Three components to new ag program offered at Wayne Meet the incoming ag instructor and ITE instructor at the Farmers Breakfast Aug. 1

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

Before she had even graduated college, Toni Rasmussen was offered a job as an ag program instructor. "I was student teaching in Humphrey when I heard rumors that Wayne was going to start an ag program so I reached out to Mr. Hanson and he said yes so I went ahead with the formal application process," Rasmussen said.

Rasmussen, an Albion native, grew up on a farm that is about as diverse as they come. Her family grows the typical row crops corn and soybeans and raises cattle but they also have hogs, alfalfa, wheat and her personal addition to the farm, goats.

"Those were kind of my projects and no one was excited about it but they like them now," Rasmussen said with a laugh. "I come from a very diverse farm and I think that helps when coming into a classroom with that experience."

The experience Rasmussen gained from working her family's farm and while attending UNL's agriculture education program made her the perfect fit for Wayne's newly established ag program.

"It's new and I get to make it my own, which is daunting but exciting," she said. "There are already kids signed up for it and are interested in it."

Rasmussen discussed the curriculum for the program as being one part of the "three-component system."

The classes will range from Intro to Agriculture to Ag Business and Plant and Animal Science. Each course plays an important role in the program and offers students the chance to find their niche inside the agricultural field as well.

With those classes, come labs and demonstrations in a newly renovated space. The classrooms and locker rooms in that area of the school have been completely gutted and are in the process of being rebuilt, giving a better layout to the area and more usable space for each class room and lab.

Rasmussen listed some of the labs and demonstrations that will take place in the Ag Lab: soil and water testing, dissections, taste and smell labs, animal health injection labs, soil ribbonding and small animal examinations as well as welding and precision ag demonstrations.

The second part of the agriculture education program is Supervised Ag Experience (SAE). Traditionally, Rasmussen said, this would come from hours working in an ag environment like the family farm or a summer job at a hog operation, but more recently other options have become available.

"SAEs are there for students to gain experience for life in more than just the classroom," she said. "Kids can personalize it. Work at a grocery store, learn how to change a lawn mower blade or give cattle a vaccination. It's based on them learning a new skill and that's how I'll grade it. They'll get points and be graded on personal growth."

The final component of an ag ed program is the National FFA Organization, formerly known as Future Farmers of America.

Wayne Business Center aids entrepreneurship

By Calyn Dunklau

With available office space and a goal in mind, George Phelps along with other organizations have made an opportunity available to those just starting out in the business world.

When office space became available in the Mineshaft Mall, Phelps approached the building's owner as well as a group he is part of (SCORE) to present an idea he's had for a number of years.

"There are three parts of business -- you have to have an idea, you have to be able to market it and then there is the financing involved. Very few people have all three," he said. "Since I've been here I have seen businesses that lack in one area or another so I've had this idea for some time."

The space, consisting of half a dozen offices, open areas, conference room and a break room, is next to Phelps' own office, making it a convenient spot for him.

The goal, Phelps said, is to make the resources SCORE has and the space he's found available, to entrepreneurs who need guidance and are in need of a work space without the hefty rent costs of a full building.

"These offices will be available to anyone who wants to come to town to start a business, is a professional or just needs a desk and a chair," he said. "Rent is $200-250 per month depending on which office they choose and that includes the utilities as well."

The space itself is already set up to accommodate numerous professionals with fully constructed offices that vary in sizes as well as numerous options for storage in several places throughout. Those renting would have access to the conference room to use but so would the community, Phelps said.

Phelps discussed the possibility of a part time receptionist at the door to field traffic and calls once the offices were filled.

But the space is only part of the deal with the Wayne Business Center. The other, and possibly most important part, is the free business counseling services offered primarily through SCORE.

SCORE is a Small Business Association supported non-profit group that offers business counseling for those just starting or thinking of starting their own business.

Thousands of volunteer business counselors make up the network, including dozens in the area. Phelps is one and regularly counsels entrepreneurs through SCORE.

"SCORE is a confidential group," Phelps said. "We have certain training we go through to help these entrepreneurs."

SCORE makes face-to-face consultations an option for business owners as well as an on-site evaluation of the business and access to a team of SCORE counselors that are of varying backgrounds to help provide specialized assistance in any area of business.

Each year SCORE offers workshops by the thousands, some even in this area, that are low-cost and cover important small business issues.

Phelps has facilitated some of those counseling sessions and participated in many workshops with the goal of Wayne in mind.

"What I've done through SCORE the last 10 years is counsel lots and lots of

Wayne County Fair entertainment options sure to please the crowds

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

The 95th annual Wayne County Fair kicks off this week and includes a myriad of options for entertainment, no matter the age. Thursday night the fairgrounds will be teeming with cowboys and cowgirls alike while the sounds of jostling cattle in the chutes will compete with the whirl of carnival rides.

Starting at 5 p.m. Thursday, the new River City Carnival Midway will open to fairgoers for fun before the Ultimate Bullriding Tour and LJ Jenkins Invitational Bullriding Tour kick off at 7:30 p.m. that night. During the bull riding intermission, children are invited to take part in mutton bustin' for a little fun of their own.

With 30 riders and an added $4,000 in prizes and a buckle to the champion, the riding tour is guaranteed to be buzzing with excitement.

Friday the midway opens again at 5 p.m. and the annual free BBQ starts serving at 6 p.m. Those ready for a little dust, a bit of smoke and a lot of noise should claim their seats in the grandstand early to get the best view of the Lucas Oil PPL/Nebraska Bush Pullers Tractor Pull, which starts at 6:30 on Friday night.

The barbecue meal includes beef and/or pork sandwiches, chips, beans, a soft drink and an ice cream bar. The lines begin near the food court area on the south side of the grandstand, and while the line may look like a daunting thing, those working it have it down to a science ensuring everyone is served quickly.

Between Lucas Oil PPL and the Nebraska Bush Pullers, several different classes of trucks and tractors will come together for a show like no other.

Saturday is the county music lovers night, with a semi-local favorite opening the concert at 7 p.m.

The Dylan Bloom Band's roots are intertwined with the Platte River, though they are based out of Lincoln currently.

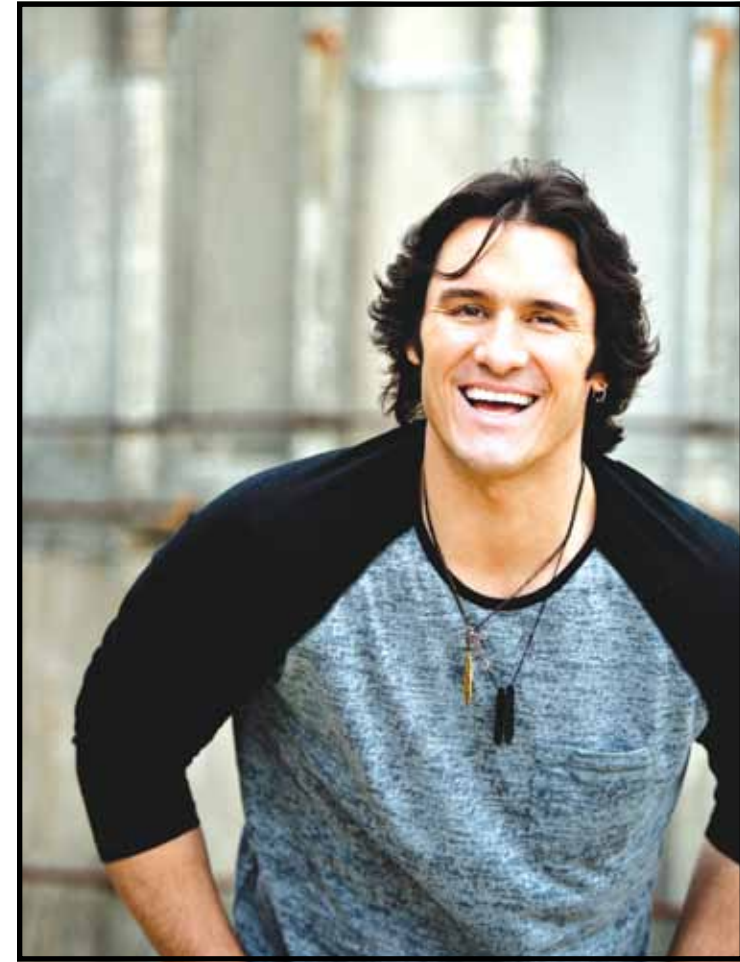

The band has seen a fast growing fan support, giving the band the opportunity to put more miles on the road. Regularly drawing large crowds, Dylan Bloom Band's high energy shows hit home with Midwesterners thanks to their heartland-themed songs.

Dylan Bloom Band will play until approximately 8:30 when multi-platinum recording artist Joe Nichols takes the stage.

Nichols has four Grammy nominations under his belt and has honors such as the Academy of Country Music's "Top New Male Vocalist" award, the CMT "Breakthrough Video of the Year" award and the Country Music Association's prestigious "Horizon Award."

When asked what people can expect from Saturday's show, Nichols discussed sharing his new music.

"We'll have several songs from the new album and all the songs from the radio," Nichols said. "We always try to make the show as fun, interesting and country as possible. We like to laugh and hope everybody enjoys the bad jokes."

That new music Nichols talks about includes a popular single released this summer called "Undone." Other music by the artist includes "Brokenheartsville," "Gimmie That Girl," "What's a Guy Gotta Do" and "Sunny and 75" among many others.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Thanks Wayne

Wayne has changed since 2000, when Kathy and I came. Wayne is a restless community where we try hard things and operate out of our comfort zone and it shows.

I've enjoyed working for elected officials that have a long history of being entrepreneurial and taking risks to invest the public's funds for future generations. I've enjoyed working with highly competent, loyal, city staff who get along well with each other and have the community's best interest in mind.

Younger folks have taken over Wayne and are creating new wealth. If nobody's making a profit, we're all in trouble. Wes Blecke is a good fit with this growth culture of our community and you'll enjoy his expertise.

Kathy and I have enjoyed being a part of this. Below is one of my favorite quotes by George Bernard Shaw.

"The reasonable man adapts himself to the world, the unreasonable man persists in trying to adapt the world to himself. Therefore all progress depends on the unreasonable man."

Blood shortage continues

Thousands of people have responded to the emergency call for blood and platelet donations issued by the American Red Cross in early July, but there continues to be a critical summer blood shortage. Eligible donors of all types are urgently needed.

After issuing the emergency call, the Red Cross has experienced a 30 percent increase in blood donation appointments through mid-July. About half of the appointments were scheduled by donors using the free Blood Donor App or at redcrossblood.org. Despite this improvement, blood products are still being distributed to hospitals as fast as donations are coming in, so more donations are needed to meet patient needs and replenish the blood supply.

"The blood supply is like a cell phone battery, it constantly needs recharging," said Nick Gehrig, communications director, Red Cross Blood Services. "We sincerely appreciate those who have responded to the call to help save lives and encourage those who haven't to consider rolling up a sleeve and give the gift of life. It only takes about an hour but can mean a lifetime for patients."

To schedule an appointment to donate, use the Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

Marvin Baker

Marvin Keith Baker, 88, of Wayne, formerly of Pender, died Friday, July 21, 2017 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne with his wife of 39 years, Norene by his side.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, July 29 at Holy Cross Catholic Church in Bancroft, with visitation and a program of shared memories at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, July 28 in Holy Cross Fellowship Hall.

Marvin Keith Baker was born March 31, 1929 in Pender to George and Zelma Baker and grew up on three of the four farms that once occupied Baker Corner seven miles east of Pender. Marvin farmed his whole life with father, George, and brother, Alvin, and later with his wife, Norene. Farming was interrupted in 1951 when Marvin rose to the call of patriotic duty and served in the Korean War with the 139th Artillery Division of the Nebraska National Guard. He was proud of his service and would like to describe how they would make a run to the front lines to fire their shells and then change positions quickly so that the enemy could not ascertain their position. Because of Marv's height, he also was often called upon by the commanding officer to accompany prisoners to the rear area often a distance of over a 100 miles in horribly cold weather in an open jeep.

Shortly after Marvin's return from Korea he met his forever sweetheart, Norene Steinhoff, a school teacher from Bancroft. Thus began a romance and courtship that lasted the rest of their lives. They were married on July 21, 1978 and began their lives at their home on Baker Corner until they moved to Brookdale Independent Living in Wayne in July of 2016. Marv loved horses and farming, but his passion was working on antique windmills. Many of his restored windmills stand on the prairies of the United States and Canada, a testament to his skill and carpentry.

Survivors include his wife Norene, his brother, Alvin, and a host of loving nieces and nephews as well and many, many friends and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by a brother Kenneth; his parents, George and Zelma; a sister-in-law Carol, and a nephew, Steven.

Norene resides at Brookdale in Wayne, 1500 Vintage Hill Drive, 68787. Condolences may be sent there.

his favorite part is the instant gratification.
"Seeing an audience enjoy something I am pouring my heart into, in real time, is an incredible feeling."
Saturday night, the teens also get entertainment geared toward them with the Teen Dance in the Little Theater with music by We Got Tunes.
Sunday's entertainment includes the Barnyard Pedal Pull at 1:30 p.m. The pull takes place north of St. Mary's food stand. Later in the evening, the Kids Power Wheels Derby starts in front of the grandstand at 5 p.m.

or to the 6 o'clock start of the long-awaited Demolition Derby.
Cars and trucks in five classes will go head to head to claim prize money and bragging rights that night, with drivers coming from all over the area to put their names in the running. For a complete list of derby rules, visit www.thewaynecountyfair.com/derbyrules.
If by chance, none of these big ticket items catches your fancy, perhaps Golf on the Go or the Kids Corn Palace will peak your interest. Impact Pro Wrestling will take place both Friday and Saturday and the Love-A-Lop Petting Zoo will be visiting both Thursday and Friday. Wildlife Encounters will once again be back at the fair, with two shows daily Friday through Sunday.

Bingo, a Nascar Simulator and the Nebraska State Patrol Roll-over Simulator, sponsored by Hasemann Funeral Homes, will all be set up throughout the fairgrounds for the public to enjoy, not to mention nightly entertainment in the Roost for those 21 and older.
With all these options there's no reason not to visit the Wayne County Fair.

Business

people," Phelps said. "I've tried to encourage businesses to come to Wayne, educate their kids, buy homes, spend their money here in Wayne."
The Wayne Area Economic Development and the Rural Enterprise Assistance Project (REAP) are also involved.
"Wes Blecke was in my office and we talked about making it a fertile environment for people and businesses, not by putting crutches under people's arms because then they're less likely to be successful."

It's Phelps' hope that one day both Wayne State College and Northeast Community College in Norfolk will come together with the Wayne Business Center.
"You need to get out and see people if you want to grow a business here. We're providing an opportunity for those on a small budget to have an office to work out of and services to help them get started."
But Phelps isn't necessarily limiting the use of the offices to just those first starting out. There are plenty of businesses, he said, that have a need for an office outside a home to make calls or have appointments at and this is the perfect spot for those businesses too.

"Bottom line is that this is the future of small town America," he said. "Small town America is going to grow with the businesses you see growing right here in this town right now."

Ag Program

The name change came about in the 1980s to appeal to more students. There are many aspects of the organization that don't just work in the ag industry, such as public speaking and entrepreneurship. Those skills can be applied in innumerable situations, not just in an agricultural setting, but the name Future Farmers of America only appealed to so many.
"It made it more inviting for kids who may not be on a farm or intending to farm -- it just envelops more students."
The organization hosts competitions, leadership and service opportunities to allow students to diversify their skill set and grow personally.
Rasmussen said that while there will be meetings outside of the classroom, there also will be intra-curricular work.

Her example was in the realm of public speaking. If a member of the organization is hoping to compete in a speech contest, his or her speech could be used in the classroom as a graded assignment which essentially allows the student dual-usage of the speech.
"It's all about working smarter, not harder," Rasmussen said.
Rasmussen was hard pressed to pick her favorite part of the program, but eventually settled on the animal science and entrepreneurial aspects.
"Growing up on the farm it was pretty diverse, so I've had experience with all of it, but when I did the goats and got to make all the decisions for that, it really made me enjoy the animal science and business sides."
While those are her favorites and often programs align with the instructor's favorite or more studied area, Rasmussen said she's waiting to see what the students are interested in before delving into a certain area further than any other.

"Every ag ed program has its strong points," she said. "I feel like I can use what the kids and community are interested in and use that. I'm just very excited to work with these kids."
For those with a vested interest in the newly added program and its off-shoots, Rasmussen encourages you to attend a breakfast at the Fire Hall in Wayne on Aug. 1. Both Rasmussen and Tony Cantrell, the Industrial Technology teacher, will be there to discuss an overview of their programs.

Seniors just miss on chance to play for area title with 5-4 loss

By Michael Carnes
For The Herald

The Wayne American Legion Post 43 Seniors made it to the final four of the Class B Area 5 tournament and were frustratingly close to having a chance to play for all the marbles.

The Wayne Seniors were 90 feet away from tying the game Monday night, but were unable to get the tying run home as a seventh-inning comeback fell short in a 5-4 loss to Lakeview that eliminated the Post 43 Seniors from the Class B Area 5 tournament Monday at Hank Overin Field.

"We had some opportunities, but we left nine or 10 guys on base tonight," coach Robbie Gamble said after the team ended its 17-13 summer campaign. "I was afraid that after having 18 hits last night against Neligh that it might be hard to come back with that intensity at the plate and we kind of had a hitting hangover, but I was still really proud of these kids."

Lakeview got all of their runs in the first inning, taking advantage of an error, three hits and three walks off stater Caden Korth to stake themselves to an early 5-0 advantage, but Payten Gamble came on in relief and got some good defensive help behind him to shut the door on Lakeview's offense after that.

"We were really thin with our pitching and I was hoping Caden could take us deep into the game, but Payten came in and really threw lights out," Gamble said.

Wayne got a run back in the bottom of the first when Gamble scored on a Lakeview throwing error. They added another run in the fifth when Tyler Lutt scored on a Justin Dean groundout to make it a 5-2 game.

In the seventh, Wayne led off with a Lutt single and Gamble reached on an error to put two in scoring position with nobody out. Zane Jackson brought them both home with a two-run double, and pinch-runner Josh Lutt moved to third on a groundout.

"I really thought when we scored those two with nobody out we were going to end up winning it, but the pitcher they brought in threw pretty hard and we just couldn't get it done," Gamble said.

Lakeview was able to strand the tying run at third base, getting a strikeout to end the game and move on to Tuesday's play against West Point, where the winner would face O'Neill for the area title.

Wayne opened the tournament with a solid pitching performance by Korth, Jackson and Josh Lutt to blank Ponca in an 8-0 decision on Friday.

Wayne got two runs in the first inning on four hits to take control early. Jackson had an RBI single to score Tyler Lutt and Gamble came home on a fielder's choice.

In the second, Wayne added three more runs, highlighted by an Adam Bentjen RBI single, scoring Brennen O'Reilly, and a two-run double by Gamble, scoring Bentjen and Lutt.

Wayne's offense was silent until the seventh, when Justin Dean cleared the bases with a three-run double to put the game out of reach.

That was enough for Wayne's hurlers, as Korth threw four innings of one-hit baseball before Zane Jackson and Josh Lutt came on to finish off Ponca in the final three innings. The trio combined to limit Ponca to three in the shutout. Dean was 3-for-3 and Tyler Lutt had two hits to lead Wayne's 10-hit attack.

On Saturday, a late explosion by O'Neill helped put the Irish into the winners bracket third round as they posted an 8-3 win over Wayne.

Wayne got on the board in the first inning with two runs, thanks to an RBI single by Jackson that scored Mason Lee, and some crafty baserunning by Gamble, who stole third and then came home on a throwing error.

O'Neill came back with three in the third, as Josh Cuddy stroked an RBI

Caden Korth got the win in Wayne's opening-round game against Ponca with four innings of shutout baseball, allowing one hit.

double and two runs came home on a wild pitch and an error on a pickoff.

The wheels fell off for Wayne in the sixth, as O'Neill took advantage of a couple of errors to put together a five-run inning to put the game out of reach.

On Sunday, Wayne survived in the losers bracket, but it wasn't easy.

Wayne came from behind with three runs in the fifth and six more in the sixth to eliminate Neligh with a wild 17-12 win, moving into Monday's matchup against Lakeview.

Wayne got three in the first inning on an RBI double by Tyler Lutt and RBI singles by Jackson and O'Reilly to take the early advantage. They countered two-run innings by Neligh and led 7-4 in the top of the fourth when Jackson doubled home Gamble and Kaleb Anderson came home on a passed ball.

Neligh scored four runs on two hits, two walks and an error to take an 8-7 lead after four innings, but Wayne responded with three in the top of the fifth to take the lead for good, as Lutt and Jackson had RBI singles and Gamble brought Lee home with a sacrifice fly to make it 10-8.

Wayne scored six key runs in the sixth, highlighted by RBI singles from O'Reilly and Lee, then added another run in the seventh on an O'Reilly RBI double. Neligh scored four in the bottom of the seventh, but could not get any closer as Wayne hung on for the win.

Lee, Lutt, Jackson and O'Reilly each had three hits to spark an 18-hit attack for Wayne. Jackson had four RBI's and Lutt and O'Reilly each had three. Lee, Anderson and Adam Bentjen each scored three runs. Lutt got the win in relief of Tucker Nichols.

While their hopes for making it to state fell short, Gamble said the team has a lot to be proud of and a lot to look forward to, with all but two players eligible to come back next season.

"I think we were better than our record showed and I know it hurts right now, but the great thing is all but two can come back next year and I hope they will," he said. "We've got to remember what this hurt feels like right now and use that as momentum and fuel to get better in the offseason and come back next summer and play some good baseball."

Wayne State volleyball receives academic award for 15th straight year

The Wayne State College volleyball team was awarded the American Volleyball Coaches Association Team Academic Award announced by the coaches' association home office in Lexington, Ky.

The Wildcat volleyball team recorded a cumulative grade-point average of 3.83 during the 2016-17 academic school year to earn the team academic honor.

The award, initiated in the 1992-93 academic year, is celebrating its 25th year and honors collegiate and high school volleyball teams that displayed academic excellence in the classroom during the school year by maintaining at least a 3.30 cumulative team grade-point average on a 4.0 scale or a 4.10 cumulative team GPA on a 5.0 scale.

Wayne State is one of 118 schools in NCAA Division II to earn the award and one of 11 schools from the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference to receive the honor. Wayne State is the lone program in NCAA Div. II to have received the academic honor for a minimum of 15 consecutive years, having received the honor every year since 2002, and the Wildcats ranked in the top 25 in all of NCAA Division II with its 3.83 team grade-point average.

Wildcat players, coaches take part in Brazil trip

Wayne State College women's basketball coach Chris Kielsmeier, assistant coach Kelly Kielsmeier and senior players Paige Ballinger and Maggie Schulte will travel to Brazil next month and represent the United States as part of the USA D-2 Basketball Team Tour to Brazil.

The team is comprised of 10 Div. II basketball players from the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference (NSIC) and Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA), representing eight different colleges and seven states. Chris Kielsmeier will serve as head coach of the select team and assisted by Wildcat assistant coach Kelly Kielsmeier.

The tour runs July 31-Aug. 9 with the team playing four games over a span of six days. The first two games are in Jundiá with the final two games in Rio de Janeiro. The team will depart July 31 and fly to Orlando and Washington, D.C. before heading overseas to Sao Paulo, Brazil. Players and coaches will return to the states on Aug. 9.

While in Brazil, the team and coaches will also be involved in educational and social events on the trip that include visits to Copacabana and Ipanema Beaches, Sugar Loaf Mountain, the International Market in Ipanema and the Christ the Redeemer Statue along with venues that hosted the 2016 Summer Olympics last year.

Games will be played starting Wednesday, Aug. 2 and Thursday, Aug. 3 in Jundiá with the final two games Saturday, Aug. 5 and Monday, Aug. 7 in Rio de Janeiro. More details about game times, opponent and location will be posted on www.wscwildcats.com. Daily blogs from Ballinger and Schulte will also be available on the Wildcats athletic website during the trip to share their experiences.

Wildcat head coach Chris Kielsmeier remarked, "This fall I will be starting my 20th season of coaching and throughout all of those years I have never had this kind of opportunity. It is such a great honor to coach this extremely talented team and represent Wayne State College and the United States. This will be a trip that we will all remember for the rest of our lives."

USA Sports Tours and Events based in Lake

Mary, Fla. organizes and coordinates the games and events that the players and coaches will be involved with on the USA D-2 Basketball Brazil Tour.

"I'm really excited to be able to travel and play the game I love," Ballinger said. "Basketball has provided me with many awesome opportunities in my life and this is definitely at the top of the list. I can't wait to share this experience with my coaches and friend/teammate."

Schulte added, "It's an honor to be able to represent WSC and USA at an international level. Basketball is one of my true passions, so having the opportunity to experience a different country at the same time adds to my excitement even more."

Joining the Wayne State representatives on the trip will be Chelsey Henry of Missouri Southern, Paige Imhoff and Brenlee McPherson of Pittsburg State, Tanya Meyer of Northwest Missouri State, Paige Redmond of Central Missouri, Miranda Ristau of Northern State and Cassidy Thorson and Jacky Volkert of MSU Moorhead.

Kathol named new vice president at Northeast

Northeast Community College has named Lyle Kathol as its new vice president of educational services. He has been serving as interim vice president since April.

In his new role, Kathol will oversee the Educational Services Division by providing academic leadership, management, strategic direction, policy development, and oversight of five academic divisions - agriculture, math and science; applied technology; business and technology; health and wellness; and humanities, arts and social sciences.

Dr. Michael Chipps, president, said following an extensive search, including multiple interviews with internal and external candidates, Kathol rose to the top as the best person for the Cabinet level position.

"Lyle has earned the title of vice president as he has advanced through the instructional ranks from faculty member to a long-serving dean of the applied technology division. Over his many years of service to Northeast, and even more particularly during the past few months as interim vice-president, he has continually demonstrated his ability to perform well as a member of the senior leadership team."

Lyle Kathol

Chipps said, "Lyle's depth of experience and his engaging demeanor will serve him and the College very well as Northeast continues with the implementation of its Vision 2020 strategic plan."

Kathol has been employed at Northeast for 32-years, beginning as an automotive technology instructor in 1985. In 2001, he was appointed dean of the applied technology division where he supervised 37 full-time and numerous adjunct faculty members in 15 academic programs.

Kathol most recently led the initiative to provide Northeast students with industry certifications through the National Coalition of Certifications Centers (NC3), the Chrysler Career Automotive Program. He has worked with local and regional industry partners and national industry leaders such as the Trane Corporation, Snap-On Tools and Lincoln Electric.

Kathol has also successfully developed Northeast's electromechanical, wind energy technology, diversified manufacturing and plumbing technology programs. In addition, he was heavily engaged in the creation of the nationally recognized Applied Technology facility on the Norfolk campus, which opened in 2015.

Kathol, a native of rural Hartington, earned an automotive technology diploma from Northeast Community College and Bachelor of Arts in Education and Master of Science in Education degrees from Wayne State College.

Kathol succeeds John Blaylock, who was promoted to executive vice president earlier this year.

Nebraska labor leaders call for civility and the "rule of law" during deliberations on Keystone XL Pipeline Permit

The Nebraska Public Service Commission will hold hearings on the permit for the Keystone XL pipeline in early August. These hearings will draw attention, potentially undesirable attention, from around the nation. In fact, groups who represent themselves as "anarchists" have issued a statement (see below) encouraging rabble-rousing on August 6 in Lincoln and instructed protestors to "Protect your identity from police and private security by wearing a mask, nondescript clothing and hiding visible marks and tattoos." This portends actions that will violate the law.

The members of the Nebraska Building Trades are preparing to participate in a civil process to support approval of the KXL permit. Unfortunately, our preparation now involves a concern for public safety and the violation of the rule of law by anarchists, many from out of state, seeking to harm the process and maybe citizens of Nebraska.

"We want to put pressure on all concerned parties to adhere to the Nebraska way of civility and due process," stated Jim Waugh, President. "That is why the Building Trades want to declare that we will not conduct demonstrations or public events in the streets that could inflame the situation; cost taxpayers; make citizens fearful; and, cause harm."

On May 2, 2017, 19 representatives from the Omaha and Southwest Iowa Building and Construction Trades Council hand-delivered a letter to Jane Kleeb, leader of the KXL opposition, to make a public statement calling on all KXL opponents to support civility, open discourse and the rule of law in the interest of public safety. "While it is unfortunate that she has not responded to our heartfelt request," Jim Waugh added, "It is our understanding that Ms. Kleeb, has met with Lincoln Police Chief Jeff Bliemeister to discuss protest activities. We hope that she made a commitment to Chief Bliemeister to follow our lead and not the path of anarchy."

Note: Tax payers in North Dakota spent over $33 million on protecting the public from pipeline protests in 2016. According to officials in North Dakota over 700 arrests were made with 92 percent of people from out-of-state.

Looking back at summer accomplishments

Amy
Topp

Extension
Educator
4-H & Youth

Fair week? Where did our summer go? However, when I think about it, I realize everything that has been accomplished and the opportunity that Nebraska Extension, Wayne County and the community has provided me in working with 4-Hers, families, and community individuals. I realize that much has been accomplished.

On Thursday of last week the judging of photography, clothing, and fashion show took place. Be sure to check out these exhibits in our 4-H Building. I feel fortunate to have creative and quality exhibits, but what is even more rewarding is the quality of youth that work hard to be a part of these events. Youth are finding time to participate in these educational opportunities, even though they participate in other activities that are also important to them.

Last weekend the 4-H cat, dog and household pet shows were held. With higher temperatures, I was so proud of each of our exhibitors who were prepared for the heat and cared for their animals throughout the show. We were also thankful for the shade and breeze that were present during the shows.

On Monday evening, numerous 4-Hers, parents, leaders and community members helped to spruce up the fairgrounds and put final touches on the exhibit hall and livestock barns. It is an impressive sight to see the eager 4-Hers anxious and willing to help as well as the older 4-Hers giving guidance to those who have never done this before.

The fairboard has replaced the sheep/goat barn with a new open barn similar to the hog/small animal and horse barns. I am sure the sheep and exhibitors will like this new open concept with improved air flow. Thank you to the fairboard for the many things they do for the 4-H program throughout the year.

Wednesday, all the exhibits in the 4-H Building were entered and judged. 4-Hers could take part in the interview process, explaining to the judge what they have learned from their exhibit. This is where more learning takes place. Sometimes the exhibit that the 4-Her thinks will turn out the best is not always how it is, but still lessons are learned.

The 4-H livestock were entered on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning in preparation for the livestock shows. 4-Hers are very aware of the temperatures and make sure their animals are kept comfortable. 4-Hers learn the responsibility of their livestock projects and the importance that they have in our rural communities and in feeding the world.

I know it is easy to think that 4-H is all about the fair. This is a visible and important component of the 4-H program, but 4-H happens throughout the year. There are 4-H club meetings and 4-H BB Gun and Air Rifle Competitions. The Wayne County Sharp Shooters hosted the State 4-H BB Gun and Air Rifle Competition in April and also participated in the National 4-H BB Gun shoot in July in Arkansas.

4-Hers have competed in livestock judging events at the state competition at UNL, the State 4-H Horse Expo in Grand Island, the Regional Public Speaking Contest in Norfolk and also Presentation and film festivals. 4-Hers attended day camps and workshops and also Big Red Camps and State 4-H camps.

One of the skills that 4-H encourages is record keeping and meeting deadlines. This is a commitment that families and leaders work at. We appreciate families participating in 4-H projects, turning in animal identification sheets, registering for a contests and county fair, state fair, or Ak-Sar-Ben.

I am proud of all our 4-Hers for what they have already accomplished and what they will continue to do in their lives. This Spring we had twenty-two of our 4-Hers graduate from high school and they have or will be starting a new journey furthering their education, serving our country and entering the workforce. We know that their involvement in the 4-H program has given them career and college readiness skills to be effective in their future. I am proud of all of our youth enrolled in the 4-H program and look forward to the fair. Thank you to all who help out in any way with our 4-H and Youth Development program.

Is it OK for a Christian to _____?

I recently read an article by a pastor who was preparing to preach a sermon series titled, Is it OK for a Christian to _____? He then listed about eight subjects that he would address in this sermon series which included watch R rated movies, gamble, drink wine, get a tattoo, practice yoga and others.

These are the kind of questions that many people who profess to be Christians are asking. In our culture there are many attractions and temptations that we Christian face every day. There are many things that we hear at church about right and wrong. It can be confusing to know what is OK or permissible and what is not. Without going into any specific issue, I would like to share a few questions that a Christian may ask before answering such questions.

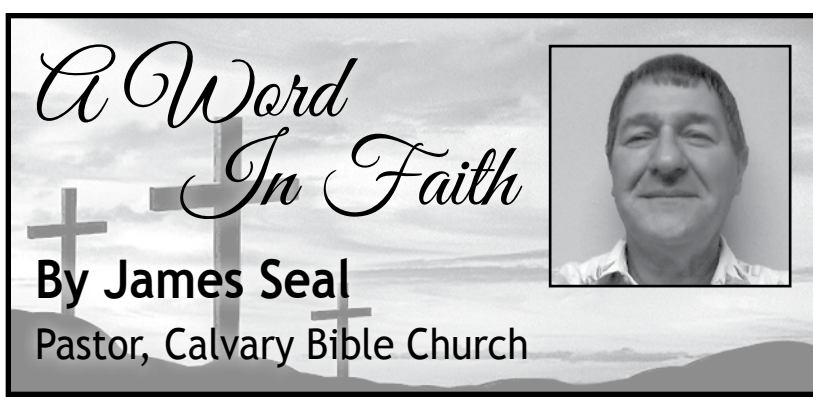

1. Why am I asking this question in the first place? In other words, what is the intention behind the question? Am I asking this because I really don't know and I want to know what God has to say about it? Or am I asking this question in order to find a reason to do what I already have decided to do? Sometimes we want to do something that we know is wrong but we are just looking for an excuse to go ahead and do it. It is important to identify our motives when addressing questionable issues. This may be difficult to do but attempting to make an honest assessment of our intentions, desires, and motives can be very revealing.

2. Will it truly bring glory to God and Jesus Christ? In 1 Corinthians 10: 31 Paul summarizes a passage regarding permissible things by stating, "So whether you eat or drink or whatever ever you do, do it all for the glory of God." Also, in Colossians 3:17 Paul says that the believer should do all things in "the name of the Lord Jesus." To do something in the name of Jesus means to do it for his glory and his benefit. The true follower of Jesus must consider whether his or her actions will actually bring glory to God and Jesus Christ.

But what if we don't know the answer to that question? Then it is better not to engage in that activity until one can truly answer this question. Clearly we have liberty in Jesus Christ but that is not liberty to sin or live any way we please. There is a higher standard than just doing what one pleases for the Christ follower.

3. What does the Bible really say about the matter? I emphasize the word "really" because it is very easy to make the Bible say what we want it to say. People often use a method called "proof texting" where they look for verses or even half verses to prove what they have already decided to believe. One can prove almost anything they want with proof texting.

This method is an unacceptable method for attempting to understand what God has said about a particular matter. For the true Christ follower, he or she must approach the Bible with a desire to know what God has said even if it disagrees with their preconceived notions. The person who truly wants to know God's opinion on the subject will approach the Bible with an open mind and a teachable spirit. They will allow the Word of God to speak to them and shape their beliefs rather than vice versa.

4. Is it helpful and beneficial for me in my Christian walk? A Christ follower must not just look for permission to do something but must evaluate whether this action will actually help or hurt their Christian experience. Paul says in 1 Corinthians 10:23, "Everything is permissible, but not everything is beneficial. Everything is permissible, but not everything is constructive." Paul is referring to matters that are not clearly addressed in Scripture. He uses the example of food sacrificed to idols in this passage. This is not an issue for us today but the example lays down some very important principles for approaching disputable matters.

Our freedom in Christ allows us to do many things but not everything is actually helpful or beneficial. Each Christ follower must ask themselves whether the action will actually help them walk closer with Jesus or draw them away from their relationship with Christ.

5. Is it helpful or beneficial to others? Paul continues in 1 Corinthians 10:24 by stating, "Nobody should seek his own good, but the good of others." Clearly our actions have an influence and impact upon other people especially other believers. The true Christ follower must be concerned about how his or her actions will affect other believers. Will it encourage and build them up or will it cause them to doubt the Lord and fall into sin?

We cannot allow another person's legalisms to control our lives but we must take into consideration how our actions affect other people. In Romans 14 Paul addresses the issue of "disputable matters" and uses food sacrificed to idols and religious celebrations as examples. Paul is concerned about how our actions may affect a believer who is weak in the faith.

In conclusion, if a Christian truly wants to know what to do about a disputable matter, he or she may prayerfully consider each of the above questions as they seek to know what God would have them do. The answer may not always be easy to find, but the diligent Christ follower will continue to seek God's answers to life's difficult questions.

Programs available for Nebraska ag in drought

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is providing information to Nebraska's farmers and ranchers in need of assistance due to prolonged dry conditions in the state. "The U.S. Drought Monitor has updated its drought status. In Nebraska, abnormally dry conditions in parts of the state have intensified. The Department is receiving reports of rapidly deteriorating pasture and field conditions," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "In response to the worsening conditions, we are outlining several tools that are available for farmers and ranchers to utilize."

Emergency use of CRP

Several counties in Nebraska are authorized for emergency haying or grazing on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres. This is a result of U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue making the authorization available for counties in Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota in D2 or greater stages of drought on the U.S. Drought Monitor. Any county in Nebraska with a border that falls within 150 miles of those D2 or greater designated drought areas in those three states are eligible for the emergency haying or grazing. A map of those counties can be found at www.fsa.usda.gov/ne.

Landowners interested in emergency haying or grazing of CRP acres must contact their local FSA office for details on eligibility requirements and prior to taking any action on CRP acres. To find a local FSA office, go to offices.usda.gov.

Haying of Roadside Right-of-Ways

The Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) authorizes permitted haying of roadside right-of-ways. Permitted haying is allowed by abutting land owners until July 31st, and open to the public for permitted haying beginning August 1st. For details on haying roadside right-of-ways and to obtain permits contact the NDOT Maintenance Office in your district.

NDA Hay Hotline

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture offers a resource for farmers and ranchers looking to buy or sell hay. The Hay & Forage Hotline can be found on the NDA website. Sellers can post their information on the site themselves or contact NDA at 800-422-6692. The list of sellers is posted on the website and is updated on a regular basis.

Fire Suppression Efforts

On July 18, Governor Ricketts authorized the issuance of an Emergency Proclamation relating to fire retardant materials. This proclamation will allow the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency to replenish fire retardant materials which have been partially depleted by fire suppression efforts in Nebraska and by assisting other states with wildfires which have been aided by drought conditions. The proclamation will allow the Adjutant General greater flexibility for wildfire suppression efforts.

The NDA Drought Central Website contains information on all these programs and will be continually updated with valuable resources. It can be found at droughtcentral.nebraska.gov.

"My agency and I appreciate the proactive response by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue, Governor Ricketts and the resources being made available through various agencies of the State of Nebraska," said Ibach. "NDA will continue to monitor the states drought conditions closely and provide further assistance when appropriate."

Northeast Nebraska Weed Management receives award

The Northeast Nebraska Weed Management Area (NNWMA) received a Missouri National Recreational River Partnership Award for 2016 from the National Park Service as a result of their work to control noxious weeds in and along the Missouri River. Brian Korman, Lead Biological Technician, presented the award at the NNWMA's meeting on July 18th. He stated "With all the work this group does on the river you're definitely deserving of this award."

The NNWMA covers an eight county area of 4,610,212 acres on private, public, and tribal land whose northern boundary is the Missouri National Recreation River, a component of the National Park and Wild & Scenic Rivers System. Partners agree on the scope of the issues and attack them with a focused/targeted approach.

Priority noxious and invasive weed species found along the Missouri River include Purple Loosestrife, Salt cedar, Canada thistle and Phragmites.

The NNWMA group was formed in 1995 as a committee under the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development Council (RC&D). The RC&D has continued to support them grant writing assistance, organizational efforts, and more.

Fond memories of Prenger's

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

We get the Norfolk paper a day or two late. Sometimes, even two or three days, and they come together. So, last week, on Thursday, I suppose every one else knew that Prenger's Restaurant closed. There it comes again; the grief response.

I have so many good memories of that place. I think the first time I was ever there was during a Walther League convention and I had not, by that time, age 19, been in many fine dining establishments. To me, Prenger's was fine dining.

Then, after marrying & living just a dozen miles away, it became the go-to place for special occasions; those being birthdays and anniversaries when the kids stayed home with a sitter and we were not obliged to visit the Double Arches.

My birthday is in May, so are Paul and Murt Meierhenry's, and so was Don Meierhenry's, as was their anniversary. So, for sure, the six of us went there in May. Their relish dish included herring, and we all fought over it. In fact, we usually talked the waitress into bringing more.

After Don's wife died, early in the year, when she was way too young, he called in May to say we were carrying on the tradition. It was bitter sweet, but we did it.

I've been to wedding receptions at Prenger's. When Mike's sister died and her ashes were buried at Hoskins, we made arrangements for the whole family to eat in a private room there. Roast beef and mashed potatoes, and drinks, for a very reasonable price. I so appreciated their hospitality.

I also have memories of a friend who worked there when it was still Ed Prenger's. They often had ham and bean soup on Saturday. JoAnn worked evenings, and complained that the day gal gave all the ham and beans to her favorite customers, leaving the "juice" for my friend to serve. Every time I make ham and bean soup, I think of that.

Well, all good things do come to an end, that's for sure. And since I certainly haven't done anything to patronize the place for years, I can't complain. It's just that it's another example of something I have fond memories of disappearing. Seems to happen more often lately. Could it be related to age??

Dealing with drought-stressed corn

Just a reminder that our Land Management meeting will be held at the Wayne Fire Hall on Thursday, Aug. 3 from 1 to 4 p.m., dealing primarily with land values and rental issues. This meeting is free, but please register by calling or emailing the Wayne County extension office wayne-county@unl.edu (402) 375-3310 or the Dixon county extension office dixon-county@unl.edu (402) 584-2234 before Aug. 1 so we can have some snacks an information available.

Most of you have already accessed drought related information on the internet, and last week I noted several sites to visit. The University of Nebraska has now centralized all drought information access onto one page. From this page you can navigate to all drought-related articles regardless of whether you are a farmer, rancher, or homeowner. The site is droughtresources.unl.edu. You can also reach drought information at cropwatch.unl.edu.

Probably the best way to use drought stressed corn for feed is to take silage, because compared to direct grazing and feeding greenchop the ensiling reduces nitrate levels in the feed. Although potential for nitrate toxicity after fermentation is reduced, livestock producers who will use the corn for silage should have that silage analyzed for nitrates.

Most studies indicate that the feed value of properly fermented,

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator
University of Nebraska
Lincoln

drought-stressed corn silage is 80-90 percent that of normal silage. As a rule, drought-stressed corn has slightly more fiber, less energy and 1-2 percent more protein. Ideally, silage should be tested for moisture percentage, percent crude protein, percent TDN, and nitrate content.

One potential problem is that growers tend to harvest it when it's too wet, resulting in poor fermentation.

Ideally, the crop should contain 60-70 percent moisture at harvest. For upright silos, to avoid seepage, growers should harvest at 60-65 percent. For bunker silos, harvesting at 65-70 percent moisture will result in better packing and storage qualities. Plants with brown leaves and small ears with little or no grain may still be too wet because most of the moisture is in the stalks. We have area fields in all stages of development, primarily depending on variety and planting date, so don't assume your corn is too dry or too wet to take as silage.

A quick way to determine if the plant contains too much moisture is to hand-squeeze a representative sample collected from the forage chopper for about 30 seconds. If water drips from the squeezed sample, the corn is too wet for ideal fermentation. If it holds its shape but doesn't easily fall apart, you will be close. If it crumbles, moisture may need to be added.

Harvesting with a silage chopper and feeding it fresh to cattle instead of first ensiling it is known as greenchop. Feeding greenchop requires a lot of care because of high nitrate problems. Nitrates accumulate in the lower 8-10 inches of the stalk in drought corn. Set the cutter height to avoid harvesting the lower part of the stalk. It should be fed immediately after harvesting (no more than two hours' worth of feeding, because heat in the truck or feed bunk will convert nitrate to nitrite, which is 10 times more toxic). Have plenty of bunk space available so "boss" cows don't overeat. Baling the crop as hay will not reduce nitrate levels.

For a more thorough discussion of using and pricing drought stressed corn go to the drought resources website or go directly to <http://www.ianrpubs.unl.edu/epublic/live/g1865/build/g1865.pdf>

Before making any decisions about drought-damaged corn, check with crop insurance agents so the crop can be appraised for damage prior to harvest. Also, pay close attention to herbicide and insecticide labels and be in touch with chemical suppliers to make sure the crop is harvested and fed safely.

Nebraska's NRDs celebrate 45 years of Protecting Natural Resources
July 2017 marks 45 years of protecting lives, property and the future of natural resources for Nebraska's 23 Natural Resources Districts (NRDs).
Throughout 2017, the NRDs will be celebrating the success of projects and programs that help protect Nebraska's natural resources. NRDs are unique because they are governed by locally elected boards and Nebraska is the only state to have this system. A handful of board members, managers and staff have been a part of the system since the NRD creation in 1972.
Senator Maurice Kremer introduced and the Nebraska Legislature enacted Legislative Bill (LB) 1357 in 1969 to combine Nebraska's 154 special purpose entities into 24 Natural Resources Districts by July 1972. The original 24 NRDs' boundaries were organized based on Nebraska's major river basins which allows for better management practices to be applied to similar topography. In 1989, the Middle Missouri NRD and the Papio NRD were merged into one, becoming the Papio-Missouri River NRD which resulted in the current 23-NRD system.
"Nebraska's 23 NRDs have been addressing natural resources issues and concerns with local solutions for 45 years," said Mike Sousek, General Manager of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) in Norfolk.
Nebraska's NRDs are involved in a wide variety of projects and programs to conserve and protect the state's natural resources. Sousek added, "NRDs are charged under state law with 12 areas of responsibility including flood control, soil erosion, and groundwater management. While all NRDs share the 12 main responsibilities, each district sets its own priorities and develops programs to best serve local needs and to protect Nebraska's natural resources for future generations."
NRDs are local government entities with broad responsibilities to protect our natural resources. Major Nebraska river basins form the boundaries of the 23 NRDs, enabling districts to respond best to local conservation and resource management needs. To learn more about Nebraska's NRDs visit www.nrdnet.org or your local NRD website at www.lenrd.org

Special thank you to Lowell Johnson, our retiring City Administrator

It is a distinct pleasure for me to write a "Thank You" letter to our retiring city manager, Lowell Johnson.

In my 80 plus years of life on this earth I have had the pleasure to know and work with city managers in Minnesota, North Dakota, Colorado, Wyoming, and Nebraska who were all very fine city managers, but the best one among the ones I worked with is Lowell Johnson. I found him very easy to talk to, appreciative of citizens and employees thoughts and ideas, and generous with his praise and thankfulness. Always mild mannered and kind. I never seen him put anybody down and not show his appreciation.

As a business person in Wayne, with my wife Marie, one of the things I liked most about him, his wife and family was his support for Wayne businesses. I have seen him and his wife shop our supermarkets, our downtown Main Street and other businesses, and our restaurants. They were not going out of town to do their shopping. I saw them frequently at school and college activities, I saw them at various churches and funerals of Wayne citizens. He was a Chamber member and supported its activities as well as most activities in this community.

But where I got to appreciate Lowell most was the year I served as Chairman of the Q-125 Committee. He made it possible for our committee to receive some seed money to get started with our activities for the year. In addition, we were able to use the City Auditorium 10 times without having to pay a rental fee and that started on Feb. 2 with a giant Birthday Party where our committee put together 125 small birthday cakes into one large cake which was cut into small slices and served to a capacity crowd along with beautiful birthday song singing and a fun kickoff to the anniversary year. Our year ended at the auditorium also in November with the Army Reserve Band playing a Veterans Day Concert for our Community.

Thanks Lowell for making the auditorium available for us and the community during this anniversary year.

Is that all? No there is one more thing. Every time I visit the Community Activity Center, I think of Lowell and his role in establishing the center and as I work out and look out the windows west of the Center, I see the Q-125 Apple Orchard. Thanks Lowell, for making this space available for our Arbor Day Project. With the creative help of our Extension agents who came up with the idea, they said we should plant an Apple Orchard and use it as a teaching tool for the elementary students at the school, an Arbor Day project teaching youth how to plant trees. WOW, it worked and every year the trees grow more and more. All we need now is a sign identifying the Q125 Apple Orchard.

Thanks Lowell, for all these things I have identified that you have done for me and for being a kind and generous person and an outstanding city manager in your years as Wayne's city manager.
