Cemetery attacker faces felony

A Hoskins man was in Wayne Court on Monday in connection with the destruction of markers at a cemetery near Hoskins.

Michael Svatos has been charged with Criminal Mischief, a Class IV felony.

He told Judge Ross A. Stoffer that he has retained an attorney, although he appeared alone in court.

Svatos was arrested in Cedar County on Wednesday, June 24 after a warrant for his arrest was issued by Wayne County Sheriff Jason Dwinell. Svatos is accused of knocking over a number of markers in the Trinity Cemetery, located just west of Hoskins. He and another individual, who has yet to be publicly identified, were seen on surveillance video knocking over markers and tearing up the grounds with an ATV vehicle.

Judge Stoffer continued Svatos' bond, and he will return to court on Monday, July 6.

Pac 'N' Save goes to bat for project

Local business gives $12,000 to Overin rebuild

By LAURA ANDERSON
Of The Herald

Adam Endicott and Kim Endicott, owners of Pac 'N' Save in Wayne presented a generous donation of $12,000 to the Rebuild Hank organization. The donation was given Friday at the Wayne American Legion Juniors baseball game against Wakefield.

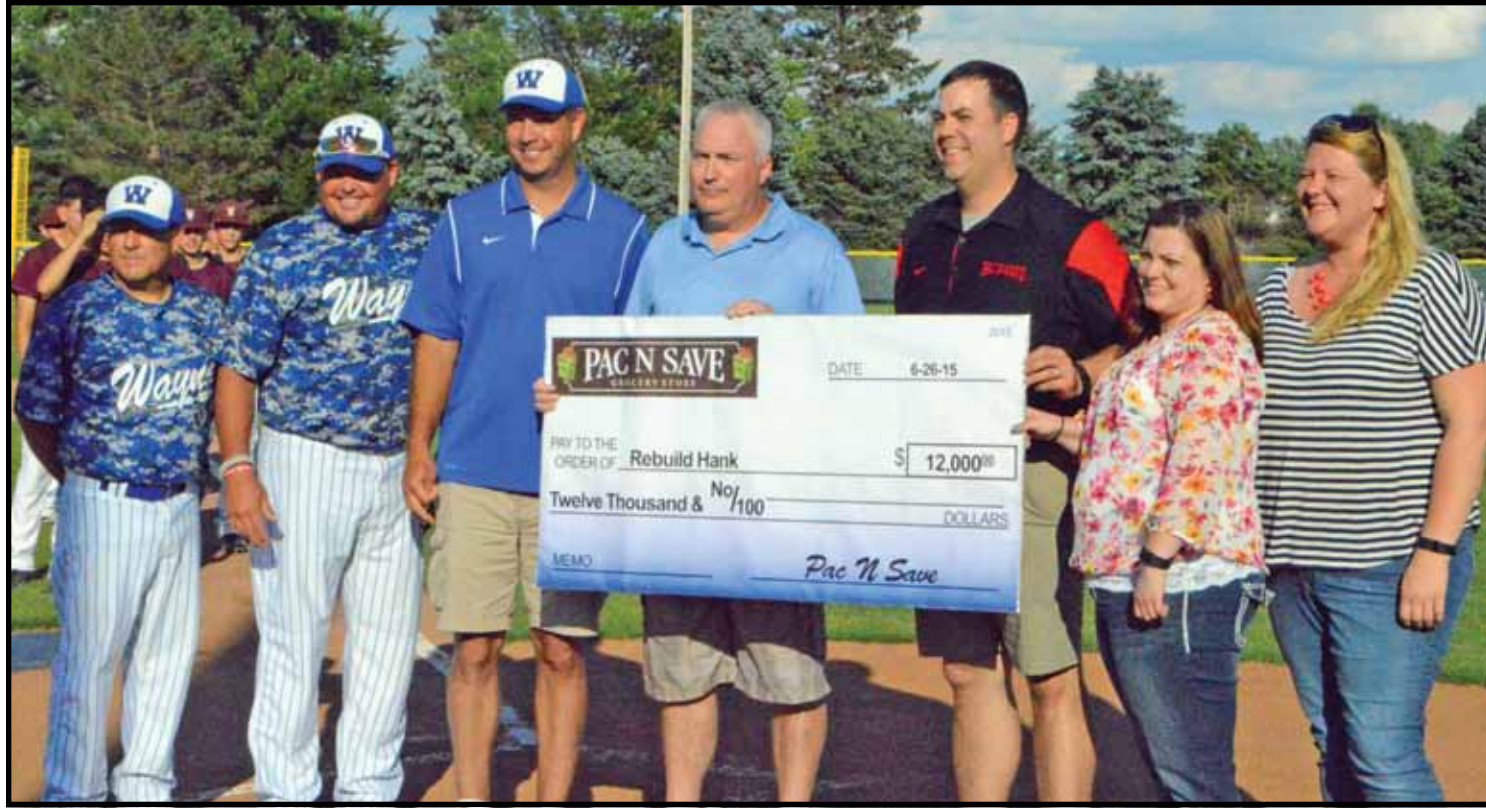

Pat Melena and Steve Lutt, both members of the Rebuild Hank organization, accepted the donation.

"With this donation (we will have raised) somewhere around $60,000-65,000," Melena said.

Rebuild Hank will be hosting a benefit dance at the City Auditorium on Saturday, July 11 from 7 p.m. to midnight.

A group of Wayne High grads from the '60s will perform in their band, Sons of Satan. A freewill donation will be accepted.

The construction that has been completed at Hank Overin Field so far includes the new backstop and the demolition. The grandstand and a storage shed reconstruction will begin in late July or early August after the baseball season is over.

Progress being made in Avian influenza cleanup

On Friday, Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) Director Greg Ibach announced that the depopulation of birds with, or exposed to, highly pathogenic H5N2 avian influenza (HPAI) in Dixon County is now complete.

According to Ibach, a total of 4.9 million laying hens and pullets were humanely depopulated and composted at five farms owned and operated by the same producer in Dixon County. Four of those farms had confirmed cases of HPAI, while the producer voluntarily depopulated the birds at the fifth farm in an effort to contain the spread of the virus within their operation.

A backyard flock of less than 100 mixed fowl, with epidemiological connections to the five farms, and located within the 6.2 mile quarantine zone established by NDA, also tested positive for the virus. These birds were also depopulated and buried on that property.

"I feel the depopulation process ran as smoothly as it did because of the working relationship and cooperation we received from local, state and federal agencies," Ibach said. "I personally want to thank our staff for their hard work, dedication and long hours they put in to help prevent further spread of the virus. I also want to thank those within several key organizations who played a critical part in the response."

Ibach said Governor Pete Ricketts signed an emergency declaration, and that gave the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency, Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality, Nebraska State Patrol, Nebraska Department of Roads and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services additional flexibility to play vital roles in assisting NDA. He also said county emergency management teams were instrumental in daily operations in both Dixon and Knox counties.

"Our federal partners at the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) were also a critical component to the success of the depopulation and now the cleaning and disinfection efforts," Ibach said. "I'd like to thank each of these partners for their support and contributions to addressing this disease."

With the depopulation process completed, the work of cleaning and disinfecting each building and the equipment found in those buildings can begin in earnest. According to Ibach, USDA contracted crews have arrived in Dixon County to facilitate and oversee those cleanup efforts. After successful completion of the cleaning and disinfection process, environmental tests will be conducted to ensure the presence of the virus has been eliminated. When that testing is successfully complete, the producer will be able to repopulate its operation.

NDA staff will be returning to regular duties, while an individual specializing in composting protocol will remain on site in Dixon County to monitor the compost piles daily to ensure proper temperature levels are being maintained

Practice safety during holiday

Many Nebraskans will celebrate the Fourth of July with some of the holiday's most popular activities: lighting fireworks, grilling, swimming and having some fun in the sun.

All of these activities can be enjoyed safely by following some simple tips from the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

"The Fourth of July is a time of celebration and we want to keep it that way," said Judy Martin, Deputy Director of the Division of Public Health for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. "That's why we want Nebraskans to follow these quick, summer safety tips so they can make sure their Fourth of July holiday is as safe as it is fun."

Fireworks Safety

Fireworks are festive, beautiful and a big part of many Nebraskans' Fourth of July get-togethers.

Unfortunately, they can also be dangerous. Between June 25 and

July 5 2013, 171 people visited the emergency room with fireworks-related injuries, according to the State of Nebraska Fire Marshall.

To enjoy fireworks safely, follow these quick tips from the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC):

Always have a responsible adult supervise fireworks activities.

Do not let young children light or play with fireworks.

Light fireworks one at a time and then quickly move back to a safe area.

Don't point fireworks at or throw fireworks at another person.

Keep a bucket of water and/or a garden hose nearby whenever you light fireworks.

Don't try to relight a "dud" firework that has not fully ignited.

Don't shoot off fireworks in metal or glass containers.

Dispose of used fireworks by soaking them with plenty of water before you throw them away.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON
City Administrator

City Council Meetings
Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Working on Next Year's Budget

Over the next several weeks I'll mention some of the budget questions ahead of the city council for the next year. We always start work on the next year's budget in January at our annual strategic planning retreat. The city's fiscal year begins every Oct. 1. We have two sets of budgets:

City Government - streets, police, library, fire department, civil defense, city recreation, activity center, senior center, swimming pool, parks, public buildings and administration.

City Utilities - water, sewer, electric and transfer station

Police Department: The public safety portion of our budget consists of the Police Department, Fire Department and Civil Defense department. The Police Department is our largest government department with seven full time certified officers and four full-time dispatchers providing around the clock coverage. The history of the five most recent Police Department total budget expenditures is: 2010/11 - $1,107,471; 2011/12 - $1,191,384; 2012/13 - $973,778; 2013/14 - $1,161,314; current budget - $1,106,979. During this period the Police annual personnel costs increased from $795,921 to $922,889 per year. The number of certified officers was cut from 9 1/2 to 9 in 2003 and from 9 to 7 in 2011 and remains at that level. The wage ranges for our officers and dispatchers are set each year at the midpoint of the wage ranges for the same job descriptions in an annual third party survey of other Nebraska towns in this market and/or of similar size. We use the same procedure for all of our city full time and part time job descriptions.

Through agreements with Wayne County and Wayne State College, we are reimbursed about $105,000 annually for dispatch and/or police services we provide to them.

Fire Department: The Wayne Department is authorized to have 45 volunteer fire fighters but currently has 37. The history of the five most recent Fire Department total budget expenditures is: 2010/11 - $81,088; 2011/12 - $513,271 (replaced old ladder truck); 2012/13 - $109,108; 2013/14 - $135,873; current budget - $129,739.

Where are we in the budget process for next year? The council will act on final approval of the city budget in August and we don't have a draft library budget prepared for them yet.

Community Theatre to present 'Into the Woods'

Wayne Community Theatre has announced its summer production of Stephen Sondheim's Tony award winning musical "Into the Woods" with book by James Lapine, directed by Tim Hess and music direction by Philip Pfaltzgraff.

The show will be presented Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 16-19. The Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows will be at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday show at 2 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the campus of Wayne State College.

Have you ever wondered what happens after "happily ever after?" Find out as you watch familiar characters—Cinderella, Rapunzel, Little Red Riding Hood, Jack from Jack and the Beanstalk, to name a few—navigate their way through the woods to get their wishes, only to find out that getting what you wish for has its dark side.

"The talent pool in the Wayne area is simply impressive" said director Tim Hess. "I am so fortunate to be a part of this team. This production promises to be nothing short of delightful."

Hess noted that "the show has a unique and diverse cast, including high school and college students and adults from around the community.

Wayne State College senior music major Ben Bruflat (Rapunzel's Prince) is used to being in a whole other area of the stage—down in the pit playing trumpet. "This is my first time acting in a show—it's fun being on the other side" said Bruflat. "It's a challenging show that I think will keep the audience engaged."

All tickets are $12 each for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday presentations. Sunday's show is a freewill donation.

Pet of the Week

This week's Pet of the Week at Tenderheart Animal Rescue is Little Ollie, who came from Winside, the off-spring of a neglected female on her own. He is now about four months old and starting to interact with people and the other cats. He sits and purrs to himself. He will need an owner who is willing to let him slowly adjust to new surroundings but will ultimately be a good companion.

Remember that all the cats at Tenderheart Animal Rescue are veterinary checked with rabies vaccination and fixed.

For more information or to adopt Little Ollie, call (402) 369-6030.

Wayne area campers enjoy Camp Invention

Sixty-two campers attended Camp Invention at the Wayne Elementary School June 8 - 12.

The first through sixth grade campers enjoyed a week filled with creating, designing, building, and testing their inventions. They participated in many water challenges and built freestyle racing karts to use on a wet obstacle course. They took apart obsolete appliances and used the pieces to build a physical video game model in 3D.

Through personal challenges received from National Inventors Hall of Fame Inductees, they learned about designing life-saving devices, marine exploration vehicles, megatowers, and space rockets.

Sonya Tompkins was the camp director. Her staff included four Wayne teachers: Cathy Hobza, Jodi Lutt, Jenn Thomas and Phylis Trenhaile.

The campers were led to four learning modules and Base Camp by four high school leadership interns; Callie Brown, Marcella Jurotich, Jack Osnes, and Sarah Wibben and four counselors in training; Micah Carson, Cole Hobza, James Tompkins, and Sarah Tompkins.

Wayne school named as finalist for rural education grant

Wayne Community Schools has been announced as a finalist in this year's America's Farmers Grow Rural Education program, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund.

Wayne Community Schools is among the top districts in Nebraska in the running for grants of $10,000 and $25,000.

Earlier this year, farmers nominated their local public school districts to apply for Grow Rural Education grants. Once nominated, school districts were eligible to complete applications requesting funding for a specific math or science project that will enhance curriculum in their district. This year's applications were again very competitive. A panel of math and science educators evaluated all of the applications and selected the strongest submissions as finalists.

"Making it to this stage of the process is a great accomplishment that requires a lot time and effort," said Michelle Insko, Monsanto Fund program officer. "There is still more to do before we announce our winning school districts, but this year's finalists submitted impressive applications. The Monsanto Fund is grateful for their focus on improving math and science opportunities for their students."

Next, finalist applications will be reviewed by the Grow Rural Education Farmer Advisory Council. The Advisory Council, made up of farmers from across the U.S., will select this year's winners, who will be announced in early August.

Last year, Grow Rural Education awarded over $170,000 in public school districts across Nebraska to improve math and science curriculums. Since 2012, Nebraska school districts have received $420,000 through the program.

Projects funded over the last four years have helped school districts across the U.S. upgrade technology and scientific lab equipment, build greenhouses and outdoor classroom learning environments, update teacher and curriculum development and other math and science related initiatives.

Lukas Rix, Mark Kanitz and Lucas Fedde are at the helm of the Coffee Shoppe after taking over ownership from Cathy Varley.

Familiar faces add coffee to their business interests

By CALYN DUNKLAU
Special to The Wayne Herald

The familiar faces behind the huge success that is Rustic Treasures have branched out, stepping outside the doors of thrifting and consignment...right next door that is.

Lucas Rix and Mark Kanitz made the decision to purchase The Coffee Shoppe after the previous owner, Cathy Varley, decided she was ready to sell.

After moving locations last summer, Rix and Kanitz had kept the doors between the two businesses open to encourage customers to head over for a cup of coffee after browsing and to invite Coffee Shoppe customers over to peruse the aisles while sipping their mochas.

"The most influential piece in us wanting to purchase The Coffee Shoppe is to better serve our Rustic Treasures customers," said Kanitz.

The benefit both businesses saw from it was enough for the guys at Rustic Treasures to know they would be interested in the business if Varley ever wanted to sell. And as luck would have it, she did.

In order to enable customers to move freely between the two businesses, Kanitz and Rix adjusted the Coffee Shoppe's hours to match those of Rustic Treasures better. This change allowed for a big change, the addition of lunch served Saturdays.

"We were getting several requests from our out-of-town shoppers where was a good place to eat? This way we will be able to offer food and drink right on location with similar hours as Rustic Treasures," Rix said.

There weren't many changes to the menu, though in the future the owners are looking into offering dessert options, perfect for that afternoon snack craving. Former Rustic Treasures employee Lucas Fedde moved from the store to serve as the full time chef and food manager. Fedde graduated in May from Wayne State College with a Foods and Nutrition degree, making him a perfect, and natural, fit for the job.

Fedde is joined by three baristas and most of the time at least one of the owners is also there to oversee operations.

To ensure the success of their employees, Rix and Kanitz took on the project of doing some remodeling to the establishment, including replacing several appliances in the kitchen. Other parts of the renovation include new flooring, new tables and chairs and turning the current display windows into additional seating.

"The remodel was very successful, the business was only closed for 24 days," Kanitz said. "Every surface in the building was touched in one way or another."

Running two businesses so different from one another has posed challenges, and making the transition between the two has been the most difficult of all.

"At Rustic Treasures all items are sold on consignment, so at the end of the day you are making commission," said Rix. "The Coffee Shoppe is different because you are carrying food inventory--the most difficult inventory to manage."

But these challenges have paled in comparison to what the two have gained by buying the business. Not only have they learned how complicated but fun, coffee-drink making can be, they have seen just how supportive Wayne's community can be.

"The community has been very supportive of young entrepreneurs lighting up downtown and that's exactly what it takes to make a small business work."

The two are incredibly passionate about the community and the downtown area and it shows. They have successfully helped to put Wayne's Main Street on the map and this move can only be seen as a way to make that map-dot bigger.

PMC Foundation donates $43,000 to local hospital

The Providence Medical Center Foundation has donated $43,000 to Providence Medical Center, following a recent funding request from the hospital for updating fetal monitors and purchasing a Panda infant warmer for the Nursery.

"On behalf of all the nursery staff, I would like to thank the PMC Foundation Board of Directors for this generous gift, which will allow us to help many patients," said Laura Gamble, RN, Director of Clinical Services. "The Foundation is such a big part of what makes Providence Medical Center successful and without their generous gifts and dedication we could not offer the needed services for our community. That you again for all that you do!" she said.

Foundation President, Sandra Bartling, says that the foundation exists solely to support Providence Medical Center. "Philanthropy continues to play a crucial role in providing a measure of excellence that has come to define Providence Medical Center," says Bartling. "In today's challenging health care environment, an increased emphasis is placed on the importance of philanthropic support. I am pleased that our foundation continues to be a harbinger of support for PMC, and through the efforts of absolutely everyone in our area-wide community working toward a common goal, we have a hospital that is second to none," said Bartling.

"I am impressed with the philanthropic history of the Providence Medical Center Foundation. I look forward to working with the PMC Foundation to continue providing state of the art medical care to our patients," said Providence Medical Center CEO, Jim Frank.

Influenza

To effectively eliminate the virus. The compost piles will remain in place at the affected properties until regulatory officials confirm the process has eliminated the virus from the compost material. Once the virus has been successfully eliminated the compost can be utilized for its nutrient value.

As part of NDA's ongoing surveillance work, a total of 48 farms with poultry that are located within a 6.2 mile radius of the affected farms remain under quarantine. Those flocks have all undergone one round of avian influenza testing with no further cases of the virus detected. Those flocks will undergo another round of testing in July, and if the virus is not detected at that time, NDA will begin the quarantine release process for those farms.

"While we are cautiously optimistic that the virus has been contained at this time, I continue to urge all poultry operations - big and small - to continue to exercise the strictest of biosecurity measures on their farms," Ibach said. "We must all work together to prevent the spread of the HPAI virus in Nebraska."

Citizenship Washington Focus teaches about involvement

Civic engagement involves youth learning about positive character traits, knowledge of the government, issues, public policy, and community service learning.

Thirty-three 4-Hers from northeast Nebraska recently returned from the CWF (Citizenship Washington Focus) trip held from June 4-13. This is a capstone trip that youth attend during their high school career at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Md.

The 4-Hers learn about citizenship and how they are contributing member of society; travel to Washington, D.C., to see the U.S. government in action and learn about the past through historical sites. One of the learning experiences during the trip was to develop an action plan for a service learning project. The youth have prepared plans to complete the project in the next couple of months.

All communities can be involved service learning projects on October 3-4, 2015, during the "#4H Gives Big" campaign. Here are some helpful hints to help your community get started with your project.

There are three components to a service learning project: youth involvement; meaningful service; and reflection.

Youth will be able to learn valuable skills as they plan, organize, and implement the project. They may see a need in a community that adults have not addressed before, and adults play a critical role in helping youth prioritize the community needs. A key component of service learning is reflection which occurs before, during, and following the project. They are able to reflect on the experience to discuss the "What", "So What", and "Now What". Youth are able to make the connections of the service project and how it will influence lifelong learning.

Here are the five steps to implement a service learning project:

1. Assess and identify the need.
2. Plan and prepare.
3. Experience meaningful service.
4. Analysis and evaluation.
5. Celebration.

Learning about service learning, citizenship and leadership happens all the time within 4-H activities. Youth might serve as an officer of a club to learn about parliamentary procedure, join a committee to plan out an event for the club, or be a part of the service learning project.

Celebrating a name change

Ray Boyd, a resident of The Oaks, admires one of the vintage cars on display as part of the celebration of a name change at Emeritus at The Oaks. The facility will now be known as Brookdale Wayne. The celebration last week included a ribbon cutting, meal for the residents, families and guests. In addition, the residents and their guests spent the evening talking about the cars of their youth and cars of their dreams.

Finding time for God in our busy world

Ring ring. Buzz buzz. Tweet tweet. Knock Knock. Ding. Dong. Zing. Zap. Zoom.

All of these are among the different sounds which we hear (or feel in the sense of the buzzing) countless times a day. Probably more times than any of us are willing to admit. In the age of smartphones and tablets, we are notified by one sound when someone posts on Facebook, another sound for a text message, another for a phone call, another when someone plays on Words With Friends or your quest is complete in Clash of Clans or Game of War, another for a received e-mail, and yet another sound with the reminder of an appointment. We are surrounded by constant sounds and sound clips. If a news video is longer than 30 seconds, it is too long to watch.

Parents also talk about always being busy with their children as this child is in weights, this one in softball, this one in football camp, or this one at dance. Rarely does it seem that a night is spent with everyone in the family home anymore. Someone is always on the go doing something.

Even with summer vacations, it seems like they are packed so full of things that when people come back from them they say that they need a vacation from their vacation. Whatever happened to the days and nights of just sitting back, relaxing, and enjoying life and family? Or as Rascal Flatts sings in the chorus of their song Mayberry:

By Mike Feldmann
Pastor, Grace Lutheran Church

*(Well) I miss Mayberry;
Sitting on the porch drinking ice-cold cherry Coke;*

Where everything is black and white;

Picking on a six string;

Where people pass by and you call them by their first name;

Watching the clouds roll by;

When God created everything in the beginning, He didn't create it all to be constantly going. He built in rest times at nights and on the seventh day. You and I are not created to always be on the go. As many of us know, if you go go all the time, eventually you will break down and collapse.

This is one of the reasons why God has given us the Third Commandment of "Remembering the Sabbath day by keeping it holy (Exodus 20:8-11)." Yes, it means that we should set aside time to be in worship, hear His Word and to thank God for the wonderful gifts He has given to us, but it also means that we should rest. God created all things in six days and then rested on the seventh. This day of rest was built into the order of creation so that man and all of creation could be at peace with each other.

Granted we live on this side of the fall and the entering of sin into creation and so the peace that all of creation experienced then will not happen again till the last day when Christ returns and restores this fallen creation. But ... the day of rest is still in order. You and I need to slow down and rest. The best spot to find rest is in the living God, in Christ and in His Word. Psalm 46:10 says to "Be still, and know that I am God." Ultimately, all of the running around which we do is meaningless in the grand scheme of things. The most important thing for any of us to do is to have a relationship with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Through this relationship, we will find rest and from that rest the energy to go out and serve God by serving our neighbors.

As many of us go on summer vacations and trips to the lake, I pray that you do rest so that they are relaxing and that you come back refreshed. But I also pray that you find time to rest in God's Word. Through His Word, may you ever be refreshed as you continue to live in this ever chaotic world.

Allen Community Club

The Allen Community Club met June 15 at the fire hall.

President Greta Kraemer called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Motions were made and approved to pay for various bills for improvements made to the Heritage Mini-park.

Old business was continuing on plans for the July 3-4 weekend in Allen. John Koch, owner of Henry's Bar and Grill, volunteered to roast pork to be served at the July 3 social with R & D catering the rest of the food. The meal will last from 5 p.m. until the food runs out. Mr. Koch has also hired Cactus Flats to provide the music for the dance from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. on July 3.

Volunteers are needed to take tickets for the meal and/or dance. Cost for the meal is $10, for the dance is $10, or for both meal and dance is $10. Plan on coming to both events. Anyone wishing to volunteer to take tickets can call Greta Kraemer at (402) 635-2826.

Details about staging, fencing off the street, electrical hook-ups, porta-potties, law enforcement, advertising, etc. were finalized. The banner to be used in neighboring town's summer parades was viewed and a sign-up sheet was passed around asking for volunteers to take the entry to parades.

Volunteers are still needed for the Dixon, Newcastle and Wakefield parades. Community Club members were reminded to work at the Dixon County Fair barbeque instead of the July meeting.

The next meeting will be the end-of-summer potluck picnic on Monday, August 17 at 6:30 p.m. in the fire hall. Everyone is invited to this community event for food, a guest speaker, and support of community activities.

Allen United Methodist Church 125th Anniversary

The Allen United Methodist Church will be celebrating their 125th anniversary on Sunday, July 5. Worship service at the church will be at 11 a.m. with a catered lunch at 12:30 p.m. at the Allen Fire Hall. A program at the church located at 402 Summit Drive will begin at 2 p.m.

Fair prep underway

A crew, which included members of the Wayne County Ag Society and several volunteers, spent Tuesday morning at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. The group poured and leveled cement for the floor in the new building which will be home to the swine and small animals. It will also include an arena area and bleachers. The metal on the building is part of what was obtained by the Ag Society when several buildings were torn down at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds in Lincoln several years ago. The Ag Society is in the process of completing several upgrades at the fairgrounds in preparation for this year's Wayne County Fair, which will take place Wednesday through Sunday, July 29-Aug. 2.

Northeast Community College to close July 3

In observance of Independence Day, all offices at Northeast Community College in Norfolk and its extended campuses in O'Neill, South Sioux City and West Point, will close on Thursday, July 2, at 3 p.m. The college and its extended campuses will re-open Monday, July 6, at 8 a.m.

While second session summer classes at Northeast begin on Monday, July 6, registration sessions for the Fall 2015 Semester continue. Fall classes begin Monday, Aug. 24.

Registration sessions will be held in the College Welcome Center on the Northeast campus in Norfolk on Thursday, July 9 at 5:15 p.m.; Monday, July 20 at 8:45 a.m.; Friday, Aug. 7 at 8:45 a.m.; and Wednesday, Aug. 12 at 1:45 p.m.

Students who plan to take the majority of their classes at Northeast's extended campuses in O'Neill, South Sioux City or West Point are asked to contact the specific location to make an appointment for New Student Registration.

Students will meet with advisors to plan class schedules at the registration sessions.

New, incoming students are reminded that their ACT or COMPASS scores must be on file at Northeast Community College before registration. If the student has not taken the COMPASS test, he or she is encouraged to contact the Northeast Testing Center at (402) 844-7281 or the extended campus in South Sioux City at (402) 241-6400 to schedule an appointment to complete the test prior to registration. Those completing the testing prior to registration will expedite the registration process and finish earlier than those who haven't been tested.

Any student who has not attended Northeast in the past or is not a current student, should call the Admissions Office at (402) 844-7260 about filling out an application and signing up for a registration session.

An orientation session for transfer, non-traditional and military students will be held on Monday, Aug. 17, in the College Welcome Center. It will be held from 5:15-7:30 p.m. Meanwhile, a larger orientation session for new students is planned for Sunday, Aug. 23, from 12:30-4:45 p.m. It will begin in the Cox Activities Center gymnasium.

For additional information, call the Northeast Community College Admissions Office at (402) 844-7260 or e-mail www.admission@northeast.edu.

Reminiscing with old friends

Just goes to show you how much I know, Virginia took the CWS in the second and third games. It almost seemed as if Vanderbilt never knew what hit them. Now, we have to focus on the women's soccer and the Royals!

I swore I would not complain about sun and the end of rain, and I won't, but it has been kind of warm lately. I watched Dani in a softball game on Saturday eve, and congratulated myself on missing the noon and 3:30 games; they all looked hot and sunburned. Obviously, I'm a "fair weather" fan. We got to a couple basketball scrimmages, too, because they were at Pius, the high school just up the street from us.

We've had calls this week from old college friends, Murray, in Winnepeg, and Duane in Raleigh. It brings back memories, but they are getting harder and harder to dredge up! Duane is the recipient of a heart transplant fifteen years ago, and the conversation with him and the Big Farmer tends to compare medical issues. I think that's another old age thing.

While Mike was at the dental college this afternoon, I headed to the Dairy Store. That's one thing that hasn't changed since those days on East campus. I had a strawberry rhubarb cone, and I bet you don't find those in every ice cream place. I'm still looking for someone to gift me with some rhubarb so I can make a cobbler.

We're ready to turn over the calendar to July; the flags have been flying in our cul de sac. Since we didn't make it to Winside, we think we'll head to Murdock, where they are also celebrating 125 years. Interesting that both small towns we've been a part of were apparently settled the same year. In both, it was German farmers who came, looking for land to homestead. And, for both, the railroad became an important cog in their growth. In fact, Winside was the "winning side" in the fight to have the railroad. I have no idea where the name, Murdock, came from. Maybe I'll learn that this weekend.

So, fly your flag, and be careful with the fireworks, and have a good Fourth!

Highlights shared of CWF Trip

Here's a little more information on our CWF trip last month. We got back on Saturday June 13 from a 10 day Citizenship Washington Focus trip to New York, Philadelphia, and Washington D.C.

Thirty-three 4-Her's and four sponsors made the trip, flying out of Omaha and back. We had some unexpected adventures, which usually happen on a 10 day trip, but overall it was a fantastic time and I would highly recommend the trip to any youth who is interested, whether through 4-H or some other sponsored trip.

For more than 50 years, the National 4-H Youth Conference Center has invited 4-H members from across the country to travel to Washington, DC and participate in civic workshops, committees, and field trips before returning home to make positive changes in their own communities. CWF not only strengthens young people's understanding of the government's civic process, but it also boosts their leadership skills, communication skills, and overall confidence.

During CWF, youth get a behind-the-scenes look at the nation's capital while meeting with members of Congress to learn more about how their government works. At the end of the program, youth draft step-by-step action plans to address important issues in their communities.

Youth from Wayne County decided to do a new mural at the Wayne county fairgrounds. Thurston County decided to come up with a project to help fund-raise for the next group of 4-H members who want to go on the trip. And Dixon County youth are going to renovate the ticket booth at the Dixon Fair.

We talk a lot about citizenship and how our country's government works, and about the sacrifices that so many have made for us. The buildings are immense and the monuments are powerful reminders of the sacrifice. We saw many memorials of our past wars, 911, the Holocaust, and of leaders like Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King, and more. A highlight was a trip to George Washington's home, Mount Vernon, and Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Gettysburg was also very amazing. New York stops included Times Square, the 911 Memorial, the Empire State building, and the Statute of Liberty/Ellis Island. A fun trip to the Spy Museum in D.C. was interesting.

So contact your local Extension office if you are interested in a future trip.

This is a historic opportunity for corn farmers to potentially recover significant losses from a company that knowingly destabilized the U.S. corn market and cost American farmers $5 billion. Jon Givens from Watts Guerra, in combination with local attorney Clarence Mock from Oakland, NE, will discuss the Syngenta claims and your options at the following Town Hall Meetings. ## SEWER CLEANING NOTICE — June-July 2015

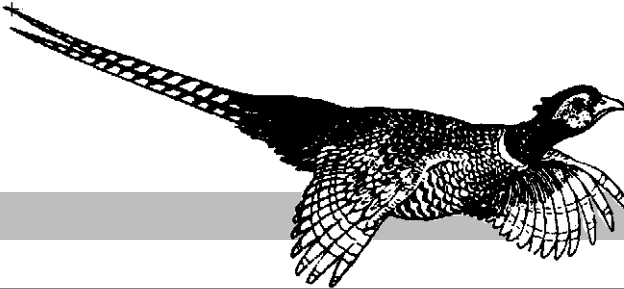

During the next two to three weeks, the City of Wayne Sewer Department will be having sewer mains cleaned in various parts of the City. The majority of the sewer cleaning will take place in the area between 1st and 2nd Street between Douglas and Sherman, Pine Heights from 8th to 10th Street, north of Claycomb Road, Providence Road going north, and the entire Sunnyview area.

In this process, high pressure water is forced through the sewer pipe to clean it. This pushes solid materials to the manholes so they can be removed by vacuuming. This entire process is necessary to keep obstructions out of the sewer system and insure proper drainage of waste.

Residents should be aware that when this process is done, the high pressure water pushes the air in the sewer line which occasionally enters the private sewer lines into homes and businesses. If this happens, it can result in the air exiting through the toilet bowl, shooting the water out of the toilet bowl. This air should exit through the sewer vent of the building, but inadequate venting or location of toilets can cause the air to exit through the toilet.

This is a rare occurrence and keeping the lid closed on the toilet during this time will keep most of the water in the bowl rather than the floor.

If you have any questions about the sewer cleaning process or the areas the sewer main cleaning will take place, you can call the Wastewater Treatment Plant at 375-5250 or City Hall at 375-1733.
Thank you — Jeff Brady, Water/Wastewater Foreman

Dismayed over library budget cuts

During the last city council meeting the library budget was discussed, and I was dismayed to learn that the library board has been asked to cut $100,000 from its proposed budget of around $310,000.

Statistics on patron use in the council information packets show use is increasing and also show that increases in staff have been modest in spite of the new roles the library plays. How can the library maintain services with a cut of over 30 percent?

The library board and the librarian have identified $60,000 in cuts and have already implemented some serious cuts that are impacting library services. Library aide hours have been reduced from around 90 per week to 40-50 per week. The hours of the assistant librarians were already reduced by the city in order to avoid paying health care benefits. Library aides are now averaging eight hours per week. Some have already left for different positions and others probably will in the future. These are people who have education, skills, experience, and training that make them valuable employees. Their job descriptions now include cleaning the library. Will we attract the same type of employee when they are offered a position that offers eight hours of work per week and includes custodial duties? Those who complain about the number of staff present need to learn more about what staff members actually do on the job before they make blanket statements about overstaffing.

Staff members no longer have time to "shelf read" the collection. This means books that are put in the wrong spot, usually by people looking at books who accidentally place them in the wrong location, will not be found and put in the proper place. These misplaced materials are not available for use. Is this a wise use of money? Staff members do not have time to repair books and CDs. This means the most widely circulated items will have shorter lives and go out of circulation while they are still in high demand. The budget for new materials will be cut and fewer items will be ordered. Is this what patrons want? Staff members need to keep up on technology to be able to work the library catalog/checkout system and to help patrons. Can we really expect this to happen when employees are working 8 hours per week? Access to technology is essential in modern society and the library is the only point of access for some people.

Are all city departments being expected to make cuts that compare with this?

If not, the city council appears to be contemplating a change in the mission of the library without considering the needs or the wishes of the community. It is time for the council to open up the discussion to the public and to listen to what we have to say. Every survey on satisfaction with city services I have seen ranks the library at the top. Wayne residents love their library and respect the professionals who run it. If you love your library as much as I do, inform yourself by reading the information provided to council members, keep track of public meetings where the library is discussed and consider attending, and make your views known to the people you elected.

Celebration a success

The Q125 celebration held in Winside on June 19-21 was a fantastic success!

There have been many reviews on Winside Q125 Facebook page, but since there are many of us "old folks" who read the newspaper and do not use social media, here is one praise in hard copy - "Good Job Guys!"

There is no doubt that there were many willing helpers doing their bit to make the celebration the success that it was. Every event from the opening ceremony and the fireworks on Friday to the church service and car and tractor shows on Sunday were well planned, organized and executed as well as attended.

There were lots of diverse events over the three days so every age group could find things that interested them.

A round of applause and kudos should also go to the Winside community members who showed their support for the community by their financial donations, personal contributions and attendance at the events.

Thanks again to the committee for five years of dedication. It truly was a weekend full of Winside Pride!

Celebrating Independence Day

Across Nebraska on Independence Day, Nebraskans will perform annual traditions as they gather to watch fireworks, grill on the back porch, march in parades, participate in community-wide festivals, and share the holiday with family and friends. While these rituals may seem commonplace, they are at the heart of who we are as Nebraskans and Americans as we celebrate the 239th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

This day is not only an opportunity to spend time with our loved ones, but it is also an opportunity to reflect on and recall the significance of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. For the members of the Continental Congress in Philadelphia in 1776, the signing of the Declaration was not a certain event. Even after it was drafted, the document was heavily debated and edited before representatives finally voted to approve the document on July 4th. The tireless work of the representatives who met in Independence Hall that summer resulted in an unprecedented articulation of the freedoms and liberties that would serve as the intellectual basis for the founding of the United States.

In the 18th century, the existence of a document that outlined the rights of citizens authored by colonial rebels was unprecedented. Today, the Declaration of Independence remains an unmatched intellectual achievement and continues to serve as a guiding light not only to Americans, but also to those who champion freedom around the globe.

Here in Nebraska, we continue to enjoy the blessing of freedom that started with the first 4th of July celebration. Since the Kansas-Nebraska Act and the pioneers who broke the prairie sod to build the first homesteads, Nebraska has been a place of great opportunity. While the Declaration of Independence served as the framework for the freedoms we enjoy today, countless men and women have defended and protected them over the last 239 years. Throughout our state's history, many Nebraskans, like Captain Dustin Lukesiewicz this year, have sacrificed everything for the cause of freedom.

To ensure that future generations enjoy the same liberties, our generation and subsequent ones must recommit to their protection.

'Tis the season: Caution, road construction ahead

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It's July. The corn is getting taller, the soybeans and other crops are thriving after a wetter than usual spring. The road construction crews are out in full force and motorists are complaining that you can't get there from here ... without delays.

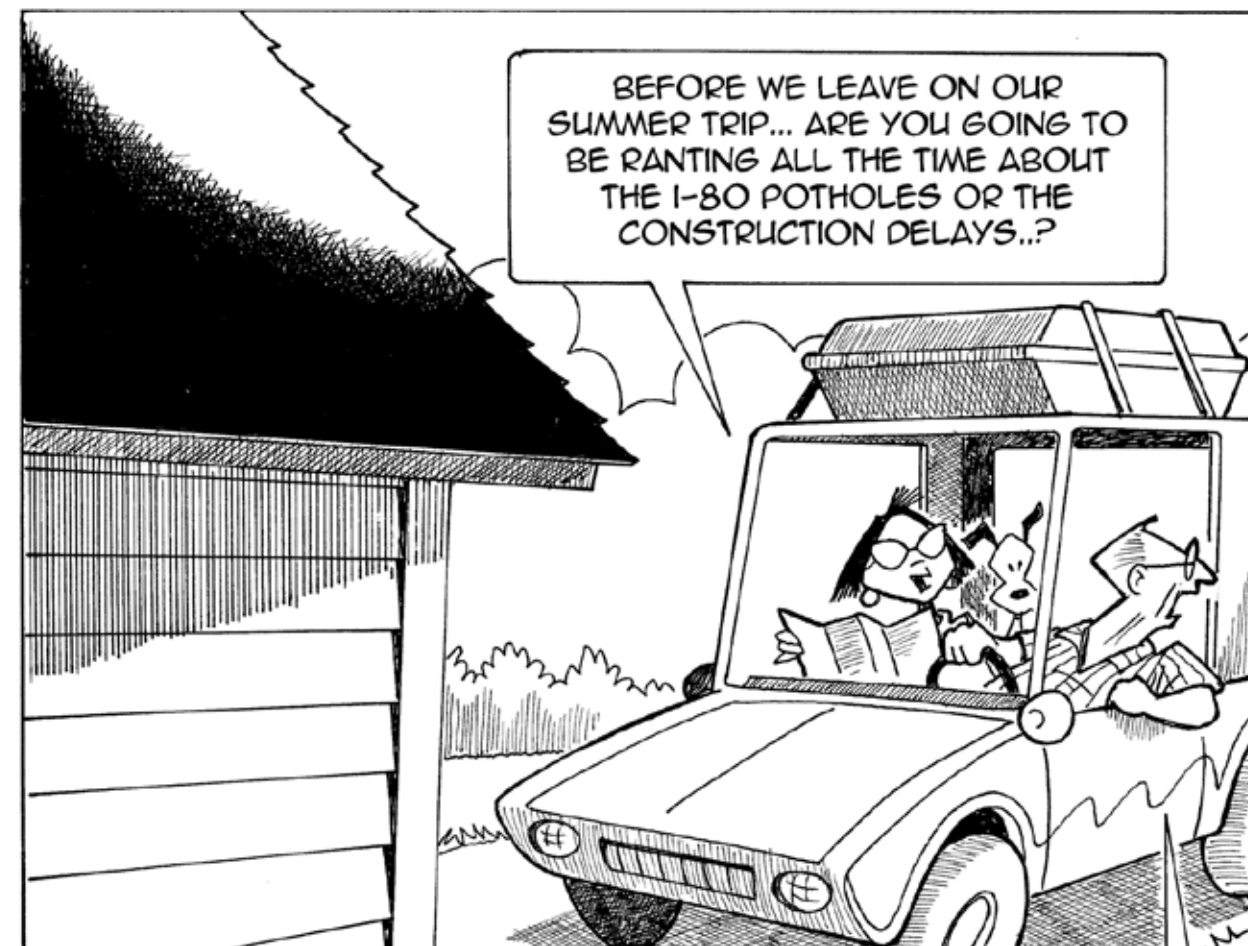

Key among the projects overseen by the Nebraska Department of Roads is 184 miles of Interstate 80. From Exit 8 at Bushnell in western Nebraska's Panhandle to Exit 453 at South 24th Street and U.S. 75 in Omaha. There are no road closures, just lane closures, but there are sure to be delays as the official speed limit drops from 75 mph to 55 mph or slower in work zones. Fines for speeding double when workers are present.

I've often wondered about the conversations going on inside the cars, especially ones with license plates from either the left or right coast. Are these folks just hell-bent on getting across Nebraska, or are they actually marveling at the scenery? Do they understand the importance of the farmers and the livestock in the fields and the grain elevators that rise like sentinels of economic prosperity in many of the towns along the path?

Is it still about the journey? Or just the destination?

For a young Army lieutenant colonel named Eisenhower, a trek across the United States in 1919 from Washington, DC, to San Francisco with a convoy of 81 Army vehicles, was about the journey. Coupled with his World War II experience years later in Germany — where he noted the Nazis moving with ease across the "broader ribbons" of highways — Eisenhower began to understand transportation.

In 1956, as President of the United States, Dwight Eisenhower cited the 1919 convoy and his World War II experiences to persuade Congress to enact the Federal-Aid Highway Act, creating what is now known as the interstate highway system, which is nearly 60 years old. That original convoy, which followed the path of the Lincoln Highway, averaged 6 mph, or 58 miles a day, and took 62 days to make it to San Francisco. Think about that the next time you see the orange cones and have to slow down to 55 mph or slower.

The interstate system now comprises nearly 50,000 miles. The completion of the system, at a cost of $129 billion, was a cooperative federal-state effort with each state managing its own program for location, design and construction to federal standards of lane width, bridge width and shoulder width. Something that big and that old is going to need maintenance due to the heavy usage by vehicles traveling 80 mph. So construction is to be expected.

As a college student in the 1960s, I remember elation at the opening of every new stretch of I-80 that would make our trips from Scottsbluff to Lincoln and back again go a lot faster and safer. I knew a lot of guys who worked summer construction jobs on that project to pay for college. I am as guilty as the next person in taking that highway system for granted today. And yes, I have grumbled about the construction.

But, it was a flat tire about 18 months ago that changed my perspective on a lot of things. Somewhere along I-80 just west of York, my left rear tire went flat. I nudged the car over as far on the shoulder as I could because I knew that changing the tire would be perilous.

And so it was - as I squatted there alongside the broad ribbon of Interstate cranking a scissors jack to lift the car and free a flat tire — that I realized why courtesy and safety dictate slowing down in construction zones.

There were no flashing message boards or orange and white cones or barricades to protect me. I didn't have one of those fluorescent reflective vests and I didn't have a hard hat. No one stopped to help, nobody even slowed down. Lesson learned.

So, grumble if you will as you glide along in your air-conditioned vehicle listening to music and day-dreaming of your destination.

But please slow down and pay attention in the construction zones. It's the price we pay for the good roads we enjoy. 'Tis the season.

Legislative Update

Supreme Court rulings questionable

While I make no pretense of being a legal scholar or of ever having studied "the law", I do have my opinions and an opportunity to share them. I believe we have witnessed this week, judicial activism at the highest level. In two rulings handed out by the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS), the courts have pretty much said that they no longer respect the letter of the law nor the rights of the separate states.

In the first ruling, SCOTUS ruled in favor of a key provision of the Affordable Care Act (ACA) affirming nationwide subsidies for poor and middle class Americans.

In the 6-3 ruling the court was asked to interpret the portion of the law that said that tax credits are authorized for those who buy insurance on marketplaces that are "established by the state." The questions came because most states, like Nebraska, did not create their own exchanges rather they participated in exchanges established by the federal government.

As of March, about 6.4 million people across the country are reported to have been receiving subsidies to assist in covering the costs of their health care in 34 states, which had not established their own marketplaces. Had the court ruled the other way those individuals would have lost their subsidies worth roughly $1.7 billion a month.

The fact remains that the ACA is a broken and costly program that needs to be fixed. While I am all for

State Senator, District 17

AFFORDABLE healthcare for all — this program is anything but that.

The second ruling came Friday, and SCOTUS ruled that state same-sex marriage bans are unconstitutional. Governor Ricketts has already said on his Facebook page that, "While 70 percent of Nebraskans approved our amendment to our state constitution that defined marriage as only between a man and a woman, the highest court in the land has ruled states cannot place limits on marriage between same-sex couples. We will follow the law and respect the ruling outlined by the court."

As I write this, marriage licenses are already being issued to same-sex couples in Lancaster and Douglas Counties. While I disagree with this ruling, I will respect it, it is now the law of the land but it I fear that this decision has only opened the door to even more questions and concerns. It is my firm belief that SCOTUS waded into uncharted territories that it often avoids, by taking the definition of marriage away from the states.

I think Justice Scalia said it best, in reference to these two cases, he said the cases "will publish forever the discouraging truth that the Supreme Court of the United States favors some laws over others, and is prepared to do whatever it takes to uphold and assist its favorites." I, like Justice Scalia find this to be unacceptable! I fear these rulings will haunt our nation for decades to come. Much like the case of Roe vs. Wade with abortion, we are destined to learn again that just because a thing is legal it does not mean that it is right.
