Memories of World War II still vivid

Seventy years later, Carroll remembers time served

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

When the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, then 16-year old Ed Carroll of Randolph and his friend, Keith Boughn, considered running away from home and joining the military.

That idea soon went away, but on Aug. 31, 1943, on his 18th birthday, Ed registered for the draft and soon after went to Fort Crook, near Omaha, to sign up.

"I grew up in Randolph and went to Catholic school until eighth grade. I wanted to play different sports, so when I was in ninth grade, I transferred to Randolph High School. I was ready to start my senior year when I was drafted," Ed said.

His parents wanted him to apply for a deferment and finish high school, but Ed had his sights set on the U.S. Navy, so he moved forward with enlistment.

"There was a busload of guys from Cedar County who joined the same time I did. I actually signed the papers on Nov. 4, 1943 and then went back home for a couple of weeks," Ed said.

He was sent to Farragut, Idaho for boot camp, which lasted eight weeks. He then traveled back to Nebraska by train for approximately two weeks before beginning his trip overseas.

"First we went back to Idaho, then to Memphis, Tenn., New Orleans, La. and finally, to Los Angeles, Calif. On April 30, 1944 we were sent overseas, headed to the Admiralty Islands," Carroll said.

His parents received a card from the U.S. military on June 10, indicating that he had arrived safely.

"There were four of us Navy guys who went over on a Merchant Marine ship filled with supplies. They told us our job was to protect the load," Carroll said.

The Admiralty Islands are a group of small islands north of New Guinea. Carroll recalls that when World War II started, there was nothing on these islands and they were inhabited by native peoples. The Japanese wanted to get control of the islands so they could build an airport from which they could bomb the U.S.

However, the U.S. got control of the islands and took control of the airbase.

"When I got there, the only other soldiers I saw were those coming out of the jungles on the island. They were there capturing the Japanese who were still on the island."

Carroll said that during his time in the Navy, he worked on four different kinds of boats.

"I became the coxswain, the person who runs the boat. I had no training in this job, but when I got to the islands, they told me 'go run it' and I had to learn how in a hurry," he said.

Carroll said he didn't feel afraid when he was on the islands, but he knew there were Japanese soldiers on the island. However, he noted that within six months of his arrival, all the Japanese were gone.

One of Carroll's most vivid memories of the war happened on Nov. 10, 1944 when a ship, the USS Mount Hood, loaded with 3,800 tons of ammunition, exploded.

Two of three ATM thieves plead guilty

Two of the three men who were charged in connection with the theft of an ATM machine from Elkhorn Valley Bank in Hoskins bank earlier this summer pled guilty Wednesday in Wayne County District Court.

Cody Murphree, 22, and Jacob Christiansen, 23, both entered the pleas in front of District Judge James G. Kube as part of a plea agreement. The two pled guilty to Class III felony charges of theft by unlawful taking, with charges of criminal mischief dismissed by the court.

Kube ordered a presentence investigation for both Murphree and Christiansen prior to sentencing, which has been set for Wednesday, Nov. 4 in Wayne County District Court.

A third man connected with the June 23 theft of an ATM machine pled not guilty and faces a trial later this year.

David Rhodes, 24, represented by court-appointed attorney Kate Jorgensen, pled not guilty to charges of theft by unlawful taking and criminal mischief. Kube ordered a pretrial conference to be held Wednesday, Nov. 4, with a trial set for Tuesday, Dec. 8 at 9 a.m. in Wayne County District Court.

Rhodes' bond was set at $25,000, and he was ordered not to leave the state as part of the bond agreement.

Listening visits in Wayne area helping Bengtson in campaign

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Ardel Bengtson never envisioned herself as a candidate for public office.

The retired South Sioux City teacher and wife of a five-term member of the South Sioux City Council is getting a head start in running for the District 17 Nebraska Legislature seat in 2016, and it was a chance phone call from an outgoing state legislator that inspired her to seek the position.

"My late husband, Al, was on the City Council in South Sioux City for five terms, and I was always stressed out waiting for the election results for this man that I loved, so I'd always said I didn't want to have any part of a campaign," Bengtson said Tuesday during a stop in Wayne. "I got a call from (Sen.) Steve Lathrop that took me totally by surprised, and he said they were looking for community-minded people to run for the seat in the Legislature."

Bengtson, who is a member of a citizens advisory board for the Nylen cancer Center and serves on South Sioux City's parks and library boards, decided this summer to go ahead and throw her hat into the ring for the District 17 seat that will be vacated by current Sen. Dave Bloomfield, who will be term-limited next year after serving two terms in the position. At this writing, Bengtson is the only announced candidate for the position.

Bengtson told The Wayne Herald that she and her husband moved to Nebraska 46 years ago, and with her children and grand-

"We weren't originally from Nebraska, but we moved here and with my kids and grandkids all having grown up here, I care that it is a good state and I felt that maybe this is a way for me to help keep it a good state," she said.

Bengtson's first campaign stop was in Wayne earlier this summer, and an unusually-busy day at a local coffee shop turned an otherwise-quiet opportunity to get to know some voters in the area turned into

School foundation receives $1,000 to fund backpacks

Wayne Community Schools Foundation announced that DuPont Pioneer donated $1,000 toward the Backpack Program, which provides a weekend of nutritious meals for the students of the Wayne area.

Last year, the Backpack Program served roughly 5,000 meals to children throughout the Wayne Community School District.

The Backpack Program provides a weekend supply of nutritious food for children, commonly for low income families, to replace the school meals that children miss during their weekend or extended breaks from school. Each weekend the food bag contains enough food for two breakfasts, two lunches, two snacks, and one can of vegetables and one can of fruit. All food is nonperishable.

Though the program is intended to help those children whose families find it difficult to have enough food for the entire month, all children are eligible for this program. Children will be able to opt in and opt out of the program. The program is run completely by volunteers who help coordi-

Obituaries

Marilyn Morse

Marilyn Morse, 78, of Winside, died Wednesday, Sept. 2, 2015 at Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

Mass of Christian burial was held Tuesday, Sept. 8 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. The Revs. Mark Beran and James F. McCluskey and Deacon Pat Gross officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to the Morse family for later designation.

Marilyn Louise Morse was born Sept. 29, 1936 at Avoca, Neb. to Clarence and Evelyn (Kayl) Koenig. She graduated from Wisner High School in 1954 and worked in Omaha for a time. Marilyn married Jay Morse on April 19, 1958 in Glenwood, Iowa. The couple moved to Colby, Kan., later moving to Norfolk in 1963, and to Winside in 1966. The couple purchased Otto Graef's plumbing business and in 1967, became the owners of Jay's Plumbing and Heating. Marilyn was a Handicap Bus Driver for Winside Public School for several years. She then was a social worker in Norfolk before becoming an Independent Advisor with the League of Human Dignity for 16 years until retiring. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Survivors include her children, Brian (Rebecca) Morse of Merna and Wendy Light of Beaver Lake; grandchildren, Adam Morse, Grace Morse, Brandon Light, and Jady Light; brothers, Lyle (Carol) Koenig of Beatrice, Larry (Gail) Koenig of Ralston, and Loren (Jerri) Koenig of Omaha; sister, Mavonne (Don) Prokop of New Brighton, Minn.; nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Ralph "Jay" Morse in 2005; son, Steven in 2012; and son-in-law, Kevin Light 2014. Pallbearers will be Lyle Koenig, Larry Koenig, Loren Koenig, Kory Koenig, Peter Koenig and Donald Prokop. Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Loretta Hein

Loretta W. Hein, 96, of Lincoln, died Saturday, Sept. 5, 2015.

Services will be at Roper & Sons, 4300 O Street in Lincoln on Friday, Sept. 11 at 10:30 am. Burial will be at Lincoln Memorial Park, 6800 S. 14th Street, Lincoln. Memorials may be made to Northeast United Church of Christ in Lincoln. There is no visitation. Condolences may be made online to roperandsons.com.

Loretta W. Hein was born on Aug. 31, 1919 in Wayne County to Oscar and Louise (Brune) Hoeman. In 1944 she moved to Lincoln and started working in the Accounting Division of Western Electric, retiring with 30 years of service. Loretta married Gordon Hein on Nov. 3, 1963 at Theophilus Church of rural Winside.

Survivors include two sisters, Adeline Anderson and Mary Ann Baier (husband Doug Wagner), all of Wayne County; brother-in-law and wife, Don and Virginia Hein of McCook; sister-in law, Eva Hoeman of Lincoln; many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; two brothers, Clarence and Ted; two sisters, Bonnell Doescher and Rosalie Meyer; a sister-in-law, Evelyn Hoeman, and four brothers-in-law.

Arrangements are with Roper & Sons, 4300 O Street in Lincoln.

Esther M. Pearson

Esther M. Pearson, 88, of Wayne, formerly of Lusk, Wyo., died Sunday, Sept. 6, 2015 at the Wakefield Healthcare Center where she'd been a resident since February 2015, after an extended battle with cancer.

Visitation with the family will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 11 at Hasemann Funeral Home with family present. Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 21 at the fairgrounds in Lusk, Wyo. with burial in Lusk, Wyo. The Revs. Carolyn Jacobsen and Scott Rauscher will officiate. Memorials may be directed to the Pearson family for later designation.

Esther M. Pearson was born Sept. 29, 1926 to John and Myrtle Sheaman in their homestead home in Agate Basin, Wyo. Esther only got to complete the ninth grade, as her parents insisted she help her married sister run a country general store in Burdock, S.D. On Aug. 21, 1946 she married Earl Pearson in a double wedding with her brother, Bob Sheaman and Alice Pearson (Earl's sister) in Lusk, Wyo. Esther and Earl lived in Mule Creek, Wyo. where Earl was employed in the oil field until March 1959. Then they moved to the ranch north of Lusk, Wyo. as Earl's father, Carl, had had a stroke. Esther remained at the ranch after Earl passed away in 1993. In 2005, she moved into Lusk. In September of 2009, Esther moved in with her daughter, Kathryn, and husband, Dee, in Wayne. In January 2013 she moved to the assisted living at Careage of Wayne. She enjoyed her time there. After her cancer diagnosis and surgery, she moved into the nursing home at Careage in March of 2013. In February 2015 she moved to Wakefield Care Center and loved her time there.

Esther enjoyed the ranch where she gardened and canned her produce and loved growing flowers. For several years, she raised schipperke and poodle dogs. Her best friend and constant companion was Skip, a black schipperke dog. Esther always had one or two "lap warmers" in her little dogs. While on the ranch, she and her family raised cattle, sheep, and quarter horses. She loved the newborn animals in the spring. She loved to read and had quite the collection of books.

Survivors include her daughter, Kathy (Kathryn) and Dee Lutt of Wayne; two sons, Carl (CJ) and Beckie Pearson of Newcastle, Wyo., and Russ and Sena Pearson of Lusk, Wyo.; grandchildren, Tanya (Jason) Necklason, Carla Place, Cody (Becky) Pearson, Lyle (Neisha) Lutt, Lesa (Dan) Rhods; great-grandchildren, Talon, Levi, Shelby, Toree, Trinity, Logan, Mason, Blake, and Cole; five step grandchildren and eight step great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Earl in 1993; daughter, Karolyn in 1960; son, Gary in 1999; sister, Helen Peterson; brothers, Robert and Samuel Sheaman and an infant brother.

Honorary Pallbearers will be Lyle Lutt, Cody Pearson, Dan Rhods, Jason Necklason, Paul Soderberg and Paul Veldkamp.

Active pallbearers will be Gary Lamb, Ralph Barndt, Jeff Williams, Dave Wisseman, Dwight Krien and Travis Krien.

Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne is in charge of local arrangements.

City of Wayne Budget Hearing Tuesday, Sept. 15 at 5:30 p.m.

Sales Tax Capital Projects are Part of The City's Budget

The revenue for Capital Projects from the one percent local option sales tax has averaged about $320,000 per year since it was approved in 2008. Here are some of the ways we have used it to-date:

$150,000 to help finish paving the access road through Kardel Industrial Park for business recruitment;

$4,000 to install an ADA pool entry chair at the old pool;

$388,000 toward the street lights and sidewalks down town;

$100,000 to resurface the two paved airport runways;

$475,000 (or $75,000 each year) to help pay for the new waste water treatment plant;

$300,000 accumulated toward new swimming pool;

$4,000 for improvements at the Summer Sports Complex;

$70,000 for structural improvements on our communications tower by city hall;

$150,000 to help pay for the new fire department aerial ladder truck, $95,000 for new playground equipment at three parks;

$30,000 toward joint purchase with the rural fire district of a new heavy equipment fire and rescue truck;

$20,000 toward a joint project with Wayne County, the City Library and Wayne Herald to digitize and make searchable the existing issues of the Wayne Herald (and its predecessors the Wayne Journal, Wayne Republican, Wayne Democrat, Nebraska Democrat, Wayne News, Wayne County Review, Wayne Herald Tribune, Wayne Review and Logan Valley Herald);

$18,000 to add more bleachers at the Summer Sports Complex.

Husker Harvest Days sessions to help planning

Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) Director Greg Ibach is inviting farmers and ranchers in attendance at Husker Harvest Days on Sept. 15-17 to sessions designed to help them begin thinking about how they will transition their operations to the next generation. The one-hour sessions, titled "Cultivate Your Legacy," are designed to kick start the transition/succession planning process and will be hosted two times daily during the three-day event.

"This is a topic that we hear about from our constituents on a regular basis," said Ibach. "Transitioning a farm or ranch from one generation to the next can have many complexities and requires detailed planning to make it successful. Our goal is to provide the information necessary to get the planning process started."

The "Cultivate Your Legacy" sessions will feature presentations by two experts on succession planning, agriculture law attorney Joe Hawbaker with Legal Aid of Nebraska, and University of Nebraska Extension Educator Dave Goeller. Both have years of experience helping Nebraska farm and ranch families get started on the planning process.

The seminars are being held daily at 11:45 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at the Husker Harvest Days hospitality tent and are hosted in partnership by the NDA, University of Nebraska Extension and Legal Aid of Nebraska.

Ibach said the three partners will continue to roll out additional farm and ranch transition/succession information through workshops at various sites across the state this year. Dates, times and locations for these events will be publicized later this fall.

Postman gets Million Mile Award

Terry Karel, a postman with the Wayne Post Office, received the Million Mile award recently for driving 30 years without a preventable accident.

"When I took the job 47 years ago, I never imagined how important and somewhat dangerous my job would be. As a mailman of 47 years I have driven around eight vehicles (not including ones I have borrowed), encountered numerous blizzards, thunderstorms, and as of October 2013, a tornado," Karel said.

"Through all the obstacles I always managed to still deliver smiles to my customers through packages, birthday cards and letters. I always find myself to be fortunate to have had friendly faces along the way to help their local postman, whether they had a truck to lend me to pull me out or a shovel to dig me out, I was always able to deliver the mail on time," he added.

Karel also offered the following safety tips to his fellow mailmen: to always check your mirrors, check the weather, stay focused and always be prepared for what's coming

"Terry is very dedicated to the USPS, his customers and to doing his job safely," said Beth Pasold, Postmaster at the Wayne Post Office.

Terry Karel has gone 30 years without a preventable accident, and was recently honored for his work at the Wayne Post Office.

Grosz gets Caring Kind nomination

Peggy Grosz, LPN-C is this year's nomination from Providence Medical Center for the annual Nebraska Hospital Association's Caring Kind Award. Grosz has been a nurse at Providence Medical Center for the past 29 years. She previously worked for PMC in 1983 for two years as a housekeeper, and then decided to go back to school to become a nurse. Grosz performs a variety of different jobs throughout her work week, and co-workers express their appreciation for her work ethic and genuine caring attitude. Kris Giese, Chief Operating Officer at PMC, says that "Peg is a valuable employee because over her tenure at our hospital she has done a little bit of everything. She willingly helps out whenever possible and she does it with a smile on her face! Peg's kindness and concern for her patients as well as her fellow employees makes her most deserving of the Caring Kind award." She is married to Michael and they have two children; Ryan, age 21 and Holly, age 18. The Caring Kind award is given to hospital employees who exhibit compassion, cooperation and dedication to excellence. Grosz exhibits all three traits as a nurse at PMC. The PMC Management Team and past Caring Kind award recipients are pleased to have her represent PMC at this year's NHA 88th Annual Convention Caring Kind Awards Luncheon on Oct. 23 at the Embassy Suites Omaha/LaVista Hotel and Conference Center.

Desire to help others led to start of lawn business

By LAURA ANDERSON
Of The Herald

Having a house with a manicured lawn with a white picket fence surrounding it and owning a business is a part of the American Dream.

Scott and Chele Meisenbach wanted to go one better by helping others in taking care of that nice house and lawn, so they started Miracle Lawn Care Service last fall.

The Meisenbachs are a team that splits the duties of owning and running a business; Scott handles the labor side of things while Chele handles the marketing. Mr. Meisenbach said that Chele has previous experience running a business from her time in Kearney, and he managed a lawn care service for several years.

"I have never had an opportunity to create a business, but it has always been something that I wanted to do. Who wouldn't want to work for themselves?" Meisenbach said.

When Miracle Lawn Care started, there was just a mower, weed eater and blower. Now they have expanded to one riding mower, two self-propelled walk-behind mowers, a snow blower, an aerator, fertilization tank, trimmers and blowers. By next year, they hope to purchase another riding lawn mower.

Their business currently services the Wayne and Wakefield areas, but would consider other places if the demand was present, and they pride themselves on having quality work for reasonable pricing.

"There may be a misconception that a lawn care business is seasonal, but during the off-peak times, we service and repair our equipment, as well as plan a budget for the upcoming year," Meisenbach said. "We offer snow removal in the winter, spring and fall cleanups, gutter cleanings, landscaping and, of course mowing and fertilization."

Meisenbach said their plans for expansion came into effect as people started requesting services other than mowing the lawn, like landscaping.

An important part of business is advertising, and the Meisenbachs financed a truck through a local bank and then had signs painted on the side to get the word out.

"We have found that social media that was a great way to kick off the business. We simply put the word out that we were starting a business and were looking to give bids and it just took off from there," Meisenbach said.

Scott and Chele credit their kids for helping out with the business as well.

"We are fortunate that our son, Sam was able to help a great deal over the summer, but has recently gone back to school," Meisenbach said. "But we have other helpers and we truly are a family business; meaning we all play a part in the work. Our two young boys, Hayden and Easton, spend many an afternoon picking up branches and leaves with us and they love calling Miracle Lawn Care 'our business.'"

The Meisenbachs are thankful for their community and work to give back to their town as much as possible as well as their customer base.

"We work very hard to make their lawns beautiful and without the references we receive from them, we wouldn't be where we are today," Meisenbach said. "We live by the theory that you bloom where you are planted - which is pretty fitting for a lawn care service."

Johnson to chair NCEA board

The Nebraska Community Energy Alliance (NCEA) voted Wednesday to approve Lowell Johnson, City Administrator of Wayne, as its chair.

Lance Hedquist, City Administrator of South Sioux City, served as the organization's first president. Other officers include Greg Youell, Executive Director of the Metropolitan Area Planning Agency, Frank Uhlarik, Sustainability and Compliance Administrator for the City of Lincoln, and Larry Burks, Assistant City Administrator of the City of Bellevue.

The NCEA is a group of governmental entities organized as an inter-local cooperative agency to build and promote advanced technologies in building and transportation systems that save energy, reduce CO2 emissions and cut costs. "When NCEA was being organized to brainstorm ways to develop and scale up successful energy saving strategies for Nebraska transportation and building projects the City of Wayne wanted to be a part of that," Johnson said. "The best way to avoid worrying about future energy costs is to use less energy."

The members are South Sioux City, Dakota County, Allen Consolidated Schools, Wayne, Valley, the Metropolitan Area Planning Agency, Metropolitan Community College, UNO Center for Urban Sustainability, UNL School of Architectural Design and Electrical Engineering at Peter Kiewit Institute, Omaha Public Power District, Bellevue, Gretna, Ashland, Nebraska City, Lincoln, Seward, Central City, Hastings, Kearney, Holdrege, Lexington and Gothenburg.

"The Nebraska Community Energy Alliance is comprised of cities that have enthusiasm and desire to set their communities apart through alternative energy projects, such as electric and compressed natural gas vehicles," Hedquist said. "Working with the University of Nebraska and others, sustainable subdivisions and building construction is on the horizon."

The group was founded in 2014 to execute a $403,000 grant from the Nebraska Environmental Trust to help nine communities purchase electric and compressed natural gas fleet vehicles and ChargePoint™ charging stations in order to demonstrate the economic and air quality benefits of advanced technology vehicles.

The walls and roof are up at the new 4th Jug building along Highway 35 on the east side of Wayne. The new establishment is expected to open early in 2016.

Jorgensen says he is ready for 4th Jug construction to end

By LAURA ANDERSON
Of The Herald

With over four acres of land plotted out for use, Ken Jorgensen is ready for the 4th Jug to be completed.

A lot of work has been put into the plot of land on the east side of town by McDonald's already and had a bit of a way to go.

With the business having an archery range, sand volleyball and dodgeball courts, two full-sized basketball courts, a beer garden, keno, PGA golf simulators and a few TVs with Direct TV NFL Sunday Ticket, it is a sports fanatic's dream. Accompanying all of this, there will be bar leagues started as well as tournaments.

"The city and state have worked a lot with us, but we have done a lot by ourselves," Jorgensen said.

"Throughout the construction and planning, I've tried to keep my business local. All of the people working on the place are within a 20-mile radius."

Discussing construction of new building on Highway 35

In order to make this possible, wet land studies were completed to make sure all of this was possible.

Jorgensen said that the concrete work should be getting started soon, as well as the tarring for the roof, while the dirt work will be finished up in the near future.

"Throughout the construction and planning, I've tried to keep my business local. All of the people working on the place are within a 20 mile radius," Jorgensen said.

Among all the activities available, there will be a serious food menu that expands on The Max's menu to compete with all the sporting events.

"There will be fish, pasta, nicer steaks, a bottle shop and Jug's brick oven pizza that will be carry out and delivery only, and Sunday morning brunch," Jorgensen said.

Two entrances will be made into this sports lover's paradise, one off of Highway 35 while the other will be on Sixth Street. There will be over 40 full and part time jobs available after it's completed.

"Hopefully, we're providing a place that both the locals and kids can enjoy," Jorgensen said.

mate with the school to sign children up, pack food bags weekly, and keep the program running.

Bob Liska, Pioneer product agronomist, sponsored the grant.

"Pioneer is pleased to support the Wayne Community Schools Backpack Program. This is a great way to provide food security to students across the district," Liska said. "I'm happy to see that there are dedicated people making this a successful program, and that they have the ability to find resources to make this a worthy project."

Jenny Hammer, co-director of the Backpack Program said, "The Wayne Community Schools Backpack Program would like to thank Pioneer for the $1,000 grant. This grant will help enable the Wayne Food Pantry to provide weekend nutrition to over 100 students in Wayne County over the course of the 2015-16 academic year."

"On behalf of the Wayne Community Schools Foundation, I would like to thank Pioneer for their support of the Wayne Community Schools Backpack Program," said Lindsay McLaughlin, Executive Director of the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. "Contributions such as yours helps the Backpack Program provide nutritious meals to the students of the Wayne community. We are very fortunate to have businesses such as Pioneer assisting in the support and care of our youth."

School receives $10,000 grant

Wayne Community Schools was awarded a $10,000 grant from America's Farmers Grow Rural Education, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund.

The district will use the money to purchase Chromebooks and a mobile cart for the computers.

Seventh- through ninth-grade students will use the Chromebooks to increase the number of science research projects conducted and showcased at the Wayne Junior High Science Fair in the spring. Teachers will encourage students to choose agriculture-based topics, with an overarching goal of using the new Chromebooks to increase agricultural literacy among students.

"The students of Wayne Community Schools have a history of excellence in science research," said Lee Brogie, science teacher at the school. "This project will greatly enhance our program by giving students the technology needed to boost awareness of the current challenges facing agriculture."

Representatives from the school, the school's foundation and the Monsanto Fund attended a check presentation to celebrate the grant during the homecoming football game on Sept. 4.

"Thank you to the farmers who believe in our students," Brogie said. "Because of this grant, our students will use their intellect and their passions to propose solutions that will positively impact the agriculture industry."

This year the school district also received an educational starter kit from Monsanto Company to help establish a pollinator garden, which will give students first-hand knowledge of the critical role habitat plays in providing bees and butterflies with food, shelter and places to lay eggs.

Landanger sentenced for child porn

A Carroll man will spend time in the Nebraska State Penitentiary after pleading guilty to two charges relating to a March 20, 2015 arrest for possession and distribution of child pornography.

Gary Landanger, 68, entered the guilty pleas in Wayne County District Court on Wednesday in front of District Judge James G. Kube. He pled guilty to one count of possession of visual depiction of sexually explicit conduct and one count of distribution of visual depiction of sexually explicit conduct. As part of a plea agreement, three additional counts of possession of visual depiction of sexually explicit conduct were dismissed by the court.

Landanger will serve 1-2 years in the Nebraska State Penitentiary for the possession charge, and 3-5 years for the distribution charge. The sentences are to be served consecutively, and Landanger must register as a sex offender upon release.

a rather hectic first day on the campaign tour.

"I was supposed to talk to a few people here, but it was a busy day and as it turned out I had a chance to talk to a lot of people for my first campaign stop here," she said. "I visited with a number of people and heard about a variety of issues, from education to agriculture, and listened to a lot of peoples' concerns."

While her background in education is one of her main interests as a potential state senator, she is using this time before the election season gets rolling to talk with people and learn more about the area and what issues are of primary concern to people in Wayne, Thurston and Dakota counties.

"This is a chance to introduce myself and talk to people about what their concerns are, which will help me out once the campaign really gets going," she said. "The little bit that I've done so far has been so valuable. I talked with Wayne's superintendent of schools today, and I'll be talking to South Sioux City's tomorrow, and one thing builds on another because everybody has some bit of information that I can build on so I can truly understand the issues that are important here to be a good legislator. I really want to represent this corner of the state well, and we need somebody who can do that."

"The ship was in the harbor and other boats would go to them to get the explosives and other ammunition they needed. I was on a pontoon boat when the explosion happened and was knocked to the ground. I also suffered hearing loss from the explosion. There were a 1,000 soldiers killed or wounded from the blast. No bodies were ever recovered and only bits of the ship were left," Carroll said.

Carroll said the islands were located only three degrees off the equator and it was hot and rainy there. The soldiers slept in quonset huts, which were all open. They all ate in the chow hall, eating off tin pans and with tin utensils. They all washed their dishes in the same barrel.

He remembers a time when a boat came into the harbor with three soldiers from the Randolph area and he got to visit with them. He also remembers a USO Show put on by Bob Hope and bringing soldiers to the island he was stationed at to watch movies.

Although the war ended on July 10, 1945, the official surrender was signed on Sept. 2, 1945.

Carroll, 90, said he found out the war had ended when he went to pick up soldiers from another island and bring them back to his island.

"An officer got on the boat and told me the war was over and we were going to go to the Officers Club to celebrate," he said.

Carroll spent a total of 18 months overseas and although he was supposed to get vacation time after a year to go to Australia, his vacation was cancelled and he remained on the islands.

"I remember getting letters from home and wrote back, but what I wrote was censored. I also remember sending half of my paycheck home each month. With that, I was able to buy a car when I got back after the war.

On Dec. 26, 1945, Carroll left the Admiralty Islands and headed back to the United States. He was discharged from the Navy on April 6, 1946 and came back to Nebraska with relatives that were living in California.

After the war, Ed worked as a bartender with his father, later buying a bar in Madison. It was during this time he met his first wife.

"I lived in Madison for 20 years. I worked for a Chevrolet car dealer there and then went to work for Nissen Chevrolet in Randolph. I also worked at Northrup Cheverlot/Cadillac in Norfolk. Then in 1967, I got a call from Roy Coryell asking if I would be the sales manager at his dealership here in Wayne. We made the decision to move to Wayne and I spent a total of 35 years in the car business. I also worked for Mike Perry before retiring" Carroll said.

After the death of his first wife, Carroll continued to live in Wayne until his marriage to his current wife of 33 years, Dee, when the couple lived in Randolph for a time before moving back to Wayne.

Carroll is currently a member of the Wayne American Legion and past member of the VFWs in Randolph and Madison.

He noted that the tradition of service in the U.S. military continues in his family, as a grandson is currently serving in the U.S. Navy.

Although Carroll has vivid memories of his service to his country, he also relies on his mother's Bible for additional details, as she wrote the important dates in his service in the back cover of the Bible while she waited for her only son to return home from the war.

Real test for Wildcats this week

And now, a run-through of thoughts and observations from the first full weekend of area fall sports activities in the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— Contrary to what you may have read elsewhere, Saturday's 58-16 beatdown by the Wildcats of perennial NSIC doormat Minnesota Crookston isn't going to raise any eyebrows among the conference's coaching fraternity.

With all due respect to our beloved Wildcats, it's a pretty good bet that the team picked to finish 13th in the preseason by NSIC coaches laying down a 42-point whoopin' on the team picked to finish LAST is going to strike any fear in the hearts of the Duluths, Mankatos and Sioux Falls of the conference. While the performance in the season opener on Saturday was a great kickoff to the season, nobody is about to confuse the perennial-doormats in Crookston with the megapowerhouses Wayne State will be facing down the road.

Wayne State has a very tough row to hoe this week against the Bulldogs, who lost to preseason-No. 1 Minnesota State last week. In our Wayne State Coaches Show this week, Wayne State coach Dan McLaughlin joked that the Bulldogs haven't started a season 0-2 since Moses started on their offensive line, so this week's matchup will be a much better indicator of where Wayne State REALLY stands in the NSIC hierarchy.

I liked what I saw of Saturday's performance, particularly on the offensive side. If the 'Cats can come home from Duluth with a win (and I'm hoping they do), that will definitely get the attention of everybody in the NSIC.

— We all know what a knockdown-dragout the Northern Sun Conference is when it comes to volleyball, but this is getting ridiculous.

The NSIC holds down positions 2-5 in the latest AVCA poll, even though only two of the four went undefeated last week.

Concordia-St. Paul dropped a match to Palm Beach Atlantic, who moved up to No. 12 in this week's poll, at the Golden Bears' season opener in St. Paul. Duluth also lost to a ranked foe — No. 19 Western Washington — but offset that with a five-set upset of defending national champion and top-ranked Tampa at their tournament in Florida.

Both the Wildcats and defending national runner-up Southwest Minnesota State went 4-0 to open the season last weekend at separate tournaments. Wayne State heads to Kansas City this week, where they're toughest test will be a Friday night showdown with the hosts from Rockhurst, ranked 17th in this week's poll.

— On another college volleyball note . . . to give you an early indicator of the strength of the Central Region this season, consider that Nebraska-Kearney, ranked No. 5 in the preseason, is 15th in the nation and the lowest of seven teams in the region in this week's rankings.

In addition to the NSIC cluster in spots 2-5, you have No. 7 Central Missouri and No. 9 Washburn. For those of you scoring at home, that's six of the top 10 in this week's poll hailing from the Central Region.

Anybody who tells you the Central Region is a volleyball cupcake-fest, obviously, has been snorting too much frosting.

— If the first cross country meet of the season is any indicator, the Wayne High girls team could be the team to watch in all of Class C this fall.

The Blue Devils' four scoring runners claimed four of the top six spots at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational, and the scary note of that statistic is that half of the foursome were freshmen running their first-ever varsity race.

When the lone senior on the team finishes seventh — and her finishing doesn't count in the team's scoring —

Offense gets cranking in 58-16 blowout

Osborn throws four TD's, Test at No. 9 Duluth is next

Dan McLaughlin couldn't have asked for a much better start to the season for his Wayne State football team.

The Wildcats exploded for 43 first-half points, racked up 662 yards in total offense and rolled to a 58-16 win over Minnesota Crookston in the Northern Sun Conference opener for both teams Saturday at Cunningham Field in Memorial Stadium.

"It was a good way to kick off the season," McLaughlin remarked on the Wayne State Coaches Show on www.mywaynews.com during Monday's taping. "I thought the offense executed very well, and there were a lot of unknowns on defense and we had a couple of breakdowns, but for the most part we played well there. It was a good total team effort."

The Wildcats found the end zone on each of their first two possessions, as Zach Osborn hit Nick Roth with a 17-yard pass and followed with a 61-yarder to Marcel Dunson to make it 14-0. Lane Yates added a nine-yard run later in the period to give the Wildcats a quick 21-0 advantage.

Crookston scored a pair of touchdowns and a field goal in an explosive second period, but Wayne State was able to add to their lead with touchdown runs by Osborn and Ludlow, then closed the half with a 34-yard connection between Osborn and Courtney Richardson for a 43-16 halftime advantage, and the game was never in doubt after that. "It could have been a lot more," McLaughlin said of Wayne State's first-half assault on the Golden Eagle defense. "We missed a couple of deep balls that would have been touchdowns, but the receivers play well, we knew our line would be good and our backs were solid. It was a total team effort across the board."

Wayne State's defense, which had a lot of question marks going into the season, performed well for a first time out, limiting the Golden Eagles to 276 yards in total offense and completely shutting them out the second half.

Jonathan Parks lays out to try and score for Wayne State during their 58-16 blowout of Minnesota Crookston in the 2015 opener Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

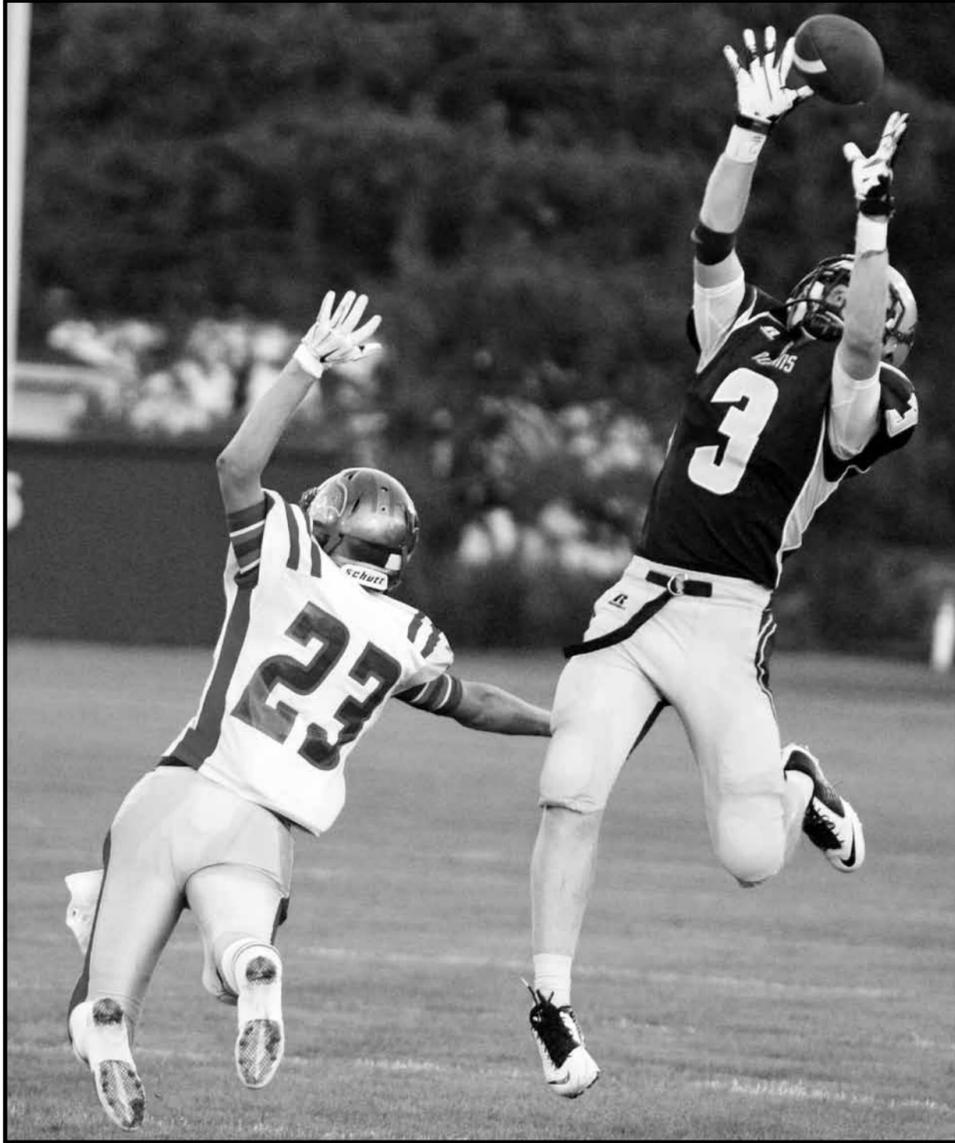

"Sometimes when you feel like you've played poorly, you watch the film and see you didn't play that poorly, and the opposite can also be true," McLaughlin said. "We thought we played well Saturday, but watching the film we saw there's a lot of room for improvement. We're pleased with how we did in all phases, but certainly there are things we can do better."

Osborn had a solid day at quarterback, going 15-for-23 for 259 yards and four touchdowns to go with another 48 yards rushing and a score. Dunson had a solid day in leading the receivers with 128 yards on sev-

Wakefield's Dylan Hurlbert goes high to try and catch a pass during the Trojans' season-opening matchup with Clarkson/Leigh on Friday. The Trojans fell, 60-36

Trojans can't keep up with visiting Patriots, fall 60-36

WAKEFIELD — Wakefield couldn't keep pace with visiting Clarkson/Leigh in the 2015 season opener for both teams Friday at Eaton Field, as the visiting Patriots came away with a 60-36 win over the Trojans.

It was a close game in the first quarter as the two teams traded touchdowns. After the visitors got on the board on their first drive, Wakefield's Isaac Camarena evened the score with a 15-yard scamper off the left side, breaking a couple of tackles in the process to go in for the touchdown. Jose Sanchez' point-after run tied the score at 8-8.

The Patriots came back with three straight touchdowns, two coming on runs of 14 and 43 yard by Bradley Bunner, who finished the night with 229 yards on 28 carries and four touchdowns. The Trojans scored on the ensuing kickoff after Bunner's 43-yard score, as Dylan Hurlbert returned the kickoff 73 yards for a touchdown and Camarena found Junior Equihua with the conversion pass to cut the deficit to 32-16.

Clarkson/Leigh scored again right before halftime, then added another score to open the second half and build their lead from there.

The Trojans did score three times in the second half, as Camarena hit Hurlbert with a short touchdown pass and Daniel Nuno and Solomon Peitz both scored on short runs, but it wasn't enough as the Trojans fell to 0-1 on the season.

Offensively, Camarena led the ground attack with 63 yards on 12 carries, while Sanchez added 34 yards on 12 tries and Nuno had 28 yards on eight carries. Camarena was 8-of-18 for 51 yards and a touchdown in the passing department. Hurlbert caught five balls for 28 yards and Julio Sanchez got two catches for 17 yards.

Wakefield plays Friday at Winnebago.

Wildcats off to 4-0 start at tourney

The No. 6-ranked Wayne State volleyball team wasted no time on Friday, disposing of Northwood (Mich.) and Southwest Baptist on the first day of the Dunn Hospitality Invitational in Evansville, Ind.

In the first game, the Wildcats took out Northwood in three sets, winning 25-13, 25-14, 25-20. Wayne State hit .286 in the win while holding Northwood to a .056 attack percentage. Katie Hughes had 11 kills and hit .611 for the match to lead the way. Leisa McClintock had 24 assists and Michaela Mestl had 14 digs.

Against Southwest Baptist, Wayne State dominated with a 25-11, 25-15, 25-10 victory. They were led by Alyssa Frauendorfer, who has 12 kills and hit .800 for the match; and Elizabeth Gebhardt, who added 11 kills and hit .556. McClintock had 34 assists and Hughes led four players in digs with 16.

The Wayne State volleyball team took care of business on Saturday, sweeping Kentucky Wesleyan and beating host Southern Indiana in four sets to start the season 4-0.

In the opener, the Wildcats made quick work of Kentucky Wesleyan, winning in straight sets 25-13, 25-5, 25-13. Wayne State had just four errors in 76 attacks, recording 37 kills and hitting .434 for the match. All 15 players saw action, with Gebhardt leading the attack with 11 kills and a .786 hitting percentage. Hughes added nine kills and Frauendorfer had six. Michaela Mestl had 13 digs and McClintock had 28 assists.

In the finale, Wayne State took care of the host Screaming Eagles in four sets, winning 25-22, 21-25, 25-16, 25-17. Hughes led a balanced attack with 15 kills, Gebhardt added 13 and Frauendorfer and Mestl each had 11. McClintock put up 51 assists in the win. Hughes had 22 digs, Mestl had 19 and Courtney VanGronigen picked up 17.

Four Wildcats were named to the All-Tournament Team, as Gebhardt, Hughes, McClintock and VanGronigen were on the seven-player squad.

Wayne State will play in the Rockburst Tournament in Kansas City, Mo., on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 11-12.

Kortney Keller is about to get a welcome home from teammates after hitting a grand slam homer to help Wayne to an 8-0 shutout of Columbus Lakeview on Tuesday.

Keller grand slam keys 8-0 home win

Junior third baseman Kortney Keller had a grand slam and five RBIs to help the Wayne High softball team post an 8-0 shutout of Columbus Lakeview in softball action Tuesday at the Summer Sports Complex.

Keller hit the one-out dinger over the wall in left center in the first inning to get the hosts out to a 4-0 lead. She added an RBI single later in the game and had two of Wayne's five hits in the six-inning contest.

That was more than enough for junior pitcher Hannah Belt, who threw a one-hit shutout and was solid all around with nine strikeouts, one walk and one hit batter to earn the win.

Danica Schaefer scored three runs in the victory, and Jenna Trenhalle's triple highlighted a five-hit attack.

Wayne plays at Tekamah-Herman on Thursday and competes in the Omaha Mercy Invitational on Saturday before returning home Monday for a triangular with Schuyler and West Point-Beemer.

Wayne State up one to No. 5 in AVCA poll

The Wayne State volleyball team moved up one spot in the AVCA Div. II Coaches Poll this week after a 4-0 weekend at the Dunn Hospitality Tournament in Evansville, Ind.

The foursome of NSIC schools leads a dominating presence of the Central Region at the top of this week's poll. While preseason-No. 5 Nebraska-Kearney fell to No. 15 this week after a 2-2 weekend, Central Missouri and Washburn both cracked the top 10. Central Missouri moved from 13th to seventh, while Washburn is up to ninth from 14th this week.

Wayne State will face 17th ranked Rockhurst Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the second of four games at the Rockhurst Invitational this weekend in Kansas City, Mo.

Area teams debut at Classic

WISNER - Three area teams kicked off the 2015 campaign with play in the Northeast Nebraska Classic volleyball tournament, as Wayne, Wakefield and Allen saw action in the 12-team field.

Both Wayne and Wakefield came away with splits in the first day of competition on Thursday in Wisner, while Allen went 0-2 in their bracket at Pender.

The Blue Devils opened with a 25-14, 25-21 win over Bancroft-Rosalie, led by Allison Echtenkamp's seven kills and Morgan Keating's five. Melinda Longe added four kills and Lyndy Sandoz put down three. Echtenkamp had four blocks, Brenna Vovos had 11 assists and Peyton Roach had 10 digs.

Wayne lost a close one to Lutheran High Northeast in three sets, falling 18-25, 25-20, 22-25. Echtenkamp had 10 kills, Sandoz had seven kills and five blocks, Keating had five and Tarah Stegemann had four. Vovos had 12 assists and Sandoz added 11.

Wakefield's volleyball split the three games in its bracket, beating Scriber-Snyder 25-22, 25-22 and losing to host Wisner-Pilger 25-14, 25-14.

In the first game, Megan Borg led a balanced attack with four kills, Josephine Peitz added three and Avery Zamzow and Jennifer Lopez each had two. Kimberly Calderon had 18 digs and Tanna Pretzer dished out 11 assists.

Against the Gators, Peitz and Zamzow each had three kills and Calderon had 10 digs.

The Lady Eagles found the going rough on the first day, losing both games in pool play. Allen lost to Oakland-Craig 25-17, 25-22, then fell to North Bend 25-20, 25-23. Individual statistics were not submitted at press time.

On Saturday, Wayne took runner-up honors in the Silver Division at Wisner, while Allen won three games and finished first in the Bronze Division at Pender.

In Silver Division action, Wayne opened with a 25-23, 25-10 loss to eventual division winner Oakland-Craig, but came back to beat Wakefield (25-18, 25-12) and Archbishop Bergan (25-16, 16-25, 25-13) to place second in the division.

In the Oakland-Craig game, Echtenkamp led a balanced net attack with five kills and Sandoz added three. Vovos had two ace serves, Sandoz had six assists and Roach led the defense with 17 digs while Stegemann added nine and Vovos Wayne State had two backs crack the century mark, led by Alex Kline's 167 yards on 17 carries. Ryan Ludlow, who played just one half, had 114 yards on 16 tries.

The Wildcats will get a real barometer for where they stand this week, as they travel north Saturday for a 6 p.m. matchup against ninth-ranked Minnesota Duluth, who is coming off a close loss at top-ranked Minnesota State in last week's season opener.

"I think Moses was playing guard the last time Duluth started 0-2, so they'll be geared up and ready for us on their home opener," McLaughlin said. "We feel we have a good football team and we'll go out and play well and see how things go Saturday."

 for the event - that's kinda scary for the rest of the Class C field.

- One of the area athletes I'm interested in watching develop this fall is Wayne High quarterback Beau Bowers.

The sophomore slinger has put up some pretty decent numbers in his first two starts under center, hitting 78.6 percent (33-of-42) of his passes for 406 yards and four touchdowns in losses to O'Neill and Fort Calhoun.

For a sophomore starting on varsity for the first time, Bowers shows an unusual sense of calm in the pocket and throws a pretty good ball. A lot of season remains - including some serious tests against top-ranked Norfolk Catholic, defending champion Boone Central/Newman Grove and perennial power Pierce - but early indicators are that the Blue Devils' quarterback position looks to be in pretty stable hands for the foreseeable future.

- Annnnd finally, our clubhouse leader in the area sports karaoke contest is Wayne superintendent Mark Lenihan, who belted out a very impressive rendition of the Star Spangled Banner at the Wayne-Columbus Lakeview softball game Tuesday night. He's available for weddings and bah mitzvahs, folks . . .

Wayne girls dominate at W-P

Fourth-quarter rally falls short for Wayne

BEEEMER — You couldn't ask for a much better start to the season for the Wayne High girls cross country team.

All six varsity runners placed in the top 15 and the Blue Devils claimed five of the top seven individual spots to easily win the title in their division of the Wisner-Pilger Invitational on Thursday at Indian Trails Golf Club.

All four Wayne High scoring runners finished in the top six, allowing the Blue Devils to score 15 points and easily outdistance runner-up Hartington-Newcastle in the six-team race.

"It was a fun day," coach Rocky Ruhl said during the weekly taping of Blue Devil Weekly on mywaynews.com. "I was really happy, and I think everybody was happy to show we came through in that meet."

Returning state medalists Marcella Jurotich and Marta Pulfer finished second and third, respectively, to lead the charge for the Blue Devils. The pleasant surprise, though, was the efforts of freshmen Hannah Leonard and Gabi Meyer, who followed in fourth and sixth place.

"It was a good surprise, but we kind of saw this over the summer and (Leonard and Meyer) were running well in the preseason," Ruhl said. "I knew they would help us depth-wise, and they had an outstanding meet."

Wayne's effort was rounded out by senior Mandy Stabler, who finished seventh; and sophomore Molly Hoskins, who placed 14th.

On the boys side, Wayne settled for a fifth-place finish out of eight teams and had two top-20 finishes, as Jack Evetovich and Cole Leonard led the way with respective finishes of 15th and 18th place.

All four Wayne boys scoring runners finished within within 65 seconds of each other, and Ruhl is hoping that they can continue running in a tighter group and move up the board for higher finishes as the season goes on.

"It was a positive getting the top four in close, and if we can move the pack up higher, we'll score well as a team," he said. "We're going to have to, because with the number of teams coming up in our district, they will set the bar high for us and they understand what they'll need to do to score well."

In the small-school division, Winside's boys finished third and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge placed fifth overall.

The Wildcats had two runners finish in the top 10 in their division. Marlowe Kampa led the way with a third-place finish, while Dylan Brogren finished 11th. Sean Mann finished in the top 20, placing 17th.

For the Bears, senior Aaron Haahr was the runner-up and Jordan Jansen finished 10th, accounting for all of LCC's medals in the boys' race.

On the girls' side, Kayli Naeve of LCC finished 15th in the small-school division. She was the lone area girl to compete in the smaller division.

rissa Munsell finishing third and Maura Loberg placing eighth. On the boys side, Jonathan Vick finished second to lead the top efforts.

Wayne runs in the Norfolk Catholic Invitational on Friday and hosts their own meet Tuesday afternoon at Wayne Country Club.

Girls golfers second at Stanton

The Wayne High girls golf team posted a second-place finish Friday at the Stanton Invitational.

Anna Loberg led the Blue Devils with a 115, finishing eighth. Megan Keiser was ninth with a 117, Jewel Knief placed 11th with a 124 and Ashlyn Pecena was 12th with a 127.

The Blue Devils compete in the Lakeview Invitational on Thursday in Columbus and play in the Pierce Invitational on Saturday.

Schweers stars for Morningside

Ashton Schweers, a graduate of Wayne High School, has been a contributor to the early success of the Morningside volleyball team.

The 5-foot-11 sophomore outside hitter posted the first double-figure kill performance of her collegiate career when she slammed 12 kills in the Mustangs' 3-0 sweep of Dakota State. She had a season's high nine digs in the Mustangs' next match against Davenport.

had seven. In the Wakefield match, Echtenkamp had eight kills and Stegemann added seven for the Blue Devils. Echtenkamp had three blocks and Keating added two. Hammer led the defense with 11 digs and Sandoz added nine. Vovos had 14 assists. For Wakefield, Pietz led the attack with five kills and Briana Andrade had four. Calderon had 18 digs and Savannah Nelson added eight digs and seven assists.

In the Bergan game, Stegemann had the big game with 12 kills and 13 digs. Echtenkamp added seven kills, Sandoz had six and Keating had four kills and two blocks. Hammer had 24 digs and Roach had 21 to lead the defense, with Sandoz adding 15. Vovos had 14 assists and Sandoz had seven.

Wakefield went 0-3 in the bracket, losing to Bergan (25-15, 25-17) and Oakland-Craig (25-12, 25-18). Highlights of those games were not available at press time.

In the Bronze Division at Pender, Allen went 2-1 and won the bracket on a tie-breaker, as three of the four teams in the bracket went 2-1. Allen beat Bancroft-Rosalie (25-18, 24-26, 25-16) and Scribner-Snyder (25-8, 25-20) before losing to Pender, 25-21, 25-27, 25-21. Bancroft-Rosalie was second and Pender was third.

Wayne plays in the Boone Central Invitational on Saturday and is at Guardian Angels Central Catholic in West Point on Tuesday. Wakefield will host its own tournament on Thursday and Saturday before hosting a Tuesday triangular. Allen plays in a triangular at Winnebago on Tuesday before hosting Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday, Sept. 17.

For the second time in as many weeks, the Wayne High football team's hopes for a comeback win were dashed at the end.

The Blue Devils scored with :06 left and tried an onside kick to get one last chance at a comeback, but visiting Fort Calhoun was able to fall on the ball and spoil Wayne's homecoming with a 31-28 win Friday at Wayne State College's Memorial Stadium.

The Blue Devils and Pioneers went back and forth during the first half. Wayne did its damage in the air, as Beau Bowers and Ryan Jaixen hooked up on scoring passes of 3 and 64 yards to help Wayne forge a 13-13 tie at intermission.

The Blue Devils took the lead a third time on their first possession of the third quarter, as Bowers got loose and ran 43 yards for a score to give Wayne High a 20-13 lead with 9:25 left in the third period.

Fort Calhoun was able to turn the momentum in their favor after that, however. They scored on a short run late in the third period to cut the Wayne lead to one at 20-19, then added a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to take the lead for good.

Offensively, Bowers was 20-of-27 for 242 yards with three touchdowns and two interceptions. Jaixen and Grayson McBride both had 67 yards in receptions, with McBride recording a team-high seven catches. Gamble had 54 yards in five receptions. Tyler Pecena led the ground attack with 65 yards on 16 carries.

Defensively, Schuyler Schweers led the 0-2 Blue Devils with 12 total tackles and a sack, while Pecena had 10 tackles and Cole Koenig recorded six.

Wayne goes on the road the next two weeks, facing Arlington on Friday and Columbus Lakeview next week.

Osmond offense too much for Winside in 46-20 loss

WINSIDE - Osmond had too many weapons for Winside on Friday, as the visiting Tigers were able to leave Finch Memorial field with a 46-20 win over the Wildcats.

Osmond built a 26-0 lead before the Wildcats were able to get on the board in the second period. Quarterback Marcos Escalara found Hayden King on a 38-yard touchdown pass to get the host Wildcats back in the game at 26-6.

Osmond came back and held a 32-6 halftime lead. Winside was able to close out the game with a pair of touchdowns, as Isaiah Muhs scored on a 10-yard run and Brandon Watters found Koby Ellis for a 23-yard touchdown pass. William Bullard's point-after run closed out the scoring.

Statistically speaking, it was a close game with Winside actually holding a 283-232 edge in total yards. Five turnovers hurt the Wildcat cause, however.

Escalara was 5-of-19 for 76 yards to lead the passing offense, with King's four receptions for 70 yards leading the way. King also had 56 yards in 10 carries, while Escalara had 51 yards in 15 tries and Bullard had 36 yards in four carries.

Defensively, Zachary Morris had 8.5 total tackles to lead the Winside defense, while King had 6.5 and Watters and Escalara each had five.

Winside plays on the road this Friday at O'Neill St. Mary's.

WSC soccer opens with draws

The Wayne State women's soccer team opened the 2015 season with a 1-1 tie against Northwest Missouri State in action Thursday at the Wayne State Soccer Complex.

The Wildcats were first to get on the board, scoring in the 13th minute when Josie Brown put the ball out to Carys Hund, who snuck it past the Bearcats keeper to give Wayne State a 1-0 advantage.

"All of our freshmen have been getting on the end of some of our scoring chances," coach Bruce Erickson said during taping of the Wayne State Coaches Show on www.mywaynews.com. "Josie (Brown) had a great assist on that play, and Carys is going to be somebody to watch. That won't be the last goal she scores."

Northwest came back just past the midway point of the first half, with Jessica Breyfogle scoring on a pass from Anna Holden. Neither team could find the goal in the second half or overtime, with the game ending in the deadlock.

Brown had seven shots, three on goal, and an assist to lead the 0-0-1 Wildcats. Hund had three shots, two coming on goal. Kylie Comba picked up eight saves in goal.

Wayne State outshot Northwestern Oklahoma State 27-5, but neither team could find the goal as the Wildcat women's soccer team played to a scoreless tie against the visiting Rangers Sunday at the Wayne State Soccer Pitch.

The visiting Rangers had the best scoring chance in the first half with a penalty kick by Andrea Palacios, but Wildcat goalkeeper Kylie Comba made a strong save to preserve the scoreless tie. The Wildcats held Northwestern Oklahoma State without a shot the rest of the contest, but couldn't find the net themselves as they settled for their second tie of the season in as many matches.

"She read it well," Erickson said of Comba's save on the penalty kick. "Part of what you want to do is to put pressure on the shooter, and she did a good job of putting that pressure on the shooter and being energetic, and she guessed and reacted right. It was a crucial moment in the game."

Brown led Wayne State with seven shots, five coming on goal, followed by freshman Christina Stasi with six shots and four on goal. Comba was credited with five saves in the tie.

The Wildcats, 0-0-2, are home again Thursday evening, hosting Nebraska-Kearney in a 7 p.m. contest at Memorial Stadium before starting NSIC action Sunday at 1 p.m. against Augustana at the WSC Pitch.

Lady Bears fall at Homer Tuesday

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge volleyball team dropped a three-set match to Homer on Tuesday, losing 25-22, 25-17, 25-22.

Kaci Groene led the offensive attack with eight kills and a block, Bryn Schutte added two aces and three kills, Bayley Holloway had two kills and an ace, and Katie Leapley had three kills and a block. LCC will play in the Wakefield Invitational this weekend.

Winside netters open with road matches

The Winside volleyball team are embracing their role as road warriors as work continues on their gymnasium, starting the season 2-5 after two triangulars and a quadrangular to open the season.

On Thursday, the Wildcats split their season-opening triangular at Elkhorn Valley, sweeping Wausa in the opener 25-21, 25-20 before losing to the host Lady Falcons, 25-21, 25-23.

In the Wausa game, Ellie Jaeger led the attack with nine kills and Jami Jaeger added three. Alex Bargstadt had 13 assists, Callie Finn had 10 digs and Kelly Tweedy added nine.

Against the Lady Falcons, Jaeger had seven kills, Finn added six and Tweedy put down four. Bargstadt had 17 assists. Tweedy recorded three ace serves and 10 digs, Finn had 14 digs and Sarah Wolfe picked up eight.

On Saturday, the Wildcats went 0-3 in the Howells-Dodge Quadrangular, starting the day with a 25-20, 25-18 to state-rated Howells-Dodge. Tweedy led the team with four kills, while Jaeger, Finn and Jadyn Prince each had two. Bargstadt had 10 assists and Finn and Wolfe each had 12 digs to lead the defense.

had 10 assists and Tweedy had nine digs to lead the defense.

Winside split a triangular at Walthill on Tuesday, defeating the host Lady Jays 25-10, 25-11 before losing to Bancroft-Rosalie in a three-set thriller, 23-25, 27-25, 28-26.

In the opener, Ellie Jaeger had eight kills and Tweedy added four. Bargstadt had 15 assists and was a co-leader with Finn with eight digs. Tweedy had three service aces and Alyssa Brogren and Ellie Jaeger each had two.

In the nightcap, the two teams battled in a great matchup. Ellie Jaeger had a team-high 17 kills while Tweedy and Finn each had 10. Bargstadt had 35 assists. Ellie Jaeger had nine blocks and 12 digs, Tweedy had 20 digs, Bargstadt picked up 17, Finn had 15, Haylee Cummings had 13 and Jami Jaeger had 12.

Winside plays in the Wakefield Invitational this weekend and is at Homer for a Tuesday triangular.

WSC runners compete in Augie twilight meet

Wayne State's men had two runners finish in the top 50 among a field of 266 runners to open the season at the Augustana Twilight Invitational Friday in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Justin Brueggemann and Nick Fly finished 36th and 48th, respectively, to lead the Wildcat men to a 14th place finish out of 20 teams in the meet. Brueggemann ran in 20:34 while Fly came home in 20:44 on the four-mile course.

Also running for the WSC men were Jack Doughty (141st, 22:04), Cortland Cassidy (157th, 22:20), Corbin Lehn (170th, 22:38), Nick Schmit (193rd, 22:55) and Joey Black (209th, 23:26).

On the women's side, Wayne State finished 18th as a team out of 20 teams and were led by Andrea DeSimone, who finished 57th out of 211 runners in a time of 18:58. Also running were Molly Kingsley (91st, 19:36), Mary Alderson (171st, 21:46), Ellen Wulf (197th, 23:41) and Megan Svitak (207th, 25:06).

Wayne State will next compete in the Dakota State Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 12 in Madison, S.D.

Trojans blast Bears 46-8

LAUREL - The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge gridders fell to 0-2 on the season Friday with a 46-8 loss to Hartington Cedar Catholic.

The visiting Trojans scored twice in the opening period, then broke the game open to take a 39-0 lead into the locker room. LCC killed the Trojans' shutout hopes late when Dillan Wolfgram found Mason Forsberg with a 20-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter. The duo also hit on the two-point conversion pass.

Offensively, Wolfgram was 7-of-21 for 112 yards. D.J. Spahr was the leading receiver, picking up 68 yards on four catches. LCC was limited to just 38 yards on 24 carries by the Hartington Cedar Catholic defense.

Defensively, Forsberg and Nolan Casey both had four tackles to lead the way, while Wolfgram and Cody Wilson each had three. Spahr had an interception and Wolfgram and Trey Erwin both recovered fumbles.

The Bears hit the road this week for a Friday date at Crofton.

Coming to terms with being a senior citizen

I know I'm a Senior Citizen, I know it; I don't have to like it, but I have to accept it. And, I've had three confirmations of it this summer. The most recent was a friend from Tabitha whose daughter is in nursing school in Denver. She has to teach an "Elder" something, so she asked if she could teach me. Well, of course, I could not think of a thing I needed to learn; ha! So, she's going to come over and show me how to Skype or use Facetime on my phone. I can hardly wait.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Then, last week, we had a yard man come over to get rid of the volunteer trees and the spreading Hostas under the deck. It was hard, muggy work and I brought him and this young helper each a huge glass of tea. That was the least I could do; I didn't even offer them some cookies, as I'm kind of hoarding them. The helper kept exclaiming about how kind I was to do that, and he informed me he was going to tell this girl friend about the "sweet old lady" who had treated them to iced tea!

needed some work on it. He took it to his mechanic, and that guy said, "Do you mean a little, old lady drove this on the interstate?" Now, Mom had known she was a little old lady; she just wasn't ready to be called that. I know the feeling!

I was reminded of the time that my Mom drove to Papillion to my Sis and her husband decided her car

Earlier this year, my cousin and I went to Waco for the funeral of the husband of a good friend, (on the interstate.) As we got closer to the exit, we heard some ominous sounds from the front of the car. We pulled over at the truck stop there and found a kind of pan had come loose and was hitting the road at intervals. We drove ever so slowly on the gravel, about three miles, to the church.

When we pulled into that parking lot, there was a young man in jeans actually directing traffic. (The man who died had been a fifty year fireman and there were a lot of people there). Lyn, my cousin, asked if he would look under her car and tell her what he thought it needed. He got down on his hands and knees and told us he thought he could tie it up and would do so after the service began.

We were relieved to hear that and went on into the church. During the service, another friend, a member of the church, had been working in the kitchen on the lunch and went out to get some fresh air. She saw the Good Samaritan working on the car and asked what he was doing. He replied, "Oh, some little old ladies from Lincoln drove in here with the pan loose and I'm tying it up again."

At the lunch, we were talking about the problem, and the fact that this kind fellow had offered to fix it. The gal from the kitchen said, "Oh, is that your car? I wondered who the two little old ladies from Lincoln were?" We all had to laugh, as did the lunch fixer, because she's a couple of years older than us. I told my cousin she needed to quit hanging out with me because her hair is not grey!

It's a really strange feeling, believe me. I can look into the mirror and see a little, old lady, but I don't feel like one, most days. We had the sad news today that another one of our nurse classmates died last week and the gal in Colorado emailed that she is in a state of denial and that we are all too young to be dying! In fact, she said, it was just the other day we were running up and down the halls of the hospital. So, I guess it's common to all of us.

And, I'm trying to make peace with being a "little, old lady". I like the little part, but could do without the other.

Corn stalk diseases become more common

In the last week, stalk rot diseases have become evident in some area fields.

Farmers around the state have noticed some corn "drying down too fast or too early." This appears to be anthracnose. Hybrids and in-breds vary in susceptibility to anthracnose. There are three distinct phases of anthracnose: leaf blight, top die-back, and stalk rot.

In Nebraska, leaf blight lesions first appear in early-to-mid June. Immature lesions are not diagnostic and can easily be confused with Gray Leaf Spot or Eye spot. Mature lesions are irregular in shape and can expand to encompass large sections of the leaf. Leaf blight can also occur later in the season following pollination.

Top die-back symptoms first appear about one-to-three weeks after tasseling. Affected fields have the appearance of a green band across the middle of the plants. Under the sheath on the stalk surface, black discoloration is evident. With a 20X-magnification hand lens, setae can be seen. Anthracnose stalk rot symptoms of the lower stalk can begin soon after tasseling but surface discoloration and lodging usually occur later. If the stalk is split from top to bottom, discoloration at the nodes may be evident.

Corn stalk rots occur to some extent every year, but when large areas are affected, it can complicate and hamper harvest and cut into yields. On average, stalk rot diseases reduce yield by about 5 percent each year, although losses can be as high as 10-20 percent and on rare occasions, 100 percent.

Ag Happenings

Extension Educator

If more than 10 percent of plants exhibit stalk rot symptoms, try to harvest that field early to reduce the potential for plant lodging and yield loss. Under severe stalk rot conditions, it may be more economical to harvest early at higher moisture and dry grain than to experience severe harvest losses.

No fungicides are labeled for the treatment of stalk rots; however, fungicides can be used to effectively treat other diseases which might weaken the plant and predispose it to stalk rot. Maintaining optimal soil fertility can help limit plant stress and the potential for ears to drain carbohydrates and nutrients from the stalk.

Anniversary

Heinemanns celebrating 50th wedding anniversary

An anniversary celebration for Ellen and Eldon Heinemann will be held Saturday, Sept. 12 at Miss Molly's, located at 203 Main Street Wayne.

The event will take place from 2-4 p.m.

Ellen Baker and Eldon Heinemann were married at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne on Sept. 12, 1965. They have lived southeast of Wayne since their marriage.

They are the parents of three children: Dave and Jeanni Heinemann of South Sioux City, Christine and Scott Owen of Norfolk and Tim and Anita Heinemann of Savage, Minn.

They also have six grandchildren.

Cards can be sent to the couple at 58125 854 Road, Wakefield, Neb. 68784.

Prescription drug take-back set for Sept. 26

The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) has announced that the National Prescription Take-Back Day will be Saturday, Sept. 26 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

There will be over 5,000 collection sites in communities across the nation so local residents can return their unused, unwanted, unneeded or expired prescription drugs for safe disposal. Over the past 10 years Americans have turned in over 4.8 million pounds of prescription medications at these events.

While no specific activities are being conducted at Shopko Home-town Pharmacy in Wayne, allowable medications are allowed to be returned to the pharmacy every day during regular business hours.

U-Save Pharmacy in Wayne also takes back drugs as part of the Take Away program, which allows for certain types of drugs to be returned to the pharmacy.

Of the 2.2 million exposures managed by poison centers in 2013, about half were medication exposure, and the vast majority of fatalities reported to poison centers were attributable to the misuse and/or abuse of medications. In fact, 16 percent of pediatric (under 6 years of age) fatalities reported to poison centers were attributable at least in part to pain relievers. In 2013, more than 16,000 Americans died from prescription opioid overdoses.

It is important to get rid of old and outdated medicines as soon as you don't need them anymore. Some medications can become dangerous or ineffective over time. Other medicines can be abused by someone looking through your medicine stock.

On the National Prescription Take-Back Day communities will be sponsoring take back sites. There are also sites that will take medications all year round. Call (800) 222-1222 and poison center nurses will be able to answer all your questions and help you quickly locate the nearest take-back site.

Critical of recent patriotism column

By DUANE SCHROEDER
Wayne Resident

According to Sen. David Bloomfield's Legislative Update appearing in the Aug. 27, 2015 edition of The Wayne Herald, he would like to enforce a 1951 Nebraska statute requiring public school teachers to sign a loyalty oath.

He describes the oath as having come out of the red scare of the McCarthy Era of the 1950's. I and a great many others are of the opinion that nothing good came from McCarthyism. Mr. Bloomfield apparently has a different opinion.

Mr. Bloomfield states that "The American Civil Liberties Union is telling the school districts that enforcing this statute is unconstitutional and will expose the school districts to lawsuits." He is right and the school would lose. The U.S. Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled these types of loyalty oaths to be unconstitutional on the grounds that they are too vague and subject to wide interpretation (Omaha World-Herald, Aug. 17, 2015).

In 1967, the Lancaster County District Court considered a Nebraska Loyalty Oath for all public employees. A typist hired by the University of Nebraska refused to sign the oath and she was fired. She sued, alleging the oath law was vague and violated her freedom of expression. The Court held the law unconstitutional. It appears the State did not appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court (Omaha World-Herald, March 28, 2015).

Under our system, the U.S. Supreme Court is the final arbiter of whether or not a particular law is unconstitutional. The Court has ruled loyalty oaths like Nebraska's are unconstitutional. That is the end of it. That decision is the law of the land. Whether we agree or not, the Court's decision is final and binding on everyone, individuals, states and local government subdivisions alike.

Why does Sen. Bloomfield think that one can teach patriotism by attempting to enforce an unconstitutional loyalty oath? Such an attempt violates a core principle of our system of government. We are a government of law.

Although Mr. Bloomfield recognizes "our past has had less than stellar moments and we must learn from our mistakes," he goes on to state, "Maybe if our schools were to concentrate on how great this country is rather than the flaws of our country, the students would develop a sense of community."

Apparently, Mr. Bloomfield would have us teach an idealized version of the American Story, emphasizing the good and minimizing the not-so-good. That is not history – it is propaganda, more at home in a totalitarian country than in the U.S.A.

History is an honest study of what happened, not what we wished would have happened – the good, the bad and the ugly. A proper study of American history will impart a sense of optimism. Despite our failures and missteps, we have made progress. The America of 2015 is much better than it was in 1776. Then, only white propertied males could vote. Slavery was legal (it was later recognized and even protected in the Constitution); women had very limited rights, and so on.

We have, over the course of our history, tried to – and made tremendous progress toward – implementing the ideals expressed by the Declaration of Independence: "All men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Progress towards achieving those ideals has occurred because people dared challenge the status quo and point out where we fell short. The true genius and greatness of our country is that, ultimately, we do believe in and do want to live up to those ideals expressed in the Declaration of Independence. Although it can take years, or even decades, usually we do recognize where we have fallen short and do something about it.

However, first someone must be willing to challenge the status quo and point out what is wrong. We would do ourselves a tremendous disservice if we attempt to teach a sanitized version of American history, and discourage students from discussing where we fall short of our ideals. Students certainly need to be taught America's strengths and virtues, but they also must be taught it is OK – and even their obligation – to point out where we fall short.

Our country will never reach a state of perfection, but we can strive to make things better. Our young people need to understand that discussing our country's shortcomings is not disloyalty, but rather an important first step toward solving a problem and making things better.

If you think about it, much of American history is actually part of a long conversation about those words written back in 1776: "All men are created equal" (and they have certain rights). Exactly what do those words mean and how do we implement the ideals expressed by those words? The conversation can get loud, even confrontational, and make some people uncomfortable. That is OK – Democracy is messy.

That conversation begun in 1776 continues to this day. Much of what is in the news is, in the end, part of that conversation about the meaning of those words in the Declaration of Independence. Race relations, voter rights, the plight of the middle class, access to health care, income inequality, etc. The conversation will continue as long as there is a United States of America. We dare not discourage our young people from being part of that conversation by giving them the idea that recognizing and discussing our nation's flaws and shortcomings is somehow bad or unpatriotic.

Mark Twain may have said it best: "Each man must for himself alone decide what is right and what is wrong, which course is patriotic and which isn't. You cannot shirk this and be a man. To decide against your conviction is to be an unqualified and inexcusable traitor, both to yourself and to your country, let men label you as they may."

I cast my lot with Mr. Twain.

Lawmaking on a slippery slope?

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Statewide ballot initiatives have been allowed in Nebraska for more than 100 years. There are 21 other states that allow such initiatives brought about by the petition process. Since 1912 there have been 69 such measures put before voters and roughly a third of them have been successful.

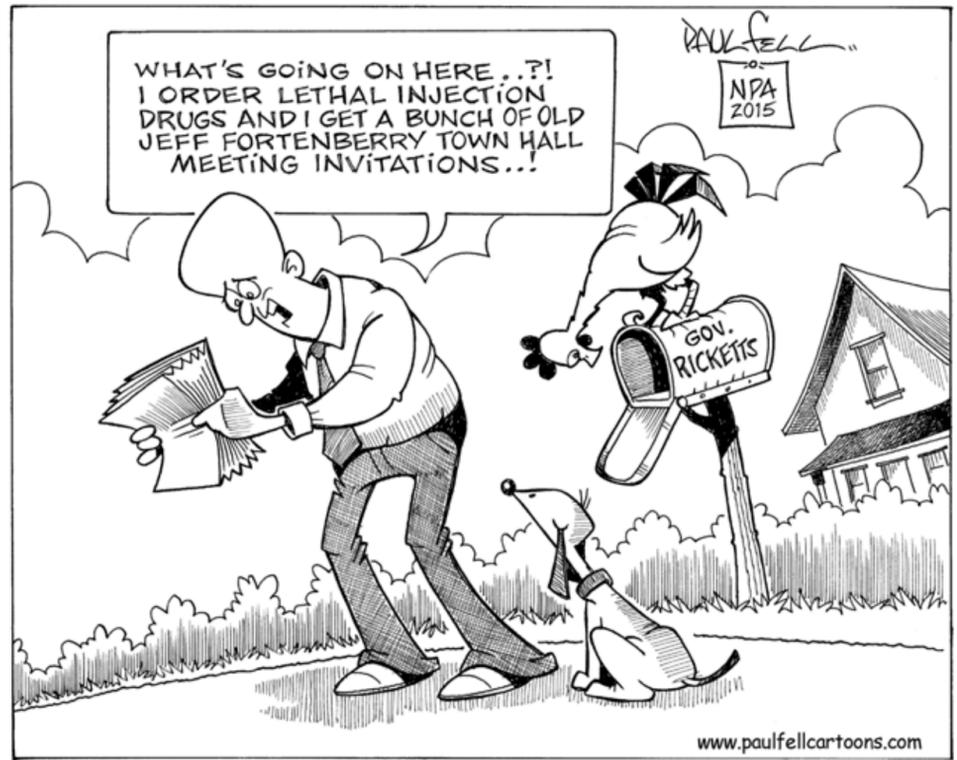

Nebraska's unique one-house legislature was created by a successful resolution approved by voters in 1934. Likewise, the length of service by those elected senators was limited to two terms by the initiative process.

Popular subjects of said petition drives have included everything from a bottle deposit fee on beverages to gambling issues and taxes. The latest to come before voters deals with the death penalty.

It has been nearly a decade since Ed Jaksha, a self-proclaimed tax watchdog, died in Omaha. The founder of the Nebraska Taxpayer Association led numerous petition drives; his most successful was what he dubbed the declaration of independence by the people of Nebraska. His group collected 163,294 signatures to get a ban on property taxes before voters. The measure was defeated when 64 percent of the voters said no.

Recently, representatives of Nebraskans for the Death Penalty said they had collected 166,692 signatures. If verified, there would be a ballot issue on the death penalty in the 2016 general election. State Treasurer Don Stenberg and several state senators who voted against the repeal were on hand to announce the results of the campaign, which was funded in large part by Governor Pete Ricketts and his father – contributing $300,000 of the slightly more than $400,000 collected. Stenberg was attorney general the last time Nebraska executed a man on death row.

So what's wrong with this picture? One can argue that the governor can dig into his deep pockets and contribute to whatever causes he chooses. He vetoed lawmaker's repeal of the death penalty during the recently completed session. Likewise, the nine state senators who voted against the repeal and also voted against the Legislature's successful override of Ricketts' veto are free to do as they wish. One of them said he gathered more than 1,700 petition signatures.

The problem is best described by University of Nebraska at Omaha political scientist Paul Landow in an interview with Bill Kelly of NET. Landow asked, "If you've elected a representative why do you need all these mechanisms that would allow you to overturn what your representative has already done?"

I agree with Landow who also notes that election results could be influenced by anything from money spent on advertising to a news event shifting public opinion at the last minute. Chilling thoughts that an outcome could be bought by the highest dollar or an "event." One has to watch only one episode of the popular TV series "Scandal" or the Netflix series "House of Cards" to imagine what that could look like. Heck, just pay attention to the national news about Congress. Anything is possible.

Landow also told Kelly that predictions based on the state's political party preference or past election results are not solid. I agree. In Nebraska, conservatives don't always support so-called conservative issues and liberals don't always support so-called liberal issues. The Nebraska electorate is very unpredictable.

Interestingly, Nebraska lawmakers can also propose Constitutional amendments, and have done so quite successfully. The year that Jaksha's big tax issue lost at the polls, seven amendments proposed by the Legislature passed by wide margins.

A year ago, lawmakers passed a proposed Constitutional Amendment to raise the minimum wage. That measure was vetoed by then-

Governor Dave Heineman and a veto override attempt fell short. Two state senators who had supported the measure in the Legislature got behind a successful petition drive and voters approved the wage hike in the last general election.

Several political analysts say the petition process in Nebraska is healthy and a necessity in a state with only one legislative house. They call it a check on the power of the lobby or others with big bucks.

I'll buy that. But it still bothers me when seated legislators and the executive branch get involved in the referendum process because they didn't get their way. If all it takes is to have a veto overridden or to be on the losing side in a hard-fought debate, imagine how many petition issues are looming.

Let's keep representative government alive and not send lawmaking down this slippery slope.

Running government more like business

Over the past several months, I have shared with you some of the initiatives my administration has launched to help grow Nebraska. One of the focuses I have talked about is running government more like a business. My administration has worked to apply business principles in state government by starting to measure performance, improve operational excellence, and build a customer-friendly culture. In applying these principles, we have set metrics for agency performance, created job descriptions for cabinet-level positions, started to design new software to automate prison sentence calculations, and changed processes to improve results at the ACCESSNebraska call highest ACT composite score average for states testing over 80% of their students. Our state is also on firm financial footing. We boast the highly-coveted AAA bond rating which is strengthened by our very low debt per person.

The rankings also show where Nebraska has some room to improve our standing. Nebraskans pay an average of $2,592 in state taxes which puts us at 26th highest due in part to our 26th-highest-in-the-nation income taxes. Not included in this number is our property taxes. Additionally, the Tax Foundation ranks us 12th highest for property taxes. My administration is focused on putting together tax plans to address our state's high tax climate because there is nothing competitive about being middle-of-the-pack. It presents a challenge to attracting new families and recruiting businesses to our state. This year, we were able to provide $408 million in property tax relief through the Property Tax Credit Relief Fund, which is an over 45% increase over previous years. This was a good first step, but we must do more. Right now, I am working on plans, talking with tax experts, and meeting with senators as we prepare tax reform proposals for the upcoming legislative session.

As the legislative session draws closer, my administration will share more details about the next steps for tax reform and how we can work to improve Nebraska's standing in these rankings. In the coming months, I hope to continue to hear from you. My office is continually looking for new ways to make state government more customer-focused so that it can work for you and for all Nebraskans. You can share your ideas with me by emailing my office at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or calling (402) 471-2244. I look forward to hearing from you.

Northeast board approves 2015-16 budgets, lowers levy

The Northeast Community College Board of Governors has given unanimous approval to the College's 2015-16 budgets, which includes a decrease of 3.69 percent in the property tax levy. The action took place Sept. 8 following public hearings during the board's monthly meeting in O'Neill.

As in its previously approved budgets, the projected tax levy will remain below the authorized limit as set by the state. Nebraska State Statute establishes a general fund property tax levy rate limit not to exceed the difference between 11.25 cents and the rate levied for the building improvement fund per $100 of taxable property valuation. The total property tax levy for all funds of 9.53 cents, which includes the two-cent building improvement levy, and is down from 9.90 cents in 2014-15.

According to Lynne Koski, vice president of administrative services at Northeast Community College, the owner of a home in Northeast's 20 county service area with a taxable value of $100,000 would pay $95.35 or $3.65 less over the previous year.

During Tuesday's public hearings, Koski reviewed the general operating budget of $46,411,841, the building improvement budget of $7,967,672, and the ADA/hazardous material budget of $981,061. The total for these three tax supported budgets is $55,360,574.

Koski said the building improvement budget is down from the previous year. "The building improvement budget is lower since the College has used funds it has reserved over the years for the purpose of constructing the recently opened Applied Technology and Physical Plant buildings on the Norfolk campus," she said.

Koski said increases in the 2015-16 general operating budget are attributed to the operational expenses of college facilities, personnel, and support services to help students succeed in college. She said funding for the College's general fund budget comes primarily from student tuition and fees, state aid, and property taxes.

Additionally, the College's self-supporting funds budget for 2015-16 totals $70,767,819, an increase from last year's $40,905,068. These funds include auxiliary, restricted, building improvement restricted, debt retirement, loan and agency funds.

Koski said that these budgets are not supported by tax dollars. "These budgets are funded through the College's reserves and projected revenue. Much of the dollars are reflected in revenue bonds for the College's new residence hall and dining facility, currently under construction in Norfolk. These bonds will be paid through student housing fees. The finalization of the financing on the new extended campus in O'Neill is included in these budgets as well."

The Board of Governors also approved a budget lid override as set forth by state statute. Koski said the override allows the college to accept additional state aid or property tax dollars if they would become available.

Dr. Michael Chipps, college president, said general operating funds provide for the continued work of the College as well as ensuring that its strategic goals are met.

"Our board members understand how important it is to have a budget that allows them to achieve their goals through the Vision 2020 five year strategic plan, while at the same time being fiscally prudent. This is the second consecutive year that Northeast's property tax levy has dropped," he said. "Similar to a homeowner balancing their checkbook and understanding how much they have to work with, Northeast has been able to do the same thing in looking forward to opportunities to meet the ongoing needs of our constituents. This budget supports the Vision 2020 plan for the future of Northeast Community College."

Gene Willers, of Pilger, chairperson of the Board of Governors, said it is essential for the board to maintain a balance when it comes to the budget.

"Fellow Board members are mindful of our responsibility to be good stewards of public funds. This year, we were able to lower the tax levy while maintaining our commitment of providing a quality education to our students. I commend the administration in its efforts in finding a way to move us forward through thoughtful planning and financing of the college," he said.

"The Board of Governors has reviewed the budget and determined that it reflects good stewardship in all accounts," said Shirley Petsche, of Petersburg, chairperson of the board's finance committee. "Education is paramount for everyone - from our children and grandchildren to non-traditional students - in the formation of essential job skills for the marketplace. This budget reflects the Board's goals, which focus on student success and student access."

New online tool enables conservation assistance

Craig Derickson, state conservationist in Nebraska announced that farmers and ranchers can now do business with USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) through a new online tool. The Conservation Client Gateway website gives producers the ability to work with NRCS online to access Farm Bill programs, request assistance, and track payments for their conservation activities.

"What used to require a trip to a USDA Service Center can now be done from a home computer through Conservation Client Gateway," Derickson said. "USDA is committed to providing effective, efficient assistance to its clients, and Conservation Client Gateway is one way to improve customer service."

Conservation Client Gateway enables farmers, ranchers and private landowners to securely:

- Request NRCS technical and financial assistance;
- Review and sign conservation plans and practice schedules;
- Complete and sign an application for a conservation program;
- Review, sign and submit contracts and appendices for conservation programs;
- Document and request certification of completed practices;
- Request and track payments for conservation programs; and - Store and retrieve technical and financial files, including documents and photographs.

Conservation Client Gateway is entirely voluntary, giving producers a choice between conducting business online or traveling to a USDA Service Center.

"We know how busy farmers and ranchers are. Our goal is to make it easy and convenient to work with USDA," Derickson said. "Customers can log in 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to electronically sign documents, apply for conservation programs, access conservation plans, report practice completion, or track the status of conservation payments. Through Conservation Client Gateway, producers have their conservation information at their fingertips, and they can save time and gas money by reducing the number of trips to USDA Service Centers."

Conservation Client Gateway is currently available to individual landowners and will soon be extended to business entities, such as Limited Liability Corporations.

For more information about Conservation Client Gateway, and to sign up to begin using this service, visit: www.nrcs.usda.gov/clientgateway.

WHS Class of 1947 gathers

The Wayne High School class of 1947 met in Wayne Aug. 13-14 for a 68th reunion event.

Several classmates and friends met for a Dutch treat meal at Geno's Steakhouse on Aug. 13, and greeted early arrivals for the reunion.

The reunion luncheon was held at noon on Aug. 14 at Tacos & More. Thirteen classmates, seven spouses and two guests, Darrell Hart's son, Dave and his wife, Carolyn attended. They surprised Darrell and his wife by coming from Minden to visit them. The group had a fun, informal afternoon reminiscing and taking pictures.

Reunion memory scrapbooks from previous reunions were passed around the table for everyone to enjoy talking about. These included pictures and articles starting with the class Minuet picture from second grade, a section on those who have passed away and a new section on all couples and how many years they have had together. Elaine and Lester Menke have been married the longest - 66 years so far.

Several of those who couldn't attend sent letters and pictures. Hollis Frese and Pat Straight read those and updated everyone on the conversations they had with the classmates they had phoned.

The class lost eight classmates since the 66th reunion - Glenville Frevert, Cyril Hansen, David Carhart, Valores (Victor) Mordhorst, Melvin Schroeder, Virginia (Meyer) Kanzler, Joyce (Bichel) Walker and Bill Heine. The class shared many fond memories of each of these close friends.

Those attending the reunion from out of state were Don and Nola Nielson of Littleton, Colo., Darrell and Carolyn Hart of Janesville, Wis. and his son, Dave and wife, Carolyn of Minden.

Those attending from Nebraska included Jim and Ginger Nissen of Lincoln, Jim Bush of Norfolk, Gilbert and Bernice Gramberg of O'Neill, Marion (Foote) Raymer of Fremont, Adeline (Hoeman) Anderson of Winside, Donna (Sorensen) Johnson of Norfolk and Ray Roberts of Carroll.

Attending from Wayne were Lester and Elaine (Test) Menke, Rae and Bill Kugler, Hollis (Johnson) Frese, Ruth (Shufelt) Victor, Pat (Hook) Straight, and guest, Nancy Powers.

Class members voted to have a reunion every year rather than every two years.

Class of 1970 at homecoming

Members of the Wayne High School Class of 1970 held a reunion in a place similar to where they spent many hours while in high school - at a Wayne High football game. The group reminisced about their high school football team, which lost only four games in four years.

Lifestyle

Settling into new routines for school

The schools are back in session and we have settled into our new routines. I know that we are still working out the glitches in our routine at home. One thing that has helped my family is being consistent with our routine.

For example, have you ever told your child that bedtime is at 9 p.m., then the next night let them stay up until 10 p.m. and by the weekend you expect them in bed at 8:30 p.m.? Or what happens when you tell your child to get their homework done right after school and your spouse tells them they don't have to do it until after supper? If these situations sound familiar, it might be time to look at the importance of consistency in your home.

To be an effective parent, it is really important to be consistent in dealing with your children's behavior. No parent can or should expect to be perfectly consistent, but some level of consistency is needed for a child to learn the lessons of social life and feel secure while doing so. It's easier for children to learn appropriate behavior when their environment remains constant.

Take a look at these situations. A child is disciplined for throwing a football in the living room on Monday evening, but is not disciplined for the same action on Wednesday. How do they feel? Your teenager

Thurston County

Jennifer Hansen

came home late after the basketball game. You had agreed that he/she should be home by 11:30 p.m. This is the third time he/she has come home late in the last two weeks. Your spouse says "Oh, don't worry about it, it wasn't too late. Don't get too shook up about it". How does your son or daughter feel? Confused, or my parents don't care, or I can get away with anything? The answer to both situations is your child feels confused. Why? Because consistency was not implemented.

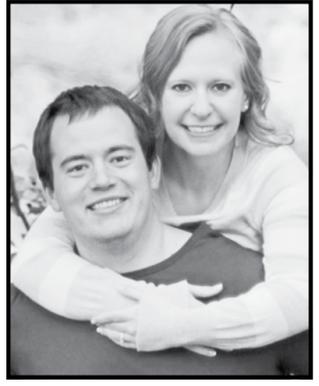

Keep these four aspects of consistent discipline in mind: First of all, results are predictable. As parents your predictable and consistent behavior from situation to situation gives children a sense of security. The importance of a rule is learned by consistently having it enforced. The second aspect is to be consistent between parents in dealing with similar situations. Don't play one parent against the other one. The third aspect of consistency is practice what you preach. Children learn values and beliefs more by examples adults set than by verbal instructions. Finally, the message a parent sends has to be consistent with what the child receives. The child who said to his mother, "Your mouth says you love me, but your eyes say you don't," received a mixed message.

Allow for change. Sometimes your common sense will help you decide when curfew rules needs to be changed or table manners relaxed. As children grow, rules and how we deal with them will change.

Hopefully, these suggestions will make the transition from summer fun to fall learning easier in your home.

Engagements

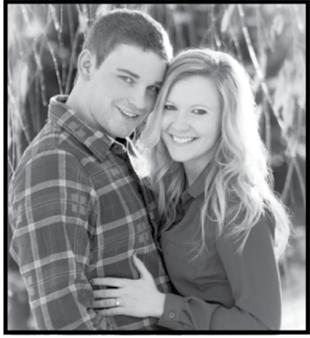

Aksamit-Mangels
Courtney Aksamit and Aaron Mangels, along with their parents, have announced their engagement and upcoming wedding.

The couple's parents are David and Lynda Aksamit of Superior and John and Karen Mangels of Winside.

The couple will exchange wedding vows on April 16, 2016 at Grace Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

The bride-to-be graduated from Superior High School and the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Lincoln with a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing. She is employed as an RN at Overland Park Medical Center in Overland Park, Kan.

Her fiance is a 2009 graduate of Winside High School and graduated from the University of Nebraska Lincoln with a Bachelor of Science degree. He is employed as a meteorologist at Weather or Not in Merriam, Kan.

Matthes-Becker
Katelyn Matthes and Brennan Becker, along with their families, have announced their engagement and upcoming wedding.

Parents of the bride are Lonnie and Pam Matthes of Wayne. Parents of the groom are Tim and Kathy Becker of Creighton.

The couple will exchange vows on Oct. 10, 2015 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The bride-to-be graduated from Wayne High School in 2012. She enlisted in the Air National Guard in 2013, and she works as an Aerospace Medical Technician for the 185th Air Refueling Wing. She is currently studying Nursing at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. She will graduate in 2017 and receive a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree.

Her fiance is a 2011 graduate of Creighton High School and a 2013 graduate of Northeast Community College where he received an Associates degree in Diversified Agriculture. He currently works on his family farm in Creighton and for Olberding Trucking.

Your Timing Won't Be Off When You Invest Systematically

If one of your worries is whether you're investing at the right time, it shouldn't be. By investing a set amount of money on a regular basis, you establish a simple routine that can help make your financial goals a reality.

In addition, investing systematically can help:

- Make it possible to use market fluctuations to your advantage
- Add potential growth and diversification to your portfolio
- Keep your long-term financial goals in focus

Investing a set amount of money on a regular basis does not ensure a profit and does not protect against loss in declining markets. Such a plan involves continual investment in securities regardless of fluctuating price levels of such securities. You should consider your financial ability to continue the purchases through periods of low price levels.

Don't be consumed by your anger

A few weeks ago we celebrated what should have been our son Jacob's 11th birthday. Unlike other parents who are able to throw a birthday party and show pictures on Facebook of their child's momentous day, we instead bought flowers and balloons and delivered them to the cemetery. Years ago this would have made me angry, but this year it didn't. Although my day was filled with many tears, I truly believe that I have let go of my anger.

Aug. 28, 2004 was, hopefully, the worst day of my life. That was the day that our dear Jacob was born and died. He was born prematurely at 26 weeks and fought for his life for the one day he was with us. Moments after he was born, I was rushed into emergency surgery where five surgeons worked for hours to save my life. When I came out of recovery, they wheeled me over to be with Jacob and the rest of my family. Although I was still fighting for my life, I did what every mother does - I was strong for my son.

We tried everything that we could but it was obvious that we had to let him go. We made the decision to take him off of life support and my husband and I held him in our arms as his heart beat for the last time. I will be honest - I'm crying as I write this because it was as if it was just yesterday that this happened. I don't share this because I want pity - I have done enough of that for myself over the years. I write this because I want others to know that anger and bitterness are not the way to live our lives.

After our son died and we got through the funeral, I found that I had such anger within me. I was so angry at God, doctors, etc. I couldn't understand why if there truly was a loving God how he could take such a precious little boy from this world and save a broken sinner as myself. Why did he spare my life that day instead of my son's? I went through the next few years full of bitterness in my heart. Although we were blessed with another son a year later, I just couldn't let go of the anger within me. I wasn't able to fully appreciate the blessings I had around me. It wasn't until God called me to break through the bitterness and anger in my heart and start a life of ministry that I could truly understand what holding on to that anger had done to me.

I know you have all had times in your life where you feel as if God, a friend, family member, etc. has wronged or hurt you. What did you do with this? Do you continue to be angry with them, or have you tried to let go and forgive? If you are still angry with them, how do you feel inside? I can't explain what anger does to us other than that our hearts feel black and awful. I'm sure there is some great psychological term for this, but - I like to call it that icky feeling in my heart.

I'm not an expert, but I know that as long as we continue to hold onto anger and resentment, it destroys us physically, emotionally and spiritually. We are not able to appreciate the blessings that we have in our lives. We are not able to see the beauty around us. Most important, we are not able to love others. We were all created to love others and help others get to Heaven. If we are so consumed with anger that we can't fulfill this purpose in life - what can we do to change this?

I have a few suggestions - these are things that I have tried to do through the years. I'm not perfect in always following these steps, but I do believe that the bitterness and darkness in my heart has truly faded by at least trying to do the following:

Forgive

Forgiving doesn't mean that we forget the hurt - it just means we are trying to move on toward a better life. I saw a quote from St. Augustine that said "Forgiveness is simply the act of surrendering our desire for revenge; that is, our desire to hurt someone for having hurt us." We need to look at forgiveness as not a sacrifice or failure, but as a gift we are giving ourselves. We are giving ourselves the gift to start healing. If you think about how much energy you use being angry at a situation or a person, you would be overwhelmed. Try to use that energy and turn it into positive thoughts, actions and love.

Stop dwelling

I know that I have a tendency to replay the hurt and suffering in my life over and over again. What good is that doing me? It isn't helping me at all - it is only hurting me. On the days that I replay all the hurts, I am not using my gifts that God gave me to help others. I am only hurting myself and others and not helping anyone. I am amazed at how much better my mind and body feel when I stop replaying the hurts and focus on the blessings in my day.

Ask for grace and/or help

Ask God for help! God knows what is in our hearts, but he wants to hear it from us. If you open your heart to the blessings of the day vs. the hurt, you will see that there are people all around you who want to help and comfort you. I also think that if you are not able to let go of the pain in your life, that it is important to seek professional help. Some people think that seeking professional help is a sign of weakness, but I think it is a sign of strength. We were not put on this earth to do things alone - we need help each and every day.

Healing is possible with the right resources. Hebrews 12:14-15 says, "Make every effort to live in peace with everyone and to be holy; without holiness no one will see the Lord. See to it that no one falls short of the grace of God and that no bitter root grows up to cause trouble and defile many."

You don't have to be bitter or consumed by feelings of anger. You can discover that with God's help, there is so much more to life than pain.

God bless everyone - especially those who are hurting and in need of healing today.

Grace Lutheran youth enjoy Servant Event

Seven youth and two adults from Grace Lutheran Church teamed up with about 25 youth from across northwestern Kansas recently to participate in a "Just a Fix-in & a Paint-in" Servant Event in Garden City, Kan.

While in Garden City, participants helped trim some landscaping, do minor home repairs, strip, prime, and paint a one story house and garage. All of the work was done in the course of two days for an elderly lady who couldn't afford to have the work done professionally.

After serving God by serving the homeowner, participants drove north to Valentine, Neb. where they camped at Smith Falls on the Niobrara River.

"All the participants enjoyed absolutely beautiful weather and the wonders of God's beautiful creation as they kayaked, canoed, and floated down the river over two days," said Pastor Mike Feldman, senior pastor at Grace Lutheran Church.

Each of the participants from Grace Lutheran Church expressed great satisfaction in the work they did as they served God and served their neighbors. They also expressed how much fun and how relaxing the canoe/float trip was after their hard work and that they were all very pleased with giving up a week of the summer to go somewhere different to serve God and their neighbor.

St. Paul's Ladies Aid, LWML hold Sept. 2 meeting

Winside St Paul's Ladies Aid and LWML met Sept. 2 with 13 members, two guests, Shelly Jaeger and Margaret Heithold, and Pastor Goodman present.

President Daisy Janke opened the meeting, welcomed the guests, and everyone recited The League Pledge.

Everyone read the prayer "Prayer for the Pastors and Teachers of the Church," and then sang the hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Pastor Goodman had bible study on "The Eucharist We Celebrate."

Secretary Janice Mundil read the secretary's report, which was approved as read.

Treasurer Lorraine Prince read the treasurer's report. The report was approved as read. The group voted to pay all bills.

Communication: Mrs. Janke read a letter from Friz and Faye Mann.

Old Business: The Fall Rally will be held Tuesday, Oct. 13 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

New Business: Mission Festival will be Sunday, Oct. 18.

Bev Voss reported on visiting the shut-ins in August. Esther Carlson will visit the shut-ins in September.

The birthday song was sung for Evelyn Herbolsheimer, Erna Hoffman, and Gertrude Vahlkamp.

A birthday card was sent to Keri

Dangberg and a get well card was sent to Dean Janke.

Lorraine took roll call.

Shelly Jaeger joined the Ladies Aid.

The meeting was closed with The Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

Next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 7 with Bev Voss and Esther Carlson as hostesses.

Wayne, Nebraska September 1, 2015

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners meeting was called to order by Chairman Larson at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, September 1, 2015, in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Chairman Larson, Members Burbach and Rabe, and Clerk Finn were present. Notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on August 20, 2015. A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

- Larson presented the following consent agenda items:
a. Approve minutes of August 18, 2015, meeting as printed in the Commissioners Record
b. Approve fee reports
c. Approve payroll
d. Approve agreement with Tom Hansen CPA to compile financial information for Disaster Declaration DR 4225
e. Approve the withdrawal of Cusip No. 313381YL3 and substitution of Cusip Nos. 86333QAE9, 486894HY7, 854746BS2, 854742AQ6, and 978599CC0 as pledged securities held by State Nebraska Bank & Trust
f. Accept financial statement audit for 2014-15 prepared by Michael J. Pommer, CPA Rabe made a motion and Burbach seconded approval of the Consent Agenda. Roll call vote: Rabe, Burbach, and Larson - aye; motion carried.

Burbach made a motion and Rabe seconded approval of the regular agenda. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, and Larson - aye; motion carried. Ray Kingsley expressed frustration with road maintenance stating the county cuts deep furrows across his driveways rather than lifting the blade on the grader. He asked that the county take dirt for construction from the silted-in ditches to the south instead of taking it from the maintained frontage of his acreage. Kingsley also stated there needs to be more compaction before graveling the top of a new grade; cars should not have to fight a soft surface with deep gravel.

A public hearing to receive taxpayer support, opposition or observations on the proposed 2015-16 budget convened at 9:30 a.m. Notice of this hearing was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on August 27, 2015.

- The 2015-16 budget was discussed with the following points noted:
- The total budget is $20,346,434.25
- The total valuation of Wayne County is $1,880,618,281. This is an increase of $151,552,368
- The Wayne County 2015-16 tax levy will be .250317
There being no public comment the hearing was closed.

A public hearing to receive taxpayer support, opposition or observations on setting the final tax request at a different amount than last year convened at 9:45 a.m. Notice of this hearing was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on August 27, 2015.

The total tax dollar request is $4,707,513.43, an increase of $35,243.85, or 0.75% There being no public comment the hearing was closed.

Burbach made a motion and Rabe seconded approval of a 1% increase in restricted funds. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, Larson - aye; motion carried. Burbach made a motion and Rabe seconded approval of Resolution No. 15-27 adopting the 2015-16 budget. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, Larson - aye; motion carried.

Resolution No. 15-27: "WHEREAS, a proposed County Budget for the Fiscal Year July 1, 2015, to June 30, 2016, prepared by the Budget Making Authority, was transmitted to the County Board on the 1st day of September 2015. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska as follows:

SECTION 1. That the budget for the fiscal year July 1, 2015, to June 30, 2016, as categorically evidenced by the budget document be, and the same hereby is, adopted as the budget for Wayne County for said fiscal year.

SECTION 2. That the offices, departments, activities, and institutions herein named are hereby authorized to expend the amounts herein appropriated to them during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2015, and ending June 30, 2016.

SECTION 3. That the income necessary to finance the appropriations made and expenditures authorized shall be provided out of the unencumbered cash balance in each fund, revenues other than taxation to be collected during the fiscal year in each fund, and tax levy requirements for each fund.

SECTION 4. The tax requests for 2015-2016 are approved as follows: General Fund $4,103,123.43, County Improvement Fund $604,390.00, Total $4,707,513.43. Burbach made a motion and Rabe seconded approval of Resolution No. 15-28 setting the 2015-16 tax dollar request. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, Larson - aye; motion carried.

Resolution No. 15-28: "WHEREAS, Nebraska Revised Statute 77-1601.02 provides that the property tax request for the prior year shall be the property tax request for the current year for purposes of the levy set by the County Board of Equalization unless the Governing Body of Wayne County passes by a majority vote a resolution or ordinance setting the tax request at a different amount; and

WHEREAS, a special public hearing was held as required by law to hear and consider comments concerning the property tax request; and

WHEREAS, it is in the best interests of Wayne County that the property tax request for the current year be a different amount than the property tax request for the prior year.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Governing Body of Wayne County, by a majority vote, resolves that the 2015-16 property tax request be set at $ 4,707,513.43."

Jabber, used for remote conferencing between jalls and the court system, is being phased out by the state. County Court Clerk Magistrate KimBerly Hansen proposed updating to an X10 camera which can radiate throughout the courtroom and zoom to the judge's bench. The camera costs $2500, the state will cover system support. The purchase was approved.

Clerk of District Court Deb Allemann-Dannely presented quotes for replacing the speaker system in the courtroom. Quotes from Klein Electric, to run the wiring through the courtroom ceiling, and Xtra Productions, to install a system that has both the microphone and speaker in the same units, were accepted.

Road/Bridge Project Manager Mark Casey provided a project update. Casey will begin routine bridge inspections at the end of the week. HGM will begin fracture-critical bridge inspections the next week.

Culvert quotes for Project C-90(347), (560), and (625) received from Midwest Service & Sales, and B's Enterprises were opened. Rabe made a motion and Burbach seconded accepting the quote of $78,107.16 submitted by Midwest Service & Sales. Roll call vote: Rabe, Burbach, Larson - aye; motion carried.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz reported a FirstNet meeting will be held at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 10th at the Wayne Fire Hall.

Engineer's Opinion of Cost $775,000 to $850,000

Proposals will be taken for said construction work listed above by unit prices, as an aggregate bid for the entire project.

All Proposals for said construction work must be made on blanks furnished by the Engineer and must be accompanied by Bid Security of not less than 5% of the amount bid. Bid Security to be made payable to the Treasurer of the Village of Winside as liquidated damages in case the bid is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses, to enter into contract and furnish bond in accordance herewith.

Copies of the contract documents are on file with the Village of Winside for examination by bidders. Complete digital project bidding documents are available at JEO's website at jeo.com for $20.00. An optional paper set of project documents is available for a non-refundable price of $75.00 per set. Please send your check payable to JEO Consulting Group, Inc. at 803 W Norfolk Avenue, Norfolk, NE 68701. If you have any questions, contact us at 402.371.6416. In order to bid the project, the contract documents must be issued directly by JEO Consulting Group, Inc. or QuestCDN to the bidder.

Contractors and subcontractors on USEPA federally assisted construction projects are required to pay their laborers and mechanics wages not less than those established by the U.S. Department of Labor. A current wage decision containing the appropriate building and/or heavy type rates is included in the specifications for bidding purposes.

The prospective participants must certify by submittal of EPA Form 5700-49, Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension and Other Responsibility Matters, that to the best of its knowledge and belief that it and its principals are not presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from covered transactions by any federal department or agency.

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11246. Requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

Each bidder must fully comply with the requirements, terms and conditions of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) requirements, including the fair share objectives for disadvantaged business participation during the performance of this contract. The bidder commits itself to the fair share objective for disadvantaged business participation contained herein and all other requirements, terms and conditions of these bid conditions by submitting a properly signed bid.

On January 17, 2014, H.R. 3547, "Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2014," was enacted. Section 436 of the Act requires that none of the appropriated funds may be used for the construction, alteration, maintenance, or repair of a public water system or treatment works unless all of the iron and steel products used in the project are produced in the United States, unless a waiver is provided to the recipient by EPA. Conditions for the waiver are found under the Information for Bidders. The term "iron and steel products" means the following products made primarily of iron or steel: lined or unlined pipes and fittings, manhole covers and other municipal castings, hydrants, tanks, flanges, pipe clamps and restraints, valves, structural steel, reinforced precast concrete, and construction materials. The Owner, reserves the right to waive informalities and irregularities and to make awards on bids which furnish the materials and construction that will, in their opinion serve the best interests of the Owner, and also reserves the right to reject any and/or all bids.

Jean Blumenkamp spoke and shared her concerns regarding the 2015-2016 City budget. She asked Council to reconsider the massive cut to the Library budget next year.

A public hearing was held to consider the Planning Commission's recommendation in regard to amending the Wayne Municipal Code, Chapter 90 Zoning, specifically Section 90-293 (2 b) Permitted Accessory Uses and Section 90-703 (e) to Accessory Uses. The applicant, Jody Wendt, is seeking the request to allow for enough garage stalls to serve a multi-family dwelling in an R-4 Residential District.

Discussion took place regarding the recommendation of the Revitalize Wayne group to consider placing time limits on downtown parking - 3-hour time limit in the 100, 200 and 300 blocks of Main Street, Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Matt Ley, representing Revitalize Wayne was present to answer questions. Staff will prepare a proposed ordinance for Council consideration at their next meeting.

APPROVED: Request of Grace Lutheran Church, to close a one-block section of 10th Street from Main Street to Logan Street on Sunday, September 13, 2015, from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. for a "Sunday School Rally Day Festival," with the stipulation that Grace Lutheran Church will find their own barricades or use the City's barricades at a charge in accordance with State regulations.

Membership applications of Daryl Lambert, Tory Booth, and Christian Chinchilla to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

First reading of Ord. 2015-41 amending Wayne Municipal Code, Sec. 90-293 Permitted Accessory Uses and Structures and Sec. 90-703 Accessory Uses.

Third and final reading of Ord. 2015-40 amending Wayne Municipal Code, Chapter 90, Article VIII, by amending Sec. 90-703 regarding Accessory uses.

Res. 2015-75 accepting and authorizing the execution of Preliminary Engineering Services Agreement Supplemental Agreement No. 5 between the City of Wayne and Olsson Associates, Inc., relating to the Wayne Trail - Phase 2 Project.

Res. 2015-82 accepting bid and awarding contract on the "2015 Wastewater Treatment Facility Improvements - Phase 3, 4, & 5 Project" - Erickson Construction Co. for $1,623,000, with the same being contingent upon the approval and acceptance of the contract documents by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality.

Change Order No. 1 for the CIS Grant to add asbestos handling and an additional trailer/mobile home to the original demolition bid specifications.

Amending the bidding process to allow other than local agents to submit bids on behalf of the City's property and casualty insurance package.

Reappointment of Nancy Jo Powers and Pearl Hansen to the Board of Adjustment.

Appointment of Marlen Chinn, Rick Haase, Brian Swanson, Dominic Consoi, Betty McGuire, and Cale Giese to the Police Retirement Committee.

Pay Application No. 3 for $17,992.00 to OCC Builders, LLC, for the "2015 Wayne Storm Shelter Project."
