Wayne State students, community members build home together

By: Courtney Upah
Wayne Herald Intern

Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity is building its fifth house in Wayne, and this year WSC students are learning, and helping more with the building process than they had before.

"This is our fifth house in town, and I worked on all of the other four houses. Students have been involved on several builds, but on this one we are trying to have them take over a bit more of the load, so we are having them working on the footing and foundation system this semester," Technology and Applied Sciences Assistant Professor Don Buryanek said.

There is a Habitat for Humanity branch in Wayne -- it is an affiliation of the Norfolk Habitat for Humanity, Buryanek said. He also explained that a class at WSC is bringing in students to help on the housing project, but more people are welcome to join and lend a hand.

"Right now, the college class is just one class -- it's a construction class. But, if any college students want to be involved, they don't have to be in the class," Buryanek said. "They can come down, usually on Saturdays, but there are other days that we work too. If there are college students or people in the community that want to help, we welcome the help, and they don't have to be skilled laborers."

The WSC class is currently working on the footing and foundation of the house this semester. They are working on insulated concrete forms, which Buryanek explained as two inches of foam, eight inches of space, and then another two inches of foam. This is then pumped full of cement.

Next semester Buryanek hopes for the students to be involved in building the walls, erecting the walls and placing windows, as well as the building process as a whole.

Wayne State College senior Devan Collins and sophomore Jacob Henderson both are participating in this project and agree that it is helping them grow and it's good for the community.

"One of the requirements here at Wayne State College is you have to take a construction class and you have to take the managing class," Collins said.

Collins had worked construction back home and is glad to be working on bigger projects now at WSC. Collins is working as the project manager and Henderson is working on this as a project for class.

"I've done other projects but I've never done a basement and footings before, so this is new to me," Henderson said.

Prior to this, Henderson had worked on roofing and tiling. Both students emphasized that they had learned from this project, such as learning about different types of products to use in construction. Collins and Henderson also agreed that it's nice to work on a big project and that it's great to help out and do something good for the community.

"It's a very interesting project and it's nice to be able to volunteer the time for the community," Collins said. "I try to be involved in the community as much as possible, I work at Sand Creek Post & Beam here in Wayne. It's kind of nice helping other people out with it."

Collins also talked about how after he graduates, he can come back, look at this house, and know he helped a family out.

"It does feel good to kind of volunteer time. Volunteering your time and hearing about all of the people that will donate to [the house] is kind of cool," Henderson said.

The current home Habitat for Humanity is helping build is located at 319 South Nebraska Street and anyone wishing to help in the project is welcome.

Girls on the Run gears up for spring season at area schools

Girls on the Run of Nebraska will offer its unique blend of friendship and 5K fun at nine north-central and northeast Nebraska sites next spring and seeks positive-minded, can-do women to volunteer as coaches.

Confirmed sites in the region include O'Neill Elementary, Bloomfield Elementary, Boyd County in Spencer, Clearwater-Orchard, Ewing Elementary, Laurel-Concord-Coleridge, Stuart Elementary, West Holt Elementary in Atkinson, and the Community Activity Center in Wayne.

New sites will be accepted until Dec. 15. Visit www.GOTRNebraska.org to bring Girls on the Run to another location.

Girls on the Run is an innovative extra-curricular program that combines exercise, education and mentoring to promote healthy living and self-esteem in third-through fifth-grade girls. GOTR teams meet for 75 minutes twice a week for 10 weeks to play running games that help train them for a 5K run/walk.

Character-development lessons on values, teamwork, communication, goal-setting and health are incorporated with the physical training, so participants get much more than exercise. GOTR is as much about good health, friendship, positive body image and self-esteem as it is about running.

Since its inception in September 2003,

GOTR-Nebraska has helped more than 15,100 girls across the state gain a stronger sense of self with GOTR's focus on positive emotional, social, mental and physical development. The Nebraska council is part of a network of 225 GOTR organizations across the country that collectively serve 200,000 girls annually.

The GOTR curriculum is based on extensive research and "on-the-track" testing of lessons. Each lesson includes an ice-breaker discussion, a warm-up activity, a stretch routine with question and answer time, a workout with a team goal, a cool-down and stretch with additional question and answer time, and a closing cheer or words of encouragement.

Teams of 15 to 20 girls are coached by two to three female volunteers who are trained to use the curriculum and believe fitness is a valuable tool to empower young girls to make healthy decisions as they enter adolescence. Coaches don't have to be runners to be great team leaders. All sites are contingent on volunteers.

The spring season will begin in late February and run through mid-May. The northeast regional GOTR 5K will be at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, April 30 at Ford Park in O'Neill. Online registration for all teams opens at midnight, Jan. 15.

Abbie Bloom of Laurel was selected to participate in the All National Honor Ensemble in Texas this year.

Laurel student earns once in a lifetime opportunity

Abbie Bloom, daughter of Tim and Becky Bloom, from Laurel-Concord-Coleridge practiced with dedication, earning a spot to join the "best of the best" with the National Association for Music Education's 2016 All National Honor Ensembles on Nov. 13, during the 2016 NAfME National In-Service Conference in Grapevine, Texas.

Abby began singing in kindergarten, and started taking voice lessons in third grade.

"I love the feeling I get when I sing a certain song," Abbie said.

The All-National Honor Ensembles Concert was one of the many highlights planned for the four-day conference, which took place Nov. 10-13. This year's theme focused on how music educators and musicians are "Stronger Together." The Honor Ensemble members represented that collaborative strength in its highest musical form.

The All-National Honor Ensembles consisted of a concert band, symphony orchestra, mixed choir and jazz ensemble. Students were chosen through an audition process.

The concert band and symphony orchestra were each approximately 150 instrumentalists, the jazz ensemble consisted of 20 instrumentalists and the mixed chorus approximately 350 vocalists.

Eligible students had qualified for their state-level honor ensemble program and competed against 1,500 top students from across the USA for a spot in these national honor ensembles. 673 students represented 49 States and Territories in the conference, showcasing their talents.

Selected students rehearsed a challenging repertoire in preparation for performing under the baton of five of the most prominent conductors in the United States: Dr. Anton Armstrong (Mixed Choir); Dr. William LaRue Jones (Symphony Orchestra); Dr. Paula Crider (Concert Band); and Chris Crenshaw and Todd Stoll (Jazz Ensemble). All conductors have received top honors in their field and spent several days rehearsing with students before the concert.

Mrs. Claudia Dvorak, who has given Abbie voice lessons since third grade was "excited that Abbie got the opportunity -- it's such a marvelous opportunity. She got to sing under the best of the best."

Mrs. Dvorak retired from teaching this past spring, and in the 35 years she has taught, Abbie is the first student that she had ever sent to the All National Honor Ensemble.

Richard Koll

Richard A. Koll, 84, of rural Wayne died Friday, Nov. 25, 2016 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Private family graveside services were held Wednesday, Nov. 30 at at the Pilger Cemetery. The Rev. Dale Topp officiated.

Arrangements were with Minnick Funeral Home in Wisner.

Richard August Koll was born Oct. 8, 1932 near Winside to August and Julia (Carr) Koll. He was baptized and confirmed at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. Richard attended Wayne County Rural School District #16. He began farming with his father. In the early 1950's Richard served in the U.S. Army in Germany. On Sept. 23, 1955 he married Esther Reeg at St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Pilger. Richard continued farming. He also worked for several area cattle feeders and was employed at Michael's Foods in Wakefield from 1990 until retiring in 2000.

Survivors include a son, Randell Koll of Wayne; brothers-in-law- Pete and Julie Reeg of Pilger and Ted and Marilyn Reeg, Jr. of Wayne; nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Esther, in March of 2016, his parents, a brother in infancy and one sister.

Black Hills Energy provides winter safety message

With winter weather arriving in Nebraska, Black Hills Energy has prepared for winter and is providing an important safety message to make sure its customers are prepared as well.

"Like a fireman when the bell rings, Black Hills Energy's winter emergency plans are in place, and our employees are ready to respond quickly and effectively when called upon," said Jeff Sylvester, vice president for Black Hills Energy's Nebraska gas operations. "Safe, reliable service is always our priority," he said. "We offer home safety tips and suggestions at www.blackhillsenergy.com to help our customers prepare as well."

A stockpile of blankets, flashlights and fresh batteries (including a fully charged cellphone) are a good start, Sylvester said. "We all recently set our clocks back an hour, and it's a good time to change the batteries in smoke and carbon monoxide detectors. It is a quick and easy process and could be a life-saver."

"Natural gas is a clean, safe, reliable source of energy for heating more than 70 million homes in the United States," Sylvester said. "You schedule regular maintenance on a car for efficient performance, safe operation and longer life. In the same way, it's important to get an annual furnace inspection and tune-up to ensure that your heating equipment is running efficiently and safely venting the carbon monoxide created in the combustion process."

Carbon monoxide is a colorless and odorless byproduct of the incomplete burning of fuels including wood, gasoline, charcoal and natural gas.

Signs of a potential carbon monoxide leak can include, but are not limited to, flu-like symptoms – a scratchy throat, runny nose, headache, drowsiness or nausea. Other indicators could include frosted windows due to excessive humidity, or a draft from the front of the furnace when it is not turned on.

If you think carbon monoxide is present, leave the premises immediately and call 911 and Black Hills Energy's emergency service line, 800-694-8989, from a nearby location.

Michael Garvin

Michael Lee Garvin, 65, of North Liberty, Iowa died suddenly at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center in Cedar Rapids on Monday, Nov. 28, 2016.

Services will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 2 at the First United Methodist Church in North Liberty (85 North Jones Blvd) where there will be visitation from 4 p.m. until services on Friday. Private family graveside services will be held at the Winslow Cemetery near Belle Plaine, Iowa. A memorial fund has been established in Michael's memory.

For an opportunity to share a thought, memory or condolence, please go to the funeral home website at www.gayandciha.com. Gay & Ciha Funeral and Cremation Service is caring for Michael's family and his services.

Michael Lee Garvin was born Jan. 9, 1951 in Wayne to Betty and Lyle Garvin. He resided in North Liberty, Iowa. Michael graduated from St. Mary's Elementary School in Wayne and from high school at St. John Vianney Seminary in Elkhorn, Neb. in 1969 (currently Mount Michael).

He received his B.A. from Benedictine College in Kansas (1973) and his M.A. from St. Louis University (1979). He married Bonnie Winslow on July 10, 1993 in Iowa City.

His career began as a hospital administrator serving in that capacity at St. Mary's Healthcare Center in St. Louis, Mo. (1979-82), as Regulatory and Environmental Compliance Director at the University of Wisconsin Hospitals and Health Care Campus (1982-1990), and Safety Engineer and Compliance Officer for the University of Iowa Medical Center (1990-2002). He was vice-president of AudioNet Corporation (1994-1998) and a Technology Transfer Specialist at the University of Iowa (1995-2000). He has served as an adjunct professor of Entrepreneurial Studies at the John Pappajohn Center of Entrepreneurial Studies at the University of Iowa (1995-2000), as well as a visiting professor at the Gerdin College of Business at Iowa State University (1996-1998). He was president of Simulation Education Services from 1998-2006 and most recently held the position of president at RENAIS LLC, as well as Garvin Consulting Services. Through RENAIS he worked to reduce carbon emissions into the environment and was a sought out lecturer on this topic. He had plans for many more large projects. He is the author of Infectious Waste Management: A Practical Guide.

Michael attended the First United Methodist Church in North Liberty where he has served as a lay minister. He was an avid golfer and loved to play chess, especially with his daughter, Katherine, and to do art, share music and write with his other daughter, Elizabeth. Although he never fully grasped all of the rules of soccer, he was an enthusiastic coach of Katherine and Elizabeth's AYSO soccer team.

Survivors include his wife Bonnie, his twin daughters, Katherine and Elizabeth; mother and father-in-law, Lillian and Louis Winslow (Belle Plaine, Iowa), brother Pat Garvin and his wife Liz (Wayne), sisters, Linda Garvin and her husband, Bill Boyton (USVI) and Joanie Garvin and partner Russ Sellhorst (Spokane, Wash.), brother-in-law, Doug Winslow (Coralville, Iowa), and sister-in-law and husband Francine and Harlan Lemke (Dows, Iowa), nieces and nephews, and many, many friends too numerous to mention.

The employees on the Great Dane weekend shift held a coat drive for the Wayne Coat Closet, and collected 100+ coats and other winter gear. Involved in the donation event were (left) Jeff Payne and Jon Taylor from Great Dane and Jean Griess, Jackie Owens and Nina Hammer from the Wayne Coat Closet at the First Presbyterian Church.

Bailey named Nebraska's top community college educator

Northeast Community College Heating, Ventilation, and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Instructor Paul Bailey has been selected as Nebraska's top community college educator.

Bailey was presented the 2016 Nebraska Community College Association's Faculty Member Award during the NCCA's Annual Conference recently. The award is presented annually to a full-time Nebraska community college instructor who has made significant contributions in the classroom.

Bailey has established a distinguished career in both the public and private sector, having worked in private industry for ten years and as an educator at Northeast Community College for 28 years. He was nominated for the award by Lyle Kathol, dean of applied technology.

"Not only has Mr. Bailey been instrumental in developing and initiating curriculum and curriculum changes, he remains influential in the development of opportunities in 21st-century technology for students in areas such as geothermal technology, the design of an energy efficient home to showcase the latest trends in heating and air conditioning, and an energy trailer capable of introducing the field to area schools," Kathol said. "He further stimulates partnerships with industry leaders as a means to ensure a top level education and experience for his students."

As a leader in his division, Bailey is sought out for his energy, ideas, and insight by both his students and his colleagues. He is known among his students as being willing to assist everyone with not only his own subject matter, but other topics as well.

Kathol said, "Mr. Bailey does more than teach the heating, air conditioning, and ventilation trade, he exemplifies what community involvement is all about and passes on many life lessons to his students while in the HVAC program."

In accepting the award, Bailey said he truly believes in the community college system and has seen the impact it has had on communities through Nebraska.

"The education and skills obtained by students in community colleges gives them the confidence and motivation to get a career started. I often think what it would be "The Longest Night: A Winter Tale" will be shown Dec. 3 at 3 p.m., Dec. 10 at 2 p.m.

"Season of Light" traces the history and development of many of the world's most endearing holiday customs, all of which involve lighting up the winter season.

"The Sistine Chapel" illustrates how Michelangelo's depiction of the "Book of Genesis" has remained vivid for 500 years within the Sistine Chapel.

"The Longest Night: A Winter's Tale" is a one-of-a-kind mystical fable that explores the concept of winter as a time for Earth to rest and await new growth in the spring.

The suggested donation for all shows is $5 for adults and $3 for children; all donations are appreciated.

Wayne High students participate in various 2016 All-State groups

Each year, thousands of the best high school musicians in the state audition for the Nebraska All-State Chorus, Band, Orchestra and Jazz Band which is sponsored by the Nebraska Music Educators Association. Selection as a member of one of these groups is one of the highest musical honors attainable in Nebraska.

Wayne High School students Morgan Barner, Sam Bruckner, Kaden Kniefl, Sydnie Niemann, Jack Osnes and Sarah Wibben were among the 440+ students selected to be a part of the 2016 All-State Chorus. Guest conductor for the group was Richard Bjella, Director of Choral Studies at Texas Tech University.

Cole Hobza was one of 150+ students selected for the All-State Band. Steven D. Davis was the guest conductor for the band. Davis is the Director of Bands and Wind Ensembles at the University of Missouri - Kansas City.

The groups rehearsed Nov. 16 through Nov. 18 on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus, the host site of the 2016 NMEA Conference/Clinic. A final public concert was held on Nov. 18 at the Lied Center for the Performing Arts on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus.

"This year was an exciting event as Morgan, Jack, and Sam were all selected to audition for a solo spot in one of the pieces in their respective voice parts. Out of the 64 Nebraska students who auditioned for these solos, Jack and Sam were two of only 16 finalists," Wayne High vocal director Tracy Anderson said. "To have Wayne represented so heavily in these finals was a tremendous achievement as they were competing against students from Class A-D2. Eventually, Sam was selected as one of only two tenors to perform on the final concert at the Lied Center in front of an audience over 2,000."

"Congratulations to these three and all of the Wayne students who performed at this year's All-State Choir," Anderson said. "Wayne was the most represented school in our district this year and we look forward to next year and continued success."

The final concert at the Lied Center for the Performing Arts was held in two portions, with the All-State Chorus and Jazz Band both performing in the late afternoon and the All-State Band and Orchestra performing in the evening.

"The Wayne High School band was represented by Cole Hobza at the Nebraska All-State Band this year. It was an exciting opportunity since this was the first year freshmen were allowed to audition for All-State," Wayne High Band Director Alex Wieland said.

"Cole auditioned against all trumpet players across the state and had a chair placement audition when he arrived in Lincoln," said Wieland. "The final result was Cole being placed in the 7th chair out of 24 trumpet players. I am very proud of Cole for the work he has done and what he has achieved."

WSC President's Holiday Gala comes wrapped in Holiday Spirit

Ignite your festive spirit at the Wayne State College President's Holiday Gala on Sunday, Dec. 11 at 2 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

The annual Black and Gold Performing Arts Series is wrapped in holiday music with performances from all areas of the auditorium.

The concert features 11 WSC Department of Music ensembles, faculty and student soloists and audience sing-alongs.

The 60-minute performance takes place without applause due to its surround-sound style.

Please arrive as early as possible as seating is limited.

Doors open at 1:30 p.m. with the holiday decor of the Peterson Fine Arts Atrium welcoming the concert audience. The event is free and open to the public.

Sponsored by WSC President Marysz Rames, a dessert reception follows in the Frey Conference Suite located in the Kanter Student Center. A Parking Lot 10 shuttle will eliminate any parking concerns.

For more information, contact the WSC Music Department at (402) 375-7359.

Margaret Brugger (left) and Kelli Smith are both recent hires by R-Way.

R-Way says hello to recent new hires

Recently, R-Way added two new faces to its ranks. Kelli Smith and Margaret Brugger have both joined R-Way's team of professionals.

R-Way helps to build clients who have mental illnesses up, aiding them in living independently within the community.

Brugger came on board with R-Way first as bookkeeper, but has recently been promoted to office manager. The promotion will take effect starting Dec. 1. She handles the billing, accounts payable and receivable as well as payroll preparations.

Smith handles community support for R-Way clients. She helps to organize transportation, budgeting and program opportunities that clients may be able to access.

Smith said that community support for each client was extremely important, from education on planning nutritious meals and grocery shopping to getting clients to and from appointments.

"I'm just excited to be working with the consumers and keep them remaining independent," Smith said.

Unified Bowling takes 3rd place

Wayne High School hosted a Pep Rally on Monday afternoon to wish good luck to the Unified Bowling Team and their efforts at Districts in Norfolk on Tuesday.

Athletes Jess Gibson, Olaf Jurotich and Josh Turner bowled with two partners, Ashten Gibson and Brady Henderson.

The Blue Devil Unified Bowling Team took third place.

Wayne native receives award for kindness

Aurora - Memorial Community Health announced that Samantha Wood has been named a Nebraska Hospital Association 'Caring Kind' award recipient for 2016. For 37 years, The Caring Kind award has been given to Nebraska's most caring hospital workers - those who have demonstrated compassion for patients, cooperation with co-workers and dedication to excellence in their job responsibilities.

Wood is a Registered Nurse at Memorial Community Health in Aurora. She was selected for the award based upon her teamwork, leadership and willingness to go above and beyond in caring for patients. As best said by one of her co-workers, "Samantha Wood is the kind of nurse you would want caring for you or your family members."

Wood received the award at the 37th Annual Caring Kind Awards Luncheon on Oct. 14th during the Nebraska Hospital Association's Annual Convention at the Embassy Suites Omaha-LaVista Hotel & Conference Center.

Lifetime

Abbie said she was "still kind of in shock that I made it." But with the list of accomplishments she has, there shouldn't have been any shock.

Abbie has been a member of the Conference Honor Choir for 3 years and was selected for the 2015 and 2016 Nebraska All State Choir.

She was also selected for the 2016 All National Honor Choir.

Abbie has been a member of the LCC Show Choir for two years—and is also currently a member of the Show Choir for the 2016-2017 school year. She also is a member of the LCC Concert Choir this school year and was for two years prior. Abbie has been a member of the LCC Chamber Choir/Madrigal Singers for two years.

Abbie has taken a vocal solo to District Music Contest for the past 2 years and received Superior ratings both years. She has been involved in numerous small ensembles for District Music, all of which have received Superior ratings.

Along side her choral accomplishments, Abbie is also a member of the LCC Marching, Concert and Jazz Bands. She plays numerous instruments including the flute, guitar, bass guitar and piano.

Upon graduating in 2018, Abbie has plans to pursue a degree in Music Performance or Music Education.

Wayne Public Library planning holiday events for all to enjoy

The tree is up. Red and green decorations sparkle on the shelves, and Santa is planning to stop here soon. We are ready for the Christmas holiday season.

Everyone in the community is invited to "follow the tracks of, 'Santa Paws' to find a furry good Christmas event." On Tuesday, Dec. 6, from 6 - 8 p.m., the annual Santa's Story-time will take place.

Julie Osnes, Youth Services Librarian said, "There will be loads to do: stories, movies, crafts, prizes and treats, all to make waiting for Santa fun!" Of course, bring your camera for pictures with Santa. And bring a picture of your own four pawed friend all decked out in Holiday garb for our display case!

The event will be hosted by the library, with their sponsor, Ameritas.

"Stop in Dec. 6 to pick up your game sheet," said Rita McLean, Adult Services Librarian. "This will be the date to start our seasonal events, activities and opportunities for everyone who comes into the library all throughout the remainder of December and into the New Year."

Many of the library's holiday and Christmas books, DVDs, magazines, and books on CD are displayed for easy checkout. Patrons are invited to join in the activities and have a chance to win a drawing on Jan. 4, 2017 for a Movie Package at the Majestic Theatre.

Game cards will be available to everyone on Dec. 6. Participants have a variety of ways to get their card stamped.

"You can stop in for hot cocoa and listen to Christmas music, take part in a cookie walk, donate to the Food Pantry or Coat Closet," Osnes said.

"Perhaps you'd like to take part in a movie night at the library, or help put together a jigsaw puzzle. How about playing board games and pizza snacks on New Year's Eve? We will have a computer gaming day for kids and an opportunity to try their hand at painting. Post your New Year's resolutions on our Facebook page, there is something for everyone. Get a game sheet and have some fun," McLean said.

All your questions can be answered at the Wayne Public Library, (402) 375-3135.

Wildcat basketball dominates Thanksgiving tournament

Wayne State College dropped their Northern Sun Conference opener last Monday evening against Augustana University, then dominated in the Radison Hotel MSP North Women's Basketball Classic, taking home two wins.

WSC now improves to 5-1 on the season.

Against Augustana on Monday, the first quarter was a shootout between the two teams, with Augustana building a 25-21 lead after just 10 minutes of play. The Vikings led the entire quarter, building a 25-17 lead until WSC got baskets from Taylor Reiner and Maggie Schulte to end the quarter trailing 25-21.

WSC continued to trail in the beginning of the second quarter, until Schulte drained a 3-pointer to give the Wildcats their first lead of the game at 32-29 to cap an 8-0 scoring run. The Vikings responded to the run with a run of their own, scoring the next six points for a 35-32 lead at the 3:17 mark of the second quarter, but WSC used a pair of Schulte baskets and another from Anna Martensen to regain the lead at 38-35 heading into halftime.

WSC opened the fourth quarter with a Haley Moore trey and a Paige Ballinger basket to even the score at 57-57 with 9:06 to play. But the Wildcats could never regain the lead.

The 'Cats used a Kacie O'Connor 3-pointer to knot the score at 64-64 with 4:47 to play. WSC trailed 65-64 at the 4:04 mark following a Martensen layup, but the Vikings put the game out of reach with the next seven points for a 72-64 lead with 1:27 to play and the Vikings canned 9 of 10 free throws down the stretch to hold off the Wildcats 79-73.

Wayne State made 29 of 62 shots in the contest for 46.8 percent. The 'Cats were 7 for 17 behind the 3-point line and 8 for 13 at the charity stripe.

Ballinger led WSC in scoring with 22 points on 10 of 19 shooting from the field. Martensen added 17 points on 7 of 14 shooting, while Maggie Schulte also reached double digits with 15 points.

Augustana was 25 for 69 from the field for 36.2 percent, including 9 of 21 from 3-point range. The Vikings also drained 20 of 24 free throws, 83 percent, in the win.

WSC held a slight 39-38 edge in rebounding on Augustana with Martensen grabbing nine boards to lead the Wildcats, while Paige Peterson grabbed seven caroms for the Vikings. The Wildcats had 14 turnovers to just seven on Augustana, resulting in a 16-7 points off turnover advantage for the Vikings.

Ballinger had three of Wayne State's six blocked shots, while Moore handed out a career-high nine assists with Martensen adding a career-high seven.

Later that week, the Wildcats went to the Radison Hotel MSP North Women's Basketball Classic in St. Paul, Minn. Starting with the University of Jamestown on Friday afternoon, Wayne State led from start to finish, but had to hold off a fourth quarter rally to defeat the Jimmies 65-56.

The Wildcats got into early foul trouble in the contest and called on the bench to provide a spark, as 12 of Wayne State's 19 first-quarter points were scored by reserves.

Sophomore reserve forward Andrea Larson scored a career-high 16 points off the bench.

Jamestown got within five at 23-18 with 5:23 left to play in the second quarter before the Wildcats used a pair of Martensen layups to end the half, putting the Wildcats in front 33-24 at intermission.

Jamestown got as close as 56-50, but the Wildcats responded with a pair of Haley Moore free throws and an O'Connor 3-pointer to move to 61-50. WSC used four of six free throws in the final two minutes to seal the 65-56 victory.

The next day, the Wildcats cruised past Concordia—Portland after building a 44-18 lead at halftime and had all 13 players score as the Wildcats took a 79-62 win.

Concordia-Portland caught fire from the field in the fourth quarter, making 10 of 17 shots from the field and 9 for 12 at the free-throw line to outscore WSC 31-14, making the game closer as the Wildcats finished with a 79-62 victory.

The Wildcats return stay home this weekend for a pair of NSIC games, hosting Minnesota State Friday night at 6 p.m. and Concordia-St. Paul Saturday in a 4 p.m. contest.

Allen boys to challenge young roster

The Allen boys basketball team has struggled as a young team the last couple of years, but third-year coach Nick Curnyn is hoping that all the bumps and bruises they've taken will turn into some good things this season.

Four starters are back from last year's 1-20 team, and Curnyn is hoping that experience will yield some better results this season.

"This season is going to be an interesting one, we have a good mix of veteran varsity players lead by three seniors, and some talented new comers including eight freshmen and a sophomore, he said. "We have a tough road ahead of us, but hopefully with leadership, camaraderie, and hard work we can shock some teams."

Point guard Tayler Kumm leads a trio of senior starters back from last year. He earned Lewis & Clark Conference honorable mention status while averaging just over nine points and five rebounds a game last season. Shooting guards Chase Johnson (4.5 points per game) and Garrett Brentlinger (4 points per game) are also back to give the Eagles a talented an experienced backcourt this season.

Jake Williams is also back for the Eagles, giving them experience in the post as he averaged about 2 points and 3 rebounds per game last season.

The Eagles have a number of young and untested players on the roster this year, including junior Luis Rivera, sophomore Kyle Smith and freshmen Noah Carr, Steven Cooks, Joshua Cooper, Brock Floyd, Austin Gregerson, Joshua Grone, Brogan Jones and Lukas Oswald that will give Allen some much-needed depth this winter.

"The players and coaches alike are excited to get the season started," Curnyn said. "We don't really know what we are capable of, but expect great things to happen this season."

Allen hosts Wakefield on Friday and plays at Cedar Bluffs on Saturday to kick off the winter campaign.

New coach for Lady Eagles looks to improve on last year's record

Five letterwinners will lead a young Allen girls basketball team that will have a new coach this season.

Chris Blohm takes over a team that was 8-13 last season and will be looking to fill some key holes as the team hopes to improve on that record this season.

This season will be determined on our defensive hustle, our pure determination, and our strong will-to-win," Blohm said. "We have a young bench, but they are more than capable of making an immediate impact with their grit and toughness." Junior Bri Hingst is the leading returning scorer back for the Lady Eagles this season, averaging a little more than eight points and 3.5 rebounds last season. She is the lone starter back from last year's team and will be looked upon to lead the team this season.

Senior Sierra Brahmsteadt is one of four other returning letterwinners this season for the Lady Eagles, along with sophomores Haley Stapleton, Bethany Kneifl and Madison Schneiders. Schneiders averaged about four points and five rebounds a game last year, and the other three will look to make more of an impact on the scoreboard this season as well.

The Lady Eagles have several newcomers to the team this year, including juniors Kaitlyn Madsen and Desi Martel, sophomores Alyssa Boese, Katie Bathke, Alexis Brahmsteadt and Heidi Johnson, and freshmen Alyssia Strivens and Ally Twohig. Blohm said the team is looking forward to being a player in the Lewis & Clark Conference race, and will open the season Friday at home against Wakefield. "The players and coaches have been working extremely hard to bring a strong competitive edge on both sides of the ball. Having such a young team, the sky is the limit, and we expect to shock some teams with our relentless pursuit to protect the basket."

Returners pave the way for Blue Devil's wrestling

Wayne High wrestling coach Dave Wragge has a full room this season and is looking forward to what the Blue Devil wrestlers will do on the mats this winter.

Six starters, including five state qualifiers, are back from last season, and Wragge is optimistic about the team's chances for success in 2016-17.

"We will be a fairly young team this year, but the young guys that we are bringing in are a pretty talented group," he said. "We are looking forward to sending a good number of qualifiers to state and start the tradition of bring state medals home from the tournament."

Cameron Muhs (113-120), Gage Schultz (120-126), Juan Vergara (126-132), Mikey Reyes (220) and Hunter Jorgensen (285) all qualified for state last year. Reyes was the only one of the five to win a match in Omaha, but all five bring that experience of competing at state into the Wayne room and know what they need to do to get back to state this season.

Steven Keiser is the sixth starter back for Wayne this year and looks to be the Blue Devils' 145-pounder this year. Letterwinners Brandon Wacker (132) and Berto Vergara (195) are also back for Wayne this season.

Wragge is looking for good things from two newcomers, including Winside transfer Isaiah Muhs (170) and freshman Casey Koenig (152), both of whom show potential to have success this season.

Wragge feels the Blue Devils can be a competitor in the Mid State Conference meet at season's end, looking to get up near the top and compete with O'Neill and Battle Creek, the likely favorites to win conference this season. Wayne will also compete in a competitive district at Bennington this year, and Wragge feels the team has the potential to do well in that tournament as well.

A new addition to the Wayne High schedule this year is the re-starting of the Wayne Invitational, which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 7 at Wayne High School. Six teams will take part in this year's tournament, and Wragge is hoping to grow the tournament and add some more teams in the future.

The Blue Devils debut on the road Thursday, wrestling Wisner-Pilger and Clearwater-Orchard in a triangular at Wisner. They follow that with the Lakeview Invitational on Friday and host Norfolk Catholic in a dual on Thursday, Dec. 8.

Crofton youth tournament is coming up

The Crofton Booster Club youth basketball tournament will be held Saturday, Jan. 21, and Sunday, Jan. 22, 2017 in Crofton, Neb.

The tournament is open to boys and girls teams in grades 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th/8th. Cost is $100 per team if registered by Jan. 2.

Late registration fee is $110.

For more information please contact Theresa Guenther at 605-660-7944 or ktiguent@gpcom.net.

Wayne gridders named to all-district team

Seven Wayne High football players were named to the C1-5 all-district team that was announced recently.

First-team selections included seniors Tyler Pecena and Lathan Ellis, along with junior Beau Bowers.

Named to the second team were seniors Mikey Reyes and Isaiah Muhs, and juniors Ryan Jaixen and Justin Dean.

LCC wrestling's young team kicks off the season Saturday

Three letterwinners are back for the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge wrestling team this year, a team that will be a young squad this season.

"We're a very young team with no seniors, so we'll have to mature and grow quickly," coach Don Maxwell said. "We do have a good group of juniors who should mature well through the season."

Back from last year are Zach Dietrich, Charlie Stanley, Ethan Williams and Evan Urwiler. All three saw action at the varsity level last year, and Maxwell is hoping all four will show improvement this season.

Maxwell said three younger wrestlers who could make some noise for the Bears this year include freshman Levi Jackson (113), junior Tim Heydon (152) and junior Iowa transfer Zaylor Lanschwager (160-170).

The district setup is different this year, and LCC will wrestle in the D-1 district this year, where Maxwell sees Plainview, Creighton and Palmer as the teams to beat. Six-time defending champion Amherst is looking to be the team to beat overall in Class D, Maxwell said, with Elkhorn Valley, Creighton and Burwell among teams that could contend.

The Bears kick off the 2016-17 season on Saturday at the Creighton Invitational. They will wrestle at the Stanton Invite the following week and will also wrestle in a quadrangular at Winside Dec. 15 and the Pierce Invitational on Dec. 29 to close the pre-holiday portion of their schedule.

Winside hopes to build on last year

Last year, the Winside boys basketball team ended a long losing streak and played some of its best basketball at the end of the year to post a 3-17 season.

Now, with most of those players back from last year, coach Tom Meyer is hopeful that the Wildcats can build on that late-season success from last year and take a step forward this season.

Six starters are back from last season, and with that experience returning, Meyer is hopeful the team can get the season off to a good start and build some momentum for the season.

"If we can win some games early it should give us some confidence and we could be competitive," he said. "We have a lot of experience and are looking to turn the corner."

Jadon Wagner is the lone senior among the six returning starters. He is joined by juniors Brandon Watters, Dylan Brogren, Caleb Kampa, Colton Jensen and JaShaun Vyborny among the returning leaders to the Wildcat lineup.

Brogren is the leading scorer and rebounder back from last year, averaging 8.7 points and 6.4 rebounds per game. Kampa averages 5.3

points and 4.7 rebounds per game, while Watters averages 5.7 points and 2.3 assists as the team's floor general.

Jensen and Vyborny can provide some scoring on the outside, with Jensen averaging 4.9 points per game and Vyborny scoring 4.4 points per game last year.

The Wildcats will have additional help in the form of Cody Frederick, a senior who came in off the bench for Winside last season.

The Wildcats open the season with a pair of home games this week, hosting Plainview on Thursday and Wynot on Friday.

Blue Devil's basketball returners expect better season than last year

Fourth-year head coach Rob Sweetland likes what he's seeing out of the Wayne High boys basketball team as they gear up for the 2016-17 season.

Three starters and eight letterwinners are back from a young team that went 8-18 last year, and with that returning experience he feels the Blue Devils will be a better team this season.

"We have an experienced team coming into this season," he said. "We are looking to improve on our eight wins from last season. We have a nice mix of shooting guards and athletic wings, our posts are a year older and players like Jack Evetovich have developed physically. This team is capable of competing for a conference title and a postseason push."

Seniors Payten Gamble and Grayson McBride and junior Mason Lee are returning starters who will lead the Blue Devils this season.

Gamble averaged 14 points and five rebounds a game last year as the team's shooting guard. McBride was a scorer who put up nine points a game last year, and Lee's ball handling and defensive abilities will be a key out on the perimeter for the Blue Devils this season.

Five other players are back with solid experience from last season. Senior forward Will Anderson and junior Jack Evetovich will both be a force on the inside for the Blue Devils, junior guards Ryan Jaixen and Beau Bowers will use their quickness out on the wings, and sophomore Tyler Gilliland will be a key player out at the point guard position for Wayne this season.

Sweetland has some other players who he's looking at as potential key elements this season, including seniors Seth Hochstein, Ty Grone and Tyler Pecena. Hochstein is a 6-foot-4 center that will give Wayne some needed depth in the post, while Grone and Pecena are both 6-foot forwards who will give Wayne some help in the post area.

The Blue Devils kick off the season at home Thursday with a matchup against South Sioux City, then travel to Battle Creek on Friday before coming home for a Tuesday matchup with Logan View/Scribner-Snyder. They host the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout Dec. 28-30 at Wayne State College.

Tough season last year motivates Lady Trojans

The Wakefield girls basketball team should see improvement this year after a young team struggled to a 2-20 campaign a year ago.

Fourth-year coach Chad Metzler said that a lot of players are back from last year's team, and with that returning experience, they should be a more competitive team in 2016-17.

"We should be a more competitive team this year, and should be fun to watch," he said. "The returning letterwinners all saw significant playing time last year, which will provide valuable experience. As many as 10 players could compete for starting roles this year, and without much height, it will be a wide-open game." Five seniors are among the eight returning letterwinners from last season. Guard Savannah Nelson was the team's leading scorer, averaging six points and three rebounds per game, while forward Avery Zamzow averaged 2.5 points and four rebounds a contest.

Also back are fellow senior guards Liz Delgado (2 points, 2 rebounds), Megan Borg (2 points, 3 rebounds) and Heidi Borg (1 point, 1 rebound). Sophomores Jessica Borg (2 points, 2 rebounds), Devaney Brown (3 points, 3 rebounds) and Jamie Dolph (3 points, 2 rebounds) also return to the lineup this season. Borg and Dolph are returning guards, while Brown is at the forward spot.

Metzler has several players he's looking at as potential contributors this season, including senior Giulia Ballarini and juniors Kenna Mackling, Emma Pommer and Rachel Brudigam. At 5-foot-10, Pommer is tallest in the Wakefield lineup and will likely see action in the post, with Ballarini and Brudigam as forwards and Mackling in the guard position.

Wakefield will hit the road to start the season, playing Thursday at Pender and Friday at Aalen. They'll also play at Wausa next week before their Tuesday, Dec. 13 home opener against Randolph.

WSC basketball battles during tournament

Over Thanksgiving break, the WSC men's basketball team was busy competing in the Pak-A-Sak Thanksgiving Classic in another road trip to Canyon, Texas, as well as a conference opener against Augustana University the Monday before break.

On Monday, Wayne State battled Augustana in Sioux Falls until going 0 for 6 from the field in overtime as the Vikings rallied for a 94-87 win over the Wildcats.

The Wildcats started quickly, taking an 8-3 lead on the Vikings. Augustana then went on a 13-3 run and took the lead from WSC at 16-11. The Vikings pushed their lead to double digits at 11 at 30-19 with 9:54 to go in the half following a John Warren 3-pointer.

WSC then responded with nine of the next 10 points, highlighted by five points from redshirt freshman Luke TerHark that ended with a 3-pointer, pulling the Wildcats within one at 40-39 with 2:32 left in the half. Augustana finished the half strong and held a 48-44 lead at intermission.

The start of the second half was a string of runs by both teams. WSC opened the half with the first eight points for a 52-48 lead. After WSC took a 59-51 lead on a Ben Hoskins 3-pointer, Augustana scored eight points in just 90 seconds to even the score at 59-59.

With the score tied at 64-64, Wayne State went on a 13-4 run and took its biggest lead of the game at 77-68 on a Matt Thomas 3-pointer.

But Augustana charged back and got within three at 79-76 on a Levi Jansen trey with 4:05 to play.

WSC maintained a lead until the final minute of regulation. The 'Cats still led 86-81 with 1:36 remaining following an Austin Esters layup. The Vikings, however, chipped away at the lead and tied the score at 86 on a Steven Schaefer three-point play with 54 seconds to play.

The Wildcats missed a pair of shots in the final minute, while Augustana only missed one for a chance to win the game, sending the contest into overtime at 86-86.

Nearly two minutes went by until the first team scored in overtime as Augustana's Adam Beyer scored a basket at the 3:02 mark of overtime to give the Vikings their first lead at 88-86 since 19:23 to play in the second half.

Wayne State's first points of the overtime came with 2:46 left in extra time when Kendall Jacks made one of two free throws to get the 'Cats within two at 89-87. But that would be the lone point for the Wildcats in overtime as Wayne State went 0 for 6 from the field and Augustana made free throws down the stretch for the 94-87 overtime win.

WSC ended the night making 30 of 58 shots for 52 percent after spending most of the night shooting 60 percent. The 'Cats were 8 of 24 from the 3-point line and 19 for 27 at the free throw line.

Junior Jordan Cornelius paced Wayne State in scoring with 21 points on 8 of 14 shooting. Jacks (15), Thomas (11) and TerHark (10) also hit double digits for the Wildcats.

Augustana made 27 of 55 shots for 49 percent, going 10 for 22 from downtown and 30 for 46 at the free throw line. Jordan Spencer led the Vikings with 23 points followed by Mike Busack with 14 and Adam Beyer and Steven Schaefer with 10 apiece.

The Vikings won the rebounding battle over WSC 38-27 with Beyer grabbing seven for Augustana while Jacks and Brian Goodwin each hauled in six boards for the Wildcats.

WSC had five players foul out of the game and was called for 37 fouls compared to 26 on the Vikings. Augustana had a 22-3 advantage in second chance points, but WSC outscored the Vikings in the paint 34-22.

Later in the week, the Wildcats traveled to Canyon, Texas for the Pak-A-Sak Thanksgiving Classic for another road trip, where they lost West Texas A&M, 92-74, on Friday, despite a great shooting day for the Wildcats.

In the first half, Wayne State shot 13-20 at 65 percent from the field, but still trailed at the half 46-35 due to 13 turnovers, the most the team has had all season.

The Buffs maintained a lead the entire game, raising their score by 13 before the half ended.

In the second half, West Texas A&M started off rolling eight of nine shots, giving the team a 20-point lead over Wayne and finishing the game with a 92-74 victory.

The Buffs shot 55 percent in the game, and were 21 of 30 from the free-throw line. WT A&M's David Chavlovich put up a game high of 21 points for the Buffs.

The Wildcats shot a season best of 53 percent, going 23 out of 44 from the field.

After a tough fight against Eastern New Mexico on Saturday, the Wildcats lost the thriller 89-86 in a double overtime.

The Greyhounds drained four straight free throws to send the game into overtime at 65-65.

In the first OT, WSC's Vance Janssen hit a buzzer 3-pointer, tying it 77-77 and sending the game in double-overtime. In the second OT, the Wildcats couldn't muster any points, letting the game slip away to the Hounds, ending 89-86.

WSC had six players score in the double digits. Brian Goodwin led with 19. Cornelius had his first double-double of the season with 13 points and 14 rebounds.

Wayne State will play its first weekend conference games at home this weekend, hosting Minnesota State Friday night at 8 p.m. and Concordia-St. Paul Saturday in a 6 p.m. NSIC contest at Rice Auditorium.

Returning state qualifiers look to lead Wakefield wrestling

Two returning state qualifiers are back to lead the Wakefield wrestling team on the mats in 2016-17.

Fifth-year head coach Eric Burenheide said that a big sophomore class will be called upon to help the returning state medalists lead the team this season, and the Trojans should have a man in just about every weight bracket this season.

"This year when we get everyone's weight under control, we should fill all but one of the weight classes and be very competitive in our duals," he said. "We have two returning qualifiers looking to head to the state tournament again. We also have a large sophomore class looking to improve on their freshman records. I am really looking forward to the season and progress that needs to be made."

Seniors Cody Thomas and Moises Barboza were both state qualifiers and will be looking to get back to Omaha this season. Thomas earned a sixth-place medal at 170 pounds at state last year, and Barboza went 1-2 in the 220-pound weight class. Both are expected to be contenders for a trip back to state this season.

After that, there are two juniors and five sophomores who should be able to step up and compete this season. Returning juniors are Ben Chase and Julio Sanchez, while returning sophomores include Tay Guill, Charlie Lopez, Clayton Christensen, Isaac Verzani and Alex Camarena.

Three freshmen are on the roster this season, including Jacob Dorcsey, Jacob Anderson and Nolan Litchfield.

The Trojans start the season Thursday at Pender and will be at the Howells-Dodge Invitational on Saturday. They host a triangular with Ponca and Madison on Thursday, Jan. 12, and will host their own invitational on Saturday, Feb. 4.

New system to come for Winside girls

New Winside girls basketball coach Matt Denker is looking for improved play out of the Wildcats this season as they look to improve on last year's 2-18 campaign.

Two starters and seven letterwinners are back from last season, and Denker is hoping a new system will give the team a more improved look this season.

"This season will be different since we're bringing in a whole new system," he said. "The girls are hard workers and have really bought into what we're doing and they're learning the system quickly. We're hoping to be clicking around conference tournament. Chemistry is huge in basketball. It'll be a fun season."

Seniors Alex Bargstadt and Callie Finn are back for the Wildcats this season. Bargstadt will likely be a key player on the inside for Winside, while Finn will look to do her damage as a leader in the backcourt.

Also back from last year as returning letterwinners are Alyssa Brogren, Victoria Buresh, Sarah Wolfe, Erin Clocker and Kellie Kampa. All are younger players who got a good season worth of varsity experience last year and are expected to show improvement this year.

Denker has several newer players that he's hoping will show some promise, including freshmen Andi Bargstadt, Marissa Remm, Morgan Remm and Loretta Reed.

The Wildcats will kick off the season this week with a pair of home games. They host Plainview on Thursday and Wynot on Friday.

Wayne State Wildcats welcomes five incoming freshman to baseball team

Wayne State College head baseball coach Alex Koch (pronounced cook) announced Nov. 23, that five student-athletes have signed national letters of intent during the NCAA early signing period to join the Wildcat baseball program for the 2017-18 school year. The list includes Andrew Hansen of Burnsville, Minnesota, Alex Logelin from Waconia, Minnesota, Maxwell Ploof of Coon Rapids, Minnesota, Aaron Ras of Bancroft and Devin Wagoner from Sutton.

"I am very excited about all of our early signees," remarked Coach Koch. "They are all extremely talented and will help us win games right away." Andrew Hansen is a 6-0, 175-pound shortstop from Burnsville High School in Minnesota. He was the starting quarterback in football while also starting in basketball and baseball. Hansen had a .507 on-base percentage for his legion team in the summer and had a .333 batting average in the 2016 state tournament while helping his team to a fifth place finish.

"Andrew is a three-sport athlete who will bring a lot of versatility to our infield next year," said Koch. Alex Logelin (log - uh - lin) is a 6-0, 185-pound catcher/outfielder from Waconia High School in Minnesota where he was a five-year starter in wrestling, three years in baseball and two in football. Logelin posted a .418 batting average last summer while helping his team reach the Minnesota State Legion Baseball Tournament. He was an All-Wright County Conference First Team selection in football, wrestling and baseball during his junior season in 2015-16.

"Alex is one of our pure athletes we have signed in this class," boasted Koch. "He can play multiple positions on the field but his primary position is catcher."

Experienced Wakefield boys basketball team looks to improve losing record

Four starters and 10 letterwinners return to the lineup for the Wakefield boys basketball team as they get ready for the 2016-17 winter season.

Third-year coach Joe Wendte said this year's Trojan team has a good mix of experience back from last year, and he's hoping they can improve on last year's 6-16 mark.

"Our team has good returning talent with good experience," he said. "We need to commit to the defensive side of the ball in order to start winning close games and get over the hump."

Solomon Peitz and Isaac Camarena are the leading scorers back from last year for the Trojans. Peitz averaged 13 points and pulled down nine rebounds last year, while Camarena scored 10 points and had four rebounds per contest.

Also back and competing for a starting spot are Jose Sanchez, who averaged 6.5 points and two rebounds at guard last year; and Parker Lehmkuhl, who chipped in 7.5 points and five rebounds last year.

Letterwinners who should give Wakefield some added depth this year include center Israel Gardea, forwards Esgar Godinez and Ben Klein, and guards Matt Christensen, Daniel Nuno and Noah Lamprecht.

The Trojans play their first three games on the road, starting with Thursday's opener at Pender. They play at Allen on Friday and at Wausau next Friday, Dec. 9, before making their home debut on Tuesday, Dec. 13, against Randolph.

Maxwell Ploof is a 6-3, 210-pound third baseman/right handed pitcher from Anoka High School in Minnesota. He was a two-year starter in baseball, recording a .361 average and .423 on-base percentage with 23 RBI's last season as a junior to earn All-Northwest Suburban Conference honors.

"Maxwell is a big, athletic kid that will be able to pitch and play the field for us," commented Coach Koch. "He is a power-hitting, corner infield player that will add power to our lineup."

Aaron Ras (ross) is a 6-0, 195-pound left handed pitcher from Bancroft-Rosalie High School where he is a three-year starter in baseball while also playing football and basketball. He is a Class B honorable mention All-State selection in baseball the last two seasons and was named Academic All-State as a junior. In basketball, Ras was an East Husker All-Conference honorable mention selection and named Academic All-State.

"Aaron is a local, hard-throwing left hander pitcher who will fit right into our rotation next season," said Koch. Ras' parents are both WSC graduates - Gerard played men's basketball from 1989-91 and Ronda was a softball player from 1986-89.

Devin Wagoner is a 6-5, 180-pound right handed pitcher from Sutton High School where he is a three-year starter in baseball and golf and a two-year starter in basketball. Last summer, Wagoner struck out 86 batters in just 49.1 innings of work with a 2.77 ERA while holding opponents to a .140 batting average. He is a two-time state qualifier in golf and earned All-Southern Nebraska Conference honors in basketball along with Class-C2 honorable mention All-State honors.

New head coach for Wildcat wrestlers has high hopes

A familiar face will be in a new role for the Winside wrestling team this season.

After being an assistant for the last nine years, Jesse Thies takes over the reins from longtime coach Paul Sok and will lead a talented Wildcat wrestling team that will look to overcome some injuries from the fall sports season.

"Injuries have hampered the preseason, so we will be very thin and young this year," he said. "I'm excited for the talented freshman class to step up and make a difference early."

Three-time state qualifier Sean Mann will lead the Wildcats this season, as the 126-pound senior will look for another trip to Omaha this winter. Also back are returning qualifiers Zach Morris (152) and Cory Shoff (285), whose status for the season is questionable after a knee injury during football.

Several other returning letterwinners are back for the Wildcats this season, including Koby Ellis (106), Mason King (182), Michael Jensen (170), Hayden King (182) and Jon Escalante (195). A number of those returning athletes were one match away from state last year before losing in a very tough district tournament.

Thies has several younger kids coming up that will be in the mix for starting spots at the lighter weights, including freshmen Lane Damme (106), Carter Jensen (113), Zach Jeppesen (113), Alex Carlson (113), Mathew Frederick (120) and Edward Olander (120), along with sophomore Joey Heimdale (113).

The Wildcats kick off the 2015-16 winter season Saturday at the Creighton Invitational. They host a quadrangular on Thursday, Dec. 15 and will have the Winside Invitational on Saturday, Jan. 7.

Four returning starters look for success for LCC

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge girls basketball coach Nate Sims is hoping for better results this upcoming season with four returning starters.

After last year's 3-18 campaign, Sims said the team has a great group of returning talent that should help reverse the Lady Bears' fortunes from a year ago.

"We are looking at drastically turning around last season's record," he said. "We have a great group of people returning who are eager for success. This summer, we started in the right direction and we need to continue the trend."

Senior Katie Leapley leads a foursome of starters back from last year. The 6-foot-2 post player led the state in blocked shots last year and averaged eight points and eight rebounds a game, and her presence in the paint will be important to LCC's success this year.

Also back is junior guard Bryn Schutte, who averaged a team-best 11 points and grabbed six boards a game last year. Senior point guard Katelyn Cook (3.4 points per game) and junior post player Ashley Wolfgram (3 points, 3 rebounds per game) are also back to give LCC some strong experienced leadership.

Six other letterwinners return to the lineup this year, including senior Emily Hangman, who averaged 4 points and 4.5 rebounds per game coming off the bench last season. Sophomore Lorna Maxon (2.3 points, 2 rebounds per game) is also back, along with juniors Mady holloway and Nicole Hanson and sophomores Bethany Kardell and Nicole Hanson.

The Lady Bears face some tough games early in the season, opening Friday at C-2 power Crofton. They will play at Homer on Tuesday and will be at home for the first time Friday, Dec. 9 against Emerson-Hubbard.

LCC boy's basketball hope to build off last year's winning season

Although they have some key holes to fill, the LCC boys basketball team looks to be a solid squad heading into the upcoming season.

Four returning letterwinners are back from last year's 17-7 team, and third-year coach Todd Erwin is hoping those returning players will help set the tone for the team's success this year.

"We have a good group of seniors that will help mold our younger players for our fast style of play," Erwin said.

Leading the way is senior post player Jayden Reifenrath, who set the school's single-season record for blocked shots last year. His ability to score and elevate in the paint will make the Bears a fun team to watch this season.

Also back from last year are seniors Trey Erwin, Mason Forsberg and DJ Spahr. Forsberg will give the Bears a second solid body in the paint, while Erwin and Forsberg will help on the outside with their solid play.

Senior Cody Wilson is also on the varsity roster this season, along with junior Logan Hansen. Underclassmen include sophomores Izac Reifenrath, Sam Cary and Karsen Klooz, and freshmen Noah Schutte and Ty Erwin.

The Bears will open the 2016-17 season on the road Friday at Crofton. They play at Homer on Tuesday before facing their first home battle next Friday, Dec. 9 against Emerson-Hubbard.

How it Works: Groups or individuals may purchase a gift for the Giving Tree. If you would like to take a gift tag from the giving tree, stop by the school and take a tag from our Paper Tree.

The tree will be located on the wall in the commons area beginning Nov. 30. There will be a sign-up sheet hanging on the wall by the Paper Tree for you to write YOUR name beside the Tag YOU take.

All gifts are due back to the school office with the tag attached by Thursday, Dec. 15.

Pick-ups: If you are participating in the giving tree as a family, you need to call Desiree Kneifl at the school and arrange a pick-up time that works with you.

We do not want your child to see you picking up the packages. We also want to keep this confidential for you and your family.

Allen Community Club

The Allen Community Club met Nov. 21 at the fire hall for a 7 p.m. meeting. President Greta Kraemer called the meeting to order.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. There were items of new business. A copy of the proposed Allen Athletic Booster sign for the gym was shown and approved.

Santa and Mrs. Claus will be at the Friday, Dec. 16 Christmas concert at school. They will be in the gym before and during the concert and on the stage during intermission.

New business followed. Thanks to the anonymous person(s) who has put the bell up at the Highway 9 and 20 junction sign. Greta will put up some lights around the sign's frame.

It was suggested to use the back of the "Spread the Word" about Allen's Q125 and make a different sign about Allen to be entered in surrounding town's parades.

If anyone would be willing to drive a vehicle with a sign representing Allen in parades, please contact Greta Kraemer or Marcia Rastede.

Poinsettia Sales

As the holiday season nears, the Junior Class began selling poinsettias on Nov. 29. Poinsettias are sold on a first come first serve basis. They may be purchased in the Allen School Library.

Prison committee has a budget idea, not tax cuts

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

While the administration focuses on making good on promises of tax cuts with an eye on managing a projected revenue shortfall, one legislative committee says the state may need to spend hundreds of millions on fixing state prison problems.

A refusal to do so may lead to the release of some really bad guys or escalating prison violence resulting in death, according to the Legislature's Department of Correctional Services Investigative Committee. Complicating the matter further is the possibility of a lawsuit that could force action on overcrowding whether the state is ready or not.

The Nebraska State Penitentiary, the system's oldest facility, is now at 200 percent of capacity. There have been 13 assaults on staff this year with the first sexual assault of a staffer reported recently.

Similar situations exist at other institutions in the system, which ranges from facilities in Tecumseh to McCook. The legislative committee was convened after the inadvertent early release of inmates several years ago and an ensuing Mother's Day riot that left two inmates dead at Tecumseh in 2015.

Committee member Sen. Paul Schumacher of Columbus told the Lincoln Journal Star that the state needs "to spend money, or we're going to turn some really bad guys out onto the streets, or some of our inmates or employees are going to be killed."

The committee is expected to release a report in December that comes after months of hearings on issues ranging from staffing and salaries to programs required so inmates can be successful on release. Corrections Director Scott Frakes spent hours answering lawmakers' questions on crowding, parole, mental health care and restrictive housing.

The Tecumseh riot, a ban on the death penalty in limbo and the escape of two inmates from the Lincoln Correctional Center in a laundry truck also added to the discussion.

Several inmates have been charged and found guilty of involvement in the riot. Nebraska voters decided to reinstate the death penalty and the escapees were caught and are behind bars again.

Schumacher said it has become clear that budgetary constraints were the source of the problems that have festered in the prisons.

The constraints are the result of a now 10-year-old program of tax reductions and credits with the public allegedly clamoring for more.

At least two think tanks have advanced tax plans and several senators are expected to carry their own or one recommended by Governor Pete Ricketts when the new Legislature convenes in January.

The senator says that state spending has reduced funds available for spending by about $750 million. If that trend continues, by 2024 the state would have $1.1 billion less to spend.

On top of all this is a projected revenue shortfall of maybe $900 million over the next biennium. Throw in 17 freshmen legislators and you have the makings for high drama in the George W. Norris Legislative Chamber next year.

But perhaps the very frosting on this upside-down cake comes in the seemingly popular attitude of getting tough on crime as evidenced by the recent vote to repeal the death penalty ban that the 2015 Legislature passed over Rickett's veto.

Ricketts then contributed $300,000 from his own pocket to a petition drive that put the repeal measure on the ballot.

In addition to holding out the death penalty as a deterrent to crime — a contention that has yet to be proven — getting tough on crime requires incarceration. It takes money to keep people behind bars and the prospect of having to build more space and hire more staff generates more expense.

If that's not unsettling enough, throw in scrutiny of the prison system by the federal government and the ever-present idea that the American Civil Liberties Union might sue because of overcrowding. A federal court order could result in the release of inmates, some of whom maybe aren't ready to be — or shouldn't be — released.

Director Frakes is experienced, knowledgeable and knows what has to be done but is constrained by the political dynamic, Schumacher said.

The Legislature should consider alternative sentencing, programming, expanded community corrections and other modern measures to address the situation.

One can only hope that 17 new senators can learn quickly — and the six of them who received money or endorsements from the governor can act independently — in providing solutions for the good of the state.

Remember: It's not about the gifts

Just a thought...

by Calyn Dunklau

Much to my husband's chagrin, it's that lovely holiday time of year again. The time where his wife goes batty for all things Christmas, from the music to the baking.

It never fails.

Before the Thanksgiving table has been set, I've got my Christmas tree mentally decorated.

At the first sign of snow, I've got Elvis' "Blue Christmas" playing in the car.

This is my favorite time of year. And it's not because of the gifts.

It's the numerous times we get to see family. Family that isn't very far away but we all have children and/or jobs, etc. that make life chaotic. It's easy to get caught up in the busy schedules we all have so this time of year, while no less busy, means we all get to spend time with one another.

It's the wonder in my child's eyes as the Christmas trees go up (we have one in pretty much every room) and the lights get turned off. When the world is quiet and her room is aglow with soft light from her own tree.

It's the nights spent snuggled up together on the couch in our fluffy pajamas and slippers with hot cocoa watching cheesy Lifetime movies and the Christmas classics like the 1964 version of "Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer" and "A Charlie Brown Christmas" to name a few.

It's the batter and frosting that smudges the cheeks of my daughter and her cousins as they try their hand at making Christmas treats like banana bars and sugar cookies.

It's the songs on the radio reminding us to be cheerful and generous. The music that you can't help but tap your feet and wiggle around to as you do the most mundane daily tasks.

It's the way everyone thaws a bit, going out of their way to say hello and be friendly to everyone they pass in the store or on the sidewalk.

It's the peace a blanket of snow brings late at night while you are curled up with a cup of coffee reading the next chapter in your favorite book.

It's the kids all bundled up tossing snowballs at one another, laughing too hard to aim properly. The way they try to run through snow drifts, collapsing into a fit of giggles mid-way.

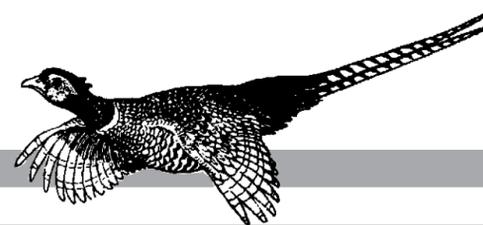

It's driving around town with cups of hot cider oohing and ahhhing over Christmas lights with your family.

It's the sound of your church congregation singing carols during the Christmas Eve service.

It's not the gifts under the tree or the amount of money spent on those gifts. It's the time you take from your busy schedule to enjoy this lovely season and all it offers.

ACME Club learns about Mount Rushmore

Members of ACME Club met on Nov. 21 in the meeting room at Wayne Public Library/Senior Center.

The meeting was hosted by Delores Utecht with a Thanksgiving theme and it was convened by President Ruth Victor. Bonnadell Koch presented the thought for the day, a poem by Helen Steiner Rice, titled "Fill Your Heart with Thanksgiving".

It was noted that tray favors have been put together by members for many of the holidays and have included our holidays as well as Election Day. The members took time after the business meeting to travel to the Wayne Public Library to present the book, "Troubleshooting and Repairing Major Appliances, Third Edition," by Eric Kleiner, given in honor and in memory of the life of one of its recent members, Mary Doescher.

The public is urged to stop at the library and make use of this wonderful compilation of information about troubleshooting and repairing major appliances, including information on selection and installation, as well as diagnosis and repair.

Following the business meeting Delores Utecht gave an informational talk on Mount Rushmore and artist, Gutzon Borglum, a member of the Free Masons who studied in Paris, and had started carving on the monument even before President Coolidge spent the summer of 1927 in the Black Hills.

In 1929 Coolidge had introduced a bill that passed to provide up to $250,000 in funding that needed to be matched by private donations to provide the other half of the estimated amount needed for the monument.

Over the next 14 years the project cost nearly $1 million. About 30 men at any given time and 400 total worked on the monument in various capacities, including dynamiting, drilling, moving equipment, forging and sharpening tools, and carving.

Approximately 90 percent of the carving was done using dynamite. When Borglum died in 1941, the project was stopped and money diverted to the war effort.

The carvings include the four presidents: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln. It is said that the monument erodes at the rate of one inch every 10,000 years. The monument requires annual maintenance. There is now an "avenue of flags" that includes a flag for all 50 states.

The Lakota Sioux had opposed the project as a desecration of their sacred land and the Crazy Horse Memorial is now being built with donations and no public government grants.

There is a cave behind the carvings called the Hall of Records that houses records carved onto tablets meant to be held safe in a sealed vault for thousands of years to be accessed should there be a major destruction of the records documenting the founding of the U.S. democracy.

This project was revived in the 1990s and completed only at that time.

Next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 5 at the Wayne Senior Center when the group will complete donations for charitable giving events in December.

Engagement

Doug and Gail Malchow of Pender, along with Mark and Connie Hanson of Wayne, have announced the engagement and upcoming marriage of their children, Emily Malchow and Nate Hanson.

Emily is a 2004 graduate of Wisner-Pilger. She received her bachelor's degree in 2007 from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln in Speech-Language Pathology. She received her master's degree in 2010 from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in Speech-Language Pathology. Emily is a Speech Language Pathologist for South Sioux City Public Schools.

Nate is a 2009 graduate of Wayne High School. He is a 2013 graduate of University of Nebraska at Lincoln with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture Leadership. He is a production scheduler for Tyson at Dakota Dunes, S.D.

The couple is planning a Dec. 10, 2016 wedding at St. John's Lutheran Church of rural Pender.

Congratulations Toni Sullivan ~ Associate of the Month ~

I nominate Toni Sullivan for employee of the month. Toni is such a pleasure to work with. She comes into work ready for whatever the day has to offer. She is always willing to help out. She takes her time with the residents, and always puts them first. I constantly hear compliments from the staff and residents about how helpful she is and how much they appreciate having her around. I'm so happy she joined our staff this year. She sets a great example on what it truly means to be a Brookdale associate. I always know when working with Toni that everything will get done and be done correctly. I highly respect Toni and her work ethics. Altona women gather in Wisner

First Trinity Lutheran Women's Mission League of Altona met Nov. 16 at the Wisner Care Center.
Darlene Bowers began by reading a portion of Psalm 136. Clara heinemann gave a reading on the first Thanksgiving. "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come" was sung by all.
For the lesson, Mrs. Heinemann read from the devotion book "Each New Day." She also gave a report on the Wayne Circuit Bible Institute, "Witnessing to the Muslims."
A report was given on Jana

Engelhardt's mission to Latin America. She will be living in the Dominican Republic.
Anyone wishing to contribute to her support is asked to make a check payable to Lutheran Church- Missouri Synod Missions and place Jana Engelhardt's name on the memo line.
Darlene Bowers presided over the business meeting. The LWML Pledge was recited as the mite box offering was taken.
The minutes and treasurer's reports from the previous meeting were approved.
The Christmas meeting will be held at the Wisner Care Center with the date to be announced. There will be a potluck dinner and gift exchange.

Cookies will be mailed to each of the military people in the congregation, as well as to Jason Youngmeyer, who is teaching English in South Korea.
The meeting closed with all praying The Lord's Prayer and singing the table prayer, "Feed Thy Children, God Most Holy."
Clara Heinemann was hostess and Verona Koehlmoos was a guest.

Always faithful; Always ready

As I'm writing this, it is around 4:20 a.m. Friday, the morning after the family Thanksgiving Feast.

The holiday special activities began three nights ago with an evening drive to Tarkio, Mo., where many of my Sherry's family - joined by church and community friends - gathered on Wednesday morning for the funeral service of one of Sherry's relatives. "Uncle Carl" died during the week before Thanksgiving at the age of 85. He was a faithful husband, father, grandfather, church deacon, treasurer, friend, and encourager.

Carl was also a US veteran, who was not only "always faithful" but was also "always ready." And he was honored that morning in special ways. In my mind, however, perhaps the most profound salutation took place at the graveside where a contingency of military personnel did a tribute to commemorate Carl's time in the service. At the close of the ceremony, two young ladies in uniform stepped forward and removed the flag from the casket and (very) formally and carefully folded it, being meticulous to check the angles and the tight creases. Then one soldier knelt in front of Carl's widow; after she handed Aunt Carolyn the flag, the soldier gently and tenderly expressed this country's heartfelt thanks for her husband's service to this country.

Always faithful. Always ready.

After spending some time with Sherry's family, we drove to the Des Moines area where we spent part of Wednesday evening with one of my sisters and a portion of her family, before they were to gather with her husband's family to celebrate yesterday's Thanksgiving dinner together. We had a wonderful time of laughter, sharing about the future, and then enjoyed a committed time of prayer for family matters.

And on Thanksgiving Day, we picked up my mom at her retirement home and drove up into north central Iowa for the family celebration with an uncle, several of my siblings, some cousins, and their families.

What a marvelous time together. Great food, lots of reminiscing, uproarious laughter, and excitement as several shared that it is a time of change and new beginnings. At the close of the meal we always take part in a tradition of the "candy corn" in which each of us receives three pieces of candy and then individually names three things for which we are thankful. (By the way, we are all over the map of the political spectrum; but God graciously helped us hold to "the better part" as we enjoyed our time together.)

As a man whose dad, uncle, grandfather, and great uncle were all pastors, I grew up in the church. And we know that we must be "always faithful and always ready." We are to be faithful to the call of God on our lives.

And we are to be ready to serve Him - wherever and whenever. Paul taught that righteousness is determined by our faith (Romans 3:22). However, James reminds his readers that faith is also measured by works that accompany that faith, since faith without works is dead (James 2:14-26).

Always ready. Reminds me of the First Advent of Christ. We are told (in scripture) that in the fullness of time, God sent His only Son physically into this world, the infant Son of a virgin. God's plan was ready to be revealed (Galatians 4:4-7).

Just as Jesus came the first time (right on time), Jesus taught His disciples that they needed to be ready for the hour of His appearing (when He would come again) - at a time they didn't know (Matthew 24:42).

We must be always faithful. And always ready.

The term "Advent" is a blend of two Latin words, and their combined meaning is "to come to." Christ came to the world once in the form of a Baby. And He will come again to take His believers to a place He has prepared for them.

Are you ready? Because "ready or not.... here He comes!"

Tips offered to manage your holiday stress

Hundreds of dollars in spending and calendars overloaded with extra events and commitments can turn the holiday season from merry to miserable for many Americans.

Families are dynamic and they aren't perfect. The holidays are a high-stress time due to more obligations, the blending of families who may not get along, overwhelming financial stress, and high expectations for traditions.

Families need to practice communication techniques before the holiday season gets busier.

Small things can make a big difference, and playing games together can be one way to find that quality time. By playing games together, family members get to know each other better, talk, laugh and be silly.

Tips For Managing Holiday Stress

Try to celebrate one good thing each day, whether it's getting out the door on time or taking a few minutes to chat about school or work.

Talk with each person in the family, including children, and let them know about changes in schedules or upcoming events.

Remember that kind words and acts go a long way. A hug or heartfelt "thanks" are meaningful and simple ways to express appreciation.

Show self-respect and be nice to family members who may be struggling with changes to routines or health behaviors.

Be realistic and communicate up-front about what the family can do. Identify which traditions are most important and which can be skipped or delayed, whether kids or adults can help with chores or events, and when the family plans to stay home and relax.

Take a slow, deep breath at multiple times throughout the day.

Lower Elkhorn NRD appoints 2 new members

NORFOLK – The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) has seen a lot of change this year on their board of directors.

At their November meeting, the LENRD Board of Directors appointed two new members. David Kathol and Jill Barr, both of Norfolk, took the oath of office and joined the other members around the table.

In the November election, David Kathol of rural Norfolk, was elected in Subdistrict 4 to replace Tim Tighe of Humphrey, who did not seek re-election.

The appointment was possible due to Tighe's early departure from the board last month, resigning just before the end of his term because he had recently relocated outside of the Subdistrict. Kathol was appointed at the November board meeting to fill the remainder of Tighe's term, and will begin to serve his elected term in January.

Kathol worked for NPPD for 40 years. He is now retired and has some time to commit to being a board member.

When applying for the position, Kathol said, "We all need to know the facts about the water under our feet; how geologically it is stored, moves, replenished, and what happens to make wells go dry." He added, "We all need to be educated about water law."

Jill Barr was appointed to Subdistrict 2 to replace Luke Winkelbauer of Norfolk. Luke recently resigned from the board due to his previous commitments and the time requirements to serve on the board. Barr has been appointed to fill the remainder of the two-year term.

Barr is a pharmacist at Hy-Vee West in Norfolk. In her cover letter, she said, "As the granddaughter of one of the founding fathers of Nucor, I understand the importance of resources and how they play a role in the economics of Nebraska. Industry, agriculture, and municipalities all rely on the water to survive. All of us rely on it to drink, bathe, and live. I look forward to being a part of the conversation on how to keep resources sustainable for current and future generations."

In other action, a public hearing was held for a proposed Chemigation rule change.

The proposed amendment would allow the chemical injection line check valve to be removed during the off-season. LENRD Water Resources Technician, Josh Schnitzler, said, "By allowing producers to remove the check valve when they are not chemigating, it should prolong the life of the check valve, as the plastic check valves tend to deteriorate quickly when left out year-round. It should also give producers a chance to inspect the check valve for any defects or animal damage that may have occurred."

The board subsequently approved the proposed amendment to the LENRD rules for Chemigation and will forward the approved rule and all other necessary documentation to the Director of the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality (NDEQ) for their consideration and approval. The change would become effective soon after approval of the change from NDEQ.

In other business, the board approved 15 Community Forestry Incentive applications and one Forestry Incentive for Public Facilities application, for a total cost of $39,929.50.

The members also approved the staff recommendations for Conservation Cost-share and Lands for Conservation programs and authorized $500,000 for the 2017 construction season.

A request came from the Norfolk Area Visitors' Bureau for assistance in providing bike racks on Norfolk trails.

A cost-share program was proposed, and the board voted to fund 50% of the cost of the bike racks to be placed around Norfolk, up to $5,000, with the other 50% to be funded by businesses or other entities.

Each year, the LENRD must determine the maximum number of new groundwater irrigated acres to be allowed for the following year. The board voted to allow 0 acres of new groundwater irrigation development district-wide under the district's standard variance process for 2017.

Under the district's expedited variance process, they voted to allow no transfer of irrigated acres district-wide, but to allow approval of applications of 10 acres or less, if the addition of the requested acres will allow the applicant's center pivot irrigation system to finish its circle. They also voted to allow for the approval of qualified good cause variances and to approve a total of no more than 250 new irrigated acres in the hydrologically connected area and no more than 250 irrigated acres in the non-hydrologically connected area for expedited variance applications located outside of the district's quantity sub-areas for 2017.

In addition, the board directed the staff to allow for the approval of supplemental wells, only in situations where the certified irrigated acres have been severed from the source of groundwater. LENRD Water Resources Manager, Brian Bruckner, said, "In summary, this policy is identical to the allowable development that had been in place in the LENRD for 2016.

District staff members are continuing to develop the framework for further expansion of irrigated acres in defined areas within the district by 2018."

Bids were received and reviewed to select contractors to perform flow meter maintenance and installation inspections for the district. The board approved 2 proposals, and authorized the general manager to enter into contracts with the firms.

They approved the proposal from Buchanan Well, Inc. of Osmond, for the northern area of the district to perform the maintenance on an estimated 443 flow meters at $46 per site for a total of $20,378.00.

The other proposal approved was with Derek Becker and Austin Becker of Norfolk, for the southern area of the district at $50 per unit for an estimated 434 flow meters for a total of $21,700.00.

The LENRD officially shared their new logo with the public this week. It brings together their mission of conserving and protecting water, soil, and trees.

Check it out on their website and social media.

The next board meeting will be held on Thursday, December 15th at 7:30 p.m.

The LENRD serves all or parts of 15-counties in northeast Nebraska. Visit the LENRD website to sign up for emails from the district. Like us on Facebook, and follow us on Twitter. Protecting Lives, Protecting Property, Protecting the Future - www.lenrd.org

Farm Service Agency extends voting deadline

The deadline to submit ballots for the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) 2016 County Committee Elections has been extended to ensure farmers and ranchers have sufficient time to vote.

Eligible voters now have until Dec. 13, 2016 to return ballots to their local FSA offices. Producers who have not received their ballot should pick one up at their local FSA office.

FSA has modified the ballot, making it easily identifiable and less likely to be overlooked. Ballots returned by mail must be postmarked no later than Dec. 13, 2016. Newly elected committee members will take office Jan. 1, 2017.

Nearly 7,700 FSA County Committee members serve FSA offices nationwide. Each committee has three to 11 elected members who serve three-year terms of office. One-third of County Committee seats are up for election each year. County Committee members apply their knowledge and judgment to help FSA make important decisions on its commodity support, conservation, indemnity, disaster and emergency programs.

Producers must participate or cooperate in an FSA program to be eligible to vote in the County Committee election. Approximately 1.5 million producers are currently eligible to vote. Farmers and ranchers who supervise and conduct the farming operations of an entire farm, but are not of legal voting age, also may be eligible to vote.

For more information, visit the FSA website at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections.

Nebraskans take sports too seriously

Something tells me Nebraska fans take their sports too seriously! When neighbor Val brought the Lincoln paper over Saturday afternoon, he said he was so upset about that volleyball game on Wednesday eve, he woke up at 4 a.m. and could not get back to sleep.

I admit I was kind of the same way. We send a "serving specialist" in for a gal who is quite consistent, and she has four service errors. A total of ELEVEN service errors for the game. That is not the way a championship team plays.

They made up for it on Saturday night, and are now conference champs. And, Creighton's volleyball team is the champs of their conference; Nebraska seems to raise and coach some talented players.

As far as that football team, I will be silent, except to say it was embarrassing. For some reason, it was more so than the Ohio State debacle.

The Farmer's Wife By: Pat Meierhenry

I choose to remember the Maryland game the week before.

We spent Thanksgiving afternoon at the home of Steve and Diane Krajicek. You've heard me talk about this family before; Steve's parents, Ed and Chick, were our neighbors on the farm, on the place now owned by Senator Dave Bloomfield. Steve was hosting the dinner, and we were looking forward to seeing some of his siblings, nieces, and nephews.

When we arrived, twenty plus adults had just finished eating a holiday meal, and there was enough food on the huge counter to feed twenty more!

This is typical Krajicek modus operandi! We had some delicious dessert, a little red wine, and some coffee to help it all go down.

Mike sat in a big easy chair, and they put former neighbor, Art Ulrich, on a chair beside him, and they reminisced.

They will admit that some of the memories were a bit vague, but it was good for both of them. Meanwhile, I sat at the kitchen table, which is in a neat windowed alcove, and caught up with Carol and Paula.

And, in the surprise of the month, Julie was not there because she had been married on the Saturday before and was on her honeymoon.

Our gathering was on Sunday, and the two biggest eaters were not here, so we ended up with leftovers, also.

How about if some of you stop in and help with the turkey, the dressing, and the pumpkin bread pudding??

Right now, we are each having a bowl of cranberry salad. I make this every holiday, even though our kids don't eat it.

Some traditions just have to stay in place.

Last evening, I was too tired to finish the dishes or read, so watched cheesy holiday stories on the Hallmark channel.

For each three minutes of story, with beautiful scenery, we get five minutes of commercials!

I learned this the December after we moved to Lincoln and both had joint replacement surgeries.

But they always end well, and it does kind of get you in the holiday mood. Happy Advent!!!

Lt. Governor Foley, NDA Assistant Director to travel Isreal trip hopes to promote Nebraska ag

Lt. Governor Mike Foley and Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) Assistant Director Mat Habrock were in Israel Nov. 27-30 to promote the state's agriculture industry and attend a special dinner reception at the U.S. Ambassador's residence featuring beef from Nebraska.

The dinner celebrated the arrival of the first shipment from the WR Reserve processing plant in Hastings, the only Israeli-approved kosher beef facility in the United States.

Business leaders, politicians and members of the news media were in attendance at the Ambassador's dinner to commemorate the arrival of U.S. beef to the newly-opened market.

"Along with showcasing Nebraska's quality beef, this trip gives us an opportunity to strengthen existing partnerships and build new relationships to further expand agriculture trade with Israel," said Foley. "Exporting our products to an international market like Israel helps grow Nebraska by creating opportunities for the state's ag producers, communities and the economy."

Earlier this month, WR Reserve announced that the export market spurred a plant expansion and would create 100 new jobs.

"Showcasing beef at special events like this is part of our ongoing effort to tell the story of Nebraska agriculture," said Habrock.

"While we're in Israel we're going to work hard to develop and promote the Nebraska brand of excellence and further our state's export efforts for all Nebraska agricultural goods."

In December 2003, Israel banned beef imports from the United States due to a confirmed case of bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE) in Washington state.

Israel lifted the 13-year-old ban on U.S. beef imports in February 2016.

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture data, $433 million of beef products were imported by Israel in 2015, with more than 90 percent of those imports coming from South America and the rest from Europe.

Nebraska hopes to claim a significant share of this beef market.

Solar Photovoltaic Systems workshop, farm succession planning both upcoming events

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension
Educator

Nebraska Extension is hosting a workshop on Solar Photovoltaic Systems use in Agriculture. The workshop is open and free to the public.

The seminar will focus on applications of Solar PV for farms, ranches and rural businesses.

We will mainly discuss grid tied solar PV, economics, basic design considerations and feasibility. Participants will learn how to use basic online tools to model their own locations and learn about economic considerations such as payback, grants, tax credits, and depreciation.

Our nearest location and date will be Thursday, Dec. 8 in Norfolk at the Lifelong Learning Center from 1 to 3 p.m. There is no charge for this workshop, but please pre-register by calling the Madison Co.

Extension Office at (402) 370-4040.

If you are considering passing on the family farm, it is essential that a plan is developed and carried out that is of benefit to all involved. Each year, free workshops on business succession and estate planning for farm and ranch owners, families and beginners are held at several sites across the state this winter.

Each workshop includes a discussion of beginning farmer programs that can aid in succession planning. To register or for more information on workshop times and specific locations, contact the Rural Response Hotline at 1-800-464-0258.

Topics will include: Stages of succession planning; Contribution, compensation, and balancing the interests of on-farm and off-farm heirs; The importance of communication, goal-setting, assessing feasibility, and balancing intergenerational expectations and needs; Beginning farmer loan and tax credit programs; The use of trusts, wills, life estate deeds and business entities (such as the limited liability company) in family estate and business succession planning;

Legal tools for balancing the interests of successors and off-farm heirs; Asset protection; Taxation (federal transfer taxes, Nebraska inheritance tax, basis adjustment), and; Essential estate documents.

The nearest location in our part of the state this year is at O'Neill on Thursday, Dec. 8. This is a bit of a drive but well worth it. Contact the Rural Response Hotline to register and get directions to the site in O'Neill. There is another location in York on Jan. 9.

Powerful lineup of seminars announced for state's 2016 Power Farming Show

The power of insight will be in full force at the 10th Annual Nebraska Power Farming Show, presented by AgDirect and Farm Credit Services of America. Fourteen educational seminars will take place over all three days of the show.

Sharing their wisdom will be agriculture and financial experts from organizations such as the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and the Nebraska Farm Bureau.

"Growers come to the Nebraska Power Farming Show to learn. Sure, they want to see big iron and revolutionary precision ag products, which of course they will.

But they'll also have several opportunities to attend educational seminars and gain insight into how to make better financial, agronomic and equipment decisions for their farms," says show director, Tom Junge.

It all starts Tuesday, December 6th, with the seminars "Where is the Cattle Industry Headed?," "Managing Resistant Weeds in Soybean Fields," "Climate Outlook: What will be the likely impacts of agriculture over the next year if the weak la Nina event currently forecasted materializes this winter?," "Saving the Family Farm: Farm Succession Planning, Estate Planning, Investments & Insurance," and "Economic Opportunities with Alternative Crops."

Sessions scheduled for Wednesday, December 7th, include "Trends in Farmland Values & Rental Rates," "Unique Challenges Facing Farmers when it Comes to Estate Planning and Business Succession," "Economic Opportunities with Alternative Crops," "Current Farm Related Issues," and "Selecting and Managing Cover Crops."

Sessions conclude Thursday, December 8th, with "Selecting and Managing Cover Crops," "Making the Consumer Connection: Strong Agriculture, Strong Nebraska," "Climate Outlook: What will be the likely impacts of agriculture over the next year if the weak la Nina event currently forecasted materializes this winter?," and "Saving the Family Farm: Farm Succession Planning, Estate Planning, Investments & Insurance."

Show hours are 9 am to 5 pm Tuesday and Wednesday, and 9 am to 3 pm Thursday. Admission and parking are FREE.

Nebraska Farm Bureau members are encouraged to stop by the Nebraska Farm Bureau booth (#2210) on Wednesday for a FREE Farm Bureau cup (with FREE refills) and leather work gloves (while supplies last). For more show information, visit nebraskapowershow.com.

The Nebraska Power Farming Show is produced by the Iowa-Nebraska Equipment Dealers Association in conjunction with local Nebraska and Iowa farm equipment dealers.

Diamond Sponsor presented by AgDirect and Farm Credit Services of America; Platinum Sponsors - Bayer CropScience and Nebraska Farm Bureau; Gold Sponsors - Machinery Pete and Stine Seed; and Media Sponsors: Midwest Messenger and Rural Radio Network.
