A partnership that defied doubters

Anniversary of pact between
WSC, NECC
marks 10th year

By CLARA OSTEN

Dr. Bill Path, former President of Northeast Community College remembers "that there were many people across the state who doubted if it could be accomplished, but partnering with Wayne State College for the creation of the College Center in South Sioux City, was one of the most gratifying accomplishments of my presidency at Northeast Community College."

That partnership celebrated 10 years on Feb. 16 at a joint meeting of officials from South Sioux City, Dakota County, Northeast Community College and Wayne State College.

The interlocal agreement between the two public institutions allowed for the joint ownership and operation of the facility and created a true higher education "one-stop" center for area residents. City and County officials as well as numerous area business owners and private citizens from Siouxland came together and strongly supported this endeavor.

"A lot of two and four-year institutions have collaborative agreements, but the memorandum of understanding between Northeast Community College and Wayne State College is the only one in the nation in which the two institutions jointly own the facility," said Wayne State College President Curt Frye, who was serving as the interim president of Wayne State when Dr. Path presented the proposal 10 years ago.

"The idea for the College Center originally came about when I reviewed the 2000 Census data for northeast Nebraska and saw the growing population trends happening in Dakota and Thurston Counties and noticed the lack of higher educational offerings in this region from Nebraska. It was obvious to me that there was a large group of taxpayers who were being underserved and who deserved convenient access to educational opportunities at an affordable rate," Dr. Path said.

Frye said that having the College Center in South Sioux City allows students the opportunity for students to take two years worth of classes through Northeast Community College and then through the transfer program, receive the rest of their education through Wayne State College. The facility offers the opportunity for both distance education and face-to-face classes.

Both colleges offered courses and programming in the South Sioux City area for decades prior to this agreement, but it was this partnership that led to the creation of the College Center.

"This concept was truly visionary for its time. I commend both the boards, administration and others for creating this partnership which allows for a seamless transfer for our students to attend Wayne State without having to travel far from home," said Dr. Michael Chipps, Northeast president. "I am pleased that after a decade of service through this partnership, we are committed more than ever to continue meeting the needs of educating our constituents in the Siouxland region."

"I was pleased to be involved with the conceptualization and planning for the College Center," said WSC President Frye. "I was interim president when Dr. Path presented me with the concept of a joint facility in South Sioux City. Wayne State College has been offering college courses in South See PARTNERSHIP, Page 3A

Seventh Day Slumber is one of the Christian rock bands that will be performing at next week's ROOTS Youth Conference and City Rock Fest in Rice Auditorium at Wayne State College.

Ready to rock with a message

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

If you enjoyed the night of awesome Christian rock last spring in Wayne, you'll want to make sure to take in this year's festival.

The Campus Crusade for Christ team at Wayne State College, along with Cross Rock Ministries and Camp Assurance, are putting on the ROOTS Youth Conference and City Rock Fest March 6-7 at Wayne State College.

Josh Sievers, who is working with the groups to put the two-day festival together, said there has been a lot of positive feedback regarding the upcoming show.

"We're pretty pumped for this lineup," he said. "There are some great bands coming and they are great people as well. We've had a lot of great feedback already, and ticket sales are starting to pick up as we get closer to the date and everybody's schedules start lining up."

The event is being held at Wayne State College's Rice Auditorium and will include some outstanding Christian speakers and bands that will be on hand for the two-day event.

The fun begins Friday, March 6 evening with a session of speakers starting at 6 p.m., then continues throughout the day on Saturday, March 7, starting at 8 a.m. Some of the speakers expected to participate include Eric Samuel Timm of No One Underground, Tom Henderson from Restoration Generation, Josh Brewer of Life-light, David Zach from the band Remedy Drive, and a special guest from Voice of the Martyrs. The band Remedy Drive will be leading the worship throughout the weekend.

One of the main focuses of the conference will be to give students and young adults a chance to put their faith into action. Live worship, testimony and powerful skits and dramas will be a part of the event, allowing those in attendance to connect and be challenged with what they learn at the conference.

The doors for the concert will open Saturday at 6 p.m., and the music gets started at around 6:30 p.m. Bands including Disciple, Seventh Day Slumber, Decyfer Down and Nine Lashes will perform during the evening's concert.

Columbus man gets six-month jail term

A high-speed chase that began in Wayne County has ended with a Columbus man spending six months in the Stanton County Jail.

Brenden Brown, 20, pled guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle to avoid arrest and was sentenced to six months in jail by County Judge Michael Long as the result of a chase back in August of 2013.

The chase began in Wayne County on Highway 35 and continued into Stanton County and ultimately into Norfolk, where he lost control of his vehicle and struck a building near Second Street and Norfolk Avenue. Brown fled on foot before being caught about a block away from the accident and was taken into custody.

Brown was taken into custody again earlier this month on warrants related to the chase after he failed to appear in court back in 2013.

Brown still faces charges in both Wayne County and Madison County courts.

City sees record total for sales tax receipts

The check that came in the mail from the Nebraska Department of Revenue for city sales tax receipts has never been as big as the one the City of Wayne received late last week.

The amount of $66,640.07 from sales made during the month of December 2014 represented the highest single month of city sales tax receipts that has come into the city since voters first approved a city sales tax back in 2000.

The amount was an increase of more than $3,600 over the previous single-month record set back in September of 2014, and was a jump of more than 20 percent over the previous month's intake of just over $53,000.

The city projected an average monthly receipt of $56,205.72, based on a 2 percent increase of the average monthly receipts from fiscal year 2013-14, and it is well ahead of those monthly averages five months into fiscal year 2014-15. To date, the city has received just under $300,000 in local sales tax receipts and is on pace to better that projected average if February's numbers are

Answering monthly business questions

When is a good time to hire?

How do I know I am ready to hire employees? - Kearney

This is a very common question within the small business community and represents a fairly significant milestone within the development of your business. If you are asking yourself this question chances are you have seen indications that adding staff will help your business reach its goals. These goals need to be clear and well defined.

Hopefully, you have established goals and specific metrics to analyze these goals. The reason why this is so important is because you may need help in the form of additional staff to reach these goals. If these goals of the business are not defined then it will be very difficult in communicating the purpose and role of the business. These goals may come in the form of additional sales or a better customer experience or better turn time in fulfilling an order which will translates to more customers.

Whatever it is, I would highly recommend defining specific goals for the business and then translating them into a specific job description. This will help you as the business owner to have a clear view of the role of each employee and what role they play in helping the business reach its goals. Not to mention, it will help the employee in understanding their part in the business and how it translates to the business's success. This also can help with setting expectations, accountability, and leveraging your employees to obtain a competitive advantage. If the business does not have specific goals or a way to analyze and interpret these goals, I would not recommend you hire employees.

My small business is thinking about taking on a partner, what are the risks involved? - Lincoln

As you may already know, taking on a partner in a small business can be very complicated.

I would first ask, what is the purpose of your small business taking on a partner? Is the business cash strapped? Is the business in need of a "fresh" idea or direction? Is the partner looking for a return on their money? All of these questions will help define the role of the partner within the business.

The main risk involves decision-making power. Sometimes taking on a partner creates a power struggle, in which, if not well defined from the onset, can demand significant resources, both in money and time. Clearly defining the relationship can help tremendously.

Very rarely would I ever recommend a 50-50 partnership in a small business. One of the advantages of being a small business is that decisions can be made easily, quickly, and without endless deliberation from multiple decision makers. A partnership that is well defined will at the very least be a 51-49 relationship. The roles need to be well-defined and ownership equity stake usually defines that role.

If there is a 50-50 partnership, who will make the decision if there are conflicting views? And believe me there will be conflicting views! Many large organizations struggle with change because there are too many decision makers that have input in a given direction of the business. A small business can easily make decisions adapting to change because of the lead decision maker (usually the owner) is on site or readily available to be agile.

Having a partner and another layer of decision making can sometimes limit that small business's agility and ability to adapt to change in the future.

Message

"Seventh Day Slumber played for us at the Christian Cross Festival in Norfolk a while back, and Decyfer Down played in O'Neill recently, so these bands are familiar with the area and they're great bands with a great message," Sievers said.

Tickets for the event are $10 in advance or $12 at the door. Tickets are available online at www.crossrocklive.com, and can also be purchased at The Abbey in Norfolk or the Family Christian Store in Sioux City.

Sievers said a limited number of VIP passes are also available for the show, which gets people in early to take part in a meet-and-greet visit with the artists.

Partnership

College has been offering college courses in South Sioux City and Siouxland for more than 40 years in conjunction with the local public schools. The ability to construct a building specifically to support those efforts was attractive."

Planning continued until 2009 when construction on the College Center began. The first classes there were held in March 2011. The two colleges began offering joint programs of study in elementary education, criminal justice and business administration.

WSC President Frye remembers that just after the completion of the College Center, the area was threatened by flood waters from the Missouri River and the dikes were built to protect the newly constructed building.

Frye noted that in the last 10 years, the College Center has served students in the tri-state area (Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota), including many non-traditional students, due to the favorable tuition rates.

"This partnership has been a great opportunity for both Wayne State College and Northeast Community College," Frye said.

Northeast continues to provide additional associate degrees, diplomas, certificates and classes in a number of areas such as academic transfer, accounting, administrative assistant, basic nurse aide, business administration, criminal justice, elementary education, emergency medical technician-basic, human services - counseling, medical coding, medication aide, nursing, office management, pipe welding, and social science. Technical education includes drafting, truck driving and welding.

Wayne State College offers courses in business administration - professional studies and accounting, criminal justice, elementary education, and human services - counseling. Wayne State also offers Master's degree programs in education - curriculum and instructional leadership, and education-administration.

"Northeast Community College and Wayne

State College are dedicated to providing affordable and accessible higher education in South Sioux City," Chipps said. "We continue to look forward to working with area school districts, including South Sioux City Public Schools, the City of South Sioux City, Dakota County and Wayne State to build a future full of opportunity for the communities and surrounding area for generations to come. I extend my appreciation to all of them for recognizing the value of this partnership and its impact on Siouxland."

"I am so proud to see that the College Center is thriving still today with expanded program offerings and increasing numbers of students. We all felt from the very beginning that if this type of unique educational partnership was to work anywhere, it would be in a visionary community like South Sioux City. This is a wonderfully progressive community that is now benefiting from being a real college town," Dr. Path said.

NSIC champs once again

Fourth title in five seasons

The bad news for the Wayne State women's basketball team is that their 14-game winning streak came to an end Friday in a 69-56 loss at Winona State.

The good news, though, is that the Wildcats were still able to claim their second straight Northern Sun Conference regular-season championship, thanks to a 74-62 loss by Minnesota State at Sioux Falls. It was Wayne State's fourth regular-season conference title in five years, and they finished off the regular season Saturday with a 66-52 win at Upper Iowa to take a 24-4 record (18-4 NSIC) into postseason play.

On Friday, the Wildcats only led for 49 seconds on the first basket of the game. Winona State scored the next 11 points to take an 11-2 lead. Wayne State did come back with a 12-1 run and took a 14-12 lead, thanks to five straight points by freshman Paige Ballinger, including a three-point play and a pair of free throws with 8:43 to go in the half. Winona State came back with a 13-2 run of their own, and the Wildcats never got closer than two points after that.

Jordan Spencer was the lone Wayne State player in double figures, finishing with 19 points and 11 rebounds for her sixth double-double of the season.

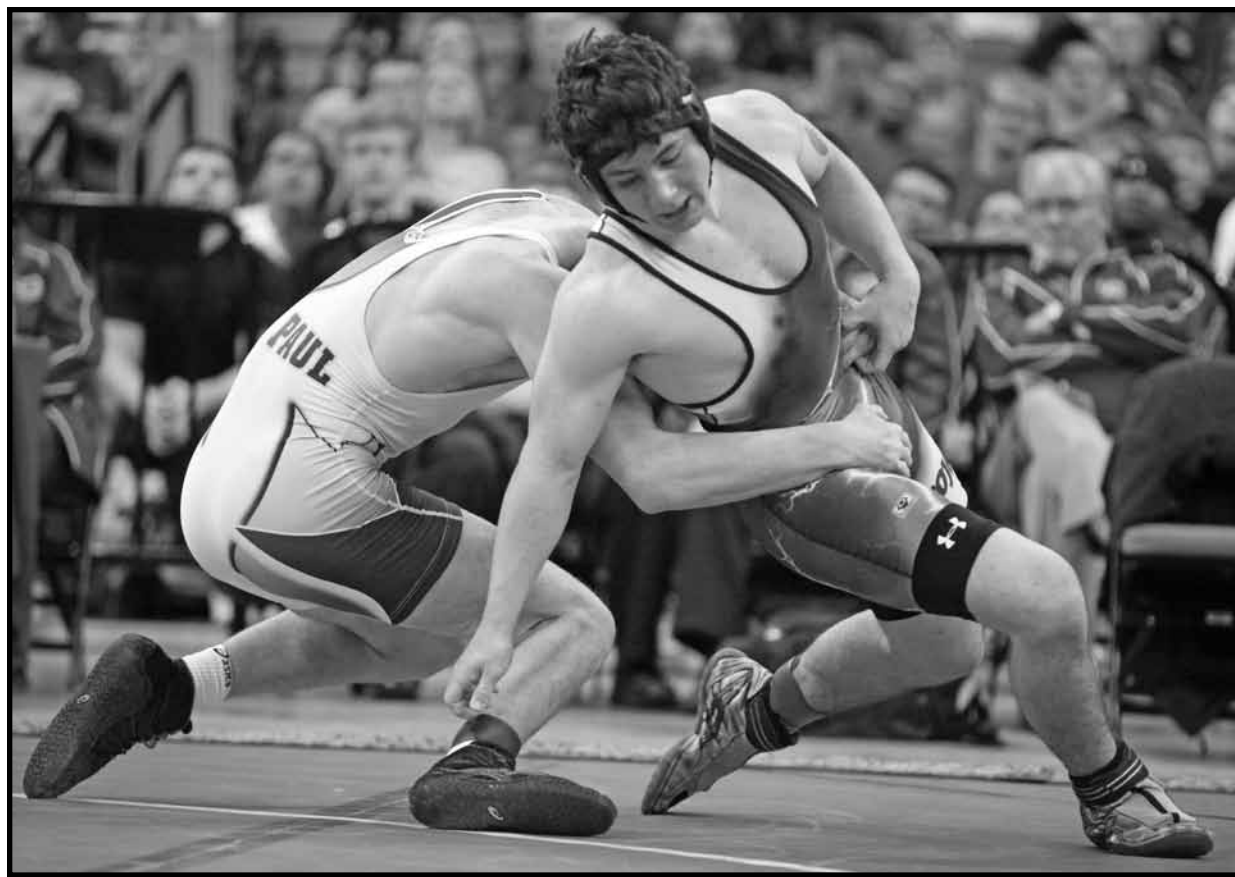

Spencer led four Wildcats in double figures with a game-high 17 points as the Wildcats bounced back to dominate the Peacocks in Saturday's finale at Upper Iowa.

Wayne State never trailed in the contest as the Wildcats jumped out to an early 5-0 lead. After Upper Iowa got within two at 8-6, Wayne State went on a 12-2 run to take a 20-8 lead, with Ballinger scoring six of the Wildcat points during the key run.

Junior guard Sadie Murren scored the first four points of the second half for Wayne to give the Wildcats a 34-21 lead, and Upper Iowa would never get closer than nine points after that as the Wildcats pulled away for the victory.

Joining Spencer in double figures was Ballinger with 12 points and seniors Millie Niggeling and Ashton Wakefield's Caleb Thomas tries to get away from David Gross of St. Paul in the ultimate rideout period, but is unable to as he finished second at 160 pounds for the second time.

Thomas' title hopes fall short in title bout

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

OMAHA – So close, and yet so far. Wakefield 160-pounder Caleb Thomas came up short in his first trip to the state finals two years ago at the Nebraska State Wrestling Championships, and an injury last year cut short his chances of returning to the Walk of Champions.

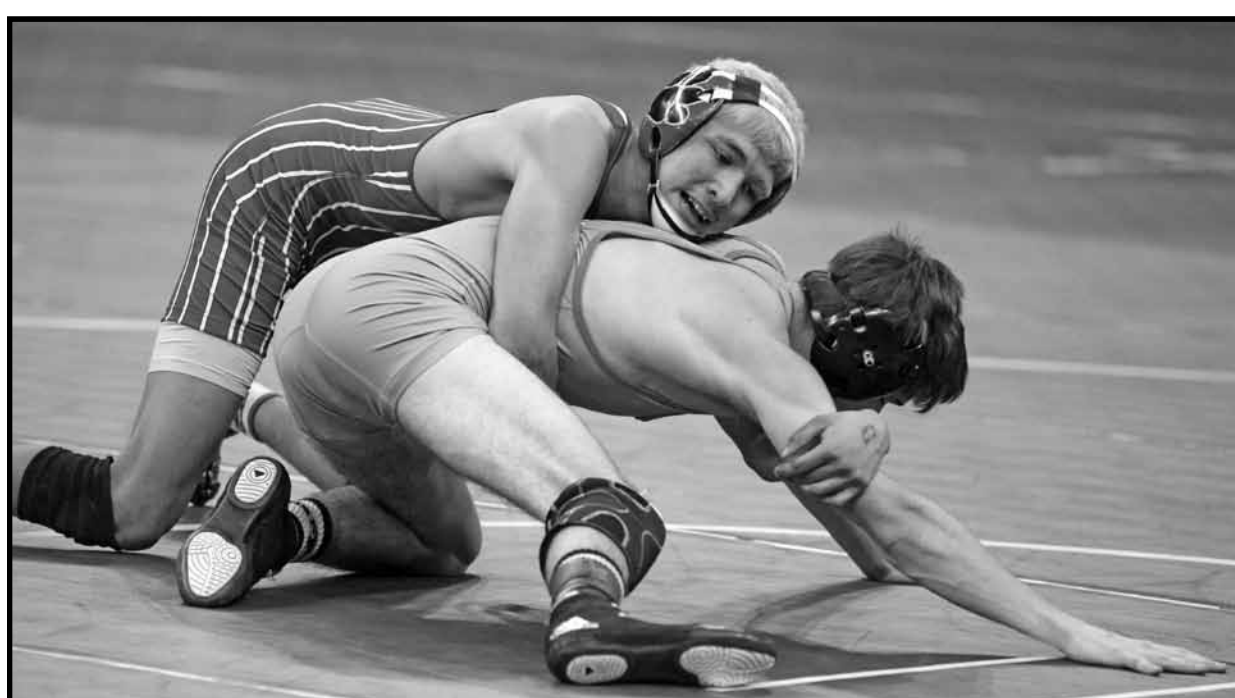

He found himself back among the 28 finalists in Class C who were looking for a spot in Nebraska's history of high school champions, but the senior from Allen saw his quest for gold come up seconds short in the ultimate tie-breaker as he lost a heartbreaking 3-2 decision to David Gross of St. Paul.

"You don't want to lose a match like that anywhere, but when it's in the state finals that is a hard pill to swallow," coach Eric Burenheide said.

Thomas, who goes to school at Allen and wrestles under a co-operative agreement between the two schools, wrestled two solid matches on Thursday to reach the semifinal round on Friday. He suffered what appeared to be a broken nose during Friday's semifinal against Malcolm's Jake Roberts, but managed to stop the bleeding long enough to hang on for a 3-2 win and move on to the finals for the second time in as many appearances at the Century Link Center.

In his championship match, he escaped Gross early in the second period after a scoreless first period.

Marcus Escalera was a state champion last year, but had to come back through the consolations to earn a third-place medal and help Winside to a top 10 finish in Class D.

Winside finishes in top 10, area kids get three medals

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

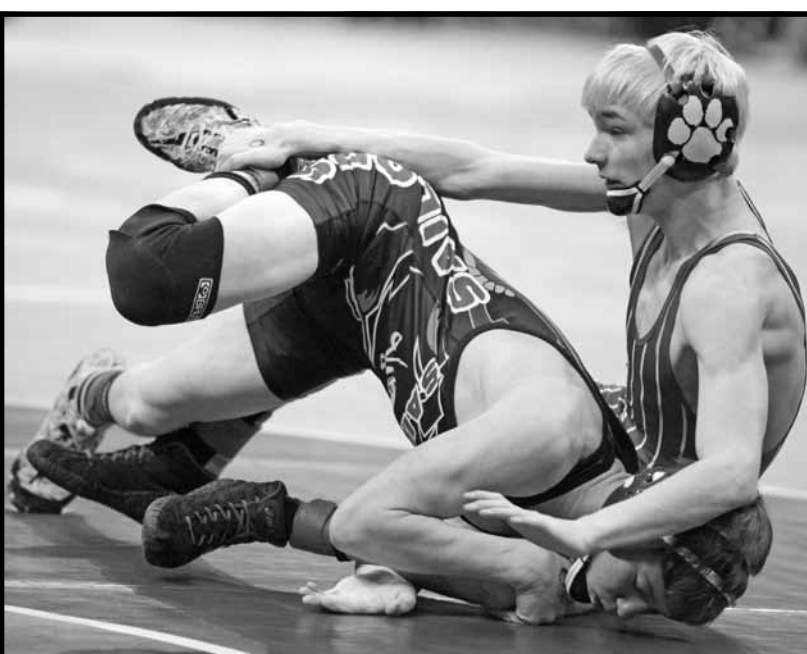

OMAHA – Both of the Class D teams in the area were able to bring home medals from the 2015 Nebraska State Wrestling Championships.

And while none of the three medals earned by area wrestlers were of the championship variety, the kids who won medals are all underclassmen who will be back to serve as an inspiration for their teammates when the 2016 state tournament rolls around 12 months from now.

For Winside, there was hope that they might be in the hunt for a state runner-up trophy behind perennial power Amherst, who ran away with a sixth consecutive state championship.

It didn't quite work out the way coach Paul Sok hoped, however, as the Wildcats had to settle for a pair of third-place medals and a 10th place finish in the Class D team standings.

"I thought we could have had three more medals, but things didn't work out for us," Sok said after the tournament. "We did a pretty good job and five of the six kids who wrestled won matches for us, which will help us gear up for the dual state tournament next week. I don't know if we were looking ahead to that or not, but we wrestled some tough matches."

Both Colby Erickson (126) and Marcus Escalera (132) finished with consolation championships to lead the Winside effort. Erickson reached the semifinals before losing to eventual state runner-up Kalen Klingelhofer of Amherst in a close 4-2 decision. He came back on Saturday to win his final two matches, capping it with an ultimate tie-breaker win over Trey Nekoliczak of Central Valley.

Escalera, a state champion last year, was upset in the quarterfinals on Thursday and battled back to win four matches and earn third-place honors. He pinned both of his

Comeback short in subdistrict final

OAKLAND – Wayne High's post-season hopes came to an end Thursday in the C1-7 subdistrict finals.

The Blue Devil girls couldn't contain West Point sharpshooter Amanda Hansen, who hit the Wayne defense for 20 points and led the Cadets to a 47-38 win, ending the Blue Devils' 14-10 season.

"We wanted to shut down Hansen for sure, and in a way we did," coach Dave Hix said. "She only had four field goals from the floor and no threes, but she was aggressive going to the hole and was 12-of-17 from the line."

Wayne's offense could never really get on track until the fourth quarter. They tried to rally from a 12-point deficit in the final period, but the comeback effort came up short.

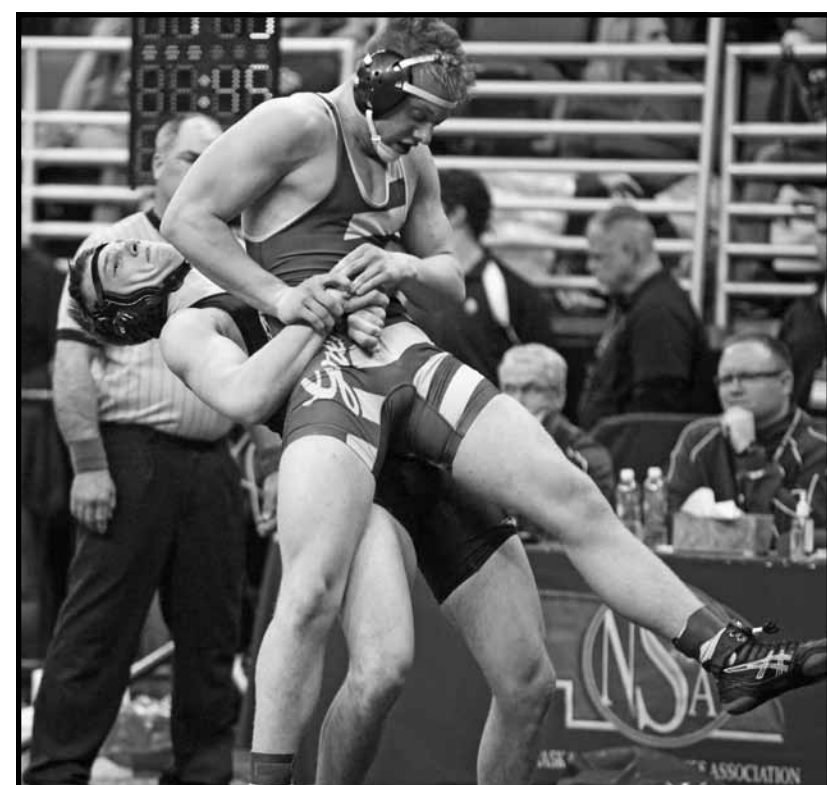

"Our top scorers couldn't get into a rhythm and they had us under our averages," Hix said. "We didn't attack the basket enough early and settled for the outside shot."

Abbie Hix was the lone Blue Devil in double figures, finishing with 11 points. Kylie Hammer scored seven points, Danica Schaefer put in six, Kelsey Boyer added five, Rachel Rauner and Morgan Keating each had four, and Tarah Stegemann had one.

Hix said he was proud of the kids' effort this season.

"I hate when the season comes to a close before you're ready to end, but the girls were a great bunch to coach," he said. "Our two seniors will be missed. They were great leaders for us. I also want to thank my assistants (Lindsey McLaughlin and Jacob Zeiss) and our managers, Ashton Gibson, Rylee Bessmer, Hannah Belt, Megan Keiser and Tori French, who do a lot behind the scenes for us."

Schuyler Schweers takes down a Gretna wrestler on his way to a decision in the state wrestling tournament.

No wins, but hope for Wayne wrestlers

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

OMAHA – The good news for Wayne High's wrestling team is that they will have a ton of talent back next year that knows how to get to the big show.

Now, it's a matter of doing what needs to be done before next season to get ready to take that next step.

Four Blue Devils represented Wayne High in the 2015 Nebraska State Wrestling Championships at the Century Link Center, and while only one came away with a win, coach David Wragge said it was a good experience for his team.

"We had a couple of tough draws right out of the gate, and one of those went on to be a state champion," Wragge said. "I was happy with how we wrestled overall. I thought going in that we might have a chance at a medal, but we're getting closer."

Winside assistant coach Jesse Thies consoles Zach Jones after he was eliminated from the state wrestling tournament. The final loss in the career of a high school wrestler is always the toughest one to take.

The end: an emotional moment

The picture you see at the top of this column is one that not many sports fans get to witness up close.

The image was taken near the media table down on the floor of the Century Link Center in Omaha.

Winside assistant coach Jesse Thies is consoling senior Zach Jones after he lost his first-round consolation match and was eliminated from the state tournament, ending any hope of the senior earning a medal in his final trip to the state tournament.

I love all sports, but I've grown to truly love the sport of wrestling because it is such an intensely personal sport, and the emotions that come with the hard work, the stress of competition, and the raw feeling that comes with each win and each defeat are something that no other sport can truly offer on the level that wrestling can.

When you win or lose in any other sport, the experience is shared by your fellow teammates because each member of the team, in some way, actively contributed in that team's victory or defeat. Every play came as the result of a team effort, whether it was making a key block to spring a running back for a long touchdown run or the alley oop pass that led to a two-handed slam dunk.

Wrestlers don't have that luxury. There is no fall-back option of a teammate's assistance in getting that headlock throw, or that last-second reversal, or that sprawling takedown that scores the deciding points in the state championship. It's all on you, pal – only you can win or lose this match, and you have nobody to blame but yourself if you don't get the job done.

That, ladies and gentlemen, is EXACTLY how the game of life is played. Your teammates might be there in the practice room, making you tougher and better as you do the workouts and spend all that energy fine-tuning the skills you need to be a success. But – when it comes time to enter the arena of battle, whether it's in the 42-foot circle on a mat in a dimly-lit gymnasium or in the rat-race cubicle for that mid-level management gig at Megabiz Incorporated – you're all alone out there and it's up to you to get the job done.

The rewards are incredible for those who succeed. There is no individual feeling in the world – that a young man can experience that matches the feeling of having that hand raised in your final high school match, whether it's the last match of the season or the last one of your career. It's a high that nothing in the world can even begin to offer.

Conversely, there is no worse feeling in the world a young man can experience in the sport of wrestling than that final defeat that ends his hope of reaching his goal, whether it's winning a state title, winning a state medal, or even winning one match at state. And, in wrestling, there are no teammates to point to

Wildcat baseball opens with road split

Wayne State came away with a weekend split of a four-game series at Newman University as the Wildcat baseball team opened the season in Wichita, Kan.

On Friday, senior lefthander Matt Schulz fired seven innings of two-hit ball in the second game while junior outfielder Nathan Ackerman went 4-for-7 with two doubles, a triple and two runs scored in his Wildcat debut as Wayne State split with Newman, losing the opener 8-0 and winning the nightcap 4-1.

The second game saw senior lefthander Matt Schulz fire seven innings of two-hit, one-run ball while Ackerman and John Roberts combined to go 6-for-8 at the plate to lead the Wildcats' win.

Wayne State opened the scoring with two runs in the second. Nick McIntee walked, moved to third on a double by Roberts and scored on a wild pitch for the first Wildcat run.

Wayne State made it 3-0 in the fifth when Ackerman doubled to right field and scored on a Dylan McGill sacrifice fly to right field, then added a run in the seventh when Ackerman tripled to left and crossed the plate on a McIntee sacrifice fly.

Ackerman was 3-for-4 with a triple, double and two runs scored while John Roberts went 3-for-4 from the designated hitter position with one run scored. McIntee, McGill and Ross Barker each added hits for the Wildcats.

Schulz earned the win for Wayne State, working seven innings plus one batter. He allowed just two hits and one run with two strikeouts. Ryan Zweck pitched the eighth and had one walk and one strikeout while junior lefthander Curtis Bussard recorded the save in the ninth with one walk and one strikeout.

On Saturday, Wayne State took the first game over the Jets 5-3, but Newman came back to salvage the weekend split with a 14-3 victory.

Trailing 3-0 heading into the top of the seventh, Wayne State scored five runs on five hits to rally for the win in the opener.

Clete Yount doubled and Simons singled down the right field line to start the inning. Kevin Andersen singled through the left side to score Yount with the first run. After Jake Bruner was hit by a pitch to load the bases, Bussard delivered a two-run single through the left side that scored Simons and Andersen to even the score at 3-3.

Simons finished 3-for-3 with a double and run scored while Bussard went 2-for-4 with two RBIs. Dylan McGill worked the opening 5 1/3 innings, allowing three runs (two earned) on six hits with five strikeouts and two walks. Lefthander Kyle Kennebeck recorded two outs in relief, recording one strikeout to get the win, while Zweck pitched the seventh, allowing one hit to record his first save of the season.

The second game saw Newman get revenge on the Wildcats by producing 14 runs on 15 hits while also taking advantage of five Wayne State errors.

Wayne State was held to five hits in the contest. Ackerman was 2-for-3 with a pair of doubles to lead the Wildcats at the plate. Bussard took the loss on the mound.

The Wildcats are scheduled to play non-conference doubleheaders on Saturday and Sunday in Rolla, Mo., against Missouri S&T at 12 p.m. each day.

WHS makes subdistrict final

After dropping their regular-season finale at Pierce, the Wayne High boys came back to put a solid effort together and extend their season in the C1-7 subdistrict at Oakland-Craig.

The Blue Devils got after West Point-Beemer early and built a 13-point halftime lead, then pulled away down the stretch in the final period to post a 53-31 win and move on to Thursday's 7 p.m. subdistrict final against top-seeded Winnebago.

The Blue Devils shot 60 percent from the field in Tuesday's win and had two players in double figures, led by Payten Gamble's game-high 21 points. Ben Hoskins added 13 points and a team-high seven rebounds and five assists to help the Blue Devils improve to 16-9 on the season.

Also scoring in Tuesday's win were Zach Keating with seven, Grayson McBride with five, Jackson Belt with three and Brook Bowers and Colby Keiser with two apiece.

On Friday, the Blue Devils ran into a tough defense that limited them to 32 percent shooting in the floor as Pierce came away with a 45-32 triumph.

Gamble led the Blue Devils in scoring with nine points while Hoskins added eight. Keating put in six, Belt had four, Kesier had three and Bowers scored two.

LCC boys reach subdistrict final

After losing their regular-season finale, the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge boys basketball team managed to hang on and win their opener in the C2-7 subdistrict at Randolph on Tuesday.

On Friday, the Bears dropped a 51-38 decision to Wynot, as the Blue Devils used a 21-6 second-quarter surge to take control of the game. Dillan Wolfram and Jayden Reifernath both finished in double figures for the LCC boys. Wolfram scored a game-high 18 points while Reifernath had a double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds.

On Tuesday, the Bears came from behind to beat Hartington-Newcastle 57-55 and move on to the finals of the C2-7 subdistrict, where they will square off against top-seeded Hartington Cedar Catholic on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Wolfram had a game-high 21 points to lead the Bears in the win, and Jordan Jansen tossed in 12 for LCC. Also scoring were Reifernath with seven points and 10 rebounds, Jackson Metheny with six points and nine boards, Brant Eddie with five and Mason Forsberg with four.

Lady Bears fall in D1-6 subdistrict

PIERCE - The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge girls came up short in their effort to extend their season Thursday, dropping a 51-39 decision to Creighton in the finals of the D1-6 subdistrict tournament.

The top-seeded Bulldogs got out to a nine-point halftime lead before the Lady Bears rallied to make a game of it. There were able to get within striking distance early in the fourth quarter, but Creighton bounced back and rode the scoring of Rebecca Eggerling's 19 points to get the win and move on to Friday's district final against Emerson-Hubbard at Wayne High School.

Audra Corbit was the only Lady Bear in double figures, finishing with a game-high 20 points. Ellie Arduser added nine, Bryn Schutte had five, Sydney Cunningham scored three and Katie Leapey had two.

The Lady Bears finished the season with a 9-14 record. Creighton 51, LCC 39
LCC 6 11 14 8 - 39
Creighton 11 15 12 13 - 51
LCC - Leapey 2, Cunningham 3, Arduser 9, Corbit 20, Schutte 5.

CREIGHTON - Eggerling 19, Gragert 11, Erb 4, Wilmes 6, Sorensen 11.

Allen boys season ends in 42-41 loss

WISNER - The Allen boys basketball team saw their season come to a close on Monday as they dropped a 42-41 heartbreaker to Pender in the play-in bracket of the D1-5 subdistrict tournament.

Allen held a seven-point lead after one quarter before the Penderons trimmed the lead to a single point with a 12-6 third quarter run. The game came down to the wire, but Pender was able to complete the comeback and end the Eagles' season.

Coleman Kneiff had a career-high 16 points and Brian Boese added 15 in a losing effort for the Eagles. Also scoring were Tayler Kumm with five, Wade Connot with three and Austin Klug with a basket.

Don't get me started

Entitlement: today's calling card of youth

I had to laugh when I saw the big stink being raised earlier this week about what that mean old coach Tim Miles was doing to the poor, helpless basketball players on the University of Nebraska men's basketball team. By now, you know that the Huskers went out and stunk up the Pinnacle Bank Arena in their matchup against Iowa. The visiting Hawkeyes got out to a big lead early, went on a 21-2 run to close the first half and thoroughly blew up and blew out the Huskers on their home floor.

And that crabby codger of a basketball coach decided that it was time the big boys and their school-issued toys went their separate ways for a while. No access to their team-issued iPads, no hanging out in the plush lounge or bathrooms (complete with TV's IN the stalls, so they can watch their cartoons while nature calls, evidently) in the multi-million dollar lounge that had become like their second home.

Showers? Not in the locker room. Dress for practice? Better do it at home before you come, and bring some walking shoes for the trip.

Oh good heavens – what WILL these poor young men do without all these bells and whistles that their talent and full-ride scholarships have entitled them to possess and take advantage of?

Ahhhh, there's the word . . . entitlement. It's the calling card that a lot of today's young people like to attach themselves to. They're ENTITLED to certain things because, by golly, they WANT them and, therefore, they SHOULD have them, no questions asked.

But what about working for those things? What about doing the things you need to do to better yourself as a human being and EARNING those things you want, whether it's a new car, a new computer, the brand-name clothes, or whatever other material item you feel you MUST have?

Forget that, some of the younger generation tells us – we WANT it, therefore we must HAVE it. And we must have it RIGHT NOW.

The sense of entitlement that I see in some of today's youth just absolutely blows my mind. That they don't feel they have to work to get what they want – whether it's a new car, a new flat-screen TV or even a new job – has become the source of completely unintentional comedy for me.

I can remember when I graduated from college and told my advisor that I was going to be a sports writer at a daily newspaper. "Good luck," she told me, "but you're going to have to work hard to get to that opportunity." Work hard? No way . . . I'm the most talented sports writer on the planet, I told myself. My resume kicks butt like nobody else's, my writing examples are better than anything anybody has EVER written, and my knowledge of all things sporting is without equal. With all that, I can CHOOSE where I want to be a sports writer.

And then – reality set in.

When I was turned down at one job opportunity, and then another, and then yet another, I was flabbergasted that these publications would not want someone of my caliber writing sports for them. They kept talking about experience, working your way up, paying your dues . . . that crap was for the less talented, the less gifted, the less intelligent. Humble pie leaves a bitter taste in your mouth, boys and girls, and you might as well get used to that awful taste until you get a little of life's road underneath your wheels.

I had to work, and work hard, to reach that goal. I did it in less than 10 years – nine more than I figured it would take – and it was worth every late night, every long road trip, every night of suffering through blowout games, obnoxious parents and crabby coaches to get to that point.

And if I didn't work hard? It's very simple – there's somebody else out there who will do the job better, smarter, faster and easier than you. You can't go off and give a half-way effort in the real world – and I can guarantee you that nobody is going to GIVE you anything in the real world that isn't worth keeping. They'll give you grief, they'll give you frustration, they'll give you disappointment – they might even give you a pink slip if you give the kind of half-hearted effort the Nebraska men's basketball team gave Sunday against Iowa.

I've seen enough of the student-athletes at Wayne State College to know that any sense of the entitlement they might have doesn't manifest itself in the athletic arena. These kids don't have quite the setup that their fellow athletes have down the road in Lincoln. There aren't team-issued iPads in their team bags. They don't get to plug in their iPod next to them while they shower. To the best of my knowledge, they don't even get to watch TV while they answer nature's call (although I'm sure they probably do what I do at the office – bring the iPhone in with them and update their Facebook page while taking care of business, which should explain to the boss why some trips last as long as they do, but I digress . . .).

That's not to say that the coaches don't get upset with a less-than-best effort now and again. Whether it's running laps or making them bring in their own equipment for practice (something men's basketball coach Brian Dolan said he once did after a horrible team performance when he was coaching at Upper Iowa), lackluster effort has its punishment due with the Wayne State coaches, much as it obviously does for Coach Miles at Nebraska. I'm glad Coach Miles not only doled out the punishment due, but went public to explain to everybody what the expectations are for these young men to perform at a high level, particularly in front of the hometown crowd.

I'm just glad that my boss doesn't have a similar incentive plan for improved effort here at The Wayne Herald – if he takes away Clara's Tupperware collection and my official Seattle Seahawks helmet coffee mug, the editorial staff here might not be able to function.

Capitol View

Another shot of energy, please

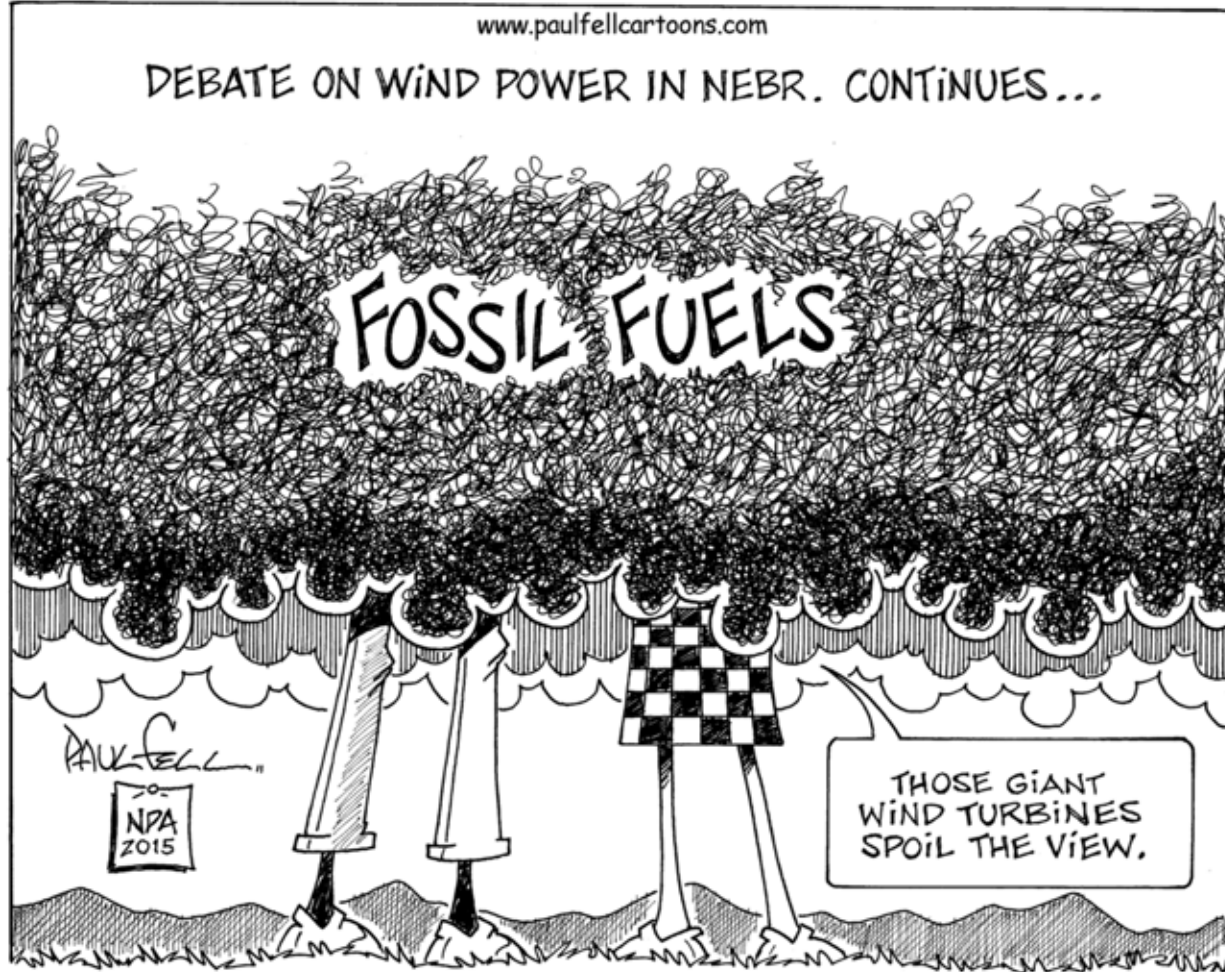

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Lawmakers are considering a measure that would require the State Energy Office to create an integrated state energy plan. Really? Forgive me for thinking that this is something the 38-year-old state entity should already have in place. Created out of crisis in 1973 as the Fuel Allocation Office in the Department of Revenue, the idea evolved into its current iteration in 1977 as the State Energy Office. It has had 16 directors in the ensuing years and has often been a political yo-yo, bouncing from Revenue to the Governor's Policy Research Office back to an independent entity.

The Energy Office hasn't been a household name. It was established after the energy crisis of the early 70s when people sat in long lines at gas stations to buy a limited number of gallons. By the time that settled down, the powers that be decided to keep the office, change its name and direct the focus to promoting the efficient, economic and environmentally responsible use of energy. The use of heat pumps and geo-thermal heating and cooling were big strides and the office assisted in funneling federal dollars into programs that educated and made improved products affordable for Nebraska homeowners and industry.

The face of energy continues to change. When's the last time you drove down the Interstate and didn't see a giant wind turbine blade on the back of an extremely long semi? When's the last time you didn't see a headline or an editorial weighing the pros and cons of the Keystone XL Pipeline? When's the last time you drove just about anywhere in Nebraska and didn't see the evidence of already existing pipelines, railroad or semi tank cars, oil wells and windmills or wind turbines?

Hats off to Natural Resources Committee Chair Ken Schilz of Ogallala for offering a bill that would require the Nebraska State Energy Office to develop and adopt an integrated state energy plan that includes short-term and long-term objectives to: ensure a secure, reliable, and stable energy system for the state's residents and businesses; maintain and improve the state's cost-competitive energy supply; ensure access to affordable energy; and promote sustainable economic growth, job creation and economic development.

Schilz said it best when the bill was aired in committee recently. He said it will take careful planning to make sure that the state is taking advantage of economic development opportunities while setting a vision to guide policy for state and local governments to facilitate their study and implementation of alternative energy resources. The recommended strategic plan would also involve private industry in energy planning. An unintended consequence would also solidify the standing of the energy office as an independent entity of state government, as it should be. Lawmakers and policy people need an independent source of information and guidance on the ever-increasingly important topic.

Likewise, kudos to Governor Pete Ricketts on his selection of David Bracht to head the office as an encouraging step in the right direction. He is a partner in a law firm with extensive experience working with renewable energy projects. He co-leads the firm's renewable energy group and serves as counsel to companies involved in energy development, including biofuels, biomass and wind energy. He has advised on major wind and ethanol projects including an advanced cellulosic biofuels plant, according to Ricketts' office. Schilz says the goals of the state energy plan include ensuring a reliable and stable energy system for Nebraska residents and businesses while maintaining the state's cost-competitive edge. Promoting sustainable economic growth and job creation and a flexible policy to meet changing circumstances are also laudable goals.

Creation of an advisory committee of individuals with energy-related interests and the chairs of the Legislature's Appropriations and Natural Resources committees and three senators appointed by the Legislature's Executive Board would give the office and its plans the community buy-in and legislative oversight necessary to make things work.

Legislative Update

An interesting week in the Legislature

This was an interesting week in Lincoln.

LB111, a bill that would require photo identification to vote, was bracketed until June 5, 2015. This means that we will not be able to discuss this bill again until next year. This was disappointing and frustrating to say the least.

LB118, a bill introduced by Sen. Tyson Larson of O'Neill, which I co-sponsored, received final approval on Friday. LB118 once again creates authorization for cigar shops with liquor licenses. It advanced with a vote of 45-3-1 and will be sent to Governor Ricketts for approval this upcoming week.

It proved to be a busy week for me as well. I worked on an amendment for LB88 – a bill that would increase the fee for marriage licenses and copies. A compromise was worked out on General File regarding the fee for marriage licenses, but nothing was done to address the $8.50 from the $16 proposed in the original bill. We ended up compromising on a $9 fee for copies.

I introduced LB479 to the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. This bill would allow communities to erect memorials commemorating service members of the United States armed forces. Current statutes specify the wars and conflicts members must have served in to be recognized and did not include our most recent wars/conflicts. Rather than add them into the statute, I thought it made more sense to strike the specific language.

I also introduced LB256 to the Revenue Committee. LB256 would increase the sales tax one-half of a percent and designate all of the revenue generated to the Property Tax Credit Fund.

I filed several amendments to address this issue. My intent was to get the fee for copies down around

Science Bowl champs

Lux Middle School was awarded first place following competition at the Nebraska Science Bowl at Wayne State College on Feb. 7. Wayne State College (WSC) helped sponsor the 20th Annual Nebraska High School Science Bowl and will again sponsor the 12th Annual Nebraska Middle School Science Bowl on Feb. 14. Each team is made up of four students, one alternate and a teacher serving as a coach. Teams have to be quick and have a vast knowledge of astronomy, biology, computer science, physics, chemistry, math and earth sciences. Teams compete by answering questions in a round-robin and then a double-elimination tournament. Organizations sponsoring the Nebraska Science Bowl events include: Lower Platte South Natural Resources District, Nebraska Department of Education and the Papio-Missouri River Natural Resources District, U.S. Department of Energy, Providence Medical Center in Wayne and Wayne State College. Team members are (front) Ina Bhoopalam, Crystal Xu, Suzie Cho, Trevor Anderson, (back) sponsor Richard Powers and Alix Cui.

Wildcat softball team opens with 3-2 effort at dome tourney

The Wayne State softball team kicked off the 2015 spring season with a 3-2 effort at the Laas Memorial Dome Tournament in St. Cloud, Minn. Wayne State opened the season Friday night with a 6-4 win over Central Missouri. Wayne State trailed 4-3 after three innings, but scored two in the fifth to take the lead for good and added an insurance run in the top of the seventh to take the win. The Wildcats were led offensively by Kaiti Williams, who was 2-for-3 at the plate with two RBI's and three runs scored. Junior shortstop Sam O'Brien was 3-for-4 with two doubles and two RBI's. Junior centerfielder Lexie Loos was 1-for-3 with a double and two runs scored while Jordan King, Megan Hagemann and Rachel Shumaker each had hits. Kelcie Bormann earned the pitching win, firing a complete game. She allowed four runs on seven hits with seven strikeouts and four walks. On Saturday, the Wildcats started the day with a 9-2 loss to No. 6-ranked Emporia State. The Hornets pounded the Wildcats for 13 hits and took advantage of three errors to score the easy win. Emporia State scored two runs in the first and second innings and put the game out of reach with a four-run fourth inning. Wayne State scored single runs in the first and third innings. Loos singled and scored on a Williams double in the first, and Loos again scored in the third on a single by King. She was 2-for-4 in the game, while Williams and Shelby Wobken both doubled. Bormann took the loss in the circle, with Sarah Macias working 2 1/3 innings of relief. Later on Saturday, Wayne State used a two-out single by Becca Kalhorn in the bottom of the sixth to earn a 3-2 win over Missouri Western. Loos got Wayne State on the board in the first with a single, scoring on a Bormann sacrifice fly. Wayne State added a run in the fifth when Alyssa Schropp tripled and scored on a Shumaker ground-out. Missouri Western scored two in the top of the sixth to tie the game, but Wayne State got the game-winner in the bottom of the inning when Kalhorn's pinch-hit single scored O'Brien with the winning run. On Sunday, Wayne State dropped a heartbreaker to Fort Hays State, as the Tigers scored five runs with two outs in the bottom of the sixth to take a 7-6 win. Wayne State scored four in the third to erase a 2-0 deficit and added single runs in the fourth and the fifth for a 6-2 lead. Wayne State's pitching struggled, however, as Fort Hays took advantage of 11 walks, three coming in the decisive sixth-inning rally that saw them use three hits and an error to score five runs, all after the first two batters were out. Williams led Wayne State in the losing effort with two hits, while Schropp added a double and a single. Alyea hit a solo homer and scored twice. Wayne State closed out the tournament with a 13-5 win over Nebraska-Kearney as 10 different Wildcats recorded hits as part of a 14-hit attack. Wayne State scored two runs in the first and second innings and added five in the third for a 9-0 lead. After UNK made things interesting with a three-run fourth and two-run fifth to close within 9-5, Wayne State scored two runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth to make the final score 13-5 in six innings. King led a balanced hitting attack, going 3-for-3 with a double and two runs scored. Shumaker went 2-for-2 with two runs scored while Schropp finished 2-for-4 with two RBI's. Williams doubled and recorded three RBI's while Alyea singled, scored three runs and added two RBI's. Wayne High graduate Cass Miller earned the pitching win, working 4 2/3 innings. She allowed five runs on six hits with four strikeouts and five walks. Wayne State is scheduled to play at the Missouri Southern Tournament in Joplin, Mo., with two games Saturday and two on Sunday.

TRIO students recognized

The TRiO Student Support Services Program at Wayne State College hosted freshman convocation on Jan. 27 to honor the freshman class. Fifty-nine percent of TRiO freshman students reached levels eligible for outstanding academic achievements in their first semester of college. TRiO Student Support Services is a federally funded program through the U.S. Department of Education designed to offer student support services at Wayne State College. Eleven returning freshmen were placed on Honorable Mention for earning a GPA between 2.5 and 2.999 during their first semester. Those who were recognized for their achievement during convocation included Alfredo Garcia of Grand Island, Hannah Hanke of Arapahoe, Gabrielle Lopez-Worden of Omaha and Samantha Niemann of Wayne. Those unable to attend were Ashley Bishop of Papillion, Hunter Fritsch of Elkhorn, Julieta Guerrero of South Sioux City, Donavan

Lyons, Kelsey Johnson of Stanton, Brooke Miller of Ord, Kyle Nysingh of Fremont, Alyson Schlange of Auburn, Andrea Thompson of Petersburg, and Dulce Torres of Wayne. Those unable to attend were Wade Berggren of Saint Paul, ChaRae Brown of Omaha, Ashley Dowty of Fremont, Staci Hoeft of David City, Maday Lopez-Dominguez of Lincoln, and Mackenzie Oliver of Gretna. Allen Community Club
The Allen Community Club met Feb. 18 in the Allen Fire Hall. Prior to the meeting, a Monsanto representative presented a check for $2,500 to the Allen Community Club thanks to Chantel Stapleton's application for "America's Farmers Grow Communities." Chantel, Greg, and Kay Stapleton and Katie Hancock, as well as Community Club members, were present.

President Greta Kraemer called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Dues may be sent to Marcia Rastede, 211 S. Grove St., Allen, Neb. 68710.

Old business followed. Work on building new park bathrooms will begin shortly. Plans will be made to somehow utilize the ALLEN sign to also show directions to the Methodist Church, cemeteries, and museum on that sign as well as do something about the flower area around it. It was decided to have a one-day 125th celebration in 2016. Volunteers are needed to serve on a committee. Contact Greta Kraemer if you are willing to help.

During the July 3-5, 2015, alumni reunion weekend, the family stars used previously on the town Christmas tree will be on display. Anyone wishing to keep their family star is urged to get it (them) at that time. Any not picked up will be destroyed. New business concerned upcoming activities. The spring community clean-up day will be Wednesday, May 13. Everyone is urged to really clean up their property in anticipation of the 2015 alumni reunion and 2016 125th celebration. Volunteers are to meet at the school parking lot at 1 p.m. that day.

The annual Easter Egg Hunt will be Saturday, April 4 at 10 a.m. in the park. The Girl Scouts are looking for a community service project to do. Anyone with an idea can contact Greta Kraemer who will forward that thought to the Scout leaders. New "city park" signs have been put on highway thanks to the Department of Roads.

Library News
Children and adults enjoyed an hour in the Springbank Township Library on Valentine's Day.

The children spent the hour decorating Valentine cookies, reading books, and eating the cookies. Adults enjoyed looking at Steph Jorgensen's many loom-knitted projects and marveled as she started and finished knitting a child's cap in just one hour.

Following the demonstration, they enjoyed the red-decorated cookies and red punch.

Allen Senior Citizens Center
"As president of the Allen Senior Center, I thought that I would update you as to some of our decisions we had to make to keep your center open. We shortened the hours the center is open by one hour a day. We raised the dinner donations to $4 for those over 60 years of age. The meal count has been down. For every meal we serve, we get reimbursed from Norfolk and the USDA approximately $2.30. So the more meals we serve, the more money we get from Norfolk. As of now we are going in the red about $1200 every month. So we have to take that much from our savings account, so our big donations we received last year are disappearing quite fast.

Coffee times brings in about $500 per month. The more meals served, the more participation in activities, the more money Norfolk gives us, the less we have to take out of our savings." Joanne Rahn.

"As of Feb. 1, 2015, the suggested donation for meals for the over 60 has gone up to $4 a meal and $8.45 is the cost for those under 60. The reason for this is budget restraints and so few people eating here. As of July 1, 2015, the center will NOT be open until 7:30 a.m. and will close at 1 p.m., Monday thru Thursdays and Friday's hours will be 7-10 a.m., with breakfast at 8:30 a.m. If you have any suggestions on menu items, please call Pam at the center or one of the board members. If the item isn't too expensive, then maybe it can be worked into the menu. Just call the day before or even in the morning and I can usually get you on the list for dinner. We now have baked desserts three out of four days a week at the noon meal.

When you come into the center in the morning for coffee, please remember that THERE IS A COST and not a donation for the coffee. The cost is $1. Some of you do pay your $1 and then there are some that pay more and then there are those that don't pay enough. Please pay the $1 to help the center defray the cost of the coffee being purchased. We will be looking for two new board members in July. If you would like to take on one of those two spots please let Pam or one of the Board members know and they will get your name on the list.

All the time it takes is one board meeting a month and one big fundraiser each June. Remember that the board meetings are open to the public every month so you may sit in on one to see if you would like to do it.

Vi Ann has been doing our wooden barrels out front of the center for years now and has finally decided to retire from it. So if anyone wants to take the job over, please contact her and let her know you will do it."

Impacts of Nebraska 4-H in 2014 shared School Lunches

The mission of Nebraska 4-H is to empower youth to reach their full potential working and learning in partnerships with caring adults.

Nebraska 4-H strives to help young people achieve their greatest potential by introducing high-quality youth development experiences into the lives of Nebraska youth and families. Engagement in 4-H results in youth who are making positive decisions related to their health and their future goals. Further, they are advocates and leaders determined to leave a lasting impact on Nebraska communities.

By taking part in Nebraska 4-H, youth are preparing for a successful future by focusing on 4-H Science, Agricultural Literacy, Career Development and College Readiness, Community Engagement, and Healthy Living. Impact shared represent youth responses collected at many county, district, and state programs. Approximately 3,000 responses were collected.

Amy Topp
Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

Nebraska 4-H is committed to preparing youth to pursue a post-secondary education. Annual former 4-Hers who participated through their high-school career are surveyed regarding their post-secondary plans after their first semester in college. Results for 2013 graduates include:

- 96 percent are pursuing post-secondary education;
- 32 percent are attending the University of Nebraska-Lincoln;
- 93 percent have identified a major and 64 percent report that their selection was influenced by their 4-H project participation.

Nebraska 4-H is helping youth focus on their future success and preparing youth to make informed decisions about their college and career path. Signature program efforts included Connecting the Dots, Big Red Summer Academic Camps, Building Your Futures, Leap into Careers and other college readiness programming delivered to more than 3,500 young people.

Nebraska 4-H ensures that youth have knowledge and an appreciation of Nebraska's largest industry. Signature program efforts included the Ag-Citing Science school enrichment program delivered to nearly 700 youth and 15 Agricultural Literacy Festivals which reach more than 5,500 young people.

Nebraska 4-H is fostering youth's commitment and contribution to their communities. Signature program efforts included 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens, We the People and Focus on Citizenship which reached approximately 250 young people.

Nebraska 4-H helps youth understand the impact of personal decisions. Signature program efforts included 4-H Heathy U, the Healthy Living Skill-a-thon and a new 4-H Foods Contest at the Nebraska State Fair. These programs reached approximately 250 young people. Additionally, hands-on activities in the areas of nutrition, physical activity, hand washing, food preservation, food preparation and decision making were delivered to 11,500 youth.

Nebraska 4-H is committed to preparing youth to pursue a post-secondary education. Annual former 4-Hers who participated through their high-school career are surveyed regarding their post-secondary plans after their first semester in college. Results for 2013 graduates include:

- 96 percent are pursuing post-secondary education;
- 32 percent are attending the University of Nebraska-Lincoln;
- 93 percent have identified a major and 64 percent report that their selection was influenced by their 4-H project participation.

THE WAYNE HERALD

No reserves, retreats or regrets with God

William Whiting Borden was born in 1887 in Chicago to a wealthy family (think Borden dairy). When he graduated from high school at age 16, he was already a millionaire, and as a graduation present, his parents gave him a trip around the world. As he traveled the Middle East, Asia, Africa, and Europe, his heart ached for the lost. As a Christian, he determined that he was going to go to the mission field to reach people for Christ. Some of his friends contended that William was "throwing himself away as a missionary." But with uncommon focus, Bill wrote two words in the back of his Bible in response to the naysaying: "No Reserves." Borden went to Yale University and proved himself to be a young man of uncommon spiritual maturity. He led a revival of sorts at Yale, successfully connecting 1,000 of Yale's 1,300 students into prayer groups. In one of his journal entries during college, Bill wrote: "Say 'no' to self and 'yes' to Jesus every time." One of Borden's friends said about him, "Although he was a millionaire, Bill seemed to realize always that he must be about his Father's business, and not wasting time in the pursuit of amusement." Upon graduation from Yale, Borden turned down some high-paying job offers. In his Bible, he wrote two more words below his previous entry: "No retreats."

Following college, Bill enrolled at Princeton Theological Seminary, a Presbyterian seminary in New Jersey. His focus grew around reaching the Muslim Kansu people of China. Once that goal was in sight, Borden never wavered. When he finished his studies at Princeton, he set sail for China. But since his goal was to be a missionary to Muslims, he stopped in Egypt to learn Arabic.

While staying in Egypt, tragedy struck William Borden. He contracted spinal meningitis, and within a month, the 25-year-old Chicagoan was dead. When news reached the States, nearly every American newspaper carried the story. Borden's biographer later wrote that, "A wave of sorrow went round the world...Borden not only gave (away) his wealth, but himself, in a way so joyous and natural that it (seemed) a privilege rather than a sacrifice."

And to us, this may all seem like a huge calamity, even a waste of a perfectly good young life. We may theorize, "Couldn't he have done more with his wealth than going on a dangerous mission that got him killed? Why did Borden have to be so focused on his crazy plan?" Even at the end of his life, William Borden didn't see his life as a waste, though. Prior to his death, he wrote two more words in the back of his Bible, underneath the other two entries. The last one said, "No regrets."

If anything, Borden's selfless and Christ-focused life is an indictment against our wishy-washy "pursuit of amusement." Is there anything we would be willing to sacrifice our lives for? Jesus said, "Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross and follow me. For whoever wants to save their life will lose it, but whoever loses their life for me and for the gospel will save it. What good is it for someone to gain the whole world, yet forfeit their soul? Or what can anyone give in exchange for their soul?" (Mark 8:34b-37)

And that bit about taking up a cross, by the way, isn't promoting arbitrary suffering for no good reason; and it doesn't mean that we have to go to China to commit our lives to reaching the lost for Jesus - although it could. But Jesus' invitation to take up our cross means that we must die to self - to be crucified with him - so that we can live for him. Or, as William Borden put it, "Say 'no' to self and 'yes' to Jesus every time."

The question for us, then, is, What are we willing to "throw away ourselves" for? When we reach the end of our lives - whether we are 25 or 95 - will we be able to say that we gave ourselves over to something that made an eternal difference, or not?

William Borden was buried in the American Cemetery in Cairo. His gravestone says this:

A Man in Christ

He arose and forsook all and followed Him

Kindly affectioned with brotherly love

Fervent in spirit serving the Lord Rejoicing in hope patient in tribulation

Instant in prayer Communicating to the necessity of saints

In honour preferring others Apart from faith in Christ there is no explanation for such a life.

Although such a story about William Borden may not make sense to everyone, it makes perfect sense when you take into consideration faith in Christ. When we are laid to rest, may the same be said of our lives.

Randall concert at Praise Assembly

Gary Randall, singer/songwriter from Madison, S.D. will be in concert at Praise Assembly of God Church in Wayne on Sunday, March 29, 2015 at 2:30 The concert will include the Passion drama "Watch the Lamb."

Randall has been performing since the early 1970's. He has spent most of his time in the upper mid-west region and he and his wife, Deborah, have made many friends in this part of Nebraska. They always look forward to "returning to reconnect with, and be inspired by the great people here."

First Trinity Altona Lenten suppers set

First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona will be holding soup, sandwich and dessert suppers during Lent on the following Wednesdays - Feb. 25, March 11 and March 25.

The suppers will be followed by Lenten worship at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone in the congregations of First Trinity Altona and St. John's Lutheran Church in Pilger, as well as everyone in the community, is invited to attend these events.

The Rev. Terry Makelin will be leading worship in the First Trinity Lutheran School immediately following the suppers. Sunday morning services will continue to be held in the sanctuary at 10:30 a.m.

Singing for Life

Members of One String, One Voice provided musical entertainment for the annual Right-to-Life Breakfast recently. Also taking part were Pastor Troy Reynolds, Senator Dave Bloomfield, Steve Beller and Earl Fouss. Keynote speaker was Brook Jech, who spoke of her pro-life journey and the struggles she faced to arrive at this point in her life.

Grace Evening Circle holds quarterly meeting

Grace Lutheran Church's LWML Evening Circle met Feb. 10 with six members and Pastor Carl Lilenkamp present. President Jan Casey led the meeting to order.

Christian Growth Leader Darlene Lilenkamp began with having those present write their favorite Bible verse on a paper heart.

Secretary Lanora Sorensen read the minutes of the Nov. 10 meeting, which were approved. Treasurer Lee Larsen gave the treasurer's report, which was approved and filed for audit.

Bea Kinslow and Verna Mae Baier audited the 2014 treasurer's books and found all to be in order.

Hospitality Chair Bea Kinslow reported sending Thanksgiving and birthday cards and taking the Evening Circle's Christmas gift to Valores Mordhorst at Careage.

Project Chair Lee Larsen said new cards need to be ordered now.

Janet Borchard sent a thank you for the memorial for her husband, a Lutheran Bible translator, who died in August of 2014.

The Wayne LWML Executive Board of the Wayne Zone met Jan. 19.

Grace's new L.I.F.T. (Ladies in Fellowship Together) received their LWML Charter.

The Spring Wayne Zone LWML

Spring workshop will be held at Grace Lutheran on Tuesday, April 21. Registration begins at 9 a.m. and there will be a noon salad luncheon. The L.I.F.T. ladies will decorate the tables.

President Jan Casey led the ladies in praying The Lord's Prayer.

Mites for Missions were given.

Pastor Carl Lilenkamp gave a lesson on the meanings of the 16 Christian crosses, Galatians 6:14 "But far be it for me to boast, except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by which the world has been crucified to me and I to the world."

The next meeting will Tuesday, May 12 at 7 p.m.

'Take a Second for Safety' is message during Grain Bin Safety Week

Record number of grain entrapment deaths in 2014

With on-farm grain storage on the rise – and a record number of grain engulfment deaths across the nation last year – agricultural leaders in Nebraska are placing special emphasis on grain handling safety during Grain Bin Safety Week, Feb. 22-28.

In observance of the week, the Nebraska Corn Board and Nebraska Corn Growers Association are encouraging farmers, grain elevators and other grain handlers to slow down – and take a second for safety while working with grain. “We feel it is increasingly important to promote grain bin safety awareness and remind all grain handlers of the hazards of working around grain,” said Larry Mussack, farmer from Decatur and president of the Nebraska Corn Growers Association. “With just one misstep or just a moment of distraction, you could find yourself or someone you know in a grain entrapment emergency.”

National statistics show that farming is one of the most dangerous occupations in America. Over the past 50 years, more than 900 cases of grain engulfment have been reported – and the fatality rate is 62 percent. With a 10-inch auger, it takes just 25 seconds for a 6-foot person to be completely buried in grain.

Now in its second year, Grain Bin Safety Week is an annual observance dedicated to increasing the awareness of grain bin safety on farms and commercial grain-handling facilities. The goal of this event is to educate the agricultural community on safe work practices and procedures to help reduce the number of preventable injuries and deaths associated with grain handling and storage.

Here are a few grain bin safety tips to keep in mind when you are working with stored grain:

- Use inspection holes or grain level markers to understand what's happening inside the bin. Use a pole from outside the bin to break up grain bridges.
- You should enter a grain bin only if absolutely necessary. If you must get into the bin, use a body harness secured to the outside of the bin. Have at least two people watching over you as you enter and work inside the bin.
- Use hand signals to communicate – and make sure everyone you're working with knows what those signals are.

These safety tips and more will be emphasized not only during Grain Bin Safety Week, but throughout the year by the Nebraska Corn organizations. A record high yield, combined with an upward trend in on-farm grain storage capacity has experts projecting an even larger number of grain engulfment accidents in 2015.

“Now, more than ever, it is important to take the extra second and follow the safety rules when it comes to working with grain stored in bins,” said Kelly Brunkhorst, executive director of the Nebraska Corn Board. “With on-farm safety being a continued effort at Nebraska Corn, we want both farmers and emergency responders to understand how to avoid grain bin accidents – and how to help someone who does end up in trouble in a grain bin. There is no better time than the present to work together as an agricultural community and help prevent these tragic accidents from occurring.”

Basketball, cheerleading, movies on week's agenda

Are you getting as tired of the cold as we are? Tuesday is supposed to be 45 degrees; I sure hope they get it right. At least the sun has been shining. But the wind is awful! Cold is what our men's Husker team was on Sunday! We wish we knew what is wrong with these guys. And I feel badly for them to hear their lockers are locked! It seems the genial Coach Miles has a mean streak in him. I understand his frustration, but I'm not sure I agree with his methods.

On Saturday eve in church, a stranger was in the same row as my friend and me. When he passed the registration booklet, I saw he had written Troy Greve. Well, that is definitely a Wakefield name! I visited with him after the service; he played football against Jon, back in the day! He lives in Waverly now, and they were taking advantage of the Saturday evening service because his son was wrestling in a grade school tournament on Sunday.

I won't go into what I think about all these activities on Sunday, and only comment that we were thrilled to see the guy from Centennial join the elite ranks of four-time state champ. That is unbelievably difficult, especially at that weight. And they put his match last on the program! He had to wait four hours. Talk about nerves!

By: Pat Meierhenry

While all those guys were wrestling in Omaha, a bunch of gals were in the cheer and dance competition in Grand Island. Lutheran High Northeast came home with two championship trophies from that. That includes our Jacey; they won in something called hip hop, whatever that is, and jazz!

Every year, we watch less and less of the Academy Awards. This year, we actually had guests for supper and forgot all about it. They seem to use it to advance political agendas, and between the gowns and the "gift bags," it's kind of an expensive show. I could not believe that the MC came out in his underwear; I'm really glad I missed that.

I was, however, sorry to hear that I missed Lady Gaga in a nice gown, without all that crazy makeup, singing songs from Sound of Music. I've decided Tony Bennet must be a good influence on her. Either that, or getting engaged. Hopefully, the days of a meat dress are long past.

I did find it gratifying that the two movies about chronic diseases that so far, have no cure, won Best Actor and Best Actress awards. It has to be very difficult to portray the advances of ALS. And our book club has read Still Alice, a riveting account of a fairly young woman, a professor, of all things, who knows she has Alzheimer's. That, too, had to take enormous skill to bring to life on the screen. All in all, there were obviously some good movies. I probably will never see them, but hopefully, Hollywood will still continue to produce them. And, hopefully, it will soon be Spring!

LEAD group takes tour

Chemigation certification trainings will be held next week in two places, at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk on Tuesday, March 3 and at the Haskell Ag Lab one mile east of Concord on Thursday, March 5. Both programs will start at 9 a.m.

Having a chemigation certification enables the certified person to apply fertilizers and approved ag chemicals through an irrigation system on to crops.

It is also good to remind owners of the systems where ag products are chemigated that they must have the wells registered with the local NRD and the equipment must be certified by the NRD as safe for application.

Twenty-eight Nebraska LEAD 33 fellows recently returned from the 2015 International Study/Travel Seminar to the United Arab Emirates, Nepal and India. The international study is designed to provide firsthand appreciation and understanding of our international community and the potential for people of all nations to work together.

During the Jan. 4-22 seminar, LEAD fellows participated in briefings with U.S. Foreign Service officials in both Dubai and Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, and New Delhi, India, including sessions with Ethan Goldrich, deputy chief of mission at the U.S. embassy in Abu Dhabi, and Jonn Slette, senior attache for agricultural affairs, and Paul Frost, commercial officer for the U.S. Department of Commerce at the U.S. embassy in New Delhi. The LEAD fellows also met with American business, agricultural trade and commodity groups, and visited several farm operations.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

Additionally, LEAD Fellows were able to meet in India with officials of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research-Pusa Institute in Delhi; the National Dairy Research Institute near Ludhiana; and Punjab Agricultural University in Ludhiana.

The people-to-people encounters provided the members of Nebraska LEAD Group 33 an opportunity to view characteristics, conditions and trends of the United Arab Emirates, Nepal and India and determine relationships to issues and situations in our country.

Through this experience participants develop techniques in identifying comparisons and contrasts of the countries we recently studied in areas such as politics, economics, energy, religion, culture and history as well as technology, trade, food, art and philosophy.

The Nebraska LEAD Program includes men and women, currently active in production agriculture and agribusiness and is a two-year leadership development program under the direction of the Nebraska Agricultural Leadership Council, in cooperation with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

For more information, or to request an application for Nebraska LEAD 35, contact the Nebraska LEAD Program, 318 Biochemistry Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, Neb. 68583-0763, telephone (402) 472-6810 or e-mail Shana Gerdes at sgerdes2@unl.edu. The application deadline is June 15.

New faces at Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District

There are some new faces at the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) office in Norfolk.

Three new members have joined the district staff. Two Land Use Certification Specialists were recently hired to assist in the certification of irrigated acres across the district. They are Kristie Olmer of Madison and Mason Bushnell of Kearney.

A new general manager has also started with the district. Mike Sousek of Wahoo joined the staff, replacing former general manager, Stan Staab of Norfolk.

Olmer received degrees from Central Wyoming College and Chadron State College, where she majored in rangeland management with a livestock option. Olmer says she is "happy to be returning to the area where she grew up and is excited to learn new things with the NRD."

Bushnell graduated from the University of Nebraska-Omaha with a major in geography. Bushnell says he's "excited to get to know a different part of Nebraska."

Mike Sousek received his degree in biology from Wayne State College and recently completed his Master's Degree in Public Administration from the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

Sousek says "the LENRD is a great district and has so much going for it. I'm excited to be a part of the challenges ahead of us." Sousek was formerly the rural water manager at the Lower Platte North NRD in Wahoo. He and his wife, Carrie, will be moving to Norfolk soon with their three children, Ben, 8, Gabby, 2, and Robert, 1.

Along with the new staff, there are new members of the board as well. Five new board members have taken the Oath of Office as elected officials for the LENRD. The new members are: Cory Beller of Norfolk; Kurt Janke of Wayne; Chad Korth of Meadow Grove; Jarvis Otten of Norfolk; and Luke Winkelbauer of Norfolk. The new board and staff members attended their first board meetings in January.

THANK YOU

To everyone who has supported us in some way following the death of our mother and grandmother, Catherine Echtenkamp, we would like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation. We especially send our gratitude to the pastors at Grace Lutheran Church, everyone at Hasemann Funeral Home, the staff at Providence Medical Center including the Hospice team and the staff at Careage Campus of Care.
Larry and Cathy Echtenkamp & Family
Les and Susan Echtenkamp & Family

Thank you is simply not enough to say how much we appreciate everything that everyone has done for our family. All of the thoughts and prayers from day one of Rob's illness to the many donations of money, food, supplies, auction items and time given for his benefit. We will never be able to thank each of you personally but please know you will not be forgotten. We are very blessed to have you all in our lives.
Thank you again - much love!
Rob & Deb Allen & Families

Thanks to everyone who sent me a card for my birthday. It was most appreciative. I did not know I had so many friends. Thanks to all who took the time to write a card. God bless all of you.
Thanks again, it was a great birthday!
Mark Ahmann

Thank you to my family and friends for the beautiful cards, flowers and gifts for my 80th birthday. It was and still is such a joy. God's blessings to all.
Esther Carlson.

Minerva Club learns about Massachusetts

Marian Clark hosted Minerva Club at the Senior Center on Feb. 23 with eight members and guest, Susan Boust, present.

Facts about Massachusetts were given for roll call. President Joyce Mitchell opened the meeting by reading a humorous account of how an Indian Chief and the Weather Bureau predicted a cold winter. She also shared little known facts about Presidents Washington and Lincoln.

Hollis Frese shared club highlights from the organizational meeting in 1896. There were 14 members. The club name Minerva was chosen by ballot. They chose to do programs on American Poets and current events. In 1912 membership was increased to 24.

President Mitchell confirmed the March 9 meeting to be at The Oaks at 2 p.m. Each member is to bring an interesting fact about the Maryland Colony.

Marian Clark presented the program on the Colony of Massachusetts. It was the sixth colony to ratify the constitution on Feb. 26, 1788. It was named after the local Native Americans and means "the people who live near big hill". There are only 14 counties in the state. Norfolk County is the birthplace of four U.S. Presidents: John Adams, John Quincy Adams, John F. Kennedy and George Herbert Walker Bush. The Pilgrims landed at Plymouth in 1620 and the first Thanksgiving was celebrated there in 1621. In 1630 a group of Puritans led by John Winthrop established the Massachusetts Bay Colony at Boston.

Notable events in history were the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party, Battles of Revolutionary War fought at Lexington and Concord, also Bunker Hill. The telephone and sewing machine were invented in Boston. Daniel Webster was a well known Massachusetts statesman. The Salem Witch Trials were held in 1692. Three hundred years later the 19 men and women hanged were proclaimed innocent and a Memorial Park in their honor established in Salem, Mass.

Acme Club holds Feb. 16 meeting

The Acme Club met Feb. 16 at Tacos & More. Elinor Jensen was the hostess for the dessert with six members present.

Joann Temme presided at the meeting, beginning with the singing of Happy Birthday to Ruth Victor, who will be 85 this February.

Ruth Victor gave the Thought of the Day, "Do We Appreciate?"

Do we appreciate the little things?

The love and care from our families; the thoughts and joy of friends; the comfort of church and prayer; the every day enjoyment of life.

If we don't, we should.

Roll call was, "Who was your favorite President?"

Bonnadell Koch read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

Betty Wittig reported taking Valentine favors to the hospital and a Valentine card to Mary Doescher, honorary member, who resides at the Care Center.

Bonnadell Koch will choose a book to be placed in the library in memory of Marjorie Summers, past honorary member.

Elinor Jensen gave the program on "Wuthering Heights," which was written between October 1845 and June 1846 by Emily Bronte. It was her only novel published in 1847 under the pseudonym, Ellis Bell. Bronte died the following year at the age of 30. Her sisters were Anne Bronte, who wrote "Agnes Grey," and Charlotte Bronte, who wrote "Jane Eyre."

Wuthering Heights is the name of the farm house where the story unfolds.

Although "Wuthering Heights" is now regarded as a classic of English literature, it received mixed reviews when first published and was considered controversial because of its depiction of mental and physical cruelty. It challenged strict Victorian ideals of the day, including religious hypocrisy, morality, social classes and gender inequality.

The book has inspired adaptations, including film, radio and television dramatic situations, a musical, a ballet, operas, a role playing game and a song by Kate Bush.

The next meeting of the Acme Club will be Monday, March 2 with Joann Temme as hostess.

Support for the community

The Inside Sons of the American Legion (SAL) Squadron continues to return money to the community. Funds generated through the 52-Gun Raffle are being given to a number of local, state and national groups. Above, SAL made a donation to the Wayne County 4-H Sharp Shooters program. Involved in the presentation were (front) James Simpson, Grant Arens, Sam Perry, Darin Greunke, (back) Andrew Simpson, Josh Greunke, Austin Arens, Hunter van Houten and Daryl Mundil, representing SAL. The money will be used by the club to support club activities and purchase equipment.

Plains Writers event, Poetry Slam set for Thursday, March 5

Wayne State College will host the Plains Writers Series in the Humanities Building 2nd Floor Lounge, Wayne State College at 1 p.m. and a writers' SLAMat@ Max Bar and Grill on Thursday, March 5 with registration at 6 p.m. and event at 7 p.m.

The Plains Writers Series is held several times a year in an attempt to bring attention to the prose and poetry of local Great Plains writers through reading and interacting with area audiences.

This spring's Plains Writers Series will highlight three authors: Scott Abels, Gailmarie Pahmeier, and David Lee. The authors will share selected pieces of their recent works in the lounge on the second floor of the Humanities Building at Wayne State College at 1 p.m. with Abels and Pahmeier, and at 2 p.m. with Lee.

Following the Plains Writers Series will be Poetry Slam XXXIII. The poetry slam will be at The Max Bar and Grill at 7 p.m., with registration starting at 6 p.m.

If anyone would like to participate in the slam, they will need four original poems and $5 for registration at the door. All events are free and open to the public.

Concert at WSC set for Tuesday, March 3

The Wayne State College Department of Music will present a diverse evening of music for concert band on Tuesday, March 3 at 7:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

The evening will open with a performance by the WSC Symphonic Band, under the direction of Dr. Joshua Calkin, Instructor of Low Brass and Assistant Director of Bands. Following the Symphonic Band will be a performance by the WSC Wind Ensemble, under the baton of Dr. David Bohnert, Wayne State College Director of Bands. The Wind Ensemble has recently performed at the Nebraska State Bandmasters Conference, as well as at venues in Italy. All of these performances were met with standing ovations.

The concert is free and open to the public. A reception will follow in the Peterson Fine Arts Atrium.

Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts celebrate Scouting Month

Boy Scouts in Troop #174 include (front) Silas Mrak and Joe Pickering. (back) James Simpson, Jon Worner, Andrew Simpson, Nolan Kruse and Zach Schenk. Not present, RJ Liska, Jacob Abraham, Steven Keiser, Bishop Cavane, James Kielty, Isaac Davis, Nathan Kufner and Dylan Bacon.

Scout leaders include (front) Tami Worner, Jeff Simpson and Stacy Schenk. (back) Michelle Mark and Dan Kruse.

The following is a summary of activities and accomplishments for Wayne Boy Scout Troop #174 for 2014.

In 2014 there were 14 scouts on the roster. Of those, four advanced from Tenderfoot to Star Scout (Nolan Kruse, Zach Schenk, James Simpson and Jon Worner). This represents 43 percent of the scouts and is a two percent increase over the previous year. Two scouts, RJ Liska and Andrew Simpson, advanced to the rank of Eagle Scout.

The troop retained and registered at least 80 percent of the scouts from the previous year.

There was a Recruitment Night in the spring and registered two new scouts (Nathan Kufner and Isaac Davis) at the event. Additionally, three more scouts (Joe Pickering, Silas Mark and Dylan Bacon) were recruited.

We regard to training, the troop has a new Scoutmaster and an Assistant Scoutmaster and a committee with at least three members. All have completed Youth Protection training.

Troop members conducted four short-term camps, February Freeze, Cranes in Kearney, Ponca River Expo and Jubilee. Nine of the scouts attended a long-term camp (Philmont, Camp Cedars, Camp Wilderness). This represents 64 percent of the scouts. Two scouts attended two of the three camps.

The troop has begun to use the patrol method more. There has been some patrol leader training and there are three patrol leaders and a senior patrol leader.

Troop #174 has contributed a great deal of service time to the community.

In addition to the monthly paper drive and working on four Eagle Scout projects, scouts performed 179 hours of service at the following events — Kiwanis Pancake Feed, Fireman's Breakfast, parking cards for tornado relief concert, working games at NEST Fest, putting up and taking down flags at the cemetery for Memorial Day, the barbecue at the Wayne County Fair, pancake feed and Coat Closet.

In the area of Webelos-to-Scout transition, there were two joint activities, including a parent meeting and camp promotion. In addition, two Webelos Scouts were recruited.

Several Courts of Honor were conducted for Eagle Scouts and families. The troop plans to have courts of honor quarterly in the future.
