Wayne is stop on State Chamber & Industry tour

Joseph Young and Jamie Karl with the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce & Industry were in Wayne on Thursday to discuss legislative issues and update their audience on how Nebraska ranks in the business community.

Approximately 30 community members were on nand to listen to Young talk about what had happened in the Nebraska legislature during the 90day 2017 legislative sesison.

He highlighted bills that were passed that were were opposed by the State Chamber.

He noted that the Chamber's four major areas of interest are with bills that affect taxation, regulation, workforce (including workforce housing) and Karl then shared information regarding Nebraska's strengths and weaknesses.

Among the highlights are the fact that CNBC ranks Nebraska #13 for Business; #5 for Education; supported by the State Chamber and those that #6 for Business Friendliness; and #10 for Quality of Life.

In what he called areas of "mediocrity" Nebraska ranked #20 in Workforce (a drop of nine spots since 2014); #27 in Current Economy (a drop of 16 points in six years); #26 in Growth Prospects and #33 in Technology and Innovation.

Listed as a major weakness in the state was tax-

Nebraska businesses paid $9.8 billion in state and local taxes while individuals paid more than $2.24 billion in taxes. Nebraska's property taxes are the 11th highest in the nation.

Also taking part in Thursday's forum was State Senator Joni Albrecht. She spoke of the work of the 2017 Legislature and highlighted legislation she has worked to get passed.

The Wayne stop was the 24th of 27 that the State Chamber is making this fall.

Facebook data center reignites local wind energy project

A recent announcement by Facebook has reignited a stalled wind energy facility project

Thanks to the data center soon to be constructed in Papillion, the Rattlesnake Creek wind project in Dixon County, situated between Allen, Wakefield and Emerson will once again have life.

Rattlesnake Creek was proposed in 2013 by Kansas-based Tradewind Energy. The project stalled when a buyer for the power generated couldn't be found in time to take advantage of tax cuts on the federal level.

According to Tradewind officials at the time, the risk was simply too great on the project with a price tag of $300 million at that time.

Now, it's a different story.

The facility will generate 320 megawatts, which is a significant increase over the original plan of 200 megawatts.

Upon completion, the facility will be second in size to only one other wind farm in Nebraska. Currently the 400-megawatt Grande Prairie project in Holt County holds that record. Grande Prairie was the largest wind energy facility constructed in 2016 anywhere in the United States.

According to the fact sheet Tradewind Energy provided on Rattlesnake Creek, more than 100 landowners and over 32,000 acres will be involved in the project.

Construction on Rattlesnake Creek's project is projected to begin by the end of this year with the hope of being online by the fourth-quarter in 2018, according to Brice Barton, vice president of development for Tradewind.

Projects such as this one showcase the state's wind resource.

According to David Bracht, director of the Nebraska Energy Office, wind projects here in the state are extremely productive. So much so in fact, that according to the American Wind Energy Association, in 2016 Nebraska wind energy facilities boasted an average capacity factor of 45 percent -- higher than any other state. The average capacity throughout the U.S. in 2016 was 35 percent.

Wind is closely competitive with conventional generators like coal and natural gas, even without subsidies, and construction costs for these projects have declined.

Facebook will purchase 200 megawatts of the power output at Rattlesnake Creek while the 120 megawatts remaining will be sold to other buyers.

The new electric rate structure Omaha Public Power District unveiled in January allows Facebook to power the entire Papillion project with 100 percent clean energy. Facebook's goal is to consume at least 50 percent of its electricity from clean, renewable sourc

The facility is valued at $307 million, according to building permits filed with Sarpy County. However, that number will increase when the county issues a permit on a second 450,000 square foot building to be built.

The TeamMates Mentoring Program matches mentors with mentees based on interests and life experiences. A mentor isn't a counselor or a tutor, they are there to be a friend to the mentee.

After launching the program in 1991 with his wife, Coach Osborne has continued to meet with and speak to TeamMates chapters and the community members surrounding them.

Chapter coordinator Diana Badley said there are numerous students wanting to be in the program but the lack of mentors makes it difficult. She stressed that the 1 hour a week commitment was doable even with hectic schedules and encourages all to attend the event to find out more about the

What is the last book you read? I just finished Nicholas Sparks "Best of Me". It was an easy read during some hectic summer weeks.

Who is your favorite author?

I'm not that particular. I enjoy being challenged by the Library's Book Club to read something I wouldn't choose on my own. I also like to find out what the grandkids are reading for school and read along with them and have them lead the discussion.

Why do you read?

Reading takes me away and is something quiet and relaxing. I like to read when I'm stuck waiting, and most nights before bed. I always take a book with me on vacation.

Have you ever had to give up on a book?

Yes, sometimes a book just doesn't capture me and sometimes because I've already renewed it once and I'm still not finishedwhich means I really wasn't enjoying it that much anyway.

Name a book you would recommend and tell everyone why they should read it.

Just read, it doesn't matter

Is there anything else you'd like to comment on about your passion for reading?

Besides books, I love to check out magazines and how-to books from our library. I'm really excited about the new Makerspace grant funded project.

Biography

My grandmother, Myrtle Irene Benedict, became a librarian after the death of her aunt, who was the first librarian of the small association library at Marcus Iowa. She gave her services gratis for about 10 years. When the library's funds were wiped out, due to bank failure, she was instrumental in setting up the public library and she stayed on as librarian, receiving a small stipend of $12 per year for keeping it clean, registering books and mending the dilapidated ones. She was forced to resign in 1935 because she married.

I've had a library card from that library and from the library in every town I've ever lived.

I am currently the Assistant Director at Wayne Area Economic Development, serving as the Chamber Exec and Main Street Manager.

Besides reading, I enjoy sewing, knit and crochet work, and being at home or traveling with my fiance, Dwight Mock.

Blue Devils hit the road for first round of playoffs in Chadron

By MICHAEL CARNES

For The Herald

Wayne's 11th appearance in the state football playoffs and first in four seasons certainly didn't come easy. The Blue Devils are one of four teams from the C1-5 district that made the 16-team field for the Class C-1 playoffs in the Nebraska State Football Championships, and four of the teams on this year's schedule are playing for a shot at the state title. The Blue Devils beat No. 6 seed Boone Central/Newman Grove to help propel them to a 5-0 start this year, but suffered tough losses to 15th seed Pierce, No. 7 West Point-Beemer and top-seeded Norfolk Catholic in consecutive weeks before capping the season with a 32-8 win over 2016 champion O'Neill.

"That's the thing that makes you feel good going in," coach Russ Plager said of Wayne's tough regular-season schedule. "We haven't played a bunch of cupcakes, so we know what it's like to play the best. It's a good step forward for the program. There were a few games in there that were close and we thought we could pull them out, but we got in and that gets us a shot."

The Blue Devils will open the season on the road at Chadron, who went 8-1 on the season but played a much easier schedule than Wayne. Of their nine games, only one came against a playoff team (eighthseeded Gothenburg, a 30-7 win) and their lone loss was a 22-14 decision at Gering, who went 2-7 in Class B.

The Eagles run a good balanced offense and will be a good opening-round challenge for the Blue Devils, Plager said.

"They're big up front and have good players on both sides of the ball," he said. "Their quarterback throws the ball well and they have a talented tailback that will present some problems defensively. They also are physical and aggressive on defense, so we'll have our hands full."

Chadron is led by senior quarterback McCoy Bila, who completed 126-of-19 passes for 1,283 yards and 13 touchdowns this season. His top receivers include Brayden Richardson (35 catches, 427 yards, 4 TD) and Sam RIschling (25 catches, 256 yards, 1 TD), along with Luke Tiensvold (23 catches, 145 yards), who is also the team's leading rusher with 957 yards on 159 carries and 12 touchdowns.

Jake Lemmon has also proven to be a solid carrier at running back with 244 yards on 39 carries and four touchdowns.

Defensively, the Eagles have relied on Clark Riesen and Jeff Cerny as their top tacklers with 88 and 74 total tackles, respectively. Rischling is the team leader in quarterback sacks with 3.5 and Lemmon leads the team in interceptions with four. As a team, Chadron's defense has created 20 turnovers this season.

"We'll have to control the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball," Plager said. "If we can run the ball and stop the run, we're pretty good in the pass game on both sides and if we can control that we'll have a

If Wayne comes out victorious on the road, they will play a quarterfinal game at home next Friday, Nov. 3, against either Wahoo or Kearney Catholic.

And while Plager's focus is on Friday's game in Chadron, he was quick to point out that the C-1 field will be a tough one, no matter who advances.

"We were going to pull a tough team no matter what and we're going to play a good program no matter what. There are tough matchups across the board," he said. "From the teams I've seen, a few of the teams who were on our schedule are dangerous. Norfolk Catholic is physical and runs the ball well and is solid defensively, Boone Central is a heck of a team and is improving every week, and Pierce has a really nice team. Any one of those teams who were on our schedule could really go deep."

Wayne advances to Mid State semifinals in thriller against Pierce Bluejays

State Conference final Monday, but it wasn't easy as they let a two-set led get away before rallying for a five-set win over Pierce, 29-27, 25-14, 18-25, 16-25, 15-9.

Wayne was down 24-17 in the opening set before rallying to take the first set, and used that momentum to build a big lead that carried them to an easy second-set win and a 2-0 advantage.

Pierce rallied, however, dominating the net in the third and fourth sets to force a winner-take-all fifth set between the fourth-seeded Bluejays and fifth-seeded Blue Devils. Wayne pulled away in the final set to take the win and move on to Tuesday's semifinal against top-seeded and undefeated Hartington Cedar Catholic.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils beat the host Eagles (25-21, 25-16) before falling to Hartington Cedar Catholic (24-26, 25-14, 25-16).

Wayne High senior Andrea Torres capped her cross country career with a 12th place medal in Class C girls action at the State Cross Country Championships at the Kearney Country Club.

Torres brings home medal from state cross country

Winside 16th in first-ever boys team effort at state

By MICHAEL CARNES

For The Herald

KEARNEY — There was a lot of pride felt by area runners and their coaches as the last runners crossed the finish line at the State Cross Country Championships.

For Wayne High senior Andrea Torres, there were tears of joy and relief after earning her first state medal with a 12th place finish.

For Winside coach Jennifer Kesting, the pride was felt in watching the first-ever Wildcat boys team compete and come home finishing 16th out of 18 teams in the Class D boys race.

About the only negative that could come from the championship event, competed on a beautiful sunny day at the Kearney County Club, was the strong southerly winds that challenged many of the runners, particularly in the second half of the race.

For Wayne High's runners, Torres and junior Gabi Meyer both had solid races and finished the season with smiles on their faces.

"It felt really good to end it like that," a smiling Torres said after her 12th place time of 20:56.1. "I was just really happy to medal and it was a good last race."

"The weather was super-nice today and I was glad we had the first race," added Meyer, who placed 50th in 22:15.2 in the Class C girls race. "It's an indescribable feeling coming down here and it's always exciting."

Wayne coach Courtney Maas was pleased with the efforts of each of her runners, both of whom made their third trip to state and first as individuals after they were part of the girls teams who qualified in 2015 and 2016.

"Andrea ran really well," Maas said of her senior. "It was really emotional for her to finish. I came over to her after the race to congratulate her and she was crying. It was her last race as a Blue Devil and it was a great finish for her."

"Gabi ran very well and I was proud of her also," she added. "There was no pressure coming in for her, and she has another year to come back so I'm sure she'll be hungry to come back next year."

Maas said the strong southerly winds made it a challenge for all the runners, and she thought both Torres and Meyer were challenged by the wind as the 5,000-meter race wore on.

"It just takes so much out of you energy-wise," she said. "I could tell with their posture that it was wearing on them some, but they ran as hard as they could today and that's all I could ask for."

Wayne junior Gabi Meyer made her third appearance at state and finished 50th in the Class C girls race at the State Cross Country Championships in Kearney.

"That was the thing to have those kids come down here and see what it takes to get here," she said. "I'm sure the kids will be inspired to work hard next year to get both teams down here."

WHILE THE WAYNE GIRLS are regular visitors at state, this was the first-ever trip for the Winside boys team, who earned a trip to state with a third-place finish at last week's district meet in

Blue Devils secure playoff spot with 32-8 road win against O'Neill

O'NEILL — The Wayne High football team needed a win to secure a spot in the state playoffs, and they got it with a commanding effort against the defending state champions.

Wayne scored twice in the first period, then answered an O'Neill score with two more in the fourth quarter to post a 32-8 win Thursday and secure a spot in the Class C-1 bracket for the Nebraska State High School Football Championships that begin this week.

For coach Russ Plager, it was a satisfying win that ended a rough three-game losing streak for the team and set them on the right course for the playoffs.

Russ Stusse

"I think everybody was aware of the situation going in, that we win and we're in, but we just needed to stick to the plan and get through those tough games," he said. "I thought the kids played with really a great effort and played as hard in that game as about any game they've played this season. I felt the kids had a sense of urgency

It stayed that way until late in the third quarter, when the Eagles cut the deficit in half on a two-yard run by quarterback Alex Thramer to make it a 16-8 game. Wayne responded on their next drive with a back-breaking play on a third-and-26, as Bowers found Lee, who escaped a pair of wouldbe tacklers and turned the play into a 27-yard touchdown pass that made it 24-8.

Wayne then put together a 15-play drive that covered more than eight minutes of the fourth quarter, ending it with a oneyard sneak by Bowers that helped Wayne to 6-3 on the season and gave them the No. 12 seed for the playoffs and a first-round game at Chadron on Friday at 3 p.m.

Trojans blow up scoreboard in season finale the state playoffs, they decided to empty the box full of points for the season Thursday with an 84-14 blowout at Niobrara-Verdigre.

The Trojans put up 56 points in the first half and didn't stop in the second half, scoring four more touchdowns to cap an excellent 7-1 season, with their only loss coming against top-ranked Creighton.

Coach Mike Hassler said the win was the perfect way to send the seniors out in their final game.

"We got a beautiful night weather wise to send out our three seniors," he said. "The boys came out executed and finished the season on a great note. I think it was a little bittersweet for all of us. This team is very proud of what it accomplished this season, but we just hated to see it come to an end."

The Trojans roiled up 463 yards rushing and 520 yards on the ground in their big win, and while they aren't eligible for the playoffs, Hassler feels his team could have done well in the battle for the state "Would we have loved to be in the play-offs? Absolutely, but our program is exactly where it needs to be," he said. "The growth of our players the past four seasons of eight man has been remarkable. We hear people say all the time that we have nothing to play for since we can't make the playoffs. I'd have to disagree with that. This group of 29 young man had eight varsity football games and five JV games to play a wonderful game, compete, and build a season full of memories that I don't think any of them will forget anytime soon. If you ask me, they had everything to play for."

The Trojans jumped on the Lions early in the first quarter. Noah

Since Wakefield is ineligible for Lamprecht scored on runs of 3 and 4 yards and Solomon Peitz threw a 27-yard pass to Julio Sanchez to help the Trojans build a 22-0 firstquarter advantage.

The scoring didn't stop in the second period. Peitz called his own number on a 13-yard score, Lamprecht put in his third touchdown on an 18-yard run, and Dylon Harder capitalized on three straight scores, hitting paydirt on runs of 51, 19 and 35 yards to help the Trojans build a 56-0 halftime advantage.

The Lions broke through on the first series of the second half, but Wakefield countered with a twoyard score by Ben Chase. Even with the running clock in effect, Wakefield scored three more times on runs by Blake Heimann, Samuel Nuno and Dawson Samuelson to finish off the 70-point win.

Harder finished the night with 163 yards on 14 carries and three touchdowns, Heimann had 85 yards on eight carries with a score, and Lamprecht had 77 yards on 13 carries with three touchdowns to lead the offense. Samuelson rushed one time for a 67-yard touchdown, Peitz had 44 yards on eight carries and was 2-for-5 passing for 57 yards and a touchdown. Nuno had 11 yards on two carries, and Chase and Clay Christensen both had eight yards on three carries. Gabe Peitz caught one pass for 30 yards and Sanchez had a 27-yard touchdown catch.

Hassler said it was a fun time coaching the Trojans to a 7-1 campaign this season.

"This was a great group of young men and I'm so proud of what they accomplished," he said. "Those three seniors leaving our program are going to be missed. They definitely left a footprint on the turnaround of this program in the past four years. It's up to the underclassmen returning next year to keep this ball rolling. This coaching staff and these players have been through a lot together, but I think we are at a point where winning is the standard and expectation to meet. As a coach, that makes me happy and very proud of what we are accomplishing in our athletic programs.'

Warriors outscore Wayne State 42-19

Minn. 11-ranked Winona State scored 33 straight points to erase an early 13-9 deficit as the Warriors topped Wayne State 42-19 Saturday in Northern Sun Conference action at Altra Federal Credit Union Stadium in Winona, Minn.

The host Warriors opened the scoring with a safety as Nick Pridgeon sacked Wildcat quarterback Zach Osborn in the end zone for a 2-0 Winona State lead, but Wavne State's defense responded as they created a turnover with a Glenn Harris interception that was returned 40 yards to the Wayne State 46. The Wildcats cashed that in when quarterback Aaron Bleil fired an 11-yard touchdown pass to senior Nate Rogers at the 7:26 mark of the first quarter to put Wayne State up 7-2.

Winona State wasted little time in regaining the lead as the Warriors needed just four plays and 66 yards to take a 9-7 advantage, capped by a Zach Olstad one-yard

Wayne State responded in similar fashion as Bleil connected with junior Layne Sullivan on a 59-yard touchdown pass, giving the Wildcats the lead back at 13-9 with 3:31 to play in the first quarter.

It was all Winona State after that, as the Warriors scored the next 33 points until Wayne State closed the scoring with a touchdown in the final minute of the game when quarterback Taylor Reedy hit Rogers a six-yard score.

Winona State finished the game with 411 yards of total offense to 333 for Wayne State. The Warriors had 219 rushing and 192 passing while WSC ended with 109 on the ground and 224 passing.

Sullivan was Wayne State's top rusher with 38 yards on three rushes followed by Rashad Trimble with 30 yards on 12 carries.

Sullivan was Wayne State's top receiver with six receptions for 98 yards and one score followed by Willie Walton with eight grabs for 69 yards. Rogers had three catches for 29 yards and two scores and now has 24 career touchdown passes, tied for second all-time in school history with Logan Masters, who caught 24 from 2006-09.

Defensively, Ian Ailts and De-Wayne Scott led the Wildcats with six tackles each. Harris and Aaron Wright each had interceptions for WSC. Wayne State played the game without leading tackler, sophomore linebacker Tyler Thomsen, who did not make the trip due to injury.

Wayne State (4-4, 2-2 NSIC South) will be at home Saturday, hosting Concordia-St. Paul in an NSIC South Division contest with kickoff set for 1 p.m. at Cunningham Field.

year as an individual qualifier, but teammates Alex Carlson, Carter Jensen, JaShaun Vyborny, Lame Damme and Toby Heinemann were along for the ride this year and the boys finished 16th out of 18 teams in the Class D field.

"I am so proud of my team, what an amazing experience running at state was for them," coach Jennifer Kesting said. "I hope that my freshman and sophomores are hungry for a return visit to state next year."

Brogren, who finished 88th last year, came home in 44th place this year with a time of 18:34.4. He got off to a fast start and struggled to maintain that consistent pace, but finished strong to lead the Winside boys.

"Dylan had a rough day and I think let the excitement of the race cause him to go out too fast, but he was able to pass people at the end and end up in a decent finishing position," Kesting said.

Alex Carlson and Carter Jensen raced home together, with Carlson finishing 95th and placing less than a second ahead of his teammate, who finished 96th.

"I look forward to watching Alex and his younger brother Tyler run against each other next year when Tyler moves up to high school," Kesting said. "And Carter ran a great race, pretty much matching his time at districts."

JaShaun Vyborny finished 100th, followed by Toby Heinemann in 127th and Lane Damme in 128th. Vyborny and Brogren are seniors, but Kesting will have four of her state runners back next year for a hopeful return to state next fall.

As National Cyber Security Awareness Month comes to a close, the Nebraska Attorney General's Office offers the following reminders to both consumers and businesses that may be impacted by a data breach.

If your business has suffered a data breach, and you suspect that personal information regarding Nebraska consumers has been or may be used for an unauthorized purpose, state law requires that you provide notice to both the affected individuals and the Attorney General. Additional details may be found in Nebraska's Financial Data Protection and Consumer Notification of Data Security Breach Act. · Check your credit reports for suspicious activity. Visit www.annualcreditreport.com to get your free credit reports from Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. State Democratic Party chair provides updates on TransCanada application

Dixon County Democrats will host Nebraska Democratic Party Chair Jane Kleeb in Wakefield, NE, on Sunday, October 29. Kleeb will provide updates on various issues concerning rural Nebraskans, including the Keystone XL pipeline. The event will start at 2:00 p.m. at the Legion Hall in Wakefield. It is open to the public, and refreshments will be provided.

The Nebraska Public Service Commission (PSC) is currently considering TransCanada's permit application for its proposed Keystone XL pipeline. The five PSC commissioners are currently examining evidence presented during intervenor proceedings in August, oral testimony from public hearings along the pipeline route, and nearly 500,000 written comments submitted for consideration. The PSC has until Nov. 23 to render a decision to reject or approve the permit or set conditional approval. In addition to pipeline updates, Kleeb will discuss rural issues concerning local voters, work on the Unity Reform Commission and ways to bring together divided sides, and 2018 candidates running for office in Nebraska. A question-and-answer session will be held, time permitting. Kleeb is an experienced grassroots organizer, manager, political strategist, and nonprofit entrepreneur who deeply understands the need to address issues facing rural and urban communities. Billboards Up, Let the Campaign Begin

IS IT JUST ME

OR ARE ELECTION CAMPAIGNS STARTING

EARLIER AND EARLIER...

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

I saw my first political billboard today for the 2018 Legislature. Incumbent Patty Pansing Brooks has at least a couple along the edge of her central Lincoln district, and likely more elsewhere.

In case you didn't know, it's 7 months until the May primary and 13 months until the November 2018 general election. But with a Republican majority in the officially nonpartisan Legislature, it's important that Democrats like Pansing Brooks and moderate Republicans get their foot in the door

With Governor Pete Ricketts' established behavior of funding challengers to incumbents with whom he disagrees, it's important to start early and spend a lot of money. That, from the mouth of one of those incumbent Republicans who had the nerve to vote against Ricketts and his party line and was ousted after the Governor gave substantial contributions to his challenger, also a Republican.

Given that understanding, expect to see a longer campaign season than usual. For the record, that nonpartisan Unicameral is now comprised of 32 Republicans, 14 Democrats, 2 Independents and 1 Libertarian. The Republicans lost Sen. Bob Krist of Omaha who switched to Independent to mount a gubernatorial campaign in 2018.

Senators in the 24 even-numbered legislative districts are either up for re-election or ready to vacate their seats because of term limits.

Ricketts has replaced two Republican Senators this year. He recently named Theresa Thibodeau of Omaha to replace Sen. Joni Craighead in Omaha's District 6. She applied for the job and has agreed to seek election to the seat in 2018. He skipped the list of applicants for this year's other opening when Bill Kintner resigned. Ricketts picked Elmwood banker Robert Clements who wasn't on the list.

The announced challenger in the Craighead district is Democrat Machaela Cavanaugh, a mother of two with more than 20 years in public service including a stint working in Washington, DC, for then Senator Ben Nelson. The Cavanuagh name is a familiar one in Nebraska politics as her dad, John, served as a U.S. Congressman for Nebraska's Second Congressional District from 1977 – 1980.

I recently told a group of Central Nebraska Democrats that getting more Democrats or Independents elected to the Legislature is the best way to keep the body nonpartisan. There has never been an abundance of registered Democrats in the Unicameral, but there has been less party line and more cooperation in that body prior to the current bully pulpit Republicans.

Krist, the 60-year-old Independent candidate for Governor is already doing a statewide fly-around to get his name and face before voters. By mounting a nonpartisan bid for the office, he avoids a primary showdown with Ricketts. The Democrats have not picked a candidate for the office.

A retired Lt. Col. In the Air Force, Krist is a pilot who delayed his statewide campaign to fly workers and supplies to Puerto Rico as part of hurricane recovery efforts. He has been a strong moderate Republican voice in the Legislature as he faces his last year due to term limits. With 8 years under his belt and his ninth year coming up next session, he is the longest serving current senator next to Er nie Chambers who has been there forever – OK, 43 years.

It's going to take cooperation from Democrats, Independents and disgruntled Republicans to get Krist elected. Can it be done? Let's

OpenSky analysis finds federal tax changes could have major ramifications at the state level

LINCOLN -- As the U.S. Senate prepares to vote this week on its budget resolution, a key step in the implementation of federal tax changes, a new OpenSky Policy Institute analysis finds such changes at the federal level could have a profound impact on Nebraska and its state budget.

From large decreases or increases in state revenue, to cuts to key services that Nebraskans need, to increased stress regarding property taxes, the potential effect of federal changes could be far reaching, the analysis finds.

However, the analysis notes, the lack of details regarding the possible changes creates tremendous uncertainty about their true effects and this brings the need to for federal and state policymakers to exercise caution when it comes to fiscal policy

"With so much uncertainty regarding the tax changes and their impact on our state and its residents, it will be important for both federal and state policymakers to be sure understand the full effects of any tax plan before making any fiscal policy changes," said Renee Fry, executive director of OpenSky Policy Institute. "Not doing so could have major unintended consequences for our state and for Nebraska

The new analysis notes:

- The close link between the federal tax code and Nebraska's tax code means some of the potential federal changes could automatically create large state revenue
- Programs and services in our state budget that receive federal dollars could be cut significantly if federal tax cuts are offset by federal funding cuts;
- Federal funding cuts could more than offset any state revenue gains that might be sparked by federal tax changes;
- If the tax changes result in state revenue losses, Nebraska lawmakers may need to cut education and other services, find other revenue sources or pass the cost of these services on to property taxpayers where possible;
- The potential elimination of deductions for state and local taxes and for medical expenses could increase stress for Nebraska property taxpayers and those with
- significant medical expenses; and - The vast majority of tax savings created by the tax changes would likely go to wealthy households and a lack of detail regarding the changes makes it difficult to tell what, if any, tax savings might go to middle-class Nebraskans. Chuck Brown, OpenSky Policy Institute

Potential tax changes

The current federal tax discus- would raise the lowest sion centers on a multitude of proposed changes, including:

- Repealing the alternative
- minimum tax;
- Repealing personal exemptions and some itemized deductions;
- Increasing the standard deduction;
- Collapsing the seven current federal tax brackets into three brackets with tax rates of 12%, 25%, and 35%. This
- rate from 10% to 12%, lower the highest rate from 39.5 % to 35%; - Lowering the corporate
- income tax rate from 35% to 20%: - Creating a special 25% tax
- rate for "passthrough" businesses that do not pay the
- corporate income tax; - Enhancing the Child Tax Credit; and
- Repealing the Estate Tax

Tax change process and timeline Some federal leaders seek to implement tax changes by the end of the year by way of Congress' budget reconciliation process. The reconciliation process would allow federal lawmakers to pass tax changes with a simple Senate majority, which could be 50 senators plus a tie-breaker vote from the Vice President, as opposed to the 60 votes needed to advance legislation under regular rules. The House and Senate each have to pass budget resolutions, which set the guidelines for tax changes.

The House has already passed its budget resolution and the Senate will look to pass its resolution this week. Then, the resolutions are merged in a conference, and the merged resolution is sent back to the House and Senate floors for approval into law. House leadership has indicated they will unveil their tax plan in mid-October and the Senate plan is expected to be released in mid-November. The President has set a goal of passing final tax legislation by the end of the year.

Winside High School conducting Apply2College event

Seniors at Winside took a critical step in the college preparation process when they participated in a college application event on Oct. 12, at the school.

Winside Public High School is one of nearly 200 schools conducting events as part of the statewide Apply2College Campaign sponsored by EducationQuest Foundation. During the event, seniors received hands-on help with college applications from the School Counselor and High School Principal

"Apply2College Day was a positive experience that assured seniors took the most critical step toward a college education by actually applying to a college. I was excited to see many students applied to more than one college," said School Counselor Andrea Hinrichs.

The Apply2College Campaign is part of the American College Application Campaign sponsored by the American Council on Education. All 50 states participate in the annual effort.

Wakefield Balloon Days

Gusty winds kept the balloons from filling the skies on Friday and Saturday, but it didn't stop the rest of the festivities for Wakefield's Balloon Days celebration. The annual parade and games were still a hit regardless of the chilly temperatures. Pony rides were a popular stop for many area children. The car show drew numerous hot rides from all around—some of which also participated in the 4th Jug's first car show and cruise night also held over the weekend.

Grandparents' Day

The Winside Elementary recently celebrated their grandparents with a breakfast. Several grandpas and grandmas enjoyed breakfast with their grandchildren. The Winside School Improvement Profile Committee, under the direction of Mrs. LeNell Quinn, created a special project for students to present to their grandparents. Pictured are Grandpa Ernie Jaeger, granddaughters Kortney Jaeger and Katelyn Jager, and Grandma Dianne Jaeger enjoying the meal and the company.

Time to work together to build relationships

October 31st is close at hand and soon much of the community will be celebrating the day with raucous parties complete with festive music and libations.

You might assume I'm talking about Halloween, but for Lutherans across the country, Halloween might be just an afterthought. Instead of pumpkins and ghosts taking center-stage, Lutheran churches around the globe are preparing to celebrate the 500th anniversary of the day Martin Luther posted his 95 Theses on the chapel door of Wittenberg University in Ger-

If you aren't Lutheran, you might be wondering, "What's the big deal?"

In short, Lutherans are Christians who trace their lineage back to Oct. 31, 1517 when the priest and theologian of the Roman Catholic Church, Martin Luther, published a series of debate topics he wished to discuss publicly, all centered around critiques he had on abuses in the church. Luther's public action then triggered a series of events which led to his and his followers' excommunication from the Catholic Church.

While Lutherans are proud of the theological tradition they have inherited from Martin Luther and his fellow reformers, many contemporary leaders of Lutheranism have asked if we should even be celebrating at all. After-all, the events that led to the birth of Lutheranism at the same time resulted in the fracturing of the whole church. No matter the denomination, most Christians agree that the New Testament urges all Christ-followers to forgive one another, seek reconciliation, and avoid division.

So should Lutherans throw a party this Oct. 31? I think, in good conscience, Lutherans can honor their particular theological point of view, tell the story of how we got to the present moment, and celebrate shared cultural experiences. But we should also be ready to confess our shared sins; the one holy catholic church is fractured and we should seek better understanding between denominations.

If you would like to know more on this topic, I recommend downloading the document titled, "Declaration on the Way", a summary of Lutheran-Roman Catholic Dialog from the past fifty years. It is jointly published by both church bodies. While it enumerates those areas that Lutherans and Roman Catholics share common ground, it also highlights those topics that still require more conversation before agreement can be reached.

On Oct. 31, you may see your Lutheran neighbors in the bar singing "A Mighty Fortress is Our God", or Lutheran kids dressed up as Martin Luther trick-or-treating door to door. Your Lutheran friends might re-post the 95 Theses on their Facebook page or share a link to Luther's Small Catechism (memorized by Lutheran teenagers for generations!).

As a Lutheran pastor, I confess that I am both proud and embarrassed by our enthusiasm. I know that while I will say a prayer of thanksgiving on Oct. 31 for the rich theological tradition to which I belong, I will also offer a prayer of confession, asking the Holy Spirit to forgive us and inspire us to work towards better relationships with all our neighbors.

No matter the Christian denomination, let us all join in praying the same words Christ prayed as recorded in the Gospel of John 17: 22 "May they be one as We are One."

Above left, a small shanty constructed out of hodge-podge materials is home to a family of 5. The three children currently reside in the local orphanage due to the dangers of sleeping so openly. Poisonous snakes and scorpions are drawn to warmth at night, making the hut unsafe. The team Kessy and her son Kingston worked with were able to build the foundation (below) and erect a good portion of the walls of the new home before their trip ended (above right).

They were looking for people who might be interested in helping construct a home for a family of five currently living in a hut.

Hanson got information about the trip and thought about it some before deciding it would be a great opportunity for her and her eldest son to experience. Their time in Sri Lanka was well-spent and Hanson said they would definitely be back in a few years to work on another home with her younger son once he's a bit older. Hanson discussed how the groups are generally made up of people who somehow know other people who have been involved with the process or know the trustees. For example, Hanson knew the wife of a board member, so she was considered for the trip. She still had to be vetted by the group to be sure her morals and ideals aligned with the groups' mission, but the first step was knowing someone involved. Generally speaking, now includes two additional members. As parents, the original trio felt particularly moved by the tough existence of so many young children around the globe. The group decided that channeling their energy into charity was a calling in their lives, so they focused on construction for a main reason.

That reason was to create community hubs.

According to the website, the group chose construction to "Breathe life nto a building and it will become the hub of a community, providing cru-

After seeing a friend's post on Facebook, Kessy Hanson reached out to cial opportunities such as schooling, vocational training and shelter. Generation after generation of children can be transformed by the possibilities created within four walls."

Currently The Dust Project is helping to fund the construction of the Irupalai Community Centre in Jaffna in partnership with the Paalam

This community center will bring life-changing educational opportunities for young people in Jaffna, allowing them to improve their futures.

The Dust Project believes that no matter how poor a person is, they have the ability to change their situation, which is why the group works "alongside people so that they can play a key role in resolving their own problems and thus retain their dignity."

In addition to funding the construction of the community center, The Dust Project hosted a Christmas party last year for over 350 children in the Irupalai village. Each child took part in a traditional Christmas meal and was given a goodie bag complete with toys, candies and school sup-

This is in addition to raising funds for building homes and latrines for families in other villages in Sri Lanka.

While in Sri Lanka, Hanson and her son spent a couple days sightseeing in the Colombo area before making their way to Jaffna where the home was being built.

The two stayed in an apartment above the local church to be close to the building site. Also nearby was the girls' orphanage.

Hanson said she would definitely go with The Dust Project again because of how well this trip turned out for them.

Dixon County held an achievement award program and a Halloween party on Oct. 22 at the Haskell Ag Lab near Concord.

Speaker shares information on aging lunch once a month. In order for everyone to have we consider them part of our "dress up" process. a chance to share news, good or bad, we pass a salt We should be putting them in here at home every shaker. Whoever has it, gets to speak.

a friend had alerted me to Carol McShane, a nurse here in town who has her own business. It's called Nebraska Nursing Consultants, and her nurses contract to provide necessary care management for the elderly. Often, for families who are not near by.

After doing this for twenty years, Carol has some definite ideas about aging. And she's put these thoughts together in a talk that says normal aging is not a disease and should not be treated as one.

She then goes down the line on systems and normal changes as we age, and how we can compensate for those changes. For instance, she advises buying 100 watt LED light bulbs. Even with out cataracts removed, we don't see as well. Especially our peripheral vision is affected.

Of course, hearing is a problem. Both the Big that's a good thing! Right?

The women in our neighborhood get together for Farmer and I have hearing aides. The kicker is that morning because the brain has to get used to how We don't typically have an outside speaker. But the computers in them work. Note to self; use them

She advises Food and Fiber for the age old problem, and says popcorn is a good solution. Also, she doesn't advocate caffeine, saying it takes 16 to 18 hours to leave the body! No wonder our sleep is disturbed.

She gave us a resource to check on medications unsafe for elders; it's called The Beers list, and is published by Duke University.

Carol is no spring chicken, and she takes NO prescription meds. I think that is a totally worthy goal. She has a delightful way of sharing all kinds of wisdom, and we all learned from her. But I admit we were all ready for our naps when she finished. And

Workshops, meetings in upcoming weeks

Well the weather has turned and a lot of harvesting is going on. It's amazing how fast soybean harvest went after a week or so of dry weather. The big equipment can really do a quick job if conditions are right. We still have a lot of corn to go, however, so be very aware of slow moving traffic and plan and drive accordingly.

If the rest of this column looks familiar to you it is because I covered this subject last week, but I really hope we get some interest in the next couple of meetings coming up. I know harvesting will be going on for a while but through some Corn Board funding, we have an opportunity to provide a grain marketing workshop in a few weeks. Maybe you want to take a rest, maybe it will rain, or maybe you can send someone to this free grain marketing meeting. It has been said that many market decisions are based not on facts, but three emotions; fear, greed, and wishful thinking. Here is an example that actually happens quite frequently: Markets are beginning to fall, but you hold on because you believe prices will go higher (greed), keep hanging on as prices continue to fall, hoping for a rebound (wishful thinking), and finally selling at the low because you can't stand losing anymore (fear). If this sounds familiar to you, you may want to come to the workshop or send some-

Actually, at the risk of typecasting, some studies have shown that gals may be better at selling grain, meaning to it, therefore receiving higher overall prices, than the guys, who seem to more often believe or hope that prices are going higher. It also depends on the interests of each individual.

Hey what have you got to lose? This free grain marketing workshop will be offered Tuesday, Nov. 14 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Wayne Fire Hall, to assist grain producers and their business partners in using futures and options to reduce risk in the marketing of their Nebraska Extension will present information on strategies for using forward contracts, futures, and options to better enable producers in their grain marketing decisions. Topics covered include using marketing tools to reduce basis and price volatility. The workshop will feature the Marketing in a New Era simulator and Grain Marketing Plan app.
