School board approves budget, accepts resignation

By Clara Osten,
clara@wayneherald.com

The budget for the Wayne Community Schools will remain virtually unchanged for the coming year.

This was the message presented to the Wayne Community Board of Education during the regular meeting on Monday.

No one from the public was present during the budget and tax request portion of the meeting.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan told the board that the district's valuation had not changed significantly and the tax asking will include a slight decrease in the General Fund, and a slight increase in the Special Building Fund.

The overall levy will be $1.039437 per $100 of assessed valuation for the coming year.

The total tax request for the district in the 2018-2019 fiscal year is $9,672,985.01, which is down from last year's tax request of $9,673,639.41.

Board members also accepted with regrets the resignation of Ken Hall, a member of the janitorial staff. Hall has been employed with Wayne Community Schools for 16 years and his resignation is effective Oct. 17.

Second reading approval was given to the district's mission and vision statements.

These have had minor changes and will be slightly shorter than in the past.

The goals for these updates include the fact that all students are included.

"The district's vision statement will read "Learning for Life, Every Student, Every Day."

A bid from Rasmussen Mechanical Services for $34,886 for a boiler replacement was approved. The boiler will be installed at the elementary school and will be paid for from the district's building fund.

Superintendent Lenihan presented enrollment numbers for the district for the 2018-2019 school year. He said that the 2017-2018 Pre-K through 12th grade enrollment was 918 students and that number of 2018-2019 is 948 students, an increase of 30 students.

A request was received from Wayne State College in regard to creating a partnership for the development of a geo-thermal greenhouse. The facility would be located on Wayne Community Schools property. It is anticipated that support and grant funding for the project would come from a number of sources. Additional information on the project will be provided as it becomes available.

Brandon Foote was welcomed as the new Executive Director of the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. Foote told the board several fundraisers for the Foundation have already been held, including the Runza sponsored "Feed the Need" and Taste of Victory Tailgate.

The Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Oct. 8 at 5 p.m. in the junior-senior high school library.

her business are tried and tested to ensure buyers are getting plants that will hold up. Korn said she won't sell a plant unless she's been able to grow it herself for at least three years. This rule has helped Korn try new things and has kept her love of gardening alive.

"It has allowed and encouraged me to grow a lot of different kinds of flowers," Korn said. "A perennial garden is never the same from one day to the next so just getting up to see what new things are in bloom is fun."

In her retirement, Korn will continue to garden and grow on her property. She is also looking forward to the freedom retirement will provide, and hopes to do some painting and kitten-taming along the way.

Since publicizing that this year would be her last, Korn said gardening friends and acquaintances made along the way have stopped in to Garden Perennials and she's enjoyed catching up.

Garden Perennials has an active Facebook page, and gardeners can still visit the business's website at gardenperennials.net or visit the gardens three-and-a-half miles south of Wayne.

Gail Korn asked herself many questions before starting her business, Garden Perennials. One of those questions was if people would be willing to travel the three-and-a-half miles out of Wayne to buy daylilies. Thirty-six years later and about a month from her retirement, the question makes her laugh.

Gail Korn won't sell plants at Garden Perennials that she hasn't personally grown for at least three years.

"Silly me, they will travel hundreds of miles. People have traveled from so many miles to see the gardens," Korn said.

If flower fans haven't taken the opportunity to see Korn's gardens off Highway 15, they're running out of time as October will be Korn's last season as owner and operator of Garden Perennials.

Korn is a natural green-thumb. Her mother, grandmother and aunt were gardeners, but initially, Korn came from Iowa to Wayne to study English at Wayne State College. She met and married Richard Korn and taught Speech and English at Wisner from 1967-1972. After teaching, she worked selling shrubs and trees for an area nurs-

"I asked myself a lot of questions in the beginning. First I thought maybe I should take a business class, then I thought, 'nah, I'll just do it,'" Korn said.

Initially, Garden Perennials was a small business, but Korn attributes her time helping to organize the early Chicken Shows with realizing the need for publicity. She wrote to two Omaha World Herald gar-

Magazine. The latter helped bring Garden Perennials to national gardeners' attention. "I've sent plants to every state in the union," Korn said.

Korn said one of the best things about running Garden Perennials for 36 years, is that she's always learning something new.

Wakefield's Balloons 'N BBQ events set

Wakefield's Balloon Days festival is celebrating its 15th year, and has joined forces with the Wakefield BBQ Bash to create Balloons 'N BBQ, taking place Sept. 21-23. Organizers hope the earlier date will allow balloon pilots more lift-off opportunities, according to Val Bard, Wakefield Community Club member.

"The pilots told us 'we can land almost anywhere,' so we'll try it," Bard said.

Balloons 'N BBQ has something for all-ages. Coinciding with grandparents day at Wakefield Community Schools, the Kite Guy will have kids activities on Friday.

The first lift-off of the celebration is scheduled for 4 p.m., Friday afternoon. The famous steak feed will follow at 6 p.m. At 7 p.m. Easton Field will host the homecoming football game against Omaha Nation-Macy.

Saturday, Sept. 22 is packed with events, beginning with a sunrise balloon lift-off, weather permitting. At 7 a.m., enjoy omelets, cooked by Wayne State College's baseball team before they take the field for a double-header against Mount Marty at Eaton Field. The color run starts at 7:30 a.m.

The King of the Wings will be decided Saturday afternoon, but kids can get in on the cooking action with the Kids Burger Bash at 9 a.m. At 10, the car show, street fair and kids activities begin on Main Street.

At 10:30 Saturday morning the Wakefield Heritage Organization is sponsoring Darrel Draper as Teddy Roosevelt at the Little Red Hen Theatre. Draper will be presenting Roosevelt as if the Rough Rider were on the campaign trail for his third presidential term. The event is free and open to the public.

Kids are invited to the Amazing Tour de Wakefield at 3 p.m. The new event is essentially a scavenger hunt on bicycles for those interested. The whole family can ride along on the tour. During the street fair, the 4-H Petting Zoo will be set up north of the post office.

The parade will come down Main Street at 1:30 p.m., then at 3, the BBQ Bash will begin, with food served at 5. During the BBQ Bash, three bands will play live downtown. Paradox will start the music at 4 p.m., followed by a mariachi act at 5:30 and the Front Porch Pickers at 6:30.

The last balloon lift-off of the day is scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday's festivities close out with the Fireman's Dance and karaoke starting at 8 p.m.

Balloons 'N BBQ comes to a close on Sunday, Sept. 23 with a sunrise lift-off at Wakefield School. All balloon lift-offs are dependant on the weather. Leadership Wayne 2.0 offers extended leadership training Wayne City Administrator Wes Blecke and WAED Executive Director Luke Virgil will be co-hosting a new Leadership Wayne 2.0 class from October 2018 through May 2019.

Several community members, especially those completing the initial Leadership Wayne program, wanted more training and a deeper connection to the community.

As a result, WAED first offered Leadership Wayne 2.0 in 2016-2017 as an advanced leadership program.

Leadership Wayne 2.0 provided existing and aspiring leaders the opportunity to expand their knowledge in specific areas related to their professional and personal development.

Some of the topics that will be discussed throughout Leadership Wayne 2.0 are agriculture, government, leadership, entrepreneurship, and sustainability. Leadership Wayne 2.0 will feature a trip to Lincoln and a day of touring around Northeast Nebraska. Leadership Wayne 2.0 participants will also be encouraged to provide input on and plan activities throughout the class.

Generally, sessions will be held on the third Friday of each month 8:30 am to 3 pm. Due to the format and content of the program, class size will be limited to eight participants with tuition set at $225 per participant.

Applications are due Friday, Sept. 28. If you have interest in or questions about Leadership Wayne 2.0, please call the WAED Office at (402) 375-2240.

International Student Spotlight

Viral surprise highlights sacrifices international families, students make for education

By Sarah Lentz,
editor@wayneherald.com

What's better than a hug from mom, especially if the last one came over a year ago?

Wayne State College's Rachel Fraser knows how nice that long-awaited hug can be. Fraser, a midfielder on the women's soccer team, had hers from her mother, Eve, after Wayne State's game against Montana State-Billings on Sept. 1.

Eve and Rachel's father Stuart, surprised their daughter for her 21st birthday. In a video, that has since been picked up by outlets like ESPN and gone viral internationally, the love in that bear-hug shines through.

The video also highlights the struggles and sacrifices international students and their families face.

For any student seeking higher education, that first taste of independence can be intimidating, but to Eve Fraser, that's no reason not to take that step.

"If you're scared of life, then you'll never go anywhere," Fraser said.

With that philosophy in mind, the family started to look at schools to help Rachel reach a goal she set at the age of three: to play football (or as we know it, soccer) in America. Rachel is living her childhood goal, but it didn't come without hard work, according to Eve.

"It's the barriers to the goal that are always the issue. The goals are easy to set, but it's one by one stepping through those barriers and addressing them in practical and meaningful ways," Eve said.

For international students, those barriers include financing education in a foreign country, international medical insurance and safety, among other concerns.

Parents worry no matter what, but for parents of international students, potential emergencies are a huge concern. The Frasers said that meeting Rachel's friends, teammates and their families, as well as community members, has helped ease some of those worries.

"The parents that we've met are just so friendly and accommodating and they also help look after other kids, which is great," Stuart said.

"One of the critical things is that as an international parent, if something goes wrong, we can't get here," Eve added. "Even if you rang me now and I got on a plane now, I still would not be here for 24 hours. So if anything goes wrong, it is just such a relief to know that there are a thousand people to step in my shoes to be there."

International students at Wayne State College also have the benefit of the Multicultural office, International Club and a whole host of academic services to help them succeed in their main goal, getting an education.

Australia is 18 hours ahead of Wayne. The Frasers are approximately 8,444 miles away from their only daughter, who can't make it back to her Brisbane home very often, but according to Eve, Rachel's experience as an international student has been worth it.

"It did mean a lot of sacrifice, was it worth it? I'd do it again in a flash," Eve said.

The Frasers said they were so happy with Rachel's experience at Wayne State College, that they would recommend the school to other Australians, especially women soccer players like Rachel, for whom opportunities are limited for in Australia.

"I'm just in awe of the level," Eve said. "They're not just teachers but coaches and the conditions are just so lovely and clean. It's everything as a mother you want, to know your child is here and safe and happy."

Northeast's Anderson named as an outstanding college trustee leader; Reikofski earns staff award

A member of the board of governors and a staff member of Northeast Community College have earned national recognition for their work in higher education.

Steve Anderson, of Concord, a member of the Northeast Board of Governors, is one of five people to be named a finalist for the Association of Community College Trustees (ACCT) 2018 M. Dale Ensign Trustee Leadership Award. Anderson, the Western Region finalist, will contend with four other trustees from community colleges in California, Florida, Illinois, and New York for the national honor this fall.

Anderson was initially appointed to a District 3 position on the Northeast Community College Board of Governors in April 1997 and was formally elected to the board in 1998. He was reelected to the seat in 2002, 2006, 2010 and 2014. District 3 includes Dixon and Dakota counties in their entirety and a portion of Cedar County.

In his time on the Northeast board, Anderson served as chairperson in 2004 and 2012, vice chair in 2003 and 2011 and secretary in 2002, 2010, and 2017. During his tenure, he has also served as chairperson of several board committees; most recently as chair of the Finance Committee in 2017.

"Steve has dedicated 20-years of outstanding service to the Northeast Community College Board of Governors," said Dr. Michael Chipps, college president. "He brings superb knowledge and wisdom to each board meeting that is based on his working experience in agriculture and in business. He is a dedicated member of the board who consistently supports endeavors to increase the success of students."

As an engaged board member, Chipps said Anderson has been involved in many changes on Northeast's main campus and extended campuses since joining the board in 1997.

"Over the years, Steve Anderson has remained mindful of being a good steward of the taxpayers' dollars and has a passion for the work of community colleges as it trains and educates the future workforce. He is most deserving of this recognition by ACCT."

In 2017, Anderson was presented with the Nebraska Community College Association's Governor's Award. The award is presented annually to one board member from five of the state's community college areas.

Anderson is the third Northeast board member to earn the award. The late John Davies, of Pilger, was named by ACCT as its Western Region finalist for the M. Dale Ensign Trustee Leadership Award in 2015, while Richard Corkle, of Tilden, received the award 1984, the first year it was presented.

ACCT has also recognized Diane Reikofski, board recording secretary and executive assistant to the College president, with its Professional Board Staff Member Award. Reikofski, the Western Region finalist, will contend with four other executive/administrative assistants from community colleges in Arkansas, California, Missouri, and New York for the national honor this fall.

Chipps said Reikofski has been a "guiding, yet gentle force" in her professional service to the College board of governors and his office in her over twenty years at Northeast.

He said, "Diane is not only meticulous with preparing the work that takes place at each board meeting, she goes about it diligently, quietly, and humbly. She understands the importance of professional development and seeks out new avenues of learning, especially technology solutions, to ensure that the college, the board and president's operations run efficiently."

In addition, Chipps said Reikofski is a rich source of knowledge and history of the institution and is often called upon by those both internally and externally.

"Diane serves as a new mentor to new employees, a friend to others, and is depended upon and respected by students. Her values reflect that of a highly motivated, positive-thinking professional that is exhibited in her everyday life, and by someone who lives by the golden rule in how she treats others."

"Community colleges are one of our country's national treasures, offering affordable, high-quality higher education for all American people," said ACCT Chair and Edmonds Community College (WA) Trustee Emily Kim. "Regional ACCT awardees represent the most outstanding people and programs from throughout the United States."

"Recognizing the outstanding leaders behind community college is one of the most exciting parts of our year," said ACCT President and CEO J. Noah Brown. "The 2018 awardees reflect the extraordinary commitments and accomplishments of the people who dedicate their lives to helping students."

ACCT's Western Region covers 10 states and five Canadian provinces and territories. Geographically, it is the largest of ACCT's five regions across North America.

As regional level honorees, Anderson and Reikofski will now contend for the national-level title in their respective categories. One outstanding award recipient in each category will be announced during the Annual ACCT Awards Gala in New York City in October, in conjunction with the 49th Annual ACCT Leadership Congress.

This is the second consecutive year a Northeast Community College representative has been recognized by the Association of Community College Trustees. In 2017, ACCT named Chipps as its Western Region Finalist for its Chief Executive Officer award.

The Association of Community College Trustees is a non-profit educational organization of governing boards, representing more than 6,500 elected and appointed trustees who govern over 1,200 community, technical, and junior colleges in the United States and beyond.

Late scores help Wayne shut out Arlington

For almost 45 minutes, neither Wayne nor Arlington's offense could find the opposing end zone. The Blue Devils had their opportunities in the early going, but two fumbles and an interception kept the home team from scoring. Wayne's defense did more than its share on the night, once again proving the strength of the team by limiting the visiting Eagles to just seven first downs and 123 yards in total offense on the night. Wildcats move up a spot in AVCA rankings

The Wayne State volleyball team earned a one spot promotion to No. 18 in this week's American Volleyball Coaches Association Division II Top 25 Coaches' Poll.

The 8-2 Wildcats have been ranked in the last 102 regular season national coaches' poll dating back to Sept. 28, 2009. Last week, Wayne State posted a 3-2 road win at Sioux Falls followed by a 3-2 home loss to No. 7 Southwest Minnesota State.

Wayne State is one of five NSIC schools in this week's top 25, along with No. 2 Northern State, No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 6 Minnesota Duluth and No. 7 Southwest Minnesota State. Three other teams in the Central Region are ranked, including No. 1 Nebraska-Kearney, No. 9 Central Missouri and No. 15 Central Oklahoma.

The Wildcats play three matches this week, starting Tuesday night at Augustana. Wayne State will then host No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul Friday at 6 p.m. and Minnesota State Saturday in a 1 p.m. contest.

Wildcats win one, lose one in five-set thrillers

It was an exciting week for the Wayne State volleyball team as they opened Northern Sun Conference action with a pair of five-set thrillers.

On Thursday, middle hitter Tarrin Beller tied a single game school record with 13 blocks to help the 19th-ranked Wildcats rally for a 3-2 win at Sioux Falls in the NSIC opener for both teams, winning 25-16, 18-25, 16-25, 25-19, 15-11.

The Wildcats came out strong, forcing 11 attack errors on USF with four coming on blocks. Alyssa Ballenger had three of Wayne State's eight kills in the first set while Beller accounted for four blocks.

Momentum swung to the side of Sioux Falls in the second set as the Cougars recorded 18 kills and a .341 attack percentage. Sophomore Maddie Knobbe had three kills in six attempts for Wayne State.

Sioux Falls continued their strong play in the third set, leading from start to finish. Jaci Brahmer had a team-high four kills in the set as the Cougars produced 15 kills and just four errors for a .297 attack percentage in the set.

The Wildcats started quickly in the fourth set, taking a 5-1 lead following a Hope Carter service ace. Sioux Falls rallied to knot the score at 8-8, but the Wildcats used a Cougar attack error and Beller kill to take the lead for good at 10-8. The Wildcats extended the lead to 13-9 to force a USF timeout. WSC sealed the set win with a block by Knobbe and Beller, the fifth of the set, to force the winner-take-all fifth game.

It didn't look good for the Wildcats early in the fifth set as Sioux Falls took an 8-4 lead, but kills from Brahmer and Katie Stephens cut the Cougar lead to 9-8. After a time out, Wayne State used back-to-back service aces from junior libero Haley Kauth followed by a Cougar attack error to take control of the set with an 11-9 lead. The Wildcats closed the set with a pair of blocks, a solo stuff by Beller and another by Beller and Knobbe on match point to complete the Wildcat rally and take the win.

Ballenger paced WSC in hitting with 12 kills to go with 20 digs for her first double-double of the season. Brahmer added 10 kills and had three blocks while Beller produced nine kills and tied a single-match school record with 13 blocks in the contest. Wayne State and NSIC Hall of Famer Emily Schroeder Jones set the school standard three times in her career from 2005-07. Kauth was credited with 21 digs and had three of Wayne State's eight service aces in the win while setter Megan Gebhardt had 36 set assists.

On Saturday, seventh-ranked Southwest Minnesota State outlasted the Wildcats in a five-set thriller at Rice Auditorium, winning 23-25, 25-18, 13-25, 25-22 and 15-11.

The first set was a back-and-forth battle with 10 ties and six lead changes. Wayne State took its biggest lead of the set at 17-12 following a Maddie Duffy service ace to force an SMSU timeout. Later in the set, SMSU used three straight kills from Angela Young to take a 21-20 lead and force a Wildcat timeout.

Wayne State scored the next two points to regain the lead at 22-21 and used a Beller kill and another from Katie Stephens to close the set. Beller had five kills in the set to lead WSC.

SMSU came back and controlled the second set despite five kills from Stephens. Wayne State hit just .102 in the set while SMSU had 15 kills and a .222 attack percentage.

Wayne State regained momentum in the third set and never trailed to take a 2-1 advantage. The Wildcats had 15 kills and a .310 attack percentage in the set, led by Brahmer with five kills, while the Wildcats forced eight SMSU attack errors.

The fourth set saw the Mustangs rally from an early deficit to force a fifth set. Wayne State held a 12-10 advantage following a kill from Beller, but SMSU surged back and scored six of the next seven points for a 16-13 Mustang lead forcing a Wildcat timeout.

Wayne State got as close as one in the fourth set at 18-17, but a service ace from SMSU's Kaylee Burmeister gave the Mustangs a 23-19 lead and SMSU held on to tie the match.

SMSU jumped out to an early 4-1 lead in the fifth set. Wayne State rallied to even the score at 8-8, but three straight points from the Mustangs gave SMSU an 11-8 cushion to force a Wildcat timeout. The Wildcats got within one at 11-10 following a block by Knobbe and Beller, but SMSU closed the set with four of the final five points to give the Mustangs the win.

Stephens led four Wildcat players in double figure kills with 16. Beller had 12 to go with seven blocks while Ballenger and Brahmer each recorded 11 kills. Kauth had 36 digs followed by Ballenger with 19. Gebhardt had a double-double with 51 set assists and 10 digs.

Wayne State (8-2, 1-1 NSIC) played at Augustana on Tuesday. They will be home this weekend to face top-ranked Concordia-St. Paul on Friday and Minnesota State on Saturday.

Wildcat soccer drops overtime home opener

In a competition that took 102 minutes to decide, Augustana played spoiler to Wayne State's home-opener and grabbed a game-winning goal in the second overtime in a 2-1 win Sunday afternoon to open NSIC play at the Wayne State Soccer Pitch.

The Vikings looked to capitalize on a quick start with four shots in the first 10 minutes of action, but goalkeeper Rachel Grisham answered the call, grabbing two saves and kept the Wildcats level early. The two sides were unable to grab an advantage in the first half as Augustana outshot Wayne State 6-3.

Wayne State came out in the second half with a flurry of opportunities off a Natalie Rech throw, capped by the first career goal for Rylie Wehner, as she scored four minutes into the second half.

Augustana found the equalizer in the 65th minute behind an Alexis Legg goal. Grisham made an outstretched save to deny a Morgan Kierstead attempt, but was unable to parry it far enough from danger as Legg pounced and made no mistake slotting it home. The Vikings out-shot the Wildcats 14-9 in regulation while Grisham collected eight saves in the opening 90 minutes.

Augustana recorded seven shots in the overtime period and ended the contest in the second overtime with Legg's second goal of the game. After a scramble in the box that led to two Grisham saves, Grace Behm found Legg from the left side and Legg finished with composure to the side netting.

The Vikings had an 8-3 advantage on corner kicks and outshot the Wildcats 21-9 in the contest. Grisham finished the game one short of her career-high in saves with 11. Wehner led the Wildcats with two shots on goal while Carleigh Wilson, Megan Phillips and Rachel Fraser all recorded a shot on goal.

The Wildcats (0-3, 0-1 NSIC) will be at home again Friday afternoon, hosting Sioux Falls in a 3 p.m. contest at the WSC Soccer Pitch.

Wildcats fall in three sets to Wynot

The Winside volleyball team dropped a three-set decision at Wynot last Tuesday, falling to the Blue Devils 25-13, 25-19, 25-11.

Kati Topp and Andi Bargstadt each had seven kills, Jaden Rastede added four and Hope Cummins put down three to lead the Wildcat attack. Brooklyn Behmer had 20 assists, and Ashelyn Ablar had an ace serve.

Defensively, Rastede and Topp each had a block. Haylee Cummins had 16 digs, Topp added 10, Jackie Escalante had eight, Bargstadt had seven, Behmer had six and Hope Cummins has three.

The 1-6 Wildcats played a triangular at Homer on Tuesday and will host Bloomfield Thursday and Wausa on Tuesday, Sept. 18.

Kendall Dorey knocks a base hit for the Wayne High softball team during Monday's 14-0 win over West Point-Beemer. The Blue Devils are 16-0 on the season.

Blue Devil softballers have another spotless week

The Wayne High softball team are in the middle of a stretch of nine games in 10 days, but are still unbeaten as they won another tournament over the weekend.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils had no problems with Tekamah-Herman, posting a 9-0 win at the Summer Sports Complex.

Wayne got all they would need in the first inning when Maysn Dorey singled and later came home on a passed ball.

The Blue Devils erupted for five runs in the second inning, thanks to a two-run single by Allison Claussen, an RBI single by Josie Thompson, an Annie Kniesche sacrifice fly and an RBI double by Sidney Biggerstaff. They added three more in the third with an RBI triple by Thompson, an RBI single by Dorey and an RBI double by Kniesche.

That was more than enough for junior fireballer Tori Kniesche, who struck out the side in all five innings and allowed only a leadoff single in the second inning as the only baserunner for the Tigers. She finished with a one-hit shutout, striking out 15.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils won their third tournament title of the season by taking the Omaha Mercy Invitational crown.

Wayne opened with an easy 13-1 win over North Bend Central, scoring all 13 runs in the opening inning.

Maysn Dorey, Abby Ankeny and Thompson each had triples and Dorey added a double in the opening inning. Thompson's hit was a bases-clearing triple while Ankeny had a two-run triple in the inning.

Kendall Dorey got the win in the first game, allowing two hits and striking out six in the three-inning game.

In the semifinals, Wayne shut out Platteview 10-0, scoring five in the second and five more in the third to end the game in four innings.

Maysn Dorey had a two-run double and Tori Kniesche had three RBI's to lead the offense. The Dorey sisters and Claussen scored two runs apiece.

Kniesche went the distance in the four-inning game, allowing just one hit while striking out 11.

Schutte has big night as Bears edge Indians

Noah Schutte had a hand in five of LCC's six touchdowns on the night as the Bears came from behind Friday to win at Winnebago, 40-34.

Schutte hooked up with Izac Reifenrath on four touchdown passes, two of those coming in the first half as the Bears held a 26-12 halftime advantage.

The duo connected on a 53-yard pass to open the scoring, followed by a four-yard run by Reifenrath to make it 12-0.

After the Indians came back to tie the game, Schutte caught a 16-yard pass from Reifenrath, then came through on defense with one of three interceptions, returning it 50 yards for a score to give the Bears the two-touchdown advantage at intermission.

Winnebago responded with three straight scores to take a 34-28 lead early in the fourth, but the Reifenrath-to-Schutte connection came through down the stretch with touchdown passes of 13 and nine yards, giving the Bears the comeback win and improving their record to 1-1 on the season.

Reifenrath was 11-of-19 passing for 178 yards, and also rushed for 97 yards on 20 carries to lead the LCC offense. Schutte finished with eight receptions for 151 yards and four touchdowns along with three interceptions, one of which resulted in a touchdown.

Austin Brandt rushed nine times for 29 yards and Cael Hartung had six yards on eight carries. Ty Erwin caught three passes for 27 yards.

Defensively, Austin Hall had 11 total tackles, Noah Stone had eight, Reifenrath had seven and Brandt, Hartung and Cutter Haberman each had six.

The Bears host Osmond for homecoming this Friday at 7 p.m. at Haskell Field.

Solomon Peitz lets fly with a pass during the first half of Wakefield's 26-16 loss to Howells-Dodge Friday at Eaton Field.

Trojans can't overcome slow start against Jaguars

Wakefield didn't have an answer for Howells-Dodge running back Dylan Horejsi as a second-half comeback fell short in a 26-16 loss to the Jaguars Friday at Eaton Field.

The Howells-Dodge running back accounted for 137 of the Jaguars' 224 yards on the ground and caught a 58-yard touchdown pass late to add to his three rushing touchdowns against the Trojan defense.

Coach Mike Hassler felt his team had a chance to be successful against the visitors, but made too many mistakes to get the job done.

"I'd be lying if I said I wasn't disappointed. I really felt going in we had an excellent chance to be a top tier team, but in the end we just did to many things mentally that kept us from being successful," he said. "The effort is there, the physicality is there, but where we fall short is in the execution of our game plan. I need to find a way to get that cleaned up as the head coach. I'm definitely going to look at ways to help us all get on the same page so we can be successful. We've played two pretty darn good teams tough, but I'm not satisfied with that and I don't think the boys are either."

The Jaguars built a 12-0 halftime advantage on two short touchdown runs by Horejsi, the added another run by the Jaguar running back to make it a 20-0 game into the third quarter.

Wakefield finally got things going offensively later in the third quarter and capitalize on a 20-yard pass from Solomon Peitz to Nick Arenas to make it a 20-8 game after EsGAR Godinez' touch conversion.

The Jaguars put the game out of reach in the fourth when Horejsi scored again, this time through the air on a 58-yard pass from Darrin Pokorny. Dylan Harder scored on a one-yard run late in the game, but it wasn't enough as the Trojans fell to 0-2 on the season.

Hassler said it was a matter of being in position to make plays on both sides of the ball, and the Trojans weren't able to get that done.

"Our execution was sub-par," he said. "They did exactly what we thought they would do coming in, but we just continue to shoot ourselves in the foot and kill drives through mistakes and penalties. If you want to be a team that competes with the best you have to bring it on all levels. We need to look at getting the mental aspect of the game on par with the emotional and physical."

As far as the defense was concerned, "When we all did our job we stopped them. When one guy broke down they got three to five yards every crack and just chewed up clock and the field. We had a lot of that. I don't think we played terrible defense, it just wasn't up to what we are capable of. I need eight guys playing for each other, and sometimes I think we get some individuals running around out there trying to do everyone's job."

Godinez led the Wakefield ground game with 62 yards on five attempts. Peitz added 35 yards on 10 carries. Harder had 30 yards on 12 tries and Justin Erb carried for 22 yards on eight attempts.

Peitz was 3-of-13 for 43 yards in the passing department, with Arenas catching two balls for 35 yards and Erb bringing in one eight-yard pass.

On defense, Harder led the way with 20 total tackles, Nolan Litchfield had 18, Gabe Peitz had 16 and a fumble recovery and Erb added 14.

The Trojans will head to Norfolk Friday to face a good Lutheran High Northeast team that is coming off an 85-point performance at Winnebago last week.

"They're just another tough opponent and another shot to beat a top team," he said. "I think the first two games we showed ourselves that we are fully capable of playing with anyone in our class. We've also showed ourselves what needs to be fixed and what needs to be executed well if we want to beat the best in our class. I'm not satisfied with just playing the best in our class well, I want to win. We've got a lot of work to do before Friday, but I've been telling them all year there isn't anyone we can't beat. We just need to believe it and execute it."

Wildcats defense stout in 23-14 road win

Wayne State held Southwest Minnesota State to 142 yards of total offense to overcome five turnovers as the Wildcats registered a 23-14 road victory Saturday over the Mustangs at Schwan Regional Event Center in Marshall, Minn.

The Wildcats got off to a slow start, turning the ball over on three of its first four drives (two fumbles/sacks and one interception) as the Mustangs took advantage of the short field early to take the lead.

Wayne State quarterback Aaron Bleil was sacked and fumbled on the second play from scrimmage, giving SMSU the ball at the WSC 5-yard line. Trey Sachs scored on a two-yard run for the Mustangs giving SMSU a 7-0 lead at the 13:13 mark of the first quarter.

Later in the first quarter, Bleil fired a 19-yard scoring strike to redshirt freshman tight end Cole Wemhoff with just six seconds left to knot the score at 7-7.

The lone score of the second quarter came on a 38-yard pass play from Bleil to sophomore tight end Conner Paxton, giving the Wildcats a 13-7 lead at intermission.

Southwest Minnesota State took the opening drive of the second half and marched 78 yards on just seven plays, using a 12-yard pass from quarterback Blake Gimbel to Max

Simmons to give the Mustangs a 14-13 lead at the 12:02 mark of the third quarter.

Wayne State took the lead for good late in the third quarter when Nate Rogers made a great leaping catch in the end zone on a 20-yard pass from Bleil, putting the Wildcats ahead 20-14 entering the fourth quarter.

Despite a late third-quarter fumble and another fumble in the fourth, Wayne State was able to overcome the miscues on offense thanks to a defense that limited SMSU to just 142 yards of total offense that included eight sacks for 50 yards.

After holding SMSU on downs late in the game and getting the ball at the Mustang 16, the Wildcats added an insurance score with 21 seconds to play on a Ethan Knudson 27-yard field goal.

Wayne State held a sizeable edge in total offense over SMSU 417-142. The Wildcats had 126 yards rushing and 291 passing while holding the Mustangs to just five yards rushing and 137 through the air.

Running back Marlon Warren carried the ball 34 times for 147 yards to lead the Wildcat ground attack. Bleil completed 25-of-39 passes for 291 yards and three touchdowns with one interception.

Rogers had seven catches for 93 yards and one TD after making just one catch for nine yards in the first half. Paxton accounted for six receptions and 97 yards with one score while Jamal Albousafi had four catches for 38 yards. Wemhoff added three grabs for 36 yards and one score.

Defensive end Jacob Protzman had eight total tackles including five sacks for 34 yards to lead the Wildcat defense. Linebacker Tyler Thomsen had a team-high 10 tackles while MJ Blankenfeld recorded five stops with two tackles for loss totaling 12 yards.

The Wildcats (1-1, 1-1 NSIC South) return home next weekend, hosting South Division rival Augustana in an NSIC contest starting at 6 p.m. at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne.

Protzman named NSIC Defensive Player of the Week

Wayne State's Jacob Protzman was named the Northern Sun Conference Defensive Player of the Week following his performance in Saturday night's 23-14 NSIC road win at Southwest Minnesota State.

Protzman, a 6-foot-4, 250-pound junior defensive end, recorded five sacks for 34 yards and had eight total tackles with six solo stops in Saturday's win over the Mustangs. His performance highlighted a Wayne State defense that notched eight total sacks and allowed just 142 yards of total offense in the victory.

The five sacks in a single game topped the previous school record of four set by Brad Ottis in 1992 against Iowa Wesleyan.

It's the first time that Protzman has collected NSIC Player of the Week honors.

Jacob Protzman

Allen's Kyle Smith gets past an Emerson-Hubbard defender to gain a first down during the Eagles' 24-6 win over the visiting Pirates Friday night.

Eagles make Pirates walk the plank in 24-6 win

The Allen Eagles improved to 2-0 with a win over their cross-county rivals, taking care of Emerson-Hubbard in a 24-6 decision Friday in Allen.

The two teams combined for nine turnovers in what was a sloppy game for both offenses. Allen, which had three first-half possessions end on a turnover, penalty or bad center snap, still managed to take a 6-0 lead at the half thanks to a three-yard run by Kyle Smith with 2:33 to go in the half.

Emerson-Hubbard tied the game late in the third period on a 15-yard pass from Nolan Belt to Spencer Burcham, but the Eagles responded with a drive of their own that was capped on a 21-yard run by Anthony Isom, giving Allen the lead for good at 12-6.

Allen's defense came through and stopped a Pirate drive early in the fourth quarter, then came back to score twice on runs by Smith. His 8-yard with 3:07 left put the game out of reach, and he added a 49-yard run in the closing moments to cement the Eagles' second win of the year.

Coach Dave Uldrich said the offense needs to clean up the mistakes it made Friday, but the defense is playing well so far.

"I believe the game came down to who could withstand the turnovers with solid defense," he said. "We were our own worst enemy on offense, and that just can not happen if we want to win football games. With the exception of a couple of assignment breakdowns, our defense was good tonight. Without a doubt, we are a work in progress and need to get things more perfected."

Isom and Smith shared honors in the rushing department, with each rushing for 115 yards on 19 carries. Smith was also 6-of-10 passing for 128 yards, with all six receptions going to Devin Twohig.

Allen's defense limited the Pirates to 188 yards in total offense. Isom led the team with 15 tackles, Brogan Jones added 14, Twohig had 13, Smith had 12 tackles to go with a fumble recovery and an interception, and Isaac Verzani had 10 tackles and a fumble recovery.

The Eagles are home again on Friday to face Winside in a 7 p.m. matchup.

Children need time for creativity and imagination

With the approach of fall, we leave behind county and state fairs for the year.

Dixon County

Sarah (Paulos) Roberts

Extension Educator

UNL Extension

Did you have a chance to attend any local fairs this year? How about the Nebraska State Fair? Typically, there are lots of fun things to do for kids of all ages at all of these events.

This year, I had the opportunity to lead an Extension activity at the Nebraska State Fair in Grand Island. Every year, our early childhood team organizes the "Largest Story Time" activity in the Raising Nebraska building on the state fairgrounds. We decided to do a little creative engineering.

First, we read the book, "Not a Box", in which the character tries explaining to the reader (or adult) what a cardboard box can be. Think about it. What do your children do when they have access to a large box? The box automatically morphs into something else and is no longer just a cardboard box. Instead, it becomes a house, a car, a robot, a mountain or anything else a child might envision.

After reading the story, we provided a variety of cardboard pieces and boxes for children to use to build with and create. Cardboard construction tools were available for children to use in order to hold the pieces together. No glue, tape, scissor or staples needed.

As we watched, we noticed something spectacular. Slowly, parents began coming over to support their children instead of just hanging back and watching them play. It became a team effort and children were really focused on their work. Not only that, but children were given the time to think and create. No one was telling them, "Ok, it's time to go" or "come on, we can do this later at home". A few parents even allowed their children to take their creations home with them! What is the big deal about cardboard engineering? It sounds so simple, but can be extremely effective. When children have the opportunity to create and use their imagination, they are practicing problem solving and critical thinking skills. Creativity and imagination are desperately needed for the workforce of the future as we look for innovative ways to solve problems and develop new products.

As a parent, how can you encourage creativity and imagination? Provide a variety of materials for children to explore. This includes nature items, craft supplies, and recyclable materials. Try doing more activities outside and asking open-ended questions.

Children don't need expensive toys and electronics. They need time to explore, create and imagine.

Ready
Prepare. Plan. Stay Informed.

- The likelihood that you and your family will recover from an emergency tomorrow often depends on the planning and preparation done today. Each person's abilities and needs are unique, but every individual can take steps to prepare for all kinds of emergencies. By evaluating your own personal needs and making an emergency plan that fits those needs, you and your loved ones can be better prepared.
- There are actions that should be taken before, during and after an event that are unique to each hazard. Identify the hazards that have happened or could happen and plan for for each.
- Your family may not be together when disaster strikes, so plan how you will contact one another. Think about how you will communicate in different situations.
- Tailor your plans and supplies to your specific daily living needs and responsibilities. Most or all individuals have specific personal needs (for example medicines). Have plenty on hand in case of disaster.

Are You Prepared?

- Do you pay attention to threatening weather?
- Do you have a safe place to jump into when a tornado is approaching?
- Do you have a meeting place for family after a weather event?
- Do you think the government will be here right away to help you in the case of a regional disaster?
- Do you have ten days of food and water in your house in case of a long term regional electrical outage?

Why should someone join your church?

Recently I went back home to Virginia and happened to attend a large extended family gathering. I sat at a table with one of my fourth cousins and she gave me an update on how things are going at her home congregation. She told me that although the congregation has enough money to keep operating at the moment, most of the members are over the age of sixty. She told me that she was worried that with no younger members joining or attending worship, the congregation would be forced to close within her lifetime.

I was very sympathetic to my cousin's concern. The congregation she attends is the ancestral home of my family. My ancestors' names are in writing on several stained glass windows. Some of my relatives are buried in the graveyard. I would be very sad to hear that this congregation would have to close. But my reply to my cousin's concern was perhaps not what she was expecting. "Why should someone join your church?" I asked her.

Now I don't want to throw my cousin under the bus. I have heard many people express worry that not enough young people are participating in the life of the church. I have heard many congregational leaders say they are worried the congregation might have to eventually close.

new members to join the church in order to help balance the church budget. But, again I want to ask the question, "Why should someone join your church?"

I don't imagine that young adults or new people in town would appreciate an invitation to join a church because the church needs to increase its finances. The truth is, the church of Christ should invite youth, young adults, and all sorts of people to participate in the life of a congregation because the church is where we hear the Word of God spoken out loud, where we receive the body and blood of Christ, and where God's family reunites weekly in order to share the peace of Christ with one another.

As a faithful Lutheran who confesses that I have been saved by grace through faith in Jesus Christ my Lord, I'm also suspicious of church practices that seem to embody a "quid pro quo" philosophy. For example: "IF you join my congregation THEN we expect you to volunteer and give money IN ORDER THAT my congregation won't have to close". Instead, I would urge all faithful Christians to put aside worry, trust that the Holy Spirit is with you and your congregation (no matter how large or small) and simply invite people into the life of the church with no ulterior motives in mind. For example: "Please feel welcome to come to church and participate because Jesus loves you and this congregation is prepared to love and accept you and we don't expect anything else. You can volunteer here and tithe if you feel God calling you to do so, but that is not why we want you to come to church." I think this second example, one that adopts an attitude of grace, would be a much more appealing invitation to join a church rather than the first example, which is steeped in conditions.

Again, I want to leave all of you Word and Faith readers with a question, the same question I asked my cousin, "Why should someone join your church?"

Winside St Paul's women conduct September meeting

Winside St Paul's Ladies Aid and LWML met Sept. 5 with 12 members and Pastor Goodman present. President Pat Janke opened the meeting and everyone recited the League Pledge. She had a devotion on The weak made strong. Everyone sang the hymn "Our God Our Help in Ages Past."

Pastor Goodman had Bible Study on the book of Philippians. Secretary DeLana Marotz read the secretary's report which was approved as read.

Treasurer Lorraine Prince read the treasurer's report which was filed for financial review.

Communications: President Pat Janke read a thank you from the Marotz family thanking the Ladies Aid and all the volunteers for helping with the lunch after Warren's funeral.

New Business: Mrs. Janke asked for input regarding sponsoring a Seminary Student. After discussion, it was decided to send a monetary gift to the seminary students in the Dominican Republic and then in September the group will sponsor a student from one of our Seminaries.

Mrs. Janke also suggested having a dinner to raise money for the organ fund. It was tabled until next month. Also discussed was the Mission Festival and this item was also tabled until next month.

Old Business include the fact that the Mary Group reported on serving the Warren Marotz funeral.

Arlyn Valhkamp will visit the shut in's in September.

The birthday song was sung for the September Birthdays which are Gertrude Vahlkamp, Evelyn Herbolsheimer, and Erna Hoffman. A birthday card was sent to Keri Dangberg.

A get well card was sent to Les Allemann.

It was brought up to have a nominating committee to fill the President and Treasurer's positions. They both said they would be glad to continue with their positions.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 3 with Janice Mundil and Lorraine Prince as hostesses.

Church in the park

Ideal weather conditions greeted those who attended Mass in Bressler Park on Sept. 9. St. Mary's Catholic Church held the 10 a.m. Mass in the park and then hosted a potluck lunch. The service was attended by a large group of people and provided an opportunity for fellowship also. The Knights of Columbus and members of the Pastoral Council assisted with the meal.

Kevin J. Murray Memorial Fishing Tournament results announced

For the last 14 years, the Kevin J. Murray Memorial Fishing Tournament has been honoring the memory of Wayne High School graduate Kevin Murray and raising money for Wayne Community Schools. Lewis and Clarke Lake was the site of 2018's tournament.

Fishermen and women flocked to the lake on Aug. 25, where 36 two-person teams competed to catch the largest walleye, the most walleye by weight and largest non-walleye. Following the fishing, a banquet was held at CJ's at the Lake in Crofton.

This year the event raised $10,000 for the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. Over the last 14 years, the Kevin J. Murray Fishing Tournament has raised a grand total of $126,000 for the foundation, allowing for the purchase of things like rubber flooring for the weight room, welding equipment, playground equipment and more.

Murray died as a result of a boating accident in 2004. To honor his memory, Murray's wife Sherry and their three daughters organized the first memorial fishing tournament in 2005. Throughout the years, over 800 fishermen and women have participated in a past time Murray loved.

Members of Kevin J. Murray's family pose for a photo at the 14th annual fishing tournament held in his memory. Murray and his wife Sherry both graduated from high school in Wayne. Proceeds from the fishing tournament have raised $126,000 for Wayne Community Schools and for the Wayne Community Schools Foundation.

Ken Prokop, of Wayne, and Ryan Heiden, of Ralston, show off their catches. The team amassed the most walleye by weight at the Kevin J. Murray Memorial Fishing Tournament. Prokop and Heiden pulled in over 13 pound of walleye on Lewis and Clarke Lake.

Dennis Murray and Jim Milliken, both of Wayne, won the largest walleye contest during the annual fishing tournament. Murray and Milliken bested the second place entry by over a pound. Their walleye weighed in at just over five pounds.

How do you want to be remembered?

How do you want to be remembered? That question has been on my mind this week, especially since an editorial writer posed it. We not only try not to speak ill of the dead, but we tend to make them even larger in death than in life!

John McCain, a maverick and hero, Aretha Franklin, the Queen of her music style, Bert Reynolds, who said "I had a lot of fun."

We have fun memories of Bert when he played a minor role in the movie that was shot on Church Road in 1995. My goodness, that was a long time ago now. We did not get to meet him, but he made a big splash in the little town of Murdock by driving up in our friend Lyle's red Cadillac, which was used in the movie, and shopping for snacks in the little grocery store. It was right as school had let out, so the students were there, from Smoky and the Bandit. He certainly played opposite type; he was Pro Life Minister, but in a rather unflattering way. He had played football at Florida State, and bought some Bobby Reynolds memorabilia at a local antique store, saying they were cousins. Who knew?? When I mentioned it in swim class this morning, very few even knew who I was talking about when I said Bobby Reynolds.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Anyway, back to the way you want to be remembered. Shakespeare is quoted as saying, "All the world's a stage." I have a wrapper from a Dove candy piece that says, "We're all stories in the end, just make it a good one." And I feel I need to add that there are no new stories, perhaps just some variations.

When you work in Hospice, you attend a lot of funerals or memorial services. Some of my patients had their arrangements made, even to the picking out of a casket and a marker. Then there were the ones who just could not face it, and left it all to their families or to the mortician.

At Mr. Kavanaugh's hearing this week, Senator Feinstein asked how he would like to be remembered; his answer? "a good Dad, a good judge," and with some prompting, "a good husband". Sounds good to me. I know I want to be remembered as a good nurse, and a good mom, and a good wife (most of the time).

But I copied this little ditty a long time ago, and it has been in the clutter on my computer desk, waiting for a time I could use it. Now is the time, and I can still find it!

When I'm dead, I hope it's said, "her sins were many, but her columns were read." Amen!

Sharp Shooters to host event

The Wayne County Sharp Shooters are gearing up to host a Triathlon/Biathlon in Shooting Sports on Sunday, Sept. 16 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

Registration starts at 8 a.m. with first relays to start at 9 a.m.

The shooting events offered will be Archery 3-D and field target, Air Rifle Silhouettes and Trap (Shotgun) Shooting. Age divisions will be as follows, 8-10 (Junior), 11-14 (Intermediate), 15-18 (Senior), and Open (Young at Heart).

Competitors may shoot one, two or all three events depending on age. Shotgunners must be 11 years of age or older to shoot trap. If competitors do all three events, their scores are tallied together for the Triathlon Championship. Junior shooters may compete in Archery and Air Rifle Silhouettes for Biathlon Awards. Medals will be awarded per age group per event.

New to this area is the Air Rifle Silhouette match. This will consist of shooting 10 shots each at chickens, pigs, turkeys and rams at varying distances. All shooting is done from the standing position. Archery will be varying distances also. Trap will be 25 rocks, shot from the 16 yard line.

Competitors are encouraged to bring their own equipment (guns, ammo, bows, arrows, etc.). Limited equipment will be available at the competition. Eye protection is required on the air rifle and trap ranges, with hearing protection required on the trap range.

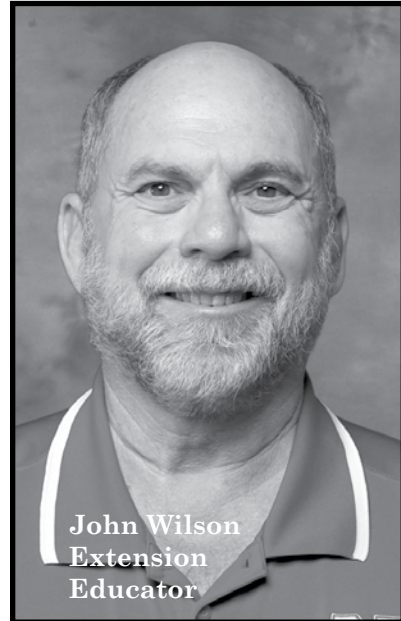

For more information, contact Darin Greunke, Leader of the Sharp Shooters at (402) 286-4895.

Avoid compaction at harvest

Harvest is one of my favorite times of year. Watching fields being harvested takes me back to my days of growing up on a farm in the Platte River Valley. One big difference is our soils were sandier than most soils in northeast Nebraska and susceptible, but less prone to compaction.

Our recent rain really wasn't needed... and not just because I was sitting in Memorial Stadium with 90,000 friends waiting to see if Nebraska was going to play their season opener. Most area fields already had more than enough moisture going into September, a time when crop water use declines significantly.

This lack of water use by plants leads to wetter soils susceptible to compaction from field traffic and machinery. The size of farms has increased, leading to larger and heavier equipment. However, equipment size is only one factor among several that causes soil compaction.

John Wilson
Extension Educator

10. Damage soil structure. So what should you do? Here are four management decisions to minimize soil compaction during and after harvest.

Dedicated travel lanes. Many combine operators use "on-the-go" unloading into a grain cart to speed harvest. In areas that received excessive rainfall in September, you may want to consider either having dedicated travel lanes in and out of the field for the grain cart. Also, be sure the grain cart wheels are in the same rows as used by the combine. The second pass over the same soil contributes less to compaction than driving on new soil in different rows.

Tire size and pressure. Properly adjusted tire size and correct air pressure for the axle load being carried is a second management tool. Larger tires with lower air pressure allow for better flotation, reduced pressure on the soil surface, and increases the "footprint" on the soil.

Check soil moisture. The most effective way to minimize soil compaction is to avoid field operations when soil moisture is at or near field capacity. So it is important to check soil moisture conditions prior to starting any harvest or tillage operation. A simple way to check soil moisture is the "feel" method by using a soil probe to get some soil from a couple feet deep. Push a ribbon of this soil between the thumb and index finger. If it breaks off within one or two inches, the potential for creating compaction is less. However, if the ribbon stretches out to four or five inches, it is still too wet. Chances are good that being in the field under these conditions may cause more problems than it will solve. Waiting an extra day or two can reduce soil compaction significantly.

Reduce tillage. Delay any tillage operation until soil conditions are drier than field capacity and remember the benefits of conservation tillage systems. In wet conditions, the best choice producers can make is to stay away from the field and avoid traffic on wet soil to reduce soil compaction. How you approach fieldwork after a heavy rain event can impact your soil for future growing seasons.

Two final benefits of staying out of fields when it is too wet is not creating ruts that will require tillage to fill in before planting next spring, or worse yet, having a picture of your combine or tractor buried to the axle circulating on the internet or posted on Facebook for all your friends or neighbors to see.

For more management tips at harvest, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

der heavy pressure from field equipment.

Here are the top 10 reasons to avoid soil compaction. Compaction will:

1. Cause nutrient deficiencies
2. Reduce crop productivity
3. Restrict root development
4. Reduce soil aeration
5. Decrease soil available water
6. Reduce infiltration rate.
7. Increase bulk density.
8. Increase sediment and nutrient losses.
9. Increase surface runoff.

Youth compete at archery tournament

Five Wayne County Sharpshooters attended the third annual Directors Cup Archery Tournament Aug. 18 in Lincoln.

It was held at the Nebraska Game and Parks Outdoor Education Center and partially sponsored by Cabelas, Nebraska Game and Parks, and the Lincoln Archery Club.

Archers competed in 11 divisions using a Lake of the Woods format — shooting at multiple targets at varying distances. The winner of each division then had a chance to shoot at a two inch orange dot, and the arrow closest to the center took home the Director's Cup.

Carter Anson won his Cub Compound division and had a chance to try for the Director's Cup. Although he was not the closest, he still took home a first place finish.

Brayden Lurz came in second, Alexis Frye was third, and Rylynn Owen was sixth in Cub Compound. Bryce Lurz finished third in Cub Recurve.

"The kids performed very well in a State Tournament atmosphere and we are looking forward to seeing them continue to mature in their abilities," said Eric Frye, coach of the Wayne County archers.

More Bang for Our Buck

Every year at this time, I know that you take on an operational focus. I do the exact same thing. But, while we are worried about the business at hand, you know, how full is bin 3? What is the moisture on the corn on the NW quarter? How many bushels have to go to the elevator? And so on, there is a lot of research coming to a culmination. The starter trials, the variety, and hybrid comparisons. But I know many of you are also trying to use specialty products on your operation. Biologicals, inhibitors, and many other products are seeing the culmination of a growing season. And while we are operationally focused, there is a wealth of data streaming into our monitors to feed a winter worth of study and decision making.

You might expect me to continue down the path and talk about the importance of harvest monitors and data. Instead, I am going to take a left turn and talk about specialty products.

By Keith Byerly
Central Valley Ag
ACS Manager

Every year as we comb through the data from the season, we get to evaluate the success and the failures. All too often, however, we look at the results of plot data in the wrong way. In college, when there was a class that was not going the way that we wanted, we would consider changing it from a graded class, to pass/fail. What that meant in simple terms was we were confident in our ability to pass the course, but not to do so without some significant difficulty. So instead, we decided to bypass some of the pressure and declare that we wouldn't judge each chapter, each homework assignment, and each test on its own merit, but instead, put a blanket over it and judge it as a whole body of work.

All too often, as we judge the use of specialty products on our farm, we look at them in the same manner, as a pass/fail judgment, when in fact that just smoothes out the data. For argument's sake, let's look at a product that minimizes Phosphorus fertilizer fixation. Without getting into soil chemistry, I can tell you that there are two cases when phosphorus availability becomes a big problem for us in real-world conditions, and that is when our pH gets too low, or our pH gets too high. In both of these instances, phosphorus is less readily available to plants because of chemical forces that occur in the soil. So imagine that we apply a product to our Phosphorus fertilizer across the entire field to deal with this issue, but on any given field, not every acre will have a severe problem of this type. That means that if we judge the field as pass/fail, it probably fails and we dismiss the value of the Phosphorus fertilizer fixation product. But if we judged every acre separately, we would have acres where this product failed to pay for itself, acres where there was a modest benefit, and acres it was a home run. If we look at each acre or even portions of an acre on its own merit, the product is no longer a fail, but a "fiscal no-brainer."

That my friend is the beauty of the age that we live in today. With the monitors we have on our harvest equipment, the intensive soil sampling we do, the remote images, and a host of other tools at our disposal, we can measure the merits of these products not just as a whole, but as their own microclimate as well. That's only part of the equation. We also must flip the switch on the application of this group of products as well. Instead of mixing these products into a tank full of starter, or a bin of fertilizer, we need to use the technology at hand to utilize it better. Putting a small tank on a planter and letting the display we already have control another product with a prescription map is relatively simple and inexpensive. Adding a system like a Raven Sidekick and injecting a product while you are planting or spraying doesn't cost much or add a lot of complexity. Heck, even taking the bin of variable rate Phosphorus fertilizer that we were going to use, and splitting it into two bins and treating one for the "challenging" acre are all within our grasp.

So as we harvest our fields and evaluate our products over the coming weeks and months, look deeper at the data. That is what our ACS team is here to help you do. Look for the opportunities to take a small win and turn it into a major victory next year using one of the hardware systems that our ACS Equipment team specializes in. And at the end of the day pass/fail is irrelevant because we stacked the homework and the tests in our favor.

Wayne State's new programs and partnerships create a better future

The addition of new academic programs and partnerships provides Wayne State students with more opportunities to follow their passion and prepare for their desired career field. We are the most affordable four-year college in our region with more than 130 programs of study designed to help you succeed. Read on to discover the newest additions to Wayne State's rigorous curriculum.

Agricultural Engineering and Mechanical Engineering (2+2 Partnership with University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Engineering): Agricultural engineers attempt to solve agricultural problems concerning power supplies, the efficiency of machinery, the use of structures and facilities, pollution and environmental issues, and the storage and processing of agricultural products. Mechanical engineers design and oversee the manufacture of many products ranging from medical devices to new batteries; design power-producing machines, such as electric generators, internal combustion engines, and steam and gas turbines, as well as power-using machines, such as refrigeration and air-conditioning systems. Mechanical engineering also includes nanotechnology, which involves the creation of high-performance materials and components by integrating atoms and molecules. Both of these are joint programs between WSC and UNL College of Engineering. Students will complete their first years of course work with WSC, then transfer all satisfactorily completed credits to UNL to complete the B.S. degree.

Forensic Science (double major in chemistry and criminal justice): This program, which sets students up to receive degrees in two fields, combines different aspects of science – natural, lab, and social – to prepare for a career related to crime scenes and investigation. Forensic science is the application of science to the law. Forensic scientists use scientific methodology to collect and analyze evidence. It is an applied discipline that requires an extensive background in the natural sciences, coupled with practical laboratory experience, all which students can gain at Wayne State College with the new Criminal Justice Crime Scene Investigation Facility that opened this fall.

Manufacturing Management

(concentration in industrial technology): Nebraska is one of the top three states with the fastest growth in technology jobs. For companies to grow and prosper, employees who have the ability to design, deploy, integrate, and manage emerging (advanced manufacturing, robotics, and 3-D printing) and traditional (construction, manufacturing, and planning/design) technologies are needed. The manufacturing management degree program at Wayne State College will prepare students for a career as a production worker, a production supervisor, or an applied engineer. With a degree in manufacturing management, students will be prepared for introductory supervisory roles in business and industry. Combining technical content with business courses, this program was developed with the awareness and assistance of a business, industry, and education advisory council, which means Wayne State provides an education well-suited for the pursuit of a leadership role in manufacturing.

The manufacturing management program will be one of many programs housed in the college's new Center for Applied Technology (CAT), which will open in December. The CAT is projected to serve as a gateway of opportunity for students to experience industrial manufacturing in an environment that cultivates interest and excitement in industrial technology. Complemented by top-notch faculty who deliver an industry-based curriculum, the center will attract students from high schools as well as community colleges to seek careers in this growing area. The center will serve as a hub for programs of study such as manufacturing management, safety management, and industrial technology education. The CAT will deliver education for industry, provide a career academy for local school districts, and serve as a regional hub for innovation and workforce development. Wayne State offers Nebraska's only Industrial Technology education degree in which teachers can earn certification in these fields. This is critically important with the increased emphasis on high school career academies throughout Nebraska and the need to provide qualified teachers.

Pre-Athletic Training Program (major in applied human and sport physiology): As a part of a health care team, services provided by athletic trainers include injury and illness prevention, wellness promotion and education, emergent care, examination and clinical diagnosis, therapeutic intervention, and rehabilitation of injuries and medical conditions. In this program, students earn a bachelor's degree in applied human and sport physiology while taking classes that will best prepare them for the athletic training field. After graduating from WSC, students are ready to pursue graduate work at a professional school and obtain an athletic training degree.

Pre-Public Health (3+2 Masters Degree in Public Health in Partnership with UNMC): The pre-public health program offers the unique opportunity to integrate exercise science training with a population-based public health degree. The primary goal of the program is to prepare professionals to assess, understand, and address health-related concerns that impact the well-being of individuals, populations, and communities. The program consists of three years at Wayne State, followed by two years at University of Nebraska Medical Center, with 23 of the credit hours transferring back to WSC for the bachelor's degree.

Accelerated Nursing: The accelerated nursing program, a partnership between Wayne State College and the University of Nebraska Medical Center, will prepare students for a variety of nursing careers: educators and faculty, managers and administrators, mental health and counseling. Through this program, students will obtain their bachelor's degree in the field of choice at Wayne State, then complete a year of classes to receive a nursing degree (BSN) through UNMC. Whether a current student at Wayne State, transferring from another school, or even a current employee of a nursing home or hospital, this is a great opportunity to pair current skills and interests with an education in health care, leading to a fulfilling and lasting career.

Prospective students interested in any of these new programs or any of the other 130-plus programs of study at Wayne State College are urged to visit www.wsc.edu to learn more about our programs. Apply and schedule your visit today.

How to find scholarships

By EducationQuest Foundation

Tips for finding scholarships

- Organize scholarships in deadline order, and set aside time each week to work on scholarship essays and applications.

- If requested on the application, list activities, awards, honors classes, and volunteer or paid jobs. Track them using the Activities Resume at EducationQuest.org.

- If an application requires a letter of recommendation, give the person writing the letter sufficient notice, a specific deadline, and a copy of your Activities Resume.

- After writing an essay, ask an adult (preferably an English teacher) to review the document for spelling, grammar, and sentence structure.

- Follow all directions, and make sure the application is complete and submitted by the deadline or it will be disqualified.

- Never pay for scholarship services! Talk to your school counselor or contact EducationQuest about the many free options available.

Where to find scholarships

- ScholarshipQuest at EducationQuest.org – contains over 2,000 local and state scholarships. We also have resources at our offices in Kearney, Lincoln, and Omaha.
- High school counselor's office/website – visit at least once a month during your senior year to learn about local and national awards.
- Potential colleges – contact colleges of interest for a list of scholarships they offer along with information about criteria, deadlines, and application procedures.
- National scholarship search sites – visit free sites such as:

- CollegeBoard.org
- Petersons.com
- Cappex.com
- GoodCall.com/scholarships/
- Supercollege.com
- CollegeData.com
- Chegg.com
- InternationalScholarships.com
- Other resources could include clubs and organizations, parents' employers, and civic organizations.

By EducationQuest Foundation

These steps will help juniors narrow their college choices, and will help seniors prepare for the college application process.

Step 1: Research colleges.

Start by asking your school counselor for college-search advice and resources. Here are other things you can do:

Learn about the types of colleges and their degrees.

Talk to admission representatives when they visit your high school.

Attend a College Fair or Educational Planning Program where you can talk to college representatives.

Use our College Profiles to match colleges with your interests.

Another good resource is BigFuture from the College Board.

Explore the websites of colleges that interest you.

Step 2: Go on campus visits.

This is the most important step you can take to determine if a school is the right fit for you!

Start your visits in the spring of your junior year and revisit your top choices in the fall of your senior year.

Contact the admissions office at least two weeks in advance to schedule a campus visit.

Visit while school is in session. You won't get the full campus experience during school breaks, finals week, or summer.

Meet with an admissions representative and financial aid counselor to discuss how to apply and pay for college.

Ask to meet with faculty in your areas of interest.

Ask a lot of questions!

Step 3. Narrow your college choices.

Now that you've done your research and gone on campus visits, it's time to compare notes and pick your top college choices. Compare schools based on academic programs, size, location, career preparation, internships, and social climate.

Step 4. Take college entrance exams.

You'll take the ACT in the spring of your junior year, and you may want to take the SAT as well. Retake the exam(s) in the summer and fall – colleges will use your best score for scholarship and admission decisions.

Visit ACT and College Board for sample questions, test dates, registration, and fees. Click here for test-prep options.

If you attend a community college, you may be required to take the Accuplacer or Companion placement tests.

Step 5. Apply for admission.

Be aware of deadlines and apply to your top 3-4 colleges in the fall of your senior year. Most will require:

The application and fee

Official high school transcripts which will show:

Your grade point average and class rank

That you completed required high school coursework

ACT/SAT test scores

If your school conducts an Apply2College event, you'll get help with your applications during the school day. If not, use our college application checklist and other resources in the sidebar.

Step 6: Select a college.

In the spring of your senior year, compare your top colleges and make your final decision. Then, complete these tasks:

Sign up for your college's online student account or portal.

Submit the application form and deposit for campus housing.

Register for new-student orientation.

Notify the other schools of your decision and decline their awards.

Apply for student and/or parent loans, if needed.

University of South Dakota sees increase in Nebraska students with new in-state tuition program

VERMILLION, S.D. – The University of South Dakota (USD) is growing enrollment in new first-year and transfer students from Nebraska, thanks to an in-state tuition pilot program approved last December by the South Dakota Board of Regents.

"We are thrilled by the interest that USD is receiving from students in Nebraska," said Scott Pohlson, vice president of enrollment, marketing and university relations. "USD has seen an increase of 22 percent in our enrollment of Nebraska students since implementing the pilot last December."

This latest in-state pilot program, designed to mirror a similar program in Iowa, is showing significant promise in its first year, Pohlson said.

"We continue to believe that our future is bright at USD, and this response from both Iowa and Nebraska students proves that USD is a regional leader in both quality and affordability," he said.

For more information, visit www.usd.edu/nebraska.

How to pay for your college education

By EducationQuest Foundation

Follow these steps to apply for federal financial aid and scholarships:

Step 1. Apply for scholarships. Follow these tips for scholarship success:

Research potential awards by using free scholarship-search resources including your school counselor, the college you plan to attend, ScholarshipQuest, and other free internet-based scholarship searches.

Complete an Activities Resume so you'll have a list of your activities, honors, and awards handy when completing applications.

Create a list of scholarships you're eligible to apply for. Tackle the most difficult applications first and pay attention to deadlines. If you miss a deadline, your application will not be considered.

Request letters of recommendation from adults who know you well. Give them plenty of notice, a deadline, information about the scholarship, and a copy of your Activities Resume.

Step 2: Create an FSA ID.

A Federal Student Aid (FSA) ID is a username and password that will serve as your electronic signature for the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). You and a parent must each create IDs at fsaid.ed.gov.

Step 3: Complete the FAFSA.

The FAFSA is your application for federal, state, and college-based financial aid. Complete the form at fafa.gov on or after October 1 of your senior year.

The colleges you list on the application will use your FAFSA information to award financial aid. Submit the form before the colleges' FAFSA priority date to get the best financial aid package.

After you submit your FAFSA, expect a Student Aid Report (SAR) via an email link. It tells you that your FAFSA was received – and lets you know if you were selected for verification.

Renew the FAFSA every year you're in college.

Use our free FAFSA Tools to help you prepare for and complete the FAFSA.

Step 4. Be Prepared for Verification.

Watch your student account and email closely as the college(s) might request verification of your FAFSA information. The college(s) will not process your financial aid package until you provide required documents.

Step 5. Expect a Financial Aid Award Notification.

The colleges you listed on your FAFSA will notify you of the types and amounts of financial aid they're offering you. You will only receive notifications from colleges that accepted you for admission. Accept or reject the financial aid package by the deadline.

The colleges will use this "financial need" formula to calculate how much to award you in financial aid:

Cost of Education (tuition, books, living expenses)

– Expected Family Contribution (your FAFSA result)

Your Financial Need

The colleges will award you as much of the "financial need" amount as possible. This could be a combination of scholarships, grants, work-study, and loans.

Step 6. Apply for Student Loans.

If you need student loans, your college will direct you to StudentLoans.gov to complete the necessary forms. Allow several weeks processing time.

How to earn better grades in high school

By EducationQuest Foundation

Your grade point average often translates into how well you'll do in college and in a career.

Follow these tips to earn the best grades possible:

Use a planner to keep up with homework assignments and extra-curricular activities.

Take notes in class and while reading and review them often.

Ask questions when you don't understand the subject. If you don't want to ask during class, meet with your teacher after school or send an email.

Study in a quiet place and limit distractions.

Ask your teacher how you can improve your grades. You may receive ways to earn extra credit or learn strategies to help you succeed in class.

College Funding Estimator estimates FAFSA results

By EducationQuest Foundation

The College Funding Estimator estimates the results of your FAFSA – the application for federal, state, and college-based financial aid. The information will help you plan financially for college and determine if you qualify to apply for “need-based” scholarships.

Gather these items to complete the College Funding Estimator:

- Include parent information unless you are an independent student:
- Your federal tax return and W-2s
- Birth dates
- Dates parents were married, separated, divorced or widowed
- Value of checking/savings accounts and investments
- Value of business or investment farm

- Child support paid or received
- Workers compensation benefits
- Other untaxed income such as housing/food/living allowance or clergy
- Veteran’s noneducation benefits

Types of financial aid available

By EducationQuest Foundation

These are four types of financial aid to help you pay for college.

Scholarships are awarded by private donors or your college. Some are based on financial need while others are based on criteria such as academics, leadership, athletics, or talents.

Grants* are awarded to students who show financial need and are not repaid. They include:

- Pell Grant
- Supplemental Educational

Opportunity Grant (SEOG) Nebraska State Opportunity Grant

College-based grants Work-Study,* also based on financial need, is money you earn from a college-based job to help pay for school expenses.

Student Loans* are money you borrow and must repay after you’re done with college. Loans are also available for parents. See our loan chart for details.

*These types of financial aid are based on FAFSA results.

Why you should get involved

By EducationQuest Foundation

Another way to “push yourself” during high school is to get involved in school and community activities.

Here’s why:
You’ll explore career interests. Think you might want to work in the medical profession? Volunteer at a hospital or nursing home. Interested in politics? Run for student council. You get the idea...

You’ll qualify for more scholarships. Many are based on community service and extracurricular activities such as school clubs, band, sports, and drama. Watch the Do It. Track It. Earn It. video to see why getting involved is important.

You’ll stay out of trouble because you’ll be too busy. You’ll work with adults who can help shape your life.

Track your involvement using the Activities Resume on educationquest.org.

Are you ready to Apply2College?

Help your student succeed in high school

By EducationQuest Foundation

•Don’t wait for a report card to find out how your student is doing. Contact teachers regularly for progress updates, and check online grades often.

•Get involved at your student’s school. You’ll get to know your student’s friends and teachers – and show your student how much you care.

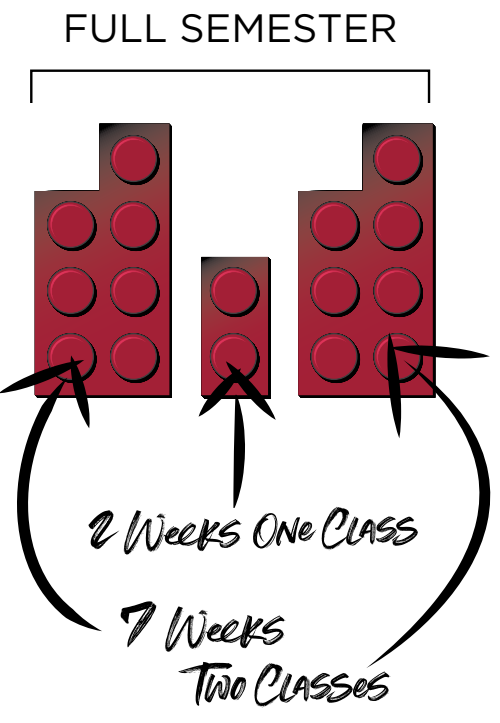

•Understand academic requirements for college and make sure your student registers for courses that will ensure admission to college.

•Provide a quiet study place and stock it with supplies. Set rules for homework completion, and limit access to television, cell phone and social media until assignments are completed.

Look WHAT'S NEW FOR FALL 2019!

BLOCK SCHEDULE

New block scheduling means you’ll take just one or two classes at a time. This model allows you focus more intently on each class, and allows faculty to have more time to devote to every student in each class – and more fully invest in your success.

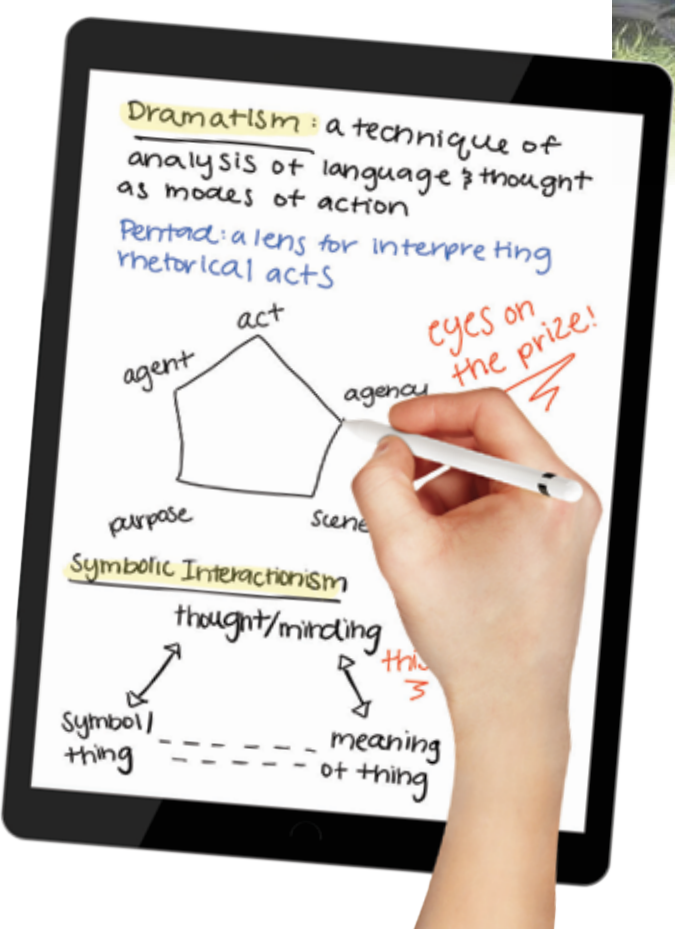

The schedule also creates more time for job shadowing, research, internships, travel and other unique academic experiences.

As part of this, our outstanding professors are reimagining new core classes for first-year students. The core will help you get off to a great start in college and set you up to excel in key areas.

IPAD PRO + APPLE PENCIL

When you arrive to campus we’ll set you up with an iPad Pro and Apple Pencil – and provide any support you may need to know how to best incorporate these technology tools into your studies. A bonus: They’re yours to keep when you graduate.

We know a lot of learning happens outside the classroom – and we’ve built a connected campus with supercharged WiFi (indoors and out) and Apple TVs in every classroom. Why the Pencil? Combined with apps we’ll provide and teach you to use, Apple Pencil lets you take notes, sketch and do all the things that drive learning.

STUDY ABROAD EXPERIENCE

During your second year at Hastings College, you’ll spend a two-week block studying away from campus – likely in Paris. We believe so strongly in the transformational experience of studying away from campus that we’ll cover the costs!

We’re making this commitment thanks to individuals who love Hastings College and share this belief. No gimmicks or fake scholarships. Your second year at Hastings? You’ll have the opportunity to spend part of it abroad.

Period.
