Michael Foods set for expansion

By CALYN DUNKLAU
Of The Herald

Highway 35 runs through the very east edge of Wakefield, giving drivers a front-row seat to the massive construction project Michael Foods has delved into.

The project, totaling $33 million, is divided into two different phases: expansion and renovation. A 75,000 square foot expansion has already been finished and is being followed up by Phase Two, the renovation of current spaces.

"The purpose of the expansion was to enable Michael Foods to continue to meet the growing needs of our customers," Beth Peta, director of marketing and communications for the company, told The Wayne Herald.

The new addition will add space for production, refrigeration, finished good space and egg storage. There will also be two added production equipment lines installed.

The renovation work is underway now that Phase One is finished. This will include the relocation of two food production equipment lines as well as site preparations for a potential addition to the building in the future. Phase two is set to be completed in late May.

"This investment will address existing needs for additional space, expand our production capacities at the Wakefield location, provide enhanced service for our customers and position the plant for future growth," said Joe Clevenger, plant manager. "Michael Foods is committed to the Wakefield community and greatly values our partnership with local officials, who were instrumental in helping get the project underway."

At this time, the expansion is not expected to bring forth additional jobs, due to the anticipated efficiencies in the new production operations.

"However, the expansion will build our overall production capacity and we expect it to generate additional revenues for the company and, by extension, will increase Michael Foods' economic contribution in Wakefield," said Clevenger. "We look forward to working with community leaders as the project progresses."

Area team looking for volunteers

The Northeast Nebraska Long Term Recovery Team (NNLTRT) is seeking volunteers to become Recovery Case Managers.

The NNLTRT will also provide qualified volunteers with free training to become Recovery Case Managers. Nearly a year has passed since a series of storms devastated portions of this area, but help is still needed for those trying to rebuild and return to normal life.

Recovery Case Managers are an integral part of disaster recovery work and will work with families over the long-term to create and put into action a recovery plan that includes an estimate of unmet needs and assistance to locate resources to meet these needs in order to plan for and achieve full recovery.

Qualifications for the volunteers include:

- Being empathetic toward people affected by the disaster while also being objective and open-minded.
 - Showing enthusiasm and interest in helping families.
 - Capturing and following up on details to ensure needs are met.
 - Assisting families in a respectful, non-judgmental, and nondiscriminatory manner.
 - Developing trust, mutual respect, and equal partnerships with families and community providers.
 - Verifying recovery needs and resources by obtaining records and/or contacting vendors.
 - Building case files.
 - Respecting the client's right to privacy and protect client confidentiality information at all times.
- Expectations include:
- Volunteer position.
 - Estimated work hours 10-20 hours per week for 3-6 months.
 - Some evenings and weekends may be required.
- Requirements include:
- Complete an application.
 - Sign a Confidentiality Agreement.
 - Complete a background check.
 - Complete Recovery Case Management training.

If approved as a Recovery Case Manager, See VOLUNTEERS, Page 3A

Carroll man arrested for child porn

A Carroll man will be in Wayne County Court on April 6 on charges stemming from a child pornography investigation done by the Nebraska Attorney General's office.

Gary Landanger, 67, of Carroll was arrested last Friday on four counts of possession of child pornography, a Class III felony, and a single charge of distribution of child pornography, a Class I-D felony. A search warrant was executed at Landanger's home last Friday.

Landanger was arrested by the Attorney General's office with assistance from the Wayne County Sheriff's Office. He was released on a $200,000 personal recognizance bond and can not leave his home unless approved by the court. He is also subjected to GPS monitoring and can have no internet access or contact with any person under the age of 18.

Osborne visits Wayne

Dr. Tom Osborne visited Wayne on March 28 for a fundraiser for the Wayne TeamMates program. Osborne spoke of the history of the program, noting that his wife, Nancy, encouraged him to provide mentoring to students in the Lincoln Public Schools and assist them in their long-term goals after high school. Osborne also spent part of his morning having photographs with those in attendance at the event, including members of the Wayne TeamMates Board. Funds raised at the event will go toward scholarships for Wayne High School seniors who are part of the program. A number of those students were in attendance at the luncheon and commented on their time with the TeamMates program and post-high school plans.

Winside speech team claims runner-up trophy at state

All five area schools score at state competition

By CALYN DUNKLAU
Of The Herald

Several area teams competed and placed at the 2015 NSAA State Speech Championship in Kearney last weekend.

Overall, Winside's team tied for second in Class D1, while Wayne tied for twelfth place out of 38 teams in Class B.

Wakefield tied for 15th out of 34 teams in Class C1 and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge tied for 21st out of 41 teams. Also in Class D1, Allen placed 15th out of 36 teams.

From Winside, four individuals placed in the top five of each of their events. Two individuals took home second-place finishes with Taylor Anson in Humorous Interpretation and Breanna Lemke-Elznic in Extemporaneous Speaking.

Others placing from Winside included Victoria Doffin in fourth for Serious Interpretation and Connor Lemke-Elznic placing fifth in Poetry Interpretation.

"All in all, it was an amazing day, everyone broke into finals in an event," Winside coach Jennifer Kesting said. "These four students accomplished an amazing task at state speech runner-up with four events. It was surreal to hear my name and the school called down to the stage."

For Wayne, eight students qualified between four events and came away with the school's first state finalist since 2010.

Olivia Ficke-Anderson and Jack Tyson participated in Duet Acting, with a comedic Wild West piece, earning them third place.

"They did very well, I think, because it was the toughest district I've seen," Wayne coach Duane Spieker said. "This was the largest team I've ever had - 30 kids - and if it weren't for the assistants and volunteers, we wouldn't have had the success that we did."

Wakefield, Allen and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge also had students place at state. For Wakefield, Benjamin Bjorklund, McKenzie Rusk, Payton Rusk, Tiffany Saquiue and Isabella Silva-Goos took home sixth place in Oral Interpretation of Drama. Out of the 10 LCC students who qualified, Sadie Petersen placed fourth in Entertainment Speaking.

Allen's Mollie Bertrand placed sixth in Serious Interpretation as well as placing sixth along with Courtney Reuter in Duet Acting.

PFLAG group moves forward in Wayne

By CALYN DUNKLAU
Of The Herald

Forty-three years ago, Jeanne Manford walked in New York's Christopher Street Liberation Day March, a gay pride parade, in support of her son. After being asked by countless young people how they should go about talking to their parents, Manford decided there should be a support network for parents of lesbian and gay children.

Just a few months later in March of 1973, the first official meeting was held with approximately 20 people in attendance. Now the organization includes 200,000 members, supporters and local affiliates in more than 350 communities spanning the United States and reaching abroad.

Melanie Loggins and Sherry Dorman tossed the idea of beginning a PFLAG chapter in Wayne around for nearly two years before deciding now was the time to move forward. Together with Ron Loggins, Chele Simon, Mark Kanitz, Lukas Rix, Mandee Hank, Pastor Jeanne Madson, Pastor Gretchen Ritola, and Wayne State College PRIDE advisor Karen Granberg, they were able to get the group started.

The open house held at the Majestic Theater on March 17 served as an opportunity for the community to meet the founding members of Wayne's chapter and learn more about the organization as a whole.

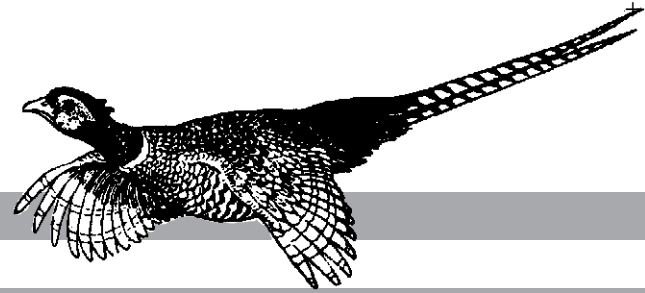

"I think it can be so intimidating for people, either someone who is coming out or their family and they might not know where to turn," Loggins said. "We know it might be really hard for some families to even walk in the door, and we just want them to know that, at PFLAG, everything is OK and everyone, no matter where they are in the process, everyone is welcome and will get support."

The chapter's monthly meetings will begin in April, mixing support and education for those interested in attending.

Jim Coan

Jim Coan, 86, of Wayne, died Saturday, March 28, 2015 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services were held Wednesday, April 1 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. The Rev. Mark Beran, Rev. James McCluskey and Deacon Pat Gross officiated. Burial was in Calvary Catholic Cemetery at Emerson.

James "Jim" Joseph Coan was born March 24, 1929 at Wakefield to John and Ella (Tews) Coan. He graduated from Sacred Heart High School, Emerson in 1946. Jim married Jean Pearson on Sept. 18, 1950 at the Sacred Heart Rectory in Emerson. The couple farmed northwest of Emerson prior to moving to a farm near Concord in 1952. They then farmed near Winside until moving to Wayne in 1959. After moving to Wayne, Jim worked for agricultural related businesses. Among them were Sherry Brothers and Allis Chalmers. In 1964 Jim and Jean became the original owners and operators of the Dairy Sweet. Later that year Jim became the manager of Fullerton Lumber Company. During this time period Jim became interested in the building profession. As a result, he started his own construction company, Coan Construction. Jim continued working as a carpenter until his retirement in 1991. He continued to utilize his carpentry skills, building various furniture pieces. Jim especially enjoyed building Christmas surprises for his six grandchildren. Gardening and tending to his yard were hobbies Jim enjoyed.

'Have a Heart' community meeting held, next meeting to be April 20

The goal of the "Have a Heart" Community Meetings is to increase the number of healthy families through partnerships and collaboration.

The first meeting was held March 23 at the Wayne Fire Hall. Representatives from several communities and organizations in Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne Counties were present.

The featured speaker for the meeting, Chrissy Tonkinson, Research Coordinator for Voices for Children in Nebraska, presented the newly released "2014 Kids Count in Nebraska Report." This report is the most comprehensive source of data on child well-being in Nebraska. Data in the areas of health, education, child welfare, juvenile justice and economic stability was shared and attendees had the opportunity to ask questions.

The meeting provided an opportunity to network with other people from the area, share ideas, and build on community strengths to support parents and families. The meeting was interactive and attendees had the chance to brainstorm about what activities are happening in their communities and what type of new activities they could implement in their communities to improve the health of children and families. Area organizations had information on local resources available for everyone to pick up and take back to their communities.

Prevent Child Abuse Nebraska is the featured organization to speak at the second of the two meetings on Monday, April 20 at the Wayne Fire Hall from 6-8 p.m. The agenda includes a keynote presentation followed by a discussion on planning for what communities can do to address the needs of parents and those who care for children. Organizers invite the entire community to attend this important meeting which will give those present an opportunity to be part of the conversation to build healthier families.

A meal will be provided for those who RSVP at least one week in advance. A thank-you gift will be given to anyone who attend and bring a friend with them.

The meetings have been approved for 1.5 in-service hours per meeting for childcare providers. Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD) along with the Caring Connections Coalition and Early Learning Connections are coordinating the events.

Anyone with questions or who would like to RSVP for the April 20 meeting, is asked to contact Peggy Hart MSN, RN at (402) 375-2200, toll free at (800) 375-2260 or e-mail to phnprevention@nnphd.org.

Nebraska celebrates 25 years of Adopt-a-Highway

During the month of April, the Nebraska Department of Roads will celebrate 25 years of "Adopt-a-Highway." This internationally-acclaimed litter-pickup program got its start in Tyler, Texas in 1985 and other states soon followed.

Nebraska implemented its Adopt-a-Highway Program in April of 1990.

Whether big and bulky or small and smelly, all kinds of items litter their way onto the roadsides, creating an eyesore. Close to 900 Adopt-a-Highway groups across the state, with an estimated 18,000 volunteers, work together to tackle this problem. As part of their group's agreement, Adopt-a-Highway volunteers pick up litter on their adopted segment of highway twice a year for two years.

Volunteers are from local church, civil and school groups, as well as 4-H clubs, individuals, businesses and families. All volunteers share a spirit of pride in their state. Of these nearly 900 groups, 35 have been with the program the entire 25 years.

On April 8, Governor Pete Ricketts will proclaim April 2015 as "Adopt-a-Highway Volunteer Appreciation Month" in Nebraska, during a proclamation ceremony at 10 a.m. in the Warner Chambers at the State Capitol. In addition, the month of April is designated as the "Great Nebraska Trash-Off" — a time for all groups to conduct spring cleaning in their areas.

Go to www.roads.nebraska.gov/operations/maintenance/adopt-highway/docs/Memo-to-groups-about-25-yrs.pdf to view a list of the 35 Nebraska groups who have been part of Adopt-a-Highway for 25 years.

Theft report ends with Monday arrest

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department arrested a Carroll man on Monday after he allegedly stole items from a business in Carroll.

According to County Sheriff Jason Dwinell, At about 9:20 p.m., a burglary was detected at The Sports Station. The suspect fled Carroll in a vehicle which was later determined to have been stolen from Concord. A witness contacted the Wayne County Sheriff's Office and a deputy attempted to apprehend the suspect. The suspect continued driving until his vehicle collided with a bridge and was arrested.

The suspect, Shane Cadwallader, was arrested for charges including: Burglary, DUI, theft by unlawful taking and driving under suspension. The Wayne County Sheriff's Office was assisted by the Carroll Volunteer Fire Department, Win-side Volunteer Fire and Rescue, the Nebraska State Patrol, the Cedar County Sheriff's Office, and the Dixon County Sheriff's Office. The case remains under investigation.

Wayne State 18th in final coaches poll

The Wayne State College women's basketball team was ranked 18th in the final USA Today Sports/WBCA Div. II Top 25 Women's Basketball Coaches Poll.

Wayne State finished the 2014-15 season with a 28-6 record, advancing to the NCAA Div. II national tournament for the fifth time in the last six seasons. The 28 wins tied for the second most in a single season and it marked the fifth time in the last six years WSC won at least 20 games in a season.

Wayne State also captured the Northern Sun Conference regular-season title for a second straight season and fourth time in the last five years with an 18-4 league record.

the airport fly-ins for Chicken Days. Nissen volunteered to drive the State Nebraska Bank van and shuttle the pilots and their passengers from the airport to the festivities. He enjoyed visiting with the people that flew in.

At Nissen's final meeting Wayne Mayor Ken Chamberlain thanked Nissen for his many years of service. After the meeting adjourned, the board honored Nissen's 35 years of service with Dairy Queen ice cream logs and Christmas candy from Udder Delights (two of his favorites).

"Mitch was a man of few words but a loyal friend a caring man," said Nancy Braden, finance director for the City of Wayne and longtime Treasurer of the Airport Authority. "I will truly miss my dear friend, but I know he now soars with the angels."

Braden added that "Mitch loved the airport and all things relating to aviation. He was former pilot who loved to talk and hear about airplanes. Never one to draw attention to himself, but always willing to share praises on others. I am so pleased that he got to see the completion of what we had planned for the airport. That includes being named the Airport of the Year under his leadership."

Blue Devils an opportunity to showcase their hard work over the last seven months," said coach Tony Cantrell.

Two student-built electric cars from Wayne competed for 90 minutes, trying to complete more laps than the competition.

Wayne's Advanced class car A107 won the endurance rally, leading the competition by 1.25 miles. For the third year in a row, Exhibition class car E39 received top honors, bringing home first place in endurance.

The Wayne team also received the "Best Pit Crew" award for their efforts in drivers exchanges and safety during the rally.

"The students have worked many hours in preparation for this season. I am very proud of their accomplishments on and off the track this weekend," Cantrell said.

The Power Drive season continues throughout the spring with races in Lincoln, Grand Island, Hastings, and Papillion.

Local schools that competed in the West Point rally include Bancroft-Rosalie, Howells-Dodge, Stanton, West Point - Beemer, and Winside.

Jennifer Claussen rings up a purchase for a customer after recently taking over as owner of Swan's in downtown Wayne. She bought the business from Marie Mohr Kochenash, who owned the business for more than three decades.

Swan's not going anywhere with new owner taking over

By CALYN DUNKLAU
Of The Herald

After owning the business for 33 years, Marie Mohr Kochenash decided to step back and sell her beloved clothing store, Swan's Apparel.

No worries though folks, because it's not going anywhere.

Jennifer Claussen, an employee at the store for seven years, has made the switch from employee to employer.

"I worked for Marie seven years. It was seven years in February," said Claussen. "But I knew within the first year of working here that this is where I wanted to end up."

Claussen's familiar face is helping the transition for lifelong customers of Kochenash, and Claussen wants to assure everyone that their favorite lines will continue to be in the store.

"We want to continue carrying what we always have, but we want to add to it to give a wider variety."

February was a whirlwind month for Claussen who attended a large clothing market in Las Vegas. The market, better known as MAGIC, is held twice annually - once in the spring and again in the fall. Staggeringly, 60,000-plus members of the industry gather to shop in Vegas - some show off the latest styles and some order those styles.

"We try to go to all the markets. There are small markets nearby - one in Kearney, that's really small, one in St. Paul, Minn. and one in Sioux Falls," said Claussen. "It just depends on what we can get done at each market. Often, the same reps travel to the smaller shows, so if we miss one, we can catch them at a different one."

Once the market wrapped up, Claussen was barely allowed to catch her breath, as she opened the doors to Swan's Apparel on March 2 - this time as the owner.

But before those doors swung open, Claussen wanted to change the store's layout to give it a more open feeling.

"I'm a simple girl. With me, less is more."

As of now, there are no plans to do any major renovation to the store. Beyond new decor in the store, the largest projects will be a revamp of the front windows and, eventually, updating the awning out front.

Claussen is optimistic about the future, insisting longtime clients will still find what they love while encouraging more to stop in to see the added styles.

Swan's Apparel may have been Kochenash's baby, but she left it in able hands with Claussen.

PFLAG

"Every meeting will have the Vegas policy: what happens at PFLAG stays at PFLAG! There is a strict confidentiality policy and no photographs will be allowed. We really want to make sure people know that we respect everyone who comes in."

Though the acronym PFLAG originally stood for Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays, the organization has swelled out to include family members and straight allies as well as recognizing additional orientations, like bisexual and transgender making the acronym more of a brand.

"Research and understanding has helped define sexuality not as a gay-or-straight binary, but more of a continuum, with most people clustering near the ends but with lots of people landing somewhere in the middle," said Loggins. "PFLAG has grown and evolved to respond to the ever better understanding of sexuality and gender expression."

The goal of Wayne's chapter reflects the goals of the PFLAG organization: to provide support in a safe environment.

"PFLAG is a safe, welcoming space, where anyone can feel secure and know that they will be accepted."

Track teams score at Scotus Girls fourth, boys eighth

Wayne High's track and field teams competed well in the Columbus Scotus Relays, with the girls placing fifth and the boys finishing eighth.

"With one of the smallest squads, Wayne competed well with some individuals performing well which carried over to team scoring in this meet," coach Dale Hochstein said.

All events, including the field events, were relayed with three scores being added in the field events to count toward the team standings.

On the girls side Wayne recorded second-place finishes in the shot put and 1,600-meter medley. Competing in the shot put were Lexi Sokol, Danica Schaefer, Jenna Trenhaile and Jamie Gamble, while the 1,600-meter medley included Rachel Rauner, Kylie Hammer, Cassie Heier and Allison Echtenkamp.

Third-place efforts were seen in the 800-meter relay (Rauner, Hammer, Heier, Tarah Stegemann) and the long jump (Stegemann, Hammer, Keanna Swanson, Riley Nichols).

On the boys side, Wayne had third-place finishes in the high jump relay (Ben Hoskins, Grayson McBride, Jack Evetovich) and the 1,600-meter medley team of Tayib Toussaint, Christian Rogers, Cornelio Espino and Ben Hoskins.

Wayne High will host the Blue Devil Invitational on Tuesday on the Kern Track at Wayne High School, starting at 1 p.m.

Mayhem in Wayne

About 80 teams invaded Wayne over the weekend for the 14th annual March Madness and Mayhem Rugby Classic, with games at the Wayne Rugby Park, Wayne State College and the Wayne Community Activity Center. Minnesota Duluth's men and Iowa State's women won the 15-on-15 division championship brackets, while Bemidji State's men and Lindenwood's ladies took top honors in 7-on-7 divisions. Baseball winning streak ends

The Wayne State baseball team extended their winning streak to six games at home before dropping their final home doubleheader before a month-long road stand.

The Wildcats swept Northern State in a four-game set over the weekend at the Chapman Complex, beating the Wolves 10-2 and 10-7 on Saturday and 5-2 and 12-7 on Sunday.

On Saturday, junior left fielder Nate Ackerman extended his home run streak to four straight games with round-trippers in both games, while starters Eric Browning and Matt Schulz picked up wins on the mound.

In the first game, the Wildcats produced 15 hits in the opener as six different players had two hits or more in the 10-2 win. Ackerman paced Wayne State offensively, going 3-for-4 with two runs scored and a solo homer. Michael Herman doubled twice, going 2-for-4 with two RBI and two runs scored. Curtis Bussard, Albert Johnson, Kevin Andersen and Zak Leighton each added two hits in the win.

That was more than enough for junior starting pitcher Eric Browning, who fanned seven batters in six innings to earn his first win of the season.

In the second game, Northern State outthit the Wildcats 16-11, but six Wolf errors and five walks helped the Wildcats sweep the Saturday twinbill.

Ackerman launched a three-run bomb in the sixth inning, homering in his fourth straight game and fifth in the last six contests. He went 2-for-5 and scored twice in the win. Albert Johnson was 3-for-5 with two RBI, while Herman collected two hits.

Schulz earned the win and improved to 2-0 on the season, working the first five innings and allowing eight hits and three runs while walking two and striking out two.

On Sunday, Wayne State completed a four-game sweep of the Wolves, highlighted by Ackerman's fifth straight game with a round-tripper. He hit a two-run homer in the third inning to help senior Mike Frericks, who worked six strong innings to improve to 3-0 on the season. He struck out four and scattered seven hits and a walk in six innings before Ryan Zweck

WSC softball team goes 3-3 on home stand

Wayne State won three of four games over the weekend before dropping a softball doubleheader on Tuesday at the Chapman Complex.

On Saturday, Wayne State used some home cooking Saturday to snap a four-game losing streak as the Wildcats notched a sweep over Minot State, 7-1 and 6-5.

The first game saw four different players record two hits apiece. Lexie Loos and Jordan King each went 2-for-4 with two runs scored to lead the attack. Kaiti Williams was 2-for-3 with a run scored while Melanie Alyea went 2-for-4. Loos tripled while King doubled.

That was enough to help out senior Sara Scheffert in the circle, who allowed one run on three hits in five innings while walking seven and striking out four. Junior reliever Cassy Miller pitched the final two innings and did not allow a runner with three strikeouts.

In the second game, Kelcie Bormann produced the game-winning double in the bottom of the eighth inning that scored Lexie Loos with the winning run.

Wayne State had 10 hits in the win to seven for Minot State. Sam

O'Brien was 3-for-4 with two RBI's including a solo homer. Bormann finished 2-for-3 with three RBI's while Shelby Wobken was 2-for-2 with one run scored.

Miller got the win in relief, working the final three innings in place of Bormann, who went five innings and gave up four runs on five hits with five walks and four strikeouts. Miller went the final three innings, allowing one run on two hits with two walks and two strikeouts.

On Sunday, Wayne State and University of Mary split a pair. The Marauders took the opener 3-2, while the Wildcats won the nightcap in nine innings, 1-0.

Hits were at a premium Sunday as northwest winds of 30-40 mph were blowing into the batter's face. The first game saw Mary use the most of their five hits, while Wayne State stranded four runners at third base, including the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Wayne State was led by Loos, who was 3-for-4, and King, who added two hits. Scheffert pitched the complete-game loss, allowing five hits

Kudos on another fun rugby gig

Things I thought of while wondering whether or not this is the year to bet on the Chicago Cubs winning the World Series:

- I've had the pleasure of covering the annual March Mayhem and Madness Rugby Classic the last several years, and this year I discovered a new appreciation for the amount of work the Wayne State Rugby Club puts into a venture such as this.

Of course, when you're bringing teams from as far away as New Jersey, Texas and Canada, you can't just leave much of anything to chance. This year, I was talked into helping club organizer Darin Barner with a variety of balls that he was juggling in the days leading up to last weekend's tournament.

How he keeps his sanity while organizing everything from the weekend housing options (from the local hotels and campgrounds to the bowling alleys here and in Wakefield) to the Saturday night toga party (a column in and of itself, but a blast if you're into 80's classic rock as I am) is anybody's guess.

Kudos to Barner and the rugby program for putting this weekend-long shindig on, and BIG kudos to those who worked at the local taverns and restaurants on Saturday night. In the end, it was well worth it for the community and the WSC rugby program.

- From the "Remember when . . ." department: this weekend marks the start of the 2015 Major League Baseball season, and is also the 20-year anniversary of when replacement players took part in spring training.

The replacement players came on after the strike of 1994 did something two World Wars and the Great Depression couldn't accomplish - kill a World Series. Players and owners had reached yet another impasse that summer, and it led to the cancellation of the fall classic.

I've never forgiven then-acting commissioner Bud Selig and the owners for allowing that strike to go on as long as it did. In fact, I all but washed my hands of the league after that experience and vowed never to be a fan of MLB until Selig either died or retired. (Sadly, he wound up doing the latter . . . and, yes, I'm THAT bitter about it even 20 years later).

I've yet to decide if I'll jump on the bandwagon of any particular team (aside from the Yankees, Red Sox or Dodgers), but I am starting to collect 80's and 90's-era baseball cards, so at least I can remember back when MLB was really worth being interested in.

- Speaking of pro sports: how long is it until quarterbacks and defensive backs report to training camp? I know it's been just two months since the Super Bowl, but I'm ready for some more football.

- We don't usually promote other newspapers' work here, but you need to read Tom Shatel's "First Down and Second Guesses" column in this past Tuesday's Omaha World-Herald. Shatel was working on a column about an interview he did with Bill Bryant, son of the late Husker legendary sports information and Husker historian Don Bryant, when he got the unexpected phone call no child wants to get - the sudden death of his father.

His memories of his dad and the surreal tie-in with what the younger Bryant had experienced with his dad's recent passing left me somewhat teary-eyed. I'm blessed to still have both of my parents alive and well, and I know it's a moment that I'll have to deal with eventually as well. I hope that I can be as eloquent with my words about my parents as Shatel was with his memories of his dad.

- Not to brag, but I got half my Final Four in and need Wisconsin to beat Kentucky to win the company pick-'em contest (which is for entertainment purposes, of course).

- As a final thought, there was an came on to get his second save of the season.

Curtis Bussard was 3-for-4 with a double, and Kevin Andersen went 2-for-3 while Chris May doubled.

In the finale, Wayne State erased an early 4-0 deficit as the Wildcats pounded out a season-high 18 hits to record a 12-7 win. It was the fifth straight game that Wayne State had at least 10 hits.

Four different Wildcat players had three hits in the win. John Roberts was 3-for-5 with four RBI including a three-run homer in the seventh inning, Herman was 3-for-5 with two RBI and two runs scored, Andersen was 3-for-4 while May went 3-for-5 with two runs scored.

Dylan McGill pitched five innings to get the win and improve to 4-0 on the season. He gave up five runs on seven hits with five strikeouts. Five relievers worked the final four innings.

Wayne State's home winning streak came to a crashing halt on Tuesday, as visiting Concordia-St. Paul used a five-run fifth inning in the opener and a seven-run sixth inning in the second game to sweep Wayne State 9-4 and 8-4.

Wayne State had five hits early in the opener. Herman had an RBI single in the first inning that scored Aaron Krier. Krier produced an RBI single in a three-run fourth inning to go with a double from May. The other Wildcat hit was a double by Ackerman.

With the score tied 4-4 after four innings, Concordia-St. Paul broke loose for five runs on five hits along with two Wildcat errors to pull away with the opener.

Kevin Andersen knocks a base hit for Wayne State during their four-game sweep of Northern State over the weekend.

Sophomore reliever Joey Lenihan, one of five Wildcat pitchers in the opener, suffered the pitching loss. He was charged with three runs on two hits in one-third of an inning.

The second game saw the visiting Golden Bears rally from a 3-1 deficit with a seven-run sixth inning to complete the sweep.

Trailing 1-0 in the third, Wayne State took a 2-1 lead on a bases-loaded walk to Ackerman and a sacrifice fly by Herman. Andersen scored on a single by Bussard in the fourth to make it 3-1.

Concordia-St. Paul used another big inning, this time a seven-run sixth on five hits, one Wildcat error, two hit batters and a walk, to take control of the game and out-hit Wayne State 9-8.

Bussard finished 3-for-5 to lead the Wildcats at the plate. Zak Leighton had Wayne State's lone extra base hit, a double. Andersen, Krier, Herman and Nick McIntee also singled for the Wildcats.

Starting pitcher Nick Ragan was credited with the loss on the mound, charged with five runs on four hits over 5 1/3 innings pitched with five strikeouts and one walk.

The Wildcats, 12-10 overall and 7-3 in the NSIC, will be on the road this weekend, visiting 10th-ranked St. Cloud State in a four-game NSIC series on Friday at 1:30 p.m. and Saturday at 12 p.m. and three walks while striking out five.

Mary had a chance to score in the second inning, but left the bases loaded. It stayed scoreless until the ninth, when Kaiti Williams singled up the middle to open the inning. Freshman pinch-runner Jalyn Zeiss moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Bormann, then O'Brien singled to score Zeiss with the lone run of the game for the win.

Wobken was 2-for-3 with a double in the win. Bormann doubled while King, Williams and O'Brien singled. Bormann struck out 11, walked four and allowed five hits in eight innings. Miller got the win in relief with a scoreless ninth, striking out two.

On Tuesday, Wayne State built early leads in both games, but visiting Winona State stormed back to sweep the Wildcats, 7-3 and 12-2.

Wayne State built a 3-0 lead in the opener after two innings, thanks to a solo homer in the first by King and an RBI double by Alyssa Schropp in the second.

Winona State tied the game with a three-run third, then took the lead for good with a three-run fifth inning followed by an insurance run in the sixth for the 7-3 win.

Winona State had 11 hits in the game to eight for Wayne State. King led the Wildcats, going 2-for-4 with a solo homer and double while Schropp was 2-for-3 with a double and RBI. Williams, Alyea, Wobken and Megan Hagemann each singled for the Wildcats. Miller was tagged with the pitching loss in relief of starter Scheffert.

The second game saw Wayne State take a 2-0 lead in the first, but was held to just two hits the rest of the game as Winona State used a six-run third inning to complete the sweep.

Wayne State used singles by Loos, King and Kelce Bormann to build a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Winona State put together a six-run third inning to take the lead for good at 6-2, then added two runs in the fourth and four in the fifth to finish the game on the eight-run rule.

The Wildcats, 17-11 overall and 3-5 in the NSIC, will be on the road this weekend, playing at MSU Moorhead Friday at 2 p.m. and Northern State Saturday at 11 a.m.

Wayne/Wakefield baseball drops nine-inning thriller at Fort Calhoun

The Wayne/Wakefield baseball team lost an extra-inning heart-breaker on the road Tuesday, dropping a nine-inning decision to Fort Calhoun, 1-0.

It was a great pitching battle by both teams. Alex Conley threw seven solid innings for the Wayne/Wakefield squad, striking out 11 and allowing four hits and five walks, but couldn't get any run support from the offense.

Wayne had two good chances to score in the game. In the second inning, Julio Sanchez stroked a single and moved to second when Jack Belt walked, but both runners were left stranded. Sanchez again reached base with a two-out single in the top of the ninth, but couldn't get home.

Fort Calhoun finally broke the scoreless tie in the bottom of the ninth, putting runners on second and third with one out. Sanchez, on in relief of Conley, threw a wild pitch that brought home the game's only run.

Sanchez had two of Wayne/Wakefield's four hits in the game, while Conley and Belt also had hits.

Wayne/Wakefield is 0-2 on the season. They will look to get in the win column with a 4:30 p.m. game at Crete on Thursday and a Saturday doubleheader with Wahoo starting at 11 a.m. at Hank Over-in Field.

Megan Svitek ran her way to a third-place finish in the 100-meter high hurdles during the Wildcat Classic at Wayne State College.

Wells sets automatic mark, highlights Wildcat Classic

The Wayne State women's track team had one NCAA automatic qualifying mark and eight NCAA provisional marks during the ninth-annual Wayne State Wildcat Classic Outdoor Track and Field Meet held Saturday on LeRoy Simpson Track. The Wildcat women's throwers were impressive in the first outdoor meet of the season with six NCAA provisional qualifying marks.

Senior Sara Wells, fresh off her national championship effort indoors, won the shot put with an NCAA automatic qualifying mark of 51 feet, 10 1/2 inches, which is the top throw in Div. II outdoors so far this season. Freshman Shandan Platt came in fourth at 45-11 1/4 and Dendinger was fifth at 45-10, both NCAA provisional marks.

In the discus, Wayne State had four of the top six finishers, with all achieving NCAA provisional marks. Dendinger was first at 159 feet, 7 inches, Wells was second at 158-9 with Platt fourth (147-3) and women's basketball player Kacie O'Connor collecting a sixth-place finish at 144-6 with less than one week of practice.

Platt reached an NCAA provisional mark in the hammer throw, placing fifth at 170-10, while Wells was eighth with a top mark of 169-1, also an NCAA provisional mark.

Senior Megan Svitek had the top finish in a running event, taking third at 15.31 seconds in the 100-meter hurdles, with freshman Kelsey Dietrich placing eighth at 15.97 seconds. Andrea DeSimone was sixth in the 5,000-meter run (20:19.95) with Makael Lanum eighth at 20:54.77.

Shelby Connett was sixth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in a time of 13:24.24. The 400-meter relay team of Danielle Hart, Mary Alder-

Farm Labor Housing loans are due June 23

USDA Rural Development announces the timeframe to submit pre-applications for Section 514 Farm Labor Housing (FLH) loans and Section 516 Farm Labor Housing grants for the construction of new off-farm FLH units and related facilities for domestic farm laborers and for the purchase and substantial rehabilitation of an existing non-FLH property. The intended purpose of these loans and grants is to increase the number of available housing units for domestic farm laborers. To be eligible to apply for a Section 516 grant or Section 514 loan for off-farm FLH, the applicant must be a broad-based non-profit organization, including community and faith-based organizations, a non-profit organization of farm workers, a Federally recognized Indian tribe, an agency or political subdivision of a State or local Government, or a public agency. In addition to these entities, limited partnerships which have a non-profit entity as its general partner may apply for 514 loans. There are no community population restrictions. All Nebraska communities are eligible for off-farm FLH loans and grants. Eligible occupants of FLH projects may include very low, low, and moderate income tenants with occupations associated with cultivating the soil or raising or harvesting any agriculture or aquaculture commodity; or in catching, netting, handling, planting, drying, packing, grading, storing, or preserving in the unprocessed stage any agriculture or aquaculture commodity; or delivering to storage, market, or a carrier for transportation to market or to processing any agricultural or aquacultural commodity in its unprocessed stage. More information on the pre-application and application process may be accessed at www.rd.usda.gov/programs-services/farm-labor-housing-direct-loans-grants under the "Forms and Resources" tab. For questions or to request an application, please contact Linda Anders, Multi-Family Housing Specialist at (402) 437-5734 or e-mail linda.anders@ne.usda.gov. The deadline for receipt of all applications is June 23, 2015.

Celebrating Holy Week, preparing for Easter

It's Holy Week, and once again, we are preparing for Easter. We had palm branches in church this weekend, commemorating the triumphal entry into Jerusalem of Jesus, riding on a donkey! We have been reading about this annual tradition of Passover in the capitol city, and that there were as many as one million people gathered for it. I have a hard time visualizing that many in what was just a small town, population about 80,000. Where in the world did the pilgrims stay?

And when it came to the celebration supper of the Exodus, they were required to roast a lamb, bake unleavened bread, prepare bitter herbs, and charoset. Where did the women do all this? Oh, and I guess they were supposed to sweep any leaven out of their homes. So, if the kids ate some bread before Passover and dropped crumbs, they had to be swept out.

We once participated in a Seder meal, prepared by a good Catholic friend, that involved her husband, who was Methodist, another couple, and a United Church of Christ pastor. We all had cards by our places that told us what we were to say, and when. Of course, it involved some wine, too. But it was neat, and we all learned from it.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Years later, when I taught VBS at St. Paul's in Winside, I foolishly volunteered to take the eighth graders. I say foolishly because they thought they were too old to be in VBS, and it was hard to keep them interested.

So, on the final day, I brought them to Apex farm and prepared a sort of Passover meal for them. My good neighbors, the Krajiceks, supplied me with lamb chops, which I cooked with a lot of garlic, and did not tell the kids it was not beef until they had tasted them and liked them!

We had celery sticks for herbs, and apples, raisins, and grape juice. Oh, and matzo which I bought already prepared without yeast. I think for most of them, it may have been the first time they connected Communion with what Jesus was observing on the night so long ago. When you look at it like that, you realize it's one of the longest annual meals in the world! And we are still privileged to partake of it. May you have a blessed Easter!

Dealing with winter annuals in crops and lawn care

Roller coaster temperatures make it harder to determine what is going on, but we are warming up so winter annual weeds will soon be greening up and beginning to grow vigorously. Some crop fields will even turn purple by planting time.

What is the impact of winter annual weeds and what should you think about in planning control programs?

Winter annual weeds begin germinating in early fall, and some species (especially marestail) continue to germinate until after planting. Depending on the species, they begin flowering in early to mid-April and most set seed and senesce by mid-June or earlier.

Control of winter annuals is relatively easy in the fall and early spring, but harder once they begin flowering as they are less susceptible to herbicides. In addition, the time between the start of flowering and when they have viable seeds can be relatively brief. Henbit, for example, produces mature seeds within two weeks of flowering. Plants can be flowering and shedding mature seeds at the same time.

Because winter annual weeds are small and their growth doesn't overlap extensively with crop development, their impact on grain yield is sometimes overlooked. In areas where dense winter annual weed infestations occurs, we recommend controlling those weeds at least two weeks before planting to protect against yield loss. In addition, controlling winter annual weeds before mid-April will reduce the risk of weeds going to seed and increasing winter annual weed pressure in subsequent years.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

Warm weather brings lawn work, but don't be in a hurry to apply fertilizer just yet. It is more important now to clean up the yard and reseed damaged areas. It may be worth it to wait a couple of weeks to see if your stressed areas green back up. Bluegrass is tough and can recover through underground rhizomes. If you decide you have to replant, seed as soon as possible. Do not apply any herbicides prior to reseeding or within two or three mowings unless allowed on the label.

It's too early to apply fertilizer to your lawn now. Heavy spring fertilization should be avoided. Cool-season turf needs little additional encouragement to grow and applying too much fertilizer in late March and April causes excess shoot growth at the expense of root growth and uses up valuable storage products needed for summer performance. Early spring fertilization should be reserved for the professionals, while most homeowners should wait until after the first growth flush to apply fertilizer.

Once emerged, grasses grow from their crown and thus it greens up from the base in the spring. The end result is that even though the turf looks brown from above, it may be green and growing underneath. Now is the time to check your mower's mowing height, sharpen the blade, and start the mower to guarantee it is ready to go when needed. Lawns eventually should be mowed at 3 to 3.5" throughout the year and ideally often enough to remove no more than 1/3 of the leaf blade.

This will keep the lawn at optimum thickness to provide enough height to shade itself in the summer and provide competition for weeds. For the first couple of mowings you can lower the blade a bit but bring it up to 3-3.5 inches when the lawn begins to grow quickly. It is better to mow too often than not enough and return the clippings unless they are composted or used on the garden. Weed control can also wait a while, so stay ready but hold off for now. Crabgrass control should not go on until late April at the earliest.

Livestock Market Report

The Nebraska Livestock Market conducted a fat cattle sale on Friday.

UNL Extension Tractor Safety courses offered

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Tractor Safety/Hazardous Occupations Courses will be offered at seven locations in Nebraska during May and June. Any 14 or 15-year-old teen who plans to work on a farm other than their parents' should plan to attend.

Federal law prohibits youth under 16 years of age from working on a farm for anyone other than their parents. Certification through the course grants an exemption to the law, allowing 14 and 15-year-olds to drive a tractor and to do field work with mechanized equipment.

Classes consist of two days of instruction plus homework assignments. Classes are from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. each day. Our nearest class will be on June 15-16 at the fairgrounds in Wayne. There will need to be a minimum of eight registrations to hold the workshop.

Pre-registration is strongly encouraged at least one week before a location's start date to the Dixon County Extension Office. Cost is $60, which includes educational materials, testing, supplies, lunches and breaks. For more information, contact the Extension Office at (402) 584-2234 or e-mail Keith Jarvi at kjarvi1@unl.edu for registration materials.

The first day of class will consist of intensive classroom instruction with hands-on demonstrations, concluding with a written test that must be completed satisfactorily before students may continue driving tests the next day. Classroom instruction will cover the required elements of the National Safe Tractor and Machinery Operation Program. Homework will be assigned to turn in the next day.

The second day will include testing, driving and operating machinery. Students must demonstrate competence in hitching equipment and driving a tractor and trailer through a standardized course as well as hitching PTO and hydraulic systems.

Prices were generally $1 to $2 lower on fat cattle and steady on cows. There were 250 fat cattle sold.

Strictly choice fed steers, $156 to $158. Good and choice steers, $152 to $156. Medium and good steers, $150 to $152. Standard steers, $140 to $145. Strictly choice fed heifers, $156 to $159.35. Good and choice heifers, $152 to $156. Medium and good heifers, $148 to $152. Standard heifers, $130 to $140.

Beef cows, $100 to $110. Utility cows, $110 to $120. Cannors and cutters, $100 to $115. Bologna bulls, $135 to $145.50.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Bloomfield blew it on Ernie's blowup

When we go to the ballot box every 2-4 years, we elect people to represent our voice in the halls of government, whether it's in Washington, D.C., Lincoln, Neb., or right here in our local area.

We expect those who "represent" us, whether it's on the local school board or the moral cesspool that is the United States Congress, to express our voices and serve as an upstanding representation of civilized society.

Our state senator, Dave Bloomfield, absolutely failed on this front last week in a manner that, in this writer's opinion, is a slap in the face to those who advocate peace and respect for our fellow man and for law enforcement.

Last week, during a hearing on a bill in the Nebraska Legislature, Omaha Sen. Ernie Chambers compared the state's law enforcement community with the ISIS terrorist organization. He accused the police community of terrorizing people in his district in much the same way those in the Middle East are tortured by the jihadist terrorists who have caused so much mayhem half a world away.

And then, he took it one step further:

"If I was going to carry a weapon, it wouldn't be against you, it wouldn't be against these people who come here that I might have a dispute with. Mine would be for the police. And if I carried a gun, I'd want to shoot him first and then ask questions later, like they say the cop ought to do."

The outrage expressed at Chambers' comments came at a trickle in the Nebraska Legislature, a governing body Chambers has continually bullied during his long tenure as the north Omaha representative. One state senator demanded an apology, which Chambers quickly and forcefully refused. Other state senators have followed, demanding everything from an apology to a resignation.

And then - there was our "representative" here in District 17, a staunch conservative and alleged supporter of law enforcement, who did everything but DEFEND Chambers' remarks.

Rather than joining in what Bloomfield called the "piling on" of the Legislature's lone race baiter, our "representative" in the Unicameral said that Chambers was exercising his "freedom of speech." While paying lip service by saying he didn't "condone" Chambers' remarks, his lame explanation of not wanting to "pile on" with his colleagues serves as more of an applause of Chambers' veiled threat to shoot a police officer than it did a rebuke of the Omaha senator's not-so-subtle attempt at advocating a potentially-deadly assault on our state's law enforcement.

Now don't get me wrong - I know that there are a number of individuals hiding behind the badge who use their power as a police officer to create more problems than they solve. Thankfully, those individuals are in the very small minority among those who take the concept of "serve and protect" seriously and lay their lives on the line every day to make sure we live in a safe community, whether it's in small-town Wayne, America or the big cities of Lincoln and Omaha.

And I don't care what context or what spin job Chambers and his defenders put on the Omaha senator's remarks - saying you'd want to shoot ANYBODY, especially a police officer, is wrong. It's especially wrong to suggest such a thing in a public hearing in the state legislature. There should have been a universal outcry by the entire body of the Nebraska Legislature, demanding an apology by Chambers and, if none is received, then a move to censure Chambers should have immediately been carried out.

Dave Bloomfield had an opportunity to be a part of that correction of this public misstep - and he blew it. Instead, he chose to lecture his cohorts on Chambers' right to free speech, forgetting - or choosing to ignore - that with great power comes great responsibility, and advocating the use of violent force against any human being - especially a representative of our law enforcement community - is irresponsible at best, and encouraging and inciting a riot at worst.

And let's be serious - even in the cases where police officers have used unjustified force against a citizen - to compare that to what ISIS terrorists are doing to peace-minded human beings is like comparing lightning to the lightning bug. I have yet to see any video evidence of a police officer bounding, gagging and then beheading a fellow citizen here in the United States. I've yet to see a situation where a bunch of police officers storm a museum and randomly shoot and kill 100 people. There is not one documented case of law enforcement being tied to any car bombings, burning buildings or other acts of mass violence here in this country.

But, for Bloomfield, it's OK that a fellow state senator can not only make those comparisons, but then say that he'd shoot a police officer if given the opportunity and not be publicly reprimanded for advocating this kind of violence against a member of the law enforcement community.

That's not the kind of "representation" we should have sitting in the office of District 17 in the Nebraska Legislature. It's disappointing that Sen. Bloomfield lacked the courage to properly call out a fellow colleague for remarks that have no place in a peaceful, law-abiding world.

Capitol View

Paid petition talk circulating

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

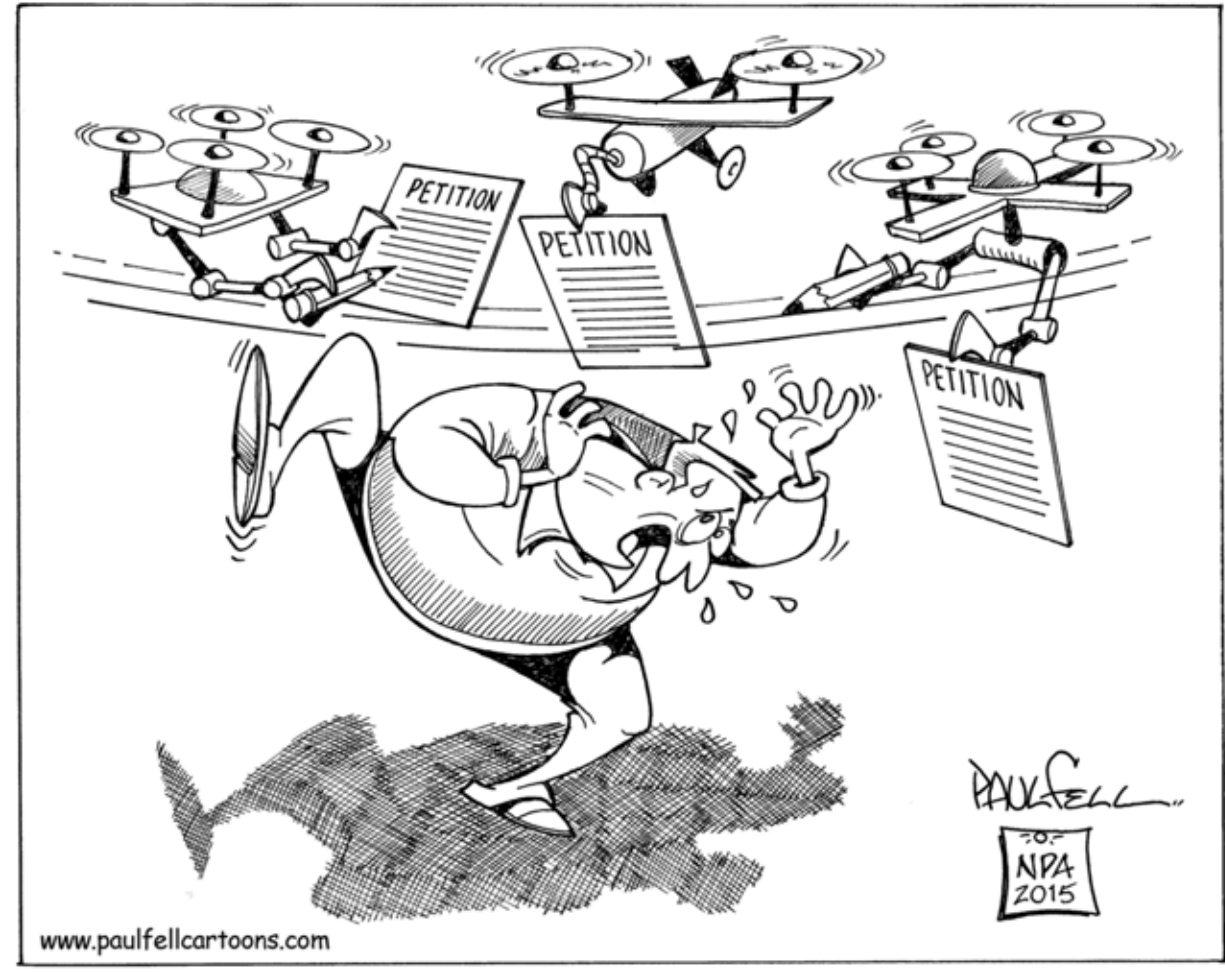

Few people argue with the First Amendment right of free speech and allowing people to petition their government.

But, bring up the issue of paying petition-circulators by the signature in Nebraska and you'll generate discussion. Such has been the case since at least 1986 when a couple lobbyists and two state senators were charged with violating the law by paying people to circulate petitions for a Constitutional change to permit a state-run lottery. A couple years later, the Nebraska Supreme Court ruled that prohibiting the payment of petition circulators "violates the first amendment and is for that reason void and of no force or effect."

Several changes to petition laws ensued. Petition circulators had to disclose that they were being paid. The proposed ballot issue - the reason for the petition - had to be clearly stated on each page of the petition. About eight years ago, payment per signature instead of an hourly wage was banned. Proponents of the ban said paying per signature would increase the chances for fraud and aggressive behavior.

Proponents of the pay-per-signature idea have long argued it makes the petition process more affordable and creates an incentive for circulators to gather more signatures. In addition, the folks who pay the circulators per signature verify that each signature is valid - from an eligible registered voter - thus providing an extra measure of validity before the petitions are filed with the Secretary of State.

Six other states, in addition to Nebraska, require circulators to disclose to potential signers whether they are paid or a volunteer. Arizona, California, Ohio, Oregon and Wyoming all require that a prominent notice be placed on the petition form stating whether the circulator is paid or volunteer. In Missouri, the circulator must file an affidavit with the Missouri Secretary of

www.paulfellcartoons.com

State. In Oregon, paid circulators must carry a registration form with them indicating that they have taken the state's mandatory training program for paid circulators. Also, volunteer-circulated petitions and paid-circulator petitions are required to be printed on different colored paper.

The topic of pay-per-signature has surfaced again, in a bill (LB367) from North Platte Sen. Mike Groene. The freshman lawmaker is no stranger to the petition process and has been involved in at least one lawsuit to change the situation. He says the seven-year-old prohibition violates free speech and destroys grassroots efforts to get issues on the ballot.

Groene's bill is awaiting the second round of debate after advancing from its debut on a 38-0 vote.

The measure was forwarded to the full Legislature on a 7-1 vote after a public hearing in the Government and Military Affairs Committee. Perennial petition supporter Kent Bernbeck and two others spoke in support of the measure during that hearing. The director of the League of Nebraska Municipalities and the head of the Nebraska Grocery Industry Association spoke against the bill.

Committee Chairman Sen. John Murante of Gretna has told his colleagues the right of citizens to petition their government is especially important in a state with a one-house Legislature where the people serve as the second house. He says the Legislature has added barriers to the petition process that have increased the price of mounting an initiative campaign. He also cautions that the state could be sued if the ban remains in place.

Federal courts have struck down bans in five states - Maine, Mississippi, Ohio, Washington and Idaho - for violating the First Amendment. There are 24 states, including Nebraska, that allow initiative petitions.

Groene used circulators paid by the signature in a 2006 petition drive to cap government spending. The measure made it on the ballot but was defeated by voters. Groene contends that people who opposed the measure then lobbied the Legislature to approve the ban on paid circulators.

Colleague Sen. Paul Schumacher of Columbus says he thinks the petition process helps keep the Legislature in line.

I agree. It's time to rise above the personalities and make the petition process better.

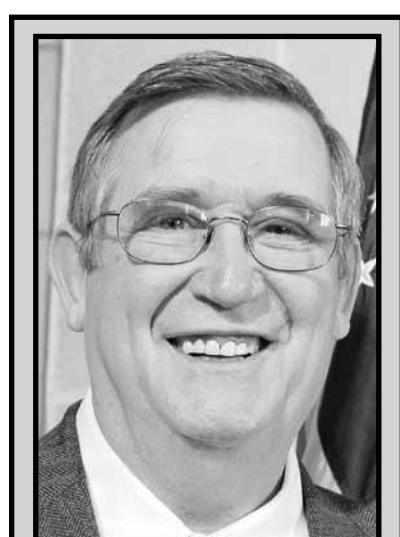

Legislative Update

Lincoln becoming more like Washington

People talk all the time about how unique and special the Unicameral is, and I would agree. I have, however, discovered that we seem to be becoming more and more like Washington, D.C. all the time, which I find heartbreaking.

I learned this week just how similar we are becoming to Washington, D.C. when my priority bill (LB31 to repeal the motorcycle helmet law) was debated and voted on. I chose not to play the political games played by some and I paid the price. I will not vote for something I fundamentally disagree with (Medicaid expansion) to gain votes. Whether you agree with my positions or not, you know where I stand. If I give you my word, I will stand by it. Unfortunately, that cannot be said about all of my colleagues. My bill vote on the actual bill. The advancement of the helmet repeal was the closest it had been in years... I will continue to fight for it! It is to me a matter of freedom. I will never give up on freedom.

I often use my newsletter to make the readers aware of opportunities available to our youth. If you are a junior or senior in high school and remotely interested in the agricultural industry I would encourage you to apply for the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI). NAYI is a five day long conference on the UNL East Campus focusing on career opportunities within agriculture. This year the conference will be held July 6-10, 2015. Applications are due on April 15, 2015. Applications can be found at www.nda.nebraska.gov or by contacting my office.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov. You can find my current as well as my previous Newsletters on my Legislative Blog at news.legislature.ne.gov/dist17.

How to get children to do the chores School Lunches

How do I get my child to do chores? We hear these statements from parents all the time!

One main reason that children don't respond is when parents make the chores "no fun" by nagging at their children to get them done! Getting your children to get their chores done can become a battle. When parents nag, nag, nag, children will stop listening. The conflict can roar sometimes on to even a bigger battle. Some parents feel that "chores" is a negative word and they should be called "tasks." Either is fine, it depends how whether you use the word negatively or positively.

Here are a few steps to get the chores done.

1. Take a look at all the chores in the house and made a list of chores your children could do that would fit their age. Listing chores that mom and dad do helps let children know that their parents do chores too. Children can do chores from 18 months or older. An 18-month-old child may need guidance each time to help them keep on task and learn when they need to do their chore. Many times for young children it is a privilege to help mom and dad. At age three children can have regular chores that they need to do each day.

Ruth Vonderohe

2. Just know they will need help till they can learn the tasks and be able to do it right. You might say, "Clean your room." What does that mean? The task may need to be broken down into steps so they understand. "Let's make the bed first, then pick up the books, then etc...." Now and then there also might need to be reminders how to do the task. If children have not done any chores, then start out with one or two chores till they are able to do these on a regular bases.

3. Charts and check lists are great for kids because they can see when a chore is done and they can see how many times it is done in a week, a month or whatever the time schedule is. You can also reward completing so many days of chores. For very young children this may have to be daily at first and work your way to weekly. I would suggest extra privileges or special activity in place of gifts and money. You might say, "You now can stay up 20 minutes longer tonight since you got your chores done." As a child gets older giving an allowance is okay because that is a great way to start teaching the use of money. All children need to know that chores will always be a part of being a family. Chores are definitely a family affair.

4. Set a time the chore should be done. For best results, have it relate to a time in the child's schedule, such as breakfast, dinner, bedtime, or after school. This helps the child remember when it should be done. It also can be set for a specific time to be completed, if the child is old enough to understand time.

5. It is very important to reward when your child does their chores without being told. This is one thing parents don't do very well. If the child is doing the right thing, we have a tendency to overlook the good behavior.

6. It is better to reward for completion of tasks, but sometimes there should be consequences if the chore doesn't get done. Consequences can come two ways: taking things away or introducing extra tasks to be done.

7. It should be an enjoyable time, so you may want to make statements like, "Let's see how fast you can get the table set! Remember you have to do it right." This way you are giving your child positive comments to motivate them to do better.

8. Consistency is also the key. This can be a hard task because many times your days are really busy or daily schedule changes. Just remember when you are home it is very important to keep the chore list going. Both parents need to be clear what the chores are for each child and when they are to be done, otherwise the child will figure out fast who is going to make them do their chores and who is not. This is where consistency breaks down. It has to become part of the daily or weekly routine.

9. Remember parents to do your chores too, because children learn the most from what they see you doing, than what you are telling them to do.

Leave troubles and sins with Jesus

Have you ever noticed how one person's mistake can impact many others? One person on the team messes up and the whole team has to run. One person decides to drink and drive and two families and a whole lot of friends have to deal with the consequences. One person's mistake can impact a whole lot of people.

Recently in my devotions I was reading from the seventh and eighth chapter of the Old Testament book of Joshua. The Israelites had just defeated Jericho (remember, the walls came tumbling down). God had told them not to take any of the plunder, but one man by the name of Achan did. He took some gold, silver, and expensive clothing. He then hid it all in his tent.

When the Israelites went to take on the people in the city of Ai they thought it would be pretty easy since it was a small town. But they were defeated and 36 Israelites died. And when Joshua asked God why, God said, "Israel has sinned; they have violated my covenant."

A Word In Faith
By Troy Reynolds
Pastor, Journey Christian Church

Only one person had sinned, but the entire nation was considered guilty and had to face the consequences. So Joshua and the Israelites punished Achan and the place came to be called "The Valley of Achor" - "The Valley of Trouble."

Maybe today you find yourself in the Valley of Trouble - maybe because something you have done; but maybe it's because something someone else has done. And it doesn't seem fair. It doesn't seem right. "Why am I suffering because of what someone else has done?"

Well, as Paul Harvey used to say, let me tell you the rest of the story. For years and years that place was called the Valley of Achor, but God, through the prophet Hosea, declared that someday that would change. God said, "I will . . . make the Valley of Achor [Trouble] a door of hope" (Hosea 2:15).

Isn't that what we celebrate at Good Friday? That first Good Friday didn't seem very good. Instead it seemed to be filled with trouble. It was a dark Friday; a bleak Friday; a seemingly hopeless Friday. However, we call it Good Friday because of what actually took place there. Instead of one person's sin resulting in the punishment of all; One Man's punishment resulted in forgiveness for all. The One who kept the commandments suffered the penalty so that those of us who have broken the commandments might escape the penalty (see Romans 5:12-21).

Today you might find yourself in the Valley of Trouble. But because of what took place on a cross outside of Jerusalem 2,000 years ago, your Valley of Trouble can become a Door of Hope. And that Door of Hope leads us out of the Valley of Trouble and Suffering to the Valley of Grace and Forgiveness. The place of our greatest failure can become the place of God's greatest glory.

So, this Easter Season, may you take your troubles and your sins and your failures and leave them at the foot of the cross and experience the hope and forgiveness Jesus offers.

Work for the water treatment system for both Village wells were inspected by the State DHHS. The State had some concerns with the work on well 25-1 that must be addressed.

The USDA has agreed to fund the water tower project for the Village. Because of this funding, the USDA sent a communication to the Village Board concerning current water rates for hydrant users.

The meeting was recessed until March 25, 2015 at 7 p.m. at the Community Hall.

The Board of Trustees for the Village of Carroll reconvened the regular session on March 25th, 2015 with the following members present: Mark Tietz, Diana Davis, and Kirby Hall.

Mark Tietz, Chairperson, opened the meeting and pointed out the open meetings act.

Darin Greunke addressed the Board, thanking them for allowing the Wayne County 4H Sharpshooters to use the auditorium for BB gun practice. He informed them of the clubs first place finish at the State shoot in Broken Bow and the opportunity for the team to travel to Rogers, Arkansas to compete in the National 4H Sharpshooters in July.

The Board continued discussing the USDA requirements for the water tower project. Robert Hall was present to ask questions about the rates for hydrant users.

Mark Tietz informed the Board that the Village Siren system was not functioning properly. A new timer motor for the system would need to be purchased.

A motion to adjourn the meeting on March 25th, 2015 was made by Diana Davis and seconded by Kirby Hall. Roll call vote. Aye-3. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned at 7:56 pm. Next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:00 pm at the Community Hall on April 8th, 2015.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone that sent get well cards, flowers and calling for our 60th Wedding Anniversary March 6 and Earl's birthday March 8. We spent those times at Mayo in Rochester to treat Earl's rare sickness. Thanks to Ken & Diane for taking us to Mayo and Ron & Sherie for coming up to see us. It will take time but I'm slowly getting better. You have all played a special part with prayers for my road to recovery. Your kindness will never be forgotten. God Bless Earl & Joyce Lundahl

I wish to thank Dr. Stokesbary and Dr. Martin for their skilled care and all the staff at Providence Medical Center for their excellent, friendly care. Also thanks for the cards, visits and help my family gave after I returned home after surgery. I sincerely appreciated it. Marlin Meier

Thank You! We want to thank everyone who came and helped us when we had a fire on March 6, especially the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and the neighbors. Steve & Ginny Glassmeyer

I would like to thank my family and friends for making my 90th birthday so special. Your notes, calls, flowers and presence at my Open House at the Oaks was very much appreciated. Thanks for the memories. God's peace to you all. Marion Baker

A big thank you to the Wayne Consolidated Veterans for their help in organizing and assisting with our breakfast fundraiser. Thank you to the following for their help or donations: Wayne National Guard, McDonalds, Michael Foods, Pac 'N' Save, Quality Food Center, Luttt Oil & Service, Grossenburg Implement, Wayne Fire Dept., Layne Beza, Denny & Jean Luttt and all of the baseball players and parents that helped. Applications being accepted for Vollers nursing scholarship

The Gloria Vollers Memorial Scholarship is being awarded annually, thanks to a generous donation by Dr. Cyrus Beye of Yankton, S.D. Dr. Beye was a general surgeon who traveled to Pender Community Hospital from 1959 to 1981 from Sioux City, Iowa. While in Pender, he had many fond memories of working with Gloria Vollers, RN. He found her compassion and dedication to nursing an inspiration and wanted to honor her memory through a community gift. Gloria, a registered nurse, worked at Pender Community Hospital for over 30 years as a staff nurse, surgery supervisor, and Director of Nursing. She is remembered and admired for her leadership, caring spirit, and professionalism. The new academic scholarship will be awarded in Gloria's name to a student who has been accepted into a Registered Nursing program of study. The recipient must be a resident of Thurston, Cuming, Burt, Dixon, Dakota, or Wayne counties. The annual $2,000 scholarship will be awarded through an endowment, established through the Pender Community Hospital Foundation. The application form is available on the Pender Community Hospital website: www.pendercommunity-hospital.com or by calling the hospital, Kelly Kaup at (402) 385-4005. Criteria for selection include academic performance, health care experience, financial need, career objective in rural health, and school/community involvement. Applications are due Thursday, April 30 and recipients will be announced in May. All applications should be sent to: Pender Community Hospital, Attn: Kelly Kaup, 100 Hospital Drive, P.O. Box 100, Pender, Neb. 68047.

Grant presentation

The Wayne County Fair received a grant for more than $3,000 for improvements to public recreational areas on the fairgrounds. The money was used to put in 10 new camping pads with 50 amp electrical pedestals. The Fairgrounds camping areas are open to the public for a fee of $10 per day. Making the presentation was Dave Shelton of the Nebraska Lower Elkhorn NRD Board of Directors. He presented the check to members of the Wayne County Fair Board.

Brondum Scholarship is available

Applications are now being accepted until April 30 for the Merlin Brondum Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship was established in memory of Merlin Brondum's dedication to rural healthcare. This $2,500 scholarship is available to anyone residing in Thurston, Wayne, Cuming, Dixon, Burt and Dakota counties who is currently enrolled in an Allied Healthcare course of study. Criteria for selection include academic performance, health care experience, financial need, career objective in rural health and college and community involvement. Merlin Brondum died March 15, 2003 at the age of 49 years, after a brief illness. Merlin worked at Pender Community Hospital for 27 years, most of which were as the Director of the Laboratory. Merlin was a dedicated professional who is remembered by the PCH staff as a friend and family member. The application form for the scholarship is available on the Pender Community Hospital website: www.pendercommunity-hospital.com or by calling Kelly Kaup at (402) 385-4005. All applications should be sent to: Pender Community Hospital, Attn: Kelly Kaup, 100 Hospital Drive, PO Box 100, Pender, Neb. 68047.

Learning about service

Hansen recalls days at Wayne State

Pearl Hansen is a native of northeast rural Nebraska and Nebraska Art Educator of the Year 2014. She received her B.F.A.E. from Wayne State College in Art and taught K-12 in Brisbane, Australia following graduation.

Wanting to see the world, she spent a period of time backpacking through the outback of Australia, the East and Middle East and through Europe before returning to study at Kansas State University, where she received her M.A. in Sculpture and Art History.

She taught high school sculpture and pottery in Ralston before returning to Wayne State to teach in the art department and farm. She later furthered her studies at University of Nebraska in Lincoln where she received her Ph.D. in administration, curriculum and instruction with research interest in the area of art hazards. In addition to teaching at Wayne State College, she has also served as the division head of Fine Arts and department chair for the Department of Art and Design.

As a college professor, her strongest interest is that of teaching and providing integrated experiences for her students. Her teaching has consistently involved students in creating public art, which more recently has been with the support of Service Learning grants. Projects have involved art students, the community, K-12, art appreciation and elementary education students in collaborative experiences. Hansen has received numerous teaching awards at the state, regional and national levels. She is sponsor for the Student Chapter of the National Art Education Association and provides the opportunity for her art education students to present and attend at least one national convention during their college career. She has also organized cultural study courses including a trip to Russia.

Hansen has lectured and consulted on art hazards and safe work environments with many individuals, schools, and organizations at local to international levels, directed national conferences (grant supported) and has served on several governor appointed committees addressing these concerns. She serves as member of the Arts, Crafts and Theatre Safety, Inc., New York City. She was appointed by Governor Orr to the position of Admiral in the Nebraska Navy, a state service award, for her services in the area of art hazards.

She is very active in the studio and focuses on the use of safe water-based materials. Her work has a strong focus on landscape and abstractions. Through her artwork she utilizes both 2- and 3-dimensional processes. She has had exhibits locally, regionally and nationally. Through her world travels and northeast Nebraska rural roots, the experiences have served well for generating subject matter for her work.

Show choir festival set for April 11

Wayne State College Department of Music will host a Show Choir Festival and Clinic on Saturday, April 11 beginning at 9 a.m. in the Peterson Fine Arts Building. Approximately 60 students from three schools will be participating in the festival: Ponca, Omaha Burke and Ord.

Each school's show choir will work with guest clinician Tim Watson, director of choral activities at Morningside College, throughout the day, and get the chance to perform on stage in Ramsey Theatre. The event will conclude with a performance by the WSC Black and Gold Singers at 11:30 a.m. in Ramsey Theatre.
