Wayne Blue Devil Speakers team wins conference championship

Team 'brought the hammer,' coach said

Since joining the Mid-State Conference in 2001, Wayne High had never won a conference team championship in speech.

That changed on Feb. 24, as the Blue Devil Speakers were crowned conference champions at the Mid-State Conference Speech Meet at Battle Creek.

"Our conference is notoriously competitive in speech. We regularly see Mid-State kids not just at the state tournament, but in the state finals. You don't just show up and win the Mid-State Speech Tournament," said Wayne Head Speech Coach Dwaine Spieker on Saturday.

"All of our kids - but especially our seniors - brought the hammer," Spieker continued. "Their hard work of the last three months paid off in a big team victory."

With 283 points, Wayne finished 10 points ahead of runner-up Battle Creek in the team competition, followed by Pierce (271), Crofton (263), and Boone Central (258).

Senior Jack Osnes led the Wayne contingent by placing first in Serious Prose and second in Humorous Prose.

Other top individual placers for the Blue Devils were Junior Maura Loberg, who won the highest medal of her career by finishing first in Informative, and Senior Megan Keiser, who brought home top honors in Humorous Prose.

By placing first, all three champions were named to the Mid-State All-Conference Speech Team.

Other individual medalists for Wayne included Senior Grace Heithold, third in Poetry; the Duet Acting team of Seniors Jaci Torres and Sarah Wibben, fourth; Senior Miranda Fehring, fourth in Persuasive; Senior Colton Spahr, fourth in Extemporaneous; and Freshman Christopher Woerdemann, fifth in Extemporaneous.

Spieker added that the scoring system for conference differs from a regular competition.

"In a typical meet, only the finalists score points for the team. But at conference, where the district format is used, scoring is based more on the number of Superiors earned by all team members, whether they made finals and medaled or not. This essentially means that anyone who opened his or her mouth representing Wayne High today helped win this championship. This is truly a team award."

Wayne finishes its regular season Saturday, March 3 at the Norfolk Panther Invite before competing in districts at Columbus Lakeview on Monday, March 12.

Conversation at Northeast focuses on recruiting young professionals to the region

The region served by Northeast Community College is no different than many parts of the country when it comes to workforce and economic vitality.

While some progress has been seen in attracting and retaining young professionals to the region, local officials say more can be done. The issue was the subject of a "Community Conversation" recently at the College.

"With a continuous unemployment rate under three-percent we don't have the workers here, so we need to attract a younger workforce that is going to want to get into some of these leadership positions," said Brittnay Dawson, director of talent, development and recruitment at the Norfolk Area Chamber of Commerce. "What we have learned is that bringing (young professionals) is only one part of it. The bigger issue is how are we going to get them engaged and what it's going to take keep them here for the long haul?"

Dawson was joined on the panel by Nebraska State Senator Adam Morfeld, of Lincoln, and Jeff Skalberg, a Norfolk native, who is director of donor engagement for the United Way of the Midlands in Omaha.

Morfeld, founder and executive director of Civic Nebraska and a member of the Lincoln Young Professionals, represents a section of the capitol city that ranges from college students to retirees to immigrants. He said Civic Nebraska is designed to get young people better engaged with their communities.

"We want to create the next generation of young Nebraska leaders and hopefully get them better connected with their community," he said.

Morfeld said collaboration is an important component to attracting these individuals. He said one way that can be accomplished is by creating collaborative co-working spaces for entrepreneurs. He said another area that is being addressed in Lincoln, but not as fast in smaller communities, is placing younger people in positions of real power.

"You have to really legitimately give young people a say and a stake in the community. And if you do that, they are more likely to stay in that community."

Skalberg, a graduate of Northeast Community College, indicated the same can be said about positions of influence in business. He described one of his first jobs as "transactional."

"It wasn't inspiring, it wasn't engaging, they didn't promote engagement and we worked in teams and we didn't even know who each other were. If I come into the workforce and am not allowed to be creative or allowed to make change, then I'll leave pretty quickly."

Dawson said the Chamber has begun a local organization called Connect, which she co-sponsors with Jarad Dahlkoetter, the Chamber's event director and the newest member of the Norfolk City Council. She said the group focuses on young professionals to get them to step up, get engaged, and connect with other young professionals in the community.

Gabe Steinmeyer, director of economic development in the City of Neligh, said the region must collaborate in order to be successful in recruitment.

"We really do believe that we need to succeed as a region and grow as a region. That's why I'm here...to hear what's happening in Norfolk and to work with Northeast Community College. The Norfolk Now.org is a great opportunity for our community to work with the other communities here in order to get the area to really grow."

Steinmeyer called attracting younger individuals to his community a "huge issue."

"So for us, there are a lot of the same issues that are happening in Norfolk. (Such as) how are we going to grow our cultural amenities; how are we going to grow the social impact that our younger professionals can have; and how are we going to work with our companies that we currently have to grow and expand their workforce to include some of these young professionals?"

Steinmeyer said one of the biggest issues that has been identified in Neligh is the increase need for recreational activities for young professionals. He said the younger generation doesn't always look at a job prospect first - they look at the community and the area in which they want to live and then they find a job.

"Because they really value the quality of life and the living experience, more than the paycheck," he said.

Norfolk Mayor Josh Moenning said this conversation is important in terms of where the city needs to target its focus, strategic planning and long term investment. He said Norfolk presently has more jobs than it has people to fill them.

In addition, Moenning said the city needs to look at what makes the community attractive.

"As a city, we are starting to prioritize cultural amenities, expanding our downtown, opening up the riverfront, really trying to enhance recreation and entertainment options. From the things that we have been hearing, those are a lot of the things young people are looking for."

David (second from right) and Diana Badley were encouraged to lead a community-wide youth group when they moved from Joplin, Mo. a couple years ago. Now the group has branched out, running a restaurant by day and using it as a youth center by night.

Something EPIC happening in Laurel

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

When David and Diana Badley moved to Laurel from Joplin, Mo., about two years ago they were approached by some moms in the community about starting a youth group for the area.

"It was something the moms said their kids needed so we took that on in October of 2016. We started meeting on Monday nights at the Presbyterian church with a meal, a game or activity and a Bible study," Diana said. "We hosted our first lock in with about 30-40 kids, seventh through twelfth grade in attendance."

While the group met at the Presbyterian church in Laurel, the youth group they lead doesn't let denomination define them. Since non-denominational is technically a denomination of church, the better term for the EPIC (Everything Possible In Christ) youth group would be multi-denominational.

The group has taken up service projects and last spring several youth group members and sponsors made the trek to Branson for Young Christians' Weekend at Silver Dollar City.

The goal, Diana said, is to get these youth plugged in at their own churches. The Badleys want EPIC to be an 'in-addition to' activity, not a 'replacement' one.

"We want to help kids solidify their faith in Christ," Diana said. "We want to help make functional congregation members for any denomination."

Fast forward to more recently as serious talks of a community center have flown around Laurel.

"The community center idea has been around for a while but we wanted to see a place for our community's youth to spend time. As conversations have progressed there have been more and more things added to the idea list like day care because there is a real need for it in town and a fitness center."

Knowing a project of that magnitude will take a significant amount of funding and time to come together, the Badleys and many others continued to brainstorm about how to meet the need for a youth hang out sooner.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the owners of the Friendly Corner Cafe in Laurel had closed the doors and were looking to sell the business.

Diana had helped the previous owners in designing the graphics for the business so she already had a relationship with them when David and Diana got to the point where they said they'd do whatever it took to make a youth center happen and the owner of the Friendly Corner approached Diana about EPIC renting the building for six months as a trial before the building goes up for sale this summer.

The idea was to run the business by day and use it as a youth center at night, an idea that Diana and David jumped head first into. Tuesday through Friday it's just the two of them but on Saturdays, members of their youth group work as waitstaff for the business helping them gain employment experience and allowing them to get to know members of their community.

The entire menu is free will donation, from the specialty drinks to the build-your-breakfast plates.

"People are generous, more generous than they give themselves credit for. We just trust that the Lord will provide for us."

The money earned at the cafe is going back to the youth ministry to pay David as the minister and to go toward conference trips such as Young Christians' Weekend in Branson as well as funding a youth center.

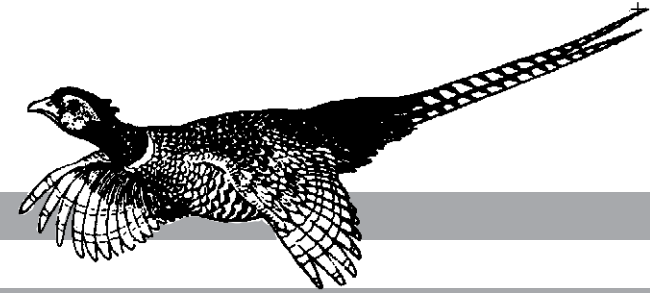

"The goal is that we would raise enough money to keep this place functioning, whether we purchase it or not, to eventually have a youth center so we don't have to do the back and forth tearing tables down and setting it back up."

EPIC now meets at the Friendly Corner on Monday nights and the Badleys open the doors to the cafe after games for kids to come hang out until midnight or so. Snacks and games like Xbox, air hockey, darts and basketball are all available at the Friendly Corner.

"It's a safe place for kids to spend time," Diana said. "It works for now and we'll see how it turns out. We're putting our faith in Christ that he'll provide what we need."

Marvin Eugene Hartman, son of Ellis and Edith (Curry) Hartman was born in Summer, Wash. July 19, 1932. He attended grade school at Powder Creek Country School. He graduated from Newcastle High School in Newcastle, NE. He took Normal Training out of high school so he could teach. He taught country school for three years until 1950, before entering the service in 1953. Marvin served in the U.S. Army for two years. He then attended summer school at Wayne State and taught two more years at Wallace Magnuson School. On Dec. 26, 1955 he married Janice Lisle. They lived and farmed in the Dixon area since March of 1956. Marvin was active in the Dixon United Methodist Church as a teacher, youth leader, lay leader, Board Chairman, and Vice-Chairman. He was active in the Dixon community as a chair person for Dixon County Farm Bureau board, Secretary of Dixon Public School Board, and an active member of the Concord Gideon Camp. Marvin and his wife, Janice, helped to organize Dad's Helpers 4-H Club in Dixon County in 1968, and the club is still active today. Marvin and Janice were a great influence in many of their nieces and nephews' lives in their early years together. They also had a great impact in the lives of young men, as they chose to be house parents at Omaha Home For Boys. Marvin also worked at Farmers Coop delivering propane, operating a floater, and fixing tires. He loved his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, good cattle, and "Life on the Farm".

At the time of death, Marvin was a member of the Concord Evangelical Free Church and had served as Elder. He loved his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and enjoyed attending in person, or by phone, his children and grandchildren's activities. The grandchildren have many fond memories of time with Grandma and Grandpa on the farm.

Survivors include his son Clayton (Sandy) Hartman of Dixon, and daughter, Lori (Bill) Johnson of Broken Arrow, Okla., seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren; two sisters, Beverly (Floyd) Bloom of Laurel and Bernadine Lowry of Hooper.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Janice, in March of 2007; parents, Ellis and Edith Hartman, and sister, Joy Hartman.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke,
City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. We would be love to see you join us.

Update on CDBG CD Phase II Year 1 Grant

The City will be hearing from engineers in March who want to be part of the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Comprehensive Development (CD) Phase II Year 1 project in Wayne.

This is the "ADA Curb Ramps" project that the City was awarded $350,000 last fall. After an engineer is selected by the City with help from the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District, pedestrian crossings will be chosen to improve and design work will begin. The grant funds are eligible to fund improvements in the Northwest, Southwest, and Southeast quadrants of town.

For this grant, however, the City will concentrate efforts in and around Bressler Park while trying to connect to destinations including Wayne Public Schools (both Senior/Junior High and Elementary), Wayne State College and high density residential.

An update on the project schedule (start and end) will be given once an engineer is selected. If you have suggestions for these pedestrian enhancements, please contact Joel Hansen, Street and Planning Director, or me.

City Audit

The City Council was presented the Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 Audit at its last meeting. Once again the auditor found the City to be on very solid ground financially. The City's general fund has a diverse revenue stream coming from state funds (highway allocations, etc), sales tax, property tax, and payments in lieu of taxes (occupation fees). The auditor noted this was a strength for the City.

The utility funds are also in good shape with nice cash balances. However, the auditor did note that as cash reserves are used for projects, they need to be replenished. The auditor suggested that the City consider utility rate increases (both electric and water/wastewater). The Council will likely have ongoing discussions over the next few months about this recommendation and then determine what it will do.

Where do your property taxes go?

Do you ever wonder where your property taxes go each time you pay them (whether you pay them at the Courthouse or through your escrow)? If your property lies inside the City of Wayne's corporate limits, the following is a breakdown of your 2017 property taxes.

For every dollar ($1.00) you pay in property taxes, just over $0.24 goes to the City (this includes City government and the Wayne Airport), under $0.56 goes to Wayne Public Schools (general and debt), and just under $0.13 goes to the County. The remaining approximate $0.07 goes to a combination of Northeast Community College, Natural Resources District, Educational Service Unit #1 and the Wayne Agricultural Society (Wayne County Fair).

Please note that if your property lies outside of Wayne city limits, these figures and entities will change.

Wayne students take part in Science Quiz Bowl

Two Wayne High School teams competed in the Wayne State College Science Quiz Bowl on Feb. 10. The team of James Tompkins, Zach Schenk, Ky Kenny and Sam Perry successfully won their three morning round-robin matches and a tie breaker match, allowing them to move into the double elimination tournament.

Wayne lost to one of Creighton Prep's schools, but came back to win against a second Creighton Prep school. After meeting a challenging Millard North team, Wayne lost their second match and ended their playing time.

Wayne recorded a best ever finish at this contest.

Jeanne Brink and Sonya Tompkins coached the teams.

Winside students attend Career Exploration Workshop

Winside eighth graders attended Northeast's Eighth Grade Career Exploration Workshop at Northeast Community College, in Norfolk on Feb. 7.

Before attending the workshop, the eighth graders completed online assessments that provided more information about their interests, abilities, and values. At the workshop, students explored potential careers during a research activity and completed a budgeting activity that allowed them to experience various expenses adults have each month.

Additionally, NECC personnel explained programs and opportunities offered at Northeast Community College.

WSC voice students celebrate Franz Schubert's melodies

In early nineteenth-century Vienna, fans of Franz Schubert held informal gatherings called Schubertiads. Often Schubert himself attended. Wayne State College voice studio students celebrate Schubert's extraordinary ability to unite voice with piano in their own Schubertiade on Wednesday, March 14 at 7:30 p.m. in Ley Theatre, located in the Brandenburg Education Building. The students are accompanied by Staff Accompanist Shelly Armstrong and directed by Assistant Professor Dr. Sarah Farr.

Though Schubert lived only 31 years (1797-1828), he is revered as the last classical composer and one of the first romantic composers. His compositions embrace legendary melody, rich harmony and lyrical beauty. Schubert is often considered a musical genius.

Schubertiade is free and open to the public. For more information, contact Dr. Farr at (402) 375-7406.

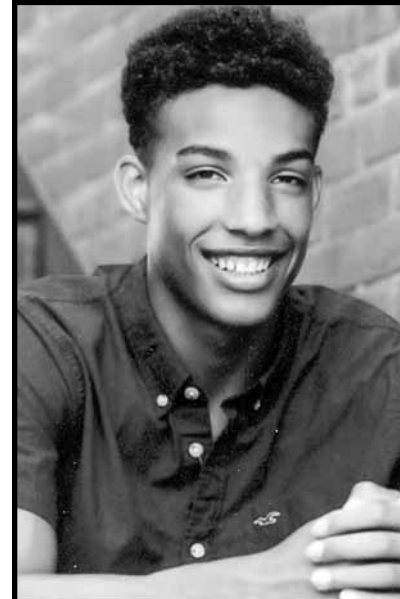

Mason Lee earns scholarships from Wayne State College

Mason Lee of Wayne has been awarded two scholarships to continue his education at Wayne State College.

Mason is the recipient of a State Nebraska Bank Scholarship valued at $500. He has also been awarded the Class of 1938 Scholarship, valued at $580.

Mason, the son of Tom and Cindy Lee of Wayne, will graduate from Wayne High School in May of 2018.

While in high school he has been active in Future Business Leaders of America, played football for four years, basketball for four years, baseball for two years and was a member of the track team for two years.

Morfeld said higher education plays a crucial role in workforce development. He said every time he speaks with business owners across Nebraska, the workforce and retaining young talent is always the number one issue, followed by taxes and regulations.

"It's going to be tougher and tougher to keep people, not just in Lincoln and Omaha, but also in Greater Nebraska. Making sure we're investing in our community colleges, our state college system and our university system is going to be critical to making sure that we're competitive and that we keep people here. Other than our ag commodities, our number one export is young people in our state."

Another matter that the region struggles with is embracing diversity. Morfeld said that issue is hindering many people from moving to Nebraska.

"I can't tell you how many of my friends will never come back to the State of Nebraska until they know they can't be fired or their loved one can't be fired for whom they are or whom they love."

The District 46 lawmaker said instead of waiting for any type of government action, businesses can implement these types of policies in the workplace, which can also serve as an attractive recruiting tool.

The audience at the Community Conversation was made up of several millennials. One woman said she and her husband, who moved back to Norfolk because of family, want to stay.

"We took major pay cuts to come back to live here. Engagement is truly what I think is keeping us here along with our family which is really close. I am truly thankful for this community. I honestly thought we would move back here for two years, get our family fix and actually leave, but that's not the case."

Another woman who works from her home for an out-of-state company said local businesses need to do a better job of describing job descriptions that are often left out.

"They don't talk about anything other than health insurance, paid time off and what your actual pay is going to be. If you're getting paid $40,000, but all of your benefits add up to $12,000 extra, that's a huge benefit."

The conversation also delved into creating more attractive incentives that would lure additional young professionals to the region, including the establishment of mentorships, flex time in their jobs and even unlimited vacation, which has been implemented by some businesses and organizations in Omaha and Lincoln and in other parts of the country.

The Community Conversation was sponsored by the Norfolk Daily News, Calmwater Financial and Northeast Community College.

Hoskins Challenge

At a recent assembly, over 70 boys took part in taping Mr. Hoskins to a gym wall while 3 lucky boys were selected to pie Mrs. Hoskins in the face. The challenge was a fundraiser at both the Holiday Daughter Dance and the Valentines Day Son Dance. This is the second time each Hoskins has participated in the fun, as the girls who paid for duct tape and the three who were selected to pie got to do so at a separate assembly. Between the two WEB dances, $450 was raised from the Hoskins Challenges.

Winside Wildcat postseason hopes dashed in overtime

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

With two seconds left in regulation and the score tied, the Winside boys basketball team had a golden opportunity to advance to a district final for the first time more than a generation.

A missed free throw at the end of regulation sent the game to overtime, and Humphrey St. Francis demoralized Winside with a fast start in the extra period on their way to a 65-52 win in the D2-3 subdistrict finals Thursday at Stanton High School.

Winside trailed by as many as 16 points in the first half and were down by 11 at the break, and coach Tom Meyer was proud of the way the team battled back to get a shot at winning the game.

"I'm so proud of the boys for battling back," he said. "We could have very easily folded when we got down 16, but we did a nice job of battling back and getting ourselves a chance to win it at the end and I was really proud of them."

The Wildcats got off to a quick 5-0 start thanks to a 3-pointer by JaShaun Vyborny and a Brandon Watters layup, and Winside held a 15-14 lead after the opening period.

The Flyers opened the second with a 12-0 run and led by as many as 16 points in the first half before Winside cut the deficit to 11 at the half on two Dylan Brogren free throws and another basket by Watters.

Meyer said the key was for the Wildcats to keep plugging away and not let the Flyers' 1-3-1 zone defense get the best of them in the second half.

"I told the kids in the locker room (at the half) that we're not going to go out and make a 10-point play, that we just need to keep chipping away at it and playing hard," he said. "We knew we could come back on them and we just needed to settle down and not have the turnovers that we had in the first half and that made a big difference."

Winside continued to chip away at the St. Francis lead and took the lead late in the fourth quarter on scores by Watters and Brogren. St. Francis tied the game at 48-48 and Winside has a chance to win in regulation when Watters was fouled on an inbound pass with 2.0 seconds left. Watters missed the front end of the one-and-one and the game went into overtime.

"I feel bad for him," Meyer said of the senior, who scored a team-high 24 points in the losing effort and made numerous assists in the second half. "I wish that free throw would have went in, but if he doesn't play the way he did we're not even in that position."

St. Francis came out with five quick points in the first 35 seconds, as Trevor Pfeifer hit a 3-pointer and followed with a steal and score to make it 53-48. The Flyers would outscore Winside 17-4 in the extra session to finish off the win and advance to the district finals.

"They kind of took the wind out of our sails with that three to start overtime after we had battled so hard to come back, and I think we were just out of gas," Meyer said.

Watters scored a team-high 24 points and Brogren added 13 in the losing effort for the 15-9 Wildcats. Colton Jensen added six points, Vyborny had five, Ca-

Dendinger sweeps throws, WSC men sixth at NSIC Indoors

Wayne State senior throw Michaela Dendinger swept the throwing events and the Wildcat men finished sixth to highlight the Wildcats' efforts at the Northern Sun Conference Indoor Track and Field championships that concluded Saturday in Mankato, Minn.

Dendinger, who won the weight throw on Friday, completed the sweep of the weight events in leading a 1-2-4 finish in the shot put for the Wildcat women, who placed ninth out of 15 teams with 34 points.

Dendinger won the event with a throw of 49 feet, 10 inches, while sophomore Tia Jones was second at 46-11 and freshman Jadi Wagner finished fourth at 44-7 1/2.

Dendinger's win came one day after winning the weight throw with a school-record mark of 65-6, breaking the old school standard of 64-5 1/4 set by Carly Fehringer in 2013.

In track finals, senior Mary Alderson finished eighth in the 600-meter dash with a time of 1:42.82 to close out scoring for the Wildcats.

University of Mary won the women's team title with 150 points, followed in the top three by Minnesota State with 123.5 and Augustana with 87.

The Wayne State men led after the first day of the men's team race and settled on a sixth-place finish in the event held at Myers Fieldhouse.

Senior Derek Lahm posted a first place finish in the long jump, matching a season-best mark of 23-8 1/2 to earn a conference championship for the Wildcats. He also received All-NSIC honors with a second-place finish in the heptathlon with 5,063 points.

Junior Robert Sullivan was Wayne State's other NSIC champion, winning the heptathlon with a new school record point total of 5,202 points, an NCAA provisional qualifying mark. He also placed fifth in the long jump (22-7 3/4), sixth in the high jump (6-5) and took eighth in the 60-meter hurdles finals in 8.46 seconds.

Senior Brady Metz placed in two events, earning All-NSIC honors with a third place finish in the triple jump (47-2 1/2) to go with a fourth-place finish in the long jump (23-0).

Junior Clay Kramper posted a fourth place finish Saturday in the 200-meter dash (22.11) with senior Braxton Adams taking fifth in the 60-meter dash finals in 6.94 seconds.

Habib Jallow claimed a sixth place medal in the 60-meter hurdle finals (8.39) while Jayle Hinkle took eighth place in the shot put at 49-7 1/4.

The Wildcat 1,600-meter relay team of Lahm, Preston Davis, Kramper and Jallow took third place in a time of 3:22.06.

Other points scored by the Wildcats came from Richard Sweeney taking seventh in the weight throw (54-7 1/4).

Minnesota State easily won the NSIC men's team title with 184.5 points with the University of Mary a distant second at 88 points.

Wildcat women fade down stretch in NSIC quarters

SIoux FALLS, S.D. — The last time Wayne State gave up 80 points in a game was during their last loss before a season-ending 10-game winning streak.

Concordia-St. Paul ended both of Wayne State's streaks on Sunday, coming from behind in the fourth quarter to post an 80-70 win and end the Wildcats' 25-7 season and hopes for an NCAA tournament bid.

Coach Chris Kielsmeier said the Wildcats didn't come out and play with the same enthusiasm on defense that helped them finish the season strong and put them on the bubble for a spot in the Central Region tournament.

"We just weren't ourselves today," he said after the game. "The last time we gave up 80 points was the last time we lost. We just didn't defend well today and looked sluggish in the beginning. You have to be at your best this time of year and when you're not the chance to lose end your season is greater. This one is going to sting for a long time"

Wayne State trailed by 10 midway through the first period and the Golden Bears shot 10-of-18 from the floor to build a 25-15 first-quarter advantage.

The Golden Bears led by as many as 14 points midway through the second quarter, taking a 33-19 lead with an 8-0 run after the Wildcats had cut the lead to six to start the period.

Wayne State chipped away at the lead late in the half and Kacie O'Connor hit a 3-pointer at the half-time buzzer to give the Wildcats a bit of momentum as they trailed 39-33 at the break.

Wayne State got their first lead of the game at 46-45 on an Andrea Larson jumper with 3:30 to go in the quarter, and the game stayed tight with Paige Ballinger's late basket giving the Wildcats a 53-52 lead going to the final period.

Wayne State took its biggest lead early in the fourth when Maggie Schulte scored on the inside and Maggie Lowe drained a long 3-pointer from the right wing to make it 59-57. The teams traded baskets and Wayne State took its final lead at 63-61 on an O'Connor layup with 4:16 to go.

Wayne State had a number of opportunities in the paint in the fourth quarter, but couldn't get those good looks converted into scores down the stretch.

"We couldn't seem to get over the hump there," Kielsmeier said. "You know, you make a play or two and then get a stop or two and get it to 5-6 I thought we would've had them. We just couldn't hit enough shots and didn't defend all night long. The last time we played them we held them to 47 points and that's irrelevant today, but we know we could have success defending this team and we just didn't today."

The Golden Bears came back down the stretch, outscoring Wayne State 19-7 over the final four minutes. Wayne State scored its final points on a Larson trey to make it 72-70 with :46 left, but the Golden Bears closed the game out with free throws and avenged two double-digit losses to the Wildcats during the regular season to advance to the semifinals.

Wayne State was led by seniors Schulte and Ballinger with 16 and 15 points in their final games in a Wayne State uniform. Larson and Brittany Bongartz both came off the bench to add 10 points apiece.

Wayne State needed a 19-3 scoring surge late in the third and into the fourth quarter to break opener a close game as the Wildcats held back Minnesota Crookston 72-59 in the first round of the NSIC tournament Wednesday at Rice Auditorium in Wayne.

The game was close throughout between the Golden Eagles and Wildcats until Wayne State's scoring run late in the third quarter put a little separation between the two teams.

The Wayne State College wrestling club crowned two Great Plains Conference champions and finished third as a team, sending eight wrestlers to the NCWA national tournament next month in Allen, Texas.

Wayne State College wrestlers finish third at Great Plains Conference meet over weekend

The Wayne State wrestling team finished third in a tight team race during the Great Plains Conference Championships held Saturday at Wayne State College.

The Wildcats finished 11 points behind conference champion Colorado State, which won the tournament with 85.5 points. Iowa State Wrestling Club was second with 80.5 points, followed by Wayne State with 74.5 points.

Wayne State had a pair of champions, as Alejandro Martinez (125) and Gerald Kenkel (174) claimed conference titles. In all, Wayne State had nine wrestlers finish in the top six of their respective weight classes.

Joining the two conference champions were runner-ups Levi Honeywell (141), Hunter Weiss (149), and Ethan Fitzler (157). Third was Matthew Reeves (141) and Joe Giesselmann (285), Spencer Trout was fourth at 184 and Justin Boone Was fifth at 149.

Wayne State will wrestle in the National Collegiate Wrestling Association national tournament, set for March 8-10 in Allen, Texas.

WSC's Jacks earns NSIC nod

Kendall Jacks

Wayne State junior guard Kendall Jacks represents the Wildcats on the 2018 NSIC All-Conference Men's Basketball Team announced Thursday, receiving honorable mention.

The 6-foot-4 guard from Bettendorf, Iowa, who was a second-team All-NSIC selection last season, led the Wildcats in scoring, rebounding and assists this season, averaging 13.7 points, 4.9 rebounds and 2.2 assists per game. He scored double figures in 25 of 31 games this season and had eight games of 20 or more points, highlighted by a season-best 28 points at Concordia-St.

Paul on Dec. 1. Jacks shot 50.5 percent from the field (167-331) and 79.4 percent at the free throw line (77-97).

In 22 NSIC games this season, Jacks accounted for 13.8 points, 5.2 rebounds and 2.4 assists per game while shooting 49.4 percent from the field (118-239) and 78.7 percent (59-75) at the free throw line. He scored double figures in 18 of 22 league games this season and had six games with 20 or more points.

Jacks has started all but two games in his three years in a Wildcat uniform and currently ranks 20th in career scoring with 1,128 points.

Wayne State ended the 2017-18 season with a record 14-17 overall and was seventh in the NSIC South Division with a 9-13 league mark.

Blue Devils silenced by Pierce in opening round of subdistrict play

The Wayne High boys basketball team saw its postseason hopes dashed in the opening round of the C1-5 subdistrict Tuesday at Norfolk High School, as a suffocating Pierce defense silenced the Blue Devils in a 40-29 decision.

Both teams struggled against tough defenses for much of the night, leading to a low-scoring contest that saw Pierce avenge a 19-point loss to the Blue Devils just four days earlier.

Wayne's only lead of the game came midway through the first quarter when Ryan Jaixen scored the first points of the game. Pierce scored twice in the final few minutes to hold a 4-2 lead after one quarter.

The two teams picked things up a little in the second period. Wayne tied the game twice on shots by Jack Evetovich and Shea Sweetland to start the quarter, but Pierce took control of the game and built an eight-point lead at the half.

Wayne got the lead back down to four after another low-scoring third quarter and were within three early in the fourth after Evetovich made one of two free throws to make it 22-19.

Pierce scored the next five points to lead by eight before Evetovich and Mason Lee scored baskets on consecutive plays to make it 27-23. Pierce would build the lead back up to as many as 12 points and Wayne got no closer than seven after that as the Blue Devils ended the season with a 14-11 record.

Evetovich led the way with nine points, Jaixen added eight, Lee had seven and Sweetland scored five.

Bears fall to Cedar Catholic to end season

LCC fell to Hartington Cedar Catholic 75-58 in the opening round of the C2-5 subdistrict tournament last week at Wayne High School.

Cedar Catholic broke open a close game with a 27-13 third-quarter surge that LCC was unable to overcome, ending their season with a 14-10 record.

Noah Schutte led three Bears in double figures with 21 points, with Ty Erwin adding 17 and Izac Reifnath putting in 13. Also scoring were Austin Hall with three and Kobe Heitman and Cael Hartung with two apiece.

Schutte led the team with eight rebounds and Heitman added five.

Reifnath had seven assists and Erwin had three. Reifnath led the team with six steals and Erwin grabbed five.

of the first quarter, Wayne State went on a 10-3 run, highlighted by 3-pointers from Lowe and O'Connor, to take an 18-11 lead with 1:12 to play first quarter before the Golden Eagles cut the lead to 18-16 at the end of the first quarter.

Wayne State held the lead the entire second quarter, but never led by more than six points. The Wildcats led 27-21 following a jumper from Lowe and again at 29-23 on a layup from Ballinger, but the Golden Eagles battled back to knot the score at 29-29 on a jumper by Abby Guidinger before Wayne State got a trey from O'Connor with 1:02 left before halftime for the final points of the half as the hosts led 32-29 at intermission.

Early in the third quarter, Minnesota Crookston took their first lead of the game at 36-34 on an Isieoma Odor jumper at the 8:09 mark, and took their last lead of the night at 40-39 on a pair of Micaela Noga free throws with 6:59 remaining in the quarter. The Wildcats responded, taking the lead for good on a Ballinger basket and three-point play from Erin Norling to go in front 44-40.

The Golden Eagles tied the score one last time at 44-44, but Wayne State closed the final 3:29 on an 11-3 run, canning 8-for-8 from the foul line coupled with an O'Connor 3-pointer to take a 55-47 lead after three quarters. The Wildcats continued their momentum early in the fourth quarter, scoring the first eight points to take a 63-47 lead on a steal and fast-break layup from O'Connor with 6:21 to play and closed out the win to end the Golden Eagles season at 8-19.

Wayne State had four players score in double figures, led by seniors O'Connor and Schulte with 15 points each. Senior center Ballinger and freshman forward Erin Norling both accounted for 13 points.

Wayne State held a 43-32 advantage in rebounding over the Golden Eagles thanks to nine boards each from Schulte and Ballinger. O'Connor had four of Wayne State's 11 assists while Ballinger finished with three blocked shots.

Sunday's loss was the final game in a Wayne State uniform for the Wildcats' three seniors — Schulte, Ballinger and O'Connor. Kielsmeier said they left a fantastic impact on the program and their presence will be missed next year.

"They've won a lot of games over the years but they've done things right on and off the court," he said. "Their leadership has been outstanding and I know how much they care about the game, and the way they represented the school was first-class and we're going to miss them."

Seventh grade boys compete in, win first in division during recent tourney

The 7th grade boys Wayne white team participated in Wayne's Clash of the Plains February 18. The team went 3-0 to win the Red Division of the tournament. The first game took an extra period as Wayne defeated Hartington CC 33-32 in overtime sudden death. Scoring for Wayne was Alex Phelps with 17 points followed by Daniel Judd and Brooks Knief with 5 apiece, Braydn McCorkindale 3, Trace Jackson 2 and Andrew Jones with 1. Wayne defeated Laurel in the second game 27-11. Leading the scoring was Judd with 10 points, Jones and Phelps with 6, McCorkindale and Sedjro Agumba with 2 and Calvin Starzl with 1. The Championship game saw Wayne defeat Pierce 47-40. Trace Jackson lead the scoring with 9 points, followed by Judd, Agumba, Knief, and Jones each scoring 8 apiece, with the scoring being rounded out at 6 by Phelps.

The 7th grade boys Wayne blue team participated in the Black Division of Wayne's Clash of the Plains tournament February 18th. Wayne lost the first game in a close match-up with Pierce 20-21. Scoring for Wayne was Hunter Schultz, Lepiro Kantai, and Carter Junck each with 6 points and Drew Fertig with 2.

The next game Wayne lost to Wakefield 31-43. Leading scorer was Dominique Dominguez with 13 points, Fertig with 10, Kantai with 4, and 2 each by Schultz and Junck. The final game was a 27-36 loss to Clarkson-Leigh. Leading scorer was Junck with 9, followed by Schultz with 7, Fertig with 4, Dominguez 3 and 2 each from Kantai and Ben Sandoz.

 leb Kampa put in three and Billy Chappell added a free throw.

The seven seniors on the Winside team — Watters, Brogren, Jensen, Chappell, Vyborny, Kampa and William Bullard — led a resurgence for a Winside program that had a very dubious history. The four seniors ended a 77-game losing streak — second-longest in state history — and put together the team's best record in more than a decade this season.

"I'm proud as heck of these boys," Meyer said. "They were a good group of kids who worked so hard, and to get us from where we were to where we are now is just phenomenal and I can't say enough good things about the work they did."

The Winside boys basketball team earned its first subdistrict semifinal win since 2001 on Tuesday with a 58-41 win over Emerson-Hubbard.

The Wildcats built a 12-point halftime lead and used a key 15-4 third-quarter run to take control of the game and advance to the subdistrict finals for the first time since beating Wakefield 56-53 in the Class D-1 subdistrict semifinals back in 2001.

Watters led three Wildcats in double figures with 22 points, Vyborny added 19 and Brogren put in 13. Kampa and Chappell each had two points.

Three Wildcats named to NSIC All-Conference

Seniors Paige Ballinger and Maggie Schulte and freshman Erin Norling represent Wayne State on the All-Northern Sun Conference Women's Basketball Team announced Thursday.

Ballinger and Schulte both received first-team All-NSIC accolades while Norling was named to the All-Freshmen Team as voted on by league coaches.

Ballinger, a 6-foot-1 center from Pender, is a first-team All-NSIC selection for a third straight season. In NSIC games, Ballinger averaged 12.8 points and 6.0 rebounds per game recording four games of 20 or more points with three double-doubles. She was second in blocked shots per game (2.2), ninth in field goal percentage (.486), 10th in free throw percentage (.825) and 16th in scoring.

Overall this season, Ballinger led the Wildcats in scoring at 12.1 points per game to go with 6.1 rebounds a contest. She was second overall with 2.4 blocks per game while ranking 10th in field goal percentage (.488) and 12th in free throw percentage (.809). Ballinger ranks ninth in career scoring at Wayne State with 1,433 points and is the all-time blocked shot leader with 213.

Schulte, a 6-foot forward from Wynot, received first-team All-NSIC honors after being named second-team All-NSIC as a sophomore and junior. In NSIC games this season, she produced 11.0 points with a team-high 6.3 rebounds per game, recording two double-doubles and three games of 20 or more points. She led the NSIC in 3-point field goal percentage (.512) making 22-of-43 shots behind the arc, was fourth in free throw percentage (.859), seventh in defensive rebounds per game (5.23), seventh in assist/turnover ratio (1.8) and tied for eighth in assist per game (3.2).

Overall this season, Schulte averaged 11.2 points and 6.4 rebounds a contest for the Wildcats. She led the league in 3-point field goal percentage (.478), was sixth in free throw percentage (.860), seventh in defensive rebounds per game (5.2) and 12th in assists per game (3.0). Schulte is a four-year starter at WSC and has started more games (124) than any player in school history. She ranks 10th in career scoring (1,406) and is seventh in rebounds with 748 and is one of only five players in school history to record over 1,300 points and 700 rebounds.

Norling, a 5-foot-11 forward from Loretto, Minn., was one of five players named to the NSIC All-Freshmen Team. She averaged 9.0 points and 3.7 rebounds per game in NSIC games this season, ranking sixth in field goal percentage making 49.4 percent (85-172) from the field. Norling scored double figures in 11 conference games this season and hit the game-winning shot at the buzzer in a 60-59 win at Winona State on Feb. 17.

Overall this season, Norling played in all 31 games with 28 starts and ranked third on the team in scoring with 9.2 points per game along with 3.8 rebounds. She ranked fifth in the NSIC in field goal percentage, connecting on 119 of 233 shots for 51.1 percent. Norling had a season-best 19 points vs. Wisconsin-Parkside (Nov. 5) to highlight 15 games of double-digit scoring. Wayne State College is 25-6 overall and placed second in the NSIC South Division with an 18-4 league mark.

The Wildcats defeated Minnesota Crookston Wednesday evening 72-59 in the first round of the NSIC Sanford Health Women's Basketball Tournament and now face Concordia-St. Paul Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the quarterfinals at the Sanford Pentagon in Sioux Falls, S.D.

MIKE'S MIC

Where am I?

By MIKE RENNING
mikesportshome@yahoo.com
Have you ever been lost?
I don't know anyone who hasn't been lost. It's not a topic you usually talk about - especially if you're a male.

was telling me to go two miles ahead and turn around.

I thought about pulling over on the spot and handing the keys to either the Darling Wife or my Mother-in-Law, but I still kind of knew where I was going.

Okay, let's move forward to a couple of weeks ago.

I went to Valley, a normal sized town I had been to before.

I was to pick up my granddaughter, Lily from school then go back to where my daughter was working and pick up my other little sweetie, Sophia.

I had been to Lily's school before and her school is literally within six blocks of where my daughter works.

Piece of cake right?
Well, Lily and I were heading back to find Sophia and all at once we were by this lake.

I knew where the lake was located but had no idea how we ended up by it.

I'm thinking to myself, I can pass this off as an adventure, act like I knew what I was doing all along.

All the sudden, Lily, from the backseat I might add, says, "Papa, you're going the wrong way."

Lily is so grown up when she gets out of school. She is in charge - like her Nana and her Mother.

I tried to tell her I just wanted to see this lake and she said...and I quote:

"No, you didn't, we've seen this lake. Turn around and go back down the road we're driving on and let's pick up Sophia."

Did I tell you Lily is five?
The rest of my life is going to be very interesting - wait until she gets out of her car seat.

But I do like taking orders from her over the Australian and the Brit.

Capitol View

Now we have a gubernatorial race

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

With the exception of one-term Governors Kay Orr and Norbert Tiemann in recent years, the power of incumbency has been very strong in the quest to be Nebraska's chief executive.

Governor Pete Ricketts and his Republican supporters are banking on that this year. But, assuming that recently announced Democratic candidate Bob Krist of Omaha defeats a couple challengers in the May primary, there could be an interesting race for governor. Not that the Democrats haven't had good candidates in the past, they have lacked the ability to cross party lines like Ben Nelson did when he defeated Orr.

In case you have forgotten, Nebraska is a primarily Republican state. Even the supposedly nonpartisan Unicameral has a balance of 31 Republicans to 16 Democrats, 1 Independent and 1 Libertarian. Political analysts have long agreed that Nelson, a centrist Democrat, was the beneficiary of support by a large bloc of Republican voters in Douglas County.

Krist, one of six state Senators who is being term-limited out at the end of this legislative session, announced last year that he was going to run as a member of a third party. Then he decided he would be an independent and just recently decided to run as a Democrat. As a moderate Republican who was often at odds with the heavy hand Ricketts wielded with colleagues, it's not surprising that he changed affiliation.

The third -- party attempt was altered by a law passed last year that increased the number of signatures needed to create a party by about 20 times the original number (from about 5,000 to more than 100,00). The independent bid would have set up a three-way race. We saw how that worked out in recent national elections.

As predicted, the Republicans have criticized Krist. Republican National Committee member and former state party chairman J.L. Spray of Lincoln called it "more flopping around than a catfish on a sandbar." Ricketts campaign communications director Matthew Trail said the campaign has remained focused on sharing the governor's vision "throughout the odyssey of Senator Krist's candidacy."

It didn't take Krist long to define the differences between he and Ricketts, chief among them is the incumbent's repeated calls for the University of Nebraska to make more than $34 million in cuts over two years to help balance the state budget. Krist said finding new revenue is a better solution than "trying to cut our way out of this." Cutting, he said, has consequences.

Krist calls himself a common sense moderate and said he wants to bring all parties to the table to discuss issues important to all Nebraskans. He is one of a handful of moderates, the others of whom have been targeted for defeat by Ricketts' contributions to opponents. In some cases, Ricketts even found the people to run against the senators who didn't vote with him or voted to override vetoes. Krist said voters have grown weary of the partisan politics that divide us and has, in some instances, hamstringed legislative action.

He has been in the Legislature for 10 years, making him the second senior member to the venerable Independent Ernie Chambers. Krist was appointed to replace Omaha Senator Mike Friend by then-Governor Dave Heineman and twice re-elected. His candidacy was welcomed by Democratic stalwarts and a number of Republicans with whom he has served in the nonpartisan Legislature. He reiterated that Nebraskans want a reprieve from partisan governance.

Ricketts said he would continue to make lowering property taxes a top priority during his second term. He also wants to continue his ongoing plans of making government customer-oriented, efficient and effective.

The stage has been set for an interesting contest. Let's hope that Nebraskans are the big winner in this one.

J.L. Schmidt has been covering Nebraska government and politics since 1979. He has been a registered Independent for 19 years.

Legislative Update

Priority bills get debate time on floor

Although over 500 bills were introduced in the 2018 legislative session, it is likely that only priority bills will be debated on the floor. A priority bill is a bill that has priority status and generally is considered ahead of other bills in debate. Each senator may select one priority bill, each committee may select two priority bills, and the speaker may select up to 25 priority bills. All priority designations were announced Wednesday morning, and we now have a good idea of the topics that will dominate this legislative session. Topics include property tax reform, education reform, rural broadband access, and voter ID laws. To view all priority bills please visit <https://nebraskalegislature.gov/session/priority.php>.

I designated LB 1040, provide for certificates of nonviable birth, as my 2018 priority bill and I am happy to announce it passed out of Health and Human Services Committee with 7 "yes" votes and 0 "no" votes. LB 1040 is a bill to help grieving families by offering a commemorative birth certificate for those who suffer a pregnancy loss prior to 20 weeks gestation. Every pregnancy loss is a tragedy that has a profound impact on women and entire families, yet most go unrecognized. Any woman who has ever miscarried knows the pain and loss are real no matter the gestation. Whether a pregnancy is lost at 5 weeks, 12 weeks, 19 weeks or 20 weeks and beyond, the pain of that loss is severe and should be recognized and honored for those who wish to do so.

As Chair of Business and Labor Committee, I designated LB 953 and LB 791 as the committee's priority bills.

LB 953 requires the Workers' Compensation Court to approve a lump-sum settlement in cases in which the employee at the time of settlement is eligible for Medicare or has a reasonable expectation of becoming eligible for Medicare within 30 months. A lump-sum settlement may also be approved if medical expenses incurred for treatment of the injury will not be fully paid as part of the settlement, if the employee's attorney affirms that the settlement is in conformity with the compensation schedule and for the best interests of the employee or his or her dependents, under all the circumstances. LB 953 also addresses a recent Workers' Compensation Court's decision regarding the enforceability of late payment penalties.

LB 791 was introduced by Senator

Legislative Update
By Joni Albrecht
State Senator, District 17

Ebke at the request of the Governor. LB 791 makes changes to the State Employees Collective Bargaining Act regarding the Nebraska State Patrol (NSP) to eliminate certain conflicts of interest and to provide for accountability and transparency in NSP investigations. Specifically, LB 791 removes NSP sergeants from the collective bargaining unit and places them in the supervisors unit. LB 791 also removes disciplinary and investigative procedures of the NSP from the scope of collective bargaining.

This week also marked the end of most committee hearings. The Business and Labor Committee will have our last hearing on Monday; Government, Military and Veteran Affairs, Health and Human Services, Judiciary, and Revenue Committees will hold their final hearings on Tuesday. Wednesday, February 28th, will mark the first full day of floor debate for the 2018 session. Things will be moving fast and I am hopeful we will pass meaningful legislation this year. Committee hearings will be streamed live by NET at the following address: www.netnebraska.org/capitol. Live coverage of the full session of the Unicameral is also available from that page.

Service learning vital part of 4-H

Through its pledge of "hands to larger service," 4-H has given back to the community by encouraging young people to volunteer. In 4-H, service is commonly defined as the voluntary action of an individual or a group of individuals without pay. 4-H offers many opportunities to learn through community service and service learning. Service to the community through food drives, park clean-up, developing mentoring programs, fixing up museums, planning local celebrations or youth determining community needs or helping to solve community problems, helps young people learn caring, leadership and citizenship skills.

Community service and service learning are very different in their approach, but they both help youth become more civically engaged in their communities. Service learning focuses more on learning and community service focuses more on serving. Service learning is the blending of both service and learning goals in such a way that both occur and are enriched by each other. The main difference between community service and service learning is intentionally linking the service back to learning objectives, either classroom or 4-H project work.

Here are eight elements to consider when developing a service learning project or program.

1. Community Needs — Youth should take an active role in identifying community needs.
2. Learning Objectives — Learning objectives can be developed in relation to the objectives found in 4-H project manuals.

3. Youth Voice and Planning— Listen to and engage young people in the planning process. This provides more ownership and learning opportunities for young people.

4. Orientation and Training — Young people must understand the organization, issues and skills required to provide effective service and maximize learning.

5. Meaningful Action — The actual service experience itself requires much planning and thinking. There are many logistics that are important to ensuring a meaningful experience, including transportation, supervision and risk management.

6. Reflection — Reflect on the process and what was accomplished through service learning.

The reflection process helps young people grow on a personal, social and intellectual level.

7. Evaluation — Evaluation provides an opportunity to assess process (what we did well, what we could have done better) and impact (how have young people and the community changed).

8. Celebration & Recognition — When young people provide valuable service to the community, their efforts need to be recognized and celebrated. This reinforces the value and their connection to what they accomplished.

Congratulations Pam Janke ~ Associate of the Month ~

I would like to nominate Pam Janke for Employee of the Month. Pam has been part of Brookdale for many years; she has a great attitude, gives exceptional care and has proven that there are no limits to her dedication by going above and beyond for our residents. Her flexibility, compassion, and experience make her a valuable asset. She is dedicated and goes the extra mile and is willing to pick up extra shifts when needed. Pam is always providing productive input to make the day to day operations more efficient.

Pam has a great disposition and never complains about her job. She does her job with pride, is conscientious and very sincere. She greets the residents and staff with a smile, compassion and a cheerful attitude. Pam is a very honest and trustworthy person. She always exhibits the right thing to do. We are very happy and proud to have you, Pam, on our team here at Brookdale Wayne.

Supporting Winside

Leon Backstrom of Creighton donated a Remington .243 rifle in memory of his brother, Bryan Backstrom, to be raffled off. Funds from the event were split between the Winside P.R.I.D.E. group and the Winside Volunteer Fire Department. A total of $1,800 was raised, with each organization receiving $900. The winning ticket was drawn during the Winside Fire Department's annual Omelet Feed on Feb. 11. Pictured are Leon Backstrom and Fauneil Olander drawing the winning ticket. A thank you was extended to Backstrom for his generous donation and helping the Winside community.

Advice offered on conducting a Mini-Pilgrimage

For all liturgical Christians, we are observing the season of Lent, that time in the Christian calendar where all the faithful commit to spending time with God through prayer, fasting, and giving away of alms.

Of course, these aren't the only ways to meditate on God's Spirit or incorporate religious devotion in your life. One of my life-long dreams is to follow in the footsteps of many ancient Christians and go on a pilgrimage on the Road of Saint James in Spain. But until such time as I can save up my money and vacation time to make it happen, here are my suggestions on how to practice pilgrimage on a small scale in your own community.

1) Decide on how much time you would like to spend walking or using another mode of transportation (bike, horse, canoe, etc.) It might be wise to consider turning a normal routine into a pilgrimage activity. For example, if you already walk the dog every day, that chore could become your pilgrimage. If you already commute in your car to work and back, that could become a journey of prayer instead.

2) Once your pilgrimage route is decided, think about how you would like to spend time with God while on the trip. You could listen to a religious audiobook or podcast on your phone, bring along a devo-tionary book, or simply say your own personal prayers along the way.

3) As you go about your journey, the busyness of life made intrude upon your best intentions. If you find your mind wandering, don't despair. But a good way to keep your mind focused on the pilgrimage is to time your footsteps with the ancient Christian breath prayer. Monks from centuries past developed the breath prayer as a way to pray continuously. As you breathe in, say in your mind "Lord Jesus Christ..." As you breathe out, say in your mind, "have mercy on me a sinner."

4) Finally, don't forget to say a prayer for all those who are suffering such as those who wrestle with cancer, addiction, mental illness, a recent divorce, or poverty. All people in this life are on their own pilgrim journey, but we do not walk alone.

Well, there you have it. If your schedule is overloaded and you are struggling to find time for prayer or other Lenten disciplines, I think the best thing to do is to turn your ordinary dog-walking chore or exercise route into a mini-pilgrimage. Just as the Hebrews journeyed for 40 years in the desert, we modern day Christians are also called to do our own traveling, trusting that the Spirit of God is with us the whole way.

Service recognition

Bob Sherry, long-time member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, was recognized for his service during the annual Winter-Spring Fest. He was awarded the Elaine Pinkelman Service Award for his many contributions to the parish. Making the presentation was Fr. Jeff Mollner (far right). Also present were several members of Elaine Pinkelman's family, along with Sherry's family.

FFA Week
Growing corn (above) and looking for cows (right) were among the activities students were asked to complete during the pep rally at Wayne High School last week. Three classes of students competed to see who could follow directions. The event was organized by the Wayne FFA Chapter during National FFA Week. Other activities at the school included Pajama Day and a breakfast for students and staff.

LENRD Board votes to continue airborne surveys of our groundwater Learning more about our groundwater and the aquifer formations across the district is one of the major projects on deck for the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) this year.

At their February board meeting, the board voted to approve the agreement with Aqua Geo Frameworks, not to exceed $220,000 to complete additional Airborne Electromagnetic (AEM) surveys, in conjunction with the 2018 Eastern Nebraska Water Resources Assessment (ENWRA) AEM flights that are already scheduled with 6 other NRDs.

LENRD Assistant General Manager Brian Bruckner said, "We received funding from the Nebraska Water Sustainability Fund to complete the ENWRA project. By continuing these flights within our district, we'll be able to fill in some of the missing areas where we need more data. This project will be a great asset and the information will be used in managing this precious resource in the future."

The AEM survey is a very rapid and efficient way of remotely sensing geology across an entire site without engaging in extensive drilling. To obtain the information, a geophysical device (typically hoop-shaped) containing sensors is suspended beneath a helicopter.

A report was given to the board by Dave Rus, Hydrologist with the USGS Nebraska Water Science Center, on the toxic algae blooms that occur seasonally at the Willow Creek State Recreation Area, near Pierce. The study of the area is complete and they are working on the final report.

In other business, an inter-local agreement was signed with the City of Randolph for the Flood Risk Management Study for the Middle Logan Creek. The study will propose channel improvements for their flood control plan.

A public hearing was also held at the February board meeting to certify irrigated acres. Landowners within the LENRD boundaries, have been working with the district to get their irrigated acres certified over the past several years. There are only about 50 tracts of land left to certify at the next hearing.

The next LENRD board meeting will be Thursday, March 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center on the campus of Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Specialty growers, pesticide applicators can protect sensitive crops by working together

Specialty crops add diversity and value to Nebraska's agricultural industry, which is why the Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) encourages growers and outdoor pesticide applicators to work together to protect sensitive commercial specialty crops and pollinators from pesticide use. Pesticides include all categories of pest control products such as herbicides, insecticides and fungicides.

"Many non-traditional crops, like grapes and hops, are especially sensitive to pesticides that are critical for producing traditional crops like corn and soybeans," said NDA Director

Steve Wellman. "In order to protect sensitive crops, commercial growers and pesticide applicators need to communicate with one another throughout the planting and growing season to raise awareness of specialty crops and beehives in the area."

DriftWatch™ and BeeCheck™ are online mapping services from FieldWatch that allow those with commercial specialty crops, organic crops and beehives to report their field locations. Farmers and other pesticide applicators can review the website to see where specialty crops are located. Included in the registry are commercial apiary sites, vineyards, orchards, fruit and vegetable grow sites, nursery and Christmas tree production sites and certified organic crops.

These online mapping services are especially helpful in satisfying new requirements concerning restricted use pesticide (RUP) dicamba products, Wellman said. It's important for pesticide applicators to learn about the specific products they are using and read and follow product labels.

Pesticide applicators planning to use RUP dicamba products are required to complete online training and locate specialty crops in the area before using RUP dicamba products. Online pesticide applicator training is available through Nebraska Extension.

In Nebraska, 673 growers have registered a total of 1,400 specialty crop and apiary sites on DriftWatch™. Those sites are currently found in 82 of Nebraska's 93 counties.

Registration is voluntary, free, easy to use and secure. For more information contact Craig Romary, NDA Program Specialist, at (402) 471-2351.

Spring Fever? Spring Chores!

Well, it is finally starting to feel a little more like spring. I'm sure we'll still get a wintry blast or two, but at least the days are getting longer and the end of winter is in sight. When temperatures start to climb, I get anxious to get outside and do things. If the spring fever bug has hit you, here are a couple of things you might want to add to your "To Do" list.

You need to wait on several spring chores such as power raking and fertilizing your lawn, or applying crabgrass preventer... I'll talk more about those about a month from now. But there are several things that you can get started on now.

First, rake up any leaves that you didn't get raked last fall or that might have blown in over the winter around the house, on the lawn, under shrubs, and in flower beds. We haven't had a lot of snow to hold leaves in place so they have been moving around. Besides being a potential fire hazard around the house, a thick, matted down layer of leaves in a flower bed or on the lawn can smother ornamentals and turf if they are not removed.

It's also time to give a lot of our perennials a "haircut." March into early April, once temperatures begin to warm, is a good time to remove the old tops of ornamental grasses, herbaceous perennials (those that die back to the ground each year) and asparagus. If the tops of these plants were left in place over winter, last years' growth should be removed before new growth begins this spring.

Ornamental grasses, herbaceous perennials like peonies, and asparagus begin new growth from the plant base or roots, and last years' growth which is now dead, will not green up again. The old growth needs to be removed to make room for the new growth. Last years' top growth is also removed to reduce overwintering insects and diseases.

With perennials, use a pruning shears and rake to clean out the dead leaves. For ornamental grasses, and depending on the size of the grass, use a pruning shears or hedge trimmer to cut off last years' growth to about four to six inches above ground.

A second project will be to replenish the mulch in flower beds and around trees and bushes. When you use organic mulch, like wood chips, in the landscape, the mulch will decompose and planting beds may become a little low on mulch. If it's been a couple years since you added new mulch, this is the year to add it around trees and flowerbeds before plants start to emerge and you get busy with other spring chores.

If tempted to add a deeper layer of mulch to reduce how often it needs to be replenished; or if you are tempted to use an inorganic mulch like gravel, instead of an organic one, keep in mind that too deep of a mulch layer is not healthy for plants, and organic mulches are better for plants and the soil than inorganic ones like lava or white rock.

Mulch is beneficial and its use is highly recommended. However, too much of a good thing causes problems. After mulch has settled, it should be two to four inches deep. If mulch is too deep, plant roots grow in mulch rather than soil, less oxygen may enter soil and soils may remain too wet for too long. So use an organic mulch, but do use it correctly.

Finally, if you didn't do this last fall, now is a good time to sharpen lawn mower blades, change the oil, and perform any other routine maintenance and repairs on mowers, tillers and edgers. This can save time and frustration later this spring when you need to mow the lawn or till the garden. So plan ahead and take care of these things now. It's going to be a great week to be outside, so get out and enjoy it while taking care of some of these lawn and garden chores.

For more information on spring lawn and garden projects, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Olympics, weather highlight week's topics

By: Pat Meierhenry

It's been quite a week; Billy Graham died. I, for one, was glad for him. At age 99, he was dealing with Parkinson's and other old age problems, and I know he's glad to be out of that earthly body and in his heavenly one. But it certainly has called forth a lot of memories and tributes. I know I never hear or sing "Just As I Am" without a mental picture of the altar call that ended his revivals.

Then, there were the daring acrobatics of the snow boarders in the Olympics; especially in what is called the half pipe. It was enough to make you hold your breath, and two USA gold medals were won by 17 year olds! What do they do in their spare time? Do they go to high school? Do they play in the band, act in the musicals? How can you do those amazing things at that age?

And then, the thrill for the women's hockey team, finally beating the Canadians. And the men's curling team, doing the same, on the way to their gold medals. Our friend in Winnipeg is chagrined, to say the least. He has been curling since 1947, and is still playing. I only wish I understood it.

On the home front, more extreme weather. We have had snow, and sleet, and ice, followed by sun and today, fifty degrees. But Arkansas, for instance, has flooding. New Guinea had a large earthquake. Mike's sister lived in New Guinea at one time, and I'm pretty sure they would have been very surprised at an earthquake there.

And all the district basketball games! Upsets, disappointments, wild cards, and finally, the slate for the girls starting this Thursday, and after tonight, we will know which boys' teams are going. We live across the street from East High and it looks like both their gals and guys are going. This, after their wrestlers won the State Championship.

Today, we learn that Amy Williams, the UNL women's coach, is Big Ten coach of the year. And I will be the first to admit that she deserves it, after turning this team drastically around. Plus, Coach Miles on the men's side, has those guys playing well; with even the fellows on the bench getting noticed for their great antics.. It seems to me that is the way it should be; they all seem to be great sports about "riding the pine."We all know they have to be at every practice, too.

I am delighted to see sun and warm weather; it can stay this way until Spring and then warm up!!

County Weed Superintendent attends annual weed conference in Norfolk

Wayne County Weed Superintendent, Doug Deck recently attended the 71st Annual Nebraska Weed Control Conference, held at the Divots Conference Center, Norfolk, NE on Feb. 12-14.

Following the Education Committee and Board of Director's meetings on Monday afternoon, the conference kicked off with The President's Reception on Monday evening.

Tuesday morning topics included: Weeding the Garden of Life, Dan Kuester, Mid America Speakers Bureau; Unmanned Aircraft Program, Rules and Regulations, Wayne Woldt, University of Nebraska; Grapes and Herbicides, Mick McDowell, Mileta Vista Winery; Invasive Plants Watch List Update, Allison Zach, UNL; Noxious Weed Scenarios, Kristi Paul, Sheridan County Weed Superintendent.

Tuesday evening the annual banquet and awards ceremony was held, with the following people being recognized for their service:

Region 1, Randy Group - Cass County; Region 2, Travis Mundorf - Keya Paha County; Region 3, Bruce Ofe - Antelope County; Region 4, Bryan Schardt - Thayer County; Region 5, Jeff Schledewitz - Scotts Bluff County; Region 6, Tim Ryan - Keith County.

Presidential Awards were given to Charles Brooks, Phelps County; Rob Schultz, Hall/Howard County and Larry Dix, Nebraska Association of County Officials Director.

Rookie of the Year for the State of Nebraska was awarded to Dan Wordekemper, Dawes County;

Superintendent of the Year for the State of Nebraska for 2017 was Mike Reed, Douglas County.

Wednesday's speakers included; Kansas Noxious Weed Program, Dennis Peterson, Riley County, KS; Northeast Nebraska Weed Management Area Update, Lucas Negus, NE Game & Parks; Title 198: Rules and Regulations Pertaining to Agricultural Chemical Containment, Blake Onken - Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality; The Invasion of Callery Pear, Lorri Grueber - City of Lincoln Parks and Recreation; Folderizing, Rod Stolcpart - Rock County Weed Superintendent.

Wednesday noon was the Annual Business Meeting, which resulted in a new NWCA Vice President, John Bebout of Otoe County. Congratulations to John! Members also voted to have the 2020 NWCA Conference in North Platte. The 2019 Conference will be at the Lied Lodge in Nebraska City.

The annual conference was the first opportunity of 2018 for weed superintendents to get required continuing education. At every NWCA training, roll call must be answered twice each day, and the exam at the end of each day must be completed and passed for a superintendent to receive continuing credit hours. The next training will be NWCA Spring Training April 4-5 at Ramada Inn, Kearney, with New Superintendent Training on April 3.

Adrian Smith earns Nebraska Farm Bureau 'Friend of Agriculture' honors recently

LINCOLN, NEB. - U.S. Rep. Adrian Smith has been designated a "Friend of Agriculture" by NFBF-PAC, Nebraska Farm Bureau's political action committee. Smith, who is seeking re-election to the U.S. House of Representatives in Nebraska's 3rd Congressional District, received the designation based on his work on several policy issues of high priority to Nebraska farmers and ranchers, according to Nebraska Farm Bureau President Steve Nelson.

"Taxes, trade, and reducing the regulatory burden on farmers and ranchers are priorities for our members and Congressman Smith has provided leadership on all of these critical issues in Washington D.C.," said Nelson.

Serving on the House Ways and Means Committee, Smith has provided a strong voice for agriculture on federal tax policy and played an instrumental role in helping deliver the first major revisions to the federal tax code in more than 30 years.

"Today Nebraska farmers and ranchers are able to continue to fully deduct their property taxes on their federal tax return, thanks in large part to the work done by the Congressman during debate on the federal tax bill. His engagement on that issue was instrumental in protecting those deductions," said Nelson.

With one out of every three U.S. farm acres being planted for export and roughly 31 percent of U.S. gross farm income coming directly from exports to foreign countries, international trade is critical to farmers and ranchers.

"We appreciate the ongoing efforts of Congressman Smith to serve Nebraska's farm and ranch families and are proud to count him among those receiving our "Friend of Agriculture" designation," said Nelson.

THANK YOU

From the family of George Holm--
We want to express our sincere gratitude to the many, many people, family and friends, who have come with hugs and words of sympathy, brought food to the house, ran errands, sent flowers, cards, and memorials, and so much more. To the couple and the woman who stopped to assist at the scene of the accident, the rescue crew, the Sherriff's Department, Avera St. Anthony's staff, and Val Wecker, we give thanks. We thank Biglin's Mortuary, Father Starman, Father Knecht, and Deacon Kersenbrock for their support, St. Patrick's altar society for providing the meal to share after the service, and friends and family who organized the gathering at the Wakefield Legion Club. Although the heartbreak we feel, the sadness, the emptiness in the room, the longing for one more touch or word of encouragement greets us each new day, we are grateful that George had this one hobby that has brought so much comfort to us in this difficult time. His hobby, you ask? PEOPLE. His love of people. He could not help himself; he loved conversation, to share his thoughts, his jokes, his time, and wanted to really know how he could help if and when something needed done. The Irish Wake tribute to George, the messages, and so many other kindnesses our hearts will feel forever. Although he is now gone from this earth, he will always be with us in spirit. We know that he has more stories to share, old friends to see, and new people to meet. We can only imagine!
Karen, Frank, Charles, Jenny

The family of Virginia Widner would like to thank everyone who touched our lives when we lost mom. Special thanks to Brookdale Senior Living, Providence Medical Living, and Scott Hasemann. We will always remember your kindness and loving care that you gave to mom and to the family.
*Brooks & Sherri Widner
Jordan & Cassandra Widner
Joshua Widner*

I want to thank my many relatives and friends that made my 80th birthday so very special. I received many cards and phone calls that made this event one I will remember for a long time. As a person grows older, remembrances of this nature are very meaningful. My heartfelt "thanks" to each and every one of you! Marlene Dahlkoetter

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska
February 20, 2018

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners meeting was called to order by Chairman James Rabe at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, February 20, 2018, in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Chairman Rabe, Members Dean Burbach and Randy Larson, Attorney Michael Pieper, Sheriff Deputy Jesse Frank, and Clerk Debra Finn were present. Notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on February 8, 2018. A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted and accessible to the public.

Rabe presented the following consent agenda items:

- a. Approve minutes of February 6, 2018, as printed in the Commissioners Record
- b. Approve fee reports
- c. Approve payroll
- d. Approve withdrawal of Cusip 31331VYR8 as pledged securities held by State Nebraska Bank & Trust
- e. Approve memorandum of understanding with Madison County for the Nebraska Crime Commission's 2018 Community-Based Juvenile Services Grant application
- f. Authorize Chairman to sign Engagement for Legal Services letter to advise the county in obtaining and monetizing historic tax credits for the courthouse exterior renovation project

A motion to approve the consent agenda was made by Larson and seconded by Burbach. Roll call vote: Larson, Burbach, Rabe - aye; motion carried.

A motion to approve the claims was made by Burbach and seconded by Larson. Roll call vote: Burbach, Larson, Rabe - aye; motion carried.

Wayne Area Economic Development Director Luke Virgil, and Wayne Community Housing Development Director Megan Weaver provided an update on fund commitments for a Rural Workforce Housing Fund grant application. One-to-one matching funds are required from public and private entities. These funds will be used as low-interest loans to reduce the cost of workforce housing. Eligibility is limited the first year to communities with a completed housing study, which includes Wayne and Wakefield. A motion to commit $25,000 toward the Rural Workforce Housing Fund was made by Larson and seconded by Burbach. Roll call vote: Larson, Burbach, Rabe - aye; motion carried.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz will assist with training while attending the state wildfire seminar. Kemnitz reported the five-year revision of the Local Emergency Operations Plan is due in August. Repair of the county antenna at the ETV tower is being scheduled.

Larson met with Judge Johnson regarding the purchase of an Elmo, technology cart, and tables for the courtroom. The courtroom television would be placed on a technology cart and used with the Elmo to display evidence during trials. County Court Clerk Magistrate KimBerly Hansen questioned if the courtroom television could be unhooked from the state equipment and moved. A representative from the state will be asked to review the connections. Table estimates will be presented when a consensus is reached on the table length.

Highway Superintendent Mark Casey updated the board on several road projects and a meeting with Mainelli Wagner & Associates.

An agreement with Nebraska Department of Roads for Project STWD-CBMP(2), NDOT Control No. 00974A, LPA Control No. 00974FFF, for Wayne County Bridge Match Projects C009001515 and C009001205 was reviewed. A motion was made by Larson and seconded by Burbach to approve Resolution No. 18-03. Roll call vote: Larson, Burbach, Rabe - aye; motion carried.

Resolution No. 18-03:

"Whereas Wayne County is proposing a transportation project for which it would like to obtain County Bridge Match funds; Whereas: Wayne County understands that it must strictly follow all State and local laws, rules, regulations, policies, and guidelines applicable to the funding of the project; and Whereas: Wayne County and Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) wish to enter into a new Project Program Agreement setting out the various duties and funding responsibilities for the project.

Be It Resolved by the Board of Commissioners of Wayne County that: James Rabe, Chair of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is hereby authorized to sign the attached Project Program Agreement between the Wayne County and the NDOT.

Wayne County is committed to providing local funds for the project as required by the Project Program Agreement.

NDOT Project Number: STWD-CBMP(2), NDOT Control Number: 00974A, NDOT Project Name: County Bridge Match Program."
