WSC President Frye announces retirement

29-year career at college will end next June

Nebraska State College System Chancellor Stan Carpenter announced Tuesday that the President of Wayne State College, Curt Frye, is retiring after serving four years as president. Frye was appointed the 12th president of Wayne State College in 2011 after serving as interim president for a year. Frye also served as interim president in 2003.

In an e-mail to the college community, Frye wrote, "I have loved nearly every day spent here since first arriving in 1985 and look forward to the next six months until my retirement at the end of the fiscal year. Many things have changed during my time at the college, but the one constant has been our outstanding faculty and staff. I truly and deeply appreciate everything each member of this community has done in the service of our mission for our students."

Frye began his career at Wayne State College in 1985 as the associate dean of students and then dean of students. In 1993, he was named vice president and dean of students. Prior to coming to Wayne State, Frye was a teacher, coach and guidance counselor in area schools. Frye is a native of Elk City and holds a bachelor's degree in education from Midland Lutheran College and a master's degree in education from Chadron State College. Curt and his wife, Dianne, have two children and two grandchildren.

"While we are sorry to see Curt leave, we wish him well in his retirement," NSCS Chancellor Stan Carpenter said. "Curt's commitment to Wayne State and its students has been second to none. He has been a valued colleague throughout the years and has worked tirelessly for the benefit of the students and the college. As a long-time resident of Wayne, Curt has been at the forefront of many initiatives that involved the community and Wayne State College. His experience and insight helped build relationships that will continue to benefit the college and community long into the future."

NSCS Board of Trustees Chair Michelle Suarez said, "I have enjoyed working with President Frye. As an educator myself, it was easy to recognize his dedication to doing what was right for students. He has made a difference and will be missed."

Frye said, "While retiring is somewhat bittersweet, I want to thank the Board and Chancellor Carpenter for putting their faith in me and giving me the opportunity to serve as president of Wayne State. Their support and guidance has helped me make decisions to position the college as a premier institution in Nebraska and the region. I will be forever grateful."

Frye will remain president of the college through June 30, 2015. Carpenter will consult with the Board of Trustees to establish a timeline and protocol for a national search.

DOWNTOWN WAYNE RINGS IN THE HOLIDAYS

(Photos by Clara Osten)

From snowmen to Santas, more than 30 entries took part in last week's Parade of Lights. Also part of the evening was the roasting of s'mores over a camp fire, the singing of Christmas carols and a Living Nativity, sponsored by the youth of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne with animals from Love A Lop in Allen. Favorable temperatures and a large crowd made this year's event a success. More pictures are on Page 4A.

Steps were taken toward a district early learning center during Monday's meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education.

Information was presented to the board by committee members Wendy Consoli and Special Education Director Misty Bear. The two were part of a committee that had been formed earlier in the school year to look at the need, and options available, for providing early childhood education within the district.

According to information obtained by the committee, more than 180 school districts in the state of Nebraska offer preschool services. In the Wayne district, there are unmet needs in regard to the number of preschool spots that are open, the number of preschools that meet ADA requirements, outreach to the growing Hispanic community and parent education opportunities.

The goal of the early learning team is to offer a preschool that would serve up to 20 four-year-old students on a sliding fee scale and up to 10 three-year-old students on a sliding-fee scale.

The plan is to develop an Early Learning Center in a building that is available on Providence Road, that was the temporary home of Grossenburg Implement following the Oct. 4, 2013 tornado.

Also discussed was the staffing of the preschool, including teachers, administrators and paraprofessionals. Funding for the additional staff could include the Early Childhood Education Grant Program, Title 1 funding, local district funds and private grants and gifts. Following the discussion, the board voted to approve the first reading of the document.

On behalf of the board, Board President Dr. Carolyn Linster presented a gift to outgoing board member Mark Evetovich.

Evetovich has served the district as a board member for eight years and chose not to run for another term. He will be replaced on the board by Scott Hammer, who was elected to the position in November. Evetovich was also recognized during the Honor Coffee that was held following the board meeting.

The board also accepted, with regrets, the resignation of MaryAnn Lutt as a junior high English teacher. Lutt has been a part of the Wayne Community Schools staff for 26 years and indicated in her retirement letter that "the opportunity to serve the students in the Wayne community has been

Fraternity placed under suspension by college

The only Greek fraternity associated with Wayne State College isn't on "double-secret probation," but has received notice that it has been indefinitely suspended by the school.

In a news release sent to The Wayne Herald by the college on Friday, Wayne State College announced that it has suspended all fraternal and associated social activities of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity at the college for an indefinite period of time, effective immediately. The fraternity was notified of this decision and provided with clear direction for addressing existing illegal and dangerous activities related to the use of alcohol.

According to a story in this week's edition of the college's student newspaper, The Wayne Stater, the suspension came as the result of a number of reports of underage drinking and excessive consumption of alcohol at the privately-owned TKE fraternity house, located at 814 Nebraska Street. Two 18-year-old, non-fraternity members were reported to have needed emergency medical treatment for alcohol poisoning following overconsumption at the fraternity house.

The two individuals reported to the Wayne Police Department that they suspected their drinks were tainted with a drug while at the TKE house. Toxicology reports have been received by local law enforcement and are currently under HIPAA privacy privilege while the investigation is ongoing, according to Wayne Chief of Police Marlen Chinn.

Several other reports of open-social events, where alcohol was consumed, were reported by The Wayne Stater as part of the decision to suspend the fraternity, according to

"The college did not arrive at this decision lightly," said Wayne State President Curt Frye. "One of the most important components of Wayne State College's mission is student success. This focus on providing young men and women with the tools they need to flourish in life forms the nucleus of who we are and what we do. This focus also necessitates direct consequences when a student group or organization operates outside the stated mission of the organization and contradictory to rules of conduct established by campus policies and local and state laws."

The fraternity's status at Wayne State College has not been revoked, according to Carstens, giving the fraternity a chance to work with chapter alumni, TKE fraternity ex-

Obituaries

Opal Nelson

Opal Nelson, 89, of Wausa, died Sunday, Dec. 7, 2014 at Osmond General Hospital in Osmond. Services were held Thursday, Dec. 11 at Thabor Lutheran Church, in Wausa. Reverend Ron Youngerman officiated.

Opal Elane Nelson was born to Cora Belle (McGee) and French Penn on Jan. 9, 1925, in Wayne. She was the youngest of three daughters, including Edna (Penn) Higdon of Portland, Ore. and Josephine (Penn) Thomson of Camp Verde, Ariz. When she was two, her mother became ill and Opal and her sisters had the unique experience of growing up in the Masonic Home in Fremont, while their mother was treated for tuberculosis at the Bethesda Sanatorium in Denver, Colo. While living in the Masonic Home, Opal attended Fremont Public School through fifth grade. After their mother recovered, the reunited family resided in Wayne, where Opal helped wait tables at the family business, the Boyd Hotel. She attended junior high and high school in Wayne and graduated in 1943. Opal attended Wayne State College and taught one year in a rural school near Wayne. In 1945 Opal moved to Wausa where she taught fifth and sixth grade for four years. She continued her education by attending classes during the summer.

Opal married Donald V. Nelson, better known as "Bunny," on June 23, 1947, at the First Baptist Church in Wayne. They owned and operated Nelson Produce from 1951 to 1981, while raising three children, Marcia, Laura, and Brent. Opal was a creative and talented artist, but would never admit it. Her works of art include paintings, greeting cards, quilts, ceramics, holiday decorations and clothing, as well as poems, all of which were shared with, and cherished by, her children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. Opal was a 69 year member of the Wausa Eastern Star, where she served as Worthy Matron for four years. She also taught Sunday school and served on quilt and flower committees at Thabor Lutheran Church, in addition to volunteering at the Wausa Public School. While Opal's children were growing up she was a Brownie, Girl Scout, and Cub Scout leader. Opal enjoyed her extension club, pinochle club and, later, her quilting club.

Opal wasn't one to sit back and watch, whether it be a pick-up game of basketball when she was a young girl, sledding down the hills with her grandchildren or dressing up as Cat in the Hat as she did this past Halloween. Opal stated that her only regret in life was that Bunny had to pass away before her. The family will be celebrating her life as planned this January by coming together and painting a piece of art in honor of their beloved mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother.

Survivors include her two sisters; three children, Marcia and Larry Wakeley of Wausa, Laura Nelson of Newman Grove and Brent and Karen Nelson of Sioux City, Iowa; five granddaughters, Laurie Marco, Shannon Wakeley, Jill Redmond, Emily Beauvias and Erika Nelson; and seven great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents and husband. Burial was in Lutheran Cemetery at Wausa. Brockhaus Funeral Home in Wausa was in charge of arrangements.

Pastor to be installed at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne

The Rev. Jeanne Madsen will be installed as Senior Pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church on Saturday, Dec. 20 at 5:30 p.m. A reception will precede the service from 4 p.m. until service time in the Social Room. The Rev. Steve Meysing, Assistant to the Bishop of the Nebraska Synod, will preach and Pastor Madsen will preside for communion.

Pastor Jeanne grew up in a small town in southern Minnesota but has lived in International Falls, Minn. for most of her adult life. She graduated from St. Olaf College in Northfield with a BA in Anthropology.

She then attended Luther Seminary in St. Paul where she earned her M.Div. Prior to her ordination, she worked as a youth director and as an ordained pastor she has served congregations in Maryland, Alaska and Minnesota.

In her spare time, Pastor Jeanne works with Church Innovations, a non-profit consulting/training/teaching group which is dedicated to renewing the church. A few years back she began work at Luther Seminary on a Ph.D. in Pastoral Care/Leadership and expects that she will finish "one of these fine days."

As for family, Pastor Jeanne said, "I have two wonderful children, Joe and Aimee, and two absolutely adorable granddaughters, Alex and Kaitlyn." Her hobbies include reading, hanging out with friends and she loves to go for a great refreshing and invigorating polar bear dip in a frozen lake whenever possible.

The public is invited to join the members of Our Savior in celebrating the installation of Rev. Madsen. Our Savior Lutheran Church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne. For more information contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Nissen ready for retirement after 35 years on airport board

Mitchell (Mitch) Nissen was appointed to the Wayne Airport Authority on Jan. 30, 1979 and is retiring after serving on the board for the past 35 years.

Nissen recalls Al Robinson, airport manager at the time talking to Mayor Wayne Marsh and asking that Nissen be appointed. Nissen learned how to fly by taking flight lessons from Al Robinson.

When asked about what he liked about serving on the Airport Authority, Nissen said it was "the camaraderie of the board." Having served with several board members who have moved on, and the current members, Nissen says the board has always looked to the future and what is best for the Airport.

Nissen said he feels the greatest accomplishment during his tenure as board chairman was seeing the new north-south runway completed.

"There have been many projects over the years, but when we finally got the new runway, that was the greatest. There were many years when I thought the runway was just a dream and it would not become a reality," Nissen said.

Among Nissen's other fond memories during his time on the Airport board were the airport fly-ins for Chicken Days. Nissen volunteered to drive the State Nebraska Bank van and shuttle the pilots and their passengers from the airport to the festivities. He enjoyed visiting with the people that flew in.

Monday, Dec. 8 was the final meeting for Nissen as chairman. During the meeting, Wayne Mayor Ken Chamberlain thanked Nissen for his many years of service. After the meeting adjourned, the board honored Nissen's 35 years of service with Dairy Queen ice cream lugs and Christmas candy from Udder Delights (two of his favorites).

"Mitch is a man of few words but a loyal friend, a caring man," said Nancy Braden, finance director for the City of Wayne and longtime Treasurer of the Airport Authority.

On hand for the unveiling of the graphics on the new police cruisers by Wayne Police Chief Marlen Chinn were Chris Johnson's parents, Lorraine and Randall. Also on hand were family members Sheila Sample, Steve Sample, Keirrah Randle, Jake Randle, Nathan Crouch, Lamont Johnson, Karen Johnson and Cory Moeller, and members of the Wayne Police Department.

Police cruisers to honor fallen officer

The Wayne Police Department has an all-new look, thanks to a $5,000 donation from the Chris Johnson Memorial Fund.

A number of Johnson's family members were on hand at the Police Department Saturday morning for the unveiling of the new graphics displayed on two of the police department cruisers.

In addition to the graphics, custom memorial decals were added to each car to honor their son, brother, uncle and nephew who died in the line of duty while working as a deputy sheriff for the Platte County Sheriff's Office on Aug. 29, 2009.

Chief Marlen Chinn presented the family with a much larger framed version of the memorial decal as a token of appreciation for the donation. Any remaining funds after the graphics are replaced will be used for other equipment replacement.

"Chris's parents had contacted me earlier in the year, stating they would like to donate to the department and asked what we might need," Chinn said. "After some thought and from knowing their son, I wanted to use the funds for something that would be noticed by the public and also would be around for years to come.

After a discussion with Chris's parents, Chinn said they also agreed the graphics were a good idea. The memorial decals were an added surprise until recently.

"I wanted them to know that part of Chris will be with us every day we come to work for many years. I am honored to display Chris's name and badge on our department's cruisers. Any remaining funds after the graphics are replaced on the other cars will be used for other equipment replacement," Chinn said.

Michael Foods fined for worker's death

A Wakefield business was fined by the U.S. Labor Department for safety violations that were found in the investigation of a death of a 23-year-old worker who died at the plant earlier this year.

Five safety violations were found in an investigation of the Minnetonka, Minn.-based food company's operations in Wakefield. The worker who died was taking samples inside a tanker truck that held egg products and nitrogen, and was later found unresponsive in the vehicle.

The Labor Department is proposing $30,900 in fines for the violations, stating that the company did not take proper precautions for confined spaces and did not properly train employees on hazards associated with nitrogen.

Officials with Michael Foods would not comment, as they are still reviewing the OSHA report.

Reports were presented from the facility/safety committee on warranty work being done on the rooftop heating units for the Lecture Hall, landscaping bids for the school grounds and work being done at Wayne Elementary School to convert a room known as 'the safe room' into an office.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan shared with the board a first draft of the 2015-2016 school calendar and highlighted a number of changes being planned. The board will again review the calendar at a future meeting.

Several board members shared information from the Nebraska Association of School Board (NASB) Conference held in November in Lincoln.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Jan. 12 at 5 p.m.

Downtown Holiday Highlights

A group of residents put together an impromptu choir and sang Christmas carols in the alley in the 200 Block of Main Street.

Santa made his way down Main Street on his way to the Final Touch where he was able to visit with children to find out the Christmas wishes.

Members of the Wayne Girl Scout troop put together a float for this year's event and received $50 in Chamber Bucks for their efforts.

Record number take part in Parade of Lights

Ideal weather and a record number of entries combined to make this year's Parade of Lights and holiday events on Main Street a success.

A number of businesses had lighted Christmas trees in their store windows and handed out holiday treats. Carolers sang Christmas songs around a fire in the alley in the 200 block of Main Street, and youth from Our Savior Lutheran Church provided a Living Nativity.

More than 30 entries were part of this year's parade, and some earned Chamber Bucks for their participation.

The 12th entry to submit an application to the parade and winner of $50 was Judy Kruger, Girl Scout Leader with the Wayne Girl Scout troop.

The 25th entry, also winning $50, was Cassandra Harms, interim director of the Wayne Community Activity Center.

Winners of $25 each in an at large drawing were the Wayne Eagles Club 3757; the Wayne Rotary Club; the Wayne State College Media Club, Maureen Carigg, Advisor; and Kate Falk, Farm Bureau Financial Services.

A good show at The Max, on the web

If you've been at The Max on Monday nights, you've had the opportunity to see a show every week this fall.

Of course, it's not some off-Broadway production or a wild wet T-shirt contest, but it has been fun and entertaining for those who have been a part of it (and, hopefully, for those who have listened in over a burger and fries).

The Wayne State Coaches Show moved from its quiet, unassuming home inside one of the classrooms in the administrative wing of the WSC Rec Center to a dimly-lit corner at Wayne's favorite (and, to the best of my knowledge, ONLY) sports bar, where we record the show each week for viewing on our website at mywaynews.com.

The idea for moving the show downtown in front of a live audience was not my brainchild (although mine is the only consistent face you see each week, outside of Marlon Brink's, as he's the only coach on staff who always has an in-season presence on the show). The credit for that goes to men's basketball coach Brian Dolan. One night at one of the local watering holes, we were tossing around some goofy ideas about what to do with the show this year when he landed one that actually made sense.

Of course, that meant having to pitch the idea to The Max's chief chef and sports guru, Ken Jorgensen, who wasted little time in agreeing that it would be fun to have the show take up some space in his dining room.

Now, there are those who say that I have a face that is made for radio, but I'm also a guy who got a "D" in photography in college, so that video work is best left to, at the very least, young men and women who hope to one day be professionals. Thankfully, the WSC Media Club has handled the production end of things, and it's been a great learning opportunity for them. Maureen Carrigg, Steven Elliot and all those at the college who have had a hand in making this opportunity possible have my complete and total gratitude for allowing me to work alongside these future media guys and gals, and I hope it serves as good learning opportunity for them as it has for me to work in a capacity where I had ZERO previous training for.

And no coaches show can be informative or entertaining – both on camera and off – without the coaches at Wayne State College who take time out of their busy schedules each week to drop in and do an interview. With practices, team meetings, recruiting trips and family commitments taking up a lot of their time, I appreciate them stopping by every Monday evening to talk about their teams and offer their perspective on the Wildcats' efforts in the athletic arena (along with the occasional inside jokes and jabs at my favorite NFL team – and why Chris Kielsmeier, an unapologetic Dallas Cowboys fan, feels he needs to give me any static about the defending world-champion Seattle Seahawks is hilariously mesmerizing and never fails to leave me in stitches).

No coaches show is possible without the sponsorship of our local businesses, and I want to thank the folks at State Nebraska Bank, Pac 'N Save, The Max and Wayne State College for their contribution to the show's success. All the businesses are huge supporters of Wildcat athletics, and it's nice to have them as part of the show each week as well.

With the Media Club on hiatus for the holidays, we'll be going "old school" with the program next week, shooting at the Rec Center before taking a two-week holiday break of our own. We should have some funny outtakes to share and then resume the festivities at The Max after the new year.

Hope to see you there – and don't forget to order me some chicken wings and french fries.

Wildcats suffer first loss of campaign

The Wayne State women's basketball team found out that life on the road in the Northern Sun Conference is not an easy trip.

The Wildcats came away with a split in their first weekend road trip in conference play, ending a four-game losing streak to Concordia-St. Paul with a hard-fought 60-57 win on Friday before suffering their first loss of the year in a 72-65 setback Saturday at Minnesota State.

The Wildcats rallied from an 11-point deficit against the Mustangs Saturday afternoon in Mankato, but a five-minute scoring drought in the second half allowed the home team to pull back in front and hold off a late Wildcat run to pick up the upset victory.

Wayne State led 9-0 early in the contest, but the Mavericks went on a 12-3 run to tie the game with 12:32. Baskets by Jordan Spencer and freshman Jasmin Bretoi gave Wayne State a 17-12 advantage, but Minnesota State countered with runs of 12-3 and 13-4 to take a 37-26 advantage at the half.

Wayne State came out smoking in the second half. Ashton Yossi, who became the fifth Wildcat to hit 200 career 3-pointers, and Millie Niggeling helped fuel a run that erased that halftime deficit and gave Wayne State a six-point advantage midway through the second half.

Trailing 48-42, Niggeling hit a trey, Spencer added a layup and Alex Nelson hit a 3-pointer to tie the game at 50-50. After Minnesota

Spencer

State broke the tie, Paige Ballinger and Haley Moore scored, and Wayne native Katie Hoskins hit a pair of hoops to give Wayne State a 58-52 lead with 10:33 to go.

That's when Wayne State's shooting was frozen by a five-minute run that helped Minnesota State reclaim the lead at 61-60. Wayne State regained the lead and went on to the upset victory as the Wildcats hit just 9-of-31 from the field in the second half.

Yossi led the Wildcats with 16 points in the losing effort while Niggeling added 12. Spencer was held to eight points on 4-of-17 shooting from the floor and led the Wildcats with seven rebounds. Murren had five assists and Schulte had four steals.

The Wildcat women won a tough battle on Friday night in St. Paul, Minn., beating the Golden Bears for the first time since the 2011-12 season with a three-point triumph.

There were 19 lead changes and eight ties in Friday's matchup, with neither team able to build a lead bigger than eight points. The Wildcats had that advantage at 31-23 with 1:57 left in the half before a pair of 3-pointers by Ameisha Kearney cut that lead to 31-29 at intermission.

Wayne High freshman Kylie Hammer gets a steal for the Blue Devils as they kicked off the season at home Thursday against Class B traditional power South Sioux City.

After sputtering start, WHS girls improve to 2-1

The Wayne High girls' fast-paced attack sputtered on opening night, but the Blue Devils bounced back to post a pair of impressive wins to start the season at 2-1.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils' full-court pressure frustrated South Sioux City in the first two periods, but the visiting Cardinals were able to adjust and come from behind to post a 55-49 win over the Blue Devils at Wayne High School.

Wayne's defense frustrated South Sioux early on and helped the hosts to an impressive 21-10 first-quarter advantage. Unfortunately, they couldn't sustain that pressure and the Cardinals cut the lead to seven at the break and used that momentum to pull away in the second half.

If we can put 4 quarters together like the first quarter of the SSC game we will be hard to beat," coach Dave Hix said. "The girls just ran out of gas. We didn't get a good rotation and didn't have enough quarters left with our bench. That won't happen again."

Hix said the team had not yet gotten into good basketball condition, but he is hopeful that good things will happen once they get there.

"We aren't in basketball shape yet, but we will get there soon. It will take some time to get all on board and working together. When we do, look out."

Danica Schaefer had a solid outing, leading in scoring (15) and rebounds (6), while Abbie Hix added

Wildcats, Bears get good results at Creighton meet

CREIGHTON – Winside and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge both came away with some solid early-season efforts on the mats at the Creighton Invitational.

The Wildcats were among a tight team race before settling on a fourth-place finish, ending with one champion and nine medalists. LCC didn't have the depth to keep pace with the leaders, but represented themselves well with three medalists and an 11th place finish in a 16-team tournament that featured some of the top teams in Northeast Nebraska.

The Wildcats' lone champion was Marcus Escalera, as the defending state champion came away with a 4-0 win over Jesse Schmit to take top honors at 132 pounds.

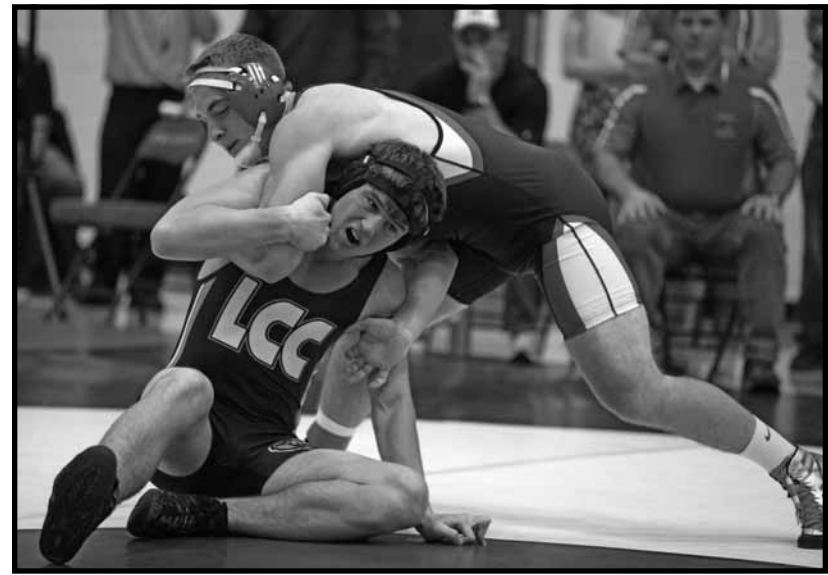

"I felt we had a good day and could have done a little better,"

Wildcats coach Paul Sok said. "We lost a couple of head-to-heads with Creighton that kind of put us behind the eight ball as far as finishing in the top three, but having nine placers and all but one winning at least two matches today was very productive."

Sean Mann also reached the finals for Winside, but was overmatched by defending champion Christian Miller of Plainview, who pinned the Wildcat 113-pounder in 1:56 to take the first-place medal.

Zach Jones bounced back from a tough loss in the semifinals to take third-place honors at 170 pounds, winning the consolation title with a hard-fought 4-2 decision over Luke Moen of Plainview. Colby Erickson (126) and Zach Morris (145) both

Wildcats play well, at times, in losses

The Wayne State men's basketball team had some good moments on the road this weekend, but were unable to come away with wins at Concordia-St. Paul or Minnesota State.

On Friday night, the Wildcats played the visiting Golden Bears tough for most of the game, but a 16-2 run late in the first half proved to be the difference for the hosts as they were able to forge a 72-59 win over Wayne State.

Wayne State trailed 21-15 early in the game, but went on an 8-2 run, highlighted by a Trae Vandenberg 3-pointer, to tie the game at 23-23 with 5:51 to go in the opening period.

Concordia-St. Paul closed the half with a 16-2 run to break the tie and take a 39-27 lead, then extended the lead to 16 points before the Wildcats made a run at the Golden Bears.

Wayne State chipped away at the deficit and were able to close it to four at 54-50 on a trey from freshman J.J. Zumbrennen with 9:42 left. Wayne State was still within five with 6:50 left after a Joel Heesch layup, but the Golden Bears team pushed the lead back in to double digits and closed out the 13-point victory.

Patrick Kurth led the Wildcats with 15 points, Jordan Holdsworth added 11 points and Tyler Nagy put in 10. Kendall Jacks led the team with six rebounds and Austin Esters added five. Heesch had four assists.

On Saturday, the Wildcats were within striking distance of 13th-ranked Minnesota State at halftime, but a 17-2 run to open the second half helped propel the Mavericks to an 82-62 win, leaving the Wildcats winless at 0-3 in NSIC play (2-6 overall).

Wayne State controlled the game for much of the first half, leading by as many as nine points midway through the opening period. Wayne State led 25-19 when the Mavericks held the Wildcats scoreless for four minutes to take a 26-25 advantage with about four minutes left in the half.

Wayne State took its final lead on an Austin Esters layup with 2:06 to go to make it 29-28, but the Mavericks closed out the half with a 7-3 run to lead 35-32 at the break.

The wheels fell off on Wayne State's upset hopes in the second half. The Mavericks opened with a 17-2 run to take a 52-34 lead five minutes into the second half. They led by as many as 26 before settling on the 20-point win.

Kurth had 12 points to lead a balanced attack for the Wildcats. Esters added a season-high 11 points and Holdsworth scored 10 coming off the bench. Kurth and Cornelius each had six rebounds and Vandenberg had three assists.

Help for Hank Overin Field rebuild

Jeff Zeiss, representing the citizens committee working on the Hank Overin Field rebuilding project, accepts a check for $750 from Sandra Gathje of Tacos & More. The local restaurant donated a portion of proceeds from its recent sales toward the reconstruction efforts for the stadium, which was damaged in a storm last summer.

 13 points, Tarah Stegemann put in eight and freshman Kylie Hammer had a nice debut with seven points and six rebounds, sharing top honors with Schaefer. Rachel Rauner added four points and Peyton Roach scored two.

The Blue Devils turned it around the following night, thanks to a breakout performance by Hammer, who tossed in 15 points and grabbed nine rebounds to help Wayne to a 52-33 win at Battle Creek.

"Kylie stepped up and showed us what she can do," Hix said. "We keep forgetting that she is just a freshman. Going from playing junior high ball last year to the starting point guard on varsity is quite a jump, but she is a great ball handler with speed and quickness and can slash or shoot the three."

Hix also credited his bench play, which helped pick up the team after a slow start against the Bravettes. "Kudos to our bench," he said. "They came through and gave us some spark when we needed it. We got off to a slow start and we weren't sure if we were going to get our legs back. We didn't rebound the ball that well out of our match-up zone, so we had to switch to man to secure the boards."

Rauner added 10 points in the win, while Schaefer added nine and Allison Echtenkamp had six coming off the bench.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils were simply devastating on defense against Logan View, shutting the Lady Raiders out in the first and third quarters on their way to an easy 62-13 win at Wayne High School.

Wayne raced to a 21-0 first-quarter lead and the game was never in doubt after that. Wayne had 16 steals on the night, five coming from Kelsey Boyer. They turned those Logan View miscues into points, with three players finishing in double figures as the Blue Devils shot 41 percent (24-of-59) from the field.

Stegemann led all scorers and outsized the opposing team on her own with 15 points, while Rauner and Hammer each had 12. Nine of the 10 girls who found their way on to the stat sheet scored, with Boyer adding eight, Roach and Hix scoring four each, Lindy Sandoz adding three and Schaefer and Morgan Keating each scoring two.

The Blue Devils are home Friday to face Wahoo before traveling to Columbus Lakeview on Saturday.

Wolfgram hits 41 in Bears' loss

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge boys saw a fourth-quarter comeback fall short in their season opener.

The Bears rallied with 30 fourth-quarter points, but it wasn't enough as Crofton hung on for a 78-70 win Friday at Crofton High School.

LCC junior Dillan Wolfgram had a career night, throwing in a game-high 41 points and pulling down 14 rebounds in the losing effort.

Malik Knox scored eight points in his first start for LCC, while Jayden Reifenrath added seven points. Also scoring were Jordan Jansen with four, Cody Wilson and Brandt Eddie with three each, and Mason Forsberg and Jackson Metheny with two apiece.

LCC lost a heartbreaker at Homer on Tuesday, dropping a 60-57 decision. Statistics and highlights were not available at press time.

The LCC Bears had one wrestler reach the final round, and Billy Barelman had some tough competition going up against defending state champion Dylan Loberg. The Randolph senior took Barelman to the mat and pinned him in 1:34 to finish the day as the 195-pound champion, leaving the Bear junior with runner-up honors.

Nolan Casey earned consolation honors at 220 pounds, winning a tough match over Colby Roland of Neligh-Oakdale. Casey's second-period escape proved to be the only point in the match, giving him the third-place medal.

Chayce Hirschman finished fourth at heavyweight for the Bears, losing the consolation match on a 4-0 decision to Devin Soll of Pender.

Four wins highlights winter start for Wildcat indoor track squads

MANKATO, Minn. – The Wayne State indoor track and field teams combined for four first-place finishes and a handful of NCAA provisional marks during their season-opening efforts at the Minnesota State Preseason Open.

Both the men's and women's teams brought home two first-place efforts on the day, highlighted by an NCAA automatic qualifying effort from Sara Wells in the shot put.

The senior set a new school record with a toss of 51 feet, 9 1/4 inches, which is currently the top mark in all of NCAA Div. II and earned her an automatic trip to the national meet this March in Birmingham, Ala.

Wells also had an NCAA provisional mark in the weight throw, finishing third with a toss of 55 feet, 5 1/2 inches. She was joined by teammate Michaela Dendinger, who earned an NCAA provisional spot with her winning toss of 57 feet and added a seventh in the shot put.

Wayne State's other NCAA provisional mark came from freshman thrower Shandan Platt, who placed third in the shot out at 44 feet, 8 inches.

Wayne State's throwers had several other top-10 finishes on the day. Jessi Pongrantz was sixth in the shot put (42-7) and ninth in the weight throw (51-2 3/4), and Kynra Sturm was eighth in the weight throw (51-8 1/2).

On the track, Megan Svitak was sixth in the 60-meter hurdles (9.34) and eighth in the long jump (16-4 1/2), Ellen Wulf was sixth in the long jump (17-0), Mary Alderson was 10th in the 200-meter dash (27.34), and the 1,600-meter relay of Rebecca Davenport, Wulf, Elizabeth Pille and Alderson finished sixth in 4:13.59.

On the men's side, Jared Balady (600) and Zach Thomsen (1,000) both earned first-place efforts to highlight the Wildcat effort.

Balady won his race in 1:26.5, while Thomsen was part of a 1-2-3 finish in the 1,000 with his time of 2:34.77. Teammates Nick Schmit (2:39.63) and Nick Fly (2:41.44) followed the Wayne native home at the finish.

Bryan Dunn took second in the weight throw with a heave of 53-7 3/4, while freshman Richard Sweeney was fourth at 47-11 3/4.

Derek Lahm was a top-10 finisher in three events, taking third in the long jump (22-0 1/4), fifth in the 60-meter hurdles (9.17) and joining Thomsen, Nate Lechtenberg and Steven Varela on the 1,600-meter relay team that took second in 3:32.86.

Other top-10 finishers for the WSC men included Braxton Adams in the 60-meter dash (4th, 6.97), Cody Kralicek in the 200 (4th, 22.96), Cole Heller in the 200 (10th, 23.6), Brady Metz in the long jump (75th, 19-4 1/4) and the 1,600-meter relay of Balady, Ernst, Heller and Schmit (3rd, 3:32.88).

Wayne State is back in action Saturday, Jan. 17 at the Scott Nisely Memorial Classic at Doane College in Crete.

Wakefield wrestlers get good start

The Wakefield wrestlers got the season off on the right foot with a dual victory and a runner-up finish at the Howells-Dodge Invitational.

On Thursday, the Trojans won four of seven competed matches, with three of the wins coming by pin in a 48-22 win at Pender.

Pender opened the dual with a major decision, but pins by Caleb Thomas (160) and Efen Godinez (170) gave the Trojans the lead for good. Juan Gonzalez added a pin at 120 pounds and Moises Barboza picked up a win by injury default to account for the Trojans' victories.

Eight of Wakefield's 10 wrestlers who competed in the pool tournament at Howells finished the day with winning records, and three Trojans came home with first place medals on the day.

Nick Gonzalez (126), Godinez and Cody Thomas (182) all went 5-0 on the day to bring home first-place medals. Alex Nunez (132), Jonathan Romer (152) and Caleb Thomas went 4-1 in their respective pools to finish with second-place medals, while Juan Gonzalez went 3-2 and finished fourth at 120 pounds. Barboza was 4-1 and finished fifth at 220 pounds, while Carlos Chavez (1-4, 7th at 195) and Luke Walsh (2-3, 8th at 138) also competed.

Wakefield will wrestle in the Stanton Invitational on Saturday.

Wakefield boys get two wins, drop first

The Wakefield boys basketball team is off to a 2-1 start this season. On Thursday, the Trojans came out strong against Pender and dominated the Pendragons, cruising to an easy 59-28 win. Wakefield had a balanced attack in the win, led by Alex Conley's 19 points. Riley Zamzow added nine points, Jose Sanchez had eight, Isaac Camarena and Anthony Victor each had six, Parker Lehmkuhl and Brodie Mackling had four points apiece, Tim Anderson had two and Zach Pommer put in one. After their win over Allen on Friday, Wakefield was hoping to make it three in a row at Osmond on Monday, but the Tigers were able to win a close one over the Trojans, 52-48. The game was close throughout. Wakefield led by two at the half, but Osmond was able to bounce back and hang on for the win, handing Wakefield its first loss. Sanchez was on fire from the perimeter for Wakefield, going 6-for-7 from three-point range to finish with a team-high 18 points. Cameron added 11, Mackling and Conley each had six, Anderson put in five and Zamzow had two. Wakefield closes its four-game road trip with a Friday matchup at Wausa. They make their home debut Tuesday against Randolph.

Allen girls, Wakefield boys come up with wins

ALLEN – Allen and Wakefield renewed acquaintances Friday in the season opener for the Eagles teams, and the two schools came away with a split in the boys-girls doubleheader. In the girls game, the Lady Eagles pulled away in the fourth quarter of a tough defensive battle, outscoring the visiting Trojans 16-6 in the final period to post a 38-25 victory. Allen held a 18-12 advantage at intermission, but Wakefield got back in the game in the third period, using the shooting of Caleigh Mackling to cut the halftime deficit in half, trailing 22-19 going to the final period. Allen's defense toughened up in the fourth period, and baskets by Lindsey Sullivan and Lexi Oswald helped put their neighbors out of reach and open the season with a nice home win. Gabby Sullivan led all scorers with a dozen points for Allen, while Oswald, Lindsey Sullivan and Sherry Stallbaum each added six points. Kaylen Smith had four and Bri Hingst and Brooke Hingst each had two. Wakefield was led by Mackling's 11 points. McKenzie Rusk, Savannah Nelson and Joesphine Peitz each had four, while Taryn Hingst put in two. In the boys game, the visiting Trojans used the hot shooting of Alex Conley and Brodie Mackling to pull away in the final period and claim a

52-31 win over the host Eagles. The game was still close going to the final period, with Wakefield holding a nine-point advantage. Wakefield limited the Eagles to just one field goal in the final eight minutes to come away with their second win of the season, following up a win over Pender the previous evening. Mackling scored a game-high 15 points to lead Wakefield, while Conley tossed in 13. Isaac Camarena added eight points, Tim Anderson and Anthony Victor each had five, while Derek Lierman, Jose Sanchez and Riley Zamzow each had two. Allen was led by Brian Boese and Coleman Kneiff, as each hit for 10 points. Kneiff hit a pair of 3-pointers in the contest for Allen. Austin King added seven points, and S.T. O'Keefe and Tayler Kumm each scored two points.

The Wildcats used jumpers by Heesch and Nagy, along with a 3-pointer from Holdsworth, to pull within three at 12-9 with 13:37 to play in the first half. Leading 16-11, SDSU went on a 10-1 run over a span of 3:39 to take a 26-12 lead and extended that lead to 42-27 at intermission, shooting 58 percent from the field in the first half. South Dakota State never gave the Wildcats a chance to get back into the game in the second half, as the host Jackrabbits continued their hot shooting in the second half, making 15-of-23 shots to pull away for the victory. Cornelius was the lone double digit scorer for Wayne State with 10 points. Jacks followed with nine points and a team-high seven rebounds. Jacks led Wayne State on the glass with seven rebounds. Winside girls start 0-3

It's been a rough start to the year for the Winside girls basketball team, as they were outscored three times at home to start the season. On Thursday, Plainview slowed the Wildcats' offense down and took a 36-7 halftime lead on their way to an easy 61-17 win. Callie Finn led the Wildcats in the losing effort with seven points, Jade Hogenkamp and Morgan Jensen each had four points and Ellie Jaeger tossed in two points. On Friday, the Wildcats faced traditional Class D-2 power Wynot, and the Blue Devils held Winside scoreless in the third period to help them to a 52-14 triumph. Winside was led by Alex Bargstadt with five points, Finn and Jaeger each had four, Hogenkamp scored two and Jensen added a free throw. On Tuesday, the Wildcats hosted Lyons-Decatur and came up on the short end of a 51-6 decision. Statistics and highlights were not available at press time. Winside is at Bloomfield on Friday and hosts Emerson-Hubbard next Saturday, Dec. 20, to close out the pre-holiday portion of the schedule.

Wayne wrestlers open with dual win

The Wayne High wrestlers opened the 2014-15 season with a dual win at Wisner-Pilger and a seventh-place finish at the Lakeview Invitational in Columbus. On Thursday, the Blue Devils split the six scheduled matches with the Gators and won all three by pin to come away with a 37-28 victory. Schulyer Schweers got the Blue Devils rolling with a first-period pin at 195 pounds, and Gage Schultz followed with a first-period pin of his own at 120 pounds. Jorge Vergara rounded out the three-win day for Wayne with the fastest pin of the night, sticking James Beaver of Wisner-Pilger in just 46 seconds. On Friday, the Blue Devils had one finalist and finished the day with eight medalists to finish seventh in the nine-team meet at Lakeview High School. Schultz was Wayne's only wrestler in the finals, losing late in the first period on a pin by Ryley Spatz of East Butler. Jordan Cliff (170) and Cole Koenig (182) both lost in the consolation finals. Cliff lost on a second-period pin to Wyatt Kee of Gibbon, while Koenig suffered a major decision at the hands of Riley Gilson of Columbus Scotus. Also finishing fourth were Mikey Reyes at 220 pounds and Thorin McBride at heavyweight, both losing by pins. Rounding out the medal count for Wayne was senior Cornelio Espino, who took an injury default for sixth place at 138 pounds. Wayne is at home for a dual with Norfolk Catholic on Thursday and is at the West Point-Beemer Invite on Saturday. They wrestle next Thursday at Creighton. Both Schweers and Steven Keiser (152) tied for fifth in their weight brackets, but were listed as sixth in the standings as both lost coin flips for the medals. Wayne 37, Wisner-Pilger 28

After slow start, Blue Devils earn first win

After a couple of tough losses to open the season, the Wayne High boys basketball team gutted out a defensive battle with Logan View to put their first notch in the win column Tuesday night. Wayne High struggled to get their offense going Tuesday against the Raiders, but managed to hit 46 percent from the floor and slow down the visitors defensively to post a 36-19 win at Wayne High School. Both teams struggled in the first two periods, with Wayne holding a 14-6 lead at intermission. Wayne's offense began to warm up in the second half, and they put the game away in the final period, limiting Logan View to one basket to come away with a 17-point win. Ben Hoskins led all scorers with 16 points, while Brook Bowers added nine. Also scoring were Jackson Belt and Peyton Gamble with three points each, Drew Davie had two and Zach Keating hit a free throw. The win was a welcome one for the Blue Devils after a rough opening week to the season. On Thursday, the Blue Devils were no match for visiting South Sioux City, who frustrated the Wayne backcourt and dominated play in the first half on their way to a 50-26 win at Wayne High School. Wayne's offense didn't get much going in the opening half, and the Cardinals took advantage to take a commanding 31-9 lead into the locker room. The Blue Devils were able to slow South Sioux down in the second half, but could not get back into contention as the visitors cruised to the easy win. Hoskins led all scorers with 16 points for the Blue Devils. Belt and

Colby Keiser each had three, while Davie and Bowers had two apiece. The following night, the Blue Devils showed some good things in taking a preseason-ranked Battle Creek team into overtime. The Braves' Kobe Lade hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer to help the hosts escape the Blue Devil upset bid with a 49-46 triumph. Wayne's offense picked up significantly from their opening-night struggles, eclipsing Thursday's total by halftime while taking a 28-23 advantage. Battle Creek came back to tie the game and send it into the extra session. Wayne led 46-44 before the Braves tied it, setting up the buzzer-beating game-winner. Hoskins once again was the leading scorer in the contest, pouring in a game-high 20 points. Belt had eight, Keiser and Davie each had six, Grayson McBride had three, Bowers added two and Keating had one. Wakefield girls get first win at Osmond

After losing their first two games of the season, the Wakefield girls got on the winning side of the ledger Monday for the first time this season. The Trojans jumped on host Osmond in the first half, racing to a 30-11 halftime lead and coming away with a 45-31 win for their first victory of the season. Wakefield had a good inside-out attack, led by senior McKenzie Rusk and sophomore Caleigh Mackling. Rusk had a game-high 18 points and nine rebounds on the inside, while Mackling came through with 13 points and had two steals in the contest. Emily Puls added four points and eight rebounds, Josephine Peitz put in four points, Danika Dorcey had three, Taryn Hingst scored two and Savannah Nelson had a free throw. Wakefield opened the season with their traditional opener at Pender, and the Pendragons came away with a 48-34 win over the Trojans, using a 29-12 first-half run to fuel the victory. Mackling and Rusk each had 10 points for the Trojans, while Puls and Dorcey each had five and Hingst scored four. Wakefield is on the road Friday to face Wausa before coming home to face Randolph on Tuesday.

Winside boys drop three

Winside's boys basketball team showed some promise in their 2014-15 debut, but came up on the short side of the scoreboard in each of their first three outings. On Friday, the Wildcats played Plainview tough, but were unable to counter the Pirates' inside game as they dropped a 49-39 decision. Plainview used its height inside to jump out to lead by 14 points at the half. Winside cut into the lead, but not enough to overtake the Pirates. Dyaln Brogren tossed in 18 points and had seven rebounds for the Wildcats. Kieth Mundil had six points and seven boards and Brandon Watters added six points. Also scoring were Caleb Kampa with four, JaShaun Vyborny with three and Colton Jensen with two. On Friday, the Wildcats were out-gunned by Wynot, as the Blue Devils used a 35-9 first-half run to propel them to a 63-19 victory. Mundil led a balanced attack with six points, Brogren and Bryce Meis each had four, Trey Mies had three and Jensen scored two.

Wildcat volleyball sixth in final coaches poll

The Wayne State volleyball team finished the 2014 season ranked sixth in the final American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II coaches poll that was released Monday afternoon.

The No. 6 placing is the highest ever for a Wayne State volleyball team. The Wildcats were ranked ninth in 2010 and 10th in 2011.

Wayne State finished the season 27-7 and lost in the regional semifinals to Minnesota Duluth. The Wildcats were one of five Central Region teams ranked in the top six, all finishing behind eventual national champion Tampa. Runner-up Southwest Minnesota State was second, followed by Minnesota Duluth, Concordia-St. Paul, Nebraska-Kearney and Wayne State.

Other Central Region schools in the final polls included Washburn at No. 18 and Central Missouri at No. 20.

Frauendorfer earns All-American honors

Wayne State sophomore Alyssa Frauendorfer was named to the 2014 American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II Honorable Mention All-American team for a second straight season.

A 6-foot middle hitter from Humphrey, Frauendorfer averaged 2.90 kills and 0.67 blocks per set this season for the Wildcats while earning first-team All-NSIC honors for a second straight season to go with AVCA All-Central Region honorable mention honors.

She had 17 matches with 10 or more kills, highlighted by a season-high 19 kills with eight blocks vs. Northwest Nazarene on Sept. 6. Frauendorfer led the Wildcats with a .317 attack percentage this season and ranked ninth in the NSIC with 0.30 service aces per game.

Frauendorfer was named the Sports Imports/AVCA Div. II National Player of the Week on Nov. 11 when she hit .690 with no attack errors in two matches against Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State and followed that with another error-free match on Nov. 11 with 17 kills on 28 attacks vs. Northern State in the first round of the NSIC Tournament.

Last season as a freshman, Frauendorfer was named the AVCA Central Region Freshman of the Year while receiving first-team All-NSIC honors after averaging 2.77 kills and 0.97 blocks per set while hitting .344 for the season.

Wildcats fall to No. 7 in hoops poll

The Wayne State women's basketball team dropped five spots to No. 7 in this week's USA Today Sports Div. II coaches poll.

The fall came after Saturday's 72-67 loss at Minnesota State, the first of the year for the 8-1 Wildcats. The No. 2 ranking was the team's highest in-season rating and was second only to when they were ranked No. 1 prior to the 2011 Elite Eight tournament.

Wayne State is one of two Northern Sun Conference teams in this week's ratings. Northern State moved up two spots to No. 3 in this week's poll. Central Region teams in the rankings this week include top-ranked Emporia State, No. 6 Pittsburg (Kan.) State, No. 11 Washburn, co-No. 18 Arkansas Tech and Missouri Southern, and No. 20 Harding.

Yossi nominated for Good Works Team

Wayne State senior guard Ashton Yossi has been named as a nominee to the 2015 Allstate WBCA Good Works Team.

For the third year, Allstate and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association are recognizing a select group of women's college basketball student-athletes who stand out for their charitable achievements and community involvement. The players nominated for this prestigious honor are committed to enriching the lives of others while contributing to the greater good of their communities.

Yossi is a senior and started all 33 games last season. She has previously been honored as a member of the NSIC Winter All-Academic team and named to the North Star Invitational All-Tournament Team in Alaska. Her community service accomplishments include: volunteering at the local Head Start program throughout the school year helping with pre-school students, serving as a basketball camp instructor for local youth during the summers and tutoring students at Wayne Elementary School.

From this year's list of a record 93 nominees, a final roster of 10 award recipients, comprised of five players from the Division I level and five players from Divisions II, III and the NAIA, will be announced in February.

Davis is Academic All-American honoree

Jon Davis of Wayne State was named to the 2014 Capital One Academic All-America Div. II Football Team by the College Sports Information Directors of America, earning second-team honors.

A 6-foot, 180-pound junior defensive back from Webster City, Iowa, Davis maintains a 3.94 grade-point average majoring in chemistry. He is a Capital One Academic All-District Super Region 3 first-team selection the last two seasons. On the field, Davis ranked third on the Wildcat defense this season with 70 tackles (30 solo, 40 assisted). He recorded a season-high 12 tackles in Wayne State's 48-45 overtime win at Southwest Minnesota State on Oct. 25. Davis tied for the team lead this season in interceptions with two and also had 2.5 tackles for loss (17 yards), one sack for seven yards and one forced fumble.

Davis is the fifth player in school history to achieve Academic All-American status and the first since linebacker Luke Hoffman was a first-team Academic All-America selection in 2008.

Nebraska Poison Center notes increase in carbon monoxide calls

The Nebraska Poison Center has seen a 24 percent increase in calls on carbon monoxide so far this year over 2013. Every year more than 400 Americans die from unintentional CO poisoning and 20,000 are seen in emergency rooms, while another 4,000 are hospitalized.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention ranked Nebraska as one of the states with the highest mortality rate from carbon monoxide. It is imperative that the citizens of Nebraska understand the dangers, the symptoms and how to prevent poisoning from carbon monoxide.

Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include sleepiness, headache, dizziness, blurred vision, nausea, shortness of breath and convulsions. The first step in treating carbon monoxide poisoning is getting the victim to fresh air. Then seek medical attention immediately.

Carbon monoxide is a gas produced when fuels burn incompletely. It has no color, taste or smell. The major causes of carbon monoxide poisoning include:

- Using heating equipment that is in poor repair;
- Lack of ventilation in a car;
- Using a charcoal grill indoors;
- Using unvented space heaters.

The Poison Center offers the following suggestions to help prevent carbon monoxide poisoning:

- Inspect all fuel-burning equipment yearly;
- Vent fuel-burning heaters to the outside;
- Do not use a gas range or an oven for heating a room;
- Never use a charcoal grill or hibachi inside;
- Install carbon monoxide alarms on every level of your home;
- Never leave a car running in an attached garage, even with the garage door open;
- Have the vehicle muffler and tailpipes checked regularly.

Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning resemble those associated with other health conditions that are common among the elderly, especially in the winter. The carbon monoxide death rate is highest among people greater than 65 years of age.

The Nebraska Regional Poison Center offers tips on carbon monoxide poisoning prevention as a free community service. If you suspect carbon monoxide poisoning or if you have any questions, contact the Nebraska Regional Poison Center toll-free at (800) 222-1222.

Advice offered on keeping child safe after school

Many children are not able to handle stressful or emergency situations until around age 11 or 12. It is best for those children that have not developed mature decision making skills not to be left home alone. It is always safer to arrange for an adult or a responsible older adolescent to be at home or arrange for other structured supervision.

Your child, however, may be an exception and be adequately mature at age eight to 10 years to be home alone after school. Make sure your child feels safe and secure, and that he or she is prepared for dealing with knocks on the door, emergencies, and injuries. There are often babysitting classes offered and this can also prepare your child for a positive self-care experience. Always make sure your child is comfortable with the home alone arrangements. Here are a few topics to keep your child safe:

1. Do they know their full name, address and phone number? Does he or she know your full name as well, and the address and phone number of your workplace, or other ways to reach you at work? (You may establish a routine of calling home to make sure your child has arrived home and nothing out of the ordinary occurred.)

2. Is there an established routine to follow so he or she knows what he is supposed to do and where he is supposed to be?

3. When your child returns home from school every day, does he or she know how to lock the door behind them? Can they remember to call you and/or another appropriate adult as soon as they arrive home?

4. Instruct your child never to enter your home if a door is ajar, or if a window is open or broken?

5. Have you talked about what to do if someone knocks at the front door while he or she is home alone? (The best advice: he should not open the door and should tell the person knocking that you are home but are busy and unable to answer the door.)

Talking about these issues and talking all of these things into consideration will help you and your child feel more safe, secure, and comfortable about his after-school experience. More tips and information is available through NENCAP Home Visitations. This service is free to families who are expecting or have children up to the age of nine. This program provides one-on-one education and resources to families in northeast Nebraska in order to ensure and strengthen their well being. For more information please call (800) 445-2505. Deadline for NEST college savings contributions near

Nebraska taxpayers are reminded that contributions to college savings accounts in the Nebraska Educational Savings Trust (NEST) must be postmarked by Dec. 31 to qualify for the 2014 tax year state income tax deduction, State Treasurer Don Stenberg said. The maximum deduction this year is $10,000 for a couple filing jointly or for a single tax filer, up from the previous $5,000 deduction.

Stenberg said account owners who contribute to their accounts electronically have until 10:59 p.m., CT, on Dec. 31 to make their contributions.

"This will be the first year that Nebraskans will benefit from the significantly higher tax deduction that was approved by the Nebraska Legislature in 2013. We are grateful for the Legislature's action to approve the higher tax deduction, which is attracting more families to open college savings accounts through NEST and providing them with responsible and varied investment options," Stenberg said.

Stenberg said setting up a NEST college savings account takes less than 10 minutes. Descriptions of the four plans can be found at the Treasurer's website at www.treasurer.org. Click on the College Savings tab and then on the About the Plans link.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes

Wayne native is back from the dead

Rather than bore you with my Christmas wish list, how about a run through the "Bits and Pieces" file to get you in that spirit of holiday jocularity?

— First, there's some good news to report: Emily Kinney is NOT dead.

If you're a fan of the TV series "The Walking Dead," you know that the Wayne native's character was killed off recently (and if you haven't seen the episode in which she dies yet, my apologies for the inadvertent spoiler). She was on the show for several years and her character developed into one of the main stars of the show before she "died" this season.

Of course, that doesn't mean SHE is no longer with us. In fact, you can hear some new music from her on iTunes and can expect an album from her sometime in 2015.

According to Entertainment Weekly, her song "Rockstar" already has a music video made for it (those of us in our 40s and 50s remember when MTV used to actually PLAY music videos, but I digress), and she is following up her "Expired Love" EP with a new album that will be out sometime next year.

— Speaking of us, ahem, middle-aged fogs, there is some bad news if you're one of those 40-somethings who are still waiting to have children: you might be too late.

A recent study in Aging Research Reviews has found that certain sperm traits in men age 35 and older tends to deteriorate, which can not only be a reason for women not getting pregnant, but can be a reason behind disorders such as Down syndrome, autism and schizophrenia.

"While female age is well known to have negative effects on fertility, reproductive success, and the health of offspring, the influence of male age on a couple's fertility has been largely neglected," according to Sheri Johnson, the study's lead author.

There is no word yet on whether older sperm is more likely to cause other unhealthy traits such as sleeping in on Sundays, long-winded Facebook arguments over politics or yelling at the neighbor kids every time they throw a ball into your backyard garden. I hope they find out soon — just in case I decide I ever want to completely lose my mind and have a child younger than my granddaughter.

— Speaking of my granddaughter, I got to hear her heartbeat for the first time the other day. My daughter sent an audio file of Emmalynn's heartbeat, and it was definitely the highlight of my day.

The big day comes in just about four months, and we're all looking forward to it, especially Kylie, who is getting into that perpetually-uncomfortable stage of being an expecting mommy. Trust me, folks — there is nothing more frustrating to deal with than a member of my family who is physically uncomfortable.

— This week's winner of the "Turn in your man card" sweepstakes is the guy in Des Moines, Iowa, who filed a police complaint after he threw an object at his wife during a domestic argument.

That item? A McDonald's McChicken sandwich.

According to reports, the wife had gotten him a sandwich before they went to a doctor's appointment. The man didn't want the sandwich and threw it at her, and the women later knocked a cell phone out of his hand as he attempted to record the argument, prompting his call to police.

The man was charged with domestic simple assault. Evidently, being a sandwich-throwing wimp is not a crime in Iowa . . . although it really should be.

— I swear to God I'm not making this up: the federal government has issued a contract to an Oregon company to load, haul and dispose — wait for it — horse manure.

The contract states that "Manure shall be wind-rowed, piled if necessary, loaded, and hauled to a site for a beneficial use. If there is no beneficial use for the manure, then it shall be legally disposed of in a landfill or by another approved disposal practice. Stockpiling of the manure shall not be permitted."

The contract is good through next September, with an option through 2019. The company is being paid more than $58,000 of taxpayer funds to remove wild horse manure off of public lands.

If that doesn't define the word "irony" — I don't know what would.

— Annnnd finally, from the "Can we get this judge to overrule calls made by NSIC basketball officials?" department: a school in Oklahoma City has asked a state district judge to overturn a penalty called during a state football playoff game that ultimately cost the school a shot at a state title.

A touchdown with a little more than a minute to go gave Frederick A. Douglass High School a 25-20 lead over Locust Grove, but the score was waved off on a sideline penalty that, everyone later acknowledged, was incorrectly enforced.

Douglass High School officials are suing the Oklahoma Secondary School Activities Association, which let the incorrect call stand, giving Locust Grove a 20-19 win and allowing them to move on to the semifinals.

If only this option were available when that Penn State player caught the pass out of bounds against Nebraska back in 1981 — not that I'm still bitter about that bogus call or anything.

Football like a religion here

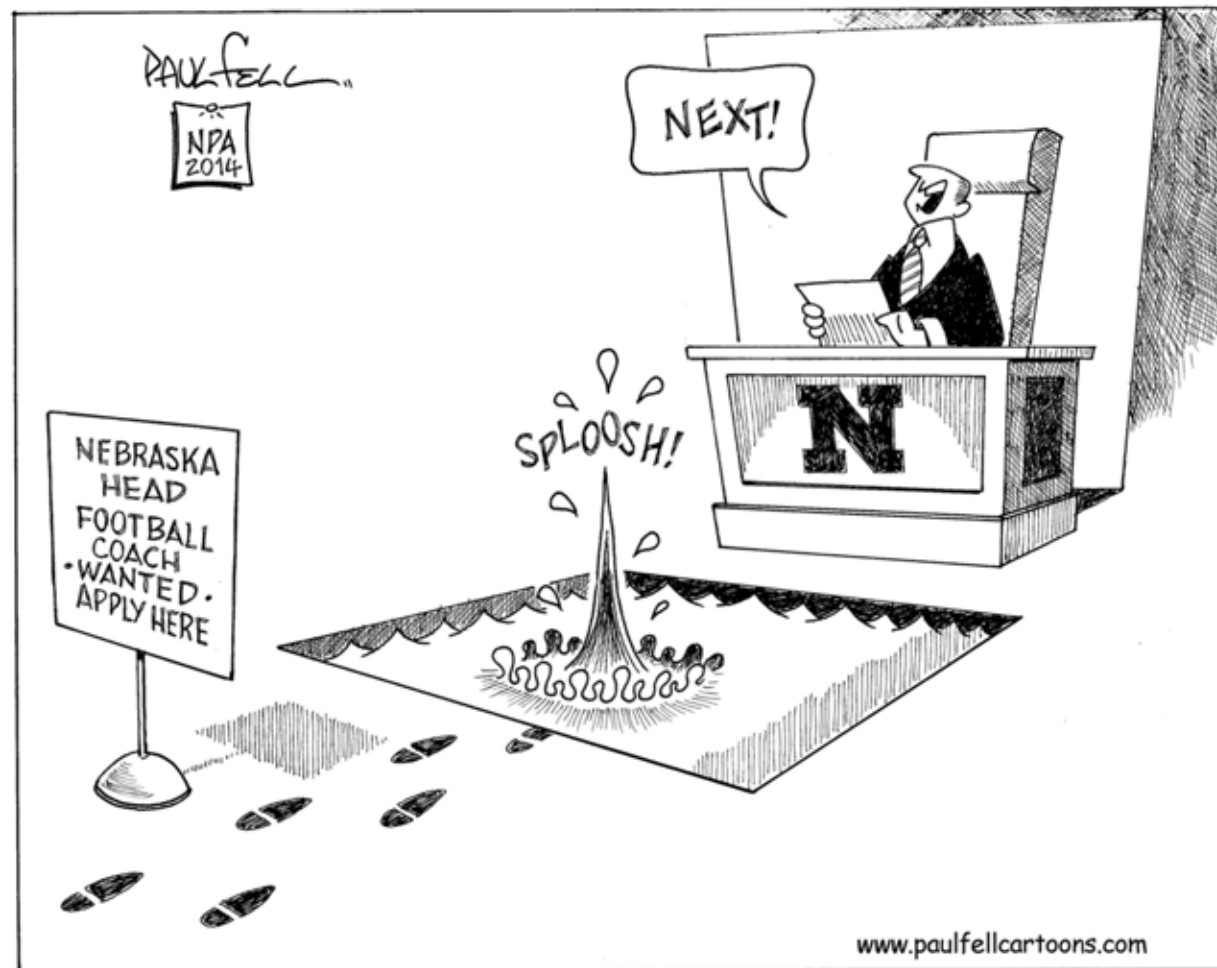

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

University of Nebraska football is a religion for many residents of the Cornhusker state. They think red, they see red and they bleed red. As the fan base goes, so goes the sentiment surrounding the game played by a group of unpaid college students, some of whom parlay their experience into well-paying jobs with professional sports teams.

There is no doubt that Nebraska football is big business for the University. The Husker faithful can buy season tickets, but large cash contributions (over and above the ticket price) are also required to secure those tickets from season to season. Because of the passion and the big money, Nebraska football is often the subject of constant analysis — sometimes to the point of over-analysis.

Controversial head football coach Bo Pelini pulled the Nebraska program out of the depths of mediocrity with at least nine wins a season for a 67-27 record over seven years. His last win was a hard-fought overtime battle with Iowa the day after Thanksgiving. The victory came on the heels of back-to-back losses that caused more than the usual buzz about the fiery Pelini who was often shown on national television losing his temper at a player or an official.

His supporters remained passionate about the coach's right to vent a little. His detractors remained embarrassed by the actions and created a rumbling that eventually caught the attention of the "higher ups" at the University. When the big givers decided they could raise sufficient funds — $7.65 million — to pay off Pelini's remaining 51-month contract, they told Athletic Director Shawn Eichorst to pull the plug.

For the two years that he has been A.D. at Nebraska, Eichorst has been something less than a household name. In fact, until he did the dirty deed, it's likely that a number of Nebraskans could not have picked him out of a police lineup even if the "suspects" were wearing nametags.

So it was, that on a Sunday morning when many folks were already at church, Eichorst met with Pelini and fired him. The media quoted the AD as saying "We weren't able to win enough games that mattered." On the last day of the month with the temperature around 13 degrees outside Memorial Stadium, Bo Pelini's fiery career as a Husker coach came to an end. At 9:43 a.m., Eichorst sent an e-mail to the coaches and players announcing his decision.

Was this a matter better suited to a personal meeting among Eichorst and the players and coaches? If the Huskers had played their last season game on Saturday, one might understand the Sunday morning meeting. But it doesn't seem that a decision had to be announced on a holiday weekend on a Sunday morning.

And now the days of speculation about Pelini's replacement. The state will be abuzz with sightings of various coaches from other schools who were flown into Lincoln or held conversations with Eichorst in a number of other cities. The names of native sons, former Husker stars, will surface and be cussed and discussed.

That awkward time between the end of the football season and the beginning of the Legislature just became more interesting.

PMC CEO moving, but staying in Wayne

Last week there was an article in the Wayne Herald announcing my resignation as CEO of Providence Medical Center.

At that time, nothing was mentioned about my future plans or employment. I had accepted a job at another facility, but that facility had not yet announced it to their employees so I was not able to put it in the article. I can now say that I have accepted a position at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk as the Vice President of Support and Ancillary Services, and will start on March 2.

One of the great things about this new position is that I will be able to commute from Wayne and will not have to move my family. We have come to see Wayne as our home, and are glad we will be able to stay in the community. I will miss being at Providence Medical Center, but I know that the great employees there will continue to provide the quality of care that you expect.

Thank you for the support I have been given in this position over the past few years, and we look forward to continuing many friendships into the future.

Thanks for effort in Parade of Lights

As chairman of the annual 2014 Wayne Christmas Parade of Lights I send my personal, my public "Thank You" to all the businesses and organizations that participated in the Wayne Main Street's kick off to the Christmas and Holiday Season.

I appreciate very much the time, the effort, and the financial obligations you incurred in doing so — you undertook a special task in serving our community on Thursday evening, Dec. 4, and judging from the comments I heard from the crowds gathered on Main Street, they loved your entries and the light and enthusiasm you spread as you made your way down Main Street. You added much to the total ambience of the night.

In addition all the businesses and individuals should be thanked for their efforts in making Main Street looking very nice and festive and for providing the caroling, live Nativity Scene, a host of trees for Fantasy Forest, and a multitude of refreshments on the sidewalks and in the various businesses. It was a special night.

And in closing, I want to also thank our local newspaper and radio station. You are true examples of small town media that do an excellent job of serving the communities you operate in.

Legislative Update Preparing for next session of Unicam

We are in the process of preparing for the upcoming Legislative session. Preparing for the session is not only focused on drafting future possible legislation, but many other items as well. Some of those items include looking for volunteer chaplains and selecting Legislative Pages.

We are once again looking for clergy members that would be interested in coming down to Lincoln to serve as "Chaplain of the Day" and say a prayer before the daily session. This will be a 90-day session, so there will be plenty of opportunities for those interested. It would be great if District 17 was represented. I understand that it is a commitment, but if you have days that you know you are going to be in Lincoln, let us know and we can see if that date is available. If you would like more information about this, please let me know or contact my office at (402) 471-2716 or the Clerk of the Legislature at (402) 471-2271.

Every fall, I write a newsletter encouraging the college kids from the district to apply to be Legislative Pages. This year I would like to congratulate Alexander Mallory and Colin Loberg on being selected to serve as Legislative Pages for the upcoming session. Both of these

Holiday Daughter Dance - Winter Wonderland 2014

Greg Worner dances with daughters Cate and Emily.

On Friday night, the Wayne Elementary School was transformed into a Winter Wonderland as the Wayne Elementary Boosters hosted the first Holiday Daughter Dance.

More than 200 people attended the event. The dance featured desserts made by parents, a silent auction with donations from teachers, parents, business and organizations, and a photo booth. Music was provided by a DJ as fathers, daughters, grandfathers and others danced away the evening.

The event raised more than $2,000 to support WEB activities, students, families and teachers.

"WEB thanks everyone who helped volunteer, made donations, and attended this magical night," said Sandy Brown, one of the organizers of the dance.

WEB will host the Valentine Son Dance on Feb 6, 2015.

Budget for holiday gifts and save $$

Money jingles like bells during the holiday season, but spending without a plan can lead to unnecessary financial burdens throughout the new year. This season, make a gift list to help stick to a budget.

Remember that the amount spent on a gift isn't as important as how much thought was put into the gift. Also, the amount of money spent for gifts should be dependent on how much money can be spent without causing financial stress.

Before buying gifts decide how much money can be spent and make a list of all the people gifts will be given to. Also, decide how much money can be spent on each person. Carry this list throughout the year or holiday season. Upon purchasing a gift, check that person off the list. Going through the process of planning ahead and making a written list can help with sticking to a budget.

Buying holiday gifts should not create a financial burden after the holiday season. Overextending finances with credit cards is not a good idea. Use credit cards only as a convenience so cash doesn't have to be carried when shopping. Pay off credit cards as soon as possible after the holiday season. To prevent extra financial problems, consider saving money throughout the year for holiday shopping.

Kim Bearnes

It's a good idea to take advantage of sales throughout the year or during the holiday season, but be sure to refer to the budget-safe gift list.

Teach kids to give and receive graciously during the holidays

The holiday season is an excellent opportunity for parents to demonstrate the satisfaction that comes with giving. However, it also serves as an opportunity to teach kids the importance of gracious receiving in return.

The desire to want different things is a natural human behavior, and kids are no exception to the rule. However, during the holiday season kids are prone to get the "gimmies" and want only the newest toys and games.

In these situations, parents should use common sense to determine what their child actually needs and what is affordable. Keep in mind that most children will receive gifts from other relatives and friends as well. Ask kids to pick one toy they really want, write it down and think about it. This way, they might come to think of something they would like to have even more.

It isn't uncommon for kids to receive gifts they don't like. However, it is important that they aren't rude or disrespectful to the giver. Teach kids that it can be hurtful to give a gift and not have it received graciously. Remind children ahead of time to say thank you, and if they aren't pleased with their gift talk about what can be done with it afterward. Unwanted gifts can be shared with others at shelters or church child care programs.

When picking out gifts for kids, it is okay for parents to choose things that reflect their own interests. Often, a gift has more meaning if parents are willing to sit down with their child and make it a family interest. Adult attention can mean more to a child than the gift itself.

Remember that card and board games are a good way to promote family time. There isn't anything wrong with computer games either. Just be sure that the child receiving the game doesn't become isolated from the rest of the family.

Acme Club holds Dec. 1 meeting

Eight members of the Acme Club were present on Dec. 1 at the Wayne Senior Center for the Christmas observance.

President Joann Temme called the meeting to order. Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the Day, "You don't have to be perfect, all you have to do is show up and enjoy the messy, imperfect and beautiful journal of life. It's a trip more wonderful than you can imagine. And, remembers if Christmas isn't found in your heart, you won't find it under a tree."

Roll call was "What do you want for Christmas?"

The minutes of the November meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Bonnadell Koch.

Treats were brought by members to snack on during the afternoon while Christmas games were being played.

The next meeting will be Monday, Jan. 5 with Betty Wittig as hostess.

Area Girl Scouts volunteers honored

Girl Scout volunteers are making a difference. They provide the support and guidance that instills confidence, leadership ability and a collaborative spirit in girls. Last year, more than 5,000 adult volunteers invested their time and ingenuity to make Girl Scouting a fun and rewarding experience for nearly 17,000 Nebraska girls. To show appreciation, each fall,

Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska presents Volunteer Awards to those who went above and beyond the previous year in their role with the council.

The process begins in late spring, when the volunteers' peers, friends, family and support staff nominate them for the various awards—some of which are council- and some of which are national-level Girl Scouting honors.

Those local individuals and churches receiving recognition include Iris Borg of Wakefield - 5-Years of Volunteer Service Pin, Volunteer of Excellence Award; Salem Lutheran Church of Wakefield - Spirit of Girl Scouting Community Benefactor Award; First United Methodist Church of Wayne - Spirit of Girl Scouting Community Benefactor Award and Lisa Lindsay of Wayne - Appreciation Pin.

"This is one way that we formally thank our volunteers for the time they give," said Fran Marshall, Chief Executive Officer, Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska. "Volunteers are our lifeblood. They deliver the Girl Scout experience in a way that is culturally relevant and that deeply connects girls to their home communities."

The Volunteer Awards were presented during an event at The Elks Club in Columbus to recognize community Girl Scout volunteers.

Open house set for Dec. 17 to honor Graffis' 50 years at NNTC

Northeast Nebraska Telephone Company (NNTC) is hosting an open house on Wednesday, December 17, from 3-5 p.m. at Providence Hall in Jackson to celebrate Emory Graffis on his well-deserved, upcoming retirement.

Graffis has served the members of NNTC for the last 50 years. His career has taken him from clearing brush and maintaining overhead lines when he first started to becoming the general manager in 1978. He has overseen many growth projects in the time since becoming the general manager. He was instrumental in starting the Internet and cable TV operations. Most recently he has administered a complete company overbuild of fiber to every home and business, which allows all members of NNTC the fastest broadband opportunities available.

Graffis

Throughout the years, Graffis and the Board of Directors have aggressively pursued acquisitions to grow NNTC. In 1987 the Craig Telephone Company, located in Craig, was added. Following that, he nearly doubled the size of the company by purchasing seven US West communities in 1997. His final acquisition was Clarks Telecommunications in 2007. Today NNTC serves over 6,000 customers/members located in 30 communities in 24 counties across Northeast Nebraska.

Graffis' tenure as general manager was not without challenges. Probably the most significant was when the company's headquarters in Jackson were wiped out by a tornado on the evening of Aug. 17, 2001. Graffis and his staff quickly mobilized to make sure any interruption in vital communications services was kept to a minimum. The next move was to establish a temporary office in South Sioux City to ensure that daily operations could continue. They then set about planning and building the current state-of-the-art office building in Jackson.

During his time as general manager, Graffis was active in the formation of Nebraska Cellular, the forerunner to today's cellular networks in Nebraska. He currently serves on the board of the Nebraska Telephone Association, and as the vice chairman of the Board of NebraskaLink, which operates the statewide fiber optic network.

David Armstrong, the President of NNTC, said, "Emory's leadership has been instrumental in making NNTC a leading broadband company with a strong financial position. His advocacy at the state and federal level has been influential in making the voice of rural Nebraskans heard. We wish him all the best."

Retiring after 50 years of loyal work and service please join us as we honor

Small 'miracles' make for brighter day

In our house, we sometimes have what I all small miracles. We had a couple today; the items I planned for lunch and for supper had all the ingredients I needed right here! That never happens, you know what I mean?

Usually, I get hungry for something we haven't had for a while, and I'll get out the cook book and look in the cupboard and find I'm missing a key item. I admit I'm in a sort of a rut and use the same recipes over and over; you would think I would keep whatever they call for on hand, wouldn't you? Yes, one would think so, but that's not how I operate!

This morning, I realized there was a package of fake crab in the freezer, along with a package of shredded cheese. These, with onions, eggs, and milk combine for a crustless quiche that one of our B and B guests gave me years ago.

The last time I shopped for groceries, I brought home a package of stew meat. What do you know? I had carrots, potatoes, more onion, and a can of broth right here, waiting for the beef! So, that all went into the crock pot. I felt pretty smug!

One Monday a month, I volunteer for Tabitha at one of the over 55 condominiums in town. This one is in Autumn Wood, where all the apartments, homes, and townhouses are built without steps. It's really a very nice retirement area. And, as a friend who lives there pointed out, a very low crime spot, because all these retirees are home a lot.

My two buddies trim toenails, but since I am no longer licensed, I can't help with that. I do the paperwork, which, of course, has never been my first love, but in this case, is rather minor. When you aren't billing a third party, the recordkeeping is pretty simple.

So, while I was there, the stew cooked. When I got home, I made biscuits. And I have now learned what self rising flour is! I had to get some for another thing I tried, and found the biscuit recipe on the side. MUCH simpler than mine; only three ingredients. So, I threw them together and we had the evening meal

A good thing, too, because I had choir practice at 7 p.m. This was the "dress rehearsal" for the Advent service on Wednesday eve. He's throwing the chancel choir, the bell choir, five pieces of brass, and the contemporary praise band all at the congregation at once! It should be interesting. If it all goes according to plan, that will be another miracle.

It's a hectic time of the year, but we wouldn't want it any other way. I picked up my annual letter at the print shop this afternoon, too, and I have the envelopes addressed. So, they are almost in the mail! As the song says, "it's the most wonderful time of the year!"

More info on farm expenses

Here is more information on farm expenses by Tina Barrett, Executive Director of Nebraska Farm Business Inc. Full articles and tables can be found at cropwatch.unl.edu. Please go to the website and read all of them.

Aside from land costs, the machinery costs per acre saw the most significant increase from 2009 to 2013. If we go back another five years to 2004, the average machinery cost was just $51.46 or $61.04 less than 2013. I blame the income tax law as much as advancing technology for the skyrocketing costs in this area.

The nationwide recession starting in 2008 and 2009 caused Congress to dramatically increase the ability to write off capital purchases in the first year as a way to stimulate business spending. The fact that this recession hit at the same time as climbing corn prices was a huge benefit for those producing corn and soybeans who didn't want to pay taxes on the profits they were earning.

Buying new equipment is a fun way to reduce taxes, upgrade old equipment that was just getting by, and implement new technologies such as auto steer and GPS mapping. The problem is this cost is going to be very hard to reduce. Depreciation isn't a one-year cost. The cost for machinery bought in 2013 will continue through 2020. Unlike fertilizer expense, the choice to upgrade equipment is often one that has consequences for many years.

If the purchases were made with cash, that means the working capital has been reduced going into tough times. If the equipment is financed, payments must be made for the next five to seven years.

Decisions on whether the operation could afford those payments were made with very different income calculations. Making those payments when there may be no profit per acre will make for tough choices. Selling extra equipment or downgrading to cheaper options causes tax consequences in a time with limited available cash.

Whatever happens with past purchases, new purchases need to be evaluated for more than their income tax benefit. Reining in machinery costs will be vital to success as it alone makes up almost 20 percent of all costs. Also, intermediate debt over the same five-year period has grown 26 percent on average. This increase in equipment debt may affect one's ability to make payments on time.

Here's a final reminder that we will be hosting a Farm Estate and Transition Planning Workshop on Tuesday, Dec. 16. The workshop will be at the University of Nebraska-Haskell Ag Lab, one mile east of Concord.

One of the most difficult issues that farm families face is the passing on of farm responsibilities from generation to generation. This workshop offers a reliable, useful discussion of business, family and tax issues involved in passing on the family farm or ranch, and the legal tools that are used to address those issues.

This is a full day meeting from 9 a.m. to about 2:30 p.m. There will be a noon meal provided by area sponsors; State Nebraska Bank and Trust and Farmers and Merchant State Bank of Wayne, and Iowa-Nebraska State Bank of Wakefield. There is no charge for this meeting, but for meal purposes and handouts we would like a pre-registration before Dec. 10. To register and for questions, call the Rural Response Hotline at (800) 464-0258 or the Dixon County Extension Office at (402) 584-2234.

Mayor Chamberlain declared the month of October as "Head Start Awareness Month."

Sandy Brown, representing the Wayne Green Team, gave a report on what they have been doing over the past few years and what they are currently working on.

Brian Kesting, Information Technology Specialist, and Joel Hansen, Building Inspector, gave a demonstration of the new GIS system. Council gave the direction to go live with the product.

Discussion took place on placing 4-way stop signs at all four corners of the Elementary School. Mayor Chamberlain stated he would contact school officials to come up with a proposed date and time in which to discuss the matter.

Agenda item nos. 13 and 14 regarding ordinances to create both a water extension district and a sewer extension district were placed on the agenda for discussion purposes only. The area of the district proposed would extend west on both sides of Grainland Road from the east boundary of the Wayne County Fairgrounds west to the west boundary of the right-of-way of South Pheasant Run Road. A request has been received from Kelby Herman who has purchased property going west on the south side of Grainland Road. He wants to annex, subdivide and develop the property.

Brian Kesting, Information Technology Specialist, was present to request Council consideration to approving the interlocal agreement with Wayne County regarding the 2015 Pictometry Flight Project. The City's share in this project would be $9,962.75. The County Commissioners approved this interlocal agreement this morning. The last time we did this on our own was in 2013. After discussion, Councilmember Sievers made a motion to introduce and approve Resolution 2014-89. Councilmember Giese thought that 2013 was too recent and did not think this expenditure would be fiscally responsible. The said motion died for lack of a second. Discussion took place in regard to a request to extend sidewalk from Pac N Save west to Pheasant Run Road and then north to the far north end of Bormgaars' fence. No action was taken on the matter.

Discussion took place regarding the Nebraska Street Park.

APPROVED: Membership application of Jacob Flynn to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.
