Cory, Jeremy and Brandon Foote find time to relax and not discuss sports during a recent family gathering.

Sports media suits Foote brothers

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

When the eldest of the Foote brothers first became interested in sports media relations as a career choice, he had no idea that his younger brothers might want to join in the fun.

Jeremy, Brandon and Cory Foote have all made their way from Wayne High School into the world of athletic communications, taking their love of sports and turning it into career opportunities that took slightly different paths to the same destination.

The common thread for all three was Wayne State College, where each of them worked with current Wayne State sports information director Mike Grosz, either as an intern or in a summertime capacity.

"To have three brothers from the same family go into the profession is pretty neat, and to see two of them at major Div. I schools speaks for itself," Grosz said. "It's something you don't plan. It just kind of worked out that way."

Jeremy was the first to enter the world of sports information. The 2002 Wayne High graduate majored in computer science and sports management at Wayne State College and was hired by the University of Nebraska in 2010, where he currently serves as an assistant communications director.

"I worked under Mike at Wayne State, and about a year before finishing up I did a two-month volunteer internship during the summer in the Nebraska Media Relations Office," the eldest Foote brother said. "I've always been a sports fan and decided I didn't want to sit behind a computer and type computer code all day."

Not long after that came Brandon, a 2006 Wayne High graduate who graduated from Wayne State in 2010 with a degree in sport management and completed his master's degree two years later while working alongside Grosz, and was hired in 2013 as the assistant director of sports media at Briar Cliff University in Sioux City.

"After I had first graduated from Wayne State I was really having trouble finding a job in sports because they wanted at least two years of experience and many jobs also preferred a master's degree," the middle Foote brother said. "I was hired at Walmart in Vermillion to work the overnight shift, and after one shift I knew that wasn't for me. I called Mike as soon as I got home from work because I saw that he had an opening for a graduate assistant. I drove down to Wayne that day and was offered the position the next afternoon."

Cory watched his older brothers as they entered the field, and after graduating from Wayne High in 2010, he went to Nebraska-Kearney to get his degree in sports administration comprehensive. He worked with Grosz and brother Brandon for one summer and spent some time with older brother Jeremy in Lincoln before taking the sports information assistant job at Duke University in North Carolina two years ago.

"I always knew that I wanted to pursue a career in sports in some fashion," Cory Foote said. "With Jeremy and Brandon both working as SIDs, I was able to gain an understanding of what exactly a job in sports information looks like and ask them about the best and worst parts of the job. Then when I went to UNK, I took a public relations class that made me realize I had a passion for the writing side of the job."

All three brothers have a variety of duties at their respective colleges that keep them busy throughout the school year.

Jeremy serves as the communications contact for the Husker baseball team and also helps out with football. He also serves as the internet content coordinator for the Huskers.com website and helps with the layout of several media guides. His 2011 volleyball media guide was awarded a Best in the Nation award by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Brandon keeps busy covering all 17 sports at Briar Cliff, writing news releases, creating media guides and taking photos at games. He also manages the school's athletics website.

Cory's main focus is on the schools track and field teams and men's and women's fencing. He also helps out with duties at

Community, campus gather to discuss image

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Approximately 75 community members, Wayne State students and faculty took part in a Campus and Community Service Collaborations Conversation event on Tuesday.

Titled "The Voice of Image: How Are We Seen?" the evening began with opening remarks from Wayne State College President Marysz Rames and Wayne City Council member Cale Giese, in the absence of Mayor Ken Chamberlain.

Members of the Wayne State TKE Fraternity moderated the event which involved round table discussions on three questions. The first of these was for each individual to consider his or her own self-image.

"Have you ever experienced a time when you felt like people saw you very differently from how you see yourself? Are you seen differently in different places or by different people? Have you ever felt like you weren't seen? Have you ever failed to see someone else? and How does being seen, not seen or misunderstood by others impact the way you see yourself? were the first group of questions discussed by those in attendance. Comments ranged from the way young people are viewed in the community, to the way international students are viewed both in the community and on the WSC campus to the use of social media where one group noted "people take things differently. Make sure you think before posting anything."

The second set of questions for discussion focused on groups in which those in attendance belonged.

"What do you value about this group? How is the group seen within the community or on the campus? What action steps might your group take to address the challenges to how they are seen? How well does the group you belong to represent the diversity found in your community or on your campus?" were discussed.

Members of the audience had varying feelings on the comments on the range of acceptance in groups.

Several college students noted that groups on campus become like family, while others said that it takes a long time to get established and make friends and that they don't necessarily feel a part of the group they belong to.

Comments also focused on the image of the campus and campus projects.

"The college brings energy and life to the community. Because Wayne State is a smaller school, it is easier to find opportu-

Wayne County Relay For Life to have new format this year

Those taking part in the annual Wayne County Relay For Life for 2016 will notice many changes in the event.

Funds will continue to be raised and information from the American Cancer Society will be shared during the event, but the time and date of the event are new.

Generally the event is held in early June and begins in the evening and lasts throughout the night.

However, this year's event will be held Saturday, April 9 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Kern Track, located just south of the high school.

"We changed the date of the event to April and will hopefully be able to involve the college crowd. With the changes we have made, we are hoping to have a good turnout," said Carla Rahn, who is chairing this year's Relay.

During the week of March 28, teams involved with this year's event will be "Painting the Town Purple!" Team members and volunteers will be going door-to-door to invite community members to the event and share some information about the American Cancer Society.

On Saturday, April 9, the event will get underway at 9 a.m. with a Relay For Life Fun Run (registration will begin at 8 a.m.)

Following that, at 10:30 a.m., a Survivor/Caregiver Brunch will be held in the Wayne High School Cafeteria. Those participating in the Fun Run will also be invited to attend

The Opening Ceremony with Survivor and Caregiver Laps will take place at noon. Activities will begin at 12:30 p.m.

"We have a lot of fun activities in the works for all ages. This is a family friendly event and there will be something for everyone," Rahn said.

The Northeast Nebraska Cattlemen's Association and Pizza Hut will be providing dinner for a free will donation at 4 p.m.

The Luminaria Ceremony is set to begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be followed by closing ceremonies.

"We encourage everyone to come to Relay whether it be for an hour or the whole day, please help us Celebrate, Remember and Fight Back," said Stephanie Fritz, Community Manager, Relay For Life.

Survivors wanting to take part in the Survivor Ceremony or anyone who would like to start a team is asked go to www.relayforlife.org/waynecone to register.

"Our goal is to spread the word about Relay For Life and the American Cancer Society. We hope this change will allow us to involve as much of the community as we can," Rahn said.

Anyone with questions is asked to contact Rahn at (712) 266-6820.

City sales tax receipts for March were below the average for the first six months of the 2015-16 fiscal year for the City of Wayne.

City finance director Nancy Braden told The Wayne Herald that the city's sales tax intake for March, based on sales made during the month of January, was $78,491.15, more than $7,000 below the average of $85,895.42 for the first six months of the fiscal year.

The city is still well on track to maintain that average in the final six months of the fiscal year, as sales generally pick up in the spring and summer months.

For the fiscal year so far, the city has received $515,372.49 in local sales tax receipts.

Sandra Klein

Sandra Klein, 69, of Arvada, Colo., died Thursday, Feb. 18, 2016. Sandra Lee (Jorgensen) Klein, the first child born to Louis and Dorothy (Beyeler) Jorgensen, was born on May 20, 1946 in Wayne County.

She was joined by a brother, Bruce Lynn, in 1947 and another brother, Leon Frederick, in 1948. She was joined by a sister, Patricia Alice, in 1949, and finally by another sister, Deanna Jean, in 1950. Sandi and her family lived on the Carl Frevert farm during her early childhood where her father worked as a farm laborer. They moved to Wayne in 1953, when her mother took a job as a bookkeeper at a farm supply company and later became the bookkeeper at the Wayne Herald until her retirement. Sandi's parents divorced in 1961, and she very willingly became the 'responsible one,' who helped her mother watch over her younger siblings.

Sandi attended Wayne Public Schools and graduated from Wayne High School in 1964. Being the oldest of five children, she grew up fast and yearned to be on her own, so almost immediately following graduation, she took the train to Aurora, Colo., and lived with her maternal grandmother, Alice Beyeler for about a year, until she was able to lease an apartment and become truly 'on her own.' Sandi was employed at the camera counter at a large department store when she met the love of her life, Donald Melvin Klein, in 1968. She was immediately smitten by him and loved his adventurous nature. Don rode motorcycles and snowmobiles, enjoyed restoring classic cars, and dabbled in refurbishing and retrofitting 'Funny Cars.' The couple married May 5, 1969 and started their marvelous life together. They built a new home in Arvada in 1971 and raised three children there - Rochelle Lee, Randell Melvin, and Ruanne Eileen. Once their children were in school, Sandi joined her husband in his auto body repair business, Don's Auto Body, doing his bookkeeping and scheduling damaged vehicles in for repairs. She loved spending time with Don at his body shop but was always home by the time their children were out of school. Don and Sandi enjoyed camping with their children and boating at Columbine Lake as well as other outdoor activities and numerous school-related events. Sandi was very proud of their three children and their individual achievements. She also felt very blessed to have all eight of her grandchildren growing up in the Arvada area. Being able to attend their music concerts and football games (and many other activities) was very precious to her. She was an active member of Peace Lutheran Church in Arvada, Colo.

Survivors include her three children and their families: Shelly and Kelly Elliot and daughter Kelsie; Randy and Tamara Klein and their sons, Cole and Jace; Ruanne Klein-LaMarine and her children, Aurora, Baylee, Bryan, Aryn, and Sophia - all of Arvada, Colo.; her step-father, Arland Aurich, of Beatrice, formerly of Wayne; two brothers, Bruce and Connie Jorgensen of Gold Canyon, Ariz. and Leon and Carolyn Jorgensen of Hot Springs Village, Ark.; two sisters, Patricia and Rick Crosier of Beatrice and Dee and Emery Field of Bozeman, Mont; two sisters-in-law, Annette McGuire and Judy Fox; along with numerous nieces and nephews, cousins, and many dear friends.

She was preceded in death by her loving husband of 43 years, on Feb. 18, 2012; her mother, Dorothy Aurich; her parents-in-law, Ralph and Eileen Klein; one brother-in-law and one niece.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall.

Project Schedules

Sewer Lagoon and New Sludge Handling System: The new belt press sludge treatment plant should be operational by summer. The belt press will operate once or twice per month to press the water out of the sludge and store the sludge as a solid to haul out to cropland. We're bidding out the final cleaning of the sludge from the 26 acre lagoon this fall. Then it will be dried out and the land used for something else. That use is still under discussion.

Windom Street: This paving project between Fourth Street and Highway 35 will get underway again soon. It will start with tear-out of the old pavement and should be repaved with a new storm drain system by July.

New Swimming Pool: This project is currently projected to be ready to open June 20. We'll open the season with the old pool and transition to the new pool when it's ready. The future use of the old swimming pool site is still under discussion.

Community Activity Center Parking Lot: As soon as the council approves one of three options to pave an additional parking lot at the CAC, we will bid out that paving to be completed by this fall.

North Main Street Water Line Replacement: This summer, we'll replace the old water main on Main Street from Eighth Street north to the WSC campus. We'll also cut off some of the old water tower underground piping that is still in place from the first Wayne water tower. That tower was on the top of the hill on the east side of Main between Eighth Street and Ninth Street.

Fourth Street Paving Project: This project would extend Fourth Street from the junction with Jackson Street east past the rugby fields to the fence line. It would also finish paving Tomar Street south of the Cobblestone Hotel and pave a new street south through the rugby fields to the Summer Sports Complex. The project is mostly designed but is currently on hold until the funding source is determined.

Industrial Park Sewer and Water Mains: This work is under construction outside the city limits in Industrial Park and will connect almost all the remaining lots to city water and sewer.

South Centennial Road and Chief's Way Paving Project: This paving project is a county project and is still in the planning and design stage. The Centennial Road project would extend paving from Highway 35 south to the Logan Creek Bridge. The Chief's Way project would pave the east/west road from South Centennial past Sand Creek Post and Beam to the Grosenburgh implement property.

Linda McFarland

Linda L. McFarland, 69, of Lincoln, died Saturday, March 19, 2016 at Holmes Lake Manor in Lincoln.

Memorial services will be held Saturday, March 26 at 2 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne.

Memorial donations will be given to the Wayne State Foundation in honor of Linda (or visit gofundme.com/acv8n87w to donate online). In honoring her wishes to be cremated, there will be no viewing or visitation.

Arrangements are with Lincoln Family Funeral Care in Lincoln.

Linda L. McFarland was born Oct. 5, 1946 in Wayne, the daughter of Merlin and Della Mae (Summers) Preston. She graduated from Wayne High School with the Class of 1964, and went on to receive a BA in Elementary Education from Wayne State College and a MA in Education from the University of Nebraska Lincoln. She began her career as a teacher in North Platte, and also worked at First Federal Credit Union and Southgate United Methodist Church in Lincoln. Linda moved to Arizona in 1994 where she owned and operated a HobbyTown store in Ahwatukee, Ariz. and later worked for the Chino Valley Chamber of Commerce. She was always active in the community and Methodist Church. She enjoyed playing cards and was a lifelong teacher; interacting with and making positive contributions to the lives of children wherever she went.

Survivors include her son, Douglas McFarland of Lincoln; daughter, Jamie McFarland and her husband Sam Akinrinade of New York, N.Y.; granddaughter, Della Akinrinade; father, Merlin Preston; three sisters, Janet Crippen and her husband Dennis, Ann Brogren and her husband Neil, and Tracy Preston; along with numerous nieces and nephews and other relatives.

She was preceded in death by her mother.

Edna Meyer

Edna Meyer, 92, of Wayne, died Tuesday, March 15, 2016 at Careage Campus of Care in Wayne.

Services were held Monday, March 21 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The Rev. Michael Feldman and the Rev. Carl Lilienkamp officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to Meyer family for later designation.

Edna Frieda Meyer was born Dec. 8, 1923 to George and Marie (Ahrens) Martens at Verdell. She graduated from Wayne High School and attended Wayne State College one year. Edna married Don Meyer on March 12, 1944 at Grace Lutheran Parsonage. They farmed south of Wayne before moving into Wayne in 1973. Edna was a member of Grace Lutheran Church and Ladies Aid. Edna and Don were "foster parents" to many of the young children of the community. Edna cherished her children and grandchildren.

Survivors include her children and spouses, Nancy Meyer of Wayne, Michael (Michelle) Meyer of Wayne, Jeanie (Jerry) Shank of Omaha, and Carmen Meyer of Aberdeen, S.D.; eight grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; a sister, Helen Granquist of Verona, Wisc.; a brother, George Martens, Jr. of Mesa, Ariz.; nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Don in 1986; twins sons, Keith and Kenneth in 1958, Jerry in 1964, and Donald Wayne in 2014; one sister; and two brothers.

Honorary pallbearers were Matt Murken, Eric Henderson, Greg McDermott, Brett Cain, Rico Burkett, Ryan Williams, David Brown, Paul Sather, Allison Kruger, Jake Munter, Scott Kneifl and Roger Merkel.

Active pallbearers were Lana Casey, Lisa Bockelman, Dave Hix, Jeff Beckman, Brian Lentz, Mark Lentz, Ben Meyer and Scott Meyer.

Arrangements were with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Pet of the Week

The Pet of the Week this week at Tenderheart Animal Rescue is Cheyenne.

The third of our kitten trio, Cheyenne, is a white and black girl who has decided that people are really okay. As with most cats, she is not comfortable with loud noises and unusual situations but she quickly adapts. She purrs easily and enjoys being petted.

Suicide survivor glad to be alive

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Kevin Hines told a group of about 50 last week at the Wayne State College Student Center that he's glad to be able to wake up and "literally do anything, any day of the week."

The 34-year-old California resident certainly has every reason to enjoy life - he's one of a very small and lucky group of people who survived a jump off the Golden Gate Bridge.

Hines and Colorado suicide prevention advocate Dr. Sally Spencer Thomas were in Wayne last week for a presentation sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Coalition for Suicide Prevention and Education.

Both spoke of their personal experiences with suicide and encouraged those dealing with thoughts of suicide to seek help, as well as providing information for those who want to help in the prevention of suicide.

Hines was 19 years old and a college student when he leaped over the railing in the fall of 2000 and fell 220 feet, hitting the water at 75 miles per hour. He spent more than 40 minutes pacing back and forth on the walkway of the bridge, the voices in his head telling him that he was not worthy and he needed to die.

Hines had been diagnosed with bipolar disorder with psychotic features, a chronic brain disease. And while he said we are all quick to come to the side of a loved one dealing with a below-the-neck ailment, it's not the same when the sickness is above the neck.

"I saw the inside of a psych ward seven times, and each of those times I experienced the same thing," he said. "I saw patient after patient being the forgotten, the ones nobody came to see."

Hines detailed how he had audible and visual hallucinations that made him believe that nobody cared about him and that he was a burden to those who loved him.

"I didn't go to commit a selfish act," he said of his suicide attempt. "The last thing you're thinking about is hurting other people. The last thing you're thinking about is causing anyone else pain, because the pain (in his head) is so momentous. I was on that bridge because of self-loathing, because the voices in my head told me I had to die, there is no other way."

Hines said that, as a society, we tend to avoid making contact with somebody going through what he went through. That a sense of empathy can, for some, be the one thing that keeps someone contemplating suicide from following through with it.

"I remember a woman approaching me on the bridge with these big sunglasses, and I thought that was it, she was going to ask if I was OK and I was going to reach out and I wouldn't have to die," Hines said. "Then she pulled out a camera and asked if I'd take her picture. I took five photos and as she walked away, I said to myself 'Absolutely no one cares.'"

Hines hit the water and crushed several vertebrae, coming within inches of severing his spinal cord. He is one of 36 survivors out of more than 2,000 who have jumped off the bridge, and one of four to have regained full bodily function after the jump, and he continues to battle with his mental health issues while enjoying every new day that comes.

"I'm here to tell you how glad I am to be able to wake up and literally do anything any day of the week," he told those in attendance. "Not everybody gets the gift of a second chance and I won't squander it. I firmly believe this life is the greatest gift we've been given, or ever will be given."

Dr. Thomas spoke about her brother, who was diagnosed with bipolar issues but fought his demons before committing suicide a number of years ago. She and family friends started the Carson J. Spencer Foundation in his honor in an effort to help prevent what happened to her brother, Carson, from happening to other people.

"He was an incredible salesman, and throughout his young adult years he managed his illness in ways the world would never figure out," she said. "I'd been in mental health for 16 years and was calling everybody and trying to figure out how to help him, and it was like watching a train wreck right in front of me."

Dr. Thomas said that her brother's life spiraled downward after his accountant told him that he was completely broke, driving him into a depression that ultimately led to him taking his own life.

"He came home to my family and let us know he was suicidal, but promised us he wouldn't do it because of his daughter," she said. "I sat with him and talked with him and said there's hope, and he said, 'But, Sally, it's madness,' and took his life four days later."

Dr. Thomas said we need to share and talk about suicide in the hope of breaking the stigma and the silence surrounding it.

"We need to change the culture so that we can talk about it and share this story because most families don't," she said. "When we don't share our stories about the devastating impact of suicide, it remains a mystery and people are reluctant to talk about it. Things don't change and we go on ignoring this huge problem that affects so many people. There is so much hope that people don't have to die from it. I would do anything to get that man back in my life and have him here."

Renovation project results in unusual find

You never know what you might find when you're redecorating an old house.

Calyn and DeeJay Dunklau of Carroll were just getting started on renovating a house they bought in town when they stumbled on a potentially explosive piece of World War II memorabilia.

An old anti-aircraft round was found in the house earlier this winter, and after confirming that it could potentially still be a live piece of ammunition, contacted the authorities to have it disposed of.

"We were cleaning out the house when we found it," said Dunklau, a former Wayne Herald intern now working at the Norfolk Daily News. "There's a guy I work with at Daily News, Jake Wragge, who collects war memorabilia that I talked to about it. He had me send him a couple photos of it, and upon receiving the photo of the bottom of it, he informed me that it actually had a live primer in it and that we would need to contact law enforcement to have it properly disposed of. He told me it was a World War II anti-aircraft round."

Dunklau said she contacted the Wayne County Sheriff's Office and spoke with Deputy Daniel Claussen, who helped her contact the Nebraska State Patrol so a bomb squad could be sent out to recover the device.

"Deputy Claussen is actually a resident of Carroll, so that was convenient," she said. "He called to inform me that there would be a bomb squad member traveling from Lincoln to remove the item. We weren't allowed to go inside the home until it was cleared."

Dunklau said she talked with a State Patrol official who confirmed that a simple pin and hammer could have set off the anti-aircraft round.

"It was good to have it out of the house for everyone's safety," she said.

A 'colorful' fundraiser

The Providence Medical Center Relay For Life team, working along with the Wayne County Relay For Life, hosted a painting party Saturday at the Eagles Club. About 30 "artists" tried their hand at painting their version of a portrait painted by Taryn Tenopir, the show's host and an art major at Wayne State College. The party was a good time, raising funds for the local Relay For Life effort. Pictured enjoying themselves as they paint are Ellie Heller of Pilger and Dave Gansebom of Plainview.

A Mercy Meals packing event involving Wayne State College students was held last year at Cup of Grace in Wayne.

Grace Lutheran Church to sponsor Mercy Meals event

In an effort to help those less fortunate and to provide an opportunity for the community to take part in a service project, Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne is sponsoring a Mercy Meals Packing event.

The event will take place on Tuesday, April 5 from noon to 8 p.m. in the basement of the church, located at Ninth and Logan Streets.

Residents of Wayne and the surrounding communities are invited to pack 33,000 Mercy Meals. The packing event is being held as an open community event to involve people with the important work of Mercy Meals.

Mercy Meals of Nebraska is a non-profit organization that allows volunteers to package nourishing food that will be delivered by the Orphan Grain Train to children in need throughout the world. Orphanages, refugee camps, feeding centers, disaster relief centers and local food pantries have been recent recipients of the Mercy Meals. The packing of food gives participants a sense of self-empowerment, civic duty, world awareness, kindness toward fellow men and women and appreciation for the blessings of daily life.

"The food is highly nutritious, well-balanced meal providing a source of easily digestible protein, carbohydrates, and vitamins needed to reverse malnutrition. The Mercy Meals food product is made up of four dry ingredients that are easily packaged and need only boiling water to prepare. The food bags are three-ply for strength and can keep for long periods of time," said Pastor Carl Lilienkamp of Grace Lutheran Church, who has been involved in a number of packaging events with Mercy Meals through Cup of Grace and Grace Lutheran Church.

Last year 770,000 meals were packed through Mercy Meals. Because everyone at Mercy Meals is a volunteer and the food is shipped by Orphan Grain Train, the food is packed and shipped for an amazing 12 cents a serving.

"Grace Lutheran Church is organizing and paying for the food commodities of this event to provide the community with the opportunity to reach out with Jesus' love, 'whatever you do for the least of these my brothers, you do for me.'" Pastor Lilienkamp said.

Whether packing as an individual, a family or group, please call Louise Green 402-369-4021 to reserve a packing time.

"Light snacks will be provided and a light supper during the hours of 4-6:30 p.m. so that people can come from work or families with children from school. Children need to be in third grade to pack and then paired one child to one adult. Please consider donating your time on April 5 to pack Mercy Meals," Pastor Lilienkamp said.

home football and baseball games, from writing summaries to updating social media. If you see the referees looking at replay during a game at Cameron Indoor Stadium, chances are good you'll see the youngest of the Foote brothers, as he'll be the one running the replay monitor.

The brothers get a lot of feedback from people when they tell about how their other brothers are also in the same business.

"Since I was the first one, I told them both to do something else where there are less hours and more pay, but neither one listened," the eldest brother joked.

"I think it's very cool that we are all working in the same field," Brandon said. "When people ask me what I do and I tell them and then I say that my brothers are also in the same field they often think that is neat that we are all doing the same stuff and that they say we should make a family business out of it."

"People here at Duke are always surprised when I tell them I have two brothers working as SIDs," Cory added. "It's something that has made it really easy to understand what is going on in each other's lives. We all work long hours with our different sports, so we can relate to each other when it's the middle of the season and there's not a day off in sight. But we also understand that getting to work with the athletes and coaches is the reason we do what we do and makes it all worth it."

With all the time spent on the job, family gatherings are usually more about giving each other a bad time about their favorite pro teams than actually "talking shop," although they do occasionally contact one another for feedback or ideas for media guide designs.

"We may ask how work is going for each other but that is often the extent of it," Brandon said. "I like to kind of get away from work when possible and enjoy the time with family. We will pick each other's brains here and there for ideas, or I have requested media guides from Jeremy to see if there is anything we can maybe pull from there to put in our own, or I may get on the Duke website and see how they do some things; but for the most part when we are together, I prefer to just enjoy the time with family."

Cory, who is working on a part-time basis at Duke, said his older brothers have been great networking sources as he looks for a full-time job.

"We'll talk about work every once in a while, but it's mostly to check to see how each other's teams are doing," he said. "The networking purpose is the biggest thing they both have done for me. With my position at Duke not full-time, they both are constantly passing along any job openings they see for me to apply for. Neither has ever hesitated to help me in any way."

And all three are grateful for the opportunity to have gotten their feet wet with the help of Grosz at Wayne State.

"Mike has had a huge impact on all three of our careers, mostly with Jeremy and Brandon being graduate assistants," Cory said. "During the summer after my junior year of college, I was looking to get some real experience in a sports information office and found that at Wayne State with Mike. Brandon was finishing up as a graduate assistant, so working and learning from both of them that summer helped me out tremendously."

"Growing up in Wayne, I knew Mike and I think I first started working for him in the summer, then I helped throughout the year," Jeremy said. "Baseball and softball was a good learning experience because sometimes we had both going on at the same time."

"What I think is even cooler than working in the same field (as my brothers) is the fact that all of us really have that same factor in that Mike Grosz essentially gave us our start," Brandon added. "I know we aren't the only ones who have gone on to have success after working for Mike, and that is really a testament to not only the kind of boss he is, but also just the person he is. He genuinely cares for the people who work for him and he wants to see them succeed in life. I don't know if Mike hears it enough from people but he is really an amazing person and I would just like to thank him for everything he has done for me."

Grosz said it was interesting how the three brothers all wound up in the same profession, and he's happy to have had a role in their growth in the field.

"They're three great guys and are all passionate about sports, and it's just natural that they're in SID field," Grosz said. "They were all die-hard into sports, and now Jeremy has a great future at Nebraska, Brandon gets to work NAIA national volleyball and basketball tournaments in Sioux City, and Cory's running video at Cameron Indoor Arena in Duke. I'd say they're all doing pretty well for themselves."

nities to do the things you want," students said.

The final question of the evening involved the campus and community as a whole.

Questions asked included "What image do you think the campus projects? What image do you think the community projects? What image might the campus wish to reflect/project? What image might the community wish to reflect/project? and Discuss strategies to increase collaboration of campus and community in building strong, positive were part of the focus.

Comments on this series of questions included having open lines of communications, telling the community about the good things happening on campus and possibly implementing some type of program where college students, especially international students, who have some type of "adopted" family that they could go to for assistance with finding their way around the community.

Parking, both on and off-campus, was brought forth as an issue that needs to be addressed.

A final comment from the group indicated that discussion between the college and community needs to continue and "change can happen and you can make it happen."

Wayne sophomore wins trip to international science fair

Marcella Jurotich, a sophomore at Wayne Junior-Senior High School, placed in the top two at the 50th Annual Greater Nebraska Science and Engineering Fair (GNSEF) last weekend, earning her a spot to attend the 2016 Intel International Science and Engineering Fair (ISEF).

Marcella is the first student from Wayne to achieve this level of recognition. Intel ISEF is the world's largest international pre-college science competition. Approximately 1700 high school students from over 75 countries, regions, and territories will showcase their independent science research and compete for prizes. ISEF showcases the talents of these young scientific minds on an international stage, where doctoral level scientists review and judge their work.

In her project, titled "Use of Graph Theory Links Loss of Species to Ecosystem Function in Impaired Streams," Marcella studied how the loss of a species in a stream will affect the loss of trophic functional groups. Applying graph theory techniques to the study of streams in Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas, her analysis showed that a loss of one species meant a decrease in functional groups.

Marcella and her teacher, Mrs. Lee Brogie, will travel to Phoenix, Ariz. in May to attend the 2016 ISEF.

Marcella's parents are Barbara Hayford and Kevin Jurotich.

Baseball cards bring back fond memories

As a kid, what was the one sports-related thing you enjoyed more than anything else?

Was it playing sandlot baseball with the neighbor kids in the empty lot down the street? Games of two-hand touch or tackle football in the backyard after church on Sunday afternoons? Hour upon hour of 3-on-3 basketball games in the driveway with the basketball goal hanging off the roof?

I spent many an hour enjoying those activities as a kid, but the one thing I spent countless hours on and got so much enjoyment out of was — collecting sports cards.

From the time I could say the word "ball," I've been a sports fan. Whether it's football or basketball or just about any other sport you can think of, I will have, at the very least, a passing interest in whatever sport might be out there.

But there is no feeling in the sports world that is quite like the anticipation that comes when you open a wax-coated pack of Topps baseball cards to see which players are wrapped inside.

I can still vividly recall the day I bought my first pack of baseball cards. It was in the spring of 1974, and my dad had just given me a dollar for my allowance. I jumped on my bike and pedaled through the streets of Cozad to this little mom-and-pop supermarket, where they had a box of baseball card packs on sale for 10 cents apiece (I know . . . try to wrap your head around something costing a DIME).

Being an 8-year-old kid who had yet to be indoctrinated into the intricacies of taxation, I thought I could buy 10 packs for a dollar, only to find out that, with the 1 percent sales tax, it was a dollar and a penny. God bless the little old lady who ran the store when she saw my disappointment — she told me she'd take care of the penny and sent me on my way with a small paper bag full of Topps baseball cards.

I rushed home and opened the first pack, and there it was — the No. 1 card in the series, a card commemorating Hank Aaron becoming the all-time home run king (even though, at the end of the 1973 season, he was at 713 home runs and one behind Babe Ruth's record of 714). I flipped the card over and read the tiny printing that showed this year-to-year statistics in batting average, home runs, RBI's — and my addiction to sports reached a whole new level.

There were cards of many of the stars of the day, players like Pete Rose, Reggie Jackson, Steve Carlton, Nolan Ryan and a young guy by the name of Dave Winfield. And there were some odd cards as well — some of the San Diego Padres players had two cards in the set, one with "San Diego Padres" on the front and another with "Washington Nat'l Lea." I didn't know it at the time, but the Padres were rumored to be relocating to Washington, but stayed when former McDonald's owner Ray Kroc bought the team and kept them in California.

Every time I collected my allowance, I'd jump on the bike and go back to that little store, making sure to bring a penny along to take care of the sales tax. The flavor of the bubble gum that came with each pack didn't last very long, but the memories of those cards stayed with me for a long, long time, and every spring I looked forward to when the new baseball cards came out and collected those as well.

When I reached college, I made the mistake of selling all those old cards to a friend of mine who was starting a baseball card business. In later years, I found out that I had sold those cards for pennies on the dollar compared to their value years later. After that, I hoped that I would one day be able to put myself back in touch with that 1974 set of Topps baseball cards and, in some way, reclaim some of that lost youth and remember the excitement of seeing a new card that I hadn't seen

Nolan Reynolds sets meet, school record in pole vault

Four meet records were set, including a new Wayne High standard, to highlight the day's efforts Saturday in the big-school division of the Wayne State College Indoor Invitational at the WSC Rec Center.

Among the record-setting efforts was the one made by Wayne High's Nolan Reynolds, who easily cleared 12 feet, 7 inches in the pole vault to break the old meet record of 12-6 set back in 2005. His record eclipsed his own school mark of 12 feet, set last year.

Norfolk Catholic freshman Dylan Kautz set new meet standards in the boys 55- and 200-meter sprint races, while Marika Spencer of Columbus Scotus set a new mark in the girls discus.

Wayne High won five events overall on the day and had 31 entries place in the top six. The girls 3,200-meter relay team of Kelsey Boyer, Kiara Hochstein, Molly Hoskins and Gabi Meyer came from behind to win their race, with Meyer running down her opponent from Columbus Scotus in the final 1 1/2 laps. Kylie Hammer won the girls long jump, Katelyn Grone took the girls triple jump and Grayson McBride won the boys high jump to highlight Wayne's winning efforts.

Event winners and Wayne top-six finishers are as follows:

Northeast CC golf team debuts spring season

Six sophomores and five freshmen comprise the 2016 Northeast Community College golf team as they kicked off their spring season this week with the Northeast Invitational at the Norfolk Country Club.

"I am really excited about this upcoming season," said Hawks coach Brad Bosh. "We have four strong returning sophomores this spring that were able to get some great playing time at the varsity level the last two years. I feel that we are going to have a pretty dynamic top five this spring that can definitely win the regional tournament at Lake Panorama (Iowa) this year."

Bosh notes the team's stroke averages are the lowest since Northeast reinstated their men's golf program in the fall of 2012.

"I'm looking forward to some warmer weather so we can really start to hit the courses hard," he said.

This season's sophomores include Michael Brockhaus, Humphrey;

Memories

before in the set.

Last summer, my "allowance" was a little bigger and a chance search on Ebay called up the entire set of 1974 Topps baseball cards. The cards were in varying degrees of condition, from near mint to a couple that looked well worn and beaten from the elements. The price was right, though, and I couldn't wait to open the box with the entire set, each card placed in order in a three-ring binder.

After looking through all the cards, I brought them to my sister's house to show them to my youngest nephew, who is a huge sports fan and was developing his own interest in trading cards. We looked through the set together and I told him everything I could remember about the players of that era.

"See this card of Tommy John? He's the guy that elbow surgery is named after," I said, pointing to a card of the then-Yankee pitcher. "Nolan Ryan had only thrown no-hitters when this card came out," I said as we looked at his California Angels card, remembering that he threw his first two in 1973, threw his third that year and would go on to throw four more in his amazing career.

Today's baseball cards are interesting to look at and, in my opinion, way too overproduced compared to the cards of my youth. Cards of that era gave you that player's career stats, some "did you know" trivia about the player, and even listed his height, weight, birthdate and which hand he threw and batted with. You literally thought you knew everything about any player, just by looking at the back of his trading card. It was a wonderful way to learn about the game, and all it cost was a dime a pack.

There are days I wish I could go back and revisit those summer afternoons that I spent opening packs and sorting cards, whether it was by team, position or card number. Those were some great memories that helped feed my passion and love for sports of all kinds.

Wayne State Coaches Show

Exclusively on mywaynenews.com

Interviews with Wildcat coaches recorded live Mondays at 6 p.m. at The Max Available online every Tuesday mywaynenews.com's Michael Carnes sits down each week to talk to Wayne State coaches about their teams' efforts throughout the 2015-16 season. We'll recap the previous week's games and talk about upcoming opponents.

'Cats drop 12-10 decision

Nebraska-Kearney broke a 10-10 tie with single runs in the eighth and ninth to outscore Wayne State 12-10 in a high-scoring inter-state baseball matchup Wednesday at the Chapman Complex.

The Lopers got out to a 3-0 lead early before Wayne scored in the second on Albert Johnson's solo homer to right-center. After the Lopers put up two more runs in the third, Wayne State scored on Cody

Johnson singled and scored Simons in the fifth to make it a 6-3 game, and after Kearney scored in the sixth, Wayne State put up four in the bottom of the sixth to tie the game at 7-7. Nate Ackerman had a two-run triple, while Bodie Cooper added an RBI single.

In the seventh, Kearney scored three to retake the lead, but Wayne State battled back in the bottom of the inning to tie the game. Curtis Bussard had an RBI single, and Jenkins produced one of his own to highlight the comeback inning.

Kearney had the last word, however, scoring on a two-out passed ball in the eighth and getting the final run on a wild pitch to come away with the win.

Jenkins finished 3-for-6 with a double and two RBI while Brandon Fowler was 3-for-5 with three singles. Simons ended 2-for-4 with three runs scored with Cooper going 2-for-4 with a pair of singles and two RBI. Johnson was 2-for-5 with a homer, two RBI and two runs scored while Ackerman finished 2-for-5 with a triple and two RBI.

Reliever Joey Lenihan (0-1) suffered the pitching loss, charged with two runs (one earned) in 1 1/3 innings. Starter Mitch Ragan lasted 2 2/3 innings and yielded five runs on five hits. Taner Ledezma, Spencer Johnson and Bussard also worked in relief for the Wildcats.

Wayne State, 3-12, kicks off NSIC play when they host No. 2 St. Cloud State in a four-game series with doubleheaders Friday and Saturday. Start time for both doubleheaders is at 12 p.m.

This Wildcats base runner came up just short in a bid to dive safely into third base during Wayne State's home opener against the UNK Lopers last week. The 'Cats are slated to play second-ranked St. Cloud State on Friday and Saturday in Wayne with double-headers each day beginning at noon.

Slip to 5-14 record

Softball team drops four of five

The Wayne State softball team dropped their first two games on Friday, as the Wildcats fell to 19th-ranked Northwest Missouri 8-1 and Pittsburg State 13-0.

In the opener, Northwest Missouri State broke open a close game with a six-run sixth inning to kill the Wildcats' hopes for an upset win.

Wayne State scored its lone run of the contest in the third inning when Monique Alyea singled and scored on a single to right field by freshman Emily Chandler.

The Bearcats scored twice in the bottom of the fourth for a 2-1 lead, then erupted for six runs in the sixth on four hits and two Wildcat errors to put the game out of reach.

Seven different Wildcats each singled in the contest. Lexie Loos extended her hit streak to 15 games with a single, while Rachel Shumaker, Chandler, Shelby Wobken, Katelyn Wobken, Monique Alyea and Morgan Hoeg also singled.

Cassy Miller was tagged with the pitching loss, allowing eight runs on seven hits over five innings with seven strikeouts and two walks. Reliever Sarah Macias worked the final inning and gave up one hit.

The second game saw Pittsburg State scored in every inning while producing 16 hits in recording a five-inning win over the Wildcats.

Wayne State was limited to three hits in the contest, an Alyssa Schropp double and singles by Chandler and Abbie Hix. Loos saw her 15-game hit streak to open the season come to an end after going 0-for-2 with a walk.

Riley VanderVeen suffered the pitching loss working one inning while reliever Shelby Wobken pitched the final three innings.

On Saturday, the Wildcats split a pair of one-run contests, edging Central Missouri 5-4 in the opener and following that with an 8-7 loss to Emporia State.

In the opener, Wayne State used back-to-back-to-back homers in the second inning while holding off a late Central Missouri rally.

The Wildcats opened the scoring in the second inning when Hix, Katelyn Wobken and Hoeg hit consecutive home runs to give Wayne State a 3-0 advantage.

After Central Missouri scored twice in the third to get within one at 3-2, Wayne State pushed the lead back to three with a pair of runs in the top of the fourth as Hoeg delivered an RBI single that scored Hix, while Hoeg scored on Chandler's single.

Central Missouri scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth to make it a one-run game again at 5-4 and had runners on first and second in the bottom of the seventh before Miller retired the Jennies to get the victory.

Hoeg finished 2-for-3 with a homer, two RBI and two runs scored while Hix was 2-for-3 with a homer, double, RBI and two runs scored. Chandler and Loos each added two singles while Katelyn Wobken homered to round out Wayne State's nine hit attack. Miller finished her fourth complete game of the season, allowing seven hits and four runs with two strikeouts and five walks.

The Wildcats could not overcome a five-run first inning by Emporia State as a late Wildcat rally fell short against the Hornets.

Emporia State struck for five runs in the top of the first, but Wayne State responded with three runs of their own to make the score 5-3 after one inning. Loos walked and scored on a Chandler single for the first run. Chandler crossed home plate on a bases loaded walk to Hix while an Schropp groundout scored Melania Alyea.

The Hornets added single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings for an 8-3 lead. Wayne State pushed across three runs in the bottom of the sixth to close the gap to 8-6. Hoeg produced a two-run double that scored Hix and Caitlin Fehringer while Hoeg scored when Loos reached base on a throwing error.

In the bottom of the seventh, Chandler tripled to lead off the inning followed by an RBI single to right from Melania Alyea that made the score 8-7. Alyea was sacrificed to second for the first out of the inning, but Hix and Alyssa Schropp each grounded out to end the game as the Wildcats fell one run short.

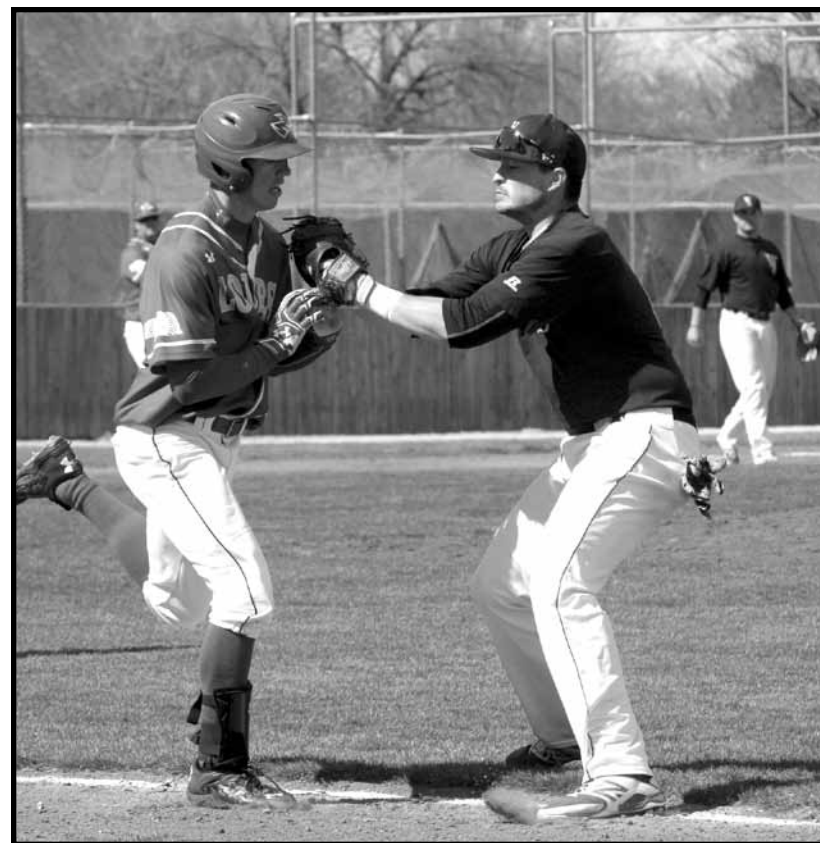

Chandler was 3-for-4 with a triple and two runs scored while Melania Alyea was 3-for-4 with a double, RBI and run scored. Hoeg went 2-for-3 with a double and triple while Shelby Wobken and Fehringer also had hits for the Wildcats.

All four Wildcat pitchers saw action in the contest with Shelby Wobken suffering the loss. VanderVeen worked two innings of relief and was charged with two runs followed by Miller, who pitched the next four innings and yielded two runs on three hits. Senior Sarah Macias worked the final inning and gave up just one hit.

On Sunday, host Missouri Western erased a 6-0 deficit by scoring 14 runs in the final three innings as they rallied for a 14-6 win over the Wildcats.

Wayne State dominated the first three innings before the Griffons rallied.

The Wildcats used four hits and a pair of walks to score five runs in the second inning. Hoeg's RBI single scored Hix, Katelyn Wobken's two-run single through the left side scored Hoeg and Fehringer, and Chandler's two-run double to left brought home Wobken and Loos for a 5-0 advantage. Wayne State added another run in the third when Shelby Wobken blasted her fourth home run of the season to lead off

It was an easy out for the 'Cats as the first baseman tags a UNK runner on his way to first base during action last week. WSC dropped a close one to the Lopers, 12-10 as UNK scored a single run in the final two innings for the win.

City Survey

The City of Wayne Planning Commission and the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation are working together on a Comprehensive Planning Project to determine the present and future needs of the community. The finished product will give guidance to the leaders of the community on what Wayne needs for business, housing, and recreation opportunities as well as other items. The most important part of this project is input from those living and/or working in Wayne.

To gather this information the City of Wayne has worked with a consultant to create four separate surveys that can be completed on-line by going to www.cityofwayne.org. They are Citizen survey, Workforce Housing Needs survey, Continuum of Care for the Elderly survey, and Student Housing Needs survey. The plan Wayne develops will be highly dependent upon the information and opinions we receive from the public. We would appreciate your input and need the surveys completed by Monday, March 28th. If you prefer to fill out a paper copy of the surveys they are available at City Hall at 306 Pearl Street and the Wayne Public Library at 410 Pearl Street.

Encuesta de Ciudades

La Comisión de Planeación de la Ciudad de Wayne y la Corporación de Desarrollo de Vivienda de Wayne están trabajando juntos en un proyecto de planificación integral para determinar las necesidades presentes y futuras de la comunidad. El producto final será orientar a los líderes de la comunidad en lo que Wayne necesita para las oportunidades de negocio, vivienda y recreación, así como otros artículos. La parte más importante de este proyecto es el aporte de los que viven y / o trabajan en Wayne.

Para obtener esta información la Ciudad de Wayne ha trabajado con un consultor para crear cuatro encuestas separadas que se pueden completar on-line, vaya a www.cityofwayne.org. Son encuesta como ciudadano, encuesta de las Necesidades de la Fuerza Laboral de Vivienda, encuesta de Continua de Atención a los ancianos y encuesta de Necesidades de Vivienda Estudiantil. El plan Wayne en desarrollo será altamente dependiente de las informaciones y opiniones que recibimos del público. Agradeceremos sus comentarios y necesitamos las encuestas completadas antes del 28 de Marzo. Si prefiere completar una copia en papel de las encuestas que están disponibles en el Ayuntamiento en 306 Pearl Street y la Biblioteca Pública de Wayne en 410 Pearl Street.

Learn latest information on diabetes

Yes, we have come a long way since we first began working in the field of diabetes education. We now know that the complications associated with diabetes can be prevented or delayed. Our growing knowledge of various foods and their effect on blood sugar levels enables people with diabetes to eat food they like, choose when and how much to eat, and still control blood-sugar levels.

The Control Diabetes for Life program on Wednesday, March 30 will be offered from 1:30 - 4 p.m. at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, 215 North Pearl Street in Wayne.

In the world of diabetes care, the only constant is change. Research and Development, like rust, never sleep--new devices, new drugs, and countless other new items of interest to people with diabetes emerge all the time. In the March 30 session of Control Diabetes for Life, Stacie Petersen will provide attendees with an up-to-the-minute overview of the latest products available to assist with your self-care.

It is the best time in history to have diabetes, especially in light of the difficulties our parents and grandparents would encounter had they been diagnosed decades ago. Today people with diabetes can choose from a wide variety of non-nutritive sweeteners and can even figure out how to fit sugar-containing foods into their meal plan. With carbohydrate information now readily available for most foods, diabetics can easily learn to count carbohydrates at each meal. This allows diabetics to fit virtually any food into their meal plan.

Stacie Petersen, B.S.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator will review the latest products on the market to help hold your diabetes in tight control by selecting the products that will work best for you. Included in her review will be blood glucose meters, insulin pens, and even apps available to help track what you eat and record blood sugar readings without using pen and paper.

Fitting diabetes into your lifestyle is the key message. Diabetes does not have to dictate how you live. Nebraska Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point invite you and your family members to participate in this diabetes educational program. Participants will learn about current issues related to diabetes from educators with over 25 years of team-teaching experience.

The theme for the March session is Ready, Set, Go! Diabetes Self-Management a New Look. Topics that will be addressed during the two-hour program are: What's New In Diabetes Care, Nutrition and Eye Health, Are You Sitting Too Much?, and Is Your Home Slim by Design? along with other helpful hints. Participants will receive recipes for diabetic appropriate foods.

Team-teaching the program will be Deborah Willcox, R.D. and L.M.N.T., and Stacie Petersen, B.S.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator both of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra Schroeder, Nebraska Extension Educator in Cuming County. Guest Speaker for the session will be Terry Nelson, DPT, with Franciscan Care Services.

Control Diabetes for Life is a joint project of Nebraska Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point. The program is offered free-of-charge. Control Diabetes for Life will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease. These sessions are designed to supplement the education that you receive from your local diabetes education team and are not a substitute for diabetes classes through your local health care providers.

Participants are asked to pre-register by calling Nebraska Extension in Wayne County at 402-375-3310 by Monday, March 28, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits for food service staff for attending.

Remembering life on the farm

I was actually planning to write about Agriculture last week, as it was Ag week! In fact, one article I read claimed it was Ag Month! I'll take that.

Meanwhile, we had branches broken off the tree west of the kitchen window. Alex got them off and put them on the patio; Jon got them broken or cut into three foot lengths. I volunteered to tie them in bundles, the way the garbage man likes them.

I found the can in the garage that still had some baler twine, and I used it up!! I've been teasing the Big Farmer ever since, I'm not sure we can get along without any baler twine.

Remember baling wire?? That had to be an awful job, riding behind the baler and making sure the bales were wired. I only got involved when it was time to pick them up and stack them some place. What a hot, muscle inducing, tiring job! And hay makes you itch! Believe me.

By: Pat Meierhenry

But baling wire comes in so handy. My father-in-law could fix anything with it. First, of course, you had to wrestle it off the bale, while feeding the livestock. But, then, you had some strong wire that would hold almost anything together.

I remember putting it around the fence posts that held the gate in place. Boy, it was hard to stretch it enough to do the job. And woe betide the person who forgot to put up the gate, and the cattle got out!

This time of year, I miss so much about the farm: new calves, fresh air, the lilac bush in the front yard, muddy roads. Oh, I guess I don't miss those roads. Or chasing the cattle when they did get out, or waiting meals because the guys wanted to "make just one more round."

Speaking of meals, though, I also miss a freezer full of beef, pork, and poultry! Sure made meal planning easier. And tastier!

Anyway, let's celebrate Agriculture! We all depend on it. Have a blessed Easter. Don't eat too much chocolate. Work on the eggs instead.

Soybean yield project, Garden Show discussed

We are looking for soybean farmers to take a little time to help us out on a research project. We need to get some basic information (varieties, fertilizer, chemicals used, etc.) on what farmers have been doing on their fields in 2014 and 2015. From one to four fields per year are needed from each grower. This information will be used for a data base to begin figuring out how we can increase our soybean yields.

This research is sponsored by the Soybean Board. Please call me at (402) 584-2234 or email me at keith.jarvi@unl.edu if you can help out. Information gathered is confidential and will not be shared with anyone.

Spring is near and it's time to think about attending the Siouxsland Garden Show, which will be at the Sioux City Convention Center on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 1-3. This is a big show co-organized by Nebraska Extension, Iowa State University Extension and Outreach, and Master Gardeners from both states.

There are a lot of presentations on many topics during all three days of the show. Along with a wide range of commercial exhibits that fill the Convention Center, Educational Sessions (15), Make N'Take workshops (20) and How-to Sessions (21). The cost is only $5 a day, $9.00 for a two day pass, or $12 for a three day pass if you are truly crazy about gardening (children under 12 free). There is not enough room in this newsletter to write about all the things happening at the Garden Show, so put it on your calendar and check the website siouxslandgardenshow.org (there are materials fees for the make and takes) and download the brochure, or search for it on Facebook.

Ag Happenings

Extension Educator

Here are some examples of the make and take: Bucket gardens, rain barrels, gutter gardens, spiral wood planters, tripod trellis, garden dragonflies, and many more.

Here are some examples of the How-to Sessions: Rain garden design, inspired floral designs, gardening for the senses, emerald ash borer update, lasagne gardening, heirloom fruits and vegetables, blooms for buzzers, and many others.

Here are some examples of the Educational Sessions: Growing and maintaining grapes, perfect plants for pots, native plants for native pollinators, and much more.

There will also be a Farmers Market selling winter produce, and two wineries that will be selling local vintages. We hope to see you there.

So you've inherited a farm, now what?

The University of Nebraska Extension has announced an educational program entitled, "So You've Inherited a Farm, Now What?!" This program is designed for those that have, or in the future will, inherit farm or ranch ground, or have become responsible for the agricultural land of a loved one.

The next meeting in the Norfolk area will be held on Monday, April 4 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the LifeLong Learning Center on the campus of the Northeast Community College.

The extension office often receives calls and questions from residents of Nebraska and other states, who have recently become full or partial owners in farm/ranch ground as a result of an inheritance. They often want to know, (1) how to find out what land is worth; (2) how to find out what they could rent the ground for; (3) how to prepare contracts to rent out ground; (4) what the legal and business issues are regarding land title and the effect that land has on their own asset and estate planning; (5) how to work with family members that might be absentee or challenging to deal with; (6) important leasing provisions that must be considered; (7) land issues with regard to those responsibility for management while a loved one is in short or long term care facilities; as well as many others.

This program is designed to answer those questions and to prepare the new owner(s) with the information they need to get off on the right foot.

Presenters include Extension Educators Tim Lemmons, Jim Jansen, and Al Vyhnaek. The cost of the program is $20 per person or $30 per couple to cover the cost of materials, speakers, and presentation. Space is limited for this event and pre-registration is required to attend.

For registration or additional questions, call (402) 370-4000.

Tree Advisory Board to host Community Tree Information Meeting

The Norfolk Tree Advisory Board will host a Community Tree Information Meeting that is open to all tree board members and anyone interested in promoting tree projects within their community throughout northeast and northcentral Nebraska. The meeting will be on Thursday, March 31 at the Elkhorn Lodge at Ta-Ha-Zouka Park in Norfolk from 1 - 4:30 p.m. The afternoon meeting will be divided into three sessions that will assist community tree boards with planning tree planting projects, what goes into doing a community forestry inventory and the data that is collected, and a question and answer session.

The first session will involve four communities in northeast Nebraska, telling what they learned from successful tree projects and what they would have done differently. Steve Rasmussen, District Forester with the Nebraska Forest Service, will moderate the discussion of what their projects are and how they've made an impact on their communities.

The second session will shift from project ideas to learning about having an inventory completed in your community. Graham Herbst, Community Forestry Specialist with the Nebraska Forest Service, will go step by step on how a community forestry inventory is accomplished and how the data collected from the inventory can help your community take the best management action to enhance your urban forest. For communities that are interested in doing an inventory on the trees within the community and on public land, this is a session you don't want to miss.

The third part will consist of a question and answer session with Steve Rasmussen, Graham Herbst, and Pam Bergstrom, Forester with the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, moderating the session and putting in their own advice to communities. All communities who come are encouraged to bring questions of their own and also bring their own advice on what has happened in the past within their own community.

"All communities are invited to attend the tree meeting, bring their questions and also share ideas on how to promote trees," said Dr. Tom Surber, chairman of the City of Norfolk Tree Advisory Board.

Directions to get to the Elkhorn Lodge: Go to Ta-Ha-Zouka Park on Highway 81 south of Norfolk. Turn into main drive with sign, follow road east to McKinley Avenue. Elkhorn Lodge is the first building on the left on McKinley.

You must register to attend this meeting by contacting Diane Becker at dbecker@ci.norfolk.ne.us or 402.844.2034.

'On a Hill Far Away'

I'm doing a lot of reminiscing this week, thinking about past "Holy Week" activities in which my family and I have been involved. We have worked with churches in Iowa, Michigan, Florida, and Nebraska -- and each worshipping community honors these precious days of remembrance in different ways. For some it has meant a special event for the children; for others it has meant a communion service on Thursday evening (Maundy Thursday) or a special community service on Friday ("Good Friday"). Some have an "Easter Sunrise Service" on Resurrection Sunday morning.

However, like the Advent and Christmas season, there are elements that always are part of the week. And one of those common elements is the use of music which is special for what some call "Passion Week" because it is the reminder of Jesus' horrific week of suffering during the last week of His physical life on earth (before His crucifixion). Whether the songs are contemporary or gospel, ancient or traditional, there are texts and pictures of the Scripture stories which must be sung at this very holy time.

And because all of these events point to a particular country, on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean, the title of today's article is from the hymn "The Old Rugged Cross." With lyrics written in 1912 by a traveling evangelist and song leader, George Bennard, and harmonized by Charles H. Gabriel, this song reminds us of the historical event -- the crucifixion of Jesus -- and becomes a testimony of the singer of the power of the "old cross" and the efficacy of Christ's sacrifice on our behalf.

Like many "old songs", it falls into disuse -- not misuse -- because of its traditional verse-by-verse (strophic) style and it's predictable and "old-fashioned" harmony. It is a typical old-style gospel song.

But the song calls it right. I say that because whether you are a traditional churchgoer who is accustomed to much liturgy and stately sounds and rituals, or whether you are a more typical, conservative, "born-again" believer who likes the "Amen" corner and begs for less formality, all of Christendom owes it all to what happened on that "hill far away."

I heard a preacher once say that God's purposes for Israel were threefold: 1. God needed to have a people through whom He could show His ways; 2. God needed a virgin womb through whom He could send a Savior; and 3. God needed a corner of earth on which to raise a cross. And all that took place in the country now called "Israel". The drama began long before the birth of Christ with the promises to Adam, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, David and on and on and on: the promise of the special land (Genesis 17), the promise of a place of rest (Psalm 23), the promise of a line of godly leadership, and finally the prophecy about a suffering servant through Whom all sin would be forgiven (Isaiah 53).

The manger was necessary: the Savior needed a place to be born. The cross was necessary: the spotless Lamb of God had to be killed for the sins of the world. The resurrection was necessary: showing the ultimate victory (for all time) of Jesus over death and the power of hell.

In a world that is getting darker all the time, there really should be a growing sense of hope in the hearts of believers everywhere -- not because our trust is in human thought processes, democratic procedures, or brute strength, but because our confidence is on what was accomplished "on the old rugged cross."

The world around us shows the extensive toll of the fruit of the flesh (described in Galatians 5) and the thought process of the unredeemed mind (presented in James 3). Left unchecked, the worst of humanity's difficulties did not expire with the death of Hitler. Without acknowledging our need of the Savior, Isis in all of its vengeful planning will not be the worst that is to come.

But remember: at the foot of the cross, every one of us is the same. One preacher said that "the ground is level" in that spot. The one who sins in a little is in the same predicament as the one who sins in much.

Thanks be to God for His unspeakable Gift! Romans 5:8 reminds us that "God demonstrates His love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us."

I'm thankful for the "hill far away" on which "stood an old rugged cross," and on which the "Dearest and Best for a world of lost sinners was slain." The song ends with this phrase of hope, "Then He'll call me someday to my home far away, where His glory forever I'll share."

Thank God for the "hill far away". Rejoice! And be thankful! The Savior of the world is no longer pinned to a cross on lonely Golgotha. And His summons is to you and me -- all of us -- to make a personal, heartfelt surrender to His call to "Go into all the world, make disciples, teach people to observe all that Jesus has taught us." Matthew 28:18-20.

Good Friday service planned in Winside

A Good Friday "Service of Tenebrae" will be held Friday, March 25 at Stanton Methodist Church and Winside United Church.

The service in Stanton begins at 6:30 p.m. and the service in Winside at 8 p.m.

The word "tenebrae" comes from the Latin meaning "darkness." The Tenebrae is an ancient Christian Good Friday service that makes use of gradually diminishing light through the extinguishing of candles to symbolize the events of that week from the triumphant Palm Sunday entry through Jesus' burial.

This increasing darkness symbolizes the approaching darkness of Jesus' death and of hopelessness in the world without God. The service concludes in darkness, sometimes with a final candle, the Christ candle, carried out of the sanctuary, symbolizing the death of Jesus. A loud noise may also sound symbolizing the closing of Jesus' tomb. The worshipers then leave in silence to ponder the impact of Christ's death and await the coming Resurrection.

Allen Community Club
The Allen Community Club met Feb. 15 at the Fire Hall for a meeting.

President Greta Kraemer called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given and approved.

Old business concerned preparations for the upcoming Q125 celebration. Purchasing benches and flower planters for Main Street was discussed but no decision made. The Village of Allen is working with NDOR concerning the painting of the railroad trestle.

The group is in need of an announce for the parade. Anyone willing to volunteer should contact Greta Kraemer. Approximately 175 Shriners from numerous Shrine units will be participating in the parade. The Allen Community Club will furnish a meal for them after the parade. The menu and serving accommodations were discussed.

Parade entry registrations forms will be on the Q125 website and newspapers.

with sauerkraut, scalloped potatoes, green beans, oatmeal cookies.

Wednesday, March 30: Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, peas, fruit cobbler, dinner roll.

Thursday, March 31: Chicken medley over biscuits, veggies in casserole, lettuce salad, fresh fruit.

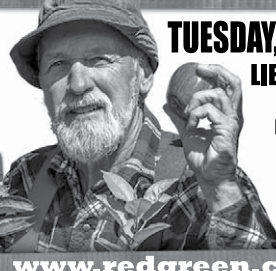

Milk, bread and butter offered at each meal.

4-H talent, public speaking events valuable School Lunches to the fair that help youth explore talent, public speaking, judging skills and how to effectively communicate an idea or a skill. Some of these contests open the door to advancement to district and state contests. For the older 4-H'er, especially, achievement in these contests can lead to college scholarships.

Shine Your Shoes, Tap Your Toes, Speak that Speech, It's Time for 4-H Talent and Public Speaking Contests!

You may wonder why 4-H would focus on performing arts? The 4-H program focuses on youth development, and the arts, especially music, have been shown to enhance a out. According to Dr. Eric Rasmussen, chair of the Early Childhood Music Department at the Peabody Preparatory of The Johns Hopkins University, brain imagery of children with music instruction show larger growth of neural activity than children without.

Did you know that there is a relationship between music and language development in children? "The development of language over time tends to enhance parts of the brain that help process music," says Dr. Kyle Pruett, clinical professor of child psychiatry at Yale School of Medicine. "Language competence is at the root of social competence. Musical experience strengthens the capacity to be verbally competent."

Would music lessons also have a relationship with STEM? Or is that another side of the brain? According to Dr. Pruett, music instruction does "improve spatial-temporal skills in children over time." Spatial-temporal skills are used in solving multi-step problems in engineering, math, and computers. So it is easy to understand how the performing arts can help with motor skills, concentration, memory, and the ability to multitask, as well as be wonderful to enjoy.

Public speaking is another skill 4-H'ers and Clover Kids can excel in with 4-H. Through the 4-H Public Speaking Contest, youth have an opportunity to write a speech or a public service announcement (PSA) that incorporates the topic of 4-H and deliver it to an audience. The PSA's are themed based, and the state theme for the 2016 Public Service Announcement (PSA) is "4-H Grows Confidence."

It's not just all talk! Being able to do public speaking may or may not mean giving speeches to hundreds behind a podium - being about to present yourself may help get that first job interview. Learning how to present yourself and your ideas and thoughts while challenging yourself to succeed with these skills is a pathway to a successful future while having fun and making friends.

Public speaking may be a common fear - but is easily confronted. The 4-H Public Speaking Contest helps youth develop skills for communicating about current issues to real audiences, learn how to organize and prepare a speech, develop speech delivery skills, learn how to present themselves to others, and develop self-confidence. Every 4-H member should learn this skill!

When is your county's Public Speaking Contest? Be sure to check with your local Extension Office. For more information about the rules and regulations for the public speaking contest, go to <http://4h.unl.edu/regionalpublicspeaking>.

This article comes from a series of resources developed by 4-H Youth Development professionals in the NE and SE District. Learn more about 4-H at 4h.unl.edu.

Eagles Auxiliary plans upcoming events

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met March 22 with six members present. The meeting was called to order by President Julie Addison.

Liz Hadcock presented a thank you and cash gift to the auxiliary for their help in hosting the Relay For Life Pain Party. Liz informed the group that "a great time was had by all and it was a successful fundraiser."

The auxiliary will once again sponsor the Goat Showmanship trophy for 4-H for the Wayne County Fair.

A Mother's Tea will be held Sunday, May 1 at the club. A paint party will be held beginning at 2 p.m. The cost will be $10 per person and limited to 50 people. Children are welcome but must be accompanied by an adult. Suggested age is eight years or older.

A noon lunch will be served at Bomgaars on Saturday, April 9 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. This will be hosted by the Aerie and Auxiliary with funds collected going to sponsor the yearly high school senior scholarships. Suggested donation will be $6 per plate with taverns, potato salad, baked beans and bottled water being served.

The Auxiliary initiated new member Charlene Sievers at this meeting.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 4 at the summer meeting time of 8 p.m.

THANK YOU

The Family of Ray Petersen appreciates the visits and remembrances while Dad was at home and at Brookdale. We are now thankful for the support, messages, cares and memorials that we have received since his passing. All gifts will go to the Senior Center and Our Savior Church. We will miss him but his was a good life and we have great memories.

Thank you
Duane, Delaine and Leslie
Dale and Michelle

Winside Fire and Rescue thanks everyone who attended our Annual Fish Fry making it a success and for your generous donations.

They will go toward updating our equipment and for training. With your support we are able to take care of our community and surrounding communities.
Thank you!

Thank you to Winside Fire and Rescue for the plaque and the Winside Rural Fire Dist. 4 Fire Board for the gold watch for my 50 years on the Fire Dept. Also thank you to my family and friends for their presence at the surprise presentation and to those who sent cards and expressed their congratulations. To those that wanted this to be a surprise, it was indeed, a 100% success. A great surprise and will always be remembered. Again, thanks to all and God Bless.
Russell H. Prince

"THANK YOU" to everyone who attended our Annual Pancake & Omelet Feed.

Your generous support of the Fire Department is greatly appreciated. We will be using funds raised to fund the recent purchase of a new grass rig and skid unit. We hope to have this all in service within the next couple months. Your continued support of our department makes it possible to improve the ways we are able to serve Carroll and the surrounding area! Special thanks to the following businesses who donated items for the event: Affiliated Foods, Bomgaars-Wayne, Farmer's State Bank, Farm Credit Services of America, Grossenburg Equipment, Junck Dairy (Dwayne & Priscilla), McDonald's-Wayne, MPM Farms, Pac n Save, Skyview Partnership-Bloomfield, TWJ Farms, TWJ Feeds & Wayne County Convention and Visitors Bureau. Without everyone's outstanding support our event would not have such great success. Thanks Again!!

Carroll Volunteer Fire Department

THANK YOU

To all of you who helped before, during, and after our farm sale. It made a big jobs much easier for us. We are truly blessed to live in such a caring, helpful community.
