Activity Center to be open 24 hours this fall

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

If you're a member of the Wayne Community Activity Center, you will soon be able to get a good workout in any time - day or night.

The Wayne City Council approved a proposal at Tuesday's meeting to keep the weight room, concessions and restroom area open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, giving members the opportunity to work out after hours when the rest of the activity center is closed.

Recreation director Bryce Meyer made the proposal to the board, noting that a gate would be installed that would limit late-night access to only the weight room, the adjacent concessions area and the restrooms located just to the south of the concession area.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain told The Wayne Herald that a new security system would be put in place that would limit access after hours and provide for 24-hour monitoring of the facility.

"We'll be upgrading the camera system and monitor the parking lot and the facility," he said, noting that video would be streamed live to the dispatch at the Wayne Police Department. "There will be a new entry system so people can use either a card key or a fob to open the door and come in and work out."

The Council approved an $8,000 request to complete the project. Meyer told the board that he hoped to have everything in place by Thanksgiving.

The council discussed downtown parking issues at length Tuesday before approving a request made by Holly Torres to have one-hour parking signs installed in front of her business, Torres Family Restaurant, on Second Street.

The request came not long after a request to put one-hour parking signs in front of the Mineshaft Mall, located adjacent and to the west of the Torres building, was approved by the Council, causing some Council members to express concern that they are opening up a Pandora's Box by granting these requests.

"I saw this coming when the first request came in,"

Councilman Matt Eischeid said. "We do one-hour parking for one business, and then somebody gets upset and wants one-hour parking at their place. We have 40 businesses that could potentially come in and make a request for one-hour parking."

Chamberlain said that one of the biggest issues facing downtown businesses is the availability of parking. Some business owners and employees park along Main Street and on the side streets in front of their business, which, some said, creates some of the problems.

"We don't know if (business owners) are the ones contributing to the problem," Eischeid said.

Royalty crowned at Wayne State

Wayne State College crowned its 2015 homecoming royalty Monday evening in a ceremony at the college. Selected as the homecoming royalty were Sarah Warga of Plattsmouth and Matthew Henery of Battle Creek. Henery is the son of Scott and Mona Henery. Warga is the daughter of Joe and Deb Warga of Plattsmouth.

Wakefield's Balloon Days will include tribute to fallen soldiers

The annual Balloon Festival will take place in Wakefield Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16-18.

Along with the activities that have become tradition with the event, a new addition will be located in the Little Red Hen Theatre throughout the weekend.

"Remembering Our Fallen" is a traveling display that honors those Nebraska soldiers who have died in the War on Terror since the Twin Towers fell on Sept. 11, 2001.

The display will be open Friday, Oct. 16 from 5-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 17 from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 18 from 12-4 p.m. An opening ceremony will take place at the Little Red Hen Theatre on Friday at 6 p.m.

As part of the visit to Wakefield, door prize drawings will take place and a raffle held for two tickets to the Nebraska vs. Iowa football game.

The majority of the activities that are part of Balloon Days will take place on school grounds at Wakefield Community Schools; however, several events are scheduled for other areas of the community. All activities are dependent on the weather.

The weekend kicks off with a Balloon Launch at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 16. It will be followed by a Legion Steak Fry beginning at 5 p.m. at the Legion Hall, located at 211 Main Street.

Saturday's events begin with Breakfast at School (free will donation) from 7:30-11:30 a.m. at the school and a Balloon

The bright glow of hot air balloons at dusk in Wakefield is a sight to behold, and balloon enthusiasts will get a chance (weather permitting, of course) to enjoy this beautiful sight during the annual Balloon Festival that will be held next weekend in Wakefield. Many of the activities will take place at the school, along with a downtown parade, Fun Run and, of course, plenty of balloons.

County approves '15-'16 tax rates

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The county's tax rate will go down almost two cents from last year after the Wayne County Commissioners set tax rates for the 2015-16 fiscal year during Monday's meeting.

The board approved the county tax rates for all the government entities in the county. The county's tax asking will be 25.0317 cents per $100 of valuation, a reduction of more than 1.9 cents from the 2014-15 fiscal year rate of 27.0220 cents.

Most of the county tax rates for 2015-16 are going down. The tax rate for ESU 1 remains unchanged at 1.5 cents, while tax rates for the City of Wayne, villages of Carroll and Hoskins, and school districts in Wayne and Wakefield will see slight increases.

School District 17, the Wayne Community Schools district, will have the biggest increase in county tax asking, going up 8.8 cents to $1.09675 per $100 of valuation, up from last year's rate of $1.008353. Wakefield School District 560 will increase its rates by seven-thousandths of a cent from 99.7396 cents to 99.7466 cents.

Taxpayers in the three cities that show increases will see very little change in their tax bills. The City of Wayne's increase is 0.000586 of a cent. Carroll's tax increase will be 0.003140 of a cent and Hoskins' increase is 0.00048 of a cent.

Inside School District 95R will show the biggest decrease of the county entities, falling 3.3361 cents in their county tax request to 80.8408 cents per $100 of valuation. Both the Wayne Airport Authority (1.1296 cents) and the Village of Winside (1.6839 cents) show decreases of more than a penny for 2015-16.

The county received word during Tuesday's meeting that a bronzed sculpture will be erected in the Veterans Memorial on the courthouse lawn later this month.

The sculpture, called "Remembering," was designed by Loveland, Colo.-based artist and sculpture Sutton Betti. It is a life-sized sculpture depicting a U.S. Marine kneeling and remembering a fallen soldier. It is one of 10 such sculptures created by Betti.

This bronze sculpture, called "Remembering," will be erected in the Wayne County Veterans Memorial at the Wayne County Courthouse later this month.

The county board was notified that the sculpture will be installed in the Veterans Memorial and will be located between two benches. Installation will take place later this month.

The board also talked with Wayne County Emergency Manager Nic Kimnitz, who presented information to the board regarding the possibility of a statewide regional interoperability network being started to assist dispatch centers across the state.

Kennitz said the Nebraska Regional Interoperability Network has been created to connect dispatch centers across the state and assist in providing better communication on a private network that would be set up using microwave dishes instead of cable.

Discussion of the network was put off until the next meeting to give board members and county attorney Mike Pieper an opportunity to look over the proposed agreement.

The board also approved a request from Extension Agent Amy Topp to close her office at the end of the year for the holiday season. The office would be closed Dec. 27-30 and reopen after the new year.

The county board will return to its regular Tuesday schedule at its Oct. 13 meeting at 9 a.m. at the county courthouse.

Marcus Janssen is new Channel Seedsman in northeast Nebraska

Putting Seedsmanship at Work into practice, Channel has hired Marcus Janssen as a Channel Seedsman in the Wayne County area.

Janssen's will be to work proactively with local farmers to deliver expert advice, customized service and elite seed products to help improve productivity and profitability. Channel Seedsman focus on getting to know their customers and their farms inside and out, and using that knowledge to provide in-depth, hands-on service and support every step of the way.

Janssen, a 20-year veteran in the United States Marine Corps, has four years of experience in the field.

"Marcus is already out in the field working with our customers," said Channel District Sales Manager Tony Kurtenbach. "He is just one more example of the commitment Channel Seedsman bring to the field, providing year-round service and support."

One of Janssen's primary responsibilities will be implementing the Channel Field Check Up Series with local farmers. This series allows Channel Seedsman to work with farmers throughout the season to observe and monitor crop development.

Walking farmers' fields allows Channel Seedsman the opportunity to diagnose issues and design custom recommendations to increase the farm's profitability. Year-round farm visits include personal consultations through the four major growth stages: seedling, reproductive, vegetative and maturity. For more information about Channel and the Channel Seedsmanship approach, visit www.channel.com.

Pet of the Week

The Pet of the Week at Tender-Heart Animal Rescue is sweet Daphne.

She is a senior lab who was dropped in an area town and taken in by a young couple with two outside dogs. She was a little too enthusiastic in her play with those dogs and their house is crowded.

Daphne would love a home to finish out her life. She did well inside with her rescuers.

If this is the kind of companion you are looking for contact Tender-heart at 402 369-3060.

Youth Mentor Hunt is Sunday, Oct. 18 at Izaak Walton Lake

Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever 15th Annual Youth Mentor Hunt will be held Sunday, Oct. 18 at the Izaak Walton Lake starting at 12 p.m., with a hot dog lunch to be served.

fully completed a Nebraska Game and Parks Hunter Safety Course.

"We encourage all youth who meet the requirements to register to participate even if they have participated in the past. We especially encourage those who have not had an opportunity to participate in previous hunts to sign up for this year's hunt. This year's hunt will be limited to 16 youth," said Tim Reinhardt, a member of the Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever and one of the organizers of the event.

The day's activities will get started at 12 p.m. and should be wrapped up by 5 p.m. with numerous activities during the afternoon, including the opportunity to participate in a live hunt. Cassidy Gerdes, who is a pheasant's forever wildlife biologist will be on hand to discuss the importance of habitat for the survival all wildlife.

Each youth taking part in the event will receive a hunting vest which is a bit oversized so it can be used for a lifetime, a blaze orange hat, and will be entered in a drawing to win a shotgun. The youth are also encouraged to attend free of charge the chapter's annual banquet which will be held March 18, 2016.

Pheasants Forever mentored pheasant hunts are the ideal way to introduce kids and teens to hunting, as experienced volunteer hunters from Pheasants Forever coach youth on the importance of firearm safety, wildlife habitat and hunting technique.

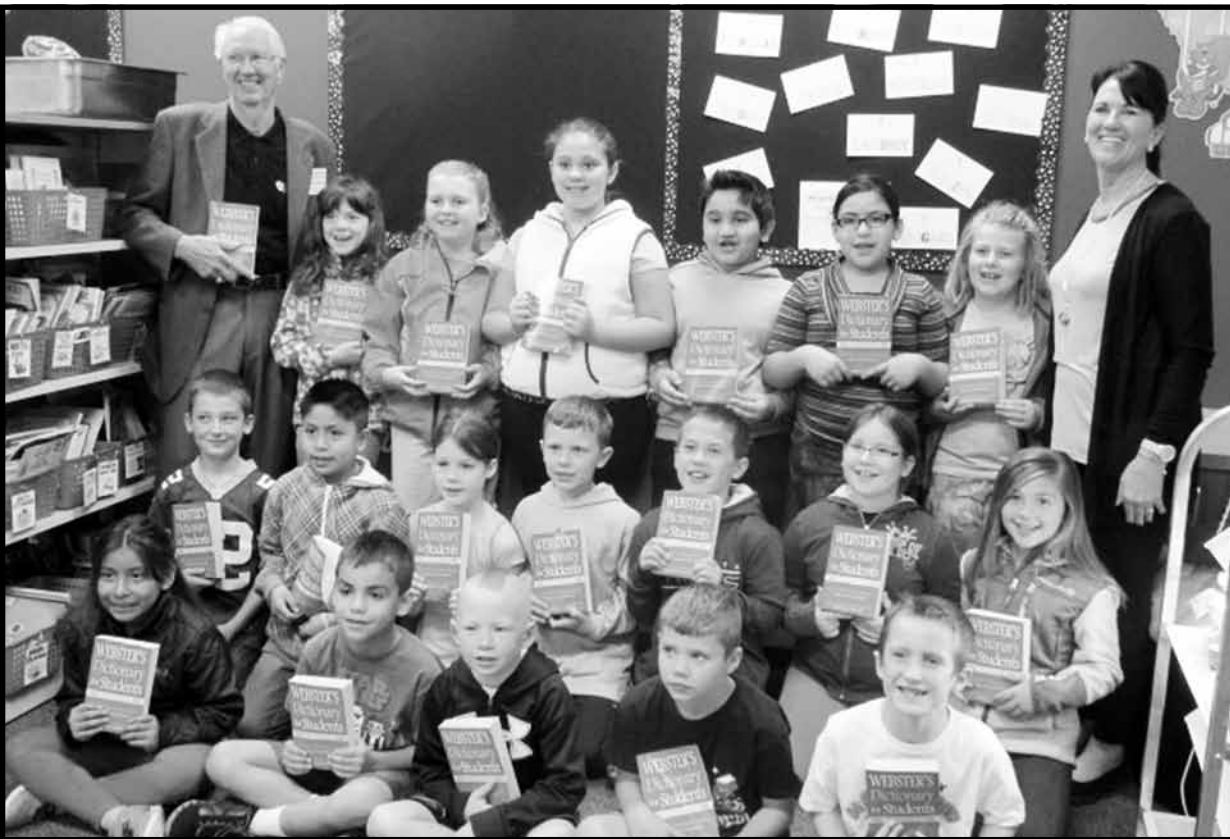

Along with the need for youth to participate, there is also a need for adult volunteers to serve as mentors for the youth and maybe pass along some hunting experiences they have had throughout the afternoon.

"It takes about four adults for each youth and we are currently in need of some volunteers for this event. Anyone who would like to be a part of this great event should contact us," Reinhardt said.

"This is a great opportunity for the kids and adults to learn some things and have some fun in the great outdoors. These kids are the next generation of sportsmen and we would like to teach them the importance of firearm safety and also the importance of wildlife habitat," Reinhardt said.

For more information or to sign up for the hunt, contact Tim Reinhardt at (402) 518-0597 and don't forget to check out the chapter's Facebook page at Logan Creek Pheasants Forever Chapter 303.

'Remembering Our Fallen' exhibit coming to Wakefield

The Wakefield Veterans of Foreign Wars will host the "Remembering Our Fallen" exhibit at the Little Red Hen Theatre during Wakefield Balloon Days.

The exhibit will be escorted to Wakefield on Monday, Oct. 12 by the Beemer American Legion Riders and will be arriving around 1 p.m. for a patriotic welcome by the Wakefield community and will be set up at the Little Red Hen Theatre.

An opening ceremony is being planned for Friday, Oct. 16 at the Little Red Hen Theatre with 6 p.m. program start. The exhibit hours will be 5-8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 16; from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 17 and from 12-4 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 18.

A very emotional exhibit, "Remembering Our Fallen," is a stark reminder of the ultimate sacrifice made by many fallen soldiers who were killed in action while fighting The War on Terror. The photo exhibit includes military and personal photos of each of Nebraska's fallen soldiers.

"We must remember these American Heroes and speak their names when we see their family members. We can never forget those who sacrificed everything for our freedom," said Dr. Mary Hawkins, President of Bellevue University. "This exhibit is created in such a way so it can travel throughout Nebraska, offering more people an opportunity to remember Nebraska's fallen."

Over 90 Nebraska soldiers are honored on the exhibit. Northeast Nebraska soldiers who have given the ultimate sacrifice in the War on Terror and who are being honored through the exhibit include Navy Lieutenant Commander Thomas E. Blake, Jr., Spencer; Navy Petty Officer First Class John Douangdara, South Sioux City; Army Sergeant Joshua A. Ford, Pender; Army First Lieutenant Edward D. Iwan, Albion; Army Specialist Blake C. Kelly, Columbus; Army Sargent Joshua Mann, Winside; Army Sergeant Robert C.M. Schlote, Norfolk; Army Sergeant Jacob Schmuecker, Atkinson; and Army Sergeant Klayton D. Thomas, Columbus.

A "Remembering Our Fallen" exhibit has been completed in 14 states; and has been created by Patriotic Productions, a non-profit organization, based in Omaha. The goal is to complete an exhibit for every state.

The financial sponsor of the exhibit is Bellevue University, a private, non-profit University in Bellevue, Nebraska. Founded in 1966, it has been a military-friendly school for 45 years. Bellevue University was an early adopter of distance learning and is now a leader in online education with students in every state and 55 foreign countries, including Afghanistan and Iraq. More information can be found at: Bellevue.edu.

Funding for the exhibit's visit to Wakefield has been provided by a number of Wakefield and area businesses.

Rotary Club presents dictionaries

Thanks to the Wayne Rotary Club, third graders in area schools have or will receive new dictionaries that belong to them. Local students receiving the dictionaries include the following schools: Wayne, Wayne St. Mary's, Winside, Wisner-Pilger, Pender, Emerson-Hubbard, Wakefield, Allen, and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge. The goal of this project is to assist students to complete the school year as good writers, active readers, and creative thinkers by having their own personal dictionary. The Wayne Rotary Club has given away 2,259 dictionaries since the project started in 2007. Darrell Miller is the project chairperson from the Wayne Rotary Club. Other Rotarians who helped deliver dictionaries to the Wayne schools included Jack Imdieke, John Fuelberth, Dan and Kyle Rose, Bob Ens, and Anne Nolte.

Tornado sirens test Oct. 15

Tornado sirens will be tested on Thursday, Oct. 15 at 2 p.m. throughout the city of Wayne.

Testing of these sirens will be two-fold as not only are they being tested in full warning mode instead of the short monthly test modes you normally hear, they also will be serving another test purpose.

"Several facilities within the city voiced concern over not being able to hear the sirens indoors for adequate warning for a tornado. The outdoor warning sirens were not designed to penetrate buildings, and with the changes in construction, design and insulation, the buildings are much tighter and sound dampening," said Wayne Police Chief Marlen Chinn.

Due to this concern, several facilities have taken the initiative and added a warning device that will activate in the building whenever the tornado sirens are activated within the city. These devices will provide either a warning tone from the device if it is used as a stand-alone unit or through an intercom system throughout the entire building depending on installation options.

The facilities that now have these devices installed for tornado preparedness are Providence Medical Center, Grosseburg Implement, Wayne Jr./Sr. High School, Wayne Elementary School, Wayne Public Preschool and the City of Wayne Community Activity Center.

"The last of these warning devices was installed last week and this testing will ensure they are functioning as intended using the same radio signal that activates the sirens," Chinn said.

Activity Center

Chamberlain said that Second Street between Main and Logan streets seems to have the most issues regarding parking.

"This one area, there is a high flow of short-term traffic and a lot of all-day parking," he said. Councilman Jason Karsky said it would be wrong for the city to refuse the Torres request after approving one for their neighbors just a few weeks previous.

"We've already did it down the way, so how can we justify not (approving the Torres request)," he said. "We've already opened up a can of worms."

After approving the Torres request 6-0 – Councilmembers Jennifer Sievers and Cale Giese were absent from Tuesday's meeting – the board returned its attention to a tabled ordinance relating to setting time limits on downtown parking during regular business hours.

The ordinance was requested by the Revitalize Wayne Committee, and board members expressed concern that placing time limits on parking would create more problems than it would solve, and that the ordinance would, essentially, be unenforceable.

"The dynamics (of downtown parking) change at different types of the day," Councilwoman Jill Brodersen said. "On Vel's (Bakery) block in the afternoon, hardly anybody is parked there. It can be busy one time of the day and empty on the other side."

"I like seeing cars downtown," she added. "And I've never not been able to find a parking spot (downtown). If there's not one on Main Street, there is one on the side streets."

Eischeid agreed with Brodersen, adding "If you clear those people out (who park in front of their business), people who drive downtown will think it's empty. But I also don't like the idea of people parking there all day and taking those spots."

Police Chief Marlen Chinn told the Council that it would be a challenge for his department to issue parking tickets, as they wouldn't be able to mark cars until 12 p.m., three hours after the parking time limits would go into effect.

"We'd only be able to catch vehicles parked there most of the day," he said. "If they leave for lunch and come back, (the time) starts over."

"I don't think this will solve the issue," Eischeid added. "Violators would be there three hours, you'd call and complain, and then they'd be gone in 20-30 minutes and then come back from lunch and it starts over."

Ultimately, no motion was made on the ordinance and it died for lack of a motion.

The Council also approved Mayor Chamberlain's list of appointees to the city's Comprehensive Plan Steering Committee, as well as adding Chamberlain and board members Brodersen, Karsky and Nick Muir to the group.

Appointments to the Comprehensive Plan Steering Committee, with related connections, are as follows:

- Wes Blecke (Executive director, Wayne Area Economic Development)
- Kari Wren (Wane Communit Housing Development Corporation)
- Matt Ley (Main Street Business/Main Street Committee member)
- Lucas Rix (Main Street Business/Wayne Area Economic Development Board member)
- Corby Schweers (Highway 35 Business/Community Redevelopment Authority member)
- Jon Meyer (Highway 35 Business/Community Redevelopment Authority member)
- Adam Severson (Highway 35 Business)
- Marlen Chinn (Wayne Police Chief)
- James Frank (Providence Medical Center CEO)
- Randy Larson (Wayne County Commissioner)
- Dr. Marysz Rames (Wayne State College President)

- Scott Hammer (Wayne Community Schools board member)
- Courtney Maas (Wayne Community Schools teacher)
- Sydney McCorkindale (Wayne High School graduate, Wayne State College student)
- Colby Keiser (Wayne High School student)
- Hazel Hernandez (Hispanic Community Representative)
- Nancy Rodriguez (Hispanic Community Representative)
- Alex Wieland (Wayne High School teacher)
- B.J. Woehler (Local business owner)
- Lois Shelton (Former Wayne mayor)
- Chad Sebade (Local business owner)
- Rick Gathje (Local business owner)
- Amy Schweers (Local realtor)

In other action, the Council:

– heard a report from local Boy Scout Zach Schenk, who presented a proposal for his Eagle Scout project to remodel the fire pit at the Girl Scouts house on East Fourth Street. He plans to use about 1,000 of the city's old street bricks for the 15 foot-square project, and hopes to have the project completed by November.

– approved a request by Wayne Area Economic Development to close a portion of Main Street for the annual Christmas On Main/Parade Of Lights celebration on Thursday, Nov. 19.

– approved a request for a temporary work stoppage order on the Windom Street project. Kirkham Michael engineer Rich Robinson told the council that work on the first phase of the project, which runs north up to the intersection of Fourth and Windom streets, would be finished on or near Oct. 30, with the second phase, running from Fourth to Seventh streets, beginning around March 15, 2016.

The Council's next meeting is Tuesday, Oct. 20 at 5:30 p.m.

Teams post best rounds in C-3 district

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Sometimes, your best still isn't good enough.

Both Wayne and Laurel-Concord-Coleridge shot their lowest team round of the season Tuesday in the C-3 district tournament, and their team totals of 422 and 424 would have qualified them for state in two of the other four districts.

Unfortunately, neither team was able to finish in the top five in the district at the Wayne Country Club, leaving both teams on the outside looking in, in spite of saving their best for last.

The good news, though, is that two individuals from each team made it as individuals after finishing in the top 10, and those four girls will move on to play in the Class C state tournament next week in North Platte.

The Blue Devils placed fifth in the 13-team district, and coach Josh Johnson was happy with how his team went out and played on their home course in a high-stakes tournament.

"It's definitely a mixed bag," he said after the tournament. "I've told the girls all year that you go out and play your best golf, fight all the way through and just throw (a score) out there and see what happens. You do the best that you can, and it was the best we've done all year. If that's not good enough, that's fine – it was still our best of the year."

(Photos by Michael Carnes)

The area will be represented by four golfers at the Class C State Girls Golf Championships next week in North Platte. (from left) Anna Loberg and Kaitlyn McAllister will represent Wayne High, while Emily Klooz and Brooke Young will be the first two Laurel-Concord-Coleridge girls golfers to compete in the state tournament.

Anna Loberg finished fifth overall with a 96, and Kaitlyn McAllister tied for the 10th and final spot with a 99. Both 10th place finishers will play in the state tournament.

"They've done a ton of work the last four years and did a lot of work this summer, and it's nice for those two to have that reward of playing for one more week."

Johnson said he was impressed with the quality of play in the district, noting that his team's score would have done very well in previous years in the district.

"In six of the eight years I've been coach, (422) would have easily qualified," he said. "The district got really good this year, and it's great to watch and we were hoping to be a part of that."

Also scoring for Wayne were Ashlyn Pecena with a 108, Megan Keiser with a 119 and Jewel Kneiff with a 125.

For the Lady Bears, senior Emily Klooz had her best round of the year and finished fourth overall with a 94, while Brooke Young came home in ninth place with a 98, giving LCC its first two state qualifiers in girls golf in school history.

Coach Christina Patefield said the team was hoping to play its best in the district meet, and they came through with a season-best effort.

"Our main goal was for everybody to play their best, and they did," she said. "Shooting a 424 for a team score was amazing."

Getting Klooz and Young in for state was even more impressive, considering both golfers had been dealing with some physical ailments in the days leading up to the meet.

"Emily had hurt her wrist in practice a few days before, and was still able to shoot her best round of the season," she said. "Brooke had viral meningitis for two weeks and only had a couple of practices before today, so to do what she did and make it to state was amazing."

West Point-Beemer's Lacie Fox ran away with individual honors, shooting an 8-over par 80 to win by 12 strokes over Paige Peters of Thurston-Cuming. West Point-Beemer won the team title with a 382, while Norfolk Catholic (396) and Battle Creek (407) also qualified for the state tournament, which will be held Oct. 12-13 at Lake Maloney Golf Club in North Platte.

Two rivals seeing a lot of each other

There's an old saying that says familiarity breeds contempt.

If that's the case, it's a pretty good bet the softball teams at Wayne High and Guardian Angels Central Catholic won't be sending gifts to each other this Christmas.

The two softball powerhouses renewed acquaintances Thursday at the Summer Sports Complex a game won by the Bluejays 9-6. They saw each other again twice on Saturday in the Mid State Conference tournament in West Point, with Wayne beating the Bluejays 8-2 and 6-2 to take the conference title.

They're on opposite sides of the bracket for this week's C-3 district tournament at Timmerman Park in West Point, but it's still possible for the Blue Devils and Bluejays to meet three times on Friday. Depending on the outcome of the tournament, it's possible they could see each other as many as three more times next week at the state tournament in Hastings (although GACC would have to win the district and Wayne would have to get in as a wild card).

Do you get the feeling that the two coaches – Wayne's Rob Sweetland and GACC's Allan Kreike-meier – aren't going to want to sit together at the coaches clinic next summer?

All kidding aside, this has been an intense and fun rivalry to watch develop over the past several years. Wayne has been the standard-bearer for softball in this part of the state, but GACC has turned into a powerhouse of their own that, until Saturday, seems to have had Wayne's number.

Thursday's win was the fourth in a row for the Bluejays over the local girls, so I'm sure it was something of a relief for all the moms and dads – as well as the players and coaches – when Wayne marched onto GACC's home field and won two games from them to claim the conference crown Saturday afternoon.

"I think it helps," Sweetland said when asked if the wins helped relieve some of the pressure that seems to have come as GACC got the upper hand. "We had a long talk at practice Friday about the ups and downs of this game, and if we'd just play every pitch one pitch at a time and not worry about the name of the team on the other side, we'll be fine. The girls were more focused today and got the job done."

Although Wayne is 2-1 against the defending Class C champions after Saturday's conference tournament, this chapter of the rivalry is far from over. Wayne and GACC could butt heads again on Friday morning in the winner's bracket final (assuming both teams win Thursday afternoon), and it's quite possible the loser of that game would return for a rematch later that afternoon – with a third game needed to decide the district champion.

"It's no secret that, at this time of year, we both have to go through each other to get to Hastings," Sweetland said. "The last 6-8 years it's been either us or them, and it's always intense."

And Sweetland has a tremendous amount of respect for what Kreike-meier has done with the GACC team.

"They've got great athletes and seem to reload every year just like we do," he said. "They're well-coached and fundamentally sound and I have a lot of respect for them. You know you're going to have to play well to beat a team like that."

And if that's what it takes to win a state title, Sweetland feels his team is up to the challenge of keeping the Class C state championship within the Mid State Conference.

"They got their title last year, and we've both come close a number of times," he said. "They've showed that it can be done by a team in our conference and it gives our girls some incentive to believe they can do it, too."

Canada trip gives young Wildcats a head start

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

While coaches at Augustana, Minnesota State and all the other NCAA Div. II schools in the country were enjoying a cup of coffee and reading the morning paper Saturday, Chris Kielsmeier had better things to do.

While the first official practice for women's basketball doesn't happen until Oct. 16, Kielsmeier had his Wayne State Wildcats working out early Saturday morning, thanks to an upcoming international exhibition tour in Canada, where they'll travel later this month for a two-day, four-game series with some of Canada's top college basketball programs.

The NCAA allows teams to take a foreign exempt tour every four years, provided the student-athletes' classes aren't in session. Most teams take the trip during the summer, but Kielsmeier said this was an opportune time to take a young, untested team across the border and get them some extra practice time, as well as game experience, before the ball goes in the air for real on Nov. 13.

"The NCAA allows 10 extra practices in preparation for the foreign trip, and this is a real opportunity for us to get a jump start on everybody else," Kielsmeier said during Senior point guard Sadie Murren said the extra two weeks of practice will be a big help for what will be a young, talented Wayne State women's basketball team.

a break in Saturday's first practice. "By the time we start the season, we'll have played seven exhibition games, so this is a special opportunity for us, and we need to value this time and make sure we're getting better."

The Wildcats' entourage will leave on Saturday, Oct. 17 and make the nine-hour trip north to Winnipeg. They will play the University of Winnipeg and Canadian Mennonite University in exhibition games on Monday, then turn around the following day with a noon matchup

Team gets big lift with Mid State title

Two wins over arch-rival Bluejays

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

WEST POINT – After losing a close one to Guardian Angels Central Catholic two days earlier, Wayne High softball coach Rob Sweetland felt it was good time to get in his players' heads . . . as well as the Bluejays'.

Sweetland ran Ashton Gibson into the circle to pitch against the defending Class C state champs Saturday in the Mid State Conference tournament at Timmermann Park, and the junior fastballer kept the Bluejays guessing all day, limiting them to two runs in a complete-game win in the semifinals, then going 6 1/3 innings in the nightcap to help the Blue Devils beat their conference, district and state rivals 6-2 in the finals to claim the conference tournament title.

After losing a 9-6 decision on Thursday, Sweetland had a long talk with his team in an effort to minimize any psychological advantage the Bluejays may have accumulated after beating Wayne in five of eight meetings last year – including the losers' bracket final at state – and taking the first of what is expected to be multiple meetings between the two teams over the next few weeks this season.

"We had a long talk Friday at practice about the ups and downs and how we need to play every pitch like we're just playing some team in blue and not worry about what it says on their jerseys, and the girls really stayed level and focused today," he said after the game.

Wayne opened with a 10-0 whitewashing of Pierce as senior catcher Danica Schaefer homered to set the new school record for career home runs as part of a seven-RBI effort that included a three-run homer, a two-run triple and a game-ending two-run double.

Danica Schaefer had a big day in the Mid State Conference tournament, including a seven-RBI effort and setting a new team record for career home runs.

Numbers forcing LCC forfeit

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge announced late Tuesday that they are forfeiting Friday's scheduled football game with Oakland-Craig, due to an insufficient number of players available for the game.

The school's Facebook page made the announcement, stating, "After careful consideration and consulting with administration and our coaches, the decision was made with safety of our players being the No. 1 concern."

Wildcats get split in key NSIC road trip

The 11th-ranked Wayne State volleyball team managed a split in a key road weekend swing through Minnesota State and perennial power Concordia-St. Paul in Northern Sun Conference action.

On Friday, the Wildcats rallied from a first-set defeat to take care of business at Minnesota State, disposing of the upset-minded Mavericks in four sets, 25-27, 25-17, 25-13, 25-20.

The Mavericks had 19 kills while taking the opening set, but Wayne State responded as senior Katie Hughes recorded eight kills and the team had three services aces to even up the match at a set apiece.

Wayne State dominated the third set, forcing six Maverick attack errors. The two teams battled through 10 ties and six lead changes in the final set, but Wayne State forced 11 Minnesota State attack errors in the final set to come away with the win.

Hughes had her seventh double-double of the year with 17 kills and 19 digs to lead Wayne State. Alyssa Frauendorfer had 13 kills, Michaela Mestl had 12 kills and 14 digs and Elizabeth Gebhardt had 10 kills. Leisa McClintock recorded 50 assists, and Courtney VanGronigen led the defense with 27 digs.

It was a reversal of fortune on Saturday, as the Wildcats took the first set over No. 3-ranked Concordia-St. Paul before the Golden Bears came back to claim a 17-25, 27-25, 28-26, 25-16 victory.

The Wildcats came out solid early on with just one attack error in the opening set. The next two sets were close and hotly contested on both sides, but the Golden Bears came away with both to take the lead, then led from start to finish in the final set to close out the match.

Hughes had her eighth double-double of the season with 15 kills and 17 digs, and also had two blocks. Frauendorfer had 15 kills, Gebhardt added 12 kills and Mestl also had her eighth double-double with 11 kills and a team-high 20 digs. McClintock had 46 assists and VanGronigen had 19 digs.

Wayne State (12-3, 5-2 NSIC) is back home with games Friday at 7 p.m. against Bemidji State and Saturday at 4 p.m. against Minnesota Crookston.

Blue Devils fall at Madison, 28-21

MADISON - The Wayne High football team didn't have an answer for Madison's Steven Vargas, who rushed for 208 yards and a touchdown to help the Dragons defeat the Blue Devils Friday, 28-21.

Wayne High's offense had trouble getting on track against a scrappy Madison defense, and that helped the Dragons as they built a 28-7 lead going to the fourth quarter, using a ground attack that netted 347 yards on 64 carries. Vargas accounted for more than half of the load with 33 carries on the night.

Wayne did make a game of it in the fourth quarter, however.

Christian Rogers got the Wayne comeback effort kick-started with a 57-yard scoring strike from Beau

Bowers to cut the Madison advantage to 14, and after a Madison turnover, the Blue Devils hit paydirt again on the next play when Bowers found Payten Gamble for a 33-yard connection, his second of the night.

Wayne had the ball late in the game and were driving toward the potential game-tying touchdown, but Madison was able to pick off a Bowers pass deep in their own territory and ran out the clock to pick up the win.

Bowers was 8-of-18 for 153 yards and three touchdowns in the losing effort for 1-5 Wayne. Drew Davie led the ground attack with 54 yards on 11 carries. Gamble caught four balls for 56 yards.

Defensively, Cole Koenig led the Blue Devils with 12 total tackles, Davie had 10 and Schuyler Schweers had 7.5 stops.

Wayne hosts top-ranked Norfolk Catholic in a 7 p.m. game at Memorial Stadium.

against Manitoba University and a second game against University of Winnipeg that evening before returning home.

Since the school recognizes only Oct. 19-20 as part of its fall break, Kielsmeier said those were the only two days his team could play games. While back-to-back doubleheaders sounds like a lot of basketball in a short amount of time, the Wildcats' coach said this year's team will take full advantage of the extra action.

"Four games in two days is a lot, but that's what this team needs," he said. "We have a lot of young players and a lot of players who have yet to prove themselves as a Wildcat, and they'll have every opportunity on this trip. Everybody will play a lot of minutes and we'll have some different starting lineups, which will help us as coaches learn about who plays well together. And that's great, because we don't have a lot of proven players right now."

Sophomore Paige Ballinger said the extra work will be important for everybody on the team.

"It's really exciting for us to get that extra time, and you just have to work your butt off and keep working hard," she said. "We have a lot of new players that we need to work in, and it's very important that we keep working on things to get ready to go."

Senior guard Sadie Murren - who is in her second year with the Wildcats after transferring last year from Nebraska - said that extra time will be big for her younger teammates.

"Starting this early is really weird, but it's going to be a big advantage for us because we've got so many young players in the program, and it's going to help us better learn the system and get ahead of the competition."

Murren said it took her some time to get comfortable with the expectations that comes with playing in Kielsmeier's system, and the younger players will learn that it will all come with more practice and playing time.

"Coach knows that I know the system now, and hopefully I can help the younger players get better and learn the system as well," she said. "It takes time and patience and being aggressive."

That sentiment was shared by senior Katie Hoskins, the lone player on the 14-man roster with more than one year of experience in the program.

"It's going to take us some time, but these two extra weeks will really help out," she said. "Have two extra weeks will help us get the younger kids some extra reps, and it also helps us returning players as well."

Kielsmeier is excited about the opportunity to play north of the border, and he believes the extra two weeks is going to give his young team some much-needed exposure to the college game before the regular-season opener at home against Lindenwood on Friday, Nov. 13.

"You have to appreciate every day and bring your best every day, and this is a great opportunity for us and we have to make sure we take advantage of the opportunity to get better," he said. "By the time we open the season, we'll have the extra two weeks and seven exhibition games under our belt, so we need to put in the work and keep getting better. That's the challenge for this team."

Wildcats preseason No. 22

The Wayne State women's basketball team is ranked No. 22 in the preseason rankings released by the Women's Div. II Bulletin.

The Wildcats were 28-6 last season, won the Northern Sun Conference regular-season title, finished as conference tournament runner-up and reached the semifinals of the Central Region tournament during the 2014-15 season. They return two starters and eight letterwinners from last year's team.

Wayne state is the lone NSIC team listed in the preseason rankings. Other Central Region teams include top-ranked Emporia State and No. 5 Fort Hays State out of the MIAA, and 23rd ranked Arkansas Tech from the Great America Conference.

Wayne State opens its season with four exhibition games in two days in Canada on Oct. 19-20. They play University of Winnipeg and Canadian Mennonite University on Monday, then University of Manitoba and a second game against University of Winnipeg on Tuesday. They open regular-season play on Friday, Nov. 13, hosting Lindenwood at 6 p.m.

The Women's Div. II Bulletin preseason top 25 is as follows:

1. Emporia State
2. Lewis (Ill.)
3. Nova Southeastern
4. Cal Baptist
5. Fort Hays State
6. California (Pa.)
7. Columbus State

Both coaches are anxious to see how their charges will compete in the state meet.

"We're just going to let loose and go for everything and see what happens," Johnson said of the Wayne duo.

"I think our chances are very good, especially if they keep playing the way they played here today," Patefield said of the LCC pair.

Sioux Falls rolls past Wayne State, 59-10

Wayne State scored on their opening possession, but it was all Sioux Falls after that as the seventh-ranked Cougars rolled to a 59-10 win over Wayne State Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

The Wildcats drove down the field on their opening possession and scored on a 23-yard field goal by Sam Simon to take a 3-0 lead. Sioux Falls responded by returning the ensuing kickoff 99 yards for a score to take the lead for good, then added two more scores later in the period to take a 21-3 lead.

Wayne State had a solid 12-play drive in the second quarter that was capped by Houston Huss' two-yard touchdown run to make it 21-10 with 9:54 to go in the half, but that's as close as the Wildcats would get.

Sioux Falls added a late score to take a 28-10 halftime lead, the erupted for 28 points in the third period, highlighted by a 77-yard interception return for a touchdown - the first interception thrown by a Wildcat quarterback this season - to take control of the game and go on to the victory.

Wayne State (3-2, 0-1 NSIC South) was led by Ryan Ludlow with 44 yards on 18 carries, while Alex Kline had 39 yards on 10 tries. Taylor Reedy was 18-of-32 for 174 yards. Shymere Williams, Tayib Toussaint, Jonathan Parks and Ludlow each had three receptions. Nate Kroupa led the defense with eight tackles and Jon Davis added seven.

Wayne State hosts Southwest Minnesota State for homecoming next Saturday, with kickoff at 1 p.m.

Big Lift

 the other Bluejays team in the tournament, Sweetland turned the ball over to Gibson for the first meeting against GACC, and she delivered a masterful performance, scattering four hits and three walks while striking out two.

"Ashten kept them off balance and made the ball move and got a lot of groundouts and popups," Sweetland said. "It's nice to have two pitchers like Ashten and Hannah, and you never know which one will be more effective, and it seemed against this team she was more effective today as far as keeping them off base and inducing a lot of easy outs."

Sweetland rolled the dice a second time with Gibson, and she came through with another solid outing, striking out three and allowing only a solo home run by Lauren Wobken in the fifth inning. GACC got an unearned run in the sixth, and Belt came on to close the door after Gibson went 6 1/3 innings.

The top 2-3 hitters in their lineup had gotten some good looks at Ashten the last time through the lineup, so we brought in Hannah to give them a different look and she was able to shut the door," Sweetland said.

Wayne jumped on GACC for two runs in the first inning, as Schaefer singled home Kiara Hochstein and Taylor Gamble came home on a groundout by Jenna Trenhaile. They took control of the game in the third when Kortney Keller lined a shot off the third baseman's glove, allowing Kennedy Maly and Schaefer to score. Trenhaile came home later in the inning on a groundout by Kortney Keller.

Schaefer had a monster day at the plate with seven hits in the three games. She also made a rare appearance at shortstop in the finals and helped nail a would-be base stealer on a throw from her backup, freshman Sydney Biggerstaff.

"She can play about any position for us, and Sydney has come along and we felt she could handle it behind the plate and she did a good job," Sweetland said. "It makes our middle better when you have Dani and Taylor (Gamble) covering that. It gives us more range and more arm speed at short."

In Thursday's matchup with the Bluejays, GACC scored three in the first, but Wayne matched that in the second, as Jamie Gamble scored on an error and Belt hit a two-run single to left to tie the game.

GACC scored three again in the third, but Wayne responded with two in the fourth and another in the sixth. Schaefer stroked a two-run single with two out in the fourth, pinch-runner Josie Thompson scored on a dropped fly ball to tie the game.

GACC loaded the bases with two out in the top of the seventh, and Wobken - who had homered earlier in the game - laced a shot down the left field line for a bases-clearing double for the winning runs.

Wayne closed out the regular season Monday with a 9-0 shutout of South Sioux City at the Summer Sports Complex. Belt threw a five-hit shutout, striking out nine. Jamie Gamble had three hits, two of them doubles; Schaefer had a double and a triple and Maly hit her first home run of the season, a solo shot that started a four-run first inning for the Blue Devils.

The Blue Devils, 24-5, close out the regular season at home Monday against South Sioux City. They are the top seed for the C-3 district tournament that begins Thursday in West Point.

Eagles roughed up in 70-8 loss

It was a rough night at the office for the Allen Eagles, as Lyons-Decatur rolled to 50 first-half points on their way to a 70-8 win over the Eagles as Isom-Hill Field.

"We came out flat and played slow," coach Dave Uldrich said. "Couple that with their size and ability, we were in trouble from the opening kickoff. Couple that with the 7 turnovers, we never had a chance to mount any threats to keep the game close."

The Eagles got their only score of the game late in the first period when Garrett Brentlinger scored on a two-yard run. Allen was limited to 144 yards in total offense, while the Cougars rolled to 375 yards, all but seven of it on the ground.

Taylor Kumm led the offense with 37 yards on 16 carries, while Cody Thomas had 23 yards on eight tries and Nate Bausch had 18 yards on eight carries.

Defensively, Thomas had 14 tackles, Blake McCorkindale had 13 and Brentlinger picked up 12.

Wildcats back in top 10 in D-II volleyball poll

The Wayne State volleyball team moved back into the top 10 in this week's American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II poll after going 1-1 on their recent road trip.

The Wildcats beat contender Minnesota State and lost a close four-set match to third-ranked Concordia-St. Paul and moved up one spot to No. 10 in this week's poll. They are one of five Northern Sun Conference teams listed in this week's top 10, including top-ranked Minnesota Duluth, No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 5 Southwest Minnesota State and No. 8 Northern State.

Heikes adds to school record

Former LCC standout Mitch Heikes has been making his mark in the record books at Briar Cliff.

Last year, he set the school record for rushing yards in a game, rushing for 190 yards against Dordt College.

He added to his mark this year, oddly enough, against Dordt College once again, going for 195 yards and a touchdown in the Chargers' 38-28 win over Dordt.

JV football posts pair of victories

The Wayne JV football team came away with a pair of wins recently, beating Hartington Cedar Catholic 17-0 and Schuyler 36-6.

In the Cedar Catholic game, Ty Grone and Tyler Gilliland scored touchdowns for Wayne. Edgar Ficke-Anderson kicked a field goal and two PAT's. Defensively, Gage Schultz intercepted two passes and Micheal Kniesche had a pickoff. Brennan O'Reilly recovered a fumble. Devan Henschke and Kaden Kneiff led the defense.

Scoring touchdowns in the win over Schuyler were Brennan O'Reilly, Caden Korth, Ficke-Anderson and Ethan Hill. Juan Vergara also returned an interception for a touchdown. Anderson added a field goal and three PAT's. Schultz and Anderson had interceptions, and Steven Keiser and Berto Vergara led the defense.

Junior High netters play well in Wisner

The Wayne junior high volleyball teams competed well on Saturday in the Wisner-Pilger tournament.

In the B division, Wayne finished 2-1 on the day, receiving fifth place. In the A division, Wayne was 3-0 and finished first for the second year in a row.

On Monday, Wayne defeated Stanton in six of eight sets behind

Sports Shorts

strong serving from BreAnna Bruns and Lauren Pick.

and Dylan Anderson.

Junior High football wins over Schuyler

Wayne swept two games from Schuyler in junior high football action.

In the seventh grade game, the Blue Devils won 28-0. Kallan Herman ran for one touchdown and passed for one to Victor Kniesche. Will Stabler scored on a 25-yard run and Jacob Kneiff closed out the scoring on a 30-yard pass from Colton Vovos. Defensively, the Blue Devils were led by Reid Korth with an interception, while the tackle leaders were Reece Wilson, Nolan Hunke

In the eighth-grade game, the Blue Devils won 16-0. Casey Koenig scored both touchdowns while Isaac Cliff scored a two-point conversion and Noah Lutt scored the second conversion on a pass from Tyrus Eischeid. The defensive leaders were Hagan Miller, Josh Lutt, Isaac Braun and Tristan Landenger. Both teams are 3-2 on the year.

Both Wayne teams lost at Hartington Cedar Catholic. The seventh grade lost 22-6, as Jacob Kneiff scored on a 40-yard run. Cody Rogers hit Tyrus Eischeid with a 60-yard pass for the eighth graders in a 20-6 loss.

WSC Rugby plays Saturday

The top-ranked Wayne State women's rugby team has a big weekend scheduled for homecoming this Saturday.

The Wildcats will play on the Nebraska Saturday afternoon, and the Wayne State men will butt heads with South Dakota State in a game that has major playoff advancement implications on the outcome.

The Wildcat women stayed undefeated after a 22-19 win over Iowa State in Ames last weekend, while the men upset Nebraska in Lincoln 29-20 with two late scores in the final eight minutes.

Coach Darrin Barner expects a pair of tough games on Saturday.

"The games on Saturday will be very close and our opponents are pretty big in the scrum area," he said. "We are for sure going to try to go wide on them and try to turn the corner with our speed. It will be a very hard-hitting game up in the scrum and we will see what we can do in the backline for our advantage."

Games are at the Wayne Rugby Park on East Fourth St. at the Summer Sports Complex, with free admission. The Wayne State men will play at 2:45 p.m., with the women's match starting at 4:30 p.m.

FBLA officers attend training

Members of the Wayne Future Business Leaders of America recently attended the fall officers training in Omaha.

This year's officers include: President – Colby Keiser; Secretary – Courtney Melena; Treasurer – Gabrielle Lutt; Historian/Social Chair – Rylee Bessmer and member Schuyler Schweers accompanied by sponsor Annette Rasmussen. Not available to attend was Thorin McBride – Vice President.

The training began with keynote motivational speaker Kevin Wanzer. With a great sense of humor, he reinforced essential life and love lessons. He believed in finding the funny each day. Students need to choose a positive attitude, connect with others, make opportunities in life to make a difference and choose to laugh daily. There was also a presentation on professional dress and a guest speaker informing the students about Phi-Beta Lambda.

Each officer then attended officer workshops and seminars to learn more about their leadership position.

The FBLA will be trick or treating for Haven House the evening of Monday, Oct. 12. The chapter will be participating in fundraisers, such as Sales Receipts for Schools and working concession stands, with some funds raised going to March of Dimes, which is a state project. FBLA is open to any high school student who has an interest in business activities.

Lady Bears lose two L&C games

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge volleyball team continued to struggle, as they dropped a 25-16, 25-18, 25-15 decision Tuesday at Hartington-Newcastle.

"Hartington is on a winning streak, and unfortunately, making one mistake often leads to another for our team," coach Patti Cunningham said.

Kaci Groene lead the Lady Bears with eight kills and Katie Leapley added five in the match. Katelyn Cook had 16 assists. Defensively, Groene had 10 digs, Bryn Schutte had nine and Cook and Emily Hangman each had eight.

In action Thursday, LCC battled Creighton to five sets on the road, but the Bulldogs hung on to take the match, 26-24, 25-12, 24-26, 23-25, 15-7.

"This was a hard-fought, exciting match that contained numerous pressure situations that forced athletes on both sides to make plays," Cunningham said.

Leapley had 18 kills and Groene added 13 in the losing effort. Cook had 40 assists. Groene had five ace serves and Mady Holloway had three. Defensively, Schutte had 21 digs, Lorna Maxson had 13, Groene had 12 and Holloway had 10.

LCC, 2-19, plays at Bloomfield on Thursday.

Safety urged during harvest time

It's that time of the year again, the leaves are turning, the roads are busy with farm equipment and farmers are racing the unpredictable weather to get their crop out of the field.

The hectic harvest season is upon us and as farmers enter the fields and travel the roads, Nebraska Corn is urging them to use extra precaution and take a second for safety.

"There are a lot of moving parts at harvest time and farmers are working hard to get the crops out of the fields," said Dave Merrell, farmer from St. Edward, Nebraska and chairman of the Nebraska Corn Board. "Working long hours in the field or on the farm could cause a chance for error where an injury or fatality could be prevented by taking appropriate precautions or simply taking time."

Merrell also cautioned motorists driving on rural roads during harvest. These roads see additional traffic during harvest, which increases the chances for accidents to occur between slower moving farm equipment and vehicles moving at highway speeds. Rural intersections will have heavier-than-normal travel and dusty conditions may limit visibility, as can sun glare in the morning and evening. Standing crops in the field may also block a clear view of oncoming traffic.

Nebraska Corn encourages farmers to pay special attention to the safety features of their equipment, and encourages everyone to keep an eye toward safety on the highways and byways this harvest and year round.

Some things to consider for farmers and farm workers while on the farm this fall:

Stay alert. Take breaks to help avoid fatigue – get out of the cab and walk around every few hours. Keep your cell phone charged so you can communicate as needed with family members and employees.

Use extra caution around PTO's. Check that PTOs are well protected to avoid contact with clothing or people during operation. And never step over a rotating PTO – a few extra steps to walk around the tractor are worth the effort.

Shut down before working on a machine. If the combine becomes clogged, shut off the motor, not just the header, before attempting to unplug it by hand.

Be aware of your surroundings. Know where your co-workers and family members are at all times and always be aware of power lines that you can come in contact with while moving equipment and augers around grain bins. Visibility can be especially poor around large machinery and at night.

Grain Bin/Handling Safety. Grain bins deserve special attention and caution when grain is being loaded and removed. Never stand on grain that is being or has been moved. Safety measures should be put in place to avoid any risk of entrapment and suffocation.

Move Machinery Safely. Make sure your Slow Moving Vehicle emblems are in good condition and properly mounted. If you must move machinery on a roadway after dark, have all necessary working headlights and flashing front and rear warning lights. The better you can be seen the less likely you are to be hit by motorists.

Develop Safety Rules. Have a set of safety rules for everyone to follow – and enforce them. Protective eye and ear wear is important in many situations. It is also important to equip tractors and combines with a fire extinguisher, as dry crop residue is fuel for a fire. Finally, ensure that trained family members and employees are operating powerful equipment – if kids want to be involved, give them age appropriate jobs.

"While we all recognize the excitement and fast pace of harvest, staying focused and resting regularly are two proactive steps in keeping things safe around the farm for everyone, including family members and employees helping to harvest the crop," said Larry Mussack, farmer from Decatur, Nebraska and president of the Nebraska Corn Growers Association. "Harvest and fall field work is truly a thrill for Nebraska farmers, but please remember to be careful."

Contrary to rumor, newspapers thrive

To paraphrase Mark Twain – the death of the newspaper has been greatly exaggerated.

This week is the 75th anniversary of National Newspaper Week, and while other media seem intent on misrepresenting the importance of the newspaper in the ever-expanding world of digital news consumption, the fact of the matter is that your local small-town newspapers continue to thrive, survive and – most important – inform, educate and entertain you in ways other media outlets have never been able to replicate or improve upon.

There once was a time when the newspaper was pretty much the only source of local news available (outside of the gossipmongers at the coffee shop or the local watering hole). Then, in the early 20th century, radio came along and the first death notice for the newspaper was being sounded by Walter Cronkite, saw Neil Armstrong take the first steps on the moon, and were even mesmerized as we saw live video of events like the Challenger space shuttle explosion and the planes that flew into the World Trade Center towers on Sept. 11, 2001.

And, still, newspapers carried on. They continued to bring us stories that radio and TV have never quite been able to tell in as colorful or mesmerizing a way as a well-written newspaper article can.

Some in the "other" media like to spread the misinformation that newspapers are closing up, drying out or otherwise becoming irrelevant in today's fast-paced, need-to-know-now world. Newspapers are dead, they keep telling you. Look at all the cuts being made at big newspapers like the New York Times, or shuttering of operations of big-city daily papers in Chicago, Denver and Seattle that have happened in the past several years.

The difference between those newspapers and the one you're reading is those newspapers were being run by people whose only interest was in the almighty dollar. Cutting essential staff – instead of bloated administration, the vast majority of whom have never written a story, taken a photograph or have any kind of graphic design experience – or closing the doors altogether, is a signal that the management of the newspaper doesn't have a community's best interests in mind – it has nothing to do with the viability of the media itself.

The Wayne Herald is in its 140th year of publication – we've been here twice as long as TV has been around, and almost a half-century ahead of the birth of radio – and we continue to be run by locally-based management whose primary concern is to make sure the public is properly informed of the news and events happening in Wayne and Wayne County by a properly-run, prosperous, profitable business. We live here and work here and continue to play a vital role in the lifeblood of our community. You don't have to go out of town to find out what's happening here in Wayne – that's our job, a job you have relied on us to handle for 140 years, and one that we will continue to do.

One of the challenges newspapers do have to deal with is the changing technology. Our staff is limited, but we have embraced the electronic age with our website (mywaynews.com), as well as our presence on Facebook and Twitter. We feel we have established ourselves as your go-to source online as well, judging by our daily views on our webpage and the number of visitors and "likes" we receive on our social media pages. We were the first in Wayne County to include video on our web page, and have the area's only in-season weekly online programs dedicated to Wayne State and Wayne High athletics.

I might be a bit biased on this, but I also believe we have the most talented writers and storytellers in the area that we cover. Our editorial staff has more than 50 years of award-winning experience in being able to give you the news about your community that you need to know – far exceeding that of any other locally-based media outlet that claims to call Wayne County a major part of its coverage area.

We're proud to be a part of Wayne, Wayne County and the area that we include within our pages every week. The Wayne Herald has been your number one source for local news for 140 years – and, contrary to what "other" media might try to sell you, we aren't going away any time soon.

Legislative battles get rolling

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

As long as there have been sessions of the Nebraska Legislature, there have been battles over taxes. Who pays what? Who isn't paying enough? Who pays too much? How do we fix it?

The 2016 battle has begun with an urban Senator firing the first shot across the cowl of the John Deere. The target? Farm income and land ownership. The catalyst? A report given to a joint committee of state senators at an interim study indicated that Nebraska farms made an average $112,966 in income each year from 2009 to 2013. That figure, from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service, is more than double what the average Nebraskan took home in income last year.

And in 2012, when farm incomes peaked, the most efficient farms were bringing in more than $600,000 annually, according to Nebraska Farm Business Inc., a farm financial analyst.

Freshman Sen. Patty Pansing Brooks of Lincoln told her colleagues that it appears the people (farmers and ranchers) who are making a lot of money are the ones who are most vocal about those property taxes. She says that much of her central Lincoln district is low-income – 36 percent of its households make $25,000 or less each year.

Sen. Al Davis of Hyannis questioned the validity of the report. He is a rancher in the sprawling 43rd District – the state's largest – and says he knows of a constituent whose land is in a life estate who earns less than $6,000 per year after paying more than $10,000 in property taxes.

Farms and ranches cover 92 percent of the state's land area, or 45.3 million acres, according to the USDA. But farmers and ranchers only make up about 3 percent of the state's population. Many responded to the Lincoln senator's remarks calling them rude, disrespectful and removed from reality.

One lobbyist told the Lincoln Journal Star that Pansing Brooks had courage to say what a lot of other people have been thinking. Farm Bureau President Steve Nelson told the newspaper that it isn't just one senator's point of view. But, he said his organization and other ag groups have been working to bring all of the constituencies together to talk about balance and fairness. He said agriculture landowners pay about 32 percent of the state's property taxes, which is the main source of funding for Nebraska's public schools.

Former school superintendent Roy Baker, who now represents Legislative District 30 in Lancaster and Gage Counties, said while there isn't a lot of sympathy from urban senators, their support is essential to make any changes to the state tax laws.

Soaring ag land values since 2008 have caused property taxes to spike. Last year, landowners paid about $15,000 per farm per year. That compares with $1,200 per year for other taxpayers. Adding to the urgency of the situation is a prediction that U.S. farm income this year will be 36 percent lower than in 2014.

Governor Pete Ricketts says the more than $400 million placed in the Property Tax Credit Relief Fund by this year's legislature is a step in the right direction. But there is more to be done since the Tax Foundation's 2015 State Business Tax Climate Index ranks Nebraska as 29th best in overall tax competitiveness as well as 12th highest in property taxes and 26th highest in income taxes. "These rankings show that Nebraska is a high tax state, and is, at best, middling when compared to other states," Ricketts said.

"There is nothing competitive about being middle-of-the-pack, and we must continue to look for new ways to bring tax rates down."

The issues are out there and seem to be clearly defined, much as they have been for years. Let's hope that the governor and the legislature take a surgical approach to the situation instead of a lumberjack whack at taxes. Look how that worked out in Kansas. My grandpa was right. Measure twice, cut once.

Let's see what we can do to educate people on both sides of the barbed wire fence so that the discussion can be stripped of the high emotion that does nothing but foster disunity.

Is there an answer? Will the 2016 Legislature find the cure? I wouldn't bet the farm on it.

Letters

Westwood Road a jewel as it is

On June 20, 1960, the Carhart Lumber Company of Wayne filed with the county the "Protective Covenants Westwood Addition to the City of Wayne, Wayne County, NE." These covenants were a promise to the city and to fellow homeowners of the "new" addition that the "said Westwood Addition shall be and remain a desirable residential area . . ." In my opinion, the residents of our neighborhood upheld, and continue to uphold, their responsibilities to the city and each other.

Our addition, over the last 55 years, has stayed true to both the "written word" and the "intended spirit" of the covenants. Since these covenants will continue "unless an instrument signed by a majority of the then-owners of the lots has been recorded, agreeing to change said covenants in whole or in part," I feel strongly that our neighbors are satisfied with the neighborhood. The reason my family now resides in our Westwood Road home is because my mother and I both knew what a jewel was hidden in the northwest corner of Wayne.

In 2009, I was pulled in two directions – a baby at home and a mother in poor health, and my kind, generous mother left the life my parents had built (my father passed away in 2006) in Omaha and moved here. We looked all over town and even considered new construction, and then saw the listing for this home. Having lived in multiple states for my father to advance his career, my mother was good at house shopping and knew this was "her" house. It was the only house we toured, and as we drove through the neighborhood we knew that it was also "her" neighborhood because it had stayed vibrant and alive.

In 2011 when she passed, I inherited the house. She wanted my family to have this house in this neighborhood and we bless her generosity. She would be upset, just as I am, to have this neighborhood permanently damaged by a trail that has to go down our street because there is nowhere else for it to go.

We must not settle. Our neighborhood and our city deserve more. Our children deserve better, and I will be actively working toward a better solution that protects this jewel of a neighborhood, just as I'm hoping that my neighbors and public officials will also do.

Tracy Harmon Heinemann

Legislative Update

Positions available on various boards

From time to time, we receive requests from the governor's office requesting help finding individuals to fill open positions on various boards or commissions that are appointed by the governor. This week, we received an e-mail with about 11 pages of positions that are looking to be filled.

I will not go into detail on all of the boards or commissions that have openings or will have openings by the end of the year, there are just too many. It seems that we have a commission or a board for just about everything – jail standards to developmental disabilities; ethanol to fire safety appeals; and judicial nominations to keeping Nebraska beautiful.

Some of the positions have specific qualifications and requirements where others have a broader set of qualifications. There are a few of the appointments that do require a Legislative confirmation hearing.

As I looked through the list there was one commission that caught my eye and I wanted to make sure to share the opportunity. It appears that in September there were several positions that became open on the Commission on Indian Affairs. The term is for four years and they meet quarterly. According to the list that I have, they were looking to fill the following positions: Winnebago Tribe, SW Panhandle (Garden, Deuel, Cheyenne, Kimball, Banner, Morrill and Scotts Bluff Counties), Ponca Tribe (two positions), and the Omaha Tribe.

Use caution when children play outside

"I don't want to play outside", said no child ever.

Did you know that watching the weather is part of a child care professional's job? If it is too hot or too cold outside the children in their care could be in danger. The average temperature in eastern Nebraska in January is a high of 33 and a low of 13. According to the Iowa Department of Public Health wind chill and heat index charts, providers should use CAUTION when the air temperature is between 11 and 39 degrees Fahrenheit.

I know what you are thinking... "What does using CAUTION look

Knox County

Ruth Vonderohe

Extension Educator

like?"

First of all, we need to inform parents and caregivers about our intentions when it comes to outdoor play including the timeframe and temperature. This is best done at the time of enrollment. Be honest with caregivers. Know the facts about why outdoor play (rain or shine) is important for healthy growth and development of their child. It is wonderful to have an outdoor play policy included in the child care handbook so families can read about and appreciate this aspect of quality child care.

Ask parents and caregivers to provide proper clothing for the weather. This should include: hats, gloves, a warm coat that zips or buttons, snow boots and snow pants when needed. It is a good idea to have a few extras around in case they are forgotten or misplaced. It is a good idea to ask caregivers to consider donating old clothing items like these to your child care program. Remember, toddlers and preschoolers should be attempting to dress themselves, but you the child care provider must ensure they are properly dressed before heading out in the cold.

Is it okay for kids to take their gloves off outside when it is cold? The answer depends on the temperature, but for those of you working with young toddlers and preschoolers you can count on this happening. You may have to spend the entire outside time putting little suzie's gloves back on, but that is your job - so do it! Parents and caregivers have every right to be upset if you do not. They are not there to help their child, thus they expect that you will as it is your job to care for their child. Stop whining about it and get it done! Make sure to communicate with families about the importance of the gloves and practice putting them on during an indoor activity so that the child can learn to help themselves.

Make sure you stay out only as long as the children are engaged and playing. Depending on the temperature, you may spend three times as long dressing for outside time as you do actually participating in outside time - and that's ok. Getting dressed is a crucial part of every child's personal and social development.

"My child has a cold, they need to stay indoors today". Politely inform the caregiver that playing outdoors is not what makes or keeps children sick. There are actually more "bad" germs inside, so heading out in cooler weather gives children some nice fresh air to breathe, and is healthy. I say, if the child is healthy enough to attend child care today, they are healthy enough to participate in the daily activities and routines - outdoor play being one of these. This information is in your policy that they were given upon enrollment, right? If you just answered "no" you should make it a priority to write a policy on this ASAP. If you need some help writing a policy on physical activity you can contact your Nebraska extension office or the GO NAP SACC program. Feel free to post this policy as the weather changes from warm to cool, or put it in your newsletter or on your facebook page. For caregivers who are determined to keep their little one in for "just today" I have informed them that they are welcome to come care for their child while the rest of the class is outdoors. Be specific with the timeframes you will be going out so that they can arrive in time to stay in with their child. Remember, you are not just watching one child, but a group of children and you must do what is best for the group.

Congratulations Karissa Hays ~ Associate of the Month ~

"Here at Brookdale Wayne, we are so lucky to have Karissa as our Business Office Manager. Our Community would not be able to run as smoothly as it does without Karissa working behind the scenes. She handles everything from HR to billing and everything in between! Residents and associates know that they can go to her with anything and her door is always open. She is not afraid to help in any department as needed. To just say Karissa goes above and beyond wouldn't be enough."

Something missing in all those words

If you know me at all, you know that I am a talkative person. More than once it has happened (if I get long-winded) that someone will jest and say: "Get to the bottom line, Pfaltzgraff!" I like words.

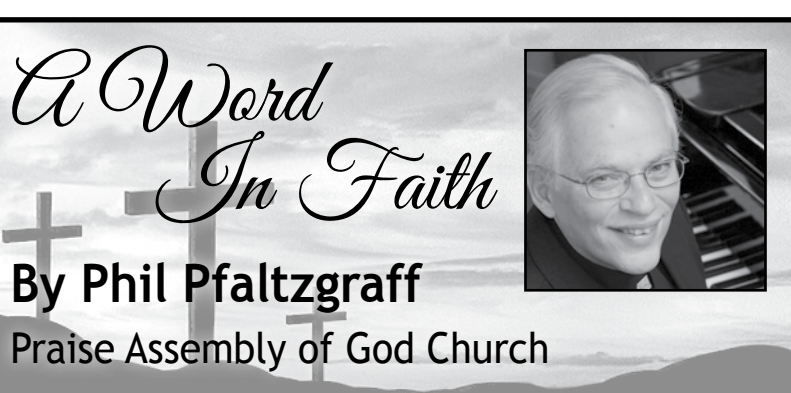

It seems like we are being inundated by words - from all sources: Twitter. Tweet. Instagram. Facebook. FaceTime. Skype. Blogs. And have you noticed that even your iPhone tries to finish words and sentences on your behalf? It's hilarious!

However, I think that something is missing in many of those "words." Do you ever wish to hear a "good word" about something? I know that I do. Students go through cycles just like mothers and dads, secretaries and business people - day after day. We all experience up's and down's; and it depends not just on hormone levels but also on the things that life dishes out: good or bad. That's what marks life this side of heaven: a lot of stuff. And our response to "stuff" will determine whether we survive or not.

In moments of darkness and frustration, isn't it just good sometime to hear a really "good word"?

Another question: who is it that has the "good word"? The mother? The father? The gentle and gracious grandfather? The teacher? The pastor? The elected official? The administrator? The social worker? The doctor?

All-too often the flurry of the words we hear does not blow hope and optimism in our direction. In

Job 16:3 we see that "windy words have an end." Sounds pretty futile doesn't it? However, according to Proverbs 25:11, a word that is fitly spoken "is like apples of gold in a setting of silver."

Have you ever met someone who seems to know exactly what to say? Psalm 45:1 contains another expression of the psalmist as he reflects that "my heart overflows with a good theme; I address my verses to the King; My tongue is the pen of a ready writer."

Now, isn't that the kind of person whom you want to meet? Do you know anyone whose words are like listening to a kind and gracious writer?

Proverbs 10:19 says this: "When words are many, transgression is not lacking." This means: it's not uncommon to find that a flurry of words masks and disguises numerous chinks in the armor that can lead to personal catastrophe - and those "many words" only unsettle the listener.

I find myself praying that the Lord will make me like the person Paul urges his friends in the church in Colossae to become (Colossians 4:6): "Let your speech always be gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how you ought to answer each person."

My wife and I sing together; and one of our favorite songs, made famous by the Christian singer Steve Green, is called "Touch Your People Once Again." And it contains some brutally honest lyrics as we long to experience a relief from the "flurry of words."

We need wisdom, we need power and true love for each other, we have had so many big, but empty words. So we come before Your face, asking for Your grace.

In the words of the poet of that song, our relief does not come in the abundance of words nor in the eloquence of the speaker. There is only rest when we come before the Lord.

It was evident in His earthly ministry that some of Jesus' words drew people to Himself and closer to God, the Creator of all things. However, some couldn't handle what He said and soon disappeared from the circle of His followers. At one point after watching some turn back, Jesus turned to Peter and asked if he, too, was going to leave. And (John 6:64) Simon Peter answered him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life."

There's something about the Words of Jesus that bring what is needed for a situation. We need His Words of Life. We need solutions. We need answers. We need forgiveness. We need deliverance. We need comfort. And those things only come from the One Who knows not only the problems - but also the Words that are mighty and appropriate for every situation we face.

It also seems that there is a timetable in which the necessary words of encouragement must be spoken. And those of us who say that we have the Spirit of God in us need to heed the instruction of the writer in Hebrews 3:13: "But exhort one another every day, as long as it is called 'today,' that none of you may be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin."

It's easy to get blown away by a flurry of words. Consequently it is essential that we commit ourselves - daily - to Jesus, the One that can give His Life to our words, and spread His love to others - as we daily give ourselves to His service.

Blessings to you!

4-Hers and leaders honored

A large number of 4-H members, leaders and parents attended the annual Wayne County 4-H Achievement Program held Oct. 4 at the Wayne City Auditorium.

A picnic supper was sponsored by Wayne County banks: Bank-First, Elkhorn Valley Banks, Farmers State Bank, F & M Bank, State Nebraska Bank, and Winside State Bank. The supper was served by the Wayne County 4-H Council, who also sponsored many of the awards.

Wayne County 4-H adult volunteers were honored for their service tenure during the achievement program. Recognized for five years of leadership were: Scott Boysen, Michael Fehringer, Ranae Kempf, Todd Luedeke and Broch Muhs. Ten year service pins were presented to Amy Bowers, Craig Evans, Mike Finn, Jean Harrold-Loberg, Sharilyn Lemke and Kenneth Loberg. The 15 year leader recognized was David Braun. Connie Roberts was recognized for 40 years of leadership.

Earning special awards during this 4-H year were (front) Nina Hammer, Riley Haschke, Ky Kenny, Aubrie Edwards, James Simpson and Andrew Simpson. (back) Lindsay Niemann, Noah Braun, Laura Greunke, Lindsey Marotz, Anna Loberg and Marta Pulfer.

Several individual honors were announced and medals were awarded. The Outstanding 4-Her award was presented to Anna Loberg. Receiving county medals for project work in the junior division were: Hailey Bobeldyke (fashion show and home environment); Hailey Schroeder (swine); and Mason Topp (beef and food & nutrition).

Receiving county medals in the senior division were: Sylvia Jager (consumer management, human development, and food & nutrition), Lindsey Marotz (dairy); and Marta Pulfer (citizenship).

A special Family and Consumer Science award is given to the top junior and senior Family and Consumer Science member who submits an application. In the Junior Division, Kayla Bobeldyke earned the Clothing, Food/Nutrition, and Home Environment Awards.

The Chris Clover Award Program is designed as a participation incentive program for first, second, and third year 4-Hers. Green award winners were Riley Haschke, Lindsay Niemann, Hailey Schroeder, and Mason Topp. The Bronze award winner was Kayla Bobeldyke.

Other special awards that were distributed at the program:

Week includes hosting English musicians

One of the interesting things we've done since moving to Lincoln is to host a couple choir members when they come to town for a concert. We've had students from St. Olaf, Augustana, Wartburg, & McPherson College.

So, when I read that First Plymouth, the big church with the awesome acoustics, was having Trinity College from Cambridge, England, I made up my mind to volunteer for them. Sure enough, about a month before the concert, I had an email, asking how many I could accommodate. Of all the timing, friend/classmate from California, Mary Anna, had also asked to stay during that week.

But she always stays in the room upstairs, because she doesn't do stairs well, and I figured I could use the sofa bed in the big room downstairs and the other one could be in the basement bedroom. So, I said yes to two. Eventually, I learned that it would be two ladies, Annabell and Anna.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I met them at the church on Monday, the 21st, and brought them home to a typical Midwestern supper (dinner) of roast beef, mashed potatoes, and gravy. They loved it.

Or, at least, they ate like they really liked it.

Of course, folks from the UK speak English; the only problem, as we learned when we visited there, it's not the same English that we use! It took a valiant effort on both our parts to understand them, and it didn't help that they could talk fast!

The gist of it was that both girls probably come from wealthy families, one in London and the other in a village nearby. I had read about Trinity before they came; Wikipedia says it's a sister college to Oxford. We have a great niece at Oxford this year. Also, it said that it was well endowed.

Anna explained that taxes support people and institutions in this fashion in England; the Queen comes first, and after that, the church, the third entity was one I did not catch, and the fourth is Trinity College! My goodness!

Anyway, they ate a hearty breakfast the next morning and I drove them back to church. They spent the day touring our lovely city, and at 5 p.m., I met my friend at the airport. We had a supper of beef and noodle casserole and then hurried to the church. We arrived in plenty of time, but still had to park on the street. The place was packed; they set up four rows of chairs in the back.

And it was an awesome concert. The paper says this choir is the fifth best in the world! I don't know who decides that, but I believe it. There were also a couple of organ solos on that million dollar organ. All in all, a great experience.

Back at the townhouse, there was a snack and then to bed; cinnamon rolls for breakfast, and brownies to take along. They were to tour the zoo in Omaha, and then head for home, after two weeks of travel and song. Only young people can tolerate it. It was a fun experience, but the week turned out to be very long! More next week.

UNL Extension Board - Wayne County meeting planned

The UNL Extension Board - Wayne County will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 13, 2015 at the courthouse meeting room in Wayne. The 7:30 p.m. meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office at 510 Pearl Street, Suite C, in Wayne.

Farm Bureau members gather

Wayne County Farm Bureau members met Sept. 14 at TWJ Feeds in Carroll. It was decided that Malinda Villwok and Beth Lutter will continue to serve as office assistants/coordinators for the year. Going forward, the board will plan the annual meeting around Thunder by the River and have the location be Nissen Wines again.

Delegates to the Farm Bureau annual conference will be John Temme, Bill Claybaugh, Tony Thelen, Don Liedman, and Greg Villwok. Resolutions are due Oct 30 and will be discussed at the October meeting.

Farm Bureau meetings going forward will be the second Tuesday of each month, with the next meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 13 at TWJ Feeds in Carroll.

Members receiving 10 year pins: Noah Braun, Rachael Chleborad, Jami Jaeger, Sylvia Jager, Colby Keiser, Breanna Lemke-Elznic, Luke Pulfer, Blake Reimers, and Alyssa Schmale.

Eleven Year 4-Hers who were recognized were: Jackson Belt, Brook Bowers, Selenia Finn, David Greunke, Laura Greunke, Heath Greve, Jaci Jenkins, and Emma Loberg.

The Diamond Clover Award Program was introduced in January 2008, as a state wide incentive program. The purpose is designed to encourage 4-H youth to engage in a variety of projects and activities that will enable members to acquire the life skills necessary to lead successful lives as competent, caring and contributing citizens.

Participants and their awards include: Level 1 Amethyst - Kayla Bobedlyke, Lindsay Niemann, and Mason Topp.

Year-end club awards for the Sharp Shooters 4-H club were presented by club leader Darin Greunke. Receiving certificates of merit were: Aubrey Edwards, Ky Kenny, Josh Greunke, Cameron Muhs, Sam Perry, Andrew Simpson, James Simpson and Hunter VanHouten.

Clubs were recognized for their participation in the Nebraska 4-H Club of Excellence Program. To receive the designation as a Nebraska 4-H Club of Excellence, clubs must meet all of the criteria and document how the criteria is met. Club of Excellence winners are American Country 4-Hers, Blue Ribbon Winners, Combination Kids, Country Classics, Spring Branch, and Wayne First Lego League 4-H Clubs.

The election for Wayne County 4-H Council was also held in conjunction with the annual 4-H Achievement Program, as a result, four new members were elected.

Maribeth Bobedlyke of Hoskins and Mark Niemann of Wayne will serve as the two new adult members on the council. Hannah Belt and Brennen O'Reilly of Wayne are the new youth members. The newly elected members join Kirk Hochstein, Kelly Kenny, Anna Loberg, and Lucas Longe who will be beginning their second year term. Outgoing members recognized included Noah Braun, Jean Dorcey, Doug French, and Alyssa Schmale. Diane Roeber serves as the 4-H Council Treasurer.

The Wayne County 4-H Council plays an important role in setting the direction of the 4-H program.

Shooting Sports workshop scheduled

Well it has finally happened. There has been a lot of interest in 4-H Shooting Sports and having a certification workshop in northeast Nebraska.

Provided we have enough participants, we will hold a 4-H Shooting Sports Certification Workshop at Ponca State Park on Halloween weekend Oct. 31- Nov. 1. This date has been set after feedback from trainers and potential participants.

The workshop is designed for adults who want to be leaders of a 4-H Shooting Sports Club. Youth 16 years of age and older can get certified as assistant leaders. This is NOT Hunter Safety Training and has no connection with it.

It is an intensive two-day National 4H Program that emphasizes youth development along with shooting sports safety. You will need a park sticker to enter the park.

Leaders can choose between rifle, shotgun, archery, muzzleloading or hunting skills. If we do not have at least 25 participants (at least 5 shop. The cost includes three meals. If you are already certified in one discipline and want to get another the cost is $90. So check with your local county extension office for scholarship opportunities.

There are cabins at the park if you wish to stay overnight, first come first served. Otherwise the nearest motels are in South Sioux City or Vermillion (roughly 35 miles from Ponca State Park).

You need to register on-line by Oct. 20 so we can know how many participants to plan for. You must register on-line. The address is 4h.unl.edu/shootingsports. Go to the event calendar and find the Ponca Workshop. All information is available at the site. You can Google it, or contact your local extension office for help.

And speaking of 4-H, this is National 4-H week so take the time to thank the many volunteers who are the backbone of your local 4-H program that provides such great educational opportunities for our youth.

must sign up for each discipline to be taught) by Oct. 20 we will have to cancel the workshop. Many counties will have scholarships available to offset all or part of the cost, which is $100 for the two day work-

FULL-TIME NURSING OPPORTUNITIES

PROVIDENCE MEDICAL CENTER
in Wayne, Nebraska is currently seeking the following positions:

Registered Nurse

"I'm Ginger and I'm an LPN-C at Providence Medical Center. I became a nurse later in life after I raised my four children. I've always worked with people and I love helping them. We keep really busy here at PMC and I work with lots of people from many departments. All of us know a little bit about each other. We are a close knit group that's just like a family. When you work together so closely you can take care of each other and that translates into taking care of our patients really well. I love it here."
