Hoskins man enters plea in vandalism

No contest entered, sentencing is Oct. 26

A Hoskins man who was caught on surveillance video vandalizing a cemetery southwest of town had pleaded no contest.

Micahel Svatos, 32, entered the plea in Wayne County District Court on Wednesday, Sept. 19, pleading no contest to felony charges of criminal mischief and reckless damage of property.

Damage at Trinity Cemetery near Hoskins had been ongoing for several weeks, and cemetery caretakers installed surveillance cameras in an effort to catch those doing the violence. In early June, vandals returned to the cemetery and Svatos was identified knocking over headstones, causing more than $12,000 damage in the process. He was arrested on a Wayne County warrant in Cedar County on June 17.

Svatos

Judge Mark Johnson set Svatos' sentencing for Monday, Oct. 26, and ordered a presentence investigation and a restitution hearing. Svatos faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, along with possible restitution to the cemetery.

Pink Flamingo Nite to help raise cancer awareness

What started as a way to "do something special" for the annual Guest Night, hosted by the WELCA of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne, has evolved into Pink Flamingo Nite.

The event, which will be held Thursday, Oct. 15 from 6-9:30 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church, located at Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne, is designed to be a night out for women, as well as an opportunity to raise awareness of breast cancer.

The evening will begin with supper from 6-7:15 p.m. and will be followed by music from the Front Porch Pickers, a cash wine bar, awareness information provided by Providence Medical Center, a style show by Swans Apparel and door prizes.

The featured speaker for the event will be Paula Pflueger of Norfolk, a breast cancer survivor.

"We wanted to do something to help create awareness of breast cancer and that has blossomed into this event, which is not only for women of our church, but for all women of the community and surrounding areas," said Diane Ehrhardt, a member of the organizing committee.

"The pink flamingo theme came from North Dakota. Dulce Frank, the wife of Providence Medical Center CEO Jim Frank, brought the idea to us and suggested we use it here in Wayne," said Sandy Bartling, Providence Foundation Director, who is also a member of the organizing committee.

Reservations are required for the event and tickets go on sale Sept. 1. They will be available at Swans Apparel, the Wayne banks and from the church office.

Sponsors of Pink Flamingo Nite are Providence Medical Center, Our Savior Lutheran Church/WELCA and Pac 'N' Save.

For more information or to reserve a ticket, contact the church at (402) 375-2899.

Northeast Community College designated as an industry certification testing center

Students at Northeast Community College now have an opportunity to gain industry certification that will allow them to stand out among prospective employers.

Northeast has been designated as a Manufacturing Skill Standards Council (MSSC) assessment center. As an authorized testing location, Northeast will administer MSSC exams that measure core competencies, said Shanelle Grudzinski, associate dean of applied technology at the college.

"This certification is a benefit to our students and for employers in Northeast's 20 county service area. It will allow our students to have an advantage in their endeavors to secure some of the top jobs in the region while it gives reassurance to employers that they are hiring individuals who possess knowledge based on industry standards."

MSSC is a national training, assessment and certification system of the primary skills and knowledge needed by frontline production and material handling workers. The MSSC system is based upon industry-defined and federally-endorsed national standards.

According to MSSC, the purpose of the Certified Production Technician (CPT) program is to recognize individuals who demonstrate mastery of the core competencies of manufacturing production at the front-line (entry-level through front-line supervisor) through successful completion of the certification assessments. The goal of the CPT certification program is to raise the level of performance of production workers both to assist the individuals in finding higher-wage jobs and to help employers ensure their workforce increases the company's productivity and competitiveness.

Grudzinski said Northeast will provide four exams in safety, quality practices and measurement, manufacturing processes and production, and maintenance awareness. Individuals may sign up for one or any combination of the four. Upon successfully completing an exam, individuals will be rewarded with a certificate.

Those who pass all four exams within two years will earn full CPT certification. The CPT is accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI). Completion of CPT program modules is not necessary to register for an exam.

Laurel man gets home confinement for sentence

A Laurel man was sentenced to six months of home confinement after a U.S. District judge determined he had under-reported his federal income taxes.

Robert Morris, 68, received one day in custody, 100 hours of community service and was fined $40,000 in addition to six months of home confinement by Judge John Gerrard. He avoided prison time because of his poor health, Gerrard said.

According to prosecutors, Morris failed to report more than $1 million in income between 2007 and 2012, resulting in the nonpayment of almost $202,000 in federal income taxes.

From The Bleachers

Michael Carnes

More picks from the crystal ball

Continuing the theme from last week, here are some more visions from The Bleacher Bum's slightly-chipped crystal ball:

NSIC Volleyball – Oh sure, Concordia-St. Paul's seven-year national title run ended and Southwest Minnesota earned national runner-up honors. All that and 50 cents will get you a cup of coffee as far as the NSIC coaches are concerned, as they've made the Golden Bears the team to beat for the 12th consecutive year.

As has become tradition, the NSIC will be the unquestioned premiere conference in NCAA Div. II as far as volleyball is concerned, and look for all the key players to be back at the top again in 2015 – Concordia, Duluth, Southwest and, of course, our own Wayne State team.

While each of the other teams in the top four are filling holes left behind by graduation, Scott Kneif has a unique situation in the fact that NONE of his players on last year's team were seniors. With pretty much everybody back AND a quality recruiting class, it's hard to imagine Wayne State being picked to finish fourth by the conference coaches poll.

My picks are as follows:

1. Concordia-St. Paul (1), 2. Wayne State (4), 3. Southwest Minnesota (2), 4. Duluth (3), 5. Augustana (6), 6. Northern (5), 7. Winona (7), 8. Sioux Falls (9), 9. MSU Moorhead (10), 10. Minnesota State (8), 11. Upper Iowa (12), 12. Crookston (11), 13. Minot State (13), 14. St. Cloud State (15), 15. Bemidji (14), 16. Mary (16).

Wayne State soccer – To say times have been difficult for the Wayne State soccer program would be like saying water is kind of damp.

During my time here, the Wildcats soccer team has had one winning season and an overall winning percentage of 39.2 (25-73-12). This year's seniors have been part of a team that has won less than 20 percent of their games (8-42-4, .185 winning percentage) – and they would like to change that.

Change has been a word the senior soccer players have become accustomed to, as they're playing for their third coach in four years. And yet, in talking with some of the returning starters from last year's 3-14-1 team, they're excited about the thought of going from conference doormat to contender for a spot in the NSIC tournament.

Of course, when your new coach is a guy who had a lot of success leading Div. I Creighton to the NCAA tournament and won several Missouri Valley titles, there's reason for having a good feeling about the nature of things.

Bruce Erickson was hired this summer to take over after the abrupt early-summer resignation of Tom Cliff, and with his resume and his way of developing talent, there's every reason to believe Wayne State won't be the low team on the soccer totem pole at season's end.

Is the conference tournament a reach? Sure it is – but what's the point of dreaming if you don't dream big? Here's hoping they can make the top eight in the NSIC this year.

Area volleyball – If we were to merge the five area schools into one team, we'd have a pretty formidable volleyball squad that we could throw at some of the perennial powers in the area this year.

Individually, I don't see a "wow" team in our area yet, but the area has a chance to see some teams improve and maybe contend for a trip to state this November.

Wayne High lost a few key hitters from last year's district runner-up team, but have a pretty good nucleus coming back. Seniors Peyton Roach and Tarah Stegemann should be players to watch this year for coach Traci Krusemark's team, and it will be interesting to see how much Kylie Hammer has improved after a breakout freshman year in 2014. I like Wayne's chances of win-

See CRYSTAL BALL, Page 2B

Wildcats look for more than respect

When the bulk of an offense that averaged more than 30 points a game the previous year returns, one would think that team would get a little more respect in the preseason polls.

Wayne State football coach Dan McLaughlin said he's a lot more optimistic about his team's chances for success in 2015 than his cohorts in the Northern Sun Conference, as the conference coaches picked the Wildcats to finish 13th out of 16 teams this season.

How much better than 13th are the Wildcats? McLaughlin isn't sure yet, but his team's goal is to finish a lot higher.

"I feel better about us than everybody else does," he said during Tuesday's Media Day at Memorial Stadium. "I know that (13th) isn't very good, but we feel we're better than that. Where, we don't know exactly."

McLaughlin knows, however, that his team is shooting for the same spot everybody else in the conference wants to finish.

"Somebody asked me what our goals were and I said that back when I was coaching high school football, our goal was to win the state championship," he said. "If you're goals aren't the highest, then you're not in the right business. Our goal is to win the conference championship, and if you do that then you have a chance to win the national championship."

McLaughlin

The Wildcats certainly have potential on the offensive end this season. Junior quarterback Zach Osborn begins his third season under center and has the entire offensive line back from last year's team that averaged 31 points a game in 2014.

"As far as the offense goes, I've never been more confident in a group," Osborn said. "There's a great chemistry with our offensive line, and they give me all the time in the world to sit back there and make decisions."

under center.

Osborn has some familiar faces in the backfield, including Ryan Ludlow, Lane Yates and Alex Kline, all of whom saw action last year and ran the ball well. However, there are some new faces, particularly at receiver, where all of last year's starters graduated; and at fullback, with freshman Houston Huss appearing to be the lead candidate there.

"There have been some growing pains, but the guys are working hard and we worked out together a lot this summer," Osborn said. "Marcel Dunson is going to have a huge year. He is a big body to throw to, and we have some young guys who are surprising, so we'll have a good bunch."

After opening stumble, softballers roll to title

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

After leaving 10 runners on base and showing some first-game jitters on Thursday, the Wayne High softball team thought Saturday might be a good time to show doubters what they're really got.

The Blue Devils exploded for 40 runs in 13 innings of work, played nearly flawless defense, and dominated the six-team field in the Wayne Invitational softball tournament on Saturday, capping a dominating day with a 16-0 steamrolling of Tekamah-Herman in the championship game.

Wayne only trailed for two innings the entire day, the result of a dropped third strike in the first inning of a 14-1 crushing of Twin River that was easily overcome by a 12-run third inning that saw Wayne send 16 batters to the plate.

"You couldn't ask for anything more," coach Rob Sweetland said of Saturday's performance. "They made the plays in the field and just hit the cover off the ball today. I think these girls were on a mission after the tough loss Thursday, and sometimes a loss like that refocuses you and see how a team like Blair plays defensively, and you saw some of that today. It was good to see that part of the game come together."

Wayne got all they would need for the championship win in the top of the first, jumping on the Tigers for five runs. Schaefer's two-run triple and RBI hits by Maly and Keller highlighted the big inning.

"Sometimes it feels like we have to pull back the reins a little bit because they want it so bad," Sweetland said of the middle part of his lineup. "But they're there because they can drive in runs and come up with the big hits, and they did a good job of that today."

Wayne got four more in the fourth on an RBI double by Kennedy Maly, an RBI single by Danica Schaefer and sacrifices by Kortney Keller and Jamie Gamble, then rattled off seven more runs in the fifth to finish the job, thanks to RBI singles by

Everybody back for loaded WSC volleyball squad

If the 2015 version of the Wayne State volleyball has you experiencing a little deja vu, don't be alarmed.

The Wildcats return all seven starters from last year's 27-7 team that finished the year ranked sixth in the country, and coach Scott Kneif is very excited about where this year's team might wind up at season's end.

"We feel really good about this team. We really do," he said during the team's Media Day on Tuesday in Rice Auditorium. "They're a great group and are great people, and the returning starters all stayed in town and worked out this summer because they have very high expectations, so we're really excited."

There were no seniors on last year's team, so the core of last year's regional semifinalist team is back and looking to get Wayne State over a very big hump, both in the NSIC and in the Central Region.

If the preseason polls are any indication, the Central Region will once again be tough as nails. Five of the top six teams in the AVCA preseason poll hail from the Central Region, and four of those five are NSIC schools. Wayne State starts the season with its highest preseason ranking at No. 6.

"That's the highest we've ever had," Kneif said. "Southwest (Minnesota) making it to the finals last year proves that anybody can do it, and we played with Southwest last year, so we feel like we can play with anybody."

The Wildcats will be led by a senior foursome – Katie Hughes, Liz Gebhardt, Leisa McClintock and Courtney VanGronigen – that works well together and helps foster a very tight team chemistry within the program.

"We have great team chemistry, but we have a lot of hard-working girls who want to go far and do well," Hughes said. "One of the best things about our team is that we have a group of younger girls who allow us to lead, and the four of us can bounce ideas off one another and help get things taken care of."

"Last year, we had a lot of team chemistry, and that's going to carry over to this year," McClintock added. "But we get along off the court as well."

VanGronigen said the team did a lot of work together in the offseason to help prepare them for an always-tough NSIC schedule.

"We lifted and conditioned together a lot this summer and came in and got some reps playing 6-on-6 or 3-on-3, so I feel good about this team's chances," she added.

One thing Kneif made clear to the returning players, though, was that their job wasn't safe coming into the preseason. With a talented group of younger players and a solid group of freshman recruits, the competition for the seven starting jobs has been, to say the least, entertaining.

"We don't have a set lineup right now, even though we have all those returning from last year," Kneif said. "Everybody has to earn their spot and we have a lot of players who are pushing for time and they're all competing for jobs right now."

With Mariah Halvorsen back after redshirting with a torn ACL, and younger recruits like Maria Wortman and Payton Ruhl pressing the veterans, Kneif said the quality of play in the gym during the preseason will help get this team ready for a very tough schedule this fall.

"It's important that we get off to a good start and that we go out and compete hard and get better," he

Wayne State opens the season at home in Rice Auditorium on Nov. 13 and 14, where the Wildcats are 86-7 over the last six years under Coach Kielsmeier. Wayne State and Northern State from the NSIC will face Lindenwood from the MIAA and William Jewell College from the Great Lakes Valley Conference as part of the season opening NSIC/MIAA/GLVC Crossover.

Other non-conference games for the Wildcats in November include road games at Rockhurst in Kansas City Nov. 18 and Nebraska-Kearney Nov. 28, along with a home game vs. York College Nov. 19. The Wildcats begin Northern Sun Conference play at home on Monday, Nov. 23 against travel partner Augustana to conclude a six-game stretch in November.

Wayne State has five games in December, starting with home NSIC games vs. Concordia-St. Paul and Minnesota State (Dec. 4-5). The Wildcats conclude the first semester schedule with a road trip to Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State Dec. 11-12, and a visit to Augustana on Saturday, Dec. 19.

A busy January starts with NSIC battles vs. Southwest Minnesota State and Sioux Falls on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 2-3. The following weekend finds Wayne State traveling to Minnesota State and Concordia-St. Paul, with the Wildcats back home to face Minnesota Duluth and St. Cloud State Jan. 15-16.

Wayne State will close out the January schedule with a league road trip to Upper Iowa and Winona State Jan. 22-23, followed by home contests vs. Minot State and the University of Mary to end the month on Jan. 30-31.

Wayne State opens February with games at MSU Moorhead and Northern State Feb. 5-6, followed by games at Sioux Falls and Southwest Minnesota State Feb. 12-13. The Wildcats close out the regular season at home on Feb. 19-20 with Winona State and Upper Iowa.

The opening round of the NSIC Tournament will be played on Wednesday, Feb. 24 with the remaining rounds play at the Sanford Pentagon in Sioux Falls, February 28-March 1.

The NCAA Central Regional is scheduled March 11, 12 and 14 at the site of the highest seed, with the 2016 NCAA Elite Eight to be held March 22, 23 and 25 in Sioux Falls.

Kiara Hochstein, Schaefer, Keller, Jenna Trenhaile, Ashton Gibson and Sidney Biggerstaff.

Schaefer had three hits and four RBI and Keller added two hits and four RBI to lead the Blue Devils' 15-hit attack. Trenhaile had three hits, Maly added two hits and Hochstein, Maysn Dorey and Schaefer each scored three times. Hannah Belt threw her second one-hitter of the day, striking out seven and walking none. Only two Tigers reached base, the second after a throwing error.

Twin River scored its lone run in the bottom of the first with the help of a dropped third strike. They maintained that lead until Wayne unleashed a full-on assault of the Titans' pitching in a 12-run third inning that saw Wayne make almost two full trips through its batting lineup.

The first 14 batters reached base safely for the Blue Devils in the third, highlighted by a bases-clearing triple by Schaefer and an RBI double by Gamble. Annie Kniesche and Hochstein also had RBI doubles and Belt and Schaefer added RBI singles to highlight the big inning.

Wayne added two more in the fourth to end the game on the 10-run rule, highlighted by an error and a bases-loaded walk that led to runs for Wayne.

Schaefer had two hits and five RBI and Maly and Kniesche each had two hits to lead a 10-hit attack for the Blue Devils.

After a slow start, Belt settled in and fired a one-hit shutout, striking out five and walking two.

"She gets off to a slow start sometimes, but once she gets humming, she's pretty tough," Sweetland said. "She had good defense behind her today and everybody played well."

Wayne opened the tournament with a 10-0 win over Pierce.

Wayne got four runs in the first inning, thanks to two errors, a sacrifice fly by Keller and a single by Gamble. They sandwiched another run in between another four-run effort in the third, highlighted by Maly's two-run double to left, before putting the game on ice with a run in the fourth to end it on the 10-run rule.

Gibson tossed a two-hit shutout in the opener, striking out nine and walking two batters. Gamble led the seven-hit effort with three hits, while Maly had two hits and three RBIs.

Regular season action

after taking an early 2-0 lead.

The Blue Devils got on the board in the first when Dorey, courtesy running for Belt after her leadoff single, scored on a Maly double to center. Maly then came home on a single by Keller to give Wayne the early advantage.

Wayne had a chance to extend their lead in the third inning, loading the bases with nobody out after Belt was hit by a pitch and Maly and Schaefer singled. A strikeout was followed by an inning-ending double play when Dorey was thrown out at home trying to score after a fly ball to center field.

That turned the momentum in favor of the home team, as Class B No. 4 Blair took advantage of two Wayne errors to score a pair of unearned runs, then got a two-run double in the fourth for the margin of victory.

Maly and Schaefer both went 2-for-3 and Gibson doubled to highlight an eight-hit effort for the Blue Devils. Belt took the loss, striking out four and walking three while allowing five hits.

The Blue Devils continued their winning ways coming off the tournament win, spanking O'Neill in a 14-0 decision on the road Tuesday.

Wayne took advantage of six Eagle errors in the final three innings to score 13 of their 14 runs. Hochstein had a 4-for-4 outing with a double to lead the Wayne offensive attack, while Keller added three hits and Belt, Schaefer and Trenhaile each had two.

Belt threw her third straight one-hit effort in the circle, striking out six and walking two.

Wayne plays in the Lincoln Public Schools Classic on Saturday, facing Class A schools Lincoln Pius and Grand Island and Class B foe Omaha Gross, and is at Clarkson-Leigh on Tuesday.

ning 20 matches and being in the hunt for a trip to Lincoln this November.

Another team that looks pretty good on paper right now is Laurel-Concord-Coleridge. The Lady Bears have a lot of returning talent with five starters back, including 6-foot-1 middle blocker Katie Leapley, easily the most imposing figure at the net among the five area teams. Coach Patti Cunningham has a good group of kids returning and plays a challenging schedule, so it will be interesting to see how far LCC goes.

Wakefield doesn't have a lot of size this year, graduating its two taller players from last year's team. They have a lot of quickness to work with among their returning starters, including junior setter Savannah Nelson and senior hitter Josephine Peitz, and they have a chance to match the 22 wins they recorded last season.

Like Wakefield, Winside lacks in the height department, but have some good skilled players back from what was a very young team in 2014. Seniors Ellie Jaeger and Kelly Tweedy lead a group of four returning starters, and Winside should be a tough team.

Allen has some good senior talent this year that should make the Lady Eagles competitive this season. Lexi Oswald transitions from libero to setter this year and has been an outstanding leader for the team, and Gabby Sullivan's leaping ability will make her a player to watch at the net this season. Allen has four starters back and should improve on last year's 12-19 record.

Area cross country - Last week, we called our first state title shot with the Wayne girls softball team, but there's another team in blue-and-white who could carry a trophy home this fall - repeating a feat they achieved last year.

The Wayne High girls have three medalists and claimed the Class C runner-up trophy last October in Kearney, and with most of that team back from last year, it's not much of a stretch to think this year's team could bring the big one home in 2015.

Two of the three medalists - Marcella Jurotich and Marta Pulfer - return. Mandy Stabler ran very well this summer, and with those three leading the way, there is reason to believe the Blue Devils could be the team to beat in Class C this fall.

Molly Hoskins and Caitlin Janke are also back from last year's second-place team, and some younger runners liked Hannah Leonard and Gabi Meyer could give Wayne some added depth this season.

On the boys' side, Wayne will be a lot better this year with some strong runners returning, led by senior Cole Leonard, juniors Nolan Reynolds and Will Anderson, and sophomore Jack Evetovich. The boys aren't quite as deep as the girls in terms of talent, but should be a better team and could sneak in out of a tough district.

The other two area cross country teams - LCC and Winside - will run with only boys varsity teams this year. LCC lost four-time state medalist Sadie Petersen to graduation, leaving freshman Kayli Naeve as the lone Lady Bear in the LCC den.

As far as the LCC boys team is concerned, Aaron Haahr has been a two-time state medalist and will be looking for a third this October, and fellow seniors Ethan Gubbels and Jordan Janssen will make the Bears a competitive team.

Winside has only one starter back from last year, but two who ran in 2013 have returned. The trio of senior Taylor Anson, junior Sean Mann and sophomore Josh Gruenke will lead a young team.

Softball and golf are already underway, football gets started Friday and everybody else hits the bricks next week. Good luck to all the area teams, coaches and athletes.

Wayne State Coaches Show
 Exclusively on mywaynenews.com

Interviews with Wildcat coaches recorded live Mondays at 6 p.m. at The Max Available online every Tuesday mywaynenews.com's Michael Carnes sits down each week to talk to Wayne State coaches about their teams' efforts throughout the 2015-16 season. We'll recap the previous week's games and talk about upcoming opponents.

Coaching change doesn't alter outlook for Wildcat soccer

For the second time in three years, the Wayne State soccer team was facing a late-summer coaching change.

Following the sudden summer resignation of Tom Cliff, new coach Bruce Erickson is stepping into a situation that, he believes, has the potential to be a successful one for the Wildcat soccer team in 2015.

Coming off last year's 3-14-1 record (2-13 NSIC), the Wildcats return a handful of starters and have a dozen new players on the roster this year.

Erickson got the job in late July, stepping down from his old job at Div. I Creighton, where he won several conference titles and took the Bluejays to the NCAA tournament. While it was a short window to work with, he feels the program is ready to roll.

"There's always an ideal time to prepare, but having done this a couple times before I think I can build on that experience and recognize where the urgency is in some areas," he said of the quick turnaround. "It's not so much in managing a team but in the recruiting part of it. We jumped in with two feet with recruiting and got on the road right away, and that was challenging because we hadn't seen the team yet, so it was kind of blind recruiting while looking for good players who are high-character kids."

The Wildcats have several quality returning players, led by senior starters Josei Brown and Natalie Pope, who've had the unenviable task of preparing for their senior season by playing for their third coach in four years.

"It's been an interesting summer," Brown said. "Any time you change a coaching staff it's always an interesting process, but this is one of the smoothest transitions we've had. Having gone through this before, it's been easy for us in that sense, and the athletic department was really good at working with us, so it's been a smooth transition."

"It's been a rollercoaster ride, but it's been really good for our team because it brings us together as a team," Pope added. "We had to work with the freshmen and establish those relationships on the field and off the field before the new coach got here, and we love where we're at with the new coach."

Pope and Brown are among seven returning players with starting experience from last year. Also back are seniors midfielder Hannah Thayer and goalkeeper Kara Noesen, along with juniors Valerie Hernandez, Kelsey Engstrom and starting goalie Kylie Comba.

The Wildcats also have returning juniors in Amy Oates and Dana Ormiston, as well as sophomores Suenly Galvez and redshirt freshman Bryana Garcia.

"Our returning players have been leaders on the field for us, and they've taken a leadership role and have been players we can lean on in training, and they've helped the younger players along," Erickson said. "We have 12 new players and three sophomores, so 15 of our 24 players are still very young, but they've been hard working and I like this group."

Erickson said he is trying to make some minor changes here and there, but one major change is the team's goal to go from conference doormat, where they finished 14th in the conference last year and were picked to finish 15th this year, to finishing in the top half of the 16-team league and make the conference postseason tournament.

"We set a high goal, considering how things have gone the past few years, and we want to see if we can get there," he said. "Right now, though, the goal is to take it one game at a time and try to be better today than we were yesterday."

Two transfers and 10 freshmen are among the newcomers this year. Transfers include Jennifer Zick and Hayley Hunter, while incoming freshmen include Alix Stanley, Karlee Hall, Alexis Strothers, Lexi Rosa, Nicole Chubb, Abaigeal Sugrue, Christina Stasi, Brooke Buzzell, Natalie Rech and Carys Hund.

The Wildcats will play 11 of their 18 games at home this season, starting with their season opener on Thursday, Sept. 3 against Northwest Missouri State. They open NSIC play at home on Sunday, Sept. 13 against Augustana.

Lady Eagles return four starters from last season

The Allen volleyball team has four starters back from a team that went 12-19 and showed a good deal of improvement as the season went along.

That's cause for optimism for coach Cheryl Greve, who is excited to see this team's continued development in 2015.

"We've got four returning starters who are very good players and good leaders for us," she said.

Three of the four returning starters are seniors, led by Lexi Oswald, who moves from libero to the setter position and will provide some strong leadership for the Lady Eagles.

Also back are senior middle hitters Gabby Sullivan and Kay Stapleton. Sullivan is a strong jumper with a good reach who gets to a lot of attacks at the net, and Stapleton is a tenacious player who plays a consistent game for the Allen team.

Also back from last year is sophomore outside hitter Bri Hingst, who showed some promise as a freshman last year and is very quick, athletic talent who will give Allen another good attacker at the net.

Newcomers to watch this year for the Lady Eagles are Cassie Thomas, a right side hitter, and Hayley Stapleton, an outside hitter.

The Lady Eagles play in the Northeast Nebraska Classic at Wisner-Pilger to open the 2015 season. Their first home match is Tuesday, Sept. 8 against Wynot.

Respect

The Wildcat defense is seeing some changes under new coordinator Scott McLaughlin, but look to continue their usual 4-3 set with some new faces.

Among the returning starters is senior defensive lineman Shawn Barker. He's one of four starters back on what will be a young defense this season.

"We're heading down the right track," Barker said. "There haven't been too many adjustments because the new defensive coordinator is running a lot of what we've already had, but I feel like we'll be ready. We're going up against a very good offense every day in practice, and with the returners we have in other positions, I think we'll be ready."

Barker is the lone starter back on the front line of the Wildcat defense, and Nate Kroupa is the lone starter back among the linebacking corps. In the secondary, Jon Davis was the team's third leading tackler last season and is joined by Tyri Bethea.

"We've got two guys on the interior that we have back and we like what we're seeing there, but we're kind of staring over in some areas so there's a lot of unknowns," McLaughlin said. "We think we've got good players there, and we're going to find out about them really fast."

The Wildcats open an always-challenging schedule at home on Friday, Sept. 5 against Minnesota Crookston, and the team has a lot of high expectations for themselves this year.

"Going into each season, you expect to be undefeated," Osborn said. "Coming from Harlan (Iowa) where I played, that was the expectation and you expect greatness out of these guys. They're a great group of guys and we feel like we can fight through the adversity this season."

WHS runners gunning for title

After a state runner-up finish last year, the Wayne High girls cross country team is looking to take the final step up the Class C ladder in 2015.

Two medalists are among the five returning starters back from a team that finished second at the state cross country meet, and coach Rocky Ruhl is excited about the team's chances.

"We've got five of the six back who ran at state last year, and the girls have goals of winning districts for the third straight year and battling for a state title," he said.

Two of the top 10 runners in Class C last year wore the Wayne High uniform, and junior Marta Pulfer (10th) and sophomore Marcella Jurotch (fifth) will once again lead the Blue Devil ladies into action.

Also back from last year's state run are senior Mandy Stabler, junior Caitlin Janke and sophomore Molly Hoskins. With all of that experience returning, it leaves little room for error among the other girls hoping to make the varsity lineup this season.

Returning junior letterwinners Marissa Munsell and Jennifer Espino will be in line for the sixth spot in the lineup, and they are being pushed by some good younger runners, including sophomore Andrea Torres and freshmen Sara Greenwald, Gabi Meyer, Hannah Leonard and Maura Loberg.

On the boys' side, Ruhl thinks the team will be improved this year with a lot of returning starters back from last year.

"We've got four starters back from last year and six letterwinners, so the boys will be looking to improve on last year's performance," he said.

Cole Leonard is the lone senior on the boys roster and will be the team leader, and he will be joined by fellow returning starters Nolan Reynolds and Will Anderson, both juniors; and sophomore Jack Evtovich.

Also back and looking to make the varsity roster is senior Mason Reynolds, junior Garret Reynolds and sophomore Dawson French. Newcomers Jonathon Vick, a sophomore; and freshman Brandon Wacker will also compete.

The Blue Devils open the 2015 season on Thursday, Sept. 3 at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational in Beemer. They host their own invitational on Tuesday, Sept. 15 at the Wayne Country Club.

Wayne volleyball has an optimistic outlook

New faces in new places will be the theme for the Wayne High volleyball team this fall, but coach Traci Krusemark is optimistic about the team's chances for success in 2015.

"Our team will have a lot of new faces on the court this year," she said. "The girls have been working hard all summer trying to take over one of the many starting positions that are open. I look forward to and appreciate the work ethic from this group."

Three starters are back from last year's 22-11 team that finished as district runner-up, led by seniors Peyton Roach and Tarah Stegemann. Stegemann is one of two returning outside hitters, and Roach will be the team's libero this season and will be an anchor to the Wayne High defense.

Also back from last year is Kylie Hammer, who had a very good freshman campaign at the outside hitter position and should be an improved attacker this season, giving Wayne a good 1-2 punch at the net.

Lindy Sandoz is the other returning letterwinner from last year's team, and she should see action as a setter and a right side hitter for Krusemark's team this fall.

The Blue Devils should be a contender for top honors in the Mid State Conference this year, along with Pierce, Crofton and Guardian Angels Central Catholic. A tough subdistrict with Norfolk Catholic, Pierce and Boone Central/Newman Grove looms on the horizon in November, but the winner of that subdistrict should have a good opportunity to make it to the state tournament in Lincoln.

The Blue Devils kick off the 2015 season next Thursday and Saturday in the Northeast Nebraska Classic at Wisner-Pilger High School.

New coach for LCC XC

New faces join some seasoned veterans on the 2015 Laurel-Concord-Coleridge cross country team.

Among the new faces is the head coach, Susan Brandow, who picks up a team that has three returning starters back from last year.

"Aaron Haahr was our state qualifier last year, and we expect great leadership from him as well as Ethan Gubbels and Jordan Jensen," she said. "We're a small team, but I'm completely confident that we'll run well."

The senior trio leads a five-man boys team this year that includes sophomore Logan Hansen and freshman Ryan Bathke. The LCC runners will also have one girl representing the team in girls' competition, as freshman Kayli Naeve is part of the team this season.

LCC opens the season Thursday, Sept. 3 at the Wisner-Pilger Invite.

Country Club runners-up

Alex Salmon (left) and Molly Schroeder were the runners-up in the men's and women's championship flights at the recent Wayne Country Club club tournament.

WSC cross country teams gear up for season

Wayne State's cross country teams are getting ready to kick off the 2015 campaign, and it will be a tale of two teams this season as far as numbers go.

Brink

The men's team returns all but one runner from a team that finished 10th in the conference and 19th in the Central Region, while the women's team is thin in numbers and will need to stay healthy to improve on last year's 15th place effort in the NSIC.

The eight-member men's team is led by seniors Justin Brueggemann and Nick Fly, who were Wayne State's top runners at all seven meets last season.

"Justin and Nick are both experienced competitors who understand what it takes to compete in the Northern Sun Conference," coach Marlon Brink said of his returning seniors.

Returning juniors include Joey Black, Corbin Lehn and Nick Schmit. Newcomers to the team include redshirt freshmen Cortland Cassidy and Isaias Solorio, along with true freshman Jack Doughty.

Wayne State was picked 12th out of 13 teams in the NSIC Men's Cross Country preseason coaches' poll, with Brueggemann listed as the Wildcats' athlete to watch.

The Wildcat women's team will be slim on numbers this season, so staying healthy will be a key to the season. Seven runners are on this year's roster as Wayne State looks to improve on last year's 15th place finish at the NSIC Championships.

Brink expects junior Andrea DeSimone and senior Molly Kingsley to lead the way for the Wildcats this season.

"Andrea made some good improvements during the track season which will hopefully carry over to this fall," remarked Brink.

Kingsley is the lone senior on this year's roster. Juniors include DeSimone and Makael Lanum, along with newcomer Melissa Kroll, a transfer from Midland University.

Other newcomers to this year's team are redshirt freshmen Shelby Connett and freshmen Mary Alderson and Ellen Wulf, who are competing in cross country for the first time to help fill roster spots.

Wayne State was picked to finish 14th out of 15 teams in the NSIC women's preseason poll, with DeSimone selected as the Wildcat Athlete to Watch in the NSIC this season.

After hosting both the NSIC and NCAA Central Regional Meets last season, Wayne State does not have a home meet this season. The Wildcats begin the 2015 season on Friday night, Sept. 4, at the Augustana Twilight Invitational in Sioux Falls, S.D. Wayne State will run in the NSIC Championships on Oct. 24 in Minneapolis, and close the season at the NCAA Central Regional in Joplin, Mo.

Lady Bears look to improve in volleyball

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge returns five starters from what was a rough season in 2014, and the Lady Bears look to be a much improved squad coming into this season's action.

The Lady Bears were 6-20 last year, but with the returning talent that is back, coach Patti Cunningham said the team looks to be more successful this season.

"Our team goal is to be a hard-working squad facing excellent competition," she said in her preview of the team.

The Lady Bears have some good talent at the net, led by seniors Bayley Holloway and Carrie Benson at opposite hitter. Holloway was a starter last year, while Benson came on and was one of seven letterwinners for Cunningham's Lady Bears.

Also back as returning starters are junior outside hitter Kaci Groene, junior setter Katelyn Cook, sophomore libero Bryn Schutte and 6-foot-1 junior middle blocker Katie Leapley, who looks to be an intimidating presence in the middle of the LCC defense.

Setter Ashley Wolfgram is also back as a returning letterwinner and will give LCC added depth at the setter position, and some good young talent coming up includes junior outside hitter Emily Hangman and sophomores Mady Holloway (libero) and Abbie Bloom (setter).

The Lady Bears open the season with road games at Randolph on Thursday, Sept. 3 and Homer on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Defense will be the focus for Wakefield volleyball team in '15

Defense will be the focus for the Wakefield volleyball team this season as they try to improve on last year's 22-11 outcome.

Coach Timarie Hansen is in her fourth season with the Trojans, and she said the team will have to make do with a smaller lineup this season.

"We do not have a lot of size, so we will be focusing on playing strong defense," she said.

The Trojans have three letterwinners back from last year, led by senior outside hitter Josephine Peitz. She is joined by fellow returning starters Briana Andrade (outside hitter) and Savannah Nelson (setter), both juniors.

Also returning as letterwinners from last year are senior Kim Calderon, who will help lead the Wakefield defense, and junior Danika Dorcey, who will be the team's libero this season.

The Trojans will face some tough competition early in the season, starting with the Northeast Nebraska Classic at Wisner-Pilger on Sept. 3-5. They host their own tournament at Wakefield High School the following weekend, and will also have a home triangular with Bancroft-Rosalie and Howells-Dodge on Tuesday, Sept. 15.

said. "I'm not concerned if we're 8-0 or 12-0 or whatever, because we'll play some quality opponents like Rockburst early on and we'll get tested, no doubt about it. We've got about a week and a half to fine-tune everything and get ready."

Also back as a starter last year is two-time first-team All-NSIC junior Alyssa Frauendorfer, who earned honorable mention All-American honors last year. Classmates Alex Opperman and Michaela Mestl will bring some firepower to the net for the Wildcats as well.

Wayne State's roster is loaded with depth this year, thanks to returning players like Wakefield native Sydney Rose, a junior; and sophomores Bree Ackermann and Erin Gross. Megan Gebhardt comes in as a redshirt freshman, and a solid freshman class is led by Wortman and Ruhl, along with Holly Ellwanger.

The Wildcats will face some strong opposition, including preseason No. 2 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 3 Southwest Minnesota State and No. 4 Minnesota Duluth, along with a late-season matchup against in-state rival and preseason No. 5 Nebraska-Kearney. There are no easy outs on the schedule this year, which is just the way Knief wants it with this year's team.

"We can beat these teams, we just need to do it at the right time," he said. "We feel we have a team that can compete at a very high level this year. We beat Concordia to get to the conference finals last year, and they're loaded again. But that's the fun part about playing here. You have to show up every night and play against the best, and we're excited to get the season under way and see what this group can do. They're a joy to coach."

The Wildcats open the season Sept. 4-5 at the Southern Indiana Dunn Hospitality Tournament in Evansville, Ind.

Deep Purple guys as old as my dad

Keeping it short and sweet this week:

- Went to see Deep Purple in concert in Sioux City over the weekend, crossing off another all-time classic rock act off my "must see" list.
- Amazing thing that I wasn't aware of at the time - both original Deep Purple drummer Ian Paice and longtime vocalist Ian Gillan turn 70 years old this year. Gillan hit the big mark just recently, while Paice goes for the 7-oh this fall.
- Coincidentally, my dad turns 70 this September - I highly doubt he'll be singing "Smoke On The Water" for his birthday, but he's been known to slap a few notes on the bass guitar.
- If the current polls were to hold up through next summer's political conventions, it will be Donald Trump vs. Hillary Clinton for the next President of the United States.
- I'll be leading the caravan to Winnipeg if that's what we're left to choose from for our next leader. In fact, I'd almost be in favor of a third Obama term.
- Wait . . . did I just WRITE that?????
- My granddaughter turned five months old this past weekend. Yes, I'll update the photos in a future column, so keep your eyes peeled.

Trail concerns are addressed

Since approximately 2003, the City of Wayne has been talking about building a fitness trail around town.

At the preliminary meetings, there was never any intention to route the trail through residents' front yards. It was recently brought to citizens' attention that the trail would make its way behind the apartment buildings north of Wildcat Lanes and through citizens' backyards and front yards in the Westwood neighborhood.

Creating this new section to the trail is not as easy as just laying concrete. Construction of the new section will entail hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of retaining walls, uprooting of sprinkler systems, relocation of power boxes, poles and fire hydrants, tearing up of trees and landscaping, and leveling out of driveways to meet elevation requirements. Much of this includes items that are not on City of Wayne property. You, as a citizen and taxpayer of Wayne, will be funding this directly or indirectly.

The residents of Westwood are very concerned about the devaluation of their property and the replacing of sprinkler systems which must be moved, lawns that must be torn up, trees that must be removed, and trees that must be trimmed. When asked who would replace these items, residents were told that it would be the lowest bidder. If that is the case, what kind of retaining walls will the neighborhood have to look at 365 days a year? The trail requirements include an eight-foot wide path that would run directly in front of residents' kitchens, bedrooms and living room windows. (Some of the homes on Westwood Road sit 36 feet from the curb, making the front steps less than 20 feet from the proposed trail. Would you like a trail that close to your front steps? Would you buy a home with a trail in the front yard that is less than 20 feet from your front steps? To add, the trail would run perpendicular to already-existing shortened driveways, creating a dangerous pathway that young kids and large vehicles both cross.

Additional staff will need to be hired and new equipment will need to be purchased to maintain this difficult path. The existing trail has not been maintained to its full potential. How is the reassuring that the new addition will be maintained also? Upkeep includes cracks in the concrete, signs that warn of hazards on the trail, trash and graffiti, broken joints, overgrown grass, weeds and trees, and snow drifts. I have many photos of the maintenance of the trail from previous years to present. If you have any questions about these maintenance issues, I would be happy to show and discuss them with you. We do not want our neighbors' well-kept properties to be maintained in the manner the existing trail already is.

I am not opposed to a fitness trail. My family and I ride our bikes and walk on our trail and the trails at Yankton, S.D., and Okoboji, Iowa nearly every year. We have also visited one of the most famous trails in the United States, the San Antonio Riverwalk. I have been to Central Park in New York City also. To gain access to the Riverwalk and Central Park, one must first walk through run-down neighborhoods where people sleep on the streets. Wayne does not have this environment. We have nice, friendly, quiet neighborhoods to connect the trail. Also, not one of these trails runs through peoples' front yards. In the city of Wayne, sidewalk and streets are sufficient to ride bikes and walk on to connect the trail. We do not need to spend money and deface peoples' property in the process. Wayne is not like New York City or San Antonio - we're a whole lot more like Mayberry.

I want to thank the majority of the City Council members who have taken time to come up to the Westwood neighborhood to hear our concerns. If you have any questions, concerns or new creative ideas concerning the trail, please contact me at (402) 369-2032. I will be happy to relay these new ideas to the City Council members and staff. We can find a better solution.

Capitol View

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Kudos to Governor Pete Ricketts for taking a positive step toward roads funding that will perhaps benefit taxpayers and definitely benefit municipalities.

The governor - who says he wants to run government like a business - has been a champion of resisting moves to expand the use of federal dollars (Medicaid expansion). He also bristled at (and vetoed) a measure to increase the gas tax to pay for road improvements. Lawmakers overrode that veto.

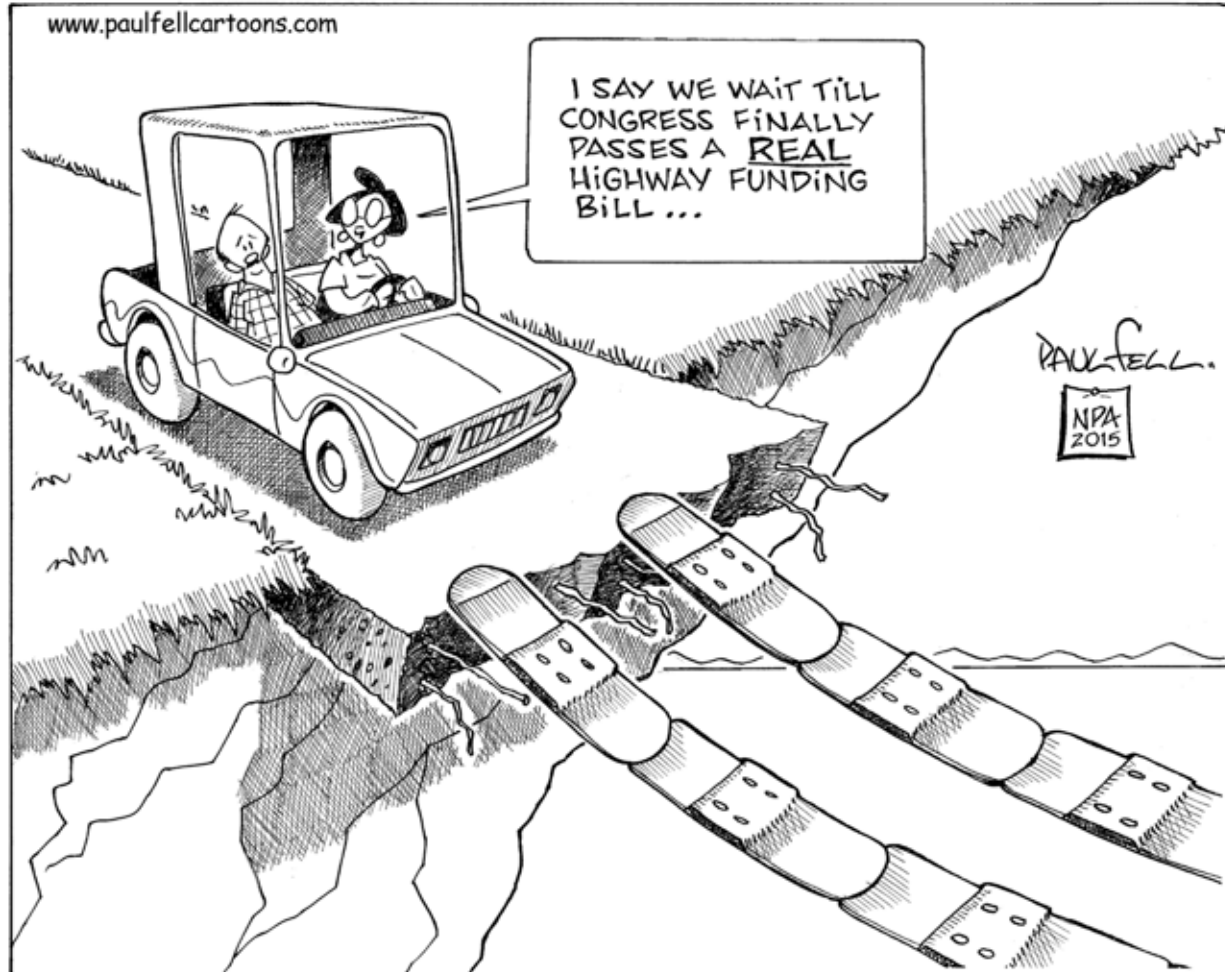

But, he recently announced that the state will pay an extra 10 cents on the dollar for federal roads funds it buys from local governments, injecting another $3 million into the budgets of counties and cities across the state next year. The change affects Nebraska's federal buyback program for roads funding, a plan that allows the state Department of Roads to keep millions of dollars in federal aid in exchange for about $29.7 million in state funding.

Credit U.S. Senator Deb Fischer with that measure offered in 2011 when she was still a member of the Nebraska Unicameral. The program, started in 2013, allows local governments to have the state funding which has fewer strings attached. That covers Nebraska's 93 counties and 26 mid-size cities outside of Lincoln and Omaha. For the past two years, the state has paid local governments 80 cents on the dollar. The next payout, in March 2016, will jump to 90 cents.

Ricketts has said the change will help counties and cities do more with the resources they have. The League of Nebraska Municipalities and the Nebraska Association of County Officials supported the change. League Director Lynn Rex says the $3 million is still a lot of money to Nebraskans who are dealing with an aging transportation infrastructure.

Interestingly, the gas-tax increase passed over Ricketts' objection will raise an additional $76 million a year once it is fully implemented by 2019.

The increased buyback has been made possible because the state Department of Roads is cutting its own costs associated with using the federal dollars by performing some documentation of its own. Officials have given due credit to new Department Director Kyle Schneeweis for leading the change which was in the talking stage before the new administration took over.

Fischer, whose father was roads director in the Kay Orr administration, accompanied U.S. Transportation Secretary Anthony Foxx to Nebraska to stump for a six-year federal highway bill he said would "vanquish the specter of uncertainty" that haunts roads projects nationwide. The Senate passed such a bill in July, but Congress - for the 34th time since 2009 - has only passed a three-month stopgap measure.

Foxx came to Nebraska as a guest of Sen. Deb Fischer, and the two have pushed lawmakers to work together on a long-term highway bill when Congress returns to Washington in September. The Senate passed its own six-year highway bill on July 30, but Congress has only approved a three-month stopgap measure - the 34th since 2009.

Fischer and Foxx met with the public and reporters at a Lincoln motorcycle dealership which overlooks an Interstate 80 expansion project that will widen the road to six lanes all the way from Omaha to west of Lincoln. Foxx lauded the visionaries who promoted the interstate highway system in the 1950s and the Transcontinental Railroad (1863-1869), which is as old as Nebraska (1867). He said the United States needs to get back in the game.

Estimates are that the $350 billion Senate bill would fund federal highway and infrastructure projects for three years and give senators until 2018 to determine how to pay for the full six years. The Obama administration had pushed for its own $478 billion highway bill that would have increased federal transportation spending by $30 billion a year.

Fischer, chair of the Senate's surface transportation subcommittee, and Foxx also met with state and University of Nebraska officials and transportation leaders at the UN-L Whittier Research Center which is home to the Nebraska Transportation Center.

Foxx said he came to listen to transportation leaders and let them know they've got to join the fight for more and stabilized funding. Fischer said while good things are being accomplished, getting a six-year highway bill is a big deal.

Hopefully, the increased buyback support and the visit by the nation's top transportation official will help to improve the vital infrastructure for all Nebraskans.

Legislative Update

Concerns about one overlooked statute

School has started and teachers are back in the classrooms. After hearings this spring, Commissioner of Education Matthew Blomstedt e-mailed school districts reminding them of a few statutes on the books in Nebraska that may have been overlooked or forgotten.

The statutes in question deal with Americanism and then an oath for teachers and school employees to sign. The latter of which has become a hot topic for the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU). The statute was adopted in 1951 during the Red Scare of the McCarthy era and the language of the statute is as follows.

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

"All persons engaged in teaching in the public schools of the State of Nebraska and all other employees paid from public school funds, shall sign the following pledge:

I, ....., do believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; an indissoluble nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I acknowledge it to be my duty to inculcate in the hearts and minds of all pupils in my care, so far as it is in my power to do, (1) an understanding of the United States Constitution and of the Constitution of Nebraska, (2) a knowledge of the history of the nation and of the sacrifices that have been made in order that it might achieve its present greatness, (3) a love and devotion to the policies and institutions that have made America the finest country in the world in which to live, and (4) opposition to all organizations and activities that would destroy our present form of government."

The ACLU is telling school districts that enforcing this statute is unconstitutional and will expose the school districts to lawsuits.

Honestly, I want the individuals that are teaching in our schools to love America and to have an appreciation of it and the people who have defended and fought for it. Like every country, our past has had moments that were less than stellar but we must learn from the mistakes while not losing sight of the good. Maybe if our schools were to start focusing on the how great this country is, rather than the flaws of our country, the students would start to develop a sense of community. We are after all, all in this together. After developing a sense of community, maybe they will be able to see people for who they are and judge them on their character and we can once again unite this country. God, let it be so.

Winside cross country deeper team this season

Winside's cross country team is a little deeper than it has been in recent years, and that has coach Jennifer Kesting hoping for some good things this season.

"We have seven high school boys this year, the most we've had in a long time," she said. "They're working well together, pushing through the fatigue of conditioning and competing hard in practice. I'm hopeful they will do well this year and push each other to continue to decrease their run times."

Sophomore Josh Gruenke is one of three returning starters, but the only starter from last year's team. Sean Mann and Taylor Anson were starters in 2013 and are back to give the team some added depth.

Newcomer Marlowe Kampa is being looked at as a runner to watch this season. Also on the team are Gage Wendte, Cody Frederick, Alex Carlson and Dylan Brogren.

The Winside runners will open the season at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational on Thursday, Sept. 3.

County horseshoe events are held

Winners for both the Wayne and Dixon County Horseshoe Pitching Contests have been released.

At the Dixon County Fair, first place went to Craig Tentinger of Wayne and Gordon Hansen of Waterbury; second place to Kerry Langemeier of Wayne and Gene Barg of Winside and third place to Gene Jensen of Winside and Regg Swanson of Concord.

Results from the Wayne County Horseshoe Pitching Contest include:

First place: Kerry Langemeier of Wayne and Bryan Hays of Wayne;

Second place: Jim Rabe of Winside and Gene Barg of Winside;

Third place: Mark Zach of Wayne and Zach Braun of Wayne.

State Fair a showcase for 4-H youth

Visitors to the Nebraska State Fair – Aug. 28 to Sept. 7 in Grand Island – can view more than 10,000 4-H exhibits from 2,500 exhibitors, representing all 93 Nebraska counties. In many cases, these exhibits represent the first step in a career path for Nebraska youth.

The Nebraska State Fair will feature thousands of 4-H exhibits and food samples. More 4-H research has shown that the hands-on learning gained through these projects is more effective than traditional classroom lectures at getting youth excited about careers in science, technology, engineering and mathematics. Exhibits will be displayed in more than 40 project areas, including animals, foods, clothing and textiles, robotics, computers, the environment, veterinary science, heritage and leadership.

"Working on projects for the fair gives 4-H youth the opportunity to discover areas they'd like to learn more about and cultivate their skills," said Shane Potter, assistant extension educator in 4-H youth development. "The Nebraska State Fair is the capstone event for 4-H'ers to showcase their educational experiences that have taken place in the past year."

4-H also helps identify academic focus areas that will get youth one step closer to their careers. At the fair, youth can participate in their first class from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln through Nebraska's Largest Classroom, a self-guided field trip where students and teachers can take part in activities and educational content. Nebraska 4-H and UNL academic departments will lead activities. The classroom will be open Aug. 31-Sept. 2.

In addition to 4-H exhibits, several free interactive activities for kids will be available to fair visitors. This includes exploring biological systems engineering, "ag-citing" science, animal science, healthy lifestyles, community engagement and early childhood development activities through The Learning Child.

Visitors can download the Nebraska State Fair 4-H app to keep track of events, results and news, and to view a map. The app also can be used to play the Seek and Scan game, which allows visitors to scan symbols on signs next to more than 50 exhibits to unlock videos.

The fair also will include:
– A showcase of youth participating in the 4-H Food Smart Families program, from 5 to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 1 in the Raising Nebraska building. The program, sponsored by the National 4-H Council and the ConAgra Foods Foundation, equips families to make healthy living part of their everyday lives through nutrition education, cooking skills and food budgeting skills. Nebraska 4-H is working with 13 Nebraska Extension offices across the state to guide 2,750 youth through the program. The program includes youth ambassadors mentored by Nebraska Extension professionals at each program site. Youth participants will showcase what they have learned, including food preparation and food budgeting skills.

– The UNL Food Processing Center's food-sampling display in the FFA-4H building. Many Nebraska favorites, along with newly introduced products, will be available for tasting from more than 10 food companies. Products include salsa, pasta, pickles, soups, lemonade, seasoning blends, jellies, sauces, beef jerky, popcorn, salad dressings, sunflower seeds and marinades. Companies scheduled to participate include: Preferred Popcorn, Chapman; Hiland Dairy Co., Grand Island; Barn Candle Company, Kiehl and Stroh Co., Hastings; Balabans, Henderson; Hill's Sunflower Seed Co., Punkindoodle Foods, and Smoking Gun Jerky & Marinade, Lincoln; Holen One Farms, Loomis; Sweet Heat Peppers, Omaha; and Country Rhoads, Superior.

– UNL Red Out Day on Sunday, Sept. 6. Starting at noon, free Husker bags will be available for guests at the main entrance. Various UNL departments will provide hands-on activities for youth from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Family Fun Activity Center. A Husker pep rally on the Family Fun Zone Stage will take place at 3 p.m. Fans can hear the beatboxing skills of DeWayne and cheer along with UNL cheerleaders and Lil' Red.

Your Timing Won't Be Off When You Invest Systematically

If one of your worries is whether you're investing at the right time, it shouldn't be. By investing a set amount of money on a regular basis, you establish a simple routine that can help make your financial goals a reality.

In addition, investing systematically can help:

- Make it possible to use market fluctuations to your advantage
- Add potential growth and diversification to your portfolio
- Keep your long-term financial goals in focus

Investing a set amount of money on a regular basis does not ensure a profit and does not protect against loss in declining markets. Such a plan involves continual investment in securities regardless of fluctuating price levels of such securities. You should consider your financial ability to continue the purchases through periods of low price levels.

Maintaining faith is key for college kids

The streets are a little busier, the gas stations and eating establishments a little more crowded, and the average age of Wayne, America dropped significantly. All that adds up to mean Wayne State is back in session and college students are back in town!

As a college pastor, I for one am overjoyed to have them back, and look forward to this time of year all summer. Having college students back in town, not only liven up Wayne, America, they also present an amazing opportunity for those of us who are seeking to change the world with the Gospel of Jesus for the Kingdom of God.

Let me share a few college ministry facts with you from researcher George Barna:

- 94 percent of college students who stay connected to and involved in the local church while in college, never walk away from their faith the rest of their lives.

By Justin Raulston
Minister, Journey Christian Church

- College-age people are leaving (walking away from) the church faster than any people group in the history of the world.

- Only 8 to 15 percent of college students in the United States profess to be a born-again Christian. What this means is that the college campus in America is now the fifth-biggest mission field in the world.

So what does that mean for us? It means God has placed a great mission field right here in our backyard in Wayne, America. There are literally students from all over the world right here in Wayne, Nebraska, and we have the awesome opportunity to love them, be gracious to them, do life with them, and impact them with the Gospel of Jesus and be impacted by them as well.

Psalm 78:4 speaking of the teachings of God says the following "We will not hide them from their descendants; we will tell the next generation the praiseworthy deeds of the Lord, His power, and the wonders He has done."

We must tell the next generation of what God has done not just in history, but what he has personally done in our lives.

So as the town gets a little busier, why not slow down, invite a college student or two out for lunch, or over to your house for supper and share your story of how Jesus has changed your life, and sit and listen to the story of their life as well. You never know, it might just be life changing...for them and for you.

Psalm 71:17-18 "Since my youth, God, you have taught me, and to this day I declare your marvelous deeds. Even when I am old and gray, do not forsake me, my God, till I declare your power to the next generation, your mighty acts to all who are to come."

Journey Christian to hold special Church in the Park

Journey Christian Church will enjoy their Sunday morning worship at a special Church in the Park service on Sunday, Aug. 30 at 10 a.m.

Services will be held at Bressler Park in Wayne.

Everyone is welcome to join the congregation for this service and hear the message by Troy Reynolds, along with music led by the JourneyMen Quartet.

Following this special time of worship there will be a pot-luck lunch. The church will provide the sandwiches, drinks and table service. Please bring a side dish to share.

In case of inclement weather, the service will be at the church building, 1110 E. Seventh Street.

"We look forward to having many of you joining us," said Pastor Reynolds.

Liam Spieker (left) and Claire Lindsay were both recognized by Jim Macy, director of Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality; and Nebraska Gov. Pete Ricketts for their award-winning artwork as part of an environmental calendar sponsored by the NDEQ.

Local students among winners in environmental art contest

The artwork of 13 Nebraska students will be featured in the 2016 "Nebraska: Don't Waste It!" environmental calendar. The statewide contest is sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (NDEQ) and focuses on the importance of waste reduction, recycling and litter cleanup.

Two of those students, Claire Lindsay and Liam Spieker, were students from St. Mary's Elementary School in Wayne. Their teacher was Michelle Carlson.

The students whose submissions were selected for the 2016 calendar were invited to a ceremony at the State Capitol on Aug. 17, where they were honored by Gov. Pete Ricketts and NDEQ Director Jim Macy. Each month, the calendar features one of the 12 winning environmental posters. A 13th winner's artwork provides the cover for the calendar. The entry featured on the cover was submitted by Laila Swaim, a fifth-grade student from Knickrehm Elementary, Grand Island.

Nearly 1,500 students submitted entries in this year's contest. Copies of the calendar are available by contacting NDEQ at P.O. Box 98922, Lincoln, Neb., 68509-8922, or by sending an e-mail to NDEQ.moreinfo@nebraska.gov.

Visitors help keep mind away from food

We've had a very nice cool spell, which has made it easier for me to fulfill my vow to walk more! It's getting easier and easier to sit in the easy chair with a book than it is to get out the walking sticks after supper! The Big Farmer typically goes to his lift chair to help the Royals win baseball games in the evening.

Earlier this summer, I decided to lose five pounds; instead, I gained five! And it's getting harder to take those extra pounds off, especially when one's activity has become that of doing a little housework, a little cooking, a little laundry, etc.

To counteract this slowdown, I invite guests for meals. A week ago, a friend who is at the Cather Institute at the U was here for lunch and then to our Book Club to speak about Cather. Tomorrow, the development gal for Lutheran Family Services will be eating with us; she's relatively new to Nebraska, and to Lincoln, so it's been interesting to get acquainted with her. The first time she was here, we shared a pot of tea. Tomorrow, it will be crab quiche and fresh peaches.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I've been eagerly waiting for Colorado peaches, and I brought home a lug tonight. Too bad my Mom isn't around to can some for me; I don't even have a canner anymore. These will go into the freezer, after we've eaten a bunch.

And, last Friday eve, we hit the jack pot for guests with four fraternity brothers and wives. I didn't cook that day, as they expressed a desire for Val's pizza. So, that was easy. They all remember when Val's was a little grocery store on Havenlock, across from what was then called Ag campus. Smartest thing he ever did was to give up that store and come up with a pizza recipe.

We also all had to laugh when we recalled not knowing what pizza was when we came to the big city. In fact, the first time someone mentioned ordering some delivered to the dorm, I asked what it was. Mike did the same at the frat house.

Anyway, these four fellows all come from the same small town and have established a tradition of spending one weekend together each year. For a long time, that weekend included a Husker game, but they all agreed that was getting too taxing. So, this time, they arranged to tour Memorial Stadium, Pinnacle Bank Arena, and the Quilt Museum. That was a bit taxing, also, and made for a long day, with no nap. But they all agreed it had been fun.

The other good part of all this is that it makes me a bit more active, and get out of that easy chair! So, hopefully, there will be more before the snow falls. In fact, we already have reservations for September for two students from Trinity College in England, here on choir tour, and for an old friend from California. That will be fun, and interesting, for sure.

State Fair gets underway this week

I have attended the state fair in Grand Island the last few years and it has been a great experience. It's almost hard to believe that this is the sixth year already for the fair to be held in Grand Island.

This year I will be helping with the Entomology identification contest and the swine show. I hope you will be able to attend sometime this coming week, as the fair runs from Friday, Aug. 28 through Labor Day. The fairgrounds are brand new with large livestock buildings close to each other and with an air conditioned main arena.

The 4-H/FFA exhibit building is on the north end of the grounds; it is large and is air conditioned. There are many more exhibits in the 4-H/FFA building every year, including commercial exhibits. Lots of food stands are available, and a large midway with plenty of rides means there really is something for everyone.

I recommend the birthing area to people who don't understand where animals come from; kids will love seeing the new born animals there. There is a real good lineup of shows available and of course all the 4-H exhibits will be there for everyone to see.

We have seen some soybean diseases in the area. The main culprits are white mold (sclerotinia), phytophthora root and stem rot, brown stem rot, and a little bit of sudden death syndrome (SDS).

Many of these diseases have similar symptoms in the beginning. Usually you will see small pockets of dead or dying plants, or dead leaves on some plants that slowly spread. The diseases differentiate a bit and to tell the difference you often need to split or observe the stem at ground level and above. SDS is fairly easy to recognize, the leaf symptoms are fairly dramatic although sometimes it is mistaken for brown stem rot. White mold infested plants usually have black sclerotia embedded in the stem. Go to cropwatch.unl.edu for more information on how to diagnose soybean diseases.

The best way to manage diseases is to select resistant varieties. These diseases infect plants fairly early in the season and often don't show symptoms until later in the year. This makes it hard to determine if a fungicide is necessary. Once diseases are established in the plant there is rarely a cure. So scout and determine which diseases are present, and use the information when you select your varieties in the future.

Husker Harvest Days to focus on weathering climate change
Agricultural producers and Nebraskans of every stripe can access a wealth of information on planning for climate change when they visit University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources exhibits at this year's Husker Harvest Days show near Grand Island. Husker Harvest Days is Sept. 15-17.
"Successfully weathering extremes" is the theme for Nebraska Extension exhibits dealing largely with planning for potential weather extremes from climate change on the farm and ranch, as well as climate change-induced challenges and opportunities in everyday life.
"This is such an important topic on so many levels that we will examine it from many angles over both this and next year's Husker Harvest Days shows," said Ronnie Green, NU vice president, IANR Harlan Vice Chancellor and interim senior vice chancellor for academic affairs at UNL. "It's part of our focus on critical and groundbreaking research and initiatives that are important not only to all Nebraskans, but nationally and globally, as we enhance our reputation as a leader in critically important research."
Entering UNL's Husker Red steel building at Lot 321 on the south side of the grounds, showgoers will get the latest information on the challenges and opportunities facing the economics of agriculture, including variability and extremes in planning successful agricultural operations.
From there, they will view exhibits focused on the Nebraska Climate Report's take-home messages; forage alternatives for improving the resiliency of Nebraska beef systems; planning for climate-resilient irrigation systems; designing climate-resilient confined livestock systems; perennial forages for biofuels production; use of cover crops to improve resilience to higher-intensity precipitation; the role seasonal forecasts will play in future agricultural decisions; and the role of corn yield projections based on climate/weather in agricultural decisions.
UNL's adjacent open lots, east of the Husker Red building, will feature living exhibits of demonstration cover crops, plantings of switch grass for ethanol production and other uses, technologies for conserving water use in irrigation, and shade systems for reducing heat stress in feedlots.
"We believe this space has considerable potential for demonstrating the innovation and research of IANR in the form of living exhibits," Green said. "These exhibits tie directly into what showgoers will learn about when they visit the exhibits inside our building."
Also inside the Husker Red building, IANR staff will be available to answer questions on a variety of extension and research-related topics, provide copies of helpful NebGuides and direct those needing further help to extension experts in their local area.
Showgoers will also be able to learn about the latest opportunities for students at UNL's College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources, and the Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture at Curtis. College representatives will be available throughout the show to answer questions from potential students. Those interested in the Nebraska LEAD (Leadership Education Action Development) program can also visit with a LEAD representative.
IANR has been part of Husker Harvest Days for nearly 40 years, since the first show in 1978.
