REVITALIZING THE 1912

(Photos by Calyn Dunklau)

The light scent of tobacco cedarwood greets shoppers the moment they step in the doors. Nebraska-made candles are just some of the boutique items the 1912 Emporium carries along side eclectic vintage pieces, hand picked to compliment the "farmhouse" aesthetic that is so popular in decorating right now.

Young entrepreneurs helping to make downtown Wayne a destination

Years with minimal use had left the old city hall building at Second and Pearl streets in dire need of more than just a facelift.

The building had been gifted to the Wayne Community Theater group, some years ago, but with the construction of the Majestic Theater and the immense amount of upkeep required for such a large building, it slowly started downhill.

For years, Mark Kanitz and Lukas Rix drove past the building, hating that it wasn't being used for something more than storage. Finally, the entrepreneurs decided to take matters into their own hands — putting feelers out and eventually putting an offer in on the building that hadn't been listed for sale.

One thing led to another and, viola, the two were the proud, albeit overwhelmed, owners of one of Wayne's most prominent buildings with a history steeped in the community.

When the city purchased its first fire engine in 1910, it didn't take long to realize that the previous buildings the police and firemen were operating out of weren't sufficient. The need for a central location for those entities and their equipment to be located in was crucial, so plans were made for the facility's construction, but in the midst of the planning, the location was changed.

"This building was not supposed to be built here," Rix said of the Pearl and Second street location. "The architecture actually matches the Baptist church. It was supposed to sit right across the street from that."

Thanks to a forward-thinking mayor, the location proposed was scrapped and the city went forward with construction where the building sits currently.

His reasoning for doing so? Revitalization.

At the time, Wayne's railroad system was the lifeblood of the community, but Wayne State College on the hill was a major draw. There was a definite divide in the community -- the further from the tracks, the better off you must be.

"With some of the crowd that came off the trains at the time, this area was considered the lower part of town. [The building] was slated to be built further up there," Rix said of the proposed Main Street location. "But the mayor at the time said the city wasn't going to flee the areas that needed to be revitalized."

So instead of being the divider in the city, the facility was built just a block from the tracks with room for the fire department, police department, mayor's office, city council chambers and a ballroom.

The history in the building was a major draw for Kanitz and Rix, so when they delved into restorations, it was important for them to keep that history in place for years to come.

"We chose to keep the '1912 City Hall' sign on the building not only because it's built into the metal facade, but also for the preservation of history," Kanitz said.

The major remodeling project was one that Kanitz and Rix were able to tackle

Enough already

While the original forecast for large amounts of snow did not come true on Friday, what fell created an interesting photo as it melted.

"[The building] was slated to be built further up there," Rix said of the proposed Main Street location. "But the mayor at the time said the city wasn't going to flee the areas that needed to be revitalized."

Arrangements with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Glendora Catherine Wieseler, daughter of Florian and Margaret (Pinkelman) Backman was born Aug. 18, 1934 on a farm near Wynot. She was baptized, received her First Communion and was confirmed at Sacred Heart Church in Wynot. Glendora attended school in Wynot, graduating in 1951. After graduating high school she attended a year of Secretarial College in Sioux City. Glendora married Alvin Wieseler on April 26, 1955 at the Sacred Heart Church in Wynot. Soon after the wedding, the newlyweds purchased a ranch outside of Niobrara and for many years they farmed the land, milked cows and managed a large herd of Herefords. During this time Marilyn was born in 1956, Carol in 1957, Mike in 1958, Cathy in 1963, Shelly in 1965 and Chris in 1967. In 1968 the drought finally took its toll on this young couple and at that point they decided to purchase the Wayne Livestock Market and moved their family to Wayne. A few years after moving, their last child, Cory, was born in 1972. Alvin managed the sale barn and Glendora ran the cafe on Tuesdays. Farmers got word that Glenn's breakfasts were beyond amazing and they convinced her to open the cafe for breakfasts only, five days a week. The cafe's early mornings continued for many years, even after the sale barn had closed. When Alvin left the sale barn, he decided the road was calling him. While he was trucking, Glendora managed both her large family and the cafe, but also decided to add a new business venture into the mix. She and friend, Renee Jensen, opened "The Tanning Hut." Sunless tanning was a new concept and all the rage. The Tanning Hut was eventually moved into Glendora's basement and managed from there.

After 25 years, Glendora decided to hang up her apron and close the cafe, but continued to help people maintain their summer glow. She then worked for Quality Foods up until her retirement in 2001. A few years after Alvin passed away in 1997, she was reacquainted with her high school sweetheart, Ron Keegan. Plans were for the two to be joined in marriage, but sadly Ron passed away before nuptials were celebrated. Glendora was notorious for her rocky mountain oysters, gizzards and macaroni salad. Her house was always open for kids and friends alike. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Wayne Eagle's Club.

Survivors include her seven children, Marilyn (Scott) Niemann of Longmont, Colo., Carol (Curtis) Kalkowski of Niobrara, Mike (Sherry) Wieseler of Westminster, Colo., Cathy Wieseler-Myers of Carbondale, Colo., Shelly Wieseler and fiancé, Kurt Kardoskee of Scottsdale, Ariz., Chris (Kirsten) Wieseler of 88Highlands Ranch, Colo. and Cory (Amy) Wieseler of Elkhorn; grandchildren Taran Niemann, Cassie (Jody) Stark, Camie (Tom) Pinkelman, Calie Kalkowski and fiancé, Jeremy Hazen, Cade Kalkowski and Jessica Gragert, Jeremiah and RaeAnn Wieseler, Cheyenne and Madison Myers, Sam and Gracen Wieseler, Whitney, Bo and Brilee Wieseler; great grandchildren; Harley and Taylen Stark and Hunter Pinkelman; brother, Butch (Jeri) Backman of Wynot; and sister, Georgie (Jerry) Thunker of Crofton; sister-in-law, Jeanette Wieseler of St. Helena; many nieces, nephews, and friends.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Alvin; parents Florian and Margaret; mother and father-in-law Ed and Helen Wieseler and special friend Ron Keegan of Yankton, S.D.; preceded in death by her husband, Alvin in 1997; parents Florian & Margaret; mother and father-in-law Ed and Helen Wieseler; two brothers-in-law, Gene Wieseler and Donovan Wieseler; and special friend Ron Keegan of Yankton SD.

Anderson selected as 'Reader of the Week'

This week's Reader of the Week at the Wayne Public Library is Bonnie Andersen.

What is the last book you read? I recently enjoyed March by Congressman John Lewis, a 3 volume memoir of the Civil Rights Movement in the form of a graphic novel, co-written with Andrew Aydin and illustrated by Nate Powell. It was the first book in a graphic format I've read and engaged me throughout with its vivid depiction and passionate narration of this long struggle for human rights. And it was all the more meaningful for me personally in being donated by Char Rasmussen in memory of my late husband, Sayre.

Bonnie Andersen

And who would wish for that? I did finish Moby Dick 40 some years ago but admit to skipping over a few of the whaling craft details to do so!

Name a book you would recommend and tell everyone why they should read it.

I'd have to nominate Marcus Zusak's The Book Thief. Its masterful prose and the uncompromisingly honest and direct voice of its young narrator would appeal to readers of all ages and tastes in reading. I wanted it never to end and will certainly read it again both for the story and language.

Is there anything else you'd like to comment on about your passion for reading?

Like Thomas Jefferson, I have to say, "I cannot live without books." I feel so much more fortunate than him in the choice and number of books available in our times. However, this makes for today's dilemma of "So Many Books, So Little Time." I have kept too many books, remembering them as friends in good times and bad and am trying to weed them out, a few at a time, knowing they are usually available for loan or online. Marie Kondo's The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up helps in that task to free up some space and send these friends out in the world to be enjoyed by other readers. WPL's annual April book sale is a great venue for this task.

with friends and family for the most part, and the entrepreneurs were able to secure some financial assistance for the restoration from the Wayne City Council because the building is a historic one.

"We remodeled with one 100-watt light bulb - there was no heating or cooling, there was no plumbing that worked," Rix said.

From the original tin ceilings on the first floor to the ballroom floor on the second level, both Rix and Kanitz kept as much original as possible -- even recycling the lath pulled from the walls to use in constructing a statement wall on the second floor.

As they delved into the major project, several surprises were in store -- including finding the original jail cell and one of the first spike poles used by the fire department, as well as the original cast iron sink from the second-story kitchen and original cabinetry that artfully conceal the pass-through for the kitchen out to the ballroom when it's not in use.

But one of the best finds in the building is the solid wood table on the second floor that sat through hundreds of city council meetings with members bellied-up to it as decisions were made for the city. The table, and several other pieces of furniture, was purchased thanks to a dance held at the newly-constructed city auditorium the day after it opened.

The city used the dance as a fundraiser to purchase furniture since the money raised through taxes totaled just enough to build the facility, not furnish it.

"They held a firemen's ball on Nov. 8 of 1912 to help pay for all the furniture," Rix said. "So this table would have been purchased with that money."

The first floor of the 1912 Emporium was once home to the city's jail cell and fire engines. Now the floorspace is host to hundreds of antiques and boutique items.

Its features like these that drew in Rix and Kanitz, and it's these features that make the space perfect for the product the entrepreneurs are carrying.

"The building accentuates the product because of its vintage feel -- it all plays together to create that very simplistic farmhouse look, which we just happened to hit at the right time."

The grand opening weekend for the 1912 Emporium is March 24-26 with the Wayne Chamber Coffee and ribbon cutting ceremony being held Friday March 24 to kick off the event.

Wayne high Culinary Skills I class took a fieldtrip to local business

Students in Wayne High School's Culinary Skills I class had the opportunity to listen to local entrepreneurs Mark Kanitz and Lukas Rix on a recent field trip to the Coffee Shoppe. Manager Becky Wiseman explained the basics of the food preparation. Mark and Lukas shared the history of the business, the reasons for pricing and menu changes and how to have a successful business in a smaller community. Mark demonstrated how the various coffees were made and a couple of students were fortunate enough to take lattes back to school that day. Council Meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

City Projects to Watch for This Summer

Swimming Pool Demolition: We'll bid out the demolition and removal of the old swimming pool and pipes but leave the building in place for now. We'll fill the hole with compacted dirt and seed it to grass. No decision has been made yet for the future use of this property.

Logan Creek Bank Repair Under the Trail: RW and Sons will use a large excavator to reshape the creek bank that is eroding close to the waterfall overlook on the trail. The trail will be temporarily closed while the north bank is re-sloped and covered with large rock to stabilize it.

New Street Around the New Pool at the CAC: We'll finish paving the one-way street going north out of the CAC parking lot, around the pool and the high school and continuing east to School View Drive.

The street will be a one-way street outbound from the CAC parking lot.

WSC men third with two champs at NSIC Indoors

MANKATO, Minn. – The Wayne State men's indoor track and field team finished third with 69 points at the 2017 Northern Sun Conference Indoor Championships that concluded Saturday at Myers Fieldhouse in Mankato, Minn.

The Wildcats had two conference champions while three finished as All-NSIC performers.

Antoine Bardou was the individual champion in the 1,000-meter run with a time of 2:28.95 and placed fourth in the mile run at 4:13.69. Wayne State's other conference champion was Robert Sullivan in the heptathlon with a new school record point total of 5,141 points. He also placed eighth in the 60-meter hurdles with a time of 8.57 seconds.

Braxton Adams earned All-NSIC honors with a second-place finish in the 60-meter dash finals with a season-best time of 6.93 seconds.

Brady Metz collected All-NSIC accolades, taking third in the triple jump (48-0 1/2) to go with a seventh-place finish in the long jump at 22-11 3/4.

Derek Lahm scored points in three events, earning All-NSIC honors with a third in the heptathlon (4,970 points), placing fourth in the long jump (23-6 3/4) and taking fifth in the triple jump (47-3 3/4).

Clay Kramper collected a sixth in the 200-meter dash (22.38) while Nick Fly came in seventh in the 1,000-meter run finals at 2:36.99.

Two Wildcat throwers recorded personal best marks in the weight throw to score points in the event. Matt Nemecek came in sixth with a throw of 56-1 3/4, more than two feet better than his previous personal mark; and Cade Kalkowski was right behind in seventh at 55-6 1/2, over three feet ahead of his previous best effort.

The distance medley relay team of Nick Schmit, Brandon Marker, Kak Ayaj and Nick Fly came in eighth place with a time of 10:45.61 while the 1,600-meter relay team of Lahm, Kramper, Travis Eller and Habib Jallow also placed eighth with a time of 3:28.86.

In women's action, Michaela Dendinger picked up a pair of All-NSIC honors, placing second in the weight throw and third in the shot put, to lead the Wayne State women to an 11th place finish with 17 points.

Dendinger earned All-NSIC honors Friday with a second-place finish in the weight throw, a personal-best mark of 63-4 1/4, which was also an NCAA provisional mark that now ranks ninth in NCAA Div. II. She followed that performance on Saturday by placing third in the shot put with a top throw of 46-0 3/4 to earn All-NSIC honors in that event as well.

Other Wildcats that scored points included senior Melissa Krull taking seventh in the 600-meter run at 1:43.55 while sophomore Tia Jones recorded a seventh in the weight throw with a top mark of 43-4 1/2.

Minnesota State swept the team titles. The men won a sixth straight NSIC indoor title with 183.5 points, finishing ahead of runner-up Sioux Falls (154). The Minnesota State women scored 171 points to easily outdistance runner-up University of Mary's 103 points.

SIXTY SECONDS

The disappointment on the Wayne bench says it all about Monday's 50-49 loss to O'Neill in the C1-4 district championship game at Northeast Community College. Will Anderson (from left), Payten Gamble and Beau Bowers show their frustration in the moments after a last-second shot opportunity missed its mark, ending Wayne's season.

Blue Devils see state title hopes crushed by O'Neill

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

NORFOLK – Sixty seconds.

When Wayne High senior Grayson McBride threw down a dunk after receiving a press-breaking pass, Wayne held a 48-38 lead with 1:00 left in the C1-4 district championship game Monday at Northeast Community College and looked to be headed back to the state basketball tournament next week in Lincoln.

What happened in the final 60 seconds of the game, though, sent the Blue Devils from the euphoria of being on the verge of winning a district title to the shock and despair of seeing that opportunity slip away.

O'Neill mounted an amazing comeback, capped by a Justin Appleby basket with 4.8 seconds left, and came away with a 50-49 shocker over the Blue Devils to claim the district title, earn the trip to state and send Wayne home with about as tough a loss as a team could possibly experience.

Even in the aftermath of the stunning loss, coach Rob Sweetland was left with little to say.

"I can't think of any worse way," he said of the heartbreaking defeat. "It's like ripping your heart out when you're trying to hold it together for a few minutes."

For the first 30 minutes of the game, and especially for all but the final 60 seconds of the second half, Wayne appeared to be the better team. Despite having three starters with two fouls in the first period, Wayne managed a 17-16 half-time advantage, then held O'Neill to a single free throw, keeping them off the scoreboard the final 6:09 of the third period to take a 27-17 lead into the fourth quarter.

Wayne struggled on its own offensively through the first 2 1/2 quarters against a physical O'Neill defense, yet never trailed until the final seconds. They seemed to finally crack the code in the final 90 seconds of the third quarter, going on an 8-0 run to end the third period with baskets by Will Anderson, Mason Lee, Ryan Jaixen and Jack Evetovich to take a 10-point lead into the final period.

"We played great defense throughout the first 30 minutes of the game," Sweetland said. "We just had some dumb fouls and some calls go against us, and then we couldn't convert free throws and they made plays down the stretch."

O'Neill got within six early in the fourth quarter, but Lee scored a pair of baskets to get the lead back to 10 points with 6:36 to go.

The second of Lee's back-to-back hoops was part of a potential three-point play opportunity, but Lee missed the free throw, which would become part of a 10-for-23 effort by the Blue Devils at the charity stripe in the final period that would come back to haunt them later.

Even with Wayne's woes at the foul line, O'Neill couldn't seem to get any closer than five points with 2:55 to go. McBride, Evetovich and Beau Bowers combined to go 5-for-8 at the foul line in a 57-second stretch to get the lead back to 10 at 44-34. The teams traded baskets, with McBride's dunk making it 48-38 with 60 seconds to play.

Mason Lee finds the going tough as he's double-teamed by two O'Neill defenders during Monday's C1-4 district championship game in Norfolk. Wayne led until the closing seconds when O'Neill came from behind to post a 50-49 win.

"Maybe we were thinking that it was over (at that point) and didn't keep playing," Sweetland said. "They were shoving us a lot underneath and we couldn't hold our own, and we just need to be stronger underneath."

Wayne committed four fouls in the final minute that O'Neill was able to convert into points, and they whittled that 10-point deficit down to one point on two Wyatt Llewellyn free throws after Payten Gamble was whistled for his fifth foul with :19 remaining.

O'Neill fouled McBride with :17 left, but he was unable to convert on two free throws and the Eagles rebounded and moved the ball to mid-court before calling time out with 11.8 seconds left to set up Appleby's floater in the lane, giving O'Neill the lead for the first time with 4.8 seconds to go.

Wayne had one last chance and got the ball up the court to Anderson, who had a good look at a 15-footer from the right wing. The ball hit the back of the rim and fell away as the buzzer sounded, leaving the Wayne boys to fall to the floor in disappointment as the Eagles celebrated the come-from-behind win.

McBride led the 19-8 Blue Devils with 17 points and had four blocked shots. Lee had 11 points, seven rebounds and two blocks, Anderson finished with seven points, Evetovich had six points and five rebounds, and Jaixen and Bowers each had four points. Gamble, who was held scoreless by the O'Neill defense, finished with three steals defensively.

Wayne used a game-ending 17-0 run to break a 39-39 tie and win the C1-7 subdistrict title Thursday with a 56-39 win over West Point-Beemer in action Thursday at Norfolk High School.

The win was the third of the season for the Blue Devils over West Point-Beemer and was close throughout, with neither team leading by more than six points through the first three quarters.

Will Anderson floats in the lane for two points during C1-4 district finals play Monday at Northeast Community College. The Blue Devils dropped a heartbreaking 50-49 decision to O'Neill to end their 19-8 season.

Hopes

Wayne built an 11-5 lead in the first period, led by Payten Gamble, who hit a 3-pointer and scored seven points in the opening frame. The Blue Devils led 13-9 after one period after Mason Lee tipped in a pass as the buzzer sounded.

Wayne led 15-11 in the second when the Blue Devils struggled from the field, allowing the Cadets to go on an 8-0 run to take a 19-15 lead.

That lead was short-lived, however, as Tyler Gilliland and Gamble each scored baskets to draw Wayne even at 19-19, and a three-point play by Lee made it 22-21 at intermission.

West Point jumped out to a 30-27 lead midway through the third when Gamble hit a pair of 3-pointers, but the Cadets came back and got a late 3-pointer to tie the game at 35-35 going to the fourth.

The two teams traded baskets early in the fourth, but Grayson McBride hit the first of four fourth-quarter baskets to break a 39-39 tie. He added a 3-pointer to make it 44-

39 and the Blue Devils continue to pull away. A Lee dunk highlighted the 17-0 run to end the game, giving the Blue Devils the win.

Gamble scored a game-high 20 points, Lee added 15 points, three blocks and five steals, and McBride finished with 11 points. Jack Evtovich scored four points and had five assists, and Gilliland, Shea Sweetland and Will Anderson had two points apiece.

Monday's loss ended what was an impressive turnaround season for the Blue Devils, who had won just eight games the previous season. Sweetland complimented the work of the six seniors - McBride, Anderson, Gamble, Tyler Pecena, Ty Grone and Seth Hochstein - as well as the underclassmen for the work they put in to this year's 11-game turnaround.

"They did a great job turning things around this season, spending more time in the gym and the weight room and working on their skills," Sweetland said. "It was apparent that a lot of their bodies changed this year and they got quicker and stronger and their ball-handling and shooting improved. It goes to show that if you work hard, good things will happen."

Still, Sweetland said, the way the season ended is a hurt that won't go away very soon.

"They'll look back and be proud of the season we've had, but this is something that is indescribable," he said. "I've had some bad losses as a coach, but with this one - we're all hurting right now."

Three Wildcats earn All-NSIC honors

Three Wayne State basketball players were tabbed by coaches in the Northern Sun Conference on this year's All-Northern Sun Conference men's and women's basketball teams.

For the second straight season, Paige Ballinger and Maggie Schulte represent Wayne State College on the All-NSIC women's team. Ballinger was a repeat selection on the All-NSIC First Team, while Schulte made the All-NSIC Second Team for the second straight year.

Ballinger, a 6-foot-1 junior center from Pender, collected First Team All-NSIC honors for a second straight season after leading Wayne State in scoring at 14.5 points per game overall. She ranked 11th in the league in scoring, was seventh in field goal percentage (.498) and led the NSIC in blocked shots per contest at 2.6. She scored her 1,000th career point Wednesday in the first round of the NSIC Sanford Health Tournament with a game-high 22 points in the Wildcats' 85-61 win over Bemidji State.

In 22 NSIC games this season, Ballinger accounted for 14.8 points and 4.5 rebounds per game, shooting 49.8 percent from the field and 77 percent at the charity stripe. She ranked 11th in NSIC play in scoring, 10th in field goal percentage and first in blocked shots per game.

Schulte, a 6-foot junior forward from Wynot, earned Second Team All-NSIC honors for a second straight season after averaging 12.0 points and a team-high 6.3 rebounds per game this season. She ranked fifth in the NSIC in free throw percentage (.855), making 100 of 117 this season, eighth in defensive rebounds per game (5.4) and 16th in overall rebounding (6.3 per game). Schulte recorded her 1,000th career point on Saturday with 24 points and 10 rebounds in a 67-63 home win over Winona State.

In 22 NSIC games this season, Schulte averaged 12.4 points and 6.5 rebounds a contest. She was third in NSIC games in free throw percentage (.903), ninth in defensive rebounds per game (5.5) and 16th in rebounding.

Kendall Jacks was named to Second Team All-NSIC honors. He is the first Wildcat player since Amry Shelby in 2012-13 to collect All-NSIC honors in men's basketball.

Jacks, a 6-foot-4 sophomore guard/forward from Bettendorf, Iowa, led the Wildcats this season in scoring at 16.1 points per game. He scored double figures in 21 straight games and produced 10 or more points in 27 of 29 games for the Wildcats. Jacks ranked ninth in the NSIC in scoring this season and was ninth in field goal percentage (.562), making 178 of 317 shots from the field.

In 22 NSIC games this season, Jacks also averaged 16.1 points per contest and scored double figures in 21 of 22 league games for the Wildcats. He ranked 10th in NSIC play in free throw percentage (.807) and was 14th in field goal percentage (.549).

Jacks ended the season with a career-high 31 points in Wayne State's 92-78 NSIC Tournament first round loss at St. Cloud State Wednesday.

Three Wildcats on USTFCCCA All-Region teams

Dendinger

Sullivan

Lahm

Three Wayne State indoor track and field athletes were named to the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association) All-Region Team.

Robert Sullivan was the Northern Sun Conference champion in the heptathlon with a new school record point total of 5,141 points, while Derek Lahm placed third in the NSIC heptathlon with a point total of 4,970. Both point totals were NCAA provisional qualifying marks.

Sullivan and Lahm helped Wayne State to a third-place finish at last weekend's NSIC Indoor Track Championships in Mankato, Minn.

Sullivan was the NSIC champion in the heptathlon and placed eighth in the 60 meter hurdle finals while Lahm scored points in three events for the Wildcats, including third in the heptathlon, fourth in the long jump (23-6 3/4) and fifth in the triple jump (47-3 3/4).

Michaela Dendinger was named in the shot put and weight throw Monday afternoon. She earned All-NSIC honors in the weight throw, placing second (63-4 1/4), and was third in the shot put.

Her season-best throw in the shot put was 50-3 1/2 at the Minnesota State Open on Jan. 27. The marks in both events are NCAA provisional qualifying marks.

The top five individuals in each event from each region earned All-Region honors.

Wildcat men end season with loss in NSIC tourney

Kendall Jacks scored a career-high 31 points, but it wasn't enough as Wayne State's hopes for a first-round upset in the Northern Sun Conference tour-namment were dashed in a 92-78 loss at St. Cloud State on Wednesday in St. Cloud, Minn.

The Wildcats used a 13-0 run to take a 19-10 lead in the first half and led by as many as 12 late in the first half before St. Cloud closed to within five, 40-35, at intermission.

The Huskies caught fire in the second half, going 20-of-30 from the field and outscoring Wayne State 57-38 in the final 20 minutes to pull away with the win.

Jacks' game-high total was aided by Matt Thomas with 17 points and Austin Esters with 10. Brian Goodwin had five rebounds and Vance Janssen had six assists to lead the Wildcats, who finish the season with a 10-19 record.

Anna Martensen fires a shot from the outside for Wayne State during Monday's 58-49 loss to Sioux Falls in the semifinals of the Northern Sun Conference tournament in Sioux Falls, S.D.

WSC women's postseason hopes slim after NSIC semis loss

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. - Hopes for the Wayne State women's basketball team to get back to the NCAA tournament looked to be on thin ice after Monday afternoon's 58-49 loss to Sioux Falls in the semifinals of the Northern Sun Conference Tournament.

The loss put the Wildcats at 23-7 on the season, but they were sitting in ninth place in the last Central Region rankings and coach Chris Kielsmeier felt the team would need to reach the conference finals to be able to move up to the No. 8 spot and get an invite to the NCAA tournament when the field of 64 is announced next weekend.

The Cougars outscored Wayne State 21-9 in the fourth quarter to come from behind for the nine-point win in Monday's semifinals matchup, moving them into Tuesday's championship game against Northern State, who defeated Winona State 69-64 in overtime in the second semifinal.

The Wildcats started slow in the contest, making just 1-of-7 from the field to start the game and trailed 7-2 early. Wayne State used a Kacie O'Connor 3-pointer to tie the score at 7-7 at the 4:55 mark and later took its first lead of the game at 12-11 on a Paige Ballinger three-point play with 2:13 to go in the quarter. Wayne State led 14-13 after one as Ballinger made 4-of-6 shots for nine first-quarter points while the rest of the team was 2-of-11 shooting in the quarter.

The second quarter saw both defenses continue to control play. The Wildcats used back-to-back baskets from senior forward Anna Martensen, with the second one turning into a three-point play as Wayne State took its biggest lead of the first half at 23-19 with 4:18 to go before halftime.

The Cougars battled back and tied the score at 23-23 with 2:24 to go in the second quarter, but Wayne State scored the last three points of the half, thanks to senior forward Katie Hoskins going 3-for-4 at the foul line, to give the Wildcats a 26-23 advantage at intermission.

The Wildcats built a pair of five-point leads in the third quarter at 31-26 and 33-28, but the Cougars scored seven straight points and took a 35-33 lead on a three-point play by Madi Robson with 3:26 left third quarter. Wayne State countered with a Ballinger layup, one free throw by Kacie O'Connor and Hoskins 3-pointer to regain the lead at 39-35 at the 1:09 mark before finishing the third quarter with a 40-37 lead.

The fourth quarter was dominated by the Cougars as USF made 7-of-13 shots from the field while Wayne State went cold, making just 4-of-16 as Sioux Falls put an end to Wayne State's season.

The two teams traded baskets early in the fourth quarter, but the turning point came when Wayne State went scoreless for almost half of the fourth quarter, allowing the Cougars to take control of the game. Martensen made a layup at the 7:40 mark to even the score at 44-44, but the Cougars scored the next seven points and Wayne State never scored again until a Maggie Schulte jumper with 2:56 left that got the Wildcats with in five at 51-46. That's as close as Wayne State would get the rest of the way.

Ballinger led WSC in scoring with 20 points while Martensen ended her Wildcat career with a 15-point, eight-rebound.

Paige Ballinger scored 18 of her game-high 22 points in the first half of Wayne State's win over Minnesota Duluth in the NSIC quarterfinals on Saturday.

The Wildcats trailed 8-6 early in the game, but went on a 14-1 run to take a 20-9 lead with 4:06 to go in the quarter and never looked back.

Maggie Lowe ended the first quarter with a running 3-pointer from 25 feet away to make it 27-13, and the Wildcats maintained a double-digit lead from there as Wayne State shot 54.5 percent from the field in the easy win.

Ballinger's 22 points led four Wildcats in double figures, with Martensen adding 21, O'Connor putting in 15 and Schulte adding 13.

O'Connor had six assists and Martensen had nine rebounds for the 22-6 Wildcats. Ballinger had six blocked shots in the game, moving her into second place on the school's all-time blocks list with 137.

In Saturday's quarterfinals, Wayne State built a 23-point halftime lead, then held off a Minnesota Duluth second half rally to come away with an 80-66 win.

The Wildcats were in control early, leading to a dominant first quarter against the Bulldogs. O'Connor had the hot hand early for Wayne State, converting a 3-point play that put the Wildcats ahead 10-2 three minutes into the contest. O'Connor later added a 3-pointer that gave the Wildcats its first double digit lead of the game at 15-5 with 4:40 to play in the first quarter.

Ballinger then carried the scoring load for Wayne State, scoring eight of the next 10 points for the Wildcats over a span of 2:13 that put the Wildcats up 27-9 before finishing the quarter with a 29-9 lead. Wayne State shot 73 percent (11-of-15) in the opening stanza and had a 20-2 advantage in points in the paint.

Duluth made a 3-pointer to open the second quarter (29-12), and that's as close as the Bulldogs would get the rest of the first half. Wayne State took its biggest lead of the first half at 41-16 on a Schulte jumper at the 5:14 mark, and took another 25-point lead at 48-23 following a Hoskins 3-pointer with :54 left before halftime as Wayne State took a 49-26 lead into the locker room.

Wayne State went cold from the field in the third, allowing Minnesota Duluth to get back into the game. The Bulldogs outscored Wayne State 20-11 in the quarter as the Wildcats made just 3-of-12 shots in the third quarter, allowing Duluth to get within 60-46 entering the fourth quarter.

The Bulldogs continued their momentum in the final period and got as close as six points before Wayne State responded, scoring the next 10 points over a span of 2:30 to push the lead to 80-64 and end any chance of a comeback.

Ballinger led the Wildcats with 22 points, 18 coming in the first half. Schulte followed with 18 points, Anna Martensen added 13 and Hoskins scored 11 off the bench. Martensen led Wayne State in rebounds with eight and Ballinger and Schulte each grabbed seven.

Three seniors played what may be their final game for this year's team, including Martensen, Hoskins and Haley Moore.

Reminiscing about landline phones

We literally have had weather for all four seasons this week! I'm not complaining, mind you; we did not have the snow amounts that you all had, and it's gone today, but it has been interesting.

In the latest Saturday Evening Post, there is a cute article about the old landline. Actually, we still do have one, and since it is bundled with the TV and the internet, it's cheaper to use it than to use the cell phone. Besides, Mike's Life Call button needs a landline to function.

The article reminded us that phones really did not ring that much, and when it did, you knew it was probably going to be one of about a dozen patrons who had your number. There was no ID on it to show who was calling. Long distance calls were very unusual, as were calls after 9 p.m. Also, whoever was on the phone tried not to tie it up too long, because it was a party line. And there was only one phone, and one line.

By: Pat Meierhenry

I remembered that in our nurses dorm, there were two phones on each floor. I think the hospital switchboard had to put the calls through. Here again, we didn't dare tie them up very long.

We had introduced my cousin Lyn, who was in training with me, to a guy in the Ag Econ department with Mike. They had a couple dates, and then he was sent to Germany with the Army. When he returned, he decided to look her up; and he likes to tell about how hard it was to convince the gal at the switchboard to let him talk to her!

I now have a phone on which I can text. I'm not sure I should ever have learned to do this, but it really does come in handy. Right now, my sister is in a hospital in Omaha, and my cousin is in one here in Lincoln. I can receive updates almost as soon as they know anything. In fact, my cousin's wife sends them out in groups. I don't know how to do that, and probably won't learn. There are limits for me!

The most fun I have with texts are when Lutheran High teams are playing and we are either listening via computer or actually watching it with video stream.

I can comment by text and Ann can respond. She would not be able to hear a phone call in those school gyms. Right now, they are watching a playoff game in Columbus and she is keeping me updated.

It's a lot more fun than health updates, believe me. But I wonder what the grandmother who preferred to talk to us in German when she called would say to this??

Tree pruning workshops, health insurance survey discussed this week

We will be having a couple of free tree pruning workshops the first week of March. The first will be on Monday, March 6 at the community orchard in Wayne, located just west of the Community Activity Center (CAC).

Park in the lower lot of the CAC. This workshop will begin at 4 p.m., and last until about 5:30 p.m. The second will be the following day Tuesday, March 7 at the Arboretum at the Haskell Ag Lab 1 mile east of Concord, starting at 5 p.m.

These workshops will be primarily for fruit trees, but the same techniques are good for shade trees as well. These will mostly be "hands on" workshops; after some initial discussion on pruning tools for the job, proper pruning techniques and looking at past pruning work, attendees will get to practice on some trees.

Attendees are encouraged to bring their own pruning equipment including gloves and goggles. Some equipment will be provided for those who don't have their own. There will be handouts as well.

Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

We often try to survey our farmers and ranchers to get information and opinions on how we can do a better job as educators. Health care is possibly the number one domestic concern in America today. How does health insurance affect you?

You can help influence rural health policy by participating in an upcoming USDA funded survey. Your responses will help researchers understand how health insurance policy affects farmers' and ranchers' decisions to invest, expand, and grow their enterprises.

Selected participants received a letter about the survey in February. However, you can contribute your opinions by doing the survey by following this link: <https://survey.uvm.edu/index.php/132344?lang=en>

This survey is a chance for farmers and ranchers to make their voices heard about their experiences with health insurance and how that affects both their economic development and family's quality of life.

"We're interested in hearing from multi-generation, beginning, and first generation farm and ranch families across all ages and sectors of agriculture. We want to understand what parts of health insurance are working well for farmers and ranchers and what types of policy and program modifications need to be made. Results will be shared with agriculture and health policy makers," said lead researcher, Shoshannah Inwood, rural sociologist and professor at the University of Vermont. All responses will be confidential and only summary statistics will be reported.

"We know from our prior research that farmers identify the cost of health insurance as a key barrier to growing their farms or farming full-time," said Inwood. This study is a joint effort with the NORC Walsh Center for Rural Health Policy, and the four USDA Rural Development Centers. Findings will be used to guide the development of training materials for professionals who work with farmers and ranchers—such as Extension Educators, farm consultants, and tax accountants—so that they can support farmers' and ranchers' ability to make well-informed decisions regarding health insurance.

Capitol View Happy Birthday Nebraska

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

I was a bit disappointed when I realized the Nebraska 150 Express wasn't going to be an opportunity for regular Nebraskans to take a once-in-a-lifetime train trip across the state to celebrate the Sesquicentennial. I think that would be a great idea and could easily be a sold-out excursion.

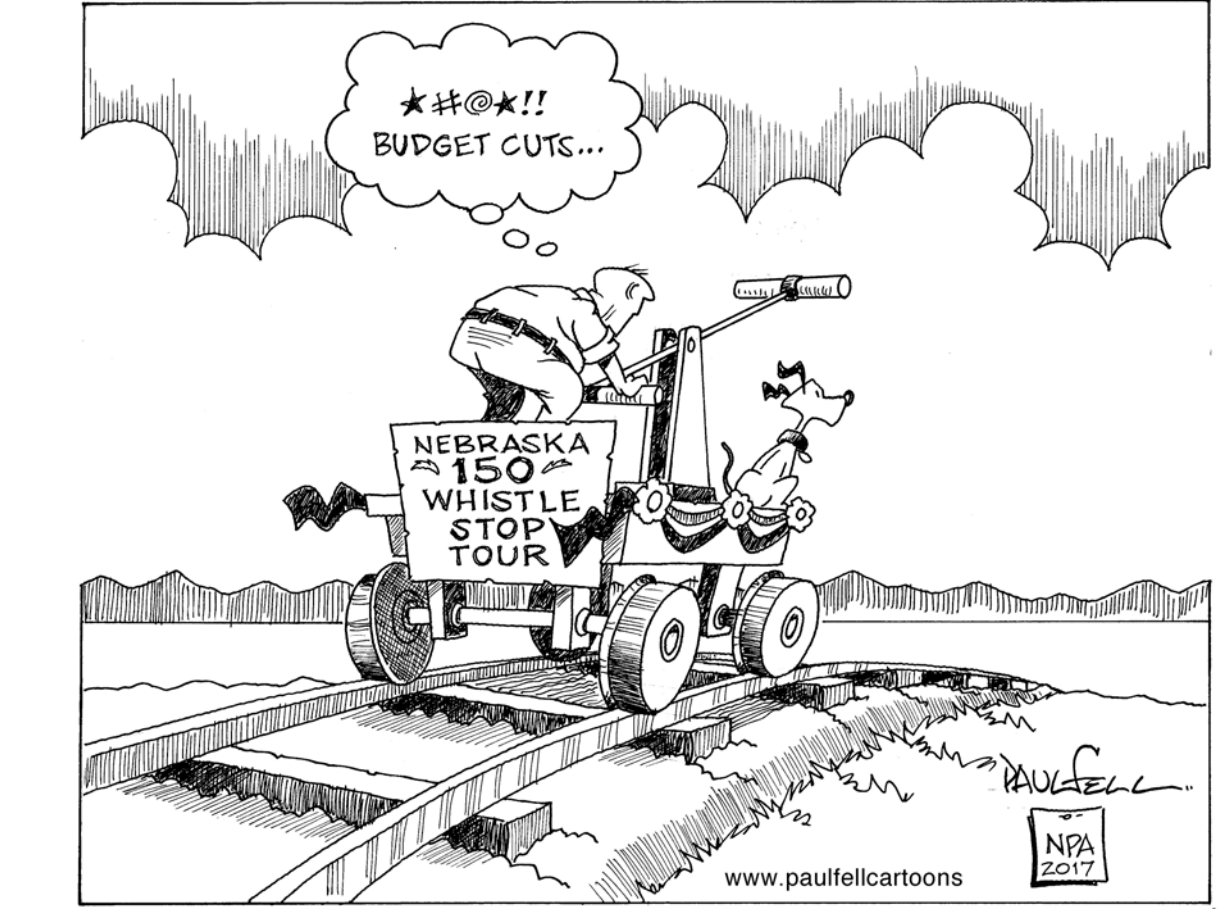

But no, it is to be a celebrity event featuring some state officials and assorted celebrities in a style reminiscent of the "whistle-stop tours" of the early 19th Century. Invitations have been sent to "a select group of Nebraska native celebrities and notable figures," according to a news release from Governor Pete Ricketts' office. The release says the individuals will disembark to give speeches, take photos, and/or sign autographs for audiences.

Research indicates that a whistle-stop tour is a style of political campaigning where the politician makes a series of brief appearances or speeches at a number of small towns over a short period of time. Originally, such appearances were made from the open platform of an observation car or a private railroad car.

The event is scheduled for August 4-6. Promoters say the train will start in Omaha and travel to Columbus, North Platte, Ogallala, Sidney, Gering, Kearney and Grand Island where each community will host a rally or festival to welcome the passengers. They'll be traveling in cars pulled by a Union Pacific Streamliner locomotive.

Yes, this will be a grand opportunity for each community to show off for the governor and his friends. No doubt there will be some really special events and Ricketts and his invitees will have a chance to be impressed by and perhaps impress folks in those cities.

One has to wonder if the governor will take advantage of this throwback political activity to announce his 2018 re-election campaign. Or maybe he'll dub this the Property Tax Express and continue his promise of lowering every Nebraskan's property taxes. I can't see him letting this opportunity go to waste.

I can't be too jealous of those folks who get to ride the train. One of the opportunities of being a first-year Baby Boomer is that I am old enough to have traveled across the state by train. I was five when my mother took my older sister and me from Gering to Chicago on the Union Pacific. I have vivid memories of the mailbags dangling from posts alongside the tracks where they were snagged by workers on the train. The same with occasional stops to pick up or drop off cream cans.

My freshman year at the University of Nebraska started with an all-night train ride from Scottsbluff to Alliance to Lincoln. I repeated that trip several times, both ways, at holidays and once when the snow was so heavy that roads were closed. But the train was running.

A lot of people don't get that experience any more. Yes, there are short excursion train rides offered in conjunction with festivals in some Nebraska communities and adults in Lincoln can ride the train at the Children's Zoo as long as they have a child or grandchild with them. But train travel for the masses — unless they are brave enough to try the loosely scheduled AMTRAK service that goes from Omaha to McCook and points beyond in either direction — is a thing of the past.

And that's a shame. Railroading has a grand history in Nebraska. My grandpa worked in the Havelock (Burlington) shops and at the Hastings (Burlington) round house. My father-in-law and two brothers-in-law worked for the Union Pacific. As a little girl, my wife used to ride the train from North Platte to Chapman to spend time with her grandma. When we lived in Illinois, she rode AMTRAK from Peoria to Lincoln to defend her master's thesis at the University of Nebraska.

The Union Pacific main line has a rich history in Nebraska. In addition to the hanging mailbags I mentioned earlier, legend has it that there was another hanging attraction at Sidney. The gallows were right next to the tracks and often times the executed were left to hang until the next train came to town, apparently so anyone with criminal intent would know the city took its law enforcement seriously.

We'll pray that folks on the Nebraska 150 Express will be spared such a spectacle, but I'm sure there will be other treats in store. Let's hope that the whistle-stop tour is a positive aspect of this 150th celebration and isn't politicized.

Happy March 1 Birthday, Nebraska.

Legislative Update Numerous bill have made it through committees

February 24th marks the 35th day of the session. With the adoption of temporary rules last week, we have started to take up a number of bills that have gone through the committee process.

On Friday, the Unicameral took up LB 203, which was the Business & Labor Committee's first priority bill.

As chair of the Committee, I am able to select two bills which I feel are important enough to jump ahead of other bills to be heard by the full legislature.

Introduced by Sen. John Kuehn of Hastings, this bill changes the requirements for receiving unemployment benefits for individuals who voluntarily leave a job without good cause.

It would require an individual who does so to earn four times their weekly benefit amount to be eligible for unemployment benefits. Nebraska now joins 47 other states with a requalification requirement.

During bill debate I introduced an amendment to include two other bills which advanced from my committee unanimously that are related to unemployment. My amendment added LBs 273 and 301 to LB 203.

Introduced by Sen. Steve Halloran of Hastings, LB 273 allows the Department of Labor to round down in unemployment calculations for the minimum earnings requirement.

My bill, LB 301, allows the Department of Labor to notify claimants of unemployment electronically, if they elect that method. Unemployment claimants will have the power to choose to receive notifications either electronically or by postal mail under this bill.

The amendment was successful and the overall bill passed 39-0. With such a limited amount of time left in the session, combining legislation which has no opposition is one method to keep the body moving forward.

Another bill I supported earlier this week was LB 62, introduced by Speaker Jim Scheer of Norfolk. This bill repeals a nearly 100 year-old statute that prohibits teachers from wearing religious clothing in the classroom.

This law was originally passed in 1919 at the urging of anti-Catholic interest groups.

Thirty-five other states passed similar prohibitions and since, thirty-four have since repealed their ban. Only Nebraska's and Pennsylvania's ban remain in effect.

Speaker Scheer's bill simply removes these archaic statutes and says that the State of Nebraska does not discriminate against people simply because of the clothes they wear or their religious beliefs.

These individuals are professionals and fully capable of wearing garb that expresses their First Amendment rights while remaining religiously neutral in the classroom.

The bill had overwhelming support in the first round of voting, and now must be voted on two more times before going to Governor Ricketts for his signature.

My office welcomed a number of great guests from Legislative Dis-

Benefits achieved through 4-H Public Speaking Contests

Nebraska 4-H Public Speaking contests tend to take place across the state between January and April. There are many 4-Hers currently polishing their speeches and getting them ready for local contests in hopes of moving to regional and state competitions.

Through the 4-H Public Speaking Contest, youth have an opportunity to write a speech or a public service announcement (PSA) that incorporates the topic of 4-H and deliver it to an audience. This year's PSA theme is "4-H Grown".

Communication and public speaking are important life skills gained through 4-H participation. Speaking face-to-face is one of the oldest forms of communication and is still the most effective even in our digital world. The listener hears the speaker's words, but more than that, is able to watch the speaker's face and hands. They can catch their emotion. It is a warm, personal way of communicating and rich in meaning.

Cedar County

Jackie Steffen
Extension Educator

UNL Extension

All 4-H Public Speaking contests help youth develop skills for communicating about current issues to real audiences, learn how to organize and prepare a speech, develop speech delivery skills, learn how to present themselves to others, and develop self-confidence.

4-H alumni often say one of the greatest things they learned during their experience in 4-H was how to speak in front of a group with confidence. The work 4-Hers do now in 4-H public speaking will have long lasting benefits. Almost every profession that comes in contact with the public needs people with strong communication skills. Learning communication skills helps young people navigate their world and prepare for workforce, civic, and family roles they will assume as young adults.

Life can be so much richer if youth develop skillful communication with other people. To learn more about your local 4-H program and the Public Speaking Contest, contact your County Extension Office.

Airman of the Year named

Each year the Nebraska Aviation Trades Association presents its most distinguished award, Airman of the Year, to one of its members who has shown outstanding dedication and support to the agricultural aviation industry.

The Nebraska Aviation Trades Association is a state organization which represents agricultural aviation pilots and related businesses across the state of Nebraska, mid-west region and nationally.

Brent Stewart attended Western Nebraska Technical College in Sidney, Nebraska and in 1983 received his degree in aviation maintenance technology. He was a sponge to the aviation world. He worked full time and every dime he had went back into learning to fly. In 1986 he became a FAA maintenance inspector. His flying career started in 1983 and he has flown in Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Iowa, and even Australia.

In 1989 he bought his own business in Minden and in 2010 Brent sold the businesses to the Aurora Coop and still manages the business.

Winter-Spring Fest

St. Mary's Catholic Church hosted the 13th annual Winter-Spring Fest at the Wayne City Auditorium on Feb. 26. The event included a roast pork and roast beef dinner, a raffle and silent auction for a variety of items, including a quilt contributed by an anonymous donor. Program to explain how to prevent complications from diabetes

The next Control Diabetes for Life Program has been scheduled for Wednesday, March 29 from 1:30 - 4 p.m. at Northeast Nebraska Health Department. The office is located at 215 North Pearl Street in Wayne.

Contrary to what you have heard, there is not one universal "diabetic" diet (any more than there is one weight-loss diet). People with diabetes can eat the same food as everyone else, and that includes sugar. A diet that's full of wholesome, good for you foods, including plenty of fruits and vegetables, whole grains, low-fat dairy, lean meats and healthy fats.

That said, because when, what and how much we eat has a direct effect on blood sugar, people with or at risk of developing diabetes (just like those that are trying to lose weight) need to take more care in selecting what and how much they eat. A meal plan is simply a plan that assists you in determining how much or what type of food is right for you at each meal throughout each day.

Blood glucose control is just one aspect of preventive care. Following a meal plan, being physically active, losing excessive weight, keeping your blood pressure and cholesterol levels in check, quitting smoking and taking aspirin are all important ways to prevent future health problems.

Good control requires both diligence and willingness to try new strategies. Learn new strategies by attending "Control Diabetes for Life." The session will focus on "Make Your Commitment to Diabetes Self-Management."

Those attending this session are encouraged to set a goal to take control of their diabetes, aim for lower blood glucose levels to feel better now and stay healthy for years to come.

Wednesday, March 29 topics include: "Commit to be Fit", "What's New in Diabetes Care", "Fiber and Protein in Your Diet", and "The Dos and Don'ts of Dealing with Criticism". There will also be a question and answer period.

Participants will sample a new recipe for a diabetic appropriate food.

Team-teaching the program will be Stacie Petersen, BSN & Certified Diabetes Educator; Deborah Wilcox, RD, LMNT, and Terry Nelson, DPT all of Franciscan Care Services of West Point and Debra Schroeder, UNL Extension Educator in Cuming County. These sessions are designed to supplement the education that participants receive from their local diabetes education team and are not a substitute for diabetes classes through local health care providers.

"Control Diabetes for Life" is a joint project of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, Franciscan Care Services of West Point and the school hosting the programs. The program is offered free-of-charge. "Control Diabetes for Life" will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease.

Participants are asked to pre-register for "Control Diabetes for Life" by calling their local Extension office. Please register by Monday, March 27, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits.

Grace Evening Circle holds quarterly meeting

Grace LWML Evening Circle met Feb. 14 at Grace Lutheran Church. President Bea Kinslow opened the meeting and Darlene Lilienkamp had opening devotions on "Unlovable."

Lanora Sorensen conducted roll call which showed seven members present. Louise Green joined Grace Evening Circle.

Secretary Lanora Sorensen read the minutes from the Nov. 8, 2016 meeting with three corrections.

Treasurer Lee Larsen gave the treasurer's report.

Correspondence from Janet Barchard indicated she is feeling better and working on translating the Bible into Iplili language in Papua, New Guinea. The Grace Evening Circle helps support her work.

Janet Englehart, who is doing mission work in Latin America, thanked the group for their support as she is serving the Lord in the Dominican Republic.

The group also received a letter from the Orphan Grain Train.

Grace Kanitz and Verna Mae Baier audited the 2016 Grace Evening Circle treasurer's books and found them to be in order.

President Bea Kinslow installed the 2017 Grace Evening Circle officers. They include: Bea Kinslow, President; Grace Kanitz, Vice President; Lee Larsen, Treasurer and Lanora Sorensen, Secretary.

Mary Lu Erxleben purchased a Christmas gift from Grace Evening Circle for a lady resident of Care-age.

President Kinslow reported that Carol Rethwisch, a member and current resident of Brookdale, asked if the group could have one of the meetings at Brookdale so she would be able to attend. She is also in charge of the group's scrapbook.

The Wayne Zone LWML Spring Workshop will be held in May at St. John's Church in Wakefield with Ricky Jacobs of Winnebago as the speaker. A $50 gift will be given to Ricky Jacobs.

Monica Ebmeier of Laurel will be the Wayne Zone delegate at the LWML National Convention in June at Albuquerque, N.M.

Louise Green told of helping Fishers of Kids Preschool serve a Lenten supper on Wednesday, March 15. She needs brownie bars for the event.

President Kinslow closed the meeting with The Lord's Prayer being recited by all. Mites for Missioners were given.

Pastor Carl Lilienkamp gave the lesson on "Blink to the Future" on Bible verses.

The next quarterly meeting of Grace LWML Evening Circle will be Tuesday, May 9 at 4:30 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church.

A Word In Faith

By Jeanne Madsen

Pastor, Our Savior Lutheran Church

Moving along on a faith journey

I'm sure that you have heard it said that we are on a faith journey which, loosely defined, is really just moving from one point to another as we attempt to understand where God is in our lives, how that relates to me and to others. It makes perfect sense when you think about it -- as we grow, learn and make sense out of our lives we change -- we move on down the road just a bit further.

Have you ever noticed though that some parts of our faith journey are a more difficult piece of road than other parts? Sometimes we can fairly skip down a smooth road - it's wide with little obstructions in the way.

Other times we hit a broken patch of road and it's really hard to keep going. We struggle for a bit, picking our way through yet we more than likely hit that open stretch again.

However there are other times when we hit a road block so big that we stop completely. Forward movement is almost impossible.

This is where your story comes in. Have you hit a bump in the road or is it a road block? What broken patch of the road are you on? There are many obstacles in the road, health, family problems, relationships, finances, addictions, crisis of faith.

This is where your story comes in... What brokenness has touched your life? If you're like most of us, you won't have to look too hard to find something.

If you find yourself on that patch of road I invite you to read Psalm 27 - which begins: "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? When evildoers assail me to devour my flesh - my adversaries and foes - they shall stumble and fall. Though an army encamp against me, my heart shall not fear; though war rise up against me, yet I will be confident."

Remember that God is on that same patch of road that you are on. Take whatever stands before you to the Lord in prayer and receive God's comfort.

Help and support for your faith journey are only a prayer away.
