Gov. Ricketts celebrates workforce housing project completion in Wakefield

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

The last time Wakefield hosted the governor was back in 2007 when Gov. Dave Heineman came to town for the opening of the swimming pool. On Jan. 17, current Nebraska Gov. Pete Ricketts helped celebrate one of the first projects completed under Nebraska's Rural Workforce Housing Investment Act (LB518).

According to a press release from the governor's office, LB518 created a new program to help Nebraska's rural communities address local workforce housing needs. The Act channeled approximately $7 million from the Nebraska Affordable Housing Trust Fund into a new fund — the Rural Workforce Housing Fund (RWHF). The RWHF, in turn, supplies dollars to regional rural workforce housing investment funds.

Those funds went to finance affordable housing development projects in counties having a population of less than 100,000. Both Wayne and Wakefield received funds, with Wakefield receiving about $961,000, to be administered through Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation (WCHD), which received funds from area businesses and organizations to match the State's contributions. WCHD was one of only 14 organizations to receive LB518 funding.

Megan Weaver, WCHD executive director is in charge of both communities funds and said the first of the projects finished, for the Ruiz family came at just the right time. When Adrian and Maria Ruiz first came to WCHD for housing advice, Weaver said Wakefield was just in the application phase for LB518 funds, so she and the couple who were trying to move from Emerson to Wakefield to be closer to Adrian's job at Michael Foods, were exploring other options. Once funding was granted it was somewhat smooth sailing from there.

"When we started working with them, we connected them with Chad Sebade and he drew up the plans and really, it's a pretty easy process for the home buyers," Weaver said.

For home buyers looking to use LB518 funds, all that's needed is some paperwork with Weaver's office, a purchase agreement and the green light from the loan committee.

The Ruiz home, also known as Wakefield's Home Plate Project was built on an existing lot on Maple Street, where a dilapidated house had been razed. On Jan. 17 Gov. Ricketts; Wakefield mayor, Paul Eaton; Brady Weaver, Michael Foods operations manager; Chris Hardy, Enel Green Power; and Megan Weaver spoke to a large crowd at the new home, before the family and distinguished guests cut the ribbon. Weaver said she was proud of what WCHD and their partners were able to achieve.

"There's a lot of agencies that do this type of work, but we're fairly small," Weaver said. "There's just myself and a part time assistant so to be able to accomplish things like this is pretty cool."

Having the governor attend both the ribbon cutting and reception at the Wakefield Civic Center was a nice touch for the community.

"The Rural Workforce Housing Investment Act is helping our Nebraska families like the Ruiz family of Wakefield. This grows our workforce and helps companies like Michael Foods to attract and retain talent," said Governor Ricketts. "Congratulations to the city of Wakefield on being one of the first communities to complete a project in Nebraska using funding provided with LB518."

Mayor Eaton presented the governor with a commemorative baseball glove from Nebraska's Baseball Capital at the reception before the governor took time to meet with locals.

"He got right in there and was very personable and it was really cool to see him interact with the family," Weaver said.

Michael Foods was one of the companies that made a large fund-matching contribution. Having one of their employees take advantage of LB518 funding warranted a special trip from president Mark Westphal.

"We had the president of Michael Foods who flew in, so he was able to see what their donation was doing for one of their employees," Weaver said.

Also flying in were representatives from Enel Green Power, who also made large contributions to the fund.

Several more LB518-funded projects are in the works in Wakefield and Wayne, ranging from down payment assistance to new builds like the Ruiz home. None of them would be possible without LB518 and those who contributed to match funds.

"We are very thankful for all of our partnerships whether it was $2,500 or $25,000 because otherwise we wouldn't have gotten nearly the amount we did," Weaver said.

Welcome to... Wayne Board of Education

Justin Davis-Wayne Community Schools Board of Education

There's a good chance, regardless of the community, many people who run for their local schools boards never consider it until their own children are in the school system. Wayne-native and financial advisor at Rath, Walling & Associates Justin Davis was no exception. However, having been a student in the Wayne Community School district, Davis knew he wanted his own children to have a positive experience.

"My wife and I both grew up in Wayne and graduated from the district here, so we just wanted to make sure that our boys at least have the same opportunities that we had here, if not better," Davis said.

After being elected one of three new school board members in November, Davis said he was happy to finally have his first meeting on Jan. 14.

"It was good just to get in there and hit the ground running and start looking forward to doing some good things," Davis said.

All school board members sit on three committees. Davis has taken up positions on the Foundation, Facility and Finance, and Negotiations committees. The senior board members are helping the newcomers get acclimated to their work, according to Davis.

"It helps that we have three board members who are coming back on their terms and the administration is great, it's a sound district," Davis said.

One of Davis' goals while on the school board is to ensure the district is always keeping up.

"The education environment and that platform is constantly evolving so we need to make sure we don't fall behind and we stay ahead," Davis said. "We need to continue to be innovative and creative and provide the district, community and kids with as many opportunities as possible to succeed."

Now that the wait to take his spot on the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education is officially over, Davis is ready to begin the work.

"I'm excited to get going and be a part of the board and continuing the success that the prior boards have laid out there," Davis said.

The Wayne Herald will continue to bring our readers an introduction to recently installed Wayne County, City of Wayne and Wayne Community Schools Board of Education officials.

Pair of proposed bills could have impact on Nebraska breweries, including Wayne's

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

Two separate bills introduced during the new legislative session has Nebraska's growing brewery industry nervous. Senators Tom Briese and Curt Friesen have introduced LB314 and LB497, respectively, which seek to relieve property tax by upping tax per gallon on beer from 31 cents per gallon to $1.38 on every gallon of beer brewed in-state. That's a 345 percent tax increase on brewers, leaving some brewers like Johnnie Byrd Brewing Company's Greg Ptacek wondering what it's all for.

"We pay 11 cents per gallon for federal taxes and we pay 31 cents right now per gallon for state taxes so that will go from about $1,200 to about $4,500 and that's just at our current production," Ptacek said. "It doesn't sound like a ton of money but if you put it into where our expenses break down, this would literally be right behind grain and hops so everything it takes to make beer, this is going to be as expensive."

Increasing excise tax on vice items like alcohol and tobacco has been done before, but the economic impact of a 345 percent tax increase on a growing, attractive industry like craft breweries could have impacts on rural communities.

"It would certainly stunt growth and be a hinderance to new breweries, especially in rural areas," Gabby Ayala, executive director of Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild, said.

Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild is an organization of roughly 94 percent of the state's breweries, by Ayala's calculation, that works to support local breweries and further a business-friendly community for breweries.

"The margins are extremely small for small-scale brewers anyway, so this increase would really make it tough," Ayala said. "This increase would make Nebraska the number one highest excise taxed state and right now, we're already the highest taxed in our seven-state region."

The average tax per gallon of brewed beer is 13 for the states surrounding Nebraska. Ptacek said there's a pattern for states with high excise tax on breweries.

Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama are similar to Nebraska's potential excise tax and those states also have fewer breweries per capita according to Ptacek.

"We've seen a giant craft beer boom in Nebraska," Ptacek said. "We're getting up there for breweries per capita and if you see this excise tax coming then I think you're going to see a lot more scale down and only the big guys are going to actually be able to stay afloat."

LB497 was only introduced on Jan. 22 and LB314 is still in the revenue committee's hands, so Ptacek and Ayala are hopeful about the outcome.

"Property tax is a huge issue for our state's farmers and ranchers and we certainly don't want to minimize that," Ayala said. "We are being proactive and asking our brewers to reach out to their senators and to all the senators on the revenue committee."

Ayala also said the guild has had open communication with both senators and other who have endorsed LB314 and is happy with those interactions.

USDA to reopen FSA offices for additional services during government shutdown

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue has announced that all Farm Service Agency (FSA) offices nationwide will soon reopen to provide additional administrative services to farmers and ranchers during the lapse in federal funding. Certain FSA offices have been providing limited services for existing loans and tax documents since Jan. 17, and will continue to do so through Jan. 23. Beginning Jan. 24, however, all FSA offices will open and offer a longer list of transactions they will accommodate.

Additionally, Secretary Perdue announced that the deadline to apply for the Market Facilitation Program, which aids farmers harmed by unjustified retaliatory tariffs, has been extended to Feb. 14. The original deadline had been Jan. 15. Other program deadlines may be modified and will be announced as they are addressed.

"At President Trump's direction, we have been working to alleviate the effects of the lapse in federal funding as best we can, and we are happy to announce the reopening of FSA offices for certain services," Perdue said. "The FSA provides vital support for farmers and ranchers and they count on those services being available. We want to offer as much assistance as possible until the partial government shutdown is resolved."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has temporarily recalled all of the more than 9,700 FSA employees to keep offices open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays beginning Jan. 24. President Trump has already signed legislation that guarantees employees will receive all backpay missed during the lapse in funding.

For the first two full weeks under this operating plan (Jan. 28 through Feb. 1 and Feb. 4 through Feb. 8), FSA offices will be open Mondays through Fridays. In subsequent weeks, offices will be open three days a week, on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, if needed to provide the additional administrative services.

Agricultural producers who have business with the agency can contact their FSA service center to make an appointment.

FSA can provide these administrative services, which are critical for farmers and ranchers, because failure to perform these services would harm funded programs. FSA staff will work on the following transactions:

- Market Facilitation Program.
 - Marketing Assistance Loans.
 - Release of collateral warehouse receipts.
 - Direct and Guaranteed Farm Operating Loans, and Emergency Loans.
 - Service existing Conservation Reserve Program contracts.
 - Sugar Price Support Loans.
 - Dairy Margin Protection Program.
 - Agricultural Risk Coverage and Price Loss Coverage.
 - Livestock Forage Disaster.
 - Emergency Assistance Livestock, Honey Bees, and Farm-raised Fish Program.
 - Livestock Indemnity Program.
 - Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program.
 - Tree Assistance Program.
 - Remaining Wildfires and Hurricanes Indemnity Program payments for applications already processed.
- Transactions that will not be available include, but are not limited to:
- New Conservation Reserve Program contracts.

- New Direct and Guaranteed Farm Ownership Loans.
- Farm Storage Facility Loan Program.
- New or in-process Wildfires and Hurricanes Indemnity Program applications.
- Emergency Conservation Program.
- Emergency Forest Rehabilitation Program.
- Biomass Crop Assistance Program.
- Grassroots Source Water Protection Program.

With the Office of Management and Budget, USDA reviewed all of its funding accounts that are not impacted by the lapse in appropriation. We further refined this list to include programs where the suspension of the activity associated with these accounts would significantly damage or prevent the execution of the terms of the underlying statutory provision. As a result of this review, USDA was able to except more employees. Those accounts that are not impacted by the lapse in appropriation include mandatory, multiyear and no year discretionary funding including FY 2018 Farm Bill activities. Updates to available services and offices will be made during the lapse in federal funding on the FSA shutdown webpage (<https://www.fsa.usda.gov/help/shutdowninfo>). Programs managed by FSA that were re-authorized by the 2018 farm bill will be available at a later date yet to be determined.

Prescribed fire workshop held in Wayne

Wayne State College was host to approximately 30 people on Jan. 17 for a Prescribed Fire Workshop.

The event was sponsored by Pheasants Forever, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS), the Wayne State College Wildlife Society Club and Nebraska Environmental Trust.

Topics during the day included uses and benefits of prescribed fire, fire behavior, prescribed fire preparation, prescribed fire equipment, fire-line positions and burn day activities, prescribed fire techniques, smoke management and safety considerations, regulations, burn plans and conservation program, fire weather planning resources and Burn Association updates and accomplishments.

Attendees include members of the NRCS, Nebraska Game and Parks, the Nebraska Burn Association, volunteer fire fighters, private land owners, Wayne State College students and members of Pheasants Forever.

This workshop was one of several Pheasants Forever's Basic Prescribed Fire Workshops being held across the state this month. This particular workshop for northeast Nebraska historically has rotated back and forth between Wayne and Norfolk each year.

Beer tax

From Page 1A encouraged customers to reach out to Briese and express concerns civilly.

"I think he really just wants to do something about property tax," Ptacek said. "Sen. Briese is a nice guy and he's not doing this with any vindictive motive so he deserves our respect as a state senator."

Ptacek said he hopes those trying to fix property tax by raising excise tax see that for many small communities, having amenities like a brewery can be place-making and an attractive destination for out-of-towners.

"If you keep taxing all of these small businesses what do you have left to prop up farmers and this rural economy other than the farm?" Ptacek asked. "If we tax these things to death we're going to lose what actually makes rural economies grow and makes rural communities."

LCC standouts join 1,000-point club just days apart

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

Todd Erwin has watched Izac Reifenrath and Noah Schutte grow up on the basketball court, from their days of playing recreational basketball to this season as their coach on the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge boys basketball team.

So it really came as no surprise to him when, in a span of less than two weeks, both players reached the 1,000-point plateau in their careers, each hitting the mark in wins that have helped the Bears to a 15-1 season and a No. 2 ranking in the Omaha World-Herald.

"I remember seeing them back in second and third grade, so it's been a long time working with them and you just knew right away that they were going to develop," Erwin said prior to the team's practice earlier this week before a big matchup with Osmond.

The high-scoring duo have been lighting it up throughout this season. Schutte, a junior, is averaging 25.5 points per game while Reifenrath, the lone senior on the team, is cranking out 22.4 points per game. Both have scored 30-plus points on several occasions this season and reached the 1,000-point mark within an 11-day stretch.

Schutte was the first to make it to 1,000. He made a driving layup in the lane in LCC's 79-58 win over Winnebago on Jan. 4, part of a night where he ripped the nets for 35 points on 13-of-21 shooting from the field.

"I don't remember the play exactly. I just remember scoring and the crowd cheering really loud and the signs going up for it," Schutte said of his 1,000th point.

Reifenrath pointed to a spot on the floor behind the 3-point line where he joined Schutte in the 1,000-point club in a Jan. 15 home game against Hartington-Newcastle. The trey was part of a 32-point night for the senior guard and came during a 25-0 run in the second half.

"There on the right wing," he said, pointing at the spot. "It seemed like (Hartington-Newcastle) were hitting everything against us that first half. I knew I needed 23 to get to 1,000, but it was during that big run we had and everybody went crazy when I hit it. It was pretty awesome, but I couldn't have done it without my teammates and my coaches and my family."

Having a pair of 1,000-point scorers has to be a scary proposition for opposing teams to try to stop.

"Izac is the senior leader and just works both ends of the court until he passes out," Erwin said. "He does a great job of getting his own points, but is also very good at getting good looks for Noah and the other kids on the team."

"Noah just always seems so calm and is a great rebounder and has a great defensive presence at the rim," Erwin added. "The thing that makes it so tough to guard him is that he can step back three feet behind the line and hit a 3-pointer, then drive to the hoop and score. He can play all five positions and do a good job at any of them."

The two have a unique chemistry that not only helps them light up the scoreboard, but create opportunities for their teammates as well, as indicated by the scoring averages of Ty Erwin (11.9), Evan Haisch (8.9) and Cael Hartung (7.8).

"We have great chemistry and can see each other thinking out on the floor, and I know I can rely on him to get the ball to me when I'm open," Schutte said.

"I've really worked on my dribbling and defense, and we've got the people who can step up and score," Reifenrath added. "If they stop me, then I just look for the open man because we have guys who can score from everywhere."

"Both have worked really hard to get to be the scorers that they are, but they also have three or four kids around them who can contribute, so you can't focus on those two because it just frees things up for those other guys," Erwin said.

With two 1,000-point scorers in the lineup, it has created a lot of excitement for LCC fans, including back-to-back 100-point games earlier this season. But both players agree that there is a bigger target they both want to hit — taking the Bears to the state tournament for the first time since the 2001 team won the Class C-2 state title.

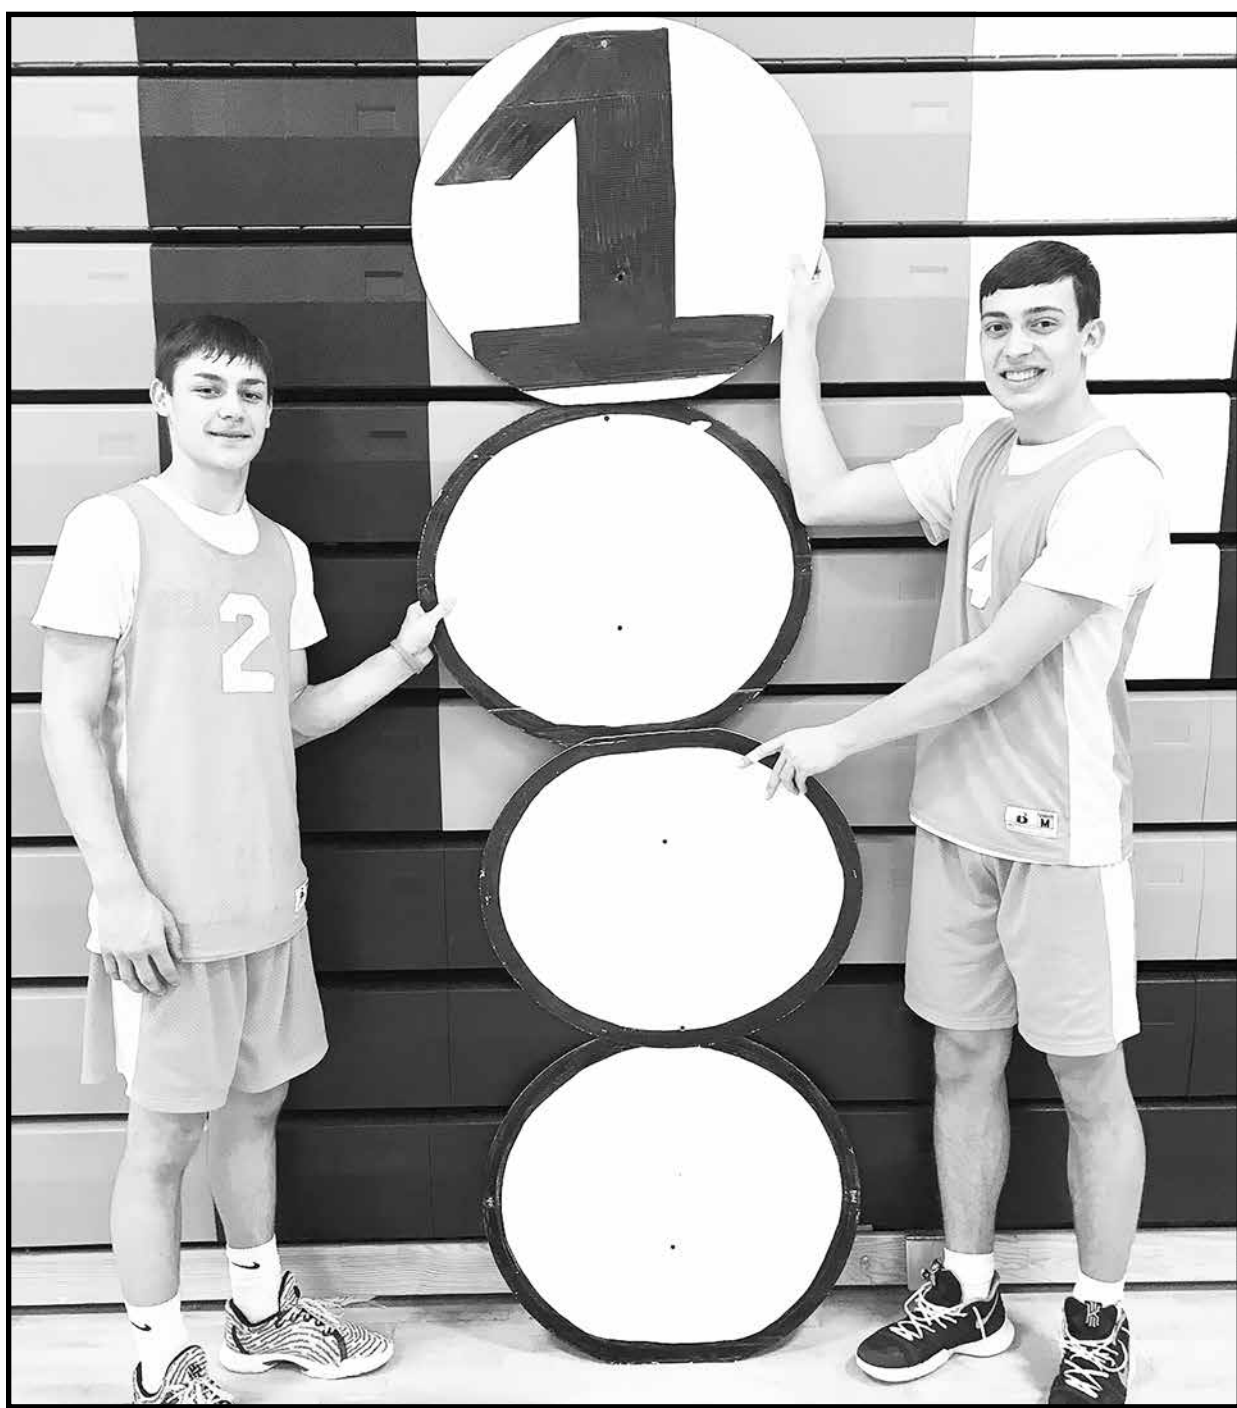

It won't be easy — LCC is in one of the toughest subdistricts in Class C-2 with Hartington Cedar Catholic and two-time defending champion Ponca, who owns a 70-56 win over the Bears earlier this season.

"We think this is our year and we can do something good, and we feel we can beat both of them," Schutte said.

"We just need to keep working hard," Reifenrath added. "We've got the people to do it, and if we keep practicing hard I think we can get there."

"We'd love to get there, and that's obviously a goal," their coach said. "(Reifenrath and Schutte) have put us in a great spot and they have the team playing well. We just need to keep working and try to take it a game at a time, and I think we have a good shot."

With a pair of 1,000-point scorers in the lineup — you could say the Bears have TWO good shots.

WSC softball camps set for February

The Wayne State College softball program will host three camps during the month of February in the WSC Recreation Center.

A Hitting/General Skills Clinic will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 2-3, with a Pitching Clinic scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 10.

The Hitting/General Skills Clinic on Saturday, Feb. 2 is open for players 8-13 years old while the clinic on Sunday, Feb. 3 is open for players 14-18 years old. Check-in for each camp is 8:30-9 a.m. with each clinic running from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. The cost of the Saturday clinic (8-13 yr. olds) is $50 and the cost of the Sunday clinic for 14-18 yr. olds is $75. Both clinics include a camp T-shirt.

The clinics will emphasize the basic skills needed for hitting and defense and is designed for the novice to advanced athlete. Instructors for the clinics will be Wildcat coaches and players and is a great clinic for young players to help enhance their game.

The Pitching Clinic on Sunday, Feb. 10 is open to players ages 10-18 and will be held from 10 a.m.-12 p.m. with registration taking place at 9:30 a.m. in the WSC Recreation Center. The clinic emphasizes the basic skills need for pitching and will enhance your pitching game. Pitchers are responsible for their own catchers at the clinic. Cost of the pitching clinic is $50 and includes a camp T-shirt.

All athletes should come dressed for participation. It is recommended that athletes bring tennis shoes, glove, bat, batting gloves and water bottle.

For more information on the clinic, contact Wayne State softball coach Shelli Manson at (402) 375-7522 or e-mail shmanson1@wsc.edu. Athletes can also register online at www.wscsoftballcamps.com.

Wildcats bounce back with big win over NSIC-leading Northern State

The Wayne State men's basketball team bounced back in a big way Saturday, overcoming a loss at MSU Moorhead on Friday to take down the top team in the Northern Sun Conference with a Saturday win at Northern State.

In the men's matchup, MSU Moorhead rallied in the second half to defeat Wayne State 80-76.

The first half featured six ties and six lead changes in a close battle. The host Dragons held a six point lead at 25-19 with 7:12 to play in the half, but Wayne State charged back and tied the score at 29-29 on a Vance Janssen trey with 4:49 to play in the half and finished with a 38-33 lead at intermission on another Janssen 3-pointer with :10 left.

The Wildcats (13-4, 8-3 NSIC) continued their strong play early in the second half, building an 11-point advantage at 44-33 following a Trevin Joseph layup with 17:53 remaining.

MSU Moorhead came roaring back and forged a 51-51 tie with 12:49 remaining. Wayne State pushed the lead back to five, but the Dragons responded with a 10-1 run to erase the deficit and turn it into a 63-59 lead.

Wayne State's last lead of the contest came at 66-65 on a Trevin Joseph layup at the 6:29 mark. Senior guard Vance Janssen hit a jumper with 1:16 to play, giving him 16 points for the game while becoming the 34th player in school history to record 1,000 points at Wayne State.

The Wildcats got within two at 76-74 on a layup from Joseph with :18 remaining, but MSU Moorhead made two free throws to seal the win.

Kendall Jacks had 17 points for the Wildcats while Vance Janssen and Nick Ferrarini each accounted for 16. Joseph also hit double figures with 13.

Wayne State held a 36-31 advantage in rebounding with Jordan Janssen grabbing 10 boards. Jordan Janssen had three assists and two blocks.

On Saturday, Wayne State built a 14-point lead with just over five minutes remaining, then had to hold off a Northern State rally to knock off the top team in the NSIC, 84-81.

The first half was a close battle throughout the first half. Northern State led by as many as five at 13-8 with 15:32 to go in the half, and the Wildcats came back with a 10-4 run later in the half to lead 38-32 before settling on a 42-38 halftime advantage.

The Wildcats used a 14-0 run early in the second half to take a double-digit advantage. Tied at 46-46 three minutes into the second half, Wayne State used back-to-back treys from Joseph, a 3-pointer from Vance Janssen and a three-point play by Jordan Janssen in a span of 3:06 to take a 60-46 lead. Wayne State still held a 73-59 lead at the 5:21 mark when Northern State started their comeback. The Wolves trimmed the lead to 73-68 at the 3:19 mark, but Wayne State answered the run and was in front 79-70 with 1:06 remaining when Northern State made one last surge. The Wildcats led 82-75 with 16 seconds to play, but Northern State got 3-pointers from Ian Smith and Mason Stark to cut the lead to one at 82-81 with 3.4 seconds left. Vance Janssen was fouled and made two free throws with 2.8 to play for an 84-81 lead. Northern State's Ian Smith raced into frontcourt and was long on an approximate 30-footer from the right side giving the Wildcats the big NSIC road win, their fifth in seven NSIC road tests this season. Joseph led Wayne State (14-4, 9-3 NSIC) in scoring with 31 points, making 12-of-19 shots from the field. It was his second 30-point outburst in the last six games and the fifth time in the last nine outings recording over 20 points.

Kendall Jacks added 15 points, extending his streak of scoring double figures in every game this season. Jordan Janssen added 14 points with Vance Janssen scoring 13. Jordan Janssen led the Wildcats with nine rebounds and two steals while Ben Dentlinger accounted for four blocked shots. Wayne State will be at home this weekend, entertaining Minnesota State Saturday at 5:30 p.m. and Concordia-St. Paul Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Marvin sets new school mark at SDSU Invite

Mikayla Marvin took first place in the pole vault with a new school record mark of 10 feet, 8 3/4 inches to lead the Wayne State women's indoor track and field team Friday at the South Dakota State Division II Invitational, held at the Sanford-Jackrabbit Athletic Complex in Brookings, S.D.

Mid State Conference brackets released

The Wayne boys are the fourth seed while the girls will be in the play-in game for the Mid State Conference basketball tournament that begins on Saturday.

GACC/Pierce loser vs. O'Neill/NC loser, 7:45 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 2 Marvin's mark eclipsed the previous school mark of 10-8 set by Katie Malander in 2004.

In other field events, Tia Jones took fifth in the shot put (43-2 1/4) with Jadin Wagner placing 10th (41-1 1/2). Brooklynn Chipps was sixth in the weight throw at 54-2 followed by Mckenzie Scheil in seventh (53-9) and Nicole Heeren in ninth at 50-6.

Women fall at Moorhead, get win at Northern

After falling on Friday night at MSU Moorhead, the Wayne State women's basketball team bounced back with a close win over Northern State on Saturday.

MSU Moorhead's Megan Hintz recorded a double-double with 21 points and 12 rebounds to pace the NSIC-leading Dragons past Wayne State 71-57.

The first half featured a trio of scoring runs with MSU Moorhead using the final run to take control of the game.

Wayne State opened with a 7-2 lead 1:46 into the contest. The host Dragons went on an 11-0 run to take a 13-7 lead at the 5:58 mark of the first quarter.

The Wildcats (11-6, 6-5 NSIC) closed the quarter with an 11-2 run and took an 18-15 lead on a Brittany Bongartz 3-pointer to end the quarter, but Moorhead opened the second quarter with six straight points to regain the lead at 21-18.

Wayne State came back and tied the score at 26-26 on an Erin Norling three-point play with 5:14 to play in the half, but the Dragons closed the half scoring 10 of the next 12 points for a 36-28 lead at intermission.

Moorhead put the game out of reach early in the third quarter, taking a 50-34 lead. The Wildcats got as close as nine at the end of the third quarter at 52-43, but Moorhead used a 15-2 run to open the fourth quarter for a commanding 67-45 lead on their way to the 14-point win.

Norling was the lone Wildcat in double figures with 20 points, her second 20-point scoring game of the season. Andrea Larson added nine points with Bongartz finishing with eight.

The Dragons held a 44-37 edge in rebounding over Wayne State. Bongartz grabbed nine boards for WSC with Kylie Hammer adding six. Hammer had four assists while Amelia Ivester had two blocked shots.

In Saturday's game at Aberdeen, S.D., Wayne State made 6-of-8 free throws in the final 1:29 to hang on for a 60-56 victory at Northern State, improving to 12-6 (7-5 NSIC) on the season.

Northern State forced six Wildcat turnovers in the opening period and built a 20-17 lead, but the Wildcats came back in the second period and returned the favor, holding Northern to 1-of-13 shooting and using an 11-0 run to build a 33-26 halftime advantage.

Wayne State maintained the lead the entire third quarter, leading by as many as seven at 39-32 before the Wolves cut into the deficit and were within three at 48-45 going to the fourth quarter.

Northern State took their first lead of the second half at 51-50 on a Brianna Kusler jumper with 6:56 to play, and the two teams traded the lead six times until the final minute when Wayne State regained the lead for good.

Hammer tied the score at 55-55 with 1:29 to go after hitting one of two free throws, and the Wildcats took the lead for good when Bongartz canned two charity tosses with :43 to play.

The Wildcats took a 58-56 lead when Maggie Lowe made one of two free throws with 13.3 to play. Northern State set up for the potential tying shot, but Zoe Hardwick was called for an offensive foul with 5.4 seconds remaining, and Halley Busse was fouled and sealed the win with two free throws.

Erin Norling finished the game with 16 points while Bongartz added 15. Larson led Wayne State on the glass with six boards, Lowe and Hammer each had two assists while Norling finished with four steals.

Wayne State will be at home this weekend, entertaining Minnesota State Saturday at 3:30 p.m. and Concordia-St. Paul Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Late shot helps Crofton slip past Wayne

Wayne had its chances to put Crofton away in the closing seconds, but a late 3-pointer in the final second allowed the Warriors to escape with a 57-56 win Tuesday at Wayne High School.

The Blue Devils had several chances to put the game away at the free throw line, but a number of key misses allowed Crofton to get back within two points with 4.6 seconds left in the game.

The Warriors set up a play to inbound the ball to midcourt, then get a quick pass into the corner for a 3-pointer that scored with 0.6 seconds left on the clock to give Crofton the lead.

Wayne had a last chance at the end. Trevor DeBoer threw an on-target 65-foot pass to Tyrus Eischeid, who caught the pass and turned to shoot in one motion. The 17-footer just missed the mark as the horn sounded, allowing the visitors to come away with the win.

Shea Sweetland scored 18 points to lead the Blue Devils while Drew Fertig had 12 points to go with three assists, three steals and seven rebounds.

Eischeid just missed a double-double, finishing with nine points and a team-best 10 rebounds. Kallan Herman scored eight, DeBoer had five and Tyler Gilliland and Josh Lutt each had two.

Friday's game with Hartington Cedar Catholic was postponed due to weather and will be made up Monday, Feb. 4. Wayne will host West Point-Beemer on Thursday.

Lady Trojans lose three close battles

The Wakefield/Allen girls basketball team played well in three games last week, but came up short in all three.

On Tuesday, the Lady Trojans fell to Emerson-Hubbard, 49-45, as a fourth-quarter comeback fell short.

Jessica Borg led Wakefield/Allen with 11 points, Jordyn Carr added nine, Carly Dickens had five, Courtney Bokemper and Aishah Valenzuela each had four, Haley Stapleton and Jamie Dolph scored three apiece, and Cassidy Brudigam, Anna Lundahl and Maddie Mogus each had two points.

On Thursday, the Wakefield/Allen girls couldn't overcome a slow start, falling to B-R/L-D 57-49.

Valenzuela and Carr both finished in double figures, scoring 15 and 10 points, respectively. Bokemper added nine, Mogus had four, Borg, Lundahl and Rachel Borg each had three and Stapleton put in two.

Bokemper had nine rebounds, Jessica Borg had seven, Valenzuela had six and Carr had five along with a team-best four assists. Mogus and Valenzuela each had three assists and Valenzuela had seven steals.

On Monday night, the Lady Trojans fell short in a close battle with Homer, losing 62-59.

Carr had 16 points, Valenzuela tossed in 13 and Bokemper had 11 to lead Wakefield/Allen. Dickens put in seven, Lundahl had four, and Mogus, Dolph, Jessica Borg and Rachel Borg each had two.

Bokemper and Lundahl shared rebounding honors with seven and Carr had six along with three assists and five steals. Valenzuela also had three steals.

Wakefield/Allen plays at home Thursday against LCC and opens Lewis & Clark Conference tournament play Saturday in Randolph against Emerson-Hubbard at 6 p.m.

Kalkowski earns Athlete of the Week honors

Cade Kalkowski of Wayne State College was selected the Northern Sun Conference Men's Indoor Field Athlete of the Week following his performance in the Ward Haylett Invitational at Doane University in Crete on Jan. 12.

A junior thrower from Niobrara, Kalkowski posted a first-place finish in the weight throw with a top mark of 62 feet, 3 1/4 inches. He currently is ranked 12th in NCAA Div. II in the event with an NCAA provisional qualifying mark of 63-0 1/4.

Junior high hoopsteams see action

The Wayne Junior High basketball teams hosted Columbus Lakeview last week, playing "A" and "B" games in both grades.

In the seventh-grade "B" game, the Blue Devils won 28-21. They were led in scoring by Parker Kesting with eight points. Also scoring were Drue Davis (7), Sam Junck (5), Jase Dean (4) Laythyn Hanish (2) and Keegan Rubendall (2).

In the "A" game, Wayne was victorious, 35-18. Caiden Backer (15) and Devin Anderson (12) led the Blue Devils in scoring. Also scoring were Jase Dean (5) and Caden Wiese (3).

In the eighth-grade "B" game Wayne played good defense and held Lakeview to only seven first-half points, coming away with a 30-20 victory.

Leading the Blue Devils was Calvin Starzl with 12 points, followed by Lepiro Kantai (9), Drew Fertig (4), Tristin Claussen (3), and Hunter Schultz (2).

The "A" game found the home team a bit sluggish in the first half and behind 13-11, but an 18-point third quarter pulled the Blue Devils back and they went on to post a 38-32 win.

Wayne struggles early in 60-36 loss to Crofton

The Crofton Lady Warriors used a solid defensive effort to shut down the Wayne offense and post a 60-36 win in a Mid State Conference matchup Tuesday at Wayne High School.

Crofton's defense frustrated the Blue Devils early, allowing the visitors to take control of the game early and lead 16-2 after one period. Wayne was able to better keep pace in the second period, but the early hole was too deep for them to dig out of.

Tori Kniesche led the Blue Devils with 12 points and nine rebounds. Frankie Klaussen had seven points and three assists, Allison Claussen scored six points, Rubie Klausen and Kendall Dorey each had five and Sarah Greenwald hit one free throw.

Ashton Boyer had five rebounds in the game, while Rubie Klausen and Gabi Meyer each had three assists.

Friday's matchup with Hartington Cedar Catholic will be made up

Monday, Feb. 4. The Blue Devils host West Point-Beemer on Thursday.

Wildcat baseball picked sixth by NSIC coaches

The Wayne State baseball team was picked sixth in the 2019 NSIC Preseason Baseball Coaches Poll.

The Wildcats return five position starters and four starting pitchers from last year's team that was 21-26 overall and placed seventh in the NSIC with an 18-16 league record.

Defending NCAA Div. II national champion Augustana was voted the team to beat in the NSIC this season, receiving 13 first-place votes and 193 points. Minnesota State came in second with the remaining two first-place votes and 175 points. Defending NSIC regular season champion Minot State was third at 172 points followed by St. Cloud State (162) and Concordia-St. Paul (139).

Wayne State was sixth with 121 points, edging seventh place Winona State at 115 points. Northern State (109), Minnesota Duluth (91) and Minnesota Crookston (67) round out the top 10.

Hanson, a 6-foot-1, 185-pound sophomore second baseman, was listed as Wayne State's Position Player to Watch. Last season, he earned first-team All-NSIC honors with a .320 batting average, recording seven homers with 29 RBI. He was second on the team in runs scored (33) and walks (18) and was 6-for-6 on stolen bases.

Ras, a 6-foot, 195-pound sophomore, is Wayne State's Pitcher to Watch this season after posting a 5-2 mark in 10 starts last season with a 4.02 ERA. The lefthander allowed just 49 hits in 53.2 innings pitched with 44 strikeouts. Ras allowed just eight extra base hits and held opponents to a .249 batting average.

Wayne State is scheduled to open the 2019 baseball season on Saturday, Feb. 9 at Northeastern State in Oklahoma for a doubleheader at 12 p.m.

Bears improve to 15-1 with victories

The LCC boys basketball team improved to 15-1 on the season with a pair of runaway wins.

On Tuesday, the Bears took control of a close game with a 25-0 second-half run to post an 81-57 win over Hartington-Newcastle.

The visiting Wildcats led 31-29 at intermission, but the Bears caught fire in the second half and rode the hot shooting of senior guard Izac Reifenrath, who hit four 3-pointers in the third quarter and joined teammate Noah Schutte in the 1,000-point club, finishing with a game-high 32 points.

Schutte added 28 and 17 rebounds in the win, while Ty Erwin added nine points, Cael Hartung had seven and Evan Haisch had five.

Reifenrath recorded six assists and five steals while grabbing five rebounds. Haisch and Erwin each had four rebounds, Schutte had five assists and Haisch added four, while Erwin had three assists and three steals.

On Thursday, LCC kept the winning streak going with an easy 81-65 home win over Battle Creek.

The Bears finished the night with four players in double figures, led by Reifenrath's 22 and Hartung adding 20. Schutte scored 17 points and Haisch added 13, while Erwin had seven and Deagan Puppe scored two.

Schutte and Hartung both had double-doubles with 13 and 10 rebounds, respectively. Herwin had six along with four assists. Schutte led the team with six assists, Haisch had five and Reifenrath had five along with five steals.

LCC hosted Osmond on Tuesday before traveling to Wakefield on Thursday. They will start play in the Lewis & Clark Conference tournament on Monday.

Eagles pick up two conference wins

The Allen boys basketball team earned two wins in action last week against Lewis & Clark Conference opponents.

The Eagles posted a 55-47 win over Wynot, riding the hot hand of Lukas Oswald, who scored a game-high 19 points to help Allen to the win.

Steven Cooks added eight points in the win, Nate Oswald and Brogan Jones each had eight, Kobe Kumm put in six, Noah Carr had four and Josh Grone tossed in a free throw.

Jones led the team with eight rebounds, Lukas Oswald had six and Kumm and Cooks each had five. Kumm dished out three assists.

The Eagles followed that win with a 44-35 decision over Wausa, using a balanced attack that was led by Oswald's 14 points.

Jones and Grone both had six points, Cooks dropped in four, Carr and Nate Oswald both had three and Kyle Smith put in two.

Lukas Oswald had six rebounds and Grone had four. Kumm had four rebounds and four assists and Jones had three steals.

The Eagles dropped a close one Monday at home against Walthill, losing 59-53.

Allen came from behind to take a 48-47 lead, but Walthill used an 8-0 run late in the game to come away with the win.

Lukas Oswald had 19 points, Carr added 14 and Cooks put in 10 for the Eagles. Jones scored six and Smith and Grone each had two.

Jones led the team with eight rebounds while Oswald and Cooks each had seven. Kumm had four assists.

Graduates need to make many decisions School Lunches

Graduating from high school comes with many other decisions for students.

First is what to do after graduation. If you choose college, then comes the choice of which school. You look at many factors to decide on the perfect place, such as student life, proximity to home, and most importantly, the degree program that best suits your career goals. Some students know the answers to these questions right away, and some take time to decide. But with these decisions made, there leaves just one more question. What degree program will you choose?

The degree program for a student might be the most important choice you will make when coming to college. Your degree program is going to set you down a path that will hopefully lead you to a career that will be fulfilling, rewarding, and one that you are passionate about. But with 150 different majors at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln alone, that decision can be a daunting one.

The first thing we recommend for students to do is to print the list of majors offered at UNL from our website, and go through the list and cross out all of the majors that are not of interest to you. With that shorter list, go through and think about jobs you could have with each degree program, and envision yourself in those positions. If you cannot see yourself happily thriving in those careers, cross them out as well. Now you will start to have a better idea of what you should go to college to study.

The second part of the search, once you've done some personal research about the remaining degree programs on your list, is to schedule campus visits. During these visits you will meet with academic advisors in the programs you choose that will give you more information on types of jobs you can receive with that degree, what your courses you will be taking, and other key information about the major.

If you have any questions about the degree programs offered at UNL or want to schedule a campus visit, please contact Carly Horstman at chorstman@unl.edu or 402-472-4445 or go online to <https://admissions.unl.edu/visit/>

Minerva Club learns about Wyoming

Ten Minerva Club members gathered for the Jan. 14 meeting at the Senior Center. The meeting was hosted by Marian Clark.

To open the meeting Phyllis Rahn read some of Hallie Sherry's quotes such as "Someone had said that a day is wasted if you have not laughed" and "a list of ways to encourage people to be generous with their praise and thanks".

Historian Hollis Frese shared minutes from Dec. 3, 1945 when plans were made to host a party later on to invite husbands as guests. The local hotel quoted them a meal price for a turkey dinner at $1.35 plus tip. The Dec. 17 meeting was an informal Christmas party. The program for Jan. 7, 1946 meeting was reading Elizabeth Browning poems.

The group decided to purchase a book on Antique or Carnival Glass in memory of Hallie Sherry. Mary Ann DeNaeyer volunteered to contact the library. Several ideas for next year's programs were submitted to the yearbook committee. More are welcomed.

The program about the state of Wyoming was led by Marian Clark, who used an interactive format as members shared facts or experiences about Wyoming for roll call.

Each member then used a map of the state to follow along, noting the many historical sites unique to the state and a pictorial review gave members a glimpse into the early history of Wyoming which joined the Union on July 10, 1890 as the 44th state.

Cheyenne was chosen as the state's capital. Wyoming was known as the "Equality state" since back in 1869 the territorial legislature became the first government in the nation to grant women the right to vote, serve on juries and hold public office.

Among well known citizens were Wm. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody who founded the town of Cody and Chief Washakie, a popular Native American leader mostly remembered as a diplomat and peacemaker who assisted the army as a scout for 20 years. When he died at age 102 Washakie was the first Native American ever to receive military honors. He was buried at Fort Washakie on the Wind River Reservation.

Clark displayed many vacation pictures of scenic places to visit such as Yellowstone, the world's first National Park; Devil's Tower; and Hot Springs State Park while other pictures displayed wildlife in their natural setting. Clark also narrated another vacation highlight watching a local rancher near Shell, Wyo. in the Big Horn Mountains drive his herd of 360 cow-calf pairs along a 10 mile stretch of two-lane highway to cross the narrow Shell Creek on a very narrow walk-bridge to drive them up a steep mountain ledge to summer pasture.

The next meeting will be hosted by Nicki Tiedtke at the Senior Center on Monday, Jan. 28.

Wanted ... Church news

The Wayne Herald would like to print information and schedules from area churches.

All information submitted to the Herald by Monday at 5 p.m. (delivered to the Herald office) or emailed by 8 a.m. on Tuesday will be included in that week's edition of the paper.

Articles can be mailed to P.O. Box 70, Wayne, Neb. 68787 or emailed to clara@wayneherald.com

The Herald thanks its readers and area ministers for their cooperation in our effort to keep informed on the happenings at various churches.

God searches out his flock

Psalm 139: 3-4
3 You search out my path and my lying down, and are acquainted with all my ways.
4 Even before a word is on my tongue, O Lord, you know it completely.

My husband and I raise sheep. One of our favorite times of year is lambing season.

It's a lot of work, but so rewarding to see the little ones be born. Depending on where the birth takes place, my husband and I will often pick up the lamb shortly after birth and carry it to someplace clean and dry, usually into a little enclosure so that the mother sheep and her young lamb can have a little protection.

Even though the ewe has just been through a birth, the moment we pick up her baby, the good mothers are right there. They follow right behind us, determined not to let that little one out of their sight. Later, when the lambs are older, all the mothers and the young are out in a paddock together. They may be all mixed together, but the good mothers know exactly which one is hers. And every little while, the ewe and lamb will search each other out, baa-ing and calling, wandering through the herd, until they find one another.

A Word In Faith

Chaplain, Providence Medical Center

The image of the mother sheep, determinedly looking for her lamb, is the image that came to my mind as I read our psalm verses today-- "you search out my path and my lying down, and are acquainted with my ways."

God knows you and loves you for just who you are. God wants the best for you. And God knows and loves each person you'll meet today. . . and wants that same love and respect for them.

Like a mother sheep seeking out her lamb, God is watching over you today. And I pray you may be comforted and strengthened by that knowledge that you are known and loved and sent to do acts of love and care in the world today.

Acme Club celebrates Christmas holiday

President Bonnadell Koch called the Dec. 17 ACME Club meeting to order in the Wayne Senior Center meeting room following a noon lunch at the Senior Center.

Treats were passed around as Betty Wittig gave the "thought for the day" as follows:

"T'was the night before Christmas.

God glanced over the earth.
He looked to and fro,
All over its' girth.

They missed it again He said with a sigh,
A heavy heart and a tear in His eye.

I gave them my Son,
So they could be free;
My greatest gift
To them from Me.
They traded Me in
For a man in red,
A little tree,
And a horse drawn sled.
How do I save them?
My love is complete,
My grace is free.
How do I help them
When all they know
Is a talking snowman
And, a box with a bow.
Maybe next year
They will stop and see
The biggest gift of Christmas
Is the little child from Me."

Minutes were read, the treasurer's report given, and both approved as corrected.

Some of the members met to acquire the gifts to be given to retired member Verdelle Reeg, a Haven House mother, and the Christmas gift card given to the Senior Center in thanks for their support of our group's attendance and the use of the center's meeting room. Members voted to give the approved amount from the treasury to the Nebraska Children's Home as the group has done in different amounts for many years.

Roll call was answered with a Christmas tradition that each family has practiced in the past in their families at this time of year. One family used a tablecloth that each one attending the family celebration signs with a thought written on it; this is used until full of thoughts after a number of years and another cloth is then started. Many revealed that Santa arrived at their houses while they were in church on Christmas Eve, while others found their gifts under the tree on Christmas morn, but some opened one gift the night before.

One family's children were asked to go to another room while Santa delivered their gifts as he "needed room" to do his deliveries. One mentioned that the metal coffee cans and lids were saved and used to hold candies and nuts to be found by the family. One of the favorite gifts was given early one year, a doll in a white plush outfit, and is one of her favorite gift memories. Another received a doll with red hair and brown eyes, a gift that would have been hard to find as most dolls had brown or blonde hair and blue eyes. A family without the father remembers always getting a substantial check from a wealthy family in town that was so welcome at Christmas time.

Tracks outside on the ground or remnants of the hay that was eaten by Santa's reindeer were seen after Santa's sled had delivered gifts. Other favorite gifts included a pair of shoe skates, or a certain special doll. Things like going to the Orphan Grain Train to help pack teddy bears and dolls with their own outfits that had been donated bring back many good memories of how rewarding it is to do something to make someone else's holiday a blessed event.

After much snacking and before leaving for the holidays, the group invited a representative from the Senior Center to stop in to receive special thanks and a gift card for allowing them to be a part of those eating and meeting at their facilities during this past year.

Local 4-H Club earns Keep Nebraska Beautiful Awards

The Spring Branch 4-H Club of Hoskins was recently named the winner of two state awards from "Keep Nebraska Beautiful."

The local 4-H club was awarded a first place honor of excellence in the "Youth Group" category and second place "Keep Nebraska Beautiful" Great American Cleanup Award.

The mission of Keep Nebraska Beautiful is to "inspire Nebraskans to take actions that improve and beautify our communities."

These youth demonstrated those skills by cleaning up the community and surrounding area of Hoskins. Together this group collected four pickup loads of tree branches, leaves, shrubs and garbage. They also collected seven trash bags from both sides of a two mile stretch along Highway 35, which Spring Branch sponsors every year.

In addition, several youth planted flowers and did some landscaping around the town. An entire trailer of "electronic recycling" was also collected and recycled as part of the project.

Youth take part in archery competition

Six Wayne County Sharpshooters attended two Vegas 450 Archery Tournaments at the Norfolk Archery Club in both December and January.

All received first place in their respective categories:

 Rylenn Owen in Female Cub Bowhunter Freestyle;
 Brayden Lurz in Male Cub Freestyle;
 Bryce Lurz in Male Cub Barebow; and Carter Anson in Male Cub Bowhunter Freestyle.

Bailey Lurz, who participated in Female Cub Barebow, attended the January shoot only, and Alexis Frye, participating in Female Cub Freestyle, attended the December shoot only.

Eric Frye, a 4-H Archery instructor for the club, said "I am very excited to have a great bunch of enthusiastic kids again this year!"

Football game, church sermons discussed

Shoot! I was so sure Kansas City could beat the Patriots on their own turf. And boy, did that turf look cold!! I know how it felt here, so I can imagine how it was in that stadium.

Our nephew even told us that when New England landed at KCI, the pilot said, "Touchdown, Kansas City!" There was a lot of scoring in that fourth quarter. And it was great to see Rex Burkhead get that winning TD!!

I baked cookies during the game, my usual strategy when I don't want to be nervous. Besides, the cookie jar was empty. I did see a few minutes of the Nebraska women beating ranked Minnesota at home, which was fun.

I'm also cleaning cubby holes. We have way too many of these. The current one is at the far end of the counter under the china cabinet in the kitchen. I just threw a 2014

Lincoln visitor's guide. Full color; I know they are not cheap to produce, but I bet a lot has changed since it was printed. Which reminds me, how do you like our new state tourism slogan? I think it's clever. Especially when "fly over country" features the cranes, for instance. Honestly, it really isn't for everyone, and we know it.

The new pastor is from Memphis, and two weeks ago, he was rejoicing that it was warmer here than in Memphis! I haven't talked to him lately; I'm not sure how he's taking this. One thing I know for sure, there are no more 15" sermons, and they are loaded with stuff we need to hear! If you would like to hear him, go to Faith Lincoln.com and click on menu in the upper left corner and go to "church"; you can get the sermons by audio.

The Methodist church in Murdock makes a CD of the whole service every Sunday, and my 97 year old friend in a local assisted living center has it in her mail on Tuesday. I think that is a fantastic service, and every church should have that. I saw her last week, when I finally got to that center to see a former neighbor.

We do have a visitation minister who is semi-retired. He visits our shut ins once a month. Several are still in their own homes, and even drive to church when the weather is good. So, we did a little survey to see if any of them would be interested in having a van pick them up. The almost unanimous response was that as long as Pastor Schaidle came to see them, they were perfectly happy with that. I know he's easy to talk to, and I think he fulfills a great need in our congregation. So many times, elders and those confined to nursing facilities find themselves forgotten.

These cold, dreary days are good ones to check on folks in that situation... Let's do it!

Private Pesticide Applicator Trainings planned

This is the time of year when many farmers will need to renew their private pesticide applicator certification for another three years.

It is important to note that this is a general training that will certify those attending so they may purchase or apply restricted use pesticides.

Something that was new last year is that anyone wanting to apply one of the dicamba-based herbicides to soybeans also needs to attend an annual dicamba training that is NOT included in this general training.

I will be providing the training in Burt, Dakota, Dixon and Thurston counties. I will have one session at 1:30 p.m. and another at 6:30 p.m. in each county. The dates and locations for these meetings are:

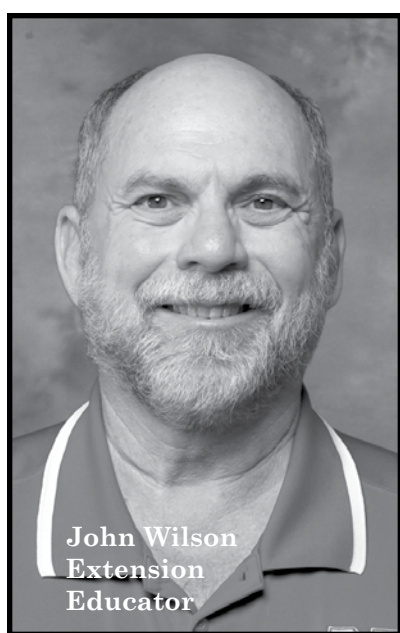

- Dixon County: Tuesday, Feb. 5 — Concord - Haskell Ag Lab.
- Dakota County: Wednesday, Feb. 6 — Dakota City - USDA Service Center.
- Thurston County: Thursday, Feb. 7 — Pender - Community Center.
- Burt County: Tuesday, Feb. 12 — Tekamah - First Northeast Bank of Nebraska.

Farmers wanting to take the training in Dixon County need to preregister by calling (402) 584-2234 because seating is limited. All other locations do not need to preregister, just come to the session that is most convenient for you.

If none of these sessions work for you, go to the website <https://go.unl.edu/pat19> to see all of the training sessions offered in Nebraska or contact your local Nebraska Extension office. If you go to the website, you can sort all the locations by clicking on the heading of any column, such as date or county.

Nebraska Agricultural Technology Association Conference

I wanted to let you know about an interesting conference coming up later this month. Everyone knows how much technology is becoming a part of our everyday lives and agriculture is no different. This conference is for anyone wanting to optimize the use of technology in their farming operation.

John Wilson
Extension Educator

The Nebraska Agricultural Technology Association, or NEATA, announced they will hold their annual meeting and ag industry conference on Thursday, Jan. 31, at the Kearney Holiday Inn and Conference Center. The event is an opportunity for those involved in Nebraska agriculture to learn and hear about the latest technological developments in precision agriculture.

Topics will include Precision Economics, Nutrient and Water Management, Data Collection, and Precision Equipment. Featured guest speakers include Dr. Brian Arnall, Precision Nutrient Management Extension Specialist from Oklahoma State University; Jim Smith, Executive Director of Blueprint Nebraska; and Cathy Anderson, Chief Specialist at the Nebraska State FSA Office. Attendees will also be able to choose from 10 break-out offerings covering a variety of related topics.

The conference will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 31. The online pre-registration fee is $175, and $195 the day of the conference. Students may register for $25.

Founded in 2000, NEATA is a unique collaboration between farmers, ag industry, and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The NEATA organization has sponsored an annual meeting and conference since 2001, to discuss the latest in agricultural technologies and their applications.

For more information about the conference or the NEATA organization, please visit their website at <https://neata.org> or contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Fertigation - Not for Everyone, but Essential for Irrigators

I'm fully aware that not every grower has an irrigation system. As I stand on my patio, overlooking several miles of countryside here in Knox County Nebraska, I can only see one pivot. Irrigation Systems are essential for some and desired by others. At times, they are cursed by those that have them and longed for by those that don't. But when push comes to shove, they are an essential part of crop production in the Western Corn Belt, whether you have them or not. Why are they essential, even to operations that don't have them you might ask? Because logistically they are (or should be) a key part in our application of Nitrogen whenever we are growing corn below them.

By Keith Byerly
Central Valley Ag
ACS Manager

As we continue our conversation about Nitrogen applications, we need to reflect again on what started this conversation since it was several weeks ago. When government bodies step in and add regulations to our grain production process, we must adapt. As we look across many of our NRD's we see regulations in place, or proposed, about the maximum amount of Nitrogen that we can put on at a time, or when we can put it on. In those NRD areas, that means we have to adapt and shift applications of Nitrogen to in-season. That can take place on our planter, or as an early side-dress application. In both of those cases, we have to add to our total cost of production because we are investing in planter attachments or passes across the field.

But for those that own a center pivot, you have an application system at your disposal already. Adding a fertigation pump to your operation is one of the cheapest ways on a per acre basis to your crops. Contrary to what many believe, running UAN through a pivot has no ill effects on your irrigation system. If it did, there would be thousands of systems rusting away out West. That is because our growers out in Antelope and Holt County in Nebraska have been using fertigation for well over 30 years. And when I say using it, I mean up to five times per year. That's right; there are growers all across the Central and Western parts of Nebraska that apply 150 pounds of Nitrogen per year with their center pivots.

For those of you that don't fertigate or irrigate, I know that this must sound exhausting. Constantly tending, monitoring, and managing is a lot of work. But for many west of Nebraska Highway 14, their CEC levels simply won't allow them to apply more than 80 pounds at a time. That means three trips across the field per season to apply fertilizer, or using their irrigation seasons. But why up to five applications instead of one or two. Because the crop responds to it.

Much like when you get a shot from your doctor when you don't feel well, you feel the effects in one or two days. Fertigation is a great shot for the plant, aided by nature. When we talked about Y-Drops on a coulters machine, we talked about placing our product right next to the crown roots. When we fertigate we are doing exactly the same thing. We use low volumes of water when fertigation. This means that instead of forcing water straight to the soil surface, most of it lands upon the plant, where the plant funnels it to the stalk, and down to the base where the crown roots are. The water that carries the product to the soil, incorporates it and makes it easy for the plant to use. So a good portion of our application is in the plant quickly and serves as a shot to boost the plant. Getting those shots multiple times per year helps keep the plant healthy and green, and helps drive Nitrogen efficiency.

And many people don't know this, but CVA even sells a system where we can variable-rate apply Nitrogen with our center pivots or other irrigation systems. Systems like the GX20 from AgXcel offer radical changes in this type of technology. With their system, we can create a prescription that will maximize efficiency for you. It even provides reports fully detailing the results of what you prescribed and ensuring there is no waste of product.

At the end of the day, it is my opinion that if you have a center pivot, you should use it for fertilizer application. Research shows it drives yield, and if regulations and passes across the field for other equipment aren't a convincing enough reason, that should be. To learn more about CVA, visit cvacoop.com

NDA'S specialty crop grant proposals due soon

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is currently accepting grant proposals for its 2019 Specialty Crop Block Grant Program (SCBGP). NDA administers the program, which is funded through the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Specialty crops are generally defined as fruits, vegetables, nuts, honey and some turf and ornamental crops. The deadline for submitting proposals is Jan. 31, 2019.

"The Specialty Crop Block Grant Program helps grow Nebraska's ag industry by supporting research, development and marketing of specialty crops," said NDA Director Steve Wellman. "For example, Nebraska leads the nation in beef exports, but we're also first in the nation in Great Northern Bean production and second in pinto bean production and light red kidney bean production, all of which are considered specialty crops."

For the 2019 SCBGP, NDA anticipates approximately $600,000 will be available to fund new projects. Producers, organizations and associations, as well as state and local agencies, educational groups and other specialty crops stakeholders are eligible to apply.

Last fall, NDA and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln were awarded nearly $700,000 in funding from the USDA to study hops, wine grapes and dry beans; monitor invasive pests and encourage healthy snacking in schools.

This year's proposals will be reviewed and scored using select criteria. Applicants who make it through the first round will be asked to submit additional information. NDA and USDA will announce the projects receiving funding in the fall.

Instructions for submitting a proposal, proposal applications, performance measures and program guidelines are available on NDA's website at nda.nebraska.gov/promotion/scbgb/index.html. All proposals should be saved as a Microsoft Word .docx file and sent electronically to casey.foster@nebraska.gov by the Jan. 31 deadline. For additional information contact: Casey Foster at (402) 471-4876, or by the email listed above.

NENCAP discusses Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD)

by Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership staff

Sometimes called seasonal depression or the winter blues, Seasonal Affective Disorder is a form of depression that occurs at the same time each year, typically in winter. It can affect mood, sleep, appetite, energy levels, and self-worth, making it difficult to function in relationships, social life, work, school and everyday activities.

Though the exact cause of SAD is unclear, most believe the disorder is related to the reduction of daylight hours in winter, thereby disrupting circadian rhythms and the brain's production of melatonin and serotonin.

SAD affects approximately one to five percent of the population. Three out of four sufferers are women. Typically, SAD is first diagnosed in people aged 18 to 30 and becomes less likely to occur as age increases.

Some common symptoms include depressed mood, feeling irritable and anxious, difficulty concentrating, fatigue and lack of energy, appetite and weight changes, changes in sleeping patterns, and unexplained aches and pains.

There are some things you can do.

1. Get as much natural light as possible. Take short walks. Open your drapes and blinds.

2. Commit to regular exercise that is continuous and rhythmic such as walking, swimming, martial arts, or dancing where you move both your arms and legs.

3. Participate in social activities, even if you don't feel like it. Meet a friend for coffee. Join a club. Attend a support group. Take a class. Start a new hobby. Volunteer.

4. Eat well-balanced meals. Avoid sugary foods and simple carbohydrates such as pasta and white bread. Eat whole grains, plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, and foods rich in omega-3 fats such as oily fish, walnuts, soybeans and flaxseeds.

5. Keep negative stress at bay. Make time for fun. Play the piano, paint, work on your car, or hang out with friends. Practice daily relaxation such as yoga.

The mainstay of winter SAD treatment is phototherapy, or light therapy. Phototherapy is effective in up to 85% of SAD cases. Light therapy involves daily sessions of sitting near a special light source that is more intense than normal indoor light.

In the event light therapy is not effective, cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT) can be beneficial. The right therapist can help you manage the symptoms in healthy ways and can help you curb negative thoughts, attitudes and behaviors that worsen the disorder.

As a third treatment option, your doctor may suggest antidepressant medication either alone or in conjunction with cognitive behavioral therapy. As with all medication, there may be adverse side effects. It is important to weigh the benefits against the risks.
