Wayne's Annual Community Celebration set for Jan. 28

Wayne's Annual Community Celebration, AKA the Annual Chamber Banquet, will be held on Sunday, Jan. 28 at the City Auditorium.

The Special Events Committee has made many changes for this year's event, coming up with the theme, "Winning in Wayne," as a nod to the entertainment as well as the traditional awards ceremony.

From 4 to 6 p.m. those in attendance will enjoy a Taste of Wayne, casino themed games, cash bar, music by Paradox, and silent auction.

The Taste of Wayne will feature a meal sized variety of specialties from local restaurants. The Silent Auction continues to be an important funding source for the Annual Wayne State Band Day Scholarship awarded by the Chamber of Commerce for the past 30 years.

At 6 p.m., the awards program will begin. Following a short introduction, the community awards will be presented:

Business of the Year;

Most Valuable Patron;
Educator of the Year and Outstanding Citizen of the Year.

The evening festivities will wrap up by 7 p.m. Tickets will be sold for $20 per person or you may purchase a block of six tickets, including drinks for $135.

The Annual Community Celebration is open to the public and businesses are urged to bring along spouses, employees, and other business associates for a night of food, fun, and celebration. There will be open seating on the main floor of the auditorium as well as in the bleachers for the program but there will be no reserved tables this year.

The committee recommends that tickets be purchased in advance, but there may be some tickets available at the door.

The Wayne Area Economic Development Office is reminding all attendees "Remember, what happens at the auditorium, stays at the auditorium!"

Commissioners move forward with restoration

By Calyn Dunklau

During a recent meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, serious discussion surrounding the upkeep and renovation of the courthouse led to a unanimous vote to move forward with Berggren Architects out of Lincoln.

After several visits with Jerry Berggren and potential project manager Jake Geisert, the board had been given a rough estimate of the costs associated with a full exterior renovation of the courthouse.

In need of attention for a number of years, the board has been allocating money for such a project. Tuck pointing, a masonry method used to secure bricks, is needed in many spots around the building. In addition to having the masonry joints worked on, several stones used in the courthouse design are in need of attention as well.

Berggren Architects designs new buildings and additions, but also specializes in managing historical renovations. The firm has been in business since the late seventies and has worked on numerous courthouses among other historic buildings.

Berggren sent a line item estimate to the board recently, breaking down the cost of the exterior renovations. While the number was significant at $882,486, the commissioners were prepared for worse, having $1.3 million set aside in county improvements. That estimate, however, is based on 100 percent replacement of every mortar joint on the courthouse exterior.

Berggren, available by phone conference, discussed how the project would be most cost effective as one large project, but that it would be possible to break into phases to span multiple fiscal years.

Such a large project would likely take more than one construction season to complete, and with that, would likely appeal to more local smaller contractors. Berggren said that there are only a few contractors in the midwest with crews large enough to tackle the whole project in one season.

Council listens to update on electric department

By Clara Osten

Planning for the future of the city's electric department was among the topics discussed during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Andrew Ross, Director of the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool, spoke to the council on the advantages of financial planning in regard to the city's electric department.

He told the council of the need to look both at the history of the department and toward the future.

"We want to present this information to the council and give them a heads up and then wait for direction (from the council) before moving forward," he said.

He shared information from a report he had compiled and gave recommendations on what he felt would be wise moves on the part of the city in regard to rate adjustments.

"The (financial) picture in Wayne is really good. However, to stay there, it may be a good idea to have smaller rate increases before the city needs a major increase," he said.

An update on LB 840 activity was presented to the council by Wayne Area Economic Director Luke Virgil. He told the council that the LB 840 fund has been depleted (other than the funds necessary to repay the loans from the Electric Department) and the future will involve keeping tabs on how the money is being repaid.

He said that any new requests will involve revolving loan money from the fund.

Virgil also gave the council information on LB 518 and housing opportunities.

He told the council that in the last legislative session, $7 million was allocated from the Nebraska Affordable Housing Trust Fund for workforce housing in the state.

"This is a grant, and would not have to be repaid. It does, however, come with a dollar for dollar match by cities or businesses. I believe Wayne has an advantage because a

The sky's the limit when expectations are high, so that's where Jon Pickinpaugh keeps them. The Nebraska science teacher at South Sioux City Middle School provides a highly efficient individualized interactive framework for his students to monitor their own goals and progress, with clear instruction and concrete daily learning targets. He tricks out his classes with all the bells and whistles to spur student engagement including bell ringers, hands-on lessons and multimedia. Pickinpaugh's students consistently make solid academic gains thanks to his strategic and creative dedication to boosting STEM education.

But it was Pickinpaugh who got a big boost at a surprise school assembly on Jan. 11, where he was presented with a prestigious Milken Educator Award by Milken Family Foundation Senior Program Administrator Greg Gallagher. Pickinpaugh was named a 2017-18 recipient of the national recognition, which comes with an unrestricted $25,000 cash prize. He is the only Milken Educator Award winner from Nebraska this year, and is among the 44 honorees for 2017-18.

The Milken Educator Awards, hailed by Teacher magazine as the "Oscars of Teaching," has been opening minds and shaping futures for 30 years. Research shows teacher quality is the driving in-school factor behind student growth and achievement. The initiative not only aims to reward great teachers, but to celebrate, elevate and activate those innovators in the classroom who are guiding America's next generation of leaders. Milken Educators believe, "The future belongs to the educated."

Pickinpaugh has developed a multifaceted approach to enhancing science proficiency, promoting structure and flexibility, while employing both self-directed and targeted learning. In his five years at South Sioux City, Pickinpaugh has helped prioritize learning standards and built proficiency scales to ramp up academic and behavioral improvements. He has also worked

The Allen Band, under the direction of Richard Lacy, travelled to Texas to perform at the Alamo Bowl over Christmas break.

Allen band students travel to, perform at Alamo Bowl

From 3 p.m. on Christmas Day until 3 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 30 a group of students from Allen Consolidated School took part in what many of them are calling "the trip of a lifetime."

The Allen Band, under the direction of Richard Lacy, traveled by bus to San Antonio, Texas to take part in the Alamo Bowl game, festivities surrounding the game and enjoy some sight-seeing in the area.

The students and their chaperones arrived in San Antonio on Tuesday, Dec. 26 and attended a pep rally. After supper at Dave & Busters, the group ended their first day in Texas.

The next day, Wednesday, Dec. 27 was filled with rehearsals for the combined band, which was made up of 900 students. Included was a riverboat cruise and awards ceremony.

The Alamo Bowl game, between TCU and Stanford, highlighted the activities for Dec. 28. Also included that day was the opportunity to explore the Riverwalk, visit Ripley's and the Alamo.

The last day in Texas for the Nebraskans started with breakfast at the Hard Rock and included a stop at the Natural Bridge Caveran and a visit to Sea World.

The group then left Texas on Saturday morning, Dec. 30 and traveled back to Allen, Neb.

Prior to the trip, the students conducted numerous fundraisers to help off-set the cost of the trip.

The following are portions of reflections written by several of those students who took part in the trip. Additional thoughts will be shared in future Wayne Herald publications.

River Walk

By Hailie Brentlinger

Over all I loved Texas, but my favorite part was the River Walk. . . . There were boats that ran through the river walk area with tourists riding along while their tour guides explained to them what was what and just told them about how the river walk became what it is. It was a great trip and I'd go back to San Antonio, Texas for sure!

Bob was the eldest of his siblings and was his Dad's right hand man on the third generation family farm. He attended District 80 school in Wayne County, and graduated from Carroll High School in 1946. He was proud of his record of perfect attendance. He joined the Nebraska National Guard, and served in the great Missouri River floods of the early 1950's. He met his bride-to-be, Marilyn Swanson, in Winside. They were married in Wayne on May 25, 1952. They began married life in a small home built by Bob's Dad on the family farm north of Carroll. Bob farmed with his Dad, raising corn, beans, oats, alfalfa, cattle, hogs and chickens. Marilyn taught school in rural Wayne County until their children, Debra and Steven, were born. They eventually moved to their own farm where Bob and Marilyn added dairy cattle to the routine. Life as a dairy farmer was demanding daily. But Bob made sure the family had fun with short family vacations and outings to stock car races and fishing ponds. Bob and Marilyn left the farm in 1972, and moved to Wayne where they still lived. Alma's treasured baby girl, born the last of eight children. However, due to infant and toddler deaths, she grew up with only three beloved older siblings, Joy, Glenn, and Burdette. Doris attended a one-room country school in nearby Dixon County through the eighth grade, when she was needed as a farm-hand on the family farm while her brothers served in World War II. On Mother's Day 1944, Doris met William "Howard" Gaunt of Buffalo, Mo., who was stationed with the Army Air Corps on the campus of Wayne State College. After dissolving the trucking company, Doris and Howard began farming alongside Doris's dad and mom on adjacent farms north of Wayne, where they remained and raised four children, Marsha, Vicki, Brenda, and Jay, until retiring from farming in 1986.

Kenneth L. Hansen (Chief), 79, of Allen, died Monday, Jan. 15, 2018 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne, after a battle with Myelofibrosis.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 20, 2018 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Ponca, with Father Andrew L. Sohm officiating. Burial will be in Calvary at South Creek Cemetery in rural Ponca. Visitation will be from 5 - 7 p.m. with a scriptural wake service at 7 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 19 at the church.

Arrangements are under the direction of Mohr Funeral Home in Ponca.

Kenneth L. Hansen was born in Wayne on Jan. 1, 1939 to Walter and Ruth (Andersen) Hansen. He was raised on a farm west of Martinsburg. He attended country school until eighth grade, then finished high school and graduated from Allen High School in 1956. He then attended School of Business in Sioux City, Iowa. Kenneth took a job as a junior accountant until his Mom asked him to come back home to the family farm after his brother had been called to serve our country.

Kenneth farmed, milked cows and raised hogs. While farming, he held various jobs working at the saw mill in Willis, road construction, and for the Dixon County Weed District. After retiring, he continued to raise hogs and farm his land until his health no longer allowed him. Kenneth's love for animals was very apparent. His dog, Willy was just like one of his children.

He married Mary Rose Boyle on Sept. 9, 1961 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Jackson. Family was very important to Kenneth. He enjoyed attending all of the children and grandchildren's activities over the years. His face would light up anytime he got to spend time with his great-grandchildren. Commissioners

A more comprehensive look at the building will take place on Friday, Jan. 19 when a drone is used to fly each side of the courthouse. This will enable the company to better estimate the actual percentage of replacement needed for the mortar joints.

In addition to the tuck pointing, the stones used in the construction of the courthouse are also in need of attention. Having been involved in the state historical society and numerous historic restorations, Berggren Architects has amassed several professional contacts. One such contact is a stone expert from England.

That expert will be flying over to offer training to masonry contractors for several projects, one of which would be Wayne's courthouse. While he is in Wayne, he would work with the contractor's craftsman, offering training on how to best handle our particular building.

In regard to that project, David Levy of Baird Holm LLP visited with the commissioners about utilizing tax credits available to offset some of the costs of the restoration project.

Levy explained that through legislature in place, the commissioners have the ability to potentially earn up to 20 percent of the rehabilitation costs in income tax credits to help cover costs associated with the project.

Because the courthouse is on the National Register of Historic Places, it qualifies for such credits. The work being done to the courthouse also has to qualify, Levy said, but having worked with Berggren Architects before and after looking over the estimate, he didn't see any work listed that wouldn't fall under the very large qualifying work umbrella.

After completing the work and undergoing what Levy called 'essentially an audit' by the Nebraska Department of Revenue regarding those expenditures, Wayne County would be granted tax credits amounting to 20 percent of the restoration work costs. Then the county would be free to sell those income tax credits.

While the county would not receive a dollar for dollar match on those credits, Levy estimates after fees are taken out the county could see anywhere from 80 to 85 cents earned per dollar.

Levy explained that it doesn't make sense for a buyer to purchase tax credits at 100 percent, they may as well just not purchase them. But if they can get a dollar's worth of tax reduction for an amount less than a dollar, it makes it worth it for them. The county sees some of the costs recouped from the restoration project, which is better than nothing. It's a win for both parties, which is why it's so popular Levy explained.

Levy explained some of the rules with utilizing the statute and explained his role and the role Berggren Architects would play in the application process for the program.

After the presentation by Levy and discussion with Berggren, the commissioners voted unanimously to move forward with the application process for the tax credits, which will be written up by Berggren Architects.

In other news, Emergency Manger Nic Kemnitz brought up dates to the board of when he will be unavailable due to training courses.

A wild land fire threat course is being offered at the beginning of February. As part of the mutual aid efforts for those, Kemnitz will be attending one of those sessions.

Another session further out will take place at the end of March. That session will be an all day event in Wayne with the state performing a rapid needs assessment and discussing the changes in FEMA regulations.

Highway Superintendent Mark Casey gave a brief update on road projects, stating that the county had been awarded two County-Bridge-Match-Program projects.

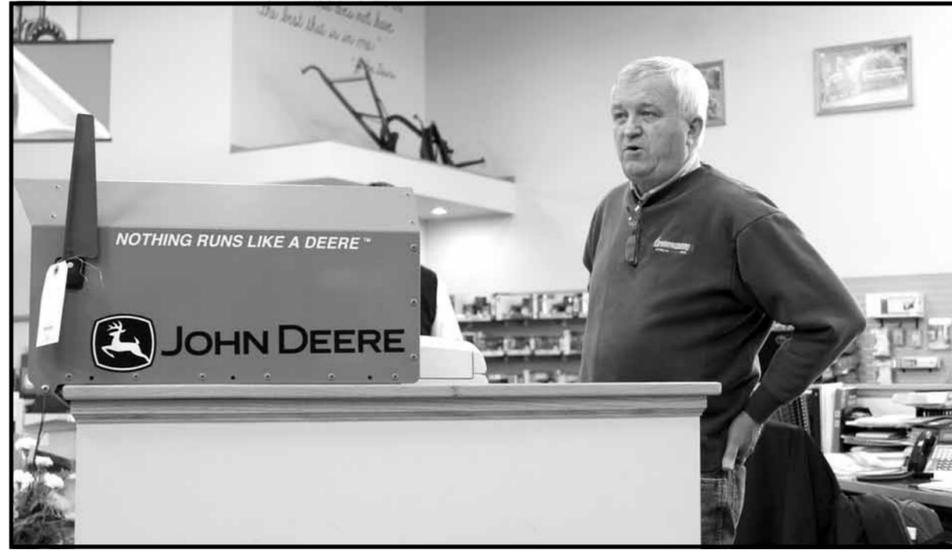

Casey discussed utility permits with the board as well, specifically with regard to tile drainage. The newly placed fee schedule required a $1,000 permit fee on pipe more than eight inches in diameter. The commissioners agreed that the utility schedule was put in place for utilities piping rather than field tile and made an exemption to the fee schedule for field tile. Tile line of any size will only incur a $100 permit fee.

When asked for questions and comments, Phil Clement with NextEra Energy came forward to give a brief update on the Sholes Wind Energy Center.

Clement got a draft map of the project to Casey, but said that there were still revisions being made. This would at least give the commissioners and Casey an idea of some placement of towers in the mean time however.

Clement said NextEra had no issues with the road haul agreement the county sent and said they should be expecting a finalized copy to be signed soon. Also regarding roads, Clement said NextEra would be starting their own road study and while the window of construction for 2018 is shrinking, there is a possibility that construction could potentially start in July.

The next meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is Feb. 6 at 9:00 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Chamber Coffee

Dave Olson, who has been a familiar face at Grossenburg Implement and its predecessors for more than 40 years, spoke at last week's Chamber Coffee. Olson is gradually easing out of his responsibilities as he moves into semi-retirement. He told those in attendance at Friday's Coffee of some of the changes that have taken place in the ag industry since he began in the early 1970s.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke, City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. We would be honored to have you join us.

How do I run for local public office?

Sometimes the scariest part of running for public office is not knowing how to get started.

Although there can be different processes with each different position, most are very similar.

Using City Council as an example, the process to get your name on the ballot includes the following steps. Come to City Hall and speak with City Clerk Betty McGuire. She will have you fill out a short candidate filing form and pay a $45 filing fee (this is $80 for Mayor). You will receive a filing fee receipt that will be required for your next and final stop with the County Clerk (Deb Finn) at the Courthouse. The County Clerk will verify that you are a registered voter, residing in the ward from which you are running. A candidate filing form will be prepared and presented to you for your signature. At that point you will have officially filed to run for public office (in this example, City Council).

Not a scary process at all! Incumbents (anyone currently holding public office) have until Feb. 15 to file, and new filers have until March 1.

More information can be found on the Wayne County website www.waynecountynet.org under County Offices and then Election Commissioner.

City Council Retreat

The City Council and Mayor will hold their annual retreat at the Wayne Senior Center on Friday, Feb. 2 starting at 5:30 p.m., and Saturday, Feb. 3 starting at 8:30 a.m.

This gives the Council and Mayor a chance to discuss at length multiple topics facing the City. It also gives them a chance to think about long-term planning and how the City will look in the years to come. Some items that will likely be discussed include the future of the old pool property as well as the lagoon acres.

As always, the public is invited to this open meeting. If you would like a topic to be considered for discussion by the Council and Mayor, please let me know by the last week of January.

Wayne firefighters respond to structure fire in Muhs Acres

Wayne Volunteer firefighters responded to a fire in Muhs Acres north of Wayne on Tuesday evening.

According to Wayne Fire Chief Phil Monahan, the call of a structure fire came in at approximately 5:45 p.m.

When the firefighters arrived on the scene, they found an outdoor storage shed fully engulfed in flames. They remained on scene until approximately 9:30 p.m.

The firefighters were unable to save the structure. Also lost was a pickup truck, two boats, a lawn mower, hand tools and other miscellaneous items.

No one was injured in the blaze and the State Fire Marshall is investigating the cause.

Monahan noted that during the cold winter months, the city of Wayne will not be sounding the sirens in the event of a fire. This is due to a threat of damaging the sirens, as was the case last winter.

Allen Band

to experience a string of adventures we will remember years from now. A 17-hour bus ride of sleeping, movies, food and smells you didn't know existed led us into San Antonio, Texas. The majority of us have never been to Texas or even left the Midwest, so the city was an entirely new environment . . .

Our very first band practice was the definition of chaos. There were 900 kids trying to make sections, trying to make sense as what was going on. In my personal experience, I remember this day because I have never heard a drumline play the way we did. The combination of all these bands was chaotic and exhilarating. . . We brought in a little Nebraskan flare to the competition and played with Eagle pride not just for us, but for our band director, Mr. Lacy. The scenery and everything we saw on this trip is something I will never take for granted. I know how lucky we are to even gotten the experience of this and I would never trade in the memories. The Allen band went from small town Nebraska to the Texas, where as they say everything is bigger, and played with pride because that is what we were taught to do.

The Alamo Bowl Game

By Ashley Kraemer
The 2017 Alamo Bowl was my first ever bowl game and by far was way better than any Nebraska football game I've been to. One of my favorite parts was getting to play on the field during halftime. The whole Alamodome looked so big from down on the field. Playing at a bowl game as a high schooler is something I will never ever get to do again, so I took in everything that surrounded me...

I'd say my favorite part of the whole trip was the game itself. I myself was cheering for the Stanford Cardinals who were playing the TCU Horned Frogs. My favorite type of football is college football, and this game will be marked down on my charts as the best football game I've ever gone to. . .

Overall, I personally loved every single thing I got to experience at the Alamo Bowl game.

Council

Andrew Ross, Director of the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool, spoke to the Wayne City Council on financial planning for the city's electric department.

housing study was just completed. There will be a lot of competition for the grant, because when the grant money is gone, it is gone," he said.

The deadline for submitting a grant application is March 31. The council will discuss the grant and the city's options at the upcoming council retreat.

Council members approved the application of Grant Miller to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. He brings the number of members on the department to 37. There is also one cadet who is a part of the department.

Travis Meyer was appointed to the Airport Authority Board. He replaces Jerry Conradt and his term will run through December 2022. Meyer told the council "there is lots of flying in my family and I am excited to be a part of the airport's future."

The three readings of an ordinance were waived regarding the penalty section in the city's code regarding open burning ban violations.

Also approved was a resolution that allows for a green energy blocks purchase agreement and service schedule between the city of Wayne and Nebraska Public Power District.

The contract is for one year and will allow a Wayne business to purchase green energy blocks from the city, which would purchase these from the open market and pass on the costs to the customer.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Feb. 6 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Wildcats drop two on the road in women's hoop action

The Wayne State women's basketball team came up short over the weekend, losing two tough road games at Northern State and MSU Moorhead. On Friday night, No. 20 Northern State snapped a 13-game regular season losing streak to Wayne State dating back to 2008 by using 61 percent shooting in the first half to take down the Wildcats 81-71.

Wayne State never led in the contest. The host Wolves took a 7-2 lead 2:30 into the contest. The Wildcats got as close as one at 15-14 on a Maggie Schulte 3-pointer at the 2:12 mark of the first quarter, but the Wolves closed the quarter with the final four points for a 19-14 lead.

Northern State took their first double digit lead of the game with the first five points of the second quarter at 24-14. With NSU leading 29-19, the Wolves used hot shooting and a 10-0 run to take a 39-19 advantage before finishing the first half with a 41-28 lead.

Wayne State outscored NSU 21-20 in the third quarter to cut the lead to 61-49 after three quarters of play, but the host Wolves maintained a double-digit lead the remainder of the game to earn their first regular-season win over the Wildcats since Feb. 1, 2008.

Senior forward Maggie Schulte led Wayne State in scoring with 22 points, while senior center Paige Ballinger also hit double figures with 18 points. Miranda Ristau powered Northern State with 27 points and 10 rebounds. Jill Conrad and Alexis Tappe also reached double digits with 10 points apiece.

On Saturday, Schulte drained a 3-pointer at the end of regulation to send the game into overtime, but MSU Moorhead rallied in the extra session and outlasted the Wildcats 86-84.

Maggie Lowe sparked the Wildcats in the first quarter, scoring nine straight points on back-to-back treys and an old-fashioned three-point play to put Wayne State in front 17-9 at the 2:31 mark of the first quarter.

MSUM went on a 14-1 run to end the quarter, however, and put the Dragons ahead 23-18 after one quarter.

Wayne State trailed most of the second quarter, but tied the score at 30-30 on a pair of Schulte free throws with 2:43 to go in the half, but the Dragons responded and ended the half with a 35-32 lead.

A late third-quarter scoring surge gave Moorhead their first double-digit lead of the night at 51-41 and the Dragons closed the quarter with a 56-47 advantage. They pushed the lead to 64-51 with 7:42 to play and still led 71-63 with 2:36 to play when the Wildcats stormed back.

Schulte and Kacie O'Connor hit back-to-back 3's to trim the Dragon lead to 71-69. After a MSUM basket, Schulte hit another trey to cut the lead to 73-72 with 9.3 remaining.

MSU Moorhead's Drew Sannes made two free throws with 4.9 to play giving the Dragons a 75-72 lead, but Schulte took the inbounds pass from Maggie Lowe and canned a 3-pointer from the right wing as time expired to send the game into overtime at 75-75.

Andrea Larson and Schulte each hit 3-pointers early in the overtime for WSC and the Wildcats took an 84-80 lead after Schulte went 1-of-2 at the foul line with 1:58 remaining.

MSU Moorhead's Jacky Volkert hit a jumper to cut the lead to 84-82. Wayne State had turnovers on their next two possessions and Volkert hit a trey for the Dragons with :29 left to go in front 85-84. A missed Wildcat shot by Schulte with :14 left resulted in WSC fouling Volkert, who made 1-of-2 at the line to give the Dragons an 86-84 lead with 13.5 left in overtime.

Wayne State set up for the final shot and Schulte's attempt from the right side of the circle was strong and the Dragons held on for the win.

Schulte poured in a game-high 28 points to lead Wayne State (14-6, 8-4 NSIC) in scoring, Ballinger and Brittany Bongartz added 13 points each while Lowe and Larson each recorded 12 points. Cassidy Thorson had a big game for MSU Moorhead with 25 points, Jacky Volkert added 22 points and 10 assists while Drew Sannes scored 19 points and grabbed nine boards.

Wayne State is back home this weekend for games Friday against Winona State and Saturday against Upper Iowa.

Ponca posts wins over Wakefield last week

Wakefield ran into some tough competition at Ponca last week, as both Indian teams came away with wins at Ponca High School.

In girls action, Ponca shut down Wakefield in the second half, limiting the Trojans to just one basket for a 45-18 victory.

Despite the loss, coach Chad Metzler said the girls are improving in some areas.

"We're seeing some good things out of our team," he said. "We played about a quarter and a half of good basketball against Ponca, and got a nice defensive effort against Winside. We just have to keep working on putting it all together."

Kenna Mackling had six points to lead the Trojan girls, with Jessica Borg and Jamie Dolph each adding four and Andrea Lopez and Maddie Mogus scoring two apiece.

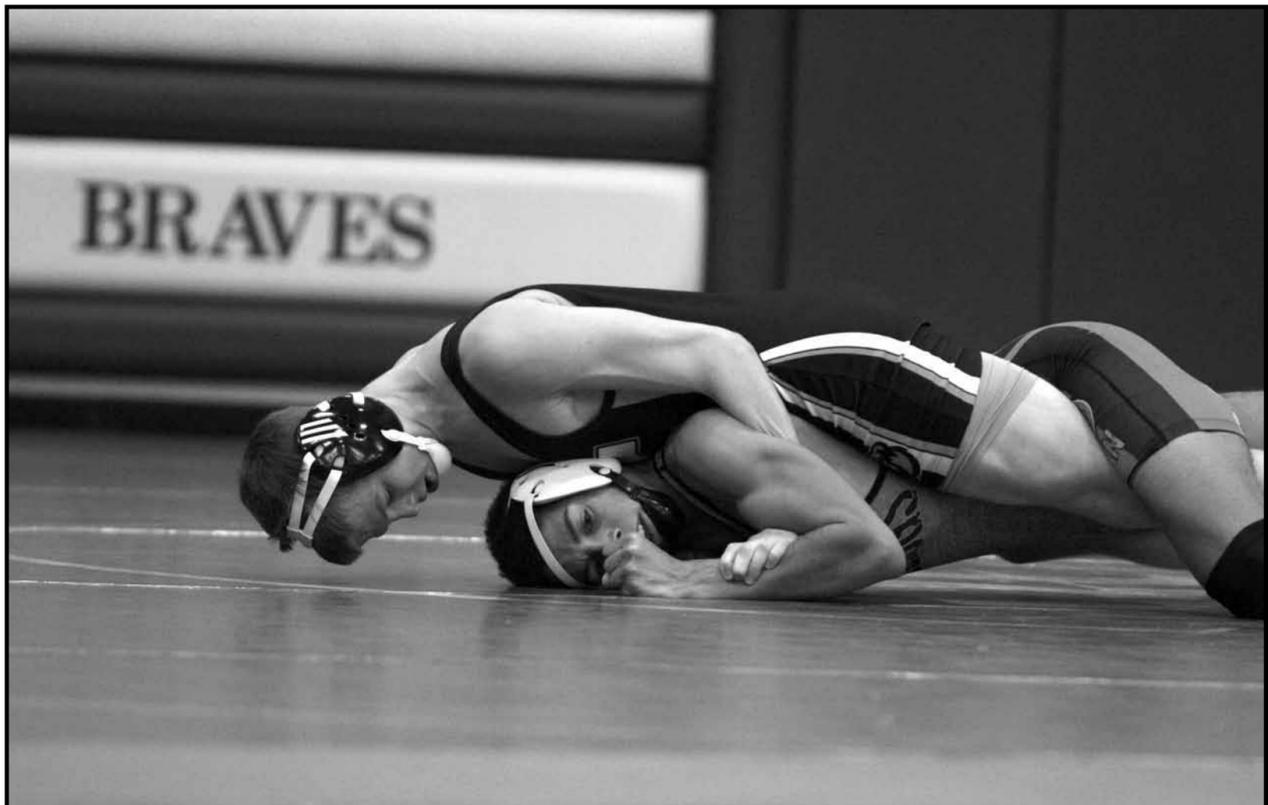

In the boys game, Ponca built a 17-point halftime lead and cruised to a 69-39 win over the Trojans.

Parker Lehmkuhl led the Wakefield boys with 12 points, Blake Heimann added nine, Solomon Peitz had seven and Justin Erb put in four.

Wakefield's teams played at B-R/L-D on Tuesday and will host Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday.

Blue Devil girls go 1-2 in home matchups last week

The Wayne High girls had a rough week last week, losing two of three matchups at home.

On Thursday, the Wayne High girls nearly erased a 17-point second-half deficit, but came up just short as the Lady Tigers held on for a 46-42 win.

Wayne trailed 36-19 midway through the third quarter and were down 39-25 going to the fourth before starting their rally.

Wayne went on a 12-0 run to start the fourth quarter. Three baskets by Kylie Hammer and two by Gabi Meyer were followed by a jumper by Jamie Gamble to make it a 39-37 game midway through the fourth quarter.

North Bend stopped Wayne's momentum long enough to score two straight baskets and take a 43-37 advantage, but a 3-pointer by Hammer made it 44-40, and she followed with another driving layup on the next possession to make it 44-42.

North Bend hit a free throw on their next possession, but Meyer got a good look from the right corner for a potential game-tying 3-pointer that just missed the mark. The Lady Tigers added another free throw to put the game out of reach and claim the victory.

Hammer had 19 points and Meyer added 12 to lead the Blue Devils. Tori Kniesche had four points, Ashton Boyer added three and Gamble and Frankie Klausen each had two.

The Wayne High girls dropped their second game in as many nights Friday, as Norfolk Catholic pulled away in the fourth quarter for a 53-44 win at Wayne High School.

The Blue Devils trailed 14-8 after one period, but cut the deficit to one early in the second period on a 3-pointer by Meyer and a basket by Hammer. Norfolk Catholic rebuilt the lead to eight points, but a 3-pointer by Boyer and two Klausen free throws got the lead back down to three, and Klausen hit another trey late in the half to pull Wayne within one, 27-26, at the half.

Wayne took its first lead of the game at the start of the second half on a Hammer layup, and the two teams went back-and-forth with the advantage. Klausen hit a triple to give Wayne its last lead of the game, but a Knights free throw tied the game at 39-39 going to the fourth.

Norfolk Catholic shut down Wayne's offense in the final period, limiting the Blue Devils to just one basket in the final eight minutes and dropping Wayne to 11-6 on the season with the fourth-quarter effort.

Hammer led the Blue Devils with 17 points and Klausen added 11. Also scoring were Meyer with seven, Boyer with five and Gamble with two.

Hammer had 11 rebounds and four assists, Jenna Trenhaile added nine rebounds, Meyer had seven, Tori Kniesche had five, Molly Hoskins had four and Gamble had three.

Wayne played at Crofton on Tuesday and plays at Hartington Cedar Catholic on Friday.

The boys game needed the full 32 minutes to decide a winner, and North Bend got a buzzer-beating layup by Jaxon Wietfeld to steal a 65-63 win over the Blue Devils and drop Wayne to 7-7 on the season.

The game was a back-and-forth affair all night. North Bend led 15-9 early in the second before back-to-back 3-pointers by Jack Evetovich and Ryan Jaixen tied the game at 15-15.

North Bend regained the lead and led by as many as five, but Wayne closed the half with another 3-pointer by Evetovich and a shot by Marcus Fertig as time expired to tie the game at 31-31.

Wayne to host American Legion state tournament

Nebraska's "Boys of Summer" will be coming to Wayne later this year for the Class B American Legion Seniors state tournament. Steve Lutt, president of the Wayne Baseball Association, told The Wayne Herald that Wayne has been awarded one of the state tournament host sites for the coming 2018 summer season. Hank Overin Field will be the host site for the Class B Seniors tournament, which will run from Saturday, July 28 to Wednesday, Aug. 1. "We're absolutely very excited," Lutt told The Wayne Herald Saturday evening after hearing from Bud Neel of American Legion Post 43 that Wayne was named as a host site. The announcement was made Saturday at a meeting of the state's American Legion baseball committee in North Platte. It is the first time since 2009 that Wayne has served as a host site for a state tournament. They hosted the Class B Seniors state tournament that year, and this will be second time Wayne has hosted an American Legion post-season tournament since Hank Overin Field was rebuilt following a 2014 summer storm that destroyed the grandstand and backstop. "There is still some things we want to finish up there, but the efforts of the Rebuild Hank Committee and the City of Wayne are a huge reason why we're hosting it," Lutt said. "They were a big help in getting the ball park rebuilt." The Wayne Baseball Association and Wayne American Legion Post 43 will be working together to host the tournament, with Denny Lutt serving as the tournament director. For more information on helping out with the tournament, contact Steve Lutt at 402-369-1808.

Last-second heartbreaker part of 0-2 road effort for Wildcat men

For the second straight game, the Wildcat men suffered a heartbreaking loss in the final seconds at Northern State's Andrew Kallman drained a 3-point shot from the right corner with 2.2 seconds left to help the ninth-ranked Wolves escape with a 71-69 win at Wachs Arena in Aberdeen, S.D.

The Wildcats held their own for a majority of the night against their ranked foes. After the host Wolves took an 11-2 lead in the first 3:33, Wayne State responded with an 11-2 run and knotted the score at 13-13 following an Austin Esters 3-pointer with 13:01 to play in the half.

Northern State pushed the lead back to five and was in front 27-20 at the 5:29 mark when the Wildcats scored the next seven points to tie the score at 27-27 on a Kendall Jacks basket with 3:31 remaining. The host Wolves then closed the half with the final six points to take a 33-27 lead at intermission.

Wayne State started the second half strong, using a pair of steals and Matt Thomas old-fashioned 3-point plays to even the score at 35-35 two minutes into the second half.

The final tie of the game was at 43-43 following a Tony Bonner basket with 12:29 remaining. But Northern State went on a 16-5 run over the next 4:30 to take their biggest lead of the night at 59-48 on a Darin Peterka layup with eight minutes to play.

The Wildcats did not go away and rallied to get back into the game. Still trailing 65-57, Wayne State closed with two at 65-63 on a Trevin Joseph basket with just under two minutes to play, then took the lead with 20.5 seconds to go on a Vance Janssen three-point play and a Jordan Cornelius basket to make it 69-68 before Kallman's last-second heroics sent the Wildcats to their third last-second loss of the season.

Junior reserve guard Trevin Joseph led Wayne

State in scoring with 16 points followed by junior Kendall Jacks with 10. Ian Smith scored 20 points to lead Northern State while DJ Pollard and Andrew Kallman also hit double figures with 18 and 12, respectively.

On Saturday, MSU Moorhead shot 57.6 percent for the game, making 34 of 59 shots, as the Dragons rolled past Wayne State College 90-66.

The game was tight early until a late Dragon scoring surge to end the first half gave control of the contest to MSU Moorhead.

Wayne State (10-10, 5-7 NSIC) opened with an early 7-2 lead, but the Dragons scored the next eight points to take a 10-7 advantage.

Wayne State's final lead came at 16-14 on a Joseph 3-pointer at the 11:00 mark of the first half. The Wildcats were still within three at 28-25 following a Jacks three-point play with 4:28 to go in the half, but Moorhead scored the next 14 points and ended the half with a 45-30 lead.

Wayne State mounted an early comeback in the second half and got as close as eight at 49-41 four minutes into the second half following a Janssen layup.

The Wildcats still trailed 58-48 at the 12:24 mark, but the host Dragons put the game out of reach with a 10-0 run over the next 2:11 to take a 68-48 advantage and the hot shooting MSU Moorhead club pulled away for the 24-point win.

Jacks led Wayne State with 14 points followed by Jordan Cornelius and Janssen with 12 each. Tanner Kretchman accounted for 25 points to lead MSU Moorhead. Travaun Coad added 21 points and 12 rebounds while Johnny Beeninga also scored 21 points.

The Wildcats return to Rice Auditorium next weekend to start a four-game home stand as the Wildcats host Winona State Friday and Upper Iowa on Saturday.

Radon tests kits free from RC&D

To promote radon awareness and make it easier for Nebraskans to test their homes for radon, the Northeast Nebraska RC&D has once again partnered with the North Central District Health Department to offer free radon test kits for citizens living in Knox, Antelope and Pierce counties.

Winter months are the best time for Nebraskans to test for radon in their homes. During winter, homes are closed up and can trap the toxic gas. Radon is the leading cause of lung cancer for people who have never smoked.

It is a radioactive gas. You can't see it, taste it or even smell it. It comes from the decaying of naturally occurring uranium in the earth's soil and exists in varying amounts in most soils. It enters the home through cracks or holes in concrete floors or walls, sump pits, and drinking water from private wells. Once radon becomes trapped inside an enclosed space, it can accumulate.

The tests kits are a quick screening method which indicates potential radon problems. They should be placed in the lowest livable level of the house.

The District Health Department follows up with anyone who has a test result of 4.0 pCi/L or above which is a health standard set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

For more information on radon, the test kits or radon mitigation, call North Central District Health Department, 1-877-336-2406 or visit the EPA's website at www.epa.gov/radon. North Central District Health Department serves Antelope, Boyd, Brown, Cherry, Holt, Keya Paha, Knox, Pierce, and Rock Counties.

Kits for citizens who live in Knox, Antelope or Pierce counties can be picked up at the RC&D office during business hours of 10 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday each week. The kits can also be picked up at the NCDHD office in O'Neill, 422 E. Douglas St. from 8 - 4:30 Monday through Friday.

For those living in Cedar, Dixon, or Wayne counties call the Northeast Nebraska District Health Department in Wayne at 1-800-375-2260 about getting a test kit.

Senators react to State of the State Address

By Holly Barr, Nebraska News Service

LINCOLN - Senators were feeling optimistic after hearing Gov. Pete Ricketts' State of the State address on Jan. 10. The governor's speech outlined some of the issues he believes most important to improving life in Nebraska.

"He certainly set the right tone," Sen. Laura Ebke of Crete said. "I was very heartened to hear him prioritize corrections." One of Ebke's focuses is on state corrections reform, and she proposed several bills that would reduce recidivism and improve prison conditions in past legislative sessions. She was excited to hear the governor's hope to invest more in the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services.

Echoing his address from 2017, Ricketts' main focus was on tax relief and job creation. His concern is that many Nebraskans are moving away because of the state's high property taxes.

"We must help our farmers and ranchers with crushing property tax bills. We must help all Nebraskans keep more of their hard-earned money and attract more people to come to our state," Ricketts said.

Tax relief continues to be one of the most difficult issues for senators to come to agreement upon. Senators such as Sen. Adam Morfeld of Lincoln disagree with the governor about the degree of relief that will be effective and that higher taxes are even the reason students and other Nebraskans are choosing to leave.

"It's true that we're losing a lot of young people," Morfeld said, "but [Ricketts] didn't mention that many of them choose to leave because of things like a lack of transportation options and civil rights issues."

Sen. Patty Pansing Brooks of Lincoln also expressed some concern regarding the governor's intentions for tax relief and the budget.

"Public safety costs money," Pansing Brooks said. "Not all aspects of the government can be treated like a business. You can't make money off of educating students."

Another issue covered by the governor was child welfare. Ricketts is proposing an additional $35 million in the budget for the Child Welfare and Public Assistance Task Force. Both Ebke and Pansing Brooks were happy to hear that these topics are important to the governor.

"There's been a significant increase in children entering the state's welfare system and they need our protection," Pansing Brooks said.

Having just begun the second session of the 105th Nebraska Legislature, the senators responded overall positively to Ricketts' attitude of perseverance and his statements that partnership and working together are key parts of being a Nebraskan. Though the senators know there will be many disagreements to come, they are excited to get to work.

"We'll be seeing a lot of debating," Ebke said, "but it will be worth it."

Thanks extended to tour guests

Dear Editor:

The Wayne County Museum Friends would like to thank everyone who purchased tickets and/or donated to our Christmas Tour of Homes in November. It was a great success.

We extend a huge thank you to our homeowners and their helpers -- John and Sherry Dorman, Deb Harm, Mark Kanitz and Lukas Rix, Steve and Dr. Marysz Rames and Rod and Lorita Tompkins for graciously opening their lovely decorated homes. We know it takes a great deal of time and effort to get everything ready.

Thanks goes to our museum decorators - Julie Cull and Jenny Arens of The Market at Geno's. And we appreciate those who donated cookies and cider for refreshments at the museum.

We cannot forget to thank all the Wayne banks, the Chamber office, Rustic Treasures and the 1912 Emporium for helping us sell tickets. They were a tremendous help to us.

Again, a big thank you to all of you in our community for your enthusiasm and generous support. With your help, the museum will continue to be a great asset to our community. We look forward to the next tour in two years. We already have one home offered. If anyone is interested, please contact one of our members. (Ladies, this would be a great way to get those "honey-do" things done.)

Sincerely,
Wayne County Museum Friends

Bills and resolutions amount in first days

We have had another exciting week at the Unicameral, over 325 bills and 21 legislative resolutions have been submitted since convening on January 3rd. We have been moving through debate on many bills in General File that carried over from last year, while committees prepare to hold hearing for newly introduced bills.

On Wednesday, Governor Ricketts delivered his State of the State address highlighting his priorities and hopes for 2018. He pointed to the many successes Nebraska had last year, including winning the Governor's Cup for most economic development projects per capita of any state in the country, Forbes' ranking of Nebraska as the fourth best state for business, and achieving the lowest unemployment rate in the state since 1999 at 2.7 percent. As revenue continues to come in below projections and we face a $200 million shortfall, Governor Ricketts' proposed budget dictates across-the-board budget cuts to close the gap without raising taxes while still protecting state priorities, including K-12 education, developmental disability services, child welfare and corrections.

Governor Ricketts also released a plan to address Nebraska's crushing property taxes, through the Nebraska Property Tax Cuts and Opportunity Act (LB947) proposed by Senator Smith.

While this is a work in progress, I am excited to work together to pass bipartisan legislation for much-needed property tax relief.

Also on Wednesday, our office was delighted to welcome many guests from District 17, including South Sioux City School Board members and students, the South Sioux City Chamber of Commerce, South Sioux City, Dakota City, Dakota County, and 2018 Teacher of the Year Michelle Helt to the Capitol to watch the Governor's speech. Senator Brewer and I also welcomed Tribal leaders from across the state to watch the State of the State address followed by coffee and a productive discussion.

I was proud to stand with Attorney General Doug Peterson, Governor Pete Ricketts, fellow Senators, and law enforcement at the reveal of the "Demand an End" awareness campaign on Thursday. The awareness campaign is the latest step Nebraska is taking to end the sale of minors and adults coerced or forced into sex.

Awareness posters targeting the buyers of trafficking victims will be placed at all rest stops along I-80 and many more around the state. Governor Ricketts also declared January Human Trafficking Awareness Month to solidify Nebraska's commitment to ending this heinous crime. Thank you to the brave men and women who have already begun this fight on the front lines.

The Business and Labor Committee's hearings for this legislative session will be on January 22nd, February 5th, February 12th, and February 26th. The hearings will begin promptly at 1:30 p.m.

I want to encourage my constituents to reach out to me at 402-471-2716 or to write me.

I look forward to hearing from you!

Can we talk about correcting corrections?

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Talk the talk, walk the walk.

More than a handful of bills dealing with the Nebraska Department of Corrections, prison overcrowding and inmate opportunities and services have been introduced to lawmakers this year. Let's hope that we see more action than words.

I like the way Senator Paul Schumacher of Columbus put it in a report in the Lincoln Journal-Star.

"You talk and you talk. And you study and you study year after year, and you find out you're going to study some more," he said. "Because that seems to be the universal answer when you don't have money and are unwilling to finance what you know you have to do."

Among the talk this session are measures dealing with prison overcrowding, emergency requirements, medical release of inmates and plans to continue and possibly expand the placement of inmates in county jails.

And don't forget the lawsuits. The American Civil Liberties Union has filed two dealing with the overcrowding question and the death penalty. The latter contends that the men currently on death row are not affected by the November 2016 ballot vote to reinstate the death penalty.

All this in the wake of a system in turmoil with several "incidents" - we used to call them riots - that have left four inmates dead, several injured. Then there's the weekly reports of inmate-on-staff and inmate-on-inmate assaults - one of those resulting in death.

The term-limited senator said he would amend his bill before the Judiciary Committee that addresses double bunking, resulting from that inmate-on-inmate death assault. He said it was "absolutely unconscionable" to put a young man who was in prison for a fairly minor offense into a cell with an inmate who had "nothing to lose." The alleged killer, Patrick Schroeder, was serving a life sentence for murder. Terry Berry, Jr. was killed last year after he was put in a double-bunked cell with Schroeder at the Tecumseh State Correctional Institution.

Department Director Scott Frakes has said he plans to continue double-bunking inmates in solitary confinement despite Inspector General for Corrections Doug Koebnick's call for him to suspend the practice out of concern it increases dangers for inmates and staff.

Another term-limited Senator, Bob Krist of Omaha, has offered a bill that would require on July 1, that the governor declare a prison overcrowding emergency whenever the prison's director certifies the inmate population is more than 140 percent of design capacity. Upon certification, the director would have to provide a list of parole-eligible inmates. The current average daily population hovers around 155 percent of design capacity. Krist - who is mounting a third-party bid for the governor's job - said that during such an emergency, the parole board would immediately consider or reconsider inmates eligible for parole. Governor Pete Ricketts and Attorney General Doug Peterson have said such a move raises a significant public safety concern.

Tell that to the parents of the five dead inmates or the families of the guards and inmates who have been injured because of dangerous working conditions.

Another Krist bill would authorize the director of the Department of Corrections to allow substance abuse evaluations or treatment for inmates who would benefit from such activity and to give them access to rehabilitative programming or treatment, residency or employment opportunities, or participation in structured programming.

Rehabilitation instead of retribution.

That sounds almost humane, as does another Krist proposal to allow terminally ill or permanently incapacitated inmates to be considered for medical release by the department after a review of the inmate's medical, institutional and criminal records, and additional medical evidence from examinations or investigations. The decision would rest with the department and hinge on the inmate's agreement to placement for medical treatment in a hospital, hospice or other housing, including his or her family's home. If the inmate's condition improved, or if the inmate violated conditions of the release, he or she could be returned to prison custody.

Then there's the recommendations of the justice system oversight committee dealing with overcrowding and understaffing. Lincoln Senator Kate Bolz said the Legislature has a duty to examine the issues and do everything it can to support correctional officers, reduce overcrowding and ensure senators are doing everything they can to address the problems.

Walking the walk. Make it so.

True leaders aren't born . . . They're grown!

Today, more than ever, people place a high value on investing in positive youth development. Individuals and businesses who support Nebraska 4-H believe in the power of young people and know that an investment in 4-H is an investment in growing true leaders! 4-H empowers young people to be true leaders. True leaders are young people who have confidence; know how to work well with others; can endure through challenges; and will stick with a job until it gets done. In 4-H, we believe true leaders aren't born - they're grown. Critical Issues. Proven Results. 4-H is uniquely equipped to help youth overcome these challenges. 4-H programming is developed using rigorous educational standards, and is designed to nurture youth into becoming innovators and leaders. Research shows that this programming gives youth a significant advantage compared to those not in 4-H:

- 4-H youth achieve higher marks in school;
- 4-H youth are more likely to attend college;
- 4-H youth are 56 percent more likely to exercise and be physically active;
- 4-H youth are more likely to be civically act;

4-H's hands-on approach is proven to grow like skills like confidence, independence, resilience, and compassion through stages and developed through experiences, not instruction. The result? Kids who are empowered with the skills to lead for a lifetime. When you contribute to Nebraska 4-H, you help build character, leadership and communications skills and scientific curiosity in young people - and that's an investment that will pay dividends for Nebraska many times over. Our work in 4-H is enhanced by caring, concerned Nebraskans who have made a commitment to support Nebraska's youth. Together, we are developing and providing cutting-edge programs for young people to learn real-world skills that will prepare them for the challenges of today and tomorrow. We are forever grateful to you... our donors, volunteers, parents and alumni for believing in the power of youth! Together....we are making a difference and developing true leaders. If you want to know more about helping support this 4-H program go to: www.ne4hfoundation.org or contact your local 4-H extension office.

Minnesota is topic of Minerva Club meeting

She also shared a list of labor saving devices that have made our lives easier. Historian Hollis Frese read minutes from the Jan. 11, 1999 meeting hosted by Arlene Ostendorf. Marjorie Olsen presented a program on Oprah Winfrey's life. At the Jan. 10, 2000 meeting the program was on Judaism History. Fauneil Bennett presented the program about the State of Minnesota. Congratulations Nelbie Devall ~ Associate of the Month ~
Nelbie has displayed many qualities I admire such as trustworthiness, honesty, caring, kind hearted, selflessness, passion, determination, loyalty, respectfulness, understanding, driven and most importantly loving to everyone she comes upon. She goes the extra mile when getting foods that resident's request. She does more through the Brookdale community such as helping nursing call an ambulance and picking up trash on the floor as others walk by. She is constantly smiling. And let me tell you, her smile is contagious. She is always so positive in everything she does, and it reflects onto other workers. She truly makes a difference here for not just the residents, but for our Brookdale family. Nelbie is obviously beautiful on the outside, but what is hidden on the inside is unbelievable. Nelbie does so much that goes unnoticed and I think it's time we acknowledge what a strong, compassionate, beautiful and loving person she radiates. She carries herself with all the cornerstones and anyone would be lucky to meet her. I am truly grateful to her and blessed to call her my friend.

Joy Circle holds January meeting

Joy Circle of Our Savior Lutheran Church met Jan. 10. President Dorothy Wert welcomed everyone and made announcements.

Deb Hammer gave devotions on "Renewal of Spirit." It was one of five devotions designed to help prepare for the Tenth Triennial Gathering. The devotion was based on Romans 12: 1-2 in which St. Paul says "we should fix our attention on God. If we do that, we will be changed from the inside out. We, like the biblical prophets, have a calling to get inside God's head. Through the sacrifice of Christ, we have been made holy. By grace, we are daily transformed from the inside out, our hearts are always made new, and God blesses us to know God's will so that we might help bring transformation to our world."

Deb Hammer then gave a report of the ELCA Tenth Triennial Convention which she attended in Minneapolis. The theme for the event was "All Anew." Women attended from every state and 12 countries. There were a total of 3,300 participants including 1,300 first-time attendees. The convention included several worship opportunities and celebrations which could be attended. One of the workshops she went to was "Peace at Last" which gave resources to walk with the dying. Hammer said she was also privileged to attend the National Lutheran Choir Concert at Central Lutheran Church.

The 11th Triennial Convention is to be held at Phoenix, Ariz. on July 16-19, 2020.

Joy Circle will next meet on Wednesday, Feb. 14, with a program called Valentine Memories and Vera Longe hosting.

Doubts can help increase faith

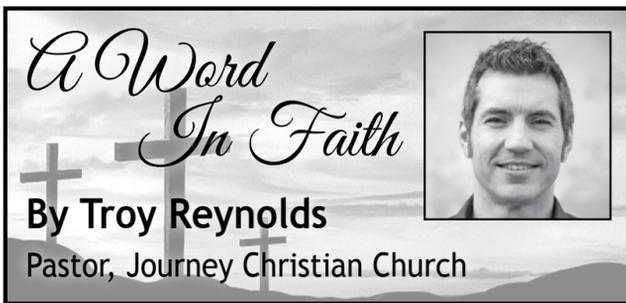

There's been a lot of talk about fake news lately. I've been thinking about that and I came up with a definition for fake news. "Fake news is any source that publishes information you disagree with." At least that's what it seems like to me.

I guess one of the good things about all the talk about fake news is that, hopefully, it's getting people to question what they read and hear and not just accept everything as true. In fact, I've become quite skeptical about anything I read on the internet - regardless if it's mainstream or not; whether it's liberal or conservative or claiming to be independent and unbiased - especially if it's claiming to be unbiased.

That type of skepticism can be good and not just when it comes to fake news. Skepticism isn't necessarily bad. Skepticism is basically evidence-based thinking. It's where you don't simply believe what you hear, you don't simply believe something you hope or feel to be true. You are basing what you believe on the evidence. Skeptics don't deny the facts, they just are quick to question what they hear and to search out the facts. Skeptics embrace doubt.

There's this great Latin phrase: "ubi dubium ibi libertas." It means, "With doubt there is freedom." It's the idea that it's okay to question things. It's okay to not just accept what you hear on face value. It's okay to view things as "fake news" until you have time to investigate a little more deeply.

By Troy Reynolds
Pastor, Journey Christian Church

In the Gospel of John, chapter 20, we encounter the most well-known biblical skeptic. In fact, he's even been given that nickname. Thomas, one of the 12 apostles, a close friend and follower of Jesus, has come to be known as Doubting

Thomas because of his skepticism. When he was told about the resurrection of Jesus, he treated it as fake news, as something too good to be true. He says, "Unless I see the scars and touch the wounds, I won't believe."

Maybe you see a little bit of yourself in Thomas. You have some doubts, too, when it comes to God and faith and the Bible. And maybe you think that your doubt means that you're not cut out to be a believer, to be a Christian. Or maybe you have buried your doubt and pretended to not have any but deep inside you have some doubts. Yet at the same time you want to believe, but you think maybe your doubt somehow disqualifies you.

But that's not true. It's okay to question things. In fact, doubt can actually make your faith stronger. As you read the story of Thomas, you discover that his doubt turns to faith. And I think his doubt actually made his faith stronger. Sometimes it's not blind faith but humble doubt that draws us closer to God and strengthens our faith. Thomas' faith was stronger after his bout with doubt than it was before.

One of the purposes of this story, a reason that it is in the Bible, is to show that people who have trouble believing can learn to believe. The story of Thomas is an example of someone who couldn't believe but learned to believe. Thomas makes one of the boldest declarations about the deity of Jesus you will find in Scripture. And so, instead of Doubting Thomas, I think we should call him, "Overcame my Doubting Thomas."

So bring your doubts and your questions to God and allow Him to increase your faith.

New officers installed during January meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid

Rhonda Sebade opened the Jan. 10 meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid.

Installation of new officers was conducted by Pastor Lilienkamp. Rhonda Sebade will serve as President and Beverly Hansen will serve as Secretary.

Vice-President Ellen Heinemann gave the devotion "Count Him In" as we Prepare for the New Year. The LWML Pledge was recited in unison.

Roll call was answered with 10 present. The minutes of the November and December meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was read. Many thank you notes were read from the shut-in's who received cookies and visits. Thank you notes were received for the quilts the Ladies Aid donated to the Veterans Home and Orphan Grain Train. Also a thank you was received for support of the Alaska Mission for Christ.

President Sebade led the group in the devotion Current Missionary Need. Since 2003 Mission Central, located near Mapleton, Iowa, has been operating as the largest Mission supporting agency. It was all started by Gary Thies with our Lord and Savior making it possible. It's a part of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod World Mission Global Gospel Outreach and has been blessed by God to raise money every year to send and keep missionaries in the field.

Committee Reports: Sewing: The group will tie quilts Jan. 25. Historian: The new historian will be Mary Janke.

Visiting Committee: New committee members are Mary Janke and Kimberly Hansen. Rhonda Sebade and Bev Hansen visited at Careage Jan. 3. The Aid will continue to visit there the first Wednesday of the month as the people look forward to the visits. The group voted to continue the morning coffee visit at Brookdale on the third Wednesday morning in March, June, September and November. Members will take turns bringing goodies.

Funeral Committee: Chairman-Rhonda Sebade -Fauneil Bennett, Barb Frevert, and Yvonne Greenwald. Rhonda and Barb have one funeral left to work.

Old Business: A thank you was extended to all who helped deliver shut-in Christmas boxes.

Christmas Tree Ingathering: Thank you to the 10 people who took all the tags off of the hats, scarves, gloves, mittens, socks and underwear. They packed them already to be taken to the Orphan Grain Train by the Duo Club members who go there on their work day.

New business: This is the 75th Anniversary of LWML in the Nebraska North. They need a Ladies aid picture of our members and it was taken at the end of the meeting.

LWML Zone meeting is being held on Jan. 15 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The District Convention is this June. Members were encouraged to try and get some young women representatives.

Pastors conference is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 6. The Aid has been asked to serve approximately 10 people. Morning coffee and a coffee cake will be served by Fauneil Bennett. The noon meal will be provided by Rhonda Sebade, Mary Janke, and Betty Wittig.

Members discussed sponsoring a Seminary student. The group voted to sponsor Quincy Koll, who is in the Seminary at St. Louis. He is the nephew of Lonnie and Pam Matthes. He sent us a letter asking us to consider him.

Pastor Lilienkamp gave the Bible Study from the Winter Quarterly "Living a God-sized Dream." Rosa Young was born in 1890 in Alabama, the fourth of 10 children - an African American woman in an impoverished rural community. She wanted to be a teacher to educate her people and teach them the Good News of Jesus. It was her dream and God made it happen.

The meeting closed with the Lords' Prayer and Table Prayer. Lunch was served by Bev Hansen. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Feb. 14 with Kimberly Hansen serving.

Governor Ricketts holds the signed proclamation during the press conference held on Jan. 16, surrounded by area clergy, pastors and representatives from various organizations that represent a diverse group of faiths and people.

Governor proclaims Jan. 16 as Religious Freedom Day

Governor Pete Ricketts issued a Nebraska State Proclamation recognizing January 16th as Religious Freedom Day. Pastors, clergy, and a variety of organizations that represent a diverse group of individuals and faiths gathered in the State Capitol to express their support for this exciting announcement.

Karen Bowling, Executive Director of Nebraska Family Alliance, conveyed the organization's support for the event:

"Religious liberty is one of the principles on which this country was founded. This pre-political human right guarantees your ability to live and work according to your beliefs. Nebraska Family Alliance is proud to stand alongside Governor Ricketts today in support of this irreplaceable American freedom."

Religious Freedom is the right to live and work according to one's beliefs - and this freedom is for everyone. The First Amendment guarantees that no one, regardless of their beliefs, is bullied by the government or coerced into retreating from civil and political life.

"Whether we protect someone's right to live and work according to their beliefs, shouldn't depend on whether you or I or 51% of voters agree with those beliefs," said Hallie Hamilton, Communication Director of Nebraska Family Alliance.

Held on Tuesday, the press conference and proclamation signing exhibit the diverse and passionate support for religious freedom in Nebraska.

Not longing for the 'good old days'

Sunday eve, and two good football games today. Now, the Big Farmer is finishing the World Herald and I'm reading John Cook's book with Bach on the CD player.

I'm enjoying Cook's book more than I did Pettit's. He's very honest in it. I got a kick out of the fact that only one player has ever been late for practice, and she lived south of Lincoln and called to say that a calf was stuck and they had to work to get it out!

She was excused!
Last fall, when our football season was going down the tube, a friend from Kimball asked if John Cook could coach football! I responded that I thought he had, and he has. He played it, and he coached it in high school. But the teaching job he was offered included coaching women in volleyball, so bought a rule book. Of course marrying someone who played at the college level may have helped. Anyway, he mentions a lot of players whose names are engraved in our memories, and recounts the glories, and the regrets. I don't think I knew that he was as successful at Wisconsin as he was. Nebraska was not in the Big Ten in those days, and I mainly followed the Big Twelve.

Today was a good weather day, and I stocked up on groceries again. The little gray-haired lady who checked me out asked what we did in the days when we couldn't run to the grocery store? I responded that we had canned goods in the basement, along with meat that was canned or smoked, cows for milk in the barn, and chickens in the hen house for eggs. She smiled and chimed in with cobs to heat the cook stove.

At that I remembered the mice who used to scoot across my feet when I had to go to the cob house to gather them. But they did make a great roaring heat, that's for sure, and were lots cheaper than coal. We also had plenty of dry wood to burn.

Without an indoor bathroom, and no electric lights, I'm not about to go back to the "good old days". But it was fun to share those memories with her. There was no television, either, so I guess we read books or put puzzles together or played games.

Coach Cook says he has had to edit his videos to feature just certain plays, because if he actually played a whole game, the players would soon lose interest. So instead, they make "clips". What does that tell you about interest span? Should we be concerned? I give him credit for recognizing the changing world he works in, and adapting to it. I doubt I could do it. Stay warm!

Corn states partner together for E15 television campaign on the Big Ten Network

Big Ten Network viewers, meet Mike. Mike is the animated star of a new advertising campaign initiated by the Nebraska Corn Board. He's a smart guy who cares about his car and its engine performance. In these 15-second and 30-second television commercials, a narrator describes why Mike chooses clean-burning, high-performing E15, which is a fuel choice blended with 15 percent American ethanol.

In order to maximize the frequency and reach of the commercials on the Big Ten Network, the Nebraska Corn Board partnered with the corn checkoff boards from Iowa, Illinois, Ohio and Kansas to amplify overall exposure. The collaboration also helps establish consistent ethanol messaging between major corn producing states.

"We've been working for a number of years to develop and implement a campaign on the Big Ten Network," said Dave Merrell, farmer from St. Edward and chairman of the Nebraska Corn Board. "BTN has a loyal following across the nation. With this widespread coverage, we're able to reach parts of the country that may have the infrastructure for higher ethanol blends, but don't necessarily have the advertising budgets to educate consumers."

"Consumers are seeing more choices at the pump, which is great, but it can also be confusing," said Paul Jeschke, farmer from Mazon, Ill., and chairman of the Illinois Corn Marketing Board. "With this campaign, we chose to focus on E15, which can be used to fuel most cars on the road today and can be found at more than 1,300 fuel stations across the country."

A website was also created to complement the television spots. On this website, motorists can provide their location to identify E15 fueling stations near them. The website is available by visiting www.getbiofuel.com/BTN.

"As corn states, we all have the similar goal to enhance demand for our farmers," said Duane Aistroppe, farmer from Randolph, Iowa, and president of the Iowa Corn Promotion Board. "Ethanol has been a huge driver of corn demand, and there is still so much potential for more growth. There are also so many benefits for consumers to fill up with more homegrown fuel that's safe for their engines and better for our environment. We hope this campaign will encourage consumers to fuel up with higher blends of ethanol."

The E15 television commercials began airing in this month during the men's basketball season and will continue to air through the next seasons of football and volleyball. In addition to the airings on the college sports network, the spots will be added to local network and cable channels. To view the 30-second commercial, visit the Nebraska Corn Board's YouTube account: www.youtube.com/nebraskacorn.

With the release of dicamba-tolerant soybeans, there was a vast increase in sensitive crop damage throughout the country in 2017. Because of this, it is now illegal to apply these products without first having taken state-authorized training. There is an online training program designed to fulfill the label requirements for three new RUP dicamba products: Xtendimax, Engenia, and Fexapan. There is no cost to this training. Go to <https://pestid.unl.edu/dicamba> to take the training. You must have your private or commercial applicator number to register.

Northeast Community College named military friendly school

Northeast Community College has again been named to the Military Friendly Schools list by Victory Media, an organization that connects the military community to civilian opportunities.

Now in its 16th year, the Military Friendly Schools list uses data sources from federal agencies, veteran students and proprietary survey information from participating organizations to provide a comprehensive career and education guide for veterans and their families.

More than 1,300 schools participated in the 2017-2018 survey with 849 earning the designation. Institutions earning the designation were evaluated using public data and from a proprietary survey completed by the school.

For the first time, student survey data was considered for the designation. Methodology, criteria and weightings were determined by Victory Media with input from an advisory council of independent leaders in the higher educations and military recruitment community.

"Once again, Northeast is honored to be designated a Military Friendly college," said Amanda Nipp, vice president of student services. "We know the journey from military to student life is not easy and can even be overwhelming at times. Helping our veterans make a successful transition into college life is the least we can do to thank them for their service to our country."

The final ratings for the Military Friendly Schools list were determined by combining the institution's survey scores with an assessment of the institution's ability to meet thresholds for student retention, graduation, job placement, loan repayment, degree advancement/transfer and loan default rates for all students, and specifically student veterans.

Victory Media is a service-disabled, veteran-owned business serving the military community since 2001. Its data-driven lists are published in G.I. Jobs®, Military Spouse, and Vetrepreneur® media channels, republished in periodicals such as USA Today, Wall Street Journal, Fortune, Bloomberg BW, and frequently cited on national TV by NBC, ABC, CBS, CNN, CNBC, Fox News and others.

Nipp said any current serviceman or servicewoman or veteran interested in enrolling at Northeast Community College should contact Karen Hoefler, assistant registrar, at (402) 844-7730 or visit www.northeast.edu/Records-and-Registration/Veterans.
