Topics of discussion included garage bids and appeal for lodging tax grant money

By Calyn Dunklau

calyn@wayneherald.com

Several agenda items warranted discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Among those items, opening bids for the new garage to be built on the courthouse grounds as well as an appeal from Nancy Johnson regarding the fund amount allocated to the Wayne Area Economic Development for Bike Ride Across Nebraska's (BRAN) overnight stay in Wayne.

Bids were accepted for the construction of the large new garage on the east side of the courthouse that will match the style of the other buildings on the lawn.

Two area contractors placed bids for the project, JMB Contracting or Jared Bethune and OCC Builders or Otte Construction.

The garage will house county vehicles and will also be used for some storage and work space for maintenance workers.

JMB offered a base bid of $111,939.42 and included the three options the commissioners asked for.

Option one was the substitution of regular asphalt shingles to a metal shingle with nearly double the life at $4,093.43. Option two was hanging plywood inside to finish off the space. JMB bid an additional $6,231 for that option. And finally the third option was adding in insulation, which JMB bid $3,664.94 additionally.

The projected start date was listed as July 15 with an end date of Sept. 1.

OCC builders gave a base bid of $138,280 for the project and also bid out the three options.

For the alternate roofing material, OCC bid $4,470. For the insulation, a bid of $3,440 was submitted and for the addition of hanging plywood to finish off the space, OCC bid $4,380.

OCC's bid stated a July 17 start date and a finish date of Jan. 1, 2018.

The garage project was awarded to JMB Contracting.

Another item on the agenda was an appeal by Nancy

Johnson. Wayne Area Economic Development applied for funds from the county through the Lodging Tax Grant. After the committee looked it over, it recommended that $1,050 be awarded and the commissioners unanimously agreed to the amount. Johnson and Irene Fletcher came before the board to discuss receiving more money for the BRAN event coming to Wayne.

Both women discussed the importance and uniqueness of the event and described how, unlike other tourists, those participating in BRAN wouldn't have transportation other than their bicycles.

The lodging tax money parameters state the money granted isn't to be used on rentals -- including shuttles or porta-potties, the two things that have the highest bills for the BRAN event.

In the end, commissioners didn't grant the appeal, explaining that every event is a unique one and by allowing the money to be used on rentals would set a precedent for future events.

In other news, the commissioners held a public hearing in regards to an application for a Class C Liquor License by Hasbirk, LLC for the Valley Golf Course in Wakefield.

Management of the golf course has been transferred from Loren Victor to Travis and Sarah Birkley and Randy Hassler.

No one from the public wished to comment on the application, and finding no reason not to grant the license, the commissioners agreed unanimously to approve the liquor license for Hasbirk, LLC.

Action was taken on an Interlocal Agreement with Cedar County, similar to the one between Wayne and Thurston counties, also as part of the state's bridge match program.

The commissioners agreed unanimously to approve the Interlocal Agreement for structures to be replaced through the bridge program.

Nic Kemnitz, emergency management director for the county, brought a state wide exercise to the at-See Commissioners, Page 4A

Electricity takes council's focus Financial shape of city is good, suggestions made

By Clara Osten clara@wayneherald.com

Electricity for the city of Wayne was part of several agenda items when the Wayne City Council met in regular session on Tuesday.

Council members first listened to a short presentation from Phil Lorenzen, who told the council the city was in good financial shape. He offered suggestions on the financing of an upcoming $1.5 million electric distribution project.

The city will purchase bonds to pay for the project and Lorenzen said the bond market remains favorable for borrowers.

A presentation was given by Bernie Cervera with C.H. Guernsey & Company, a consulting company from Oklahoma. He explained the services provided by the company in regard to long-range replacement of some of the city's oldest electric generation engines. The council is planning to purchase a portion of its electricity in the future from wind generation and may need to look at quick start generations to use when the wind energy is no available. Cervera told the council that Nebraska is the best source for wind energy in the country and with the city's current contract with Big Rivers Energy, the city would be able to purchase a portion of its power from wind farms. He also spoke of a number of projects his firm has done in recent years and compared several with what the city of Wayne may need.

Bernie Cervera explained to council members the scope of services his firm will provide in coming months.

increment financing (TIF) to build 15 single-family homes in the area near Tomar Drive and Jaxon Street, near the rugby fields.

The homes would be built as rentto-own homes as part of a Crown II project, similar to that of a number of homes built in Western Ridge.

Following Woodling's presentation, the council voted to approve a Street Improvement District in the area to design, finance and pave the sections of street necessary for the project.

Debate during the meeting was held on the purchase of a concrete breaker for use by the Public Works Department.

Council member Jon Haase questioned whether the mini-excavator on which the breaker would be placed, could handle the upcoming projects. Following discussion, the council gave its approval for the purchase, stating the city departments would exercise their best judgement when using the equipment.

WSC commencement to feature Mike Flood as guest speaker

Wayne State College will hold commencement for graduate and undergraduate students on Saturday, May 6. The graduate ceremony will be at 9:30 a.m. in Rice Auditorium and the undergraduate ceremony will be at 1 p.m. in the Willow Bowl, Wayne State's historic outdoor amphitheater. President Marysz Rames will lead both ceremonies

The graduate ceremony at 9:30 a.m. in Rice Auditorium will confer degrees on 88 students, awarding master's degrees in education, business administration, organizational management, curriculum and instruction-instructional leadership, and educational specialist degrees.

The undergraduate ceremony will feature multiple awards honoring excellence among the college's faculty, alumni and students. There are 422 students graduating with their bachelor's degrees.

Honorable Mike Flood, former Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, will deliver the commencement address for the undergraduate ceremony, Randall "Randy" A. Pedersen will receive the Alumni Achievement Award from the Wayne State Foundation during the ceremony.

Alumni Achievement Award: Randall A. Pedersen '71 Randall "Randy" A Pede

The council gave its approval to Resolution 2017-40, which accepts the proposal and scope of consulting services with the firm.

Also approved was the second reading of an ordinance that will establish a power purchase agreement from Cottonwood Wind Project LLC for the purchase of wind turbine power and the second reading to the Big Rivers' Contract for the purchase of electric-

Council members also approved a resolution to provide information technology and industrial services between the city of Wayne and Wavne State College. The resolution will mean the city will pre-pay for 10 years of services to the city from WSC.

Council member Cale Giese questioned Wayne State College President Dr. Marysz Rames on the purposed Center for Applied Technology facility to be built on the WSC campus.

Giese asked for the time line for obtaining funding for the project and whether the city could delay making payments to the college for the project. Dr. Rames told the council that she needed to have funding secured before the June meeting of the College Board of Trustees and the project would be paid for as it was built. She also offered to provide a list of those donors who have already pledged support for the project.

In other action, the council approved the annexation of an area of land north of Wayne that will become the Beaumont Event Center.

Following a public hearing, the council gave first reading approval for the annexation of the area. City Planner Joel Hansen told the council that the Planning Commission had earlier voiced its approval for the annexation.

Rob Woodling with Woodling Development, spoke to the council to determine if there was support for tax Approval was also given for the installation of a stop sign at the corner of Grainland Road and Pheasant Run and the implementing of a 25 mph speed limit in the area.

Several property owners with homes in the area were on hand to discuss the speed to traffic on the road and request a 25 mph speed limit on Grainland Road.

Council members gave approval for the street closings in downtown Wayne on Friday, July 7 and in the Bressler Park area on Friday, July 8 for Henoween and Chicken Show activities

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, may 16 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

a Power Plant? Tuesday the Wayne city council awarded a contract with Guernsey Consulting to prepare a long range plan for the Wayne Power Plant. The current engines range from 29 years old to 69 years old. The total capacity of the Wayne power plant is 20 MW (Megawatts). Wayne has eight generators powered by diesel fuel. Our peak electric load on the hottest day is about 14 MW. The current generators are in good condition. Our existing generators take 20 minutes to get them all started and all on line at full power. New technology allows manufacturers to now build one engine that will replace all eight generators. It can be started remotely by computer or cell phone and be fully on line in 7 minutes.

Guernsey is charged with exploring two options:

1) The option to begin replacing the oldest generators with one generator. The plan would propose how to physically replace the oldest generators and how to get the revenues to pay for one new replacement generator.

2) The no-build option - which means we don't replace the generators as they get too costly to maintain and repair or when we can't get parts for them and we use the rest as long as we can and eventually shut the plant down.

Both of these options are reasonable options and will be discussed by the mayor and council over the

Nebraska Forest Service recognizes Northeast Community College for tree planting efforts

The Nebraska Forest Service has from trees and watch a ceremonial recognized Northeast Community College for its hands-on work with young children that allows them to discover the importance of trees. Representatives of the College were presented with the agency's Educator Award during its annual Nebraska Community Forestry and Tree City, Campus and Line USA Recognition Day. It was one of eleven awards presented during the event held in Lincoln

The Educator Award is presented to an individual or school that educate the youth of Nebraska about the importance of trees and the history of Arbor Day. Extracurricular activities, special programs, or any other program or event the educator/school performs above and beyond the normal education process qualifies.

Northeast was recognized for its Arbor Day celebration at the Chuck M. Pohlman Agriculture Complex that features college horticulture and early childhood education students working with area kindergartners. The event, which observed its tenth year in 2016, began with the idea that Arbor Day should involve more than simply planting trees, but learning about them, too.

In addition to a demonstration on proper planting techniques, the kindergarteners are taken to different "stations" in Northeast's Arby Day observance where they learn how trees grow; work through an obstacle course made from tree materials; visit "Wormsey's World," which demonstrates tree roots underground; taste goodies that come tree planting that showcases proper tree planting.

Steve Rasmussen, district forester with the Nebraska Forest Service, nominated Northeast for the award.

"Northeast Community College has landscape staff, horticulture and early childhood education students participate in the day and help with the stations and getting students to the different stations. This creates a great interaction between kindergartners and college students," he said.

Since 2006, over 900 students, adult sponsors and teachers have participated in Northeast's Arbor Day event. Northeast employees have an option for a payroll deduction that contributes funding for the program. Kindergarteners are given colorful t-shirts with an Arbor Day theme.

In addition to the Nebraska Forest Service, other partners with the program include the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The Northeast Community College Arboretum is an affiliate of the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum. The grounds crew has worked in recent years to beautify the Norfolk campus with additional landscaping. This includes the planting of 30 new trees in 2016. With recent construction, the grounds crew also relocated an additional 13 large Oak trees on the Norfolk campus.

Northeast was also a participant in the City of Norfolk's campaign to plant 150 trees in the community in 2016 as part of the City of Norfolk's Sesquicentennial Celebration; and in October 2015, Northeast Community College was recognized with the City of Norfolk's "Green Leaf" Award for outstanding landscaping work. The award is sponsored by the city's Tree Advisory Board. Northeast digital cinema

students to debut capstone projects this weekend

The red carpet will soon be a film, plan the production, hire rolled out for filmmaking students the actors, produce a trailer, make at Northeast Community College. a poster, and edit it in Adobe Students in the College's digital cinema and media program will debut their capstone film projects this weekend.

Seven sophomore students have individually created four documentaries and three short films. They will premiere on Saturday, May 6, beginning at 10 a.m., at Norfolk 7 Theatre, 1000 Riverside Boulevard, in Norfolk

Nancy Sutton-Smith, mass media instructor, said the Capstone class is the culmination of two years of instruction in pre-production, production, and post-production in the digital cinema portion of Northeast's media arts degree. Digital cinema students take classes in camera and lighting, scriptwriting, field production, video editing, media graphics, and two dimensional (2D) and three dimensional (3D) motion.

"The semester-long Capstone class required students to write Premiere Pro, using Adobe After Effects for titles and extra motion effects. They had to do everything a professional video or movie project would require to be entered into a film festival or presented to a broadcast entity," said Sutton-Smith

Students whose films will debut on Saturday are Koleton Boston, Sioux City, Iowa; Daniel Ebmeier, Laurel Garrett Heikes, Wayne; Tiffany Jacobson, Norfolk; Seth Johanson. Pierce; Bryce Meis, Winside; and Monika Zuch, Fremont.

In addition to Sutton-Smith, other Northeast media arts instructors include Brian Anderson, Anthony Beardslee and Timothy Miller.

Saturday's event is free and open to the public.

Swan named 'Reader of the Week' by library

This week's Reader of the Week at the Wayne Public Library is Angela Swan.

What is the last book you read? Thrawn by Timothy Zahn Who is your favorite author?

I don't have a favorite, favorite author, but I did like to read books by Brian Jacques when I was much younger.

Why do you read?

I like to read because of the different twists and turns in mysteries, romance, sci-fi, etc. that authors come up with for their plots, in familiar or unfamiliar worlds.

New to Wayne

Integrated Life Choices (ILC) recently opened an office in the College Plaza in Wayne. A ribbon cutting was held Friday morning, along with Chamber Coffee. The facility provides support for people with developmental disabilities. These include residential and vocational support. Integrated Life Choices has several locations in Nebraska and Denver, Colo. and Houston, Texas. At the present time, the Wayne facility is focusing on vocational support.

Have you ever had to give up on a book?

Yes, when it's time for it to return to the library and I just started reading it or I never cracked it open in the first place. Some of them I wonder why I picked it up in the first place after a few chapters into it.

Name a book you would recommend and tell everyone why they should read it.

I would recommend the book, Red Madness by Gail Jarrow. As a non-fiction medical thriller it tells of the pellagra mystery.

Pellagra was a mysterious disease that spread across America, mostly in the south and some in the north. It was first reported in 1902 and wasn't solved until 1930. It was called the 4-D disease because the symptoms are dermatitis (skin rash), diarrhea, dementia (mental disorder), and death. It affected thousands of people, mostly poor, but also some rich people. It wasn't until Dr. Joseph Goldberger who researched, experimented and tested (with some icky experiments!) for 11 years that he solved the case. I won't tell you how because that'll ruin the book and the process he went through to get the results. I for one am very glad that he solved this horrible disease. Hopefully in the future it'll be completely gone.

Is there anything else you'd like to comment on about your passion for reading?

Reading is not just for pleasure, it's for information. The more you read, the more you know.

Personal

I live in Wayne with my husband. We are both librarians.

The Wayne Herald – Thursday, May 4, 2017 Boy Scouts learning

Above, Recently, members of Winside Cub Scouts Pack#179 and a few siblings visited the Wayne City Police Department. The boys were visiting in order to complete a requirement to advance in their ranks. While at the police station the boys learned about dispatching, fingerprinting, and gathering evidence. They were also able to visit a holding cell and check out the police cars. Taking part in the tour of the Wayne Police Department were (left) Bryce Lurz, Sgt. Swanson, Bailey Lurz, Corben Krause, Carter Krause, Brayden Lurz, Matthew Gubbels, Braxton Rastede, Mace Magwire, Korbin Carlson, Justyn Deck, Sgt. Hasse and Officer Fisher.

Below, the Wolf Den of Cub Scout Pack 174 met at the Cobblestone Hotel to work on the Spirit of Water Loop. They learned why swimming is good exercise, safety rules of swimming and learned a 'reaching rescue.' Those involved included (left) Brandon Ziska, Den Leader, Ben Haschke, Maddox Ziska, Quinten Brunken, Cole Jensen, Aiden Petersen, Cole Zach and Liz Haschke, Assistant Den Leader.

Six major awards were presented Monday evening along with Most Valuable Player awards for each sport. Sophomore track and field athlete Robert Sullivan was named Male Athlete of the Year while senior volleyball All-American Alyssa Frauendorfer was voted Female Athlete of the Year for a second straight year. Freshman Athlete of the Year Awards went to baseball player Jackson Petersen and volleyball player Haley Kauth. The Cunningham Scholar Athletes of the Year were presented to senior baseball player Joey Lenihan and senior volley-Sullivan set a new school record and was the NSIC Indoor champion in the heptathlon with 5,141 points. He qualified for the NCAA Indoor National Championships and placed 12th to earn second-team All-American honors. In the outdoor season, he currently ranks sixth in the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 15.17 seconds.

Frauendorfer was named first-team All-NSIC for a fourth straight year after averaging 3.01 kills and 0.75 blocks per set this season. She is just the second player in school history to be named first-team All-NSIC all four years and was selected either AVCA All-American or honorable mention All-American all four years. Frauendorfer closed her career ranked ninth in kills with 1,411 and is the school's all-time leader in attack percentage at .337

Petersen was named Male Freshman Athlete of the Year after leading the Wildcats in batting average at .392. He is second on the team in stolen bases (7) and is one of only two players to have a four-hit game this season for the Wildcats. Petersen has the second-longest hitting streak on the team this season at 13 games and is fourth in multi-hit games (11) and multi-RBI games (4).

Kauth received the Female Freshman Athlete of the Year award after ranking 10th in the NSIC in digs per set this season at 4.17. She was sec-See Banquet, Page 3B

Wayne/Wakefield baseball drops two

GACC/S-S/WP-B pulled away late to post a 12-2 win over Wayne/ Wakefield in baseball action Tuesday at West Point.

The Blue Devils tied the game at 1-1 in the second inning when Payten Gamble doubled and later scored on a Tanner DeBoer sacrifice fly

The host Patriots scored three in the third and two in the fourth to take control of the game. Wayne/Wakefield got a run in the top of the fifth when Gamble drew a bases-loaded walk, but the hosts scored five in the bottom of the inning to end the game on the 10-run rule.

Gamble, Tyler Lutt, Brennen O'Reilly and Hagan Miller had hits for the 6-10 Blue Devils. Adam Bentjen pitched 2 2/3 innings in taking the loss.

A four-run sixth inning proved to be the difference as Yutan/Mead/ Ashland-Greenwood came away with a 5-1 win over Wayne/Wakefield in baseball action Thursday at Hank Overin Field.

The visitors got a run in the third to take the lead, but Wayne Wakefield came back to tie the game in the fifth. Caden Korth reached on an error, moved to third on a Tanner DeBoer single and came home when Tyler Lutt reached on an error with two out to tie the game at 1-1.

The visitors reclaimed the lead in the sixth, using two errors and a hit to plate the go-ahead runs and come away with the win.

DeBoer, Korth and Payten Gamble each had hits for the 6-11 Blue Devils. Lutt went the distance in the losing effort, scattering five hits and three walks while striking out two and giving up just one earned Wayne/Wakefield's season finale at home against Arlington was moved to Tuesday. They begin district play on Friday, May 5, facing Beatrice in the first round of B-3 district play at 5 p.m. at Duncan Field in Hastings.

Women's 7-on-7 rugby team loses first championship game

For the last three years, the Wayne State women's rugby team has had a hammerlock on the National Small College Rugby Organization's 7-on-7 national championship.

That changed on Sunday, as an injury-depleted Wildcat team fell three points short, dropping a 15-12 decision to Colgate in the championship game in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Wayne State's defense carried the team throughout the playoffs, recording seven shutouts in their first eight games. A key injury to senior scrum half Kelsey Stutzman, however, was taken advantage of by the Red Raiders, who avenged a loss to the Wildcats in last fall's NSCRO 15-on-15 national title game.

Even with the depleted defense, coach Darrin Barner said the team was in it until the very

"Even when we were down 10-0 at the half, I old them that we know we can scored twice and there is a good chance, with our defense, that they won't score again, so all we needed to do was play our normal game," he said. "We got it to within three with 3 1/2 left and just needed the ball one more time and we could come out on top, but Colgate played absolutely perfect rugby and didn't have any mistakes, and that's the only way they could have beat us."

Until Sunday's championship game, it was a question as to whether anybody would score on Wayne State, much less defeat them.

During regional play, Wayne State's defense recorded three consecutive shutouts to send them to the 16-team national tournament. They posted two more shutouts on Saturday, defeating William & Mary 39-0 and University of Rochester 35-0.

There was some dissent among the team after the final pool game of the day, though, as they actually gave up a late score to York College of Pennsylvania in a 15-5 win.

"After that game was over, even though we won there was a lot of discussion about why we'd given up that one score," Barner said. "It seemed like a loss for some of the girls because it was the first score we'd allowed in the tournament, but that's how determined they were and our captains got everybody together and reminded them that 'Hey, we won."

The Wayne State defense got back on track in knockout play, shutting down Simpson College of Iowa 31-0 to advance to Sunday's semifinals.

On Sunday, the Wildcats came away with their seventh shutout of the playoffs with a 14-0 win over Colorado College, but Stutzman was injured late in the game and played only sparingly in the finals against Colgate later that day.

Colgate dominated possession throughout the first half and used a couple of short runs, the second coming after a late yellow card for a high tackle, to take a 10-0 lead at the half.

McBride to become a Plainsman

Wayne High senior track and field standout Grayson McBride signed a letter of intent to compete in track and field for Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln in 2017-18. The son of Bob and Trine McBride, Grayson has been a standout high jumper for the Blue Devils, twice qualifying for state in the event. He finished third last year as a junior and is one of the top jumpers in Class B this season. The McBrides are pictured with Grayson's coaches, Mike Jaixen and Dale Hochstein.

Wayne State soccer signs six recruits

Wayne State women's soccer coach Joe Cleary announced the signing Thursday of five high school standouts to national letters of intent along with the addition of one transfer as part of the 2017 Wildcat recruiting class.

The 2017 class includes Shelby Bullard, Madison Craig and Bailey Lagasse of Omaha, Rachel Schuster from Arvada, Colo., and Rylie Wehner of Golden, Colo., along with transfer Rachel Fraser from Brisbane, Australia.

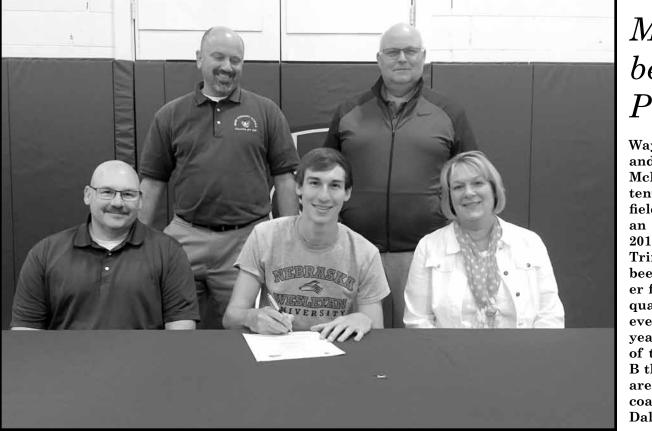

"I am really excited about our 2017 class," Cleary said. "In this class we have addressed our depth issues in the midfield and defense. We have also added some talented and competitive attacking players that will push our returning forwards for time right away. On top of this class' on-field talent, they are also great individuals who are driven academically. I expect them to fit in well with our group right away - both on the field and in the classroom."

Bullard is a 5-foot-7 forward/midfielder from Omaha. She is a three-year starter entering her senior season at Burke High School and is a two-time All-Nebraska and Super State honorable mention selection. In three seasons, Bullard has produced 82 points with 31 goals and 20 assists. She is a member of the Gretna Soccer Club and is a four-time Nebraska State Cup Finalist and selected to the Nebraska ODP team and Region II ODP pool.

"We have been following Shelby's progress since I became an assistant at Wayne State," remarked Cleary. "She is a fierce competitor and a talented soccer play and has the potential to play a couple different positions for us as a Wildcat."

Craig is a 5-foot-6 defender from Omaha. She is a three-sport standout in cross country, swimming and soccer at Central High School, earning 12 varsity letters in four years of school. Craig has competed in four Class A state cross country and swim meets and has received Academic All-State honors in all three sports. She serves as team captain for the soccer team this spring and plays club soccer for Infinite Sports World.

"Madison is a talented athlete that we added late in the 2017 class," stated Cleary. "She spread her focus across three sports in See Soccer, Page 4B

Grayson McBride was the top male performer from the area at the Northeast Nebraska Classic, taking thirds in the high jump and long jump and finishing sixth in the triple jump.

Wayne's Hammer, McBride lead area effort at Classic

NORFOLK – After beating all comers in an all-star meet of the state's best a week before, outperforming the best in Northeast Nebraska should be easy money.

Wayne High junior Kylie Hammer didn't have her best day in the long jump, but jumped well enough to erase any doubt as to who the best in the area is, winning both the long jump and triple jump and taking runner-up in the 200-meter dash to highlight the area effort at the 23rd annual Northeast Nebraska Classic on Thursday at Norfolk High School.

Hammer was more than a foot off of her winning mark of 18 feet, 2 inches at the Nebraska Track & Field Festival a week before, but her mark of 16-11 1/2 was still almost a foot better than her nearest competitor, and she added 2 1/2 inches to her school record in the triple jump with a winning mark of 37-4 1/2.

Hammer also performed well on the track, parlaying a second-place finish while running out of Lane 2, then running down a seventh-place finish for the 1,600-meter relay team after a dropped baton sent the Wayne entry to the back of the eight-team pack.

"She had an outstanding day," coach Dale Hochstein said of her effort. "She's brought it on herself to have a high expectation as to what goals she wants to accomplish and she made some technique changes to try to get a few more inches."

While she didn't have a big jump in the long jump, Hochstein said she still competed well in the event.

"When you look at how everybody else jumped, she jumped consistently, but she has high expectations of going 18 feet and she just didn't get that big jump," he said. Hammer wasn't the only multiple medalist for the Blue Devils, as senior jumper Grayson McBride came away with a trio of medals as one of the area's top athletes. He took third-place honors in both the high jump and long jump, and salvaged a sixth-place finish in the triple jump. "The nice thing about being in all three jumps at this meet is that you have to stay warm, so he was going between the events and he's learned to stay focused on those," Hochstein said. "At that (Festival) last week, he learned that you can't let one event affect the other, and he was able to maintain that focus in all three and that was good to see."

Nolan Reynolds also had a good day in the pole vault, coming away with a runner-up finish at 12-6 and showing he's ready to make that next step with districts coming up next week.

"We have a stacked district with some great jumpers, and he came in at a later height and had the technique and the legs and was able to pop a good one," he said. "It's going to probably take 13-foot to get to state, but he's right in that area now."

Jenna Trenhaile also came through with a solid performance in the discus. She just missed on a throw that was over 130 feet, but settled for a best effort of 122-11 to win the event by more than three feet and put her in a good position for a trip to state as well.

Wayne had two relays that were strong contenders for a medal that suffered from dropped batons which put them out of the money.

The boys 400-meter relay team was in the middle of a rare four-team catastrophe that saw Wayne, Battle Creek, Norfolk Catholic and Hartington Cedar Catholic all drop batons during the second exchange.

"That event was one of several that was like a mini-Mid State Conference race with five teams from the conference in it, and four of them didn't get the stick around the track," Hochstein said. "Our guys were disappointed, but these things happen in that race and hopefully we've learned a lesson there." Another drop came during an exchange in the girls' 1,600-meter relay. Wayne had the fastest time going in, but the drop moved them out of contention, settling See Classic, Page 5B Dendinger came in third in the hammer throw at 203 feet, 5 inches and was fourth in the shot put with a top mark of 49-9. while competing against a number of Div. I throwers. Dendinger also qualified in the discus Friday, but fouled on all three attempts.

Former Wildcat All-American Carly Fehringer was third in the hammer throw at 204-11 and Wildcat junior Kacie O'Connor took 11th place in the discus with a top mark of 136-6.

The Wayne State men's 400-meter relay team qualified for the finals and placed sixth.

The quartet of Brandon Marker, Braxton Adams, Clay Kramper and Jordan Zautke posted a sixth. The Wildcat distance medley relay team of Kak Ayaj, Marker, Nick Schmit and Nick Fly took 17th at 10:38.18.

Brady Metz had a solid showing in the triple jump, taking ninth with a leap of 46-7 1/2.

Mary Alderson and Robert Sullivan won events to lead a limited squad for the Wayne State track and field teams Wednesday at the Mount Marty Twilight Meet, held at the Yankton High School Track in Yankton, S.D.

Alderson led the Wildcat women's team with a first-place finish in the 400-meter dash at 1:00.59, followed by Melissa Kroll in third at 1:02.97.

Other top Wildcat women's finishers were Shelby Roth taking third in the high jump (4-9), Riana Noelle placed third in the triple jump (32-7 3/4), and Shelby Poell was sixth in the long jump

1,600-meter relay team of Alderson, Kroll, Poell and Josephine Peitz came in second with a time of 4:21.74.

Robert Sullivan led the Wayne State men's team, crossing the tape first in the 110-meter high hurdles in 15.17 seconds.

Habib Jallow posted a secondplace finish in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles (58.25), followed by Cody Kralicek in seventh (59.53) and Allen Arauz in ninth at 1:01.98.

Several Wayne State athletes competed Tuesday and Wednesday at the NSIC multi-events competition in Mankato, Minn. The final regular-season event is the Howard Wood Relays on Friday and Saturday in Sioux Falls, S.D.

The Northern Sun Conference championships will be held May 12-13 in Mankato, Minn.

Lenihan, Gebhardt named WSC Honor Student-Athlete Award winners

The Northern Sun Conference announced that Wayne State seniors Megan Gebhardt and Joey Lenihan have been selected as the Women's and Men's Honor Student Athlete Award Winners for 2016 - 17

Each NSIC institution nominates one male and one female student-athlete for the Britton and Kelly Scholar Athlete Award. The nominees must meet criteria that includes: a grade-point average of 3.5 or better (on a 4.0 scale), evidence of academic excellence beyond the minimum grade point average (scholarship prizes and other academic recognition), evidence of participation in the life of the institution and evidence of participation in at least two-thirds of the varsity events of the individual's primary sport.

Gebhardt, a finance major from Norfolk, has a 4.0 GPA and will obtain her bachelor degree in just three years while playing volleyball at Wayne State College. On the court, she started all 32 matches this season for the Wildcats and averaged 10.13 assists and 1.97 digs per set, ranking ninth in the NSIC in assists per set. Gebhardt helped Wayne State to a 24-8 record and a trip to the NCAA Div. II National Tournament for the 11th time in the last 12 years

Off the court, Gebhardt's volunteer work includes nelping the Wayne Green Team, WSC Student Food Pantry, Mercy Meals, raking leaves through Cup of Grace, nursing home visits, Faith Regional Health Services Gift Shop, Highway 35 cleanup, coaching Wayne youth volleyball teams, gift wrapping for the Wakefield community and working with the second grade class at Wayne Elementary School.

Lenihan, a sport management major from Wayne, has a 3.76 GPA as a member of the Wildcat baseball team. Joey was leading the team in saves (2) and second in appearances (12) when he suffered a season-ending arm injury on April 14 vs. Bemidji State. Last season, Lenihan led the team in saves (3) and appearances (18) while ranking second on the team in earned run average (5.75).

Off the field, Lenihan has represented baseball on the Student Athlete Advisory Committee for two years and is serving as President this year. He is actively a part of the Team Impact Program, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, has served a volunteer coach for the Wayne American Legion Baseball program in the summer, volunteered with Trick For Treat Canned Food Drive and worked as a volunteer server for the Wakefield Pancake Feed. Earlier this year, Lenihan received the NSIC Myles Brand All-Academic With Distinction Award.

Gebhardt and Lenihan will also be honored as the NSIC Male and Female Honor Student-Athletes of the Year at Wayne State College and will each receive a $2,500 post-graduate scholarship.

penalty taps," Barner said. "They had the ball a lot inside our 20 and still, it took forever for them to score."

Barner said Colgate wanted to dominate possession and keep the Wayne State offense from controlling the action, and the plan worked to perfection.

"We didn't have the ball that often in the game, and the thing is, in 7's if you're down two scores you tend to go into panic mode because it's a short game," he said. Wayne State did show signs of life in the second half when Shelby Brown scored midway through the half. Sam Warneke's conversion kick made it a 10-7 game to give the Wildcats hope. With about a minute left, Wayne State had a throwin deep on their side of the field, but Colgate stole the inbounds pass and were able to find the try zone for an insurance score. Alejandra Kersenbrock scored in the final seconds, but time ran out as Wayne State's 26-game winning streak and three consecutive national titles in 7-on-7 tournament play came to an end.

Still, with the tournament loss, Barner said the team accomplished a lot during its 22-1 season in 7-on-7 play.

"Our goal was to win our pool, which we did, and then to make it to the finals, which we did," he said. "These girls were very dedicated in going for our seventh title (including three in 15's) and spent three days a week conditioning at 6 a.m. and put a lot of effort into this to get to the championship game."

Barner said that Wayne State's reputation is starting to go international as well, as he has received interest from rugby athletes from Australia and Scot land who are interested in playing college rugby in the United States. One of the other teams told me that every program would like to be like Wayne State's," he said. "We not only have a winning team, but a winning program."

Wayne State College's softball team's season comes to an end

Southwest Minnesota's pitching quieted the Wayne State offense on Thursday and came away with a doubleheader sweep at the Chapman Complex, beating the Wildcats 2-0 and 5-1.

The first game was a pitchers' duel between Alex O'Connor of Southwest and Rilev Vanderveen from Wayne State. The only runs of the game came on one swing of the bat, as the Mustangs hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning off of Riley Vanderveen.

The Wildcats' lone scoring threat came in the sixth. Wayne State got two singles with one out, but O'Connor struck out Melanie Alyea and Jordyn Breitbarth to end the threat.

Rachel Shumaker was 2-for-3 with a pair of singles to lead a six-hit effort. Monique and Melanie Alyea, Alyssa Schropp and Sarah Hunter each added singles. Vanderveen took the loss despite giving up just two runs on seven hits and four walks while striking out four.

In the nightcap, a four-run third inning helped the Mustangs take control of the game and finish off the sweep. They scored all five runs off starter Allison Niemeier.

Wayne State's only run came in the sixth on an Abbie Hix RBI single to right, scoring Melanie Alyea.

Southwest outhit Wayne State 13-5 in the second game. Katelyn Wobken had a double and a single while Hix and the Alyea sisters each had hits.

St. Cloud State spoiled Senior Day for the Wayne State softball team on a chilly Saturday in Wayne as the Huskies downed the Wildcats 8-2 and 6-2 in the Northern Sun Conference finale for Wayne State at the Chapman Complex.

The opener saw the Huskies score three runs in the first and another in the second to take an early 4-0 lead and take control of the game.

Wayne State avoided the shutout with a Melanie Alyea solo homer in the sixth and added another run in the seventh when Breitbarth walked and scored on a Monique Alvea groundout.

Wayne State was held to just two hits in the game, including Alyea's homer and a second-inning single by Schropp. Vanderveen took the loss, going 3 1/3 innings before Niemeier came on in relief.

In the finale, the Huskies put up three runs in the third inning to take control of the game and complete the sweep.

Wayne State got on the board in the fourth with an RBI single from Schropp that scored Melanie Alyea. After St. Cloud took a 5-1 lead with two runs in the top of the fifth, the Wildcats scored again in the bottom of the frame on a solo homer from Wobken. The Huskies added an insurance run in the seventh to finish the game.

Wayne State had seven hits in the contest, led by Wobken going 3-for-4 with a homer. Rachel Shumaker doubled while Melanie Alyea, Schropp and Abbie Hix each had singles. Nataliah Hopkins (9-20) was tagged with the loss

Three Wildcat seniors played their final game in a Wildcat uniform – Melanie Alyea, Monique Alyea and Alyssa Schropp.

Sunday's scheduled doubleheader against Minnesota Duluth in Wayne was cancelled due to the weather, ending the Wildcat season at 11-39 (5-21 NSIC).

Aiden Breedlove fires a pitch home during Wayne State's doubleheader sweep of Augustana on Saturday at the Chapman Complex.

Wayne State manages weekend split with Augie

After losing two to Augustana on Friday, the Wayne State baseball team bounced back with a pair of wins over the Vikings.

Augustana's bats were on fire Friday as they blew up for a doubleheader sweep over Wayne State, winning 19-3 and 18-6 in action Friday at Ronken field in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Friday's games, which were moved from Wayne due to bad weather, were one-sided affairs as the Viking bats teed off on Wayne State pitching in both games.

In the opener, Augustana cranked out 22 hits in the game and got things rolling with a six-run first inning off of losing pitcher Bobby St. Pierre.

Wayne State scored its three runs in the third inning. Cody Jenkins scored Jackson Petersen with an RBI single, David Janes had an RBI single to score Tanner Simons, and Kyle Thompson brought Jenkins home with a single to highlight a five-hit inning.

Petersen was 2-for-2 to lead Wayne State's 10hit effort, while Janes and Thompson each went 2-for-3. St. Pierre gave up eight runs in two innings to take the loss.

In the nightcap, Wayne State scored five runs in the first inning, but Augustana came back to finish off the Friday sweep.

Wayne State trailed 2-0 going to the botom of the first, but scored five runs off five hits, including a Janes RBI double, a two-run single by Tanner Simons, an RBI double by Bodie Cooper and an RBI single by Tandon Dorn to give the Wildcats a 5-2 lead.

Aaron Krier scored on a wild pitch in the second to make it 6-2, but the Vikings came back with three runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings to take control and pull away with the win

Cooper went 3-for-4 to lead an eight-hit attack, while Simons had two hits and two RBI's. Keenan Breen took the loss.

Wayne State College used standout pitching from Aiden Breedlove and Teague McFadden on Saturday as the Wildcats swept Augustana at the Chapman Complex, winning 8-2 and 4-1 on Senior Day.

The story of the opener was the pitching of Breedlove and the hitting from outfielder Krier. Krier opened the game with a homer into the wind over the left field wall for a 1-0 lead. The Wildcats added two more runs in the first when Tanner Simons stroked a two-run single that scored Petersen and Cody Jenkins.

Augustana pulled within 3-2 in the top of the third with a pair of runs, but Wayne State came back with a three-run bottom of the inning to take control. They added two insurance runs in the fifth on a pair of bases loaded walks to Thompson and Cooper to finish off the first game.

The Wildcats had eight hits in the win, paced by Krier going 3-for-5 with a homer, two-run single and three RBI. Dorn was 2-for-4 with a run scored while Simons had a two-run single.

Breedlove pitched six stellar innings, allowing just two runs (one earned) on four hits with one strikeout and two walks. Kyle Kennebeck worked a perfect seventh to finish off the win with two strikeouts.

The second game saw an even better pitching performance from McFadden, striking out nine batters in seven innings of work, to carry the Wildcats to the sweep.

After Augustana scored in the opening frame, Wayne State took the lead for good with two runs in the second. Cooper produced an RBI single followed by a Peyton Barnes run-scoring single.

Wayne State closed out the scoring with two more runs in the fourth. Barnes had another RBI single to bring home Dorn, while Petersen accounted for a bases loaded walk.

The rest of the game was controlled by Mc-Fadden and relievers Breen and Kennebeck blanking the Vikings the rest of the way to finish off the win.

Barnes was 2-for-3 with a pair of run-scoring singles. Cooper added an RBI single while Krier, Janes, Simons, Thompson and Dorn also singled. Breen retired all three batters in the eighth in relief of McFadden, while Kennebeck earned the save, allowing one hit.

Wayne State (25-21, 20-14 NSIC) will close out the regular season next weekend with doubleheaders at Sioux Falls on Saturday and Sunday.

run challenge successful

In an effort to raise funds for new weight room equipment, the first of what may become a bi-annual event took place recently at the Wayne Community Activity Center.

A "Lift & Run" competition was held at the CAC where participants set out to bench press and run a mile.

Participants were assigned a percent of their body weight to bench with up to 25 reps total, if the participant benched over 25 reps, that counted toward the overall bench press winner. For each rep that was completed, 10 seconds was subtracted off the one-mile run total.

All the proceeds for the competition are gowing toward the purchase of new exercise equipment in the weight room at the CAC.

Trophies were given out for each age group as well as overall winners.

Kris Kinzie won her age division as well as the women's overall bench press and mile run.

Dominic Consoli, Chris Matias,

Casey Junck and Mike Barry won their respective age groups.

Mike Barry was the men's bench press champion while Chris Matias took home the trophie for the men's fastest mile time.

According to CAC director Bryce Meyer, another event is in the planning phases for the fall with hopes that area college students will partcipate.

Wayne High students learn about sports nutrition

The Wayne High School Sports and Nutrition class recently finished their fitness unit.

6B

During this unit they studied the following topics — the four components of fitness, aerobic and ananerobic activities and sports, effects of various legal and illegal supplements and drugs on heath and performance and the difference between fast twitch and slow twitch muscles.

The students took various fitness tests, competed in Fitness Bingo and learned their body fat percentage.

Dr. Kris Fox from Wayne State College came to the class to do the skinfold caliper testing. She also reviewed the class on how excess weight can affect overall health, both now and in the long term.

The students recorded two methods of measuring body fat, along with their waist measurement and then did mathematical calculations to learn what their ideal body weight range was.

Members of the class are seniors Logan Milligan, Adam Bentjen, Jacob Powell, Cailtin Janke, Kelsey Boyer, Cara Lubberstedt, Marissa Munsell, Emil Hapanowitz, Jacque Sherman and Gage Schultz; junior Taylor McConnell and sophomores Katelyn Groene and Zach Urbanec.

"I've enjoyed working with this group of students. They are inquisitive with their questions and are always ready to participate in any activity I ask them to do," said Karen Schardt, instructor of the class.

Wayne State College welcomed Dr. William Huggett (front) and Dr. Ron Holt, for a book signing visit in Kanter Student Center Atrium outside of the Bookstore on April 20.

An Amazon best-selling author, Holt wrote "PRIDE: You Can't Heal If You're Hiding From Yourself." "PRIDE Coloring Book: Inspiring Designs with Affirming Messages of Love and Acceptance" is the published creation of Drs. Ron Holt and William Huggett. Holt's book, "PRIDE: You Can't Heal If You're Hiding From Yourself," is the sharing of struggles with growing up gay in conservative Nebraska.

Drs. Holt and Huggett co-authored the companion PRIDE Coloring Book with affirming messages of love and acceptance.

Holt's writing covers the biology of sexuality, stress of being gay as a teen, risks and ways to develop coping tools against suicide, how to stay healthy including self-love and finding acceptance, and the revealing of his story including a victory over bullying and being victimized.

In addition to his valued work as a Wayne State Foundation Trustee, Holt has created several endowed and annual scholarships at WSC. He began his first scholarship in 1989 while he was a WSC student. He returns to WSC each fall for Homecoming activities and has provided many campus presentations on LGTB issues and concerns. Dr. Holt has spent a number of years as an attending psychiatrist in the Department of Psychiatry at Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in South San Francisco, Calif.

The coloring book includes 39 drawings with inspirational quotes and messages of affirmation with each design. It is a companion book to Holt's book. Huggett created the coloring book to bring hope and encouragement to everyone. Since all of humanity is ultimately connected, this coloring book is a tool for individuals from any walk through life to journey inward and access the love that knows no bounds.

Holt (WSC '89) is a licensed, board-certified psychiatrist and a motivational speaker, author, and facilitator. He is passionate about issues relevant to lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) communities and is a leader in the LGBT happiness and mental health world. Holt travels the country providing education and mentoring to help people live authentic lives.

Huggett (WSC grad '86) is a board-certified psychiatrist, and graduate psychoanalyst. Huggett works in a full time private practice of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis.

Use life's lessons to better yourself

As I've aged, I've matured. Not as much as I probably should or could, but I'm light-years from where I was at 17. Heck, I've learned some great lessons from life in just my year as a 25 year old.

And even as I've matured, I've come to realize that I've only got more work to do.

More lessons to learn, more heartbreaks to bear, more smiles to fill my face, more stiff upper lips to be set, more unpleasant meetings to sit in, more 'duh' moments to hope no one saw, more bouts of hysterical laughter to make my ribs ache. More.

I get these 'more' moments in the oddest places, at the most absurd times. And while they almost always take me by surprise when they hit, I've never once been the type to ignore them.

I've never gone about my life, intentionally ignoring what I've been taught. Now, that's not to say things haven't slipped my mind or fallen to the back burner as something more pressing takes my attention. I simply mean I take to heart my lessons.

Yes, there are lessons I've had to get a refresher course in. And there are lessons that I completely fail and am forced to relive. Sometimes the timing wasn't right -- there are some lessons I just wasn't going to fully comprehend until I was out on my own, a mother myself or in my fifth year as a Mrs.

Capitol View Tax bill decided before the debate began

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

The Wayne

It appears that the Nebraska Legislature has begun the dangerous slide down the slippery slope of becoming like Kansas, thanks to the efforts of Governor Deep Pockets and his Gang of 29 cheered on by the Americans for Prosperity. Governor Pete Ricketts has been touting it (LB461) as the 2017 Nebraska Taxpayer Reform Act. "Tax reform is a key component to Grow Nebraska," Ricketts said even before debate began on the floor of the Legislature. Some ag producers and the state Chamber of Commerce and a handful of business groups have also spoken in support of the bill and its promise to deliver tax relief to Nebraskans.

While Ricketts was handing accolades to Revenue Committee Chairman Jim Smith of Papillion and Ag Chair Lydia Brasch of Bancroft and freshman lawmaker Steve Erdman of Bayard - all three members of the Gang of 29 - another group was waving the caution flags trying to stop the runaway train. You remember the Gang of 29, those lawmakers who got together last December before the session started and decided who was going to chair the comwise going to "run the table."

Opponents have said it is irresponsible to be talking about a bill that will cut taxes for the wealthiest and raise taxes on some middle-income families at a cuts to services on which Nebrasissue. That tactic was used in the most recent election and has been eroding the non-partisan basis of the one house Legislature.

It's a complicated bill that would change the way agricultural land is valued to an incomebased approach and change income tax rates and personal exemption amounts and use economic growth projection rates to trigger income tax cuts.

Lincoln Senator Kate Bolz, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said since actual revenues often fall short of projections, a tax cut in a down year could put the state in a budget bind. She said the bill just isn't responsible fiscal management.

Her Lincoln colleague. Senator Patty Pansing Brooks, said the plan as presented would grant sizable tax breaks to wealthy Nebraskans while leaving only a "crumb" for low-income people. Rural senators have remained split on the issue. Some have spoken highly of the plans to revamp ag land values while others say the proposal does too much for income tax cuts and not enough for property taxes.

Rebuild Nebraska member Anne Hindery, CEO of the Nonprofit Association of the Midlands, said the tax system should protect middle-class and low-income families while making sure we have a stable revenue source for our state. She said the proposed tax plan would place a greater burden on families who are already struggling, potentially creating a greater demand for direct services from nonprofits.

Nebraska State Education Association spokeswoman Karen Kilgarin said the state is already 49th in the Nation in the proportion of state aid for K-12 Education. The proposed massive tax cut would make it nearly impossible for the State to provide adequate and necessary funding for K-12 as well as higher education, she said, adding that school districts would likely see drastic cuts in state aid.

Ricketts said tax reform is a key component to Grow Nebraska Taxpayer Reform Act will do that.

Count me among the skeptical. On its face, tax reform is something that is decades overdue. But tax reform in a time of revenue shortfall is biting the hand that feeds you. Remember, the state gets its money from taxes. Cut the taxes and you get less money Simple, right?

It was the support of the Americans for Prosperity that pushed me over the edge. That's the socalled "Tea Party." These are the folks who pushed for change in neighboring Kansas and in Oklahoma where public schools can only afford to be open four days a week. To them I say, butt out.

It's our problem and something that a truly non-partisan Legislature could fix, given the freedom to act without undue political pressure from the executive branch and a group of nationally known political bullies.

But for as many of those, I've had can decide for you. a dozen more of clear, concise lessons that made so much sense to and grow from them.

Legislative Update State's $8.9 billion budget package focus of legislature

Legislative Update By Joni Albrecht State Senator, District 17

Last week we passed the 73rd day of the legislative session. We are currently working on the state's $8.9 billion budget package. Nebraska's state budget is structured on a two-year basis, with emergency budget sessions called as necessary.

Gering Senator John Stinner and the Appropriations Committee has spent months preparing the budget proposal, even going so far as to prepare a "minibudget" earlier in the session to address the shortfall we were facing at the time.

This is a long process. The goal is prepare a balanced budget that encourages growth without being a burden on Nebraska taxpavers.

Among other provisions, the budget includes increases to educational funding through the Tax

Equity and Educational Opportunities Support Act (TEEOSA) of $62.4 million, $35.6 million for Medicaid, and $15.4 million for the Department of Corrections.

The proposed budget would cut $24.7 million to other state agencies and $13 million to the university system, among other cuts.

There is still a lot of work left to do and over the next week I expect this issue to take us well into the evenings. The budget should be passed by May 10 and sent to the Governor for his signature.

On another topic, I'm proud to announce my priority bill, LB 506 - the Compassion and Care for Medically Challenging Pregnancies Act - was signed into law by Governor Ricketts last week.

methods have improved significantly over the last few years. more fetal anomalies are being detected. In these very rare, but tragic circumstances, parents are given minimal options.

No parent prepares to hear the news that the child they are carrying is going to die before or shortly after birth. Until today, families in this heartbreaking situation had to leave their doctor's office in shock with no help, no hope, and feeling they have nowhere to turn.

Perinatal hospice is an innovative and compassionate model of support for families who find out a pregnancy has a life-limiting condition. This support helps parents embrace whatever life their baby might be able to have and also enables families to creasingly routine and diagnostic make meaningful plans to honor their child.

> This care begins at diagnosis and continues through the baby's birth and death.

> Unfortunately, many parents faced with this horrible situation find themselves adrift without a life raft and having to find out for themselves what resources there are.

> The purpose of this bill is to raise awareness of perinatal hospice care and provide readily available information to help women and families through one of life's most difficult stages.

That is why I introduced LB 506 and that is why I'm proud to have worked with so many who helped make today possible.

Over the last few months I have had wonderful, eye-opening and emotional conversations with you!

Following the removal of the accident victims, Trooper Gena Jones with the Nebraska State Patrol demonstrated what happens in a roll-over accident when passengers are not buckled. Winside Fire Chief Don Skokan and Wayne County Sheriff Jason Dwinell spoke to the students on the importance of buckling up when in a vehicle and not driving distracted, especially the use of cell phones.

Leather & Lace to dance in Wayne

AREA — The Leather and Lace Square Dance Club held their April dance on April 28 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. Chuck Veldhuizen served as the caller for the dance.

There were six members in attendance and they welcomed 12 guests that evening. Celebrating their anniversary were Bob and Peggy Krueger on April 27.

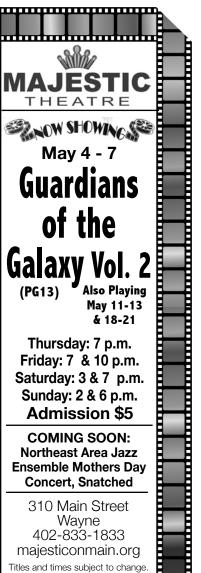

The next dance will be held on Friday, 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church with Elaine Peacock as the scheduled caller. Past members of the club are also invited to join the club that evening as the Leather & Lace Square Dancers celebrate many good memories during this, the final dance for the club.

Build a Better World with 4-H STEM connections

The 4-H STEM Reading Connections program is in its fourth year and it aims to connect 4-H curriculum to the Collaborative Summer Library Program theme.

The primary goals of the program are to provide 4-H youth development opportunities for youth, educational resources to volunteers and libraries, and to spark an interest in 4-H programs. The program reaches out to youth where they live and interact to engage them in life skill development through the framework of 4-H and positive youth development.

What we are really doing is connecting libraries across the state of Nebraska with their local Extension offices for youth programming. Last year libraries in over 50 counties partnered with their Extension office. 100 percent of libraries plan to partner again in 2017.

So what's new this year? This year's summer reading theme is Build a Better World and lessons have been developed that tie directly to Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math better known as STEM.

There are a series of 4 lessons

Cedar County

UNL Extension

created to reach youth that are in early childhood, elementary, or middle school. The fun thing about our lessons this year is they are tied directly to the 4-H Pledge.

"I pledge my Head to clearer

And my Health to better living, For my club, my community, my country, and my world." All of these lessons can be used in their entirety or they can be customized to meet the needs of the youth that volunteers and libraries work with. They can be taught by volunteers, library staff, Extension staff or a combination of all three. Each volunteer/library has the liberty to make this program meet their individual needs.

Here are a few things volunteers and libraries can look for in this year's lessons:

•In using their HEADS youth will think like engineers to design and create objects to make our lives easier and solve real world problems. Early childhood aged youth will create houses to try to survive the "gusts" of the Big Bad Wolf and middle school youth will examine concussion research and design a protective cover for heads to avoid brain damage.

•The second set of lessons focus on HEART and people are the HEART of our communities. Youth of all ages will learn about community service and service learning opportunities.

• Following with the 4-H Pledge, youth will use their HANDS to put plans into action by creating designs that can be tested and improved upon. Elementary students will explore and make their own Rube Goldberg machines and middle school youth will have the opportunity to perform a version of a laparoscopic surgery using surgical instruments to complete a task inside a shoebox.

- Alter Barris

•The final lessons focus on HEALTH and the health of our world. Youth will learn how they can help conserve the plants and animals that live all around us.

You might be asking yourself, how do YOU or your LIBRARY get involved? Your very first step is to contact your local Extension office. They will be able to provide you with a link to all of the resources for this year's STEM Summer Reading Connections program.

I also encourage you to have a conversation with your Extension office to see if there is a way that you can partner together for youth programming this summer and throughout the year as well. It is never too early to start planning.

This year's 4-H STEM Summer Reading Connections program is sure to be a HIT with all youth as they will have multiple opportunities to participate in educational, hands-on STEM lessons. Contact your local Extension Office today.

Staying safe with Our Rock

Proverbs 30:26 "The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the rocks"

I still remember the first time that I read my Bible and came across this verse in the book of Proverbs. I stopped and wondered what on earth a Coney was? All I could think of was Coney Island and the hot dog that is named after it. I've never eaten a Coney dog; however, I hear from those who have that they are delicious. However, after looking it up I discovered that a Coney is nothing more than a rabbit.

So why would the writer of Proverbs make mention of a simple rabbit? Well, in mid east, where the Bible was written, these little guys would make their homes in rocks and sides of mountains - only venturing away from their homes for food after which they would scurry back. When the rabbit would stay within its home of rocks, it was pretty safe from predators. And so the little furry rabbit didn't stray far from where it was safe - it realized that it didn't have the strength within itself. It's strength was in the rocks - cling to the rock and remain safe. Venture far from the rock and risk death.

The writer of Proverbs used this analogy to say that we too have our limitations. We too have a safe place to cling to and if we stray far away from that safe place we risk death. Our Rock is Jesus Christ and if we stay in the shelter of our Rock we rest in the security and love that He provides. The winds and storms that we face in this world can shake us up but neither can sway our Rock.

May you build your faith home in the safest place that there is one of our local churches.

Minerva Club learns about women in church history

Marilyn Wallin hosted Minerva Club at the Wayne Senior Center on April 24. Twelve members answered roll call by naming their favorite flower.

President MaryAnn DeNaever read "And It Is Winter (The Season of My Life)". Members were reminded that today is the oldest they have ever been and today is the youngest they will ever be. Chuckles were heard when Pres. DeNaeyer read "How to Decide Who To Marry" written by third graders.

Minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was presented. It was agreed to pay the bill to the Public Library for the purchase of the book, "Nebraska 150 Years Told Through 93 Counties" in memory of Minerva member Arlene Ostendorf.

Historian Hollis Frese read about highlights and activities of Minerva members during the 1992-93 club year.

The date for the club's dining out meeting was changed from Monday, May 15 to Wednesday, May 17. The site will still be the Friendly Corners restaurant in Laurel. Connie Webber, MaryAnn DeNaeyer and Hollis Frese offered to drive the group. Members will meet a Our Savior Church parking lot at 11 a.m.

Nicki Tiedtke offered to replace Marian Clark on The Courtesy Committee serving with Connie Webber. Several members agreed to meet at the Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, May 8 to setup for the anniversary tea.

Marilyn Wallin presented the program about "Celebrating Women In the Church". Women in church history have played a variety of roles in the life of Christianity. The Bible's New Testament refers to a number of women in Jesus' inner circle. Women have served as teachers, missionaries, deaconess, to name a few, and have been financial contributors from early upon.

In the early history of the church men dominated the decision making and were officiants of the Word. This position has evolved over the decades into the Church structure we have today with women's suffrage laying the strong foundation for change.

Marilyn's program concluded our year long program theme of "Minerva Through the Ages Then and Now" in celebration of the Club's 120th anniversary year.

Arbor Day

The 2017 Arbor Day Assembly was held in the Allen gymnasium on April 28.

Tree Board Chairman Marcia Rastede welcomed first through sixth grade students, staff and the public who attended this annual event which is one of the requirements to qualify for Tree City USA. She began the program by again announcing that Allen had been named a Tree City USA recipient for the 24th year.

The theme of this year's program was emphasizing Nebraska's 150th anniversary and Arbor Day's 145th anniversary. Using a web site map of the United States, everyone found out that various states had different Arbor Days and discussed why climate would lead to different days being set aside as Arbor Day in different states.

After giving a brief review of J. Sterling Morton and his horticultural work as a pioneering Nebraskan, not as a farmer, but as a newspaper editor and advocate of planting trees and shrubs, she introduced the play presented by the fourth grade.

The play entitled "Trees, a Joy Forever" by Virginia Ott and Sue Kneale told how Arbor Day was originally established in Nebraska through a resolution by Morton stating that "...the 10th day of April, 1872, shall be set apart and consecrated for tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and the State Board of Agriculture hereby shall name it Arbor Day...'

Fourth grade narrators introduced each scene and their classmates took on the parts of J. Sterling Morton, his wife Caroline, their four sons-Joy, Paul, Mark, and Carland the members of the Nebraska Horticultural Society. The prologue showed two present-day children looking at the statue of J. Sterling Morton in front of Arbor Lodge in Nebraska City, NE as it came to life. The children wondered how he could be called the "Author of Arbor Dav."

Scene 1 showed a young Morton courting his future wife Caroline and discussing plans to plant trees after their marriage. By scene 2 the couple had four children and were well established in Nebraska. Their son Carl was shown planting his own small grove of trees. In scene 3 Morton was in front of the threemember Nebraska Horticultural Society convincing them to establish a day especially for planting trees on the plains of Nebraska.

The play ended with Morton again returning to his pedestal as a statue, knowing that he had established a holiday, not in honor of something which happened in the past, but a holiday which promotes betterment for the future. For many years Arbor Day was April 22,

Morton's birthday, but it is now es-

Don't take the little things for granted

What a strange start for the month of May! Snow in western Nebraska, and schools closed. We've had three inches of very welcome rain here, nice and slow, too, with minimal runoff. But it's been cold and windy. I got a hunger for chili last night, and places like Runza no longer have it on their menu because it's Spring! Sure.

So, today, I made a big pot of it and it tasted so good. I probably won't make another one until fall. Some of this is going to a friend from church who had a kidney removed with a cancerous tumor last month. I'm sure she isn't feeling much like cooking these days.

This weekend, I overdosed on old Guideposts magazines. I used to call these, and the Reader's Digest, my "reading room" magazines, and kept them in the bathroom. Sometimes, when the kids were all small, it was the only room I could find some quiet time to read. And after we put the second bathroom in the basement, it was even better. They didn't pound on the door and say they needed to come in.

The Farmer's Wife By: Pat Meierhenry

Now, we live in a house with three bathrooms and only two people! My friend Connie reminded me the other day that we are the last generation who remember living in a house with NONE! That does seem like a long time ago, but I remember it well.

There was a huge cook stove in the kitchen that burned cobs, an oil burner in the dining room, and kerosene lamps for light. I'm not sure my kids even believe me when I tell them about that. I hated getting cobs for the stove because there were mice in the cob house.

Enough of that! Sure makes me appreciate the comforts of home now. And the Guidepost articles make me appreciate good health, and good friends, and a good family.

I get a daily devotion via the Internet and the writer told us on Saturday about a man in a hospital in the UK who was told he had a very short time left on this earth and that they would try to grant him any last wish.

He decided he wanted a cigarette and a glass of wine on the hospital balcony at sunset, and they arranged that. I guess I could go for the wine, but the cigarette??

I always remember Orville Kelly, the founder of the organization for folks with bad diseases called Make Today Count. When he gave talks

I also remember no electricity. to groups, he asked how they would want to spend their last twenty four hours. Almost invariably, the answers fell into three categories: faith, family, nature.

> I've used the same question at times and received the same responses

We would want to take communion or go to confession or listen to a CD of spiritual songs, we would want our family around and make sure there were no last words that should be spoken, and we might want to watch one more sunset or another sunrise, or take one last drive around the farm.

Then Orville would ask if there were any of these things we couldn't be doing right now. That makes you think about priorities pretty quick. I, for one, was glad to see the sun today

And we both are enjoying the cardinal who keeps showing up at the feeder, now that the squirrels cannot get to it. Small pleasures, taken for granted. I try not to do that. You should try not to, also.

Cold weather effects on corn seed

Well, with the cool wet weather last week some people are wondering what might happen to the corn that was planted before the last winter blow hit.

Imbibitional (fast) water uptake occurs within the first 48 hours after a seed is planted. Once planted, corn seeds need a two-day (48-hour) window and soybeans need at least a 24-hour window when the soil temperature at planting depth does not drop much below 50°F.

When the soil temperature drops much lower than 50°F within that time frame, there is potential for chilling injury to affect seed germination and seedling growth. Soil temperature decreases after this time are less likely to affect seed germination. I think for the most part our corn was in the ground for a few days before this real cold snap hit.

We will probably be okay from here on out once it dries enough to plant, However, check the weather forecast and soil temperatures for your area. It's also important with your seed dealer regarding the to check the soil temperature of each field the morning you intend to plant. (This can be done with a meat thermometer.)

Second, check on your seed tag or cold tolerance of your corn hybrids/ soybean varieties.

Hybrids and varieties vary in cold tolerance and company rating scales differ. However, be aware that imbibitional chilling is a physical phenomenon that can override genetics

When corn seeds imbibe (take up) water, cell membranes stretch and cells expand. When a damaged cell membrane rehydrates, it may not return to its normal shape and size. This can create a "leaky" cell. Water is at its densest at about 39°F so when cold water is imbibed, it may result in additional membrane damage.

These ruptured membranes may occur in the cell walls and in the mitochondria. In the plant this action may disrupt the embryo/endosperm enzymatic conversion to energy, but mostly results in leakage of cell solutes and sugars. This, in turn, is likely to reduce growth rate and interfere with growth of the emerging seedling.

Debate exists about what specific tures warm.

Nature Technology Corportation honored temperature and timing causes imbibitional chilling. However, corn plants that imbibe cold water (in the low 40s) in the first 48 hours after planting undoubtedly are affected.

Planting when soil temperatures are above 50°F alleviates concerns of imbibitional chilling affecting corn emergence.

Some scientists suggest that corn will not be injured at soil temperatures as low as 41°F; however, there is certainly some risk of injury from imbibitional chilling at those low temperatures.

For best results, begin planting corn when soil temperatures are in the high 40s and the short-term forecast calls for warm days that will continue pushing soil temperatures higher.

If soil temperatures are in the high 40s and the weather forecast calls for cold wet conditions within the next 48 hours, soil temperatures will likely drop and planting should be delayed until tempera-with our hybrid lenders.

The 2017 Governor's Bioscience Award was presented to Nature Technology Corporation (NTC), a Lincoln-based biotech firm that provides cutting-edge technology for gene therapy, DNA vaccines and other modern miracles of medicine

The award recognizes individuals and companies that have made significant contributions to the Nebraska bioscience industry. Lieutenant Governor Mike Foley presented the award to Clague Hodgson, CEO of Nature Technology, Thursday at the SAC Museum in Ashland.

"Companies like Nature Technology have a great vision to apply intricate biological and genetic processes in service to some of the best companies in the world. They have done this through determination, creative energy and brilliance in their field," said Lt. Governor Foley.

"We are so pleased that they are here with us in Nebraska and we honor their hard work to create success in the very challenging process of starting up and growing a biotech company," Lt. Governor Foley added. "It is good from time to time, as we do today, to pause in our work and honor those who have spent the time, energy and intellect to overcome risk with an upbeat curiosity and determined, entrepreneurial spirit."

"We are so pleased to receive this honor," said Hodgson. "Our story goes to show that even a small company can achieve big things. Our technologies are very complex, as are the health challenges we focus on with our research customers. We make biologic drugs that can be used in treating genetic disorders, cancers, disease and immunological targets in human and animal health." NTC employs eight at the Technology Development Center (TDC) in Lincoln.

NTC harnesses natural cell and molecular processes to manufacture products that are used by larger pharmaceutical firms in research, development and clinical trials of vaccines, therapies and technology platforms. A recent success was the sale of an allergy treatment program, based on NTC technology, by Immunomic Therapeutics. Inc., to Astellas Pharma in Japan for over $300 million.

"The field of genetic medicines has taken 30 years to get to where we are today," Hodgson added. "And we still have a way to go before the first approved products appear on the shelf. What excites us is developing platform technologies that can be used for treating a diversity of diseases."

"Bio Nebraska's annual celebration was once again a huge success," said Phil Kozera, Bio Nebraska executive director. "It's important to recognize the significant growth of this industry, and how we work so well across industry, academia and government. We honor the companies, researchers and policymakers who foster an industry responsible for hundreds and hundreds of new jobs in high-tech, high-wage biomedical and agricultural biotech fields."
