Realtors attend Fair Housing Conference

April is National Fair Housing Month, and 2017 marks the 49th anniversary of the Fair Housing Act, which protects against housing discrimination due to 'race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability, and familial status" when buying or renting a home and applying for home financing.

The REALTORS® of 1st Realty Sales & Management recently attended the Northeast Nebraska Fair Housing Conference in Norfolk. The focus of the day was to provide advanced knowledge to those in the real estate, property management, and financing industries on a variety of topics.

Areas highlighted during the conference included, "How to Classify Tenants as Guests or Occupants," "Legal Evictions," "Dealing with Bugs," and "Assistance Animals.'

The day featured guest speakers Gene Eckel, an Omaha attorney specializing in Landlord-Tenant Law and Fair Housing Litigation, Lilliana Shannon, a Staff Attorney with Legal Aid of Nebraska, and Connie Radcliff, an Equal Opportunity Specialist with the U.S. Housing and Urban Development.

four sessions during which those in attendance could share individual experiences as well as gain additional knowledge on topics not covered during the presentations.

Associate Real Estate Broker, Trisha Peters, notes that "having the opportunity to gain knowledge in these areas helps our company provide the best customer service possible to our clients. It is important to stay on top of the changing legal environment in which we operate." Sales Associate, Marie Janke agreed by

A question and answer period followed each of the saying "it was a very informative class as we heard from speakers who provided us with up-to-date information. We also had the opportunity to interact with other colleagues in our field."

> In addition, Broker, Anne Nolte said, "I am pleased that all of the agents in our office took the initiative to attend this conference to continue our education on this important topic. These REALTORS® look forward to fielding your questions when it comes to property management services or real estate advice in the future."

Heithold, Burrows chosen as delegates to Girls/Boys State

Grace Heithold and Nate Burrows, juniors at Wayne High School, have been selected to represent Wayne at this year's Cornhusker Boys and Girls State events, respectively.

Grace is the daughter of Bryan and Mary Heithold. She is involved in Mock Trial, One Acts, Speech, Musical, Jazz Choir, Jazz Band, FBLA, Spanish Club, Spanish Natiional Honor Society and band. She is the Junior class vice president and is involved with 4-H and Teen Supremes.

Nate is the son of Dr. Rob and Tracy Burrows. At Wayne High, he is involved in Speech, football, musical, Quiz Bowl. He is employed at Godfather's Pizza.

The Wayne Consolidated Veterans groups - The American Legion, DAV, VFW, AMVets, AM Vets Auxiliary and Sons of American Legion - are sponsoring these student delegates.

Boys' State is a plan for training in the functional aspects of citizenship. Its purpose is to teach the youth of today constructive attitudes toward the American form of government. Boys' State attempts to show that our form of government has not outworn its usefulness: that all a democracy needs is an intelligent citizenry and a clean, honest and impartial administration responsive to the will of the peoand responsibilities of American citizenship." It is wholly a plan for training in the practical aspects of government. It is functional in that applications of the principles of democratic government are made in every possible way. Boys' State should be thought of as being a mythical 51st state with a constitution, statutes and ordinances constructed by the citizens to govern themselves.

Citizens of Boys' State not only will be required to review knowledge already acquired concerning the political machinery of a commonwealth, but they will find themselves performing exactly the same functions as real officeholders in the everyday world. In Boys' State, citizens organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regulation election procedures. They learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices. They introduce and argue their own bills in a legislature.

Justice is administered by their own law enforcement agencies and courts. In Boys' State, the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. Here each boy "learns to do by doing."

The American Legion Auxiliary developed a citizenship training program based on the formation of the American Legion's Boys State program. This program offers training in the positive processes of selfgovernment and good citizenship as practiced in democratic societies.

The walls surrounding the nurses sta tion at PMC have finally been removed to reveal a newly renovated. rede signed workspace Several other projects are still under way and there will be even more projects added as the year progresses, but for now, employees of Providence are celebrating the regained space. Keep watch for more photos and details as the finishing touches are put on the space and it is reopened to use by the nurses.

This program originated in Illinois in 1935, has been adopted by the National organization of the American Legion, is now in operation in 49 states and this year will enroll 20,000 boys.

Boys' State purports "to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights

Fernau chosen as delegate to Boys State

The American Legion Post 165 has announced that Austin Fernau of Carroll was sponsored by the Carroll Legion Post 165, and will join nearly 400 other high school juniors from across Nebraska participating in the American Legion Cornhusker Boys' State, June 4-10 at the University-Lincoln downtown campus.

Austin is a junior at Wayne High School and is the son of Jim and Mandi Fernau of Carroll. He is active on the golf team, manager for basketball and football, Teammates program, FB-LA, Mock Trial, member of his Church Youth Group, 4-H member, 4-H camp counselor, attended Citizenship Washington Focus with 4-H, and is active in his community and church.

The annual citizenship program, sponsored by the Nebraska American Legion, is designed to provide youth with a better understanding of how city, county, and state governments operate.

American Legion Boys' State is set up as a functional "51st state" and each boy learns how government subdivisions operate by actually doing the job. Participants will campaign for offices, hold elections, take part in band and chorus, compete in athletics, and be involved in other varied activities as part of the citizenship training program. They will set up their own state government and draft bills.

Special lectures and addresses will be delivered by experienced public officials and professional leaders through-

Granberg named 'Reader of the Week' by Wayne Library

This week's Reader of the Week at the Wayne Public Library is Gordon Granberg. 1. What is the last book you read? (Or a recent read)?

Recently, I dipped into the book, Kneeling with Giants by Gary Neal Hansen. Hansen's book had been recommended to me by my pastor. While I didn't read the entire book, I read enough to see that through glimpses of the practices used by important figures in the life of the church the author offers a refreshingly accessible blend of spirituality and church history. Now I want to get a hold of the companion volume, Kneeling with the Giants Reader, which contains primary source material from those "giants."

Earlier, I started on a path suggested by another friend with the book, The Walk, by Richard Paul Evans. Evans skillfully crafts a story with concise chapters which track engaging fictional characters and situations through a total of five books. I couldn't stop until I'd read all of the books in the series!

2. Who is your favorite author?

I'd rather not specify a solitary "favorite author" because each writer is so uniquely gifted that ranking authors is as difficult (and as futile!) as comparing apples and oranges

That being said, I do appreciate the work of interviewer and author, Krista Tippett. Tippett hosts the weekly program On Being aired on public radio. It is evident that she is thoroughly immersed in the thought, work, and personalities of the guests with whom she interacts. She has such empathy and such a grasp of what these individuals believe that she is able to draw them out and encourage them to naturally express their views

Krista also carefully crafts her own words to accurately convey what these insightful people have to say. That content is so rich and profound, however, that I find it elusive when framed by easily vanishing spoken words. I prefer to see the printed text in order to better retain it.

Fortunately the broadcast does offer interview transcripts and make frequent bibliographic references to materials developed by guests. Tippett herself has written three books---the public library has at least one of them.

3. Why do you read?

Reading nonfiction feeds my love of ideas; reading fiction energizes my imagination and boosts my awareness of writing technique. Stated another way, I read because enthusiastic adults introduced me at an early age to a world of stories and ideas offered in books.

A branch library is located within two or three blocks (that is to say, easy walking distance) from the elementary school I attended. So our teachers herded us students down the hill to the building where the librarian read to us and thus introduced young readers to the stimulating content of the volumes which lined the shelves. (Knowing that our neighbor across the street, Mrs. Mabel Langmack, was the librarian didn't hurt either!)

4. Is there anything else you'd like to comment on about your passion for reading?

I would like to highlight a few of the great opportunities offered by our local library. Since early exposure to books and reading played a significant role in sparking my interest, I'm delighted to offer some of my time as a retiree periodically to read to children through the library's Grandma/ pa Reading Program. The library matches volunteer readers with expressive youngsters in local day care settings.

I also derive much satisfaction from offering some of my time at the library itself. At present, I contribute by stamping due-date ca are other routine tasks handled by volunteers fr concentrate their efforts mary task of serving patr terlibrary loan service offe Wayne Public Library is a standing resource. With j some basic bibliographic ir library staff are able to loca row a book from another cently the book, Derelicti by H.R. McMaster was in lines. I was able to borrow a d

National acclaimed motivational speakers are also scheduled to address the entire group. Citizens of Boys' State not only will be required to review knowledge already acquired concerning the political machinery of a commonwealth, but they will find them- selves performing exactly the same functions as real officeholders in the everyday world. In Boys' State, citizens organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regulation election procedures. They learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices. They introduce and argue their own bills in a legislature.

State was altered to make it a week-long government education program. Since 1948 it has been a regular part of the Auxiliary's Americanism curriculum.

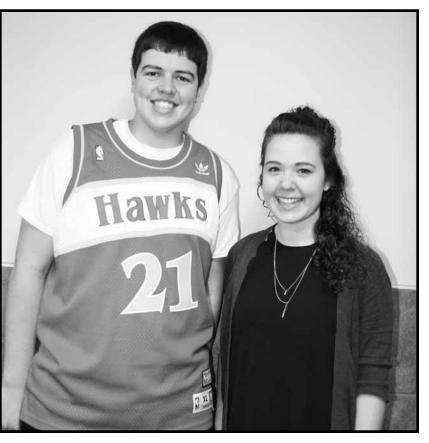

After arriving at Cornhusker Girls State, the citizens are divided into eight towns named after the Presidents of the United States.

The citizens are also divided into two political parties - the Federalists and the Nationalists

These parties do not reflect the two major political parties in today's system of government. The parties allow citizens to gain knowledge of how a twoparty system operates.

Girls State citizens participate in these mock political parties and elections are held to fill city, county, and state positions.

Other activities include legislative sessions, campaigning, party rallies, mock trials, and debating. The citizens also receive instruction in Parliamentary Procedure.

Nate Burrows and Grace Heithold, both juniors at Wayne High School, have been selected as representatives for Wayne at this year's Cornhusker Boys and Girls State events

WSC teams announce new 2017-2018 athletic signees

Wayne State College volleyball and softball both added players to their rosters for 2017-18 with recently-announced signings by both teams' coaches.

Volleyball coach Scott Kneifl announced that Elsie Zajicek of Brandon, S.D. has signed a national letter of intent to attend Wayne State and play volleyball for the Wildcats in the 2017 season. Zajicek joins six other high school standouts, including Alyssa Ballenger of Ankeny, Iowa, Hope Carter from Mililani, Hawaii, Madelyn Duffy of Fridley, Minn., Madeline Knobbe of West Point, Allison Timmermans from Orange City, Iowa and Jacee Weber of Dorchester, who signed with the Wildcats during the NCAA early signing period in November.

Zajicek is a 5-foot-10 middle/outside hitter from Brandon Valley High School. During her senior season, Zajicek was Class AA All-State second team by the South Dakota Volleyball Coaches Association and first-team All-ESD and Metro Conference for the Lynx after recording 191 kills, 80 blocks and 17 service aces. As a junior, she helped Brandon Valley to a 20-5 record and a state runner-up finish in Class AA after posting 191 kills (2.4 kills per set) and 50 blocks.

A three-year starter, Zajicek also earned Academic All-Conference honors and was a starter in basketball averaging 5.3 points and 4.0 rebounds per game as a senior, helping Brandon Valley to a 20-6 record and seventh-place finish in the South Dakota Class AA State Tournament.

"Elsie is a very hard worker who will add athleticism and depth to our front row," remarked Coach Kneifl. "We are very excited that she chose Wayne State College and look forward to her being an important part of our program over the course of the next four years."

Wayne State softball coach Shelli Manson announced that Alyx Hagen and Patricia Sherman from Iowa Western Community College will transfer to Wayne State College and play softball for the Wildcats in the 2017-18 school year.

Both players will have two years of eligibility with the Wildcats and join Brittaney Benavidez of Queen Creek, Ariz., Annie Grammer of Lawrence, Kan., Ashley Hernandez of Omaha, Maddie Moser of Central City and Raquell Penke from Blair as members of the 2017-18 recruiting class.

Hagen is a 5-foot-6 pitcher/first baseman from Kansas City, Mo. This season, she has helped the Reivers to a 34-12 record (as of April 25) and leads the team in home runs (9) and RBI (54) while posting a .388 batting average. In the circle, Hagen's pitching record is 12-5 with a 3.16 ERA. Last season, Hagen was second-team All-Region designated player after batting .340 with two homers and 28 RBI.

In high school, Hagen was first-team All-District infield as a senior, first-team All-District Utility and second-team All-Suburban Conference Red Division Infield during her junior season and second-team All-Conference Pitcher as a sophomore while being a four-year starter.

In the opener, the Beavers produced three runs on three hits with one Wildcat error in the bottom of the sixth inning to rally for the win.

Wayne State used three hits in the fourth inning as Jordyn Breitbarth singled and later scored on a two-out double by Rachel Shumaker to give the Wildcats the first run of the game.

It stayed that way until the sixth, when the Beavers struck for three runs off Wildcat starter Riley Vanderveen to post the comefrom-behind win.

Bemidji State held an 8-3 edge in hits over the Wildcats in the first game. Shumaker doubled for the lone extra base hit while Breitbarth and Melanie Alyea each singled. Vanderveen suffered the hard-luck pitching loss, allowing just three runs (one earned) on eight hits.

In the nightcap, the Wildcats outhit Bemidji State 9-7, but the Beavers used two runs in the first and three more in the sixth to finish off the sweep.

Wayne State's lone run came in the sixth on Monique Alyea was 3-for-4 with a double followed by Katelyn Wobken going 2-for-4. Shumaker added a double and RBI while Melanie Alyea, Breitbarth and Sarah Hunter each singled. Nataliah Hopkins was tagged with the pitching loss, allowing seven hits and five runs (two earned) over six innings with four strikeouts and two walks.

In other action, Monique Alyea went 6-for-7 on the day and Riley Vanderveen pitched five strong innings in the opener to lead Wayne State in a split of Upper Iowa last Tuesday at the Chapman Complex.

Wayne State scored four runs in the first inning on six hits, highlighted by run-scoring singles from Monique Alyea, Breithbarth and Shumaker. They added another run in the second, then three more in the third to build an 8-0 lead.

Upper Iowa came back with two runs in the fourth and made things interesting in the top of the seventh with three runs, putting the tying run at the plate before the Wildcats settled down and finished off the opening-game win.

Monique Alyea was 4-for-4 with two RBI's in the win. Melanie Alyea finished 2-for-3 while Wobken was 2-for-4 and scored twice. Abbie Hix also had two hits in the win. Vanderveen got the win with five solid innings of work, with Hopkins pitching the final two innings in relief.

Wayne State's football team will be featured live for three games of the 2017 season as part of an expanded live coverage of Northern Sun Conference football.

The NSIC and Midco Sports Network announced that two of the three Wildcat games featured live will be played on a Thursday night as part of the NSIC Game of the Week.

Those games are Sept. 14 at Minnesota Crookston and Oct. 12 at home against University of Sioux Falls. A third game will be on Midco Channel 1 or 2 when the Wildcats play at Augustana on Sept. 30.

The NSIC announced an expanded one-year agreement with Midco Sports Network for live coverage of 20 football games in the 2017 season on Friday. The partnership will include 11 weeks of the "NSIC Thursday Night Game of the Week," airing each week from Aug. 31 through Nov. 9, at 7 p.m. on MidcoSN. The live broadcast schedule will also include various Saturday games throughout the season.

Additionally, MidcoSN will expand its coverage of the NSIC/Sanford Health Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments.

MidcoSN will add the Saturday and Sunday quarterfinal games to its existing coverage of semifinal and championship games. All fourteen games of the tournament will be produced and aired live on MidcoSN.

"Midco has been a tremendous supporter of the NSIC over the years, and we are thrilled to be able to continue to grow our partnership, exposing the region to the first-class institutions and incredible student-athletes that compete in the NSIC," said NSIC Commissioner Erin Lind.

"We are pleased to expand our partnership with the NSIC. The newly created "NSIC Thursday Night Game of the Week" along with the additional conference tournament basketball games give fans all across the region a compelling reason to tune in. The NSIC is a great conference that aligns with our goal of providing viewers with exciting live game action," said Mark Powell, VP of MidcoSN.

Wayne State will conclude 2017 spring football drills on Saturday with its annual year-ending scrimmage at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne starting at 1 p.m. The Wildcats open the 2017 season on Thursday, Aug. 31 at Northern State in a 6 p.m. contest.

The all-star meet, which featured the best high school track and field athletes in the state, saw Hammer and Grayson McBride represent Wayne High School in the statewide meet. Both competed in the triple jump, with Hammer participating in the girls long jump and McBride in the boys high jump. Hammer won both of her events, taking the long jump with a winning leap of 18 feet, 2 inches, and winning the triple jump at 37-2. Being a part of a first-of-itskind meet where the best of the best competed against one another was an interesting opportunity for Hammer.

"I went in with an open mind and tried to jump my best and see where it took me," she said after the meet. "I hadn't jumped that far in a while, so it felt nice to do what I did today."

Winning two events against the best in the state gives her a lot of confidence heading into the biggest meets of the season with districts and state around the corner.

"It really helps with my confidence knowing I can compete with all these really great girls out here, McBride finished eighth in the triple jump at 40-6 1/2, and went out at 6 feet in the high jump, tying for sixth.

Coach Dale Hochstein said the experience was a good one for both Wayne High athletes and should help them prepare for the big meets coming up.

"It was kind of like state, and they were both relaxed and had fun and did a good job out there," he said. "It's great for them to have an experience like this where they go up against great athletes from all four classes, and they both competed well."

Arbor Day

Allen is among the 101 Nebraska towns to be named a 2016 Tree City USA by the Arbor Day Foundation in honor of its commitment to effective urban forest management.

This is the 24th year Allen has received this designation by meeting the program's four requirements which are having a tree board, a tree care ordinance, annual community forest budget of at least $2 per resident, and an Arbor Day observation and proclamation. The 2016 Arbor Day Assembly's theme was the importance of windbreaks and proper types of trees to plant, locations of trees, and care of windbreak trees.

The public is invited to the 2017 Arbor Day Assembly on Friday, April 28, at 2:45 p.m. in the school gymnasium. This year's theme will be about J. Sterling Morten and the origin of Arbor Day 145 years ago and Nebraska becoming a state 150 years ago.

How to Read the Water Quality Data Table: The EPA and State Drinking Water Program establish the safe drinking water regulations that limit the amount of contaminants allowed in drinking water. The table shows the concentrations of detected substances in comparison to the regulatory limits Substances not detected are not included in the table. The state requires monitoring of certain contaminants less than once per yea because the concentrations of these contaminants do not change frequently. Therefore, some of this data may be older than one year. MCL (Maximum Contaminant Level) – The highest level of a conta-minant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. MCLG (Maximum Contaminant Level Goal) – The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety. AL (Action Level) – The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow. MRDL (Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level) - The highest level

fectant allowed in drinking water. N/A - Not applicable.

Source Water Assessment Availability:

ntal Quality (NDEQ) has completed the Source Water Assessment. Included in the assessment are a Wellhead Protection Area map, potential contaminant source inventory, vulnerability rating, and source water protection information. In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink. EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain co water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Sources of Drinking Water:

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. All Community water systems are responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have you water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791). http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead or at the DHHS/DPH/Office of Drinking Water (402-471-2541).

Additional Required Health Effects Language:

Selenium is an essential nutrient. However, some people who drink water containing selenium in excess of the MCL over many years could experience hair or fingernail losses, numbness in fingers or toes, or problems with their circulation.

Coliforms are bacteria that are naturally present in the environment and are used as an indicator that other, potentially harmful, waterborne pathogens may be present or that a potential pathway exists through which contamination may enter the drinking water distribution system. We found coliforms indicating the need to look for potential problems in water treatment or distribution. When this occurs, we are required to conduct assessment(s) to identify problems and to correct any problems that were found during these assessments.

During the past year we were required to conduct one Level 1 assessment. One Level 1 assessment was completed. In addition, we were required to take one corrective action and we completed one action.

Certain minerals are radioactive and may emit a form of radiation known as alpha radiation. Some people who drink water containing alpha emitters in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer

Rebuild Nebraska responds to LB461

Members of Rebuild Nebraska issued statements reacting to LB 461, which will be debated by the Nebraska Legislature on Friday, April 21. Rebuild Nebraska opposes a tax structure like the one proposed in LB 461 because it likely would mean large tax cuts for the wealthiest Nebraskans paid for by tax increases on other Nebraskans and cuts to services that are vital to our state and its economy.

"Nebraska needs a tax system that protects our middle-class and lowincome families while making sure we have a stable revenue source for our state," said Anne Hindery, CEO of Nonprofit Association of the Midlands. "LB 461 would place a greater burden on families that are already struggling, potentially creating a greater demand for direct services from nonprofits. With our state already facing tough economic circumstances, now is not the time to make unneeded cuts that could hurt the majority of Nebraskans.'

"LB 461 is bad for kids and bad for schools," said Karen Kilgarin, Director of Public Affairs and Communications of the Nebraska State Education Association. "The State of Nebraska is already 49th in the Nation in the proportion of state aid for K-12 Education. Implementing a massive tax cut, such as is proposed in the bill will make it nearly impossible for the State to provide adequate and necessary funding for K-12 as well as higher education. School districts would likely see drastic cuts in state aid under LB461.

"LB461 makes no sense; it is fiscally irresponsible to reduce a current revenue stream when the state is already a billion dollars in deficit," said John Hansen, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union. "It does not fix what's wrong with agricultural land valuations it does not provide real property tax relief and it undermines the legislature's ability to provide real property tax relief in the future and adequately fund K-12 education. Rather than providing our state's farmers and ranchers the property tax relief they need, this bill provides the biggest tax relief for those who need it least.'

"Nebraskans are not clamoring for LB 461," said Mike Marvin, executive director of the Nebraska Association of Public Employees. "This bill is being pushed onto our state by way of intense political pressure, not by a call from the people of Nebraska. Nebraskans want property tax relief, not the income tax cuts that account for the lion's share of LB 461's tax cuts. This bill is tone deaf to what our state's residents really want and need."

"LB 461 is a package that risks vital services upon which Nebraskans rely, including quality schools, dependable health care and safe roads. We are proud of our organizations' tradition of standing up for families, communities, businesses, schools, infrastructure, and workforce through and fired a gun in my life. I mara fair, stable, sustainable, and progressive tax system that supports the good life. LB 461 is similar to devastating tax policies that have destroyed the economies of Kansas and Oklahoma. Nebraska legislators should reject this ill-conceived tax clone legislation, which is nothing but a tax cut

Capitol View Just because we can, should we?

The Wayne

It happens every session. There is always at least one bill that gets introduced and appears harmless on its face yet winds up taking way too long – often to the point of filibuster - to debate and advance. This year's version - LB68 -- would override individual city and local ordinances, making firearm regulations consistent statewide.

Seems pretty innocuous. Lincoln Senator Mike Hilgers said the bill would authorize the state to regulate the registration, possession, transportation, transfer and storage of firearms and ammunition. Cities and villages would retain the authority to enforce prohibitions on firearm discharge. That will ensure public safety while also protecting the rights of lawful gun owners.

Sounds OK so far? I mean, who isn't in favor of law and order? Public safety is just the icing on that cake. Protecting the rights of lawful gun owners ... ah yes, that old Second Amendment argument could mean only one thing. There IS a national agenda here and it's being pushed by the National Rifle Association.

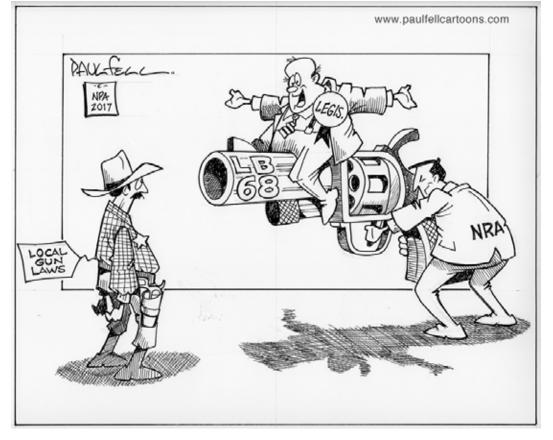

Hilgers said the measure would give the Legislature exclusive authority over regulation of firearms, effectively wiping out local restrictions adopted by Nebraska municipalities. Sounds like giving up local control. And, just because the Legislature could do it, is that necessarily a good thing?

Nothing against Senator Hilgers who calls this "a common-sense bill" that would replace a patchwork of local gun laws that make it difficult for Nebraskans and other travelers to know what laws might apply to them as they enter different cities in the state. Stop. Is that really a problem?

Answer Mr., Mrs. Gun Owner or me, have you found yourself concerned or confused while traveling across the state with your gun? Is that even a thing?

Yes. I have owned, hunted with ried a woman who was vice president of her college gun club and has the eighth bar on her marksman award. She has brothers and other relatives who still hunt. Never once have we been sitting at the holiday feast table and lamenting the fact that we just don't know where we can go with our guns.

So the NRA is behind it. But who's against it and why? Start with a few senators who thought the bill should have been referred to the Judiciary Committee, which deals with such topics as guns and laws. Nope, it went to the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. Hilgers is a member of that committee which is highly populated with members of the Gang of 29. Surely you remember the Gang of 29.

Oh, and then there's the Omaha and Lincoln Police Departments - the state's two largest yes, they're against it. In fact, the Omaha folks made enough noise that they got the OPD exempt from the bill. As amended before firstround advancement, the bill would maintain the city's prohibition against possession of handguns in public places and a requirement that firearms in vehicles must be unloaded and locked up.

One could expect that Lincoln officials would likely entertain a similar exemption to keep people from bringing weapons into the Pinnacle Bank Arena during a sporting event or performance.

Senator Adam Morfeld of Lincoln said he's listening to police officers who say that existing local laws are valuable tools. His colleague, Lincoln Senator Patty Pansing Brooks, said, "This is not the Wild West.'

Still, Hilgers says he has anecdotal evidence that says citizens face an impermissible choice between having a firearm that is guaranteed to them under state and federal law and breaking local ordinances. He asks, do they break the law and exercise their right to a firearm or do they put themselves in danger and go unarmed?

Given that a similar measure was blocked by the 2016 Legislature, I'd rather see hard statistics on the problem, if it is indeed a problem.

I support the right of law-abiding citizens to own guns. We know that criminals will have guns, no matter the laws. I also support the right of local government to regulate those weapons in a way that best fits their community.

With the days dwindling down for lawmakers, I do NOT support the six hours of debate and cloture motion it took to advance the unnecessary measure from first round. There are more important issues to be dealt with. In case you have forgotten, budget and taxes and corrections all need legislative attention this year.

Spend your efforts where they are needed.

Plenty to work on in remaining days

Friday, April 21st was the 69th day of the legislative session. With only 20 legislative days left in the session, there is still a lot of work left to be done. Next week we will begin to have a series of late night votes that could take us to 9:30 p.m. or later.

On Thursday, the legislature debated bills that were on the Consent Calendar. These are bills selected by Speaker Jim Scheer of Norfolk and are fairly non-controversial. Each bill is allowed 15 minutes of introduction and debate and can be pulled from the agenda if enough senators feel that a bill is too controversial or complicated for such an expedited process.

I'm pleased that my bill, LB 264 which is a bill that makes some technical changes relating to the qualifications of state boiler inspectors – was selected for consent calendar and now moves into the next round of debate. This bill was introduced at the Department of Labor's request to match standard language used by the industry.

On Friday, we took up LB 461, a bill sponsored by Sen. Jim Smith of Papillion which would change the way agricultural land is assessed and cut the state's income and corporate tax rates if projected state revenue growth meets certain targets

The bill, as amended would change Nebraska's method of valuing ag land to an income based approach, would use economic growth rates to trigger income tax cuts and would change income tax rates and personal exemption amounts.

LB 461 would eliminate income tax exemptions for some high earners and increases tax credits for low-income families by increasing the Earned Income Tax Credit by 20 percent.

The bill is not perfect. I, along with many of my colleagues, would like to see more done on the property tax side of the equation, as this is an issue that directly impacts ag producers throughout our state.

We did not have a final vote on the bill on Friday. The only vote that was taken was a vote to send the bill back to the Revenue Committee, which would have essentially killed the bill for the year.

That attempt failed by a vote of 29-17. For the bill to return to the schedule, Sen. Smith must be able to prove he has the support of 33 senators to vote to end debate. Whatever LB 461's final fate may be, I'm glad that we were at least able to have the floor debate over reducing the tax burden on Nebraskans. According to Sen. Smith, it has been close to 20 years since the you!

Unicameral has engaged in such a discussion, which has been too long.

Time and time again, I have heard from my constituents who have said the tax climate in Nebraska is tough on business owners, ag producers and families. My goal is see meaningful tax reform that leaves our state in a better position to compete on a national level, and I'm grateful to Sen. Smith and Governor Pete Ricketts for at least allowing us to have this discussion this week.

We will just have to wait and see if this bill returns to the floor in the next twenty days.

As always, I want to encourage my constituents to reach out to me. If you are in Lincoln, stop by room 2010. For those with e-mail access, my address is jalbrecht@leg.ne.gov. Or if you prefer to call, I can be reached at 402-471-2716 or to write me at:

From 100 year old Doris Lutt (top right) to those who call themselves Baby Boomers and a large group of Wayne State student volunteers, this year's Boomerfest attracted hundreds of people. Seniors from throughout the area took advantage of the morning part of the event which included a number of health screenings, as well as a variety of vendors. The afternoon dance featured the Burt Heithold Band and the evening entertainment was provided by The Senders, a classic rock & roll band. www.mywaynenews.com

Seeing Jesus in those around us

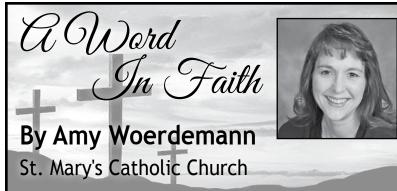

"No one has ever seen God. Yet, if we love one another, God remains in us, and His love is brought to perfection in us." -1 John 4:12

A beautiful Christian ideal to have before us is that Jesus is present in my neighbor. Jesus is in the person next to me, the person behind me, in front of me, in the person with whom I live and work. One person who lived their life based on this ideal was Saint Mother Teresa of Calcutta.

When Mother Teresa accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in Oslo in 1979, part of her acceptance speech went like this: "It is not enough for us to say: 'I love God, but I do not love my neighbor.' Saint John says that you are a liar if you say you love God and you don't love your neighbor. (1 John 4:20) How can you love God whom you do not see, if you do not love your neighbor whom you see, whom you touch, with whom you live? And so this is very important for us to realize that love, to be true, has to hurt.'

We may not remember every time we are talking to someone, "Jesus is in this person." What do you see when you look into the eyes of a woman at the post office who seems upset, the guy who cut you off in line at the grocery store, or the office colleague who just took credit for your hard work? Do you see someone to pity, to tolerate, to despise — or do you see the face of Jesus?

If we're honest, most of us would have to admit that seeing Jesus in some of the people we meet in the course of a day is beyond challenging, and yet that is exactly what we are called to do. Jesus Himself told us to "Love your neighbor as yourself." But He didn't stop there. Jesus gave us an even more difficult teaching and that is to "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute vou.'

How can we learn to see Jesus not only in the innocent face of a newborn baby or in the eyes of a beloved spouse or in the touch of an elderly parent, but also in the people who make our lives difficult in one way or another?

"It's challenging to see Jesus in an 'enemy,' someone who may be attacking us, ridiculing us, or who has harmed us in some way. Where could Jesus be in that person? How can we love like this? Where will we get the power to love Jesus in others?

In a letter to the people of Albania on April 28, 1997 Mother Teresa gives the key to being able to see Jesus in others. The key to loving others is prayer. She wrote, "To be able to love one another, we must pray much, for prayer gives a clean heart and a clean heart can see God in our neighbor. If now we have no peace, it is because we have forgotten how to see God in one another. If each person saw God in his neighbor, do you think we would need guns and bombs?'

Seeing Jesus in others isn't always easy, but it is always necessary for those who strive to live out the Gospel. We must begin with prayer and with an understanding that the sayings of Jesus are not just pretty platitudes but a "to do" list for those of us who call ourselves His disciples.

The first step could simply be to pray for a person who irritates us whenever we find ourselves upset by that person, or even to pray for our children rather than yell about juice spilled on the clean kitchen floor or forgotten homework that now must be driven in to school.

There's another key element to our success in seeing Jesus in others, however. "Love your neighbor as yourself." We cannot recognize Jesus in others if we don't first recognize Jesus in ourselves. We need to accept into our hearts and souls the reality that we are loved by God beyond measure just as we are at this very moment, flaws and all. We also need to remember that the same God who loves us so completely loves the guy who stole your parking spot at the mall just as much.

That's true love. Often times we don't consider ourselves worthy enough for that kind of total and all-encompassing love. If we don't see ourselves as worthy, it's very hard to see anyone else as worthy either. So this work begins with us, right where we are.

Even with the best of intentions, even with prayer and selfacceptance, it can still be hard to look into the eyes of someone who is hurting us or someone on the margins and see Jesus there. It takes hard work - to not take things personally, to forgive when we want justice to be served, to see past a rough or disheveled exterior.

Becoming Jesus to others and seeing Jesus in others is really a lifelong journey, one that may take us two steps forward and one step back.

But as long as we are always focused on the end "goal" and rooted in prayer, we will keep moving forward, however slowly, and in doing so we will transform our hearts, transform our lives, and transform our world.

"I believe in person to person. Every person is Christ for me, and since there is only one Jesus, that person is the one person in the world at that moment. I see Christ in every person I touch. it is as simple as that." - Saint Mother Teresa of Calcutta.

Local health workers awarded recognition

Victor Zarate and Georgina Castaneda work tirelessly to improve the health of the population of Northeast Nebraska. Both Victor and Georgina work locally as Community Health Workers which is a new and growing profession in Nebraska. A Community Health Worker is defined as a member of the healthcare team who has a close relationship with and understanding of the community they serve. The two were recently honored with the 2017 Community Health Worker Award at Nebraska's Minority Public Health Association Conference for their hard work and dedication to the health of the local community.

Beginning with the 2013 Wayne Tornado event, Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD) has responded to 4 separate public health emergencies, two natural disasters and two biological response events, which impacted over 300 people through the public health response. Some of the activities that were involved in the response included getting people connected with necessary vaccines and medications. connecting people with available emergency shelter and supplies and assisting with replacing those needed items, communication of important health and safety messages, and assisting the public health team with finding patients, doing home visits, and getting needed testing.

Before, during and after the emergency response events, the Community Health Workers continued to deliver the routine public health services of providing health information and connecting people to needed healthrelated services and programs. During the 2-year grant period that included that 20 month time period of public health emergency responses, the Community Health Workers also provided 1,144 access-to-healthcare and health screening activities to 357 people in the health district.

Prairie Chickens perform right on cue for tour goers on Friday during annual mating rituals

The prairie chickens were in fine form last Friday morning for the Prairie Chickens & Prairie Stream Tour. Forty people traveled to the site before sunrise so that they were settled into the blinds before the birds began the annual mating ritual.

The lek, a small area where the males gather to "strut their stuff" for the females, is typically located on land that is covered with short grasses and is slightly raised so that the birds have a good view of the surrounding landscape. The Greater Prairie Chicken returns to these same sites every mating season and most of the females nest within two miles of the breeding grounds.

There were about twenty prairie chickens out and about that morning. The male prairie chickens puffed out their orange air sacs, raised mental Trust, Nebraska Natural Legacy Project, and the Northeast Nethe feathers on their heads, stomped their feet as fast as they could, and made a continuous booming cry to attract the attention of the females who were certainly playing hard-to-get. It was a great show and one that participants were happy to see. Most of the breeding is done by just one dominate male, but that doesn't mean the other males aren't making their presence known.

Participants learned that there's more to a prairie stream than meets the eye. Game & Parks staff used an electro-shock device to stun some of the creatures found living in the stream. There were top minnows, a little sunfish, water scorpion, a leach, and more that were caught - just for viewing - before they were returned to the stream. The ones that were seen are examples of those that can live in somewhat impaired waters. This stream is rich in nutrients and falls within the boundary of the Bazile Creek Watershed Initiative.

This event was sponsored by Nebraska Game & Parks, Pheasants Forever/Quail Forever, Northern Prairie Lands Trust, Nebraska Environ-

A week full of musical events

The lilacs were blooming Easter weekend; I have never seen them out that early. And now, Tuesday in the last week in April, there are low temps, and even snow, in the forecast. I'm glad I haven't put the flannel pajamas away yet. And it reinforces my belief that plants should not go out until Mother's day.

I OD'd on music on Sunday. First, it was Into the Woods, by Sondheim, at the Nebraska Wesleyan theater. Friends had seen the movie and encouraged me to see it, also. I just never got there.

Then, about a month ago, the traveling play was at the Lied, but I balked at the ticket price. NWU was an affordable option. And it was an amazing production. I decided later, though, that I wished it had stopped with the first act, when they were singing Happily Ever After. In the second act, things got dark and not so happy. That probably reflects reality, but fairy tales aren't about reality.

So, I walked to Caroline's house and we drove to a local church for their annual song fest called Brothers in Song. It begins with their own men's chorus and then segues to other all male groups. This year, the Heartland Harmonizers from Beatrice were there again.

They have become habitual at this event, and we love them. The director is a farmer, and his son has been singing with them since he was a little guy. They are a big group, encompassing all professions, and they sound good.

While the different choirs process to the stage, we, the audience, sing hymns, accompanied by a wonderful organ. The church is always full, and we produce a great sound.

years next weekend. (I suppose I will be there, too.)

The last bunch was the UNL varsity men. This is a non auditioned group that encompasses anyone who wants to sing; athletes, Greeks, band members, etc. There were at least fifty young men and the second number was in German and the third in some dialect I've never heard of before! Accompanied by a drum and a tambourine.

It's the last three songs, by the combined choirs, that raise the roof. The first is Rise Up, O Men of God and the closing says, "Brothers in song, sing on!" It's totally inspiring, and uplifting.

So, overdose or not, it was a good day. Though I will also admit that it was so nice out. I should have taken advantage of the weather and walked around Holmes Lake, or some such activity. Oh, well.

Tractor training, alfalfa weevils discussed

Here is another reminder that we will be having tractor safety training at the Wayne Fairgrounds Wednesday and Thursday, June 19 and 20.

Federal law prohibits youth under 16 years of age from working on a farm other than their parents. Certification through the course grants an exemption to the law allowing 14 and 15 year olds to drive a tractor and do field work with mechanized equipment for employers other than their parents.

This program is two full days from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., so prepare accordingly. The cost of the program is $60, payable on the first day.

Pre-registration is strongly encouraged. Please let us know in the Dixon Co. Extension office by May 20 if you want to attend and to get further details. The phone number is (402) 584-2234.

It's time to watch out for alfalfa weevils. Most alfalfa weevils overwinter as adults, and then become feeding. This is something to be active and lay eggs. In the last few years some areas of the state have received damage to regrowth after the first cutting due to a combination of late larval feeding and adult aware of after the first cutting. Getting back to the present, based on growing degree days, alfalfa weevil larvae should be feeding, and small pinholes may be visible in the new alfalfa growth near the tips of the plants. While alfalfa weevil damage has been spotty in much of Nebraska over the past few years, the potential for damage always exists.

Alfalfa weevil and also clover leaf weevils feed on first cutting alfalfa as larvae, and regrowth after the first cutting as adults (and sometimes larvae). While research conducted in northeast Nebraska has shown that clover leaf weevil larva feeding does not result in yield reduction to first cutting alfalfa, alfalfa weevil feeding can cause severe losses to yield and quality of the first cutting.

It is essential that fields be monitored for alfalfa weevil feeding now. Damage consists of small holes and are registered to control alfalfa weeinterveinal feeding on the newest vil. Check the with your local exleaflets near the stem tips. The larvae are a small (1/16 to 3/8 inch in length), pale yellowish green, becoming a darker green when larger. These legless worms have black heads and a white stripe the length of the back. The alfalfa weevil larvae spend nearly all their time on the plant. They curl into a C-shape when disturbed.

Once the alfalfa is about 4-6 inches or so in height, take a bucket, carefully cut some stems at ground level (30 to 50 per field, from various spots in the field) and shake the stems against the side of the bucket. Average the number of weevil larvae per stem. In general at today's prices if 1-2 or more weevils are found per stem and the alfalfa is less than 12" tall, an insecticide treatment may be necessary.

When alfalfa reaches a certain height, it may be more profitable to cut the alfalfa early rather than to treat. Finally, many insecticides tension office or ag supplier.

Farmers, pesticide applicators encouraged to work together to protect sensitive specialty crops

As spring planting season gets underway, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) wants to remind farmers and other outdoor pesticide applicators to work together to protect sensitive specialty crops and pollinators from pesticide use. Pesticides include all categories of pest control products such as herbicides, insecticides and fungicides.

"Pesticides are important to farm management, but they affect commodity crops and specialty crops differently," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "For example, herbicide applications are critical for corn and soybean production, but some specialty crops, like grape vines and hops, are extremely sensitive to these products."

One way farmers and other pesticide applicators can reduce potential damage to specialty crops and pollinators is by communicating with one another throughout the planting and growing season.

DriftWatch and BeeCheck are online mapping services from FieldWatch that allow those with commercial specialty crops, organic crops and beehives to report their field locations. It's voluntary, free, easy to use and secure. Pesticide applicators can review the website to gain an understanding of the locations of specialty crops in their area. Included in the registry are commercial apiary sites, vineyards, orchards, fruit and vegetable grow sites, nursery and Christmas tree production sites and certified organic crops.

In Nebraska, 466 growers have registered a total of 1,151 specialty crops sites on DriftWatch[™]. Those sites are currently found in 74 of Nebraska's 93 counties.

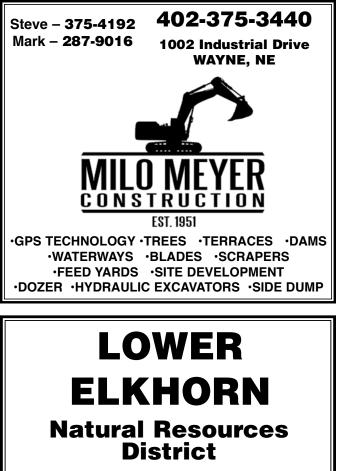

"As producers continue to register their sensitive specialty crops, I encourage them and pesticide applicators to work together to protect sensitive specialty crops," said Ibach.

DriftWatch and BeeCheck can be found online at fieldwatch.com. NDA monitors the DriftWatch website for the state. For more information contact Craig Romary at (402) 471-2351.

Lower Elkhorn NRD promotes Arbor Day with tree sales

In Nebraska, Arbor Day is traditionally celebrated on the last Friday in April. The 145th Anniversary of Arbor Day will be celebrated this Friday, April 28.

From Norfolk, the lake is located 10 miles east on Highway 275 and then two miles south on Ridge Road. Signs will direct you to the LENRD Tree Distribution Center (approximately two miles north of Stanton). The Center will be open from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Arbor Day. Seedlings can be purchased in bundles of 25 for $22. Small acreage packages will also be available for $44.

LENRD Forester Pam Bergstrom, said, "Plant a tree to protect your property and the future. Our parents did it for us, and we should return the favor for future generations."
