holiday promotions for downtown Wayne.

The first special promotion will be held on Thursday, Dec. 11 from 7-9 p.m. It is being sponsored by Miss Molly's Coffee Shop and will be held in the back room of the business.

The promotion is entitled, "Have your Pet's picture taken with Santa." If you want your pet's picture taken with Santa, please bring him or her to the back alley door of the coffee shop between 7-9 p.m. The back door is required because of food serving laws.

A photographer will be available, but pet owners can also take pictures of their pets with Santa. Judging criteria has not been es-established as yet, but the top three judged pet owners will receive gift certificates from Miss Molly's Coffee Shop. Pictures will be posted in the store, with the owner's permission, for a period of time so all of Wayne can get to see the fun created by the pets.

Pet size is limited to donkey size or smaller and alligators, snakes, and venomous pets will not be allowed to enter.

The second special promotion will be held, a week later, on Thursday, Dec. 18 from 7-9 p.m. It is sponsored by the State Nebraska Bank and will be held in the back room of The Max.

The promotion is entitled, "Your Most Ugly Holiday Season Sweater."

All persons interested in joining the fun should congregate in the back room of The Max with their best (or worst) holiday season sweater.

Judges will be available and their decisions will be final. State Nebraska Bank will award $75 in Chamber Bucks to both the top men's and women's sweaters, $50 Chamber Bucks for the second-place finishers and $25 Chamber Bucks for the third-place finishers in the contest.

"So guys and girls, search your closets for that right Holiday Season sweater and join the crowd at The Max on Dec. 18," said Tony Kochenash, chair of the Holiday Parade Committee.

Energy Tip

Be energy-efficient on the range

What's for dinner? Around most homes, it's the most frequently asked question. If you plan on cooking, you likely have an opportunity to save energy while making the meal.

Webster's Dictionary defines "range" as the combination of a stovetop and an oven into one kitchen appliance. Even if you have a separate cooktop and oven, you still have the same opportunities to make your meal in an energy-efficient manner. Consider the following tips:

Match the amount of food to pan and element size. Using a pan capable of holding much larger quantities of food ends up requiring more energy than necessary to cook the food. Also, using a burner or cooking element larger than the selected pan also wastes energy. As an example, a 6-inch pan on an 8-inch burner will waste over 40 percent of the heat produced.

Select durable, flat-bottomed cookware. The best cookware has a slightly concave bottom, which when heated, expands and the bottom flattens out. An electric element or burner is significantly less efficient if the pan does not have good contact. For instance, boiling water for pasta could use 50 percent more energy on a cheap, warped-bottom pan compared to a flat-bottom pan.

Choose highly conductive materials. Some materials transfer heat more evenly than others and usually result in more evenly cooked food. Note that copper-bottom and stainless steel pans heat up faster than aluminum or tin pans. In the oven, glass or ceramic pans are typically better than metal. This allows the oven temperature to be set about 25 degrees lower and cook foods just as quickly.

Keep stovetop clean and shiny. When burner pans become blackened or the surface of cooking elements become tarnished, they can absorb a lot of heat and reduce burner efficiency. Clean and shiny reflects more heat up into the cookware.

Reduce cooking time. Defrost frozen foods in the refrigerator before cooking. This will often improve "doneness" consistency in the prepared food.

Minimize preheat time. All too often, cooks turn their ovens on to preheat to a specific temperature, and the oven reaches that temperature long before food is ready to be placed in the oven. This additional "unoccupied - at temperature" time results in wasted energy.

Keep racks clear. Don't lay foil over the top of oven racks as this will restrict air flow and increase cooking time. For the same reason, stagger pans on the racks to improve air flow.

No peeking. There is a logical reason as to why most ovens today have interior lights and a window in the door. Every time the oven door is opened, 25-50 degrees is lost.

Leftovers, please. By cooking double portions, all you have to do is reheat prepared food. If you have a microwave oven available, even greater energy savings can be achieved.

Reduce food size. Preparing individual servings when possible enables you to reduce cooking time. As an example, cooking a meatloaf in a full-sized pan takes 90 minutes, while cooking individually sized meatloaf portions in a muffin tin requires only 30 minutes of cooking time. Note that cutting up foods prepared on the stovetop benefit in the same way if pieces are cut to bite-sized as opposed to whole foods.

The Wayne High School One Acts competed at the Morningside College One Act Festival on Nov. 8. Schools competing were Homer, Wynot, Wayne, Fremont and Humphrey.

Wayne High School performed "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever." Four students were recognized for outstanding performances, including Ashlyn Pecena, Ky Kenny, Jack Tyson and Meg Osnes. Tyson and Osnes received scholarships for $5,000 each year, should they choose to attend Morningside College in Sioux City.

Other One Act members are Austin Hammer, Anna Loberg, Callie Brown, Claire Barnes, Destiny Bernal, Emily Claussen, Emma Loberg, Grace Heithold, Halie Chinn, Jaci Torres, Jack Osnes, Jayna Harycki, Jessica Kaus, Justen Stahl, Kendra Holt, Kimmy Holt, Mason Reynolds, Meg Osnes, Megan Duncan, Michaela Fehringer, Gabbi Miller, Mikayla Bartos, Octavia Pugh, Olivia Ficke-Anderson, Sarah Wibben, Sean Hochstein, Sylvia Jager and Tahlia Reynolds.

Wayne High School will perform at the Mid State Conference Festival at Norfolk's Johnny Carson Theater on Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 11 a.m. There will also be a performance for the public at the Wayne High School lecture hall on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7 p.m.

Replacing trees

Four trees were planted between the north fields of the Summer Sports Complex last month by Country Nursery. Six more trees will be planted next spring between the south fields. The areas between the fields have too many underground utilities for city crews to bring in larger trees with a mover so city crews are planting trees that can be hand planted in those locations. Hartington Tree Service also transplanted 26 trees around the west side of the fields and along the south edge of the parking lot. All of the tree plantings were paid for by a donation this past year from First National Bank Omaha Service Center. There will be enough funds left to plant additional trees on the east side of the fields after the location of a future storage building/batting cage facility has been determined.

Practice fire

More than 50 firefighters and instructors were on hand for a controlled house burn near Carroll. The group, led by instructors from the State Fire Marshal's Office, learned important techniques in dealing with a structure fire. Following the training, the house was burned to the ground.

Food Pantry, Coat Closet continue to support locals who are in need

As the temperatures plummet and the holiday season approaches, thoughts tend to turn to those less fortunate.

The Wayne Food Pantry and Coat Closet, both located in the basement of First Presbyterian Church in Wayne, have opportunities to assist those in need and those desiring to help.

According to statistics provided, as of the end of October, 107 requests for food have been received by the Food Pantry. This equals the number for the entire year in 2013.

In addition to the Food Pantry, the First Presbyterian Church serves as the central location for the organizing and packing of food items for the Backpack Pack program, which provides food for the weekend for students in need. The program involves students at Wayne Community Schools and Winside Public School. Both of these schools are in Wayne County and served by the Wayne Food Pantry also.

Since the beginning of the 2014-2015 school year, approximately 1,500 backpacks have been filled.

These statistics, and the fact that donations have been low in the past several months, have led the Food Pantry to have a need for a number of items.

These include canned vegetables, beans (dried or canned), soups, instant potatoes, canned fruit, macaroni and cheese, pasta, juice and canned or powdered milk.

"Those using the Food Pantry are allowed to get assistance up to three times a year and generally get a two-week supply of food each time. Our program is designed to help people get their feet back on the ground and is not a long-term solution," said Jenny Hammer, who oversees the program, which has been a joint effort of several churches in the community for nearly 30 years.

She noted that the Food Pantry provides both non-perishable food and a voucher to allow those using the Food Pantry to 'purchase' fresh items such as milk, hamburger and fruit. Funds for the vouchers come from monetary donations received by the Food Pantry.

"The Wayne community is usually extremely generous and we appreciate all the support we have received," Hammer said.

In addition to the Food Pantry, volunteers at First Presbyterian Church assist those in need of coats for the winter months.

Hammer said that so far this year, 137 coats have been distributed. In 2013, a total of 249 coats found new owners.

"We are thankful for the many coat donations that are coming in. We do have a particular need for children's coats and we also accept hats, gloves and mittens," Hammer said.

Hot hitting helped out by defense

Thoughts and observations while trying to adjust to the sudden temperature change:

– One of the things that I've always enjoyed about the kids who take part in athletics at Wayne State College is the way they can stay humble – even when they have every reason not to be.

The stat sheet the Wildcats have put out the last three games has a noticeable burn mark right in the center of it, the charred remains of a smoking-hot run of success for sophomore middle blocker Alyssa Frauendorfer.

Frauendorfer earned national Player of the Week honors this last week after having the kind of weekend that, I'm sure, every volleyball hitter dreams about. In games against Crookston and Bemidji, she recorded 29 kills in 42 attack attempts and had zero – zilch, nada, nuttin' – attack errors.

Most hitters would be giddy about hitting in the .250-.300 range. Frauendorfer's batting average for the weekend – a stunning .690.

And, in case you figured that it was just a case of taking advantage of two of the NSIC's weak sisters, she followed it up Tuesday by hitting .607, recording 17 kills in 28 attempts with nary a miscue.

Being able to nail 46 kills in 70 attempts (a .657 average overall), if you ask her, comes down to the help that comes behind her.

"It's fun, but it comes back to our defense because they do a great job putting the ball in Leisa's (McClintock) hands and she puts it where it needs to be," she said after Tuesday's performance.

That attitude is really typical of this entire Wildcat volleyball team, when you get down to it. Frauendorfer may have gotten the moment in the spotlight nationally, but these girls understand that it's a total team effort that has helped this team have the kind of success it's having this year and is gearing them up for a potential deep run into the NCAA tournament.

– Another volleyball tidbit: If you didn't get to see the team this season, don't worry . . . they'll all be back next year.

That's the impressive thing about this year's WSC volleyball team. There isn't a single senior on this team to provide any leadership. A little quirk in recruiting a few years back set up this scenario, and coach Scott Kneifl has the makings of what could be a special two-year run for this group of young ladies. The four juniors – McClintock, Courtney VanGronigen, Katie Hughes and Elizabeth Gebhardt – already make for a very impressive leadership foursome, and with another year under their belts, 2015 should be an amazing opportunity for this team.

Of course – they'd like to get the 2014 season finished first – preferably down in Louisville, Kentucky for the Elite Eight – but there's a conference tournament title to win first.

– I'll say this about Wayne State's effort Tuesday in the first round of the NSIC volleyball tournament: if they play defense like that this weekend, I wouldn't be the least bit surprised to see them upset at least one, if not both, of the higher seeds that they'll face this weekend.

There were so many "Did you see THAT?" moments cranked out by the back line of Courtney VanGronigen, Katie Hughes and Michaela Mestl in their win over Northern State that, after a while, it became comical.

I'm sure the Northern State coach wasn't too thrilled with the laughter coming from the press table, but I couldn't help myself after witnessing the kind of quick response the back row had to some of Northern's attacks. They were the kind of plays that normal human beings aren't supposed to make, and yet the WSC defense was more than up to the task.

With a defense like that, who knows what lies ahead for this talented team?

Defense leads Wildcat netters to NSIC semis

Of The Herald

Transition is the name of the game in volleyball, and Wayne State put on a clinic in the opening round of the Northern Sun Conference tournament Tuesday night.

The third-seeded Wildcats came up with an amazing 78 digs, many of them reaction efforts that were perfectly played into the waiting hands of setter Leisa McClintock, and they turned those opportunities into impressive offensive efforts to help seventh-ranked Wayne State dispose of a scrappy Northern State at Rice Auditorium, winning 25-10, 25-19, 19-25, 25-17.

The win moved the 25-5 Wildcats into the semifinals against second-seeded Concordia-St. Paul on Friday in Duluth, Minn., all but securing a trip to the Central Regional tournament in the process, and the win came as a result of a vacuum-like defense that set up an offensive attack that ended with four players recording double digits in the kill department.

"Our kids can play defense," coach Scott Kneifl said after the game. "Our middle backs, Michaela (Mestl) and Katie (Hughes) are two of the best in the country, and then you have Courtney (Van Gronigen) at left back. (Other teams) don't have an option. They have to hit it somewhere, and our team has been phenomenal the past couple of weeks at playing the ball up and transitioning it into our offense so we can get some aggressive swings at the net."

Wayne State got plenty of them Tuesday.

The Wildcats raced out to a 5-1 lead in the first set on kills by Elizabeth Gebhardt and Alyssa Frauendorfer, inducing a quick time out by the Wolves. After the game out, Geb-

Concordia sweeps in district finals

WEST POINT – The Wayne High volleyball team saw their 2014 season come to an end Friday in the C1-3 district final, as Omaha Concordia swept the Blue Devils in a 25-11, 25-14, 25-15 outcome at West Point-Beemer High School.

The Mustangs dominated from the outset and kept the Blue Devils from getting into a flow offensively to earn the trip to the state tournament.

Madison Frevert led the Wayne net attack with 10 kills, while Lexi Sokol had six, Tarah Stegemann put down two and Riley Nichols added a kill. Emma Evetovich had 18 assists.

Frevert and Sokol both had ace serves. Kylie Hammer led the defense with nine digs, Frevert added eight, Stegemann and Peyton Roach both had seven, Alyssa Schmale had four and Evetovich put down two.

Wayne ends the season as district runner-up with a 22-11 record. Omaha Concordia, 32-1, advances to the Class C-1 state tournament in Lincoln.

WAYNE STATE BASKETBALL TEAMS SET TO TIP OFF 2014-15 SEASON

Expectations high for WSC women

Expectations are high entering 2014-15 for the Wayne State College women's basketball team. The Wildcats return their top three scorers from last season's team that won a third Northern Sun Conference regular season title going 28-5 overall while advancing to the NCAA Div. II national tournament for the fourth time in the last five years.

Publications and coaches' polls also see big things for the Wildcats this season as WSC is ranked sixth in the Women's Division II Bulletin Preseason Top 25 and 12th in the USA Today Sports/WBCA Preseason Division II Top 25 Women's Basketball Coaches Poll. Wayne State is also picked second overall and first in the NSIC South Division in the NSIC Preseason Women's Basketball Coaches Poll.

"We have five returning players, three of which are seniors, that have a great understanding of our program," stated head coach Chris Kielsmeier, who is 144-40 entering his seventh season as leader of the Wildcats and 323-84 in his 15th season as a collegiate head coach. "We also have eight very talented newcomers that are trying to learn our system and program as quickly as they can. Our ability to teach the system and get them to come together to play well within it is very

The 2014-15 Wayne State men's basketball team has a number of new faces with eight incoming freshmen, and will be looking to show improvement as they build on last year's 9-19 record. The Wildcats begin the 2014-15 campaign on the road in Bartlesville, Okla., this weekend for the NSIC/GAC Challenge, facing East Central and Arkansas Tech.

Young men's team looks for growth

Courtesy Wayne State Sports Information

The Wayne State men's basketball team will mix five returners with nine newcomers that include eight freshmen for the 2014-15 season.

Brian Dolan posted a 9-19 overall record and a 5-17 mark in the NSIC last season in his first year as Wildcat head coach, highlighted by an 88-76 upset win at Bemidji State in the first round of the NSIC Men's Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats need to replace the top four scorers and rebounders from last year's team that accounted for 44.3 points and 16.7 rebounds a game. Gone from last year are guards Ty Bauschek (12.0/3.9 rpg) and Adol Aluong (11.8/3.8), forward Ryan Rolfzen (10.6/4.4) and center Jared Bartling (9.9/4.6), all lost to graduation.

The 14-player roster features three seniors, two juniors, one sophomore and eight freshmen.

Wayne State was already dealt a blow in the first week of the season when senior center David Andersen, who averaged 5.2 points and 2.7 rebounds in 25 games and 12 starts last season, suffered a season-ending knee injury that will take away a key player inside the post for the Wildcats this season.

Freshman Kinsey Clark was Wayne State's top finisher Saturday coming in 64th place to lead the Wildcat women's cross country team at the 2014 Northern Sun Conference Women's Cross Country Championships, hosted by Wayne State College and held at the Wayne Country Club.

Augustana won a tiebreaker over Minnesota Duluth to win the team title as both teams scored 48 points. Winona State was third at 87 with Mary (112) and MSU Moorhead (116) rounding out the top five. Wayne State was 15th with a team score of 385.

Jaden Wamstad (97th, 26:22), Molly Kingsley (100th, 26:29), Skyler Lippman (104th, 26:42) and Jordanna Trausch (115th, 29:24).

In the men's competition Wayne State placed 10th with a team score of 304 points.

Augustana captured the team title with 22 points with Sioux Falls in second at 46. MSU Moorhead (85), Minnesota State (91) and Minnesota Duluth (150) rounded out the top five teams.

Wayne State's top runner was junior Nick Fly, who crossed the line in 57th place out of 109 runners with a time of 27:19 on the 8,000-meter course. Right behind was junior Justin Brueggemann, finishing 59th in 27:25.

Other Wayne State finishers included Nathan Boggess (745th, 27:52), Corbin Lehn (80th, 28:09) and Nick Schmit (92nd, 28:47).

Wayne State will finish the 2014 season on Saturday, Nov. 22, hosting the 2014 NCAA Division II Central Region Cross Country Championships at the Wayne Country Club starting at 11 a.m.

Three Wildcats on All-NSIC team

Three Wayne State volleyball players were selected to the 2014 NSIC All-Conference Volleyball Team.

Sophomore middle hitter Alyssa Frauendorfer and junior setter Leisa McClintock received first-team All-NSIC honors while junior outside hitter Katie Hughes was a second-team All-NSIC selection.

Frauendorfer, a sophomore middle hitter from Humphrey, is a repeat first-team selection for the Wildcats, averaging 2.86 kills and 0.73 blocks per set this season. She has 13 matches with 10 or more kills, highlighted by a season-high 19 kills with eight blocks vs. Northwest Nazarene on Sept. 6. Frauendorfer leads the Wildcats in attack percentage at .294 and is second on the team in service aces with 27.

McClintock, a junior setter from Sioux City, Iowa, was a first-team All-NSIC selection this season after receiving second-team honors the last two seasons.

She ranks fifth in the NSIC with an average of 10.79 assists per set and has three double-doubles, including a pair of rare triple-doubles this season. McClintock had a season-high 58 assists with 11 kills and 12 digs vs. Northwest Nazarene on Sept. 6 and recorded 45 assists with 13 digs and 10 kills against MSU Moorhead on Oct. 4. She currently ranks fourth on the all-time assists list at Wayne State College with 3,386.

Hughes, a junior outside hitter from Seward, leads Wayne State in kills per set at 3.40 to go with 4.03 digs per set. She has 18 double-doubles on the season, including 10 of her last 11 matches. Hughes has 18 matches with double digit kills and nine in a row, highlighted by a career-high 20 kills at Bemidji State on Sept. 19. She has 10 or more digs in 22 matches with a career-high 28 digs at Minnesota Duluth on Oct. 31.

hard, Frauendorfer, Mestl and McClintock all recorded kills to fuel a 5-0 run that made it 10-2, encouraging another time out that did little to slow down the Wildcat attack.

Wayne State's defense made countless defensive plays that had to be seen to be believed, and that effort on the defense fueled a Wildcat offense that recorded 18 kills in the opening set on the way to a dominating opener in front of a reporter-estimated crowd of 350.

The Wildcats continued to dominate in the second set, then bounced back from a somewhat sluggish third set to put the Wolves out of reach and win the four-set match.

Wayne State's 67-kill effort was led by Hughes' 19 kills, part of her 18th double-double of the season that included 18 digs. Adding to the fun was Frauendorfer, fresh off being named the Div. II national Player of the Week, as she recorded her third consecutive match without an attack error, ending the night with 17 kills in 28 attempts for a .607 attack percentage.

"She's been playing fabulous," Kneifl said. "It's unbelievable that she hasn't had an attack error in three games, and when you add Katie, Michaela and Liz and they're all hitting well like they were tonight, you really can't key in on one player. They have to stop our entire front row, and right now teams are having a hard time doing that."

Frauendorfer was quick to credit the play behind her for helping to set up the opportunities she has been getting in the past week.

"Our defense really came out and played great tonight, and that helped set things up," she said. "It's fun, but it comes back to our defense because they do a great job putting the ball in Leisa's hands, and she puts it where it needs to be."

Hughes and Frauendorfer were joined by Mestl and Gebhardt with 13 kills apiece. Mestl also had a double-double with a team-high 22 digs on defense. VanGronigen added 20 digs and McClintock had 58 assists.

Tuesday's conference tournament win followed a pair of regular season-ending sweeps at home for the Wildcats, as they took care of Minnesota Crookston on Friday (25-17, 15-20, 25-14) and Bemidji State on Saturday (25-16, 25-16, 25-16) to secure the third seed for the conference tournament.

In the Crookston win, the Wildcats hit .398 as a team, led by Hughes' 16 kills and Frauendorfer's 14. Frauendorfer was 14-of-17 with no errors for a .824 attack percentage against the Golden Eagles. Hughes and Mestl had 14 and 12 digs, respectively, and McClintock had 38 assists.

In the Bemidji match, Wayne State hit .413 as a team, led by Frauendorfer's 15 kills. Hughes added 13, Alex Opperman had three blocks, Mestl had 14 digs and three ace serves, and McClintock had 43 assists.

The win sends the Wildcats up to Duluth for the semifinals and finals of the NSIC tournament this weekend. They'll match up with second-seed Concordia-St. Paul, a four-set winner over Minnesota State, in the first of two semifinals. The winner plays either top-seeded Minnesota Duluth or fourth-seed Southwest Minnesota State in Saturday's 4 p.m. championship match.

"It's perfect. That's who we want to play," Kneifl said of the semifinal matchups. "It's a catch-22 because we complain about how tough the league is, but that's what makes this sport fun. That team we beat (Tuesday) is a good team, and we know that if we can compete with Concordia and Duluth, we can compete for a national championship. We're going to go up to Duluth this weekend and try to bring home a conference championship."

WSC women's basketball tips off 2014-15 season at home this weekend important because of how tough our schedule is early in the season." Despite returning the team's top three scorers, the Wildcats must look to their eight newcomers to replace three-year starting forward Ellen Hansen, who graduated as the school's seventh all-time leading rebounder at 744; and starting point guard Addy Roller, who transferred to Drury (Mo.) after averaging 8.8 points and an NSIC-best 4.73 assists per game.

Headlining the Wildcat roster this season are three seniors, led by first-team All-NSIC forward Jordan Spencer. Spencer averaged 16.2 points and 6.2 rebounds per game last season and needs just 45 points to become the 18th player in school history to score 1,000 career points. Spencer scored double figures in 29 of 33 games last season and ranked among the NSIC leaders in scoring (eighth) and field goal percentage (fifth) making 51 percent from the field (200 of 392).

Also back is senior shooting guard Ashton Yossi, who averaged 11.5 points a contest last season and scored her 1,000th career point in the Wildcats' NCAA Div. II National Tournament win over Pittsburg State with a career-high 27 points. Yossi made 68 treys last season and needs 71 3's during her senior year to become Wayne State's all-time leader in career 3-pointers.

Last season, Yossi ranked ninth in the NSIC in 3-point field goals per game (2.06) and was 10th in free throw percentage at 85.2 percent making 69 of 81 free throws.

Millie Niggeling is the third senior back for the Wildcats this season, but will miss the first part of the 2014-15 campaign following off-season shoulder surgery. Last season, Niggeling was instant offense coming off the bench, averaging 11.3 points per game, scoring double figures in 22 contests while shooting 50 percent from the field (142 of 284) and 86.4 percent (51 of 59) at the free throw line.

Other returners for the Wildcats are junior center Katie Hoskins from Wayne and redshirt freshman forward Alex Nelson. Hoskins has battled injuries in her first two seasons at Wayne State and averaged 2.1 points and 2.3 rebounds in 15 games last season. She will be asked to provide leadership off the bench in the post area for the Wildcats this season. Nelson, a graduate of Papillion-LaVista, sat out last season as a redshirt and will compete for the starting forward position vacated by the graduation of Hansen.

Three transfers join the Wildcat program for this season and will be asked to contribute immediately.

Sadie Murren, a junior guard from Colon (Wahoo High), comes to Wayne State after playing the last two seasons at Nebraska and will step in at the point guard position for the Wildcats this season after averaging 2.6 points a game while playing just over eight minutes a contest for the Huskers last season.

Another Nebraska native, Haley Moore of Milford, transfers to Wayne State after playing one season at Division I Eastern Michigan. She played in all 31 games with three starts at Eastern Michigan last season, averaging 2.7 points a contest.

The third transfer is Lauren Davis, a 5-10 junior forward from Gillette College in Wyoming. The Loveland, Colo. native will provide depth at the forward position for the Wildcats.

Five high school standouts join the Wildcat program with a chance to gain experience and provide depth this season.

Paige Ballinger, a 6-1 forward from Pender, helped the Pendragons to four state tournament trips and one state title during her career that produced 1,432 points. Last season, Ballinger averaged 14.3 points and 8.0 rebounds per game to earn Class C-2 first-team All-State honors helping Pender to a 28-3 record.

Jasmin Bretoi is a 5-10 freshman guard from Lino Lakes, Minn., who was one of the top 3-point shooters in the state of Minnesota as a senior, draining 58 treys to rank ninth overall. She averaged 11.6 points a game last season while helping her team reach the Minnesota Class 4A State Tournament.

Kacie O'Connor, a freshman forward from Sundance, Wyo., was a three-sport standout in high school, winning state titles in golf and track as a discus thrower while earning multiple All-State honors in basketball. She scored 1,856 points during her high school career, averaging 22 points and 8.0 rebounds a contest to earn Wyoming Class 2A All-State honors.

Taylor Reiner is a center from Highlands Ranch, Colo. who will bring height and depth to the Wildcat post position this season. Last season, Reiner averaged 8.7 points, 5.9 rebounds and 1.5 blocks per game while helping her team reach the Colorado Class 5A State Tournament.

Maggie Schulte is a guard/forward from Wynot that had a storied high school career, helping the Blue Devils win four Class D-2 state titles. She was a first-team All-State selection all four years in high school and averaged 18.2 points and 6.8 rebounds a contest during her senior season and scored over 1,500 points in her high school career with a 100-15 record as a player.

"Our players have had a great preseason," said Kielsmeier. "They come ready to get better every day and that is all I can ask from them."

We are very excited for the start of the season."

Wayne State College will play 28 games in the regular season with 17 coming at home in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium, where the Wildcats are 70-5 in the last five seasons under Coach Kielsmeier.

The 2014-15 regular season and home opener is Friday at 6 p.m. when the Wildcats host Nebraska-Kearney in the NSIC/MIAA Cross-over Tournament. WSC will also face Northwest Missouri State in that event on Saturday at 4 p.m.

The Wildcats will also host non-conference games vs. York College (Nov. 19), Chadron State (Nov. 21), Peru State (Nov. 28) and South Dakota School of Mines (Nov. 30).

The Northern Sun Conference schedule expects to be tough again this year with Concordia-St. Paul and Northern State, teams that qualified for the NCAA Div. II National Tournament last season, expected to be strong again this year along with Augustana, Minnesota State and St. Cloud State, who each received votes in the USA Today Sports/WBCA Preseason Coaches Poll.

Wayne State faces a brutal start to the Northern Sun Conference schedule with three road games — at Augustana (Nov. 24), at No. 10 Concordia-St. Paul (Dec. 5) and at Minnesota State (Dec. 6). The Wildcats' first home NSIC game is Friday, Dec. 12 against Minnesota Crookston starting at 6 p.m.

"Our program goal athletically is to hang a banner in Rice Auditorium every year," commented Kielsmeier. "We expect to compete for a conference championship and play deep into March every year."

WSC ranked in latest coaches, regional polls

The Wayne State volleyball team enters the postseason as the No. 7 ranked team in the country, moving up one spot in the latest AVCA Div. II coaches poll.

Wayne State is 24-5 heading into the Northern Sun Conference tournament and is one of four NSIC teams among the top seven in the latest poll. Also in the poll from the NSIC is No. 2 Minnesota Duluth, No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul and No. 5 Southwest Minnesota State, who also moved up one spot in this week's poll.

Wayne State was fifth in the latest NCAA Div. II Central Region volleyball rankings released last Wednesday by the NCAA office in Indianapolis, Ind.

Minnesota Duluth and Concordia-St. Paul remained first and second, with Central Missouri moving up to third. Southwest Minnesota State slipped to fourth. Wayne State and Nebraska-Kearney stayed fifth and sixth, respectively, with Central Oklahoma moving into the rankings this week at No. 7. Washburn, Winona State and Minnesota State round out the top 10. The top eight teams advance to regionals.

Wildcats fall to top-ranked Mavericks

Top-ranked Minnesota State handed Wayne State a 49-0 setback Saturday in the final home game for the Wildcats at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne in the 26th annual Egg Bowl Game.

Wayne State forced Minnesota State to punt on their first two series. The Wildcats had a sustained drive on their second series of the first quarter and moved the ball from their own 11 to the Mavericks' 13, a drive that covered 13 plays and 76 yards, before the Wildcats turned the ball over on downs.

After a scoreless first quarter, Minnesota State got on the board with 13:18 to go in the second quarter on a two yard run by Connor Thomas for a 7-0 Maverick lead. Following a Wildcat punt, the Mavericks scored again on a 23-yard pass from Nick Pieruccini to Austin Rieder with 11:55 remaining in the half for a 14-0 Maverick lead.

On the next series, Wayne State started from their own 25 and consumed over six minutes on the clock, moving the ball to the Minnesota State 21 where the Wildcats failed to convert a fourth-and-4 pass play that gave the visitors the ball. The Mavericks then marched 79 yards on seven plays and used a Pieruccini 30 yard run with 3:06 to play in the half for a 21-0 halftime lead. Minnesota State scored on the opening drive of the third quarter for a 28-0 lead and added a 20-yard interception return by Kris Fleigle late in the third quarter for a 35-0 advantage.

Fourth quarter scores by Pieruccini on a six yard run and a three yard plunge from Chad Zastrow made the final score 49-0 and hand Wayne State its first shutout since a 35-0 loss to St. Cloud State in 2005.

Minnesota State held a 542-268 advantage in total offense over Wayne State. The Mavericks had 172 yards on the ground and 370 passing while Wayne State finished with 135 rushing and 133 passing.

Freshman Lane Yates was the top ground gainer for the Wildcats with 57 yards on 11 carries followed by sophomore quarterback Zach Osborn with 35 yards on seven rushes.

Throwing the ball, Osborn was 15-of-32 for 128 yards with one interception while Brody Rohach completed one attempt for five yards.

Brian Kent led the Wildcat receivers with five catches for 67 yards while senior Cole McDaniel was limited to three catches for one yard, marking just the second game this season that McDaniel did not have at least seven catches in a game.

Defensively, senior linebacker Nick Monzu paced the Wildcats with a game-high 13 tackles to go along with two sacks and three tackles for loss to be named Egg Bowl Most Valuable Player for the Wildcats. With his 13 tackles, Monzu becomes the 11th Wildcat player in school history to surpass 300 career tackles.

The Egg Bowl MVP for Minnesota State was sophomore quarterback

Nick Pieruccini, who completed 20-of-22 passes for 297 yards and one touchdown while adding another 91 yards rushing on 11 carries and three scores.

Wayne State, 5-5, (3-3 NSIC South), will close out the season Saturday with a 12 p.m. road game at No. 17 Sioux Falls.

Davis on academic team second time

Jon Davis of Wayne State was named to the 2014 Capital One Academic All-District Super Region 3 Football Team. It marks the second straight season that Davis has been honored for his work in the classroom and he now advances to the Academic All-American ballot.

Davis, a 6-foot, 180-pound junior defensive back from Webster City, Iowa, maintains a 3.94 grade-point average majoring in chemistry. On the field, he ranks second on the Wildcat defense in tackles this season with 59, accounting for 32 solo and 27 unassisted stops. He has one interception, one forced fumble, one sack and 2.5 tackles for loss for 12 yards.

Davis

Davis had a career-high 12 tackles in the Wildcats' 48-45 overtime win at Southwest Minnesota State on Oct. 25.

Fraundorfer earns NSIC, national honors

Wayne State sophomore Alysa Fraundorfer was named the Northern Sun Conference Volleyball Offensive Player of the Week, and was also named the AVCA National Player of the Week for her efforts this past week on the volleyball court.

The sophomore averaged 4.83 kills per set with zero attack errors in home wins over Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State. She hit an NSIC-high .690 in two matches with 29 kills and no attack errors on 42 attempts.

She had 14 kills, no errors on 17 attacks for a .824 percentage in a 3-0 sweep over Minnesota Crookston on Friday, then added 15 kills with no errors on 25 attacks in a 3-0 sweep over Bemidji State on Saturday. She also added five service aces on the week.

McClintock earns academic honors

Wayne State junior Leisa McClintock was voted to the Capital One Academic All-District VII Volleyball Team, receiving second-team honors.

The Sioux City Heelan graduate carries a 3.98 grade-point average majoring in exercise science and sport management.

McClintock averages 10.79 assists per set to rank fifth in the NSIC this season. She was named first-team All-NSIC this season after earning second-team honors the last two seasons. McClintock is a two-time NSIC Setter of the Week this season and currently ranks fourth on the all-time assists list at Wayne State College with 3,386.

Five Blue Devils on all-state team

Five Wayne High softball players were named to the Omaha World-Herald's All-State softball team in its Sunday edition.

First-team selections were pitcher Hannah Belt and shortstop Abbie Hix, while Danica Schaefer earned second-team honors at catcher.

Honorable mention selections were Ashton Gibson and Kennedy Maly.

Other seniors for the Wildcats this season are Patrick Kurth and Gary Ross.

Kurth is a center from Sioux City and was selected as Wayne State's Player to Watch in the NSIC this season. Last year, Kurth accounted for 3.8 points and 3.3 rebounds per game in 19 games off the bench. Coach Dolan says Kurth is coming off a great summer and is expecting great things from the post player this season.

Ross is a guard who played in 27 games last season with five starts, averaging 1.8 and 1.2 assists per contest.

Both juniors on this year's roster are coming off injuries from last season.

Jordan Holdsworth, a forward from Carroll, Iowa, is coming off a medical redshirt last season after suffering two knee injuries. In 2012-13 as a sophomore, he averaged 4.8 points per game and will add depth to the forward position for the Wildcats this season.

Jamie Pearson, a guard, was averaging 7.9 points a game last season until he suffered a broken foot in the first game following the holidays and missed the rest of the year.

The lone sophomore on this year's team is guard Joel Heesch. The Mauston, Wis. native averaged 3.6 points and 2.3 rebounds a contest last season while appearing in 25 games with 12 starts.

The eight-member freshmen class hails from the tri-state region with three players from Iowa and South Dakota and two from Nebraska and will be called upon to play immediately with several expected to start this season.

Dovydas Burneika (Parkview Christian) and JJ Zumbrennen (Elkhorn South) are the Nebraska recruits. Burneika is a center who will have to play in the post following the injury to Andersen, while Zumbrennen is a sharp shooting guard who helped Elkhorn South to a 26-1 record last season and a third place finish in Class B averaging 12 points a game while sinking 78 3-pointers.

Incoming Iowa players include guards Kendall Jacks and Austin Esters from Bettendorf and Trevor Haaland of Osage.

Jacks is a guard from Bettendorf High School who was a third-team Iowa Class 4A All-State selection as a junior and senior. Esters, a guard from Pleasant Valley High School, averaged 12 points a game as a junior and senior. Haaland is a point guard from Osage High School who averaged 21.5 points a game during his senior season to earn Iowa Class 2A third-team All-State accolades.

Jordan Cornelius is a forward from Sisseton who was a finalist for Mr. Basketball last season after averaging 21.4 points, 10.6 rebounds and 4.3 assists per game to receive Class A first-team All-State honors.

Another Mr. Basketball finalist from South Dakota that joins the Wildcats this season is Tyler Nagy, a point guard. Last season, Nagy was a First Team Class AA All-State selection with averages of 21.4 points a 3.5 assists per contest.

Trae VandeBerg, a guard from Madison, helped his team win back-to-back Class A state titles in South Dakota as a junior and senior. He averaged 17.7 points and 5.3 rebounds a game as a senior, shooting 54 percent from the field and 82 percent at the free throw line to earn Class A first-team All-State honors.

Wayne State was picked to finish 15th in this year's NSIC Men's Basketball Preseason Coaches' Poll released. The Wildcats open the 2014-15 season in Bartlesville, Oklahoma at the NSIC/GAC Crossover playing Arkansas Tech, an NCAA Div. II Tournament team one year ago; and East Central (Okla.) on Friday and Saturday.

Wayne State plays in another tournament on Thanksgiving weekend in Marshall, Minn., facing Northern Michigan and Michigan Tech, another NCAA qualifier from last year, on November 28-29.

Wayne State's first home contest is Thursday, Nov. 20 against Iowa Wesleyan in a 7 p.m. contest at Rice Auditorium. The Wildcats open Northern Sun Conference play with three straight games on the road, starting at Augustana on Monday, Nov. 24, the first of seven straight games on the road for Wayne State.

Dictionary presentations

Thanks to the Wayne Rotary Club, third graders in area schools have received new dictionaries that belong to them. Local students receiving the dictionaries included the following schools: Wayne, Wayne St. Mary's, Winside, Wisner-Pilger, Pender, Emerson-Hubbard, Wakefield, Allen, Laurel-Concord Coleridge. The goal of this project is to assist students to complete the school year as good writers, active readers, and creative thinkers by having their own personal dictionary. The Wayne Rotary Club has given away 1,995 dictionaries since 2007. The Rotary Dictionary Project is striving to give every third grade student in the U.S. his or her own dictionary. To date over seven million children have received a dictionary. This is thanks to the generosity of sponsors, such as Rotary, who have participated in the project. Top left photo, the students in Mrs. Wendte's class show off their dictionaries. With them is Rotarian Bob Ensz. Also making the presentation to this class was Rotarian Anne Nolte. Top right, the students in Mrs. Sims' class pose with their new dictionaries and Rotarians Ann Witkowski and Jack Imdieke. At right, Rotary members John Fuelberth and Darrell Miller presented the dictionaries to Mrs. Garvin's third grade students.

Students learn about being Money Smart

Being smart about money isn't always easy. Staying smart about money can be even harder and that's why banks, businesses, schools, libraries and other organizations teamed up together Nov. 3-9 to present Money Smart Week in Nebraska.

During the week Wayne High School students in Mrs. Rasmussen's Personal Finance/Econ class also celebrated Money Smart Week. They held a daily money trivia contest for the high school; created posters, flyers, and bulletin boards; learned about federal reserve banks; worked on their checkbook simulations (provided by State Nebraska Bank); invited a guest speaker, Mr. Matt Ley, CEO of State Nebraska Bank to come and talk to the class about banking services; participated in the finance challenge online competition; created lessons utilizing children's books that taught money management and savings to elementary students; and played money bingo.

Money Smart Week is coordinated by the Nebraska Financial Education Coalition, a non-profit coalition created to help Nebraskans of all ages improve their level of financial literacy and to assist consumers better manage their personal finances.

For more information about money smart week visit www.moneysmartnebraska.org.

Taylor Anson to be part of All-State Chorus

Each year, approximately 3000 of the best high school musicians in the state audition for the Nebraska All-State Band, Chorus, Jazz Band and Orchestra which are sponsored by the Nebraska Music Educators Association. Selection as a member of one of these groups is one of the highest music honors attainable in Nebraska.

Mark Harmon, Chair of Choral Affairs for the Nebraska Music Educators Association, has announced that Taylor Anson will be among the 440 students selected to be a part of the 2014 All-State Chorus: Bass I.

Taylor is the son of Corey and Michelle Anson of Winside. He is a junior at Winside Public School and has participated in Vocal Music for 3 years and received 1's at District Contest. Taylor is a three year member of Clark Conference Honor Choir and sang in the Honor Choir at the UNK Band and Choral Festival in 2014. He was an alternate to All-State Choir in 2013. Taylor's vocal Director is LeNell Quinn.

Guest conductor for the group will be Craig Jessop, Dean of the Caine College for the Arts at Utah State University and also Music Director of the American Festival Chorus and Orchestra. The chorus will rehearse Wednesday, Nov. 19-Friday, Nov. 21 on the University of Nebraska Lincoln campus, the host site of the NMEA Conference Clinic.

A final public concert will be held on Friday, Nov. 21 at the Lied Center for the Performing Arts on the UNL campus.

Wayne State College students to collect food for local food pantry

Wayne State College students to collect food and other items for local food pantry on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 19 and 20 for the "Cram the Van" effort.

Students will be helping individuals stock the van at Shopko on Nov. 19 from noon to 6 p.m. and Pac 'N' Save on Nov. 20 from noon to 6 p.m.

"Our aim is to help stock the Wayne food pantry," Dr. Todd Greene, Assistant Professor of Sociology said. "The annual 'Cram the Van' community collection drive helps the Wayne Food Pantry and Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency provide food and goods to needy families in the area. Hunger and Homelessness is a national awareness campaign to address poverty issues. It takes place each year in November."

Dr. Jean Karlen professor of Sociology began a WSC Cram the Van to help stock the food pantry a decade ago, and this tradition has been carried forward by Todd Greene.

People are urged to help "cram the van" with donations of food, clothing, personal hygiene items, and other household non-perishables. Sociology students will be on hand to distribute information flyers and collect donations.

Institutional funding provides support for Service-Learning at Wayne State College.

For more information, contact Dr. Todd Greene, Assistant Professor of Sociology at WSC (402) 375-7296 or Lisa Nelson at (402) 375-7182.

Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends to present concert at WSC

The Wayne State College Department of Music will present Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends No. 14 on Monday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Ley Theatre.

The concert will feature various Wayne State students, faculty and members of the Wayne community in vocal and instrumental music selections. Performers will be accompanied by WSC staff accompanist Philip Pfaltzgraff.

This family-oriented event will last approximately one hour and is free and open to the public. The concert will also conclude with a "sing-along" for the entire audience.

Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends performances take place twice each year at Wayne State College. The fall concert includes music from musical theatre repertoire, and the spring performance, titled "I Don't Play This Instrument," features performers who are in the rudimentary stages of learning instruments.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

It will be a . . .

Here are some personal items and other acts of random silliness flushed from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- An update on my eventual membership in the wonderful world of grandparenthood: this past Friday, my daughter had an ultrasound and was able to determine whether my first grandchild will be wearing a football helmet or a cheerleading skirt on fall Friday nights.

Some would-be parents are traditional in wanting the new arrival to be a surprise, but I was happy when Kylie told me that she and her husband, Dan, wanted to know ahead of time so they could paint the baby's room the right color and get everything ready ahead of time. (I also told her this saves nine months worth of arguments between the expecting parents, as this is something her mother and I argued about from the moment we knew we were with child . . . it still bothers me, to this day, that she won all the arguments - which might explain why I'm still single 20 years after we divorced, but I digress.)

To let the soon-to-be grandparents, uncles and aunts know what was coming, Kylie and Dan baked cupcakes and put frosting in the middle that would let us know whether it was a boy or a girl that will be on the way next March.

And the winner is - it's a girl.

I must admit that I was a little bummed out, but it's natural for the grandpa to want a grandson to come into the family. I'm tickled to know that Emmalynn Marie Negrete is healthy and happy, and will be joining us here in the real world in a little more than four months from now.

- Nobody was more giddy about the announcement of our grandbaby's gender than my ex-wife.

When she saw the pink frosting inside her cupcake, I thought she was going to go into orbit. Her eyes welled up and she clapped her hands like a giddy schoolgirl as she hugged our daughter. She's a big fan of girly stuff, so I'm sure she's already burning up her credit cards at Babies R Us, or whatever toddler-apparel stores are around the Omaha area, as we speak.

Of course, the grandpas, uncles and great uncles WILL have an influence on the granddaughter's upbringing and will make sure she is well versed in the things that are of utmost importance to a girl growing up in Nebraska - things like Husker football, outdoor sports, Husker football, sports in general . . . did I forget to mention Husker football?

And before you think this is going a little too far, don't worry - the expecting mom is a HUGE football fan and has already informed us that any and all baby-related football gear can carry the insignias of her favorite team (New Orleans Saints), her husband's favorite team (New England Patriots) or the Nebraska Cornhuskers. She has made it clear that any gear containing Iowa Hawkeye or Seattle Seahawks logos WILL be burned, and anybody who dares bring Dallas Cowboys gear will be shot on sight.

- I'm not sure if news of my grandchild's upcoming arrival has hit the malls yet, but it shouldn't be long before they see a major uptick in sales, especially at places like Herberger's and JC Penney's.

My daughter was the first grandchild for my mom, and when Kylie came into the world, the one thing her mother and I never had to worry about was whether she had something to wear - because Grandma King's credit card became the most-used financial transaction device at Norfolk's Sunset Plaza from the moment she was born until Kylie's 13th birthday.

My mother is an unapologetic shopaholic, and when it comes to her grandkids (all four of them), there is no clothing store that she can walk by without looking in the kids' aisles for a new dress, polo or pair of jeans. She single-handedly kept the clothing stores in Norfolk afloat throughout much of the 90's and early 00's.

My former spouse and I learned, rather quickly, that when Grandma came to pick up Kylie for a week-long or two-week visit, there really wasn't any need to pack more than 1-2 days' worth of clothing. We tried packing a full two weeks' worth once - only to discover that not only had the suitcase never been opened, but there were about a dozen plastic bags full of brand new clothes coming home, the result of a shopping spree the likes of which mortal man is not accustomed to witnessing.

Now that the first great-grandchild is on the way, you can bet my mom has already spent a lot of time - and money - buying clothes for the new arrival. I just hope she's got a high limit on that Visa.

- The only concern that I have with the upcoming birth is the timing.

My daughter's due date is Saturday, March 21, which is three days before the start of the NCAA Div. II Elite Eight tournament.

The bad news is that, if the birth day is a few days late, I may have to bounce back and forth between the two events if the Wayne State women's basketball team makes it to the tournament. The good news is that the tournament is just up the road in Sioux Falls, S.D., so I'll be able to commute between the two sites.

As the lone sports writer on staff, it presents a potential challenge for me to be there for my first grandbaby while, at the same time, covering the Wildcats in their pursuit of a national title. We'll just hope for the best - which would include either an early birth and a late game, or vice versa (with wins in both venues, of course).

On the other hand, if Emmalynn follows her mommy's lead, she'll come around a week later and we won't have to worry about four-hour commutes - although it might be a rough trip if it comes the day after celebrating a national championship.

Capitol View

Well, wasn't THAT a surprise?

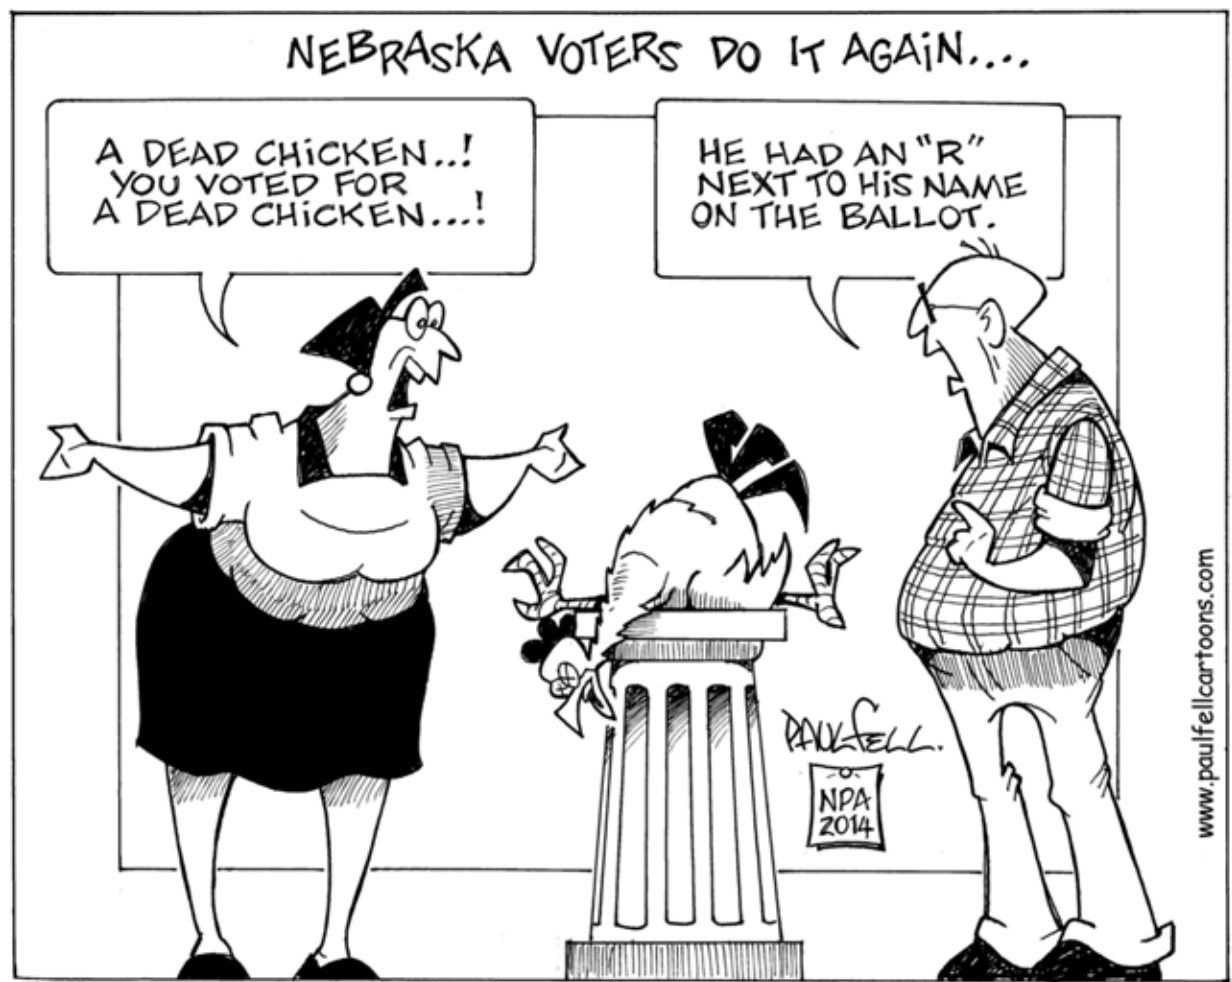

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Nebraskans have elected another Republican as governor. Oh boy. Nothing like celebrating the status quo. There hasn't been a Democrat in the Governor's Mansion in Lincoln since Ben Nelson spent some time there in the 1990s.

Early indications are that this new Republican Governor doesn't plan to spend much time there either. He said he expected to spend most of his time in Lincoln (read that, in the office). But the beautiful two-story Georgian style brick mansion on H Street will likely just be used for formal events. Governor-elect Ricketts expects to keep his family in place in Omaha.

If you've been paying attention, you know that you can count the number of Nebraska Democrat Governors in the last 54 years on one hand. There have been five since Ralph Brooks, a Democrat, died in office in 1960 and was replaced by Republican Dwight Burney who was replaced 9 years later by Democrat Frank Morrison. Morrison served three 2-year terms through 1967 and was replaced by Republican Norbert Tiemann who served one term 1967-1971 and was replaced by Democrat J. James Exon who served two terms from 1971 to 1979.

Exon was replaced by one term Republican Charlie Thone who lost re-election to Vietnam War veteran, Democrat Bob Kerrey. Kerrey announced that he was tired of the office after one term and Republican Kay Orr was elected in the nation's first all-female contest (she defeated Democrat Helen Boosalis). Democrat Ben Nelson defeated Orr in 1990 and served two terms until 1999. Republican Mike Johanns who served one term and two years of the next before resigning to become U.S. Agriculture Secretary replaced him. He was replaced by Lt. Governor Dave Heineman who was re-elected twice and has been the longest serving governor in Nebraska history.

The Associated Press recently revealed that about 48 percent (559,494 people) of registered Nebraska voters are Republicans, while Democrats account for nearly 31 percent (357,899) and Independent voters make up 20 percent (235,984). In 2014, Libertarians accounted for the balance with 5,708 registered voters.

A report from the Nebraska Secretary of State said that the Independent voter ranks have swelled 11 percent since the last nonpresidential election year and that Republicans have grown by 2 percent. The number of Democrats has declined in every election since 2008.

In other election news, Republicans also took the top constitutional offices. Nebraska's next Attorney General, Auditor, Secretary of State and Treasurer will all be Republicans.

The last time Nebraska had a Democrat Attorney General was Harold Caldwell who served for 31 hours in 1951. Before that it was Richard Hunter who served from 1937 to 1939.

There hasn't been a Democrat State Auditor since John Breslow in 1991 to 1999. He won as a Democrat and changed his party affiliation to Republican. Former State Senator Kate Witek of Omaha was elected Auditor as a Republican in 1999 and switched her party affiliation to Democrat. She served until 2007. Before that, William Price was the last Democrat Auditor from 1937 to 1939.

There hasn't been a Democrat Secretary of State since Harry Swanson in 1941. There hasn't been a Democrat State Treasurer since Dawn Rockey served from 1991 to 1995.

Nothing to see here folks. Move along.

Legislative Update New representation elected to Legislature

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, 25 legislative seats were up for grabs. Of those 25 seats, 17 were open because of term limits and now have newly elected senators.

Five of the newly elected senators represent districts in the Omaha area. They are Robert Hilkemann, Joni Craighead, Merv Riepe, Brett Lindstrom and John McCollister. Matt Hansen, Patty Pansing-Brooks, Roy Baker and Adam Morfeld were elected to represent Lincoln area districts. The remaining members of the newly elected class are: Mark Kolterman of Seward, Laura Ebke of Crete, Curt Friesen of Henderson, Matt Williams of Gothenburg, John Kuehn of Heartwell, Michael Groene of North Platte, Dan Hughes of Venango and John Stinner Sr. of Gering. I would like to congratulate all of the newly elected senators, some of whom were in some hard fought battles for their seat. I look forward to getting to know all of them.

Additionally, three of the senators that currently represent districts that surround District 17 were up for reelection. Sen. Lydia Brasch, District 16, Sen. Paul Schumacher,

Partners in Education

We at First Nebraska Bank of Wayne care about the future of Wayne Community Schools. To do our part, we are going to donate $1.00 each quarter for every student in Grades 7-12 who make the Honor Roll during the 2014-2015 school year. At the end of the year, the money earned will be used toward the purchase of materials to enrich the academic program at their schools.

Below are the names of the students making the first quarter Honor Roll!!

So much to be thankful for with 4-H School Lunches

*I pledge my head to clearer thinking...
My heart to greater loyalty...
My hands to larger service...
My health to better living...
For my club, my community, my country, and my world.*

This pledge has been said thousands of times by youth across the county. These words hold such strong meaning and really are something to be proud of. 4-H allows youth to believe in themselves, to understand the importance of volunteering to build a strong community, and instills in them the values of hard work, dedication, and perseverance.

Many people think 4-H is all about children and their farm animals; however, that is far from the truth. The 4-H Program is a community of young people, ages 5-19, across America who are learning leadership, citizenship, and life skills. 4-H empowers youth to reach their full potential working and learning in partnership with caring adults. 4-H is education for life that uses a learn-by-doing approach.

In Nebraska, 4-H is present in all 93 counties across the state.

What you do in 4-H is really up to the youth and their parents. Youth are able to customize their experiences by participating in traditional clubs, after-school groups, school enrichment, and 4-H events. Youth have the opportunity to make 4-H whatever they want it to be, trying new things until they find their niche.

Jackie Steffen

4-H prepares young people for higher education and potential careers. 4-H does this by emphasizing life skills, such as critical thinking; problem solving; respecting self, others, and the environment; communication; serving others; choosing healthy lifestyles; and managing change and challenges. 4-H also provides youth the opportunity to meet people across one's community, county, the state, nation, and even the world!

As the holidays draw nearer, we have so much to be thankful for in 4-H: our youth, club leaders, volunteers, and parents. They truly "live" the 4-H pledge. What a benefit to our communities.

Thanks to all of you as you strive to promote 4-H in Nebraska.

Acme Club sees highlights of Washington D.C. at meeting

The Acme Club met Nov. 3 at the Wayne Senior Center for lunch, with eight members present. Verdelle Reeg was the hostess.

President Joann Temme presided at the meeting. Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the Day, "Helpful Hobbies." Hobbies can be a good way to take the drudgery out of the day-to-day work. It takes over thoughts off pressing problems. Our minds relax and we find creative solutions to long-standing dilemmas. Leisure is needed to enhance our enjoyment of life and loved ones.

The for the program, Pat Straight told about the recent tour she took to Washington, D.C. She visited 11 states in nine days.

The first night was spent in Indianapolis and seeing the museum at Speedway. They stayed three days at Sterling, Va. While there, they saw the Visitor Center at the U.S. Capitol, toured the Library of Congress, Supreme Court building, took pictures outside the White House fence, did sight-seeing around the Ford Theatre, the National Cathedral and Smithsonian.

They viewed the Jefferson Memorial, Kennedy Center and Iwo Jima Statue at night. At the Arlington National Cemetery they saw the changing of the guard.

Other sights visited were the Women in the Military Memorial, Mount Vernon for a day, Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson and the Kentucky Museum at Churchill Downs.

Mrs. Straight closed by saying it was "delightful trip with enjoyable people, a good guide and bus driver."

The next meeting of the Acme Club will be Monday, Nov. 17 with Delores Utecht as the hostess.

Wayne State College student Allison Booras of Norfolk (left) talks with Brooke Stover during the college's Shirtsleeve Workshop in Gardner Auditorium on campus on Nov. 10. Special guest speakers were Wayne State alumni Brooke Stover, Creative Strategist at Yahoo; Matt Kneifl, financial advisor at Edward Jones; and Brett Kramer, agent at Northeast Nebraska Insurance. The workshop featured questions and answers regarding resumes, interviews, tips to help in job searching, business and educational questions.

Variety of celebrations at Praise Assembly

Praise Assembly of God Church in Wayne) is celebrating during the month of November in a variety of ways.

Sunday, Nov. 16 will be the annual "Great Missions Ingathering." This is an annual event, taking place during the weeks leading up to Thanksgiving.

The celebration focuses on the role of the local church as it is part of the "Great Commission" of Jesus: to spread the gospel, to teach all people the Good News of salvation in Jesus, to make disciples for the Lord. Another term for this call is "World Missions". Praise Assembly currently pays a portion of the monthly support for a number of ministries and missionaries in various parts. So we regularly hear from these individuals in monthly reports about the progress - and the needs of these worldwide as well as local outreach endeavors.

The congregation will join in worship and prayer - as well as a "Fellowship Dinner" at the church. The culminating part of the "Great Missions Ingathering" will be to make "Faith Promise Pledges" for financial giving for the next 12 months. It is a wonderful day at the church.

Sunday, Nov. 23 is the Sunday before Thanksgiving Day. It will be a time for the local congregation to "be thankful" in the morning service. It will also be a great evening for the entire Wayne community to come together at 5 p.m. at First United Methodist Church in Wayne for the annual Community Thanksgiving Service. This is always followed by a soup and pie supper.

Sunday, Nov. 30 is the beginning of the unique observance on the "church calendar" of a season called "Advent", referring to the four weeks prior to Christmas Day. Typically at Praise Assembly this involves decorating the church in a way that celebrates the coming (or "advent") of Jesus to the world.

Sunday, Dec. 14 will be the annual Christmas Program, featuring the children of the church in a presentation of readings and songs.

Everyone in the community is welcome to join the congregation of Praise Assembly of God as they worship the Lord in these special weeks and celebrate His goodness. Members meet together on Wednesday evening for "Kids' Praise" (grades K-6) and the Prayer Meeting (from 6:30-7:40 p.m. each week). On Sunday mornings, the schedule starts with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. and Morning Worship at 10:30 a.m.

Diabetes program focused on carbohydrates

The Control Diabetes for Life program on Wednesday, Dec. 3 will be offered from 1:30-4 p.m. at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, 215 N. Pearl Street in Wayne.

Carbohydrates are your body's main energy source. During digestion, sugar (simple carbohydrates) and starches (complex carbohydrates) break down into blood sugar (glucose). If you consume too much carbohydrate-rich food at one time, your blood sugar levels may rise too high, which can be problematic. Monitoring your carbohydrate intake is a key to blood sugar control, as outlined in a plan by your doctor or dietitian.

Carbohydrates are found in lots of different foods. But the healthiest carbohydrate choices include whole grains, vegetables, fruits, legumes, beans, and low-fat dairy products. Learn tricks for counting carbs in hard-to-guesstimate dishes, such as casseroles, salads, and pizza. Plus, find more carb-counting tips to help you stick to your diabetes meal plan.

The Dec. 3 session of Control Diabetes for Life will help participants take a serious look at how to incorporate carbohydrate counting especially focusing on the challenges of combination foods into their diabetes self-management plans.

Deborah Willcox, R.D., L.M.N.T., will discuss the importance of oral dental care for those diagnosed with diabetes. Knowledge is power and learning all that you can about diabetes and the latest research details related to diabetes will help those with diabetes to hold their blood sugar levels in tighter control and improve their dental health.

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and Franciscan Care Services invite you and your family members to participate.

Wednesday, Dec. 3 is the third session of three programs in the 2014 series. Topics that will be addressed during the two-hour program are: The Latest in Diabetes Research; Types of Diabetes; Carb Counting Refresher focusing on Combination Foods; and Making Peace with the Food Cops along with other helpful hints. Participants will receive recipes for a diabetic appropriate foods.

Team teaching the program will be Deborah Willcox, R.D., LMNT, and Stacie Petersen, B.S.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator both of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra Schroeder, UNL Extension Educator in Cuming County. The team has over 20 years of experience in teaching diabetes programming.

Participants are asked to pre-register for Control Diabetes for Life by calling the UNL Extension office in Wayne at (402) 375-3310.

Please register by Monday, Dec. 1 so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits.

This program is offered free-of-charge by UNL Extension and Franciscan Care Service of West Point.

WHERE HOME IS
THE CENTER OF CARE

Between 2010 and 2030, the population of Nebraskans age 65 and over is expected to grow by 75 percent.

Members of the Nebraska Association of Home & Community Health Agencies (NAHCHA) are equipped to deliver skilled, high-quality, cost-effective healthcare to our state's aging citizens in the comfort and safety of their homes. Home health agencies help Nebraskans save a significant amount of money by preventing emergency room stays and re-hospitalization. Home healthcare is the most economical healthcare choice, representing about 10% of institutional costs.

NAHCHA member agencies deliver high-quality, skilled healthcare to Nebraskans in the safety and comfort of their homes. Services include: wound care; catheter care; IV therapy; injections; tube feedings; medication set-up; disease management; care for patients with cardiac, cardiopulmonary and orthopedic disorders; personal care; and medical social services.

Our members have the training and ability to provide compassionate patient-centered care that allows you, or your loved ones, to remain independent at home.

Community Club Fundraiser
 The Allen Community Club is selling raffle tickets for a black, white, and tan paisley-material quilt made by Sharon Sullivan and Cindy Kraemer.

Tickets are one for $2 and six for $10 and are available for purchase at the bank and at home volleyball and basketball games. The winner will be drawn at the Monday, Dec. 15 Christmas concert. The income from this fundraiser will be used to pay for the edging around the new playground equipment.

Springbank Township Library
 Steph Jorgensen called to order the regular meeting of the Allen Springbank Township Library on Nov. 6 at the library.

She conducted a roll call. The following board members were present: Marcia Rastede, Betty Carr, and Steph Jorgensen. Others present: Peggy Kennelly (librarian). Absent: Howard Brentlinger, Greg Carr.

The minutes were approved as read.

Old business included fundraising ideas for the 125th/or all class reunion.

Peggy Kennelly will start updating Heidi Keil on "What's happening at the Library" to put in the Allen news. She received key for safety deposit box.

Steph talked to Bonnie in regards to survey of statistics. The Library received the survey by mail, but did not receive money for completing the form.

Library foot traffic statistics were presented by Peggy.

Jean Rahn and Peggy Kennelly have updated the Allen Springbank Township web page.

Peggy will see about steps needed to receive a tax exempt number.

New business included the Christmas agenda for the Dixon County Food Pantry Drive.

Marcia Rastede will contact Allen Security and Countryside Gas and Grocery for permission for food pantry items to be dropped off.

Steph Jorgensen will contact the Ghosts and witches fly around on Halloween, but these jack-o-lanterns mysteriously "flew" to the top of a building on Main Street in Allen to watch what is going on down below.

Allen school and Katie Oleson in regard to the Dixon County Food pantry Drive. She will make up the fliers and give to Marcia to drop off with tickets and canisters for the bank and gas station.

Peggy Kennelly will pick up a ham and turkey for the drawing that is to be held on Monday, Dec. 15 at the Allen School Christmas concert. Each nonperishable item donated is worth one ticket for a chance to win one ham or one turkey.

The group voted to change the meeting time back to 7 p.m. on Jan. 8, 2015.

The treasurer's report was not given, due to absence.

School Winter Delays, Closings

Information regarding school delays and closings can be found on all Sioux City TV and radio stations.

There are many factors to consider before making the decision to cancel classes, to start late, or to dismiss early.

First and foremost, is the safety of the students, faculty, parents, and staff, such a decision is not taken lightly. Administrators will be communicating with other area schools and hopefully make a decision as to a weather related two-hour late start or closing by 6:15 a.m.

Occasionally a decision can be made either for a two-hour late start or a closing the night before. In the case of severe weather please check the 10 p.m. Sioux City news for up-to-date late start and closing information.

Weather-related dismissals can also be found by going to the school web page at Allenweb.esu1.org and clicking on the SNOWCAP icon.

Thoughts on hospice month

It's National Hospice Month; about time for my annual push for good end-of-life care.

Hospice numbers are way up, as are hospice agencies. The latter is not necessarily for the better, as some are for profit. In my book, hospice for profit is an oxymoron, but as I told the readers of the Lincoln Journal earlier this year, whenever a third party pays for something, someone figures out how to make money from it. Remember, we didn't have Medicare when I started my career.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

It was taken advantage of then, and continues to be by the folks who know how to "play the game." But that isn't the drum I'm beating today.

I just finished reading "Being Mortal," by Atul Gawanda. With a name like that, you can deduce he is Indian, a surgeon in Boston. This is his third book, but the first that deals with what patients might want as they face the end of their days. The fact that his father, also a surgeon, developed a spinal cord tumor that would eventually be terminal triggered his interest in the subject.

He outlines the history of dying in the United States, basically the story I tell when asked to be a speaker on the topic. Both my grandmothers died at home, in the 1940s. But one grandfather died in the hospital, and the other in a nursing home, in the early 1960s.

In the span of those two decades, Hill Burton funds had allowed a lot of small towns to build small hospitals. Soon, medical professionals felt that all nursing care should be done in them. I remember the days when people with cancer spent weeks and months in the hospital, especially after 1965, when Medicare came into being.

He also describes the beginning of assisted living centers, which I believe have postponed nursing home admissions by the thousands. But, they are sadly unregulated, and again, are often run for profit.

He describes the Eden concept, in which long-term facilities were more home like with the addition of live plants and animals, and children, and volunteer visitors. Some even have daycare for employees in which the "elders" act as surrogate grandparents. That concept gave way to the Green Houses, which Tabitha now boasts five of. And on the campus is also the Journey House, for hospice clients who cannot be cared for at home, for one reason or another.

During the time he was writing the book, he learned to be more honest with his patients, and with his father. He learned from palliative care practitioners, what to say and how to say it, helping the patient verbalize how much treatment he wants, and what he is willing to do to sustain life. It's all worthwhile reading, and I highly recommend it. I also suggest having the "conversation" after the Thanksgiving meal, while everyone is there.

My family is well aware of my wishes. I'm donating my body; it's my last chance for medical school!

Cash rents for 2015 farmland

It's time to think about cash rents for farmland for next year. Here are some edited thoughts from Al Vyhalek, Extension Educator from Platte Co. from last year and an update with this year's figures.

First of all, the economics just do not support $350 per acre for dry-land rent, or $500 per acre for irrigated ground cash rent. Too many times, the landlord wants to calculate rent on the best yield and the price of about $7 per bushel, which is the best price of the last year (2013). The tenants want to calculate rent on the poorest yielding year of the last 10 years and the lowest price of the last year, which is the current price. Neither point of view is fair or realistic.

It is suggested that a starting figure for conversation on cash rent should be about 30 percent of the gross revenue per acre, which would be paid to the landlord. This calculation should be completed by taking an average yield times a fall 2015 price at the local elevator or grain processor. So, an average irrigated corn yield of 200 bushels per acre times an expected fall 2015 price of about $4 would be $800 gross revenue per acre. By multiplying that amount by 30 percent, you arrive at a suggested rent of $240 per acre. This would be the starting point for negotiating rent for 2015.

You can see from this simple calculation, if cash rent for irrigated corn ground is less than $200 per acre, it may be appropriate for the rent to go higher. If rent is above $300 per acre, a decrease in rent seems appropriate.

Of course, rent will be determined by what the tenant is willing to pay and what the landlord is willing to accept, not by a suggested calculation. True economics of a particular commodity is still determined by supply and demand. With land economics, the demand appears to be exceeding supply. So, cash rents will probably still remain strong in Nebraska, and specific rent on a specific farm will vary.

The past few years have been good for farmers, and when returns far exceed expenses, people can tend to get a little careless on where money is spent. Expenses are going to have to be reduced if farmers are going to continue to be profitable. We will have some more information coming on controlling costs in the future.

care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. Coliform bacteria are generally not harmful themselves. Coliforms are bacteria which are naturally present in the environment and are used as an indicator that other potentially-harmful bacteria may be present. Coliforms were found in more samples than allowed and this was a warning of potential problems.

What happened? What is being done?

Usually, coliforms are a sign that there could be a problem with our treatment or distribution system pipes. Whenever we detect coliform bacteria in any sample, we do follow-up testing to see if other bacteria of greater concern, such as fecal coliform or E.coli are present. We did not find fecal coliform or E.coli present.

The City of Wayne public water supply system is continuing to test and is working with the Drinking Water Program to identify the source of the problem and to return the water supply system to compliance. Wayne, Nebraska November 4, 2014

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, November 4, 2014 in the upstairs meeting room of the Courthouse.

Roll call was answered by Chairman Burbach, Members Larson and Rabe, and Clerk Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on October 23, 2014.

A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved. The minutes of the October 21, 2014, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, November 4, 2014, in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse.

Roll call was answered by Chairman Burbach, Members Larson and Rabe, and Clerk Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on October 23, 2014.

A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

Motion by Rabe, second by Larson to approve the agenda and the minutes of the October 21, 2014, meeting as printed in the Commissioner's Record. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Larson-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

General Business: Assessor Duffy reported the City of Wayne took no action on the proposed interlocal agreement for the Pictometry flight project. The total cost of the project was $56,372.50, the county proposed the city pay $9,962.75 of that total for the city images. A motion to approve the agreement was made during the council meeting, but it died for lack of a second due to concerns that the city had just been flown in 2013.

The images are usually taken early spring, before the trees leaf out. A contract would need to be submitted by December 1st to get on the schedule for 2015 pictures, otherwise it would be spring 2016 before the county could be flown. Duffy said she could hold off a year if needed.

After it was determined that the interlocal agreement was not on the agenda for the city to reconsider, the board discussed the timeline involved and the anticipated usage of the images. The county could move forward with the project now, and then try to coordinate future flights with the city. A motion was made by Rabe seconded by Larson to proceed with the Pictometry flight project. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Larson-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

A listing of tax year 2011 personal taxes that will be stricken from the tax list report was received and will be placed on file.

Motion by Larson, second by Rabe to approve the following action on pledged securities: State Nebraska Bank & Trust - withdraw Cusip #3133EDGP1; Elkhorn Valley Bank & Trust - substitute Cusip #97750HAX8 for Cusip #259283R92; F&M Bank - add Cusip #486800BX2 and withdraw Cusip #3133XWVKV0. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Election of officers at the Nebraska Association of County Officials convention was discussed. Motion by Larson, second by Rabe to designate Burbach as Wayne County's delegate and Rabe as alternate. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Emergency Manager Kernnitz gave an activity report. Road/Bridge Business: Jeff Wagner of Mainelli Wagner & Associates met with the board. Larson expressed his frustration with the process of bidding multiple bridges together as a single project. Four bridges were bid together in June, and the winning contractor has already delayed the start date on Bridge C009003310 twice. Part of the reason Dixon Construction was awarded the bid was their ability to construct that bridge this fall rather than waiting until 2015 to construct all four bridges. Wagner said they liked to bid bridges together to save on mobilization costs. Provisions could be placed in the bid specs for a delayed start date, but ultimately it is the completion date of the project. Can we put a figure on damages caused by the late start? Is our county attorney willing to fight this battle?

Right-of-way negotiations have been completed and documents are being prepared for Project C-90 (261), Bridge C009001220, located ¼ mile east of Mile 567 on 859th Rd; and Project C009012415, located on 853rd Rd and 573 Ave. A bid opening for the two bridges, as a single project, will be scheduled for December 16, 2014. Phil Lorenzen will be asked to start the process of establishing Rural Road Improvement Districts.

Mark Casey reported a FEMA sub-grant application has been approved, and a hazard mitigation proposal has been submitted for a bridge damaged by the 2014 tornado on 848 Rd, between 583 and 584 Ave. The entire project is estimated at $8,785.52.

Right-of-way application No. 14-11.01, submitted by CenturyLink, to replace buried cable along 585 and 586 Ave, east of 849 Rd, was approved on motion by Larson, second by Rabe. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Larson, second by Rabe to approve the claims and fee reports as submitted. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.
