Water rate hike gets cold reception

Proposed increase tabled until May 3

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A proposal to increase the city's sewer rates to non-residents got a cold splash from a local resident during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Currently, non-residents pay double the city water and sewer rate, and a proposal was on the agenda to increase that multiple from 2 to 2.5, which was questioned by a local resident whose father would be affected by the rate change.

"My dad was told he couldn't drill a well and he couldn't be annexed, so now he has to pay that rate," B.J. Woehler told the Council. "You're putting a huge burden on them and they don't have another option because the water department told him that he can't put in a well."

In the Council's note packet, Wayne City Administrator Lowell Johnson wrote that, under state law, municipalities and their elected officials can extend utilities outside the municipal corporate limits, but are not required to. Those that do will generally charge a higher rate for taking care of regulatory, legal, fiscal and oversight issues for those served outside city limits, and there are no rate restrictions.

"If you and 13 neighbors want to put in a well, somebody has to be the boss," he said, noting that the residents of the city of Wayne pay for the system. "The City Council has a huge responsibility to the taxpayers, and if you don't want to be in city limits, then I see it's worth charging for the time to administrate the system."

Woehler questioned the need for another rate increase, since the last one came a year ago.

"You're trying to charge people outside more, and I don't see the justification for charging people (outside city limits) these rates."

Councilman Cale Giese motioned to table the proposal until the Council's next meeting, citing a need for clarification on parts of the proposal. The Council approved the motion on a 6-1 vote, with Councilman Matt Eischeid voting nay.

The Council heard a report from the Wayne Airport Authority regarding the city's airport, and news from Stan Morris Airport was generally positive.

Airport Authority board member David Ley and chairman Jerome Conardt told the Council that the airport is looking into a proposal that would extend the runway by 1,000 feet, which would allow for bigger airplanes to use the regional airport. They presently have a 4,200-foot runway and have met with Wayne County officials to discuss closing the county road to the north of the airport in an effort to acquire the land needed for the additional runway.

"If we extend the runway, then bigger airplanes can land here, and once we plan it out and get an estimate of costs, we can work on grants and get the federal government to approve the grants," Conardt said, noting that funding would be a 90-10 split with the federal government picking up the majority of the costs.

Ley told the Council that the airport's economic development benefit to the community is over $600,000, and with more than 40 planes a month landing in Wayne, it serves as a tremendous benefit to the local economy.

"If they're landing here, they're landing for a reason and are doing something economically to benefit Wayne or Wayne County," he said.

At the present time, 27 aircraft are based at the Wayne airport's hangars, and all of the plane's owners live in Wayne or within a short drive of town.

Wayne's airport is considered a regional airport, whereas airports in Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island are

Reservoir proposal upsets area farmers

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

While the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District has not officially presented any plans, talk of a possible reservoir being built northwest of Wayne has some local landowners upset.

At last month's LENRD meeting, Olson Associates presented results of a reservoir evaluation project that was conducted for the district, looking at 10 creeks in the LENRD area that could be looked at for a possible reservoir some time in the future.

Among the sites considered was one along Dog Creek in northern Wayne County, which is of concern to some landowners in the area.

"The neighbors around here are generally concerned," said Sheri Dunklau, who owns land in the proposed Dog Creek reservoir area with her husband, Randy. "My husband's grandfather homesteaded the land across from us and bought this land in 1908, and even if they raise the water level, we're concerned that it would ruin half our land."

Wayne County recently constructed two new bridges in the area that would be flooded to create a new reservoir, and initial indications are that the reservoir could reach as far as Ike's Lake, located about four miles north and west of Wayne.

Dunklau said a copy of a map of the northern part of the county with the proposed reservoir outlined has already been leaked to the public, adding that she believes LENRD officials are secretly trying to move the project through without public knowledge.

"At this point, they've said they are down to two sites, but they haven't shared any sites or information publicly," she said.

In a March 23 story in the Norfolk Daily News, a LENRD official said that a reservoir was being considered to deal with issues relating to groundwater that is flowing out of the district and into other natural resource districts.

"Another thing that we were taking into consideration is water users outside of our district," LENRD general manager Mike Sousek said in the Daily News article. "There's a heavy presence from outside our district that wants to maybe claim some of the water that's leaving our district. We just want to be prepared for those discussions and have options for them should other alternatives be pursued."

Sousek told the Daily News that it would be some time before any construction work might begin on a new reservoir. Plans for the reservoir southeast of Hubbard that opened in late 2014 were first announced back in 2006, so even if a decision were made today, it would be close to 10 years before construction would begin.

Wren not going to 'skip away' from Wayne Housing position

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Cari Wren said she has no plans to "skip away" from Wayne when she steps down as executive director of Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation at the end of the month.

Wren's husband, John, recently left his post as commander of Wayne's Nebraska National Guard unit and took a position as a branch chief at Camp Ashland west of Omaha, and she will be joining her husband there once her duties are complete at the end of the month.

"I didn't want to leave Wayne, but we own a house in Omaha now so I guess I have to go since my furniture is there," she joked.

Wren has been executive director of Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation for the last five years and is turning the reins over to Meagan Weaver, who will be able to hit the ground running after previous experience with other local housing nonprofits in the region.

Wren said that she's happy to be handing the keys over to someone with prior experience in the field, especially since she's had an opportunity to work with her and help her get acclimated to the new position.

"I'm tickled that I'm leaving this in Meagan's hands," she said. "She's held a similar position before, so it won't be as big a learning curve for her. When I came in, they hired me the same day as (former director) Della Pries' last day, so by the time I got started, I came into a voice mailbox blinking and a stack of files on the desk and had to figure it out. She won't be coming in blind, and that will alleviate a lot of that anxiety."

owner-occupied housing rehabilitation in the Siouxland area.

Weaver said she is excited about being a part of a local non-profit group that helps get people into their first homes, especially one where the area isn't quite as big as Sioux City's.

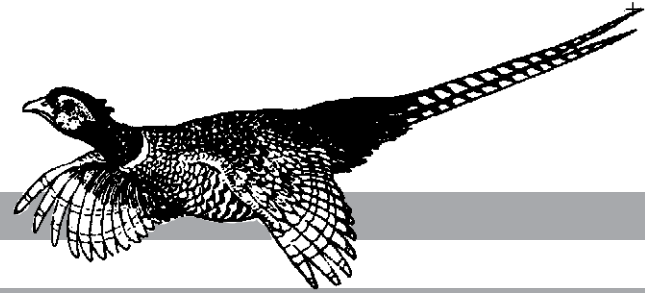

"One of the disadvantages about working at SIMPCO is that you're spread out so thin," she said. "We did 75 projects in a year, and it's hard to feel like you're making a difference."

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Future Utility Costs

Sewer Rates: In 2005, EPA reclassified South Logan Creek as a recreational stream in the summer months to provide higher quality water in the Elkhorn River basin for the Lincoln and Omaha area well fields in the Platte River basin and for the Pallid Sturgeon and Piping Plover. As a result, the new lower nutrient discharge requirements for cities like Wayne required a new waste water treatment plant.

While the idea is good, our total sewer operating budget went from about $500,000 per year total, with no debt service to about $1 million per year with about $500,000 in debt service. We set rates to operate on a break-even basis each year. Monthly residential sewer rates are set once per year for each house based on the average household water use in December, January and February. Avoid leaky toilets and water softeners and wasted water during those three months.

Water Rates: Wayne invested heavily in a new well field in the 1980's. The debt service for that is paid off and our water rates are about average with surrounding communities.

Electric Rates: Help is on the way but it will be hard to notice. 1) Last year we paid off the debt for the 1996 power plant expansion. 2) However this year NPPD has begun billing a punitive 3.9 percent rate increase to those towns that stayed on our current NPPD Wholesale Power contract instead of signing their new 20 year contract. Wayne and other cities expect to challenge this in court and have it refunded but we have to pay it for now. We're all deciding whether to add it to our local rates or eat the increase until there is a court resolution. 3) We buy about 16 percent of our wholesale power from the federal Western Area Power Administration (WAPA) dams in the Upper Missouri basin. WAPA was providing power at about half the cost of NPPD until 2007. WAPA got into financial trouble with the extended drought in the mountains and doubled their rate to Wayne and other customers. Those double rates will end in 2018 and provide some relief. 4) Wayne has contracted with Big Rivers Power Coop in Kentucky for wholesale power at a reduced rate from NPPD's costs beginning in 2019. 4) This summer, Wayne will begin a major $1 million distribution line upgrade of some of the oldest lines in the west middle part of town. The cost of these upgrades and maintenance are paid out of our electric rates. 5) The electric power utilities in the U.S. will undergo big changes in coal plant closings and development of renewable generation which will have some serious unknown costs in the future. We set our local rates to operate utilities on a break-even basis each year.

the 4th Auxiliary Medical Group during World War II, training in Denver, Colo. and Atlanta, Ga. before going overseas to Europe. His medical group was a self-contained mobile surgical unit and was sent wherever they were needed the most, being attached to 15 different combat outfits and moving 54 times between D-Day and the end of the war. He was awarded the Bronze Star, five campaign stars and the unit's meritorious service plaque. Alvin was discharged Nov. 26, 1945.

Following the war, Alvin and Marjorie returned to Orchard and opened a men's shoe and clothing store. Their daughter, Kathleen Ann, was born July 12, 1948. In 1950 Alvin accepted a position with the First National Bank in Wayne, being promoted in later years to vice-president of the bank. Wayne would be the family's home until his retirement from the bank in December of 1980. It was on one of Al and Marge's vacations south that they stopped in Cherokee Village, Ark. and knew that was where they wanted to live in retirement. They moved to the Village in January of 1981. Al and Marge enjoyed playing cards with friends and dancing to Big Band music. "In the Mood" was their favorite song. Al's hobbies included coin collecting and golfing, pastimes that he continued his whole life. He was lucky enough, and as he said "It was pure luck," to get three holes in one...the first at the Cherokee Village South Course in 2003 at the age of 85, the second at Auburn Hills in Wichita, Kan., in 2004 and another at Cherokee Village North Course in 2008 at the age of 90. He said, "It just goes to show you, if you play long enough, you'll have at least one good game." Alvin served many years as deacon, trustee and elder at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne and later at Spring River Presbyterian Church in Cherokee Village, Ark. Al served for many years as treasurer of Lions Club, both in Wayne and in the Village. In 2010, Al moved from Arkansas to Rose Hill, a suburb of Wichita, Kan., to be closer to his family.

Survivors include his daughter, Kathleen (Jack) Manske of Wichita, Kan.; his granddaughter, Alissa Manske; his grandson, Jay Manske; two sisters, Jennie Rauthe and Nelda Morgan of Kalispell, Mont. and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Marjorie, in 1999; three brothers, Wilber, Jr., Everett and Marvin "Barney" Voorhies; his sister, Evelyn Longpre; and his sister, Jessie, who died in infancy.

Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Haven House works to raise sexual assault awareness

Every 107 seconds another American is sexually assaulted. This statistic is staggering but it's the truth. Since 1978, Haven House has been actively working to bring an end to domestic and sexual violence in northeast Nebraska.

April is the national awareness month for sexual assault, and in response to this, Haven House has launched a sexual assault awareness campaign to combat sexual violence, raise awareness about this issue, and to let individuals know that there is help.

Haven House services the counties of Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne. Their service area also includes the Winnebago & Omaha Nation reservations.

Haven House offers a variety of services and one of the core services is the 24 Hour Crisis line. Someone is always ready to answer the phone and offer help to those affected by domestic and sexual violence. The number is (800) 440-4633. This is a crisis only number and Haven House asks that for any other needs or questions (besides emergency situations) call their main office at (402) 375-5433.

To raise awareness, there have been a variety of activities that Haven House has been participating in during the month of April.

These include: A Free movie showing of "The Hunting Ground." Haven House, GEM and the Counseling Center at Wayne State College sponsored this movie twice this month.

Coffee and Consent - Haven House has partnered with area coffee houses to launch the coffee and consent campaign. Custom coffee sleeves will be available at area coffee houses and those customers who receive one on a purchase are invited to use the hashtags on the sleeve to show friends and family and help raise awareness.

Denim Days - A perfect chance to dress casual for work and help raise awareness for sexual assault. The event came about after an 18-year old girl was sexually assaulted by her 45-year old driving instructor. The driving instructor was initially convicted of rape and sentenced to jail but appealed the conviction, and the perpetrator's conviction was overturned, dismissed, and was he released. This was because the court claimed "because the victim wore very, very tight jeans, she had to help him remove them, and by removing the jeans it was no longer rape but consensual sex." Denim Days began in 1999 in protest to this court decision and to help raise awareness and funds in regard to sexual assault. Businesses are encouraged to allow their employees to dress casual (in jeans) in exchange for a donation to their local sexual violence crisis agency. Any business wishing to participate is asked to contact Haven House at (402) 375-5433.

Area displays - A number of displays about sexual assault have been placed in courthouses and libraries throughout the Haven House service area to help raise awareness.

Anyone wishing to help raise awareness, can do so by connecting with Haven House online. Visit the website at www.havenhousefsc.com for links to their Facebook and Youtube channel.

WSC class helps Wayne Public Library

Wayne State College Business Communications and Managerial Communications students are finishing up their Service Learning-Project for the Wayne Public Library.

Wanting to help, the students compiled research from other libraries all across the nation. Students created newsletters and memos to help enhance the library's social media sites. The different social media sites that have been set up for them are Mail Chimp, Twitter, Snap Chat, and Instagram. You can follow the library's social media at waynenelibrary.

In addition, students created projects to build awareness of the library's brand new website at onec.ent.sir-si.net/client/en_US/wayne. The website hosts several brand new tools for patrons to use. One tool allows patrons to download free music.

Students will hold a focus group this month to gather feedback about the library's technology. Give the library a call if you are interested in taking part in an upcoming focus group. Students also put together grant applications for future development projects.

WSC Plains Writer Series, Poetry Slam set for April 28

Wayne State College's Language and Literature Department, the School of Art and Humanities and the WSC Press will host this spring's Plains Writers Series on the second floor lounge in the Humanities Building on Thursday, April 28 at 2 p.m.

Following the Plains Writers Series will be the Lucky 13 Fiction Slam. The fiction slam will be hosted at the Max Bar and Grill in downtown Wayne at 7 p.m.

The Plains Writers Series is hosted several times for the betterment of prose and poetry of local Great Plains writers through reading and interacting with area audiences.

This spring's Plains Writers Series will highlight two authors, Catherine Texier and Kelly Weber.

Texier was born and raised in France, traveled extensively in South America and lived in Montreal before making her way to the U.S. She started to write in English when she moved to New York, after publishing her first novel, "Chloé l'Atlantique," in French. Since then she has written five more novels, "Love Me Tender," "Panic Blood," "Young Woman With a Bunch of Lilac" (forthcoming in Italy), and "Russian Lessons." Her memoir "Breakup" was an international bestseller. "Victorine" won Elle Magazine's 2004 Readers' Prize Best Novel of the Year. "Love Me Tender" was a Village Voice bestseller in 1987. Her work has been translated into 10 languages.

Her literary awards include a National Endowment for the Arts Award and two New York Foundation for the Arts Fellowships. She was co-editor, with Joel Rose, of the literary magazine Between C and D, and she has written for the New York Times, The New York Times Magazine, Newsday, Bookforum, Elle, Harper's Bazaar, Cosmopolitan, Marie-Claire, and Nerve.com.

She translated some French writings.

She was invited to artists' residencies at Castello di Movimento (Italy), Dora Maar House (France) and Yaddo. She has taught creative writing at Rutgers University, Hofstra University, Bennington College, Brooklyn College, Columbia University, University of Nebraska, The New School, as well as the Summer Literary Seminars (Saint-Petersburg, Russia) and the Paris Writers Workshops.

Weber's poetry has appeared or is forthcoming in several publications, including "Gravel," "Avatar Review," "Aleola," "Bird's Thumb," and "Agave," and her fiction has appeared in Rose Red Review. Her chapbook "All My Valentine's Days Are Weird" was published by Pseudo Poseur Press in 2015, and she was the recipient of the Jerry Bradley Award for Creative Writing at the 36th Annual Southwest American/Popular Culture Conference. She has taught composition and poetry at Wayne State College.

Required preliminary rounds start at 5 p.m. If anyone would like to participate in the slam they will need two original short stories and $5 for registration at the door. All events are free and open to the public.

Car, bus collide Friday

A Friday afternoon collision between a mini-school bus and a vehicle at the traffic signal just east of Wayne Junior-Senior High School sent two people to Providence Medical Center. According to eyewitness accounts, a maroon Jeep 4x4 collided with the bus, owned by Mid State School Bus Inc. of Wayne, with both vehicles coming to rest in the eastbound lane of Seventh Street just west of Sherman Street. Both drivers were taken to PMC by Providence ambulance crews. No children were believed to have been on the bus at the time of the accident. Wayne Police Department investigated the accident, and Wayne Volunteer Fire and Rescue were on hand at the scene.

Weaver said she is happy that she's stepping into a good position, especially with all the work Wren has done over the last several years.

"A lot of the success of this program has a lot to do with the relationships Cari has built with the local lenders, realtors, title and insurance companies in town," she said. "They're helping each other and it's been good to have her kind of ease me into some of these relationships so I won't be such a stranger to them when I take over."

"I didn't get to do that when I came in," Wren said. "It's been good to have Meagan here and kind of get her updated on everything that's going on so it won't be such a learning curve, and introducing her to our clients is also important because it will help alleviate some of that anxiety for those first-time homeowners who are already dealing with enough stress with buying a home for the first time."

Wren said she and her husband have lived in the Wayne area for 12 years, and the move to Omaha will be a difficult one for her.

"Missing the people here will be the hardest part," she said. "We've developed a lot of great friendships

As for what she'll do next, Wren isn't sure about where she'll work, but she knows what will be high on the to-do list.

"Unpacking boxes," she said, smiling.

Elliott earned his master of fine arts in studio art at the University of Maryland and his bachelor of fine arts in sculpture at the University of Kansas. He has served as dean of the School of Arts and Humanities and director of the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery at Wayne State College since 2013. ## 20 years since we lost legend

Has it REALLY been 20 years? We don't discuss much in the way of Husker athletics in this space, but those of us who have lived in Nebraska most, if not all, of our lives and were around back during the last Husker glory era of the early-mid 1990's will always remember No. 18.

Brook Berringer was the clean-cut, boy-next-door kind of kid that epitomized the character and blue-collar ethic that made Nebraska football the unstoppable force that it was during the final days of the Tom Osborne era. Osborne had always won with class, and there was nobody on the team who best represented that than a young man from Goodland, Kan., who came to Nebraska to play quarterback.

Berringer had the dubious honor of having to back up Tommie Frazier, unquestionably the best quarterback ever to put on a Husker uniform. When Frazier went down with blood clots during the Huskers' 1994 championship run, it was Berringer who stepped in and kept the Huskers on their run to the national title. Even with broken ribs, No. 18 stayed strong and guided Nebraska to the Big Eight title.

When Osborne announced that Frazier, and not Berringer, would start in the Orange Bowl against Miami, Berringer very easily could have become a cancer on the team. After all, it was he who led the team after Frazier went down and he had done nothing to make anybody think a change was needed at quarterback. He very easily could have pouted and played the poor-me game that some big-time athletes play when things don't go their way these days. Instead, he got ready just like he had for every other game and cheered his teammates on.

Osborne gave Berringer a shot in the second half. He kept the Huskers in the game, but threw an unlucky interception in the end zone that had Husker fans thinking that yet another bowl game was lost. Frazier came back and led the Huskers to the win and the national title, but nobody forgot the young man from rural Kansas who helped get us there.

Berringer was the backup on the back-to-back championship team in 1995, but his talents led many to believe that his name would be called during the 1996 NFL Draft. This kid had a ton of upside to him – not only on the field, but in the game of life as well.

There are so many stories about who Berringer was and the kind of classy kid that he always displayed, but for all of those stories, I'll always remember the afternoon of April 18, 1996 – the day God took his first-round quarterback far sooner than anyone expected.

I was sports editor at the Papillion Times on that day and was covering a track meet at the local high school. It was an unusual spring day – for the spring of 1996, anyway – in that it was warm and sunny. It seemed like that was the only day the entire spring in which the temperature was warm and the skies were clear. It was windy – but it was definitely the best day of that spring.

I was standing near a small barn at the track talking with Stu Pospisil of the Omaha World-Herald and Ryly Jane Hambleton of the Lincoln Journal Star. Both were in town to cover some of the top track athletes – who were also going to be future Husker football players – as they competed at the meet. We were discussing a variety of issues, as sports writers often do when they gather in groups of two or more, when the late Papillion-LaVista boys basketball coach, Kevin Albers, walked up to us, a grim look on his face.

"I just heard on the radio that Brook Berringer died in a plane crash just a few minutes ago," he told us. The news literally sucked the wind out of the conversation.

Wild day on diamond for Wildcats

Wayne State and Winona State lit up the scoreboard in a midweek doubleheader last Wednesday, with both teams coming away with a win in NSIC action.

In the opener, the Wildcats pounded out 19 hits to post a 15-11 win over Winona State.

Wayne State countered a three-run Warriors first inning with six in the bottom of the frame, highlighted by Nick McIntee's two-run double and a two-run single from Bodie Cooper. Aaron Krier added an RBI triple and Alek Kreft had a run-scoring double in the big inning.

The Warriors used three runs in the second and two more in the third to take an 8-6 lead, but the Wildcats came back in the bottom of the third with four runs, highlighted by a three-run home by Curtis Bussard and an RBI double from McIntee.

Winona State tied it again with two runs in the top of the fifth, but the Wildcats took the lead for good with two in the bottom of the inning on back-to-back RBI doubles from Tanner Simons and Cody Jenkins. They added three more in the sixth, thanks to Bussard's two-run single and an RBI single by Krier, to put the first game out of reach.

Bussard went 4-for-5 with a homer, double, five RBI's and three runs scored to lead the Wildcats. Simons was 4-for-5 with a double and two runs scored, McIntee finished 3-for-4 with three RBI's while Kreft and Krier each recorded two hits. Spencer Morris got the win in relief, with Wayne native Joey Lenihan earning his second save of the year.

The second game was all Winona State, as the Warriors belted eight home runs in the nightcap as part of a 25-hit attack for a 21-3 win.

The Wildcats were able to avoid the shutout in the seventh on Nate Ackerman's three-run homer. He had two of Wayne State's four hits. Spencer Johnson took the loss.

The Wildcats' weekend series at Northern State was called off due to rain. The Wildcats (8-19, 5-7 NSIC) are back home this weekend for a four-game series with Augustana,

Smoke sends Wayne tracksters to Homer

HOMER – Sometimes rain, snow, hail, lightning and even tornadoes can cancel a track and field meet in Nebraska.

Wayne High's track and field team may have experienced a first, though, when lingering smoke from prairie fires in northeast Kansas affected the air quality in the Omaha area to the point where officials at Elkhorn Public Schools cancelled their scheduled track meet on Thursday.

Through quick thinking, Wayne High athletic officials got a hold of officials in Homer and were allowed to compete in Thursday's Homer Invitational.

they weren't running in Elkhorn because of the air quality, so we quickly called Homer and were fortunate that they allowed us in," coach Dale Hochstein said.

Hochstein said that several of Wayne's key athletes had been held out of last Tuesday's Wayne Invitational, due to an NSAA-mandated limit on the number of competitions an athlete can compete in during track and field season. Getting in the Homer meet at the last minute allowed those kids who sat out the home meet to get some good results.

"We really wanted to get those kids in a meet that day, because we knew they were ready and they wanted to try to improve their marks with the Northeast Classic coming up, and we had a good day."

The Wayne boys won the team by 21 points over Ponca, using a scoring system where every athlete competing scored team points, rather than the top six as is customary. Wayne's girls were edged out by Ponca by 4 1/2 points in the eight-school competition.

Wayne fared very well on both sides of the ledger. In girls competition, the Blue Devils won eight events. Senior Tarah Stegemann and sophomore Kylie Hammer each won two events to lead the way. Stegemann claimed the 100-me-

'Cats control destiny

Softballers lead NSIC standings, last six at home

The Wayne State softball team controls its own destiny heading into the final weekend of the regular season as they find themselves in position to win a Northern Sun Conference regular-season championship.

The Wildcats did their part over the weekend, splitting a doubleheader at Minnesota Duluth and sweeping St. Cloud State to slip past Augustana – who was swept by Duluth – and Minnesota State into first place in the NSIC by one-half of one game. The Wildcats are 19-5 in league play heading into the final weekend, while Augustana and Minnesota State are both 18-5 and Upper Iowa is two games back in the win column at 17-5.

On Sunday, the Wildcats held on for a 6-5 win in the opener and came back to post a 5-3 win in 11 innings at St. Cloud State. With Duluth sweeping Augustana that same day, it allowed the Wildcats to take over sole possession of first place in the NSIC standings.

In the opener, the Wildcats used four RBI's by Emily Chandler to help build a 5-0 advantage. Chandler got the scoring started with a two-run single in the third, then added a two-run homer to straightaway center in the fifth.

Wayne State got what proved to be the winning run in the sixth when Lexie Loos scored on a sacrifice fly by Abbie Hix. St. Cloud State nearly came back from a 6-1 deficit by scoring four in the seventh, but couldn't get the tying run home.

Loos went 3-for-4 and scored twice in the win, while Chandler and Katelyn Wobken each had two hits. Cassy Miller went the distance, striking out nine and scattering nine hits and five runs.

In the nightcap, Miller came in relief of Shelby Wobken and pitched 7 2/3 scoreless innings, striking out eight and walking one.

Wayne State led 2-0 in the first as Wobken tripled and scored on a Hix single, and Hix came home on a Sam O'Brien double.

St. Cloud would come back and take a 3-2 lead into the seventh when the Wildcats came back to tie the game on O'Brien's RBI single, scoring Loos. It would stay that way until the 11th, when Wayne State scored a pair of runs on a Wobken single and a Hix groundout.

Wayne State had 15 wins in the finale, three coming from O'Brien. Hix also had three hits and Rachel Shumaker recorded a trio of safeties

Legend

It seemed like forever before somebody could summon up the courage to ask for more details.

Berringer and his girlfriend's brother had gone out for a plane ride in a small plane northwest of Lincoln. Berringer was a pilot and was maneuvering the plane in an effort to return to the airstrip where they had taken off from, when a gust of wind caught his plane and sent it crashing into a ball of flame on the ground near Raymond.

Berringer was supposed to be the guest speaker at a statewide Fellowship of Christian Athletes dinner that evening in Lincoln. The news of his sudden passing struck not only those in attendance, but anybody and everybody who had any interest in Husker football (which, during that time, was pretty much everybody in the state).

Berringer had so much going for him. He was a surefire pick in that weekend's NFL draft. Although he was Frazier's backup, he had the mechanics and the arm and, most important, the mindset of an NFL-caliber quarterback. Where he would have gone, and how far he would go, was the subject of conversation all over the country.

Berringer's likeness has been forever captured with a sculpture of him and Osborne outside the northwest corner of Memorial Stadium. When I get the chance to go to a game, I always look at the statue and look into the eyes of the young man from small-town Kansas. Oddly enough, I turned down a chance to be sports editor at the daily newspaper in Goodland in the winter of 1990. I would have been there for Berringer's senior year, had I taken the job, and maybe would have had an opportunity to know the young man a little more.

Evidently, God really needed a quarterback bad for Heaven's football team. He sure took him a lot faster than we were ready to give him up here on Earth. All I know is, if he played up there with anywhere near the level of class and capability he showed during his short time here, God's team probably never lost.

It's been two decades since we lost ol' No. 18 - and yet, it still seems like only yesterday.

Wayne/Wakefield baseball loses at home

Wayne/Wakefield was limited to four hits by Platteview pitching, and the visiting Trojans came away with an 8-1 win Thursday at Hank Overin Field.

Platteview led 1-0 in the second when a pop fly in the infield rolled, untouched, into foul territory, but was ruled a fair ball by the umpire, who told the Wayne/Wakefield coaches he saw the ball touch an infielder. The result led to a run and opened the door for a four-run inning that gave the visitors a 5-0 advantage on their way to the win.

Wayne/Wakefield got its only run in the bottom of the seventh on Tyler Lutt's RBI single to center, scoring Tyler Gilliland, who walked to lead off the inning.

Caden Korth had a double and Lutt, Julio Sanchez and Isaac Camerna each had singles. Adam Bentjen took the loss on the mound.

Wayne/Wakefield is 0-11 on the season. They host Norfolk in a 7 p.m. game Thursday at Hank Overin Field, and will play Seward on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Eaton Field in Wakefield.

Allen girls take first place at LCC Invitational

LAUREL - The Allen Lady Eagles pulled away down the stretch to edge Ponca for the team title in the LCC Invitational Tuesday afternoon.

The Lady Eagles won seven events and finished second in five others to finish 20.5 points ahead of the Indians in the seven-team race.

Kaylen Smith had a big day for the Lady Eagles, recording three wins on her own and running on the winning 400-meter relay with Bri Hingst, Haley Stapleton and Gabby Sullivan that locked up the team title with their win.

While Smith dominated the sprints and hurdles, Lexi Oswald was solid in the distance events. She won the 1,600 and 3,200, beating Winside's Callie Finn by a nose in the 1,600, and also placed second in the 800. Oswald and Finn faced off in a great 1,600-meter race, with Oswald edging the Wildcat junior by a half-second.

LCC and Winside tied for fifth place in the girls division, with both teams winning one field event. LCC's Bayley Holloway claimed top honors in the pole vault, while Winside senior Kelly Tweedy took first in the discus.

Alex Bargstadt medaled in three events for the Wildcats. She was third in the 200, fourth in the 100 and placed fifth in the long jump.

LCC's Kaci Groene earned multiple medals as well. She was sixth in the long jump, fourth in the triple jump and placed third in the shot put to lead the Lady Bears.

On the boys side, Allen had a 1-2 finish in the 800 and also won the 3,200-meter relay to finish a solid fourth.

S.T. O'Keefe and Tayler Kumm took the top two spots in the 800-meter run, and both runners were part of the Eagles' win in the 3,200-meter relay. Kumm also claimed runner-up honors in the 1,600 and was third in the 3,200. Kyle Smith was second in both hurdle events to add in the scoring.

Winside got a win and edged the host Bears for fifth-place honors in the team standings. JaShaun Vyborny continued to show improvement in the triple jump, taking top honors with a winning leap of 40 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Hayden King had the biggest haul for the Wildcats, finishing with three medals. He took third in the 110-meter hurdles and the discus, and added a fifth in the shot put.

LCC's Aaron Hahr had a pair of individual medals, taking second in the 3,200 and third in the 1,600. He was also on the Bears' third-place team in the 3,200 relay. Jordan Jansen tied for third in the 300 hurdles and Malik Knox was fourth in the long jump.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes

The circle filled by Mark Ahmann's voice

I can't remember where I first read it, but I remember someone writing about how life is like a circle, and that many times you will come back around to something that you experienced earlier in your life.

When I was a young lad living in Cozad, Nebraska, I took an interest in sports pretty early in life. I was collecting baseball cards before my eighth birthday and was already reading the baseball boxscores and the football stats in the Sunday World-Herald religiously. I couldn't tell my parents what my homework assignments were, but I could rattle off how many points Pete Maravich scored or who won the Notre Dame-USC game like I personally attended those events.

One of my earliest rituals came on Friday nights during the high school football and basketball seasons. I had to get caught up on who beat who and what the scores were from all the games in the state, and there was only one place you could do that from our living room on Little Sioux Lane — the Friday Night Sports Roundup on KOLN/KGIN TV.

The TV station's sports director was a guy by the name of Mark Ahmann, and he'd read off the scores in that strong, authoritative, Midwestern voice, telling us how Gothenburg beat Minden, or Millard (before they split into directional schools) edged Fremont, or Norfolk beat Grand Island. It didn't seem like a score was missing from his report — everybody from the big Class A schools in Lincoln (of which there were only four at the time) on down to the tiny-school matchups between Dix and Brule were part of my Friday nights as a youth, and I always had to beg my parents to let me stay up late to catch all the scores.

Almost 20 years later, I was a young reporter with experience in both print and broadcast journalism and was looking to move on from a small-town newspaper gig, and I saw an ad in the Norfolk paper about a news director position at KTCH in Wayne. I sent my resume, and a few days later received a phone call from none other than Mark Ahmann, who had heard my tape and wanted to talk with me about the position. My then-pregnant wife and I drove to the station, and we probably spent as much time talking about Husker football and Mark's days in Lincoln as we did the job itself. I don't remember if I turned down the opportunity or he decided on going with another applicant, but I drove home that night with a certain sense of awe, that I had actually talked with a guy whose voice and on-air presence was something of an inspiration to me as a youngster, although it would be years before I'd figure out that this was the career path I would choose.

Flash forward another 20 years to my arrival here at The Wayne Herald, and there he is with his wife, Jane, watching a game at the state baseball tournament at Hank Overin Field. I listened to some of his "View From Wayne, America" broadcasts when my work schedule allowed, and on those nights when he was doing play-by-play broadcasts of area football or basketball, I'd try to stay on the road long enough just to listen to him describe the action in gymnasiums and football fields all over northeast Nebraska. Listening to him call a third-and-10 pass play in the middle of a drive on a crisp October evening, I realized that the circle had been completed — here was one of the first media voices of my childhood, now informing and entertaining me as an adult and fellow member of the media community.

Years later, when I wrote my book "Call Me A Survivor," Ahmann called me and asked if I'd be interested in coming on his show to talk about my book and my experience as a survivor of sexual assault. I'm kind of jaded when it comes to being interviewed, since I'm generally on the other end of the transaction in those situations, but it was a genuine thrill for me to be in the studio with him that morning. I'd been interviewed on radio and TV numerous times for my book, but those 20 minutes in the studio with Mark was a moment in time that I'll always be grateful for.

I know that the last few years were tough on Ahmann because of his failing health. The last time I saw him in front of a microphone was during one of the Legislative Forums the Chamber of Commerce puts on, and even though he wasn't in the best of health physically, that voice of his still commanded the room's respect and undivided attention.

Ahmann and the microphone were a positive force in our lives for more than six decades, from the legendary Notre Dame-Michigan State football classic back in 1966 to something as local as a preview of the Wayne County Fair on KTCH. He was a presence at sporting events around the region for far longer than many of us have been alive, and his passing this past week leaves a void that nobody in today's media community can even begin to fill.

Mark Ahmann was Wayne's Citizen of the Year in 2001 and is in the Nebraska Broadcasters Hall of Fame. His voice graced the Nebraska airwaves for more than six decades.

Capitol View

Is the 104th session over yet?

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The 104th Legislature is over, but the malady lingers on.

The things left undone in the short (60-day) Second Session were the big story. The major issues: corrections; health care for needy Nebraskans; and tax reform were not resolved. There were no cures. At best, this group of lawmakers managed to put some Band-Aids on the issues. The prevailing attitude — not uncommon in an election year — was "let's deal with it next year."

So, in a nutshell, here's what did — or didn't — happen.

Appropriations/Budget: The Appropriations Committee presented Governor Pete Ricketts with a budget that survived without any line-item vetoes. Ricketts made it clear there were some areas that almost got the red pen, but settled for dealing with those next year. He said balancing the budget and holding the line on spending this session were two of his top priorities, because the state was facing a $124 million shortfall due to slow growth in tax receipts. He said he was happy to report that we have, for the second year in a row, balanced the budget, constrained spending, and set important spending priorities while addressing the budget shortfall.

Corrections: Ricketts touted the $26 million lawmakers approved to expand community corrections facilities and reentry programming in Lincoln. This investment is the next step in reforming corrections, and ensuring that we reduce the number of repeat offenders in our state's prisons.

Sorry, Governor, there's more to it than bricks and mortar and reentry programming. Underpaid/overworked staff in an unsafe work environment (four attacks by inmates against employees system-wide at this writing) is something that needs to be addressed. Then there's the overcrowding and alternative sentencing that could directly address that issue.

The one bright light was the passage of Gothenburg Sen. Matt Williams' LB919 that directs the state court system to create a variety of problem solving courts, including drug, veterans, mental health, driving under the influence and reentry. The Judiciary Committee noted that such courts - based on experience with a statewide system of drug courts - are effective in reducing recidivism of persons who participate in and complete such courts.

Health: For the fourth consecutive year, lawmakers said no to attempts to provide health insurance for the state's working poor using federal funds that are due to the state. Despite a bi-partisan effort, the governor and his handful of crickets managed to convince the Legislature that such a move would simply be expansion of Obamacare. God forbid that any of the more than 70,000 Nebraskans who are working but can't afford health insurance would ever think that the Republican majority would be guilty of supporting a logical solution that might be traced to the opposing party.

The attempt to legalize medical cannabis was defeated despite a series of amendments that would give the state strict control over the distribution and regulation. That move opened the door for a possible ballot initiative, which if successful, could be more open and out of the Legislature's control, and possibly include recreational use of marijuana as well.

Property Taxes: Lawmakers passed a bill that will increase property tax credits for agricultural landowners. The measure, introduced by Revenue Committee Chairman Sen. Mike Gloor of Grand Island on behalf of the governor, grants $234 million in property tax credits for fiscal year 2016-17, a continuation of credits offered last year. Gloor said $20 million of this year's credits would go specifically to agricultural and horticultural landowners.

As amended, the measure grants a concession to community colleges by removing provisions that would have limited the amount of unused restricted funds that community colleges could carry forward from year to year. Strong opposition to keeping that in the bill threatened passage and was dropped. Senator Al Davis of Hyannis said something still needs to be done to rein in spending by community colleges. Gloor said the colleges have promised to evaluate their funding models and report their findings to the Legislature next year.

The Future: Ricketts promised to continue his push for tax relief. He said that constraining spending is the key. He said keeping the rate of growth in government below the rate of growth in tax revenue would allow he and the Legislature to continue work on providing much-needed tax relief for hardworking Nebraskans in the coming years.

That sounds nice, Governor. Just don't let us become another Kansas.

System of Care will be implemented

Providing services and a safety net for the most vulnerable among us is one of the core duties of state government. This is an expression of the pro-life values that underpin our way of life. From our foster care system to behavioral health services, the state deeply invests in the physical, social, and emotional well-being of thousands of Nebraskans every year.

The primary agency that provides services for the most vulnerable Nebraskans is the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). It is no secret that the agency has faced some challenges in the past. Under fresh transformational leadership, however, the department has found a new direction. Last year for the first time, our foster care system met all six federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration.

There is no question it can be confusing and oftentimes challenging for families to access behavioral health services for their children in Nebraska. Old approaches to delivering services have been marked by fragmented service delivery and high rates of out-of-community placements. With the new System of Care, DHHS and its partners will deliver services in a more effective and customer-oriented manner. This new delivery method will eliminate the need for families to navigate multiple systems to find services to meet the needs of their children.

Over the next year, DHHS will be laying the groundwork for the System of Care. The agency will implement a phased work plan, build a database of all behavioral health funding sources, and develop a plan to inform partners, families, and stakeholders about the System of Care goals, common principles, and new infrastructure.

As with many of our initiatives, we will be measuring results to track progress in the System of Care. Within three to five years, DHHS expects to see increases in school attendance, school performance, and the percent of youth and young adults living in home settings. Additionally, they expect to see a decrease in the average age of first contact with our behavioral health system and the cost per youth receiving services.

This is just the beginning. I look forward to sharing more news about the System of Care as DHHS implements it in the coming years. If you have experience or feedback on our mental health services provided by the state, I hope that you will contact my office at (402) 471-2244 or pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov. Your stories help provide insights from the frontline on how services are delivered and inspiration as DHHS continues to improve how they help Nebraskans build better lives. We look forward to hearing from you!

Chair; and Barbara Hayford.

Rotarians in Wisconsin have been sponsoring this week long seminar for 300 promising high school students from around the world since 1972. Listening to internationally respected experts on a chosen topic, students work together to develop public awareness campaigns and propose possible solutions. This year's topic is: Water: A Global Resource to Share and Protect. For more information: www.worldaffairsseminar.org/

Only students who commit to attending the WAS June 25-July 1 were considered for the scholarship awards.

The Wayne Rotary Club has committed to sponsor two students a year to be awarded at the NJAS Science Fair held annually at WSC. This was the second year for the sponsorship. Since last year's awardee was unable to attend, the club had credit to offer three scholarships. The award is for $500 of the $680 cost to attend the seminar.

Camp Invention coming to Wayne

Camp Invention, the nation's premier summer enrichment day camp program, supported by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) and a product of the National Inventors Hall of Fame (NIHF), is coming to Wayne Elementary School the week of June 6.

For students entering grades one through six, Camp Invention is a weeklong adventure that will turn the summer from ordinary to extraordinary through hands-on problem solving, using science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM).

Camp Invention provides an opportunity for inventive young minds to exercise their creativity and use their imagination in ways they don't normally get to in the classroom. Program participants do not realize they are learning and developing new skills as they build prototypes, take things apart, explore different types of technology and so much more.

This year's Camp Invention curriculum is called Epic, inspired by some of the nation's most brilliant minds including experienced educators, Inductees of the National Inventors Hall of Fame and developed in partnership with the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Epic features hands-on modules like CrickoBot, where campers construct and personalize a DIY solar-powered cricket and a unique habitat; Epic Park, where campers work in teams to design an eco-adventure park; I Can Invent: Maker Studio, where campers brainstorm product ideas and build original prototypes using real tools and components found in everyday devices; and The Lab: Where Pigs Fly, where children can discover the science of slime, demolition, electronic sound, giant squid and coding. Learn more about this year's curriculum here.

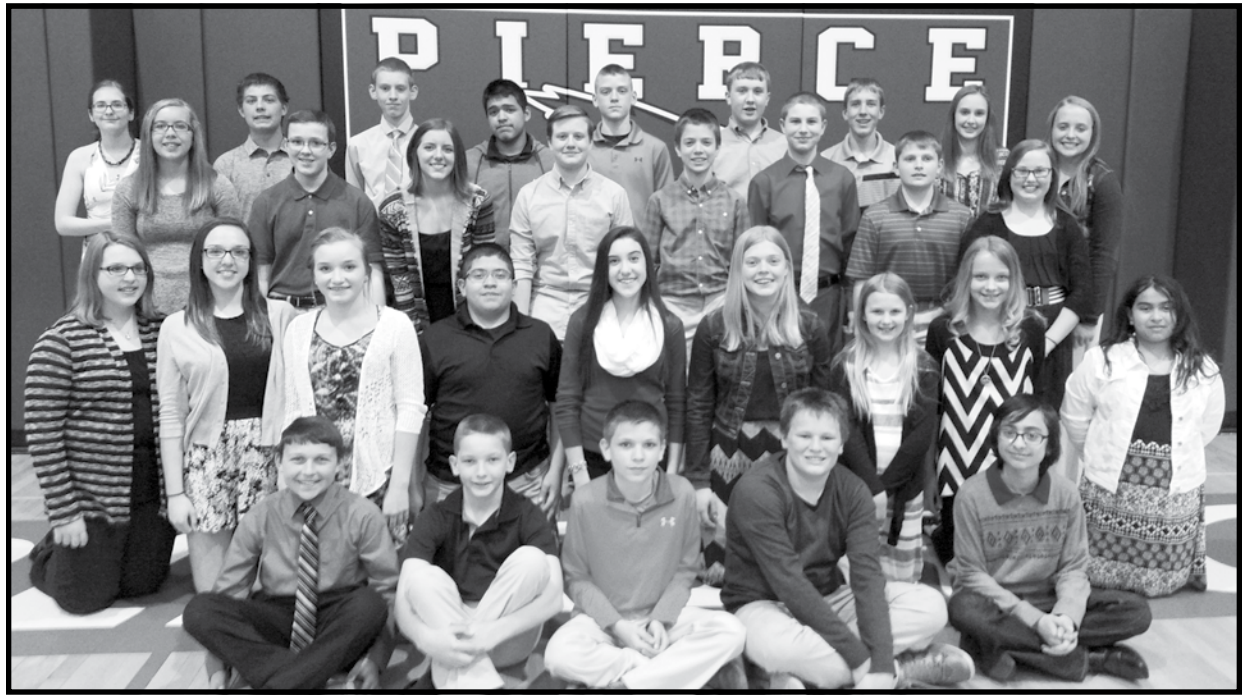

Local programs are facilitated and taught by educators who live and teach in the community.

Wayne students in Pierce Honor Band

On April 9, 32 students from the sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth grades represented Wayne Community Schools at the annual Pierce Honor Band.

Students were selected to participate based on audition. Many northeast Nebraska schools participate in the event, which becomes increasingly more competitive every year.

The event hosted two bands: a sixth and seventh-grade band, and an eighth and ninth-grade band. Selected students spent the day rehearsing challenging music by renowned composers with other area individuals. A public concert was presented later in the day.

Emergency office munchies are tasty Birthdays

Sometimes an unexpected crisis or meeting at work consumes our lunchtime. Or we forget a sack lunch in our hurry to get out the door. Having some well-packaged back-up foods tucked away in a briefcase, handbag or backpack can help keep us from missing a meal or tide us over until we have a chance to eat. It also can help us avoid hitting the vending machines, scouting for well-filled candy jars or scavenging the break room table.

Think twice, however, before stocking a grocery store in your office drawer. Food storage may attract pests to your work area. Crumbs may attract additional bacteria. If you share a work space with someone, some cold and flu viruses can survive on surfaces for up to 72 hours.

Higher building temperatures when offices are closed also may contribute to food spoilage in a desk drawer. If you do eat at your desk, it's a good idea to periodically clean your desk top with a disinfecting wipe. If you do store food in your desk drawer, plan to keep a limited stock of foods. You'll have fewer problems if you opt for individually wrapped, single serving portions. If your office gets hot when your work facility is closed, be aware food loses quality and deteriorates faster when stored at higher temperatures.

That's why you may be better off carrying a small amount of emergency munchies in a briefcase, handbag or backpack. As with a desk drawer, it's better to carry single servings of shelf-stable foods. A banana stored in a handbag left in a warm car over the weekend can be bad news! Perishable foods such as yogurt; cut fruit and vegetables; and cheese should remain at room temperature no longer than 2 hours without refrigeration.

If you purchased a food from a refrigerated section at the store, you should keep it in the refrigerator at work or home and not in a briefcase, handbag or backpack.

Foods that include protein and fiber will be the most filling. Nuts, trail mix, protein bars and popcorn are a few examples.

- Here are some additional tips:
- Check for lower sodium and lower sugar versions of foods.
  - Buy foods including some whole grains when there is no other source of fiber (i.e. fruit, nuts and seeds).
  - Save money by buying a larger package of foods such as nuts. Carry a single serving in a smaller container or snack-size, zip-top plastic.

Minerva Club meets April 11

Mary Ann DeNaeyer hosted Minerva Club at the Wayne Senior Center on April 11.

Eleven members answered roll call by reading a statement about Arkansas prepared by program presenter DeNaeyer. President Joyce Mitchell presented three readings: humorous-"New Mercedes"; memories-"Words and Phrases That Remind Us of the Way We Word" and inspirational-"Phenomenal Women" written by Maya Angelou. Minutes were read and approved. Mary Ann DeNaeyer handed out the updated Courtesy guidelines.

Historian Hollie Frese showed members the "Wayne Community Cook Book" published in 1920 and edited by Mrs. Henry Ley. The cook book had a beginning passage about how important it was to patronize advertisers in the cook book. The advertisements had a style of the 1920s. Attention was drawn to recipes because no time or temperature for baking was given due to the use of the cookstove.

Election of officers was held. Because there were no nominations from the floor, members voted that a unanimous ballot be cast. Officers for the 2016-2017 year are as follows: Phyllis Rahn-president; MaryAnn DeNaeyer-vice president; Fauneil Bennett-secretary; Donna Hansen-treasurer; Hollie Frese-historian; Marian Clark and Connie Webber-courtesy committee.

The May 9 meeting will be at the home of Susan Boust with Jessica Olson catering a noon meal consisting of baked chicken, roasted vegetable variety, lettuce salad, dinner roll, and assorted dessert tarts. Money will be collected from each member at the next meeting to cover the costs of the meal and tip. President Mitchell thanked the committee of Phyllis Rahn, Susan Boust and Mary Ann DeNaeyer for organizing this event.

Two possible ideas were presented as program ideas to observe the club's 120th anniversary during the 2016-2017 club year. Members voted that the study of the states would be suspended for one year so these ideas can be carried out as programs. The officers, Marian Clark and Susan Boust, will meet to put these two ideas into motion.

The meeting was adjourned and Mary Ann DeNaeyer presented her program about the state of Arkansas.

Arkansas is the 29th largest state in square miles and the 33rd in population. It is divided almost equally into the highlands in the Northwest and the lowlands in the southwest. The highlands include the Ozarks, widely regarded as one of the most beautiful areas in the U.S. Arkansas has a warm, humid climate with an average temperature of 82 degrees.

Arkansas was the 25th state to be admitted to the Union on June 15, 1836. The state was divided on the issue of slavery and even after the Civil War, African Americans were denied basic rights. Arkansas was restored to the Union in June 1868. It took a hard fought civil rights movement in the late 1950's and 1960's to give African Americans the right to vote and to receive quality education.

The earliest industries were fur trading and agriculture. Today Arkansas is the United States largest producer of rice, broilers, and turkeys. It ranks in the top 3 states for cotton, pullets, and catfish. Tourism is very important to the economy.

Tyson.

There are six Fortune 500 companies in Arkansas. Two of them are Wal-Mart and

In spite of the so called "hillbilly" aspects in their culture, history and art museums abound. Music and literature festivals are popular. Interest in sports such as football and baseball is high. The love of fishing and hunting runs deep.

Arkansas is ranked as one of the least healthy states due to high obesity, smoking, and a sedentary lifestyle.

In summary, Arkansas is part Wild West, part Old South, and part hill country.

Recognize that God gives blessings

Blessed be the Lord who daily loads us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Psalm 68:19

I have always loved reading this verse in Psalm 68 – it's loaded with such wonderful promise for us and for the people who were around at the time that it was written.

Those folks, the people of Israel, had endured so many afflictions – they were oppressed, they felt helpless, debauchery and sin were considered just a part of living. When they gathered for worship they read from the Psalms which are many and varied – some were used to lament to God about their current conditions.

On the flip side, some of the psalms were used to give God praise and adoration. All of them however convey a sense of complete dependence on God.

A Word In Faith
By Jeanne Madsen
Pastor, Our Savior Lutheran Church

They had found their spiritual balance – they knew that life can often get us down but they also knew that God loved them regardless.

In all of their good times, and in their bad times, the people knew that God blessed them and cared for them. Psalm 68:19 conveys this – the people recognized that God walked with them daily in all their joys and sorrows and for this they gave God thanks and praise.

Often, when our own lives are filled with hurt and pain, we fail to recognize God's blessings around us. We tend to focus on our pain, on our failures, on all the negatives in our lives and let these things get us down to where we feel despondent. There are times when we don't or can't see any positives at all in our circumstances.

However, it is precisely during those times that we need to take time to recognize that God always gives blessings even though we don't always see them.

I encourage you to deliberately go out of your way to find things to be thankful and grateful for every single day remembering that God always gives us multiple blessings. We certainly need to face life's difficulties, we can't sweep them under the rug and look at life through rose colored glasses, but the difficulties do not need to be our primary focus.

Remember our ancestors of Israel and attempt to find your spiritual balance between your laments and your gratitude.

Winside United Methodist Church holds Guest Day

Winside United Methodist Church held a "Spring Guest Day" on April 9 with approximately 50 guests attending from 15 congregations in the area.

The event was a combination of an educational/fund raiser for the "Kids Back Pack" program as well as a Hospitality Day.

Georgia Janssen started the afternoon with an ice breaker of "what's popping" or "what's sweet" in your church or community.

Jennifer Hammer of Wayne then began the educational portion of the program by defining the Kids Back Pack Program. It began in Wayne in 2013 to help assist families whose children many experience a food scarcity on the weekends. Letters are sent out to all families in the school system inviting them to participate and those responding receive the benefit. Only the school knows which families receive then.

Bags are packed by volunteers from the community on a weekly basis. Each bag contains two breakfasts (such as oatmeal or cereal box or a granola bar), two lunch (a can of soup or an easy mac/cheese), two servings of fruit (one preserved and one fresh) and two snacks (pudding or cheese/crackers).

It is the group's hope these resources will support the health, behavior, and achievement of every student participating. This program is completely sponsored by donations. Help also comes from the local grocery stores who let the group purchase food in bulk at their cost. Wayne currently packs 90-100 bags weekly for elementary students and 5-10 bags for the high school.

Winside volunteers Mary Jensen and Pat Janke discussed the program started in Winside in January 2016, relieving Wayne from doing it. Winside bags between 13-16 per week and they are delivered to the school for distribution. Helping with this program at St. Paul's Lutheran Church also is Claire Brogren and Carol Jorgensen. Mary and Pat had a visual display of items they might pack. They are discussing the possibility of doing the program also during the summer months and/or housing a food pantry in Winside.

Many of the guests attending donated food items or gave cash towards the program. Items were also purchased with funds from Thrivent Financial.

Entertainment for the afternoon was provided by Mike and Julie Couch of Norfolk. They sang and played Christian country as well as patriotic songs and used lots of good humor. They also sang "Something Beautiful" closing the day with a circle of hands and guest participation. Hospitality chairman Dianne Jaeger gave a closing prayer.

A dessert and fresh fruit luncheon was held. Decorations of plotted plants were drawn for door prizes and went to Lois Rasmussen, Randolph; Mary Ann Urwiler, Laurel; Velma Carstens, Pilger; Marlene Dahlkoetter, Carroll; and from Winside - Tricia North, Bev Voss, DeLona Marotz, Carol Jorgensen, Ella Mae Cleveland and Mary Jensen.

Other guests came from the communities of Stanton, Norfolk, Wayne, Wakefield and Wisner

The Winside United Methodist Church hospitality committee members organizing the event were Georgia Janssen, Kathy Jensen, Donna Edwards, Helen Hancock, and Dianne Jaeger.

Our Savior Joy Circle conducts April meeting

Our Savior Lutheran Church's Joy Circle met April 13. President Phyllis Rahn welcomed everyone and made announcements.

She gave highlights from the Spring Gathering at Thabor Lutheran in Wausa. The new coordinator is Trisha Peters. Diane Ehrhardt will serve on the Executive Board, and Vera Longe will serve on the Nominating Committee.

Dorothy Wert gave the devotions based on an article entitled, "Dinner with God" which talked about how we, no matter our age, experience new things in life. As we go through life, hopefully, we help brighten someone's day.

For example, there was a little boy who wanted to meet God. After packing his suitcase with some bars and root beer, he started on his journey. After going a short way, he met an old woman to whom he offered some of his food and drink making her smile. After spending the day together, each went to his home. The boy's mother noticed his joy upon his return and asked him what made him so happy. He said he had had lunch with God, and He had the most beautiful smile. The old woman's son noticed the look of peace on her face when she returned home and asked her what made her so happy. She replied that she ate bars in the park with God.

For the program, the group made cards which will be sent to congregational members throughout the year. Often we do not realize the power of a smile, a kind word, or even a small act of sending a card. Like the woman and the boy, they came into each other's lives for a special reason. Have lunch with God.

The next meeting will be May 11 with Thelma Moeller giving the program on Pentecost and Virginia Backstrom hosting.

LENRD approves flow meters on area wells

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) Board of Directors approved changes to its Groundwater Management Area rules and regulations that now require LENRD approved flow meters on all active irrigation wells within the district by Jan. 1, 2018. The LENRD has approved five flow meters for installation.

The LENRD does promote technology as a tool to help with water efficiency. The flow meters, in conjunction with technology, provide a complete package that also accounts for water management. Technology alone does not provide the management component needed for a limited resource like water. During times of prolonged drought, soil moisture probes will continually tell you to apply water, even after the aquifer that is the source of the water is depleted. In 2012, these very conditions existed causing district-wide problems with water shortages. LENRD General Manager Mike Sousek, said, "The meter may not be the best tool for efficiency, but it's the only tool that measures water accurately. These measurements can be used to defend the district from outside pressures downstream, or can be used in allocations when the water resource must be shared and shared alike."

The aquifer system in northeast Nebraska has shown a propensity to recover from seasonal demands. Static water levels do return to pre-development levels in the spring of most years. However, the district has seen that over periods of time dealing with continued drought (such as from 2002 to 2006), the aquifer system does not return to predevelopment levels but rather starts a downward trend suggesting mining of water is occurring. For this resource to be around for future generations, proper management frameworks must be in place to counteract water mining and to protect the very geology that allows for the storage of water.

LENRD Water Resources Manager, Brian Bruckner, said, "In-season declines and their negative impacts to all groundwater users are something that can never be represented or predicted by only looking at static water levels. A spike in water use, and the overlapping cones of depression that can develop after prolonged pumping, caused in-season shortages to occur during 2012, even in areas where water levels had recorded all-time record highs in the spring of 2010. Spring water levels are a necessity and a valuable resource for the district."

Installing meters ensures everyone's water usage is measured accurately and equitably. This will protect all groundwater users the next time we have a shortage of water.

LENRD board member, Joel Hansen of Wayne, said, "A water meter doesn't vary depending upon well pressure. It leaves no legal avenue to challenge a regulation on how much water is pumped because it measures exactly what passed through the pipe over a given period of time. As we continue to develop this precious resource those given the responsibility by the State of Nebraska to manage groundwater, the NRDs, need to be prepared to ensure everyone has the ability to flush their toilet, bathe in their own house, and drink their own water. The Groundwater Ethic must be more than just words and good intentions. The cost of using that groundwater must include the costs to share it."

LENRD Board Chairman, Danny Kluthe of Dodge, added, "The meters are a management tool for drought years, they allow continued expansion of irrigated acres, and they provide hard data to defend the district from outside influences who do not have the interest of northeast Nebraska in mind. Which is why local control is so important."

He continued, "We can continue to highlight the differences between efficiency and management. While efficiency is important, the responsibility of the district is to manage groundwater."

"The NRDs have been keeping Nebraska local since 1972," Sousek continued, "The locally-led districts play a vital role in the checks and balances of water regulation in our state. We take that responsibility seriously and are diligent in making sure our water resources and all natural resources are used wisely and are protected for future use by generations of Nebraskans." He said, "The NRDs have been very effective in protecting the lives and property of our constituents and the future of our natural resources that are so important to the quality of life we enjoy in Nebraska."

Spring projects, birth of triplets make for busy week

Because of the hail last fall, all of the roofs in the neighborhood are being replaced. A lot were done yet last fall, but most of us believe it should be fairly warm when laying roofs. They are finally at the house to our right, so the Big Farmer has a great view from his chair at the kitchen table.

These crews are masters of their craft! They walk sure footedly on the slopes, the old comes off in no time, and then the tar paper, and then, the new stuff. They start early, and work late, each duplex is finished in no time.

Redbud trees all over Lincoln have been spectacular this spring. We have one west of the window over the kitchen sink, and have been enjoying it. But I've decided these trees like to grow in their own way, not conforming to any shape, with many branches going in all directions. Plus, thanks to the ice earlier this year, we have lots of broken branches and dead ones. We are going to have to break down and call the tree trimmer folks.

The other thing over the kitchen sink is an orchid I received for Christmas. I've never had one before, and have been amazed at how they bloom and grow. The blooms last a long time, too.

The big news in our family this week has been the birth of triplet boys to our great niece in Omaha! She has twin uncles, and another cousin in New York State has triplet grandchildren, but this was quite the event for this family.

By: Pat Meierhenry

At 29 weeks, the weights were two over three pounds, and the lightest, just over two. But that is not bad, and so far, there are no serious lung issues. But I did send a general alarm to our church prayer group, not just for the health of these guys, but for stamina for the parents and grandparents! This first year will be a challenge, for sure.

Meanwhile, friend Clange in Houston has flood waters in her back yard again. I guess that's better than an earthquake, right? Nature still has the last word.

State veterinarian says biosecurity a priority

Three cases of the Equine Herpes Myeloencephalopathy (EHM) have been confirmed at Fonner Park in Grand Island resulting in State Veterinarian Dr. Dennis Hughes calling for horse owners to use best biosecurity practices. Samples were collected and sent to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa, where the disease was confirmed. One of the affected horses was euthanized on site while the other two have been isolated on the premises.

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture in cooperation with Fonner Park management has quarantined the horses located at Fonner Park. Horses located in the Red Barn (where the affected horses were stabled) will not be allowed to race at present time. Racing will continue at Fonner Park with the horses located in the other barns on the premises.

EHM is the neurological form of Equine Herpes Virus (EHV-1). Cases of the diseases have been confirmed at several locations around the country, many of them at horse race tracks or events where horses are co-mingled.

"It is of utmost importance that horse owners and facility managers take appropriate precautions to prevent the spread of this disease," said Dr. Hughes. "Vigilance is especially important in situations where horses can come into contact with each other. There can be a high susceptibility to the disease where we have horses co-mingling from different regions or states."

The disease is spread through direct or indirect contact with infected horses, so Dr. Hughes encourages operators of horse shows and exhibitions to review their biosecurity plans and minimize the opportunity for horses to have direct or indirect contact with each other. Indirect contact includes the use of shared water and feed sources, as well as the use of shared equipment. In addition, Dr. Hughes said he recommends horse owners planning to travel to shows and exhibitions contact the venue prior to transporting their horses to inquire about entrance requirements.

Biosecurity measures horse owners should take at their own operations include requiring individuals to wash their hands before and after contact with each horse, disinfecting boots and changing clothes that come into contact with horses other than their own.

"If possible, horse owners should avoid contact with other people's horses, and isolate horses returning from shows or exhibitions for 3 to 4 weeks," said Dr. Hughes. "Owners who will be co-mingling their horses also should consider contacting their veterinarian to discuss their horses' current vaccination status and weigh the benefits of vaccination."

EHM symptoms include: fever, decreased coordination, nasal discharge, urine dribbling, loss of tail tone, hind limb weakness, leaning against a wall or fence to maintain balance, lethargy and the inability to rise. While there is no cure, the symptoms of the disease may be treatable. Additional information can be viewed at www.nda.nebraska.gov/animal/diseases/ehv/index.html

National Prescription Drug Take-Back Day upcoming

The United States is in the midst of an epidemic. In 2014, more people died from drug overdoses than in any other year on record. The majority of those deaths were from prescription opioid pain medications. Nearly half a million people have died since 2000 from a drug overdose. What can you do to help?

The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) has announced that the National Prescription Take-Back Day will be Saturday, April 30 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The take-back day provides a safe, convenient, and responsible means of disposing of prescription drugs, while also educating the public about the potential for abuse of medications.

There will be over 5,000 collection sites in communities across the nation so local residents can return their unused, unwanted, unneeded or expired prescription drugs for safe disposal. Over the past 10 years Americans have turned in over 4.8 million pounds of prescription medications at these events.

It is important to get rid of old and outdated medicines as soon as you don't need them anymore. Some medications can become dangerous or ineffective over time. Other medicines can be abused by someone searching through a medicine stock.

On the National Prescription Take-Back Day communities will be sponsoring take back sites. There are also pharmacies that will take medications all year round. Call 1-800-222-1222 and poison center nurses will be able to answer all questions and help consumer quickly locate the nearest take-back site.

Now is the time to prune raspberries, grapes

We are still in pruning season but a little late for shade trees and fruit trees. You can still get at summer blooming shrubs, grapes and raspberries. It is also a good time to prune evergreens like Japanese yew, Junipers, Arborvitae, and spruce. Wait to prune pines until they begin to grow, called candling, typically in late May or early June. Roses can be pruned now if you haven't already.

When pruning, use sharp pruning tools, make correct cuts, and avoid over pruning which stresses plants and leads to sucker growth. The exception is when renovating overgrown, multi-stemmed shrubs. To do this, the shrubs are severely pruned to about one foot tall in February or March.

When it comes to fruiting plants, like grapes and raspberries, it is important to understand on what age wood fruit is produced for each crop or cultivar. All grapes produce fruit only on new growth that occurs each spring from buds on one year old canes or last years' new growth. This is why grapes are pruned severely each spring if they are grown for fruit production.

Due to this fruiting habit, most grapes are trained to a specific system. If interested in producing good yields of quality grapes, learn more about grape training systems. One resource to use is Missouri Extensions Home Fruit Production: Grape Training Systems at extension.missouri.edu/pg6090.

Understand that while grapes need severe pruning each spring, this does not mean cutting them close to the ground as is done with some other vines and for shrub renovation. If this were done, one year canes from which shoots that produce fruit grow would be removed. How and when to prune raspberries depends on what type and cultivar of raspberry you have. The roots and crowns of all raspberries live from year to year. The canes or stems can live for up to two years. Red raspberries are divided into two groups, summer-bearing and fall-bearing. Summer-bearing plants produce one large crop of fruit in early summer on second year canes.

Fall-bearing plants, sometimes called everbearing raspberries, produce a small crop of fruits in summer on the lower portion of one-year old canes and then a larger crop in late summer on current year canes. Many growers manage fall-bearing raspberries to produce only one large fall crop. To do this, simply prune all canes of fall-bearing raspberries back to three to four inches tall each March.

For summer-bearing raspberries, pruning at this time of year consists of removing only the canes that produced fruit last summer since these canes are dead. If these fruiting canes were removed after harvest last summer; no pruning may be needed at this time of year on summer-bearing plants.

For summer-bearing plants, leave the one year old canes on which fruit will be produced this year. If the patch is quite dense, a few of the one year old canes could be removed now to thin the patch. This allows for better light penetration and air movement.

See Missouri's Pruning Raspberries, Blackberries, Gooseberries, Currants and Elderberries at extension.missouri.edu/pg6000 for more pruning information.

CITY NOTICE

The Wayne Public Works Department wants to remind all residents that blowing lawn mower clippings into the street is prohibited and is a violation of City Code, Section 78-237. These grass clippings and other such debris left on the street will travel to the storm sewer inlet and can block them. The blocking of the inlets can cause local flooding from storm water accumulation.

Because the water from the storm sewers runs into Logan Creek, the grass clippings can negatively affect the creek with the chemical content in the grass from lawns that have been fertilized and treated with weed killer.

When mowing, please mow the first few rounds so that the grass blows in towards the lawn and when finished, sweep up the grass that has been thrown into the street.

We thank you for your cooperation during this mowing season.

Todd Hoeman, Street Supervisor
