Two hirings, text book purchase highlight special board meeting

Two new staff members were hired and approval was given for the purchase of a new reading textbook series during Monday's special meeting of the Wayne Community School's Board of Education.

Kim Lubberstedt was hired to fill the K-8 School Counselor position. She has been interning with Jennifer Cliff in this position. Cliff is resigning at the end of the school year as her family is moving.

Lubberstedt has worked as a paraprofessional with the Wayne district and in Early Childhood Development and Behavioral Health with Educational Service Unit #1.

Jean Pieper will be filling a K-6 Special Education position in the district. The Wayne High School graduate has been teaching in the Elkhorn school district since 2012. Board members listened to a presentation from Elementary Principal Russ Plager on the benefits of the Wonders Reading series for students in kindergarten through sixth grade.

He said a committee has been evaluating several options for the new textbooks and feels the Wonders series will provide the most opportunities for the teachers.

"This series will meet our curriculum needs and meets the standards we need to follow. Also, this series provides our teachers with the resources necessary for all learners," Plager said.

The board unanimously approved the purchase at a cost of $93,570. Funding for this purchase will come from the school's General Fund and depreciation funds.

Board members also discussed the position of director for the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. It was noted that when the position was originally created, it was anticipated that the Foundation would pay the director's salary, rather than the district.

Several options in regard to compensation for a director were discussed, but no action was taken as the item was for discussion only.

Also discussed at length was the anticipated situation with the kindergarten class for the 2018-2019 school year.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan and Principal Plager told the board that the district has received written or verbal commitments from parents of 81 students for next year's class. This includes 13.5 percent of which are ESL students. A number of students have been enrolled in recent weeks, following kindergarten roundup. With this number, there would be 27 students in each of the three kindergarten rooms.

Several options were discussed by the board members and different scenarios debated. These include hiring three paraprofessionals - one for each of the current kindergarten teachers or hiring a fourth teacher. With some minor construction, an area on the first floor of the elementary school could be made into a classroom. It was noted that kindergarten and first grade students need to be on the first floor of a building.

Additional discussion on the topic will take place when the board meets in regular session on Monday, May 14.

County commissioners approve road haul contract with NextEra

By Calyn Dunklau calyn@wayneherald.com

Members of the NextEra Energy team and the commissioners along side the highway superintendent, county attorney and county clerk poured over maps provided by NextEra for the Sholes Wind Energy Center during the recent meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Now that a vast majority of the environmental impact studies and surveying work has been completed, the company brought the draft site map before the commissioners to start discussion about haul routes and driveway locations.

The commissioners and highway superintendent Mark Casey showed where there were miles of no road or dirt road and bridges unsuitable for heavy equipment to utilize while NextEra's project managers Phil Clement and Kim Dickey took note of changes.

While the tower sites are finalized, there is a number of things that NextEra will be working closely with the county on in these upcoming months to ensure the roads used are maintained properly and kept usable during planting and harvest seasons.

The commissioners voted unanimously to approve the final draft of the road haul agreement with NextEra that outlines fees, utility crossing depths and other road-related topics. Given the fact that Wayne County does not have zoning, this agreement is as close to regulating the project as it can be. NextEra's attorney David Levy, who was on hand to answer questions and explain as necessary, offered a compliment to the commissioners and to Casey for such a thorough document. ground and will be four feet in diameter at their bases, the commissioners agreed to approve the application contingent on a site visit with Casey and Mark Mainelli with Mainelli Wagner and Associates, a civil engineering firm the commissioners utilize out of Lincoln.

According to Clement, the project should be operational by December barring complications.

Another wind farm will be utilizing the county roads, but this one is only for transportation purposes.

Casey received an email and a phone call from TOTRAN, a transportation company based out of Alberta Canada.

The company requested use of county roads to move the generator cells for the Rattlesnake Wind Farm project in Dixon County.

The proposed route would utilize 21st Street and Centennial Road to avoid going through town.

Schematics were sent to Casey of the equipment used to haul the generators and the size is staggering.

Each generator alone weighs 240,000 pounds. The trailer used to haul the piece is 16 feet wide and according to Casey will have over 100 tires between it and the rigs pulling and pushing it.

The company is looking to move 7-8 of these generators each week for the duration of the

"I've done about ten of these," Levy said. "This is the cleanest, most comprehensive road haul agreement I've seen. This will become the standard."

In addition to approving the road haul agreement contract with NextEra, the commissioners also approved the company's application to place a utility line in the county road right of way.

The transmission line would boost the capacity for Nebraska Public Power District in the area.

After going over the specifications, including that the poles will stand 140 feet above summer essentially.

Commissioners asked Casey to go back to TOTRAN to discuss rocking the road prior to their arrival at their cost as well as paying for any damages done to the roads.

In other news, Wayne City Administrator Wes Blecke updated the commissioners on the Gill Hauling sanitation service agreement.

UNL Extension Agent Amy Topp will be utilizing funds left in her budget to plan a career exploration day for freshmen in Wayne County this fall after the board approved her request.

Other requests to the board included one for Sievers Farms, combining two operations into one location which was approved by the board. The other request by Dan Hansen for a two barn finisher housing 5,200 head of finisher hogs was tabled until Casey can meet with him to discuss a few questions.

The next meeting of the board will take place on May 15 at 9 a.m. in the meeting room at the Wayne County Courthouse.

Copies of the proposed road and intersection expansions, driveway locations and tower sites were provided to the commissioners this week by NextEra now that environmental impact studies have been completed. Future of Haskell Ag Lab is secure but changing

When the Governor of Nebraska proposed a budget cut of 4 percent to be handed down to entities such as Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska, programs and services offered by them headed for the chopping block.

On that list for the University of Nebraska at Lincoln (UNL) was the Haskell Agriculture Lab located east of Concord.

The research and educational facility was established in 1957 after the Haskell family donated the ground necessary to construct the lab.

At 480 acres, the lab offers plenty of space for educational and research opportunities on crops, soil quality, livestock and weed control among a plethora of other subjects.

When the university was looking at ways to meet the proposed 4 percent budget cut, unfortunately, Haskell Ag Lab was one of two areas that would see drastic measures taken. In the case of the lab, it was proposed to be cut completely.

"It was a proposed cut to close the Haskell Ag Lab and proposed significant reduction in the Rural Futures Initiative budget," said Dr. Michael Boehm, Vice Chancellor of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at UNL. "The president went before the appropriations committee along with many others and gave specific examples of what cuts might look like if that 4 percent would stick."

Four percent may not seem like a whole lot, but according to Boehm, that figure would have landed around $23.2 million for the university.

So when the unicameral decided against the large cut and instead voted on lowering that percent from 4 to 1, people were understandably happy.

"The good news in this, that sounds odd to say, is that thankfully it was only a 1 percent cut. That's a lot more manageable."

That 1 percent equates to roughly $5.9 million, which is still a sizable amount, so they didn't get by unscathed, Boehm said.

However, that 1 percent budget reduction can be handled by the university without the closure of the Haskell Ag Lab, he said.

This comes as a relief to the many faculty members, students and producers who have come to rely on the facility for their jobs, their education and the success of their businesses.

That being said, however, the lab is in for some changes in the coming years if all plays out as Boehm hopes.

"It would have been a tragedy to have to close the Haskell Ag Lab strictly due to a budget cut without having the opportunity to have a conversation with the citizens of northeast Nebraska first," Boehm said. "I want to use this opportunity that we have now to have that conversation with stakeholders and partners and ask simple questions - how are we doing, what's working, what's not working, what should we be doing more or less of -just a real honest conversation."

The lab itself provides opportunities for research and education on topics and issues that only face this area, Boehm said. But there is more to the state.

"I think a real question is how to best use the Haskell Ag Lab to advance all of northeast Nebraska. There are 28 counties in what we consider to be northeast Nebraska, meaning thousands of people should be garnering valuable information from the lab and from UNL. I think we should be taking stock and moving forward."

Moving forward will include a series of discussions starting in the early summer -- hopefully June according to Boehm -- to allow farmers the time to plant and settle into the growing season.

"We plan to fan across northeast Nebraska in order to engage folks in town halls, county meetings at fairs and with producers. From June through August we'll move through the area and then we'll take everything we've heard and put it into a road map so to speak.

One of four topics Boehm plans to have discussed at those engagement meetings includes the student and educational success of Nebraskans in this area.

Boehm said that the university is already in contact with WSC President Marysz Rames and Northeast Community College President Dr. Michael Chipps on how they can work better together and as partners of the area high schools to increase the number of students receiving some type of post secondary education, whether that be a certificate, associates or bachelors degree.

The other three main topics include workforce needs, extension program and in conjunction with the Natural Resources District, discussion on water, air and soil quality.

"I think if we look at those four areas and think about the lab, I think we will find the future of Haskell Ag Lab. We need to look at how to remove barriers and work collaboratively. There are a lot of opportunities here."

Boehm intends for that road map to be outlined by October after the conversations have finished so that the university can get started on the changes for the lab.

"I'm so filled with gratitude that the Unicameral passed a budget that allows us to keep Haskell Ag Lab open. Now we need to figure out how to best serve and partner with the citizens in northeast Nebraska. Let's roll up our sleeves and be Nebraskans as we move forward."

Power drive team continues winning ways

After having the first race of the season cancelled due to weather, the Wayne High Power Drive team has earned honors in both of its next competitions.

The team is now gearing up (pun intended) for state competition to be held in Wayne on Saturday, May 5.

During a race in Lincoln, Wayne's Car E39 received first place in endurance. It completed 71 laps (three laps / 1.15 miles ahead of second place).

According to Tony Cantrell, Power Drive Advisor, "this was the highest lap total of all classes that competed that day."

The rally was held at the UNL tractor testing facility in Lincoln

In competition at Hastings on April 28, Car E39 again received first place in endurance and held the fastest lap of the day out of all classes that competed (this was six seconds faster than closest competitor).

This season Car E39 has completed 57.5 miles in competition. Since it was built, Car E39 has completed more than 800 miles in competition. At the state competition in Wayne on Saturday, the first heat will begin at noon and the second heat at 2 p.m. The event will be held at the First National Bank Service Center, located at 1100 East 10th Street. It will involve two, 90 minute heats of racing

The public is invited to attend the free admission event and encouraged to bring a lawn chair. A concession stand will be available.

Plans call for streaming the results live via YouTube so you can keep up with the race even if you cannot make it.

"This is the first year Wayne has hosted state competition and our 14th straight year attending state competition," Cantrell said.

"Students have been working on the car since the beginning of the school year. We worked two days a week until March, when we began to work every day. This year we made major changes to the braking system, wheels, and appearance," he said. "All of the hard work (seen or not) has paid off with two race wins this year.'

The car was switched from cable driven drum brakes to hydraulic disc brakes. Car E39's front wheels, which were spoked, were changed to a billet aluminum one-piece wheel. These changes have reduced the amount of maintenance needed between each rally, and has helped reduce the car's rolling resistance which has helped the team stay in the lead during competition. One of the most noticeable changes to the car this year is a change from the traditional blue paint, to a custom American flag themed wrap provided by Anderson Graphics.

The Wayne Power Drive team is competing this year for Wayne's seventh Power Drive Championship. They have earned championships from 2011-2017 and five runner up awards from 2009-2017

"We have competed with multiple cars/classes allowing for multiple chances to win championships each vear," Mr. Cantrell said.

Costs of recycling, swearing in member highlight council meeting

By Clara Osten,

clara@wayneherald.com

After the swearing in of a new member, the Wayne City Council spent a considerable amount of time discussing the future costs of recycling.

Tuesday's meeting began with Nick Muir taking the oath of office. He was appointed to fill the Ward 4 position following Jill Brodersen's move to mayor of the city of Wayne. He will remain in this position until the November elections.

Muir has previous council experience, but was forced to resign his position last year when his family moved to a different ward within the city of Wayne.

Council members spent considerable time listening to presentations and comments on the future of recycling for the city of Wayne.

Bernie and Leonard Gill, with Gill Hauling, and Scott Van, who owns a recycling facility in Le-Mars, Iowa, spoke to the council on the history of recycling and noted that due to the change in markets for recycled products, prices have dropped drastically.

The issue was brought before the council due to the fact that the Transfer Station agreement with Gill Hauling is up for renewal.

Leonard Gill told the council that while the costs to take the recycled materials to LeMars are less than those when these items had to be transported to Omaha or Sioux Falls, the costs are continuing to go up and his business needs to account for that expense.

"We are now to the point where recycling can no longer be free. We (Gill Hauling and the city of Wayne) need to sit down in the next 30 days and have further discussion on how to handle recycling," Leonard said.

Sandy Brown with the Wayne Green Team said that she is

Following the discussion, council members voted to table taking any action on the resolution for the agreement. It will be brought back for discussion at the June 5 meeting.

In other action, the council gave its approval for street closures for activities surrounding Henoween (July 13) and the Chicken Show (July 14).

Irene Fletcher, Assistant Director of Wayne Area Economic Development, told the council that the request is the same as in the past and includes the designating of an area on Third Street between Main Street and Pearl Street as handicap parking on Friday evening.

Permission was given to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department to burn a house on East 14th Street on either Sunday, June 10 or Sunday, June 24. The house will be burned as a training event for the department and will require 14th Street to be closed from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The application of Nathan M. Malcom for Shopko Stores Operating Co LLC, doing business at Shopko Hometown for a liquor license was approved. Malcom serves as a regional manager for the store.

Several ordinances regarding the need to obtain permits for construction and digging received second reading approval and will be brought back with necessary changes at the next meeting.

An ordinance involving demotions, suspensions and discharge in the Civil Service rules and regulations was approved and the three readings waived.

Police Chief Marlen Chinn asked the council to waive the three readings of the ordinance due to the fact that the department is looking to hire a new officer and it would be beneficial for the ordinance to be in effect before this takes place. The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, May 15 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Hazardous waste collection

Large quantities of household hazardous waste materials were collected at the Wayne Transfer Station on April 27 in an event co-sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska RC&D, Nebraska Enviromental Trust, Wayne Green Team and Gill Hauling.

"thrilled that people are bringing recyclable materials in to the Transfer Station to reduce waste. I see this as another amenity to the citizens of Wayne."

Wayne dominates long jump at Norfolk Classic

The Wayne

Area track and field athletes came away with 17 medals and Wayne dominated the long jump in the 24th annual Norfolk Track and Field Classic Thursday at Norfolk High School.

Kylie Hammer led the area medal haul with four medals, including a meet record with her win in the long jump, eclipsing the old mark by a quarter-inch with her winning jump of 18 feet, 2 1/2 inches. She also took runner-up honors in the triple jump and finished third in both the 100- and 200-meter dashes.

Cody Rogers was also a double medalist for Wayne, finishing fourth in both the triple jump and long jump. Teammate Mason Lee won the long jump, tying the school record with his best effort of 22 feet, 10 inches.

Gabi Meyer earned a third in the girls 800-meter run for Wayne, Jack Evetovich tied for third in the boys highjump, while Masyn Dorey and Jenna Trenhaile both finished fifth in the pole vault and discus, respectively.

Wakefield brought home five medals from the Classic. Israel Gardea finished fifth in the shot put, brothers Solomon and Gabe Peitz earned sixth-place medals in the triple jump and 800-meter run, the 3,200-meter relay team finished third and the 400-meter relay team placed sixth.

Wildcat rugby reclaims 7's title with dominating defensive effort

By MICHAEL CARNES

For The Herald

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — It's a well-worn, time-tested phrase — offense may win games, but defense wins championships.

You're not going to find a much more dominating defensive effort than the one the Wayne State women's 7-on-7 rugby team displayed in reclaiming the National Small College Rugby Organization 7's national title Sunday with a 24-5 win over Lee University (Tenn.) in the finals at Founders Field.

So dominating was the Wildcat defense that they did not give up a score in three games in the knockout round until Lee was finally able to find the try zone on the final play of the game — something that coach Darrin Barner was happy to point out.

"Defense was the reason why we won the quarterfinal, semifinal and the final," he said proudly. "We gave up just one try and that was on the last play of the game. The defense played great and we played our best three games in the last games of the year when it meant the most."

The Wildcats slugged through a challenging pool when the 16-team tournament got under way Saturday morning. They opened with a 31-7 win over California University of Pennsylvania, handled Scranton 25-5 and closed pool play with a 26-10 win over a New York-Rochester team that Barner said was the sleeper coming into the tournament.

And while the Wayne State defense bent a little in pool play, it became rock solid and almost impenetrable once knockout play began Saturday afternoon, and Barner said the familiarity that has come with playing in all five NSCRO national 7-on-7 tournaments was a benefit to the team.

"It's one of those things where we do the same planning and the same routine," he said. "Our schedule stays the same and the restaurants are the same and things just become habit and comfortable whereas some of these teams are new to it."

The Wildcats' defense shut down Denison College of Ohio 44-0 in the quarterfinals Saturday afternoon, setting up a semifinal matchup with the regional favorite, York (Pa.) University, a team that looked to be a potentiallyexplosive team that turned out to be a dud against an opportunistic Wildcat team.

York dominated possession during the game, but Wayne State was able to make the most of turnovers they created and turned them into quick-hitting scores that helped them shut down York and move on to the finals with a 38-0 win.

"Any time on defense that we caused a turnover and got the ball, we only had to go 20-30 yards so we didn't have the ball that much, but when we had it we were able to score and that's how the game got so out of hand in such a short amount of time," Barner said.

The Wayne State coach felt, going into Sunday's semifinal, that they would face their stiffest test against the York 7's, but that never materialized thanks to the Wildcats' outstanding defensive effort.

"There's no doubt that, on Saturday, York was the best team in the tournament," he said. "They were an extremely gifted team for sevens, and then our defense on Sunday, in a three-minute time period, made 18 tackles on 28

Athletes recognized at Wayne State College honors banquet

Wayne State College held its yearly Ameritas Athletic Honors Banquet for the 2017-18 school year Monday evening at the WSC Student Center. Seven major awards were presented along with Most Valuable Player awards announced for each sport.

Senior football player Zach Osborn was selected Male Athlete of the Year with senior track and field standout Michaela Dendinger named Female Athlete of the Year. Freshman Athlete of the Year awards were presented to baseball player Aaron Ras and volleyball player Jaci Brahmer. The Cunningham Scholar Athletes of the Year were presented to senior track athlete Derek Lahm and graduate student volleyball player Megan Gebhardt while the Wildcat Inspiration Award was presented to senior football player DaQuan Samuel.

Osborn, a senior quarterback from Harlan, Iowa, was a first-team All-NSIC South Division selection this season after completing 108 of 192 passes for 1,480 yards with 14 TD's and just five interceptions. At the time of his seasonending injury at Winona State, he led the NSIC in passing yards per game, was second in TD passes, fourth in total offense and fifth in pass efficiency. He finished his career as the all-time leader in TD passes (86) and pass attempts (1,383) and was second in passing yards (9,866), total offense yards (10,569) and pass completions (756).

Dendinger, a senior track and field athlete from Coleridge, was named NSIC Indoor Field Athlete of the Year after winning the shot put and weight throw at the NSIC Indoor Championships. She then earned All-American honors in both events, placing second at the NCAA Indoor National Championships with a new school record mark of 67-0 in the weight throw to go with a national runner-up finish in the shot put. In the outdoor season, she was earned NSIC Field Athlete of the Week honors 10 straight times dating back to last year and has three NCAA automatic qualifying marks ranking first in NCAA Div. II in the shot put, second in the hammer throw and sixth in the discus.

Aaron Ras, a freshman left handed pitcher from Bancroft, leads the Wildcat baseball team in wins with five, going 5-1 in nine starts this season with a 3.28 ERA. He has recorded 41 strikeouts in 49.1 innings pitched and has held opponents to a .229 average. Ras fired 5 2/3 innings of no-hit ball in a start vs. Upper Iowa on April 17 and had a streak of 12 straight scoreless innings. He has not allowed more than four runs in a start this season.

Brahmer, a freshman middle hitter from Pierce, was a second-team All-NSIC selection in her first season at WSC, averaging 2.47 kills and 1.02 blocks per set (tie 3rd NSIC). She recorded a double-double in her first collegiate match with 13 kills and 11 blocks vs. Rollins (Fla.) and led WSC in attack percentage this season at .329.

Lahm, a senior track and field standout from Columbus. was named the Cunningham Male Scholar Athlete of the Year with a 3.91 grade-point average majoring in chemistry and health science. This season, he was the NSIC indoor champion in the long jump and All-NSIC placing second in the indoor heptathlon. During the outdoor season, he broke a 26-year old school record in the long jump and Monday set a new school record winning the NSIC Outdoor Decathlon in Aberdeen, S.D., with 6,951 points. Academically, he is a two-time CoSIDA third-team Academic All-American selection in 2015 and 2017.

Gebhardt, a graduate student from Norfolk, received the Cunningham Female Scholar Athlete of the Year for a second straight time. She maintains a 4.0 grade-point average majoring in business administration and finance. As a setter on the Wildcat volleyball team, she ranked seventh in the NSIC this season with 9.60 assists per set. Academically, she was named CoSIDA Academic All-American Second Team this season.

Samuel was named winner of the 13th annual Wildcat Inspiration Award. The Chandler, Ariz., native came to Wayne as a defensive lineman and was asked to move to offensive line where he started for two years and earned All-Academic honors. Off the field, Samuel's newborn daughter was born with an extremely rare condition and hospitalized at Children's Hospital in Omaha and as a junior his mother passed away unexpectedly. Despite these events, Samuel excelled on the field and in the classroom.

Wayne girls take runner-up at conference track meet

The Wayne High girls claimed runner-up honors and three school cecords were set at Saturday's Mid State Conference meet in Hartington.

The Blue Devil girls were led by senior Kylie Hammer, who improved her school record in the triple jump with a leap of 37 feet, 7 inches to highlight a day where she won three gold medals with wins n the long and triple jump and the 100-meter dash.

Hammer easily took top honors in the long jump with a winning mark of 17-9 1/2, and also took first in the 100-meter dash with a time of 13.17 seconds. She finished second in the 200 as well to lead the Blue Devils to their runner-up finish.

Jenna Trenhaile also added to her school record mark in the discus, winning the conference title with a throw of 130-10, and Masyn Dorey improved her standing in the record book with a runner-up finish in the pole vault, clearing 9-6.

The 3,200-meter relay team of Gabi Meyer, Frankie Klausen, Andrea Torres an Molly Hoskins came away with runner-up honors in a time of 10:25.54, and Emily Armstrong continued to improve with a third-place finish in the shot put with a best throw of 35-9 3/4.

Other medal-winning efforts for the Wayne girls included a fourth by Meyer in the 800, a pair of fifths by Torres in the 1,600 and 3,200, a sixth by Skylar Mutchler in the discus, and a sixth for the 400-meter relay of Hailey Backer, Ashton Boyer, Sidney Bigerstaff and Do-

In boys action, the Blue Devils finished fifth and did most of their damage in field events, winning the long jump and triple jump.

The duo of Mason Lee and Cody Rogers traded positions in the two events. Lee won the long jump at 22-4 1/2 with Rogers taking third at 21-5 1/2, and they switched positions in the triple jump with Rogers going 43-2 1/2 and Lee clearing 41-5. Alex Echtenkamp gave Wayne a third medalist in the triple jump, finishing fifth at 39-6 3/4.

Wayne also scored in the throwing events. Freshman Mike Leatherdale came home fifth in the shot put at 44-4 3/4, and junior Kaden Kneifl was fifth in the discus at 131-11.

Jack Evetovich was a runner-up in the high jump at 6-0 for the Blue Devils. Wayne also scored in the 400 with Aaron Reynolds' thirdplace finish, and the 1,600-meter relay of Reynolds, Tristen Landanger, Casey Koenig and Tyrus Eischeid finished fifth in 3:47.26.

Wayne closes out the regular season Thursday at the Battle Creek Invitational. They will compete in district action Thursday, May 10 at Albion.

Zane Jackson and the Wayne High baseball team are heading into the postseason on a high note after running their winning streak to eight games with four wins last week. The Blue Devils will be the No. 3 seed in B-2 district action Saturday in Omaha.

Blue Devil baseball team runs win streak to eight

The Wayne High baseball team has found its rhythm at the right time of the season, winning four more games this past week to take an eight-game winning streak into district action this weekend.

On Monday, Zane Jackson had two hits and three RBI's to propel Wayne to its fifth straight win as they beat Norfolk 7-2 in a makeup game at Memorial Field in Norfolk.

Jackson got the Blue Devils on the board in the top of the first with a solo homer to left field, and Wayne blew the game open in the second with five runs, highlighted by a two-run opposite-field double from Jackson. Hagan Miller and Trevor DeBoer also added RBI singles and Josh Lutt scored on a wild pitch to make it a 6-0 game.

Wayne added another run in the fifth on an RBI single by Miller, scoring Brennan O'Reilly, and rode the three-hit pitching of Lutt to the win, improving to 9-5 on the season.

Lutt struck out two and walked three in six innings of work. Miller led the team with three hits, with Jackson and Blake Bartos each adding two. Jackson had three RBI's and Miller added two.

DeBoer threw five shutout innings and Wayne took advantage of three errors to down Guardian Angels CC/West Point-Beemer/Scribner-Snyder 8-3 Friday at Hank Overin Field.

The Blue Devils scored in the first inning on an RBI single by Gunnar Jorgensen, scoring Jacob Kneifl. It stayed that way until the fourth, when Wayne took advantage of a Patriot error to score two more runs after RBI singles by Kneifl and Zane Jackson. Wayne broke the game open in the fifth, using two errors and three hits to score five runs. Bartos scored on a bases-loaded walk. Miller brought home O'Reilly and Lutt with an opposite-field single to right and Jorgensen singled home Kneifl and Miller — all with two out — to make it an 8-0 game.

enth, but it wasn't enough as the Blue Devils won their sixth straight game to improve to 10-5 on the season

DeBoer went five innings and gave up just one hit. he struck out three and walked four to get the win, with Jackson throwing two innings of relief.

Offensively, Miller, Jorgensen and Bartos each had two hits to lead a 10-hit attack. Jorgensen had three RBI's and Miller added two. Kneifl, O'Reilly and Lutt each scored two runs.

On Saturday, Wayne jumped on host Yutan/ Mead/Ashland-Greenwood early and racked up their seventh straight win Saturday, 15-8.

Wayne scored two in the first inning, breaking the ice when Victor Kniesche scored on a wild pitch and Jorgensen followed on another wild pitch for a 2-0 lead.

Wayne made it a 5-0 game in the second when the Blue Devils loaded the bases and DeBoer unloaded them with a double down the line to left, scoring Kneifl, Kniesche and Jorgensen.

They increased that lead to 6-0 in the third when Bartos advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on an error by the Yutan catcher.

After the hosts picked up a run in the bottom of the third, Wayne scored again when Jorgensen singled home Miller in the fourth, then broke it wide open in the fifth with three more runs, thanks to RBI singles by Kneifl, Miller and DeBoer.

Yutan put up two in the bottom of the third to make it a 10-3 game, but Wayne put the game out of reach in the top of the seventh, thanks to three bases-loaded walks and RBI singles by Reid Korth and Lutt. Wayne (11-5) cranked out 14 hits in the win, highlighted by a 3-for-4 day by DeBoer, who drove in five runs in the sin. Miller also had three hits and Kneifl, Bartos and Lutt each had two hits nings of relief.

Wayne blew a 5-1 lead in their regular-season finale Monday at home, but came back to post an exciting 6-5 win over Arlington at Hank Overin Field.

The Blue Devils got on the board in the first when Kneifl walked and later scored on a wild pitch. Arlington's pitching continued to struggle in the second as Wayne took advantage of five walks and an error to score three runs and take a 4-0 lead. Korth scored on a wild pitch to start the inning, Bartos came home on a bases-loaded walk and O'Reilly scored when Jackson reached on an error.

After Arlington got on the board in the fourth, Wayne added another run when O'Reilly doubled in the gap in left center and came home on a sacrifice fly by Kneifl to make it a 5-1 game.

Arlington came back to tie the game, scoring a run in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the top of the seventh to make it a 5-5 game, but Wayne would have the final say.

Jackson led off the inning with a single, moved to second on a balk and was advanced to third on a Jorgensen sacrifice. Trevor DeBoer hit a line drive to third base, but an error by the Eagles allowed Jackson to come home with the winning run, giving Wayne its eighth straight win.

Arlington outhit Wayne 7-5 in the contest. O'Reilly had a double and Jackson, Korth, Bartos and Miller all added singles. Lutt threw four innings, allowing one run on three hits with five walks and one strikeout. Tyler Gilliland pitched an inning in relief of Lutt before turning the ball over to Jackson as he got the win. Wayne takes a 12-5 record into the B-2 district at Omaha Home For Boys, located at 4343 North 52nd St. The third-seeded Blue Devils will face Ralston in a 12 p.m. semifinal on Saturday, with the winner advancing to the finals on Monday at a time to be determined.

WAKEFIELD — Gusty winds in excess of 40 miles per hour didn't stop LCC and Wakefield from competing in the Lewis & Clark Conference golf tournament Monday at Logan Valley Gold Course in Wakefield.

Both teams were led by medal-winning efforts as the Bears finished fourth and the host Trojans took sixth in the 10-team race.

LCC was led by Noah Schutte, who made a remarkable birdie on the 11th hole after his tee shot sailed two fairways over. He made a fantastic recovery shot into the gusty winds and sank a 10-foot putt for birdie on his way to a 92, good for 11th overall.

Finishing behind Schutte for the Bears were Izac Reifenrath with a 95, Karsen Klooz and Logan Hansen both with rounds of 96, and Tv Erwin with a 112.

For the host Trojans, Parker Lehmkuhl and Noah Lamprecht both medaled on their home course to help the Trojans finish sixth. Lehmkuhl shot 93 to place 14th with Lamprecht a stroke behind in 15th with a 94.

Finishing out Wakefield's round were Tay Guill with a 117, Julio Sanchez carded a 120 and Blake Brown had a 124. Lewis & Clark Conference Golf

Wildcats take three of four from Cougars

Wayne State solidified their standing in the middle of the pack in the Northern Sun Conference by taking three of four at home against Sioux Falls over the weekend.

Wayne State College overcame slow starts in both games to take a key doubleheader from Sioux Falls at the Chapman Complex Saturday, winning 9-5 and 12-5.

In the opener, the Wildcats used a seven-run second inning to take down the Cougars, taking advantage of five hits and two Cougar errors to score six unearned runs. Key hits in the inning were a Bryce Bisenius RBI triple, an Alex Logelin RBI double and a run-scoring single from Garrett Graveline.

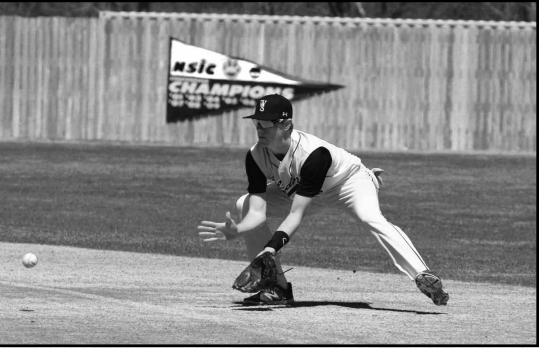

The Wildcats took an 8-1 lead in the fifth on a Peyton Barnes RBI single before Sioux Falls came back to make it interesting, scoring four in the sixth to cut the deficit to 8-5. Andrew Hanson's RBI double in the bottom of the inning helped put the game out of reach as the Wildcats took the opener.

Logelin went 3-for-4 with two doubles to lead Wayne State's 11-hit attack. Barnes finished 2-for-3 with an RBI and run scored while Bisenius tripled with an RBI and Hanson added an RBI double.

Freshman lefthander Aaron Ras improved to 5-1 with the win despite struggling with his control. The Bancroft-Rosalie graduate had 57 balls and 56 strikes for his 103 pitches in the game, allowing four runs on five hits with seven strikeouts and five walks. Sophomore reliever Lawson Zenner came in during the sixth in place of senior reliever Spencer Johnson and shut the door on the Cougars for his fifth save of the season.

In the second game, the visitors scored five in the first inning on five hits off starter Hunter Wienhoff, but Wienhoff settled down after that and allowed just two hits the rest of the way.

The Wildcats' rally started in the third when Tanner Simons brought home a run with a sacrifice fly and Bisenius doubled in another run to make it 5-2.

while Simons went 2-for-3 with two RBI.

Wienhoff improved to 4-3 on the year with the complete-game win, working all nine innings and allowing five runs on seven hits with six strikeouts and three walks.

After almost 7 1/2 hours of baseball, Wayne State and University of Sioux Falls settled for a split in a wild doubleheader Sunday, with the Wildcats winning the opener 14-10 and the Cougars taking the nightcap 21-13.

Sioux Falls scored first in the opener on a sacrifice fly in the first inning, but Wayne State took its first lead of the game in the bottom of the inning when Bisenius singled and scored Barnes to tie the game, and Bisenius came home on an error to make it 2-1 blast and an RBI triple by Jackson Petersen, scoring Jake Lamar.

Sioux Falls loaded the bases in the seventh and had the tying run at the plate, but Lawson Zenner closed the door to save the game for the Wildcats.

Bisenius was 3-for-4 with three RBI's and two runs scored and Logelin went 2-for-3 with two RBI's and two runs scored to lead the 13-hit attack. Petersen also had two hits and scored twice. Brady Johnson got the win, with Zenner earning the save.

The nightcap was nearly a four-hour affair that saw the Cougars crank out 19 hits and score in every inning with the help of 16 walks and four Wild cat errors.

Wayne State tied the score in the fourth with three runs, fueled by a two-run single from Bisenius, then took the lead for good with two more in the fifth. Hanson was hit by a pitch and scored on a Jake Lorenzini groundout, and Logelin doubled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Graveline.

The Wildcats put the game out of reach in the seventh inning with five insurance runs. Travis Miller extended his season-high hit streak to 13 games with an RBI triple, Bisenius added a tworun single and Barnes chipped in with an RBI sin-

Wayne State had 13 hits in the win, led by Bisenius going 4-for-4 with a double and five RBI. Jackson Petersen finished 3-for-4 with three runs scored. Logelin was 2-for-4 with two runs scored passes and their offense only went 15 yards, which is impossible to pull off. We caused a turnover and scored in short yardage, so all credit is due to the defense.'

Barner said that Lee University matched up well with Wayne State, but the Wildcats' defense once again rose to the occasion and kept the Tennessee school off the scoreboard until the final play of the match.

"We watched Lee on Saturday and they were an extremely dominant, high-explosion offense and all their girls were extremely fast and had some hard runners," he said. "We were mismatched against them because of their team speed, but our

And then — the runs started coming — fast and furious.

Both teams scored four in the second, and Sioux Falls put up two runs in both the third and fourth innings to take a 9-6 lead.

Wayne State responded with a big fifth inning to take the lead for good. Logelin doubled home Andrew Hanson, then came home on a three-run pinch-hit homer by Rob Ramsey ater Lorenzini singled. Wayne scored two more runs thanks to a two-RBI double by Bisenius, then put up two more insurance runs in the sixth thanks to a Logelin solo

Wayne State scored in eight of the nine innings, but not enough to keep pace with the Cougars as the visitors avoided the four-game sweep.

Tanner Simons was 4-for-5 with a pair of homers, a triple, four RBI's and four runs scored to lead the Wildcats. Hanson was 2-for-4 with two RBI's and two runs scored, while Bisenius, Lorenzini and Travis Miller each went 2-for-4 with two RBI's and two run scored. Charles Hasty, one of nine Wildcat pitchers used in the finale, suffered the loss.

Wayne State (18-22, 16-14 NSIC) will close out the regular season next weekend at seventh-ranked Augustana with doubleheaders set for Friday at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 12 p.m. in Sioux Falls, S.D.

defense 'steel-curtained' them to where they couldn't do their normal offensive pattern and it took them out of their routine."

Seniors Leanna Rosberg and Kelsev Stutzman were named to the All-Tournament Team after the match, and Rosberg was cited as the Most Valuable Player of the tournament. They were part of a group of five seniors that helped lead the Wildcats back to the top after they lost in the 7's finals last year to Colgate University, joined by Turner MacPhee, Shelby Brown and Marissa Fischer.

"They were a very close-knit group and led the underclassmen on the charge to win the title, and they wanted to win both 15's and 7's in their last year, so a lot of credit goes to them," Barner said.

It marks the third time in the last five years that Wayne State has held both NSCRO championships simultaneously and the second time they've won both in the same school year. They swept both titles in the 2013-14 school year and simultaneously held the titles in 2016, a testament to a team-first concept that has amassed a combined total of eight national titles in six years.

"We're very team-oriented, and we have to be because we don't have many high school rugby players on the team," he said. "Our offense is very structured with a lot of X's and O's and not only is there chemistry on the field, in the clubhouse and off the field there is as well. There's an attitude to building team unity here to take something off the field and put it on the field.'

That team-oriented style will be led by seven returning players from this year's championship 7's team, led by incoming juniors Anna Fleecs and Maddie Putner.

"We'll be in the hunt next year," Barner said of his hopes for the 2018-19 campaigns. "We won't have any seniors on the roster so we'll see what we can do, but things look promising for the next couple of vears.'

PMC undergoes safety review with law enforcement

On Wednesday, April 25, several employees at Providence Medical Center conducted a tour through the building for local law enforcement. Providence staff from Maintenance, IT, Nursing/ER and administration were on hand to answer the many questions posed by law enforcement participants. Several law enforcement members were present including representatives form the Wayne Police Department, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the State Patrol.

The purpose of the tour was to familiarize law enforcement with the hospital building after the completion of construction. Interior and exterior door access, hospital security systems and processes as well as building layout were part of the discussion and tour.

"Local law enforcement has been extremely helpful and collaborative as we've developed and installed security processes and equipment," explained Kris Giese, COO at PMC. "We want our law enforcement to be able to access our building in a safe and efficient manner in case they're needed in an emergency. We also want to ensure that our security plans and training are in synch with theirs to facilitate a cohesive response.

We appreciate our local law enforcement agencies and everything they do for our regional communities on a daily basis. Our hospital's interests are frequently overlapped with those of law enforcement and I am so grateful that we have an ongoing collaborative relationship with them."

Giese went on to comment that it's unfortunate that we have to be thinking about active shooters and workplace violence, but unfortunately these are issues that we need to contemplate and prepare for to the extent we can.

"Our local law enforcement leaders have been a great resource of information and offer a needed perspective as we work with them to maintain a safe environment for our patients, staff and visitors."

Veterans, first team honored at WSC baseball game

The first ever baseball team from Wayne State College in 1959 held a reunion Saturday at the Pete Chapman Baseball Complex during the Wildcats home doubleheader vs. Sioux Falls. The team held a reunion breakfast and tour of campus before the games and then held a reunion supper following the day of baseball. The ceremonial first pitch was thrown by US Army Sergeant Rod Johnson, father of Wildcat senior Spencer Johnson. Rod served in the US Army for eight years and had two tours in Germany. Spencer and Rod are shown at left.

Child Development classes complete internships

Wayne High School Child Development students have spent the past nine weeks going to various child care and preschool sites for three class periods a week.

"After the study of child development principles, the Wayne students get to interact with children and thus gain a better understanding of physical, emotional, social and intellectual development in preschoolers," said instructor Karen Schardt. "We're fortunate to have a variety of sites and providers who are willing to mentor our high school students."

This year's students, their cooperating teachers and their internship sites are: Kelsey Heggemeyer, Gina Sandoz home day care Molly Hoskins, Diane Gentrup, New "Bee"ginnings Preschool: Darrian Hewitt, Kelia Olson, Fishers of Kids preschool; Avianna Jones-Doring, Gwen Frideres, Wayne Schools Early Learning Center, Ethan Hill, Christy Jensen, Head Start; Allyson Avery, Chris Costa, Rainbow World Autumn Avery and Makayla Heithold, Amy Bloomquist, Rainbow World.

Nebraskans encouraged to celebrate birds this month

LINCOLN, Neb. - This year marks the 100th anniversary of the International Migratory Bird Treaty Act. This legislation protects migrating birds such as hawks, shorebirds and songbirds, to name a few.

This historic Act has allowed for once dwindling populations of numerous bird species birds to rebound through sound land management, hunting regulations and conservation measures.

"Today, we know Nebraska plays a critical role on an international scale for migratory birds that have no borders, and it is our responsibility, as a part of the global community, to make certain birds have the habitats they require," said Lindsay Rogers, outdoor education specialist with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. "We also recognize the economic benefits birding ecotourism in Nebraska provides to communities and the overall economy."

Throughout May, Nebraskans are encouraged to celebrate birds by participating in one of numerous events across the state focusing on birds. Event details can be found on the Nebraska Bird Month website – nebraskabirdmonth.org. Individuals seeking events can search by date or location.

For more information, contact Rogers at lindsay.rogers@nebraska.

Tariffs hurt local papers, Nebraska

Our local newspapers tell important stories because they document 'The Good Life.

Unfortunately, those storytellers have become targets of another Washington, D.C. folly: an unnecessary trade war.

While there is no question that Washington's anti-trade talk is hurting Nebraska's farmers and ranchers, others are starting to feel the pain too. Hard-working families and seniors on fixed incomes will be squeezed. Manufacturers, welders, truck drivers, and other small businesses across the state will be hit – including newspapers in Nebraska. Earlier this year, the U.S. Department of Commerce announced a nassive tariff on the paper used to print newspapers around the coun-

A sole paper mill in Washington state petitioned the federal government to implement a tariff against paper imported from Canada. That means skyrocketing costs for your local newspaper and that the desires of one West Coast company could hamper the entire newsprint indus-

Even though the way we consume media is changing, Nebraska's newspapers have long been a fundamental part of our communities – it would be tragic for unnecessary and costly tariffs to change that.

The reality of these tariffs is this: they do not just hurt newspapers as a local business or employer, they hit our communities and they hit

Local newspapers tell the story of our state.

When you pick one up, you often find the best of Nebraska. You see Nebraskans helping neighbors. You find a recap of last Friday's football game. You find birth, graduation, and local government notices. You find the smile of a young girl who cannot wait to see her picture in the paper. You probably even find a conversation starter for your early morning coffee in town.

And, of course, you find lots and lots of important Husker football news

You find the stories that make Nebraska a special place.

Yet, the pages that you hold – the actual physical paper – are telling another story that Nebraskans keep sharing with me: we need lower tariffs and more trade because we all benefit.

A little common sense and some basic economics tells us what Nepraskans already know: free trade is good.

Nebraska's farmers and ranchers feed the world – it is our state's calling. And because the backbone of Nebraska's economy is agriculture, we have been doing a lot of winning. But as we enter planting season, uncertainty is breathing down our necks. A volatile market created by escalating and retaliatory tariffs is hurting our ability to sell our goods to hungry customers outside the U.S.

It is simple: tariffs are taxes on American families and trade is a win-win – stuff America used to agree on.

The defense of sensible, pro-trade policies is not about who is living n the White House. This is about upholding the fundamentals, benefits, and truths of trade – and nobody does that better than Nebraskans.

Washington should let us keep winning. Local papers will tell our story.

Capitol View Let the campaigning begin, primary election up next

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

The Wayne

In less than two weeks, Nebraska voters go to the polls to begin sorting out the cast of characters for the 2019 Legislature and other statewide offices at the primary election

There are six seats that have been term-limited and a handful that could have contentious races if Governor Pete Ricketts chooses to, once again, flaunt his personal wealth to derail some incumbents with whom he disagrees. Given the failure of his property tax proposal, that list may have grown.

Two senators have chosen to leave after only one term and two more are hoping to leave at mid-term by running for other statewide offices. Sens. Roy Baker of Beatrice and John Kuehn of Heartwell are calling it quits after one session. Sen. John Murante of Gretna is running for state Treasurer in a race against one other Republican. Sen. Dan Watermeier of Syracuse is running for a seat on the Nebraska Public Service Commission against two other Republicans and two Democrats.

Term-limited Senators include Lydia Brasch of Bancroft, Burke Harr and Bob Krist of Omaha, Tyson Larson of O'Neill, Paul Schumacher of Columbus and Jim Smith of Papillion. Krist has switched his party affiliation to run as a Democratic candidate for Governor. He'll face incumbent Pete Ricketts in the November General Election if each of them defeats challengers running for the nomination.

In his 10 years in the Legislature, Krist was a Republican. He switched to Independent briefly with the hope of mounting a third party challenge. Rather than facing an uphill struggle to obtain enough signatures to create that party, he switched to Democrat.

It will still be an uphill battle against a Ricketts organization that is flush with cash and donors, to say nothing of the power of ingubernatorial events and candidacy. In its first reporting period of 2018, Ricketts' re-election campaign raised $589,185.87 from 743 unique donors, including $325,679 from individuals. Over the course of the 2018 cycle, the campaign has raised $2,289,955.17 from over 2,300 unique donors, according to a release from the campaign.

Several incumbent senators are in a three-way race in their primary battles. The top two advance to November 6. Sens. Theresa Thibodeau, Brett Lindstrom and John McCollister of Omaha and Laura Ebke of Crete each face two opponents in the primary. In Ebke's case, Lt. Gov. Mike Foley has been campaigning for one of her opponents. It wouldn't be surprising to see Ricketts provide campaign funds out of his own pocket to support opponents in a couple of

In another Omaha area race, Sen. Merv Riepe of Ralston faces a challenge from former Sen. Steve Lathrop who sat out four years under the rules of term limits. Remind me again how the voters missed an opportunity to reject term limits, the worst idea ever in nonpartisan governance.

Of 13 incumbents seeking reelection, eight have challengers, five don't. There are six people running for Kuehn's vacated seat and six running for a shot at Larson's.

North Platte Sen. Mike Groene faces a write-in challenge from Judy Pederson, a former member of the North Platte City Council and the daughter-in-law of former state Sen. Don Pederson. Like Groene, she is a Republican. The Legislature is officially nonpartisan but doesn't often act like it.

In other races, Republican

Republicans, four Democrats and one Libertarian in her primary. First District Republican Rep. Jeff Fortenberry has two Democrats hoping to advance as challengers. Second District Republican Rep. Don Bacon of Omaha has two Democrat challengers; one of them is his predecessor, former Representative and state Senator Brad Ashford. Third District Rep. Adrian Smith, a Republican, faces four Republicans and one Democrat in his primary race.

If you like drama, pull up a chair. It's about to begin. But, above all else, get out there and vote!

Legislative Update by District 17 Senator Joni Albrecht

Now that session has ended, I am happy to be spending more time in the district and back home on the farm. During the summer, I try to attend as many events in the community as possible to connect with and hear from my constituents. If you see me at an event, please don't be afraid to say hi! This summer my staff and I will be working on drafting legislation for the 106th Legislature. My top priorities will continue to be reforming property taxes, school funding, and economic development.

Usually, the last day of session is reserved to address remaining bills on Final Reading and potential governor vetoes. Because of the busy session and long debates, it was necessary for us to close out the session without the option of addressing Governor Ricketts' vetoes. When a bill passes Final Reading, the governor has five days (excluding Sundays) to sign or veto a bill. Earlier this year Governor Ricketts vetoed LB 350, and on April 23rd he vetoed LB 449, LB 873, and LB 998.

LB 350, (McCollister) Provide for setting aside certain misdemeanor and felony convictions, was introduced in 2017 and carried over to the 2018 session. The bill did not receive a priority designation but was debated and passed on General File before the Legislature began addressing priority bills this year. LB 350 would have allow individuals convicted of a misdemeanor or felony and sentenced to a punishment such as jail or prison, to petition the court to set aside their conviction once the sentence is completed. When a criminal conviction is set aside, the person is considered not to have been previously convicted. The court would have the ability to approve or deny the request to set-aside, and if approved the court would reinstate the all of petitioner's rights except for individual's right to possess a firearm. The bill passed Final Reading with a 30-11 vote. Governor Ricketts vetoed LB 350 because the bill would weaken confidence in the criminal justice system and weaken the impact of serious criminal sentences by dramatically expanding set-asides to serious felonies such as human trafficking or armed robbery. He stated that the bill is poor policy and would send the wrong message to victims of crimes and to society. I support Governor Ricketts' veto and continuing to ensure strict consequences for serious crimes.

LB 449 (Chambers) Repeal the Black-Tailed Prairie Dog Management Act was Senator Chambers' 2018 priority bill. Currently, the Black-Tailed Prairie Dog Management Act allows counties to adopt a prairie dog management plan to prevent adverse impacts of unmanaged prairie dog colonies when individual landowners do not control the spread of prairie dogs from their property to others'. LB 449 would repeal the authority of counties to implement prairie dog management plans. The bill passed the legislature with a 26-13 vote on Final Reading. Governor Ricketts stated his primary concern with LB 449 is that it fails to protect the individual property rights of those landowners who are detrimentally harmed by a neighbor's inaction, effectively shifting the cost and burden of prairie dog controls from landowners who are content to have prairie dogs on their land to neighbors who object to the presence of prairie dogs on their property. While I did vote to pass LB 449 on Final Reading, I understand Governor Ricketts' concerns.

LB 873, (The Urban Affairs Committee) Change provisions relating to cities of particular classes and villages, correct and include references as prescribed, eliminate obsolete provisions and repeal definitions, provide for interlocal nuisance agreements, to determine population thresholds, redefine certain economic development programs, authorize creation of additional land banks, change comprehensive plans for an early childhood element, authorize short-term rentals, and change provisions relating to the official state slogan and symbol, was debated as the Urban Affairs Committee's omnibus priority bill. As amended, this large, 257-page bill contained the content of seven individual bills: LB 873, LB 735, LB 748, LB 765, LB 769, LB 854, and LB 880. While some of the content amended into LB 873 was sound legislation. the totality of the bill covered a large array of topics and ultimately produced bad policy. The bill narrowly passed with a 26-15 vote on Final Reading. Governor Ricketts stated that while he supported certain provisions of the bill, such as the section that would provide clarity regarding the taxation and regulation of online housing platforms, he could not support the entire bill due to the inclusion of language that would dramatically expand the use of land banks in Nebraska. I support Governor Ricketts veto, I hope that the sound legislation that was included in this omnibus bill has the ability to pass in future legislative sessions.

LB 998, (Walz) Create the Collaborative School Behavioral and Mental Health Program, was Senator Bolz's 2018 priority bill. LB 998 would create a collaborative behavioral health and mental health program between the Educational Service Unit Coordinating Council, the educational service units (ESUs), and the school districts located within the ESU districts. This would provide a social worker to every ESU to train teachers and school personnel, as well as work with parents and schools to deliver family-centered services to students. The bill passed Final Reading with a 31-15 vote. While both Governor Ricketts and I both believe the underlying goal of this bill is noble and share the same concerns as Senators Walz and Bolz, we believe this legislation creates an unnecessary "one-size fits all" program that could be implemented without legislation. Additionally, there are existing mental and behavioral health care initiatives in place to accomplish the goals of LB 998. Governor Ricketts also stated that he fears this legislation could interfere with parental rights, as LB 998 does not clearly state how parents and guardians would be involved with the program. I support Governor Ricketts' veto and will continue to support effective and necessary mental and behavioral health care initiatives to improve the lives of Nebraskans.

I pledge my Heart to greater loyalty...The heart is the center of our lives and the 4-H program. 4-H members learn to use their hearts to care about other club members. They make new friends through their 4-H activities whether it's a club meeting, 4-H camp, or the fair. 4-H volunteers demonstrate caring hearts to their 4-H members. They become a caring adult their 4-H members can learn from and trust. 4-H volunteers are truly the heart of the 4-H program. Without the true heart of the 4-H volunteer sharing their passion for learning and their willingness to share this information, 4-H would just be a classroom without a teacher. Youth adult partnerships are truly are the heart of what the 4-H program does. The final and perhaps best way 4-H members develop their hearts is by helping others. Providing opportunities for service learning helps 4-H members see what they can do for their community and opens their hearts to the needs around them.

back. Youth utilize their hands in learning life skills, working hard to complete projects. Hands help youth enhance their personal development, self-esteem, social skills, communication skills, and problem solving, all the while developing attitudes and qualities of character that contribute to a happy, progressive home and community. The hands are also fundamental to the learning that happens during camps, workshops, trips, conferences, and much more. We all use our hands for service, citizenship, to help others in the community, and to work together to make a difference.

The recent findings of the Tufts University Study of Positive Youth Development states "4-H youth are more likely than other youth to make contributions to their com-

Acme Club discusses Arbor Day

ACME Club met April 16 with the meeting following a meal at the Wayne Senior Center. All members were in attendance.

President Bonnadell Koch opened the meeting. Betty Wittig gave the thought for the day: "If at first you don't succeed, do it the way your Mom told you to do it in in the state. Much like other clubs at the time, they were dedicated to the improvement of intellect and culture, and were also engaged in charitable work. The ACME Club spent several years working to establish a Carnegie library in Wayne, and succeeded in 1912. From 1886 to 1919 philanthropist Andrew Carnegie donated over 40 million dollars to establish 1,679 libraries throughout the U.S. Following the business meeting, Delores Utecht opened the program by reciting from memory the poem, Trees, by Joyce Kilmer. J. Sterling Morton was the topic of her interesting information on Arbor Day and how it came to be a national date for tree planting each year. At the first organized tree-planting day over a million trees were planted. Arbor Day is set as the last Friday in April; but until 1970 when President Richard Nixon declared it a national date, many states chose a date that was most advantageous for planting trees in their area of the U.S. Arbor Day began in the state of Nebraska when J Sterling Morton realized that the area needed trees to be planted in the agricultural areas of the state. The school children became involved as well, when a Superintendent Peasley involved the school children in the tree planting at all the schools.

Secretary/Treasurer Virginia Backstrom read the minutes of the last meeting, gave the treasurer's report and took attendance, while roll call pennies were collected.

Members voted to send a donation to the Nebraska Children's Home in honor of their anniversary celebration of 125 years.

Election of officers will be held on Monday, May 7. The June meeting will include the history report. The group will meet on the first Mondays in June, July, and August and will have lunch at the Senior Center at noon before the meeting.

The group took a short walk over to the computer room in the city library to observe all the information posted on the wall, including a post concerning the origination of ACME Club. It states as follows:

1885 - The ACME Club

The ACME Club was established by four women in February 1885. In 1914 it was one of the oldest organized clubs

Minerva Club members study Colorado

Minerva Club met at the Senior Center April 23, hosted by Twyla Lindsay. The nine members present responded to roll call by sharing something about the state of Colorado.

President Mary Ann DeNaeyer shared some thoughts that go through your mind when you can't sleep. Among them was 'Why is the letter W not called double V'? Also 'The word SWIMS reads the same upside down'.

Hollis Frese gave a history report from the Nov. 7, 1927 meeting. The 20 members present paid dues of $1 each. A bill of $1.75 was allowed for Halloween Party expense. Program topic was Opera vs. Screen Plays. Seventeen members attended the Oct. 8, 1928 meeting and learned about parliamentary law. As always piano music was enjoyed at both meetings.

Hollis Frese agreed to continue as historian for the upcoming year. Nicki Tiedtke and Fauneil Bennett will serve on the Courtesy committee. Final plans were made for the May outing. Program books will be available at that time. The birthday song was sung for four members who have summer birthdays.

Twyla Lindsay gave an armchair tour of the 38th state to join the Union - Colorado. Some of the highlights were The Royal Gorge; Indian Ruins at Mesa Verdi; Dinosaur Museum in the town of Dinosaur; Air Force Academy; and Buffalo Bill Museum. The National Atomic Clock is located in Colorado. In the capital city of Denver you will see the capital building with its golden dome - the gold was donated by local miners. Also found there is the U.S. Mint and the Denver Zoo. At Hot Springs there is a two-block long pool. Farmland is located on both sides of the state with mountains in the middle part. You can even find an area of sand dunes. Potatoes and other vegetable crops are grown in Colorado, along with raising beef cattle as part of the economy. In 1976 a disastrous rain event happened in Thompson Canyon killing 145 people. A number of pictures highlighting some other historical places to visit were shared with the group.

Club members will gather May 14 for the end of the year outing.

Mother's Day lunch to be held at state park

Expressing the depths of our gratitude can be difficult at times. We want it to be perfect, with just the right amount of fanfare. Ponca State Park is hosting a Mother's Day Buffet on Sunday, May 13, from 11:00 am to 1:00 pm. Dine in Ponca State Park's conference rooms with their majestic stone fireplace or in the back courtyard with the sounds of nature all around. Live music is being provided by Michael Gibbs and Steve Gapp and the menu includes ham, parmesan chicken, Italian green beans, salad bar, cheesy potatoes, and Dutch oven cobbler. The cost breakdown is $13 adults; $8 for youth ages 5-12, and ages 4 and under are free. Place your reservations by calling Ponca State Park, 402-755-2284.

Wayne's First Presbyterian Women host regional gathering

Wayne's Presbyterian Women (WPW) assisted by the Presbyterian Women of the Thurston Presbyterian Church, hosted the Homestead Presbytery Spring Women's Gathering on April 7.

The event was attended by women from Fremont, Norfolk, Wayne, Tekamah and Thurston as well as members of the Presbyterian Co-coordinating team from Lincoln.

During registration the women shared coffee fellowship then moved to the sanctuary for worship and the program. After a greeting from Karen Johnson and Judy Lindberg of Wayne, Rev. Teresa Bartlett led worship. The theme for the day was "Arise, Shine, Your Light Has Come," which is also the theme this year's national gathering of Presbyterian Women.

Rev. Bartlett shared the message which gave an overview of the importance of women's work in the church for mission and leadership development. She also gave a glimpse into the lessons of the 2018-2019 Horizons Bible Study entitled "God's Promise."

In celebration of the 30th anniversary of the current structure of Presbyterian Women, stories were shared by the participants of women who had been instrumental in their local PW groups and churches.

Wayne recognized Jacqueline Owens, (Mrs. Milton) who has been a member of Presbyterian Women for 62 years. She was a PW member at Bethany Presbyterian in Carroll and continues as a member at First Presbyterian Church of Wayne. Also recognized posthumously by the Wayne PW were Bonnie Lund, (Mrs. Rick) as well as Sandra Metz, (Mrs. Dean), both of whom had made significant contributions to Wayne's PW.

The group viewed a video presentation from Kris

Peterson of Leadership Harbor, entitled "Make Your Light Shine." Women were encouraged to set goals, challenge themselves and let their light shine in their churches and communities.

Suzie Harder from Lincoln presented reading awards and introduced the new reading list. As a mission project, the attendees brought children's books to be given to a local agency. About 30 books and some small stuffed animals were collected. The host church determined the books would be given to Haven House for their youngest guests. The Wayne Sewing Souls group added two brightly colored children's pillows and fleece blankets to the items going to Haven House.

The lunch tables were set with a variety of teapots, beautiful and fanciful, and similarly themed linens. The Wayne PW served a luncheon of chicken casserole, dinner rolls, and a variety of salads, sherbet and cookies for desert. The meal gave the women time to visit and share happenings in their local groups.

Presbyterian Women gather for a national meeting every two years. This year the meeting will be in July in Louisville, Ky. Rev. Bartlett was commissioned to attend the national meeting. The meeting was closed with appreciation to the host groups and prayer.

The Wayne Presbyterian women enjoyed hosting their guests from around the region and appreciated the assistance of the Thurston PW with fellowship time. The Wayne Presbyterian Women meet on the first Wednesday of each month, the next meeting will be May 2. Anyone interested in learning more about Presbyterian Women is asked to contact the First Presbyterian Church of Wayne at (402) 375-2669

Wayne FFA chapter awarded America's Farmers Grow Communities donation from local Wayne farmer

County farmer Eldon Heinemann directed a $2,500 donation to the Wayne FFA Chapter as part of the America's Farmers Grow Communities program, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund.

Eldon and his wife, Ellen, recently visited Wayne High School to make the presentation.

As part of their mission, Wayne FFA will use the funds to begin a service project in the community in addition to attending National FFA Convention this fall.

"Mr. Heinemann, the Wayne FFA Chapter cannot thank you enough! This generous donation means so much to the chapter as it is our first year of business. The funds will help the future of agriculture by supporting many students. Thank you once again," said, Josie Thompson, Wayne FFA Chapter Reporter.

Since the program began in 2010, the Grow Communities program has partnered with farmers to support nonprofit organizations important to them in their local communities. The program has given more than $29 million to farming communities since its inception, including more than $3 million in 2018. Each year, farmers enter for a chance to direct a $2,500 donation to a nonprofit they care about in their community. The organizations reflect the makeup and character of rural America, including emergency response organizations, schools, youth agriculture programs, food banks and many others.

"Farmers play a pivotal role in rural communities, and through their commitment to the Grow Communities program, we are able to provide the monetary support these nonprofit organizations need to make an impact," said Al Mitchell, Monsanto Fund president. "We're proud to play a part in helping these rural communities grow and thrive."

2018 National Hospital Week outs spotlight on people

A hospital is more than a place where people go to heal, it is a part of the community that fosters health and represents hope. From providing treatment and comfort to the sick, to welcoming new life into the world, hospitals like Providence Medical Center in Wayne are central to a healthy community. This is the message of the 2018 National Hospital Week theme "Caring Is Our Calling."

"National Hospital Week is a celebration of our people," says Jim Frank, Providence Medical Center CEO. "We're extremely proud of each member of our staff and we are keenly aware of the role each of these individuals plays in creating a sense of compassion and trust to our patients as well as our communities.'

National Hospital Week, our nation's largest healthcare event. dates back to 1921 when it was launched in Chicago. The May celebration succeeded in promoting trust and goodwill among members of the public and eventually spread to facilities across the country where it continues today.

Violators of game laws will see increase in fees

LINCOLN, Neb. - Gov. Pete Ricketts has signed into law a measure that increases liquidated damages levied against persons who violate certain Nebraska game laws by killing, possessing or selling wildlife illegally.

Liquidated damages are assessed by the courts that are in addition to fines imposed for violating the game law. These monies from liquidated damages then are returned to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission and credited to the Game Fund.

LB 1008, which was introduced by Sen. Bruce Bostelman, amended Section 37-613 in statute, increasing liquidated damages as follows:

-- $25,000 for each bighorn sheep -- $10,000 for each bull elk with 12 points or more and $3,000 for any other elk; -- $10,000 for each white-tailed deer of eight points or more with an inside spread between beams of 16 inches or more, $2,000 for any other antlered white-tailed deer, and $500 for any antlerless white-tailed deer:

-- $10,000 for each mule deer of eight points or more with an inside spread between beams of 22 inches or more, and $2,000 for any other mule deer -- $5,000 for each mountain lion, than the usual number of calls from farmers who wonder if they need to apply starter fertilizer when they plant. Unfortunately, "It depends" is not the answer most farmers want to hear.

First let's take a look at the nutrients in most starter fertilizers. Most starters are primarily nitrogen and phosphorus. A common starter is 10-34-0 which contains 10% nitrogen (N) and 34% phosphate (P2O5). Some starters may also have potassium or sulfur and possibly other micro-nutrients, if requested.

There are two ways a starter fertilizer can improve early plant growth, and sometimes yields. The obvious way is the starter can supply a nutrient that is lacking in the soil. The less obvious way is it can supply a nutrient that is adequate in the soil, but the plant cannot take up enough of this nutrient, at least early in the growing season.

If you've been farming long, I'm sure you've seen springs when the corn has a purplish color on the leaves. Several things can cause this, but it is usually related to the plant's inability to take up phosphorus from the soil. Some of our soils are deficient in phosphorus and require additional phosphorus fertilizer. Other soils may have adequate levels of phosphorus, but it's not getting into the plant.

Usually we see this situation early in the season when the soil is cool and plants are not growing rapidly. When this happens, the corn roots may not be extensive enough to intercept the phosphorus in the soil. likely to see a yield response. Cool soils also slow the movement or diffusion of nutrients in the soil more likely to see a response from braska Extension office.

the soil that assist the corn plant in taking up nutrients are not as active

These fields often look poor early in the season, but grow out of it once we get warmer weather and the soil temperatures warm which results in increased root growth and microbial activity. Starter fertilizer may reduce the purple color because a concentrated band of phosphorus is placed near the seed, but the boost in early growth is often because of the nitrogen that is also found in the starter.

Earlier I said starters may improve plant growth, but not yields. That's why I tell farmers "It depends" if starter will pay for itself with increased yields. It depends on the nutrient levels in the soil and the weather after planting. If the soil was deficient in a nutrient in the starter or if the weather remains cool and plant growth is slowed, then you are more likely to see a yield response. But if the soil had adequate nutrient levels and growing conditions continue to improve after planting, you are less

So conditions when you will be

•When a nitrogen application was not made last fall or this spring before planting;

When soil temperatures are cooler than normal;

• Fields with poorly drained soils; •No-till fields with high residue cover, especially on corn following corn.

The last thing to remember when applying starter fertilizers is the potential for injuring the germinating seed and reducing your stand if making an in-furrow application. The rule of thumb on corn is to apply no more than a total of 10 pounds per acre of nitrogen plus potassium and sulfur, if potassium and/or sulfur are in your starter. The risk of injury is greater if the soil is dry.

The risk of injury from an infurrow starter application on soybeans is much higher than it is in corn. Avoid in-furrow starter applications with soybeans if at all possible. Consider dribbling starter on top of the row if you can adjust your planter to do so. If you must make an application in furrow, use a very low rate.

This season we will again be working on documenting emergence and looking at its effects on yield. As a refresher, we flag plants on the day that they emerge, with a different color representing each day of emergence. We check day one, two, three, and ten. Then we look at the plants before harvest and do hand yield checks on them to see how yield compares to emergence date.

Winside farmer honored in soybean yield contest

Farmer Daniel Jaeger of Winside was recently recognized as a top U.S. soybean producer in the 2017 Asgrow® National Soybean Yield Contest.

Jaeger achieved an impressive yield of 109.6 bushels per acre with Asgrow AG2733 brand. Jaeger was among 52 farmers from 19 states named winners in the annual yield competition, which is open to all farmers who plant Asgrow brand soybeans.

Jaeger along with other winners attended the 2018 Commodity Classic Feb. 27- March 1 in Anaheim, California, where they celebrated their success with an awards banquet and private concert featuring country music star Dustin Lynch.

The full list of Asgrow winners can be found at Asgrow.com/Yield-Winner.

What we know is that there are really two factors that contribute to consistent emergence more than anything else. The first is the consistency of the seeding depth. If our row unit is moving up and down and we are seeing a half inch of variation in seeding depth, that is probably enough to make a three-day difference in emergence in cool years, or years where we see crusting. The second is the soil moisture that we plant into. If our soils are near field capacity in the top four inches like this year, then this isn't a factor. But if we have a wide variation in soil types, or are planting into a dryer soil, then a soil that is 20% of field capacity can cause some imbibing issues that will cause differences in emergence.

What we discovered was that any delay of more than a day was yield-robbing. Given the planting conditions, or more specifically the germination and emergence conditions that we dealt with last year, the question "was the yield loss that we saw last normal or abnormal?" That question can only be answered by repeating the research this year and see what the results are this time around.

But this year we will have a chance to extend what we can do and take more measurements out in the field after the crop is up and growing. Precision Planting developed an app called POGO Research that works with a tool we call the POGO stick. This tool digitally connects to our iPad and the cloud to let us measure spacing, singulation, and emergence. This is just a tool that lets us do quick scouting checks to measure planter performance by digitally measuring distance and speeding up the process. It is not intended to replace a crop scout or what your trusted Agronomist does for you though. It is merely a tool that lets you measure your performance.

The POGO platform isn't a replacement for the flagging process on our fields. It is looking at the horizontal placing of our seeds more than the vertical spacing. But even with so, it will still give us the ability to "get an idea" of our emergence.
