Council approves increase in WCAC rates

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne City Council opted for shallower waters rather than diving into the deep end on a proposed rate increase for memberships to the Wayne Community Activity Center and the city's new swimming pool.

At Tuesday's meeting, a proposal to increase a family pass to the activity center from its current rate of $105 to $150 was scaled back after more than 30 minutes of discussion and approved on a 6-0 vote.

Activity director Bryce Meyer told the council that a proposal to increase the family membership would still be well below a family membership to the Norfolk Water Park and offer more services. A membership to the water park in Norfolk runs $190 annually for a family.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain said he had some reservations about increasing a family membership by so much, recalling concerns that were raised when the half-cent sales tax was approved by voters to help build the new pool adjacent to the Activity Center.

"When we talked about the new pool, there was talk about increasing memberships and we want to still make it affordable," he said. "Membership prices were a concern when we talked about building the pool."

Councilman Cale Giese suggested that a smaller increase would be more preferable.

"I'd prefer that it would increase (at a smaller rate) more frequently over making one big jump," he said, proposing an increase of $20 in the family pool pass membership for non-CAC members – from $105 to $125 – and a $10 increase for members, going from $95 to $105. Individual pass rates would go from $60 to $80 for non-members.

In addition, a 10 percent increase across the board for CAC memberships was included in Giese's motion, along with daily pool pass rates of $5 for ages 13 and over, $4 for ages 6-12 and $3 for ages 5-under.

In addition, the board struck a proposed $50 up-front fee for 24-hour access that would include a free key fob to enter the facility after hours, opting instead for giving all members age 18 and over a free key fob on request, with a $20 charge for replacement fobs.

The approval also called for a $100 full facility rental fee, with a 6-hour minimum for events booked after March 1.

The board also discussed a suggestion to add parking to the north side of the activity center, asking City Administrator Lowell Johnson to bring back bids for adding stalls to the north of the north part of the center's parking.

"Anybody who was here for the WBDA basketball tournament, or any other tournament that goes on there, understands the stress of parking there," Chamberlain said.

In other action, the Council:

– discussed a request from a parent of a Wayne State student to consider relaxing the four-person limit on rental properties while Bowen Hall undergoes a two-semester rebuilding project at Wayne State College.

Jeff Carstens, vice president for student affairs at the college, said they were expecting to have between 35-50 students living on campus while the renovations take place, but plan on accommodating those who might be displaced during the project.

"What we have done is to communicate with seniors that, if they live within 60 miles of Wayne, we won't be able to guarantee housing for them while this renovation is going on," he said. "Incoming freshmen will be guaranteed (housing)."

Carstens said the renovation should be complete by the fall of 2017.

– approved a resolution to begin updating the city's electric distribution system. The first phase will be to upgrade capacity and put the East Inner and West Inner circuits – the oldest part of the city's system outside of the downtown area – underground. Johnson said a lot of work needs to be done, and planning will be important so as not to surprise local residents with a number of big projects at the same time "that are really going to jack our rates up."

– approved a payment to Eriksen Construction Co. in the amount of $165,778.34 for the wastewater treatment facility project, and to Christiansen Construction Co. for $38,079.74 on the aquatic center project.

The Council's next meeting is Tuesday, March 15 at 5:30 p.m. in the Council chambers.

Wayne firefighters fight Sunday morning blaze

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

No one was injured, but a home will likely be considered a total loss following a Sunday morning fire in Wayne.

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department responded to a house fire in the 800 Block of Windom Street at approximately 9:20 a.m. Sunday morning.

When they arrived on the scene, the southeast corner of the house was on fire.

A total of 30 members of the Wayne Fire Department responded to the fire and some of those remained on scene until 12:30 p.m. to make sure there were no hot spots in the house.

The family living in the home, two adults and three children, were able to escape before the firefighters arrived and Fire Chief Phil Monahan said the home was equipped with working smoke detectors that were going off when the firefighters began battling the blaze.

"With Sunday's wind, I was really surprised that the fire wasn't worse. It happened in the right area of the house to prevent it from spreading to other homes in the area," Monahan said.

The cause of the fire is being determined as accidental.

Monahan said his department received assistance from the Providence Medical Center Ambulance crew, who arrived on scene to check the family members for injuries.

Also responding were members of the city of Wayne Utility Department who shut off the gas, electricity and water to the home.

The American Red Cross was called to provide assistance to the family. The First United Methodist Church also provided clothing and other items to the family.

Monahan said that, with Daylight Savings Time going into effect on March 13, this is a good time for all residents to check their smoke detectors and install new batteries.

"The family, while they don't have a home, is safe and no firefighters were injured while fighting the fire. Those are the important things," Monahan said.

Governor Ricketts to appear at 25th annual legislative forum

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne Area Chamber's annual legislative forum will have a little different look to it for its 25th anniversary.

Wes Blecke, executive director of Wayne Area Chamber and Wayne Area Economic Development, told The Wayne Herald on Monday that Gov. Pete Ricketts will be part of this year's forum, joining three state legislators who will be part of the 90-minute forum that will be held Friday at 10:30 a.m. in Gardner Hall on the campus of Wayne State College.

Area State Sen. Dave Bloomfield and Sens. Lydia Brasch of Bancroft and Jim Scheer of Norfolk were already scheduled to be at the forum, but Blecke got a call from the governor's office late Friday.

"Evidently, they had seen it on the Legislative calendar and inquired about it, since he's going to be in Norfolk for something that afternoon and it worked in his schedule to come up here before," he said. "Who am I to say no to the governor?"

The chamber's legislative committee has set up the annual legislative forum for the last 25 years, giving local residents an opportunity to talk with area state senators about some of the more pressing issues in the Nebraska Legislature. Area students have regularly made field trips to the forum, and students from Wayne and Ponca high schools are planning to visit this year's forum, Blecke said.

"We try to look at recess dates and see when our area state senator can make it, and once we get those dates, we see what's going on in our area to determine if there is anything like a state basketball tournament or something like that going on and schedule it from there," Blecke said. "With this year being a short (60-day) session, we

City has first $100K month in tax receipts

The City of Wayne received its first six-figure check from the State of Nebraska from its city sales tax receipts for the month of February.

With February's numbers based off of December's sales, it obviously was a good holiday shopping season in the community, as the city of Wayne received $103,261.10 in local sales tax receipts, according to information shared with The Wayne Herald by City Finance Director Nancy Braden.

For fiscal year 2015-16, the city has already received more than $436,000 in sales tax receipts, totaling $436,881.34 for the first five months of the fiscal year. This is the ninth month since the additional half-cent sales tax was added for the new swimming pool at the Wayne Community Activity Center, and February's take was the highest month so far.

Two races set for primary

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The last seconds ticked away before the 5 p.m. deadline Tuesday at the Wayne County Courthouse with no last-second additions to the list of nominees for the eight races that will be decided by voters within the county this November.

Two of those eight races will need a runoff in the May 10 primary, however, as three candidates have filed for Ward Two on the Wayne City Council while eight Winside residents have filed for the three spots open on the District 95R School Board in that community.

Incumbent Jennifer Sievers will run against two candidates in the May primary, as Reed Allen and Josie Broders have both filed for the Ward Two seat on the Wayne City Council. Sievers is running for a second term on the Wayne City Council and is one of three current City Council members who face competition in this election cycle.

Nick Muir will have a former councilman

Getting ready for Opening Day

The first pitch of the 2016 season is less than two weeks away, and work continues on the new grandstand and press box at Hank Overin Field in anticipation of the first pitch against Fort Calhoun on Tuesday, March 22.

The last of the seating in the new grandstand was put in place Wednesday morning by Otte Construction crews, and work on the walls of the outer shell of the grandstand was scheduled to be completed yet this week.

City of Wayne workers are working on the new press box and storage facility over the first base dugout. Wiring and installation of a new public address system is expected to be completed in time for the season opener.

Construction work on the bathrooms may not be completed in time for the season opener, but portable restrooms are expected to be available until work is completed in the restroom later this spring.

Finishing touches and work on the outside part of the facility will be completed this spring.

The exclamation "Play Ball!" will ring from the field in a matter of days.

Three winners to receive iPads in drawing to promote NEST

The Nebraska Educational Savings Trust is giving away three iPad Air 2 tablets in a drawing to promote awareness of Nebraska NEST Financial Scholars for Families, a free, online tutorial for parents and grandparents about college savings, State Treasurer Don Stenberg said.

The drawing runs from March 1 to March 31. Winners will be announced April 25.

The tutorial, which takes about 15 minutes to complete, can be accessed at the Treasurer's website at treasurer.nebraska.gov. The tutorial was developed by the educational technology company, EverFi, of Washington, D.C., and is a companion piece to the Treasurer's popular online financial literacy education program offered free to Nebraska high schools. More than 100 schools are expected to use the program this school year.

The Nebraska Educational Savings Trust, known as NEST, is Nebraska's state-sponsored 529 college savings program established under Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code. Treasurer Stenberg is Trustee, and First National Bank of Omaha is Program Manager.

"If you are thinking about saving for college for a child or grandchild - or a niece, nephew, or friend - but aren't sure how - or when - to begin, we invite you to take a look at the free tutorial offered by NEST. It may just be the best 15 minutes you have spent in a long time," Stenberg said. "Once you view the online financial tutorial, click to enter the drawing for a free iPad. If you have viewed the tutorial previously, you can still enter again this year."

Nebraskans who viewed the tutorial and entered a similar drawing in 2014 are invited to enter again this year by accessing a one-page refresher and clicking to enter this year's drawing.

The NEST Scholars for Families online tutorial features sections on myths vs. facts about saving for college, tax incentives, and a knowledge check. Viewers can return to the tutorial as often as they like to find answers to specific questions or to review the content at leisure.

Stenberg said the iPad campaign also is an opportunity to remind Nebraskans that they can deduct up to $10,000 a year when figuring state income taxes for contributions to Nebraska's state-sponsored 529 college savings account for contributions made in that tax year. The campaign is also an opportunity to remind account owners that computer technology and equipment, including desk-top computers, laptops, and tablets, are now qualified expenses.

"As we travel the state to promote our financial literacy program for high school students and to award scholarships to winners of our various contests, we are reminded that we need to continually educate Nebraska families about the value of saving for college through NEST and the importance of starting to save when children are young," Stenberg said. "The online tutorial developed by EverFi provides an excellent starting point for families who are beginning to plan for their children's educational futures and are looking for responsible ways to save with favorable tax benefits."

Stenberg emphasized that in addition to parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, family friends, and individuals themselves who may be heading back to college to finish degrees or pursue advanced degrees may also set up accounts and may find useful information in the NEST Financial Scholars tutorial.

For more information about how to set up a NEST account or how to increase contributions to an existing account, Treasurer Stenberg recommends contacting Rachel Biar at Rachel.biar@nebraska.gov or at (402) 471-1088.

WSC to host Japan presentation

Tadashi Nomura will present "Japan: From War of the Past to Peace for the Future" in the Niobrara Room of the Kanter Student Center on Tuesday, March 22 at 3:30 p.m.

Nomura is the Japanese Outreach Initiative (JOI) Coordinator, a partnership between the Japan Foundation's Center for Global Partnership and the Laurasian Institution. Nomura is on a two-year assignment at the Asian World Center at Creighton University.

"I have spent 38 years in business in various locations throughout the world. I have become strongly motivated to be involved in efforts for better understanding of Japan to the people of other nations," Nomura said. "I have lived and traveled to numerous countries for more than 15 years including multiple trips to the United States."

The event is sponsored by the President's Council for Diversity and Multicultural Affairs.

Local author featured for signing event at Wayne Public Library

Local Nebraska author, Teri Lukken, will share her stories and be on hand to sign copies of her two new children's books at the Wayne Public Library, Saturday morning, March 5 at 10:30 a.m.

Teri describes herself as a wife, mother of two, and a grandmother of two. She says she has always loved reading, especially to children. The love of books inspired her to fulfill a dream of publishing her own children's books. Lukken's books are "I Love Papa and Papa Loves Me" and "Look Up Look Up."

"Any type of disease is hard to deal with, not only for the person affected, but for the whole family. My Father had ALS, better known as Lou Gehrig's disease. It truly affected all of our family. My daughters loved their Papa and were very close to him. After he passed, I knew I had to write a book as a tribute to him and to help others, especially children, deal with a close one having a debilitating disease," Lukken remarked.

I Love Papa and Papa Loves Me, for ages 4-10, expresses to children that even though someone has a sickness or disease, they are the same person, (with the same heart and soul) that you have always loved. "Papa and I pick up sticks in his yard. In the summer time, Papa and I wash his car till it is perfectly spotless. We sing and dance and get silly! But then, one day, my Papa fell down. And his legs and arms didn't work well anymore." This book teaches children they can help others that are not able to do certain activities or are bound to a wheelchair. Wheelchairs can be intimidating to children, or even to adults, so knowing Papa is the same person as he always was and can be pushed in his wheelchair to dance or go special places helps make others feel more comfortable.

"Look up! Look up!" Is for ages 2-7. From helicopters, to clouds, to lady bugs, to mommies reading, let the simple things in life get your child's attention with this rhyming, guessing, phrase catching, fun book that also teaches children colors and shapes.

Ms. Lukken was Ponca Carnegie Library's director for 14 years and she is now office manager at Aitken Family Dentistry. According to Lukken, "I write poetry and short stories in my spare time when I'm not busy with scrapbook, crochet, and puzzle projects. I love living in Ponca where the life is good and the simple things mean the most."

Youth Services Librarian Julie Osnes said, "This book signing will be an opportunity for the community to support a local author and perhaps purchase signed copies of Teri's books. We hope to see a big crowd on Saturday."

Four finalists to visit WSC for VP of academic affairs job

The Wayne State College search committee for the vice president of academic affairs position has identified four candidates for on-campus interviews this month.

Each of the candidates will spend two days on campus meeting with various campus constituencies and taking part in open forums for campus and community members.

Wayne State extends an invitation to interested community members to attend the open sessions to be hosted with each candidate. Each open session will include a short presentation with a question and answer period.

The candidates are Mr. Steven Elliott, Dr. Maria-Claudia Tomany, Dr. Ross Alexander, and Dr. Mary Kay Helling.

Elliott earned his master of fine arts in studio art at the University of Maryland and his bachelor of fine arts in sculpture at the University of Kansas. He has served as dean of the School of Arts and Humanities and director of the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery at Wayne State College since 2013. He is a tenured professor in the Department of Art and Design. Elliott will host an open session for all campus and community members from 2:45-3:45 p.m. on Thursday, March 3 in Gardner Hall Auditorium.

Tomany earned her PhD and master's degree in English and Scandinavian Studies at the University of Munich, Germany, and her bachelor of arts in Scandinavian Studies and German at the University of Bergen, Norway. Tomany has served as vice provost at Saint Xavier University's Gilbert, Ariz., location since March 2015. Tomany will host an open session for all campus and community members from 2:45-3:45 p.m., Tuesday, March 15 in the Frey Conference Suite in Kanter Student Center.

Alexander earned his PhD in political science from Northern Illinois University, his master of public administration from Arizona State University, and his bachelor's degree in political science and history from Beloit College. He has served as dean of the School of Arts and Humanities at Indiana University East since January 2015 and interim dean from July 2014 to December 2014. Alexander will host an open session for all campus and community members from 2:45-3:45 p.m., Wednesday, March 23 in the Frey Conference Suite in Kanter Student Center.

Helling earned her PhD in child development and family studies from Purdue University and her master's and bachelor's degrees in child development and family relations from South Dakota State University. She has served as associate vice president for academic affairs at South Dakota State University since July 2005. Helling will host an open session for all campus and community members from 2:45-3:45 p.m. on Wednesday, March 30 in Gardner Hall Auditorium.

Given the importance of this position at Wayne State College, campus and community members are highly encouraged to attend the appropriate sessions. Information on providing survey responses regarding each candidate will be available at the open sessions.

Running against him this November for the Ward One seat, as Doug Sturm filed Tuesday afternoon. Sturm served on the Wayne City Council for 20 years, leaving after finishing out his last term in 2012. He is currently a member of the Wayne Recreation Board.

Also facing opposition is Ward Four representative Jon Haase, who will go up against Mark Bloomfield. Ward Three representative Cale Giese will be running unopposed in the Nov. 1 election.

Two of the three incumbents on the Winside school board were joined by six other candidates, creating the need for a primary election to whittle the eight-person race down to six for the November general election. Incumbents John Thies and Carmie Marotz are joined by Karen Kruger, Cory Russell, Ryan Brogren, Scott Watters, Doug Deck and Amber Bargstadt.

The Wayne Community Schools District 17 Board of Education has six nominees, all of whom advance to the November general election.

Wayne County District 2 Commissioner Dean Burbach will likely be voted to a third term, as the Republican faces no opposition in the primary and no nominees were received from the Democrat party.

Incumbents Jerome Conradt and David Ley will run without opposition for the two open seats on the Wayne Airport Authority.

It's an emotional moment for any young athlete when they realize they've played their last high school game, as Danica Schaefer showed after Friday's district final.

When 'the end' really is the end

The picture above is an image that was commonplace on basketball sidelines all over the state these past couple of weeks.

Seniors like Danica Schaefer (pictured above) played their final games as a member of their high school basketball team. Only 48 boys and 48 girls teams move on to the state tournament, and only 12 of those 96 teams will end the season with the smile of a state champion.

That's a lot of broken hearts. The point of this column, though, isn't the emotional breakdown that comes when high school seniors play their final game. For many, it's not just that they're playing their final high school game — they're also playing their final competitive game. It really is "the end" for the majority of high school seniors all over the country.

In today's world of instant gratification and the poisonous "my kid's the superstar" mindset that a number of parents have when it comes to their kids, the reality of that last game really gets put into perspective when you understand the odds of any high school athlete continuing their sports career at the college level.

Schaefer, to use her as an example, is actually one of the fortunate ones — she's going to continue her athletic career in college play softball at Central Community College in Columbus. She's one of a number of athletes in this area who will play college sports, and I'm excited for her and hope she continues to play as well as she did during her high school days.

For every Danica Schaefer, though, there are THOUSANDS who will hang it up and never play another competitive interscholastic game the rest of their lives. Whether it's due to injury, lack of interest or the absence of scholarship offers from colleges, that last game is always a bittersweet moment in the lives of these young athletes.

Consider a recent NCAA study into the estimated probability of a student-athlete who is now competing in high school sports, participating at the collegiate level. The study shows that the likelihood of your son or daughter getting an opportunity to play college athletics is about as good as winning the lottery, especially if you're one of those parents who — God bless you for your optimism — thinks your kid has got what it takes to compete at the highest levels of college sports.

According to the NCAA's research — and we'll use Wayne State as an example — the likelihood of a student-athlete going from high school to compete at the NCAA Div. II level in women's basketball is — brace yourselves — 1.1 percent. For men's basketball, it's 1 percent. Hundreds of thousands of athletes in this country completing their senior years, and just a handful of them will go on to play college sports.

The chances in other sports aren't much better — 1.7 percent for football, 2.1 percent for baseball, 1.5 percent for softball, 0.7 percent for wrestling — let's face it, you've got better odds betting on the Chicago Cubs winning the World Series than seeing your kid play college

Defense solid, offense not in C1-4 title loss

By MICHAEL CARNES

STROMSBURG — More often than not, when a team holds an opponent without a basket for the last 12 minutes of a district championship game, that team ends up winning and going to state.

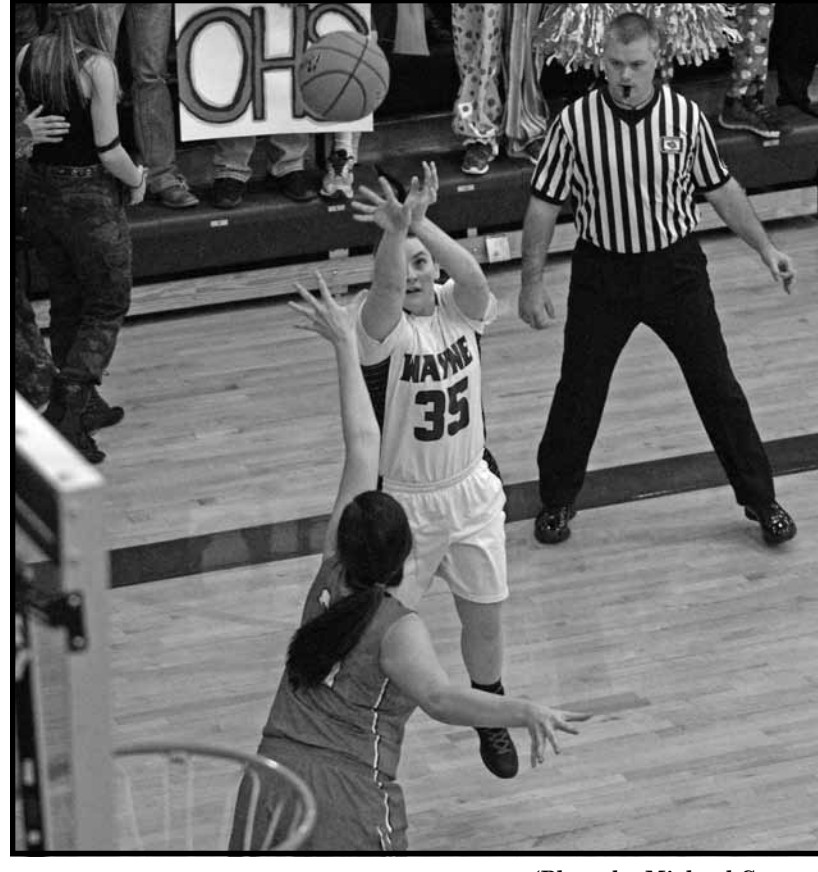

Unfortunately, while the Wayne defense was holding third-ranked Ord almost 20 points below their season average, the Blue Devil offense was unable to overcome its coldest shooting night of the season, allowing the Lady Chanticleers to earn the trip to state with a 36-25 win Friday in the C1-4 district championship game at Cross County High School.

Coach Dave Hix felt that the Blue Devils' tough schedule and a big win over rival Pierce in the C1-7 subdistrict final a week earlier had prepared them for a talented Ord squad.

What they weren't prepared for, though, was a game in which the Blue Devils shot an ice-cold 19 percent from the field.

"When you hold a team to 36 points you should feel pretty good, but we just couldn't score," Hix said. "They went to a zone since they couldn't match our quickness in a man-to-man defense, and we just couldn't shoot them out of it."

It certainly wasn't for lack of trying. The Blue Devils put up 48 shot attempts in the game, 17 coming from 3-point range, where they shot a season-worst 6 percent from be-

Wayne led early in the game and forged a 6-6 tie with the Lady Chants after one period, but could only manage a Kylie Hammer basket late in the second period as they fell behind 13-8 at intermission.

Hot-shooting Dragons end Wildcats' year

Seventh-ranked MSU Moorhead shot a sizzling 64.5 percent from the field to bring an end to the season for the Wayne State College men's basketball team with a 109-83 decision Wednesday in the opening round of the 2016 NSIC Sanford Health Men's Basketball Tournament at Moorhead, Minn.

The Wildcats stayed within reach of the Dragons until MSU Moorhead pulled away at the end of the first half.

Wayne State used a Brian Goodwin 3-pointer to trail by one, 19-18, with 12:36 to play in the first half. They were still within four at 30-26 with 8:27 to play when MSU Moorhead reeled off a 15-4 run over the next 4:21 to take a 45-30 lead. The Dragons maintained a double-digit lead and held a 59-40 advantage at intermission.

The Dragons continued their stellar shooting in the second half, going 20 of 33 from the field, and finished off the win, ending Wayne State's 5-24 season.

Matt Thomas led Wayne State in scoring with 18 points. Adam Moon had 16 points and eight rebounds while Jordan Cornelius and Brian Goodwin each finished with 14 points.

Wayne State made 31-of-74 shots from the field for 41.9 percent. The Wildcats were 8-of-24 from the 3-point line and 13-for-16 at the free throw line. Moon was Wayne State's top rebounder with eight. Thomas was credited with five of Wayne State's 18 assists while Goodwin and Vance Janssen each had four.

Wayne State's lone senior, David Andersen, had six points and two rebounds in his final game as a Wildcat.

Dunn wins NSIC weight throw title

Wayne State College finished eighth in the men's division and tied for 12th in the women's division at the 2016 Northern Sun Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships in Mankato, Minn.

The Wildcat men had one conference champion and two All-NSIC finishers. Senior Bryan Dunn won the weight throw on Friday with a mark of 61 feet, 9 3/4 inches, beating St. Cloud State's Ryan Johnson on the final throw by two inches.

Sophomore Josh Spenner collected a pair of All-NSIC finishes by placing third in the pole vault and heptathlon. Spenner cleared a personal best 15-7, an NCAA provisional mark, to take third in the pole vault. He also recorded an NCAA provisional mark and school record in the heptathlon with 4,788 points, another NCAA provisional mark.

Other Wildcats that scored points included sophomore sprinter Braxton Adams taking fourth in the 60 meter dash finals (6.90) and junior Nick Schmit finishing sixth in the 1,000-meter run in a time of 2:27.23. The Wildcat distance medley relay team of Schmit, Brandon Marker, Joey Black and Nick Fly came in seventh place with a time of 10:48.95, and the 1,600-meter relay team of Clay Kramer, Trenton Zink, Nate Lechtenberg and Schmit finished seventh in 3:26.86.

The lone individual finisher for the Wildcat women's team was senior Kyndra Sturm, who recorded a fifth-place finish in the weight throw with a heave of 54-9 1/4. The 1,600-meter relay team of Kelsey Dietrich, Melissa Kroll, Rachel Rauner and Ellen Wulf came in eighth with a time of 4:02.16.

Dunn qualifies for nationals

Wayne State College senior Bryan Dunn is one of 16 national qualifiers in the weight throw for the NCAA Div. II Indoor Track and Field Championships to be held in Pittsburg, Kan., March 11-12.

Cold shooting ends Wildcats' NSIC run

Wayne State could not overcome a 46-18 halftime deficit and a miserable quarter of shooting as they dropped a 76-56 decision to Northern State Sunday in the quarterfinals of the Northern Sun Conference Women's Basketball Tournament at the Sanford Pentagon in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Northern hit 8-of-11 in the early going to take a 19-10 lead. Wayne State got a Maggie Schulte 3-pointer and an Alisa Peterson jumper to trim the Wolves lead to 21-15 after one quarter.

The second quarter proved to be Wayne State's undoing, as they went 0-for-14 from the floor, allowing the Wolves to score 21 unanswered points to build a 42-15 lead before a Sadie Murren free throw at the 2:42 mark ended the scoreless drought for the Wildcats. Wayne State's only other points of the period were a pair of Kacie O'Connor free throws with 2:05 to play before halftime as Northern State led 46-18 at the break.

The Wildcats opened the third quarter scoring the first six points on a Murren layup and pair of free throws and a Taylor Reiner jumper to make the score 46-24. After Northern pushed the lead to 54-26 at the 6:13 mark of the third quarter, O'Connor drained a trio of 3-pointers and scored 10 points in a 12-4 run to get Wayne within 20 going to the fourth quarter.

Wayne State would get as close as 14 points several times in the fourth quarter, the final time coming at 66-52 with 5:21 to play following two Murren free throws. Northern then scored the next eight points to push the lead back to 20 and the Wolves ended the Wildcats' 17-12 season.

Murren, playing her final game in a Wayne State uniform, led the Wildcats in scoring with 17 points. O'Connor and Peterson also reached double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Peterson had eight rebounds and Murren had four assists and four steals.

In the opening round, Wayne State outscored Mary 35-15 in the third quarter, turning a seven-point halftime deficit into a 14-point lead to propel the Wildcats to a 78-69 win Wednesday at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats struggled from the field in the first half, shooting just 25 percent (8-of-32) from the field. Wayne State opened the game strong, but Mary took advantage of the poor shooting effort to take a 33-27 halftime lead.

The Marauders pushed the lead to seven points midway through the third quarter before the Wildcats came storming back. Wayne State scored 11 consecutive points in a three-minute span to take a 45-41 lead, highlighted by back-to-back threes by Murren.

sports at any level – juco, small college or university.

Now, am I saying high school kids should throw any ideas of playing college ball out the window? Not at all – whether it's playing at a junior college, an NAIA school or at the NCAA level, if that's a goal you want to set for yourself, you should work hard and do everything you can, both in the classroom and the practice room, to put yourself in position to have that opportunity.

That being said, no student-athlete – and certainly not their parents – should put all of those eggs into the college sports basket. Dad might think his son is the best player on the planet, but unless he's the head coach of Hometown University and has encyclopedic knowledge of the game and what it takes to play at the next level, that assessment of Junior's talents is, at best, myopic. You've got better odds of striking oil in your own driveway than you do of your kid playing in sports at the college level, so the best bet is for him (or her) to work as hard as they can on their ACT score and Advanced Algebra grade and make sure those scores are even more impressive than their jump shot, curve ball or 40-yard dash time.

At the end of the day, only one team wins the championship, and of those who do, only a very select few compete at the highest levels of amateur athletics. Even then, those victories are fleeting and the time our bodies allow us to perform at the highest physical levels is limited. The best bet for Mom and Dad is to make sure Junior or Missy is as successful in the classroom as they are on Friday night in front of the home town crowd.

Once that moment of the final game passes and their days as a competitive athlete are over – they'll need to be ready for the most important game of their young lives – the game of life.

Good luck and best wishes to all of our area senior athletes, and thanks for four years of great memories for you, your families and your fans.

Jenkins earns NSIC baseball POW honor

Wayne State third baseman Cody Jenkins was named the Northern Sun Conference Player of the Week for his efforts in last weekend's trip to Oklahoma.

The junior from Englewood, Colo., hit .667 in a four-game series at Oklahoma Panhandle State, extending his hit streak to seven games. He had a 6-for-6 effort that included a homer, double, five RBI's and five runs scored in a 22-3 win Sunday, one day after hitting two doubles, driving in two RBI's and scoring three runs in a 13-1 win.

For the four game set, Jenkins had a 1.067 slugging percentage with seven RBI's and eight runs scored.

minutes into the period, but that basket sparked a 7-0 run to close the quarter, helping the Blue Devils cut the 14-point deficit in half to trail 22-15 going to the final period.

Wayne got the margin within six on a few occasions in the final period, but the Lady Chants did all of their damage at the free throw line in the final period, going 14-of-20 from the charity stripe to deny Wayne its first trip to state since 1993.

"The girls played their hearts out and that was one of the best defensive games I've been around," Hix said. "(Ord) didn't make a field goal in the fourth quarter. We had a great defensive game plan and I would say that it worked. I can't say enough about this team and their efforts."

Hammer led the 16-11 Blue Devils with 10 points, Danica Schaefer added five, Morgan Keating had four and Kelsey Boyer and Tarah Stegemann each had three points.

It was the final game for the Blue

Devils' two seniors, Schaefer and Stegemann, who Hix called his on-court coaches.

"The two seniors put this team first when we got on the court," he said. "They never gave up and pushed their teammates to fight to the end, and the whole team should be proud of their accomplishments this season."

It was also the final game as head coach for Hix, who is retiring at the end of the school year after almost 30 years of teaching and coaching, including the last two as the Blue Devils' mentor.

"A special thanks to my wife for being so supportive, and I also want to thank my assistants for their help and advice," he said. "I know the team and I also wanted to thank the parents, the fans and everybody for supporting us. It was a fantastic atmosphere."

Wayne State Coaches Show
Exclusively on mywaynenews.com
Interviews with Wildcat coaches recorded live Mondays at 6 p.m. at The Max Available online every Tuesday mywaynenews.com's Michael Carnes sits down each week to talk to Wayne State coaches about their teams' efforts throughout the 2015-16 season. We'll recap the previous week's games and talk about upcoming opponents.

Baseball wins three of four at Oklahoma Panhandle State

The Wayne State baseball team won three of four games with Oklahoma Panhandle State as they prepared for their annual spring trip to Florida.

After striking out 13 times in a 3-0 loss in the opener, Wayne State bounced back for a 13-1 win to split Saturday's doubleheader in Goodwell, Okla.

Aggies lefthander Samuel Beattie shut down the Wildcats in the first game, striking out 13 while allowing just four hits.

Panhandle State scored one run in the bottom of the first and added two insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth for the 3-0 victory.

Tanner Simons doubled to highlight the Wildcats' four-hit effort, along with singles from Curtis Bussard, Cody Jenkins and Chase Egelston. Keenan Breen suffered the pitching loss, charged with three runs on five hits in 5 1/3 innings with one walk and three strikeouts. Reliever Joey Lenihan of Wayne worked the final two-thirds of an inning and allowed one hit.

In the nightcap, the Wildcats four runs in the seventh and five more in the eighth to salvage the split. Wayne State had nine hits in the game, but took advantage of 10 walks from OPSU pitching.

A Nathan Ackerman bases-allowed triple highlighted the four-run seventh, while Wayne State took advantage of five walks and two hit batters in the eighth to score five runs, with the lone hit of the inning coming on an Egelston single.

Cody Jenkins and Bussard led Wayne State at the plate with two hits each. Jenkins was 2-for-2 with a pair of doubles, three walks, three RBI and three runs scored while Bussard was 2-for-2 with a pair of singles, two walks and four runs scored. Ackerman tripled and had four RBI while Albert Johnson, Egelston, Aaron Krier and Chris May each added singles in the win.

Taner Ledezma was impressive on the mound, firing five strong innings to earn the win. He gave up just three hits and an unearned run with four strikeouts and two walks. Mitch Gullikson pitched one inning of relief and allowed one hit while Joey Greco fired two innings of hitless relief with one walk.

On Sunday, the Wildcats erupted for 33 runs on 34 hits to sweep the Aggies 22-3 and 11-6 to improve to 3-5 on the season.

The Wildcats pounded out 21 hits in the opener, breaking the game open with a six-run fifth inning followed by nine more runs in the sixth. Wayne State closed out the scoring with three more runs in the seventh.

Ackerman had a three run homer with Alex Kreft adding a two-run single to highlight the six-run fifth inning. Krier's grand slam was the big hit in the sixth inning to go with Bodie Cooper's two-run double. Jenkins belted a three-run homer to cap the seventh inning for the Wildcats.

Jenkins was 6-for-6 with a homer, double, five RBI and five runs scored, followed by Ackerman going 3-for-6 with a homer and five RBI's. Cooper finished 3-for-4 with a double and four RBI while Kreft, Tanner Simons and Chase Egelston each recorded two hits.

Spencer Johnson recorded the pitching win, going 2 1/3 innings while allowing three runs on two hits. Matthew Wood worked the next 1 2/3 innings and gave up two hits. Spencer Morris, Connor Keating and Matt Faulkner each pitched one inning of relief.

The second game saw Wayne State take control early with a seven-run second inning on their way to the doubleheader sweep. Chris May connected on a grand slam while Ackerman produced a two-run blast to highlight the seven-run second.

The Wildcats plated three runs in the seventh with Brandon Fowler's two-run single and an RBI single by Curtis Bussard as the key hits in the inning.

May went 2-for-4 with a homer, double and four RBI with two runs scored. Fowler finished 2-for-2 with two RBI while Ledezma went 2-for-2 with two runs scored. Mitch Ragan fired four solid innings to notch his first collegiate win. He allowed just one hit and one run with four strikeouts and five walks. Teague McFadden, Tegan Nissen and Lenihan each worked one inning of relief.

Wayne State is back in action Sunday when they meet Ohio Dominican at 3 p.m. to open the team's annual spring break trip at the RussMat Central Florida Invitational in Auburndale, Fla.

ranked sixth in the NSIC in scoring, second in field goal percentage (.534) and fourth in blocked shots per game (1.9). In conference play, Ballinger produced 13.8 points and 5.9 rebounds a contest. She scored double figures in 16 of 22 games this season with five games over 20 points. Ballinger recorded season highs of 36 points and 14 rebounds vs. Lindenwood on Nov. 13. She also averaged 6.3 rebounds per game and shot 76.6 percent from the free throw line. This is the first All-Conference honor for Ballinger.

Schulte was a second-team selection. The 6-foot forward averaged 14.8 points and a team leading 6.5 rebounds per game this season. In conference games, Schulte ranked sixth in the league in scoring (15.4

and was 15th in rebounding (6.7) while ranking seventh in free throw percentage (.879). She scored double figures in 21 of 28 games this year with nine over 20 points, highlighted by a season high of 28 points at Northern State on Feb. 6. Overall, Schulte is seventh in the NSIC in scoring (14.8), 18th in rebounding (6.5) and ranked fifth in free throw percentage (.902). She is tied with Anna Martensen for the team lead with four double-doubles and was named to the All-NSIC Freshmen Team last season.

closed the quarter on a 15-4 run, capped by O'Connor's buzzer-beating trey, to take a 62-48 lead going to the fourth quarter, and the Marauders never got closer than six points after that.

Schulte notched 24 points and 15 rebounds for her fourth double-double of the season to lead the Wildcats. Peterson poured in 17 points followed by Murren with 13 and O'Connor with 12. Murren had seven assists.

in the fourth with four runs, highlighted by a two-run double from Emily Chandler and an RBI single by Shelby Wobken.

After Fort Hays got on the board in the bottom of the inning, Melanie Alyea doubled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Shelby Wobken, and Brooke French added an RBI double to score Schropp in the fifth to make it 6-1. Wayne State added an insurance run in the seventh on doubles by Shelby Wobken and Chandler to salvage the split.

Five players had two hits apiece as Chandler, Alyea, Shelby Wobken, Morgan Hoeg and Rachel Shumaker shared hitting honors. Miller struck out six and walked four in her three-hit complete-game win.

Wayne State heads to Florida for their annual spring break trip this week, playing eight games in five days starting Sunday in Clermont, Fla. They open with a 1 p.m. game against California (Pa.).

Softball salvages split at Fort Hays

Their bats were hot all day, but the Wayne State softball team could only gain a split of a Tuesday doubleheader against Fort Hays State at Hays, Kan.

The Wildcats outthit the Tigers in the opening game 10-8, but the hosts managed to come away with an 8-4 win as they took advantage of five Wayne State errors and five walks.

Fort Hays jumped on top with four runs in the first inning, but the Wildcats countered with two in the second on run-scoring singles by Katelyn Wobken and Shelby Wobken.

Fort Hays extended their lead with one in the third and three more in the fifth. Wayne State got a pair of runs in the seventh on Alyssa Schropp's two-run double, but it wasn't enough as the Tigers held on for the win.

Lexie Loos went 3-for-4 and Schropp had two hits to lead the 10-hit attack for Wayne State. Cassy Miller took the loss in the circle.

In the nightcap, all nine Wildcats had at least one hit and Miller tossed a complete-game three-hitter to help Wayne State to its first win of the season, winning 7-3.

Rethwisch senior Charger

Former Wayne High standout Gage Rethwisch gained his first collegiate start recently as Briar Cliff celebrated Senior Day against Concordia. The Chargers won 98-84, securing their first regular-season GPAC title in school history, in this their 50th year of men's basketball. The win put Briar Cliff at 27-3 on the season and the automatic qualifier to the NAIA Div. II national tournament, to be held at the College of the Ozarks in Point Lookout, Missouri, March 9-15. They are currently ranked No. 6 in the nation. Rethwisch's career high was 19 points off the bench vs. Oglala Lakota College in December. He will graduate in May with a degree in sports management. Pictured are seniors Austin Homan, Rethwisch, Austin Pohlen, and Clay Herrald.

Wayne Community Schools and Elkhorn Valley Bank

Partners in Education

We at Elkhorn Valley Bank care about the future of Wayne Community Schools. To do our part, we are going to donate $1.00 each quarter for every student in Grades 7-12 who make the Honor Roll during the 2015-2016 school year. At the end of the year, the money earned will be used toward the purchase of materials to enrich the academic program at their schools.

Giving thanks for teacher award

I wish to thank the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and those that nominated me for Educator of the Year for 2016. What an amazing honor, and I was left speechless. Thank you for all the hugs, handshakes, phone calls, cards and notes of congratulations. I am still in disbelief. I truly enjoy teaching at Rainbow World. Not a day goes by without laughter. I am always in awe of the four-year olds' "spirit" and "smarts." Nothing makes me more proud than watching them grow (except my own babies).

Many, many years ago, when I was divorced, my first thought was to return to Wayne and continue raising my four children. I have never regretted that decision. We have a wonderful community! Our schools, library, senior center, churches, hospital, city services, businesses, people, etc., make us great.

Thank you again!

Assaulting the cash reserve

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

It would appear that the state's piggy bank, the Cash Reserve Fund, is under assault again.

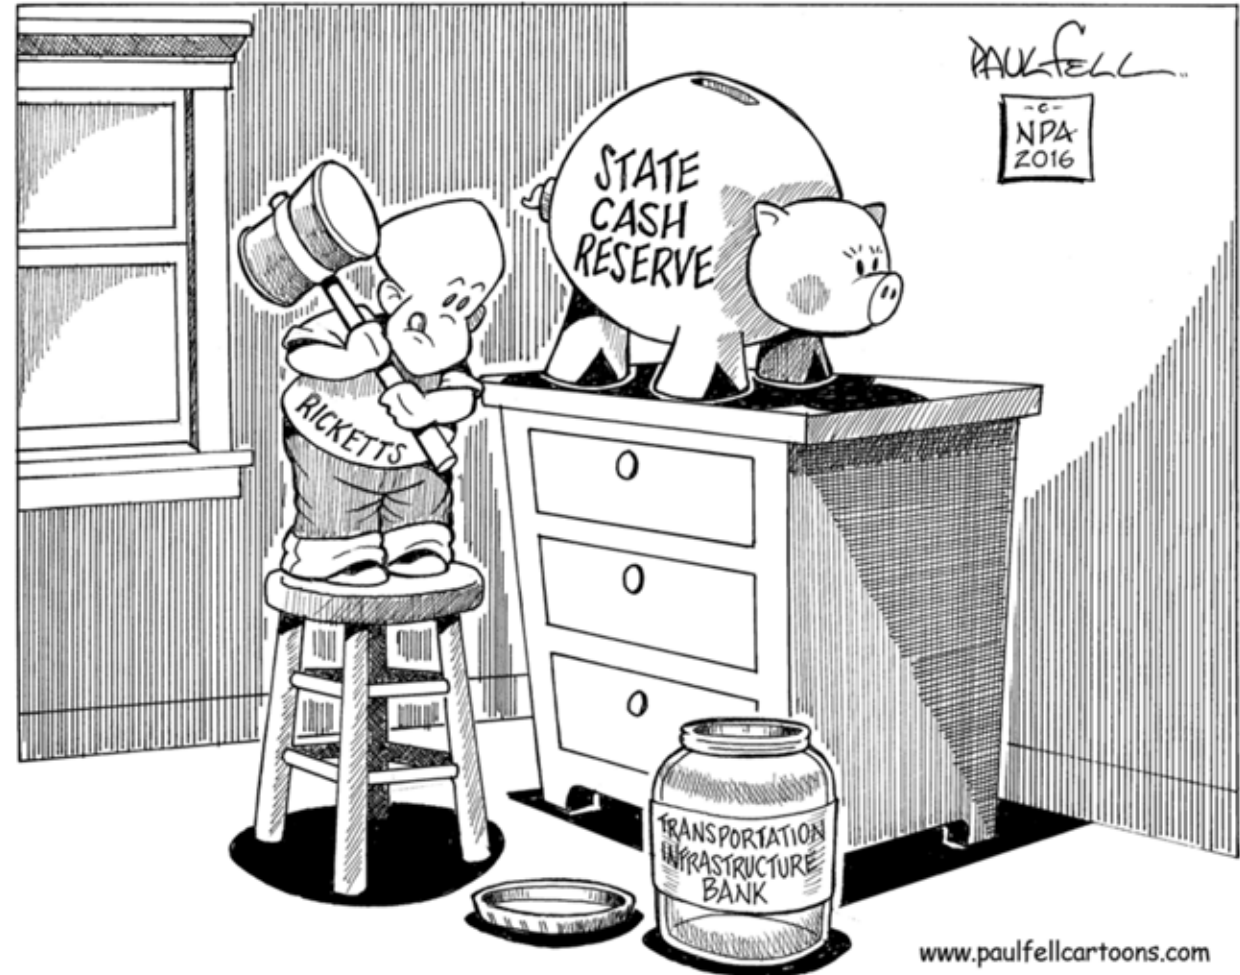

The Governor and several lawmakers are circling the bank, hammers in hand, with the intent of "borrowing" $150 million to start a new piggy bank called the Transportation Infrastructure Bank.

As explained in a bill (LB960) to adopt the Transportation Innovation Act, the bank would provide funds for the Nebraska Department of Roads relating to the completion of the Nebraska expressway system and allow that agency to implement and utilize alternative contracting methods for the construction of state transportation projects.

The Cash Reserve Fund was created in 1983 to provide a source of funds for temporary transfers to the State General Fund when balances are not sufficient to process expenditure transactions. Longtime Appropriations Committee Chairman, the late Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly, called it the rainy day fund.

Just as Joseph warned Potiphar (in the Biblical account in Genesis) to set aside grain in the prosperous years to prepare for the lean years ahead, Warner successfully made the case to lawmakers who were all too familiar with the early 80s farm crisis. He fought subsequent attempts to drain the fund and led the Appropriations Committee to make a conscious decision to keep the Cash Reserve Fund balance at 16 percent of General Fund expenditures.

Warner, who was also very supportive of roads projects — they named an expressway between Lincoln and Nebraska City for him and his late wife Betty — instilled in his colleagues the understanding that the Cash Reserve Fund should be used to provide protection against forecasting errors by the state's Economic Forecasting Advisory Board and to provide for supplemental funds during a recessionary period, of which there have been a few in the years since it passed into law.

True, there have been several instances in which money was moved to and from the Cash Reserve Fund to accomplish policy initiatives or to finance one-time new capital construction projects. As tweaked over the years, the law now provides that actual General Fund revenues in excess of the certified forecast at the end of the fiscal year are to be transferred to the Cash Reserve Fund.

Additionally, the Cash Reserve Fund receives federal funds received by the state for undesignated general government purposes, federal revenue sharing, or general fiscal relief of the state.

The Government Finance Officers Association recommends that states maintain a savings balance that would cover two months' worth of general fund expenses. The Pew Charitable Trusts says the 50-state median for cash reserves is only 25 days. Only five states have more than 100 days of operating costs in reserve — Alaska, Wyoming, North Dakota, Nebraska and West Virginia.

The Platte Institute, an economic development think tank founded by Governor Pete Ricketts in 2007 (Ricketts resigned from the Platte Institute to run for governor), says while it is vital that cash reserves be maintained to avoid budgetary crises during difficult economic times, overstocked reserves come at a price, too. There is an opportunity cost for taxpayers. Every dollar that sits in the state cash reserve fund is a dollar that cannot be used to help create a job, feed a family, or grow a business.

The Transportation Infrastructure Bank is a good idea. As a native of the Panhandle, I know the importance of being able "to get there from here." I looked at the Heartland Expressway as a quick trip to Denver as well as a conduit for traffic from the Rockies to the Black Hills and beyond.

The legislation calls for: an accelerated State Highway Capital Improvement Program, including the designated expressway system; creation of a voluntary county bridge match assistance program on a pilot-test basis; and establishment of an Economic Opportunity Program to assist in the financing of transportation improvements that attract and support new business development and business expansion.

Financing the bank with up to $150 million of state motor fuel revenue beginning July 1, 2016 through June 30, 2023, just makes sense.

Taking an equal amount from the cash reserve does not.

Medicaid expansion a bad deal for state

Efforts are underway to expand Medicaid in Nebraska again. To date, the Legislature has wisely rejected three previous attempts. Expanding Medicaid under the federal Affordable Care Act, also known as Obamacare, would cost almost $1 billion for Nebraska taxpayers. Last week, Senator John McCollister of Omaha brought before the Health and Human Services committee LB1032, which would require Nebraska to significantly expand eligibility for Medicaid.

To determine the cost of this proposal, the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) commissioned an actuarial analysis of LB1032. The analysis found this expansion would add nearly 126,000 people to Medicaid or state support by June 2019, including over 60,000 individuals who already have private insurance today. This represents a 50 percent enrollment growth in the program. A similar plan in Arkansas has resulted in 40 percent of their state population now being on Medicaid.

As outlined in the bill, not only would expanding Medicaid require nearly $1 billion in new state spending in its first 10 years, but those costs could quickly rise to over $600 million a year in Nebraska state general funds if Congress ever required the state to fund the program at its traditional Medicaid matching rate. Supporters of the bill claim the legislation requires automatic termination of the program should that ever occur. In the past, however, termination of a state-managed entitlement program has resulted in lawsuits and court-ordered reinstatement of state benefits. On two occasions in the early 2000s, the state reduced eligibility for Medicaid in the face of significant budget challenges. These actions resulted in lawsuits that required the state to continue providing services, and the State of Nebraska ultimately reinstated Medicaid for some individuals.

The increased government spending for this expansion of an entitlement program will impact generations of Nebraska taxpayers. Today, every American shares in a national debt of over $19 trillion—amounting to nearly $60,000 per person. Our country has an unfortunate history of borrowing from our children to fulfill the promises we do not have the resources to pay for today. We don't do that in Nebraska.

This growth in spending would also threaten our ability to meet the commitments to our current Medicaid enrollees, which primarily include children, pregnant women, elderly, and people with disabilities. The current effort to expand Medicaid would require the state to buy private health insurance for the vast majority of the newly eligible individuals, which promises better access through broader networks and higher reimbursement than Medicaid. Because of better reimbursement rates, there is a built-in incentive for care providers to serve these able-bodied enrollees rather than our truly vulnerable Nebraskans who rely on Medicaid. The state should not prioritize the needs of able-bodied working-age adults over our truly vulnerable, Medicaid-dependent populations.

Pete Ricketts

Supporters of LB1032 claim this is a conservative, or private-market, version of Medicaid expansion. The reality is that this approach will prove costly to taxpayers. The Government Accountability Office has already raised serious concerns over a similar program in Arkansas, estimating that it will cost over $778 million more than projected in its first few years. Projections are proving true: The Arkansas plan was $137 million, or 61 percent, over budget in its first six months. Additionally, Iowa has already abandoned a similar plan. Taking a gamble on this unproven model isn't worth the risk for Nebraska taxpayers. It's an especially risky gamble when you consider that Medicaid spending in Nebraska has already doubled since 2000—from $983 million to over $2 billion today or from about 12 percent of our budget to nearly 20 percent.

As I've travelled the state I have heard a clear and consistent message: our citizens need tax relief. They are demanding we exercise the highest possible restraint in growing the size and cost of government. We cannot be lured into committing future generations to the cost of expanding Medicaid in return for a fleeting promise of "free" federal money. I urge you to contact your senator and thank them for protecting us from this unreasonable risk or express your concerns that Medicaid expansion is something that Nebraska cannot afford. You can find their contact information by visiting www.nebraskalegislature.com.

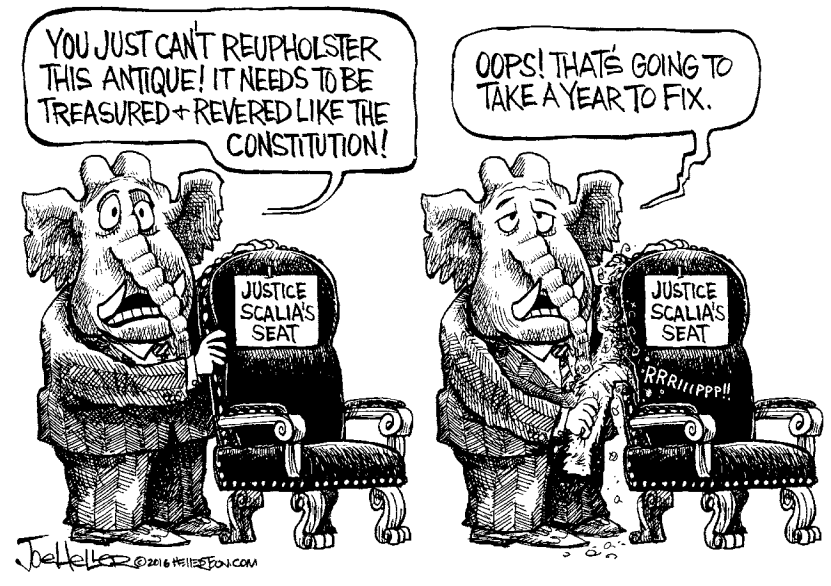

Legislative Update

Time running out for bills in committee

There are now only 27 days left in the Legislative Session. While they have been heard in committee, we have yet to discuss on the floor of the Legislature, property tax relief, prison reform, roads funding and other issues of great importance to the state. At the rate, we are going we will not make it through all of the priority bills.

My priority, LB900, was advanced from the Transportation and Telecommunications Committee with an amendment. It came out of committee with a 6-1-1 vote, meaning six members voted for the bill, one was opposed to the bill and one member was present not voting. I am hopeful that LB900 will be on the agenda soon.

Recently, we debated LR26CA a constitutional amendment that

Legislative
Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

would have allowed individuals 18 years of age to hold any statewide political office including Governor and Supreme Court Justices. This idea thankfully failed.

We also debated LR35, which is commonly known as the Convention of the States. Shortly after debate started on LR35, a vote was taken and passed on the motion to recommit this legislation to the Government, Military, and Veterans Affairs Committee. This is something that does not happen very often in the Legislature, which should tell you that the body had some major concerns with LR35. It is very unlikely that LR35 will be debated on the floor of the Legislature again this year.

We spent most of this week discussing LB188. LB188 would have changed the parameters for payments made to individuals who are perceived as innocent third party victims of a police pursuit. We debated this bill for ten hours. There was a compromise amendment offered on Select File but that failed to end a filibuster. LB188 was two votes shy of the votes needed to beat cloture. The reason it failed was because there were too many senators absent. This has become a real issue this year. There are now three candidates to replace me in the Legislature, one from each county. I will tell each of them here and now, if you do not intend to be there when the Legislature is in session, PLEASE DROP OUT OF THE RACE! I intend to expand on this next week.

As always, if we can be of assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

Ten ways to motivate youth in clubs School Lunches

As we are starting into another 4-H year, the teachings of many business skills may also prove relevant in the club realm. Learning how to motivate is now one of the most relevant and essential skills leaders can possess in today's ever-changing society.

Before the 1980s, good leadership was usually synonymous with assertive decision-making. Leaders were celebrated for their courage and risk-taking when shaping strategies. Those times have changed. Today, leaders must go beyond the day-to-day operations and "tough decisions." Leaders in today's society are expected to be social scientists and the great leaders of today and tomorrow are those gifted individuals who have mastered the art of motivation. The ability to understand people and to be able to tap into their respective motives is the skills that make the difference in today's society.

What about making good decisions and tough choices? These are still central to what leaders must do, but today the leader's job doesn't stop there. Once the decisions have been made, today's leaders must be able to motivate others to accept and embrace organizational decisions.

What separates exceptional leaders from ordinary leaders is the ability to inspire and motivate people. There are five unique sources of motivation:

- FUN
- REWARDS
- REPUTATION
- CHALLENGE
- PURPOSE

Each of the five sources requires different organizational and leadership characteristics to tap into them. Exceptional leaders will find ways to tap into each source. Those who tap into just one or two will motivate only a small percentage of others and be less effective. However, leaders who understand the different ways that individuals are motivated will be able to effectively motivate their club members. Here are 10 ideas for leaders to consider when motivating others.

Find out which tasks are the fa-avorites of those you work with.

Find ways to assign more of the tasks they enjoy and fewer of the ones they don't like to do.

Create rewards (less output = less reward, more output = more reward).

Give encouragement and mentor good decision making and leadership skills.

Give leaders and members lots of positive feedback about the way they are performing and working together.

Give praise in front of other people.

Stay out of their way and let them do the work if they know how to do it.

Assign tasks that require their skills and talents

Communicate the purpose of tasks that are being assigned.

Make sure the club has a vision and mission that it is pursuing.

Diabetes program set for March 30 in Wayne

You probably already know that diabetes can lead to devastating problems with the heart, kidney, eyes and nerves. Did you also know that by taking control of diabetes and identifying problems early you can prevent or slow many of these conditions?

The Control Diabetes for Life program on Wednesday, March 30 will be offered from 1:30-4 pm at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, 215 N. Pearl St. in Wayne.

High blood glucose is a major cause of serious diabetes complications. Recognizing diabetes early and getting your blood glucose levels under control allows for swift action to slow its progression and avoid complications. Lowering your A1C by just one percentage point lowers your chance of getting eye, kidney or nerve disease by 40 percent.

Blood glucose control is just one aspect of preventive care. Following a meal plan, being physically active, losing excessive weight, keeping your blood pressure and cholesterol levels in check, quitting smoking, and taking aspirin are all important ways to prevent future health problems.

Good control requires both diligence and willingness to try new strategies. Learn new strategies by attending Control Diabetes for Life. The session will focus on Ready, Set, Go! Diabetes Self Management A New Look.

Set a goal to take control of your diabetes. Aim for lower blood glucose levels to feel better now and stay healthy for years to come. Wednesday, March 30, topics include: What's New In Diabetes Care, Nutrition and Eye Health, Are You Sitting Too Much?, and Is Your Home Slim by Design? There will also be a question and answer period.

Participants will receive recipes for diabetic appropriate foods. Team-teaching the program will be Stacie Petersen, BSN & Certified Diabetes Educator; Deborah Willcox, RD, LMNT, and Terry Nelson, DPT all of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra Schroeder, Nebraska Extension Educator in Cuming County. These sessions are designed to supplement the education that you receive from your local diabetes education team and are not a substitute for diabetes classes through your local health care providers.

Control Diabetes for Life is a joint project of Nebraska Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point. The program is offered free-of-charge. Control Diabetes for Life will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease.

Participants are asked to pre-register for Control Diabetes for Life by calling Nebraska Extension in Wayne County at (402) 375-3310. Please register by Monday, March 28, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

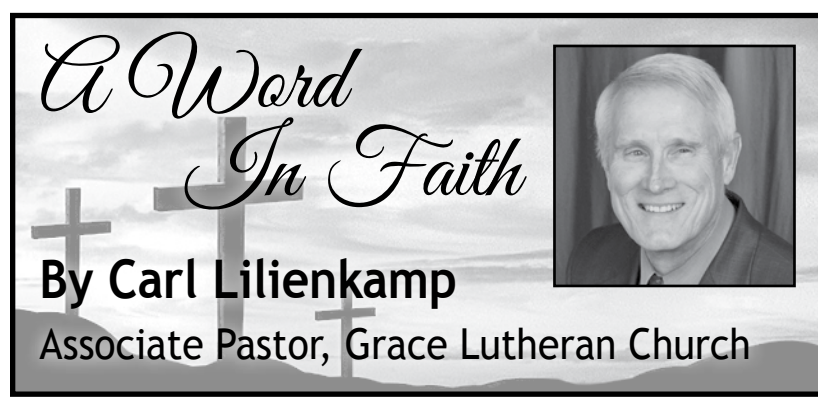

Christianity's influence on civilization

In present day America, there is an effort to eliminate Christianity, and its influence, from the Public Square.

Religious expression, especially as relating to Christianity, is to be an entirely private matter according to present day thinking. Atheist Christopher Hitchens said, "Religion poisons everything." Really? Religion's proposition that "religion poisons everything," leads me to ask this question for this newspaper article: "What if Jesus had never been born?" Or another way of saying it: "What if there was no Christianity?" Has Christianity made any difference in our Western civilization or "spoiled everything?"

Rodney Stark, in "The Rise of Christianity," lists many influences that Christianity has had on Western civilization. I will mention only five.

First, the West has a strong tradition of philanthropy that has created a culture of giving and caring unmatched by any civilization in history. Hospitals, orphanages, food banks, half-way houses, shelters, rescue missions and other caring agencies are largely the result of following Jesus' teaching of "loving your neighbor as yourself," and the outgrowth of Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan.

By Carl Lilienkamp

Associate Pastor, Grace Lutheran Church

Second, the West has a tradition of recurring reform movements that have no parallel in any other civilization. Bonhoeffer resisted the evils of Nazism, Wilberforce fought against slavery, and others believed that faith in Christ could lead to a better world, where rights of individuals are respected.

Third, Christianity is the original source of learning and universities that represent the most powerful institutions of learning in history. Nearly all the original schools of the West, namely, Oxford, Harvard, Cambridge, Yale, Dartmouth, and others owe their founding to the principle of Christian education. The founding motto of Oxford is Psalm 27: "The Lord is my light."

Fourth, Christianity in the West led to a fountainhead of modern science, whose discoveries have revolutionized the world. The world view of the Reformation brought literacy to the common man which opened the door for the exploration of science.

Fifth, Christianity in the West is the pioneer and champion of human rights and human dignity. Christianity's view that people are created, "in the image of God," has led to reforms that recognize the essential human dignity of all people, no matter what gender or race.

The birth of Christ has had a positive influence on our civilization and culture. However, the birth of Christ has far greater importance than making society better. For those who believe in Jesus as Savior, the birth of Christ brings reconciliation with God. "In Christ, God was reconciling the world to Himself, not counting their trespasses against them" (2 Corinthians 5:19). Christianity's biggest contribution isn't making our present world a better place, but making it possible to live with God in a new world.

Do we really want to sanitize our culture of Christianity's influence? Oz Guinness writes that our present society is like a vase of "cut flowers." When you have a vase of cut flowers, they look beautiful, like they could remain beautiful for a long time. But after only a few days, the cut flowers begin to wilt. Why? They are cut---cut from the source of their life. Guinness notes that, like a vase of cut flowers, our civilization looks okay right now because we are coasting on the moral benefits of previous generations. But what is going to happen as the influence of Christianity in previous generations fade? Our society is going to wilt like a vase of cut flowers.

It is the Christian Gospel - not laws - that change hearts and societies: "He died for all, that those who live might no longer live for themselves but for him who for their sakes died and was raised" (2 Corinthians 5:15). Thank God for the influence of Christ - first for our salvation and secondly on society.

Lenten service held

Pastor Kyle Nelson of First United Methodist Church in Wayne led the Ecumenical Lenten Service last week. The Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers (WACAM) is sponsoring the services each Wednesday at noon. The service on Wednesday, March 17 will be held at First Presbyterian Church. A lunch follows each week's service and a free-will offering is taken to assist in the work of WACAM throughout the community.

Alabama history shared at Minerva Club meeting

roll call by sharing information that they had about the state of Alabama.

President Joyce Mitchell began the meeting by sharing "Old Proverbs With New Meaning" and MEN-SA thoughts. She concluded with "Did you Know" statements and an attitude reading.

Historian Hollis Frese read minutes from Feb. 14 and Feb. 28, 1921. Current events from several were shared and then a Valentines party complete with prizes for those winning the games. The Feb. 28 meeting was several sharing readings and closed with a piano solo and a two course luncheon.

Nicki Tiedtke presented the program about Alabama. Alabama became the 22nd state in 1819. Today Alabamans prefer the nickname "The Heart of Dixie." The capital is Montgomery.

During the Civil War Alabama seceded from the union in 1861. They became part of the Confederacy. They surrendered in 1865 near the end of the war. Racial issues have been part of Alabama's history. In 1965 Dr. Martin Luther King led a march from Selma to Montgomery. He had great hope that the nation would settle its problems peacefully.

Alabama's landscape varies greatly from its Northern area with mountains, rivers, caves and ravines to the level lands in the middle of the state. This area is called the "black belt" because of its rich soil. Small farms do remain but these are no longer large plantations. In the southern tip of Alabama you will find swamp and bayous before you reach the gulf beaches.

Change from long ago cotton production, the state's economy is supported by many manufactured products produced in the larger cities. Clothing, farm machinery electronics, steel, paper products, chickens, eggs, peanuts, pecans fruit, catfish and shrimp are a few of the products.

The next meeting will be Monday, March 14 at the Wayne Senior Center with Phyllis Rahn as hostess.

BBB warns businesses of phishing attack

Better Business Bureau (BBB) serving Nebraska, South Dakota, The Kansas Plains and Southwest Iowa is warning businesses that there has been a rising wave of a specialized form of phishing attacks known as "CEO Fraud."

The latest version appears as an "Urgent Request for W-2 Forms" from the CEO of the company, and it is sent to someone in the business's accounting or HR department.

"It's a clever manifestation of the generic 'phish' because most employees, upon receiving a direct request or demand from their CEO would probably be less likely to question its particulars and request confirmation," stated BBB President Jim Hegarty.

One of these phony messages had the CEO's photograph and e-mail address at the top. It stated that he wanted the employee to send him an e-mail with attached copies of all employees' W-2 forms with their wage and tax statements for 2015 in PDF format.

The employee who received this request did not have access to that information and asked the company's CFO for help. Luckily, the CFO had just completed cybersecurity training and smelled something "phishy." They went to the CEO who confirmed that the e-mail was not from him.

BBB's investigation of the header on the e-mail showed the scammers used someone's GoDaddy e-mail server and the return address was definitely not from the company's CEO! However it was a valid e-mail address that the hackers are monitoring.

Hegarty explained, "If they would have sent that information, it would have opened up all of the company's employees to identity theft and financial fraud because W-2s have full names, addresses, wages and Social Security numbers. I strongly suggest that businesses warn their accounting and HR teams about this new kind of phishing attack."

Better Business Bureau has joined with the National Cyber Security Alliance's STOP. THINK. CONNECT. Campaign to recommend the following tips to avoid falling for an email phishing scam:

- Be vigilant. Only open emails, attachments and links from people you know. Use anti-virus software regularly and enhance e-mail filters to block threats. Watch out for unsolicited e-mails that contain misspellings or grammatical errors.
- Don't believe what you see. It's easy to steal the colors, logos and header of an established organization. Scammers can also make links look like they lead to legitimate websites and make e-mails appear to come from a different sender.
- Avoid sharing. Don't reveal personal or financial information in an e-mail, and do not respond to e-mail solicitations for this information. This includes following links sent in e-mail. Be wary of any urgent instructions to take specified action such as, "Click on the link or your account will be closed."
- Pay attention to a website's URL. Hover over any links to see where they lead. Malicious websites may look identical to a legitimate site, but the URL may use a variation in spelling or a different — but similar — domain.
- If you are unsure whether an e-mail request is legitimate, try to verify it by contacting the company directly. Contact the company using information provided on an account statement, not information provided in an e-mail.
- Keep a clean machine. Having the latest operating system, software, web browsers, anti-virus protection and apps are the best defenses against viruses, malware and other online threats.
- Report any suspected phishing attacks to BBB Scam Tracker at bbb.org/scamtracker/us.

WE BUILD RESPECT.

Beef Quality Assurance to hold info meetings

Nebraska Extension and Beef Quality Assurance will be offering BQA Certification and Veterinary Feed Directive Informational Meetings for beef producers.

The dates and locations include:

Wednesday, March 30: 9-11 a.m., West Point, Cuming County Courthouse;

Wednesday, March 30: 2-4 p.m., Wayne Fire Hall.

Rob Eirich, Nebraska Director of BQA and local Nebraska Extension Beef Educators will be presenting BQA Best Management Practices, Animal Health Stewardship and the new Veterinary Feed Directive. Beef Cattle Producers are committed to producing a quality, wholesome and safe beef product for consumers. These meetings will update producers on implementing BQA practices and help prepare them for the VFD Regulations beginning January 2017.

All producers are invited to attend these free meetings. The meetings will also be a Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) Certification for those producers needing certification or recertification. There is a $20 fee for those wanting to become BQA certified/recertified, which is good for a two year time period.

The meetings will have additional local support from private industry that will be mentioned during the meetings.

For more information contact Larry Howard, Nebraska Extension Educator in Cuming County at (402) 372-6006 or LHOWARD1@unl.edu or Rob Eirich, Nebraska Director of Beef Quality Assurance at (308) 632-1230 or reirich2@unl.edu.

All good things come to end

I guess all good things come to an end. A popular, long tenured wrestling coach places his boots in the middle of the mat. He's also a fine biology teacher, so let's hope he stays with that a while longer.

For a lot of kids, basketball season is over. A few lucky ones are going to Lincoln for State. Jacey saw it end the same week of her last State dance contest. But they came home with the trophy for that, for the fifth straight year for Lutheran High.

Dani's team lost by three, which makes it tough. But they would have had to beat an unbeaten group the next night, so maybe it's just as well. Then, her last show choir contest was Saturday.

By the way, it was the week for three pointers. Jacey had three, Dani had five, and then Trey Bardsley of Wesleyan had eleven, and Stephen Curry, the Golden Warrior, had twelve!!

recital, and that will be all for her. We are proud of her, but won't miss those late drives coming home.

Thank goodness, Jaxson will just be starting high school. We have his confirmation, two high school graduations, and two college grads. It will be a sad-glad Spring!

Farm Bureau holds February meeting

The Wayne County Farm Bureau meeting was called to order at 7 p.m. at TWJ Feeds in Carroll on Feb. 16.

Megan Kvols, Northeast Membership Director, reported that a Young Producer supper will be held on Tuesday, March 15 at 6 pm at the Wakefield Legion. All local counties can participate, and Zach Hunnicut will talk about advantages of using technology on a farming operation. A catered meal will be provided and invites will be mailed out shortly. There are no age limitations; all are welcome.

It was confirmed that a $100 donation will be made to Husker Connection. Bill Claybaugh provided an update on a potential "Meet the Candidate Forum" and said that due to the number of incumbents and those running unopposed, it is unclear if anything will be done. More information will be provided in the future.

A forum with Nebraska State

Senators will take place on Friday, March 4 at Gardner Hall on the Wayne State College campus. It was reported that Joni Albrecht is stepping down as state Farm Bureau board member as she pursues a spot on Nebraska Legislature. If anyone is interested in her spot, he or she must be nominated by county Farm Bureau board.

To celebrate Ag Week, Wayne County Farm Bureau members will be talking to students at Randolph and providing shakes during Ag Week. A $100 motion was approved for chamber membership to WAE-DA.

Wayne Farm Bureau Goals for 2016 include: Wayne County Scholarship - Award $2,000; Create Financial Investment Plan for County, and Pilot serving lunch or snack to school in coordination with Ag Day.

Resistance Management workshop upcoming, tree pruning discussed

This is our last call for the Pesticide Resistance Management workshop that will be held Monday, March 7 at the Wayne Fire Hall to educate agricultural clientele and farmers about the importance of herbicide, insecticide and fungicide resistance management, mode of action. We will educate on how to use this information to reduce potential spread of weeds, insects and plant pathogens in Nebraska.

To go to this meeting you MUST preregister online. For more information and to register for the meeting go to agronomy.unl.edu/pest-resistance.

Fruit tree pruning is best done from late February through March, before trees begin to break bud. Pruning should start on the most-cold hardy trees first and these are apples and pears. Save pruning of less cold tolerant trees, like peaches and nectarines, until mid-late March. Make proper pruning cuts and use sharp pruning tools. Do not use pruning paints or wound dressings on pruning wounds. Some diseases are readily spread by pruning tools during the dormant season.

Prevent transmitting diseases when pruning by sanitizing pruners and saws. It is commonly recommended to clean pruning tools with either 70-percent denatured alcohol or a disinfecting solution made up of one part chlorine bleach to nine parts water. Tools should be dipped for 30 seconds in the solution between each cut. Bleach is corrosive to metal so before storing tools thoroughly clean with soap and water, rinse, and dry completely.

For more detailed information on how to prune fruit trees, go to hortupdate.unl.edu/Fruittreeprune.

Our recent snow and ice increased the use of de-icing salts for our safety. As snow and ice melts, de-icing salts often run off into nearby soil. Where salt is used often and heavily, salt damage to soil structure and plants can occur. In these areas, salt damage may need to be mitigated by heavily watering the area as soon as the ground thaws in spring.

In runoff areas, flushing the soil with two inches of water over a two to three hour period in early spring may help leach salt from soil. Repeat this procedure a few days later. If the soil is not well drained in the area, or the soil is compacted, leaching will not work. In cases with repeated and heavy deicing salt use, removing the top four to six inches of soil may eventually be needed. The amount of de-icing salt used can be reduced by mixing it with an abrasive material like sand. For example, mix one pound of salt with 50 pounds of sand.

After snow melts, watch for areas in the landscape near downspouts or other areas where water tends to pool and stand. Standing water will freeze overnight at this time of year. If this standing water and ice is around plants, it can lead to plant damage and plant death. Long periods of ice encasement around the roots of perennials and shrubs causes an increasing oxygen deficit in the underlying soil, which can result in root or plant death. Make a note of areas in the landscape where water stands and ice occurs for long periods of time; as this might be a contributing factor to plant problems found this spring in the area.

If possible, during the growing season, consider ways to prevent this standing water in the future. Can a downspout be extended or redirected so less water pools around nearby plants? Can soil drainage be improved in the area? Also, avoid planting highly valuable plants in these areas.

RC&D Board meets in Winside

RC&D Board members from Winside hosted the Council at the Lied Public Library for a soup supper and meeting.

Discussion was held on the Pork 'n' Cork event to be held at Nissen Winery's Outlaw Trail Center near Hartington. This will be a fun'd raising endeavor which will also include a free Humanities Nebraska program. The date will be determined based on the speaker's availability.

The Prairie Chickens & Pasque Flowers Tour was tentatively set for Saturday, April 2. Participants will be treated to an up-close view of the mating ritual of the birds, topnotch speakers, breakfast and a short hike to see one of Nebraska's native wildflowers - the Pasque Flower. More information will be available soon.

The RC&D Council received word from the Nebraska Environmental Trust that the second year of their project to properly recycle electronics and household hazardous waste was recommended for a grant award of $20,705. After bids have been received and selected, the RC&D will begin making plans to host these recycling collections during 2016.

Dennis Wacker received a Nebraska basket as a gift for "his untiring service to the RC&D Council". He is the Council's handyman, creative genius, staff supervisor, and much more. He received a hearty thanks from the board for his efforts.

The RC&D Council looks forward to continuing its service to citizens through projects that will make life better for people in Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Knox, Pierce, and Wayne counties.
