State tournament a local economic boost

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

When almost 100 women come to town to play golf, it takes more than a little effort to make such a venture run smoothly.

The Wayne Country Club has been playing host to the Nebraska Women's Amateur Golf Association (NWAGA) Seniors state tournament this week, and such an event is not only an opportunity to showcase one of the best small-town 18-hole courses in the state, but to provide a little economic boost to the town as well.

Wayne Country Club PGA pro Troy Harder said the Nebraska Golf Association contacted him last August about hosting a tournament. The club has hosted state-wide events in the past and recently hosted some junior state tournaments, so the club was ready when this latest opportunity came around.

"I've always told them that any time they need us to host something to let us know, and they're pretty good about rotating these tournaments around the state," Harder said. "I'd been bugging them about hosting something, so they called and asked if we would host this one." The club's staff and a host of volunteers work to get the course ready for play and to serve as host for the NWA-GA's pre-tournament banquet.

"Brian (Gibson) and the guys out on the course make sure everything's mowed and looks good and all the hazard and out-of-bounds markers are properly marked, and I try to make sure we've got enough volunteers and get the food and some other things lined up," Harder said. "We also have people like my wife, Shelly, and John Fugelberth and Jim Curtiss and Kevin Peterson who help out with a number of things. It takes a lot of volunteer help and member golf carts to get this done."

The effort has not gone unnoticed by NWAGA executive director Shelly Liddick.

"I just started in May, so this was my first look at the course," she said. "You want to have a golf course that is worthy of hosting a championship like this, and the Wayne Country Club certainly is. Troy took me out around the course on Monday, and Wayne has a beautiful golf course that's championship worthy for sure."

About the only thing Harder and his crew couldn't account for is the typical Nebraska weather, which reared its ugly head late Tuesday morning shortly after the second round of the 54-hole tournament. Dark skies, light-

The local economy gets a nice boost when statewide events like the Nebraska Women's Amateur Golf Association (NWAGA) Seniors state tournament comes to town. The Wayne Country Club hosted about 100 golfers from all over the state during the three-day meet. ### NEW BEGINNINGS FOR INCOMING FRESHMEN AT WAYNE STATE COLLEGE

No doubt the most exciting day on the Wayne State College campus is the day that the new freshman class moves into the dorms, and Friday proved to be a hectic one on campus. From the long line of cars entering the campus from Main Street (left) to the students moving their stuff into their new home as they got ready for the first day of classes, it was a day full of excitement for the Class of 2020 at Wayne State.

County budget ready for Sept. 6 public hearing

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners finalized their budget for the 2016-17 fiscal year Tuesday morning in anticipation of a public hearing to approve the budget next month.

The good news is that the county valuation shows only a slight increase of 1.28 percent for the coming fiscal term to a little more than $1.9 billion, so the county's tax asking will be less than $60,000 more than it was a year ago. The county's levy rate will drop slightly, from 25.0317 cents per $100 of valuation to 25.0290 cents.

"I think it looks really good," board chair and District 1 representative Randy Larson told The Wayne Herald after Tuesday's meeting. "I think Deb (County Clerk Deb Finn) did a really good job of laying things out for us to see what we needed to really take a look at, and it's well within the range of what I thought it would be."

The two biggest changes in the county budget for 2016-17 are in insurance costs and the approval of a request by Sheriff Jason Dwinell to add a fourth deputy to his staff. Both were approved by the commissioners.

Wayne County is one of a handful of the 93 counties in Nebraska that pays 100 percent of their employees health insurance costs. While this year's costs rose significantly, Larson said the county board felt it was important to continue to offer that benefit to its approximately 50 em-

Obituaries

Mary Doescher

Mary Doescher, 97, of Wayne, died Sunday, Aug. 21, 2016 at Careage Campus of Care in Wayne.

Services were held Wednesday, Aug. 24 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The Rev. Michael Feldman and the Rev. Carl Lilienkamp officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to the Doescher family for later designation.

Arrangements were with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Mary Elizabeth Doescher was born Sept. 26, 1918 on a farm in Dixon County to James C. and Elsie (Tuttle) McCaw. She lived her childhood in the Dixon area and graduated from Dixon High School in 1936. Mary married Leslie "Lec" Doescher on Feb. 2, 1938 at her parents' home near Dixon. They farmed near Dixon until 1948. They bought a hardware store and moved into Dixon. The couple moved to Wayne in 1959 and purchased the Fleetwood Hardware Store. Lec and Mary established Doescher Hardware which later became Doescher Appliance Store. Mary was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne and the ACME Club.

Survivors include her children, Darrell Doescher of Wayne, Keith (Jo) Doescher of Orchard, Donovan Doescher, of Wayne, Dolores (Vern) Schulz of Wayne, and Donna (Gordon) Miller of Battle Creek; six grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; one great-great grandchild; brother, Chester (Rita) McCaw of Bellevue; many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Leslie "Lec" in 2000; one daughter in 1947; daughter-in-law, Evelyn Doescher in 2013; son, Kenneth in 2016; and four brothers.

Pallbearers were Trent Doescher, Shad Miller, David Doescher, Doug Doescher, Terry Schulz and Patrick Fischer.

Jason Preston

Jason Preston, 91, of Wayne, died Sunday, Aug. 21, 2016 at Careage Campus of Care in Wayne.

Memorial services will be held Thursday, Aug. 25 at 11 a.m. at First United Methodist Church in Wayne. The Rev. Kyle Nelson will officiate. Memorial visitation will be at the church from 9:30 a.m. until service time with family present. Burial with military rites will be in Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to the Preston family for later designation. Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Jason Keith Preston was born Dec. 15, 1924 at Belden to Clarence and Angie (Hall) Preston. He graduated from Belden High School in 1942. A veteran of the Battle of the Bulge, he served in the United States Army from 1943 - 1946. Returning from the war, his marriage to Virginia Lee was postponed due to his contraction of polio. On Sept. 27, 1947 he and Virginia were married in the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. They farmed six miles west and one mile north of Wayne until 1964. After moving to Wayne, Jason worked at Merchant Oil Company for two years and then began over-the-road truck driving in 1970, a profession in which he logged over two million safe miles and from which he did not retire until 2006. Jason and Virginia spent their winters in Arizona for 22 years.

He was a life-long member of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne, active in the Wayne Players and the Wayne Community Theatre, a 66 year member of the Masons, a Master Mason, a 50 year member and Past Patron of OES, and a lifetime member of the VFW. Jason possessed a passion for traveling and passed that sense of adventure onto his children. When the children were young, the family took numerous vacations around the country. Later in life, he and Virginia visited Alaska and drove the Trans-America highway, they flew to Ireland where Jason kissed the Blarney Stone and, they cruised to the Bahamas. Jason and Virginia loved to dance and cut quite the rug on the dance floor. In addition, they enjoyed bowling and playing cards with family and friends.

Survivors include his children: Dale (Sandy) Preston of Wayne, Lynn (Bill) Kramer of Wayne, Verl Preston of New York, Neal (Anita) Preston of Georgia and Dr. Gwen Jensen of Wayne; nine grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren; three great-great grandchildren and numerous cousins, nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Virginia, in 2007; his sister, Beatrice Young, and one great-grandchild, Alex.

Urn bearers will be Verl Preston and Neal Preston.

Donald Landanger

Donald Landanger, 87, of Winside, died Sunday, Aug. 21, 2016 at Careage Campus of Care in Wayne.

Services will be held Saturday, Aug. 27 at 1:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Winside. The Rev. Kyle Nelson will officiate. Visitation will be from 12 noon until service time at the church. Burial will be in Elmwood Cemetery in Carroll.

Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Donald Roy Landanger was born Aug. 27, 1928 at Randolph to Roy and Louise (Jorgensen) Landanger. He attended Carroll Country School. Donald served as Private First Class in the United States Army from February of 1951 to Feb. 24, 1953. He married Nancy Fickle on Feb. 19, 1954 in Sioux City, Iowa. They lived near Altona, later moved to Carroll, and then Winside for the last 46 years. Donald was a carpenter, farm hand, and mechanic at the Winside Dehy. He was a member of the Carroll United Methodist Church and Winside American Legion. He enjoyed polka music, westerns, and spending time with his grandchildren.

Survivors include his wife, Nancy; children, Mary (Carl Sr.) Paustian of Hoskins, Sally (Bill) Anderson of Norfolk, and Peggy Paustian of Norfolk; daughter-in-law, Dorothy (Dan) Cradick of Gresham; foster daughter, Chris (Gary) Schaecher of Norfolk; 18 grandchildren; 42 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild; sister, Lois (Ken) Graves of Glenwood, Iowa; brothers-in-law, James (Suzanne) Fickle of Washington, Richard (Jackie) Fickle of Lincoln, R.I., Charles "Bud" Fickle of Henderson, Ky.; sisters-in-law, Kelly Landanger of Gretna, Marcella Story of Kansas, and Pat O'Connell of Idaho; many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; son, Donald Landanger; brothers, Marlin, Robert (Pat), and Gerald Landanger; and son-in-law, Terry Kettler.

Honorary pallbearers will be his granddaughters, great-grandchildren great-great-granddaughter.

Active pallbearers will be Don's grandsons.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON,
City Administrator

City Council Meetings
Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 pm on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

City Budget Schedule
The city's fiscal year is from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30. Our public hearing on the budget will be Sept. 6 at 5:30 p.m. in city hall. A copy of the proposed budget is on-line at the city's website.

Apple Trees
The apple trees in the Wayne 125th Anniversary community orchard are bearing some fruit this year. These community trees have not been sprayed with any chemicals and the apples are free to the public on a first come first served basis. The orchard is just west of the Community Activity Center parking lot across the valley.

Green Ash Trees
The Emerald Ash Borer has now spread to Nebraska Younger healthier Green Ash trees can be successfully treated every year with trunk injections. Older trees aren't going to make it.

Ash trees make up a lot of Wayne's urban forest canopy. In the next 10 years there will be a large loss of Scotch Pines, Silver Maples and now Green Ash. Wayne will look different in 10 years.

Cajun Navy
A flotilla of local Louisiana boat owners in the large flood disaster area recently formed a volunteer rescue group called the Cajun Navy. The flooding included areas that were not even in the "flood plain". It was swift and massive and government response was slow and inadequate. The Cajun Navy quickly established call centers with GPS and cell phone and Facebook communications to all boats that are out cruising and looking for victims.

Lessons learned once again: 1) The bigger area of the event, the slower the government response and the more inadequate its resources are. 2) We're on our own in wide scale disasters for long periods of time. Large scale disasters can include regional electric grid disruptions, pandemic disease with quarantines, fuel shortages from multiple oil refinery outages.

Do you have a ten day supply of food?

Pet of the Week

This week's Pet of the Week at Tender Heart Animal Rescue is Jersey.

Sweet little Jersey came from an area farm, where she had shown up looking for a new home. She is a brown tabby who spends her days in a small room alone as the other cats pick on her. She is a talker, mostly to gain attention for a little petting and love. Jersey really does need her own home with lots of love that she will readily return.

If you would like to be the recipient of Jersey's love and attention, please contact Tenderheart Animal Rescue at 402 369-6030.

Second Pink Flamingo Nite to be held Thursday, Oct. 6

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne will be the host for the second annual WELCA Pink Flamingo Nite. Last year's inaugural breast cancer awareness event drew nearly 300 people from throughout the area. This year's event will be held Thursday, Oct. 6 from 5:30-9:30 p.m. at the church. The evening will feature Susan Sparks as the guest speaker. Sparks is from New York City. She is a trial lawyer-turned-comedian, author and Baptist minister. She is also a breast cancer survivor.

Events scheduled for the evening include a light meal, the front show, vendors, a wine bar and door prizes. The Front Porch Pickers will provide music during the event. Tickets will go on sale Thursday, Sept. 1 and will be available at Swans Apparel, all Wayne banks and at the church. Tickets will be $5 each. Anyone interested in being a vendor is asked to contact Debbie Bargholz at (402) 375-4239, Cynthia Puntney at (402) 649-8515 or the church office at (402) 375-2899.

PMC offering assistance on Medicare Part D enrollment

From Oct. 15-Dec. 7, people who are on Medicare and enrolled in Medicare Part D, can choose to switch plans. If you need assistance with this process or simply have questions, you may contact Leslie Schulz or Kiley Wohlers at Providence Medical Centers Social Service Department at (402) 375-7938. "This open enrollment period gives Medicare patients a chance to review their current drug plan or advantage plans and determine if that is the best plan for the upcoming year," says Schulz, PMC Social Service Director. "If you know of someone that could benefit from this service, please contact us to assist them." "We have received our Senior Health Insurance Information Program certification (SHIIP) so we can do the compare and also sign people up with the plan of his/her choice. We are not soliciting insurance but simply giving patients the facts and letting them decide the plan that they feel is right for them." Again, contact Leslie Schulz or Kiley Wohlers at Providence Medical Center, 1200 Providence Road in Wayne, (402) 375-7938 if you have any questions or are in need of assistance.

Game and Parks approves fee increase for permits, stamps

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission adopted fee increases to some permits and stamps at its meeting Aug. 18 in Broken Bow. Fee increases, which will take effect with 2017 permits, were approved for several permits, including hunting, big game, fishing, and paddlefish, as well as for habitat, aquatic habitat and Nebraska migratory waterfowl stamps. Some issuing and application fees also were increased. To see a list of fee changes, go to www.outdoornebraska.org/feechanges. Proposed increases to park entry permits were rejected by the commissioners. They will be reconsidered in October.

The increase in hunt permit fees will help maintain the Game Cash fund, which is used for fish and wildlife management and conservation activities. Extra revenues for the Aquatic Habitat Fund will allow for a sustainable aquatic habitat renovation program, while the additional Habitat Fund dollars will allow for some increase in management efforts to implement the Commission's pheasant plan. In other business, the commissioners approved amendments:

- to wildlife management area regulations as follows: amends the definition of motorized vehicles, allows float tubes to be used for fishing, allows scuba diving except where and when prohibited, and states that wildlife management areas may be closed to the public during special hunts;
- to add fur harvest to hunt/fish combination permits for resident deployed military, veterans, and seniors;
- to approve the operating and capital improvement budget request for fiscal years 2017-2018 and 2018-2019; and
- to continue allowing hunting in some state parks and state historical park parks (view the Nebraska Public Access Atlas at Maps.OutdoorNebraska.gov/PublicAccessAtlas); The commissioners heard a preview of the Lake McConaughy/Lake Ogallala Master Plan. Game and Parks staff also gave a presentation on the new online interactive Missouri River Outdoor Recreation Access Guide. Brett Roberg of Holdrege was drawn as the winner of the 2016 bighorn sheep lottery permit. Service Awards were presented to two Broken Bow volunteer instructors for their support of Nebraska's Hunter Education Program. Louie Stithem was recognized for 40-plus years of service and Dave Haumont was honored for 20-plus years of service. An Employee Enterprise Award was presented to Trisha Schlake of Lincoln. Trisha, a GIS analyst, was recognized for work in interactive mapping. One such map, the Missouri River Outdoor Recreation Access Guide, recently won international acclaim. Awards of Excellence were presented to the Nebraska One Box Pheasant Hunt for its contributions toward conservation of wildlife habitat, and to the Nebraska One Box Rock Crushers for dedication in advancement of shooting sports.

Ready for winter

The Wayne Kiwanis Club recently presented a check for $300 to the Wayne Coat Closet. The money will be used to purchase coats, especially children's coats for the Coat Closet, which is located at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne. Anyone wishing to donate new or gently used winter coats may do so at the following drop-off times and locations: First Presbyterian Church: Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. and Wayne Public Library: Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m.-8 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., and after Labor Day- Sunday from 2-5 p.m. Involved in the Kiwanis Club check presentation were (left) Jeannie Griess, Karen Marra, Jacque Owens, Jill Sweetland (representing the Wayne Kiwanis Club), Lindsay McLaughlin and Pastor Sally Carlson of First Presbyterian Church. The women are deacons of the church.

Chamber Coffee

Misty Beair, Director of Special Education for Wayne Community Schools, welcomed those in attendance at Friday's Chamber Coffee at the Early Learning Center on Providence Road. She noted that since opening last year, enrollment has nearly doubled. Classes are available for three year olds on Tuesday and Thursday and for four year olds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Attendees were able to tour the facility and see the changes that have taken place both inside and outside in the last year.

Economic Boost

ning and two inches of rain in a 90-minute period chased the 98 golfers competing in the three-day tournament indoors, where they played cards in the clubhouse and waited out the storm.

"Monday night after we got done with the first day, I told my wife that I thought Tuesday was going to be a good day, and then the weather showed up and I wondered if we'd even get back out after all that rain," Harder said. "The nice thing about this course is that it drains really well, so we were able to go back out about an hour after it stopped raining to look around and it was still playable in all but a couple of spots."

"I was shocked at how well the course recovered," Liddick added. "To see that much rain, and then go out an hour later and there were just a few spots where you could tell it had rained, I was amazed at how well the course absorbed the rain and softened up the greens, which the ladies really liked."

Having a state tournament here in Wayne is not only beneficial to the golf course, but to the town's business district. With about 100 people visiting town, the hotels were mostly full and the local restaurants benefitted from the golfers and their families who came for the tournament.

"It's good advertising for us, and it's good to get people to come to town and stay in our hotels and eat at our restaurants," Harder said. "Bringing 100 people to town for something like this is a good thing for the community."

And you can bet that the NWAGA will likely return to Wayne at some point in the near future.

"I could definitely see us scheduling another (state) event here," Liddick said. "It's a great place and a great golf course."

"We're one of a few counties in the state that pays 100 percent of our employees' health insurance," he said. "Almost every other county has gone to a percentage, and we may not pay the top wages, but we're happy with our benefit package and I think that's one of the reasons why we don't have a lot of turnover in our county offices."

The addition of a new deputy in the sheriff's department will cost $45,000 in salary and equipment, along with another $15,000 in training costs, Larson said.

The county is also looking to continue attacking the fracture-critical bridges that they have been working to update, and will continue to do so with next year's budget.

"We've been comfortably paying down the bond issues for the bridge work we've already done, and we have some box culverts that we'll need to do, along with some other road improvements and some equipment upgrades," Larson said. "We've been aggressively going after the fracture-critical bridges and the load-rated bridges and getting updated, and this board has traditionally been aggressive in updating those."

The county's budget will face a public hearing at the board's next regularly-scheduled meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Country Club titles all in the Baldwin family

Joey Baldwin, shown teeing off on the fourth hole, shot a 108 and won his eighth Wayne Country Club championship.

Husband, wife claim club championship titles again

By KEVIN PETERSON
Of the Herald

You might have heard this story before because of its familiarity, but the husband-and-wife duo of Joey and Kari Baldwin once again captured the men's and women's Wayne Country Club titles in the annual Club Tournament held Sunday.

Competing in his eighth club tournament, Joey captured his sixth championship. He finished the 27-hole event with an even par 108 with rounds of 37-35-36. He birdied holes 9-12 and 13 over the first 18 holes and then had birdies on 4 and 7 over the final nine holes.

"I'm very happy with my score because I had to do a lot of scrambling," Joey Baldwin said. "I hit just three fairways in 27 holes but managed to put most of my second shots in position to get par."

Doug Rose entered the final nine holes four shots back of Baldwin, but the veteran birdied the first two holes of the final nine holes and then lipped out for birdie on the third hole, closing the gap to just two shots with six holes remaining. Rose birdied hole five to go three-under through the first five holes but bogeyed hole eight and finished the final round with a two-under 34 and a tournament score of 110 (two-over par).

Third place was captured by Alex Salmon with rounds of 38-38-35 (111) while fourth place was taken by newcomer Shad Wellman and rounds of 38-35-39 (112).

"I didn't like taking a bogey on the final two holes but I knew I had a three-stroke lead heading to hole eight," Baldwin said. "I pulled by tee shot on the par three, eighth hole and then I over-compensated on hole nine by pushing my tee shot right which got me in a little tree trouble. I still knew I was in good shape even with a bogey for the tournament."

In other men's action, there was six flights of golfers with Matt Eischeid claiming first place in the first flight with a 74. Doug Carroll was second with a 77 and Ryan Hix edged Chad Metzler for third by tie-breaker, each shooting 80. Josh Hopkins won the second flight with an 82 followed by Adam Diediker, 83 and Rusty Parker, 86. Joel Ankeny edged Rich Rethwisch by tie-breaker for fourth, each carding 87's.

Dave Diediker claimed top honors in flight three with an 80 followed by Randy Simonsen with an 83, edging Jim Kenny by tie-breaker. Craig Sharpe was fourth with an 84. Dave Peitz won flight four by tie-breaker over Mark Moser as each shot 86's while Brad Jones edged Mark Heithold by tie-breaker for third place at 90. Jim Curtiss won the fifth flight with a tie-breaker win over Dan Bowers at 86 while Darin Jensen did the same thing, edging Bill Melena for third with 87. The final flight was won by Rob Burrows with an 87 while Pat Melena carded a 91. Heath Dewald was third with a 95 and Don Koeber, fourth at 103. The last flight was scored by net score.

Turning to the women's bracket, Kari Baldwin shook off the wet grass from an 8 a.m. tee time and birdied three holes on the front nine which led to a one-under 35. She carded a four-over 40 on the back for a total of 75. The win was her sixth club title as well. "This is one of my favorite events of the year," Kari said. "Getting out and practicing the week of the club tournament reminds me of when I was playing every day while competing in college."

Softball team takes home title

After opening the season with a loss to a fellow top-10 team, the Wayne High softball team came back with three solid efforts to win their own Wayne Invitational softball tournament for a 3-1 start to the season.

On Thursday, two softball teams listed in the preseason Class B Top 10 by the Omaha World-Herald squared off at the Summer Sports Complex, with No. 9-ranked Blair outlasting 10th ranked Wayne, 8-4.

Blair scored two runs in the first inning and never trailed in the game, getting a pair of doubles off pitcher Hannah Belt to build their early lead.

Wayne got one run back in the first inning when Sidney Biggerstaff's hot shot to the third baseman was mishandled and the throw was late, allowing Kennedy Maly to score after she led off the game with a single. Wayne had two runners in scoring position, but were unable to bring either home.

Blair took control of the game with three runs in the third inning, then added three more in the fourth to make it 8-1. Wayne scored three in the bottom of the seventh when Maly hit a three-run homer to center field, scoring Ashton Gibson and Kiara Hochstein.

FALL SPORTS PREVIEWS

Unknown awaits for WSC volleyball coach

Walk into the Wayne State volleyball office, and the first thing you see is the end result of last year's amazing run to the Final Four – the Central Region championship trophy.

With an experienced lineup, last year's Wildcats made an amazing run and got within one match of playing for a national title. Now, four of those seven starters are gone and coach Scott Kneifl has gone from the known of an experienced group of returning starters to the unknown of finding replacements for four key players of that Central Region championship squad.

"There were a lot of great things about last year, but we lost four starters who started for four years, so that's 16 years of experience that's not easy to replace," he said. "There's been a little less sleep at night, but the girls who are back are solid and ready to go, and the

Coach: Blue Devils can be a playoff team

To say the Wayne High football team's schedule for 2016 is loaded would be the like calling water wet.

With seven of the last nine Class C-1 championships represented on the Blue Devil docket, one might think the deck is stacked against the home team.

Wayne High coach Terry Bear doesn't see it that way.

"I think they did us a big-time favor putting us in that situation," he said. "You've got to play the best to be the best, and I'm excited to see what we can do against this schedule. I think we'll be a team that is overlooked a little bit."

Wayne has six starters back on offense and five back on defense from a team that went 2-7 last year, and Bear said he likes what he's seen from his players during the summer and preseason.

"We've had a great offseason in the weight room and saw a lot of

Five return for WSC cross country

Five returning runners highlight the men's and women's cross country teams at Wayne State College for the 2016 season. Coach Marlon Brink begins his 17th season as head cross country coach, and he has two men and three women back as the Wildcats prepare to open the fall campaign. On the men's side, the top two runners from last year graduated, so the men's team will look to its younger runners to lead the way.

(Lincoln Northeast), Aaron Haahr (Laurel-Concord-Coleridge), Noah Noecker (Hartington Cedar Catholic) and Nathan Pearson (Alta-Aurelia, Iowa). "Our lack of experience will make this a transitional year that will hopefully lay the groundwork for success in the future," added Brink. The Wayne State women's team has eight runners on the squad and will feature a unique mix, bringing back the team's top runner to go with three freshmen who will be competing in cross country for the first time following successful high school track careers as distance runners.

This year's roster features three seniors, one sophomore and four freshmen. The team's top returner is senior Andrea DeSimone, who was Wayne State's top finisher in all six meets last season. "Andrea is a great leader for the young girls on our team this season," said Brink. "I believe we have a good nucleus of girls to work with and will try to improve on our NSIC conference finish. I think we can expect to see some big improvements from the beginning to the end of the Although we will be young, I think the guys have a lot of enthusiasm which will help with the transition to the college racing scene," Brink said.

Sophomore Sarah Post is the only other upperclassman on the Wildcat roster.

Other members on this year's team that will be competing in collegiate cross country for the first time this season include redshirt freshman Isaias Solorio from Madison along with freshmen Kak Ayaj

and freshman middle blocker Jaci Brahmer of Pierce.

Despite all the question marks, Wayne State is still a team many on the national scene think will be in the conversation this year. They are ranked sixth in the preseason AVCA coaches poll, even though they are picked fifth among NSIC coaches.

Leading the way is returning All-American Alyssa Frauendorfer, who recorded 395 kills and a team-high 92 blocks last year and is nowhere near satisfied with just making the Elite Eight once in her career.

Other returning letterwinners include juniors Bree Ackermann and Erin Gross, sophomores Megan Gebhardt, Payton Ruhl and Maria Wortmann, and redshirt freshman Mariah Halvorsen, who missed most of last year with an injury.

"We recruited her hard in high school and we're excited to have her in our gym, even if it took five years longer than we wanted," he said. "She really adds a different dimension to our team. She's a dynamic outside hitter who's already played at a higher level, so we're excited to get her some experience in our gym and see what can happen."

Wayne girls runners are contenders

Wayne High cross country coach Rocky Ruhl is looking forward to the upcoming season. On the one hand, he has a limited boys roster with a lot of untested talent that he's hoping will show improvement as the season goes along. On the other hand, he has a girls team that returns most of last year's talent from a fifth-place finish at state and is excited about their possibilities to contend for conference, district and state honors.

Five of the six varsity runners are back for the Blue Devil girls team, led by a trio of former state medalists in senior Marta Pulfer, junior Marcella Jurotch and sophomore Hannah Leonard. "Once you've medaled at state, there's still a hunger there to do it again," Ruhl said. "I think Marta and Marcella are really ready to challenge to try and do it again and get up there with Hannah, and Hannah is really running with a lot of potential. If we can keep those three healthy, they'll be steady performers for us."

very good chance of getting back in the top five," he said. The boys team won't have as much depth as the girls squad, but Ruhl sees some good things out of his limited boys roster and hopes they will continue to improve this season. "Will (Anderson) ran well in the time trial and Jack (Evetovich) was out with some knee problems last year but is running well so far," he said. "Brandon (Wacker) is also back and had a good track season, so those three letterwinners are looking solid."

Also back from the state team are junior Andrea Torres and sophomore Gabi Meyer, both of whom look to be improved runners heading into the season. "Gabi ran really well in the time

trial and looked really confident coming off of track season last year, and Andrea is a very hard worker and I think she'll push those top girls with the way she's running." There are a number of girls who could see time in the No. 6 spot in the varsity lineup. Junior Molly Hoskins has some experience at the position, and senior Caitlin Janke, sophomores Sarah Greenwald and Maura Loberg and freshman Maddie Bear could do battle for the position as well.

New to the lineup are senior R.J. Liska, who is hoping to compete after a solid track season in the spring; and freshman Cole Hobza, who ran well in the junior high ranks. A late addition to the lineup is Lucas Longe, who traded football pads for cross country cleats to give the Blue Devils a full six-man lineup.

Also back from the state team are junior Andrea Torres and sophomore Gabi Meyer, both of whom look to be improved runners heading into the season.

"I think it will come down to how hard everyone is willing to work," Ruhl said. "We want to get to the point where we're giving it our all and challenging ourselves, and I think if we can do that, we're going to have a very good team."

"I don't know where we'll end up, but I like the way the boys are working and that hard work is going to pay off," Ruhl said. "The more they run, the more confidence they'll get and the more they'll challenge people."

and freshman middle blocker Jaci Brahmer of Pierce.

While the Wildcats do have to replace several key elements from last year's 28-8 team that finished a program-best third in the country, Kneiff's cupboard is nowhere close to being bare with three key returning starters back from last year's magical team.

The addition of Vondrak was a big one for Kneiff. She is a Sioux City native who played for three years at Div. I Iowa State before deciding to transfer for her senior year.

"This team is really unproven right now, so those are some high, lofty goals," Kneiff said of the preseason rankings. "We know we're going to take some bumps early, starting a setter who hasn't played the position since high school and a freshman at the libero position, but we have some leaders out there who can make things happen for us, so it's going to be an interesting start to the season."

Other members on this year's team that will be competing in collegiate cross country for the first time this season include redshirt freshman Isaias Solorio from Madison along with freshmen Kak Ayaj

From Page 1B testing results go up, and the kids have really shown a lot of improvement," he said. "They're buying into the program and going beyond themselves, and I'm really proud of the boys."

Mike Reyes and Lathan Ellis return to anchor what should be a bigger and tougher offensive line, and both will be counted on to lead the defensive front four as well.

"We're going to look bigger than we have," Bear said. "We have some good talent there with Mikey and Devan Henschke and Kaden Kneiff, along with Lathan and Hunter Jorgensen at the tackles, and Coach (Russ) Plager has done a nice job of communicating with our defense, so we're looking forward to seeing what happens."

Junior Beau Bowers looks to be the starter at quarterback this year, although sophomore Tyler Gilliland could see some time under center as well. Bear said Bowers is more of a mobile quarterback and should give opposing defenses some trouble with his arm and his legs.

Defensively, Jaixen, Pecena and Lee were key players last year and will be called upon again this year to lead the charge.

The Blue Devils open with defending C-1 champion Columbus Scotus, then hits the road to meet 2014 champion Boone Central/Newman Grove. As if that's not enough, they'll face Pierce, the 2007 and 2008 champs, in their second district game; and will also battle district foe Norfolk Catholic, who won three straight titles from 2010-2012.

"I feel comfortable with either one, and we'll be getting Tyler some reps in at receiver so I think both will see the field quite a bit," Bear said.

The skilled positions look to be solid for the Blue Devils, with Tyler Pecena developing into a solid running back.

"Throughout the year, we'll have some good competition that's going to get us prepared for the postseason," Bear said. "The kids believe we're a playoff team and I think we'll step up and turn some heads this year."

"Tyler runs with his shoulders down and has great vision and is really a phenomenal runner, and we have Grayson (McBride), Mason (Lee) and Ryan (Jaixen) who are great receivers that we can get the ball to and any one of them can make a big play at any moment," Bear said. "I really feel comfortable with our skilled positions and I'm looking forward to seeing how they perform on game day."

Top three scorers are back for WSC women's soccer

Wayne State women's soccer coach Bruce Erickson feels his 2016 Wildcat squad will have a lot more to choose from in the way of scoring weapons this season.

The top three goal scorers are back from last year's team that finished 4-11-3, and with some new players coming on board who have shown potential to put the ball in the net, the hope is for this year's team to be much improved.

"We've got more players who can score this year," he said in his pre-season interview. "We're not going to be a team that has a girl who can score 15-20 goals, which would be great to have, but I think we have about a half-dozen or so girls who can get 5-6. I like the pieces that we've added as far as incoming players are concerned."

Leading the charge is returning senior midfielder Kelsey Engstrom, who scored three goals and had a team-best eight points this past season. She is joined by fellow starters Carys Hund and Christina Stasi, both of whom had three goals last season in their freshman campaigns.

Still, with that experience back from last year, the Wildcats will have a young team made up primarily of freshmen and sophomores.

"We have three seniors and eight non-seniors right now who we're looking at starting, and I think that will continue to change," Erickson said. "The good thing is that all our sophomores played last year as freshmen, so we're still young, but we have some experience."

Among those returning as starters are junior midfielder Suenly Galvez, who led the team with three assists and will be a key in the offensive attack; and sophomores Brooke Buzzell, Karlee Hall, Natalie Rech and Alexis Strothers, all of whom are battling for spots in the starting lineup.

Another returning starter is goalkeeper Kylie Comba, who made 115 saves last year and is a veteran in the Wildcat lineup whose leadership will be key to the team's success.

"Kylie's had three years of experience and been a starter the last three years, and last year she played every second of every game," Erickson said. "Rachel (Grisham) is coming in as a freshman and has been fantastic, and I think she'll push Kylie so we're going to have some depth in goal, but Kylie has the experience and right now I think we're better with her in goal."

Hall and Strothers will help lead the Wildcat defense, along with senior defender Valerie Hernandez, who scored two goals last year; senior Jennifer Zick and sophomore Lexi Rosa. Also back are senior midfielder Hayley Hunter, junior midfielder Bryana Garcia and sophomore Hannah Knight.

Erickson also sees some potential in some newcomers to the team as well.

"Some of our top performers have been freshman," he said. "Sophie Ketchmark has been great as an attacking midfielder, Sam Phillips comes here from Laramie (Wyo.) Community College and is a savvy goal scorer with size and good speed, and Madison Burgard is probably our biggest surprise and is putting her stamp on the left back position. I think we've got some good depth, and if we can find a center midfielder that can give us some good minutes and we can stay healthy, I think we'll have some good depth this year."

The Wildcats will have that depth tested right out of the gate this year, thanks to a schedule that sees them play four games in the first six days of the season. They open Sunday, Sept. 4 at Colorado-Colorado Springs, play at Colorado Christian two days later and then follow with a game the following day at Nebraska-Kearney before their NSIC season opener at home against pre-season favorite Augustana on Friday, Sept. 9.

"We have a brutal start, and part of that was by design, but it's tough to try to cram three non-conference games into a 15-game conference schedule," Erickson said. "We play four games in those first six days, and it's crazy how that schedule worked out but we'll deal with it."

Erickson feels the team can do better than its preseason 11th-place spot in the conference coaches' poll, adding that anything can happen after the top four sports in the league this year.

"Usually in this league, there's a top four, a bottom four and a middle eight, and this year, the top four were easy to pick and after that, positions 5-16 are up for grabs," he said. "We were picked 11th and we could finish above or below that. Our goal is to get into the top eight and get into the conference tournament, and once you get there anything can happen. If we can get the same results from our wins last year, turn ties into wins and upgrade some of those losses into ties or wins, we'll have a better result this year."

Trojan volleyball returns five

New Wakefield volleyball coach Iris Borg inherits a good group of returning starters back from last year's 11-21 squad.

All five returning starters are seniors with a lot of experience under their belts, and Borg is hoping those returning players will provide some much-needed leadership to help their team succeed this fall.

"We are excited for our returning players to take ownership in their team so they can help lead and build unity amongst all of the players, which will improve everyone's skill set," she said.

Back from last year are returning seniors Savannah Nelson, Briana Andrade, Megan Borg, Tanna Pretzer and Avery Zamzow. Nelson will direct the offense as the team's top returning setter, recording 324 assists last season, while Pretzer will also assist in setting duties after recording 184 sets last year. Andrade will attack from the outside, where she had 115 kills last year; Borg will be the right side hitter with 124 kills last year; and Zamzow will attack from the middle, where she had 46 kills in 2015.

Jessica Borg, who also saw time as a setter last year as a freshman, will also be back as a returning letterwinner. Coach Borg also noted junior Kenna Mackling as a player to watch, as the 5-foot-6 junior is expected to contribute at either outside hitter or middle hitter.

The Trojans open the season at the Northeast Nebraska Shootout in Wisner on Sept. 1-3. They will host their own eight-team tournament Sept. 8-10 at Wakefield High School.

Blue Devil volleyball team will be led by seven seniors

After a 19-13 season last year, a hungry bunch of seniors are looking to take the Wayne High volleyball team to the next level this fall.

The Blue Devils have five starters and nine letterwinners back from last year, and the bulk of them are seniors who will provide a lot of leadership this season, fifth-year coach Traci Krusemark said.

"We did a lot of things this summer to get ready," she said. "We were in the weight room more and played a lot more this summer, so I think we're ahead a little bit of where we were last year. We have seven seniors in the lineup and this is a really tight-knit group who have been playing for a few years, so I think we can have a great year."

Both setters who ran Wayne's 6-2 offense return this year, as seniors Brenna Vovos and Lindsay Sandoz will direct the Blue Devil offense. Allison Echtenkamp, who was lost to a late-season injury, is back in the fold, and senior right side hitter Melinda Longe and junior outside hitter Kylie Hammer will give the Blue Devils a lot of experience.

Four other letterwinners return to the fold, including seniors Kelsey Boyer, Emily Matthes and Gabi Lutt, junior Shania Anderson and sophomore Ashton Boyer. All are expected to be key contributors to the team's success this season, with newcomer Katelyn Grone also showing promise for the varsity squad.

The Blue Devils will face some tough competition, particularly within the Mid State Conference with perennial powers Crofton, Guardian Angels Central Catholic and Pierce among the early contenders for conference honors.

"The Mid State is always tough with those great teams, along with Norfolk Catholic and Boone Central," she said. "We want to be able to compete day in and day out so that, by conference tournament time, we're playing at the top of our game. We played against some of those teams and competed well, so hopefully we'll be ready to go this season."

The Blue Devils played in a jamboree at Wisner Tuesday, beating Emerson-Hubbard 25-14, 25-16 and beating Winnebago 25-3, 25-6. They will open the season at the Northeast Nebraska Shootout in Wisner next Thursday and Saturday, Sept. 1-3, and Krusemark said the team's goal is to play their best and leave everything out on the floor by season's end.

"I think that if you ask the girls what their goal is, it will be to get to state and win a game," she said. "I think if you ask us coaches, that is a goal for us as well, but we want them playing at the top of their game and not have any regrets at the season. That, by far, is the best goal."

LCC gridgers move to 8-man ball

After a couple of rough seasons in 11-man football, the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge gridgers will make the adjustment to the eight-man game in 2016.

New coach Patrick Arens returns 11 letterwinners from last year's 1-8 team, and he's looking to build a winner with the Bears this season.

"We are looking to build on a good preseason, day by day, game by game, and we are working to improve as individuals and as a team. We will be a very competitive team," he said.

The Bears have four seniors in the lineup, led by speedsters Jayden Reifenrath and Mason Forsberg. Trey Erwin and DJ Spahr also expect to provide senior leadership for the Bears this season.

Zach Dietrich and Branden Heller are the only juniors in the lineup this season, but a strong sophomore group includes Sam Cary, Hunter Pehrson, Brian Potts, Izac Reifenrath, Noah Stone and Ethan Williams. The other half of the 24-man roster includes a dozen freshmen who will find a place in the lineup.

The Bears open their first year of eight-man football at home this Friday, facing Randolph.

Wakefield grid coach optimistic

After dealing with a host of injuries last year, Wakefield coach Mike Hassler is optimistic about his team's chances for success in 2016.

"The positive we took out of last season was a lot of younger athletes gained valuable experience on the varsity field," he said of last season's 2-6 effort that saw eight varsity starters miss a combined total of 13 games. "We saw our younger players step up their game late in the year and we played toe-to-toe against some quality playoff teams."

Three-year starters Daniel Nuno (running back) and Moises Barboza (offensive line) lead a group of nine returning starters for the Trojans. Nuno rushed for more than 800 yards last season and is expected to improve on that number, with Barboza leading the blocking effort.

Another three-year starter, Isaac Camarena, moves from quarterback to wide receiver to give the Trojans a speedy threat in the skilled position. That opens the door for sophomore Solomon Peitz, who will step in as quarterback on a full-time basis after filling in for Camarena when he missed the final three games due to injury.

The Trojans have a number of key players back as well, including tight end and defensive tackle Julio Sanchez, who Hassler said was the strongest athlete in their weight room this summer. Luke Walsh moves from free safety to outside linebacker this season, Noah Lamprecht was the team's second-leading rusher behind Nuno and should also make an impact at linebacker, and Israel Gardea and Ben Klein should also be key returning starters for the Trojans this season.

Hassler also noted that newcomers Esgar Godinez and Ben Chase could make a name for themselves this season. Godinez will be called upon to provide some needed depth in the backfield and at defensive back, while Chase will give the Trojans some much-needed depth on their offensive line.

"It will come down to how we come together as a team," he said. "We need eight guys on the same page at all times, and if we can do that, I think we can put up a fight against anyone we face."

The Trojans open the season at home Friday against Winnebago.

Eagles hope to take next step after just missing playoffs

After just missing out on a trip to the state playoffs last year, the Allen Eagles are hoping to take that next step and find a spot in the D-2 football playoffs in 2016.

The Eagles return five starters on both sides of the ball from a team that went 4-4, and coach Dave Uldrich said his team is making progress as they get ready to kick off the coming campaign.

"We have things to get done and little time to do it, so we look to get better with each practice," he said. "We have the ability to be a fairly competitive squad, but what we do with those opportunities will be up to the team to accomplish."

Uldrich said he will rely on his senior leaders - Cody Thomas, Garrett Brentlinger, Chase Johnson and Tayler Kumm - to lead the 19-player roster this season.

Thomas is a returning all-district first-team selection on defense who also saw time on the offensive line. Brentlinger plays end on offense and cornerback on defense. Johnson is a starter on offense at the guard position, and Kumm will be a four-year starter at quarterback for the Eagles.

Uldrich said his junior class should also have some key performers, including Jacob Williams, a two-year starter on the offensive and defensive ends; offensive linemen Owen Pedersen and Blake McCorkindale, Levi Woodward in the backfield and Bud Kneif, who is a newcomer that could impact the offensive and defensive lines.

Sophomores Kyle Smith (full-back, linebacker) and Isaac Verzani (center, linebacker) should also see some time this season. Both are back after missing parts of last season with injuries. Other sophomores looking to make an impact include Devin Twohig, Oscar Roth and Jarod Lund.

Uldrich said several freshmen could see time this season, including Brogan Jones, Josh Grone and Seven Cooks. Noah Carr and Lukas Oswald could also see time this season.

The Eagles will compete in a tough district with perennial powers Randolph, Wynot and Emerson-Hubbard doing battle. Uldrich feels the team is ready to compete against what will be a challenging schedule.

"We had a positive camp and we hope to keep that momentum alive," he said. "If we play hard, we could be a fairly good squad. Our goal is to be playing as a confident team in November."

The Eagles open the season Friday at home against O'Neill St. Mary's.

Healthy Wildcats looking forward to 2016 campaign

Wayne State football coach Dan McLaughlin has had to deal with more than his share of injured players the past couple of seasons, which is why he's hopeful that this year's Wildcat team will be more successful than last year's 4-7 record showed.

Key injuries last year put a damper on what was an optimistic outcome in 2015, but the 12th-year Wildcat mentor said he's looking forward to seeing what a healthy Wayne State team can do this season.

"I know we've had a couple of poor years in terms of wins and losses, but I think injuries have been a huge factor in that," he said. "People who know who we have had on our rosters know that we weren't shooting our guns with a full set of bullets the last couple of years, and I'm hopeful that ugly specter doesn't raise its head again. I hope we can keep our kids healthy, and if we do that I think we've got a great shot."

Nowhere is staying healthy more important than it is at quarterback, and that was made evident last year when Zach Osborn suffered a season-ending broken thumb on his throwing hand in the first series of the second game against Minnesota Duluth last year.

The injury quashed what was looking to be a breakout season for the junior, but a medical redshirt and a clean bill of health has the Harlan, Iowa native looking forward to this season.

"Coming off surgery you always have some doubts, but they did a good job over there at (Dakota) Dunes and rehab went well, and it's probably better than it was the start of last season," Osborn said. "I think we have an opportunity to be a lot more balanced than we were. Our passing game can set up our running game and our running game can set up the passing game, so they work hand-in-hand and I think we have a chance to have a really balanced attack."

Osborn isn't the only "wounded warrior" who is returning to the Wayne State lineup. In fact, several key players are among those who missed some or all of last season, which has McLaughlin excited.

"Nate Rogers started as a freshman and sat out last year because of academics, and he's had a tremendous fall so far," he said. "Ryan Porter sat out last year because of injuries and he's back and doing an outstanding job on the offensive line, Rashad Tremble started as a freshman at running back and had ankle surgery and was out a couple years and he's back, Logan Weinandt is coming off an injury at defensive end and is back. We have a lot of kids that you may have forgotten about because of injuries who are back, so there's a lot of reason for optimism."

In all, seven starters return on offense and six on defense. Osborn and NSIC South Division first-team selection Shane Finley (offensive line) lead the returners on offense, while Weinandt and linebacker Dewayne Scott are back in the fold as well.

Wayne State's biggest concern on offense will be replacing Ryan Ludlow, who rushed for over 1,000 yards and scored seven touchdowns last year. Trimble and junior Alex Kline are both expected to carry the load at running back, while sophomore Nick Arlt and freshman Isaiah Otis could also see time. Houston Huss also returns at fullback.

Marcel Dunson is the top receiver back for the Wildcats after scoring six touchdowns and recording 544 yards in 45 receptions. Nick Roth and Jacob Hjorth also bring their experience back at receiver this year as well, and Shymere Williams, Sam Wegner and Zach Glidden could also be potential targets for Osborn and backup quarterback Taylor Reedy, who started in place of Osborn for much of the season last year.

Keaton Slaughter returns at tight end for the Wildcats, backed by M.J. Blankenfeld and Laurel native Justin Saunders, who moves to the position from outside linebacker.

On the line, Finley is joined by Mike Milenkovich and Kevin Camacho as returning starters. Porter and Matt Doeschot look to be key players on the line, along with Tyler Garrett, Austin Pelc, Jayle Hinkle, Michael Bentley and Marquise Jones.

Defensively, Weinandt is one of the Wildcats' players to watch in the NSIC this season at defensive end. He will be joined by senior Jarrod Bazata, with Kory Fitch, Richard Stevenson and Ryand Bryan also looking to make their mark at defensive end.

DaQuan Samuel and Jonathan Bland look to be the leaders at defensive tackle, with Trevor Carstens, Austin Gubbels and Justin Pleasant pushing for playing time. Key players to watch at linebacker include Dewayne Scott and Christian campos in the middle, Taylor Hoffman, Emeka Etta and Kolbie Foster at the Sam position, and Tyler Thomsen and Cody Eischeid at the Will linebacker spot.

Most of the defensive secondary returns for the Wildcats, including Cam Montgomery at strong safety and Tyri Bethea and Jamaal Conway-Smith at cornerback. Players like Nick DeBuhr, Ian Ailts, Corbin Foster and Kevin Ranson also should see time in the defensive backfield.

The Wildcats open on the road with a Thursday night game at MSU Moorhead on Sept. 1, and play their home opener on Sept. 10 against Minot State. McLaughlin said it will be important to get off on the right foot, especially with four games against preseason-ranked opponents this season.

"Morehead is vastly improved, so we're certainly not going to overlook them," he said. "I think our conference is the toughest in Div. II, so we'll need to be prepared every week, but if you can't win those first couple the season can get tough, so right now our focus is on Morehead."

Lady Eagle volleyballers hope to overcome youth, height in '16

The Allen Lady Eagles volleyball team hope to overcome their youth and height issues with a hard-working ethic during the 2016 season.

Coach Cheryl Greve has four starters and six letterwinners back from last year's 14-16 team, and she's excited about what her team will show this season.

"We are young and not very tall, but they're a hard-working group and we're excited to see how strong of a team we can become," she said.

Leading the returning starters is all-Lewis & Clark Conference outside hitter Bri Hingst. The 5-foot-8 junior is one of two upperclassmen who return as letterwinners, along with senior defensive specialist Sierra Brahmstead.

Other starters back from last year include three sophomores, setter Cassie Thomas, outside hitter Haley Stapleton and middle hitter Summer Jackson. Sophomore defensive specialist Katie Bathke and right side hitter Beth Kneif also return to the lineup for the Lady Eagles.

Greve listed five players as players to watch this year, including juniors Kaitlyn Madsen (right side hitter) and Desi Martell (outside hitter), sophomores Alyssa Boess (outside hitter) and Alexis Gregorsen (middle hitter), and freshman middle hitter Ally Twohig.

The Lady Eagles open the 2016 season with the Northeast Nebraska Shootout Sept. 1-3 in Wisner. They have just two home dates on the schedule this year, with Walthill on Sept. 29 and Homer on Oct. 18.

LCC volleyball team loaded with experience for 2016 campaign

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge Lady Bears volleyball team have a wealth of experience back from a team that went 6-22 last season.

Coach Patti Cunningham said the team is showing signs of being a competitive bunch that should show improvement this season.

"The athletes are displaying the characteristics needed to be a solid team," she said. "We'll be facing many quality opponents and will continue working hard to earn positive results throughout the season."

Three seniors and three juniors make up the group of returning starters. Leading the way are 6-foot-2 middle blocker Katie Leapley and 6-foot senior outside hitter and middle blocker Kaci Groene. Senior setter Katelyn Cook will direct the Lady Bears offense.

Also back from last year are three juniors, including outside hitters Ashley Wolfgram and Bryn Schutte and libero Mady Holloway, all of whom saw considerable time last season.

Also back from last year are three letterwinners, including senior outside hitter Emily Hangman, junior setter Abbie Bloom and sophomore defensive specialist Lorna Maxon. Players to watch include sophomores Bethany Kardell, Jasmine Galvin, Jozie Schutte and Sydney Chapman.

The Lady Bears will open the season with two home games, facing Randolph on Thursday, Sept. 1, and Homer on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Winside football team looking for better results in 2016 season

The Winside football team has some high hopes with a number of quality players back from a team that was better than their 1-7 indicated.

Coach Kent Lawson said the seven returning starters back from last year will give the Wildcats some solid depth and make them a fun team to watch this season.

"We will be much improved this season," he said. "We made some great strides in 2015, regardless of what the record indicated, and we have a lot of experience returning."

Much of Winside's experience will be on the line, with senior Caleb Dwinell and junior Jon Escalante leading the way. The Wildcats could also see senior Cory Shoff in the lineup at some point this year, but that remains to be seen after he suffered an ACL injury during the state wrestling tournament in February.

Also back in the lineup is senior running back and linebacker Hayden King, who is expected to be one of the Wildcats' go-to players this season. Senior tight end Jaden Wagner could also play a key role in the Winside offense, which will be directed by quarterback Brandon Watters. He will look to Wagner and junior Colton Jensen as two of his leading receivers.

Letterwinners who are also back from last year include juniors Trey Meis (running back, linebacker), Mason King (tight end, defensive line) and William Bullard (running back, linebacker), along with sophomore lineman Michael Jensen.

The Wildcats debut with a Saturday night game, playing at Elkhorn Valley. Their home opener is Friday, Sept. 2 against Fullerton.

Winside XC boys young, fun to watch

Although inexperienced, the group of boys competing for Winside in cross country should be a fun one to watch.

Coach Jennifer Kesting does have three returning starters back from last year, but the rest of the team is untested and she is looking forward to seeing what they can do this season.

"We have a large, mostly inexperienced boys team this year, but I'm excited and curious to see how they will do in competition," she said. "Summer conditioning has gone well, and many of the older members of the team are joining us from other sports."

Returning runners from last year include Dylan Brogren, Josh Gruenke and Cody Frederick. Eight runners will be in the lineup for the Wildcats when they debut Thursday, Sept. 1 at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational at Indian Hills Golf Club in Beemer.

Winside volleyball team's schedule loaded with home dates this season

If you're looking to catch the Winside volleyball team at home this season, you'll have plenty of opportunities.

A year ago, a delayed installation of a new gym floor caused the team to be road warriors for much of the first month of the season, but scheduling switches will work more in their favor this year, as they won't play a road game until the first week in October.

Three starters and six letterwinners return from last year's 11-16 team that reached the subdistrict final, and coach Teresa Watters said she's excited about what this team can accomplish this season.

"The entire team has been working extremely hard during the summer, and we're excited to get the season started," she said.

Returning to the lineup this season are starters Alex Bargstadt, Callie Finn and Alyssa Brogren. Returning letterwinners this year include juniors Fauneil Olander and Sarah Wolfe, and sophomore Haylee Cummins.

Watters said several newcomers should make things interesting this year, including senior Machella Buckendahl, junior Victoria Buresh and freshmen Andi Bargstadt, Marissa Remm and Morgan Remm.

Winside will play their first 11 games at home this season, starting with a triangular on Thursday, Sept. 1 and a quadrangular on Saturday, Sept. 3. Their first road game is Oct. 6 at Wynot.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on September 6, 2016, in the City Council Chambers, the City of Wayne will hold a public hearing concerning an application to the Department of Economic Development for a Community Development Block Grant. This grant is available to local governments for community and economic development activities.

The City of Wayne is requesting $30,000 of CDBG Comprehensive Development (CD) Phase I funds, of which $27,000 is for a planning study and $3,000 for general administration of the grant. Local matching funds of $9,000 will be provided by the City of Wayne. The total project cost is $39,000. All activities will be conducted within the LMI target area. All CDBG funds will benefit low-to-moderate income persons in the community. No persons will be displaced as a result of this project. The grant will also require an additional leverage of $9,000 within the target area and to benefit LMI persons.

The grant application will be available for public inspection at the Wayne City Office. All interested parties are invited to attend this public hearing at which time you will have an opportunity to be heard regarding the grant application. Written testimony will also be accepted at the public hearing scheduled for 5:30 p.m., September 6, 2016, at the Wayne City Council Chambers located at 306 Pearl Street, Wayne, Nebraska 68787. Written comments addressed to Betty A. McGuire, City Clerk, PO Box 8, Wayne, Nebraska 68787, will be accepted if received on or before September 6, 2016.

Individuals requiring physical or sensory accommodations including interpreter service, Braille, large print, or recorded materials, please contact Betty A. McGuire, City Clerk, at PO Box 8, 306 Pearl Street, Wayne, Nebraska 68787 or at (402) 375-1733 no later than September 5, 2016. Accommodations will be made for persons with disabilities and non-English speaking individuals provided that a one-day notice is received by the City of Wayne.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Old high school friends getting back together - me with Kenny, TeSelle (middle) and Kevin Dill after our visit to see Kenny before he begins his battle with brain cancer.

Reconnecting with youth, old friends

One of the things about turning "the big 5-0" that I've really enjoyed has been the rekindling of old friendships. Over the last several months, it seems like some of the people I enjoyed my younger days with have been finding their ways back into my life - and it feels like the time between then and now has been but a flash.

I've connected with a number of my old friends from high school and college through Facebook, and we've shared a lot of our families' moments through there. Sometimes, though, a moment in time serves as an inspiration to physically reconnect with those people and not only share those memories, but let them know how much you care about them and how grateful you are to have them as a part of your life.

Recently, one of my old high school friends, Kenny TeSelle (pictured in the middle with me and our friend, Kevin Dill) was diagnosed with brain cancer. The three of us were old friends during our days roaming the halls at Milford High School, and while Kevin and I left after school to make our careers, Kenny stayed and found his way at home, building a beautiful family with his wife of 30 years, Teresa, and their kids and grandkids.

Teresa had messaged us about Kenny's trip to the hospital for a biopsy after the tumor was discovered, and I made an initial visit to see him. He wasn't in good shape, suffering from some intense headaches, and the week after the surgery wasn't a good one for him. We said a lot of prayers for him and hoped for an answer to his health issues.

The bad news came a few days later - the tumor is cancerous, and he'll begin an aggressive chemo and radiation regimen that, we hope, will knock the cancer out. The good news, though, was that his headaches eventually subsided, and while he was having some vision issues, the doctor gave him the go-ahead to go home and be with family.

Kevin made the trip from Denver, and we met in Milford to go visit our old friend, not knowing for sure how long he'd be able to have us or what kind of shape he'd be in physically or mentally. We were prepared for a short, emotional visit or one that would leave us laughing and looking forward to the next time we could get together.

We walked in and, thankfully, were able to spend a couple hours with the same old Kenny we grew up with. He was talkative, joking, making fun of himself, his friends and even his grandkids. At one point, we were trying to figure out the last time the three of us were in the same room together. Kevin and I had both seen Kenny and Teresa at different times over the years, but we determined the last time we were ALL together was way back in the early 90's when Kevin got married - the last of the trio to make that lifetime commitment. (I'm happy to report that two of the three are STILL married to their first wife . . . the other is still looking for No. 2, but I digress . . .)

The time together passed quickly, and the only thing that felt different about the time we spent together is that we didn't have parents hanging around to make sure we didn't put ANOTHER car in a ditch, start a fire in the back yard, or commit some other act of potential mayhem that teenage boys were known to do back in the day. Memories of those events in our lives are ones we'll always treasure and laugh about, no matter the time or space that comes between us.

We're looking forward to Kenny kicking cancer's butt in the weeks ahead, and once he wins that battle, we're planning on reuniting the group of friends we all hung out with to celebrate - not only his victory over cancer, but the friendships that time and middle age can't erase.

Capitol View Throwing stones at stubborn man

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

State Senator Bill Kintner of Papillion is hard to like. He's certainly not the kind of person who walks into a room and brightens it up. He's a bit pushy and loud. He's not afraid to push his agenda.

He's also stubborn. An investigation a year ago revealed his involvement in a cybersex incident while he was out of the state on non-legislative business. He used a state computer. The governor asked him to resign. He refused. An investigation by the State Accountability and Disclosure Commission resulted in a $1,000 fine and another request from the governor that he resign. He didn't.

In fact, he's been defiant about it. He won't apologize for it. He said he will apologize only to his wife and to God for engaging in cybersex with a woman last summer. He said he is sorry he sinned against God and sorry that he sinned against his wife. He told the Lincoln Journal Star that he hasn't apologized to his constituents or fellow senators. One gets the idea that said apologies won't be coming anytime soon.

During legislative debate, Kintner likes to point out that he was raised to learn the "moral absolutes of Christianity." During this current struggle he questions why senators would be talking about impeaching or expelling him. He said a number of them have shown a lack of standards themselves. He asks what standard he has violated to embarrass the institution of the Legislature.

Take a deep breath, senator. Unauthorized use of a government issued device is against state policy. Lieutenant Governor Rick Sheehy resigned after it was discovered that he used a state-issued cell phone to make hundreds of calls to women who were not his wife. Yes, Sheehy did the honorable thing and stepped down and gave up a promising political career.

At least one veteran observer has noted that if it was another senator involved in a cybersex scandal that Kintner would be leading a handful of his cronies in gathering firewood for the burning at the stake.

Kintner told the Lincoln paper that other senators have acted in ways that "apparently did not violate legislative standards: drinking and driving, adultery and affairs, fornication between senators and staff, habitual drunkenness and inflammatory rhetoric that could incite violence against police officers."

Excuse me, senator. The charge against you has been proven and you have been fined. Where is the proof to back up your complaints about drinking and adultery and fornication? Isn't there something in those "moral absolutes" that prohibits you from making such judgment?

When the Scribes and Pharisees brought the sinful woman to him to be stoned, Jesus said to them (in John 8:7) "He that is without sin among you, let him cast a first stone at her."

So now the Legislature is throwing stones at a stubborn man. The governor has washed his hands of the matter, saying it's the Legislature's business. Lawmakers are mulling a special session to deal with the matter while one of their colleagues, Senator Ernie Chambers, has indicated he'll seek impeachment or expulsion proceedings. Chambers once sued God, how hard could it be to do something about Kintner? Besides, Kintner now says that it's part of God's plan for him to be an effective advocate in the Legislature. Suppose it's also part of God's plan that Chambers be an effective advocate for his constituents?

Kintner says that Chambers does not occupy the moral high ground in the Legislature. "Not on this issue or any other moral issue." Oh put down your sack of stones senator. In his more than 40 years in the nation's only Unicameral, Chambers' most egregious errors seem to have something to do with a heavy foot on the gas pedal.

Oh, and those moral absolutes. Ernie knows and can quote and explain more passages of Scripture than anyone else in the place.

People who don't like Ernie managed to get this bad idea called term limits passed. Ernie was gone for four years and the people saw it and said it was good. But, he's back.

So what can the people do about the stubborn man who refuses to resign?

From the Governor's office Trade is important to state's economy

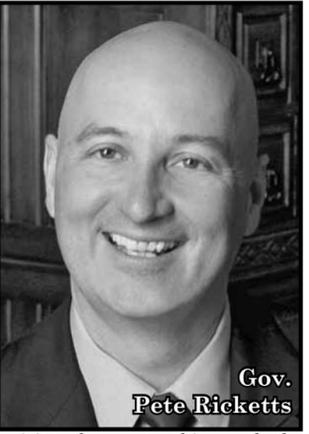

Trade helps grow Nebraska. From commodities like corn and soybeans to beef and pork, Nebraska reaps the benefits of international trade to the tune of about $10 billion. We didn't achieve this level of success overnight—it has been the product of a lot of hard work in building trade relationships with countries around the world. With low commodity prices right now, it is particularly important we work to expand trade opportunities and open up new markets across the globe.

Last week, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) and I announced that Nebraska would be signing letters of intent with Taiwan to expand our trade relationship with the country. Taiwan has historically been a very important trade partner with our state. During a visit to the country this month, the Nebraska Ag Director signed letters of intent on behalf of the state with Taiwan to purchase more than $405 million in Nebraska corn, soybeans, wheat, beef, pork, and distiller's grains. The letters outline Taiwan's intent to purchase over $100 million each of wheat, corn, and soybeans as well as a total of about $20 million of pork and beef products.

These letters of intent build on our successful trade missions last year. Our efforts to build relationships during international trade missions have led to several successful investments from companies including Morio Denki, Geist, and Worldlawn. In addition to these successes, Kawasaki announced in January that it would establish its first U.S. aerostructures production line in Lincoln. Kawasaki leadership said last fall's trade mission to Japan played a part in their decision-making to expand Kawasaki's presence in Nebraska. This expansion is great news for Nebraska, and builds on Kawasaki's current production lines that produce railcars and all-terrain vehicles and employ 2,000 people in Lincoln.

Another tool that could help Nebraska expand overseas trade relationships is the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP), which is currently under consideration in Congress. TPP would bring down tariffs and help expand markets for Nebraska's commodities along the Pacific rim. Earlier this year, I partnered with the Nebraska Farm Bureau to unveil an analysis of TPP's economic impact on Nebraska. The analysis released by the Farm Bureau showed that TPP had the potential to add $378 million in cash receipts for Nebraska in ag products alone.

Trade agreements like the letters of intent Nebraska is signing on TPP, which the federal government is negotiating, require a great deal of relationship building over time. To this end, I will be leading a trade mission to China later this fall. China is Nebraska's fourth largest trading partner after Mexico, Canada, and Japan, and it's a country with a growing economy and middle class, who have an increasing demand for quality food products. During this trade mission, we will highlight Nebraska's quality commodities and manufacturers.

Nebraska businesses and ag producers who do business in China, or those that are hoping to enter this market, should contact the Department of Economic Development or NDA to express their interest in joining the trade mission. Departmental contacts include Cobus Block at (402) 480-5806 or cobus.block@nebraska.gov or Stan Garbacz at (402) 471-2341 or stan.garbacz@nebraska.gov. You can also download the form for yourself at opportunity.nebraska.gov/trade-mission. Space is limited, so contact the departments soon!

Trade has been and continues to be a great way to grow Nebraska. As we continue to look for new ways to expand trade relationships, I will to share success stories with you. If you have questions about this topic or any other, I hope that you will contact my office by e-mailing pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or by calling (402) 471-2244. We look forward to hearing from you!

Fair Persons of the Year

Eric and Bryan Grone (center) were surprised to be named Fair Persons of Year at this year's Wayne County Fair. The two have been heavily involved in numerous fair events, including the tractor pulls. Both indicated they have been attending the Wayne County Fair since they were very small children and assisting in any way they could. Making the presentation were Dave Jaeger (left) and Kevin Davis (right).

The power of a positive role model

"If I had a positive male role model enter my life at age 4, I would not have joined a gang." A reformed gang member spoke to a group of future teachers. He reminded them the most influential person in our life is the adult we choose to role model. Young people can find role models in a variety of settings from their 4-H club to the church. A report titled Role Models for Young People: What Makes an Effective Role Model Program? found five key ingredients on whether a youth is likely to find a role model in the program you are leading.

•First, the research found a youth wants someone to be able to relate to him or her, and display a range of relevant knowledge, skills and personal characteristics. Often, the skills and knowledge will come from the leader's expertise in a 4-H project area. The personal characteristics are traits like smiling, addressing youth by their name, or asking open ended questions.

•Next is the youth feel safe in the environment and are supported. Emotional and mentally safety are as important as physical safety.

Youth need to know volunteers as well as peers will treat them with respect. Their ideas need to be validated, even if their idea is not the one chosen by the club members.

•Youth have growing brains. They want leaders to focus on providing purposeful activities. Adults who invest time and creativity into planning are seen as invested leaders. Youth want to walk away with a skill, ability, or information from a 4-H experience.

•The opportunity for independence is another key. The youth need the opportunity to try skills and abilities out. They want to problem solve as they learn the skill. The adult intervenes when asked by the youth to help versus the adult choosing when to help.

•Junior Leaders, parents, and other caring volunteers need the opportunity to be involved. The youth need many role models to choose from in a 4-H club. Youth are more likely find a role model during many opportunities for support and encouragement from a variety of role models, including peers.

National Youth Gathering

Five youth and two adult leaders from Grace Lutheran Church attended the churches National Youth Gathering in New Orleans, La. from July 16-20. The group from Wayne joined approximately 25,000 other youth from around the world to learn more about who we are under the theme of "In Christ Alone." "It was a tremendous experience, both spiritually and emotionally," said Pastor Mike Feldman, Senior Pastor at Grace Lutheran Church. The youth will talk about their experience on Sunday, Aug. 28 at 9:30 a.m. in the basement of Grace Lutheran Church for anyone interested in hearing about their experience. Those attending the Youth Gathering included (left) Rachel Waddington, Allison Echtenkamp, Caitlin Janke, Casey Brentlinger, Emily Matthes, Shelby Oetken and Pastor Mike Feldmann.

In these times, be an instrument of peace

Unless you have just arrived home from an extended vacation on the moon or perhaps have silently meditated in one spot without external stimuli for the last year you are probably aware of the angst, controversies and arguments surrounding our Presidential election.

I've had many people wonder how I feel about all of it - do I agree with one or the other? Where do I stand? Although I make it a rule to NEVER get involved in political discourse through my position in the church I can at least agree that this year is very much out of the ordinary.

However, I don't let it get me down since I never allow the front page of any newspaper or "breaking news" from network news to govern my mood or actions. If I let all the craziness get to me I'd probably never leave my house again. Instead I take great hope from the psalmist who said: "Do not put your trust in princes, in mortals, in whom there is no help." (146:3 NRSV) Our help

A Word In Faith

By Jeanne Madsen
Pastor, Our Savior Lutheran Church

comes from the Lord who grants all good things - all hopeful things. Maybe we just need a little help to see good these things at times.

So, in light of this I would like to take this moment to point us in a new direction, if you are willing to go along with me. Even though our political arena doesn't seem all that hopeful to many at the present moment, may I point out that there is much hope out there in the world? Thousands of people across the world will leave their houses today to do hopeful things. Teachers will head out the door with lesson plans and students will enter classrooms with fresh notebooks hoping to fill them up with knowledge and truth. Social workers, nurses, pastors, Chaplin's and doctors will do their best to help people in body, mind and spirit. Musicians and artists will create sights and sounds that cause our hearts and minds to soar. Scientists and researchers will continue to attempt to cure disease. Entrepreneurs and business owners will go out and do what they do best. Farmers and ranchers and all the ag-related businesses that uphold them will care for our creation and keep us all fed and nourished.

Giving ourselves to the work of our lives in hope is what matters. The world will always be messy this side of heaven and the best we can do is to work together to bring God's Kingdom a little closer. I do understand the angst that people are feeling and I am certainly not attempting to negate it - strong feelings are a sign that you care deeply. However, if we give into despair then the craziness of the world will have won.

And, may this time honored prayer from St. Francis ease your mind and heart: "Lord, make me an instrument of your peace, where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; where there is sadness, joy."

Grace Ladies Aid conducts business meeting

Grace Ladies Aid met Aug. 10 at the fellowship hall. Ellen Heinemann led the members in the Table prayer. Beverly Hansen served brunch with Louise Green assisting.

President Fauneil Bennett called the meeting to order. She welcomed Rhonda Sebade's grandchildren, William and Gracelynn Sebade. Ellen Heinemann read a devotion entitled "Wake up Singing". Fifteen members, two guests and Pastor Lilienkamp answered roll call. The secretary's report was read and approved as read. Thank-you notes were read from Ray and Verdelle Reeg, Kayla Janke, Esther Baker, and LHNE for the quilts donated for the beef blast.

The treasurer's report was read and will be filed for financial review. No Mission Grant was read. President Fauneil pointed out some stats from the Orphan Grain Train. They have a collection site in Lincoln now.

Committee reports were as follows:

Kitchen - Betty Wittig put out all the pans left from funerals. She also put notes to remind those in their mailboxes.

Sewing - Esther Brader reported they did not sew in July but plan to meet Aug. 25. She reported on the quilts they donated to the LHNE Beef Blast.

Visiting - Beverly Hansen and Ruth Victor visited at Careage.

Funeral - The funeral committee will include Beverly Hansen and Cindy Echtenkamp. Ellen Heinemann and Mary Lou Erxleben will join the committee.

Historian - Beverly Hansen reported things are up-to-date. President Bennett reminded members that 2017 would be the 90th anniversary for Ladies Aid. Members are to start thinking about whether or not they want to have a celebration.

New Business - LWML Sunday will be Oct. 2. Evening Circle will put out the big mite boxes. LIFT will take care of greeters and readers. Mary Janke will bring her purple mums for the altar. The group will display the tied quilts on the ends of the pews. We will put them out on Saturday, Oct 1 if possible. All are invited to wear the LWML color of purple at church that day.

Confirmands - LIFT will take over adopting a confirmand this year.

Fall Rally - It will be held at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel on Tuesday, Oct. 11. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Guest speaker will be Janet Englehart from Winside. She will be going as a missionary to the Dominican Republic. The ingathering will be monetary gifts.

A gift was given to Joann Temme in honor of Fritz and Joann's 65th wedding anniversary. The birthday song was sung to Joann Temme and Betty Wittig.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Sept. 14 at the fellowship hall with Ruth Victor serving.

Pastor Lilienkamp gave a Bible study on the story of Job. He also talked about the musk ox that he learned about on his Alaskan trip.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

members of the Our Savior Lutheran Church Ministry Team is sponsoring a performance by The Isaacs in Wayne this November.

Our Savior hosts fundraiser for upcoming outreach event Nov. 19

Our Savior Senior Ministry Team hosted a Pancake Feed on Aug. 21st as a fundraiser for an outreach event for the community.

Our Savior Lutheran Church will be hosting the Gospel Gaither Group - The Isaacs on Saturday, Nov. 19 at 6 p.m. There will be no charge for admission; however, there is a suggested donation of $10 per person. Proceeds from this event will go to Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers (WACAM).

The Isaacs, a multi-award winning family group who began singing 35 years ago are based out of Hendersonville, Tenn. The vocalists are mother Lily Isaacs and siblings Ben Isaacs, Sonya Isaacs Yearly and Rebecca Isaacs Bowman. Playing their own acoustic instruments and joined by other band members, The Isaacs have a unique style that blends tight family harmony with contemporary acoustic instrumentation that appeals to a variety of audiences. Their musical style has been influenced by many genres of music including bluegrass, rhythm and blues, folk, and country, contemporary, acoustic and southern gospel.

More information about The Isaacs can be found on the web at www.theisaacs.com.

Faith Regional to offer free skin cancer screenings

Faith Regional Health Services will be holding a free skin cancer screening on Wednesday, Sept. 7 from 5-7 p.m. at Faith Regional's Carson Cancer Center, located at 110 N. 29th Street in Norfolk.

A limited number of reservations will be taken and pre-registration is required. Register online at frhs.org or call (402) 644-7347. Please arrive at your appointment time.

The free screening will include one spot check by a provider. A copy of the screening results will be given to each participant and mailed to their physician if requested. Information on the prevention of skin cancer will also be provided.

According to the American Cancer Society, skin cancers can show up in a variety of shapes and sizes. A normal mole is usually an evenly colored brown, tan or black spot on the skin. It can be either flat or raised and round or oval. A mole can be present at birth, or appear during childhood or young adulthood. New moles that appear later in life should be checked by a doctor. Most moles are harmless. It's important to recognize any changes in a mole - such as its size, shape or color. This can suggest that melanoma may be developing.

For event information and examples of skin cancer warning signs, including images, please visit frhs.org and click on "Cancer."

Red Cross needs donors during month of September

During National Preparedness Month in September, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood to help ensure a readily available blood supply for emergencies.

Whether blood is needed for a chronic condition such as sickle cell disease, a routine surgery, a traumatic accident or a large-scale emergency, it's the blood already on the shelves that helps save lives. Donors of all blood types are needed.

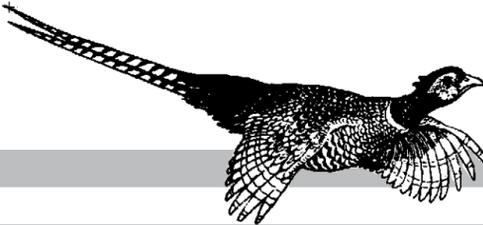

Donations decline around summer holidays like Labor Day. To thank those who come out to give Sept. 2-6, the Red Cross is providing a branded duffel bag, while supplies last.

To make an appointment to give blood, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call (800) 733-2767. Donors are encouraged to make appointments and complete the RapidPass online health history questionnaire at redcrossblood.org/rapidpass to help reduce wait times.

Area blood drives in early September include a drive in Wayne on Wednesday, Sept. 7 from 11 a.m.-6 p.m., at the Wayne State College Student Center on the Wayne State College campus and Wednesday, Sept. 7 from 8:30 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Winside Public Schools in Winside.

To make an appointment to give blood, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call (800) 733-2767. ## Dealing with Olympic withdrawal

We are having Olympic withdrawal! Still tonight, on the world newscast, there was a clip of the USA pole vaulter heading toward the bar with his pole when he stopped abruptly and put down his pole and stood at attention. It seems they were playing The Star Spangled Banner for another USA athlete and he showed his respect. It was neat, and he won a medal, too.

After suffering with our cyclist who lost in the final mile, we clapped for the gal who won the triathlon and could certainly understand her tears. In fact, there have been a lot of tears, some rejoicing and some despairing, but all in all, we did very well.

On Thursday last week, I had to miss most of the activity because it was the annual trip West of the LGH classmates. Six of us in and around Lincoln meet periodically, but every summer we try to find a central meeting spot so the gals from Hastings, Cozad, Elm Creek, and Holdrege, and Aurora can join us.

This lunch was at a B and B in Aurora, so the girl who lives there did not have far to go. Nitta has been doing this for 19 years, which I think is some kind of record. We were told the average burn out takes place in ten. But she admitted the bed and breakfast is a small part of her business; the lunches and catering are the main draw.

Well, this was some lunch, believe me! We were seated in a huge dining room around a long table, complete with twelve matching chairs. (That alone surprised me.) And, the dishes and crystal and silver all matched, too. Amazing! Plus, there were tables in an adjoining room, which she closed off with pocket doors because we warned her about our tendency to be noisy. And, there was a smaller room to the north with tables and chairs in it. And, one of those curved glass china hutches with all kinds of china and glassware.

The friend from Holdrege just got home from a cruise and I heard her tell the server that the "presentation" was just as picturesque as anything on the ship. We had ordered a chicken casserole with a broccoli salad and this was served with sliced orange, watermelon, and cantaloupe. There were two kinds of tea, and three kinds of coffee! AND, a choice for dessert of peach cobbler, apricot pie a la mode, or chocolate caramel cake. Now, that's what I call a lunch!

There is also a B and B in northwest Lincoln that used to be the county poor farm, if you can imagine. Out of curiosity, I checked their website. MORE presentation! And huge breakfasts! I knew there was a reason we called our little project the Farm House. Hopefully, none of our guests expected that kind of stuff from me, because it did not happen. And still doesn't. Actually, today, the Big Farmer is lucky to get a bowl of cold cereal. How times have changed. Anyway, the day was fun, and full of laughter and hugs, worth a trip to Aurora, and to Nitta's B and B. If you are ever that way, check it out. You'll be glad you did.

State Fair, soybean diseases discussed

I have attended the state fair in Grand Island the last few years and it has been a great experience.

It's almost hard to believe that this is the seventh year already for the fair to be held in Grand Island. This year I will be helping with the Entomology identification contest and the swine show. I hope you will be able to attend sometime this coming week, as the fair runs from Friday, Aug. 26 through Labor Day.

The fairgrounds are well laid out with large livestock buildings close to each other and with an air conditioned main arena. The 4H/FFA exhibit building is on the north end of the grounds; it is large and is air conditioned. There are many more exhibits in the 4H/FFA building every year, including commercial exhibits.

If you haven't been there in the last few years, there are a lot more food stands available, and a large midway with plenty of rides means there really is something for everyone. There is also entertainment scattered throughout the fairgrounds every day.

The University now has a permanent year-round exhibit called Raising Nebraska. It is a great area where lots of information and interactive exhibits highlight the importance of agriculture to the state of Nebraska.

I recommend the birthing area near the livestock arena to people who don't understand where animals come from; kids will love seeing the new born animals there. If you are lucky, you may witness the birth of a calf, lamb or piglet.

There is a real good lineup of evening concerts and shows available and of course all the 4H exhibits will be there for everyone to see.

We have seen some soybean diseases in the area. The main culprits are white mold (sclerotinia), phytophthora root and stem rot, brown stem rot, and a little bit of sudden death syndrome (SDS). Most of the samples brought in appear to be brown stem rot.

Many of these diseases have similar symptoms in the beginning. Usually you will see small pockets of dead or dying plants, or dead leaves on some plants that slowly spread. The diseases differentiate a bit and to tell the difference you often need to split or observe the stem at ground level and above. SDS is fairly easy to recognize, the leaf symptoms are fairly dramatic although sometimes it is mistaken for brown stem rot. White mold infested plants usually have black sclerotia embedded in the stem. Go to cropwatch.unl.edu for more information on how to diagnose soybean diseases.

The best way to manage diseases is to select resistant varieties. These diseases infect plants fairly early in the season and often don't show symptoms until later in the year. This makes it hard to determine if a fungicide is necessary. Once diseases are established in the plant there is rarely a cure. So scout and determine which diseases are present, and use the information when you select your varieties in the future.

Cost-share on flow meters available

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) received a grant from Nebraska's Water Sustainability Fund (WSF) and has cost-share available for producers who have yet to install flow meters on their irrigation wells. All irrigation wells in the LENRD will need a district approved flow meter installed by Jan. 1, 2018.

To assist landowners with the expense of this requirement, the LENRD will provide financial support of $500 per flow meter. It is important to note that landowners must first apply and be approved for reimbursement, prior to purchase and installation of the meter. Application for the flow meter cost-share can be completed by visiting your local Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) office and filling out the appropriate application forms. These requests are then forwarded to the LENRD for processing.

In addition, the LENRD will offer incentive payments of $250 per flow meter to producers who are approved for the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP) funding. The EQIP program is administered by NRCS and offers a host of incentives for irrigation water management.

LENRD water resources manager, Brian Bruckner, said, "The deadline to have flow meters installed on all irrigation wells is Jan. 1, 2018. These incentives are available for producers who get signed up for the cost-share by June 30, 2017. The maximum payment that a producer can receive is $5,000 per year for irrigation practices."

Nebraska's Natural Resources Commission approved nearly $11.5 million in projects through the WSF, with $900,000 being awarded to the LENRD for water and soil conservation. The LENRD will provide a match of $600,000. This will allow the district to have $1.5 million available for cost-share assistance on irrigation flow meters.

THANK YOU

From the bottom of our heart we thank you all for the many prayers, visits, cards and well wishes when Darrel was at Faith Regional and during his stay at Madonna. Your visits, phone calls and many Caring Cooks meals since we have been home has been such a blessing as well. A special thank you to our children, neighbors and friends who kept watch on the home front. Thank you also to Deb Hammer, Pastor Jeanie and OSLC family for the prayers and host of cards, but most of all the Lord who's protective hand was around the doctors, nurses and hospital staff at Faith Regional Bryan East and Madonna. We are so fortunate to live in such a caring community as Wayne America. Darrel & Phyllis Rahn

I fully support all of our local law enforcement officers. We all owe a debt of gratitude to these individuals who every day show up for work every day ready to put themselves in harm's way to protect us all. Heroes are those who run toward danger, while everyone else is running away. Thank you for being our guardians.

Wayne County Sheriff's Department

Wayne County Sheriff Jason Dwinell

A quotation from author Louis L'Amour:

"A lawman...is not a constraint, but a freedom, a liberation. He restrains only those who would break the laws and provides freedom for the rest of us..."

Wayne County Deputy Jesse Frank

"The name on the patch is who hired you.

The name on your chest is who raised you. Wear both of them with honor and integrity."
-unknown author

Wayne County Deputy Clayton Bratcher

Why did you get into the line of work you are in?

To help people.

What do you like most about your job?

Being able to give back to the community.

Something that stands out in your mind

why this job is right for you.

I have always had a sense of helping people and I thought this was the best way to do that.

And I wouldn't want to do anything else.

Wayne County Deputy Daniel Claussen

Why did you get into the line of work you are in?

From a very young age I have always admired Police Officers.

The idea that a person in need can call for help, and a Police Officer will come and give them the help they need.

I knew I wanted to be that person that helped the people.

What do you like most about your job?

The thing I like most about my job is that every day is different. I also like that I get to meet and talk with a lot of people in my community.

Something that stands out in your mind

why this job is right for you.

The reason this job is right for me is because it doesn't feel like a job. Every day I wake up looking forward to starting my shift. Even after a hard day at work I still wake up the next morning wanting to put on my badge and do it all over again.
