Early intervention makes the difference in quality of life

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

Having a child with a disability that impairs their development, either physically, mentally or emotionally, often means fighting to find resources to better serve that child and searching for a support network that understands not only the needs of the child, but also of the parent and other family members.

Wakefield is home to a resource that many don't know exists: Educational Service Unit #1 (ESU 1).

At ESU 1, professionals on staff are able to aid in a child's development from birth until they are 21 years old and there is no cost to the family for that help.

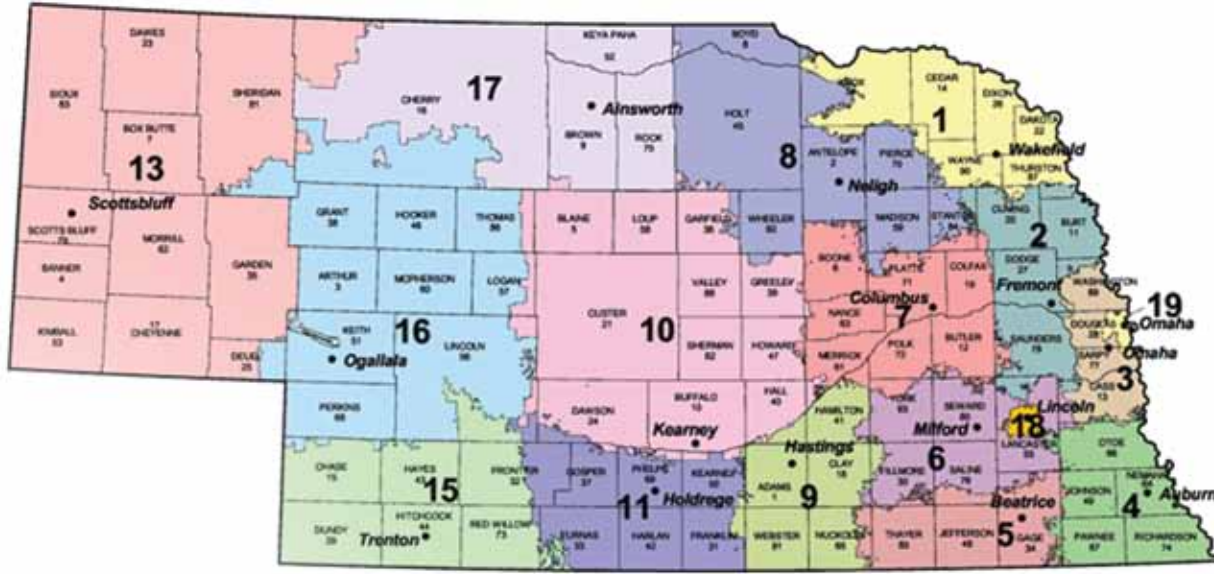

"We get referrals from a variety of sources. It can be the parent themselves, a daycare provider or teacher, the hospital where the baby was born," said Cheri Matthews, Early Childhood/Special Education Teacher and Coordinator at ESU 1. "It's a voluntary program -- no cost to the family."

In today's world of complicated insurance and changing health-care regulations, that alone can change a family's life.

Nebraska is one of only a few states whose ESUs are birth mandated, meaning they are obligated to serve a child from birth until 21. Some states only require from kindergarten until age 21.

Those first years, according to Matthews, are what set the child up for future years as a school student and eventually an adult.

The five teams that make up ESU 1 each consist of at least one services coordinator for those birth to two, a speech pathologist, an occupational therapist, physical therapist, an early child hood special education teacher, according to Hansen. Each team meets to discuss every child they see to ensure all members of the team are on the same page every week.

Each child in each district has access to all the disciplines, however only one of those professionals acts as the contact for the family.

Matthews gave an example of how ESU 1 would help a family who has an infant displaying signs of developmental delays.

After the referral is made, a Services Coordinator contacts the family if the child falls in the birth to age two range. For the three to five year old range, an early childhood providers contacts the family. In each case, the ESU contact discusses the family's concerns with them and explains the evaluation process and what services are offered.

If the family elects to go through with the evaluation, a team of at least two visit the home or daycare and look at all areas of development, including cognitive, social-emotional, fine and gross motor skills as well as speech and language.

At that point, the team determines whether the child qualifies for Early Intervention or Special Education Services, based on the testing and on a parent interview.

Most medical conditions such as Down Syndrome, Cerebral Palsy and Spina Bifida automatically qualify the child for services.

"We see where they're hitting or not hitting milestones but we really focus on the parent's information like they can't sit down for a meal because their child can't feed themselves to decide what services are needed," Matthews said. "The family really drives that process."

The same is true if the child falls into the three to five age range and is attending a preschool program or in daycare. The care provider at the school or at the daycare would have support from ESU to aid in the child's development.

"Where the disability is interfering with the family life is where we try and intervene. We coach the family and care providers and support them along the way."

The family-centered services available for those who qualify for Early Intervention include: early childhood special education, speech and language therapy, phys-

How to help children, youth and teens after a disaster

Editor's note: In light of all the publicity of recent natural disasters, the following information is being provided by Kim Bearnes, Extension Educator -University of Nebraska.

Natural disasters take a great toll on families and communities. Depending on the event, families may be dealing with loss of property and loss of family members. Some families and children will be able to handle the situation better than others, with some needing extra support and help. Each individual's reaction will be different (including how children, youth and teens respond).

Even if a family's home, friends or family were not involved in the disaster, people's routines and schedules may be affected by damage to schools, places of work or businesses. Stress and problems may not show up immediately. Children and teens may show behaviors and problems several weeks or months after the event. It helps to be aware of possible signs to look for.

The youth's age and development will make a difference in what they understand and how they deal with the situation. The following shows different ages and stages and how youth and teens might react to the event.

The following are age ranges, developmental stages and possible response after a disaster:

Infants and toddlers — Do not understand world events: Respond to the moods of those around them and to change of routines.

Preschoolers (ages 3 to 5) — Have active imaginations; do not always know the difference between make-believe and reality; most of what they know is based on what they see and hear (may not understand time, distance, location); have emotions but cannot always control them: Will think an event is happening again and again when they see repeated showings of an event in the media; may replay the event over and over, either in play or have upsetting nightmares of monsters or bad things, or trying to save someone; may not know where an event is that is shown in the media; worry something bad is going to happen to them or their family.

School agers (ages 6 to 12) — Beginning to understand some of what they see and hear; like rules; interested in learning the show or why of a disaster: Worry about their families and friends; react with fear and anxiety; may still have a hard time accepting or fully understanding explanations (so they will ask questions again)

Teens (ages 13 to 17) — Trying to develop who they are, what they stand for and what they believe; abstract thinkers — can understand actions and consequences; may not want to talk about feelings or what they are thinking about; friends and peers are very important; feel invincible (that bad things cannot happen to them — those things happen to others): May be preoccupied with their thoughts and actions; sense of safety and security is threatened; may see this as an opportunity to get involved or to volunteer (to collect food and supplies, for example); may worry about others; may engage in risky behavior.

Here are some things you can do to help a youth or teen after a disaster:

Be open: Let them ask questions and try to be as supportive as possible. It is better not to force them to talk until they are ready.

Give honest information and answers: Do your best in giving answers. If you make things up, children and teens may not trust you or your reassurances in the future.

Use words and descriptions that they understand: Try to be clear and give explanations that fit the age of the child. For example, if the storm damaged your roof, you might tell a 5-year-old: "The roof got a hole in it and we're going to get it fixed." You might tell a teenager: "The tree fell on our roof during the storm. We'll have to let the insurance agents look at it first and then we can get someone to fix it."

Be prepared to repeat explanations and information: Some children may ask the same question over and over. They are trying to process the situation and they may not understand how something like this happened. Try to be patient, answer and reassure.

Be patient: Children may regress in behaviors or act out. A child might be potty trained and start wetting the bed again, or a young child may start biting. School-age children might not want to go to school or leave the home. Teens may say they are OK, but then argue and yell. Try to be patient and tell them that it is a tough time, but things will calm down.

Acknowledge and validate thoughts, feelings and reactions: Family members may be struggling with all that has happened. Remember to let children and adults know that their questions and concerns are important and appropriate. For example, you might say: "That is a good question. I wonder about that, too. Let's see if we can find someone who can help us get the answer." It's also important for adults to acknowledge, understand and work through thoughts, feelings and reactions.

Help youth find ways to express themselves: Children may not be able to express their feelings. See Disaster, Page 4A

Working together

Donations from the Class of 1947 and the Class of 2017 were allocated to landscape the front of the High School. Together with the help of Joey Niemann owner and operator of Unlimited Landscaping, members of the newly formed FFA chapter provided landscaping in front of the high school, across from the benches recently donated by the class of 1947.

Budget approved, resignation of Rich Rethwisch accepted by school board

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

Taxes paid by local tax payers to support Wayne Community Schools will be approximately $800,000 less than last year following action taken at Monday's meeting of the Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan updated the board on the coming year's budget and tax asking. He told the board that the valuation of land in the district (which includes portions of Wayne County and Dixon County) was "basically flat."

The final valuation for the coming year, which includes the General Fund, Special Building Fund, Bonds and Qualified Capital Improvements is $1.036 per $100 in property valuation. Last year this number was $1.1237.

Lenihan said he had taken the district budget numbers to the Nebraska Department of Education and was told the district is "in good shape."

Board members accepted, with regrets, the resignation of Rich Rethwisch effective at the end of the 2017-2018 school year.

In other action, the board heard a report from Melody Hill, Wayne High School Guidance Counselor on the ACT results from the seniors who had graduated in May of 2017. Wayne students scored an average of 22.4 on the test, which is higher than both the state and national averages in all categories.

Mrs. Hill also presented information on the post-secondary plans for members of the class of 2017, which included work (two students), the military (one student) and post-secondary education (74 students). She also shared college choices for those students and programs of study.

Board members also approved a payment of $287,533 to TJJ Construction for the locker room/ITE classroom renovation project.

Superintendent Lenihan told the board that at this point, the district has paid for 90 percent of the project, with the final amount to be paid to be determined at the completion of the project. He listed several items that have been completed in recent days and noted that the State Fire Marshal would be at the school this week to inspect portions of the project.

Board members approved a lease with Sunnyview Place LLC effective from June 1, 2018 through May 31, 2024. The building is used as the Early Learning Center for the district.

The $43,200 lease for the first year of the lease is a 10 percent reduction from the current agreement and will be reduced by an additional five percent for the following year. At that point the lease amount will be determined by the change in the Consumer Price Index.

Also noted during Monday's meeting was a change in the date of Parent-Teacher Conferences this fall.

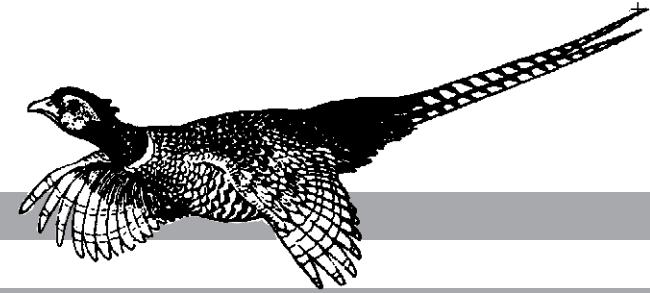

Originally scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 28, the conferences have been changed to Wednesday, Sept. 27 from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. School will be dismissed at 1 p.m. that day. There will be a full day of school on Thursday, Sept. 28 and no school on Friday, Sept. 29 when conferences will resume.

Enrollment numbers presented at the meeting indicate that total enrollment Pre-K through 12th grade is 918 students. The kindergarten class is the smallest with 54 students, while the seventh grade and tenth grade classes both have 82 students.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Oct. 9 at 5 p.m. in the library of the Junior-Senior High School.

Pink Flamingo event to include two presenters

The third annual Pink Flamingo Night at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne is just three weeks away.

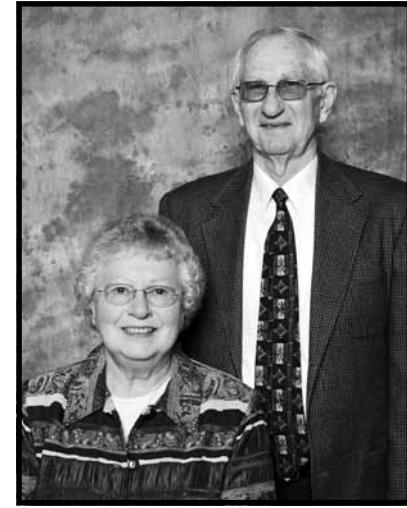

Organizers have announced the presenters for this year's event, which will be held on Thursday, Oct. 5 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the church.

Sponsors for the event include Providence Medical Center, Our Savior Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Churches in America (WELCA) and Pac-N-Save.

Supporting funds are being provided by Thrivent.

The focus for Pink Flamingo this year is "Advice from a Flamingo". Several different types of advice from a flamingo will be shared throughout the event.

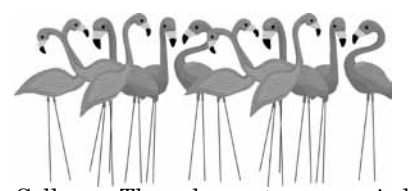

The presenters will be sharing this advice from a flamingo, including "Spend Time with Your Flock" and "Find your Balance." They will be sharing their inspirational stories based on two unique perspectives with cancer.

Betty and Darrel Heier

The first presenter for the evening will be Betty Heier. One piece of advice from a flamingo is to "Spend Time with Your Flock". Betty will be sharing how she spent time with her loved one through a cancer diagnosis and the treatment process.

Betty has been married to her husband, Darrel for 56 years and has lived in Wayne for all but one of those years. They met when they were both students at Wayne State College. They have two married sons - Tod and Tim - and five grandchildren.

Betty taught at Wakefield High School for several years and later became the Director of Staff Development at Educational Service Unit #1. After retiring from education in 2000 she served in various roles at the Nebraska Synod. She fully retired in 2015. Darrel taught at Wayne High School for over 30 years, retiring in 1998. He served on the Wayne City Council for several years, and he later was named to the Civil Service Commission. In addition, he has been active in leadership roles at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

They have always enjoyed traveling, fishing and especially enjoying spending time at their cabin on the river near Yankton. They both like to read and of course spend time with their family.

Darrel was diagnosed with colon cancer in August of 2013. He had surgery to remove the cancerous part of his colon, but the cancer had already metastasized to his liver; thus he is a Stage 4 cancer patient. He began chemotherapy in October 2013 and has been in treatment since that time. Dealing with the side effects of the chemo has been their major work since 2013.

Betty will be sharing her perspective on how to support someone you love who has been diagnosed with cancer.

Jolene Lichty

The second presenter at this year's Pink Flamingo is Jolene Lichty.

Another piece of advice from a flamingo is "Find the Right Balance". Jolene will be sharing her story about her own cancer diagnosis and how she found the right balance in her life to support her on her journey.

Jolene has been married to her husband Kevin for 22 years. They have three children - one married son who lives Omaha, one daughter who is a junior in college and another daughter who is a senior in high school.

She has been a mental health counselor in private practice for 24 years in O'Neill. Her work encompasses all ages, including teenagers to elderly. She provides sessions to individuals, couples or even family groups. She works a great deal with people struggling with anxiety and depression. Jolene has also taught for Northeast Community College, conducted workshops, and presented at health conferences.

In her free time, she loves to mow, do woodworking and help her husband with work in their construction business. Her husband builds homes, remodels, or renovates residential additions.

In May of 2016 Jolene was diagnosed with Neuroendocrine Pancreatic Cancer. It quickly reminded her of "what matters" and "what's important." This new journey has given her multiple speaking engagements where she is able to share how faith, a positive attitude and humor are key to life's challenges. She has recently written a self-published book, "Facing Unknowns."

Jolene will be sharing the story of her journey since her cancer diagnosis.

Tickets for Pink Flamingo Nite are available at all Wayne banks, Swans Apparel, Wayne Area Economic Development Office and Missa Sue's in Laurel and at the church office.

For more information, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Wayne State organizations join together to raise funds for criminal justice faculty member

Dr. Andria Cooper, Wayne State College Criminal Justice faculty member, was recently diagnosed with cancer. She is currently going through treatment at this time and is unable to work.

Cooper also served as the coach for the Wayne Swim team this summer.

The WSC Criminal Justice Association is collaborating with Alpha Phi Sigma and Delta Upsilon (Criminal Justice Honor Societies) for a T-shirt fundraiser to help Cooper and her family during this difficult time. All proceeds from the sale of the T-shirts will go directly to Cooper.

She has received service awards from the Kansas Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence (2004) and the Northwest Kansas Family Shelter (2003).

She earned her Juris Doctorate in 2000 from University of Kansas School of Law and her bachelor's degree from Fort Hays State University. Her teaching interests include criminal law and procedure, criminal evidence, report writing and trial techniques for criminal justice professionals, civil liability in criminal justice, comparative justice systems, and all legal aspects of other criminal justice disciplines. Her research interests include civil rights, especially privacy advocacy, search and seizure, and the second Amendment. Road work scheduled on N-16 south of Wakefield Weather permitting, the Nebraska Department of Transportation has begun work on N-16 south of Wakefield the week of Sept. 11.

The project begins at the N-16/N-35 junction and extends eight and one-half miles south. Work will include bridge deck repair and asphalt overlay.

Travel will be reduced to one lane and traffic will be controlled by temporary traffic signals while the bridge decks are repaired.

Work is anticipated to be completed in late fall.

Johs chosen as 'Reader of the Week' by public library

This week's Reader of the Week at the Wayne Public Library is Kathleen Johs.

What is the last book you read?

I recently read "Old Jules" by Mari Sandoz, a Nebraska author. To visit the High Plains Heritage Center at Chadron State College has been on my bucket list. It was really interesting to view what the lady did in her lifetime. I would recommend reading Sandoz's many books as it takes you back to settler's days.

Why do you read?

My passion for reading is said well by Albert Einstein's comment—"Once you stop learning, you start dying."

Have you ever had to give up on a book?

Yes, many times when the topic is not appealing or boring. There are lots of books to read, so why waste time on something not providing personal enrichment or entertainment.

Is there anything else you'd like to comment on about your passion for reading?

I will conclude with this tidbit. A study that was conducted by HRS at the University of Michigan, with 20,000 retirees, indicated that those who read books three or more hours a week were 23 percent less likely to die sooner than their peers that read only newspapers and magazines. So, with that motivation, let's keep using our libraries.

Biography

Hilbert and I have lived in Wayne for 48 years. We have two married sons and six grandkids. I've had the opportunity to work in local libraries, and enjoy being surrounded by books. We enjoy listening to books on CD when we travel. Incidentally, in my townhouse, there are shelves of books that need to be read during my retirement years. A Christian book collection is included as well as favorite cat books, as a pet cat lives with us.

"The foundation of what we provide is based on flexible, activity-based bursts of services -- we call it FABS scheduling. Providers go in when it's most needed during a transition," Hansen said.

Both women expressed the importance of the Early Intervention program, stating that the way things start from birth to age five can be extremely detrimental to the child or it can set them up for success later in life.

Behavior issues can arise if a child can't communicate or is struggling with activities, and according to both Matthews and Hansen, the goal is to decrease the obstacles faced by these kids and the sooner they are met with, evaluated and being worked with, the better their chance at success.

Disaster

press their feelings into words. Let them draw pictures, make things out of play dough, write or tell stories, play with toys or make songs that tell what they are thinking and feeling, or keep a journal to draw or write words.

Focus on what you can do: You may not have all of the answers. Try to focus on what you can do as a family. For example, say things like: "We are going to support each other. We are going to be patient with each other. We realize this is very stressful for all of us, so we are going to forgive each other if we get frustrated or say things we don't mean."

Limit media exposure: If possible, limit how much youth are watching or accessing the media about disasters. The news often repeats coverage of a disaster and the Internet may make the information available any time. Repeated exposure, however, can affect youth in a negative way (repeating the disaster, bringing up fear or anxiety, bad dreams, etc.). Very young children think the disaster is happening again, and do not understand that the coverage is being replayed.

Watch for other symptoms: Children and teens (and adults) may show worry and stress through physical signs, like stomach problems and headaches or chewing on their fingernails, etc.

For older youth and teens, asking questions and listening to them can be very helpful. When they are sharing ideas, be sure to listen and try not to fix what they are going through or finish the answers. Here are some ideas:

What were your first thoughts when this happened?

How do you feel about what happened?

I am really sad this happened.

I know a lot of people wonder if a storm like that will happen here. Can you help me with our safety plan, so we know what to do?

I would like to contribute to the relief effort. What are your ideas?

How would you like to help your friends?

Consider getting help from a doctor or mental health professional if a child or teen:

Has ongoing sleep problems

Has constant thoughts or worries that keep the child from playing, going to school or doing usual activities

Continues to have fears about death, leaving parents or going to school

Is preoccupied with questions or concerns about natural disasters

Engages in risky behaviors (e.g., uses alcohol, drugs or excessive amounts of caffeine)

Blue Devils win again, first 3-0 start since 2005

After two emotional wins over ranked opponents, it would have been easy for the Wayne High football team to have a letdown against an unranked foe.

It took some time for the defense to shake the cobwebs loose, but the defense was stellar throughout the night and the Blue Devils came through with a solid second half to pull away for a 30-12 win over Arlington to notch the team's first 3-0 start since 2005.

The win over the Eagles came after two huge victories over Columbus Scotus and Boone Central/Newman Grove, and coach Russ Plager said it took some time for his team to put away the win Friday at Memorial Stadium.

"I think we're a little tired," he said after the game. "We were in two dogfights the first two weeks and came into this one a little tired, but I was super-proud of how the kids kept playing and I liked their attitude and mentality. We just need to keep getting better and get our legs back under us."

Arlington drove down the field on its first possession and got deep into Wayne territory before the Blue Devil defense came up with a stop that set the tone for the first half. Neither team was able to get much going on offense until the closing minutes of the first half, when Wayne was able to crack the end zone on a one-yard sneak by Beau Bowers with :15 left to give Wayne a 7-0 halftime advantage.

The Eagles did their best to corral senior receiver Mason Lee for much of the night, but that left the door open for fellow senior receiver Ryan Jaixen on the first score of the second half. With Lee facing double coverage, that left Jaixen in a one-on-one situation and he beat his defender for a 70-yard touchdown pass from Bowers that moved him past Ransen Broders on the school's all-time career receiving yards list, passing Broders' mark of 1,124 yards set in 2006.

"It's nice to have somebody on both sides," Plager said. "If they play Ryan, they have problems with Mason, and if they cover the pass we have the ability to run the ball, so it makes our offense very diverse."

Arlington scored on a six-yard run by Jackson Borgman to make it a 14-6 game, but Wayne came right back when Bowers found Lee on a 28-yard strike to make it 21-6.

Jose Vergara hit a 26-yard field goal late in the third to make it a three-score game. Arlington got another short touchdown run by Borgman, but Brennen O'Reilly finished the deal with a late 17-yard touchdown run to put another notch in the win column for the 3-0 Blue Devils.

Wayne's defense did a great job of containing Arlington's ground attack with a bend-don't-break effort, particularly in the first half when the Blue Devil offense was struggling to get something going.

Andrea Torres came home with a runner-up finish in the girls race at Monday's Wayne Invitational, leading the girls to a third-place finish.

Area runners looking toward future after Monday's race

If Monday was any indication of what the race for state qualifying bids will be like at districts, the matchup between the Wayne and Hartington-Newcastle girls might be one to watch.

Both teams' top two runners led the field Monday in the Wayne Invitational at the Wayne Country Club, and the visiting Wildcats came away with the individual and team titles in the girls' 5,000-meter race.

Wayne High coach Courtney Maas said she was happy with how her top two runners competed, and is hopeful that the trailing runners can move up closer in the pack as the season winds down.

"I thought the girls did really well today," she said after the race. "Our top two runners are doing well, and we need to bring those third, fourth and fifth runners up closer to the front to close the gap with our lead runners."

Blue Devil senior Andrea Torres kept Hartington-Newcastle's Allie Rosener in her sights for much of the race, finishing 40 seconds behind the top Wildcat to take runner-up honors on the medal stand. She and teammate Gabi Meyer finished in the top five, with Meyer taking fifth, a little more than a minute behind her teammate.

"Andrea ran really well, and she knows that's a girl she needs to keep in her sights," Maas said. "It was good to see her and Gabi competing with their runners, and it will be interesting to see what happens down the road."

Maas said it will be important for all the Wayne runners to try to close the gap on Hartington-Newcastle's team, which claimed five of the top eight spots in Monday's race and look to be the area team to beat come district time in October.

"Hartington is in our district and they're going to be tough, and we have some tough teams in our district so it's important for us to keep working and for Andrea and Gabi to keep those girls in their sights."

As a team, the Blue Devils finished third, just three points behind Norfolk Catholic, which placed six runners among the top 15 medalists. Molly Hoskins finished just off the medal stand in 16th place, followed by Emily Chamberlain in 20th, Sarah Greenwald in 22nd, Andi Belt in 26th and Madison Jenkins in 29th.

Wayne State quarterback Zach Osborn became the school's all-time career touchdown passing leader with his 78th touchdown pass in Saturday's 48-10 win over University of Mary. He passed former Wildcat quarterback Silas Fluellen, who threw 76 touchdown passes from 2006-2009.

Wayne State Wildcats blow up early, cruise to 48-10 win over U of Mary Aaron Wright tied a school record with a 100-yard return of the opening kickoff, setting the tone for a 21-point first quarter as the Wildcats rolled to a 48-10 win over the University of Mary Saturday evening before a Family Day crowd of 1,854 at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne.

Wright took the opening kickoff and went the distance to put the Wildcats on the board just 15 seconds into the game. It was the first kickoff return for a score since Kevin Paulsen's 93-yard return at Minnesota Crookston in 2011 and ties the school record held by Marque McCray, who went 100 yards in 2005 at Concordia-St. Paul; and Wilson Hookfin who had a similar return in 1993 against Nebraska-Kearney.

The Wildcats made the score 14-0 at the 8:44 mark when Sam Wegner was on the receiving end of a 35-yard scoring pass from senior quarterback Zach Osborn. Later in the quarter, Wayne State scored on its third straight possession as Osborn hooked up with Nate Rogers for an 11-yard score for a 21-0 first-quarter lead.

Mary got on the scoreboard with 4:42 to go second quarter on a 26-yard field goal from Aaron Brennan to make the score 21-3, but Wayne State answered on the ensuing drive as Osborn found junior Layne Sullivan for a 31-yard score to make it 28-3 at the break. The scoring strike made Osborn Wayne State's all-time leader in touchdown passes, surpassing Silas Fluellen's 76 TD passes from 2006-09.

The Marauders scored a touchdown on the opening series of the second half as freshman DeShawn Gay raced 59 yards down the right sideline, reducing the Wildcat lead to 28-10.

Wayne State used a 19-yard field goal from sophomore Ethan Knudson and added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to put the game out of reach. Osborn and Wegner connected for a 79-yard pass play down the left sideline for the first score at the 4:56 mark followed by a Rashad Trimble 38-yard scoring run with 1:46 to play in the third quarter to make it 45-10. Knudson closed out the scoring in the final period with a 38-yard field goal.

Wayne State had a 458-356 advantage in total yards over Mary. Freshman Maliki Wilson led the 'Cats in rushing with 75 yards on nine attempts followed by Trimble with 10 carries for 68 yards. Osborn completed 16-of-22 passes for 293 yards and four touchdowns and now has 78 career TD passes after passing Fluellen for the all-time leader at WSC. Layne Sullivan led a balanced receiving group with four catches for 68 yards and one score followed by Sam Wegner with three receptions for 125 yards and two scores.

DeWayne Scott was credited with 11 tackles followed by Logan Weinandt with 10. Taylor Hoffman added nine tackles. Glenn Harris and Odessa Clark each had interceptions for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats (1-1) have a short week for their next game as Wayne State travels to Minnesota Crookston Thursday evening for a 7 p.m. contest that will be televised by Midco Sports Network.

"I think we played especially well on defense in the first half," Plager said. "They came out with a new formation in the second half that created some errors and we got some of those corrected, but I think we're moving forward as a defense. We've gotten better every week and we need to keep doing that."

Casey Koenig led the Blue Devil defensive effort with 12 total tackles, while Justin Dean added nine, Jose Vergara had eight and Berto Vergara had seven.

Offensively, Jose Vergara ran for 160 yards on 23 carries to lead the Blue Devil ground attack. Bowers was 8-of-13 for 195 yards and two touchdowns. Lee caught four balls for 76 yards and Jaixen had two catches for 99 yards.

Wayne will go for its first 4-0 start since 2002 this Friday when they travel to David City, who comes into the game with an 0-3 record but will not be an easy foe, Plager said.

"I know that when that coach was at David City earlier in his career he had a lot of success, so I'm sure they're moving forward and we're going to have to show up and play well to win," he said.

Softball team takes title at Mercy

The Wayne High softball team is starting to find its groove after a very successful week that included three no-hitters and the Mercy Invitational championship.

Last Tuesday, Annie Kniesche struck out 11 Lakeview batters and gave up only a bunt single as Wayne posted an 8-0 shutout of Columbus Lakeview at the Summer Sports Complex.

Wayne got on the board in the second when Jamie Gamble lashed a leadoff triple and scored on an Abby Ankeny single. They broke the game open with five runs in the fourth inning, with Gamble scoring on a passed ball and Ankeny scored after Josie Thompson reached on a fielder's choice. Dorey would also come home on the error and Sidney Biggerstaff capped the inning with a two-run single, scoring Thompson and Kennedy Maly.

Wayne finished things off on the eight-run run in the fifth when Jenna Trenhaile singled, scoring Masyn Dorey and Thompson with the game-ending runs to improve Wayne's record to 10-2.

Maly and Gamble each had two hits to pace a 10-hit effort for the Blue Devils. Trenhaile and Biggerstaff each had two RBIs and Gamble, Dorey and Thompson each scored two runs.

Kniesche allowed only a leadoff bunt single in the fourth inning to get the win. She struck out seven of the first nine she faced and finished with 11 strikeouts and one walk in the one-hit shutout.

Two nights later, Kniesche picked up her fourth no-hitter of the season as the Blue Devils handled Tekamah-Herman in a 6-0 road whitewashing.

The game was scoreless until the sixth when Maly took the first pitch over the wall in center to give the Blue Devils a 1-0 lead. They would break the game open in the seventh, thanks to two-run singles by Maly and Tori Kniesche. An error also brought a Wayne run home in the final inning.

That was enough for Kniesche, as the sophomore slinger struck out 12 and walked four for her fourth no-hitter of the season.

Wayne had nine hits in the win. Kniesche had three hits and Maly, Annie Kniesche and Dorey two-run triple from Gamble. Trenhaile also scored on a wild pitch.

Wayne got another run in the fourth on an RBI double by Dorey, then added a run in the fifth on an RBI double by Maly to close out the win.

Strong second half sends Trojans to 54-18 road win

HARTINGTON — Sometimes, how you start isn't as important as how you finish.

After playing a flat first half, Wakefield switched gears and dominated the second half against Hartington-Newcastle, scoring 38 unanswered points to come away with a 54-18 win and improve to 3-0 on the season.

Coach Mike Hassler said his team started the game slow, but was happy with how they responded in the second half.

"We just came out of the gates kind of flat emotionally," he said. "I thought physically we played hard, but mentally and emotionally it took us awhile to get going. Everything that went wrong before half-time was self-inflicted. Outside of the first touchdown pass by Hartington-Newcastle, we gave them their other two first-half scores. I was really pleased with our talk at half, I might have had to light a little fire under them, but they listened to adjustments and came out and did an outstanding job of executing."

going to Julio Sanchez. Gabe Peitz caught one pass for seven yards.

Defensively, Alex Camarena had 12 total tackles and Sanchez, Godinez and Solomon Peitz each had 10. Lamprecht added nine stops.

Wakefield carries their undefeated record into the first of four straight home games in five weeks against Pender.

"They are athletic and have real good team speed," Hassler said of the Pendragons. "Their running backs are low to the ground and shifty, so we'll definitely need to be solid tacklers. Each week has been a step up in competition and this week is no different. We've got a chance to go 4-0, which hasn't been done since 2007. I think the boys are excited to get back home after three straight road games and get to play in front of the home crowd. Last week was a big win, but we are far from satisfied."

Concern

In the boys race, Winside was hoping to be among the top tier of teams, but heat and injuries took their toll as the Wildcats limped home to a sixth-place finish.

While the team result wasn't what coach Jennifer Kesting was looking for, she did see some good things from returning state qualifier Dylan Brogren and newcomer Alex Carlson, both of whom finished in the top 20.

"We didn't run as well as the first two meets, and I think the heat kind of affected them a little bit and that's something we need to work on," she said. "Dylan ran his race and did a great job, and Alex stepped up today with JaShaun's knee bothering him and ran really well. Alex runs well in practice and he did a good job transitioning that to this meet."

Brogren was the lone medalist for the Wildcats with an 11th place time of 19:15.52, while Carlson was not far away from placing with a 19th place time of 20:00.05.

Wayne High had a medalist in the boys race as well, as freshman Christopher Woerdemann slipped into the last spot with about eight seconds to spare to lead the Blue Devil boys to a seventh-place finish.

"Christopher ran a good time, and that's what we're looking for out of him," Maas said. "He knows what his goal is for the end of the season and is working toward that, and the boys are continuing to improve on their teams and be competitive on the course."

Trailing Brogren and Carlson for Winside were JaShaun Vyborny (25th), Carter Jensen (32nd), Toby Hienemann (39th), Lane Damme (43rd), Eddie Olander (74th) and Josh Gruenke (78th).

For Wayne, Brandon Wacker finished 24th, Treyton Blecke was 40th and Cole Hobza was 47th to account for Wayne's team scoring. Also running were Liam Spieker (54th), Lance Muhs (70th) and Stuart Hasemann (75th).

The LCC boys finished 23 points behind Wayne in eighth place. Ryan Bathke led the Bears with a 28th place finish, followed by Michael Kurtzhals (34th), Sean Aschoff (38th) and Karsen Klooz (49th). Also running were Logan Hansen (63rd), Landen Boysen (69th) and Trace Naeve (73rd).

Junior high runners also raced on a 3,000-meter course. In the girls race, top 10 area finishers included Fatima Lucas-Garcia of Wayne, who placed fifth. In the boys race, Tyler Carlson of Winside was seventh, Dillon Olson of LCC was ninth and Dean Kruger of Winside was 10th. Ashton Munsell was the top Wayne runner, finishing 19th, while Kaden Hopkins was right behind in 20th.

Wayne State College volleyball goes 3-1 in Steel and Silver Classic in Pueblo Colorado

Wayne State handled CSU-Pueblo and Texas A&M-Commerce in action Friday at the Steel and Silver Classic in Pueblo, Colo. The 12th ranked Wildcats overcame 30 attack errors to rally for a 3-2 win over the host ThunderWolves, winning 23-25, 25-13, 20-25, 25-18, 15-12. The first set saw 11 ties and six lead changes, but Pueblo scored four of the final five points in the set to win the opening set. Redshirt freshman Jaci Brahmmer produced five kills in the set for WSC while sophomore libero Haley Kauth accounted for nine digs. Wayne State bounced back in the second set, using four service aces, to lead from start to finish, but the Thunderwolves came back and forced 12 Wildcat attack errors to take the 2-1 match advantage. The Wildcats rebounded in the fourth set and used 13 kills and a .273 attack percentage to down the ThunderWolves, led by Katie Stephens' six kills. In the final set, Wayne State came back from a 7-3 deficit and scored six of the final seven points to take the match. Stephens led WSC with 14 kills and 11 digs in the win. The first set saw a close battle early, but UCCS scored five straight points to erase a 15-13 Wildcat lead and Wayne State never got closer than two points the rest of the set. A similar fate played out for the Wildcats in the second set. With UCCS holding a 16-15 lead, the host Mountain Lions scored seven of the next eight points for a 23-16 lead and went on to take the 2-0 advantage. Legislative Update Senator Albrecht prepping for next legislative session

District 17 Report
Monday, September 11, 2017
Senator Joni Albrecht

Next year will be on us before we know it, which means the second session of the Legislature will be underway. In preparation, I'm pleased to announce I have brought on Amara Meyer as Legal Counsel for the Business & Labor Committee.

Amara is originally from a farm near Brule, Nebraska. She holds a juris doctor degree from the University of Nebraska College of Law. Amara began her legislative career while still in college by serving as a Legislative Page. Since then, she has spent almost seven years working for the Unicameral in various capacities in the office of the Clerk of the Legislature.

She has also clerked for firms in Holdrege and Beloit, Kansas. Additionally, Amara has spent significant amounts of time serving the community through the Juvenile Re-Entry Project, Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, and Community Legal Education Project.

In my office, she will work with the members of the Business & Labor Committee to draft bills and amendments, analyze legislation, and perform legal research on committee subject matters which broadly include workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, labor and employment relations, fair employment practices, labor conditions, and other matters that fall under the Committee's jurisdiction. She will also write the bill summaries and any special reports put out by the Committee which will be available on the Legislature's website.

She will also work with my Committee Clerk Beverly Neel to ensure our committee meeting, hearings, and interactions happen smoothly and without a hitch.

I am confident that Amara will be a wonderful addition to our team and will effectively and efficiently serve the people of Nebraska.

For younger leaders, the Nebraska Department of Education recently announced two students will be selected to join 102 other delegates in Washington D.C. for the United States Senate Youth Program's 56th Annual Washington Week in early March.

This merit-based leadership program brings two students from each state, the District of Columbia and the Department of Defense Education Activity to Washington each year to experience an intensive, week-long educational program about the workings of the Senate and the federal government overall.

Most notably, each of the 104 student delegates will receive a $10,000 undergraduate college scholarship in addition to the expenses paid for the trip to the nation's capital. This fantastic opportunity for qualifying students. Commissioner of Education, Matthew L. Blomstedt, in cooperation with high school principals, will select Nebraska's delegates from juniors or seniors, elected student offices and those belonging to a district, regional or state-level civic or educational organization who hold a high-level leadership position for the entire 2017-2018 academic year.

Interested students can find more information and an application at <https://www.education.ne.gov/ss/usyp.html>. Applications are due to the Nebraska Department of Education by 4:00 p.m. CST on October 4, 2017. Finally, our hearts go out to those impacted by the forest fires and horrendous storms impacting our county. Nebraskans have historically been known to rise to the occasion and to help our neighbors.

But you should be aware that there are those who would capitalize on such tragedy. Never give any personal information to someone who calls you out of the blue, even if they claim to be from a charity. Also, beware of attachments in e-mails as these may contain viruses that could hurt your computer or worse.

Advice offered on how to avoid hassles in public

Have you noticed that your toddler seems to act up when you really want him to behave well? You are not alone. Be reasonable. Try to avoid situations that toddlers are too young to handle.

- Your toddler likes to do things his own way, doesn't want to share toys, and may tear books.
- This may mean that play with age mates should be brief and visits to the library well-supervised. Explain to your toddler before you go out what you will be doing together. Tell him how you want him to behave, and what will happen if he doesn't mind you.

- You could tell him how you will reward his good behavior with a hug or a story on your way home.
- If you expect him to be bored, hungry, or restless, take food or toys to keep him happy.

Follow through. If your toddler is being good, praise his good behavior. If he is not minding you, try to keep calm and follow through as you had discussed with him earlier.

- Try not to embarrass him or yourself in front of others. If possible, take him aside and tell him how you want him to act. Don't give in to him. If you do, you are rewarding bad behavior and he will be more likely to do it again.

Redirect. When your toddler acts out, suggest a new activity.

- Telling him "no" or "don't" is not enough.
- If he fusses in the grocery store, ask him to help you find his favorite cereal or the apples.
- If this doesn't work, tell him you will take him outside the store. Remain there with him until he calms down.

Floods, fires not only things that make us afraid

The weather around the world lately has just been crazy scary. There are numerous fires in the northwest. Hurricanes Harvey and Irma have wreaked havoc in Houston, Florida, and the Caribbean. There was a devastating earthquake in Mexico. Indonesia, India, and other places are experiencing major flooding. It is just crazy scary.

But it's not just floods and fires that make us afraid, is it? Life frequently throws storms at us that are crazy scary. Financial storms. Relationship storms. Storms at work. Storms that rock our marriages. Storms that break up families. Storms that are just crazy scary.

When the storms come, I am reminded of, and take comfort in, what God said in Isaiah 43. He says, "Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have summoned you by name; you are mine. When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and when you pass through the rivers, they will not sweep over you. When you walk through the fire, you will not be burned; the flames will not set you ablaze. For I am the Lord, your God" (Isaiah 43:1-3).

One of the thoughts in this text that comforts me is the fact that I am known by God. "Fear not . . . I have summoned you by name." Isn't that amazing? Out of the 7.5 billion people on the planet, God knows you and calls you by name. You are known by God.

Some of you know what it's like to be alone. You may be surrounded by people at work, but you still feel all alone. You feel like no one knows you; it seems that no one notices; that no one would notice if you are gone. But God says, "I know you. And you are valuable to me.

God sees your pain. He knows what you are going through. He knows all about your scars. He knows what went on in your home as a child. He knows what the kids said on the playground. He knows what your spouse did.

Not only is God aware of your scars, He knows all about your open wounds that are still bleeding. He knows what your spouse said to you last night. He knows how your children have rejected the faith.

He knows of the grief you bear. And you need to know that not only is God aware of your scars and your wounds, He cares. He is concerned. Not hurt, no scar, no sting, no wound, no feeling will ever escape God's notice.

Another thought that gives me comfort is that I belong to God. You are not just known by God, you are also chosen by God. Some of you know what it's like to be passed over. In grade school you were always the last one to get picked when choosing teams. You were the first one cut from varsity sports. You were never second chair, let alone first chair, in band. You've never even been considered for a promotion. But God has considered you. He has chosen you. He has picked you. He says, "Fear not . . . you are mine."

One more thing. You are not alone. God talks about the raging waters and the consuming fire, but He says, "Fear not . . . I am with you." At times it seems that the water is rising too fast and that we're going to drown. We can barely keep our heads above the water. Other times it seems that the fire is raging all around us, destroying everything we hold dear. But through it all. God is right there with us.

You may feel all alone, but you are never alone. God is right there with you. He's with you in the pain. He's with you in your apartment. He's with you in the hospital room. He is with you at the cemetery. You can take comfort and find strength with David who said, "Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for you are with me" (Psalm 23:4). He is with you always and forever, to the very end of time.

There will be days when it feels like you can barely hold your head above water, when it feel like you're going to drown. There will be other days when it seems that the fire is raging all around you, destroying everything you hold dear. But remember that God knows you, has chosen you, and is with you. And you will be able to say with the Psalmist, "We went through fire and water, but you brought us to a place of abundance" (Psalm 66:12).

Retired school personnel meet in Wayne

The Wayne Area Association of Retired School Personnel met at Brookdale in Wayne on Sept. 5.

The group enjoyed coffee and a social gathering before the program. Pastor Judy Carlson presented the program, "The Secret Code In Quilts" that took the slaves to freedom. She brought several quilts that she made herself and explained the patterns and symbols hidden in them.

Quilts were set out on a porch or clothesline and their messages helped make the passage to freedom become a reality. The group learned many new things and Judy answered several questions after her presentation.

The group recorded 2,947 individual volunteer hours with adults and 411 with youth since last September. Members noted that the group is "glad to serve our communities and we are proof that you are never too old to help others."

Edith Zahnizer has joined the group. She was welcomed and the group "would love to see other retired school personnel join us. Feel free to come to our meetings and join us in fellowship."

The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 6 at 9:30 a.m. at Brookdale Wayne.

Pastor Dayton

New pastor assumes duties at Winside United Methodist Church

By Dianne Jaeger,
For the Herald

Lydia Dayton began serving as Pastor for the Winside United Methodist Church and the Stanton United Methodist Church as of July 1, 2017.

Pastor Dayton previously was serving as the Director of Christian Education at First United Methodist Church in Norfolk.

Pastor Dayton earned a B.A. degree in Theology, with minors in Biblical languages and psychology from Union College in Lincoln.

Following her graduation she served as an intern with focus of pastoral care, and served in the church office setting. She provided pulpit supply for a small number of churches in southeast Nebraska on a rotation basis, which provided preaching experience in a variety of settings.

Pastor Dayton was born and raised in upstate New York. She has lived in numerous places over the years. Pastor said, "I am so blessed to have a very eclectic denominational background and experience, which affords me the ability to relate to diverse theological views and traditions. Before holding a church staff position, I have always served in volunteer positions within the churches I have been."

Pastor Dayton is married to George Conner. She has two daughters and one son, who all live in Lincoln. They also have three grandchildren.

Pastor Dayton enjoys sewing, quilt-piecing, reading, writing, and thrift store shopping. She says "I have had a diverse background in work settings from customer service, housekeeping, office work, child-care and food service, but my favorite and the most important "job" I have ever held was being a mother to my three children."

Winside United Methodist Church hold Sunday morning services at 9:00 a.m. followed by Sunday School. A Ladies Bible Study is also held on Wed. mornings at 10:30 a.m. Guests and new members are always welcome.

Pastor Judy Carlson was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Wayne Area Association of Retired School Personnel.

New books at the library

Be sure to check out and spend time reading about Nebraska's counties in Nebraska, 150 Years Told Through 93 Counties by David Henlee.

The celebration of 150 years of statehood gave Mr. Henlee a reason to dig through the archives of the Omaha World-Herald which had published county-by-county events and facts about each of the 93 counties back in the 1930's. Although many of the photos, drawings, and cartoons are from the 1930 publication "Nebraska in the Making," there is much updated information and pictures.

Many of the photographs are winners in a statewide photography initiative sponsored by Hildegard Center for the Arts in preparation for the state's 150th birthday. The call for entries, "Bridges: Sharing Our Past to Enrich the Future," collected images from all 93 counties and named a winner for each county. The winning selections are featured in Nebraska, 150 Years Told Through 93 Counties.

Spending time with girl friends

Today is September eleventh, and we are reminded of the worst terrorist attack on our soil ever. And then, we watch that crazy boyman in North Korea and wonder if there will be another, even worse, one. And we pray not. Football season is in full gear! When I left for church on Saturday eve, Mike and his friend, Ron, were glued to the TV. Shortly before the service began, a fellow came in and announced it was 42 to 12 at half time! On the way home, I was mentally taking back all the black shirts and firing the new defensive "wizard". Of course, when I arrived home and learned that Oregon had not scored in the second half and we had, I changed my plans. For now. On Friday, we were treated to a computer video of Lutheran High's game at Shelby. Again, we marveled at technology that allows grandparents to sit in their kitchen and watch touchdowns, passes, tackles, and mayhem without traveling or paying. Friday, during the day, Ron came over to be with Mike so I could join his wife, my cousin/classmate and three other old nurses in our annual trip west to join up with the gals who live in Hastings, Elm Creek, Cozad, etc. We try to find new places each time, and Marlene, from Columbus, knew of a cafe called Perks in Henderson. So, we gathered there. And they were kind enough to put us in the back room, because we warned them about giggles, hoots, and such. When I got home, there was a cute poem from Mike's cousin in Portland dealing with that very thing. It is by Kathy O'Malley and begins: "Elaine's vertigo has never been worse, Kay can't recall where she left her purse, Rhonda's about to replace her knees, Linda's breathing is touched with a wheeze." After that, there are verses dealing with breast lumps, memory loss, hearing aides, and night driving. It takes up with: "They've been through divorces and babies and wakes. They do for each other, whatever it takes. They've already buried Marcia and Kate. And truthfully, Lizzie's not looking so great. "So, whenever they can, they get out to eat. Open bottles of wine and forget their sore feet. There's laughing and crying and letting down guards. And when the bill comes, there are ten credit cards. So here's to the waiters who keep orders straight, and to the places that let lunches run late. And here's to the girl friends, those near and far, Here's to the girl friends; you know who you are!"

By: Pat Meierhenry

Advice offered for storing grain

With harvest rapidly approaching, now is the time to prepare grain bins and harvesting equipment to help ensure that grain going into storage will remain in good condition. Don't wait until the middle of harvest to discover that a bin foundation is severely cracked, or find even later that insects from grain that was left in the combine last fall have severely infested a bin of new grain. Proper bin and equipment preparation is a key to preserving stored grain quality. Remove all traces of old grain from combines, truck beds, grain carts, augers, and any other equipment used for harvesting, transporting, and handling grain. Even small amounts of moldy or insect-infested grain left in equipment can contaminate a bin of new grain. Adjust combines according to the manufacturer's specifications to minimize grain damage and to maximize removal of fines and other foreign material. Equip combines with a straw spreader or chopper to avoid leaving windrows of residue that can interfere with subsequent tillage and/or planting operations. Particularly when harvesting soybeans or small grains with a header greater than about 20 feet, a chaff spreader may also be needed for more uniform residue distribution. Be sure that all guards and shields are in place and in good working order. Check the bin site, and remove any items or debris that would interfere with safe, unobstructed movement around the bin. Remove any spilled grain and mow the site to reduce the chances of insect or rodent infestation. If necessary, regrade the site so that water readily drains away from bin foundations. Inspect bins and foundations for structural problems. Uneven settlement of foundations can cause gaps between the foundation and bottom edge of the bin. This can result in grain spills and provide entry points for water, insects, and rodents. If perforated floors are used, a gap between the foundation and bin will allow air that would normally be forced through the grain to escape from the bin. Small gaps can usually be filled with a high quality caulking compound. If deterioration is extensive, the mastic seal may need to be replaced. Be sure all anchor bolts are tight and not damaged. Inspect the bin roof and sides, inside and out, for leaks, loose or sheared bolts, rust or other corrosion, etc. Check the roof vents and access hatch, and caulk any cracks where they meet the roof. Be sure the access ladder is complete and securely fastened to the bin. Repair or replace any deteriorated components. Wiring for fans and other electrical components should be inspected for corrosion and cracked, frayed, or broken insulation. Exposed wiring should be run through waterproof, dust-tight conduit. Avoid kinking the conduit, and make sure all connections are secure. Check fans, heaters, transitions, and ducts for corrosion and damage. Remove any accumulated dust and dirt that will reduce the operating efficiency. Be sure that all connections are tight. Ensure that the bins are clean. Remove any old grain with brooms and vacuum cleaners. Never put new grain on top of old. Also, clean bins not being used for storage this year to keep insects from migrating to other bins. It is generally impossible to thoroughly clean under perforated drying floors, although by removing the drying fan, and using a grain vacuum much of the accumulated debris can be removed. If long term storage (over 10 months) is anticipated, consider treating the cleaned bin with protective insecticides at least two weeks before adding any grain. Apply the spray to the point of runoff to as many interior surfaces as possible, especially joints, seams, cracks, ledges, and corners. Also spray outside the bin at the foundation and near doors, vents, ducts, and fans. Tempo, Diacon, Storicide, Suspend, or Centynal can be used for treating bin surfaces. Tempo should not be applied directly to the grain. If you want to apply a protectant directly to corn, use Actellic. As with all pesticides, read and follow product label instructions for handling, dilution, mixing, and application directions. Do not add grain to the bin until the walls have dried thoroughly. NOTE: Do not spray bins where soybeans will be stored. Stored soybeans rarely experience insect problems and few insecticides are labeled for use on soybeans. Stored grain represents a major investment. Precautions taken before grain is put into the bin can pay dividends later by helping to assure that quality is maintained. This information can also be found on the web at <http://cropwatch.unl.edu/grain>.

Ag Happenings
