If you've been waiting for the Department of Roads to make any efforts on a possible expressway of Highway 35 between Norfolk and South Sioux City, your wait is about to get a little longer.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council, city officials discussed a recent series of regional meetings held by the Nebraska Department of Roads, geared toward receiving input on how to distribute road construction funds under the Build Nebraska Act.

City administrator Lowell Johnson, Wayne street superintendent Joel Hansen, Wayne Area Chamber executive director Wes Blecke and Steve Rames of McLaury Engineering reported to the council on what they learned from the recent regional meetings, and one constant was gleaned from the meetings - Highway 35 isn't on anybody's radar right now.

"The consensus from the different groups, based on public feedback, was that finishing the (Highway) 275 expressway from Norfolk to Omaha was the top priority," Hansen said.

Those in attendance were split up into groups that looked at several main highways in northeast Nebraska, including Highways 15, 35, 275 and 81, with economic benefits factoring in the discussion. Groups were asked to prioritize projects with spending estimates of $200 million and $500 million to determine which projects they felt were most important to complete at this time, and Highway 275 was by far the most popular choice.

Hansen said he was the only one in his group who chose Highway 35, and Blecke said three people in his group voted for the highway running through Wayne County between Norfolk and South Sioux City.

"Everybody was putting their dots on 275, so I put mine on 35 and 15," Rames joked.

Hansen said there was considerable discussion about the inclusion of bypasses along Highway 275, particularly in communities like West Point, whose mayor was in Rames' group.

"We had the West Point mayor in our group, and their view was that we really didn't need to spend the additional money to bypass around West Point, that it was more important to get the expressway finished," Rames said.

Hansen said the hearing he attended had a significant Norfolk influence, with about 50 Nucor employees in attendance.

"A lot of the people who were there were Nucor employees and others from around Northeast Nebraska, so (35 and 15) didn't get a lot of play," Hansen said, noting that there was also discussion about completing the four-lane expressway on Highway 81 between Norfolk and Yankton and also between Columbus and York.

Blecke said that everybody in attendance agreed that, with the number of projects that are in various states of completion, they would just like to see one project finished.

"I think we're tired of seeing segments all over the place where you have expressways in different places," he said. "I think that if we get 275 completed, there might be a push from those supporting that to help us out with Highway 35."

Blecke added that getting the 275 expressway completed would help him be able to better market Wayne to businesses looking to

94TH WAYNE COUNTY FAIR COMES NEXT WEEK

Whether it's the demolition derby, the rodeo clown or the variety of 4-H exhibits on display, there is plenty of fun waiting for area fair-goers as the 94th edition of the Wayne County Fair kicks off next week at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

Organizers ready for County Fair

The 94th annual Wayne County Fair is right around the corner and Wayne County Ag Society members and other volunteers can be found at the fairgrounds making sure the event goes smoothly.

This year's fair gets underway on Wednesday, July 27 and continues through Sunday, July 31.

Although no major projects have been undertaken at the fairgrounds this year, fairboard members and others have put in countless hours cleaning buildings and the grounds and making sure all is ready for the five day event.

This year's fair will include a number of familiar events and several new attractions. In addition, there will be some shifting of the days when events will be held.

The majority of items will be entered on Wednesday, July 27 and entry into the fairgrounds that day will be free.

The evening will conclude with a retirement of unserviceable flags ceremony at 7:45 p.m. and gospel music by Kristina Craig at 8 p.m. in the grandstand.

Thursday's schedule includes the traditional 4-H Horse Show, Bucket Calf Show, Dairy Show, Goat Show and Sheep Show.

Thursday's grandstand entertainment will be Ultimate Bullriding Tour and LJ Jenkins Invitational Bullriding Tour beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Judging of 4-H swine, feeder calves, breeding and market beef will take place on Friday, July 31, as will the annual 4-H Fashion Show.

One of the more popular attractions will be back again this year as Wildlife Encounters will be on the fairgrounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday for two presentations each day.

Also on tap will be the 54th annual barbecue, beginning at 6 p.m.

Announcement of the Fair Person of the Year, Farm Bureau Awards and Oldest Active Farmer will take place beginning at 6:45 p.m.

The Lucas Oil PPL/Nebraska Bush Pullers Tractor Pull will begin at 7 p.m. in the Grandstand.

Entertainment will also take place in the Beer Garden and a Teen Dance will be

County board looks at building security

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A recent request to use the courtroom at the county courthouse for a scene in an independent movie left the county's security committee with some unanswered questions that they discussed at Tuesday's Wayne County Commissioners meeting.

At their previous meeting, Winside native Tanner Schwedhelm approached the board, seeking permission to use the courthouse for a courtroom drama movie project. He is working with another director on a movie called "Obeisance, Part 1," and said the county's courtroom fits the movie, which is based on a story taking place in the 1930's and 1960's.

County Sheriff Jason Dwinell reported on behalf of the committee, and said there were still a number of questions and concerns that they felt needed answers.

"In all honesty, the more we discussed it, it created more questions and more problems and it's leading to more research," he said.

Dwinell said that the courthouse has a number of unsecured doors that have not presented a problem in the past, but the committee would like to see those issues addressed.

"It's never been a problem before, but we'd like to address it before it becomes one," he said. "This room (the commissioners' meeting room) for example, a member of the public could walk in here any time of day and nobody would know it."

"Are we looking at the whole courthouse?" board member Dean Burbach asked.

"It doesn't make sense to limit security to one office or one floor, so we would be looking at the whole building," Dwinell said, adding that he would like to talk with every department in the courthouse to make sure all authorized employees would be covered."

Commissioner chairman Randy Larsen said the committee has kicked around a number of ideas, "but we aren't ready to present a direct route yet. We'd like to start with some places that people are aware of to show that we're moving to a more secure environment."

Cost is the major hurdle, Dwinell said, but there were a number of simple things that could be done in the meantime.

"We don't have to go whole hog and have roaming armed guards and drones flying around the perimeter. Just some things like making sure doors are locked," he said. Security is very important, and this is a difficult building (to secure) because of its age and how it's built."

The county board also heard from Wayne City Librarian Lauren Lofgren, who presented budget requests for the three county libraries for the 2016-17 fiscal year. Lofgren said there was no change in the libraries' asking of $13,000, with half going to Wayne, $4,250 to Winside and $2,250 to Carroll.

"We're putting forward the same request for 2016-17," she told the board. "I think it's been a great partnership for us, and I hope

Jorgensen withdraws from school board race

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A current member of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education has pulled his name from the Nov. 8 general election.

Ken Jorgensen announced last week that he is no longer a candidate for one of the three available seats on the board. Wayne County Clerk Deb Finn confirmed that Jorgensen withdrew his name from the ballot, leaving five candidates for the three positions that will be filled this fall.

Jorgensen told The Wayne Herald that he has always put kids first during his 7 1/2 years on the board, but has come to a point where he has too many things going on to be able to devote the time needed to be a good representative on the Wayne school board.

"When you get so busy that you don't know which way to turn and you start losing your passion, when that happens it's time for somebody else to take over," Jorgensen said in a phone interview Thursday afternoon. "I still feel that the most important thing in my life are my kids, and the second most important thing are your kids, but when I don't have the time to keep that passion alive, then it's definitely time for somebody else (to step in)."

Jorgensen said he will finish the final four months of his second term on the board and said he will have the same conviction that he's brought to the board during his two terms and leave feeling proud of what the school board has accomplished during those eight years.

"I've loved what we have done the past eight years and am proud to be associated with everybody up there," Jorgensen said. "We've come a long way in eight years, and it's time for somebody to step up who has the same passion I've had for our kids. There's only one reason to run for this position, and that's the kids. If you're not there for the kids, then that's the wrong reason to be on the board."

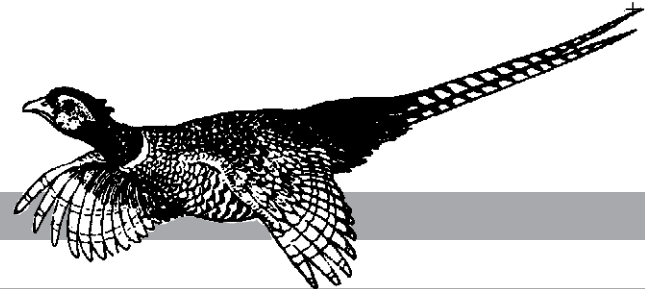

Jorgensen's departure leaves Wendy Consoli as the only incumbent running for the three seats. Other candidates for the three seats include Lynn Lunck, Mark Putnam, Jamie Manz and Casey Hurner.

Eugene Muir

Eugene Edwin Muir, 83, of Rippey, Iowa, died July 11, 2016. Services were held Monday, July 18 at United Methodist Church in Rippey, Iowa. The Rev. Paul Burrow officiated. Burial was at the Rippey Cemetery, Rippey, Iowa where the military rites were under the direction of the Kinkead-Martin American Legion Post #583 and Iowa Army National Guard Funeral Honors.

Eugene Edwin Muir, the son of Thomas Alexander Muir and Lena Root Muir, was born Aug. 23, 1932 on his parents' farm one mile east of their present farm home. Gene graduated from Rippey High School in 1951. On Oct. 11, 1952, Gene married Iva Jo Dagit at the Methodist Church in Paton. They were blessed with three children Steve, Cheri, and Curt. Soon after the couple's marriage, Gene was drafted and entered the U.S. Army March 17, 1953 in Des Moines. He was honorably discharged with the rank of Corporal on March 16, 1955 at Fort Belvoir, Va. Gene then served eight years in the reserves. Gene was always a farmer, working hard in his fields as well as raising Angus Cattle—later Simmental Cattle with son Curt, and had raised many hogs from farrow to finish. During those years, he also did custom work, including anhydrous application, baling, and combining. In earlier years he worked at the Stevens Sale Barn and during the 80's, Gene worked for Pilkington Implement in Granger. He loved his family very much and he spent as many hours with his grandchildren as he possibly could. It wasn't all work in Gene and Iva Jo's lives. They square danced for many years and had genuine friendships at home and away. For 18 years, Gene and Iva Jo trekked to Arizona, first with their fifth wheel RV and later they enjoyed a mobile home. Gene, being a people person, easily made wonderful friends. He enjoyed cards, dominoes, shuffleboard, hiking in the mountains of Arizona. He was a great photographer.

Survivors include his wife Iva Jo; children: Steven Muir (Trudy) of Wayne, Neb., Cheri Kersey of Grand Junction, Iowa; Curt Muir (Kelley) of Rippey, Iowa; grandchildren Nicholas Muir (Kristine), Molly D'Agosta (Anthony), Travis Kersey (fiancée Laura Tronchetti), Rachel Vogel (Adam), C.J. Muir and Kayla Muir; five great-grandchildren; brothers-in-law, Lloyd (Gloria) Dagit and Raymond (Charlotte) Dagit; nieces, nephews, and many friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his brothers, Glen and his wife, Doris; Dwight and his wife Sue; granddaughter, Katie Muir; and mother and father-in-law, Titus and Ethel Dagit; sister-in-law, Wilma and husband Jerry Hillman.

Honorary pallbearers were Kristine Muir, Anthony D'Agosta, Laura Tronchetti, Adam Vogel, Kori Jo Vogel, Jaxon Vogel, Merrick Muir, Madeline Muir and Francesca D'Agosta.

Active pallbearers were Nicholas Muir, Molly D'Agosta, Travis Kersey, Rachel Vogel, C.J. Muir and Kayla Muir.

Pet of the Week

The Pet of the Week at Tender Heart Animal Rescue is Teddy.

He is a six-year old Pekingese/doxie mix. He is black, tan, and white with long hair. He does not appear to shed. He is a wonderful little guy who loves to be carried around. Very sweet and well trained. His owners lost their housing and they were not able to take them with them when they relocated. He is up-to-date on everything. We would like to see this guy rehomed as soon as possible because it is all he is used to but he is being a tremendous trooper at the rescue.

For more information or to adopt Teddy, please contact Tenderheart Rescue at (402) 369-6030.

'Nebraska By Heart' art project celebrating state's 150th year

Artists and all creative individuals, across the state of Nebraska, are encouraged to participate in Nebraska By Heart, a Public Art Project sponsored by Boys Hope Girls Hope and the Sadie Dog Fund, and endorsed by the NE 150 Celebration.

Nebraska by Heart, is modeled after other Public Art Projects such as Chicago's Cows on Parade, Omaha's J. Does and the Tour de Lincoln Bikes. It will feature 6-foot tall Heart sculptures, which includes the base. This innovative project will be advertised as a not-to-be-missed component of the Nebraska Sesquicentennial destination for millions of (Nebraska, national and international) visitors.

According to Liz Shea-McCoy, Nebraska by Heart Project director, "Our goal is to see 93 6' tall Heart sculptures, symbolizing Nebraska's 93 counties. This is an amazing opportunity for all Nebraska Artists, professional and emerging, to showcase their talent publicly from May to October, 2017. Not only will artists benefit by being recognized for their creativity, they will also be rewarded financially. For that reason, I hope all creative individuals consider participating in Nebraska by Heart, an exciting and integral component of Nebraska's 150th Anniversary Celebration."

Artists interested in participating in Nebraska By Heart are invited to an informational, but not required, meeting at 7 p.m., Monday, Aug. 1, at Old City Hall in Lincoln, 920 O Street. The manufacturer of the fiberglass Heart will be present to answer questions. Application forms will be distributed and can also be found at nebraskabyheart.org. Artists may submit up to five drawings or proposals, and are encouraged to use their imagination and creative talent to paint, adhere mosaics, glass, or other media, and manipulate and/or add onto the six-foot tall Heart created for outdoor display. Artists submitting proposals which are juried into the project and are Sponsored (the sponsorship period is Sept. 10-Dec. 15, 2016) will receive a $500 material stipend for each Sponsored Heart, and one third of the final auction (October, 2017) price of their sculpture(s).

In addition, the 6-foot tall Heart sculpture (which will not be over 32 inches wide, and therefore able to fit through a standard door), will be delivered to their work space, anywhere in Nebraska, soon after the Sponsorship occurs, up until Jan. 1, 2017. Artists will have until the middle of April 2017 to complete their sculpture.

Walking tour

With many of the flowers in full bloom, those in attendance at Tuesday's Walk About Wayne were treated to many types of flowers. The event, sponsored by the Wayne Public Library, included information on many of the flowers in the gardens around the Wayne Public Library, as well as those at the home of Linda Anderson. The event also connected with the library's goal to get people outside this summer.

'Jungle Book' Missoula Theater tryouts Aug. 6 at Wayne State

Wayne State College hosts The Missoula Children's Theatre (MCT) production of "The Jungle Book" with auditions for children in Ramsey Theatre, located in Peterson Fine Arts Building, on Aug. 1 from 10 a.m. to noon. "The Jungle Book" will be presented at Ramsey Theatre, Peterson Fine Arts Building, on Saturday, Aug. 6 at 3 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Children auditioning should arrive at 9:45 a.m. and plan to stay for the full two hours. Some cast members will be asked to stay for a rehearsal immediately following the audition. Each student who auditions will receive a part in the production. All students, from those who have completed kindergarten through those who have completed 12th grade are encouraged to audition. No advance preparation is necessary. Assistant Directors will also be cast to assist with the technical aspects of the production. Registration fee is $20 per child.

Among the roles to be cast are Mowgli (the man-cub); his friends Bagheera (the panther) and Akela (the leader of the pack); the entire wolf family; Shere Khan (the tiger) with his side-kick Tabaqui (the jackal); Nag and Nagaina (the cobras); Darzee (the bird); Hathi (the master elephant); Rikki-Tikki-Tavi (the mongoose); Kaa (the rock-python); Buck (a buck); and of course the Monkey-People.

The Missoula Children's Theatre touring productions are complete with costumes, scenery, props and makeup. MCT Tour Actor/Directors will conduct rehearsals throughout the week from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. each day. The Missoula Children's Theatre residency in Wayne is brought to you by the Wayne Community Theatre with support from the Wayne United Way.

Wayne State to offer Master's in organizational management

Wayne State College offers two Master's Degree in Organizational Management (MSOM) online graduate programs designed to provide the next step for working professionals.

Sports enthusiasts will want to take advantage of the Sport and Recreation Management program to kick their career into high gear. Professionals with an interest in boosting employee performance will find a home in the Human Resource Management program.

Both programs are fully online, consist of 36 credit hours, provide instruction by full-time qualified faculty, feature flexible scheduling, full or part-time depending upon the situation, and meet in Fall, Spring, and Summer.

The concentration in Sport and Recreation Management aims at sports enthusiasts with undergraduate degrees in education, business, sport management, exercise science, or the liberal arts, who are ready to leverage a multidisciplinary graduate approach into a career in physical activity settings such as sports industry management, coaching, administration, and sports and recreation sales and marketing.

Sport and Recreation Management offers students a market advantage by delivering business skills with practical industry knowledge and experience. The program provides any combination of skills related to planning, organizing, leading, and evaluating within whose primary product or service is related to sport and/or physical activity.

The Human Resource Management program is designed for students who want to maximize employee performance in service of their employer's strategic objectives. The program covers a series of business activities used to manage the employees within a business organization, specifically related to workforce planning and employment; employee recruitment, selection, orientation, performance appraisals; human resource development; job analysis and design; compensation and benefits; and employee labor relations.

move to town. "Getting (275) completed, we could market ourselves as being 15 miles from a four-lane (expressway), rather than 50 miles from (Interstate 29)," he said.

The Department of Roads is taking public comment through Friday, July 29, but it was clear to Councilman Cale Giese that Norfolk has a heavy influence on where money will be spent in this part of the state.

"The squeaky wheel gets the grease, and it sure sounds like Norfolk has a really squeaky wheel," Giese said.

The City Council gave its blessing to another LB840 loan application that will help renovate a historical building in the community.

The Council approved a five-year, $55,000, zero-percent interest loan to Lucas Rix and Mark Kanitz to assist with the purchase and rehabilitation of the 1912 building, located just east of the Wayne Post Office.

Rix said they hope to purchase the building, which once served as the old city hall and fire hall, and add a higher-end version of their current businesses, Rustic Treasures and Thrift Warehouse, along with a local brewery that will be operated by another entity.

"We're out of space," Rix told the council. "And we're drawing customers from Norfolk who are bringing stuff to us because there's nothing similar there. We want to take some of the nicer things out of Rustic Treasures and put them in the new building."

Rix said an as-yet unnamed tenant wants to open a brewery in the building, and would rent out part of the building as part of the renovation plan. Rix said he hopes to open his business in the new building in the spring of 2017, with the brewery targeting a summer 2017 opening around the city's annual Chicken Days festival.

Rix said that both floors of the building would be used, and is optimistic that the new setup will become something of a regional tourism stop in the next few years.

In other action, the Council:

- gave its blessing to Blecke, representing the Wayne Area Economic Development's marketing committee, to get pricing for promotional banners that could be installed on light poles along some of the city's main streets.

Reporting on the completion of the committee's "Welcome To Wayne" sign projects, he told the Council that the project came in $9,000 under the original $30,000 budget, thanks to the receipt of post-tornado insurance money and a cash donation from Wayne State College. The proposal would have to go back to the LB840 committee, which originally provided the funds, and would bring that proposal back to the Council for future consideration.

- Dr. Ken Liska, representing the Wayne Masonic Lodge, invited the Council and the public to a cornerstone ceremony for the new swimming pool at the Wayne Community Activity Center. The ceremony is set for Saturday, Aug. 27, at 2 p.m. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be held inside the activity center.

- approved the Tuffern Blue Estates Subdivision agreement.

- tabled a resolution on an engineering services agreement between the city and Olsson Associates for the second phase of the city's walking trail.

- accepted a bid and awarded a contract for demolition of structures at 201 S. Windom Street and 819 Sixth Street.

- authorized the allocation of $70,669 to the Wayne Airport Authority as part of its 2016-17 fiscal year budget request.

- approved the proposal of McLaurry Engineering in the amount of $9,950 for the Logan Creek and Highway 15 walking trail bank stabilization project.

- approved update of Chapter XIII of the city's Municipal Code.

- set the city's budget work session to be held immediately after the board's next meeting, set for Tuesday, Aug. 2 at 5:30 p.m.

it has been for you as well."

Lofgren said that participation in Wayne's summer reading program for youth has been particularly busy this summer, with about 60 kids coming from outside city limits to participate.

She added that computer lab use is down and the city probably will not replace computers that become obsolete. Use of the Wayne library's internet is up, though, as more people bring their tablets and smart phones in to take advantage of the city's library.

"People come in to the library to read off their tablets or smart phones, and we have to figure out a way to count that so we can better report that information," she said.

In other action, the board:

- discussed bridges and culverts with Mark Mainelli of Mainelli Wagner and Associates.

- accepted a bid of $135,401.06 from Titan Machinery for the special purchase of a tractor with front-wheel assist to replace a vehicle that will need to be replaced by the county, due to its lease running out.

- reviewed a DEQ permit modification application for Temme Agribusiness, Inc.

The county board's next meeting is Tuesday, Aug. 2 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Baseball's future looks pretty good

Before we enter our traditional summer "dead zone" from a local sports perspective, here are a few thoughts:

— It was a real treat watching the Wayne American Legion Post 43 Juniors this summer.

With the bulk of last year's fourth-place state tournament team back, this year's team played very well throughout the season, finishing as Ralph Bishop League runner-up and Class B, Area 5 district champion.

One of the calling cards of this year's team was its solid play on defense, which is why I'm sure coach Jeff Zeiss was left scratching his head after the team booted the ball a grand total of 11 times in 14 innings in their 2-and-cue effort out in Sidney for last week's Class B state tournament. Seven errors, including four down the stretch that led to three unearned runs, led to a season-ending 4-3 loss to McCook that took a little shine off an otherwise-impressive 29-6 campaign.

— There is good news on the horizon for the Wayne American Legion baseball program.

With the bulk of this year's Juniors team moving up to the Seniors level in 2017, it appears Wayne will be back in business with two Legion teams for the first time in a few years.

Low numbers have led to a partnership with Wakefield during the high school season, and that carried over into Legion ball in the summer, with a handful of Wayne's older kids heading over to Eaton Field to play with the Wakefield Post 81 Seniors team.

Next year, though, the two towns will be back to fielding their own Juniors and Seniors teams in Legion ball, which will be a lot of fun for local fans to enjoy in 2017.

And if this year was any indication, both Wayne teams ought to be pretty salty next year. The Wayne Ponies won their league title in dominating fashion, outscoring their opponents 59-7 to close out a 31-4 summer. A number of those kids will move up to the Juniors level next year, and if they can bring that kind of offensive firepower up and continue to improve on defense, we should see some pretty good baseball next summer at "The Hank."

— Speaking of Hank Overin Field: a big shout-out needs to go to the people of this community who have helped make the rebuilding project at the field the sparkling success that it has become.

The black fencing at the park entrance was the finishing touch on a project that was made necessary after a wind storm knocked a tree into the old grandstand in the summer of 2014. A collection of community volunteers worked hard to raise money for the project and work with the City of Wayne to come up with a new and improved design for the park that will make it one of the state's finest small-town ballparks for years to come.

Among the changes was the addition of a storage/changing area and press box over the first base dugout. Moving the press box away from the grandstand added more seats for fans, and also provided a much better view for the media who cover the games at Hank Overin Field (the air conditioning setup there will soon take on legendary status — there's nothing like stepping into a glorified meat locker after standing outside in 90-degree heat taking pictures).

Two items remain to complete the transformation of Hank Overin Field. The scoreboard has long since worn out its welcome and is in need of replacement, and the lighting system is almost as old as the coaching staff. Efforts are in the works to replace both, and it would be awesome to have those in place if Wayne should wind up as an area or state tournament host in 2017.

— Just a reminder before I go . . . first fall practice is in less than three weeks. Get your popcorn ready.

Errors kill title hopes as Juniors go 0-2 at state

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

It's no fun traveling eight hours for an 0-2 weekend to end the season.

The Wayne American Legion Post 43 Seniors were hoping to extend what has been an outstanding summer for a few more days, but picked the wrong weekend to watch its defense come unraveled as they saw their season come to an end in the American Legion Class B Juniors state tournament in Sidney.

Wayne dropped a 6-0 decision to eventual finalist Waverly on Saturday, then let one get away late on Sunday as McCook came from behind to post a 4-3 victory and end Wayne's 29-6 season.

"That's the disheartening thing, especially after that last game," coach Jeff Zeiss said after the tournament. "We were ahead 3-1 and gave up three unearned runs, and the kids really felt it after the game knowing that we let one slip away."

Wayne's defense has been outstanding throughout the summer, which made last weekend's 0-2 effort so disappointing, Zeiss said.

"Defense has been our strength all summer," he said. "I'm not sure we had 11 errors in our first 20 games this season, but you can't have 11 errors in two games at the state tournament and expect to win a game. It just came at the wrong time."

Seven errors proved to be Wayne's undoing as McCook came back to post a 4-3 win in an elimination game Sunday at Legion Park.

Brennan O'Reilly singled and scored on a Justin Dean single to right to get Wayne on the board in the first inning. McCook tried to tie the game in the top of the third, but Mason Lee gunned down a runner on a shot to center field, getting Post 43 Juniors pitcher Tyler Lutt out of the jam.

Another defensive miscue led to McCook's run to tie the game in the fourth inning, but Zane Jackson helped Wayne regain the lead in the bottom of the inning as he took the first pitch over the wall in right field for a solo home run. Dean was hit by a pitch and scored on a Tucker Nichols sacrifice fly to give Wayne a 3-1 lead after four innings.

Two Wayne errors helped McCook tie the game again in the fifth, and two more errors in the sixth led to another McCook run. McCook looked to add another run, but an appeal at third base was successful as the runner left early on a sacrifice fly, turing an insurance run by McCook into a double play for Wayne and Wayne got out of a huge jam, but the damage was done.

Wayne had one last chance in the seventh, as Beau Bowers snaked a two-out single into center to get the rally started. Pinch-hitter Payten Gamble hit a hard grounder to short, but McCook got the final out to end Wayne's season.

"Beau got on there in the seventh and we were hoping we could bring Payten in as a pinch-hitter and spark something," Zeiss said. "He had a good cut and hit it hard, but the McCook kid made a good play."

Sunday's loss came despite a solid pitching performance by Lutt, who

The Wayne Ponies rolled to four easy wins in tournament play to claim the Tri-County League title recently. They finished the season with a 31-4 record.

Ponies dominate, win league

The Wayne Ponies put the finishing touches on an outstanding summer campaign, dominating their bracket on the way to a championship win in the Tri-County League baseball tournament.

Wayne outscored their four opponents 59-7 in four tournament games, capping their run with a 12-2 win over Arlington that saw them hit four home runs.

Two of the dingers came from Gunnar Jorgensen. His first came as part of a four-run first inning that helped Wayne overcome Arlington's two-run start to the game. Reid Korth hit a two-run homer and Jorgensen followed with a solo shot to give Wayne the 4-2 advantage.

Wayne got two more in the second, then broke the game open with four in the third. Tyrus Eischeid led off the big inning with a solo homer, and Jorgensen followed with his second round-tripper of the game later in the inning.

Wayne polished the title off in the fifth, scoring two more runs. Christopher Woerdeman's sacrifice fly brought home the game-ending run as Wayne won on the 10-run rule.

Jacob Kneiff got the win on the mound. He threw four innings, allowing two runs on four hits, and helped his own cause by reaching on an error and scoring in Wayne's early rally.

The Ponies opened the tournament with a 14-3 win over Schuyler in the opening round, breaking open a 4-2 game with eight runs in the fourth inning. All nine starters got a hit for Wayne, with Korth and Kneiff each getting two hits. Kneiff scored three runs and Hagan Miller got the win on the mound.

In the second round, Wayne dominated Pender with a 16-0 victory. Wayne's offense caught fire early, scoring three in the first before their big 13-run third inning put the game out of reach. Jorgensen, Josh Lutt and Trevor DeBoer each had two hits to lead the Wayne offense. Lutt allowed one hit and struck out seven in three innings to get the win.

In the semifinals, Wayne's bats stayed hot as they blew up Logan View 17-2. Wayne took control early, scoring seven runs in the first inning and never looked back. Kneiff and Brock Hopkins each had three hits to lead the attack, while Lutt, Korth, Jorgensen, Miller and Eischeid each had two hits. Eischeid and Korth also hit home runs for Wayne. DeBoer pitched the win, striking out four in three innings.

The Wayne Ponies finished the season with a 31-4 record.

Fair's rodeo event promises exciting rides, fireworks winner expected to receive at least $4,000.

One of the highlights of the Wayne County Fair is the Thursday night rodeo program, and this year's looks to be more exciting than ever.

There will literally be fireworks at this year's Ultimate Bullriding Tour stop next Thursday at the Wayne County Fair, as the UBT promises some of the region's best bull-riding cowboys that will add to the pyrotechnics promised at this year's event.

Mark Ward of the Ultimate Bullriding Tour said there will be some new faces that will provide a lot of entertainment to those attending next week's program.

"We have a new barrel man and a new announcer and some pyrotechnics, so it will be quite a show," he said by telephone Wednesday.

About 30 cowboys are expected to compete for more than $10,000 in prize money in the event, which is sanctioned with the L.J. Jenkins Bullriding Tour. As part of the tour, cowboys earn points that give them an opportunity to qualify for the UBT's national finals, set for January in Tulsa, Okla.

At press time, about 20 cowboys had already registered for next week's program at the Wayne County Fairgrounds, and Ward expects about 30 to compete for one of 10 spots in the final round. The top six scoring riders in the finals will share in the prize pool, with the Providing some of the entertainment during this year's program will be barrel man Matt Merritt from Olin, N.C., and announcer Luke Kaufman out of Mooresville, N.C. Ward said both are at the top of the heap in their respective positions and are sought after at rodeos all over the country.

"Matt has been featured at several marquee-level bullriding events and was at Century Link Center in Omaha back in April, and he's about as good as you get for barrel men," Ward said.

Kaufman, who also is an established musician, has made a name for himself as an announcer for rodeo events as well and has also been featured at a number of high-level bullriding events, Ward added.

The sport of bull riding is not for the faint of heart or weak of constitution, Ward said.

"If a cowboy gets turf toe, he stuffs his foot back in the boot and gets back to work," Ward said. "We saw a kid not that long ago ride with broken ribs, so it's absolutely a sport where you must be able to deal with pain and do it effectively, or you might not take home any money."

Each of the riders will have one chance to stay on the bull for eight seconds, and the top 10 scoring riders will advance to the finals for another shot at eight seconds of glory.

Wakefield No. 3 seed for C-2 area tourney

The Wakefield Post 81 American Legion Seniors team will take the No. 3 seed into this weekend's Class C, Area 2 tournament at Wisner.

Wakefield opens double-elimination tournament play with a 5 p.m. game Friday against sixth-seed Pender. The winner moves on to face either No. 2 Wisner-Pilger-Beemer-Dodge-Howells or No. 7 Madison.

West Point is the top seed for the seven-team tournament, with the championship scheduled for Wednesday, July 26 at 5 p.m. The area champion advances to the state tournament, scheduled for July 30-Aug. 3 in Ainsworth.

scattered five hits and struck out five in seven innings, giving up just two earned runs.

"I thought our pitching was good enough in both games to have an opportunity to win," Zeiss said. "You couldn't ask for a better pitching performance from Tyler. He threw well for us in districts, and his breaking ball and changeup were really on and he had people off stride against McCook."

Waverly pitcher Jonah Reiser kept Wayne's bats in check and shut down the Post 43 Juniors in a 6-0 decision Saturday afternoon.

"Their pitcher did a nice job against us," Zeiss said. "We had the bases loaded and nobody out late in the game, and they got out of it with a nice double play and that took the wind out of our sails a little bit."

Waverly got all they would need in the first inning with two runs, highlighted by an RBI double by Thatcher Kozal.

Wayne put the leadoff runner in each of the first two innings as O'Reilly reached on an error in the first and Adam Bentjen led off the second with a single. Wayne couldn't score in either inning, and left a runner in scoring position in the fourth when Bentjen doubled to right but could not find his way home.

Rodeo

Riders and bulls are both scored by two judges as part of a 50-point system - 25 for the bull and 25 for the rider. Each ride has the potential to score a maximum of 100 points, although Ward said he has never seen a perfect score at the professional level.

"The bull scores on his ability to move the rider and his degree of difficulty and how well he bucks," Ward said. "The rider scores by being able to control and ride the animal while looking like he's in control. If he rides the bull flawlessly and the bull does everything he can and can't knock the cowboy off, the cowboy will score above the bull."

Riders have to stay on for eight seconds, and can only control the bull with one hand. The other hand remains free for balancing, but the cowboys can not intentionally touch the bull with his free hand.

The event is sanctioned with the L.J. Jenkins Bullriding Tour, named for the legendary rodeo professional who made 13 trips to the PBR finals in Las Vegas over the years and recently retired from the sport.

Cowboys from Texas to North Dakota - many with previous experience at the PBR, CBR or PRCA levels - are expected to be in Wayne for this year's event, and Ward said the cowboys who have competed in past events look forward to the big crowds that come to see the event at the Wayne County Fair each summer.

"It always draws a big crowd there in Wayne, and when you get 3,000 or 4,000 people in the stands, it's really exciting and makes for a great event," Ward said. "We've been coming the last three or four years and the cowboys have looked forward to coming to Wayne, and I don't look for this year to be any different."

out and an inning-ending 1-2-3 double play to keep Wayne off the scoreboard.

Waverly added two unearned runs in the top of the sixth, and Reiser shut down Wayne after that, limiting the Post 43 Juniors to six hits and striking out six as Wayne fell to 28-5 on the season.

Bentjen and Jackson both had doubles and Bentjen had two hits to lead the Wayne offensive effort. Ficke-Anderson also had a base hit.

Despite the 0-2 finish at state, Zeiss said his team had a lot to be proud of this season.

"You know, only one team can win the last game of the year and I know they are disappointed that it wasn't them, but these kids had a great season," he said. "It was a great experience for these kids to play in state the last two years, and the older kids will move up to Seniors next year and give us a good Seniors team."

The future looks good for the Juniors as well, Zeiss said, as does the future of Wayne's Legion program.

"We have some younger guys coming up from the Ponies who won their league and won 31 games, and they'll know what the expectations are for next year, so I like what's coming up," he said. "All our younger programs had a great summer, so the future looks good. It's been a great year for Wayne baseball."

Northeast board receives update on five-year strategic plan

The Northeast Community Board of Governors approved the institution's new five-year strategic plan a year ago. At its monthly meeting on July 14, College administrators provided the board with an update on first year accomplishments through Vision 2020.

Dr. Michael Chipps, Northeast president, said the Board of Governors approved Vision 2020 goals and objectives in June 2015 to provide a strategic direction for institutional decision making in achieving the College's mission and purposes. "The board is pleased to see many of the accomplishments we began to implement during the first year of Vision 2020. This plan is a flexible and fluid document that incorporates built-in performance measures that will take us through to the beginning of the next decade and beyond," Chipps said. "It truly is a dynamic document that sets the stage in addressing programs and services specifically designed for the College's 20 county service."

Vision 2020 features four strategic goals and objectives - increase student success, increase student access, provide a globally competitive workforce and develop and maximize resources.

Student success measures will include work in the areas of under-prepared students as well as student engagement, retention and completion. Objectives under student access include increasing enrollments, expanding the diversity of the student population and providing alternative delivery methods of educational programs and services.

The establishment of centers of excellence, 21st century workforce preparation, and supporting the region's rural revitalization efforts fall under the third goal of providing a globally competitive workforce. Northeast is implementing a number of avenues through the fourth goal such as maximizing financial resources and the skills and talents of College employees, and implementing an integrated planning, evaluation and resource allocation system.

"Performance measures have been established for each objective to assess overall progress in achieving established benchmarks," said Mary Honke, executive vice president. "To assure successful completion of Vision 2020 goals and objectives, action plans are developed annually that outline milestones; anticipated outcomes; and required resources, including staff time, funding, technology, and facilities."

The 2015-2016 Accomplishments Report provided to the board of governors included details on 36 action projects and operational activities that were undertaken during the last fiscal year.

A number of these projects are implementation phases of larger projects that will extend into future years.

Chipps said the Cabinet led the development of strategic action plans and divisional operational activities for 2015-2016, designed to achieve the outlined goals and objectives. He said Cabinet vice presidents and associate vice presidents led the effort to collect feedback from their divisions early in the planning process.

"Northeast Community College is committed to helping its students achieve their dreams and assist area communities, businesses, and industries meet their workforce and economic development needs. With the board of governors' goals and objectives outlined through Vision 2020, we have a belief and purpose that will ensure success for our students, constituents and the service area in the years to come."

economic development needs. With the board of governors' goals and objectives outlined through Vision 2020, we have a belief and purpose that will ensure success for our students, constituents and the service area in the years to come."

WINSIDE BOARD OF EDUCATION PROCEEDINGS

The Winside Board of Education met in its regular meeting on Wednesday, July 13, 2016 at 7:00 pm in the library. Members present were John Mangels, Dana Bargstadt, Jon Jaeger, Carmie Marotz, and John Thies. Nate Behmer was excused from the meeting.

Vice-President Thies called the meeting to order and pointed out the Open Meeting Act posted in the meeting room. Vice-President Thies excused John Mangels and Nate Behmer from the meeting. He welcomed the guests and asked if anyone would like to address the Board.

Matthew Gubbels, son of James and Marshawn Gubbels, approached the Board with a poster of his idea of a needed cross walk and sidewalk near the school on Crawford Avenue. Matthew is part of our local Boy Scout Troop, where to earn a badge, he needed to make a presentation in front of a local organization. Mr. Shoff complimented Mr. Gubbels with his idea and told him that the first step will be for Mr. Shoff to take Mr. Gubbels' idea to our school's Safety Committee, who would then present to the Board.

President John Mangels arrived at 7:06 p.m. and resumed the order of the meeting.

Motion by Marotz, second by Thies to approve the Agenda. Ayes-Bargstadt, Jaeger, Marotz, Thies, and Mangels. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Jacob Hurla & Joseph Hurla of 350 Energy Engineers presented their recommendations to the Board. A binder was given to each Board member to review. They explained their job scope as a Performance Contracting Company that would manage all phases of a project. During this project local businesses, contractors and financing institutions will be considered. Their suggestions covered the following: heating & cooling systems; electrical systems; windows and doors; brick conditions on the building; walkway between buildings; electrical box in elementary basement; fire sprinklers and lighting. Their contract would last fifteen months after projects are complete for follow up. Their estimated bid was for $2.8 million. They also provided financial arrangements and gave 10 year and 15 year scenarios. They concluded with their future time schedules and ways the Board could move forward.

At 7:40 p.m. President Mangels invited visitors to join them to tour the Mundt property. Members and visitors recommenced at 8:12 p.m. in the library.

Motion by Thies, second by Jaeger to approve the minutes of the Regular Meeting held June 13, 2016 and the Special Meeting minutes held on July 11, 2016. Ayes- Jaeger, Marotz, Thies, Mangels and Bargstadt. Nays-none. Absent- Behmer.

Mr. Shoff presented the Financial Reports, reported July's draw amounts, highlighted on the accounts of where we stand on budget, with one month remaining on the fiscal year and answered questions on the bills. Mr. Shoff also announced he has been asked to sit on the CJUMP board. This organization determines school's energy fuel prices that are on the CJUMP program.

Motion by Jaeger, second by Thies to approve the Financial Reports, the General Fund claims for a total of $279,408.62, with the correction to the Hewlett-Packard bill is not the "last bill (PIF)" and Building Fund claims totaling $30,380.56. Ayes- Marotz, Thies, Mangels, Bargstadt and Jaeger. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Discussion began with an update by Mr. Shoff on the 2006 School bus. Craig Evans quoted $20,000 to fix the current engine. Craig is also looking at what it would cost to purchase a rebuilt engine. The bus drivers will gather to consider bus needs for routes, for this fall.

A bid from Midwest Restaurant Supply, for a new dishwasher, was submitted for $10,118.

Hobart Sales & Services preformed their summer inspection and found that the pilot light on the stove, manufactured before 1985, is not fixable. Hobart proposed an option of a used stove they have for $2,100 and recommend this to an Action item.

This week in weight room, work is being done on the base board and bathrooms. Kris Monk has been hired to recover some of the bench padding in the weight room.

Bus cameras will be installed correctly the first week in August.

Curt Nelson of Anderson Ladd came to look at the floor. Curt Nelson is to communicate to us by the end of the week. Other options have been considered. However, we will wait to hear back from Anderson Ladd.

Todd Greunke presented his bid of $17,400 to cement the front sidewalk area of the school. This will include taking out steps and pouring ramps. He did not have it on the bid, as is an added cost, but there is a treatment you can put on the cement that prevents salt to react with the cement.

The tiling bid from Plumbing and Electric Service of $28,250 was considered. The placement of the tile was discussed. Licensing will be brought up with the company.

Todd Greunke brought up the phone line, that is surrounded by three posts, by the bus parking area. We have our phone hardware and software provider and service provider looking into removing and relocating the line underground.

The Courtesy Ford bid for vans was presented to the Board. This payment is similar to our I-Pad payment that will be paid in full in August. The bid is for three vans for four payments of $19,739.40 with the option to purchase the vans at the end of the four years for $1.00 each.

Coaching Assignments and Activity/Class Sponsorships were submitted to the Board. Coach Lawson is considering a Wayne State Student as an assistant, more information will be given next month. Jesse Thies, will be the head Wrestling Coach and Chris Olander will be the assistant Wrestling Coach and Paul Sok Volunteer Wrestling Coach.

Milk bids from Deans Foods and Highland Dairy Foods were reviewed.

Mr. Shoff provided a spreadsheet of area school's lunch and milk prices. He recommends that prices remain the same for the 2016-2017 school year.

Mr. Shoff also recommended that student computer fees of $35, remain the same for the upcoming school year.

Mrs. Remm emailed copies to the Board of updated Elementary and High School student handbooks. She received guidance from a packet she received from NRCSA. Policy wise, nothing has changed. Grammar and additional information that is needed in a handbook was added.

Mr. Shoff presented the Student Fees, Parent Involvement and Bullying policies to the Board. There are no changes for the upcoming school year regarding these policies.

Mr. Shoff gave the first reading to the Board on the following policy updates: Board member term of office; Regular Board Meetings; Credit Cards; Prohibiting Sexual Abuse; Workplace Privacy; Non-resident Students; Homeless Children; Hazing, Initiation, Gangs; Asthma Protocol; Curriculum Development; Reproduction of Copyrighted Materials; Test Selection; Student Progress Reports; Prevention Improper Use of Taxpayer Funds; Lease, sale, or disposal of buildings.

Action items began with a motion from Jaeger, seconded by Bargstadt to hire Jesse Thies as the new custodian. Abstained-Thies. Ayes-Mangels, Bargstadt, Jaeger and Marotz. Nays- none. Absent-Behmer Motion by Bargstadt, seconded by Marotz to approve the positions of both the Coaching Assignments and Activity /Class Sponsorships. Ayes-Mangels, Bargstadt, Jaeger, and Marotz. Abstained-Thies. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Motion by Marotz, seconded by Bargstadt to approve Providence Medical Center a $5,000 contract for an athletic trainer for 2016-2017 school year. Ayes-Bargstadt, Jaeger, Marotz, Thies and Mangels. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Motion by Marotz, seconded by Thies to approve the Student Fee, Parent Involvement and Bullying policies for the 2016-2017 school year. Ayes-Mangels, Bargstadt, Jaeger, Marotz and Thies. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Motion by Jaeger to approve the first readings of the following updated policies: Board member term of office; Regular Board Meetings; Credit Cards; Prohibiting Sexual Abuse; Workplace Privacy; Non-resident Students; Homeless Children; Hazing, Initiation, Gangs; Asthma Protocol; Curriculum Development; Reproduction of Copyrighted Materials; Test Selection; Student Progress Reports; Prevention Improper Use of Taxpayer Funds; Lease, sale, or disposal of buildings. Ayes-Bargstadt, Jaeger, Marotz, Thies and Mangels. Nays-none. Absent-Behmer.

Mrs. Remm presented her Principal's report. Mr. Fernau has come in and is getting his room situated. Mrs. Remm and him have had discussions on the upcoming school year. Mrs. Remm will be at Administrator Days the week of July 25. She is currently working on the plans for the first three days of school, there will be a motivational speaker and some technology presentations.

For the Superintendent's report Mr. Shoff handed out a Budget calendar for the Board members to consider dates for the upcoming month. Our ERate appeal has been granted and waiting on word for reimbursement. Next year's application with ERate has been approved. Mr. Shoff has been notified by ACLU and we have contacted our attorney about the sex education courses that need to be offered and their content being taught. Positive comments were given regarding NRCSA and their continued support of rural school systems in Nebraska. We received our DUNS credit report in which we have received a "1" which is the highest score to receive. We have been denied the Monsanto grant in which we were trying for a greenhouse. We will apply again next year. Mrs. Hansen has received a Tinker Grant for keyboarding and programming to use in her keyboarding class. Mrs. Chaney has the census done.

Mr. Thies has noticed a lot of improvements over the summer and would request another walk through of the facility at the next meeting.

The next regular Board meeting will be Monday, August 8, 2016 at 7 p.m. in the Library.

Motion by Thies, second by Bargstadt to adjourn. Ayes-all. Nays-none. Absent- Behmer.

Allen Community Club

The Allen Community Club met June 20. President Greta Kraemer called the meeting to order.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Bills were presented and paid.

Old business was a review of the Community Club's involvement in the Q125 activities. The parade had 110 entries, some of them consisting of several vehicles counted as one entry. There were 11 Shrine entries. The meal served to the Shriners went well. A list of thank you's to be sent to individuals and groups was compiled, and Greta will send them.

New business followed. There will be no July meeting as members are encouraged to donate work time at the Dixon County Fair BBQ on Monday, Aug. 1.

Every one is invited to the end of the summer potluck picnic which will be held Monday, Aug. 15 at 6:30 p.m. in the Fire Hall. The Community Club will provide the meat, beverages, and paper products.

The Village of Allen and Allen Community Club will host the program of rededication of the new park equipment and new restrooms as well as recognition of donors.

Envelopes for the time capsule can be taken to the Village Office or brought to the picnic that evening. Envelopes will be put into the time capsule and sealed that night.

Barbecue assistance

Allen Community Club members are reminded to help at the Dixon County Fair BBQ on Monday, Aug. 1.

Northeast Community College names Nipp new VP

Northeast Community College has selected Amanda Nipp as its new vice president of student services. Nipp, who currently serves as the College's dean of enrollment management, will assume the new position on July 18.

"We are pleased Amanda Nipp will be expanding her role in the Student Services Division," said Dr. Michael Chipps, Northeast president. "Amanda has demonstrated exceptional leadership at Northeast. She has excellent skillsets to accomplish the goals set by the institution's five-year strategic plan, Vision 2020, has demonstrated outstanding ability to work across division lines and has a rich understanding of the Northeast culture. These and many other factors make Amanda an excellent choice for the position."

Nipp, of Wausa, will succeed Dr. Karen Severson, who is retiring after 26 years with Northeast Community College. She said she is a privilege to succeed Severson.

"Dr. Severson has served as my mentor for the past several years and it is an honor to have been selected to succeed her as vice president of student services. I look forward to building upon the legacy that she has left in Student Services at Northeast. Two of Northeast's Vision 2020 strategic goals focus on increasing student success and student access, and the staff in the Student Services division will have a huge role to play in moving the College forward in these two areas."

Nipp said she is eager to get started in her new role at the College.

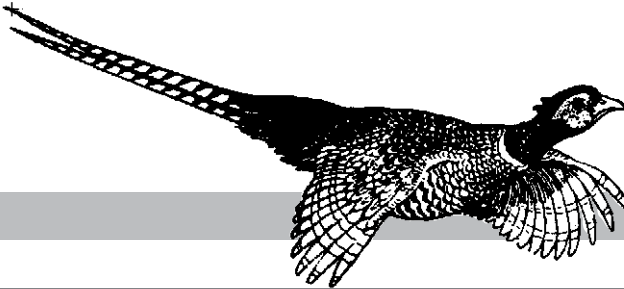

"Northeast Community College continues to be identified as one of the top rural community colleges in the nation, and it is a privilege to join the leadership team of such an innovative institution that is focused on regional and student success."

Nipp, originally from Bloomfield, holds a Bachelor Arts in Communication from Nebraska Wesleyan University and a Master of Science in Higher Education from the University of Kansas. She has over 15 years of experience in higher education; she began her career in the Student Intervention, TRIO Student Support Services Program offices at Chadron State College. She has worked at Northeast Community College for the last six years, serving in positions including director of early entry (dual credit) programs and director of enrollment management.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes

Law enforcement deserving kudos

Imagine your alarm clock going off to wake you for another day. You get up, get your morning workout in, eat breakfast, take a shower, get dressed, kiss the wife and kids and head out the door to start your day.

Your day at work might last 8, 10 or 12 hours. You'll get a lot accomplished, interact with your fellow employees and customers, and come home at the end of the day knowing you've done good work.

But what if you DIDN'T come home at day's end? What if, during the course of your day's work, your interaction with somebody resulted in your being shot at and, quite possibly killed, only because you were doing your job?

Five police officers in Dallas went to work a couple of weeks ago and never came home. Same goes for three more in Baton Rouge. Not more than a year ago, a young woman who had just come back from maternity leave to her job as a police officer in Omaha never made it home alive. As I was writing this column Tuesday, another report of an officer shot and killed, this time in Kansas City, Kan.

You think YOUR job sucks? In the year 2016, with chaos becoming the order of the day in big cities across the country, I defy you to find a job more dangerous and death-defying than being a member of law enforcement in the United States.

Why are police officers being gunned down in cold blood in our nation's cities? Where is this open and violent defiance of our nation's laws, where those hired and sworn to uphold the laws of the land are being killed in our nation's streets, coming from?

Some of it is in reaction to acts, real or imagined, involving police officers who are alleged to have killed "innocent" civilians, some of whom happen to be of a different race or heritage. The justice system hasn't exactly been a friend to law enforcement in recent times, as concerns of prison overcrowding and a seeming unwillingness by some in the judicial system to give repeat offenders longer and more meaningful sentences keeps more of these soulless creatures out walking our streets.

What it comes down to, though, is just a complete lack of respect and an utter disregard for our fellow man. They are a vast minority, I still believe, but they have become more visible, more vocal, more disruptive and now - more prone to the kind of violent behavior that we're seeing each and every day.

We're asking our police and sheriff's departments, and our state troopers, to literally put their lives on the line each and every moment they put on that uniform. What other job requires that you have to take into consideration the possibility that the person you're about to come in contact hates life THAT much that he is willing to point a gun at you, even if all you're doing is making him aware that his tail light burned out?

I've talked with law enforcement officials in Wayne and Wayne County, and while they aren't seeing this kind of violent behavior locally, it's still something that weighs heavy on their minds with every call that they answer. You can't, for one second, operate under the assumption that this is a small town, so what happened in Baton Rouge or Omaha WON'T happen here. Violent crimes are just as likely to take place in the small town as it does in the big city, and our local guys in blue, black and brown have to consider that possibility every time they are called.

We ask these men and women in uniform to protect us from the dimwits of the human race who think nothing of shooting and killing another human being. It's prevalent in the big cities - you can't watch the Omaha TV newscasts without the first 4-5 stories involving a shooting, stabbing or some other form of violent behavior taking place. I remember going to a convention in Detroit years ago and turning on the local news that morning - the first 20 MINUTES of the newscast documented so many violent acts between two (or more) human beings that I lost track. But these incidents aren't unique to Omaha, Lincoln, Sioux City and the other big cities in the area. Norfolk and Columbus are both seeing more and more violent acts taking place, and one must hope and pray such horrible behavior doesn't find its way here.

During my seven years as managing editor here, I've gotten to know a lot of the officers working in law enforcement here, as well as their families. I'm sure their spouses and children all share the same concerns about their safety as they walk out the door each day, and I think that we, as a community, should make sure they know how grateful we are for the work they do and that their efforts are truly appreciated.

The next time you come in contact with a member of our local law enforcement community, especially if they've caught you for speeding or running a red light, I hope that you realize the work that they do is to keep our communities safe, and that they are literally putting their lives on the line every time they go out on the streets. There are few jobs that carry the kind of risks - especially in this crazy world we live in today - that our members of law enforcement face, and I hope that what is taking place elsewhere in this country never finds its way here. My thoughts and prayers go out to the officers, deputies and partolmen here who are giving of themselves with the work that they do.

Capitol View

What have we become?

By J.L. SCHMIDT

For much of the country it has been a week of reflection and analysis. Seemingly endless racial profiling in law enforcement and attacks on police have added to the turmoil which is already brewing in national politics.

Some say that Americans are angry. I would call it more "fed-up" than angry, at least here in the geographic middle of the country. The list of that with which we are fed-up varies, but much of it is aimed at Washington, DC, where the lifetime politicians live. They are perceived by many out here in America's heartland as the do-nothing fat cats who are earning comfy pensions and lining their pockets with ill-gotten gain from lobbyists.

During the days of Senators Carl Curtis (1955-1979) and Roman Hruska (1954-1976) as Nebraska's two U.S. Senators, the Washington insiders and those who take polls of such nonsense said we had one of the most mediocre representatives (Hruska) in DC. Of course, many of those same folks couldn't find Nebraska on an unmarked map and would likely think Nebraska was mediocre if they stumbled upon it.

Hruska made some sort of American political history for a 1970 speech to the Senate in support of the nomination of G. Harold Carswell to the U.S. Supreme Court. In response to criticism that Carswell had been a mediocre judge, Hruska said: "Even if he were mediocre, there are a lot of mediocre judges and people and lawyers. They are entitled to a little representation, aren't they, and a little chance?"

Wouldn't it be nice to have more boring and less of the partisan infighting that seems to stall everything in Washington? I contend that the obfuscation comes from both sides of the aisle even though it has been characterized as a Republican senate trying to derail the Democrat President of the United States.

What if, instead of staging a sit-in on the floor of Congress to get their way on a gun control issue, those same career politicians would have had a kneel-in and asked the Lord God Almighty for some guidance on the issue? Of course, the lawsuits would ensue because we certainly can't allow sensibility to break out in government ... one nation Under God and all that.

What if, instead of turning to TV or social media or attending the latest "protest," we all took a bit of advice from the prophet Habakkuk who lived in the 7th Century BC? His words recorded in the Bible, are instructive for us now.

"How long, Lord, must I call for help and You do not listen or cry out to You about violence and You do not save? Why do You force me to look at injustice? Why do You tolerate wrongdoing? Oppression and violence are right in front of me. Strife is ongoing, and conflict escalates. This is why the law is ineffective and justice never emerges. For the wicked restrict the righteous; therefore, justice comes out perverted." Habakkuk 1:2-4 HCSB

Not unlike Habakkuk, we are seeking answers right now for why our country is tearing itself apart and why we must witness the injustice. It is good to pray, but the answers may not come swiftly. What are we to do while we wait? Fear not, there is advice for that too. "I will stand at my guard post and station myself on the lookout tower. I will watch to see what He will say to me and what I should reply about my complaint." Habakkuk 2:1 HCSB.

Folks, that's patience, and I know it's hard to come by these days. But the prophet tells us that God has made an amazing promise.

"Look at the nations and observe - be utterly astounded! For something is taking place in your days that you will not believe when you hear about it." Habakkuk 1:5 HCSB

So, let's get over the black, blue and white lives matter business and celebrate the fact that life matters.

Legislative Update

Tough times may be on the horizon

It looks like we may need to prepare for some tough times.

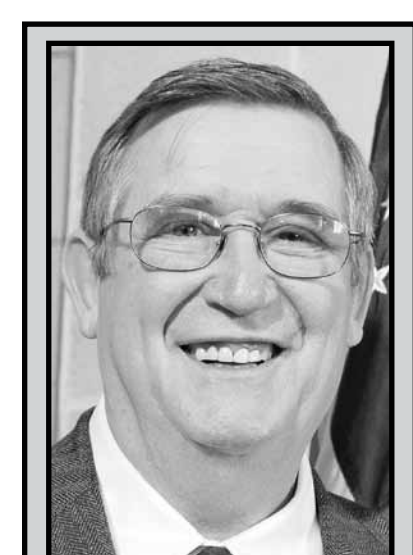

Governor Ricketts came out this past week and asked state agencies to control spending. Asking agencies to control spending is not new but this is being triggered because of reduced tax revenues coming into the state.

Tax receipts for May and June were below projections made by the Nebraska Economic Forecasting Advisory Board - falling short of projections by about $95 million.

Tax Commissioner Tony Fulton has said that there is evidence that the agricultural economy is contributing to the shortfall in tax receipts - this is not good for Nebraska.

The last time the state faced tough times, the agriculture sector carried us through. If the agriculture sector is now facing tough times, it may be more difficult for the state than it was before.

In an attempt to get ahead of a possible problem Governor Ricketts has asked agencies to look at vacant positions and to postpone or eliminate hiring if possible; limit travel to essential travel; limit equipment purchases to those necessary for process improvements; and to work with political subdivisions to find savings in providing state services.

The state can cut and limit spending but I would suggest that our cities, counties and schools need to do the same - be proactive and prepare for some tough times. We need to work on doing more with less - we cannot continue to look to the state or others to fill the gaps in our budgets.

There have been some questions as to why I have not appeared at some of the parades and other events that have taken place this summer.

As you all know, I am finishing up my term as your representative to the Nebraska Legislature from District 17. There are two candidates running for that office, Joni Albrecht and Ardel Bengtson. It is important for you to get acquainted with those who will be serving you in the future, parades and community events are a good place for that to happen, were I to be there, it might reduce your chance to meet with them.

My office has also reached out to both candidates about meetings and some other things that are happening in the legislature. Both candidates have responded and have attended some of the events, the latest being a meeting in Winnebago with the village board, the Nebraska Dept. of Roads and the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency (NEMA).

In order to give you more opportunity to meet both candidates, I have again rented a booth at the Wayne County Fair and have invited both to join me at that booth. I intend to do the same at the Dakota/Thurston County Fair in early August. While I have personally endorsed one of them, I intend to be as fair as possible to both.

It will be up to you to decide who will replace me. If you want to know who I support, you can ask me when you see me, I will not use this venue for any political purpose.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

SEWER CLEANING NOTICE

Beginning July 11 and over the next three to four weeks, the City of Wayne Sewer Department will be having sewer mains cleaned in various parts of the City. City Sewer Department staff will be placing notices on doors of those areas where the cleaning will be taking place.

In the cleaning process, high pressure water is forced through the sewer main line, which pushes the air from the sewer main into the service lines of homes and businesses. If this happens, it can result in the air exiting through the toilet, causing the water to shoot out of the toilet bowl. This air should exit through the sewer vent of the building, but inadequate venting or location of toilets can cause the air to exit through the toilet.

This is a rare occurrence but can be remedied by covering the toilet bowl with a towel and keeping the lid closed. This will keep most of the water in the bowl rather than on the floor.

Again, during the next several weeks, when the toilets are not in use, cover them with a towel and keep the lid down.

If you have any questions about the sewer cleaning process or the areas the sewer main cleaning will take place, you can call the Wastewater Treatment Plant at 375-5250.

Teach your child some new words

Parents can help toddlers learn new words by:

- Repeating the names of things over and over again, using simple words and short sentences. Tell your child what you are doing and what your child is doing. Don't use baby talk.

- Letting your child get things for you. Name what you want and ask your child to go to other rooms to find it.
- Going for walks and taking along a bag to collect leaves, rocks, flowers, and/or pieces of wood. When you get back home, look at these and name them.

You can play this learning game another way:

- Choose some things she might enjoy feeling, and put them in the bag. Examples would be a smooth rock, a rough rock, a piece of wood, a small stuffed animal, some pieces of cloth, a feather, and so on.

- Be sure the things you put in the bag are not sharp or dangerous.
- Close the top of the bag, leaving a hole just big enough for the child's hand. Ask your toddler to reach in and find something.
- Ask your child to guess what she is touching - without looking or pulling it out of the bag. If she can't figure it out let her peek.
- Ask her what she has found and help her learn to say, "I found a rock" or "I found a leaf."
- You can take turns reaching in the bag and guessing what you've found.
- This is a good game for two or three to play together. Your toddler can help you change the game by putting different things in the bag.

VFW Post 5291 auxiliary meets July 12 in Wayne

The VFW Auxiliary to Post 5291 met July 12 at the Wayne Senior Center Meeting Room.

President Glennadine Barker called this regular meeting to order. The opening ceremonies were conducted according to ritual and opening prayer was read by Chaplain Janet Fuoss.

The June minutes were approved as read. The treasurer's report was filed for audit.

Excerpts from the July edition of FORE were presented. Past Department President Lois King recently passed away and the charter was draped in her memory. National President Colette Bishop will be visiting Nebraska in August during the Nebraska State Fair. Number One of the program goals is volunteer service in the medical facilities.

A thank you was read from the Norfolk Veterans Home for activities contributions. Information on the Bond premium was received.

New programs are ready for distribution. July is the start of the new membership year and members are reminded to pay their 2017 dues.

The Auxiliary will host a Bingo and Birthday party at the Norfolk Veterans Home on July 27.

Trustee Darlene Draghu presented the fourth quarter audit. The Bond application will be completed. The Auxiliary will sponsor a pillow cleaning in early fall.

Closing ceremonies were conducted according to ritual. Chaplain Janet Fuoss read the Closing prayer.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 9.

Paul Seibert to play at Heritage on July 27

Heritage of Emerson will host Paul Seibert in concert on Wednesday, July 27 at 4 p.m. in the Heritage of Emerson dining room.

Seibert's visit is being brought to the facility by the Merrymakers.

For over 30 years, Paul Seibert's quality blend of music all throughout the Midwest has delighted thousands with his unique style and a vast repertoire second to none. Along with wonderful vocals, Paul uses only acoustic instruments including the hammer dulcimer, banjo, guitar and button accordion.

Some of his musical credits include four self produced recordings, performing for the Ozarks Jubilee in Eureka Springs, Ark., opening shows for The Platters, Paul English, Marabeth Jordan. He has traveled all across the USA and recorded with several bands including Christian rock band "Reason To Play" and the western cowboy band "The Double D Wranglers".

His wide range of music includes classical pieces on acoustic guitar and hammer dulcimer, 50's and 60's country favorites of Johnny Cash, Hank Williams and Roger Miller, Country Gospel, to 60's & 70's favorites from John Denver, James Taylor, and Simon & Garfunkle.

Those attending the event will enjoy cowboy campfire favorites from Roy Rogers, The Sons of the Pioneers and Gene Autry. His original material is full of heart-felt stories of family, childhood and growing up in the Midwest. Bringing the music close into the hearts and minds of individuals exemplifies his integrity and vision to reflect what he believes to be most important.

Vehicle interior heats up quickly during summer

It's summertime. It's hot. And your unattended vehicle's interior can reach a temperature high enough to be dangerous.

Admittedly, it can be a challenge to get children in and out of the vehicle to go into the store for each errand. However, it is never okay for parents or caregivers to put their personal convenience above the safety and wellbeing of their children. Never leave a child unattended in a vehicle.

Meteorologist Jan Null, explains on a 70-degree day your car's interior temperature can reach 104 degrees in the first 30 minutes and reach 115 degrees within an hour, dangerous temperatures for living beings, particularly pets, children and the elderly.

According to the Center for Disease Control, when outside temperatures range from 80 to 100 degrees, the temperature inside a car parked in direct sunlight can quickly climb to between 130 and 172 degrees in only an hour's time and most of that increase in heat occurs in the first 20 minutes. Even in the shade, a car's interior temperature can reach 100 degrees on an 80-degree day.

Your car acts as a greenhouse. The sunlight coming through the windows heats the dashboard, the seats and other objects to 180-200 degrees in direct sunlight. Those objects transfer the heat to the air very efficiently.

The American Academy of Pediatrics study found in terms of heat-rise over time, it makes little difference whether a car's windows are closed or partially open. In both cases, a car's interior temperature can rise approximately 40 degrees within one hour, even when the outdoor temperature is only 72 degrees.

A study on thermoregulation discovered a child's body overheats 3 to 5 times more quickly than an adult's body, due to the child's smaller body size. Additionally, children under age 2 do not have fully developed systems to regulate body temperature. This puts them at higher risk for heat stroke in hot vehicles. According to HeatKills.org, a toddler died of heatstroke in Charlottesville, VA after being left in a car on a day in which the outside temperature did not exceed 66 degrees.

The bottom line - don't ever leave people or animals unattended in your vehicle for any amount of time. Not even with the windows partway down, not even in the shade, not even for a quick errand.

Joy Circle ties quilts

Joy Circle of Our Savior Lutheran Church met on July 13.

Secretary Thelma Moeller welcomed everyone and gave announcements. Joy Circle members who have July birthdays are Donella Johnson who will be blessed with 90 years of age and Dorothy Wert.

Rodella Wacker gave devotions based on Galatians 6:2 and 5 which says we are to bear one another's burdens, and in this way we will fulfill the law of Christ, and all must carry their own loads. She also included Matthew 25:40 where Our Lord says, "In as much as you have done it to the least of these my brethren, you have done it unto Me."

Then, all members placed hands on the quilt which would be tied as it was dedicated to serve those in need using the Quilt Blessing Litany. Those attending then tied and pinned the quilt. After this was completed, Rodella led everyone in prayer, blessing the hands who worked on it, and those who will use it.

Lunch was served by Ruth Groner Maier.

There will be not be a Joy Circle meeting in August.

LENRD co-sponsoring helicopter gathering ag-related data in area

Northeast Nebraska residents should not be alarmed if they see a low-flying helicopter in their area over the coming weeks. Flights will begin this week and continue until early August over portions of the following counties: Madison, Platte, Pierce, Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Wayne, and Cuming Counties. Visit enwra.org/2016aem.html to see detailed locations of planned flights. The helicopter will fly lines spaced approximately 3 miles apart over most of the area. Scientific equipment is towed about 100 feet below the helicopter in a spider web array and is designed to map geologic structures beneath the earth. The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD), along with the members of the Eastern Nebraska Water Resource Assessment (ENWRA) and the Bazile Groundwater Management Area (BGWMA), have planned the flights with grant assistance from the Nebraska Water Sustainability Fund and the Nebraska Environmental Trust. According to Brian Bruckner, LENRD water resources manager, the geologic information available from the flights will improve the district's understanding of the available groundwater resource and potential groundwater/surface water connections in an area of the state made more complex by the presence of glacial deposits. He said, "Understanding these isolated aquifers will help us to protect the resource and make better management decisions in the future." Aqua-Geo Frameworks, LLC will oversee the flights, process the data, and produce a final report to the LENRD. The technology they use allows for fast data acquisition, upwards of 50 miles per hour, with exploration depth hundreds of feet below the land surface. This scientific program is designed to study the area's water resources and is part of an ongoing program to identify physical occurrences such as changes in geologic materials and sediment types. If you would like to learn more about the planned flights, visit the ENWRA website at www.enwra.org under the 2016 AEM flights tab.

Survey shows shifting prices for Nebraska ag producers

Recent findings from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's 2016 Custom Rates Survey show changing rates for machinery operations and related services. The survey summarizes the current rates charged for specific machinery operations commonly used by agricultural producers. Many Nebraska producers hire custom operators to perform machinery services for their farms and ranches across the state. Prices for these services become more critical as profit margins tighten with lower crop and livestock prices. Findings from the survey, conducted every two years, divides the custom operations performed in Nebraska into two major sections. Part I includes spring and summer operations such as tillage, planting and harvesting of small grains. Part II includes information about fall and miscellaneous operations. Custom rate summaries in these sections include regional rates for the eight Nebraska Agricultural Districts and the overall state. A total of 163 custom rates were reported as part of the 2016 survey. The statewide average for disk harrowing (heavy) increased by 14.1 percent from $12.94 per acre in 2014 to $14.77 per acre in 2016. Planting row crops with row cleaners reported a much smaller statewide change from $18.31 per acre in 2014 to $18.91 per acre in 2016, accounting for a 3.2 percent increase over the prior two years. Combining dryland corn, including tractor and grain cart, statewide rate averaged 9.1 percent higher from 2014 to 2016, equating to a $3.05 per acre increase to $36.45. "Differences in necessary expenses for performing custom rates across the state, such as fuel and labor, have a strong influence on the custom rates charged by operators, according to survey participants," said Jim Jansen, assistant extension educator and one of the survey's authors. The statewide expected farm delivered fuel cost per gallon declined nearly 50 percent from the 2014 high of $3.39 per gallon to the 2016 average $1.68 per gallon in 2016. The statewide average labor rate assumed or included in custom rates increased by 12.5 percent from $15.58 per hour in 2014 to $17.53 in 2016. Necessary expenses vary across the state as local market forces and availability of labor may affect costs. Custom rates reported include charges for the use of necessary equipment, fuel, labor and supplies, such as baling wire or twine, provided by the custom operator. Seed, fertilizer and chemical costs are not included. Full report summaries from the 2016 UNL Custom Rates Survey are published as Nebraska Extension Circular (EC) 823 for Part I and EC 826 for Part II. The publications are available at farm.unl.edu/customrates.

Information Technology Management graduate program taking students

Wayne State College wants to help individuals bring growth and development to their careers. The College's Information Technology Management graduate program is registering students for the upcoming academic year. The program is a special concentration within the Masters of Organizational Management (MSOM) degree. The degree program is an established program and, since 2010, students have been able to complete the degree entirely online if they elect to do so. "This program offers excellent opportunities and potential benefits to those who complete it," said Dr. Tim Garvin, chair of the Computer Technology and Information Systems (CTIS) Department at Wayne State College. "The world of computing and information technologies continues to broaden and affect almost all aspects of our lives. Organizations of all sizes face the ever-evolving challenges of managing a widening mix of technologies." "The MSOM-Information Technology Management program is designed for those who work in information technology and for those whose academic backgrounds and employment backgrounds are from areas other than information technology," Garvin said. "Essentially, anyone who has to deal directly or indirectly with computing, information technologies, or related areas in organizations of any type can benefit from this academic program. Those who deal with decisions ranging from hardware and software considerations to website management and social media management, plus everything in between, will find this program of value." Students enrolled in this completely online graduate degree program enjoy tremendous flexibility in terms of when they do their course work, making it much more convenient to work into a busy schedule than face-to-face courses. Selected courses in the program are also available as face-to-face courses periodically for those students who prefer the traditional classroom approach. Working professionals who want to take the next step in their career, or those with questions about the program, should contact the CTIS Department at Wayne State at (402) 375-7545. Students needing graduate admission to Wayne State may reach the WSC Admissions Office at (800) 228-9972, extension 7234. The remaining seats in courses for the upcoming semester are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Saying a prayer for those working in law enforcement

It's 9 p.m. on Monday, and I'd better get this written before I hit the hay. (I wonder where that expression came from?) I had decided not to express my anguish at the Dallas police shootings and the slaughter in Nice, France, but yesterday, we were again faced with the ambush of police officers, this time in Baton Rouge. I sobbed as I saw the news clips, and wondered when this will stop.

I have a nephew who is a State Patrolman. Mike has a cousin whose granddaughter is married to a cop. Kay has a brother-in-law who is a SP for Nebraska, and even the former Miss Florida, Kelli Meierhenry, is married to a guy in blue. There was a time when I knew some of the Norfolk department from my work in the emergency room. Regardless of whether I know them, I grieve for their loved ones. I think of Kerri Orozco, whose baby is growing up without ever knowing her mother.

It makes no sense. To me, all lives matter. I would not have been in the health care business for all of my adult life if they did not. We had company over the weekend, and the gentleman had visited a friend at the Vet's home in Norfolk. Things seemed rather sad on that ward, and his friend had said that everyone there was just waiting to die.

Yes, I told him, I'm sure they are,

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

but the will to live is very strong. It's what helps the seriously injured to survive. I met a man at a retirement complex who has had a stroke. "They told me I wouldn't walk again," he said, "but I proved them wrong." Granted, he uses a cane, but he's walking. I met another guy, a stubborn farmer, who has a brain cancer. They told him fifteen months ago it would be six or nine months. He harvested his crops last fall! We both know it will get him eventually, but I have to smile at his determination.

But these policemen never had a chance. They are not the guys involved in the original grievance, but random sacrifices. I'm told that the year that Michael Brown was shot in Ferguson, Missouri, the nation lost 126 cops. Do you know any of their names? I don't know what it is going to take, but this has to stop!

I mentioned our company. The Big Farmer had two cousins left who farmed when he did. Both left the farm before we did, and now, there does not seem to be any cousins still farming. This one retired from a bank in Topeka, and now lives full time in Sun City. They had been in Norfolk for five weeks, and are headed back to Arizona.

As his wife said, we needed two on two conversation. And we did that. It's amazing how long four people can visit when given the opportunity. After all, we had to discuss agriculture, taxes, the presidential campaign (ugh), ministers, and ancestors. We ended the day with Val's pizza, and finally went to bed after the news. The next morning, it was off they went to York to Highway 81. Hopefully, they arrived home this evening. We are so grateful when friends and family stop in to see us. Now, if we can just get things to cool off a bit. Say a prayer, again, for that thin blue line that protects us all.

Ag Awareness festival set for Monday, Oct. 3

With continued urban growth, many youth do not have as much exposure to agriculture as in the past. Many communities are losing touch with Nebraska's greatest resource - agriculture.

The Agricultural Literacy Festival, set for Monday, Oct. 3 at the Agricultural Research and Development Center near Mead, provides an opportunity for youth to take a close-up look at agriculture.

The Ag Literacy Festival is sponsored by the Agricultural Awareness Coalition of Nebraska. The goal of the Agricultural Awareness Coalition is to help youth (predominantly urban) become aware of agriculture. The group develops resources and opportunities that will increase youth understanding and awareness about agriculture concepts.

Over 14,550 students have attended the fall festival from 1996-2015. In an effort to reach more urban youth, a spring festival was added in 2001 at the Lancaster County Event Center in Lincoln. This festival is primarily for Lancaster County youth. It, too, started as a one-day festival and has grown to two days. In 2014, the festival will be held for three days to accommodate even more students.

Landlord/Tenant cash lease Workshops, Soybean Aphid thresholds discussed

Here is another reminder that area farmers and landlords have two opportunities to attend a Landlord - Tenant Cash Lease Workshop on Wednesday, July 27.

Nebraska Extension will be offering programs at 1:30 p.m. at the Fire Hall in Pender or at 6:30 p.m. at the First National Bank Northeast in Tekamah. These come at a critical time of year as Sept. 1 is the deadline for landlords or tenants in a verbal lease to notify the other of intentions to change or renegotiate provisions of the current lease or to terminate the lease for the following crop year.

This meeting is designed to help landlords and tenants put together a lease that is right for both parties, and help maintain positive farm leasing relations. Putting together the right lease isn't about what's being discussed at the coffee shop, or what a survey of cash lease rates says. It's about what fits both the landlord and tenant for their circumstance and situation. Attending this presentation will provide a set of ideas to work from as those specifics are discussed.

UNL Extension Educators will present this workshop. It is very helpful if both the tenant and landlord can attend together. It is also helpful if the spouse attends. Everyone is welcome to the workshop.

This is a free workshop and is sponsored by Nebraska Extension, the Nebraska Soybean Board, and the North Central Risk Management Agency. Refreshments and handouts are provided. Registration is requested by calling the Thurston County extension office at

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

(402) 385-6041 or the Burt County office at (402) 374-2929. Walk-ins will be accepted in case you change your mind.

For more information or assistance, please contact John Wilson, Extension Educator at the Burt County office or email him at jwilson3@unl.edu.

For those of you who can't make these workshops, we will be scheduling others in the northeast Nebraska area later in the year.

Shortly we will be looking for soybean aphids in soybeans. This insect is a sporadic pest in Nebraska, meaning that we do not have to treat for it every year. Populations are dependent upon a variety of factors but most important is the weather and plant stage. Much research by Midwest universities, including the University of Nebraska, has been done on the soybean aphid. Unfortunately, there is disagreement by some chemical sales organizations and the universities which have invested many taxpayer dollars into getting farmers the best information on when and if they need to treat for the aphids.

From our (the university's) standpoint, there is no justification for treating soybean aphid numbers if they are below the well-researched threshold of 250 aphids per plant. Without taking up too much space, we frankly think you are often wasting your money if you treat at a lower threshold. Take the time to get more information to help you decide what is right for you. For a more detailed take on the research done on the soybean aphid, go to <http://www.extension.umn.edu/agriculture/soybean/pest/soybean-aphid/soybean-aphid-biology-and-economics/> and see for yourself.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone that helped to make the Winside Old Settler's a huge success. Whether it was by chairing an event or providing a food booth, those setting up and working behind the scenes, others that gave cash donations, or just being a part of it all to make the weekend a BIG success. We couldn't have done it without your support. Winside - a community that pulled together and made something happen, that's what Winside P.R.I.D.E. is all about!! And special thanks to each committee for all the time and effort they put into planning and the labor involved in getting things accomplished.

Thanks everyone again from the Winside Old Settler's host, Winside P.R.I.D.E.
