Wayne State College announces new site and renewal efforts for learning community

Wayne State College proudly announces the opening of a new Community of Learning cohort in Grand Island and the continuation of programming at three current sites in Norfolk, Fremont and South Sioux City. The College's Community of Learning is a unique two-year instructional framework through which teachers can earn a master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction.

The program's framework allows classroom teachers to drive their own master's-level professional development. The community format focuses on the needs of professional educators by forming a networked community to achieve personalized professional outcomes.

According to Dr. Nicholas Shudak, dean of the School of Education and Counseling at Wayne State College, no changes are being made to the signature-hybridized delivery of the communities or to the overall format and feel of the communities.

"Our renewal efforts are the result of our own research and outreach efforts with past community members/learners," Shudak said. "We intentionally focused on honing the research-based curricular foundation. This foundation helps in-service teachers, specifically P-8 teachers, engage in focused study and sustained action research around real problems of practice in their classrooms, helping teachers make data-driven decisions to positively impact student outcomes."

The opening of a cohort in Grand Island is a homecoming of sorts as two previous cohorts ran in the area from 2007 to 2009 and 2009 to 2011.

"We are honored to again be a part of the Grand Island educational community," Shudak said. "This exciting return to Grand Island nicely coincides with our efforts to renew programming in South Sioux City, Norfolk, and Fremont, where successful cohorts are coming to a close at the end of this school year. There is also a thriving cohort underway in West Point that started this year."

The Community of Learning program has been a signature instructional framework for Wayne State College since 2003. According to Dr. Johanna Barnes, who during the past 14 years has been a learner in a Community cohort, a cohort facilitator, and now a professor and advisor, one of the greatest values of Communities to teachers is the "collaboration."

"Teachers appreciate the collaborative environment in which they are challenged and supported to reflect on their practice," Barnes said. "Feedback over the years indicates that teachers value the collaboration that results in meaningful strategies to take back to the classroom to help impact student learning."

Dr. Katrina Fox, who was a learner in Grand Island and now facilitates in West Point, echoed Barnes' comments.

"The Community allowed everyone a place to collaborate and gather ideas and to research new methods that could be implemented in any classroom," Fox said. "Through the use of collaboration, learners are able to investigate different ways to approach teaching and learning based on educational theory and trends. The collaborative environment allows learners to create their own personalized learning opportunities, helping to navigate their path of continual improvement through research."

Council learns 'city in good financial shape'

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

The city of Wayne 'has good cash reserves and a great reporting model,' This was the message Terry Galloway of Almquist, Maltzahn, Galloway & Luth PC brought to the Wayne City Council during Tuesday's meeting as part of the fiscal year 2016-2017 audit report.

Galloway said the city was one of only a few in the state that is in full accrual and shared with the council where the city gets its money and how it is spent.

"Residents of Wayne pay less in property taxes than the average. In Wayne, property taxes are $149 per capita, while the state average is $185," Galloway said.

On the negative side of the report, Galloway told the council that the water, sewer and electric expenditures have been going up and rate adjustments may be necessary.

"There are good cash reserves, but these items need to be looked at going forward. You (city of Wayne) don't want to go backward."

In other action, council members gave approval for two requests to have rabbits within city limits.

The first of these was to Kessy Hanson and Ryden Hanson. The Hansons obtained a rabbit several weeks ago and then learned that council approval was needed to keep the animal as a pet.

Following several questions from council members in regard to the living status of the rabbit and information from City Attorney Amy Miller in regard to the necessary paperwork for keeping a rabbit, permission was granted to the Hansons.

A similar request was received from the Agriculture Department at Wayne Community Schools. Toni Rasmussen, Ag Educator at the School and several students were on hand to answer questions from council. They said the rabbit would be a pet and would be used for classroom learning. The same requirements were given for keeping this animal.

Council members heard an update from City Administrator Wes Blecke on the Rural Workforce Housing fund. He said Megan Weaver with Wayne Community Housing Development and Luke Virgil, Executive Director with Wayne Area Economic Development, will be at the March 6 council meeting to talk about the progress on the grant application for workforce housing.

Resolution 2018-12 was approved, allowing for the application of Nebraska Public Transportation Act funds and the local fund match in the amount of $14,915.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, March 6 at 5:30 p.m. in Council chambers.

Commissioners presented with building problems

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

A significant portion of the recent meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners was spent in the courtroom rather than the meeting room to enable Berggren Architects to present the findings of recent drone footage shot of the courthouse.

Jerry Berggren and Jake Geisert were on hand Tuesday to discuss the course of action the commissioners need to consider taking prior to having the masonry work on the courthouse completed.

A number of problems were located during the survey of the building that Berggren Architects did recently in their preparations for the tuck pointing of the building.

The TV screen in the courtroom allowed for the board and visitors to view the photos and hear the suggestions of the company.

The presentation broke the issues into three categories: grading, roofing and masonry.

Starting with grading, the pair gave detailed examples of the problems currently being seen at the courthouse.

The courthouse may look high from the road, but in reality the building is low in places compared to the grade of the site. This is directing water back toward the building, causing essentially erosion issues with the masonry.

The company has ordered a topographical study of the site to get specifics on problem areas, but a solution to direct water away from the building is needed.

The second major category was roofing.

Thanks to their drone, missing shingles, poorly-installed flashing and areas with no flashing were able to be seen.

The flashing should be installed in steps, with each piece being tucked into a masonry joint rather than laid flat against and caulked. In some areas, there was no flashing at all.

The final category discussed was the masonry work.

The concrete steps on the south entrance have cracked due to moisture, according to Berggren. There wasn't enough venting space left between the sand stone and the concrete so moisture has seeped into the stones and was trapped next to the concrete stairs. Using a stone and leaving proper venting space will prevent this from happening again in the future.

Berggren and Geisert gave a prioritized list of their recommendations after the presentation.

Starting with the most important fix to the least worrisome, the list included 1) install step-flashing, 2) fill in missing shingles, 3) extend gutter fascia over bay window on east side, 4) utilize copper or lead flashing on problematic areas, 5) re-shape roof of bay window on the west side, 6) damp-proof foundation, 7) install a perimeter gutter at grade, 8) replace the concrete steps with stone and 9) re-grade the site.

Berggren wasn't able to compile an estimate of the work listed above before the meeting but said he would See Commissioners, Page 3A

George Holm

George F. Holm, 58, of O'Neill, formerly of Wayne, died Sunday, Feb. 11, 2018, at Avera St. Anthony's Hospital in O'Neill.

Services were held Friday, Feb. 16 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in O'Neill. Burial was at the Wakefield Cemetery in Wakefield.

Memorial contributions may be sent to the family (Karen Holm), who plan to establish a college scholarship for young people in foster care to honor George's memory.

Biglin's Mortuary in O'Neill was in charge of arrangements.

George F. Holm was born in Huntsville, Ala. on May 12, 1959 to Frank and Rebecca (Searcy) Holm. Growing up in Alabama, George graduated from J.O. Johnson high school. At age 19, he rode his bicycle from Huntsville to Moscow Idaho, stopping in northeast Nebraska where he briefly worked on a relative's farm. After his trip, he returned to the state and married Karen Krueger of Emerson in 1983 and raised three children. George took a few classes at Wayne State College, but most of his education was "on the job." He started his first business, "Leather by George," when he was 15 years old. In 1992 he and his wife opened a dry-cleaning business in Wakefield, eventually moving the business to Wayne. After briefly managing a Dairy Queen business there in 2005, they bought the O'Neill Dairy Queen and ran it for 11 years.

George lived a life of service and was active in Rotary International. He spent countless hours volunteering, from working with skate boarding youth in Wayne to build a skate park, to supporting Leprechaun Youth Sports and the Irish Walk of Fame in O'Neill. He was a true kid at heart who never met a stranger in his life.

Survivors include his wife of 34 years, Karen of O'Neill; children, Frank Holm of Lincoln, Charles Holm of Austin, Texas and Jennifer Holm of New York, N.Y.; his parents, Frank and Becky Holm of Huntsville, Ala.; sisters; Susan Holm Maynard of Phoenix, Ariz., Phyllis (Jake) Wood of Tuscaloosa, Ala., brother, John (Mary) Holm of Huntsville, Ala., brother-in-law, Dan Maynard of Phoenix, Ariz.; mother-in-law, Patricia Krueger of Emerson; six brothers-in-law, seven sisters-in-law, numerous nieces, nephews, relatives and friends.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents; an infant brother; his wife's father, LeRoy Krueger and her brothers, Leon and Patrick Krueger.

Darren L. Schram

Darren L. Schram, 53, of Bentonville, Ark., died Saturday, Feb. 17, 2018, in Bentonville.

Graveside services will be held Saturday, Feb. 24 at 11:30 a.m. at Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne. Visitation will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 24 at Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to the Schram family for later designation. Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Earl J. Eckert,

Earl J. Eckert, 89, of Wayne, died Thursday, Feb. 8, 2018 at Brookdale Senior Living in Wayne.

Services were held Tuesday, Feb. 13 at the United Methodist Church in Laurel. The Rev. Dr. Dave York officiated. Burial with military honors was in the Concord Cemetery in Concord.

Memorials are suggested to the family for future designation. Arrangements were under the direction of Bressler - Munderloh - Smith Funeral Home in Wakefield, NE.

Earl J. Eckert was born Sept. 29, 1928 at the family farm outside of Dixon, to William and Bernice (Swift) Eckert. In May of 1945 Earl graduated from the Dixon High School. On July 21, 1948 he married Wilma L. Albrektsen at the Presbyterian Parsonage in Wakefield. The couple made their home near Dixon, where he farmed and operated a corn sheller. In January of 1952, he entered the United States Army and was deployed with the 96th AAA Battalion to Alaska, during the Korean War. Earl and Wilma lived in Alaska for over a year, while Earl was assigned to the motor pool and the mobile gun unit to move artillery guns in Alaska. After his time in the service, he returned home and farmed with his dad. He farmed for the rest of his life. Earl also worked for Dixon County for over 20 years as a heavy equipment operator.

In his spare time Earl restored IH crawlers and took them to many shows and parades. Earl never really retired — he was always active with the farm and always stayed in touch with his 96th AAA Battalion. Even though Earl was always busy, he always made time for his family. He loved spending time with his grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Survivors include his wife of 69 years, Wilma L., of Wayne; daughters, Marilyn (David) Abts of Laurel and Anita Eckert of Laurel; sister, Norma Penlerick of Wayne; grandchildren, Angela Abts, Eric (Christy) Abts, Julie (Nick) Kvols, Jacob Eckert Fleischmann and Joshua Eckert Fleischmann; great grandchildren, Carter Kvols, Carlie Kvols, Claire Kvols, Ross Abts and Chayce Abts.

He was preceded in death by his parents; sister, Wilma Jean Penlerick; brothers-in-law, Ronald Penlerick, LeRoy Penlerick and Earl Dean Leonard.

David Kvols

David R. Kvols, 65, of Stanton, formerly of Wisner, died Sunday, Feb. 18, 2018 at the Stanton Health Center.

Services will be held on Thursday, Feb. 22, 2018 at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wisner, with burial in the Wisner Cemetery.

Visitation will be one hour prior to the service at the church on Thursday.

Arrangements are with Minnick Funeral Home in Wisner.

David Ray Kvols, son of Kristian and Ruth (Davidson) Kvols, was born Sept. 21, 1952 in West Point. He was baptized at the Methodist Church in Wisner on Sept. 13, 1953. When he was young, he enjoyed being outside playing with his favorite dog "Toy Boy" and playing catch. Later in life he was a resident at North Star in Wayne. He had fond memories of all the caregivers who took him to Husker football games, Godfather's Pizza, fishing, many Wayne State games, and other activities. David worked at the North Star Workshop.

David enjoyed being with family, watching husker football and western movies, especially anything that John Wayne was in. He also loved riding in the tractor, pickup, and looking at the cattle. During the holidays, he like Easter egg hunting, flying kites, and playing ball with all the nieces and nephews.

Survivors include his sisters, Carolyn and Bruce Cheney of Norfolk, Loraine and Gene Ott of Wisner; a brother, Ron and Nancy Kvols of Wisner; nine nieces and nephews and 23 great-nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Ruth and Kristian Kvols.

Donna Blaser

Donna Blaser, 87, of Norfolk died Saturday, Feb. 17, 2018 at Community Pride Care Center in Battle Creek.

Services will be at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 21 at Brockhaus-Howser-Fillmer Funeral Home in Norfolk. Pastor Lee Weander will officiate, with burial in Hillcrest Memorial Park Cemetery in Norfolk. Visitation will be one hour prior to services at Brockhaus-Howser-Fillmer Funeral Home.

Arrangements are with Brockhaus-Howser-Fillmer Funeral Home in Norfolk.

Donna Jean Blaser was born in Wayne on April 2, 1930 to Otto and Irene (Beckner) Koch. She was baptized and confirmed at Theophilus Church in Winside, where she often played the organ. Donna attended Winside Public School and graduated in 1948. After graduation, Donna taught country school in the Winside area. While teaching, she met Paul Blaser and they were married Nov. 25, 1951. Soon after their marriage, they moved to Mitchell, S. D., where Paul managed the lumber yard. In 1956 Donna and Paul moved to Sioux Falls and started a family of three children, Robert, Kelly, and Todd. In 1970, they moved to Norfolk, where Donna was a reading teacher at Westside Elementary School until she retired. Donna was an active member of Our Savior Lutheran Church, singing in the choir and volunteering her time. She loved doing crossword puzzles and playing the piano. Donna was also an avid gardener and loved taking care of her lawn.

Survivor include her sons, Robert Blaser and his girlfriend Vivian Fox of Norfolk and Todd Blaser and his wife Rhonda of Alexandria, Minn.; brother, Noel and Phyllis Koch and his wife Phyllis of Milford; granddaughters, Michelle (Blaser) Lawrence and her husband Jeff, Sara (Blaser) Yelkin and her husband Joe, Alex (Blaser) VanVoorhis and her husband Matt and Ki Blaser; and one great-grandson, Colton Weir.

Students broke out into groups based on their birth month to sit with people they may not normally at lunch recently in honor of 'No One Eats Alone' day.

Wayne students celebrate 'No One Eat Alone' day

Wayne Schools and Beyond Differences celebrated "No One Eats Alone Day" on Feb. 14.

The program is designed to build inclusive school campuses through ground-breaking lunchtime programs.

"No One Eats Alone Day" was a program created by the nonprofit Beyond Differences with a pledge to end social isolation. "No One Eats Alone Day" encourages students not only to sit with classmates they don't know, but also to spot others who might feel left out and include them.

This is Wayne's first "No One Eats Alone Day." There was a group of volunteers from the high school and junior high to lead the other students to eat with a different group of kids.

The hope is to make it a monthly event with different ideas about how to put the students into groups.

Numerous local students named to Dean's List at UNL

More than 5,100 students have been named to the Deans' List/Explore Center List of Distinguished Students for the fall semester of the 2017-18 academic year at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The following is a list of area Deans' List and Explore Center List of Distinguished Students honorees.

Commissioners

get figures to the commissioners at the next one. According to Berggren and Geisert, the plan they recommend would protect the courthouse from the top down, ensuring that problems like what is being seen now, don't happen again or worsen.

The commissioners were surprised and frustrated to hear that there were so many issues with the building.

The work that has been recommended still falls under qualifying work for the tax credits the county plans to take advantage of for the tuck pointing project, however until an estimate for the additional work comes in, things are at a stand still.

Another agenda item the commissioners tackled was the bid letting process for a set of triple 84-inch by 52-foot long metal pipes to be used on a road project.

Two bids were received with Midwest Service & Sales being awarded the bid. The company bid $37,620.56 and promised 6-8 weeks after approval for delivery.

Nic Kennnitz brought the commissioners information on a free storm spotting training course being offered at 7 p.m. on Feb. 28 at the Wayne Fire Hall. It is open to the public.

Aside from those appointments, the commissioners also voted unanimously to allocate a $25,000 contribution to the rural work force housing program presented to them by Megan Weaver with Wayne Community Housing Development and Luke Virgil, Economic Director.

Both the cities of Wayne and Wakefield have committed to giving funds totalling $500,000 to the program which will serve as a revolving loan fund for rural workforce housing projects.

Wayne students observing National FFA Week

The Wayne FFA Chapter is celebrating National FFA Week Feb. 17-24.

National FFA Week embraces more than 90 years of FFA traditions while looking forward to the organization's future. More than 653,000 members with a passion for agriculture will participate in activities at local, state and national levels.

Designated a national week in 1947, the week of George Washington's birthday, National FFA Week runs from Saturday to Saturday and gives FFA members an opportunity to educate the public about agriculture. During the week, chapters conduct a variety of activities to help others in their schools and communities learn about FFA and agricultural education.

Wayne celebrated National FFA Week by participating in the following activities: Official Dress Day on Monday; PJ Day on Tuesday; Teacher Appreciation Day on Wednesday, Breakfast for all 7-12 students and staff on Thursday, and a Pep Rally on Friday. Additionally, the FFA flag was flown at the school next to the Nebraska flag.

Today's FFA members are the innovators and leaders of tomorrow. Through agricultural education and hands-on learning, they are preparing for 255 unique career opportunities in the food, fiber and natural resources industries.

National FFA Week is sponsored by Tractor Supply Company.

The National FFA Organization provides leadership, personal growth and career success training through agricultural education to 653,359 student members who belong to one of 8,568 local FFA chapters throughout the U.S., Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The organization is also supported by 344,239 alumni members in 2,051 alumni chapters throughout the U.S.

The Wayne FFA chapter is advised by Ms. Toni Rasmussen.

Three Trojans hit medal stand, LCC's Williams just misses

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

OMAHA — Wakefield/Allen's wrestlers did their best rendition of the classic childhood game "Follow The Leader" and finished with three medalists while the LCC wrestlers came up a match short of the medal stand at the Nebraska State Wrestling Championships.

The trio of Cesar Sandoval, Isaac Verzani and Julio Sanchez matched results in all but the medal round during the three-day tournament, helping the Trojans finish 18th in a tough Class C field.

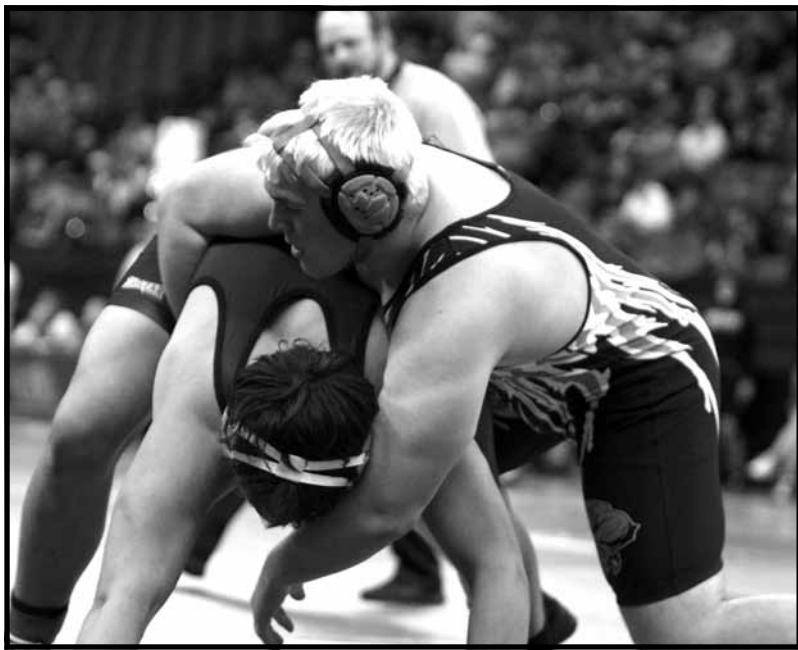

"All of the boys wrestled a great state tournament and I'm happy with the way we all ended up," coach Eric Burenheide said.

All three Wakefield wrestlers advanced to the quarterfinals Thursday morning with decisions, and then fell into the consolation bracket later that day as all three were pinned in their second matches of the day.

Needing two wins in Friday's consolations to guarantee a medal, the threesome came through, with each earning a win by pin and another by decision. The follow-me trend continued into Saturday, as all three lost their consolation semifinal matches before Verzani broke the trend by finishing with a pin to earn a fifth-place finish, while Sandoval and Sanchez both placed sixth.

Verzani wrestled well in his final two matches on Saturday, finishing the day with a dominating effort that ended in a second-period pin over Easton Albrecht of Raymond Central.

LCC's Ethan Williams came up one match short of the medal stand, reaching the third round of consolations in Class C 220-pound action at the state wrestling tournament.

renheide said. "He beat out a rated wrestler and a returning medalist on his way to his fifth-place medal. I am really looking forward to what he is going to do next year."

Sanchez's finish was just seconds away from ending in a much higher place on the medal stand. He lost a close two-point match in the consolation semifinals, then went to the 30-second tiebreaker in his final match before giving up a late take-down.

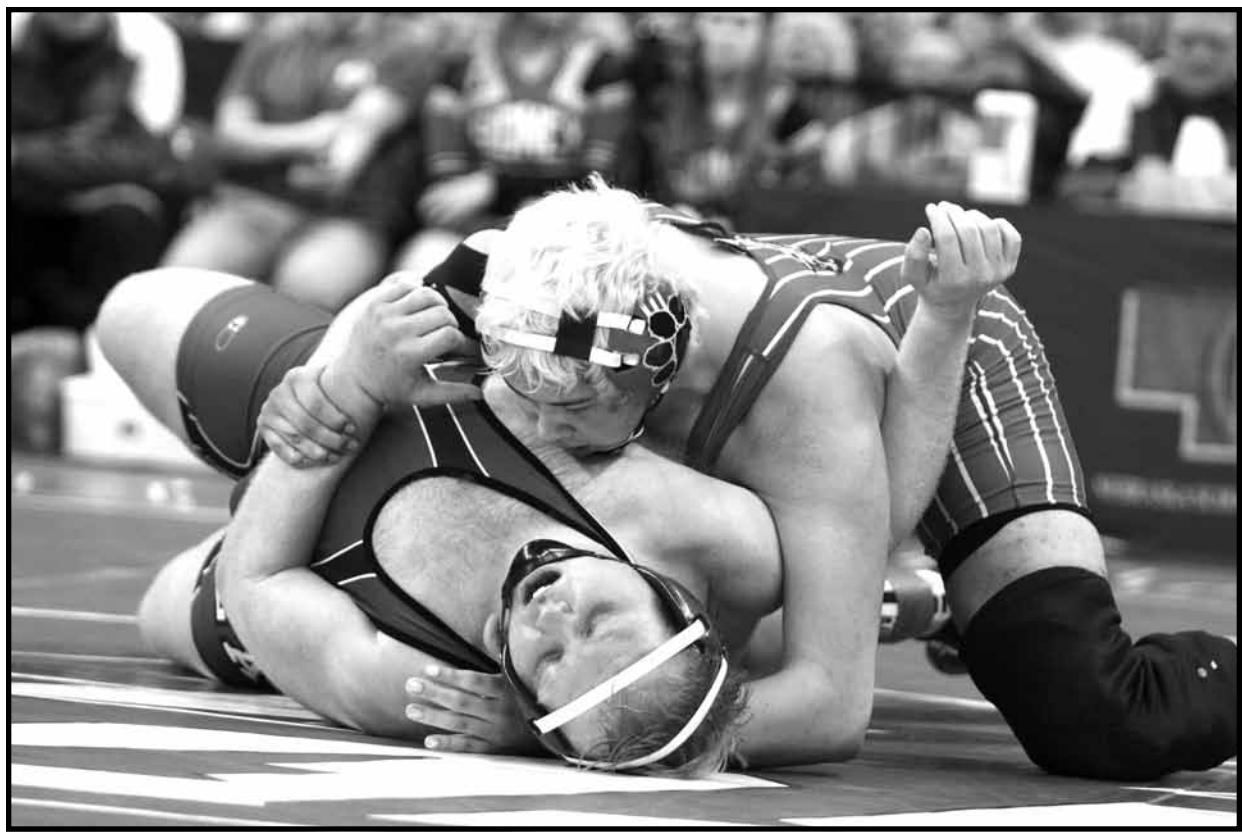

"Julio ended his high school career with state medal and wrestled very well down at the state tournament," Burenheide said. "He was within a couple of seconds away from winning both of his last two matches. He will be missed next wrestling season."

Sandoval's state effort was slowed up by an ankle injury during the consolation semifinals, but he gave a solid effort despite losing his final two matches.

Cesar was wrestling well and then suffered an ankle injury that changed his close match for third," Burenheide said. "He fought through it and finished his last match to get sixth place. He is also a junior, so we will have two returning medalists Winside senior 220-pounder Jon Escalante turns Schuyler Brown of Overton in the third period of their Class D championship match. Escalante got the pin to win a state title and help continue the school's 49-year run of medalists at the state wrestling tournament.

Escalante's state title sparks Winside's top-ten finish

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

OMAHA — With a combined four state championships in his corner and two more in his family tree, one would think there would have been some kind of pressure on Winside junior Jon Escalante going into the state wrestling tournament.

If there was, he didn't show any signs of it, ripping through the Class D 220-pound weight bracket in dominating fashion and finishing off previously-unbeaten Schuyler Brown of Overton with a third-period pin to cap his career in the best way possible — as a state champion.

With head coach Jesse Thies as a past state champion for Winside and assistant coach Mike Shoff earning three state titles during his high school career, there was plenty of experience backing the Wildcat senior as he pinned all four of his opponents to claim Winside's 37th individual state champion and first since Marcos Escalera and Caleb Lienemann won titles four years ago.

"They just told me to stay focused and keep my head in it and don't leave any doubt," Escalante said. "All the practice and the long hours paid off. This feels awesome." The feeling was mutual, according to Thies.

"I helped coach champions as an assistant to (former coach Paul) Sok years ago, but to win one as a head coach is awesome," he said. "People had counted him out and he really had a chip on his shoulder about that and came through this tournament and pinned everybody."

Escalante had a pair of second-period pins and a third-period fall to reach the finals against Brown. It was a close match heading into the third period and Escalante chose the bottom position to try to tie the match after Brown escaped in the second period.

As he was setting himself for the start of the period, Shoff yelled at him, "How bad do you want it?"

Obviously, he wanted it pretty bad. "I wanted it REALLY bad," he said. "That really got me pumped up."

Midway through the final period, Escalante stepped up to try to get away and Brown still had an ankle, so he found an opportunity to catch a quarter-nelson, moved around his head and was able to get under his opponent and turn him to his back. Once he secured both shoulders on the mat, he looked up to the ref and watched him slam the mat to give the Winside senior the title.

"He had control of the match and he got a nice catch on there with the switch and popped him on his back," Thies said.

Escalante was one of two Wildcats to reach Saturday's Walk of Champions, but 113-pound junior Koby Ellis couldn't follow Escalante to the top of the medal stand, as he lost a heartbreaking 1-0 decision to Zach Hamilton of Archbishop Bergan.

After a scoreless first period, Hamilton chose bottom and escaped early in the period to score the only point of the match. Ellis followed suit to start the third period, but was unable to get away or reverse position as Hamilton rode him the final two minutes for the victory.

"If you want to be a state champion you have to control all three phases, and we couldn't get out on bottom," Thies said. "We'll need to go back to the drawing board on that, but fortunately he's a junior and he'll have a chance to come back next year."

Two other wrestlers qualified for Winside and contributed to the team's ninth-place finish, as Carter Jensen (126) and Michael Jensen (182) both won a match in their respective weight brackets.

The lighter Jensen won his first match on a decision before losing to eventual champion Dillon Stewart of Elkhorn Valley in the quarterfinals. He was eliminated in the second round of consolations to finish his 26-16 season.

"He's been rolling along with quite a few wins the last couple of years and is wrestling a lot tougher, so I can't wait to see what he does next year," Thies said.

The heavier Jensen has made tremendous strides during the past couple of years and won a match in the consolation bracket to finish a 26-18 season.

"Mike has only been wrestling for three years and had 12 wins before this year, and he got 25 this year," Thies said. "I was excited to get him down her and get a win and get some experience, and I hope he can add to that next year."

Three of Winside's four qualifiers will return to the lineup in 2019, and with a solid class of incoming freshmen expected to contribute, Thies is hopeful when talking about next year's Wildcat matmen.

"We've got some great kids back and some freshmen coming in who should help, so I'm really looking forward to next year," he said.

Bears come back to take finale of regular-season against Wynot

LCC put together a big fourth quarter to come from behind and beat Wynot 62-59 in boys basketball action Friday in Laurel.

The Blue Devils played LCC tough throughout the game, taking a six-point lead at the half and maintaining that advantage going to the fourth quarter.

The Bears used a 20-11 fourth-quarter run to come back and get the win, as Izac Reifenrath and Noah Schutte helped lead the come-

Reifenrath scored a game-high 25 points and Schutte added 24 for the 14-9 Bears. Ty Erwin added six points, Cael Hartung had three and Charlie Stanley and Garrett Taylor each had two.

Both Reifenrath and Schutte finished with double-doubles. Schutte had 14 rebounds while Reifenrath grabbed 10. Logan Hansen had six rebounds and Kobe Heitman had five. Hansen had five steals, Reifenrath had four and Schutte blocked three shots.

LCC played Hartington Cedar Catholic in the opening round of the C2-5 subdistrict at Wayne High School. A win puts them in Thursday's 7 p.m. final against Ponca, with the winner advancing to districts next week.

WSC men fall in regular-season finales

Wayne State dropped a pair of road games as the men's basketball team ended the regular season with losses at Upper Iowa and Winona State.

On Friday, Upper Iowa built a 12-point halftime lead, then held back a Wayne State charge in the second half to hold back the Wildcats 73-68.

The two teams traded seven lead changes with two ties in the first half. WSC opened the game with a 7-2 lead followed by eight straight points from the Peacocks for a 10-7 advantage. WSC (14-15, 9-12 NSIC) held their final lead of the night at 16-15 following a Trevin Joseph layup at the 9:27 mark. A Vance Janssen jumper was the second and final tie of the first half at 18-18.

With Upper Iowa leading 21-20 at the 5:30 mark of the first half, the Peacocks closed the half on a 18-7 run to build a 39-27 lead at intermission.

Wayne State turned the tables on the host team with a similar run to open the second half with the Wildcats opening the half on a 15-3 run, forging a 42-42 tie on a Joseph 3-pointer with 13:50 left in the game.

After UIU pushed the lead back to seven at 51-44, WSC battled back and knotted the score at 55-55 with 8:14 to play.

But again, the Peacocks came back and scored seven straight to push the lead back to 62-55 near the five-minute mark.

The Wildcats got as close as one following a pair of Kendall Jacks free throws at 64-63 with 2:08 remaining, but the Peacocks scored on their next two possessions to increase the lead to six at 69-63 and Upper Iowa finished off the five-point win.

Jacks led Wayne State with 20 points to go with a career-high 15 rebounds for his first-ever double-double. Joseph also finished in double figures with 19.

In Saturday action, Winona State raced out to a 48-28 halftime lead and shot 57 percent for the game as the Warriors cruised past Wayne State, 89-71.

Wayne State (14-16, 9-13 NSIC) held the lead for the opening 10 minutes of the game before the host Warriors took control of the contest. The biggest lead for the Wildcats came at 8-4 following a Jordan Cornelius layup.

The two teams traded the lead five times with two lead changes early in the game. Wayne State's last lead came at 13-12 on a Trevin Joseph 3-pointer at the 12:58 mark of the half.

With Wayne State trailing 16-15, the Warriors scored nine straight points to take their first double digit lead at 25-15 with 9:50 to play in the half.

Wayne State still trailed by 10 at 32-22 with 6:07 to go before halftime, but Winona State put the game out of reach by closing the half with a 16-6 run to build a commanding 48-28 lead at intermission.

Winona State maintained their sizeable lead throughout the second half, using 15 of 26 shooting in the second half to thwart any Wildcat rally as the Warriors finished with the easy win.

Trevin Joseph led Wayne State in scoring with 26 points, going 9-of-16 from the field, 4-for-8 behind the arc and 4-of-6 at the free throw line. Kendall Jacks and Matt Thomas also hit double digits with 11 and 10 points respectively. Jacks hauled in six boards for Wayne State.

Eagles survive in subdistrict opening

After losing their regular-season finale, the Allen boys basketball team survived in the opening round of D2-4 subdistrict play.

On Friday, the Eagles lost a 73-32 decision to Omaha Nation, as the hosts raced to a 26-2 lead on their home floor to post the easy win.

Allen was led by Brogan Jones with eight points and Noah Carr and Aden Anderson with seven apiece. Steven Cooks put in four points and Brock Floyd and Lukas Oswald each had three.

Cooks led the team with six rebounds and Jones had five.

The Eagles survived into the semi-finals of the D2-4 subdistrict tournament at Hartington Cedar Catholic, coming away with a 62-45 win over Santee in Monday's play-in round.

The Eagles got good balance in the scoring department, led by Jones' game-high 22 points. Oswald was also in double figures with 12 points and Carr and Cooks had nine points apiece. Anderson and Kobe Kumm had four points each.

Jones led the rebounding with seven, Carr had six and Oswald had five. Jones had four assists and Carr and Cooks both had three. Jones led the team with five steals.

Allen was set to continue subdistrict play on Tuesday against top-seeded Wynot.

Hammer honored at final home game

Wayne High senior Kylie Hammer was honored with a special presentation by coach Lindsay McLaughlin during the Feb. 9 home game against Arlington, the last home game of her four-year career at Wayne. Hammer set numerous school records during her career and will be playing college basketball next year at Wayne State College. She is the daughter of Scott and Melissa Hammer.

Wayne State College women end the regular season with 10-game win streak

The Wayne State women enter the postseason as the hottest team in the Northern Sun Conference, winning their final two games to take a 10-game winning streak into the conference tournament.

Wayne State outscored Upper Iowa 22-3 in the second quarter as the Wildcats cruised to their ninth straight win in a 69-38 blowout Friday in Fayette, Iowa.

With the score tied at 5-5 just under four minutes into the contest, WSC (23-6, 17-4 NSIC) scored the next nine points on a jumper and 3-pointer from Kacie O'Connor and baskets from Amanda Brainerd and Maggie Lowe for a 14-5 lead. The host Peacocks were able to get within 15-9 at the end of the first quarter.

The Wildcats scored the first 12 points of the second quarter to take control of the game with a 27-9 lead and outscored the Peacocks 22-3 in the second quarter for a 37-12 lead at intermission.

WSC made 9 of 17 shots in the third quarter and held a 21-11 scoring advantage to finish the third quarter with a 58-23 lead. Reserves dominated play in the fourth quarter for the Wildcats cruised to the blowout win.

Senior center Paige Ballinger led a balanced Wildcat attack with 11 points followed by O'Connor and junior reserve forward Andrea Larson with 10 apiece.

WSC won the rebounding battle over UIU 50-26 thanks to 10 rebounds from Ballinger, giving her a third double-double this season. Maggie Schulte added six boards. Maggie Lowe had three of Wayne State's 11 assists and was credited with three of the team's seven steals. Ballinger was credited with seven blocked shots in the game, the third-most blocked shots in a single game by a Wildcat women's basketball player.

On Saturday, Erin Norling hit a jumper as time expired to give Wayne State a thrilling 60-59 win over Winona State Saturday in Winona, Minnesota. The Wildcats extend their win streak to 10 games and are now 24-6 and 18-4 in the NSIC while the host Warriors drop to 14-12 and 10-12 in conference play.

The first quarter saw two ties and four lead changes before the Wildcats took a 19-13 lead after one quarter of play.

Wayne State continued to hold the lead through the second quarter until Winona State tied the game 28-28 with 1:06 remaining in the half with two made free throws from Hannah McGlone. WSU outscored Wayne State 15-9 in the second quarter to make it a 28-28 tie game at half.

Winona State came out of the intermission hot, making 8 of 14 shots (57.1%) to lead 49-44 after the third quarter.

The Wildcats responded in the final quarter, going on a 5-0 run to start the fourth and tie the game 49-49 using a three-pointer from sophomore Evelyn Knox and two made free throws by Maggie Schulte.

Both teams continued to trade baskets as the fourth quarter experienced two ties and seven lead changes.

WSU took a 59-58 lead with 1:04 left in the contest and held the lead until the final shot of the game. The last minute saw the Warriors miss a jumper and free throw. Wayne State (24-6, 18-4 NSIC) took only one shot in the final minute of the game, a buzzer-beater by Erin Norling to give Wayne State the win.

Schulte led the Wildcats with 20 points and five rebounds followed by Norling with 14 points.

Winona State outrebounded Wayne State 29-22. Schulte grabbed five rebounds while senior Paige Ballinger hauled in four and had five assists.

Wayne boys handle Pierce in home finale

The Wayne boys led from start to finish as they posted a 48-29 win over Pierce in their regular-season finale Friday at Wayne High School.

The Blue Devils got out to a 7-2 lead early in the game on baskets by Mason Lee, Jack Evetovich and Beau Bowers.

Wayne led 13-6 when they closed the first half with a 7-2 run, highlighted by a Shea Sweetland 3-pointer and two Evetovich scores, to take a 20-8 lead at the half. Wayne led by as many as 15 in the third quarter after a 3-pointer by Lee, and led by as many as 22 in the fourth quarter after a Kallan Herman 3-pointer before settling on the 19-point win.

Sweetland led a balanced attack with 12 points while Evetovich had 11 and Lee and Cody Rogers both had seven. Drew Fertig put in four, Herman had three and Bowers and Tyrus Eischeid each had two. Lee led the defense with six rebounds while Evetovich had four assists.

Wayne was set to play Pierce in the semifinals of the C1-5 subdistrict Tuesday at Norfolk High School.

Softball team gets win on opening weekend

Wayne State College rallied from a 6-0 deficit to tie the score and force extra innings, only to lose to Nebraska-Kearney 11-7 Friday afternoon in the 2018 softball opener for the Wildcats at the Fort Hays State Crossover Tournament in Hays, Kan.

UNK scored one run in the first, four in the second and one in the fourth to build an early 6-0 lead on the Wildcats.

Wayne State got on the board with two runs in the fourth, thanks to an RBI single from Emily Chandler and a sacrifice fly by Alyx Hagen, to make the score 6-2.

The Wildcats scored single runs in the fifth and sixth to pull within 6-4. Abbie Hix reached on an error and scored on another UNK error for the Wildcat run in the fifth while Rachel Shumaker singled and scored on a Hix single in the sixth to make the score 6-4.

Wayne State capped the rally with two runs in the bottom of the seventh to knot the score at 6-6. Jordyn Breitbarth tripled and scored on a Katelyn Wobken sacrifice fly to trim the UNK advantage to 6-5. With two outs, Emily Chandler tripled and scored on Alyx Hagen's single up the middle to even the score at 6-6, sending the game into extra innings.

But UNK regained the momentum in the top of the eighth, erupting for five runs on six hits for an 11-6 lead. Wayne State could not score in the bottom of the eighth to make the final score 11-6.

UNK had 20 hits in the game to eight for the Wildcats. Chandler ended 2 for 4 with a triple and run scored for the Wildcats while Shumaker was 2 for 4 with a pair of singles, RBI and run scored. Brietbarth tripled while Hix, Hagen and Wobken also had singles for the Wildcats.

Wayne State used three pitchers in the contest. Junior Riley Vanderveen started the game and worked 2 2/3 innings, charged with five runs on eight hits with two strikeouts. Freshman Maddie Moser worked 5 1/3 innings and was tagged with the loss, allowing five runs on nine hits with five strikeouts and four walks while sophomore Allison Niemeier pitched part of the eighth inning and gave up one run on three hits.

Wayne State jumped out to an early 4-0 lead and held on in extra innings to capture a 7-6 win over Fort Hays State Saturday at the Fort Hays State Softball Crossover in Kansas.

After going scoreless the first two innings of the game, Wayne State scored three runs in the top of the third to give the Wildcats an early lead. Wayne State used a sacrifice fly from senior Rachel Shumaker to score junior Baylee Rial for the first run of the game. After freshman Ashley Hernandez walked, Abbie Hix had a 2-RBI single to right center scoring Emily Chandler (single) and Alyx Hagen (walk) to push the score to 3-0.

Wayne State added another run in the fifth after Shumaker doubled, advanced to third on a double by Ashley Hernandez and crossed home plate when Hix reached on a fielder's choice to make the score 4-0.

Fort Hays State responded in the bottom half of the inning using three hits, a Wildcat fielding error and an RBI groundout to cut the Wayne State lead to 4-2.

The Wildcats were held scoreless in the sixth and seventh inning. Fort Hays forced the game into extra innings after tying the game 4-4 in the bottom of the seventh. The Tigers scored their two runs off an RBI triple by Bailey Boxberger and RBI single by Sara Breckbill.

In the top of the eighth, Abbie Hix was placed on second to start the inning. Katelyn Wobken had a 2-RBI single to score Hix and senior Jordyn Breitbarth (single) to help the Wildcats regain the lead 6-4.

Fort Hays responded in the bottom of the inning with an RBI single and an RBI walk to force the game to the ninth tied 6-6.

Wayne State reclaimed the lead for good in the top of the ninth 7-6 when Hix singled to right center scoring Emily Chandler. Wayne State held on in the bottom of the inning forcing the Tigers into three groundouts to secure the victory.

Wayne State outhit Fort Hays State 14-12. Junior Abbie Hix led the Wildcats at the dish going 2-for-4 with four RBI and one run scored. Emily Chandler was 2-for-5 with two runs scored while Katelyn Wobken was 1-for-5 with two RBI. Junior Baylee Rial and Rachel Shumaker added two hits each for Wayne State while Jordyn Breitbarth, Alyx Hagen and Ashley Hernandez each added one hit.

Junior Alyx Hagen worked two innings of relief to earn the win, allowing one earned run on two hits with three walks. Riley Vanderveen started the game pitching four innings giving up no runs and five hits while freshman Maddie Moser pitched three innings surrendering seven hits and three earned runs.

At left, Frankie Klausen dribbles behind her back to elude a Norfolk Catholic defender during a 50-36 Wayne win in C1-5 subdistrict action.

Below, Gabi Meyer puts up a shot as she drives in the lane during Wayne's 50-36 win over Norfolk Catholic in subdistrict play last week.

Blue Devils postseason hopes dashed by Pierce

Wayne's hopes for making to state were terminated by Pierce, who posted their third win over the Blue Devils in the finals of the C1-5 subdistrict Thursday at Wayne High School.

On Tuesday, Wayne used an 18-3 run in the final five minutes to hold off a Norfolk Catholic comeback and post a 50-36 win.

Wayne used a 12-0 run in the first half to build a 16-6 advantage, thanks to a pair of scores by Jamie Gamble and baskets by Tori Kniesche, Frankie Klausen and Kylie Hammer. Hammer made back-to-back scores late in the half to give the Blue Devils a 12-point lead, but Norfolk Catholic hit a late 3-pointer to cut the deficit to 20-11 at intermission.

The Knights rallied in the third quarter and turned the nine-point halftime margin into a one-point lead going to the fourth quarter. The two teams traded leads and the Knights led 33-32 before Hammer hit two free throws to give Wayne the lead for good.

The Blue Devils slowly rebuilt their lead and Hammer hit a 3-pointer and a layup on consecutive possessions to give Wayne a 10-point advantage, and Norfolk Catholic was never in the game after that.

Hammer scored a game-high 22 points for the 17-8 Blue Devils. Frankie Klausen put in nine points, Gamble and Jenna Trenhaile each had six, Gabi Meyer scored four, Kniesche had two and Molly Hoskins put in a free throw.

Trenhaile led the team with nine rebounds, while Hammer had six and Meyer and Hoskins both had five. Hammer had four assists and five steals.

The Wayne High girls' postseason hopes came to an end Thursday in a 47-39 loss to Pierce.

Wayne got out to an early 8-2 lead thanks to a basket by Meyer and a basket and 3-pointer by Hammer, but Pierce returned the favor over the last few minutes of the first half and the game was tied 10-10 after one period.

Pierce built an eight-point lead midway through the second period, but Wayne was able to cut the deficit to two on a three-point play by Hammer before Pierce scored late to take a 27-23 halftime advantage.

A 3-pointer by Meyer and a basket by Hammer got the Blue Devils to within two at 30-28 midway through the third, but that was as close as Wayne could get as the Bluejays built the lead back up to six and Wayne never got closer than five points after that, ending their 17-9 season.

Hammer led all scorers with 23 points, Meyer added seven, Trenhaile had six and Gamble scored three. Trenhaile had 12 rebounds and two assists, Gamble had three assists and Hammer dished out two assists.

coming back next year.”

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge brought a pair of state qualifiers into the tournament, and junior 220-pounder Ethan Williams came up a match short of the medal stand, losing in the heartbreaking round Friday night.

Williams got behind early against Noah Carlson of Central City and tried to battle back, but the early deficit proved too much to overcome in a 22-12 major decision that ended his season.

“Ethan fought all the way back to the heartbreaking round and had a tough match and just got too far behind,” coach Don Maxwell said. “He made a try at the end but it didn't work out. I told him he's going to be back here next year and he said he would, so hopefully we can get him on the medal stand.”

Zach Dietrich had to overcome an injury during football season that cost him a lot of mat time, and while he was able to qualify for state, he just couldn't get anything going in the 285-pound weight class as he went 0-2 in the tournament.

“I don't think Zach was in good enough shape yet since only had a couple of weeks at the end of the season, but I was proud of both of them. they did a good job,” Maxwell said.

Wayne State College baseball drops first four games of season on the road

The Wayne State College baseball team dropped their season opening doubleheader at UC-Colorado Springs Saturday. The host Mountain Lions rallied to win the opener 6-5 and completed the sweep with a 16-4 victory.

In the opener, the host Mountain Lions rallied from a 5-1 deficit after two innings and scored the game-winning run on a Wildcat error in the bottom of the seventh to give UCCS a 6-5 come-from-behind victory.

Wayne State scored twice in the top of the first when leadoff batter Jake Lorenzini reached on a UCCS error and scored on a Tanner Simons double to right field. Simons later scored on a Bryce Bisenius fielder's choice for a 2-0 Wayne State lead.

After the Mountain Lions plated one run in the bottom of the first, Wayne State countered with three in the top of the second for a 5-1 advantage. Sophomore Peyton Barnes tripled to center field and scored on an error by the Mountain Lion catcher for the first Wildcat run. Jackson Petersen singled and scored on an RBI single to left field by Simons with the final Wayne State run coming when Lorenzini walked and scored when David Janes reached on a UCCS error.

The score remained 5-5 until the seventh when the Mountain Lions used a pair of singles and a hit batter to load the bases with two outs, then win the game on a Wildcat error by right fielder David Janes to rally for the 6-5 win.

UCCS held a 9-6 advantage on hits in the opener over Wayne State. Simons was a perfect 4-for-4 with two doubles and two RBI. Barnes tripled with Petersen getting a single for the other Wildcat hit.

Breedlove started the game and lasted 3 1/3 innings, giving up five runs on six hits. Reliever Lawson Zenner worked the next three innings and allowed three hits and an unearned run with five strikeouts. Senior Adam Poldberg retired the lone batter he faced while senior Brady Johnson was tagged with the loss after allowing a hit batter and error on the two batters faced.

The second game saw Colorado Springs erupt for 16 runs to help sweep Wayne State 16-4.

The Mountain Lions scored four runs in the first, two in the second, third and fourth innings and six in the fifth.

Wayne State scored one in the fifth when Garrett Graveline singled and scored when Tanner Simons reached base on an error. The Wildcats added two runs in the sixth on just one hit and two UCCS errors. Andrew Hanson doubled and scored on a throwing error for the first run with the second coming Peyton Barnes walked and later scored on another UCCS error.

The last Wayne State run came in the seventh when Simons reached on an error and scored on a Mountain Lion error.

Wayne State had six hits in the contest. Simons and Hanson each doubled for the Wildcats while Jake Lorenzini, David Janes, Barnes and Graveline each recorded singles.

Starter Hunter Wienhoff was one of six Wildcat pitchers and suffered the loss, allowing six runs (all earned) on six hits over 1 2/3 innings with two walks and two strikeouts.

Regis University slugged out 23 hits and scored 23 runs in the opener, then won a pitcher's duel in the second game to sweep Wayne State College 23-7 and 4-1 in a non-conference college baseball twinbill played Sunday afternoon at the Regis Baseball Field in Denver, Colo.

The opener saw Wayne State take a 4-0 lead in the top of the first thanks to two-run homers from senior Tanner Simons and freshman Andrew Hanson, but Regis struck for seven runs in the first on seven hits and took a 7-4 lead.

Wayne State had nine hits in the contest, led by Hanson going 2-for-4 with a homer, single, two RBI and two runs scored. David Janes was 2-for-4 with a run scored while Simons belted a two-run homer.

Junior starter Charles Hasty was tagged with the pitching loss, allowing 10 hits and nine runs in two innings of work. Adam Poldberg, Gabe Hoogers and Cedric Moreno also worked in relief for the Wildcats.

The second game saw the Wildcats lead early again, but the host Rangers scored two runs in the third and fourth innings to win a low-scoring 4-1 contest over the Wildcats to complete the sweep.

Simons led off the game with a single and scored on a Janes infield single to third base giving the Wildcats a 1-0 lead.

Wayne State had just four hits in the contest compared to six for Regis. Simons was 2-for-3 with a double and scored Wayne State's lone run. Zane Zitek doubled while Janes singled and had the lone Wildcat RBI.

Ras suffered the pitching loss, charged with four runs (three earned) on four hits in 3 1/3 innings with three strikeouts and one walk. Lawson Zenner worked 2/3 of an inning while Isaac Rubendall pitched the final two innings and allowed two hits and no runs.

Wayne State (0-4) resumes play on Saturday, March 3 with a non-conference doubleheader at Newman University in Wichita, Kan., starting at 1 p.m.

The Wayne Herald

Safety of students at WCS taken seriously

I am sure you are all aware of the horrible event that occurred last week at a Florida High School. We extend our thoughts and prayers to the Parkland, Florida community and especially to the families of the victims. This is happening much too often in our schools and communities. Schools are meant to be safe for students and staff, and anytime an event occurs contrary to that, Wayne Community Schools needs to reflect and take time to review our practices and our safety plan.

Wayne Community Schools utilizes a safety plan recommended by the Nebraska Department of Education. We send staff to training on this plan to make sure we are familiar with the concepts and can activate the plan if necessary. We spend time reviewing our safety plan regularly, and are meeting this week with the appropriate personnel to continue the discussions and to plan necessary drills with students and staff. All three school buildings are locked throughout the day, and visitors must be buzzed in at the main entrance. This provides us an opportunity to know who is entering our school and for what purpose, and provides visitors a chance to check-in at the school office.

As community members, we need your help in keeping an open line of communication with our school district and local police department. Social media has become an area that most of us in the community have great access to. I encourage all of you to report something that is posted on social media, or something that is heard in the community that might be considered dangerous, immediately to the school administration, or the Wayne Police Department. All reports we receive will remain confidential and will help make us aware of dangerous situations that could impact our community. When a report is given, we will immediately assess the situation and will not hesitate to include local enforcement as necessary. We are fortunate to have a very good relationship with the Wayne Police Department, and they in turn have proven to be very cooperative in helping us in any way possible.

Being proactive is the most effective way to keep our schools and our community safe. Reporting concerns is very important, however, we also need to find ways to provide support for students and families who are in need of resources. As school resources can be limited, it will be important for us to develop partnerships in our communities to serve our families and students in need of mental health counseling. Initially in the legislative session, there have been legislative bills introduced to help schools with this growing need. As community members, I ask that you consider supporting legislative bills introduced in session that will provide mental health assistance to schools and communities. It is a fast growing and ever changing need, and one I will advocate for during this legislative session.

The safety of our students, staff, and our community is of our utmost priority and it takes all of us; staff, parents, students, and community members to work together to ensure this occurs. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call me at school. Thank you for your continued support of Wayne Community Schools!

From the Desk of Mr. Mark Lenihan, Superintendent,
Wayne Community Schools

State Budget: All eyes on the University of Nebraska

By J.L. SCHMIDT

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

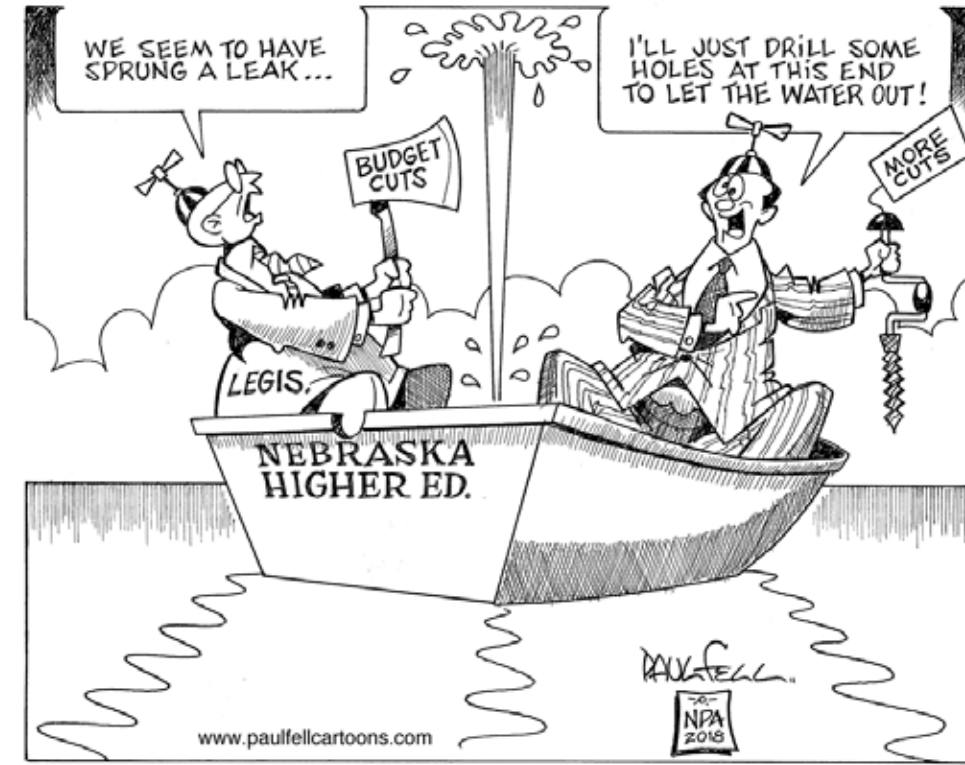

Last year it was an upheaval in the athletic department that made the University of Nebraska a household word. The firing of an athletic director and a head football coach brought replacements and diverted attention away from what was an even bigger issue for the school, the loss of $49 million in state aid and increased operational costs.

This year it has been a struggle with free speech issues on several fronts, including: complaints that a conservative voice is not tolerated on the Lincoln campus; scrutiny from at least three state Senators calling on the University to adopt policies to correct that perception; and a widely circulated video from an alleged white supremacist student which has been protested by a large group of students.

Oh, and there has been talk of another round of budget cuts brought on by lagging state revenues and a strong desire of Governor Pete Ricketts to provide property tax relief in the ag sector and income tax relief for some. That has led to talk of another $34-plus million in cuts to the University and has brought a warning from University President Hank Bounds that said action would be detrimental leading to cuts in academic programs.

The Legislature's Appropriations Committee Chairman Senator John Stinner of Gering said the budget reality could have a "transformational impact" on the University. Proposed reductions of 2 percent this year and 4 percent next year are being discussed.

Bounds said the University has exhausted cuts in areas that don't affect academic programs and cuts in information technology; energy savings and service areas could potentially damage the university's daily operations. The school is dipping into cash reserves to cover losses for the rest of this fiscal year. Campus leaders have been coping, but the tough decisions lie ahead, Bounds said. That will include identifying academic programs, extension offerings and research enterprises the university can do without.

For the Legislature's part, Stinner — who has two degrees from the University of Nebraska — said there is no appetite to increase taxes for additional revenue to fund the university or other state-supported agencies or activities. Ricketts has also made it clear that he will not support tax increases, noting that Nebraska is already a high tax state. Both men are also running for re-election.

Stinner did tell the Lincoln Journal Star that he is open to a number of revenue-producing options such as the collection of state sales taxes already owed on internet sales, something that Ricketts opposes. The senator said he'd also look at possibly applying the state sales tax to some now-exempt services and taking a fresh look at the state's list of incentive programs. It's all about good tax policy.

Good tax policy is an oft-discussed subject with little action. There are a handful of property tax proposals on the table this year and the specter of a ballot issue to allow voters to adopt a property tax reduction plan in November.

In the short term, we need to look at the situation with the state's flagship educational programs. The nearly 150-year-old University of Nebraska now boasts 53,000 students with 11,000 new graduates entering the workforce every year and more than 187,000 alumni living in the state.

The One Nebraska Coalition has been sponsoring a series of advertisements and commercials in support of the University's lobbying efforts. The group has provided some interesting statistics, such as the fact that more than 50 percent of doctors in rural Nebraska were trained at the University of Nebraska and nearly 75 percent of Nebraska farmers and ranchers have benefited from university research to boost animal and crop productivity.

The group also says that for every dollar invested in the university by the state, $6 is added to the Nebraska economy. They foresee a loss of students, loss of jobs and closing down of some academic programs if the cutting continues.

Stinner said he knows that any time you raise tuition, it has an impact on the number of kids who can go to the university or the state or community colleges. He promised that if state revenue begins to recover, that could somewhat ease the budget pressure. The Nebraska Economic Forecasting Advisory Board meets later this month. The Legislature and the University are both wishing and hoping for positive numbers on the state's tax receipts.

The One Nebraska Coalition has called for Nebraskans to reach out to the Governor and the Legislature and ask them to make the University a priority.

Consider it done.

Budget cuts hurt our area, Haskell Ag Lab included

Dear Editor,

Many of your readers have heard that in response to budget restrictions proposed by the Governor, the University of Nebraska is offering the elimination of the Haskell Agricultural Laboratory (HAL) outside of Concord by the end of 2018 as a partial solution. They may have also read a recent article in the Norfolk Daily News from Vice-Chancellor Boehm outlining the reasons they have chosen HAL. Your readers may also know that I recently retired, but before that, I contributed to this paper many times as the soil scientist at HAL. I would not have been able to contribute very much to this paper and the farmers in northeast Nebraska if I was not able to do research at HAL on soils and under the climatic conditions that are typical of this area. The need for locally conducted research holds true for the other disciplines represented at HAL: weed science, entomology, and irrigation science. In the past, we have made contributions to the beef and swine industry.

Why is this happening? The budget cuts being imposed by the legislature are just an excuse to eliminate HAL. The administrative leadership in IANR (Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources; which administers agricultural research, extension, and the College of Ag and Natural Resources) has not supported HAL for many years. Over the past decades, HAL has lost positions in Youth, Nutrition, Biosystems Engineering, Swine Management, Dairy Science, Beef Science, and Agricultural Economics. These losses are mainly due to a combination of how departments compete for positions and administrative neglect. A research center can't initiate a position unless the relevant Lincoln department supports the position. Animal Science abandoned HAL long ago, preferring to put their resources at the Mead research center and out west at the North Platte and Scottsbluff centers. This was done in spite of the fact that Professors Mike Brumm and Terry Mader made tremendous contributions to Nebraska's animal industry.

The administrators claim, without data, that the scientists at HAL did not have an impact. We challenge the administration to publish their impact metrics. Impact is very difficult to measure, and even more difficult to attribute to a single cause. For example, in the 1960s farmers used about 1.6 lbs of nitrogen per bushel of corn produced, now they use about 1 lb of nitrogen per bushel produced. This is an important impact of research in many agricultural disciplines, no one discipline can 'take credit.' Other improvements in agriculture and animal management have the same story.

Because of this difficulty, scientists are evaluated on the number of grants and their value, our publications, and our accomplishments transferring knowledge to our clients (extension). Using these indicators, the HAL faculty have been productive even though our staff, faculty, facilities are a third of the size of the research and extension centers at North Platte and Scottsbluff. My colleagues are proud to share their accomplishments with anyone wanting to know what we are doing. We collaborate with the other faculty within the university and at other institutions around the world, and therefore, much of our contributions are reported through our discipline. We also work in teams and team impact is reported on a statewide basis not by region. The IANR review system does not contain a mechanism to report collective impact as a research facility. The last time we were allowed to review our resources and needs was 1987.

The administration has used our ambitions and planning against us. In the article in the Norfolk paper, the Vice-Chancellor gave other reasons for our elimination; one was that we needed more land and our plans for a better research facility were too costly. He asserted this immediately after claiming we had no vision. We have a vision for our work, and we work hard. It is our plans and work ethic that resulted in the need for more land and better facilities.

The Norfolk paper reported that the Vice-Chancellor said about a strategic vision, "no one had worked to identify one." A better, more accurate statement would be, 'none of the strategic visions proposed were accepted by administration.' We have worked over the years to identify a unifying vision. The problem has been that administration has always rejected our proposals and never gave us suggestions for visions they would approve. The most recent idea that we put forward was to develop a program in adapting to climate variation. As the weather gets more variable and more extreme, cropping systems will have to adapt. There will be new diseases, new insects, new weeds, soil processes will change, and precipitation patterns will change. Where will the farmers, consultants, and agronomists get their information on how to be profitable in the future?

The northeast district has different growing seasons, soils, rain patterns, and topography than the rest of the state. Our district makes major contributions to the state's economy, and the state should treat it equitably. Our district has 28 percent of the land, 32 percent of the farms, 35 percent of the market value of ag production, 41 percent of the livestock sales, 29 percent of the corn acreage, 25 percent of the soybean acreage, and 53 percent of the hog inventory (2012 Ag statistics).

This proposed closure will affect Wayne and surrounding towns in many indirect ways. Our community and businesses benefited from having HAL nearby. Many of the faculty and staff at HAL have come from other places and have brought their skills, insight and maybe more importantly for the community, the skills and insight of their spouses. Our spouses have worked in Wayne Community Schools, at Wayne State College, have run businesses in Wayne, been on the city council, been mayor, and worked at the hospital. Many individuals have volunteered in many local organizations.

The university abandoned their presence in Norfolk last year, and now they propose closing HAL and selling the land at HAL, whose proceeds will go to Yale University. Considering the meager savings from closing HAL compared to the benefits I submit that your readers and northeast Nebraska are not well served by these developments. If you care about northeast Nebraska as I do, then let your State Senator, the Governor, our Regent, and the university administration know how you feel.

Sincerely,

Charles Shapiro,

Fellow American Society of Agronomy;
Professor Emeritus, Haskell Agricultural Laboratory -
University of Nebraska

cision before losing on a decision later in the day Friday.

Jorgensen missed the first month of the season recovering from a football injury, and Wragge felt that the outcome may have been different if he had not missed those first few weeks.

"He was more of a defensive wrestler, and after the holidays we worked on throws with him and he really got more comfortable with that and got pretty good at it, and with a full go of things I think his results would have been different at state," Wragge said.

Another senior, Berto Vergara, went 0-2 in the tournament, but put together an impressive resume this season after going from 195 pounds back to 160 this season.

"The 160 weight class was a meat grinder the whole year and there was never an easy tournament for Berto," Wragge said. "He was always a light 195-pounder and he got down to 160 and never lost any strength or power in the weight room, so he did really well for himself and when you look at his body of work and how tough the weight class was, it's hard to say he could have done better."

Cameron Muhs' hopes for getting his 100th career win came up short as he lost two decisions at 126 pounds. And while he and Vergara both came up empty-handed in the lighter weights, Wragge said both will be great leaders for the team next season.

"Having those two guys back and the leadership and work ethic they both bring to the practice room is big," Wragge said. "They do a lot of their talking with their actions on the mat and you couldn't ask for two better leaders to come back. Cameron is looking for that 100th win and Juan isn't far behind, so both those guys will be coming back with a vengeance next year."

As a whole, Wragge felt the Blue Devil wrestling team made a lot of positive steps forward, and he hopes that momentum carries over into next year's team.

"This team had over 300 varsity wins this year, which is unreal when you consider we have just three seniors, one of whom didn't wrestle until after Christmas," he said. "We had seven freshmen wrestle varsity and had four guys win 30 or more matches, and three of those guys are back next year. They're a pretty determined group and I'm looking for some pretty good things for next year."

Wakefield boys beat Homer twice

The Wakefield boys basketball team ended the regular season and started the postseason in similar fashion with wins over Homer.

On Friday, the Trojans got out to a 10-point lead early in the game and led by 16 at the half on their way to a 64-36 win over the Knights.

Solomon Peitz and Parker Lehmkuhl led the offensive charge with 20 and 16 points, respectively. Blake Heimann, Justin Erb and Esgar Godinez each had five points, Gabe Peitz put in four, Francisco Guala had three and Israel Gardea and Rylen Weaver both had two.

In Monday's rematch, it was more of the same for the Trojans as they dominated Homer in a 68-37 win. Wakefield led by 16 at the half and didn't let up as they advanced in the C2-3 subdistrict.

Four Trojans finished in double figures, led by Gardea's 17 points. Lehmkuhl put in 16, Solomon Peitz had 14 and Godinez had 11.

Also scoring were Blake Brown with five, Erb and Gabe Peitz had two apiece and Weaver had one.

Wakefield continues in C2-3 subdistrict play on Tuesday.

Involvement in 4-H can help foster success in youth

The 4-H Pledge

"I pledge my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living, for my club, my community, my country, and my world."

Head, Heart, Hands, and Health

are the four H's of the 4-H program that youth need to be engaged while in the 4-H program. Using their heads, they learn to manage many different things in their 4-H projects and life. Through their hearts, they learn to relate to others and be caring to those around them and their projects. With their hands, 4-Hers are able to work on various projects and assist others. By living healthy they are practicing being capable of caring for self and others.

How can being involved in 4-H foster youth's success? In 2002, the 4-H Study of Positive Youth Development

Amy Topp
Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

ment longitudinal study began and was then repeated annually for eight years. There were more than 7,000 adolescents from across 42 states in the United States that were part of the study. The Tufts research team examined how structured-out-of-school time learning, leadership experiences, and adult mentoring that young people receive through 4-H plays a role in helping them achieve success.

4-Hers practice responsibility by being involved in a variety of different 4-H projects offered through the program. The project areas are Animal Science, Communication and Expressive Arts, Entrepreneurship, Environmental Education and Earth Sciences, Family and Consumer Sciences, Healthy Lifestyle Education, Leadership and Citizenship, Plant Science, and Plant Science and Technology.

If a youth chooses to participate in a Healthy Lifestyle Education project, they may learn the skill of meal planning for themselves and their family. This skill could lead to them actually planning out healthy meals for themselves and their family members and may even include keeping a food budget for their family.

4-Hers practice responsibility by caring for animals daily in various animal science projects. 4-Hers make sure their animals have a safe place to be, have appropriate food and water, and that their animals are cared for and can be handled. This takes much time and dedication by the 4-Her and their family and does not just happen one week out of the year at the county fair. 4-Hers in livestock projects take Youth for the Quality Control of Animals (YQCA) to help prepare them for daily care and management.

The Tufts research longitudinal study showed that compared to their peers, youth involved in 4-H programs excelled in several areas.

- 4-Hers are:
- Nearly four times more likely to make contribution to their communities.
 - About two times more likely to be civically active.
 - Nearly two times more likely to participate in science programs during out-of-school time — two times more likely (Grade 10) and nearly three times more likely (Grade 12) to take part in science program compared to girls in other out-of-school time activities.
 - Nearly two times more likely to make healthier choices.

For information on how you can be involved in 4-H go to 4h.unl.edu.

Center Circle Club holds Valentine gathering

The Center Circle Club met Feb. 15 at the home of Dianne Jaeger with seven members and one guest, Karen Hartmann, present. Vice President Janice Jaeger conducted the business meeting. Claire Brogren took roll call, conducted a Valentine exchange, and read the minutes of the last meeting. Georgia Janssen gave the treasurers report. There was no old business. The next meeting will be Thursday, March 15 at Rose Janke's. She exchanged meeting dates with Janice Jaeger who will have the April meeting. Hearts was played for fun with prizes going to Karen Hartmann, Irene Fork, Georgia Janssen and Janice Jaeger.

Joy Circle conducts February meeting

Joy Circle of Our Savior Lutheran Church met Feb. 14. President Dorothy Wert welcomed everyone. She told the group that Bold Women's Day will be observed on Feb. 25. Dorothy also recognized Thelma Moeller who celebrated a birthday in February. Thelma gave devotions based on a reading entitled, "The Real Issue: Love." What makes a church really alive - sound doctrine, exciting programs, great facilities, meaningful worship services faithful pastors and capable leaders? When the Pharisees questioned Jesus shortly before his passion, Jesus responded from the Old Testament that the real issue is love. The Pharisees considered themselves experts in the rabbinic law by tithing, observing Sabbath regulations, and performing ritual washings. However, Jesus tells us the greatest commandment is "Love the Lord your God" and "Love your neighbor as yourself." Other teachings from Jesus are to "Love each other," and "We are to love our enemies and do good to those who hate us." St. Paul in his teachings said that out of all of the special gifts from God, there are three things that remain - faith, hope, and love - and the greatest of these is love. Dorothy Wert's program was "Valentine Memories." She brought Valentine cards from many years ago which members enjoyed viewing. The group shared many memories they had from their previous Valentine's days. Finally, she gave the group a list of Biblical men and women and asked the members to match the husband and wife from the list. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, March 14, with Phyllis Rahn giving the program and Virginia Backstrom hosting.

What is your first reaction to trouble?

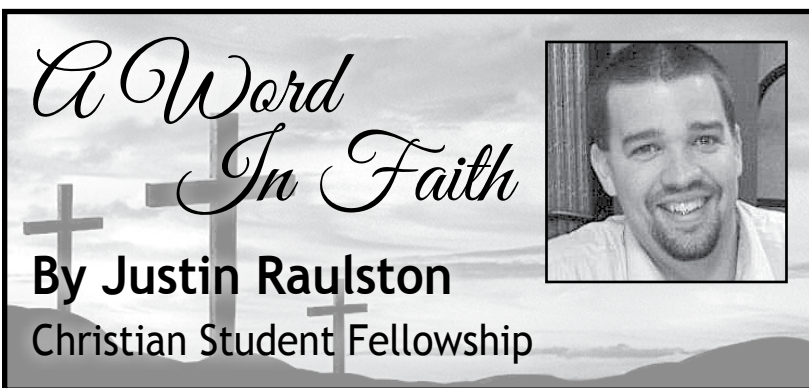

When trouble comes your way, what's the first thing you do? Don't think about your answer just respond with your gut reaction. When adversity or struggle hits you in the face, what is your reaction?

I love this time of year because we are heading into March Madness, and I love the NCAA Basketball tournament. (I think it should be a national holiday). I love to see how teams respond when they are down, or when they lose a big lead. I'm fascinated by how people respond when difficulty shows up. Some people run and hide. Some people complain, and blame. Others face it head on and run into the battle without thinking, while others spend too much time thinking and before they know it the battle is over.

There are two things I know for sure:

1) All of us have and will face struggles and difficulties in our lives.

2) All of us respond in different ways.

By Justin Raulston
Christian Student Fellowship

In 2 Chronicles chapter 20 a man named Jehoshaphat is faced with an enemy who is ready for battle, and he responds in a way that often times we forget is the way we are all called to respond.

"After this the Moabites and Ammonites, and with them some of the Meunites, came against Jehoshaphat for battle. Some men came and told Jehoshaphat, 'A great multitude is coming against you from Edom, from beyond the sea; and behold, they are in Hazazon-tamar.' (that is Engedi). Then Jehoshaphat was afraid, and set his face to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. And Judah assembled to seek help from the Lord; from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the Lord."

2 Chronicles 20:1-4
Jehoshaphat was scared and his first reaction was not to run away, or to run right in, his first response was to "set his face to seek the Lord". His first response was to go to God, and then to get the rest of the people to go to God. Jehoshaphat set his face to the Lord. And he prayed.

I won't write all of Jehoshaphat's prayer here, but you can find it in its entirety in 2 Chronicles chapter 20. But to summarize, Jehoshaphat recounts before the people who God is, and reminds himself of the greatness of God and the greatness of what God has done, and at the end of his prayer Jehoshaphat in complete honesty says to God these words, "We do not know what to do, but our eyes are on you."

Maybe you are facing a great struggle in your life right now, or you can see a battle that is coming on the horizon. Maybe your down and the clock seems to be running out. Before we run away, or before we run in, let's set our face to seek the Lord, and let's pray to Him with the trust and faith of Jehoshaphat, "Lord we may not know what to do, but our eyes are on you."

God gave Jehoshaphat and the people great victory that day. Not because of their ability, not because they weren't afraid, but because their eyes were on Him. Let's set our eyes on Him as well.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid conducts February meeting

President Rhonda Sebade opened the Feb. 14 meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and welcomed members.

Pastor Lilienkamp presented the Bible Study, opening with prayer. "The Eighth Day," studying Genesis Chapter 1 - 2:2.

The LWML Pledge was recited in unison. Vice President Ellen Heinemann gave the devotion "Remembering Whose We Are." We need to be reminded of whose we really are: God's sons and daughters. With Faith in Jesus, we know we are adopted into God's Holy Family.

Roll call was answered with nine members present. Minutes were read and approved as read. Treasurers report and bills were presented. Ruth Victor and Bonnadelle Koch audited the books and found them to be in order.

Correspondence: Thank you notes were received from Leona Baker and Bernice Hogan.

Rhonda Sebade led us in the February Grant Devotions. Our Mission Grants "Children's Books for Families World Wide"-such as Bible Stories with pictures and others, translated into Indonesia, Vietnam, Thailand, China, and Mongolia and distributing these books. This is all made possible through the mites given in all our churches to assist with teaching children about Jesus Love and Salvation.

Kitchen Committee: It was reported that kitchen items were donated and washed and ready for use. Two new electric roasters, four drink dispensers, a Bun Coffee Maker and also a new vacuum cleaner are now available to use.

Sewing is planned for Feb. 22. Mary Janke reported for the Historian committee.

Mary Janke and Kimberly Hansen reported on the visiting committee. They sent cards and some visits. Rhonda Sebade visited the Assisted Living side of Careage on Feb. 1. The group enjoy their visiting and they talked about the 1948-49 blizzards.

Kimberly Hansen will write to the Seminary student, Quincy Koll in St. Louis.

The Pastors Conference was scheduled for Feb. 6 at Grace Lutheran Church, but due to sickness and bad weather, it was canceled.

The morning coffee at Brookdale will be Friday, March 23 at Brookdale.

New Business: Wayne Zone Spring Workshop will be Thursday, March 8 at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Winside. Registration is from 9-9:15 a.m. and it will close after lunch.

There will be a monetary gift from each society to be given to our Missionary speaker, Pastor Schlund and his ministry. He is serving at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Mexico City.

Rhonda Sebade gave an update on Bibi's Hope Orphanage in Africa. Right now Bibi and her daughter are in prison as the Muslims think she is getting rich from running the Orphanage. Kyle Schutte from Sioux City Iowa who attends a church in Sioux City that has sponsored the Orphanage went to Africa to try and help her. She needs our prayers. Grace Ladies Aid will ask Hannah, a college student who has been there twice, to come and tell of her trips there.

The group sang Happy Birthday to Ruth Victor. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and Table Prayer.

Lunch was served by Kimberly Hansen.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, March 14, with Barb Greve serving.

Grace Evening Circle holds quarterly meeting

Grace Lutheran LWML Evening Circle met Feb. 13 with President Grace Kanitz opening the meeting. All members recited the LWML Pledge.

Louise Green read Psalm 136 and Isaiah 48 for opening prayers.

Secretary Lanora Sorensen read the secretary's minutes of the Nov. 14, 2017 meeting and corrections were made.

Lee Larsen gave the treasurer's report and mentioned new boxes of cards have been ordered. A donation of $50 was given to Mercy Meals. New greeting cards are available.

Lorraine Johnson had purchased the Christmas gift for a resident at Careage in December.

A donation of $50 was also given to Orphan Grain Train for supplies. Louise Green reported she found Christian advent cards and sent them to Grace shut-ins.

Grace LWML due for 2018 are due at this time.

President Kanitz had the 2018 programs ready for distribution.

A thank you from the Orphan Grain Train and from the Borchars Missionaries working with the Ipala people in the Dominican Republic were read. A thank you for the donation to Mercy Meals packaging was also noted.

Old business included the fact that there was a change of title for the Wayne LWML Zone to the Nebraska North District. The societies of tri-churches - Immanuel of rural Wakefield, St. Paul's of rural Wakefield and St. John's LWML are one tri-society now.

The Bi-Annual Nebraska District's Convention will be held at Lutheran High School in Norfolk June 22-23. A Society banner is to be made by each society. Delegates will be Mary Lou Erxleben and Louise Green.

The Spring LWML Workshop will be held march 8 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. Registration begins at 9 a.m. and the event will include a noon meal. The theme is Isaiah 49:15 and the speaker will be Pastor Andrew Schlund. An Ingathering will be collected.

Grace LWML Evening Circle will give a donation to the Ingathering. The LWML Wayne Zone Fall Rally will be held at Hope Lutheran Church in South Sioux City.

Jan Casey sent Valentines to Evening Circle shut-ins. Verna Mae Baier will send soup labels to the Missions.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 8 at 4:30 p.m.

President Kanitz led members in praying The Lord's Prayer to close the meeting.

Louise Green gave the lesson on "Love In Action."

Minerva Club recently met at Senior Center on Feb. 12

The Jan. 22 Minerva Club meeting was not held due to weather. Donna Hansen hosted the Feb. 12 meeting at the Senior Center with nine members present.

Roll call topic was sharing facts about the state of Kansas. President Mary Ann DeNaeyer opened the meeting by reading from a list of "Lost Words" such as carbon copy, bib and tucker, wooden nickels. She also shared sentences with surprise endings like - "Where there's a will, I want to be in it and if I agreed with you, we'd both be wrong."

Historian Hollis Frese shared highlights from the Oct. 26 and Nov. 9, 1998 club meetings. Programs included Quotes taken from a book by Barbara Johnson; Highlights from the life of Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor; and also some facts about journalist Cokie Roberts. It was reported that Minerva Club, along with Acme Club, had donated a bench to be placed on the Wayne City Hall lawn.

Members were reminded nomination for officers are needed by the first meeting in April. The birthday song was sung for Nicki Tiedtke.

Donna Hansen presented a program on the State of Kansas which joined the Union as the 34th State Jan. 29, 1861, notably as a free (anti-slavery) state. The south and east part of the state is known for its flint hills which are like small sharp mountains. The state is the leading producer of wheat in the world. Its large salt mine and its dry atmosphere provides safe storage for important government papers, documents, etc.

The Geodetic Center of North America, located in Osborne County, is the point of reference by which all property lines and boundaries in North America are surveyed. In 1875 the area was devastated by the Locust Plague. When the railroad came to Dodge City in southwest Kansas near Ft. Dodge and the Arkansas River in 1872, it brought provisions to the early settlers and shipped out buffalo hides and bones. Then it soon became a hub for cattle drives from Texas and New Mexico. The city had a population of 1200 in 1887. The history of Dodge City shows it was divided into the north (business side) and south (the rowdy side). The Legends of Boot Hill and the Long Branch Saloon live on.

Mary Ann DeNaeyer will host the Minerva Club at the Wayne Senior Center at noon Monday, Feb. 26.

Cover Crop Management workshops to be held in Pierce and West Point

Are you interested in learning more about Cover Crop Management? There are two educational workshops coming up in Pierce and West Point, sponsored by the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD). The workshop in Pierce will be held at the Lied Public Library, 207 W. Court Street, on Tuesday, Feb. 27 from 9 a.m. to noon. The workshop in West Point will be held at the Cuming County Courthouse, 200 S. Lincoln Street, on Wednesday, Feb. 28 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The workshops will begin with coffee and rolls at 9 a.m., followed by presentations on soil biology, cover crop management, and much more. Aaron Hird, NRCS State Soil Health Specialist, will visit about why the biology of the soil is so important. Dan Gillespie, NRCS No-till Specialist, will discuss cover crop management in corn/soybean rotations, what to seed, when to terminate, and what herbicides to use. Pam Polenske, Stanton County NRCS, will present information on Client Gateway and how to access your NRCS documents online.

To reserve a seat, contact the local NRCS office or the LENRD in Norfolk.

Pete Ricketts named 2018 Agri-Award winner

Over 1,000 booths with over 200,000 square feet of Exhibit space of the latest technology will be showcased at the 52nd Annual Triumph of Agriculture Exposition Farm & Ranch Machinery Show, Wednesday, February 28 and Thursday, March 1 at the CenturyLink Center Omaha.

Regarded as the Area's Largest Indoor Short-line Farm Machinery Show, the EXPO has become a tradition for area farmers, ranchers, stockmen, and their families to come to the show and ask questions directly to the leading farm manufacturers and suppliers for ways to improve their farm operation right before spring fieldwork begins all at one time and under one roof. The Seminar schedule is listed below and provides a chance to learn more about some of the new products and services available at the Show. The Farm Show is open Wednesday from 9 AM to 4 PM and Thursday 9 AM to 3 PM.

The Triumph of Agriculture Exposition established the Annual "Agri-Award" as part of Nebraska's Centennial Celebration, in 1976 to recognize outstanding organizations and individuals that have contributed to the Agricultural Development in the Midwestern area. This year's winner is Nebraska Governor Pete Ricketts. He will receive the award at the Opening Day Luncheon Wednesday, February 28, at 12 Noon at the CenturyLink Center Omaha.

Allen Community Club
 The Allen Community Club met Feb. 19 in the firehall for a 7 p.m. meeting.
 The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Old business was the upcoming community Easter Egg Hunt which will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, March 3 in the park (or firehall in case of inclement weather.)
 Candy for the eggs will be purchased and put in eggs. Publicity will be in the newspaper, school newsletter, and notes to the children. The Easter Bunny will be present and games will be played after the egg hunt. Spring cleanup will be Wednesday, May 9.

It was decided to try to have an entry in neighboring town's summer parades. Because of the wind turbines that will be built in the Allen area, it was discussed how to have some type of blade recognition for the town.

Senior Center Menu
 Milk and bread served with all meals. Meals subject to change.
Friday, Feb. 23: Biscuit and gravy, sausage links, scrambled eggs, pears, fruit juice.
Monday, Feb. 26: Tavern on a bun, baked beans, potato wedges, mixed fruit.
Tuesday, Feb. 27: Tuna and noodle casserole, broccoli, apple sauce, fresh bread and butter, fruit juice.
Wednesday, Feb. 28: Broiled chicken breast, baked potato, diced tomatoes, peach crisp.
Thursday, March 1: Sliced ham, sweet potatoes, green beans, fresh biscuit and butter fruit cocktail, cake.

Pennies For Patients
 Allen Consolidated Schools will be participating in the Pennies for Patients program. This will take place through Feb. 23. All Pre K-12th grade students and parents are encouraged to take part in this important program. This program's purpose is to raise funds for children fighting blood cancers.

Rastede Scholarship
 Sophomore and junior undergraduate college students who are graduates of Allen Consolidated School are encouraged to apply for the Alvin G. and Anita D. Rastede scholarship available through the Allen School Foundation.

In order to apply for this $2000 scholarship, the following questions must be answered and then sent to the Allen School Foundation, P.O. Box 190, Allen, Neb. 68710-0190 by Thursday, March 29. One scholarship will be given and must be used during the 2018-19 college year for undergraduate studies. The recipient will be notified by April 27, and be required (or a representative) to attend the Allen high school graduation on Saturday, May 12 to be formally recognized.

Questions to be answered are as follows:

1. What is your college grade classification and GPA?
2. What are your major and/or minor field(s) of study and career goals?
3. In what on-campus activities/work and organizations are you involved?
4. In what off-campus activities/work and organizations are you involved?
5. How will this scholarship be beneficial to you and why are you deserving of it?

Prefer to lead a narrow life... with prayer

Sometimes, I feel as if those of us born in the thirties are the forgotten ones. We were too young to be counted as the Greatest Generation, and too old to be a Baby Boomer. The guy who taught my Music Appreciation class at what was then Norfolk Junior College said once, that because of the Depression, there was not a lot of quantity born in that decade, but lots of Quality! I hang on to that.

Now, as my peers and I stare at becoming octogenarians, we get together for lunch and wonder how it happened so fast; and then, we wonder what has happened to the America we grew up in!

For instance, as we talked last Saturday, what happened to modesty? I continue to be embarrassed by short, short skirts and low, low cleavage. The gal across the table from me asked what happened to kindness?

We all remember guys who drove to school in the forties and fifties

with guns in their vehicles. Sometimes, the superintendent came out to admire them! The school was not locked; neither were their cars. My brother hunted before and after school hours.

What happened to respect, for our elders, our elected officials, our clergy, and our law enforcement personnel? I don't think it's true that we have become numb to the news of another slaughter of either school children or police officers, and it's become harder and harder to forget the images of the families left behind.

Is it true that our culture is to blame? I know I seldom go to a movie any more; the ones that receive the praise always seem loaded with profanity and violence. I don't listen to pop music; I'm told if I understood the lyrics, I'd be shocked. I don't watch much television, unless it's the Huskers or the Olympics, or the news. I'm getting much pickier about the books I read; many of the current best sellers are full of what I call trash. And, I don't play any video games. In short, I guess I lead a narrow life.

But I prefer that! And I can do it, by making conscious choices. But I worry about my grand children. And yours, and those who are being raised in single parent homes, and those being exposed to so much more than young minds should be exposed to.

I know you readers share my concerns, and feel as helpless as I do. All we can do is pray, and as my pastor friend once reminded me, that's the most we can do. It would be good to spend the forty days of Lent in intercessory prayer; will you join me?? Thank you.

Improve Pastures NOW!

You're probably a month or more away before you think about using pastures for grazing unless you stockpiled some forage, or left extra grass ungrazed last fall.

Usually the first thing you do to improve your pastures is to fertilize them in the spring, but fertilizer is becoming more expensive. What if there was a way to improve your pastures without the cost of commercial fertilizers?

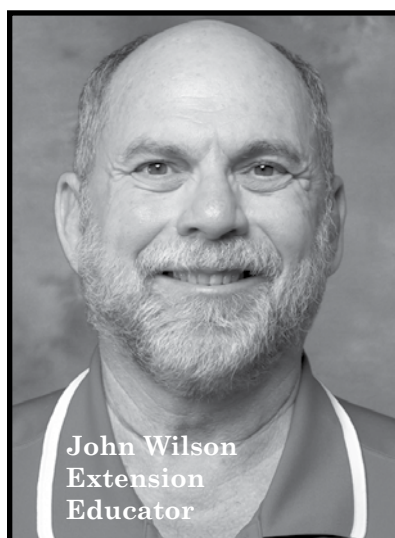

Well, actually there is a way you can accomplish this... and it's just getting to the time of year to do that. By adding legumes such as clovers, alfalfa, birdsfoot trefoil, or other legumes to your pasture mix, you will improve the quality and quantity of the forage.

And since legumes add nitrogen to the soil, you also will reduce your fertilizer costs in years to come.

One point I should make before I go any farther... this is a good practice if, AND ONLY IF, you have thistles, leafy spurge, or other broadleaf weeds under control. It doesn't make any sense to add legumes if you have to broadcast spray your pastures to control these weeds. On the other hand, if you only cut a few thistles each year or spot treat small areas for problem weeds, then you are ready to add legumes.

There are two ways you can add legumes... frost seeding or interseeding. With frost seeding, you broadcast the seed on the snow-free fields during the winter or early spring. Right now is an excellent time to frost seed if the frost hasn't gone out and you can drive across pastures without tearing them up. The freezing and thawing of the soil as spring arrives helps work the seed into the ground. Results from frost seeding have been variable and usually requires you to boost your seeding rate by about 50 percent to get a good stand.

A more reliable way to establish legumes in a pasture is to interseed them with a no-till drill. So, if you have access to a no-till drill, this is probably your better option. You can interseed once the frost has gone out and pastures are firm enough to drive on. One important consideration if using a no-till drill is not to plant the seed too deep. Legumes have small seeds and should only be planted about 1/4 inch deep.

Extension

With either method of seeding, these pastures require special attention in the year you seed them. First, you should take a soil test and then fertilize for the legumes. Legumes need phosphorus and prefer a soil with a pH above 6.

The second thing you will need to do is reduce competition for the legumes in the year they are established. Overgraze the pastures before the legumes emerge. This slightly weakens the grass and makes them less competitive. Also, do not fertilize with nitrogen which stimulates grass growth.

During the growing season you can use a technique called flash grazing. Whenever the grass gets 3-4 inches taller than the legumes, stock the area where you seeded legumes with enough cows or yearlings so they graze the area down to the height of legumes in one day. Then remove the livestock until the grass gets tall again and repeat the flash grazing. If the area you interseeded is too large to be grazed down in one day, you may need to run some temporary fencing to divide the area into smaller paddocks and move the livestock between these, one day per paddock.

Which legumes you use depends on the kind of pasture you have. Most pastures in this area are cool season grasses like brome or orchardgrass. In these pastures, a mix of alfalfa, red clover and birdsfoot trefoil work well. If you have warm season grass pastures like switchgrass, Indiangrass, big or little bluestem, or side-oats grama, or some combination of these grasses, you should not use alfalfa in the mix because it is too competitive for the grasses in the early spring. A mix of red clover and birdsfoot trefoil has worked well.

You also reduce the total amount of legume seed added to warm season grass pastures. In cool season pastures, you can seed at rates up to 6 pounds of legume seed per acre. In warm season pastures, you should not exceed 4 pounds of legumes per acre.

You will want to be sure to add the appropriate inoculants to the seed so you have the nitrogen fixing bacteria in the soil by the plants to get the maximum benefit from the legumes. Legumes won't add much nitrogen the first year, but by the second or third year, a good stand of legumes can cut in half the amount of nitrogen you'd normally use to fertilize the grass.

An additional benefit of adding legumes to your pastures is the amount of forage available to livestock. In a grazing trial we ran several years ago, we got about half again as many grazing days in those paddocks with legumes. For example if we got four days of grazing in a paddock that was just grass, we would get six days of grazing in a paddock of similar size and species of grass when there were legumes with the grass.

For more information on interseeding legumes in your pasture, contact your local Nebraska Extension office for recommendations specific to your area.

Assistance available to agricultural producers through the Conservation Stewardship Program

Agricultural producers wanting to enhance current conservation efforts are encouraged to apply for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP).

Through CSP, USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) helps private landowners build their business while implementing conservation practices that help ensure the sustainability of their entire operation. NRCS plans to enroll up to 10 million acres in CSP in 2018.

While applications for CSP are accepted year round, applications must be received by March 2, 2018, to be considered for this funding period.

Through CSP, agricultural producers and forest landowners earn payments for actively managing, maintaining, and expanding conservation activities like nutrient and pest management, cover crops and tree plantings— all while maintaining active agriculture production on their land. CSP also encourages the adoption of cutting-edge technologies and new management techniques such as precision agriculture applications, on-site carbon storage and planting for high carbon sequestration rate, and new soil amendments to improve water quality.

Some of these benefits of CSP include:

- Improved cattle gains per acre;
- Increased crop yields;
- Decreased inputs;
- Wildlife population improvements; and
- Better resilience to weather extremes.

NRCS recently made several updates to the program to help producers better evaluate their conservation options and the benefits to their operations and natural resources. New methods and software for evaluating applications help producers see up front why they are or are not meeting stewardship thresholds, and allow them to pick practices and enhancements that work for their conservation objectives. These tools also enable producers to see potential payment scenarios for conservation early in the process.

Producers interested in CSP are recommended to contact their local USDA service center or visit www.nrcs.usda.gov/GetStarted.

Safety of students at WCS taken seriously

I am sure you are all aware of the horrible event that occurred last week at a Florida High School. We extend our thoughts and prayers to the Parkland, Florida community and especially to the families of the victims. This is happening much too often in our schools and communities. Schools are meant to be safe for students and staff, and anytime an event occurs contrary to that, Wayne Community Schools needs to reflect and take time to review our practices and our safety plan.

Wayne Community Schools utilizes a safety plan recommended by the Nebraska Department of Education. We send staff to training on this plan to make sure we are familiar with the concepts and can activate the plan if necessary. We spend time reviewing our safety plan regularly, and are meeting this week with the appropriate personnel to continue the discussions and to plan necessary drills with students and staff. All three school buildings are locked throughout the day, and visitors must be buzzed in at the main entrance. This provides us an opportunity to know who is entering our school and for what purpose, and provides visitors a chance to check-in at the school office.

As community members, we need your help in keeping an open line of communication with our school district and local police department. Social media has become an area that most of us in the community have great access to. I encourage all of you to report something that is posted on social media, or something that is heard in the community that might be considered dangerous, immediately to the school administration, or the Wayne Police Department. All reports we receive will remain confidential and will help make us aware of dangerous situations that could impact our community. When a report is given, we will immediately assess the situation and will not hesitate to include local enforcement as necessary. We are fortunate to have a very good relationship with the Wayne Police Department, and they in turn have proven to be very cooperative in helping us in any way possible.

Being proactive is the most effective way to keep our schools and our community safe. Reporting concerns is very important, however, we also need to find ways to provide support for students and families who are in need of resources. As school resources can be limited, it will be important for us to develop partnerships in our communities to serve our families and students in need of mental health counseling. Initially in the legislative session, there have been legislative bills introduced to help schools with this growing need. As community members, I ask that you consider supporting legislative bills introduced in session that will provide mental health assistance to schools and communities. It is a fast growing and ever changing need, and one I will advocate for during this legislative session.

The safety of our students, staff, and our community is of our utmost priority and it takes all of us; staff, parents, students, and community members to work together to ensure this occurs. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call me at school. Thank you for your continued support of Wayne Community Schools!

From the Desk of Mr. Mark Lenihan, Superintendent,
Wayne Community Schools

State Budget: All eyes on the University of Nebraska

By J.L. SCHMIDT

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

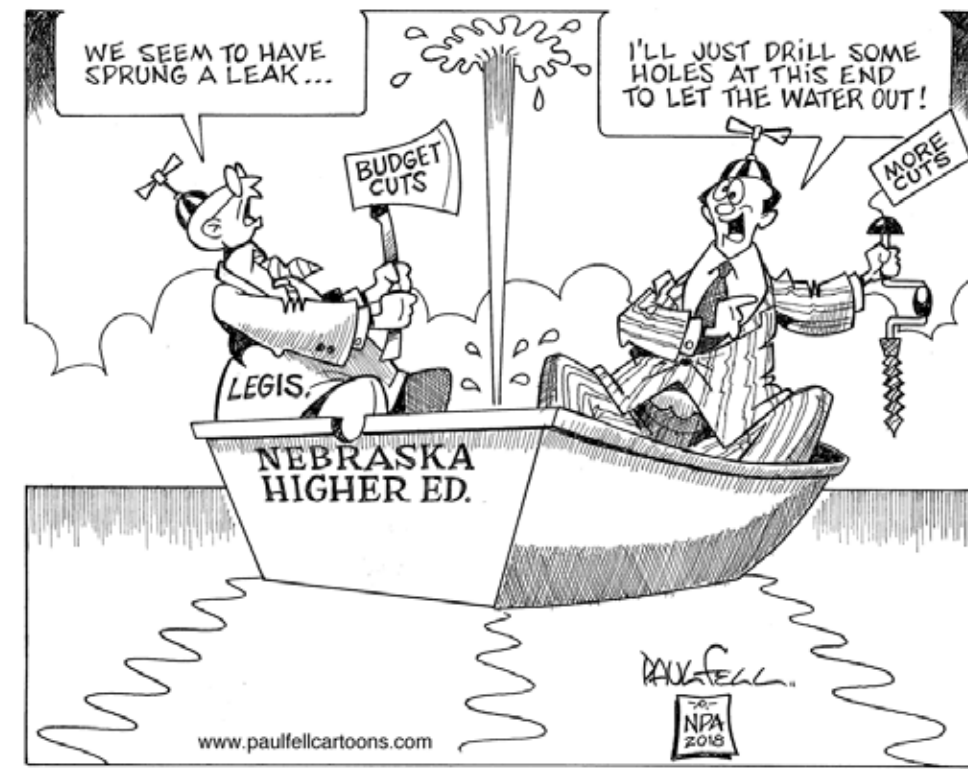

Last year it was an upheaval in the athletic department that made the University of Nebraska a household word. The firing of an athletic director and a head football coach brought replacements and diverted attention away from what was an even bigger issue for the school, the loss of $49 million in state aid and increased operational costs.

This year it has been a struggle with free speech issues on several fronts, including: complaints that a conservative voice is not tolerated on the Lincoln campus; scrutiny from at least three state Senators calling on the University to adopt policies to correct that perception; and a widely circulated video from an alleged white supremacist student which has been protested by a large group of students.

Oh, and there has been talk of another round of budget cuts brought on by lagging state revenues and a strong desire of Governor Pete Ricketts to provide property tax relief in the ag sector and income tax relief for some. That has led to talk of another $34-plus million in cuts to the University and has brought a warning from University President Hank Bounds that said action would be detrimental leading to cuts in academic programs.

The Legislature's Appropriations Committee Chairman Senator John Stinner of Gering said the budget reality could have a "transformational impact" on the University. Proposed reductions of 2 percent this year and 4 percent next year are being discussed.

Bounds said the University has exhausted cuts in areas that don't affect academic programs and cuts in information technology; energy savings and service areas could

For the Legislature's part, Stinner — who has two degrees from the University of Nebraska — said there is no appetite to increase taxes for additional revenue to fund the university or other state-supported agencies or activities. Ricketts has also made it clear that he will not support tax increases, noting that Nebraska is already a high tax state. Both men are also running for re-election.

Stinner did tell the Lincoln Journal Star that he is open to a number of revenue-producing options such as the collection of state sales taxes already owed on internet sales, something that Ricketts opposes. The senator said he'd also look at possibly applying the state sales tax to some now-exempt services and taking a fresh look at the state's list of incentive programs. It's all about good tax policy.

Good tax policy is an oft-discussed subject with little action. There are a handful of property tax proposals on the table this year and the specter of a ballot issue to allow voters to adopt a property tax reduction plan in November.

In the short term, we need to look at the situation with the state's flagship educational programs. The nearly 150-year-old University of Nebraska now boasts 53,000 students with 11,000 new graduates entering the workforce every year and more than 187,000 alumni living in the state.

The One Nebraska Coalition has been sponsoring a series of advertisements and commercials in support of the University's lobbying efforts. The group has provided some interesting statistics, such as the fact that more than 50 percent of doctors in rural Nebraska were trained at the University of Nebraska and nearly 75 percent of Nebraska farmers and ranchers have benefited from university research to boost animal and crop productivity.

The group also says that for every dollar invested in the university by the state, $6 is added to the Nebraska economy. They foresee a loss of students, loss of jobs and closing down of some academic programs if the cutting continues.

Stinner said he knows that any time you raise tuition, it has an impact on the number of kids who can go to the university or the state or community colleges. He promised that if state revenue begins to recover, that could somewhat ease the budget pressure. The Nebraska Economic Forecasting Advisory Board meets later this month. The Legislature and the University are both wishing and hoping for positive numbers on the state's tax receipts.

The One Nebraska Coalition has called for Nebraskans to reach out to the Governor and the Legislature and ask them to make the University a priority.

Consider it done.

Budget cuts hurt our area, Haskell Ag Lab included

Dear Editor,

Many of your readers have heard that in response to budget restrictions proposed by the Governor, the University of Nebraska is offering the elimination of the Haskell Agricultural Laboratory (HAL) outside of Concord by the end of 2018 as a partial solution. They may have also read a recent article in the Norfolk Daily News from Vice-Chancellor Boehm outlining the reasons they have chosen HAL. Your readers may also know that I recently retired, but before that, I contributed to this paper many times as the soil scientist at HAL. I would not have been able to contribute very much to this paper and the farmers in northeast Nebraska if I was not able to do research at HAL on soils and under the climatic conditions that are typical of this area. The need for locally conducted research holds true for the other disciplines represented at HAL: weed science, entomology, and irrigation science. In the past, we have made contributions to the beef and swine industry.

Why is this happening? The budget cuts being imposed by the legislature are just an excuse to eliminate HAL. The administrative leadership in IANR (Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources; which administers agricultural research, extension, and the College of Ag and Natural Resources) has not supported HAL for many years. Over the past decades, HAL has lost positions in Youth, Nutrition, Biosystems Engineering, Swine Management, Dairy Science, Beef Science, and Agricultural Economics. These losses are mainly due to a combination of how departments compete for positions and administrative neglect. A research center can't initiate a position unless the relevant Lincoln department supports the position. Animal Science abandoned HAL long ago, preferring to put their resources at the Mead research center and out west at the North Platte and Scottsbluff centers. This was done in spite of the fact that Professors Mike Brumm and Terry Mader made tremendous contributions to Nebraska's animal industry.

The administrators claim, without data, that the scientists at HAL did not have an impact. We challenge the administration to publish their impact metrics. Impact is very difficult to measure, and even more difficult to attribute to a single cause. For example, in the 1960s farmers used about 1.6 lbs of nitrogen per bushel of corn produced, now they use about 1 lb of nitrogen per bushel produced. This is an important impact of research in many agricultural disciplines, no one discipline can 'take credit.' Other improvements in agriculture and animal management have the same story.

Because of this difficulty, scientists are evaluated on the number of grants and their value, our publications, and our accomplishments transferring knowledge to our clients (extension). Using these indicators, the HAL faculty have been productive even though our staff, faculty, facilities are a third of the size of the research and extension centers at North Platte and Scottsbluff. My colleagues are proud to share their accomplishments with anyone wanting to know what we are doing. We collaborate with the other faculty within the university and at other institutions around the world, and therefore, much of our contributions are reported through our discipline. We also work in teams and team impact is reported on a statewide basis not by region. The IANR review system does not contain a mechanism to report collective impact as a research facility. The last time we were allowed to review our resources and needs was 1987.

The administration has used our ambitions and planning against us. In the article in the Norfolk paper, the Vice-Chancellor gave other reasons for our elimination; one was that we needed more land and our plans for a better research facility were too costly. He asserted this immediately after claiming we had no vision. We have a vision for our work, and we work hard. It is our plans and work ethic that resulted in the need for more land and better facilities.

The Norfolk paper reported that the Vice-Chancellor said about a strategic vision, "no one had worked to identify one." A better, more accurate statement would be, 'none of the strategic visions proposed were accepted by administration.' We have worked over the years to identify a unifying vision. The problem has been that administration has always rejected our proposals and never gave us suggestions for visions they would approve. The most recent idea that we put forward was to develop a program in adapting to climate variation. As the weather gets more variable and more extreme, cropping systems will have to adapt. There will be new diseases, new insects, new weeds, soil processes will change, and precipitation patterns will change. Where will the farmers, consultants, and agronomists get their information on how to be profitable in the future?

The northeast district has different growing seasons, soils, rain patterns, and topography than the rest of the state. Our district makes major contributions to the state's economy, and the state should treat it equitably. Our district has 28 percent of the land, 32 percent of the farms, 35 percent of the market value of ag production, 41 percent of the livestock sales, 29 percent of the corn acreage, 25 percent of the soybean acreage, and 53 percent of the hog inventory (2012 Ag statistics).

This proposed closure will affect Wayne and surrounding towns in many indirect ways. Our community and businesses benefited from having HAL nearby. Many of the faculty and staff at HAL have come from other places and have brought their skills, insight and maybe more importantly for the community, the skills and insight of their spouses. Our spouses have worked in Wayne Community Schools, at Wayne State College, have run businesses in Wayne, been on the city council, been mayor, and worked at the hospital. Many individuals have volunteered in many local organizations.

The university abandoned their presence in Norfolk last year, and now they propose closing HAL and selling the land at HAL, whose proceeds will go to Yale University. Considering the meager savings from closing HAL compared to the benefits I submit that your readers and northeast Nebraska are not well served by these developments. If you care about northeast Nebraska as I do, then let your State Senator, the Governor, our Regent, and the university administration know how you feel.

Sincerely,

Charles Shapiro,

Fellow American Society of Agronomy;
Professor Emeritus, Haskell Agricultural Laboratory -
University of Nebraska

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone for their prayers, get well cards and phone calls while Willard was in the hospital over Christmas and recovering at home from pneumonia. Also thanks to everyone for the sympathy cards we received at the time of death of Wilma's brother, Dick, whose funeral was the 1st of February in Columbus. Last of all 'thank you' for your cards for our 60th anniversary on February 2. Your friendship and concern is greatly appreciated. God's blessings to you all! Willard & Wilma Bartels

The family of Earl J Eckert would like to thank friends and family for their expressions of sympathy with prayers, cards, food, flowers and memorials. Thank you to Brookdale Senior Living for your kindness while making our home with you the last five years. To the Bressler-Munderloh-Smith Funeral Home thank you for your guidance with details of Earl's service. Special thanks to Pastor Dr. Dave York for his comforting words and prayers during this difficult time. We greatly appreciated the luncheon served by Laurel United Methodist ladies of the church. God Bless You!
Wilma Eckert
Marilyn and David Abts & family
Anita Eckert & family

I would like to thank all of the sponsors of the Valentine word scramble.
Alan Niemann

A special thank you goes out to the Allen/Waterbury Rescue Department, Wayne Providence Medical Center, and the State Department of Roads for the Allen, Wayne and South Sioux City areas. The care I received to get me to Mercy Hospital in Sioux City the night of the blizzard in January during my heart attack was far above extraordinary. We appreciated all the selfless acts of kindness. Also thank you to everyone for your prayers and gifts to help us at this time.
