Looking Back At

The Wayne Herald continues its look back released. He paid $199 in fines and court ing at the second half of the year:

July

After serving more than three decades, Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen formally submitted his resignation, effective at the end of the month. He was leaving just six months short of finishing his eighth term in office as the county's top cop to take a job with the Nebraska Assocition of County Officials.

Mother Nature once again left a mess behind after a wind storm blew through the Wayne and Wakefield areas. Major tree damage was noted in both communities, including one that fell into the grandstand at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

Familiar faces who were in Wayne after the 2013 tornado were back in the area to assist with cleanup efforts in eastern Wayne and southern Dixon counties. Three members of Team Rubicon who were part of the 2013 cleanup efforts were on hand to assist from their headquarters in the Wakefield city offices.

Members of the Wayne State volleyball team presented a check for $15,000 to the Wayne Summer Sports Complex to assist in efforts to rebuild the facility following the 2013 tornado.

The Wayne Dirt Devils 12-under softball team came away with a third-place finish in the Class C state tournament in Hastings. The team went 4-2 in the double-elimination tournament.

Alex Koch was named the new head baseball coach at Wayne State College, replacing Brian Disch, who stepped down after six seasons to accept a teaching position in Norfolk. Like Disch, Koch is a former Wildcat player ran from Wayne to Norfolk in an effort to and assistant coach who took the job after serving as activity director at the Wayne Community Activity Center. "Cluck Dynasty" was the theme of the 2014 Wayne Chicken Show, and there was a lot of "cluckin' around" in town as the community came out of its shell, so to speak. The National Cluck-Off saw its first generational passing of the torch, as Joel Vavra – son of 10-time champion Mo Vavra - won the contest. J.T. Hobbs of Hoskins defended his title ${f August}$ in the youth division.

The Wavne County Commissioners unanimously selected Jason Dwinell as its new county sheriff. He was to assume the position on Aug. 1 to finish out LeRoy Janssen's eighth and final term in office. Dwinell won the Republican nomination for the job in the May primary.

Volunteers and workers at the Wayne and Dixon county fairs were getting things spruced up for the upcoming county fair season. The 2014 fair marked the start of the second century of fair activities in Dixon county, while Wayne County was gearing up for its 92nd annual fair with entertainment that included country music star Easton Corbin.

Allen native Scott Von Minden was gearing up for a trip to the Sturgis Bike Rally in South Dakota. He was riding there to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his first trip to the motorcycle rally.

The Wayne State fan base was surprised by the late-July resignation of longtime softball coach Krista Wood, who resigned to take a job at Div. I South Dakota State. In nine seasons, Wood was 270-154 and took the team to three regional tournaments, including a super-regional appearance in 2010.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency announced that federal disaster aid was available for the state of Nebraska to help with recovery efforts from tornadoes that struck northeast Nebraska in June.

A survey commissioned by a citizens committee found overwhelming support for a new swimming pool, provided it is paid for by a sales tax increase and not a property tax increase.

Health officials announced that mosquitoes collected near the Summer Sports Complex had tested positive for the West Nile Virus. No cases of the virus affecting human beings in the area had been reported by local health officials.

Wayne native Lyle George returned home from Seattle, Wash., to stage a one-man peaceful protest against the City of Fremont's housing ordinance that was designed to prevent illegal immigrants from renting in the community. George was arrested and charged with civil disobedience, spending a few hours in the Fremont jail before being Wayne State College alum Dr. Joe Mitka raise funds and awareness for a private K-12 school that he was hoping to build in Malawi. His goal was to raise $235,000 to build the school.

Joey Baldwin of Wayne was in the hunt throughout the 72-hole tournament before finishing in a tie for seventh at the Nebraska State Amateur Championships at the Norfolk Country Club.

Wayne Police Chief Marlen Chinn went before the Wayne County Commissioners to let them know that the county's financial responsibility for emergency dispatch services would double from the $36,000 they had been paying yearly for the last 10 years. Changes in technology and reduction in fees received by the city to support emergency dispatch services necessitated the increase.

Two days of 'roots' coming to WSC this March

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

The closing of Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln proved to be an opening for a local opportunity to bring a youth ministry conference to Wayne in early 2015.

The Roots Youth Conference is scheduled for March 6-7 at Wayne State College. It is a two-day event that includes a number of captivating speakers and an evening of amazing Christian rock that is expected to draw more than 600 people to Wayne for a weekend event.

Josh Sievers of Cross Rock Ministries, which is co-sponsoring the event along with Camp Assurance, said the opportunity to bring this conference to Wayne happened after another annual youth conference left Lincoln.

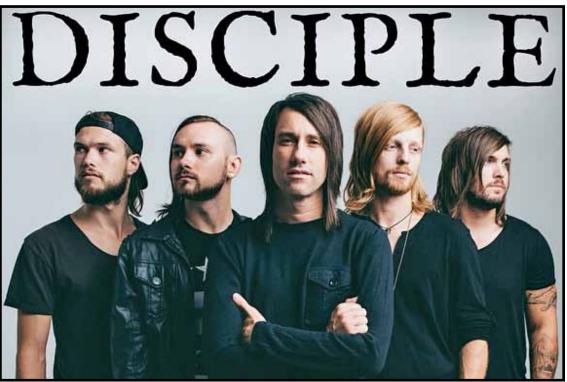

"They used to have the Dare 2 Share event in Lincoln, and when Pershing closed down they moved it to Kansas City," he said. "One of my friends said it would be cool to have something like that up in this area, and I had an idea for a youth conference like this a while back, so we started putting the pieces together." One of the main speakers for the two-day event is Eric Samuel Timm, an author and artist who brings an unforgettable multi-dimensional live art performance to his presentations. He will be joined by Ty Thomas, Tom Henderson, Josh Brewer and David Zach, lead singer of Remedy Drive, who will be one of five bands at the Saturday evening concert and will lead worship at the two-day event.

Some top-name Christian rock acts will perform in a Saturday evening concert at Ramsey Theater, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Headlining the concert will be Disciple, with Seventh Day Slumber, Decyfer Down and Nine Lashes also playing that evening.

"Disciple and Seventh Day Slumber are two pretty big names in Christian rock, so we're hoping to have a good turnout," Sievers said, adding that he expects about 600 people to attend the two-day confer-See ROOTS, Page 4A

Snow cause for pair of accidents

Two weather-related accidents along Highway 35 east of Wayne took place minutes apart Friday evening.

According to the Wayne County Sheriff Jason Dwinnel, the sheriff's office investigated two separate accidents about four miles east of town. The first, occurring at 6:55 p.m., happened when the driver lost control of his vehicle and went into the south ditch. The driver, whose name was not released, was uninjured.

Two separate motorists stopped at the edge of the highway to offer assistance, and while those vehicles were stopped, another vehicle lost control on the highway a few minutes later and collided with both parked vehicles.

The occupants in the second vehicle, whose names were also not released, were taken to Providence Medical Center for their injuries. They were treated and released from the hospital.

The Wayne Sheriff's Office was assisted by Wayne Fire and Rescue, Providence Medical Center and other motorists.

Wayne State repeats President's Honor Roll With Distinction

Wayne State College was named to the Honor Roll with Distinction for the fourth consecutive year by the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS), a federal agency that helps more than 5 million Americans improve the lives of their fellow citizens through service.

"I am very lucky and honored to work with amazing students, faculty and staff members, and administrators that make the Service-Learning program at WSC a success." Lisa Nelson said.

The Wayne State College 2014 award covers Service-Learning by an estimated 1,000 students completed in the 2012-2013 academic year, ending June 30, 2013.

One-third of the Wayne State College undergraduate population participates in Service-learning. The S-L projects reached across academ ic disciplines from Art to Sociology. The Wayne State College students provide more than 14,000 hours of service to meet the needs of area non-profits and regional businesses. Hours of service included two AmeriCorps Service Scholars who served at the Wayne Community Activity Center's after-school program.

The application requires that three projects be used as models to illustrate the campus Service-learning program. Faculty projects submitted as exemplars included:

– Dr. Laura Dendinger's Business Communications course. For more than 13 years she has consistentlv had her students participate in meaningful service that enhanced their course curriculum

– Dr. Marilyn Mudge and Liesel Literacy Powicki's Assessment course diligently with a number of organizations, churches, businesses and individuals to collect items to benefit children in the area.

Kellogg began his Drive for Kids this summer and has been collecting items for Haven House, Ronald McDonald House of Siouxland, Head Start and Rainbow World Child Care.

Nearly 300 items were collected by Christmas and Kellogg then spent a considerable amount of time sorting the items and will deliver them to the groups he feels can make the best use of them.

Food items, diapers and a number of items for babies and children were collected. In addition, Ameri-

Terry Kellogg has been working tas contributed $250 to Haven House and First National Bankcard Center conducted a drive to collect items for Haven House.

"At first, I didn't think there were going to be very many things to be collected, but the drive really picked up the last couple of weeks," Kellogg said.

He said that this was the second year he has conducted this type of drive and more items were collected this year. He is unsure of plans for next year, but says if he does do the project again, he will probably start later in the year.

Kellogg did say that a collection box at Our Savior Lutheran Church will remain up all year long for donations.

The application also asks for an accounting of other service and this includes information gathered from athletics, clubs and organizations, and the Multicultural Center.

Only three Nebraska higher education institutions were named to the General Community Service Honor Roll category with distinction, they include: Creighton University, University of Nebraska-Lincoln and Wayne State College. The University of Nebraska-Omaha was named to the highest Presidential winner level. More than 600 schools applied for the National Presidential recognition and were awarded.

Established in 1993, CNCS is a federal agency that engages more than 5 million Americans in service through its core programs - Senior Corps, AmeriCorps, and the Social Innovation Fund - and leads the President's national call to service initiative, United We Serve.

As the nation's largest grant maker for service and volunteering, CNCS plays a critical role in strengthening America's nonprofit sector and addressing our nation's challenges through service.

CNCS harnesses America's most $powerful\ resource-the\ energy\ and$ talents of citizens - to solve problems. From grade school through retirement, CNCS empowers Americans and fosters a lifetime of service.

Blue Ox earns Silver Award for trailer hitch

Blue Ox's SwayPro weight distribution hitch proved to be a favorite by respondents in Trailer Life's annual Readers' Choice survey earning Blue Ox, a Pender based company, a Silver Award.

The user-friendly SwayPro utilizes the latest in weight distributing technology with built-in sway control and is geometrically optimized and computer designed to provide superior weight distribution and sway control without the need of friction or adjustment. It's easy to install and maintain. Designed for maximum occupant safety and driver comfort, the SwayPro marries the tow vehicle and trailer together so it operates virtually as one unit which eliminates body roll and fishtailing.

Blue Ox President and CEO Ellen Kietzmann said, "We are thrilled to receive this honor because it reflects how our products are perceived by those who actually own and use them. It also reflects the appreciation consumers feel for the investment we make in research and development, testing and manufacturing to make sure we're giving them a safe and reliable product."

Trailer Life's Reader Choice Awards are a result of thousands of RV owners participating in an online survey that encompasses over 100 product categories.

October

A public preparedness survey conducted by the Great Plains Public Health Leadership Institute found that the biggest challenges faced by local officials in the aftermath of both the Oct. 4, 2013 Wayne tornado and the storms that ripped through the area in June of 2014 related to communications between city government and the community. The most often cited means of information about the weather came from the city sirens (50 percent) and cell phones (35 percent). Television news was cited by 30 percent of those surveyed, followed by weather radio (25 percent), local radio (20 percent) and verbal communication (10 percent).

Nebraska Farm Bureau recognized at AG-ceptional Women's Conference

Nebraska's largest, voluntary agricultural organization, lobbying on behalf of farmers and farming communities, was recognized at the recent AG-ceptional Women's Conference at Northeast Community College here.

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation was presented with the Conference's Award of Merit at the College's Lifelong Learning Center. Deanna Karmazin, executive director of the Nebraska Farm Bureau's Foundation, accepted the award.

Corinne Morris, dean of agriculture, math and science at Northeast and conference director, said Farm Bureau is deserving of such an honor. "We appreciate the work Nebraska Farm Bureau does to keep agriculture strong through advocacy, education and support for farm and ranch families. It has a long and meaningful history of helping Nebraska agriculture thrive."

Morris said Nebraska Farm Bureau was formed nearly 100 years Nebraska schools with millions of ago and was initially the host of dollars of support and back proextension services. According to its website, the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation "supports Nebraska farm and ranch families and works for the benefit of all Nebraskans through a wide variety of educational, service and advocacy efforts. Nebraska Farm Bureau exists and succeeds thanks to more than 56,000 member families from every corner of Nebraska." It has a presence in all of Nebraska's 93 counties.

Farm Bureau members provide grams such as "Agriculture in the Classroom" that help youth underculture in the form of food, fuel and fering scholarships and sponsoring leadership development programs like 4-H and FFA.

Over 350 participants took part in this year's AG-ceptional Women's Conference at Northeast Community College. "The AG-ceptional Women's Conference brings together an excellent line-up of speakers, workshops and networking opportunities for ag women. It's like no other conference in the region," Morris said. "Women contribute so much to agriculture, and this is our way of telling them thank you for all they do for the industry.'

Sports Hera Wayne gets Shootout victories

Both Wayne High basketball eams were set to play in the semifinals of their respective brackets in the 2014 Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout at Wayne State College.

Due to a scheduling conflict, Wayne High's girls got the equivalent of a first-round bye to move into Tuesday's semifinal against West Point-Beemer. Gretna was scheduled to play in the tournament, but were unable to get out of an already-scheduled date with Lincoln Pius that was set for the same day. Gretna agreed to come into the consolation bracket, so the game was filled with an exhibition between Wayne's varsity and JV teams.

The varsity girls, as expected, dominated their JV teammates, taking a 42-10 lead at the half and coming away with a 62-23 win.

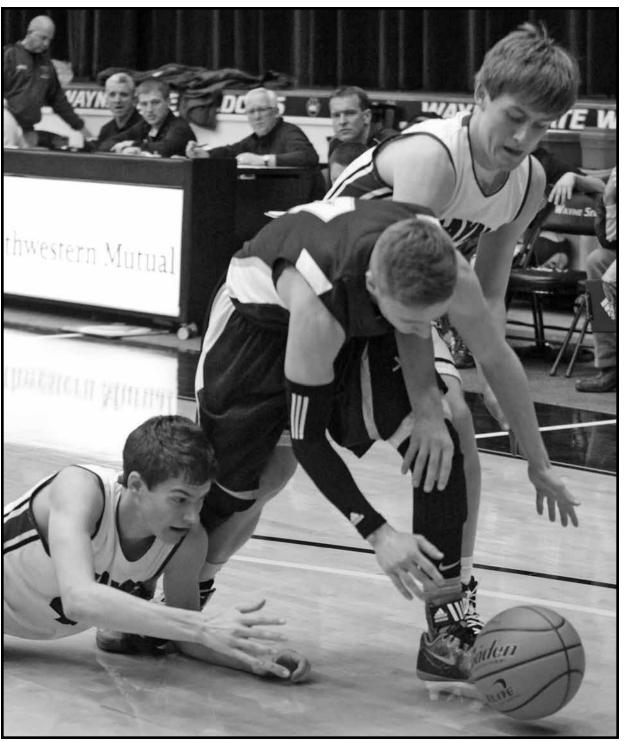

Tarah Stegemann led all scorers with a game-high 18 points as three varsity girls finished in double figures. Senior Abbie Hix added 12 points and Kylie Hammer put in 10 points.

Also scoring for the varsity were Rachel Rauner with five, Morgan Keating and Allison Echtenkamp with four each, Kelsey Boyer with three and Lindy Sandoz, Danica Schaefer and Peyton Roach with two points apiece.

For the Wayne JV, Gabi Lutt led the way with eight points, Jamie Gamble put in four points, Kennedy Maly and Brenna Vovos each had three, Mandy Stabler and Melinda Longe had two points each and Jewel Kneifl added a free throw.

The Wayne High boys came out and had a balanced offensive attack in their opening-round matchup against Omaha Concordia on Monday night, pulling away in the third quarter and posting a 55-31 win to move into the semifinals against Gretna.

VERDIGRE - The Allen High basketball teams headed north to compete in the Niobrara-Verdigre Holiday Tournament Monday at Verdigre High School.

In the girls game, the Lady Eagles used a solid second period and good defense to take care of Bloomfield and advance to the championship game with a 47-31 win over the Queen Bees.

The game was a struggle early on. but Allen put together a solid second period, riding the hot hand of junior forward Gabby Sullivan to a 30-16 halftime advantage.

After that, it was the Allen defense that rose to the occasion, holding off a Queen Bee comeback in the second half and adding to their halftime advantage to come away with the 16-point victory.

Sullivan led all scorers with a game-high 24 points and was the only Allen girl finishing in double figures. Lindsay Sullivan added eight points, Lexi Oswald put in seven, Brooke Kneifl had four and Bri Hingst and Alexis Johnson each had two points.

Gabby Sullivan pulled down 12 rebounds and had four steals in the win, while Oswald had five assists and Hingst had five steals.

In the boys matchup, the Bees jumped on the Eagles early, racing to a 48-15 halftime advantage and cruising to an easy 71-24 triumph.

For the Eagles, Garrett Brentlinger led the way with six points and Tayler Kumm added five. Also scoring were Brian Boese with four, Chase Johnson and Bud Kneifl with three apiece, Coleman Kneifl with two and Austin Klug with a free throw.

The Allen girls were to face host Niobrara/Verdigre in the finals Tuesday, while the Allen boys battled Osmond in consolation action.

Interviews with Wildcat coaches recorded live Mondays at 6 p.m. at The Max

Available online every Tuesday

mywaynenews.com's Michael Carnes sits down each week to talk to Wayne State coaches about their teams' efforts throughout the 2014-15 season. We'll recap the previous week's games and talk about upcoming opponents.

The Wakefield boys and girls bas- round games that were rescheduled down to the wire, with the Wake- two points for the winners. Rusk had four assists, and Mackling and Puls each had four steals.

> The Wakefield boys were also matched up with Lutheran High Northeast, and the Eagles came away with a 46-24 victory.

> As it was with the girls game, the two teams played close in the first half, with the Eagles leading 17-16. The difference came in the third period, when Lutheran High Northeast held Wakefield to a single field goal and used the 16-2 third-period run to take command of the contest.

> Brodie Mackling led a balanced Trojan attack with six points, while Riley Zamzow, Isaac Camarena and Anthony Victor each added four points. Scoring two points apiece were Alex Conley, Jose Sanchez and Tim Anderson.

The Wakefield girls were scheduled to play Ponca for fifth place on Tuesday, while the boys matched up with Oakland-Craig in the seventh-place game.

Adding music to workout routines your workout routine, you are not alone.

Research shows that music can be a great motivator for longer and harder workouts. Music can be a distraction from pain and fatigue, it can elevate mood, help increase endurance, decrease perceived effort and may even promote metabolic efficiency. Studies show when listening to music, people run farther, bike longer and swim faster than usual—often without realizing it.

Coordinating tempo with your workout routine. When warming up or cooling down select songs with 80-90 beats per minute (bmp) range. As your pace increases listen to songs within the 120-140 bpm range. Use songbpm.com or Google to find out the tempo of your favorite songs.

Charity effort

Providence Medical Center employees displayed their generosity by participating in Miss Molly's 2014 Holiday Charity Event. They donated everything from jeans and diaper bag products to toys and cash for children being served by Building Blocks for Community Enrichment, Inc., a local agency that addresses the needs of children and foster families in the area. John Temme (right) and Cinnamon Bear picked up the donations just prior to Christmas for distribution to foster children served by Building Blocks Foster Care. After being postponed from Dec. 15 to Dec. 19, the Allen Consolidated School's Christmas concert was a success as students from pre-school to high school performed vocal, instrumental, and dance songs.

Before intermission, two drawings were held. The Allen Community Club has been selling raffle tickets for a quilt made by Sharon Sullivan and Cindy Kraemer. The winner was Mona Podany.

The Springbank Township Library gave away a turkey and ham, one ticket per donated item to the strips, mashed potatoes, tea roll.

Praise Assembly of God,located at 1000 East 10th Street in Wayne, will celebrate Communion this coming Sunday morning in the 10:30 a.m. service.

Pastor Jason Pickering will be preaching. The first Sunday of the new year is a wonderful time to commemorate the Lord's pattern for celebrating "The Lord's Supper" as communion is called in churches everywhere. Sunday School for all ages precedes the morning service, starting at 9:30 a.m. throughout the building.

The mid-week activities of the church (Kids' Praise for boys and derful Counselor, the Mighty God, girls in grades K-6 and the Prayer the Everlasting Father the Prince Meeting for adults) resume on Wednesday evening, Jan. 8 from 6:30-7:40 p.m. No registration is needed; everyone is invited to join in these "Family Night" programs at Praise Assembly. The end of the year is always a time for reflection on the year that is just ending (2014) and the one that is about to begin (2015). Whether we are contemplating family joys or concerns or things that are happening on the job, it seems that these closing days of a year are full of moments of decision-making as we evaluate what we have walked through in the previous 365 days, 52 weeks, and 525,600 minutes (as the song "Seasons of Love" reminds us). So for our consideration on this day, Jan. 1, 2015, here are some observations from 2014: •Regardless of whether it has been a "good year" or a "not-so-good year", we have made it through it;

•(in the words of a cousin who died a couple of months ago): "I'm afraid: but I trust You, Jesus!";

•The fact that Jesus did not return to earth for His church in 2014 means that his returning is that much closer now;

•The hymn lyrics are still true: "Trust and obey, for there's no other way to be happy in Jesus, but to trust and obey";

•There have been plenty of opportunities in 2014 and there will be even more in 2015 to see and experience Jesus as He was foretold by the prophet Isaiah: "WonSenior Center, 9 a.m.; Classes Re- Farm Show in Vermillion. sume; JV/Varisity Boys Basketball at Lawton-Bronson, Iowa, 6:15 p.m.; Quilt Club,7 p.m. at Senior Citizen Center; Dixon County Weed Control Board, 7:30 p.m. at Weed Building.

·We should be thankful even for the very small ways in which the Lord has spared us;

•When we see that God has been a work in the small things, it helps us to be patient as we stare at the challenges of the future which still need His providential intervention;

•We need to guard relationships with family and friends; holding grudges - for whatever seemingly valid reasons - helps absolutely no one and accomplishes nothing;

Climate and population change concerns for irrigation practices

By ANGELA HENSEL Nebraska News Service

LINCOLN ,Äì For many ag producers in Nebraska, especially in the western part of the state, irrigation is a necessity.

"Without irrigation, at least half the state would probably be unable to produce irrigated crops," said Alan Corr, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension educator for West-Central Nebraska.

Today Nebraska is the number one state in the U.S. for total irrigated acres at just under 10 million. For Nebraska's agriculture industry, which contributed $21 billion to the state economy in 2011, according to the Nebraska Department of Agriculture, irrigation contributes largely to that by increasing production and profit for farmers.

But warming from climate change and a growing population may put more pressure on Nebraska's water supply for irrigation, leading some to question how much irrigation can continue in the future.

Two reasons why Nebraska has relied heavily on irrigation are the large underground water supply with the Ogallala Aquifer and varying ally receive moisture after they have used everyclimate across the state, Corr said. Because rainfall varies greatly from east to west across Nebraska, farmers in the west who receive less rainfall need irrigation to produce viable yields, Corr said.

"We will always have a crop here with irrigation," Corr said.

More reliance on irrigation in Nebraska has also been influenced by improvements in tech-systems were gravity fed, in which water was re- enough moisture. Every 2 degrees Celsius inter the crops at the bottom of the field, said Kenneth Hubbard, University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor of applied climate science.

Center-pivot irrigation systems, which are most commonly used today, disperse water throughout the field. This has led to more efficiency, Corr said, as gravity fed systems have a 50-60 percent water efficiency, and center pivots have a 95 percent water efficiency.

Because of the conditions in Nebraska and the increases in technology, this has led to the current irrigation levels and systems seen today. Despite how much irrigated land Nebraska has, both Corr and Hubbard said the Ogallala Aquifer is overall close to the same levels of water supply as before irrigation wells were put in.

But with increasing temperatures from global warming becoming an especially important factor, this could change.

Irrigation actually has an initial cooling effect on an area, Hubbard said. This is because rain-fed crops use moisture from the soil and when that moisture dries up, the crop gives off heat. But irrigated crops are able to continuthing up from the soil, so they don't give off that heat.

But, the caveat is that this cooling is a onetime effect that remains constant every year, Hubbard said. In contrast, global warming effects from increased levels of carbon dioxide have been increasing every year, and could eventually outweigh the effects from irrigation.

Increasing temperature could cause producnology. In the 1950s, most of the irrigation ers to irrigate more so they can give their crops leased at the top of the field and fell down to wa- crease in temperature, Hubbard said, leads to about a 3 percent increase in water usage.

> "Two degrees is not hard to get, even now during a drought year," Hubbard said.

> Along with temperature increases placing a greater demand on water supplies, population increases will also increase the demand for water. This increase will be especially seen in the cities, where water supply may take priority over water for irrigation, further putting demands on farmers, Hubbard said.

> To address these concerns, irrigation management and research about how to improve crop yields during drought years will be critical, Corr and Hubbard said.

> Corr, who works with many farmers in irrigation management, said that great improvements have already been made in management and many farmers are constantly monitoring their water levels.

> "The agriculture industry is aware they will have to produce more with less water probably, Corr said.

> But as water demands continue to increase, it could lead to more farmers having to make difficult decisions about when to use irrigation.

> "They need to start asking themselves, if l could get 90 percent of the yield I have now and use half the water, would I do it?" Hubbard said.

> While decisions like these may be more necessary in the future, irrigation and its impact on agricultural productivity will continue to be a big part of Nebraska, at least for the time being said Hubbard and Corr.

Music concerts make Christmas complete

The Wayne

When you are asked what means the most to you at Christmas, what do you reply? The stock answers seem to be: food, family, music, and lights. I love all of the above, but I think the music still ranks right up there for me. On my bucket list is a desire to be in Northfield, Minnesota, for St. Olaf's Christmas concert. I don't really have much of a chance for that, so second best is their television special.

NAMES OF CONTRACTOR

They, and the Mormon Tabernacle choir, did not make an appearance on Christmas Eve, so I was a bit disappointed. Our church service is early, 5 p.m., and then we have oyster stew, and we don't open gifts until morning, so there is plenty of time for music.

However, the Big Farmer found them both listed for the evening of Christmas Day. So, while he watched the 10 o'clock news, I went to the basement to the other TV. and found the St. Olaf's choir, this time in Norway, in a huge, ornate York Lutheran Choral Union, back is a lot of it!

church. There were actually two choirs, and a congregation seated in between. It looked like a Great Hall.

I first encountered F. Melius when I was a teen; which, as you well know, was a while ago. We learned his famous arrangement of Beautiful Savior then.

When I moved to Wayne County, I found that the head of the music department at Wayne State was a graduate of St. Olaf's, and their choir sang in Wayne in about 1975. I know I dragged the whole family to the concert; I was always looking for ways to get them a little "culture." The concert was inspiring, of course, and closed with that famous arrangement of Beautiful Savior.

Singing in the Lincoln Lutheran Choir, which is truly pan Lutheran, we sometimes used it again. When I say "pan Lutheran", we are really what those Minnesota Lutheran Church Basement Ladies call the AFL-CIO, American Federation of Lutherans Coerced Into One! It was a great experience to learn some of the wonderful sacred choral music Christiansen while singing in the that is still being used. And there Sometime in the last year or two, St. Olaf's sang at the First Plymouth church here in Lincoln, a wonderful music venue. We kept two of the students overnight. The current director is about as polar opposite in appearance of F. Melius as can be; the only similarity I can see is wavy hair! But he is just as able, just as demanding, just as respected. It was an awesome concert in an awesome surrounding.

So, on Christmas night, with my table leaves in and the ham in the frig, I got to listen to an hour of sacred choral Christmas music, sung in an amazing huge sanctuary, by an amazing choir, directed by an amazing conductor. It was a fitting nightcap. And, of course, it ended with that amazing rendition of Beautiful Savior, which brought tears to my eyes.

Hope yours was Merry; have a wonderful New Year!

Extension Board to meet Tuesday, Jan. 13 at Geno's

griculture

The UNL Extension Board-Wayne County will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 13, 2015 at Geno's Steakhouse in Wayne.

The 6:30 p.m. meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office at 510 Pearl Street, Suite C, in Wayne.

Crop Production Clinics scheduled for January

The annual Crop Production Clinic series will be held at nine locations across Nebraska in January 2015.

The Clinics will provide valuable information to help crop producers and agribusiness professionals improve their profitability and safety. The nearest locations for our area are Norfolk on Tuesday, Jan. 21 at the Lifelong Learning Center, Atkinson Community Center on Tuesday, Jan. 20, and in Ithaca at the ARDC on Thursday, Jan. 22.

The Crop Production Clinics will feature presentations from extension specialists and educators on soil fertility, soil water and irrigation management, crop production, ag business management & policy, pesticide safety, and disease, insect and weed pest management. See program locations at cpc.unl.edu for specific presentation titles. Program topics are tailored to meet the needs of cropping systems in different parts of the state, and vary by location.

The Crop Production Clinics will be the primary venue for commercial and noncommercial pesticide applicators to renew their licenses in the following categories: Ag

Plant (01), Regulatory (REG), and areas: crop production (2), nutrient Demonstration/Research (D/R). Representatives from the Nebraska Department of Agriculture will be present to verify attendance. Private applicators can also renew their licenses.

Online registration is required for these clinics to provide for meals and materials. Register at agronomy.unl.edu/cpc. Cost for preregistrations by 3 p.m. the day before the clinic is $65. Online preregistration includes the 2015 Guide for Weed Management in Nebraska, the 2015 Crop Production Clinic proceedings with further information on the topics being discussed, a meal, and refreshments. On-site registration is $80. The fee includes a noon meal, refreshments, the 2015 Guide for Weed, Insect and Disease Management in Nebraska and the 2015 Production Clinic Proceed-Crop ings

CCA credits will be available (maximum of six per day) in these management (1), integrated pest management (6), water management (1), and professional development (2).

For more information about this meeting series, contact Amit Jhala, CPC program coordinator and Nebraska Extension weed management specialist, 402-472-1534, or UNL Department of Agronomy Events at (402) 472-5636.

Take precautions to avoid hypothermia

Enjoying the Nebraska winter can be some of the most fun a person spends outdoors.

Being outdoors in the winter also means being safe in the coldest of temperatures. Avoiding hypothermia is key. Hypothermia is a low body temperature most often caused by exposure to cold weather or immersion in a cold body of water. Left untreated, hypothermia can lead to complete failure of the heart and respiratory system and to death. Primary treatments for hypothermia are methods to warm the body back to a normal temperature.

Symptoms include:

Food Drive

The Winside Elementary Student Council organized a food drive in December with the goal of collecting 600 items. The students exceeded that goal by collecting 672 items which were donated to the Wayne Food Pantry and Haven House. Pictured with the items are (front) Aubrie Edwards, Noah Janke, Jackie Escalante, (back) Brooklyn Behmer and Joie Clevenger.

Shivering;

- Confusion, difficulty thinking or poor decision making;

- Drowsiness or very low energy
- Gradual loss of consciousness - Weak pulse
- Slow, shallow breathing

A person with hypothermia usually is not aware of his or her condition, because the symptoms often begin gradually and because the confused thinking associated with hypothermia prevents self-awareness.

NOTICE TO DEFENDANTS

TO: Defendants Spouse of Eldon R. Nixon, real name unknown. Carol J. Nixon. John Doe and Jane Doe, real names and marital status unknown

Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of August, 2014, PennyMac Loan Services, LLC, as the plaintiff, filed its Amended Complaint in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, Case No. CI 14-29, against Eldon R. Nixon, Spouse of Eldon R. Nixon, real name unknown, Carol J. Nixon, John Doe and Jane Doe, real names and marital status unknown, as the defendants, the object and prayer of which is to foreclose a certain deed of trust for $101,246.00 on the property, after reformation, described as:

Lot 3, Lund's Second Addition to Wakefield, Wayne County, Nebraska, which was executed on August 15, 2008, by Eldon R. Nixon, and delivered to Landamerica Transnation Title, as Trustee, for the benefit of Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc., acting solely as nominee for Countrywide Bank, FSB, Beneficiary, and which was duly recorded on September 2, 2008 as Instrument No. 081202, in the Office of the Register of Deeds of Wayne County, Nebraska. Such deed of trust was given to secure the payment of a certain promissory note in writing dated August 15, 2008

The plaintiff alleges in its Amended Complaint that there is now due the plaintiff on said note the principal sum of $94,381.76, together with interest thereon from November 1, 2013 at the rate of 6.375% per annum. The plaintiff is the owner of the deed of trust, and is the holder of the indebtedness secured thereby.

The plaintiff prays that in default of payment by the defendants of the amount due the plaintiff as aforesaid, such mortgaged premises be decreed to be sold according to law to satisfy the sums found due the plaintiff, with interest and costs of suit, and that such defendants be forever barred and foreclosed of all right, title, lien, equity of redemption or other interest in, to and upon such mortgaged premises.

You are required to answer such Amended Complaint on or before the 31st day of January, 2015.

During the December 2, 2014 meeting, Lots 1 & 2, Marywood Subdivision to Wayne were added to the tax rolls for 2014. The property, owned by the Missionary Benedictine Sisters, sold to George Burcum and Susan Boust on August 27, 2014. The date of sale needed to be after October 15, 2014, to qualify for the permissive tax exemption in 2014.

Dave Ewing, the closing agent on the property transfer, spoke to the board on behalf of both the buyer and the seller. Ewing told the board the August 27th date was the date of the purchase agreement. Ownership transferred on the date of the closing, October 16, 2014, when the money was transferred, the 521 Form was signed, and the deed was recorded. Copies of the purchase agreement, the buyers and sellers closing letters and statements, and the checks issued were submitted to support the October 16th date.

Ewing pointed out that the 521 Form has instructions for the entire form, except Box 3, the "Date of Sale/Transfer". He has always entered the date of the purchase agreement in Box 3, and it has never been questioned. Because the date in Box 3 was being used to determine the taxable status of this property, Ewing suggested the deed be re-filed with a 521 Form that listed October 16th in Box 3 when ownership of the property transferred. To see if precedent had been set, Duffy and Ewing were asked to find examples of deeds transferring property from an exempt to non-exempt entity. Boust questioned the validity of the 521 Form that accompanied the deed. Her attorney said it should have been signed by the buyer or an agent for the buyer, not the seller's agent. Clarification from the Department of Revenue and the county attorney will be sought on both the date of sale and the signature on the 521 Form.

increased 30-42% Road/Bridge Business:

The Army Corp of Engineers rejected the county's initial plans for Bridge Replacement Project C-90 (261), located on 859th Rd, 1/4 mile east of Mile 567. The Corp wanted the road moved, but eventually approved a compromise that loops the creek to the north. That plan requires a fenced, permanent easement. The county's last offer to Daryl Hahn was $12,000 per acre for a permanent easement on 1.06 acres for the project. Hahn told the board he would lose more than 1.06 acres; he felt the offer should include payment for the current 33 foot road right away. Hahn also noted that the strip left between the fence and his trees would be difficult to farm with 24-row equipment. An on-site review of the property will take place.

Easement forms for road/bridge projects were discussed. A temporary easement states how the easement area can be used during the construction phase. Usage can continue after construction when a permanent easement is signed. An easement deed does not state the usage but includes reversion information should the permanent easement be abandoned. A motion was made by Larson and seconded by Rabe to add reversion information to all permanent easements effective immediately, instead of asking landowners to sign an easement deed. Roll call vote Larson-ave, Rabe-ave, Burbach-ave; motion carried.

A Box Culvert Change Order #1 for Project C-90(536) was reviewed and approved. Forma action will take place during the January 6, 2015 meeting.

The location of the driveway easement to the new county shed is being discussed with Bob & David Fuoss.

Phil Lorenzen of D.A. Davidson & Co. will start work on the creation of Rural Road Improvement Districts for bridge projects.

The commissioners will work with Road/Bridge Project Manager Mark Casey on the 2015 One & Six Year Plan

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes Managing Editor

It was so cold outside

As the ball drops, so too does this week's purging of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- I wouldn't say it was bitterly cold Tuesday morning, but it was so bad, saw Congressman Adrian Smith walking down the street, and he had his hands in HIS OWN pockets.

- A celebrity website recently posted a story about an effort by "entertainer" Miley Cyrus to free us all from the shackles of decorum and post pictures of topless women in all their boobalicious glory.

I've got a better idea – how about we free ourselves from the mindless twits like Miley Cyrus and just ignore the brain-dead celebretards? If we could get the Miley Cyrus, Lindsay Lohans and all the other no-talent morons in one room and blow that room up, I think we'd all win, wouldn't we?

- Proof that cable TV news bobbleheads have completely lost their minds: a recent story on Fox News Channel's "Fox & Friends" morning show noted that the FDA was attempting to remove candy sprinkles – like the ones on your favorite bakery-fresh donuts at Sunrise Bakery or Vel's Bakery here in town – from store shelves.

Maybe if we removed the airheads who believe anything they read on a teleprompter from the airwaves, the quality of TV programming might nudge up just a bit.

- Boy, I'm sure glad nobody snuck a tape recorder into my house the day after I quit a job in radio 20 years ago. Some of the stuff I had to say about my former employer would have made Bo Pelini's comments about Husker AD Shawn Eichorst sound complimentary by comparison.

Of course, I have NOTHING but good things to say about my current employer . . . at least, as far as he knows.

- I was just about ready to break out the old Huey Lewis & The News CD's the other day after seeing gas prices drop to levels not seen since the end of the previous Presidential regime.

While Wayne's gas stations seem to be a little slow to catch up with neighboring communities, a recent trip to the Omaha area found numerous gas stations offering a gallon of gas at less than $2 a gallon.

This is particularly welcome, although paying almost the same price for a 20-ounce bottle of Mountain Dew is a wee bit odd . . . and $4 for a gallon of milk is just mind-numbing.

- Favorite joke told by my niece: What do you call fake macaroni? The answer: impasta.

She's here all week, folks . . . don't forget to tip your waiter.

- I'll say this for Ben Sasse replacing Mike Johanns as Nebraska's representative in the U.S. Senate: at least we'll be able to watch our representative testify on C-Span without needing three Red Bulls and a pot of coffee to sit through one of his speeches on the floor in Congress.

I caught up on a lot of the sleep I lost in the 90's by trying to sit through to Heineman about the separation

By J.L. SCHMIDT The Nebraska Press Association

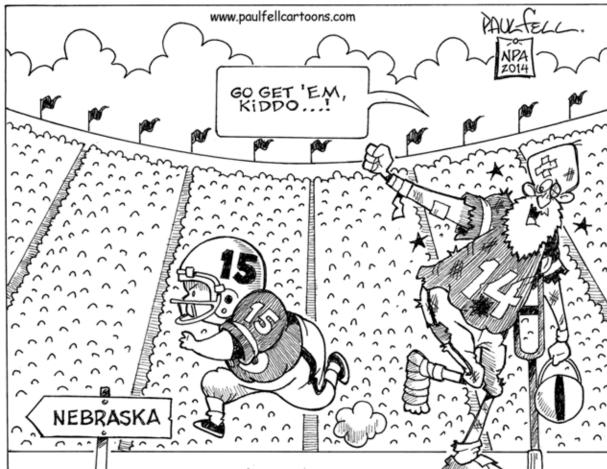

Here's what happened in a year that started with a somewhat cantankerous Legislature and ended with the University of Nebraska firing its controversial football coach. Lawmakers were only nine days into the 60-day session in JANU-ARY before the name-calling between the Executive and Legislative branches started. That's typical for a short session, but such animosity is usually reserved for last-ditch emotions at the end of the session. Governor Dave Heineman delivered his tenth and last State of the State address and promised tax cuts, no Medicaid expansion and an end to the prison good time law.

Tax talk intensified in FEBRU-ARY and term-limited Senator Russ Karpisek offered a bill that would simply restore the state aid to municipalities, counties and natural resources districts that had been taken away in 2011 to meet state obligations. He reasoned that since the state can now afford it, giving the money back would mean those taxing entities would not have to raise their property tax levy which would translate to taxpayer relief. It made sense. The bill didn't go anywhere.

Sen. Annette Dubas took a bold step in MARCH and offered a proposal to allow the state to issue up to $200 million in bonds to finance construction of state expressways and other new highway projects identified by lawmakers three years ago. She said the move would allow the state Department of Roads to deal with increasing uncertainty in federal highway dollars. But Department of Roads Director Randall Peters spoke against the bill and it failed to pass.

The Nebraska Legislature's vote to override nearly $65 million in gubernatorial budget vetoes on APRIL 1 was no joke. Not only did the 49 members of the Legislative branch restore the budget recommended by their own Appropriations Committee, but they delivered a message of powers. Veteran Senator Ernie Chambers of Omaha set the tone for the override debate when he characterized the governor "once again poking his finger in the eye of the Legislature.' By MAY reporters were looking at the recently completed 103rd Legislature by the numbers. During the two-year session, lawmakers considered 1,115 bills and 82 accompanying appropriations measures. There were also 628 resolutions and 12 proposed Constitutional Amendments, only one of which (LR41CA made it to the November ballot. When it all shook out, 405 bills were destined to become law, another 727 were killed and six

It was learned in JUNE that Heineman wrote a letter on state time AND stationery to notify the University that he wanted to be considered for the vacant office of President of the University system. The lame duck governor was not considered and University Regents have interviewed four other finalists for the job.

In JULY, an Omaha World-Herald investigation revealed that 306 Nebraska inmates were released early after Department of Corrections officials miscalculated their release dates. By the time the mess was reported, 257 of them had already completed their sentences; three died; and five successfully completed paroles. Of the remainanother 567 had their release dates leased Republicans captured every major constitutional office in the NOVEM-BER election, continuing a trend that goes back to the late '30s in some cases. In a completely unrelated matter, Wayne superintendent and Minnesota Vikings fan Mark Lenihan has asked White Dog Pub owner and passionate Green Bay Packer backer Bill Melena to stop sending him e-mails that end with "Go Pack Go." Vikings fans are kinda sensitive when being needled about their team failing to make the NFL playoffs.

2015-OUT WITH THE OLD AND IN WITH THE NEW

Appointing judges is a great honor

Dear Fellow Nebraskans:

Appointing judges is a very important responsibility of a Governor and I have taken this duty very seriously. It has been one of the greatest honors of my tenure as Governor to have had the opportunity to appoint more than 70 judges these past 10 years.

Nebraska has an excellent system of nominating judges that involves both lawyers and non-lawyers. The Judicial Nominating Committees do a tremendously important job of reviewing the applicants and forwarding me the most qualified individuals to review. I owe everyone who has served on one of these boards a heartfelt "thank you."

For me, the key qualifications are judicial philosophy, judicial temperament, and legal experience. My decision process involves reviewing the judiciary documents about each candidate, letters of support, and interviews.

I work hard to select judges who will interpret the law rather than make the law. I want judges to be fair and impartial, and to have an exceptional judicial temperament.

During my 10 years, I have had the opportunity to appoint some notable jurists to the bench.

I was pleased to appoint Michael Heavican as Chief Justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court in 2006. In the role as head of the Nebraska Supreme Court, the Chief Justice provides administrative leadership for the state judicial system and oversees regulation of the practice of law in Nebraska.

Judge Heavican became Nebraska's 23rd chief justice. Before that, he served as the U.S. Attorney for the District of Nebraska. Chief Justice Heavican has led our state's judicial branch with a steady hand and an unwavering sense of leadership, management and the execution of an organizational vision.

In 2005, I appointed Marlon Polk, our state's first black district court judge, to the Fourth Judicial DisDave Heineman trict Court, which oversees areas of Douglas County.

Last year I appointed our state's first Latina judge in history when I appointed Stefanie Martinez to the Sarpy County Court, Second Judicial District.

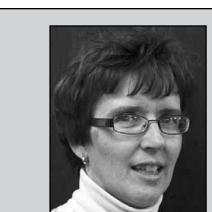

I appointed Francie Riedmann and Riko Bishop to the Nebraska Court of Appeals in 2012 and 2013. For the first time ever, half of the members of this Appeals Court are women.

On Nov. 12, 2014, history was made in the great State of Nebraska when the Nebraska Court of Appeals was in session. This event marked the first time female judges made up a full panel during a Nebraska Court of Appeals session.

This historic event shows great progress and marks an important moment in Nebraska's judicial history. I have appointed more women as judges in Nebraska than any other Governor.

During my 10 years as Governor, 40 times a Judicial Nominating Committee sent me a list of names from which to choose that included both men and women. More than half of that time, I chose a female for the judgeship.

As a result, the Nebraska judiciary has the most female judges that we have ever had. Nebraskans can be proud of that record. Judicial diversity is important to the courts and to the Nebraskans who appear in court.
