Laurel commemorates history, looks toward future during Q125

By Calyn Dunklau
calyn@wayneherald.com

Laurel's Q125 Celebration has been years in the making. No, not just that it took the town being 125 years old but the planning that went into the event has spanned several years.

The community of Laurel has had a lot fun with fundraising events such as the lumberjack beard growing challenge and a special Q125 News Correspondent Poly Ester has been making appearances and reporting on 'breaking news' regarding the events taking place during the celebration.

Residents and guests can enjoy a full array of activities and events during the celebration June 15-17.

Starting Friday, June 15, at 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. the Cherokee Ridge Runners, a pre-1870s reenactment group, will be set up at the LCC practice field. The group will be there from 9 to 9 on Saturday as well and they round out the weekend with reenactments from 9 to 5 on Sunday.

From 3 to 8 p.m., an art, craft and vendor fair will be taking place, also set up on the LCC school's practice field. In addition to the fair, the public is invited to a "Splish-Splash-Birthday-Bash" pool party taking place from 3 to 5 p.m. at the pool in Laurel.

A community wide Q125 picnic will be held Friday night from 5 to 6:30 at the LCC school's practice field. Roast beef and hot dog meals will be available for purchase.

The opening ceremonies of the Q125 celebration will kick off at 7 p.m. in the LCC school gymnasium, with a speaker and special patriotic performance by TAP THIS dance group.

At 7:30 p.m. the Lumberjack Beard contest will come to its conclusion with judging occurring in the same gymnasium as opening ceremonies.

From 8 p.m. until 10 p.m., an exhibit titled "Remembering Our Fallen" and a "Tribute to Don Grella" display will be set up at the Laurel United Presbyterian Church.

A middle school teen dance will be held from 8 until 11 in the gym at LCC school. In addition, a street dance with the "Back Forty" playing will take place on Main Street from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Saturday is packed full of events and activities for all ages.

Food and beverage vendors will be located throughout Main Street and the Laurel Industrial Park all day to provide refreshments for the public.

A Q125 Fun Run and breakfast start off Saturday at 8 a.m. The craft fair will run a second round, this time on Main Street, as will the exhibits at the Presbyterian church.

Bubble Mania by Launch Pad Museum will take place in the Community Learning Center at LCC school beginning at 9:30, while a mud volleyball tournament will begin at 10 a.m. at address 57141 Highway 20. Also beginning at 10 a.m. is the Northeast Nebraska Pullers Association Tractor Pull.

Laurel United Methodist Church is hosting the Contemporaries Club 45th Reunion from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m.

While the event doesn't start until 10:30, check in for the TAP THIS youth dance workshop begins at 10:15 in the LCC school gym. Students participating in the workshop will perform at the Variety Show at 1 p.m. on Main Street.

At 1 p.m., TAP THIS dance group will give a performance on Main Street followed by the youth performance and the variety show.

A tour of the community will take place at 1 p.m., beginning at the Haskell Field-Athletic Complex parking lot. Following this, a tour of the Laurel Cemetery will begin in the same location at 2 p.m. The tour guide for both tours is Roger Tryon, who will also have a book signing from 4-7 p.m. at the LCC school. During that time, tours of the school will also take place.

Other attractions include, UNL Beef Science lab demonstrations, chainsaw art demonstrations, Colors Da Clown and inflatable games.

The Rootin' Shootin' Gould Brothers will do shooting demonstrations beginning at 3 p.m. at the Laurel Industrial Park.

The LCC Alumni banquet begins at 5 p.m. at the LCC school, followed by a 7 p.m. bull riding event at the industrial park.

A street dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Main Street and a fireworks display (with an estimated start time of 9:30) at the Haskell Field-Athletic complex will round out the night.

Sunday's events start at 7:30 with breakfast and another round of community and cemetery tours. The patriotic displays will still be available to view on Sunday at the Presbyterian church.

Worship in the park will begin at 10 a.m. while the "Retro Rewind" car show will also kick off at 10.

Vendors will once again be set up on Main Street from 11 to 5.

Concerns voiced by residents of Wayne County at meeting

During the recent meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Wayne County residents Ray and Jody Kingsley expressed concerns regarding use of the right-of-way after stakes were found on the property marking the position of power poles.

The Kingsleys brought concerns forth to the board as they had not granted permission of use for any poles to be erected. In addition, concerns regarding the liability issues of those poles being hit was also discussed.

The couple gave a bit of background on the issues, stating that the markers were "in the middle of the ditch" which, Highway Superintendent Mark Casey attested to. The couple called Casey who directed them to Nebraska Public Power District, where they spoke with Matt who directed them to NextEra's engineer Peter.

The Kingsleys expressed their frustration at the run around, but Casey and the board explained that the county has nothing to do with power lines, regardless of who they are used by.

The board and Casey pointed to a state statute that allows use of the right-of-way by the power district, to which the Kingsleys claimed they were certain it only pertained to public power, not use by NextEra.

The Nebraska State Statute the board and Casey were referring to is Statute 70-305, which reads: Any person engaged in the generating or transmitting of electric current for sale, use, or purchase in the state for power or other purposes is granted the right-of-way for all necessary poles and wires along, within, and across any of the public highways of this state. Such person is liable for all damages to private property by reason of the use of the public highways for such purpose. Such damages shall be ascertained and determined in the manner set forth in sections 76-704 to 76-724.

Casey explained that he and everyone else in the state that he's aware of reads the statute's use of the wording "public highways" as any and all public roads, whether paved, gravel or dirt.

While the transmission line route was discussed with the commissioners, it was more of a courtesy to them than asking for permission from them. Permission was granted for a particular crossing of the road by that line, however that isn't near the Kingsley property.

In the discussion with the Kingsleys, the commissioners and Casey explained that they had not granted permission for use of the Kingsley's right-of-way because the county doesn't have a say in it and urged the couple to discuss their concerns of the location of the high voltage line being utilized by NextEra for its wind energy facility with the power district and NextEra.

Also on the agenda was a discussion item brought forth by incoming Wayne County Attorney Amy Miller.

Miller formally asked for office space for herself, the Deputy County Attorney and a secretary on the courthouse grounds. Her suggestion was utilizing two offices and a reception space in the judicial center.

While the commissioners agreed it was a reasonable request, they decided not to make a decision at the meeting. They will look at all options for office space both in the courthouse and in the judicial center before making a firm decision.

In addition to her request for office space, Miller requested that the county pay her secretary directly for roughly 32 hours of work that will be dedicated county-only work, rather than giving her an allowance to pay one.

Again, the commissioners didn't feel that the request was out of line, but chose to

Agreement approved for Transfer Station operation at recent City Council meeting

By Clara Osten,
clara@wayneherald.com

Although the meeting lasted less than a half hour, the Wayne City council passed four resolutions and gave first reading approval to two ordinances during Tuesday's meeting

Resolutions were approved in regard to the Transfer Station agreement with Gill Hauling, Inc. for a three year lease.

The agreement states that Gill Hauling will pay the city a $1,000 per month lease payment and collect recyclable materials at no cost.

Representatives from Gill Hauling and the city of Wayne, with input from the Wayne Green Team, have been working toward an agreement for several weeks after discussion came up at a recent council meeting in regard to charging customers to bring recycling materials to the Transfer Station.

Sandy Brown, a member of the Wayne Green Team, told the council she was "happy with the outcome. We will continue to work on education in regard to recycling and plan to put up better signage at the Transfer Station."

In a related item, the council approved an ordinance amending the city code to state that all commercial and residential solid waste collected in the city has to go through the Transfer Station. This language was taken out of the code in 2017, but has been reinstated to allow Gill Hauling to collect additional fees for solid waste.

Council members also approved a resolution approving supplements to the Small Cell Master License agreement between the city of Wayne and Alltel Communications of Nebraska, doing business as Verizon Wireless.

This agreement outlines the charges for the installation of poles, a yearly rental fee for each small cell and a yearly maintenance fee for each device.

This equipment will be installed near Wayne State College to allow for better service to the area.

Council members also approved an amendment to the Power Purchase Agreement between the city of Wayne and Cottonwood Wind Project, LLC.

Also approved at Tuesday's meeting was a resolution approving the plan and moving forward with the invitation to bid for the Wayne 2018 Pedestrian Curb Ramp Project.

Jon Mooberry, Project Manager with JEO Consulting, outlined the time frame for the project, with a bid being awarded at the council's July 17 meeting and the tentative start of construction Aug. 13. However, substantial completion is not anticipated until Sept. 1, 2019 and final completion set for Oct. 1, 2019.

The city has received grant funding for the project, which is estimated to cost $301,770.

Council members also took action to approve pay estimate No. 7 for the West Inner and East Inner Conversion Electric Project in the amount of $86,257.39 to Karian Peterson Powerline Contracting, LLC.

Tim Sutton, Electric Distribution Superintendent, told the council that project is moving along well and within one month of being completed. Crews are currently working to install underground electric lines in the southeast quadrant of the city.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, June 19 at 5:30 p.m. on council chambers.

Incoming County Attorney Amy Miller speaks to the board regarding finding an office space inside the courthouse or judicial center for herself, the Deputy County Attorney and a secretary.

Richard Bahr

Richard N. Bahr, 64, of Norfolk, died Sunday, May 27, 2018 at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk after a four year battle with advanced prostate cancer.

A Celebration of Life was held Saturday, June 2 at Christ Lutheran Church in Norfolk. Services were under direction of Home for Funerals in Norfolk.

Richard N. Bahr was born in Norfolk to Lloyd and Angela Bahr of Stanton on Oct. 22, 1953. He was baptized at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Norfolk, and confirmed at St. John's in Seward. He graduated from Concordia High School in Seward in 1972 and studied short term at Concordia Teachers College. On July 29, 1978 Richard married the love of his life, Janelle Trautwein of Norfolk. They raised two children together; Jessica and Adam.

Richard was a son, brother, husband, grandfather, astronomer, and scientist. He was full of interesting facts. He had a witty, informed opinion about things, whether it was astrophysics, politics, or pop culture. He didn't always say much, but when he did it usually made you think, or laugh. Richard was a wonderful man who loved his family, the outdoors, history, and science. He would research all things he had of interest until he was satisfied. He had many hobbies like working on projects in the shop, more mushroom hunting, catching crawdads in homemade traps with his grandkids, making an ant farm with his kids, reading on history or old National Lampoons magazines, doing crossword puzzles, and he loved watching classic movies. He had amazing intelligence and an analytical mind. On any given night he would answer almost all of the questions on Jeopardy. If you asked him any question on any subject he at least knew something about it or would peak his interest enough where we would figure it out together. He enjoyed sitting on the deck he built listening to his records, and enjoying a glass of wine while grilling supper. Richard was a hard working, laid back man who always had something nice to say about everything. He had a kid-like affection for things he didn't know and chased his imagination and passion for anything that he did and followed it wholeheartedly. In 1981 Richard and his friends had a band to which they played a few venues, where he played the bass. He had an impeccable knowledge for music, citing little known bands and telling us how amazing the member was and how that person changed music for the better. He and his friends even made music videos before MTV was a thing, being the first of his friends owning a video camera. Richard was a mason by profession. He was masterful with stone and brick. You could drive anywhere with him and he'd be able to show you his accomplishments in Norfolk, Lincoln, Omaha, Sioux City, Wayne and other towns, whether it be a brick mailbox, fireplace, house addition, church, or a multimillion-dollar casino.

Survivors include a son, Adam Bahr of Omaha, and daughters Jessica (Josh) Muhs of Marquette and Crystal (Scott) and grandsons Brennan, Aidan, and William of Beaverton, Ore.; four brothers, Tom (Karen) Maas of Stanton, Curtis (Mary) Maas of Green Valley, Ariz., Jerry (Elaine) Bahr of Battle Ground, Wash. and Steve Bahr of Norfolk.

He was preceded in death by his wife Janelle, (10 months ago); parents Lloyd and Angela Bahr; three sisters-in-law, Beth Bahr, Jeannie Maas, Sharlene Trautwein, and brother-in-law Randy Janke.

Condolences may be expressed to the family online at www.homeforfuneralsinc.com.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke,
City Administrator

City Council meetings
Regular Wayne City Council

meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. It would be our honor to have you join us for a meeting!

Transfer Station Agreement

At its last meeting, the Wayne City Council approved an agreement with Gill Hauling, Inc. for the company to operate the Transfer Station for another three years. The City of Wayne owns the Transfer Station but has chosen not to operate it. This lease agreement has worked well in the past for both parties, including the public at large, and anticipate the same great working relationship going forward. Hours at the Transfer Station remain the same. Please read new signage on location to make sure all garbage and recyclable materials are disposed of properly.

ADA Accessible Curb Ramps project

The City received a $350,000 grant last fall to work on accessibility of sidewalks in the Northwest and Southwest quadrants of town. JEO Consulting was chosen as the engineer for the project. The project bids are planned to be let in July with work starting as soon as this fall (however the contract will go through Fall 2019). This project could impact as many as 75 curbs that are not currently ADA accessible. Some additional sidewalk work will need to be done to make the entire path accessible. The goal is to connect Bressler Park to the north edge of that ward, as well as increase accessibility towards the public elementary and the Junior/Senior High schools.

Familiarization (FAM) Tour

Mayor Brodersen and I had the opportunity recently to help Wayne Area Economic Development host the Nebraska Department of Economic Development (DED) Director, Dave Rippe, and the Northeast Nebraska District Manager for DED, Sheryl Hiatt in Wayne for a quick FAM Tour of the community.

These opportunities highlight the great things happening in this community as we get to brag about them to the outside world. We often get too busy with our own businesses, projects, and lives in general to stop and appreciate all that we in Wayne America have going for us!

As I always love to say....Wayne Works! And tell your friends and family!

Winside gearing up for Old Settlers' celebration

Organizers are making plans for the annual Winside Old Settlers celebration, scheduled for Father's Day weekend, June 15-17.

Area organizations and individuals have worked hard to put on a fun weekend for all.

The following is a brief highlight of the weekend's festivities, as submitted by Joni Jaeger, a member of the organizing committee:

Starting on Friday night, June 15, the Summer Rec program is organizing an eight team, slow pitch tourney with a traveling trophy for the winners. This will go into Saturday at Weible's Field. The Winside School added a 3 on 3 basketball tourney for grades 4 to adults, broken down to male or female teams. "The challenge is on, class talents are at stake!"

Those attending are encouraged "to end the evening, enjoy a cold one and live music at the beer garden in town."

Come to town Saturday morning hungry, as Pete's famous sauce served on breakfast burritos downtown.

The 5K run is the first event of the morning, so get out the running or walking shoes, and join the group, you'll be glad you did. The softball tourney and 3 on 3 basketball continues throughout the day. If you are not on a team, that's okay. Each team needs a cheering section.

Also in the afternoon, a petting zoo is set up by the tennis court for young and old to get real hands-on experience. Feel like you need some sand between your toes? Check out the sand volleyball tourney. Be a team player or big supporter, these guys also are competing for that traveling trophy to take home.

A new event, "Almost Golf", an 18-hole golf tourney will be held around town with special golf balls. Gotta play or see this one! And for those that like to play pitch, head down to the Legion Hall and try your luck at 5-point. Another first time event, a lawn mower/golf cart poker run. Don't worrying, you can't get lost, all stops are within the village limits.

All these events are making me hungry. Stop down to the Auditorium for some great food and homemade pie with ice cream.

To finish the night off, head to the street dance to the tunes of Mason Michaels and Backroad Spirits, a mix of country and 80's-90's tunes. All gate proceeds are put toward renovating the park. Attendees are asked to check out the new climbing park equipment put in this winter.

Sunday is a laid back day. Church, dinner downtown with pie for dessert, and walk around to see the Car Show with cool cars, fancy trucks, and unique tractors. A lot of local guys with bragging rights here!! If you're not into wheels, visit the museum or library or stop by the petting zoo and hold a baby chick. Bounce houses and face painting are another exciting time for all.

The last event of the day is the horseshoe pitching tourney, which is as fun to watch as be in.

"Hats off to all the committees and their helpers who chaired each event and to all the sponsors that supported these events financially. Couldn't have done it without you. A community that comes together and works for one common goal -- Winside Community Pride. For time and information of all events, go to Facebook page, "Village of Winside" for more details," Jaeger said.

Commissioners

take their time in making a final decision after County Clerk Deb Finn runs numbers.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz was also on the agenda today, though his discussion was brief due to pressing matters in another community -- something he explained to those in attendance.

Last week, Kemnitz was attending a meeting and training session in South Sioux City when a large grain elevator exploded just four blocks from where the group was having lunch.

Instead of their normal meeting and training, Kemnitz said, the group was put to work immediately. He was named Planning Section Chief and has been working diligently in South Sioux City ever since the explosion took place.

On Saturday, Kemnitz asked the commissioners for use of the emergency management trailer, which they gladly obliged, in order to offer a better workspace than "tents and tailgates."

The reason Kemnitz was on the agenda was to ask permission to utilize funds in his budget for the purchase of a large magnet-mount LED spotlight with remote swivel to use in disaster relief as well as the purchase of a bank charger and six additional batteries for the portable radios utilized by the team.

The commissioners agreed unanimously on allowing the purchases.

A brief update by Jared Reimers, community liaison for Congressman Adrian Smith's office, prompted questions and comments by Commissioner Randy Larson and County Attorney Mike Pieper that Reimers said he would relay to the Congressman.

Casey gave a quick rundown on road and bridge projects, which included discussion centered on how to handle a contractor who hadn't performed work for the county in the allotted time.

Casey presented the liquidated damages amount suggested by the county's engineering firm Mainelli Wagner & Associates after explaining the timeline and details.

The box culvert project on 579th Ave in District 1 took 151 days of construction. Of those 151 days, 46 of them were delay days due to weather. The road was opened to traffic 66 days before the project was completely finished as well.

Per Mainelli's, if those days were removed, 39 days remain and should be the basis of the liquidated damages allotted against A & R Construction.

Mainelli's suggested dividing the 39 days in half and charging 50 percent liquidated damages, which amounts to $5,850.

Commissioner Larson expressed his displeasure with the company, from them not starting project until after the finish date bid, eventually stating "they created this mess themselves. It was their choice to pull off and do another project in the middle of this one."

Casey was concerned about scaring A & R Construction, or any other company, off from bidding, but agreed with Larson when he said there are specifications for each project for a reason.

The board moved forward with approving the suggested amount of liquidated damages with unanimous approval.

The next meeting of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will take place June 19 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Juniors continue their winning ways

The Wayne American Legion Post 43 Juniors spotted Wisner-Pilger-Howells-Dodge two runs, then unleashed a 12-hit assault over two innings to post a 15-2 win Monday at Hank Overin Field.

After the visitors tagged winning pitcher Jacob Kneifl for a pair of runs, the Wayne nine came out swinging in the bottom of the third with seven runs, then added eight more in the fifth to end the game on the 10-run rule.

The big third inning started with an RBI single by Gunnar Jorgensen, scoring Josh Lutt. Kneifl followed with an RBI single to score Hagan Miller, and the bases were cleared on the next pitch when Blake Bartos tripled to left.

Bartos came home one pitch later on a Brock Hopkins single, and Hopkins later scored on an error to give Wayne the 7-2 advantage.

Wayne kept it going in the fourth, as Kneifl and Hopkins had RBI doubles, Lutt and Kneifl added RBI singles and a walk and a hit batter brought in two more runs.

Kneifl had three hits and four RBIs, Hopkins added two hits and three RBIs and Jorgensen posted two hits for Wayne. Bartos also drove in three runs and Jorgensen, Kneifl, Bartos, Hopkins and Trevor DeBoer each scored twice.

Kneifl pitched six innings, allowing two hits while striking out six before Tyrus Eischeid came in with an inning of scoreless relief, striking out two.

Last Tuesday, the Juniors jumped out to an early lead and pulled away late for a 15-5 win over the West Point nine.

The Post 43 Juniors jumped out to an early 4-0 lead in the first, thanks to a two-run double by Reid Korth and an RBI single by Kneifl, who later scored on a West Point error.

Wayne got three more in the second on a two-run single by Jorgensen and an RBI double by Korth, but West Point responded with five in the bottom of the inning to close the gap to 7-5.

That's as close as the home team would get, as Wayne regained momentum in the third on Lutt's RBI double to right. They put up four more in the fourth on an RBI double by Jorgensen and RBI singles by Korth and Hopkins, and Kneifl scored on a fielder's choice to make it 12-5.

In the fifth, Wayne reached the 10-run rule as Jorgensen had a two-run single and Bartos closed out the scoring with an RBI single to help the Wayne Juniors improve to 4-0.

Wayne cranked out 14 hits in the game, as Korth had four hits and three RBIs and Jorgensen added three hits and four RBIs. Lutt added two hits and two RBIs, Hopkins had two hits and an RBI, and Jorgensen and Eischeid each scored three runs, with Korth and Kneifl both coming home twice.

DeBoer pitched four innings and allowed three hits and two walks while striking out four before Victor Kniesche mopped up with an inning of unscathed relief.

The 5-0 Wayne Juniors host Battle Creek on Wednesday and play in the Wood Bat Tournament this weekend before traveling to Ponca on Monday.

Caseys recognized by NSIC for volunteer work

Gene and Jan Casey of Wayne State College and Randy Bowen of Bemidji State University will be honored with the NSIC's Noel Olson Volunteer of the Year Award during the 19th annual NSIC Hall of Fame Banquet on Tuesday, July 10 at the Best Western Premier in Burnsville, Minn.

The Noel Olson Volunteer of the Year Award recognizes the singular commitment of former NSIC coach and Athletic Administrator Noel Olson and his advancement of NSIC visibility, credibility, and excellence throughout the nation during his tenure in the league. The award is intended to honor individuals who, as volunteers, have made significant contributions to the NSIC as a whole. On a periodic basis, one or more individuals receive the award in appreciation of efforts to support the NSIC activities and/or athletic programs within any NSIC member institution(s) or the NSIC conference office. The award recipients are nominated by each of the NSIC's 16 institutions and selected by the NSIC Hall of Fame Committee.

Gene and Jan Casey are known for their work at the scoring table of Wayne State home basketball games for years. Both are avid basketball fans and well-known with NSIC basketball officials for their quality work.

Gene has run the main scoreboard at Wildcat home basketball games for 41 years. Jan ran the player/foul scoreboard for 15 years and now does official scorebook at Wildcat home games for the last eight years for a total of 23 years working WSC home basketball games. The two have worked such events as the NSIC Women's Basketball Tournament in the 2005-06 season and the 2012 NCAA Central Regional Women's Basketball Tournament that was hosted by Wayne State College.

For the last 24 years, Gene has worked in the maintenance department at Wayne State College after serving as an area sales representative for Moorman Feeds and will retire from the college June 30. Jan retired in August 2015 from an office position at Great Dane Trailers in Wayne after working 29 years with the company. The two also operate Gene and Jan's Lawn Service during the spring and summer months in Wayne.

When Gene is not working the clock at Wayne State home games, he can be found running the clock at Wayne High Blue Devil girls and boys basketball games and has worked numerous high school district playoff games hosted by Wayne State College over the years.

The two were inducted into Wayne State's Athletic Hall of Fame as contributors in 2005.

Michaela Dendinger stands above them all once again after winning the Div. II national title in the women's hammer throw recently in Charlotte, N.C. She finished her career with two national titles and a school-record nine All-American honors.

Dendinger's second national title a sweet finish to college career

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

Two years ago, Michaela Dendinger limped around campus in a boot, unsure of what impact a foot injury would have on her final two years as a thrower for the Wayne State women's track and field team.

A medical redshirt gave the Coleridge native an extra year to bounce back from the injury, and after nine All-American honors and two national titles, she did so in about as impressive a fashion as you could ask for.

Dendinger capped her career at the NCAA Div. II Championships last week in Charlotte, N.C., with her second national title, this time coming in the hammer throw as she launched a school-record toss of 212 feet, 3 inches on her second throw of the preliminaries to win the national title, bettering her best throw by almost four feet.

"It was pretty surreal," Dendinger said by phone after the title. "I had been working really hard, and to finally get it done and figure it out at nationals was great."

Dendinger was ranked second in the event going into the national meet and overcame hot and humid conditions to take the lead in the preliminaries and wait as all the other throwers tried in vain to top her school-record toss.

"It was really hot and muggy and was just miserable out there, so I just tried to go out and have a good time," she said. "I know that if I did what (throws coach Brett Suckstorf) told me to do and put it all together, it would be OK."

Having the experience of winning a national title in the shot put last year certainly helped her handle the pressure in going for her second crown, coach Marlon Brink said.

"She knew coming in that she had some really good competition with the girl from Southern Connecticut, and it was touch and go," he said. "She fouled on her first and third attempts and got her winning mark on the second toss. The other girl kept creeping up on her, but she couldn't quite catch her. I'm sure that when she stepped in for that final throw and they had announced that she was the national champion, it was a great feeling."

Dendinger was hoping to bring home three All-American honors and at least two national titles, but she was unable to defend her 2017 championship in the shot put on Saturday, settling for a fifth-place effort of 50 feet, 8 3/4 inches that came in the preliminaries. She fouled on all three of her finals attempts, but came away with her third All-American honor in the event.

"There wasn't too much pressure, but it just didn't come together," she said. "It was a little disappointing that it wasn't really working for me, but that's how it goes sometimes. I can't complain too much."

She just missed reaching the finals in the discus, placing 10th in the event with what she called a "very disappointing" mark of 150 feet, 7 inches.

Cade Kalkowski competed in the men's hammer throw for Wayne State at the Div. II Championships recently in Charlotte, N.C.

Dendinger ended her career as the most-decorated athlete in Wayne State track and field history. Her nine All-American honors in indoor and outdoor track and field bettered the seven won by Sara Wells a few years back — not bad for a young lady whose future was up in the air two years ago.

"We weren't sure, after she was injured, if she could throw at that level," Brink said. "One injury could end it all, so really, everything she's done since then has just been icing on the cake."

Winning nine All-American awards and two national titles is quite an achievement, especially when you look back at her high school career where she wasn't able to win a state title.

"She got edged out in the shot and discus her senior year on the last throw in both events, and it's a credit to her focus and work ethic to get where she was in college. It was neat to see her get to the highest level in college."

Dendinger is the latest in a string of outstanding throwers Wayne State has had in the ring, following Wells and Wayne native Carly Fehring. Their success is due not only to their efforts, but to that of the team's throws coach, Brett Suckstorf.

"I've always said that Brett gets all the credit with the throwers," Brink said. "The training he sets up in the weight room and on the technical side really sets our athletes apart. People like Sara and Carly, he did some great things with, and now Michaela. I couldn't be happier with the work he's done."

And there's hope for the future in the throws for the Wildcats. Sophomore Tia Jones and freshman Jadin Wagner both competed in the shot put at nationals, finishing 17th and 21st, respectively. And on the men's side, freshman Cade Kalkowski came in 14th in the hammer throw at the national meet.

"We have some kids coming up who have the potential to make an impact," Brink said. "Jadin's throw in the shot at conference was the best we've ever had for a freshman, so maybe she's the next one to step up. Obviously there are a lot of factors that go into it, but the potential is there and it's up to these kids to step up and take the lead and be leaders for us."

Two seniors also saw action at the Div. II national meet. Kacie O'Connor placed 16th in the women's discus with a best mark of 145 feet, 5 inches, and Derek Lahm competed in the decathlon but was unable to finish after an injury in the 100-meter dash on the first day.

Wayne Seniors drop two of last three games

Visiting Wisner-Pilger-Howells-Dodge erupted for five runs in the second inning and pulled away with a 9-1 win over Wayne in action Monday at Hank Overin Field.

The visitors touched Tyler Lutt for five in the second inning to take control of the game, then extended their lead to 9-0 in the sixth with single runs in the fourth and fifth and two more in the sixth.

Wayne avoided the shutout in the bottom of the sixth, as Payten Gamble singled and scored on a fielder's choice by Zane Jackson.

Wayne was limited to three hits in the contest, with Gamble, Lutt and Jackson recording safeties. Lutt pitched 4 1/3 innings in taking the loss, with Tucker Nichols and Ryan Jaixen pitching in relief.

Last Tuesday, Jackson was 4-for-5 and Gamble added three hits and three RBI's to help the Wayne seniors to a 10-6 win to match the Juniors' 4-0 start.

West Point led 1-0 going to the third before Wayne took the lead for good. Justin Dean doubled to drive in two runs, Brennan O'Reilly added an RBI double and Gamble singled home two to make it a 5-1 game.

Wayne added single runs in the fourth and fifth, thanks to an error and a bases-loaded walk, then put the game out of reach with three more in the sixth with the help of a Gamble RBI single and a two-run double by Jackson.

Nichols added three hits and Dean stroked two to help a 16-hit attack for the Wayne Seniors. Kneiff scored three times and Nichols and Lutt each scored twice. Lutt got the win on the mound, striking out five and allowing seven hits and a walk over five innings before Gamble and Adam Bentjen finished things off in relief.

Wayne suffered its first loss of the season on Wednesday, coming from behind twice, before host Arlington got the last word in an exciting 9-8 win.

Wayne trailed 4-0 going into the fifth before tying the game with four of their own. Gamble broke the ice with an RBI single to left, Lutt followed with another RBI single and Jackson tied the game with his double down the left field line, scoring Gamble and Lutt to make it 4-4.

Arlington reclaimed the lead in the sixth with three runs, but Wayne bounced back in the top of the seventh with four more runs to take the 8-7 advantage.

Gamble led off the inning with a double and moved to third when Lutt reached on an error. Jackson singled to bring home

Gamble, and Dean followed with an RBI single to bring home Lutt.

Jaixen, running for Jackson, scored on a single by Hagan Miller to tie the game, and Kneiff's sacrifice fly to center scored Dean to give Wayne the lead.

Unfortunately, Arlington had the last say, using a dropped third strike and two singles to load the bases with nobody out. Gamble struck out the next two batters, but Arlington used a two-run single on a 3-2 count to score the tying and winning runs, sending Wayne to its first loss in five game this season.

Arlington outhit Wayne 13-10 in the contest. Jackson had three hits and Gamble added two for the locals. Gamble and Lutt both scored twice. Nichols got a no-decision after working 5 2/3 innings, striking out seven and allowing nine hits and four walks before Gamble came on in relief and took the loss.

Wayne bounced back on Friday with a 10-1 triumph over Wakefield at Hank Overin Field.

The visitors led briefly, scoring their only run in the game in the first when Noah Lamprecht drew a bases-loaded walk to score Ben Klein, who got Wakefield's only hit off Bentjen.

Wayne scored two in the second to take the lead for good as Nichols singled home Dean and Kneiff came home on a Wakefield error.

The Seniors added three more in the third, as Lutt scored on an error, Jaixen came home on a O'Reilly sacrifice fly, and Kneiff stole home to make it a 5-1 game.

Wayne broke the game open in the fourth with five runs. Bentjen cleared the bases with a two-out double to center, and after Kneiff scored on a passed ball O'Reilly followed with an RBI double to left.

Wayne outhit Wakefield 7-1 in the contest, with Bentjen and Lutt each recording two hits. Kneiff scored three times and Lutt, Dean and Jaixen each came home twice, with Beau Bowers also scoring a run.

Bentjen went the distance in the five-inning game, needing just 83 pitches to throw a one-hitter, striking out five and walking three.

Wayne hosts Battle Creek on Wednesday and will host the Wood Bat Tournament this weekend. They play at Ponca on Monday.

10-under Devils 2-2 to start season

Wayne opened the week with a 10-8 loss to Kelly's on Tuesday, as the visitors came back from a 6-2 deficit to pick up the win.

Joslyn Johnson and Lily Gubbels each had two RBI's for the Devils. Johnson, Aubrey Russell, Mackenzie Nissen and Charli Seivers each had hits in the game. Johnson and Justice Olson both scored a pair of runs, while Nissen, Seivers, Norah Armstrong and Makenna Mattison each scored.

Nissen struck out seven in three innings of work and Seivers added a pair of strikeouts.

On Thursday, the Devils bounced back with a 15-5 win over West Point, scoring five runs in each of the three innings in the game.

Nissen, Johnson, Olson and Caylie Hopkins each scored two runs in the game, while Gubbels, Russell, Mattison, Seivers, Armstrong, Reagan McGuire and Jordyn Gamble each scored. Nissen, Johnson and Mattison each had two RBI's. Nissen struck out four and Seivers K'd three batters in the pitching department.

14-under Devils knocked out in home tourney

The Wayne Dirt Devils 14-under team were knocked out in the quarterfinals of their bracket in last weekend's Dirt Devil Invitational at the Summer Sports Complex.

Wayne opened the tournament with a 14-2 win over the Sioux City Shock, breaking open the game with an eight-run second inning.

The Dirt Devils played to a 4-4 tie in their second pool game of the day against the Elkhorn Edge.

Wayne took a 3-0 lead with a run in the second and two more in the third, but Elkhorn came back with three in the bottom of the inning to tie the game. Both teams scored runs in the fourth before the game was called on time limit.

hits in the contest, including a double. Ellis also had a double. Hobbs struck out 10 in a losing ef-

Wayne dropped a 4-2 decision to the Tri State Titans on Sunday, scoring two in the first before the visitors put up four in the fourth to get the win. Jensen had the Devils' only hit in the game. Hobbs and Liberty Titiml both scored runs for Wayne. Hobbs struck out one and gave up six hits in the game.

Wayne came away with a 6-4 win over the Tri State Pride in a rematch Sunday afternoon, coming from behind with four runs in the fifth to get the win. Kruse led the team with two hits while Hobbs, Jensen, Titiml, Kruger, Jaeger and Caitlyn Mostek all had hits. Kruse pitched the win, giving up three hits and three walks while striking out two.

Detox changes would force police to jail more intoxicated people

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
Nebraska decriminalized public intoxication in 1979, one of 12 states to do so. That means law enforcement relies on civil protective custody as an alternative to jail.

In 22 states, people are still charged with public intoxication and go to a drunk tank in a jail, said a Lancaster County Commissioner who is concerned that state funding for Lincoln's main detox facility – The Bridge Behavioral Health – may come to an end. Not only is $150,000 in jeopardy, but state licensure is in question. Without the license, The Bridge's civil protective custody unit would have to close. Similar programs statewide could be subject to state licensure scrutiny.

It's all because of locked doors, said County Commissioner Todd Wiltgen. The Bridge places very drunk people behind locked doors for the first 24 hours of their stay while they are evaluated. The folks who treat very intoxicated people and people high on drugs say there is a great risk that their clients can become violent and combative.

Local officials say if The Bridge is required to change its locked-door policy for handling very intoxicated people brought in by police, many of those people will end up staying on the streets or will be put in jail at a much higher cost to taxpayers. Wiltgen said the cost to Lancaster County alone could be $1.5 million for increased jail expenses ($200 per day) and the costs of criminal prosecution.

State officials want The Bridge to use what is called a social detoxification model in order to retain funding for the more than 3,600 people Lincoln Police take to The Bridge every year. Wiltgen said as many as 75 percent of those people could stay on the streets or wind up in jail if The Bridge isn't available. He said the state is over-regulating involuntary civil protective custody out of existence.

The Bridge Executive Director Tammy Stevenson said when a Lincoln police officer brings an intoxicated person to the facility, the person is initially put in a treatment room with a locked door. The locked door may now be the deal-breaker for Medicaid funds and behavioral health reimbursement. The facility has to be accredited, but the locked room policy runs afoul of the accreditation standards.

The director of the state's Behavioral Health Division said she believes The Bridge can get accreditation if the people are kept in the locked room for a short time. But Stevenson said her staff takes time to determine if the person can safely be placed in an unlocked situation. She said The Bridge would have to remodel the 22-bed unit and hire additional staff and security. That would also mean they couldn't take as many clients into civil protective custody.

The rest of The Bridge treatment programs are accredited, including a social detoxification program for people who voluntarily come in. But the civil protective custody unit can't get accreditation from its national accrediting organization, the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, when people are admitted involuntarily and all are initially housed in locked rooms, Stevenson said.

State officials said they are committed to working with the facility on the accreditation and funding issues.

Medicaid staff said the program would pay only for social detoxification after a new managed care firm takes over the program which provides $50,000 to $60,000 a year. The state's Division of Behavioral Health is threatening to cancel its $100,000 in funding this summer if the unit doesn't get accreditation.

So, the option is to work out funding issues and licensure or to fork over $1.5 million or more to jail all those people after charging them with a crime – disturbing the peace or trespassing – which would have to be adjudicated at an additional cost. In some cases, those with very high alcohol levels would have to be hospitalized.

Stevenson said she is concerned that the state refused to license a similar Omaha facility because it did not use the social detoxification model. She said she's had verbal commitment but is waiting to see written assurance the state will issue the license.

In the alternative, Wiltgen said the city, county and University of Nebraska-Lincoln will try to find a way to cover the $150,000 in lost revenue. But Stevenson said it would be hard to staff the program without a license since most medical staff refuse to work for an unlicensed program.

From the mouths of babes

By MIKE RENNING
mikesportshome@yahoo.com

Mike Renning

Every single year for the past 30-plus years, the Darling Wife and I have gone camping with her family for a Drury Family Reunion.

Now, she was a Parke and I was a Renning and until the 10th year, I never met anyone named "Drury".

As time has passed, the name didn't mean much but the meaning did.

The reunion has gone from Fort Thompson, South Dakota; to Chamberlain, South Dakota; to Fort Pierre, South Dakota; to 1880 Town on Interstate 90 in South Dakota; to Yankton, South Dakota for the past couple of years.

In the early years, the gathering was centered around fishing. Lately not so much.

I love fishing and more importantly, I love catching fish. Mostly because they are so good to eat.

I have gone from the "gopher" for the older guys at the event to being one of the older guys at the event.

It's a natural transition...as you get older, you become one of the older guys.

It's really not earned, but it is bestowed upon you because you are...well, older.

There are a lot of things I know from being an "older" guy as far as this reunion goes – most of them center around food and cooking it.

The first 20 years we went from one meal to the next and it was about all I got done. Excluding some fishing, of course.

It was still always an enjoyable few days that seemed to be months but now that I'm "older", I've taken on a new role.

This year, the Darling Wife and I took our Grandchildren, Lily and Sophia.

We showed up on a Wednesday and all left on a Monday.

I mean really, it was Memorial Day for crying out loud.

Anyway, we had no backup for three days – it was just myself and the Darling Wife.

We decided to divide and conquer the first night.

She took Sophia and I took Lily. At three in the morning when one of them has to go to the bathroom – all of our intentions were out the door.

Meaning, the Darling Wife told me to take the little potty-monster to the bathroom.

The outhouse was closer, so I took her there.

Bad idea.

Sophia, the younger one, informed me she does not go in a hole in the "seat" and wanted me to take her to a bathroom with water in it.

It was three in the morning for crying out loud, but I was trying to prevent her from becoming wide awake.

Failures happen all the time – especially camping, and by the time Sophia and I returned to the camp, she was wide awake.

The Darling Wife was under the mistaken perception I would be in charge of the little Sweetheart (Sophia).

I was while we went to the bathroom, but things slid downhill from there.

No, they didn't slide, things barreled downhill.

I was sleeping on the top bunk by myself because the little Sweeties wanted to sleep with Nana – but now Sophia wanted to climb up with Papa – and she did.

And we may have had a good time, but for some reason the Darling Wife thought I wasn't being responsible.

Responsible is quite a word and to tell me I wasn't? It hurt my feelings.

We sang songs little girls of Sophia's age shouldn't know. We giggled, we laughed...we woke up the Darling Wife.

Not the smartest thing we did, but Sophia is three and I'm, well, I'm older than that.

This was the second night of our five-night project and I'm here to tell you, it was wonderful.

Take a morning and have a Granddaughter come down to fish with you.

Take a trip to the bathroom and have the little Sweetie tell you how the water is "sparkling".

Yes, I got little sleep and yes, I was in trouble for the lion's share of the weekend, but I'm telling you – I can't wait for next year.

Which is a lot better than being a gopher...but I was a good one.

Legislative Update by District 17 Senator Joni Albrecht

On May 14th, I was excited to attend an event with the Wayne Area Economic Development Chamber and David Rippe, Nebraska's new director of the Department of Economic Development. Director Rippe joined us to discuss Wayne's recent strides in economic development and the $639,000 Rural Workforce Housing Fund grant the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation received this May. Director Rippe expressed praise for Wayne's development, energy, and momentum in the past 10 years. We were excited Director Rippe visited Wayne and South Sioux City to see the wonderful communities and potential our district has to offer. I would like to send a special thanks to Luke Virgil of the Wayne Area Economic Development Chamber for inviting me to this informative and special event.

As I hope many of you know, May 15th was Primary Election Day across the state. This is a big election year as we have many federal, statewide, legislative, and local seats to fill. It is incredibly important that we turn out to vote in every election. Sadly, only 24% of registered voters cast a vote in the Primary Election statewide. I hope this newsletter will serve as a friendly reminder to vote in the General Election on November 6th. Every two years we hold legislative elections, trading off between elections for even and odd numbered legislative districts, this year all even numbered legislative districts are holding elections. Of the 24 districts, eight seats are vacant due to term limits or senators deciding not to run for reelection, five incumbent senators are running unopposed, and all eleven incumbent senators that faced challengers advanced through the nonpartisan primary. It is refreshing to know we have citizens who are willing to take on the responsibilities of public service. I would like to extend congratulations to everyone that advanced through the primary in races across the state as well as local races in Wayne, Thurston, and Dakota Counties. I look forward to working closely with incumbents and newly elected officials in all levels of government in the coming years.

Recently, I published an Op-Ed in the Omaha World-Herald concerning EPA barriers on fuel blended with 15% ethanol, E15. We need U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue to fight hard for rural growth and press the Environmental Protection Agency to lift strict regulations on E15 fuel that restrict sales every summer. Biofuels represent a critical market for farmers. Lifting EPA barriers on E15 would not only promote rural growth, it would also provide consumers with cleaner, lower-cost options at the pump. President Donald Trump has announced his support for repealing E15 restrictions, and Perdue can make it happen by holding the EPA accountable to farm communities that are waiting for a much-needed boost in demand. I urge anyone who cares about the rural economy to join me in offering Secretary Perdue our full support in this important fight.

I want to encourage my constituents to reach out to me, I look forward to hearing from you!

Senator Joni Albrecht

ACME meets to remember

Members of ACME Club met for their May meeting with President Bonnadell Koch bringing the meeting to order following noon lunch at the Senior Center.

Betty Wittig gave the Thought for the Day: "I miss being a little kid with no stress, worries, or cares in the world."

Pennies for roll call were received as each member told of their vacation plans for the summer and talked about their favorite memory about being in ACME Club, remembering when they first started and who invited them.

Officers elections for the following year will leave the group as is for 2018-2019. Written history for 2017-18 will be tabled and reported by Pat Straight at the June meeting.

Delores Utecht presented awards to each of the current members for their special attributes and were enjoyed by all. They included awards for talents possessed and included awards as authors, reporters, poets, for benevolence and for talents in planning, photography and leadership. A photo of the group was taken while displaying the awards.

The members of the club have been searching into the club's history and many topics of history have been found. Joanne Temme brought a poem written by a past member and read it, much to the delight of the membership. It was written by former member Mabelle Blair in 1960 and some excerpts are as follows:

"I've always yearned to be a poet,
But you, of course, could never know it.
I never had the courage my thoughts to put in rhyme
But since you are my captive audience, there's no better time.

"And so if you will calmly sit
I'd like to rhyme a little bit
About this club and all those in it
But I hardly know just where to begin it.

"In forty-seven, I joined this club
And now, for me, there is no "sub".
The ACME, you see, can boast it's age
Has turned many an important page.

"The members, as they come and go,
Have all been worthy, as you know.
That's why we pick them with no "No's".
And why we like them, I suppose.

"Our membership is kept complete.
We choose to fill each vacant seat.
We want our club to live forever
And pass away - no never, never.
....
"And so I made these rhymes
To reminisce on ACME times.
We've much to recall and little to forget
Of good times, good fellowship and no regrets."

The complete poem consists of over 30 stanzas and includes verses about each of the members who were active at the time the poem was written.

Discussion was held and members decided that ACME Club will meet once a month at the Senior Center during the upcoming summer months with regular meetings resuming in the fall.

Second annual 'Days of Caring' for family caregivers planned

Anyone who is a family caregiver, a provider or who would like to increase awareness, education and statewide support for caregivers, is encouraged to attend the second annual 'Day of Caring'.

For the second straight year, the Nebraska Caregiver Coalition, Nebraska Lifespan Respite Network and the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) are joining forces to bring information of importance to the family caregiver. This event will be held Wednesday, July 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Faith Regional Health Services-Missouri Room, 2700 West Norfolk Avenue, in Norfolk.

A Day of Caring is a one-day, free community event that serves as a one-stop resource for family caregivers looking for connections to help them navigate the complex world of caring for loved ones living with a disability or chronic healthcare need. It is also a great opportunity for family caregivers to network with others who are going through the same thing.

Throughout the day, speakers will be presenting on a variety of topics that may be beneficial to caregivers, including: veteran services and resources, area developmental disabilities resources, a fun DIY Caregiver Workshop and more.

The day provides a great opportunity to learn and socialize with state and local professionals who can answer questions about caregiving. A complimentary lunch will also be provided and door prizes will be given throughout the day! For more information, or to register, you can call Central Nebraska Community Action Partnership (CNCAP) at: 1-800-736-7491 ext. 145 or 146, or go online at <http://go.unl.edu/daysofcaring>.

The Role of the Church

This month hundreds of churches will close their doors for good.

The statistics to support this statement come from various Christian research sources. These closings come from two primary categories: old churches which over time have refused to change and new church starts that could not survive. Other statistics reveal that fewer people by percentage of the population are attending church on any given Sunday in the United States. There are many churches that are growing but some of that is simply transfer growth from people leaving one church and going to another. As a whole, we are losing ground.

There are many opinions regarding what is causing this decline and how to fix it. I am not sure that I can answer that question adequately. However, I would like to explore the purpose of the Church of Jesus Christ so that we might evaluate how well we are doing what Jesus has asked us to do. Though one might list many things, I believe there are three things that are crucial for us to do in our world today.

First and foremost the role of the Church is to proclaim the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all people in the world (Matthew 28:18-20). Most Christians know that Jesus commanded his followers to go and make disciples of all nations. The first step of making disciples is to proclaim the message of salvation by grace through faith in Jesus Christ alone (Ephesians 2:8-9). Salvation, eternal life, is a free gift offered by God to all who by faith receive it. Jesus Christ died on the cross and shed his blood for our sins. He arose victoriously from the dead and is the only one who has conquered death and the grave. This is the Gospel message the Church has been commissioned to proclaim (1 Corinthians 15:1-4).

If the Church does not proclaim the Gospel, no one else will. Paul declared, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel because it is the power of God for salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile." (Romans 1:16, NIV). The Church must unashamedly proclaim the Gospel to all people for that is the only way of salvation for a lost world.

Second, the Church must hold firm to biblical principles of truth and righteousness. Though the Bible has received significant criticism and attacks on its accuracy, there is plenty of proof that the Greek and Hebrew texts we have today accurately reflect the message as it was originally recorded. The Bible contains teachings regarding the creation and existence of human life. It reveals that mankind's primary problem is an issue of sin, rebellion, and immorality as compared to God's standards of truth and righteousness. It reveals to us God's holy nature and His great love for his created beings. It reveals the necessity for judgment, yet the reality of forgiveness based upon the love and grace of God.

Today our culture is telling us that the Bible's teachings of truth and its standards of righteousness are inaccurate and no longer relevant. Our culture is telling us that we cannot preach and teach the clear truth of God's Word and that we cannot proclaim that Jesus is the only way of salvation. The world is clamoring for tolerance yet they are not tolerant toward true biblical Christianity. As a result many churches are waffling on the truth and succumbing to demands of an immoral culture. This presents a great problem for the Church because when it begins to look like the world, the world has no reason to come to the Church. If the Church does not have a unique and significant message, then it has nothing to say.

The Church of Jesus Christ must take a stand on truth as it is revealed in the pages of the Bible. The Church must not allow the culture to define its theology but must demonstrate how the teachings of the Bible are just as relevant today as they were when they were originally written. If this causes people to hate us, then we know we are doing Jesus' work because he said that people would hate us just as they hated him (John 15:18-21). To be sure, our goal is not to be hated but we must not allow the response of unbelieving people to determine what we say and do.

Third, we must love and serve other people. We must remember Jesus' greatest commandments to love God with all of our heart, soul, mind, and strength and to love our neighbor as ourselves (Mark 12:29-31). Jesus also told his disciples that they must love one another and that is how people would know they were his followers (John 13:34-35). Love must be one of the outward signs of the true Church. Serving people and our communities is one of the ways that Christ's love must be expressed.

Love and biblical truth must go hand in hand. It seems that many churches lean to one side or the other. Some churches are strong on truth and doctrine but lack real love for others. Other churches are strong on love and service to people but weak on truth and doctrine.

The true Church of Jesus Christ must be strong in both truth and love. We are commanded to speak the truth in love (Ephesians 4:15). This is often very difficult for us to do but we must remember that this is our purpose on the earth.

If the churches in America began to emphasize these three things (the Gospel, biblical truth, and love), will that fix our declining attendance problem? I don't know for sure. I do know that following these three principles can give us the confidence that we are doing the will of Jesus in our local churches and in our communities.

First Presbyterian Church welcomes new members

Madison Urbanec, daughter of Russ and Melissa Urbanec and Taytum Sweetland, daughter of Rob and Jill Sweetland, were received into membership at First Presbyterian Church of Wayne on Pentecost Sunday, May 20. Pentecost is a traditional day for celebrating the receiving of the Holy Spirit and new members.

Madison and Taytum successfully completed the course of study required of confirmands. Each student had a mentor who is an elder in the church and joined with the students in several activities.

During the past year the students had attended regular classes, participated in worship as lectors and musicians and joined the FPC Youth Group in packing backpacks, as part of the Wayne Food Pantry. The students appeared before the Session of the church and shared a personal faith statement before being received into membership.

During worship on May 20 Madison and Taytum affirmed their faith and were welcomed into the community of faith through prayer and the laying on of hands.

All elders and deacons present that morning were invited to participate in blessing of Madison and Taytum. On behalf of the congregation, Rev. Teresa Bartlett, welcomed Madison and Taytum to the ministry and mission of FPC. A special fellowship honoring the new members was held following worship.

First Trinity Altona women meet

First Trinity Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Altona met May 25 at the Wisner Care Center.

All members were present, as well as two guests.

Darlene Bowers presided at the business meeting. All sang "Lutheran Women, One and All," as the mite box offering was taken. The minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report were approved.

No meeting will be held in June as the ladies are invited to St. John's in Pilger for a meeting to celebrate the group's 75th anniversary of being affiliated with the LWML. Also, the District Convention will be held in June at Lutheran High Northeast in Norfolk. The delegate will be Clara Heinemann.

The meeting closed with all praying The Lord's Prayer and singing "God Bless Our Native Land."

The Rev. Tim Booth gave the lesson, based on the previous Sunday's Old Testament lesson, Ezekiel 37:7-14.

The birthday song was sung for Rev. Booth.

Hostess for the meeting was Clara Heinemann.

Holcus Leaf Spot in corn can cause anxiety

Frequent rains earlier in May and any future hard rains are conditions favorable for the development of a disease we occasionally see in corn fields. Fortunately it is not a serious problem, but it can cause a lot of anxiety for farmers when they see this in their fields.

Holcus Spot is a bacterial disease of corn. Symptoms often appear suddenly after a heavy rain, but do not spread to new leaves. It only develops on leaves that were exposed at the time of the rain event. This is because the bacteria lives in the soil and old plant residue and is splashed onto the leaves from the heavy rain.

Unlike other bacterial diseases, like Goss's Wilt that require wounding on the plant for infection, this disease may develop in the absence of obvious crop injury because it can enter the plant through natural openings in the leaf. So, even though your fields may not have been hit with hail or high winds, you may still be at risk for the development of this bacterial disease. Lesions usually occur on the lower leaves first. They are light tan, sometimes almost white, round to oval spots and may appear water soaked at the margins or have a light brown border. The lesions are initially about 1/4 inch in diameter, but sometimes grow larger and form irregular spots and streaks of dead tissue. Later the lesions dry out, turn light brown, and have a papery texture.

John Wilson
Extension Educator

The appearance of the spots is similar to that of other diseases, such as the more common fungal diseases, eyespot and gray leaf spot, and can be easily misdiagnosed. However, the spots lack the margins around the lesions typical of eyespot. Also, the disease does not spread to new leaves as they emerge, only the leaves that were exposed during the heavy rain event.

The pathogen also has a wide host range and can develop on other grassy weeds and crops, making it more likely to be blamed on a chemical burn or drift, because it may be observed on several plant species in the field at once, unlike most other pathogens that have a limited host range.

Holcus Spot usually isn't severe and won't require treatment. Hybrid resistance is not common, but some hybrids have been reported to be more susceptible. Crop rotation is of limited value since the pathogen can survive in the soil or on crop residue and has a wide host range infecting several other crops, such as sorghum and wheat, as well as several grassy weeds.

There are no practical management practices for Holcus Spot. The most important take home message is not to mistake this disease for a fungal leaf disease and make an unneeded and ineffective fungicide application. First, this disease is not going to cause a yield loss. Second, because it is a bacterial disease, fungicides will not control it or any other bacterial diseases, but they are an added expense to you.

So if you suspect you have Holcus Spot in your field, confirm that diagnosis. Once you know that is what you are finding in your field, it is not necessary to make a fungicide application. Just relax and know that the corn plants will soon outgrow this problem.

For more information on Holcus Spot, or other diseases of corn, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Concert is bonus birthday gift

By: Pat Meierhenry

As far as I'm concerned, the Lied Center in downtown Lincoln is just about the nicest venue around. (I've not been in the Holland Center in Omaha.) I remember getting season tickets the first year it was open, and using my Mom as a baby sitter so I could go and watch the performances. One of which was Les Miserables, which I still say is the most amazing musical there has ever been.

Through the years, we've watched Randa in honor choir, Sing Around Nebraska, Camelot, Hannah Houston, and The Church Basement Ladies. I've enjoyed them all!

But, at 5:30, on Tuesday, after running errands most of the day, friend Jan called to say she had an extra ticket for the concert that night, featuring Audra McDonald. I confess the only thing I knew about this gal was that she was the Mother Abbess in Sound of Music Live on TV a couple of years ago, and that she showed a gorgeous soprano voice in that.

So, I scurried around and threw a supper together, called Sue to make sure she could be available for her Dad and drove to my friend's retirement apartment. There, we waited for an Uber driver; this was going to be a new experience for me. He showed promptly, she put her credit card in his device, and we were off. It turned out he was the son of a Lutheran pastor at Cedar Bluffs, Nebraska.

We were deposited at the front door, and we climbed a lot of red velvet stairs. I didn't remember them being so hard to traverse before! And they warned us there would be no intermission.

Well, it was wonderful... Miss McDonald did everything from opera to pop, and told us delightful stories in between each song. She did Summer-time, from Porgy and Bess, I Could Have Danced All Night (we got to sing along on the second time around for that chorus), Climb Every Mountain, and treated us to an encore of Somewhere Over the Rainbow.

Then, we waited for an Uber driver again; this one was a middle aged blonde who entertained us all the way home. This was an evening that was definitely worth scurrying around for. And when I saw the price of the ticket, which they would not let me pay for, I felt as if I'd had yet another great birthday gift! I am blessed!

USDA reopens application period for producers recovering from cattle loss, other disasters

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) began accepting disaster assistance program applications on June 4 from agricultural producers who suffered livestock, honeybees, farm-raised fish and other losses due to natural disasters.

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) is reopening the application period for two disaster assistance programs in response to statutory changes made by Congress earlier this year.

"When disasters hit, help is as close as your USDA service center," said Bill Northey, Under Secretary for Farm Production and Conservation. "After any catastrophic event, an eligible producer can walk into any one of our local offices and apply for help."

Beginning June 4, FSA started accepting new applications for losses for calendar year 2017 or 2018 filed under the Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP) or Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees, and Farm-raised Fish Program (ELAP). Producers who already submitted applications and received decisions on their applications for these years do not need to file again, but they can reapply if they have additional losses or their application was disapproved because it was filed late.

In February, Congress passed the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018, which made several changes to these two disaster programs, including:

Removing ELAP's $20 million fiscal year funding cap, enabling FSA to pay producers' 2017 applications in full and their 2018 applications as soon as they are approved.

Removing the per-person and legal entity annual program payment limitation of $125,000 for LIP for 2017 and future years. (The income limitation applies as it did before.)

Changing LIP to allow producers to receive a payment for injured livestock that are sold for a reduced price due to an eligible event. Previously, the program only covered financial loss for livestock death above normal mortality.

Producers interested in LIP or ELAP should contact their local USDA service center. To apply, producers will need to provide verifiable and reliable production records and other information about their operation.

Drought, wildfires and other disasters continue to impact farmers and ranchers, and LIP and ELAP are two of many programs available through USDA to help producers recover. Learn more at <https://www.usda.gov/disaster>.

Small Plants, Big Temperatures

Is it just me, or does it seem like we never got a spring season this year? We went from one of the coldest, if not the coldest April's that we have seen for much of our territory, to one of the warmest May's. Of course, this brings us both good and bad things to deal with. On the good side, we have made up many of our lost GDD's for those of us that got a break and had the crop in by the 15th. For those that finished since, or even our growers in the North that couldn't catch a break to stay dry and plant, the crop is coming on strong, and is coming out of the ground just a few days after it is planted. These hot days and very mild nights are letting this crop play catch up. But on the negative side, these temperatures in the upper 80's to upper 90's that we saw last week and again this week definitely stress and challenge these small plants that have yet to develop a root structure.

If you think that it is hot for us, imagine what these small corn plants that have no root structure are dealing with. As I was putting in Moisture probes last Saturday the 26th, the air temperature was 98 degrees and there was almost no breeze. That day I drank well over 2 gallons of water and sports drink to get through the day. As I go on to our AquaSystems website and look at the probes that I put in earlier that week, I can see our soil temperatures at 4" and see what our plants were exposed to. For our growers on the sand, we have soils that are a brighter color that reflect a lot of heat. So our soils were "only" reaching a 4" soil temperature of 88 degrees when the air temperature was 98. Unfortunately, that meant that the heat was being reflected back up at our V1-V2 corn, and was subjecting the plant to even more stress from heat.

On the opposite end of the spectrum, on our heavy soils that are darker, we see that the heat is absorbed by the soil and really driving the soil temperature up. Saturday afternoon we saw the 4" soil temperature spike at 96.8 degrees. We all know that corn is in its optimum zone when temperatures are between 80 and 85 degrees. When we push temperatures above 90 degrees the plants go into shutdown mode to preserve themselves. That is why we see the "Onion" effect in June and July when the plants are heat stressed. But, these corn and soybean plants aren't V6 plants that have the ability to protect themselves all that well yet. This of course puts you the grower in a difficult position. We know these plants have it tough, and we want to do something. For those of you that are irrigators, I know the temptation is strong to run our pivot around.

But what does that really accomplish for us? There is plenty of research out there that shows that evaporative cooling is of minimal effectiveness for changing the temperature of the crop canopy. I understand perfectly well that we are not anywhere close to canopy, but regardless the sentiment stays the same. Wetting the soil may change how much solar radiation it reflects or absorbs, but for only a very short period. Unfortunately, there is very little we can do to make our plants more comfortable. The good news is that this heat is really before we hit the critical growth stage of V5-V6.

The take home for today is really for the irrigators that are out there. These corn and soybean plants still have a total root mass that can fit in a coffee cup for most of us. That will change rapidly in the next two weeks. But, that means that we need to do some good old fashioned scouting between now and then. A soil moisture probe starts measuring moisture at 4". In the very short term, we may need to be considering what the soil moisture is like between 2" and 4" to keep our plants happy and healthy. That means a little digging in the dirt with our pliers and knives to make that decision. And if we do have soil that has dried out that does need water to keep our plants going, remember that we only need to put on about 1/3 of the rate we would normally run because we are only irrigating 1/3 of the top foot of soil.

Anything more than that is just an opportunity to send critical nutrients like Nitrogen down below our root depth and invite nutrient deficiencies later.

It is unlikely that we will lose much of our crop to hot conditions at the end of May. It is however much more likely that we will create some unintended results with root development and nutrient availability by babying our crop. Sometimes you have to irrigate even when soil moisture is adequate to protect a young crop. Just make sure that you and your trusted advisor agree that now is one of those times if you think it is time to take action.

THANK YOU

The family of Mike Granquist wishes to thank everyone for their prayers and kind words and deeds during this difficult time. We are blessed beyond words. Jean, Nate, & Cassie Granquist Chad, Mallorie, & Crew Koch Jim & Karen Thompson Tim & Teresa Granquist & family Tina Ballard & family

The family of John James Gallop Jr. would like to say a sincere thank you for all of the kindness shown to us with the tragic death of my beloved husband, father of John Gallop III and Elsa and Josh Parsons, our three grand gold here on Earth. Also, for his dear mother Phyllis, his siblings, and my siblings. To Johnny's co-workers, oh how he loved you. For through this outpouring of love in the hugs, flowers, plants, memorials, food, phone calls, cards, and the prayers, oh those blessed prayers, we saw GOD in each and every one of you! Also, to our Peace Church family, you are the best Ever for all you have done for us! Thank you!

A good friend wrote this beautiful poem for us about "Big John":
 Well it's over for now; we're all still in shock.
 The only thing that will help is the tick of the clock. The moments and memories, the smile on his face for his family, friends, and co-workers will always be in place. His love for you, the kids, grandkids, and his Fords were a must. And watching him grin when he heard "On a clear night you can hear a Chevy rust!" Well I've went on long enough so to get to the point, now that he's in heaven, he fits right in the joint. - Hershel Stoffer (Jon Behmer)

May God bless you all tremendously in all you did for us! In His love always, the John J. Gallop Jr. Family.
