Courthouse restoration bid disappoints commissioners

The Wayne County Commissioners met Tuesday, Nov. 6 at the Wayne County Courthouse. After the low bid for the Courthouse Restoration Project came in over $1 million higher than the project estimate, the commissioners had questions for the consulting architects that dominated the meeting.

In March of 2018, the commissioners met with architects from Berggren Architects to accept project proposals to restore the courthouse facade. The commissioners settled on a project that consisted of repairing weathered exteriors, tuck pointing and other masonry work, replacing windows and covering the existing oriels in copper. The project would restore the courthouse to close to how it looked when it was first built in the 1800s and help the longevity of the building by removing old wood and cracked mortar and bricks. When the low bid came in for the project, it came in at over $3 million. The difference had commissioners concerned and saw commissioner, Randy Larson asking tough questions of Jerry Berggren and Jake Geisert of Berggren Architects, especially when the duo said one solution to bring the bid down was holding off on parts of the project.

"That's uncomfortable for me and you," Larson told the pair. "We thought we were doing the whole thing for roughly that estimate and now you're saying that to do the whole thing is an extra million. That's outside of my scope of comfort."

Berggren then clarified to the commissioners that this initial bid can be negotiated and there's still work to do. Berggren Architects would like masons to use hand tools instead of power tools. They also asked masons work with a lime-heavy mortar that's rarely used in the United States. Berggren told the commissioners he believes the bids came in high because the craftsmen are afraid of the unknown, a sentiment echoed by Geisert.

"You're paying for the fear factor right now," Geisert said.

Both men assured the commissioners that they could bring the bid down closer to the initial proposal. The primary contractor on the project had yet to get the architects or commissioners hard numbers, and Berggren told the commissioners there were most likely redundancies between the primary contractor and various sub-contractors on the project.

Berggren and Geisert will be back before the Wayne County Commissioners on Wednesday, Nov. 21 to further work out how to bring the project cost down.

Mark Casey, Highway Superintendent, reported to the commissioners about roads and bridges. He also told them he'd be reaching out to FEMA to submit applications for flooding relief.

Philip Clement from NextEra Energy touched base with the commissioners following a site walk-through last week. The project is still on track to be fully operational this summer.

Newly-elected county attorney Amy K. Miller and the commissioners agreed to keep her clerical staff as contract laborers instead county employees.

The next Wayne County Commissioners meeting will be Nov. 20 at 9 a.m.

Happy Blue Devils

The four-hour road trip was worth it for the Wayne High volleyball team, as they beat Mitchell in four sets to win the Class C1-8 district title Saturday at Lexington. The win puts Wayne in the Class C-1 bracket of the Nebraska State Volleyball Championships for the first time since 2013. They will play Wahoo on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Lincoln North Star High School. For highlights and more photos, go to the Sports page.

Wayne County voters make voices known at the polls

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

A total of 3,267 Wayne County voters cast ballots in the 2018 General Election, according to information provided by Wayne County Clerk Debra Finn.

A handful of those running for office waited as the votes were tabulated on Tuesday evening.

Finn said that the vote counting machines worked well counting votes, but due to the fact that a number of races throughout the county involved write-in candidates, those ballots needed to be counted by hand.

Jill Brodersen, one of the candidates for the Ward 4 City Council position, said "it was a long wait for the results tonight. Ward 4 has a good turnout of voters and this year was a good turnout of voters for the election."

Tabulation of the results was completed shortly before 11 p.m.

In the race for mayor of the city of Wayne, Cale Giese received 890 votes, Pat Melena received 671 votes and write-in candidate Jane O'Leary received 72 votes

Christopher A. Woehler was elected to represent Ward I of the Wayne City Council. He defeated Rodney Greve by a vote of 190 to 117.

Jill Brodersen will retain her position in Ward IV of the Wayne City Council. She defeated Jessi Hansen by a vote of 322 to 233.

Ward 2 Council member Matthew Eischeid and Ward 3 Council member Jason Karsky ran un-opposed for their seats.

Scott A. Hammer received 1,344 votes for the position on the Wayne Airport Authority. There were also a total of 50 write-in votes.

New members on the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will be Sylvia Ruhl (1,402 votes) Jodi Pulfer (1,291 votes) and Justin Davis (1,157 votes). They will replace Carolyn Linster, Scott Hammer and Jeryl Nelson who did not seek re-election. Others on the ballot were Scott Meisenbach (443 votes), Amanda Hawthorne (455 votes) and Kelly Meyer (833 votes).

In the race for Wayne County Commissioner for District 1, Terry Sievers defeated Louis E. Benscoter by a vote of 874 to 201.

Wayne County voters went against the state results by voting against Initiative 427 by a vote of 1,568 to 1,432.

In other races in Wayne County, Kate Falk (309 votes), Jonathan Jaeger (226 votes) and Tarrin Quinn (212 votes) were elected to the Winside School Board of Education. They defeated Dana Bargstadt (184 votes) and Cory Russell (209 votes).

Stefanie K. Rohde (120 votes), Andrew Lowe (111 votes) and Teresa Watters, (97 votes), were elected to the Village of Winside Board of Trustees. They defeated Duane E. Thies (91 votes) and Christine Shoff (25 votes).

In the Village of Hoskins, James A. Miller (71 votes), Joshua Koepke (64 votes) and Richard L. Doffin Jr. (55 votes) were elected to the Board of Trustees. They defeated Janet Bruggeman (53 votes).

In the Village of Sholes, Judith Bauer (4 votes) and Chris Rath (3 votes) were elected to the Board of Trustees.

resented by Dalton Dunklau (70 votes) and Tamara S. Webb (46 votes)

In state races, Pete Ricketts received 2,296 votes for governor and Bob Krist received 922 votes from Wayne County voters.

In the U.S. Senate race, Deb Fisher received 2,388 votes in Wayne County, Jane Raybould received 724 votes and Jim Schultz received 105 votes.

On the Congressional ticket, Adrian Smith received 2,287 votes and Paul Theobald received 895 votes from Wayne County voters.

The races for Wayne County Clerk (Debra Finn), County Assessor (Dawn Duffy), County Sheriff (Jason Dwinell), County Treasurer (Tammy Paustian), County Attorney (Amy K. Miller), Clerk of the District Court (Debra K. Allemann-Dannelly), County Surveyor (Terry L. Schulz) and

County Commissioner District 3 (James Rabe) were all un-opposed.

In the race for Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Board of Directors At Large, Greg Owens received 1,726 votes and Joel J. Hansen received 1,188 votes in Wayne County Greg Owens received 1,726 votes.

Several other races in Wayne County involved candidates who were un-opposed, including Lower Elkhorn NRD Subdistrict 1 (Chad Korth) and Lower Elkhorn NRD Subdistrict 5 (Kurt Janke).

Wayne County voters in certain areas of the county also voted for offices in Dixon and Cedar County and all vote totals for those races were not yet compiled at press time.

All vote totals are unofficial and will be certified by the County Canvassing Board on Thursday, Nov. 8.

Council approves water, sewer rate increases

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

Wayne utility customers will see higher bills for their water and sewer services following action taken at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The rates, which will take effect with the February 2019 bills, are the same as those suggested by Randy Hellbusch with the Nebraska Rural Water Association at an earlier council meeting.

The increase in the water rates will allow for $200,000 per year to be set aside for the development of a transmission line on the west side of Wayne.

According to recommendations provided by Hellbusch in early October, water customers will see an average increase of $5 to $6 per month on their water bills. Sewer rates, which were last raised in April of 2016, will go from $8 per month service charge plus $6.35 per 1,000 gallons used to $10 per month service charge plus $7.62 per 1,000 gallons used.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke, City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. We just had an election, so I know you are energized and want to be part of the governing process. It will only hurt a little, I promise!

"Riley's" is coming down

I think most in the community will be excited to see the old Lumber Company/Riley's/Tuscan Grill/Santa Fe Grill/Costa Brava come down in the next few months.

The City Council awarded the bid to demolish the structure to Milo Meyer Construction at the last Council meeting. In its prime, this property thrived with multiple businesses and were great assets to the community. As many weddings and dances were held there over the years and where memories were made, yours truly will always remember family dinners at the Lumber Company, watching the Sons of Satan perform, and even attending my (Wakefield's) senior prom in 1996.

I am sure the future use of this property will be discussed by Council in the next few months including its annual retreat.

Water and Sewer rates adjusted

Water and Sewer customers will see a rate increase on their Feb. 1, 2019 bill from the City.

The Council recently set a three year adjustment for both water and sewer rates. Starting with usage during the mid-December to mid-January timeframe, the standard (3/4 inch) customer service charge for water will increase from $16 to $20 monthly, while the use rate per thousand (1000) gallons will increase from $1.60 to $1.75. The resolution passed will also adjust rates in 2020 and 2021.

Using the same schedule, sewer customer service charges will increase from $8 to $10 while the use rate per 1000 gallons will increase from $6.35 to $7.62. (The sewer use rate per 1000 gallons only increased in 2019, not in 2020 or 2021). Rates have not been adjusted since 2015/2016.

Projects for the water and sewer departments include a new transmission main (water) from the City's well field, as well as a possible new well, and past/future clean-up of the old sewage lagoon. If you have questions about the new rates and/or the proposed improvements to the water system and sewage lagoon clean up, don't hesitate to contact City Hall.

Community Activity Center Weight Room named after the late Bob Keating

The City Council unanimously named the weight/fitness room at the Community Activity Center after the late Bob Keating at its last meeting. Requested by Doug Carroll, a member of the CAC construction project committee, the Council felt it was fitting to name this room after Bob as he had spent countless hours supporting the community's efforts to build the CAC. Bob helped raise a substantial amount of funds to supplement the sales tax that ultimately funded the CAC's construction.

The rate increases will involve gradual increases over a three-year time frame.

Two agenda items dealt with the sale of the city's railroad right-of-way property.

The council passed a resolution and waived the three readings of an ordinance that authorizes the sale of a piece of property to Jack and Bev Beeson.

City Attorney Amy Miller told the council that several bids had been received, but one was not valid and the bid from the Beesons was $1 higher than the other valid bid.

Council members approved a plan to move forward with naming the weight room at the Community Activity Center after the late Robert (Bob) Keating. Exact details on how this will be accomplished have not been worked out, but will involve input from Keating's family.

Doug Carroll spoke to the council on Keating's involvement with the Community Activity Center, beginning with the two and a half year process of getting the facility built. Keating was active in a number of ways with the CAC and throughout the community.

A request to purchase city pavers/bricks from Wayne State College was received and council members voted unanimously to give 175 bricks to the Wayne State College Construction Management program for use in a project on the west side of campus at no cost.

The bricks will be used to line an area around the WEOPA Garden/Fountain, located east of Main Street and north of 12th Street.

Dave Hix, representing the construction class, said that the group is involved in a service learning project and working to make the area more accessible by creating a pathway. The garden/fountain has been a fixture on the WSC campus for many years and the bricks will add to its historic presence.

Council member Matt Eischied introduced the idea of giving the bricks to the college, saying, "we (the city) should be good neighbors and give the bricks to them for this project."

In other action, the council approved several resolutions.

These include Resolution 2018-60, which accepted a bid and awarded a contract for the demolition of the former Riley's property. The bid of $36,800 was awarded to Milo Meyer Construction.

Resolution 2018-61 involved a bid for ditch grading in the Southview II Addition.

One bid, from Milo Meyer Construction, was received. However, it was considerably higher than engineer's estimate.

Steve Meyer, with Milo Meyer Construction, was present at the meeting and explained why the bid was high. He noted that "this will not be an easy job, especially with all the moisture in the ground this year."

Council members voted to accept a bid from Milo Meyer Construction for the project.

Steps were taken to install a stop sign at the corner of Sherman Street and Grainland Road. The stop sign will be on Grainland Road and is the result of increased traffic in the area with new housing being built.

Change orders for the Second Street Storm Sewer Improvement Project in the amounts of $4,087.50 and $4,164.00 to Robert Woehler & Sons Construction were approved. A pay estimate in the amount of $76,978.54 to Robert Woehler & Sons Construction for the project was also approved.

Pay application No. 7 in the amount of $65,851.00 to OCC Builders, LLC for the Wayne Golf and Country Club Clubhouse Improvement Project was approved.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Enel Green Power helps fund workforce housing in Dixon, Wayne counties

On Friday, Oct. 26, Enel Green Power, owner of the Rattlesnake Creek wind project currently under construction in Dixon County, presented the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation with $25,000 in financial support that will go towards the development of workforce housing in the region.

To address the need to attract and retain a regional workforce, the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation applied for a workforce housing grant from the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. The contribution from Enel Green Power will go towards the grant's 1:1 private sector match. Other funds have been committed by the City of Wakefield, the City of Wayne and Wayne County.

"Our organization is dedicated to helping area residents find safe and affordable homes through workforce housing, property management, down payment assistance, and other programs" said Megan Weaver, Executive Director, Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation. "We rely on a mix of public and private funding in order to provide these critical programs that support our local community. We thank Enel Green Power for its contribution and look forward to its commitment to the community in the years ahead."

The Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation, located in Wayne is not far from Enel Green Power's 320 MW Rattlesnake Creek wind project in Dixon County. The project, which began construction in November 2017, will be Enel's first wind farm in the state of Nebraska. The projected has created more than 300 jobs at peak of construction and Enel Green Power chose to support this initiative after seeing firsthand the challenges workers can face when seeking housing during construction.

"Enel Green Power is committed to supporting and becoming a part of each community in which we operate," said Chris Hardy, Community Relations Manager, Enel Green Power North America. "We're proud to partner with local organizations like the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation, who are tackling the area's critical challenges and dedicated to improving the local community. We look forward to continued partnerships throughout the community for years to come."

The Rattlesnake Creek project will be among the top employers in the area. Wakefield is the largest population center near the project area. Enel Green Power's support for the region's workforce housing grant will help boost the rural economy, stabilize community livelihoods, and provide long-term housing options for the community, including Rattlesnake Creek site personnel and technicians.

Once fully operational, Rattlesnake Creek will be able to generate around 1.3 TWh annually, enough energy to meet the equivalent annual consumption needs of more than 105,000 U.S. households, while avoiding the emission of around 940,000 tons of CO2 each year.

Enel Green Power has signed Power Purchase Agreements with Facebook and Adobe for the sale of energy produced at the Rattlesnake Creek wind farm. Facebook will use the energy produced to power its nearby data center in Papillion with 100 percent renewable energy.

Habitat for Humanity to dedicate fifth home

The Wayne Area Chapter of Habitat for Humanity will hold a House Dedication ceremony on Sunday, Nov. 18.

The event begins at the First Presbyterian Church, located at 216 West Third Street at Wayne with social time from 1:30 to 2 p.m.

The program begins at 2 p.m. Music will be provided by Bill and Deb Dickey and the opening prayer given by the Rev. Teresa Bartlett, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Master of Ceremonies will be Dan Rose, President of the Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity. Jill Brodersen, Interim Mayor of the city of Wayne.

Following the program at the church, attendees will travel to the Habitat house, located at 319 South Nebraska Street. There a blessing will take place and Gary French, Construction Supervisor will present a Bible to the family and Dan Rose will give the family the keys to the home.

The Wayne Area Chapter of Habitat for Humanity has chosen Nichole Owens and Jonathan Webb and their four young children, Essynce, Pashynce, Konstynce and Jairikk for this home. This family is the fifth family to partner with the chapter and will be purchasing the fifth Habitat house.

"For them, this is a dream come true. Along with volunteers, the family has worked diligently on this house build and have invested over 500 sweat equity hours (the minimum required by Habitat for Humanity). This family extends their heartfelt gratitude to all volunteers, businesses and organizations of Wayne and the Wayne area, who not only built them a house, but are giving them hope and a chance to fulfill their dreams," Rose said.

The Wayne Area Chapter of Habitat for Humanity, a local affiliate of Norfolk Area Habitat for Humanity, seeks to give witness to the Christian gospel by working in partnership with God's people in need to create a decent habitat in which to live and work. The aim is to create an environment of hope, dignity, and a truly human existence for all people. Wherever possible, Habitat for Humanity cooperates with other organizations that have similar purposes, seeking an ever-expanding company of participating individuals in this ministry.

The Wayne Chapter of Habitat for Humanity began in October of 2001 with our first build completed in 2003. The first home was built for the Charles McCoy family. The second build for the Lu Wanda Ryden family (2007), the third for the Nancy Barrito family (2011), and the fourth for the Juan Vargas family (2014). The McCoy's have since sold their house and relocated. All remaining families are active members of the Wayne community and continue to reside in their respective homes purchased from Habitat for Humanity and constructed by local volunteers.

After a rigorous review and careful consideration of several applicants, this family was chosen for our fifth build. The family has partnered with Habitat to be a part of the build and to be committed to the community and to Habitat for Humanity. They, along with our Wayne Habitat for Humanity Chapter, praise and thank God for His work through us.

The Wayne Area Habitat for Humanity plans to continue its mission of providing decent affordable housing to the citizens of this area. Donations of time, talent, and money will be deeply appreciated.

Habitat for Humanity has a place for everyone.

Wayne State College to host Plains Writers Series and Poetry Slam XL

Wayne State College's Language and Literature Department, the School of Arts and Humanities and the WSC Press will host this fall's Plains Writers Series on Thursday, Nov. 15. The Plains Writers Series is hosted several times a year to bring attention to the prose and poetry of local Great Plains writers through reading and interacting with area audiences.

This Plains Writers Series will highlight the authors Amy Plettner, Barbra Schmitz, JV Brummels and Jake Stewart. The readings will begin at 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. in the lounge on the second floor of the Humanities Building.

Following the Plains Writers Series will be Poetry Slam XL. The slam will be held at the Max Bar and Grill in downtown Wayne starting at 7 p.m., with registration starting at 6 p.m. Slam participants need four original poems and pay a $5 registration fee. Pre-slam musical entertainment is provided by Eddie Elfers and Vito Cole. For more information on PWS and Poetry Slam XL, please visit wscpress.com.

JV Brummels is a former professor at Wayne State College and has written and published short fiction and a novel.

Amy Plettner is an outdoor educator and has poetry published in a variety of journals and anthologies.

Barbara Schmitz is Emeritus Instructor of English at Northeast College where she taught writing and literature for 30 years and founded the Visiting Writers Series.

Jake Stewart lives in Wayne, Nebraska and is enrolled at Wayne State College where he is pursuing a master's degree in post-secondary education. Along with taking courses, he is also teaching two sections of composition skills and writing the column called "Dead in the Water" for the Wayne Stater.

The Mary Kay Foundation awards Haven House Family Services Center $20,000 grant

In support of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, The Mary Kay FoundationSM announced it is awarding $3 million in grants to 150 domestic violence shelters across the country. Haven House has received a $20,000 unrestricted grant to support local survivors of domestic violence throughout Wayne, Dakota, Thurston, Cedar and Dixon counties. This year's grant contribution brings the Foundation's total investment in its shelter grant program to $50 million.

The Mary Kay Foundation was established in 1996 with the overarching purpose of supporting issues impacting women. In 2000, The Foundation expanded to include ending domestic violence as part of its mission. The Foundation is committed to funding the life-saving work of women's shelters and the annual shelter grant program has helped finance critical needs including emergency shelter, transitional housing, counseling and legal aid. All of these resources support women and children as they seek refuge and relief on their journey to an abuse-free life. This year, more than 1,200 organizations applied for the Mary Kay Foundation shelter grants.

"At Mary Kay, we believe in helping women improve their circumstances and live their best lives. One in four women will experience domestic violence in her lifetime and it is our responsibility to support the women's shelters that aid these survivors," said President of The Mary Kay Foundation Board of Directors Michael Lunceford. "At the heart of The Foundation's work is the shelter grant program which is actively supported by our independent sales force. We're proud that our commitment makes such a powerful impact in local communities and in the lives of domestic violence survivors across the country." According to the National Network to End Domestic Violence, more than 72,000 adult and child victims receive domestic violence services across the United States in just one day. Unfortunately, in the same period of time, more than 11,000 requests for services are unmet due to a lack of resources.

Haven House has been providing free and confidential services for survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking since 1978.

In the past year, Haven House has provided 5,823 meals and 1,941 shelter beds. Advocates also responded to 1,160 crisis line calls. In addition, volunteers contributed 8,206 hours of support, assisting Haven House with providing client services as well as a variety of other agency related activities.

Now into their 40th year, Haven House was able to move into a new facility in August of 2018 which was the former Magnuson Hopkins EyeCare Clinic located at 215 W 2nd St. in Wayne. The new facility is going to allow them to add additional team members and increase their services to survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault. Funds from the Mary Kay Foundation will support the agency's efforts to provide a more confidential environment for survivors and help the agency repair and renovate the shelter.

Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault is a silent epidemic that affects nearly 1 in 4 women and 1 in 7 men in their lifetime. If you would like to learn more about Haven House you can visit www.havenhousefsc.org or call 402-375-5433 or 402-494-7592.

The Mary Kay Foundation was created in 1996 and its two-fold mission includes funding women's cancer research and ending domestic violence. Over the course of more than two decades, The Mary Kay Foundation has awarded more than $78 million to women's shelters and domestic violence service providers, as well as cancer research programs and related causes throughout the United States. To learn more about The Mary Kay Foundation and its mission, visit marykayfoundation.org or call 1-877-MKCARES (652-2737).

Practicing for the real thing

Firefighters from Wayne, Pierce, Clarkson, Columbus and North Platte Volunteer Fire Departments, along with trainers from the Nebraska State Fire Marshall's Office took part in a controlled burn/training exercise at a house northwest of Wayne on Nov. 4. Between 25 and 30 firefighters, along with several cadets, took turns extinguishing fires within the house. The training lasted from morning into the early hours of the afternoon. Following the completion of the training exercise, the house, along with several out buildings were burned to the ground. Ambulance crew from Providence Medical Center was on scene during the training.

Blue Devils tame Tigers to claim district title, state berth

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

LEXINGTON — Compared to the final point Saturday afternoon, the four-hour road trip from Wayne to Lexington High School had to feel like a drive around town for the Blue Devil volleyball team.

Mitchell's defense seemed to have an answer for each of the four attacks junior Emily Armstrong threw at them, so she took a little something off of her fifth and final attack, and that was enough to give the Blue Devils the four-set win, finishing off a 25-14, 25-22, 22-25, 25-19 decision over the Tigers to win the C1-8 district final and earn a trip to this week's Nebraska State Volleyball Championships.

Armstrong, who finished with 13 kills, said she threw about everything she could at the Mitchell defense.

"I tried every shot and nothing worked," she said in describing her frustration. "It was one of the longest rallies of the game and I just kept swinging and swinging, and finally on that fifth attempt I decided to tip it and that was it."

The change-up sent Mitchell sprawling in a failed attempt to pick up the attack, and when the ball hit the floor the Wayne High girls fell into the middle of their side of the floor, screaming and raising their hands as they hugged in celebration of winning the school's first district volleyball title in five years.

Coach Traci Krusemark said she was looking to attack Mitchell from the outside and they worked the play until the ball finally fell Wayne's way for match point.

"(Armstrong) had been hitting good and I felt if we didn't have a good set in the middle they had a good block going there, so I wanted Em to get it and she got it," the Blue Devil coach said after the game.

The ninth-seeded Blue Devils met the eighth-seeded Tigers on a neutral court at Lexington High School, and Krusemark said her biggest concern was the energy they would bring to the match after a four-hour road trip.

"(Road trips) are always tough, but I told the girls that if you play like you did Monday night, we'd be all right," she said. "I watched Mitchell on tape and knew they were a good team, but I also knew we were a little more balanced and we were able to come out with a lot of energy and fire."

The Tigers were led by 6-foot-3 senior Keyana Wilfred, who has a basketball scholarship to Div. I Nevada-Las Vegas and made her presence known early with a solid kill to give the Tigers an early lead in the opening set.

Wayne took control of the first set after trailing 3-2, scoring six consecutive points. Kills by Lauren Pick and Allyson Avery, who smacked an overdig in the middle of the floor that forced a Mitchell timeout, helped stake Wayne to an 8-3 first-set advantage they would not relinquish.

Wayne continued to enjoy a healthy lead for the rest of the first set and finished it off with an ace serve by Kiara Krusemark and a kill by Frankie Klausen to take the 1-0 advantage.

The two teams traded leads throughout the second set and Mitchell used a three-point run to take a 16-13 advantage before Wayne responded with a key seven-point run that included three ace serves by Ashton Boyer. After trading side outs, Pick served up an ace and Katelyn Grone added a kill to make it 23-17. Mitchell got within two points late, but Krusemark tipped home the winner at the net to give Wayne the 2-0 advantage.

Going into the match, the Wayne coach knew that Wilfred and 6-foot senior Peyton Beaver would be the Tigers' main threats, and they started to assert themselves in the third set to keep Mitchell in the match.

"They're both fantastic players and they're going to get their attacks, and we just needed to score when they were in the back row and we did that the first two sets," she said. "We tried a different rotation the third set and couldn't get the matchups we wanted, so we switched back in the fourth set and that helped a lot."

Wilfred had seven kills in the third set and Beaver added a pair as Mitchell was able to win a back-and-forth third set, but the Blue Devils came out early and established control in the final set.

Wayne scored the first three points of the set off two Mitchell errors and a Pick kill, but the Tigers came back to tie the match with three of their own before a Boyer kill gave Wayne the lead for good.

Wayne rolled off four straight points to break the 3-3 deadlock, including a Pick block of a Wilfred kill.

Huskers handle Wildcats in exhibition

Nebraska defeated Wayne State in a men's basketball exhibition contest played at Pinnacle Bank Arena in Lincoln before an announced crowd of 15,385.

Both teams struggled shooting the ball in the first half with both teams hovering around the 33 percent mark the first 20 minutes.

Vance Janssen drained a 3-pointer at the 17:25 mark to give the Wildcats their lone lead of the night at 3-2.

Nebraska built a 14-9 lead at the 12-under media timeout and took their first double digit lead of the night with a 7-0 run at 21-9.

With the Huskers leading 28-13 at the 6:29 mark, Wayne State used baskets from Janssen and Trevin Joseph to get within 11 at 28-17 with 5:43 remaining in the first half. Nebraska closed the half on an 11-4 run to take a 39-21 advantage at intermission.

Nebraska outscored Wayne State 36-19 in the second half and held the Wildcats without a basket for the final 6:10 of the contest.

After Nebraska scored the first four points of the second half for a 43-21 lead, Wayne State got a 3-pointer from Joseph to make the score 43-24 and that's as close as the Wildcats got in the second half. The Wildcats ended the second half making just 6-of-34 shots for 17.6 percent.

Wayne State ended the game shooting 16-of-68 from the floor for 23.5 percent, including 5-of-22 from 3-point range. The Wildcats were 3-of-4 from the foul line.

Nebraska was 26-of-66 from the floor for 39.4 percent, going only 4-of-26 behind the arc (15.4%) and 19-for-22 at the free throw stripe.

Joseph led Wayne State in scoring with eight points followed by Nick Ferrarini with seven. Jordan Janssen led the Wildcats on the glass with eight caroms.

The Huskers held a 56-35 edge in rebounding over the Wildcats. Wayne State had 12 turnovers in the game to 11 for the Huskers.

Kendall Jacks had three assists for the Wildcats.

For Nebraska, Isaiah Roby had 12 points and 10 rebounds followed by James Palmer with 10.

Wayne State opens the regular season on Friday, Nov. 9, facing Pittsburg State at 4 p.m. in Warrensburg, Mo.

Wayne State rugby hosting regionals this weekend

A trip to rugby's Final Four and a chance for the Wayne State women's team to defend a national title is on the line here in Wayne this weekend.

Wayne is hosting the National Small College Rugby Organization's (NSCRO) West Regional this weekend for the women, and will also host the first two rounds of the men's national tournament with games on Saturday and Sunday at the Wayne Rugby Park.

Games will begin at 9 a.m. with men's action, followed by women's games at 1 p.m. on Saturday. Winners will advance to the next round, with the women's game at 11 a.m. and the men at 1 p.m.

The Wayne State women, 9-0 this season and holders of both the 15's and 7's NSCRO national titles from a year ago, will defend their 15-on-15 crown in a 1 p.m. matchup against Northern Michigan. The winner will move on to an 11 a.m. final Sunday against the winner of the 3 p.m. matchup between Colorado College and Mira Costa of California.

This year's Wildcat women's team lost several key seniors from last year's national title teams, but have played very well with a team that has just one senior on the roster. Recent wins over Arkansas, Pittsburg State and a 55-0 win over Oklahoma have them at 9-0 heading into the game against 8-1 Northern Michigan.

Barner said Northern Michigan has a very fast backline that will challenge the Wildcats.

"They are very fast on the outside, so our game plan is to play Ground and Pound, and keep the ball tight in the middle of the field, and play our traditional offense and stay focus on ball control," he said. "If they don't have the ball, they can't score, and we are hoping to win the time of possession."

Barner said the team is happy to be a host for the Sweet 16 and Elite 8 rounds for the NSCRO national tournament, with winners advancing to the national championship weekend Dec. 1 in Atlanta, Ga.

"It is great to have a Michigan team and California team here," he said. "Last year we had a team from New York, and a few years ago Washington and New Mexico, so for our community this is a great way to have our name out bringing a college event with national championships on the line to Wayne, Nebraska."

Barner added that Wayne is on the radar and being reviewed as a possible host city for the girls' high school national championship in 2019, a four-day event with 24 teams with many from East and West coast along with the Hawaii state champions.

"That would bring in a lot of people in late May to the city who wins the bid. I have been to the last two national high school championships, and I know we can surpass the other previous host cities," he said.

The men's round of 32 and Sweet 16 will also be completed in Wayne this weekend, with the Wildcat men facing Creighton at 11 a.m. following a 9 a.m. matchup between Nebraska-Omaha and John Brown University of Arkansas. Winners will play at 1 p.m. on Sunday, with the winner advancing to an Elite Eight matchup against the Texas Conference champion on the road.

Wayne State's matchup with Creighton is a rematch of last year's regional final and the latest in a series of matchups between the two teams that come down to the wire, with many games decided in the closing minutes.

"When our back line is all in perfect timing, we can really gain some quick yards and we for sure need to count on that against the competition this weekend," Barner said of the men's matchup.

Games are at the Wayne Rugby Park, located at the Summer Sports Complex on East Fourth Street, and admission to all the games is free.

"We have a great facility down there, and with free admission the fans can watch the game inside the clubhouse right at mid field, and have some hot chocolate," Barner said. "We are really hoping to see a big crowd cheering us on its local pride at a national level this weekend."

Wayne built a 19-13 lead before Mitchell made one last rally that was terminated on a Pick kill off an Allyson Avery set. Armstrong came through with a pair of attacks, including a cross-court kill that found the near corner to make it 22-18.

Mitchell scored their final point off a Bethany Sterke kill before Avery dumped one in the middle of the Mitchell defense to make it 23-18. Krusemark served up an ace to set up match point, and Avery went to Armstrong five times before the junior outside hitter power-tipped the winner home and set off the celebration.

"It's so surreal," Boyer, one of the two Wayne seniors, said after the match. "When (the final point) happened it was like 'Wow, we made it!'" It's such a great feeling that all that hard work paid off."

"I've never been to state before," added Grone, the other senior. "I was almost crying on the court when it was match point. This is seriously the most amazing thing I've felt in my life."

Krusemark said that the coaching staff really wanted this team to win the district title and get a chance to experience what it's like to be in a state tournament.

"Everybody wants to get to state, and it was hard to lose in the district final last year," she said. "I told the girls at practice this week that this is all about them. Us three coaches have been to state in one capacity or another, and all I wanted for them is to get to state and feel what it's like to be there. It's awesome and I'm so happy for them, both as a coach and while Armstrong added 13 and Boyer put down 10. Grone added seven kills, Klausen had five and Avery had three to go with 21 assists.

Krusemark had 24 assists and a team-high three ace serves along with Boyer. Erin O'Reilly added two ace serves as well. Klausen and Avery both had two blocks. Pick led the defense with 32 digs, Armstrong picked up 26, Boyer had 12, Krusemark added nine and Grone and Klausen each had eight. Sydney Redden and O'Reilly had four and three digs, respectively.

The win moves the 25-9 Blue Devils into the Class C-1 bracket for the Nebraska State Volleyball Championships, and they will open play Thursday with a 7:30 p.m. matchup against top-seeded Wahoo at Lincoln North Star High School.

Krusemark said that, as the No. 8 seed, the Blue Devils will not be expected to advance through the tournament, but she thinks her team can make a good showing if they play with the same kind of energy and passion they showed in Saturday's district championship victory.

"This group did a really good job of containing their nerves at districts," she said. "We just need to stay relaxed and have fun and see what the turnout is. Regardless of what happens, they're one of the top eight in the state."

Blue Devils face Wahoo in first round of state volleyball tourney

The Wayne High volleyball team will be the No. 8 seed for the Class C-1 division of the Nebraska State Volleyball Championships that begin Thursday in Lincoln.

The 25-9 Blue Devils have drawn the top seed, Wahoo, which comes into the tournament with a 32-2 record. The two teams will play the final game of the day in the C-1 bracket, meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Lincoln North Star High School.

The winner of Thursday's first-round matchup will face either Bishop Neumann or Grand Island Central Catholic at 3 p.m. at Pinnacle Bank Arena. The finals are set for 3 p.m. Saturday at the Devaney Center, with the consolation game set for 9 a.m. at Lincoln Northeast.

Here is the official schedule for the C-1 bracket at the Nebraska State Volleyball Championships:

Wildcats come back, beat Upper Iowa 42-35

Wayne State scored 42 unanswered points to erase a 21-0 first half deficit, highlighted by a pair of special teams touchdowns, as the Wildcats outlasted Upper Iowa 42-35 Saturday afternoon at Harms-Eischeid Stadium in Fayette, Iowa.

The host Peacocks scored on three of their first four possessions, including one off a Wildcat turnover, to take a 21-0 lead early in the second quarter before the Wildcats came roaring back.

Wildcat quarterback Aaron Bleil was intercepted on the second play of the game with Upper Iowa's Jordan Wymer returning the interception 38 yards to the Wayne State 3. Ryan Parmely scored on a three-yard run and the Peacocks held a 7-0 lead just 30 seconds in the game.

Parmely scored again on a one-yard plunge at the 8:05 mark to put Upper Iowa in front 14-0 and the Peacocks struck again early in the second quarter for a 21-0 advantage on a Antoine Conner 16-yard run with 14:14 to play.

On the ensuing kickoff, Wildcat senior Aaron Wright fielded the ball from his own 16-yard line and raced 84 yards for a score, getting the Wildcats on the board, trailing 21-7.

After an Upper Iowa punt, the Wildcats marched 84 yards on 12 plays with Bleil throwing a three-yard scoring pass to senior wide receiver Nate Rogers to make it 21-14 with 8:27 to play second quarter.

Late in the second quarter, Wayne State tied the game on another Bleil-to-Rogers scoring play, this one from four yards with 1:05 to play before halftime, to tie the game at 21-21 at the break.

Wayne State took the lead for good on the first series of the third quarter as freshman Nicholas Joynt blocked an Upper Iowa punt and recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown, giving Wayne State a 28-21 lead.

Wayne State forced another three-and-out by Upper Iowa, and after a six-yard punt, had the ball at the Peacock 29. Alex Thramer came in at quarterback and led the Wildcats to another scoring drive, culminating in a Marlon Warren one-yard run to put the Wildcats ahead 35-21 with 9:07 to play third.

Later in the period, Wayne State linebacker Tyler Thomsen intercepted an Upper Iowa pass and covered 49 yards, returning the ball to the Peacocks' 5-yard line. Warren scored his second touchdown of the quarter on the next play to cap the 42-point streak, giving Wayne State a 42-21 lead.

Upper Iowa rallied in the fourth quarter with two touchdowns and had a chance to tie the game after an interception with 2:38 to go, but the Wildcat defense came up big with sacks of 12 yards by Jacob Protzman and Josh Taylor and a 17-yard sack by Kolbie Foster on fourth down to seal the victory.

Maliki Wilson led the Wildcat rushing attack with 63 yards on 28 carries while Thramer gained 26 yards on five rushes. Marlon Warren had three carries for six yards and two scoring runs.

Quarterback Aaron Bleil completed 11-of-21 passes for 112 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions while Thramer was 2-of-4 with one interception for 37 yards. Nate Rogers had four catches for 60 yards and two scores, with sophomore tight end Conner Paxton adding three catches for 35 yards.

Tyler Thomsen recorded a game-high 15 tackles with one interception and one breakup to lead the defense. Emile Hope contributed 11 tackles and one pass breakup.

Wayne State (3-7, 2-4 NSIC South) closes the regular season next Saturday with a 1 p.m. game at Sioux Falls.

Four Wayne teams compete in unified bowling tournament

The Wayne High unified bowling team sent four groups to the Norfolk Panther Unified tournament on Saturday.

The Wayne #2 team had the highest finish of the Blue Devil three-somes, placing fifth with a 635. Norfolk's A team won the tournament with a 770.

The Wayne #4 team finished seventh with a 600, Wayne #1 was 10th with a 516 and Wayne #3 was 12th with a 447.

Wildcat wrestlers open with good effort

Junior 174-pounder Gerald Kenkel from Ogallala placed sixth to lead the WSC Wildcat wrestlers at the Jimmie Open, held Saturday at Jamestown Univerith in Jamestown N.D.

This varsity opener included NAIA and NCAA Div. II teams, and the Wildcat Wrestlers competed extremely well with a mix of freshman and upperclassmen in the lineup.

Freshman Jordan Jensen (157) went 2-2 on the day, picking up his first two college wins. Angel Rojo, a freshman heavyweight, picked up a pin, as did transfer heavyweight Tyson Cisneros.

Following Kenkel was junior Hunter Weiss (149) with a win and senior captain Matthew Reeves (141), also a winner by pin.

Up next for the Wildcat Wrestlers is the Dakota Wesleyan Open this Saturday in Mitchell, S.D.

Wayne State women 11th, men 12th in NSIC race

The Wayne State women came away with an 11th place team finish while the Wildcat men placed 12th in the NSIC Cross Country Championships held Saturday at Lee Park Golf Course in Aberdeen, S.D.

Sophomore Molly McCartney was Wayne State's top runner, taking 50th overall in a field of 140 runners with a time of 23:30 on the 6,000-meter course. Wayne freshman Andrea Torres followed in 64th place at 23:57 with senior Joan Jelimo 83rd with a time of 24:33.

Other Wildcat runners were Kim Lowman (95th, 24:51), Allie Rosener (100th, 25:10), Joana Sato (110th, 25:45), Amanda Mote (114th, 25:49), Brianna Crouch (116th, 25:55), Josephine Peitz (117th, 26:01), Marin Jetensky (120th, 26:07), Hannah Perkins (128th, 26:53) and Payton Birkel (138th, 29:02).

As a team, the Wildcats finished with 323 points in the 15-team race. University of Mary won the team title for the third straight year with 54 points, while Minnesota State was second with 110 points.

In men's action, the Wildcats were led by junior Dylan Kessler, who covered the 8,000-meter course in 26:16 to finish 55th out of 121 runners. Senior Isaias Solorio was 69th in 26:44, while sophomore Bailey Peckham was 7th in 26:55.

Other Wildcat runners included - Bryce Holcomb (85th, 27:09), Brock Hegarty (94th, 27:39), Jesus Arellano (105th, 28:14), Nathan Pearlson (108th, 28:29), Jakob Kemper (109th, 28:30) and Nathan Hiemer (110th, 28:36).

The Wildcats finished 12th out of 12 teams with 320 points. Sioux Falls ended Augustana's nine-year run as conference champion with 32 points to the Vikings' 53. MSU Moorhead was third with 97 points.

Wayne State will close out the 2018 season on Saturday, Nov. 17 at the NCAA Div. II Central Regional in Joplin, Mo.

Brahmer earns second All-NSIC nomination

Jaci Brahmer of Wayne State was named to the 2018 NSIC All-Conference Volleyball Team. The sophomore middle blocker received second-team honors for the second straight season.

Brahmer has started all 28 matches this season for the Wildcats and has played in all but one set. She averages 2.32 kills and leads the NSIC in blocks per set at 1.20 while leading the Wildcats with a .318 attack percentage. Brahmer has one double-double this season, recording 14 kills and 10 blocks vs. No. 19 Central Oklahoma. She also had 10 blocks in a 3-2 win over Upper Iowa and matched her career-high of 14 kills in a 3-0 win at Augustana.

Brahmer has recorded at least one block in every Wildcat match this season and has seven matches with 10 or more kills.

Rough end to season for Allen in playoffs

JOHNSON — A long road trip was followed by a nightmare of a first half for the Allen football team as they were blown out 76-0 in the Class D-2 playoffs Wednesday by Johnson-Brock.

The host Eagles made things rough on the visitors from the get-go, forcing nine fumbles and recovering six as they lit up the Allen side for 64 first-half points.

Johnson-Brock's passing was nearly perfect, as they were 7-of-8 for 197 yards and six scores in the first half. They finished the game with 377 yards in total offense against the visiting Eagles.

Offensively for Allen, Kyle Smith ended his career, with 68 yards on 15 carries and surpassed the 1,400 yard mark on the year running the football. Senior Devin Twohig hauled in three passes for 33 yards. Defensively, sophomore, Anthony Isom had 10 stops, followed by Brogan Jones with 7.

"After the season we have endured, had successes in, and exciting moments, this was very difficult to see have happen for the kids," coach Dave Uldrich said. "The fumbles are something that happens when the other team is very talented, and they get you to speed up your play at a level you are not accustomed to. Hats off to them, they are as good as advertised."

The Allen squad finishes the season 6-4, including a first-round win in the playoffs.

Winside season ends in subdistrict final

The Winside volleyball team ended a 15-13 campaign Tuesday with a three-set loss to Wynot in the finals of the D2-4 subdistrict at Ponca High School.

The Wildcats battled the Blue Devils in the first set, but couldn't keep up with the top-seeded team in the subdistrict as Wynot pulled away to win, 25-22, 25-13, 25-16.

Hope Cummins led the Wildcats at the net with seven kills, while Andi Bargstadt added six kills and three blocks. Brooklyn Behmer and Jackie Escalante each had three kills, while Jaden Rastede and Kati Topp both had one kill and three blocks.

Behmer had 10 assists, McKenna Russell added eight and Escalante had two. Behmer led the team in serving with two aces.

Defensively, Bargstadt had 18 digs, Behmer added 12, Haylee Cummins had 11, Topp added 10, Russell and Escalante each had six, Rastede and Hope Cummins had three apiece and Ashelyn Ablter had one.

Wildcats upset Concordia-St. Paul, get sixth seed for conference tourney

The Wayne State volleyball team finished the regular season in fine fashion, upsetting No. 6-ranked Concordia-St. Paul to close out the season and wrap up a No. 6 seed for this week's Northern Sun Conference tournament.

On Friday, the Wildcats were unable to get their attack flowing against Minnesota State, falling in a 3-0 sweep at the hands of the Mavericks.

The Wildcats battled with the Mavericks for the majority of the set, falling 10-7 early on in the first. A service ace and kill by sophomore Maddie Duffy helped catch some ground, allowing the Wildcats to claw their way back into the game, tying it at 18-18. The hosts however proved tough to defend, hitting at a .326 pace to take the first set.

Like the first set, Wayne State spent most of the early points playing catchup. Trailing 16-15 a pair of Maverick errors sandwiched by a Katie Stephens kill gave the Wildcats a two-point advantage. The Mavericks answered right back tying the game at 19 apiece before trading points to 21-21. Minnesota State pulled away, ending the second set on a 4-1 run to close out the second set.

Wayne State came out in the third on a mission as Duffy served six straight times as the Wildcats jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead. The Mavericks responded by cutting a 7-2 deficit to 7-6 before Alyssa Ballenger directed a well-placed attack through the Maverick defense to cut the run and starting another mini run of their own. Despite the hot start, the Wildcats were never able to capitalize on the early advantage.

The Wildcats struggled offensively, hitting just .130 on the night. Stephens and Ballenger led the Wildcats with seven kills apiece, while Megan Gebhardt recorded her sixth double-double of the year with 24 assists and 11 digs. Haley Kauth (12) and Duffy (11) also recorded double digits in digs.

On Saturday, Stephens matched a career-high with 20 kills while Ballenger posted a career-best 18 kills to lead the Wildcats to a 3-1 upset (28-26, 25-21, 17-25, 25-15) at sixth-ranked Concordia-St. Paul at the Gangelhoff Center in St. Paul, Minn.

Stephens and Ballenger set the tone for the Wildcats in the first set as the duo combined for 11 of Wayne State's 16 kills in the set. Wayne State led throughout the set and had set point at 24-21, but the Golden Bears rallied to even the score at 24-24. Still tied at 26-26, the Wildcats got a kill from Ballenger followed by a service ace from Tarrin Beller to win the first set.

The second set was back and forth, featuring seven ties and three lead changes. With Concordia leading 16-15, Wayne State got a kill from Jaci Brahmer, followed by a block from Beller and Stephens and consecutive kills from Stephens to take the lead for good at 19-16. After the Golden Bears got within one at 21-20, Wayne State used a Golden Bear service error, a kill from Ballenger, another service error and a kill on set point from senior setter Megan Gebhardt to take the second set.

The host Golden Bears hit a sizzling .484 in the third set with 18 kills as Concordia-St. Paul pulled away late in the third set, but Wayne State reversed the momentum in the fourth set, posting a .464 attack percentage with 14 kills and just one attack error on 28 attacks, led by six kills from Stephens and four more by Ballenger, to knock off the Golden Bears.

The Wildcats finished the match hitting .353 with 58 kills and only 11 errors on 133 attacks while Concordia-St. Paul recorded a .296 attack percentage with 69 kills, 22 errors and 159 attacks. Wayne State held a 60-55 edge in digs and had a 6.5-6.0 advantage in blocks. Wayne State had six service aces and just three errors in the win while Concordia-St. Paul had four aces and eight service errors.

Stephens matched her career-high with 20 kills to lead Wayne State, hitting .350 in the match. Ballenger topped her previous career-high by one kill and finished with 18 to go with a stellar .472 attack percentage. Kauth had 15 digs for Wayne State followed by Morgan Alexander with 13. Alexander had three of Wayne State's six service aces in the win. Megan Gebhardt handed out 50 set assists and had three blocks in the match along with Beller to share team-high honors.

Wayne State (22-8, 13-7 NSIC) is the sixth seed for the 2018 Northern Sun Conference Volleyball Tournament and will travel to Marshall, Minn., Tuesday at 8 p.m. for a first-round match at third-seeded Southwest Minnesota State, who is ranked No. 9 in the AVCA Division II Top 25 Coaches Poll, with records of 21-7 and 16-4 in conference play. The 8 p.m. start time is due to Election Day polling on the campus of Southwest Minnesota State Tuesday. The Wildcats and Mustangs met once this season in Wayne on Sept. 8, with Southwest Minnesota State winning in five sets.

Let's pitch in and help stamp out hate

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The election is over. The results are well known. Let's move on. You may feel like you "won" or "lost," depending on whether the people you voted for were elected. Try to get over that. Handling defeat has always been problematic. Probably more now than at any time in recent history. We are bombarded every time we open a newspaper or turn on electronic media. Innocent parishioners slaughtered during worship in a synagogue. Bombs mailed to former high profile politicians. Random shootings and stabbings in schools and at concerts and elsewhere.

Social media has become unmanageable. Far too many disrespectful memes and jokes and rants have blown up Facebook. Politicians and Hollywood "celebrities" have made a disgrace out of Twitter. Those who use hate speech and exhibit hateful attitudes claim the First Amendment allows it.

I spotted a yard sign - among all the political signs and Halloween decorations - in a yard on a busy street the other day. I couldn't study it carefully at 35 mph, but the part I caught said, "Let's Get Hate Out of Nebraska." I like what I read, even without knowing the rest of the story.

Hate is described as intense or passionate dislike for someone or something. I used to hate broccoli and sweet potatoes as a kid. I've grown to love both. I can't say that I've ever truly hated someone, but I have had my share of disappointment in the way some people act. But I don't want to be judgmental.

Blogger Jeremy Myers writes that you do not "have to agree with what they do, but instead, you simply view the things in their life that you don't agree with the same way you view all the sinful habits and choices you make in your own life." Yes, the onus is truly on us.

Former New Jersey Governor James McGreevey laments, "We are losing sight of civility in government and politics. Debate and dialogue is taking a back seat to the politics of destruction and anger and control. Dogma has replaced thoughtful discussion between people of differing views."

Dogma. "A point of view or tenet put forth as authoritative without adequate grounds." There's a lot of that going around these days.

Fake news and the people who complain about fake news and those who defend it and the social media mess I mentioned before.

What if we put down our smart phones and stepped out from behind our keyboards and engaged one another in calm and rational, face-to-face discussion? I bet that would lead to less hate and more civility. Let's give it a chance. Let's work together to stamp out hate in Nebraska.

Stopping fraudulent phone calls

We've all been there. Our families sit down for a nice, relaxing dinner and just as we begin to eat, the phone rings. But who could it be? It's fairly late in the evening and mostly anyone who would call at such an hour is already gathered together.

Not wanting to miss an important call from a friend in need, we take the bait and answer the phone. Immediately, we find ourselves in the middle of a sales pitch for the latest and greatest home security system or a mortgage refinancing product which promises to have us debt free in a matter of months.

It's obviously a recording, but what to do now? Do we wait for it to end, at which point we can select an option indicating we wish to be removed from their calling list, which rarely works, or simply hang up on only to be called back shortly thereafter? In my case, I sometimes receive as many as five unwanted calls in a day, despite having registered my number with the Do Not Call Registry (1-888-382-1222.)

These calls are illegal. In some cases, they've gone as far as to imitate the Social Security Administration in an attempt to steal retirement benefits which prompted its inspector general to issue a public warning to would-be victims. According to the report, criminals are using "spoofing" technology to make the Social Security Administration's 1-800 number display on caller IDs when they call. If you or your loved ones happen to receive one of these fraudulent calls, please note the following.

The Social Security Administration will never threaten your benefits. Callers have reportedly offered to increase benefits or push through approvals if their victims would only provide personal information such as Social Security Numbers and bank account information. If you receive a suspicious call, you may report it to the Social Security Administration's Office of the Inspector General at 1-800-269-0271.

If you're concerned a genuine problem exists after receiving a call requesting your personal information, hang up and call the government agency, bank, or credit card company in question directly at their public number. This puts you in control by ensuring you're on the phone with the right people.

In 2010, I supported a bill which was signed into law to make call spoofing illegal and empower U.S. law enforcement and consumer protection authorities to put an end to them. To further strengthen these laws, I voted last year with the vast majority of my House colleagues to ensure this prohibition extends to spoofed calls coming from international locations.

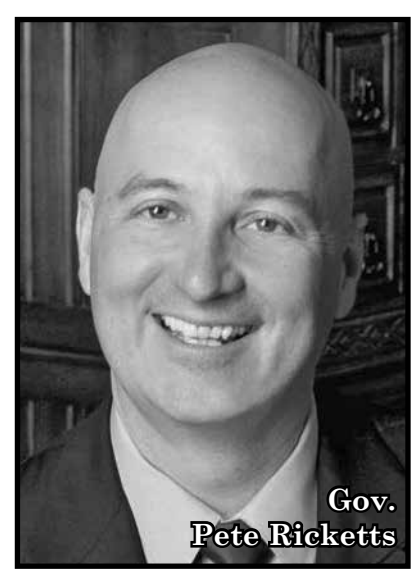

Unfortunately, stopping these criminals is challenging. The technology they employ is constantly evolving and requires new approaches by law enforcement officials. As we continue to grapple with this problem, I remain committed to considering new and innovative measures aimed at bringing an end to fraudulent and unwanted calls.

Governor's Update

Honoring Nebraska's Veterans

Every year, Veterans Day provides an opportunity for Americans to come together and honor the men and women who have served in our armed forces. This Veterans Day marks a special day in our country's history: The 100th anniversary of the armistice that ended World War I. Nearly 60,000 Nebraskans served in the war and 751 lost their lives in service to our state and our country.

Nebraskans played a significant role in World War I. General John J. Pershing, who was professor of military science and tactics at the University of Nebraska for several years, led the American expeditionary force and was later named General of the Armies of the United States in honor of his service. His bust is among the notable Nebraskans in the Hall of Fame at the Nebraska State Capitol. Another notable Nebraskan who played a key role in the war was Jarvis Offutt. He was a pilot from Omaha who was killed in France. He was memorialized in the name of Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska's only Air Force base and one of the state's largest employers. Finally, Roscoe "Dusty" Rhodes, the Nebraska Cornhuskers football team captain who was killed in action, was the original inspiration for the name of Nebraska's football stadium. To this day, Memorial Stadium honors the Nebraskans who served in World War I.

Gov. Pete Ricketts

Across the nation and within our state, special events are being held to commemorate this date and recognize the soldiers who fought in the Great War, including many Nebraskans. On Veterans Day, the University of Nebraska will be unveiling plaques at Memorial Stadium listing the students and faculty who served in World War I. At the military and veterans game on November 10th, there will be a special honor guard wearing authentic World War I uniforms and a special commemorative video made by the Nebraska Department of Veterans' Affairs (NDVA).

This recognition of service and appreciation is greatly deserved by our veterans, but there is more the State of Nebraska has been doing to help honor our veterans. We are working to make Nebraska the most veteran-friendly state in the nation. To that end, we are improving veterans' services, expanding job opportunities for military families, and listening to our veterans.

Over the years, the State of Nebraska has had two agencies serving our veterans. Last year, we merged the agencies to streamline and improve service. By giving NDVA oversight of our Veterans' Homes, we created a one-stop shop for veterans and their families to receive benefits and services in the state. To continue to improve those services, earlier this year I approved a 20 percent pay increase for staff care technicians who work directly with the veterans in our homes to improve recruitment, retention, and continuity of care. In August, we hosted a ribbon cutting at the new Central Nebraska Veterans' Home, a state-of-the-art facility that will provide world-class accommodations to hundreds of Nebraska veterans and their families.

We are also working to create more job opportunities for our military families and veterans. The state has expanded our hiring preference to include the spouses of active duty service members. The Legislature and I have teamed up to provide more reciprocity for military spouses with professional licenses. And

I signed an executive order earlier this year to make changes to state regulations governing teaching permits. Now, military spouses with a valid out-of-state teaching license can receive a three-year teaching certificate in Nebraska. This gives our schools the opportunity to employ more high-quality teachers in a timely manner. The Nebraska Supreme Court has made a similar accommodation for attorneys.

To truly serve someone, you have to listen and understand their needs, challenges, and desires. That is why NDVA Director John Hilgert and I regularly host a roundtable with leadership and representatives of veterans organizations from across the state. We discuss issues and ideas important to them and the veterans they serve every day. These events help provide feedback on the work we do to serve veterans and insights into what we are doing well and where we can improve. Discussions like these help grow how we serve our veterans and shape veteran-related initiatives.

Nebraska appreciates our veterans, and we will continue to work for them. If you have any thoughts you would like to share about how we can better serve our state's veterans, I would like to hear them. Give my office a call at (402) 471-2244 or email me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov.

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief (no longer than one type-written page, double spaced) and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter. Letters published must have the author's name, address and telephone number. The author's name will be printed with the letter; the address and the telephone number will be necessary to confirm the author's signature. The Wayne Herald editorial staff writes all headlines.

2018 Nebraska Risk and Protective Factor Student Survey

In November, students in grades 8, 10 and 12 will be participating in the 2018 Nebraska Risk and Protective Factor Student Survey (NRPFS). This survey is endorsed by the Nebraska Department of Education (NDE) and the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (NDHHS). The NRPFS is a substance abuse related survey of students in grades 8, 10, and 12 which is conducted once every two years. At this time, the NRPFS is the only school-based public health survey that generates local and regional estimates for health planning and evaluation. Students may voluntarily fill out the survey, and names are not used, nor is data tracked by student. Students will be receiving information to take home, but the public is able to download and print a non-participation form, or read more information about the survey, along with a page of sample questions, from the link on the school website.

Wayne State College welcomes Dr. Laura Thornton as speaker

Dr. Laura C. Thornton, Ph.D. is a Developmental Psychologist and a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the Boys Town National Research Hospital's Center for Neurobehavioral Research.

She will speak at 4 p.m. in Connell Hall Room 131 on Nov. 12.

Dr. Thornton's research interests focus on developmental neurobiology. Everyone is welcome.

Thornton's research interests focus on the developmental neurobiology of callous unemotional traits as well as how callous unemotional traits affect youth involvement in antisocial behavior, interactions with peers, and other high-risk behaviors, particularly within the justice systems. Thornton seeks to utilize her first-hand experience from working in juvenile detention and expertise as an Applied Developmental Psychologist to conduct policy-relevant quantitative research to improve the lives of individuals, communities, and society.

Winside sophomores attend Career Day in Wayne

Winside High School's sophomores attended Career Day at Wayne State College on Oct. 16.

Approximately 60 professionals presented to sophomores from 47 registered schools in northeast

Nebraska about their careers. The day was coordinated by the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and the Nebraska Extension Service in Wayne County.

Each student signed up for three career sessions and two breakout sessions. During career sessions, students learned details specific to their career choices and the career path necessary to attain a job in those professions. Breakout sessions included informational sessions pertaining to college and career readiness.

The Winside sophomores reported having more certainty and knowledge regarding their career paths after attending Career Day.

Socktober

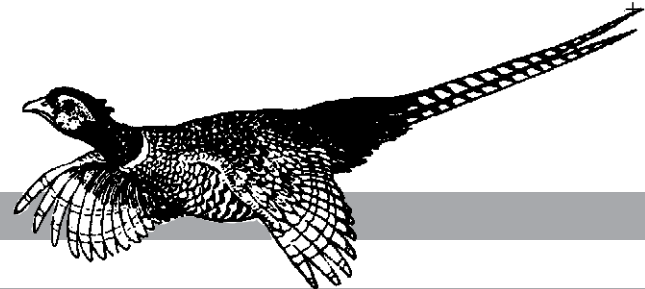

The third grade class at Wayne Elementary School participated in Socktober event this year and collected a total of 194 pairs of socks for people in Wayne who need them.

The socks will be donated to Michah's Closet and distributed free of charge to anyone who needs socks during the upcoming cold months.

The socks donated are a variety of sizes and genders, from infant to adult. Students and teachers Emily Sims, Carrie Wendte and Liz Garvin learned about this program from the website <http://soulpancake.com/socktober/>.

Also donated were underwear and two pairs of shoes.

Lifestyle

I'm an early childhood expert, right?

I recently became a new mom. My little guy is just five weeks old. Even though early childhood is my job, I have been humbled by this little boy.

Throughout my education and career, I've read tons of articles, research studies and books on childhood development, childcare, and education, but nothing actually prepared me for what it is like to have another human fully rely on me for care and comfort.

Am I doing this right? Is he eating enough? Why is he crying? Is what he's experiencing now going to affect him later in life? The responsibility is huge, right? It is, but ultimately what matters is love. Textbooks can't teach emotions; they are learned through real life.

Every day I learn something new about motherhood and I hope that I can use this knowledge in my job.

I now understand the hesitation of leaving a child with a stranger as the need to return to work approaches. I was thinking of this as I took my son to his one month check-up this morning. Living in a rural area, childcare options are limited. How many new mothers choose to leave their careers to stay at home with their children? Mothers are forced to make the difficult decision between a job and a child. In many situations, it is cheaper to quit a job and stay home with children rather than use up a large portion of a paycheck on childcare.

The decisions a mother must make regarding childcare are endless. As an early childhood "expert", I hope to help make some of these decisions easier for mothers living in rural America. The importance of quality childcare becomes vital to provide a peace of mind for mothers who are dropping off their tiny human at the home or center of a provider.

So keep doing what you are doing moms. I understand. You're doing the best you can and that is enough. I'm in your corner and together we can improve early childhood in Nebraska.

WSC students to conduct spirited wind ensemble performance

Two Wayne State College students make their conducting debuts during the Wind Ensemble concert Monday, Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre. Senior Cody Schobel of Norfolk and Junior JoAnne Lundahl of Wakefield are music education majors debuting their conducting skills.

This concert is sure to be an exhilarating listen for the audience. Repertoire includes expansive sounds depicting America's natural grandeur, images of churning sea water, a march-style tribute to folk music, and a tempo driven tour de force.

Fanfare for the Common Man, composed by Aaron Copland, celebrates ordinary Americans as heroes. LOL (Laugh Out Loud),

Facing the unknown, all my hope is in Jesus

We had "Youth Sunday" at our church recently and two high school guys preached on overcoming adversity. They taught on 2 Corinthians 4:8-9;

"We are hard pressed on every side, but not crushed; perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not abandoned; struck down, but not destroyed."

And Romans 5:1-3; "Therefore, since we have been justified through faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have gained access by faith into this grace in which we now stand. And we boast in the hope of the glory of God."

Hope. Both young men mentioned hope multiple times, and one of them said something that has stuck with me throughout the days that followed. He said, (and I'm paraphrasing) "I've experienced things in my life that I don't fully understand, and I've had things happen in my life, that at this point, I've seen nothing good come from them. But my hope is in Jesus."

I know this young man, and I know that what he says is true. I know it's true in his life, and the reality is it's true in my life, and I'll bet for most of you, it's true in yours as well. We've all experienced things in our lives that we didn't fully understand at the time, and maybe still don't fully understand. We've all had things happen in our lives that seeing "good" in them has been hard. There are many of us who are still waiting for the good to come from something that we wished we didn't have to endure.

The other part of his phrase is also true tough. I know this young man, and I know that his hope and trust is in Jesus. I know that he genuinely believes that God knows how all the pieces of our life, good, bad, and in between fit together in His plan of redemption. When life throws us things, that we don't fully understand, or obstacles, and difficulties that we wish we could avoid, or when everything around us seems to be in chaos, the one thing that never changes is Jesus. Jesus is the one in whom we can place our hope and our trust.

Hope. It's a powerful word. What we place our hope in defines our life in the present, and will define our life eternally. I love the chorus to one of my favorite songs:

"All my hope is in Jesus
Thank God that yesterday's gone
All my sins are forgiven
I've been washed by the blood."

"The Gate: Dawn of the Bahá'í Faith" documentary to show in Wayne

"The Gate: Dawn of the Bahá'í Faith" is the groundbreaking documentary that tells the dramatic, true story of the Prophet-Herald known as the Báb, His message and the origins of a new era in world religion.

Two free showings of the documentary will be offered this week in the Buestem Room in the Kenter Student Center on the campus of Wayne State College.

The documentary will show on Thursday, Nov. 8, from 4 - 5 p.m. and on Friday, Nov. 9, from 7 - 8 p.m. The event is being sponsored by the WSC Interfaith Action Group. Free snacks will be provided.

In the midst of religious intolerance and extremism, one religion - the Bahá'í Faith - offers a path toward world peace by advocating the oneness of humanity's major religions. Now, a groundbreaking documentary, The Gate, tells the amazing, little-known story of the origins of the Bahá'í Faith.

"The Gate: Dawn of the Bahá'í Faith" recounts the founding of this new world religion in Persia by a Prophet known as The Báb. In the mid-1800s, Jews, Christians and Muslims alike were awaiting the imminent arrival of a Divine Messenger. Beginning in 1844, the Báb's message, which included then-controversial ideas like the oneness of major religions and the empowerment of women, spread like wildfire across the region amidst this religious climate. However, His groundbreaking new message presented a threat to religious and political leaders of the time, resulting in relentless persecution of the Báb and His followers.

The Báb's message ultimately triumphed with a growing number of faithful; today, the Bahá'í religion is practiced throughout the world by over five million people. Combining dramatic reenactments with interviews of renowned historians, religious scholars and Bahá'í Faith experts, The Gate: Dawn of the Bahá'í Faith celebrates the brief, exciting life of a prophet and the indelible impact His message continues to have on the world today.

The film features reenactments which were filmed in Southern Spain and an on-camera narrator who helps weave the entire story together. Steve Sarawitz, executive producer, said, "I made this film for many reasons. Today, we live in a world divided by nation, race, gender and religion. Many people have lost hope that we can ever achieve peace on Earth. However, Baha'is have hope—because the Baha'i teachings promise that peace will happen." See the dramatic origins of this world-embracing faith in this spectacular documentary.

Holiday Fair planned for Nov. 17

The First United Methodist Church, located at Sixth and Main Streets in Wayne, will host the annual fall festival on Saturday, Nov. 17.

The hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and those attending are asked to use the north door facing Sixth Street.

A turkey dinner will served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. This dinner can also be delivered to a home or office or prepared for take-out.

This year's menu includes a hot turkey sandwich, green beans, mashed potatoes and gravy. Half portions and pie are also available.

To receive delivery or take out meals, contact the church office at (402) 375-2231 starting at 9 a.m. the day of the Holiday Fair. Delivery will start at 11 a.m.

Pie and coffee will be served all day.

In addition to the turkey dinner, various booths will be featured. These include: A Country Store, baked goods, Attic Treasures at bargain prices, Rada knives and dips and seasonings.

The public is encouraged to be a part of the fun at this event, start Christmas shopping or come to enjoy the fellowship.

Anyone with questions about the Holiday Fair is asked to contact the church office.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU GET THE FLU

Mark Patefield, RPh

I'm guessing that the flu isn't on your top-10 wish list, right? But just in case you get sick this flu season, here's a list of 10 things you can do to help ease your symptoms—and to stop the flu in its tracks and protect others.

- 1. Stock up. A few supplies may make it a bit easier to manage the flu. It's best to have these on hand before you get sick. Otherwise, send a healthy member of your family out on an errand, if you can.
 - Acetaminophen, ibuprofen, or naproxen for reducing fevers and easing aches
 - A thermometer
 - Cough syrup or cough drops
 - Saline nose drops or sprays
 - Drinks such as fruit juices or tea (avoid caffeine)
 - Easy-to-eat foods such as clear soups, crackers, or applesauce^{1,2}
- 2. Stay home! The first day you have symptoms, you may be tempted to venture out to work or school. Please don't! Not only do you need the rest, but this is also when you're most contagious.¹ Try to nap—and read or binge-watch your favorite television episodes.
- 3. Prevent the spread. In addition to staying home, wash your hands often and cover your cough and sneeze into your sleeve.²
- 4. Drink fluids, breathe steam. This is a great way to thin your mucus, making it easier to cough up. This may help prevent a lung infection. Using a humidifier (a cool mist) or breathing in steam from a hot shower may also help ease congestion.¹
- 5. Calm your cough. It can be exhausting, I know. Try over-the-counter (OTC) cough medicines—an expectorant helps thin mucus. Do not give a child under age 4 any type of cough medicine. Sucking on lozenges may also help your cough or scratchy throat.¹
- 6. Ease nose woes. You—or your kids—can try saline nose drops or sprays to ease nasal congestion. First, put a few drops into one nostril. Then gently blow the mucus and saline out. Repeat on the other side.¹
- 7. Treat other symptoms. Sure, a fever—along with chills and aches—is a sign your body is fighting off the virus. But that doesn't mean you need to suffer in silence. Ask me if you have any questions about which fever reducer to take. But don't forget: Never give aspirin to someone younger than 19—it can lead to a serious illness.¹
- 8. Ask about antivirals. Your health care provider may advise you to take one. If you do this within 48 hours of when symptoms begin, you have a fighting chance of reducing their impact.^{1,2}
- 9. Know when to seek medical help. If you or a loved one has any of these symptoms, call the doctor: •Dark urine; •Dizziness; •Fever of 100 degrees F for 3 or more days; •Returning fever or sore throat after feeling better

More serious symptoms require immediate medical care:

- Wheezing or shortness of breath; •Coughing up blood; •Chest pain or pressure; •Balance problems or confusion²

10. Talk to me! And of course it goes without saying: If you need guidance about any products—or any questions whatsoever—let me know, and I'll try to steer you in the right direction

Nothing herein constitutes medical advice, diagnosis or treatment, or is a substitute for professional advice. You should always seek the advice of your physician or other medical professional if you have questions or concerns about a medical condition.

Marksmen compete in invitational

Cold, damp weather greeted 71 shooters from across the state at the 41st annual Nebraska Youth Small-bore Silhouette Invitational held at the Pressey Wildlife Management Area south of Broken Bow recently.

This event is sponsored by the Nebraska Game and Parks and is open to all youth age 11 through their senior year in high school. The only requirement is that each competitor must be a graduate of the Nebraska Firearm Hunter Education Program.

"Smallbore silhouettes is a fun, but challenging, game. Competitors shoot .22 caliber (smallbore) rimfire rifles at four sets of metallic animal shapes at varying distances. Chickens at 40 meters, Boars at 60 meters, Turkeys at 77 meters and Rams at 100 meters. Each animal has ten targets, 2 banks of 5 targets each. The objective is to hit or knock down all the targets, while shooting from a standing position. A perfect score on the day would be 40 hits," said Darin Greunke, Coach and Leader of the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club.

James Simpson of Wayne finished the day with 35 hits, capturing the State Championship for 2018.

During the shoot, James hit five in a row on chickens and rams. James also knocked down all 10 boars. Unique to this shoot, when a shooter hits all 10 of an animal, after the competition, they are allowed to continue their run on that animal. James ran a consecutive hit streak on boars to 100 in a row before calling it a day. James received certificates for his five in a row and 10 in a row accomplishments.

James is a member of the Wayne County Sharp Shooters 4-H Club. Other members of the club competing included Emily Eilers of Wayne. Emily shot a 29 and earned a 1st place senior high medal and five in a row certificates for boars and rams. Mitchell Fisher from Wakefield finished with 24 hits and a five in a row on boars.

Each year, in addition to individual placings, team scores are tabulated. There are three team divisions: high school, with four competitors from the same school; 4-H, with four members from the same club; and open team, with four competitors put together to form a team.

James, Emily and Mitchell recruited Lily Henley of Lincoln to form an open team. Lily shot a 26 to help the team earn the first place open team medal with 114 hits.

"All the kids shot really well, in spite of the challenging weather," Greunke said. "At this event, we've learned to expect the unexpected. The kids strive to overcome those obstacles to prove their shooting skills."

For more information about this event and the 4-H Shooting Sports program, please contact Darin Greunke, leader, at (402) 286-4895.

NDA, UNL receive funding for specialty crop projects

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln will receive nearly $700,000 in funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to: study hops, wine grapes and dry beans; monitor invasive pests; and encourage healthy snacking in schools.

The funding comes from the USDA's Specialty Crop Block Grant Program (SCBGP), which supports the research, development and marketing of specialty crops. NDA manages the Nebraska program.

"Nebraska's Specialty Crop Block Grant Program helps add value to the state's agricultural industry by encouraging the growth and development of more distinctive crops," said NDA Director Steve Wellman. "By focusing on research and production, this year's SCBGP projects will benefit specialty crop producers across the entire state."

Specialty crops are generally defined as fruits, vegetables, nuts, honey and some turf and ornamental crops. A full list of specialty crops is available on USDA's website at www.ams.usda.gov/services/grants/scbpg/specialty-crop. Fourteen new specialty crop projects are being funded this year in Nebraska.

In four projects, NDA will conduct surveys and inspections across the state for:

- walnut twig beetles to look for Thousand Cankers Disease which has not yet been detected in Nebraska;
- Potato Cyst Nematodes to maintain Nebraska's PCN pest-free status;
- Japanese Beetles to determine what steps, if any, are necessary to certify nursery stock; and
- Columbia Root-Knott Nematodes to maintain Nebraska's CRKN pest-free status.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) is receiving funding for three projects related to the production of hops. Research results and educational programming will provide valuable decision making information to producers interested in growing this popular specialty crop.

In a project advancing the growth of wine grapes in Nebraska, UNL will graft an early bud breaking grape cultivar onto a rootstock of a grape cultivar that breaks winter dormancy later in the spring season. Dormancy bud break by as little as 3 to 4 days could mean the difference between a productive year and a non-productive year. If successful, this grafting technique will have an immediate and positive impact on the grape and wine industry not only in Nebraska, but everywhere spring frost and freeze events are an issue.

In another project, NDA is partnering with UNL to research specialty crops and the potential economic consequences of herbicide drift.

UNL is also receiving funding for projects related to dry bean, chickpea and field pea growth in western Nebraska. UNL will research chickpeas, dry yellow field peas, cowpeas and pinto beans, evaluate seed treatments, and evaluate optimal row spacings to maximize yields and quality. Nebraska is third in the nation in the production of all dry edible beans.

In another project, UNL's Buy Fresh Buy Local (BFBL) Program will use grant funds to increase consumption of specialty crops by distributing specialty crops at established mobile food pantries at Lincoln schools, provide educational materials to highlight specialty crops and offer free samples of food for children to taste.

All of the projects receiving SCBGP funding this year must be completed by Sept. 29, 2021. For more information about this year's grants, go to USDA's website at www.ams.usda.gov/services/grants/scbpg/awards and click on "FY2018 pdf."

NDA administered a two-phase competitive grant application process for SCBGP funds. Phase I involved the submission of concept proposals, which allowed applicants to explain the main points of their project. The concept proposals were independently and competitively scored by a field review panel. Projects with the highest combined scores were asked to complete Phase II of the application process and include a more in-depth description of the project.

Students experience 'The FFA way'

By Hana Nelson
FFA Reporter

Several Wayne FFA members traveled to Indianapolis, Indiana on Oct. 24 - 27 to experience the 91st National FFA Convention.

Grace Lindsay, Terran Sievers, Mariah Frevert, Hana Nelson, Faith Junck and Allison Claussen were the six members who got the opportunity to participate in the 91st National FFA Convention.

The students left Oct. 23 at 10 p.m. to head to Indianapolis, Ind. The very next day the students arrived in Indianapolis and attended the Opening Session and heard from speaker Kyle Scheele. Kyle's message was to be a supporter of others and their ideas.

On Oct. 25 members participated in the career fair and expo, and attended an educational tour at an orchid farm. The students gained more perspective on agriculture careers and met plenty of people from across the nation. Later that night the members attended another session that opened their eyes to the many directions in agriculture and who we are as FFA members.

On Oct. 26 the members woke up with excitement as this was the day they were going to experience "The Blue Room." "The Blue Room" had speakers who spoke about Ag technology and members got to see a familiar face, Beth Loberg Lutter, who shared with us the amazing world of Corteva and how technology is advancing and changing the world of agriculture.

After "The Blue Room" members sped over to visit the Indy Speedway where the members got to "Kiss the Bricks." Also that day members watched the Parliamentary Procedure finals, and to end that jam packed day participated in a session that speaker Judson Laipply talked to the members about innovation.

Ending this amazing experience on Oct. 27 members attended the Eighth General Session to observe a portion of the 4,255 members who have earned their American Degree. The American Degree is awarded to members who have shown the highest level of commitment and accomplishment in FFA.

Overall, the members had a great experience and made an abundant amount of memories that they will carry with them for the rest of their lives. The leadership experience that they gained will assist them to continue to grow the FFA chapter and beginning their future careers.

Football, Ben Sasse's book, topics of discussion

The Big Farmer's football friend, Ron, was here on Saturday, and I served them lunch from leftovers of Friday night's supper. (Grandkids and others joins us for supper on Friday nights.) I timed lunch for half time and remarked, "whatever else happens, we were ahead at half time." I know, there are no moral victories, but when you compare the Michigan debacle to last Saturday's game, it's hard to believe they are in the same season. Ever since Frank Solich was dispatched, I've remarked that I didn't mind getting beat, but I could not stand being humiliated! There is a difference. And, the same weekend, the volleyball team began to find its leaders and defeated good old Penn State and Russ Rose in five exciting sets. Now we are looking forward to the state volleyball tournament. And, last Wednesday, Halloween night, Lutheran High Northeast soundly trumped Osceola High

Plains in the second football playoff game. Grand Island beat its second Omaha team, York barely squeaked by Seward for the second time this year, and Centennial did the same to its opponent. I almost don't have time to check on all my teams!

Meanwhile, I read Ben Sasse's new book, "Them. Why We Hate Each Other, and How To Heal." I'm not convinced that his advice on how to heal is adequate; it seems to me there is so much vitriol being spilled these days, on the internet, on television programs like Stephen Colbert and Saturday Night Live, and in the political rhetoric spewed in the approach to Tuesday's election, it's going to be very hard to heal.

I had lunch last week with two long time nurse friends, and we shook our heads at the shooting in the Pittsburgh synagogue, they both remarked that they knew the media would blame Trump. When I commented that he certainly does not help matters, they ignored that statement.

In the last chapter, Ben says to first, reject anti-identities. He has constituents complaining to him that he's not angry enough and he believes that we have become so focused on what separates us, we've lost sight of the higher-order bonds that connect us. Secondly, he asks us to put politics in its proper place, and worry more about civics, which is about who we are as a people.

AND, he advises a lot less use of social media, even unplugging on Sunday to focus on things that matter. Obviously, I call this good advice; I don't even always have my little Tracfone with me, and I don't miss it! Happy Election Day on Tuesday! Be glad you have the privilege.

Advice offered for management of glyphosate-resistant marestail

Abundant rain since August in our area has promoted the relatively early emergence of winter annual weeds, particularly marestail. Marestail, also known as horseweed, is a winter or summer annual weed in Nebraska. Historically, marestail was found in waste areas and field edges and along roads and railroad tracks. However, no-till crop production systems over the last 25 years have favored marestail germination and establishment in agronomic crops in Nebraska.

A single marestail plant can produce up to 200,000 seeds, about 80 percent of which can germinate immediately after falling from a mature plant. Marestail's small seeds are wind-dispersed and can germinate on the soil surface. Studies show that most marestail plants emerge during fall and survive the winter as basal rosettes. However, significant spring and early summer emergence has also been observed in Nebraska. Therefore, scouting should be done in the fall as well as in early spring to make an effective management plan.

Marestail is the first glyphosate-resistant weed reported in the United States. Glyphosate-resistant marestail has now been reported in several states, including Nebraska. Marestail resistant to glyphosate and ALS inhibitors such as Classic, Permit, Pursuit, and Raptor is becoming more common in south central and eastern Nebraska. Therefore, proper management strategies should be implemented to control this problem weed.

As marestail does not mature until late summer, it competes with corn or soybeans throughout the growing season, causing significant yield reduction. Several reports have noted that marestail is sensitive to most herbicides labeled for its control early in its growth... or the rosette stage.

Fall Herbicide Options
Preliminary data for eastern Nebraska suggests that a fall burndown applied with a residual herbicide may eliminate the need for an early spring burndown for marestail control. However, this would not replace an at-planting residual application to control other troublesome weed species such as waterhemp and Palmer amaranth. For successful marestail management in the fall, apply herbicides following harvest while weather conditions remain favorable... no killing frost that turned marestail plants black and air temperature above 50°F.

The number of post-emergence herbicides available in corn and soybeans for effective control of marestail is limited, so your emphasis should be on fall or early spring control. A fall herbicide application is a more consistent strategy because weather conditions frequently interfere with early spring applications.

Glyphosate-resistant marestail is widespread across eastern Nebraska, thus 1 lb a.i. 2,4-D per acre is recommended as the base treatment for marestail burndown. Glyphosate or other products such as Sharpen or Gramoxone may be tank-mixed with 2,4-D to provide broader spectrum control of winter annuals and certain perennial weeds.

We generally do not recommend including residual herbicides in fall applications since they provide little benefit in managing weeds that emerge the following spring; however, if infestation of marestail is high in the field and the field has a history of marestail seedbank, it would be advantageous to add a residual herbicide such as Authority or Valor or Autumn Super, or other metribuzin products.

Refer to the most recent Guide for Weed, Disease, and Insect Management in Nebraska for more herbicide options. Fall herbicide application is unlikely to eliminate the need for burndown application at planting. Weeds adapted to cool temperatures, such as marestail, are likely to emerge prior to planting, making it necessary to control them.

Fall Tillage
Tillage can be an integral part of integrated management of marestail. Tillage in the fall or early spring after most marestail plants have emerged can provide effective control.

Cover Crops
A good stand of cover crops such as cereal rye planted before or after crop harvest in the fall can suppress marestail and other winter annual weeds. Early planting of cover crops is the key for effective suppression of marestail; cover crops should have emerged by the time marestail emerges. Inter-seeding cover crops while corn is at reproductive stage is a good practice for early establishment of cover crops.

Resources Conservation Service say the best thing producers can do for their cropland is to leave it undisturbed as much as possible. They encourage producers this November to not till their fields and keep crop residue in place to replenish the soil.

For more information on how to protect and improve soil quality, contact your local NRCS office or www.ne.nrcs.usda.gov.

*Value according to NebGuide #1846 "Harvesting Crop Residue" UNL-Extension, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Farmers encouraged to try 'No-Till November'

During a special month-long campaign called "No Till November", the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is encouraging Nebraska farmers to "keep the stubble" on their harvested crop fields and improve soil health.

The project is mirrored after the national cancer awareness "No Shave November" campaign. The "No Till November" campaign encourages farmers to keep a different kind of stubble by parking tillage equipment in their machine sheds this fall and keep crop stubble on their fields.

"No till farming is a cornerstone soil health practice, which also promotes water quality while saving farmers time and money," said State Conservationist Craig Derickson. "One of the first soil health principles is 'do not disturb.' This campaign is a fun way to remind farmers about the important relationship between tillage and soil health."

Improving soil health increases soil biological activity, which provides erosion control, nutrient benefits and can simulate tillage. Nebraska State Conservation Agronomist Corey Brubaker says fall tillage disturbs soil and removes valuable cover that can leave soil exposed and unprotected during harsh winter months. Other field-disturbing practices like baling corn stalks also removes valuable cover and nutrients from the field.

"Farmers who bale cornstalks for livestock bedding or sell it to other livestock producers could be entering into a losing proposition due to the lost nutrient value and soil health benefits," Brubaker said.

Based on current commodity prices and the nutrient value in each bale, Brubaker says farmers should leave crop residue in the field especially if the fields are highly erodible and subject to conservation compliance.

"The plant residue left in the field after harvest is a valuable resource," says Brubaker. "The value in cornstalks can be better used for reducing soil erosion, providing extra organic matter content in the soil, and contributing nutrients back to the soil."

In Nebraska, cornstalk bales are currently selling for $45-80 per ton. The estimated cost of baling cornstalks, considering the value of the nutrients removed ($28/ton*), custom raking ($3/ton), and custom baling ($22/ton), is about $53 per ton. If bales are sold at the lower end of the current rate, farmers are not only losing money, but also the benefits of leaving residue on their fields.

New Tech Old Tech: When is it time to update?

This time of year is always fascinating to me from a technology standpoint, because harvest for me is literally a stroll down memory lane. I have been in Precision Ag for 20 years. In that time, we went from the YM 2000 Yield monitor and a GPS receiver the size of a lunch box to the modern equivalents that have color touch screens and 100 other features. And while most of the tech from 20 years ago is gone, I still see some old tech at use on farms, and it makes me wonder what the viability of that is.

So often in my life, I find myself stuck between two different generations. My parents were born in the 40's and grew up in homes that worked their way through the Depression. Both of my Parents have the ability to turn nothing into something. My Mom has always been an expert at sewing, gardening, canning, and running a household on a budget. On the other side, my Dad was always making what we had work or making what was lying around into something else. One of the best examples I can think of was a machine to lay down the weed barrier fabric for planting trees. The one the NRD had didn't work well, so he built one out of an old belly mount cultivator laying in the trees. Not only did it work, but it worked so well the NRD bought it to replace the one they had.

Then I turn around, and I look at the "throw away" generation that I was part of growing up. I had a bag phone when I went off to college that we paid for 30 minutes a month. When I got there, I met people who had new phones every year. They sold their computer at the end of each school year because they would get a new one next year. I could go on, but I think you get the picture.

I always knew I didn't fit in with that group in a way, because my values were totally different. So what did I do, I choose to pursue Precision Ag as my career field. A field where technology is always changing, and you need to be on the cutting edge to succeed. Or at least that is what I thought. What I found was that you all, the American farmer are just as much a cross-section of American Consumers as anywhere else. We have techies that are always getting the new stuff, the DIYers that are making it out of nothing, and everything in between.

And to be honest, that is fine on MOST things. But there are a couple of areas where in my opinion, you need to always be current with new hardware. The two areas that really come to mind are your planter and your guidance system. I talk about planters a dozen times a year, but today is about guidance and steering.

For most of you, I would almost dare to say that a steering system gets used more per acre than anything else. While a combine or a planter covers every acre once a season; a steering system may cover the acre four times a year or more. They have single-handedly increased operating time per day, happiness, and mindless cell phone usage. But, I will challenge you that they are also one of the pieces of tech on your farm that have evolved the most in the last dozen years. With accelerometers and gyroscopes and faster circuits and more GPS constellations and new correction sources and evolving cellular capabilities and... I think you get the point.

So then when it comes to a guidance system, is still using the factory OEM system integrated in your 8320 getting you everything that you need? Sure, it's still easy to use, you leave the GS2 hooked up to it and don't touch it. But, along the way, you had to replace the globe didn't you? You bought unlocks for the display to get GS2 and Autoswath? I could tell the same story for a CNH system or an Ag Leader as well.

So what is the point of this discussion? The point is that for the average person, the phone in your pockets is no more than two years old. At home, we on average replace a computer when it is four years old. Now, how old is the GPS receiver and controller in your combine today? I get it, and I am as much for being thrifty as anybody. But, this fall and winter I think it is critical to look at and evaluate your Guidance System. With the sunset of 3G technology upon us, it may even mean you have to look at upgrades or replacement for next season to ready for 2019. Don't let this come as a surprise to you the day you want to start in the field next year.

Evolving your guidance system is key to keeping your operation in motion and moving forward. When you fall behind here, every other operation on the farm that relies on GPS falls behind as well.

THANK YOU

Thank you for the cards, visits, phone calls, food and prayers during my hospitalization and my arrival home. It was greatly appreciated.
Dee Carroll

The words 'thank you' don't seem enough to say how much I appreciated everyone who attended my 80th birthday party. I was overwhelmed with the many friends and relatives who came. I am still in awe!! Thanks for all the cards, gifts, flowers, phone calls and the memory jar. Special thanks to Brent, Brenda, Deb and Mick and their families for all the work they did in planning and carrying out such a wonderful party. It was great and I am so appreciative. It certainly was a day to remember forever.
