Memorandum of understanding focus of City Council meeting

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

Approval of a memorandum of understanding between the city of Wayne and the Wayne Country Club highlighted Tuesday's Wayne City Council meeting.

Rusty Parker, representing the Board of Directors of the Wayne Country Club, spoke to the council and shared information on the history of the relationship between the Country Club and the city of Wayne. He told those in attendance at the meeting that in 1941 a donation of 60 acres was made to the city with the intention of using the land for a park, swimming pool and golf course. While all these projects were not completed, a golf course was constructed and golf has been available in Wayne since 1948.

Parker also explained the process the Country Club Board of Directors has gone through in the last year in an effort to raise funds for a renovation/addition to the Club House. This includes soliciting $340,000 in donations and pledges for the project and obtaining $150,000 in LB840 funds.

To move the project forward, the clubhouse is being donated to the city of Wayne and the Country Club will then lease the clubhouse. Funds donated to the project will go through the city and therefore be eligible for tax benefits.

Parker said remodeling and improving the current clubhouse, which was built in 1968, would allow for more use of both the clubhouse and the golf course.

It was emphasized that no city tax dollars will be used for the renovation and the project would be completed with the funds available.

In other action, a resolution was approved for the redevelopment plan for the Grainland Estates Project. This project will include the construction of 10 duplexes in an area along Grainland Road in the southwest portion of Wayne.

Ordinances were also approved on first reading in regard to parking on the north side of Clark Street.

Council members set a date of Tuesday, Aug. 29 for a joint meeting with the city of Wakefield board members, Northeast Power District Board members and Wayne City Council members in regard to the future of electricity purchases. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. and is scheduled to take place at the Wayne Fire Hall.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain presented a number of names to serve on a "Lagoon Use" committee and a "Old Pool Use" committee.

Named to the "Lagoon Use" committee were Jean Dorsey, Mike Carnes, Mike Burris, Jill Brodersen and BJ Woehler.

Named to the "Old Pool Use" committee were Melissa Derechailo, Kessi Hanson, Kathy Mohlfeld, Katie Wynia, Brad Wieland, Diane Wurdinger, Carissa Sokol, Adam Hoffman, Brad Jones, Deb Finn, Jill Brodersen, Tony Cantrell, BJ Woehler, Brian Frevert and Jason Karsky.

Anyone else interested in serving on these committees is asked to contact Mayor Chamberlain.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Aug. 1 at 5:30 p.m. in Council Chambers.

Wayne County Fair only a week away

The 95th annual Wayne County Fair is right around the corner and Wayne County Ag Society members and other volunteers can be found at the fairgrounds making sure the event goes smoothly.

This year's fair gets underway on Wednesday, July 26 and continues through Sunday, July 30.

Fairgoers will notice a new building on the northeast corner of the fairgrounds this year.

The building that formerly housed the sheep and goats was torn down and a new steel building put in its place. A portion of the building materials for the new building were once a part of a building at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds in Lincoln.

In addition to the new sheep/goat building, fairboard members and others have put in countless hours cleaning buildings and the grounds and making sure all is ready for the five day event.

This year's fair will include a number of familiar events and several new attractions. A new new carnival, River City Carnival Midway, will be on the fairground Thursday through Sunday.

The majority of items will be entered on Wednesday, July 26 and entry into the fairgrounds that day will be free.

The evening will conclude with a retirement of unserviceable flags ceremony at 7:45 p.m. and gospel music by Outback Band at 8 p.m. in the grandstand.

Thursday's schedule includes the traditional 4-H Horse Show, Bucket Calf Show, Dairy Show, Goat Show and Sheep Show.

Thursday's grandstand entertainment will be Ultimate Bullriding Tour and LJ Jenkins Invitational Bullriding Tour beginning at 7:30 p.m. Mutton busting will take place during intermission.

Judging of 4-H swine, feeder calves, breeding and market beef will take place on Friday, July 28, as will the annual 4-H Fashion Show.

One of the more popular attractions will be back again this year as Wildlife Encounters will be on the fairgrounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday for two presentations on Friday and Saturday and one on Sunday.

Also on tap will be the 55th annual barbecue, beginning at 6 p.m. Announcement of the Fair Person of the Year, Kilroy Award, Farm Bureau Awards and Oldest Active Farmer will take place beginning at 6:45 p.m.

The Lucas Oil PPL/Nebraska Bush Pullers Tractor Pull will begin at 7 p.m. in the Grandstand.

Entertainment will also take place in the Beer Garden and a Teen Dance will be held in the Little Theatre.

Saturday, July 29 will include the 4-H Rabbit Show, 4-H Poultry Show, the open class beef show, open class horse show and the Stan Nelsen Memorial Partner Pitch Tournament in the morning. A horse shoe pitching contest will be held in the Leland Herman Memorial Arena in the afternoon.

Saturday's entertainment in front of the grandstand will be provided by Joe Nichols at 8:30 p.m. Prior to that, the Dylan Bloom Band will be the opening act for the concert, beginning at 7 p.m.

This wind farm in Wisconsin is one of the many wind energy facilities NextEra designed and built. Construction is slated to take place in 2019 with operations scheduled to begin in December 2019.

Large wind energy generation facility to be built in Wayne County; operational by 2019

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

$30 million. What is the significance of that figure? It's the amount of property taxes the county will be able to collect from a recently announced wind farm being constructed in western Wayne County over the first 30 years of the project.

On July 13, the Omaha Public Power District (OPPD) announced that, in accord to its commitment to increasing renewable generation, it would begin providing 40 percent of the retail electric sales via renewable energy sources thanks to the new wind energy project in Wayne County.

Named the Sholes Wind Energy Center given its proximity to the village of Sholes, the NextEra Energy Resources facility consists of up to 70 GE turbines which are expected to produce 160 megawatts.

OPPD has agreed to purchase 100 percent of the power generated at the Sholes wind farm over the next 20 years.

Construction on the facility is set to begin in the spring of 2019 and, barring any unforeseen circumstances, would be operational by December of 2019.

"Construction will begin approximately 10 months prior to commercial operations," said project manager Phil Clement. "Since we are planning to be operating in December 2019, we expect construction to begin in March 2019."

While Wayne County won't see the project's power, it will see the effect of the project in other ways. Considering the estimated number of construction jobs is 200 and there will be roughly 6-10 full time positions created to operate the facility, the ripple effect is in full force in Wayne County.

The Randolph School District will see a benefit from the towers, with a portion of those property taxes going toward their district. It is unknown at this time whether any of those turbines will fall into the Wayne School District.

"It's a great thing, to me, to have in the area," said Wes Blecke, City Administrator. "About 200 construction workers will be in the area and a number of them will stay in hotels in the area or campers and they have to eat and buy groceries. Permanent jobs come with that as well."

Blecke said with his previous position as Economic Development Director, he had seen the project in its beginning stages back in 2012-13.

After realizing it doesn't work for taxing purposes for OPPD to own and operate their own wind farm, they had been ending contracts with landowners, except in the optimal areas, Blecke said. The Sholes project is one of those areas.

After a conversation with OPPD, Blecke met with the landowners to discuss possible options for the site, which included soliciting proposals from wind energy companies. Several responded, but between Blecke and the landowners, just one was selected: NextEra.

"I don't know what has happened really, from then until now. My involvement has been virtually nothing since 2015," Blecke said. "At that time, the project wasn't as large. It's doubled from the original estimated 80 towers."

Because the company doesn't have a final layout, Clements said, an exact number of acres isn't known, but NextEra estimates the facility will span 20,000 acres.

A facility this large is a concern for many, as has been voiced in numerous Wayne County Board of Commissioners meetings. Residents have brought concerns and questions to the board, many of which have been unanswered because of the lack of official information.

Concerns haven't fallen on deaf ears with the board or NextEra.

Commissioners have adopted a road-haul agreement, which states require-

Twelve year old steps outside comfort zone to help others

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

Most twelve year olds can give you a lengthy list of things they'd rather do than walk door-to-door asking for donations, but Caleb Sherman isn't one of them.

With parents who actively support charities and mission work around Omaha, Caleb is no stranger to those in need. He was looking to do something with an impact on those less fortunate and what he found on the Open Door Mission's website gave him the direction he was looking for.

"I just wanted to do something good, so I looked at the mission's page and it said they were collecting water since it was so hot," Caleb said.

He started collecting bottled water last summer, first by going door-to-door in his own neighborhood asking for donations.

"When he started last year, he handed out flyers in our neighborhood asking people to leave it up on their porch and he'd pick it up on a certain date," said Brian Sherman, Caleb's dad. "He did that again this year and he also did it with some baseball teams and their parents."

One of those teams actually passed the message along to a team they were playing and that team also donated water.

Last year, Caleb gathered 800 bottles for donation. This year he upped the ante by setting a goal of at least 1,500 bottles.

With over 9,000 bottles collected, it's safe to say his goal was met and then some.

The Sherman family delivered the bottled water that took up "half of the garage" according to Caleb on July 1 to the Open Door Mission in Omaha.

"We've been in communication with the mission to find out if they wanted or needed it all but they were more than willing to take it all," Brian said. "The dock people didn't get that communicated to them though."

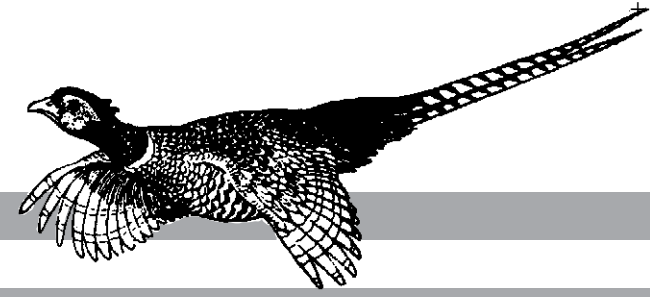

Brian went on to explain, "The guy came out with a little tote and we had to laugh. The truck and vehicles pulled up and they were surprised."

Word had spread about the bottled water drive, so much so that Omaha's KMTV did a segment on the

Geneva (Nygren) Anderson

Geneva Nygren Anderson, 93, of Colorado Springs, Colo., died March 8, 2017 in Colorado Springs, Colo., where she lived for the last 18 years.

Memorial services will be held at Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church in Concord on Tuesday, July 25, at 2 p.m. with family from Colorado Springs present. Burial will be in Lakewood Cemetery in Minneapolis, Minn.

Geneva was born June 8, 1923 on the family farm in Dixon County, the daughter of Albert and Anna (Erickson) Nygren. Her older brother, Burdette Ernest, preceded her in death in 2001. Her sister, Doris Ruth, died in childhood. She was baptized and confirmed in the Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church and attended local schools before graduating from Concord High School in 1941. After completing the teaching certificate program at Wayne State Teachers College in 1943, Geneva taught junior high classes in Osmond. She finished her baccalaureate degree in parish work in 1948 from Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn. During her career, Geneva worked as a church professional in Lutheran churches in St. Paul and Hopkins, Minn. and New York City.

Geneva returned to education from 1951 to 1956, teaching elementary through high school students in Dixon and Wayne, Neb. and Denver, Colo. She took an opportunity to move to Minnesota as Director of Christian Education at Gethsemane Lutheran Church through 1958. Geneva married Alvin G. Anderson on Aug. 2, 1958, becoming the second mother to three daughters, Shirley, Judith, and Gail. She was a loving successor to their mother, Dorothy, and never failed to support her memory. After Alvin's death in 1975, she completed her Master's Degree in Reading Education with certification in Special Needs Students. She continued to teach until her retirement in 1988.

Geneva's interest in family stories, Swedish heritage, and genealogy started in her family and community. Years later, when she traveled with her husband to his engineering professional meetings, they would often add Sweden to their itinerary where she continued her searches for family connections in dusty church records and town hall microfiche collections. Geneva made many trips across Sweden with family and friends. She shared her interest in genealogy with enthusiasm and thoroughly enjoyed the new technologies that allowed others to continue her work.

Survivors include her daughters: Shirley Mills (Donald) of Syracuse, N.Y.; Judith Speilbauer (Ronald) of Oxford, Ohio and Gail Bagenstos (Craig) of Colorado Springs, Colo.; six grandchildren and six great grandchildren and her brother's children; Burdette "Butch" Nygren (Elizabeth "Libby") and Vicki Nygren Armstrong (David) and their families in Mississippi.

Memorials may be directed to Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church in Concord.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

City Council meetings
Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesday of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

$300 Per Hour
Wayne has a city code requiring lawns to be mowed. If the grass and weeds reach 12 inches, we follow the state statutory procedure and send a notice to the property owner giving them a deadline to mow the property. If the deadline passes with the property unmowed, we hire a contractor to mow the property and we bill the owner $300 per hour for mowing and hauling the grass away to avoid leaving large grass windrows. $300 is the penalty rate we charge for mowing properties. If the owner fails to pay, we file a lien in the amount of the bill against the property that collects interest.

Wayne has over 900 rental households as measured in the 2010 US Census. Many of them have absentee landlords. The $300 /hour fee was adopted when some absentee landlords starting letting the city mow their properties for the old fee of $90 per hour.

Lagoon Sludge Update
With this summer's drought, the old lagoon has finally dried up and we have pushed the dried sludge into windrows to keep it dry when the rains start again. We haven't put any sludge into this lagoon for three years so this is "stable" dried sludge which means it is fully processed and all that's left is dirt, clay, minerals and clean organic matter.

The good news is no more stench in the spring when the lagoon water turns over. The bad news is we have an estimated 9,000 cubic yards of essentially dry dirt left to haul out to be spread on ag land for farmers that want it.

Helping their neighbors

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department provided mutual aid to the Wakefield Volunteer Fire Department last week. On July 13, a fan motor on the leg of grain elevator caught fire. Ten Wayne firefighters, along with the ladder truck and a tanker, were on scene for several hours that afternoon. In addition to Wakefield and Wayne, the Allen Volunteer Fire Department also assisted. The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department also responded to a fire on Monday afternoon when a piece of farm equipment and a portion of a field were on fire. Wayne Volunteer Fire Chief Phil Monahan urges everyone to use extreme caution due to the dry conditions being experienced in the area.

Involved in the Haven House presentation were (front) Denise Tello (Bilingual Advocate) and Lisbeth Ramirez (Enhanced Advocate). (back) Sara Arguello (shelter manager), Lee Wrede (police dispatcher), Rick Haase (police officer) Brian Swanson (police officer), Josh Sievers (Outreach Coordinator), Marlen Chinn (Police Chief), Amy Munderloh (Haven House Director), Connie Reyes (Shelter Manager), Debbie Goettsch (Sexual Assault Coordinator).

Haven House hosts appreciation breakfast for Wayne police department Haven House hosted an appreciation breakfast for the Wayne Police Department at their Wayne office location this week.

Director of Haven House, Amy Munderloh, presented the Chief of Police, Marlen Chinn, with a certificate of appreciation.

The Wayne Police Department has acted as Haven House's after hours answering service for over 20 years. Whenever an individual calls Haven House's 24 Hour Crisis line (1-800-440-4633) after hours they are connected to a dispatcher who connects them with an on-call advocate from Haven House. This relationship between Haven House and the Wayne Police Department has allowed thousands of domestic violence and sexual assault survivors to get the help they need quickly and effectively.

During the presentation, Munderloh told the police department members present, "Haven House thanks you for all you do."

State Nebraska Bank holds appreciation event

A total of 600 steaks and 300 hot dogs, along with all the trimmings were devoured in just over two hours during State Nebraska Bank & Trust's anniversary celebration on Thursday.

The bank has been owned by five generations of the Ley family during the last 125 years and the bank has conducted a number of activities in the year-long celebration of "Celebrating our history, our people and our community."

David and Kaki Ley, Matt Ley and Sandy Brown and Mason and Josie Ley welcomed those at Thursday's event and handed out souvenirs to bank customers and friends.

Fundraising Gift-A-Thon to take place again

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

Gone are the days of candle-butter braid-candy bar-popcorn-cookie dough-coffee mug sales at Wayne Community Schools.

With the success of last year's Gift-A-Thon, this year is going to once again be void of the numerous fundraisers in favor of outright donating.

After feedback had come in over several years from donors wishing the full amount of their donation was going toward the school, the foundation decided to change the way the students garnered funds from community members, friends and family.

"Our students are out there soliciting their friends and relatives to purchase items but we don't receive the whole donation, so why not work just as hard and receive the whole thing?" Foundation President Lindsey McLaughlin said of the reasoning behind the event.

Now, the amount of money raised isn't simply a small percentage of the whole amount but 100 percent of it.

"It replaces all the fundraising efforts that used to happen throughout the year with our activities and clubs," said Superintendent Mark Lenihan. "This is a one-time event in the year for people to support our activity clubs."

Last year's Gift-A-Thon brought in approximately $25,000 and all of those funds went to support clubs and activities such as Power Drive, Speech,

One Acts and the National Honor Society as well as the Elementary Library and new this year will be the FFA Chapter.

"We weren't sure how it was going to go," McLaughlin said. "But we had an incredible amount of support."

This year's event will take place Aug. 20-27 with the "Blitz Night" set for Wednesday, Aug. 23.

"The high school kids, along with the teacher sponsors, go door-to-door for donations to support the organizations," Lenihan said. "Students will also get a pledge sheet for those out of town relatives and friends who may want to donate."

Lenihan went on to say that the "Blitz Night" had gone over very well last year and that the "community responded with very generous donations."

With a goal of $40,000 this year, the Wayne Community Schools Foundation is counting on that generosity to support each of these activity clubs and entities for the coming school year.

All donation checks can be made out to the Wayne Community Schools Foundation and donors have several options to ensure that money makes it to the schools, including an online donation form on the school's website. Other options include mailing or giving those funds to a student to be turned in.

"We appreciate the support of the community and we hope that the community appreciates it's a one-time donation time," Lenihan said. "This is for school activity programs, not music or athletic boosters."

incredible efforts and it went out on Facebook. Members of the Berkshire Hathaway real estate company offered a box truck to load the water into after seeing the social media posts.

"We did 7,500 in the truck and the rest between several vehicles," Brian said. "Six Berkshire Hathaway people helped load and unload the truck."

When the truck pulled up, even the forklift driver paused to snap a photo on his personal cellphone to share, something the Shermans thought was neat to see given the work that would be needed to distribute it all.

Now that the water drive is done for this summer at least, Caleb, whose grandparents, Don and Judy Sherman, reside in Wayne, is looking at how to help even more of Omaha's population.

Students who receive subsidized lunches during the school year struggle to get adequate food during the summer months. Caleb heard about the effort to collect cereal and boxed meals to donate to the Open Door Mission for distribution.

"Caleb is a quiet kid, but he had a big passion for this and to go out and go door-to-door, that was different for him," said Brian. "But it was good."

ments of road usage, utility placement and even decommissioning at the end of the tower's life.

Clement addressed concerns such as the noise factor and even the shadow effect in people's homes.

"With the evolution of modern wind turbine technology, most of the time the mechanical noise from the turbine is virtually indistinguishable from the natural environment. Furthermore, we have experts take detailed sound measurements of project sites, using American National Standards Institute, Inc. (ANSI) methodology, and to conduct modeling of the sound emitted from wind turbines using the ISO (International Organization for Standardization) standard for sound propagation."

Clement went on to explain that the flicker is an aesthetic issue, not a safety one, and that the company conducts flicker studies and designs their facility sites to minimize those effects on area homes.

"We operate more than 120 successful wind projects across the states. We wouldn't be able to continue to build projects if we didn't do it responsibly and in partnership with communities," Clement said.

Clement described NextEra's design process with area residents in mind.

"We work to site turbines responsibly, imposing a minimum 1,400-foot setback from homes so that the sound levels meet or exceed all industry best practices and equipment guidelines," said Clement.

Blecke said he feels that the facility is a boon to Wayne County, not only economically, but progressively with being conscious to our effect on the planet.

"Wind is what they call coal-competitive, meaning coal is still the cheapest but with the environmental factors coming into play, it's wind," Blecke said.

NextEra has a goal for the project and it's one that many would agree with.

"Our goal is to supply OPPD with low-cost, homegrown energy and to provide economical benefits to Wayne County such as landowner payments, tax benefits and jobs."

With no evidence of property valuations dropping, something County Assessor Dawn Duffy discussed with the board in a recent County Commissioners meeting and as much control as the county can have without zoning, this project and others like it still in the works in Wayne County are continuing on track for operations.

NextEra is committed to the communities it builds near, Clement said, and the company intends to support those communities. One of those ways is through the Nebraska Experience campaign for fourth graders to visit the capitol, which NextEra has partnered with Nebraska's First Lady Susanne Shore for.

"We are excited to be part of this community and will continue to support it for decades," said Clement.

NextEra, a Florida-based wholesale generator of electric power, boasts an approximate 19,990 megawatt generation capacity. The company owns facilities in 29 states and in Canada and together with its affiliates, is the largest generator of renewable wind and solar energy in the world.

Wayne's Green Team gets new recycling bins for city parks

Wayne residents and visitors now have cleaner parks and the opportunity to recycle in more public spaces thanks to collaborative funding through national, state, and local partners.

This summer, city employees installed recycling containers throughout Wayne city parks, making recycling more accessible for people enjoying the outdoors.

Funding to purchase 27 recycling containers was made possible because of a national grant by Dr Pepper Snapple Group in collaboration with Keep America Beautiful; Nebraska Recycling Center's Recycling Equipment Grant through the Nebraska Environmental Trust; and the City of Wayne. The total value of the new recycling bins is more than $14,000.

"Giving the public convenient access to recycling reduces waste and makes better uses of resources," said Ken Chamberlain, Mayor of Wayne. "The City of Wayne is committed to sustainability and believes in Zero Waste as a community-wide goal. These new park recycling bins will help us send a message that recycling matters."

Led by Wayne's Green Team, the City of Wayne became one of 41 other local governments and community organizations to receive the 2017 Dr Pepper Snapple Group/Keep America Beautiful Park Recycling Bin Grant. Being awarded this national grant was years in the making, and took the help of students at Wayne State College and support from the Nebraska Recycling Council. The additional funding from NRC's Recycling Equipment Grant and the City made it possible to purchase enough recycling containers to place them at nearly all the parks in Wayne.

Over the year, the Wayne Green Team also has collected more than 30 tons of glass, aluminum, electronics, and household hazardous waste materials from the community for recycling. The installment of the new recycling bins not only diverts even more materials from the landfill, but also gives everyone the opportunity to recycle at home, work, and play.

Founded in 2009, the Wayne Green Team is a group of community volunteers, Wayne State College students and staff, and city personnel focused on minimizing waste and increasing sustainable behavior. In 2015, they were selected as Green Team of the Year by WasteCap Nebraska (now the Nebraska Recycling Council), and are one of five rural communities in Nebraska that have participated in their Zero Waste Project. Find more information about the Wayne Green Team at www.cityofwayne.org/greenteam.

Wibben named 'Reader of the Week' by public library

This week's Reader of the Week at the Wayne Public Library is Sarah Wibben.

What is the last book you read?
Stargirl by Jerry Spinelli
Who is your favorite author?
Rainbow Rowell
Why do you read?

I enjoy reading very much. I think books can teach you lessons about life. Books help you learn more about yourself and others around you. I believe reading is also a stress reliever.

Have you ever had to give up on a book?

Yes, but only because another book intrigued me more.

Name a book you would recommend and tell everyone why they should read it.

Eleanor and Park by Rainbow Rowell. It is about teen love, but it is also about much more than that. Nearly all the characters in the book, young and old, have struggles to deal with in their lives. This book is very easy to relate to.

Road, library updates and construction focus of commissioners

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

The Wayne County Courthouse landscape has changed quickly in a matter of a few days. Late last week, county employees tore down the derelict garage on the northeast corner of the courthouse lawn and have spent the beginning of this week preparing the site for a new building. Construction on the new garage is set to begin any day now.

One commissioner short, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners met briefly on Tuesday morning.

Highway Superintendent Mark Casey gave a quick update on road and bridge projects around the county, including a Fracture-Critical Bridge Inspection that will take place in September.

The inspection will cover roughly 38 bridges throughout the county and some of those are being re-load rated.

The total cost of this inspection is $83,335, however Federal monies cover 80 percent of that cost, bringing the county's portion down to $16,671. Casey informed the board that there were soft-match funds available and both commissioner Jim Rabe and Dean Burbach agreed those funds would be used to cover the cost of the inspections.

Casey gave an update on the large bridge project taking place on the country road that runs on Carroll's north edge of town. The bridge has been closed for over a month at this point and is scheduled to be done by September to allow farmers use during harvest.

Casey wasn't happy to announce that Dixon's was behind on the project. "They're pretty close," Casey said. "But we're not going to be forgiving until we have to be."

Casey will be attending a meeting on Thursday regarding watershed of Logan Creek with the Department of Natural Resources and FEMA.

Some discussion between Casey and the commissioners turned to upcoming large projects and there were a few suggestions of bridges to include on that list, but Casey wants to wait until after the September inspection to make any decisions.

"I need to look at the fracture criticals to see what we've got that falls on the main roads," Casey said. "Then we can go ahead."

During discussion, the commissioners shared concerns with the newly announced Sholes Wind Energy Center being constructed in Wayne County. County Clerk Deb Finn announced that she had sent NextEra, the company responsible for construction, a copy of the county's road agreement and comprehensive plan.

Also in attendance at the meeting were JoAnn Field and Lauren Lofgren, of the Winside and Wayne Public Libraries respectively.

Both women announced their retirements at the meeting, Field's happening nearly immediately while Lofgren's wouldn't be effective until the end of October.

Field introduced her replacement Lara Lanphear, who is from Winside. Both Field and Lofgren brought in copies of their budgets, showing the commissioners what the funds they provide went to in the past year.

A total of $13,000 is split between Wayne, Winside and Carroll's public libraries. Everything from children's books and DVDs to language services and subscriptions are covered with the funds.

In other news, Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz discussed new requirements for him as he works around fires with the Forest Service and State Fire Marshall. It is now a requirement to wear a safety pant and shirt that is fire-retardant around those sized fires. The commissioners encouraged Kemnitz to purchase the gear, stating it was necessary and would be covered by his equipment budget.

Kemnitz also discussed the disaster alert service the county offers. Banners are being made to hang at the fair and flyers had previously been made and handed out to help more people become aware of the service.

Food Pantry shelves almost empty

In June of 2016 there were 12 visits to the Wayne Food Pantry and 50 people served. In June of 2017, those numbers rose to 16 and 76, respectively.

This fact, and due to normal reduced contributions during the summer months, has led to nearly empty shelves at the Pantry, located in the basement of First Presbyterian Church in Wayne.

Jenny Hammer, coordinator of the Food Pantry, said she is unsure of the reason for the increase in use of the pantry.

"We have gotten to the point where we have had to go out and purchase items for the pantry. We usually use the monetary donations to purchase perishable items," Hammer said.

She said the pantry is low on most items and is encouraging anyone interested in making a donation to drop off items at the church, located at 216 West Third Street in Wayne, Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon or at Pac 'N' Save or Quality Foods in specially marked containers. Monetary donations may be mailed to the church also.

Specific food items that are always needed include: syrup and pancake mix, peanut butter, jelly, soup, cereal, canned fruit, tomatoes (all types), beans of all kinds, boxed potatoes and boxed rice. Diapers, toiletries and paper products are also needed.

The Backpack Program is also coordinated through First Presbyterian Church. Wayne Community

School students who were enrolled in last year's (2016-2017) Backpack Program may still receive a backpack once a week at the high school office, through Friday, Aug. 11. The school office is open Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

For more information on either program, contact the church office at (402) 375-2669.

Those in need of Food Pantry services are reminded of the guidelines:

- You must be a Wayne County resident;
- You must have a photo identification;
- You will need to provide the basic information for record-keeping (name, address, etc.)
- You may receive food up to three times per year.

Wayne Seniors split games at Yutan tourney

The Wayne American Legion Seniors split their first two games in the Yutan Tournament on Saturday, beating Auburn 5-3 before losing to Arlington 11-2.

The Auburn game was a back-and-forth affair before the locals scored two in the bottom of the sixth to break a 3-3 tie and go on to the win.

Wayne trailed early but tied the game in the second on Caden Korth's sacrifice fly that plated Tucker Nichols. Wayne trailed 2-1 in the third before taking the lead on RBI singles by Ben Klein and Korth to make it a 3-2 game.

Auburn tied the game in the fourth, but Wayne came through with two in the sixth for the win. Klein led off with a single and moved to third on a bunt single by Nichols. Nichols moved to second on a Korth groundout, and Adam Bentjen came through with a suicide squeeze that plated Klein, with Nichols hustling around from second and beating the throw home for an insurance run.

Auburn loaded the bases in the top of the seventh, but Tyler Lutt came on in relief and got the last strikeout to give Wayne the win.

Klein and Justin Dean each had two hits to lead a nine-hit effort. Nichols scored two runs and Korth and Bentjen each had two RBIs. Bentjen got the win with Lutt earning the save.

In the second game, Arlington jumped on Wayne early and scored in each of the first four innings, ending the game on the eight-run rule after five innings.

Wayne's only runs came in the second, as Zane Jackson doubled and scored on a Dean single, while Nichols had an RBI on a sacrifice fly.

Jackson and Dean had Wayne's only hits. Lutt went the distance and took the loss.

The Wayne Seniors ended the regular season on an upbeat note with a 10-7 win over Fort Calhoun on Sunday.

Wayne got on the board in the first inning on an RBI double by Payten Gamble and an RBI single by Dean to take the early 2-0 lead.

Fort Calhoun put up five in the second to take their only lead of the game, but Wayne chipped away with two in the bottom of the inning when Korth scored on an error and Bentjen came home on Brennan O'Reilly's groundout to shortstop.

Wayne tied the game in the third on Klein's RBI single that scored Jackson, then took the lead for good with four in the fourth, thanks to a Gamble RBI double, an RBI single by Klein and a Fort Calhoun error. Wayne scored its final run in the fifth when O'Reilly came home on an error.

Gamble had three hits and Klein and Nichols each had two to lead an 11-hit attack for the 15-11 Seniors. Nichols went 6 2/3 innings and struck out six, while Korth got the final out to pick up the save.

Wayne is the No. 6 seed for the Class B Area 5 tournament that begins Friday at Hank Overin Field. Wayne will take on Ponca in a 7 p.m. game to open the tournament.

Juniors make quick exit from Class B state tournament

Young team returns all but two next year

By Michael Carnes

For The Herald

NEBRASKA CITY – With a third of their roster young enough to qualify to play at the Ponies level, the Wayne American Legion Juniors made a big step toward the future this summer.

Although the Juniors went 0-2 at the American Legion Class B Juniors state tournament last week at Clemmy Holmes Field, coach Jake Lutt said the future looks bright for a team that will only see two players move up to the Seniors level next summer.

"We were a really young team this year and started five kids who could have played Ponies this year, and they did a great job and played well for us and were real games," he said. "We played a number of quality teams this year that were better than us and were able to beat them because these kids knew how to compete."

The Juniors, winners of the Area 5 tournament a week ago, opened tournament play against the defending Class B champions from Waverly, winners of the Area 4 tournament.

Wayne got to the tournament behind good pitching and a solid defense, but the defense was a little shaky in the opener, allowing the defending champs to get away with a 4-3 win in extra innings on Saturday.

The Juniors got a great pitching performance from Trevor DeBoer, who scattered four hits and five walks while striking out three in seven innings.

Lutt said. "This was the first time in a while that our defense let him down and our offense couldn't pick up the defense."

Waverly got on the board with the help of a couple of Wayne mistakes. An error set up an RBI double by Ben Carter and Kaleb Carrillo later came home on a passed ball to make it 2-0. Waverly got their third run on an RBI single by Poerter Burkland, scoring Carter.

Wayne would get a run back in the fourth when Josh Lutt scored Tyrus Eischeid, running as a courtesy runner for DeBoer, on a fielder's choice.

Wayne had chances to score in the fifth and sixth innings, but left the bases loaded in both opportunities.

"We left a ton of baserunners on, and we had first and third with no outs in the eighth and couldn't get the run in, but that's baseball," Lutt said.

Wayne did come through in the top of the seventh with two runs to tie the game. RBI singles by Reid Korth and Tyler Gilliland, scoring Eischeid and Gunnar Jorgensen, to make it a 3-3 game and send it into extra innings.

Wayne had a chance to do some damage in the eighth when Kaleb Anderson reached on a bunt single and moved to second on a throwing error. He advanced to third on a wild pitch with nobody out, but Wayne couldn't bring him home.

Jacob Kneifl came on in relief in the eighth and gave up a leadoff single. Ian Steinmeyer advanced to second on a passed ball, moved to third when a pickoff attempt went into the outfield, then came home on a passed ball to end the game.

Wayne outhit 7-5 in the losing effort, with Jorgensen and Blake Bartos each getting two hits and Eischeid scoring two runs.

In Sunday's elimination game, Alliance jumped on starter Josh Lutt early and ended Wayne's 17-13 campaign with a 9-0 loss.

Wayne's coach felt the team was prepared to bounce back from Saturday's opening-round heartbreaker, but Alliance's bats were hot early and Wayne couldn't solve Alliance's pitching.

"We came in today with some good energy, and (Alliance) had a couple of good hard hits early and the top of their order was pretty strong," Lutt said. "We had a couple of mental errors that led to the three in the third, and the two in the fourth really killed it."

Three hits to start the game helped Alliance get their first run, with J.J. Garza's RBI single getting them on the board.

Wayne had a chance to answer when Josh Lutt singled and moved around to third on two passed balls, but was unable to score.

Alliance put up three runs in the third inning and chased Lutt with two more in the fourth. They closed the game with a three-run homer in the top of the seventh to bring Wayne's season to an end.

Garza threw a four-hit shutout and struck out 11 in his win over Wayne, with two hits coming in the sixth inning. Lutt, Kneifl, Gilliland and Jacob Sherman all had singles for the Wayne offense.

Wayne loses only Gilliland and Anderson to the Seniors team next year. Seven of the nine starters return to next year's lineup, with several members of the Tri-County League champion Wayne Ponies slated to move up for the 2018 campaign.

Wayne State men's hoops receives academic honor

The Wayne State College men's basketball team has received the National Association of Basketball Coaches Team Excellence Award. The award recognizes outstanding academic achievement by a team with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better for the 2016-17 season. The Wildcats recorded a team cumulative grade point average of 3.4015 during the 2016-17 season, joining six other NSIC teams that received the award. The NABC Honors Court recognizes teams and individuals in NCAA, NAIA and NJCAA that achieve academic success. Wayne State ended the 2016-17 season with a 10-19 record, placing sixth in the NSIC South Division at 8-14 in league play. The Wildcats doubled last year's win total under first-year head coach Jeff Kaminsky and returns all players for next season since this year's roster had no seniors.

Five Wildcats earn NABC academic honors

Five members of the Wayne State College men's basketball team were named to the 2016-17 NABC Honors Court announced Tuesday by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Wildcat juniors Dovydas Burneika, Jordan Cornelius, Brian Goodwin, Matt Thomas and JJ Zumbrennen each received the academic honor, which goes to a junior or senior player who maintains a cumulative grade-point average of 3.2 or higher after the 2016-17 academic year. Wayne State was one of eight NSIC schools with players receiving the honor. The five Wildcats were the second-highest number of any NSIC team.

Burneika, a 6-foot-9 junior center from Klaipeda, Lithuania, had a 3.76 GPA majoring in sport management this season. He averaged 0.3 points and 0.4 rebounds per game while appearing in nine contests this season. Cornelius, a 6-foot-7 junior forward from Sisseton, S.D., maintained a 3.73 GPA majoring in sport management this season and on the court produced 8.9 points and a team-high 5.2 rebounds while starting all 29 games for the Wildcats. Goodwin, a 6-foot-4 junior guard of Brooten, Minn., produced a 3.89 GPA this season majoring in business management. He started all 29 games this season and accounted for 7.7 points and 3.6 rebounds a game. Thomas, a 6-foot junior guard from Elkhorn, majors in applied human and sport psychology and carries a 3.80 GPA. On the court, he started 27 games this season and ranked second on the team in scoring at 10.3 points per game. Trees are vital in this family

We are a family of tree huggers! Kay sometimes calls her Dad to complain when someone is taking out trees for "development", which is happening now at the former Boys Town farm on West Dodge. I'm still upset that Earl May on 70th and O St. here in Lincoln took out a line of shade trees in front of their store. I won't even mention the ones on A St. where Bryan hospital is building...again. The rumor is that William Jennings Bryan will come back to haunt them if they ever stop building or remodeling. And I've never known them to stop. The Apex Farm at Hoskins was a tree claim, with a deed signed by Grover Cleveland, requiring the planting of fruit trees. There were very few of those left by the time I moved there, but there were many more trees planted all around by the Big

By: Pat Meierhenry

Farmer and his helpers, the kids.

Of course, he expected them to help weed the areas, too, until the trees got a good start.

For that matter, the farm I grew up on had a half mile windbreak planted by the CCC during the Thirties. The first thing the next owner did was bull doze them out. It made me sick. The family story is my grandparents brought saplings back from the Blue River when they went fishing there.

On the acreage, Mike planted Blue Spruce, two hundred of them. He had many rolls of garden hose to water them, and here again, we had to keep the weeds out. He hired a couple of local kids to help with that, as ours were no longer available.

When we went looking for town houses in Lincoln, we really liked the brand new ones east of our church, and they would have been so handy. But new houses have new trees, and we didn't figure we had time to watch them grow. Hence, we fell in love with one that is thirty years old and we have to have the trees trimmed once in a while. A small price to pay for shade and birds.

Now Sue is looking at houses. She looked at half a dozen last week, and I sent her the information on an energy efficient one because I know the builder. She said she learned that she has to have trees!!! That eliminates new ones. I told her the apple doesn't fall far from the tree, pun intended.

We've been blessed with a lot of rain this spring; I wish we could send it your way. And the trees look great!

Area farmers and landlords have some opportunities to attend a Landlord - Tenant Cash Lease Workshop during the next month. On Wednesday, July 26, Nebraska Extension will be offering programs from 6 - 9 p.m. at the Bloomfield Community Center. The following evening there will be a meeting at the Northeast Community College Learning Center in Norfolk at the same time. In Wayne we will have a meeting on Thursday, Aug. 3 from 1 - 4 p.m. at the Wayne Fire Hall. cal time of year as Sept. 1 is the deadline for landlords or tenants in a verbal lease to notify the other of intentions to change or renegotiate provisions of the current lease or to terminate the lease for the following crop year.

This meeting is designed to help landlords and tenants put together a lease that is right for both parties, and help maintain positive farm leasing relations. Putting together the right lease isn't about what's being discussed at the coffee shop, or what a survey of cash lease rates says. It's about what fits both the landlord and tenant for their circumstance and situation. Attending this presentation will provide a set of ideas to work from as those specifics are discussed.

Topics for discussion include the latest information about land values and cash rental rates for the area and state; a review of typical leases used for crop share, cash rent, and variable cash rent arrangements; lease termination, including terminating handshake or verbal leases; lease communication, determining appropriate information sharing for both the tenant and landlord; alternative cash lease arrangements, flexible provision considerations for your situation; and other topics, like irrigation systems, hay rent, pasture rental agreements, and grain bin rental that will be covered as time allows.

UNL Extension Educators will present this workshop. It is very helpful if both the tenant and landlord can attend together. It is also helpful if the spouse attends. Anyone is welcome to the workshop.

This is a free workshop and is sponsored by Nebraska Extension, the Nebraska Soybean Board, and the North Central Risk Management Agency.

Refreshments and handouts are provided. Registration is requested by calling your local extension office.

Weed barrier removal field day, demonstration set for July 28 by area Natural Resources Districts and Conservation Services

Do you have a tree planting that has weed barrier fabric that needs to be cut or removed? Are you a contractor with equipment that could provide this service?

Join us for a field day discussion on the need and methods of fabric removal around trees in conservation tree plantings.

The field day will be Friday, July 28 from 1 - 3 p.m. at the Kalkowski Ranch (two miles west of Lynch, on the south side of Highway 12).

Steve Rasmussen of Wayne, District Forester with the Nebraska Forest Service (NFS), said, "Cutting or removing the weed barrier fabric needs to be done as the trees grow larger. It is becoming a requirement for trees planted with the USDA Conservation Reserve Program.

Many times, removal waits until the trees are large and become con-stricted by the original cut opening. This can stunt trees later in life, often times leading to a girdling of trees in the windbreak."

Duty MetalWorks Inc of Brookings, S.D. will also be on hand to demonstrate a skid-loader implement designed for pulling out and rolling up the fabric from established trees.

The field day is free and is being coordinated by the NFS, local Natural Resources Districts (NRDs), and area USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) offices.

For more information, contact the Lewis & Clark NRD in Hartington, the Lower Niobrara NRD in Butte, the Upper Elkhorn NRD in O'Neill, or Steve Rasmussen, NFS District Forester at (402) 375-0101 or srasmussen2@unl.edu.

Deadline near to enroll in Agriculture Risk Coverage, Price Loss Coverage

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Nebraska Farm Service Agency (FSA) Acting State Executive Director (SED) Mike Sander reminds farmers and ranchers they have until Tuesday, Aug. 1 to enroll in Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) and/or Price Loss Coverage (PLC) programs for the 2017 crop year.

These programs trigger financial protections for participating agricultural producers when market forces cause substantial drops in crop prices or revenues.

"Producers have already elected ARC or PLC, but to receive program benefits they must enroll for the 2017 crop year by signing a contract before the Aug. 1 deadline," said Sander. "Please contact your local FSA office to schedule an appointment if you have not yet enrolled."

Covered commodities under the programs include barley, canola, large and small chickpeas, corn, crambe, flaxseed, grain sorghum, lentils, mustard seed, oats, peanuts, dry peas, rapeseed, long grain rice, medium grain rice (which includes short grain and sweet rice), safflower seed, sesame, soybeans, sunflower seed and wheat.

Both are very involved with the club and have served as Presidents among many other titles. Wiser is a Charter Member of the Wayne Rotary Club and is currently our Sergeant-At-Arms. Miller co-chairs the Administration Committee and is chair of the Dictionary Project.

Help your child learn sportsmanship

Summer is in full swing. Kids are involved with sports, camps, and community celebrations in the area, and of course the county fair.

These activities all come with a certain amount of built in competition which most kids can handle. But what happens if you have that child who crumbles when coming in second or not placing at all? So what can we do for those children who have a hard time losing?

Here are some tips to help teach your child about sportsmanship.

- 1) Expect and reinforce good sportsmanship. Point out and reward good sportsmanship. Have a plan for dealing with poor sportsmanship.
- 2) Model sportsmanship. Discuss how you personally show sportsmanship. Describe how you can show respect to the opponent by shaking hands after the event. Describe the good feelings you get

Extension Educator

UNL Extension

- 3) Help your child remember to play. Discuss both the competitive and fun parts of involvement. Discuss the fun that comes from doing their best, performing well and spending time with friends—regardless of the outcome of the event.
- 4) Discuss the headlines. When you watch TV or read the newspaper, point out actions related to sportsmanship. Ask your child what they think of competitors who "showboat" or about the cost to the team for a technical foul. Look for examples of positive behavior as well.

5) Read books together with a sportsmanship theme. Particularly younger children, you can use this time to discuss examples of good sportsmanship and poor sportsmanship behaviors.

6) Reflect. Use the language of sportsmanship (respect, integrity, responsibility, fairness) when discussing practice and games. Ask them to think about why they had a bad or good game and what role sportsmanship played.

7) Emphasize teamwork in team events. Help your child to think "we" instead of "me."

8) Make sure you and your child know the rules of the event. When you know the rules of competition, you can help your child to follow the rules as well.

9) Emphasize good sportsmanship at home. Games or contests at home are great family activities. Keep sportsmanship in-line during these activities. Watch for teachable moments when your family is engaged in competition.

10) Emphasize good character in daily life. The same behaviors that demonstrate good sportsmanship extend beyond the competitive arena. Promote respect, responsibility, trustworthiness, fairness, caring, and citizenship in your daily lives.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid conducts July meeting

President Fauneil Bennett called the July meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid to order on July 12. She led the group in reciting the LWML Pledge in unison.

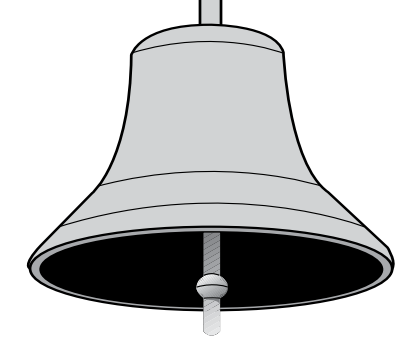

Vice President Ellen Heinemann gave a devotion based on Galatians 3:27; we are to wear the clothes of Christ during our life. Roll call was taken with 12 members present and Pastor Feldmann.

The minutes were read and approved. Rhonda Sebade thanked Bev Hansen for taking notes at last months meeting for her. Melvy Meyer thanked the aid for the gift she received in honor of their wedding anniversary. A thank you was read from Karlee Janke for the confirmation gift she received.

The treasurer's report was read. The Aid will send $150 to missionaries Stu and Deb Freese this month. The report will be filed for financial review.

Sewing: Ruth reported they tied four quilts with seven ladies present. Fifteen quilts were delivered to Orphan Grain Train. They will tie again on Thursday, July 27.

Kitchen: Betty reported that the double sink in the kitchen off the fellowship hall is being checked in to.

Visiting: Ellen reported she went to Careage to visit. She had a large group. The ladies all went to Brookdale for a coffee with members. They had a very enjoyable time visiting. Mrs. Bennett thanked Bev Hansen and Barb Greve for bringing the goodies. The new visiting committee will be Ruth Victor and Lavon Biermann.

Funeral: Rhonda reported serving 138 at the Bob Meyer funeral. They had plenty of food and great help.

Old Business: Fauneil put out the Mite Boxes on July 2 at both services. The group collected $279.84. All the money will be sent to mites for our mission grants. It will be sent on honor of the Aid's 90th anniversary. All were thanked for their generous donation.

New Business: The Zone Fall Rally will be Tuesday, Oct. 17 at Martinsburg. Pastor Carl and Darlene Lilienkamp will be the speakers on their mission trip in Alaska. The theme is based on 2 Corinthians 1:3-5. Monetary gifts will be collected and given to the Alaskan Mission.

Bible Study: Pastor Mike gave a bible study entitled "Don't go to church for the Pastor". He emphasized not to put pastors on a pedestal but to pray for them and their families. Colossians 3 says "Let the message of Christ be among you".

The birthday song was sung for KimBerly Hansen and Fauneil Bennett.

The next meeting will be a 9 a.m. brunch on Wednesday, Aug. 9 with Rhonda Sebade serving. The meeting was closed by reciting the Lord's Prayer and the table prayer. Ruth Victor served lunch.

We will never fully understand God's will

Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out! "For who has known the mind of the LORD? Or who has become His counselor?" "Or who has first given to Him; and it shall be repaid to him?" (Romans 11:33-36).

In this life understanding God's will and nature will never be fully accomplished. Theologians spend their lives studying just a few aspects of God's attributes or character, only to discover that full understanding cannot be obtained.

Yet the Bible gives us the divine exhortation to learn and grow in our faith. Here, too, we make another surprising discovery. The more we study and learn the Word of God, the greater our hunger grows for more. In this reading St. Paul marvels over it all. He is overwhelmed by the wisdom and knowledge of God, especially with respect to how that wisdom is displayed in His Son, Jesus Christ.

Unbelieving minds think that they know the mind of God, but they don't and can't. In human arrogance, we pronounce our own opinions about who God is and what He is like.

In the April 21, 2000 issue of the Wall Street Journal an article entitled: "Redefining God" appeared. The point of the article was that in post-modern America, traditional views of God are no longer acceptable to us. Therefore, people and denominations are re-defining God in terms that are more pleasing to them and their desires.

How foolish! We believe that we can just "make" God over in ways that please us. Puny creatures are deciding what God is really like. We want to set our own rules by which God operates---God never punishes---Everyone will be saved---Just try sincerely---There will be a second chance---There is no such thing as absolute truth. Sad to say, many are fooled by this way of thinking and so come to believe that our ideas of a "redefined" God are actually true.

It is time for us humans to stop our ceaseless speculation about God. We need to accept what He has revealed to us in His Own Word---The Bible. "Holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. (II Peter 1:19-21). Our acceptance of human conjectures over the revealed Word of God is like being given a choice between a fine prime rib dinner with all the trimmings or partaking of scraps retrieved from the dumpster in the alley. Yet many people opt for the garbage in alley---AMAZING!!

A Word In Faith

By Carl Lilienkamp
Associate Pastor, Grace Lutheran Church

God's wisdom is in Jesus Christ. In Christ we see the amazing wisdom of God more clearly than in any other way. In Jesus Christ we see the singular and perfect solution for the atonement of mankind's sin. In the life of Christ there was not a single misstep, not a single flaw. He was perfect in every way "For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him." (II Cor. 5:21).

The wisdom of God is the seeing of defeat of the cross, which becomes the tree of life for the world. What human would have considered that a criminal's death on the Roman cross of execution would be the means by which mankind's salvation would be won? Never in the history of the world has the Father displayed his love for humankind more than on Calvary's painful cross. Find meaning in your life by claiming the wisdom of God's love shown all mankind through Jesus' work on the cross.

"To God be the Glory!" Amen.

Wayne Presbyterian Church provides lunch for Habitat for Humanity volunteers

The First Presbyterian Church served lunch to the Habitat for Humanity work crew recently.

The volunteer crew took a break from their work on the Habitat House at 315 South Nebraska Street for lunch, which was coordinated and served by members of the congregation.

Area churches have been encouraged to support the Habitat build by offering a meal to the volunteers on their workdays. The Session and congregation appreciate the work of Habitat for Humanity in our community and were happy to assist their efforts by providing a meal for the volunteers.

Mark Hammer is the Habitat for Humanity liaison for First Presbyterian and helps interpret the goals and plans of Habitat to the congregation. Pastor Teresa Bartlett said, "Habitat for Humanity does a great job in helping folks on the path to homeownership and First Presbyterian was pleased to assist in a small way in helping a family get a new start and supporting the many volunteers making this a reality."

Joy Circle meets at Our Savior Lutheran Church

Our Savior Lutheran Church, Joy Circle, met on July 12.

President Dorothy Wert welcomed everyone and reminded the group that Visitation will meet on July 19 and Sewing on July 24. Camp Carol Joy Holling's quilt auction will be on July 29.

Donella Johnson, Margaret Hansen, and Dorothy Wert were recognized for their July birthdays.

Thelma Moeller gave devotions on worry based on Matthew 6:25-34 where Jesus teaches we should not worry since our God is in control. He says, "King Solomon in all his glory was not clothed as beautiful as the field lilies." So, if He takes care of the flowers, won't He also take care of us. The individual who wrote the devotion, "At Ease" says she is a worrier. We all are concerned about things happening and what might happen.

We can bring our burdens to the foot of the Cross where Jesus took on the weight of our cares. Jesus knows our needs even before we ask and provides for them. Jesus said in Matthew, "Don't be anxious about tomorrow. God will take care of your tomorrow too."

The program was presented by Lou Wiltse from the Wayne Greenhouse. She told us there are many references to flowers in the Bible. After the flood, Noah let a dove out, and it came back with an olive branch. In Luke 12:27-28, he speaks about how Solomon in all his glory was robed as the lilies.

Flowers have a Christian meaning such as: Daisy--symbol of the innocence of the Christ Child; Crocus--symbol of the Resurrection; Clover and Pansy--symbol of the Trinity; and Iris--Mary and her sorrow at Christ's passion, just to name a few.

The color of the flower has special meaning. White flowers stand for purity. The red rose is the sign of God's love or as a sign of Christ's blood. God sent a rainbow in the sky to represent His love for us, and Lou said she thinks of that every time she arranges a bouquet in a rainbow of colors.

Flowers also say what people feel. At the end of her presentation, she helped the group arrange a disciple bouquet using 12 flowers which will be displayed in the church at the weekend services.

There will be no Joy Circle meeting in August.

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM THE SUN

Did you know that skin cancer rates are on the rise in the U.S., where it is the most common type of cancer? It's no wonder. Just in the past year alone, one-third of the adult population has been sunburned at least once. And that lobster-red look is a clear sign of exposure to ultraviolet (UV) rays - a known cause of skin cancer, which can impact any age, gender, or race.^{1,2}

Risks of tanning. But you're not off the hook if you stop at tanning. That's your body's response to sun injury.¹ When you tan - either outdoors or indoors - you increase your risk of melanoma - the deadliest form of skin cancer.

You also increase your risk of: •Premature skin aging - wrinkles and age spots; •Damaged skin texture; •Potentially blinding eye diseases¹

Here's the silver lining in this gloomy cloud: Avoiding the sun's UV rays is one of the best ways to prevent skin cancer.¹

General guidelines. You probably know the drill, but it bears repeating:

1. Seek shade and stay out of the sun, if you can, when UV rays are strongest—from 10 am to 4 pm.
2. Be extra careful at higher altitudes where skin burns faster.
3. Limit exposure to water, sand, snow, and concrete—surfaces that reflect light.
4. Use sun protection even on cloudy days, when certain types of UV rays can be stronger.
5. Rely on diet and supplements to get your vitamin D, not the sun.^{2,3}

Sunscreen. Don't use a product that combines sunscreen and insect repellent. Reapplying it will expose you to too much of the repellent's ingredients. Also, avoid spray tans and bronzers—they won't protect your skin from UV rays.⁴

Do choose sunscreens that:

- Block both UVA and UVB rays.
- Are labeled with sun protection factor (SPF) 30 or higher.
- Are water resistant—they're more protective when you sweat.
- Are products you will use consistently. Generally, creams are best for dry skin and the face, gels work well for hairy areas, and sticks are easier to apply near eyes. Mineral-based sunscreens—such as zinc oxide or titanium dioxide—work well if you have sensitive skin.^{2,3}

Wear sunscreen every day, even if you plan to be outside a short time. For best results, apply it generously 15 to 30 minutes before you go outside to all exposed areas—don't forget your feet and ears. (A lip balm works best for your lips.) Always reapply after swimming or sweating and about every two hours or as often as the package suggests.^{2,3}

Sun-protective clothing. In addition to sunscreen, wear clothing that can better protect you such as: •A hat with a wide brim. This works better than a baseball cap or visor for shielding your whole face from the sun. •Sunglasses that block both UVA and UVB rays. •Long-sleeved shirts and long pants. •Loose-fitting, unbleached, tightly woven fabrics. •Special clothing that absorbs UV rays.³

Don't forget to protect those parts of your body that may be in constant sunlight—your nose, forehead, and eyes. Questions about sun-protection products or other ways to protect your family in the sun? Remember, I'm right here—your ready resource.

Hot weather safety: Prevent heat-related illness with these tips

Temperatures are expected to soar well above average and heat advisories and excessive heat watches are in effect in several areas of the state.

Staying cool, keeping hydrated, and moderating outdoor activities during hot weather can help Nebraskans decrease the potential for heat-related illness according to the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

The risk for heat-related illness and death is higher for infants and the elderly, whose internal thermostats do not regulate body temperature well.

People with chronic medical conditions, outdoor workers and people who exercise outside are also at increased risk.

Your best defense against heat-related illness is prevention. Use these tips to stay safe and healthy during a heat wave:

Stay Cool

Wear loose, light-colored clothing and sunscreen (SPF 15 or higher).

Don't get too much sun. Sunburn reduces your body's ability to dissipate heat.

If you don't have air conditioning, go to a public building where you can cool off.

Electric fans may provide comfort, but when temperatures reach the high 90s, fans won't prevent heat-related illness. Take a cool shower or bath or move to an air-conditioned place.

If outdoors, slow your pace and take frequent rest breaks. Try to limit your outdoor activity to morning and evening hours.

Keep Hydrated

Drink plenty of water and don't wait until you are thirsty to drink. Avoid alcohol and limit drinks with caffeine.

Remember Others

Check on elderly friends and neighbors. Make sure they're staying cool and hydrated.

Never leave children or pets in a parked car.

Pets can suffer from heat-related illness too. If your pet spends its days outside, make sure it has plenty of fresh water and shade.

Playground equipment can get very hot so parents should do a touch test before letting their children play on it and be sure kids wear shoes to protect feet from hot pavement or surfaces.

Stay Informed

Check your local news for heat advisories, alerts and safety tips.

National Weather Service's heat index shows how hot it really feels when relative humidity is factored in with the temperature - http://www.nws.noaa.gov/om/heat/heat_index.shtml.

Learn the symptoms of heat-related illnesses.

Heat exhaustion can develop following exposure for several days to high temperatures. Symptoms include rapid heartbeat, cold, pale clammy skin, nausea, dizziness, weakness, and fatigue.

Heatstroke, the most serious heat-related illness, is a medical emergency characterized by a body temperature of 103 degrees F or greater. Symptoms include hot, red skin, rapid heartbeat, shallow breathing, disorientation, delirium and coma.

Anyone suffering from these conditions should be moved into the shade or air conditioning. If heatstroke or serious heat exhaustion is suspected, get emergency medical assistance.

Church Camp

Youth from First Lutheran Church in Allen attended church camp at Camp Joy Holland near Ashland recent.

Those attending were Joshua Olsen, Jordyn Carr, and Cheyenne Keil.

New books at library

If you like fantasy, the five books of the Percy Jackson and the Olympians series by Rick Riordan would be good reading for you.

In Book 1, The Lightning Thief, Percy Jackson is about to be kicked out of boarding school when mythological monsters and the gods of Mount Olympus seem to be walking straight out of the pages of Percy's Greek mythology textbook and into his life.

Zeus's master lightning bolt has been stolen and Percy is the prime suspect. Percy and his friends have ten days to find the lightning bolt and bring peace to a warring Mount Olympus.

In Book 2, The Sea of Monsters, a game of dodgeball among Percy and his classmates turns into a death match against an ugly gang of cannibal giants.

Percy and his friends must journey into the Sea of Monsters to save their camp.

Book 3, entitled The Titan's Curse, has Percy receiving an urgent distress call from his friend Grover. Percy knows he will need his powerful demigod allies at his side and his trusty bronze sword Riptide.

The Titan lord Kronos has set up a devious trap and the young heroes have just fallen prey.

In Book 4, The Battle of the Labyrinth, time is running out as war between the Olympians and the evil Titan lord Kronos draws near.

To stop Kronos's invasion of the school, Percy and his friends must set out on a quest through the Labyrinth.

In the final book of the series, The Last Olympians, the long-awaited prophesy surrounding Percy's sixteenth birthday unfolds.

The Olympians struggle to contain the rampaging monster, Typhon and Kronos begins his advance on New York City, where Mount Olympus stands unguarded. Percy faces a terrifying suspicion that he may be fighting against his own fate.
