Norfolk unveils Sculpture Walk, Wayne artists represented

The Norfolk Area Visitors Bureau, City of Norfolk, Norfolk Area Chamber of Commerce and the Norfolk Arts Center officially welcomed the public to the first Norfolk Sculpture Walk on May 11.

"Our goal is to add art to our city that will inspire and entertain, educate participants, provide additional attractions for visitors while spending time in Norfolk, and to beautify Norfolk's downtown," Traci Jeffrey, director of the Norfolk Area Visitors Bureau said.

Nearly 200 artists were solicited to show during the walk, before a committee took on the difficult task of narrowing down the pool to 10 pieces. Those 10 will be on display for a year.

"They will be up from now until next April," Mike Fluent, a Wayne resident, Sculpture Walk committee member and featured artist said. "A year from now in April, that set of sculptures will come down and a new set will come up.'

This year's set of artists come from as close by as Norfolk and Wayne, and as far away as South Dakota, Colorado and Iowa. The sculptures are on loan, but also for sale, according to a press release from the Norfolk Area Visitors Bureau.

"Rather than travelling to Kansas or Minnesota or South Dakota to display art, it's great to have it right here close to home," Fluent said.

The art Fluent is displaying in Norfolk is entitled "The Fire Within." The sculpture is a nine-foot high by four-foot wide stainless steel globe with glass work inside.

"The glass is from the colors of fire as it's progressing and burning," he said.

Fluent said he was inspired by his work helping with control burns on prairie ground.

Fluent isn't the only Wayne artist to be featured. Steve Elliott, vice president of academic affairs at Wayne State College also has a sculpture, "Gravitation no. 2" on display off of 5th Street in Norfolk.

Visitors can take a self-guided tour throughout downtown, the Norfolk Arts Center and Veterans Memorial Park. Maps can be found at the Visitors Bureau or they can download the Otocast app from the Apple Store or Google Play and find an audio guide of the sculpture walk as well. The audio guide includes the artists talking about their own pieces. Visitors are encouraged to pick up a ballot and vote for their favorite sculpture. On Sunday, Sept. 22, a People's Choice award will be given out at the Riverpoint Arts Festival at Johnson Park. Maps and ballots can be picked up at the Norfolk Visitors Bureau or found online at visitnorfolk.com/sculpture. Fluent said he's been kicking around the idea of a sculpture walk in Norfolk for quite some time and hopes this year's will be successful enough to expand to other towns in northeast Nebraska like Wayne.

St. Mary's Elementary School has served students in the Wayne area for 65 years and is celebrating that milestone this week.

St. Mary's Elementary School to celebrate anniversary

On Sept. 8, 1952 ground was broken on East Seventh Street in Wayne for St. Mary's School.

Sixty-five years later, the school is still in existence and planning an anniversary celebration for Sunday, May 19.

The event begins at 1 p.m. with music by A Touch of Brass; open prayer and a blessing at 1:45 p.m.; special events at 2 p.m. and live music by Mike Geiler at 3 p.m.

Activities planned throughout the afternoon include bouncy houses, face painting, Tae Kwon do presentations, the Wayne Dance Company, Knights of Columbus bingo, and the St. Mary's School Choir and Band.

In addition, food will be available from The Cheese Life.

The public is invited to attend any of these activities.

Due to the efforts volunteer parishioners and Father Robert P. Hupp, who was pastor at St. Mary's Catholic Church at the time, much of the heavy labor for the school was completed by June of 1953, including the enclosing of the building, the installation of the furnace, cement floors laid in the kitchen and auditorium and desks for all the classrooms installed.

Wayne school board preps to discuss expansion, talk improvements

By Sarah Lentz editor@wayneherald.com

The Wayne Community Schools District Board of Education met May 13 at the Junior/ Senior High library.

New business included several facility improvement items. The elementary school's HVAC system was inspected and found to not be running efficiently. Currently the school has two four-ton heat pumps and the air return system has issues. The school has an agreement with CWP Architects to create a design plan for future repairs, and this summer work will be done to replace the heat pumps with two-ton pumps, which will fix the humidity problem in the building. Concrete work will be done to remove and haul away bad spots around the high school, replace parts of the high school parking lot and sidewalk, concrete and rebar for paving the east driveway near the high school and repair areas around the elementary school. Sebade construction will do the work for $25.310The first floor elementary school hallway and room 202 in the high school will receive carpeting, and the north entryway at the junior/senior high will be carpeted. The flooring is quoted to cost $9,654. All projects were approved by the board.

Early Learning Center director Misty Beain asked the board to approve an amendment to the 2019-2020 Early Learning Center Handbook to adjust the way parents and guardians pay for preschool. Beair asked that a payment schedule to allow for annual, semester, quarterly or monthly billing be adopted. She told the board she spoke with parents and they all agreed this change would make payment easier. The amendment was approved.

Wayne resident, Mike Fluent, works to install his piece entitled "The Fire Within" on the corner of 7th Street and Norfolk Ave. in Norfolk.

With high enrollment the last few years, the board also discussed the need to look into the possibility of expansion at some point.

"It's a conversation that's going to affect future boards whichever way we go," board member Lynn Junck said.

The board agreed that looking towards expansion would be a good topic for the June retreat and that they would let superintendent Mark Lenihan know what information they need to have an informed discussion at the retreat. An ESU agreement for food service, purchase of milk cooler and fundraising policy changes were approved.

The next board of education meeting will be Monday, June 10 at 5 p.m.

Adeline Keinast

Adeline (Maas) Kienast, 84, formerly of Wayne, and Lawton, Iowa, died Monday, May 13, 2019 at The Commons on Marice Assisted Living Facility in Eagan, Minn.

A memorial service will be held at a later date as it was Adeline's wish to donate her body for medical research to the Anatomy Bequest Program at the University of Minnesota Medical School.

The Armstrong - Van Houten Funeral Home of Mapleton, Iowa is in charge of the funeral arrangements. Condolences may be sent online www.armstrongfuneral.com. Adeline Maas was born on Sept. 9, 1934 in Mapleton, Iowa to Glenn and Marie (Zobel) Maas. She graduated from Mapleton High School in 1952 and began working as a telephone operator, first in Mapleton and then in Storm Lake and Sioux City, Iowa for Northwestern Bell. She married Valance Kienast on Oct. 15, 1960. In 1970 they purchased Melodee Lanes in Wayne, which they operated together for over 20 years. Both Adeline and Val enjoyed bowling and golfing. Adeline especially loved children-she supported many of them in various ways throughout her life. She was instrumental in helping establish a Junior Bowling program in Wayne.

Survivors include her sister, Betty Powell of Lawton, Iowa; and numerous nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Val Kienast; two infant children, Keith and Kenneth; and brother Carl Maas of Mapleton, Iowa.

Mable Fredrickson Jones

A memorial graveside service for Mable Fredrickson Jones, 95, of Lincoln, formerly of Carroll, will be held Saturday, May 18 at 11 a.m. at Bethany Presbyterian Cemetery, rural Carroll.

Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne.

She died Monday, March 25, 2019 at Careage Campus Of Care in Wayne Memorials may be directed to the First Lutheran Church of Lincoln or Providence Medical Center Hospice in Wayne.

Darlene "Jeff" Vahlkamp Darlene "Jeff" Vahlkamp, 82, of Faribault, Minn., formerly of Columbus, Neb. died Sunday, April 21, 2019 at The Emeralds at Faribault.

A memorial service in celebration of her life will be held at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Columbus on Friday, May 17 at 11 a.m.

To honor her love of birds, especially cardinals, memorials may be made to Audubon Nebraska (http:// ne.audubon.org/)

Darlene "Jeff" Vahlkamp was born Nov. 18, 1936 in Norfolk to William and Frieda (Appel) Jeffries. She attended grade school and high school in Norfolk and resided there until she met the love of her life, Del Vahlkamp, while on a blind date. The two were married Nov. 30, 1958 and blessed with four children, Cyndi (1959), Cathy (1960), Mike (1967), and Kim (1976). Throughout her life she lived in many places such as: Wichita Kan., Wayne, Lincoln, Washington D.C., Columbus and Faribault.

Darlene had a great sense of humor; cherished taking her GTE coworkers under her wing and watching them grow; and cheered as any super fan would for her favorite Nebraska Cornhuskers. She also loved jewelry - wearing it as well as selling it at Crown Jewelry; perfectly pink manicured nails were a trademark. She doted on her two cats - and then there was Garfield. There were Christmas ornaments and pillow cases, a PEZ dispenser and of course a phone in his likeness. She traveled to Iowa to see the covered bridges of Madison County, went to a Neil Diamond concert with her daughters when she was in her 70s, knitted dish cloths and gifted them to family and friends. She had an interest in all things British Royal Family, developed an uncanny liking for candied spearmint leaves dipped in peanut butter. She was known for gifting $2 bills - they really are magical money, and she made sure that every return visit to Columbus included Runza.

Survivors include her daughters, Cathy and (John) Schulz of Faribault, Minn. and Kim and (Brad) Steele of Spring Creek, Nev. and a son, Mike Vahlkamp of Columbus; grandchildren, Claire, Nora, Kyle, Esai and Bodhi and her great-grandson, Carson.

She was preceded in death by her husband Del; daughter, Cyndi; parents; siblings, Bud Jeffries, Dortha Nelson and Jimmy Ray Jeffries and two nephews.

Pender Medical Clinic, Apothecary Shop to host open house

Pender Medical Clinic and Apothecary Shop is hosting an open house to officially welcome the community to their new location.

On Sunday, May 19, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., the public is invited to visit the newly opened healthcare facility and learn about the services offered there.

The open house will also feature refreshments, a chance to meet the staff, and a short program beginning at 2 p.m.

"The snow prevented us from celebrating earlier, but we are delighted to report that the open house we'd planned for February will happen on May 19. It remains very important for us to have an event for the community to explore our new Pender Medical Clinic and Apothecary Shop, see our digital X-ray capabilities, and get to know the people and services available in the new clinic," said Melissa Kelly, CEO.

The Pender Medical Clinic is located at 958 Wellness Way, Suite 1 in Pender.

St. Mary's

The school opened for the first time on Sept. 8, 1953 with an enrollment of 43 pupils in grades one through eight.

The school was originally staffed by four Benedictine Sisters from the Mother House at Norfolk.

"St. Mary's has educated more than 800 students in the Wayne community over the past 65 years. We are a small school but we offer a big education serving students in grades PreK-sixth. We pride ourselves on our faith and family values. We offer the Wayne community an option of a strong faith based education rooted in the Catholic faith and tradition, providing excellence in education of the mind, body, and spirit," said Stacy Uttecht, who currently serves as principal of the school.

Throughout the 65 years many improvements have been made to the original school. In April of 1968 the first school board was formed. When the teaching staff went from four to three teachers, seventh and eighth grade classrooms were eliminated. Wayne State College students under the supervision of an art professor constructed new playground equipment. A Home/School Organization was formed and provided assistance to boost enrollment and aide teachers. A parishioner and the school children planted trees located next to the alley with trees donated by the Omaha World Herald.

An Education Endowment was formed in 1985 to provide financial stability for the school. A language arts teacher was added to the staff in 1987. In 1989 St. Mary's Booster Club was formed with their mission being to raise money for the educational programs of the parish. A highlight was the Club's an-

In 1992 Little Lambs Preschool was added to St. Mary's to provide children the opportunity to begin a Catholic education. The library became a language arts room and library/computer lab in 1998. In 2001 Little Lambs Preschool for three and four year olds was added and the four and five year old program became a pre-kindergarten.

In 2003, which was the 50th anniversary, the school had 36 children enrolled in the K-6 program. The classrooms included kindergarten, first and second grades, third and fourth grades, and fifth and sixth grades. Preschool and prekindergarten were also held in the school pasement.

Arbor Day celebration

Fourth grade students from Wayne Elementary School took part in an Arbor Day tree planting event at the Wayne Courthouse. District Forester Steve Rasmussen, City Planner Joel Hansen and Wayne Mayor Cale Giese spoke to the children on the value of having trees in the community. In addition the group planted a Shantung maple tree on the northwest corner of the courthouse property. Following the presentation, the group posed for a picture with the Tree City USA flag and celebrated the fact that Wayne has earned this designation for 28 years.

Students to Teachers Through Educator Pathways (STEP) program announced

Norfolk Public Schools (NPS) have joined together to create a Students to Teachers Through Educator Pathways (STEP) program designed to create a solid career education pathway for high school students who have a passion for becoming the next generation of teachers.

According to the agreement approved by WSC, NPS, and the Nebraska State College System Board of Trustees in March, the STEP partnership embodies equity, affordability and excellence.

Eligible and capable students are given access to college-level preprofessional education courses at a reduced dual-credit tuition rate. Furthermore, by completing key preprofessional courses, students will have greater accessibility to a variety of teaching endorsement options and opportunities while at Wayne State College, thus increasing their marketability by adding valuable skill sets to their education to better serve future students and schools,

"The partnership matters because it immediately reduces the cost of tuition to earn a college degree by taking the pre-professional sequence as dual-credit during their senior year in high school," Dr. Nicholas Shudak, dean of the School of Education and Counseling at WSC said. "Second, it matters to the student who will then have the opportunity to earn multiple endorsements prior to graduation. Third, it matters to school districts because districts will have access to candidates who are day-one-ready to make an impact on all students through the high-leverage skills and techniques learned while earning multiple teaching endorsements in Nebraska."

This new STEP program will allow more of those new teachers to enter the workforce dually endorsed, which will better prepare them to be successful 'day one' in our classrooms. It is a win-win-win situation: a win for our students, a win for NPS and a win for WSC."

2. Introduction to Education, a dual-credit, fee-based course created by WSC and delivered by either NPS or WSC

3. Human Growth and Cognitive Development, a dual-credit, fee-based course created by WSC and delivered by WSC or NPS

4. PK-12 Instructional Design, a dual-credit, fee-based course created by WSC and delivered by WSC or NPS

5. NDE Rule 47 Field Experience, a non-fee based, non-dual-credit course created and delivered by NPS (in consultation with WSC and to align with Rule 47), which will be delivered during the senior year, recommended to be taken in conjunction with EDU 275 to help students reflect on instructional design elements of classrooms when out in the field.

"STEP is the outgrowth of collaborative work between WSC and Norfolk Public Schools to leverage the talent and resources across three different educational sectors (higher education, school district, state department of education) to innovatively change the way teachers are meaningfully recruited and prepared for their world of work," Shudak said.

Norfolk Public Schools has spent the last three years developing a comprehensive career academy program at Norfolk High School. These academies provide opportunities for students to develop college and career readiness skills in 12 different career paths.

"The STEP program and our new Education Career Academy is a natural addition to our 12 existing career academy offerings and is a perfect fit in our efforts to prepare all students to pursue their goals for the future,' Derek Ippensen, Norfolk High School Principal, said. "The fact that we can help our students pursue their goals in a timely and cost effective manner

Limerick Festival in Wayne

The 12th annual John G. Neihardt Beerfest will be held in Wayne this year at Johnnie Byrd Brewing Company 2.-5 p.m. on Sunday, June 9. The annual Beerfest fundraiser is sponsored by the John G. Neihardt Foundation in honor of his life and writings. Several area brewers will have their beers available for tasting.

Neihardt (1881-1973) lived in Wayne and is the Nebraska State Poet in Perpetuity. He moved to Wayne with his family at the age of 10 and worked part time for his uncle George Culler who farmed outside of Wayne. He also worked in professor Robert Durrin's tombstone shop by the old Wayne Opera House at the north end of Main Street, graduated from Wayne Normal School (Wayne State College) at the age of 16 and taught a year at Wayne County Rural Neihardt is famous for his poetry and his research of the demise of the Native American Plains culture and his book "Black Elk Speaks.' Neihardt also liked beer. The granite marker in the northeast corner of Bressler Park and the historic class schedule bell outside on WSC's campus are some that memorialize his time in Wayne. There is also a bust of Neihardt in the Nebraska State Capitol Hall of Fame.

Tickets for the fundraiser are $25 and available from Lowell Johnson at (402) 369-4254, at Johnnie Byrd Brewing Company at 121 Pearl Street or at State Nebraska Bank & Trust in Wayne.

LRHT to hold Drama Camp in June

Wakefield's Little Red Hen The- (Grades 6-8) atre (LRHT) will be holding Drama Camp June 10-14 and June 17-21 with a showcase performance on June 22

Drama Camp is a unique opportunity for young students, grades K - 8, to have a drama-intensive, educational, and fun experience over two weeks in the summer. Focusing on the basic skills of drama, the camp curriculum will revolve around the theme of LRHT's summer production "Tarzan." The camp will culminate in a showcase performance for friends and family that feature campers performing their own stories derived from "Tarzan." The camp is a fun way for youth to explore and express creativity. Students will be grouped according to age/grade level and limited to 20 participants per group. Students may attend all, or a portion of the camp, as schedule allows.

LRHT Academy Drama Camp Schedule:

Week one: Monday, June 10 - Friday, June 14

3:30 – 4:20 p.m. Players! GROUP A (Grades K - 2)

4:30-5:20 p.m. Players! GROUP B

(Grades 3-5) 5:30-6:20 p.m. Players! GROUP C group practice that will include basic the students.

In week one the students will practice basic drama skills that utilize their mind, body, and voice through a series of structured theatre games and activities. Students will begin to create their own imagined, or "devised" stories around the thematic content of "Tarzan."

Week two: Monday, June 17 -Thursday, June 20

3:30 – 4:20 p.m. Players! GROUP A (Grades K - 2)

10 a.m. Players! Group A, B, C Assemble and get ready.

11 a.m. Presentation for friends and family.

11:30 a.m. Cookie and Punch Reception in the LRHT Lobby. In week two, students will put their drama skills to use as they rehearse, refine, and practice their "devised" stories. All Players come together for a costuming, make-up, and technical rehearsal.

Friends and Family are invited to watch students perform their "devised" stories in a culminating performance. A cookie and punch reception will follow in the lobbies.

The cost of the camp is $20 per participating student. Scholarship funds are available for students and/ or families who demonstrate need. LRHT encourages students who are not able to attend the whole camp to sign up for week one only Registration opened on May 1 at littleredhentheatre.com.

Ras, Hegarty earn NSIC Elite 18 honors

Two Wayne State athletes were named as recipients of the NSIC Elite 18 Award in their respective sports.

Aaron Ras was named the 2019 NSIC Elite 18 Award winner for baseball prior to the start of the 2019 NSIC Baseball Tournament Thursday afternoon in St. Cloud, Minn.

He is the first Wildcat to earn the NSIC Elite 18 Award since its inception in 2016-17. The NSIC Elite 18 Award is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade-point average participating at the finals site for each of the NSIC's 18 Championships.

Ras, a sophomore left-handed pitcher, maintains a 4.0 grade-point average majoring in psychology. On the field this season, Ras has made 15 appearances with seven starts and owns a 3-3 record with a 4.91 ERA. He has thrown 33 innings and has recorded 46 strikeouts while holding opponents to a .216 batting average. Ras struck out a season-high eight batters in a four-inning start at Fort Hays State Feb. 14 that resulted in a 13-7 Wildcat win. He also fired three innings of scoreless relief with four strikeouts to earn the victory in a 4-3 win over No. 24 Augustana on April 27.

Last season, Ras was named the school's Male Freshman Athlete of the Year after going 5-2 in 10 starts with a 4.02 ERA to rank second on the team in earned run average.

Brock Hegarty was named the 2019 NSIC Elite 18 Award winner for men's outdoor track and field, presented during the post championship ceremony Saturday afternoon at the NSIC Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Duluth, Minn.

Hegarty becomes the second Wildcat to earn the NSIC Elite 18 award, joining Aaron Ras, who received the award on Thursday at the NSIC Baseball Championships.

Hegarty is a sophomore majoring in computer science and holds a 4.0 grade-point average. He finished 17th in the 1,500-meter run at the NSIC Championships with a time of 4:13.04. Earlier this season, Hegarty placed first in the 1,500-meter run at the Mount Marty Twilight Meet. Last season, Hegarty was 21st at the NSIC Outdoor Championships with season-best time of 4:12.41 in the 1,500-meter run.

The NSIC Elite 18 Award was instituted during the 2016-17 academic year as part of the NSIC 25th anniversary celebration to recognize the true essence of the student-athlete by honoring the individual who has reached the pinnacle of competition at the NSIC Championship level in his or her sport, while also achieving the highest academic standard among his or her peers.

Six named to NSIC All-Conference baseball list

Six Wayne State baseball players were named to the 2019 NSIC All-Conference Baseball Team, as voted on by league coaches.

All-NSIC honors, with junior outfielder Brendan Madsen named to the NSIC Gold Glove Team.

Thompson, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound senior third baseman, earned first-team All-NSIC honors after leading Wayne State in batting this season with a .353 average. He led WSC in hits (60), total bases (97) and slugging percentage (.571), ranking eighth in the NSIC in total bases and slugging percentage, tied for eighth in RBI, tied for 10th in home runs (7) and tied for 11th in hits. He was named NSIC Player of the Week on Feb. 19 after hitting grand slams in back-toback weeks to open the season at Northeastern State and Fort Hays State.

Obrecht, a 6-foot-4, 170-pound freshman pitcher, was named first-team All-NSIC after a stellar freshman season on the hill for the Wildcats. He posted a 7-1 record in 11 appearances and eight starts with a 1.53 ERA, ranking second in the NSIC and 10th in NCAA Division II. In 53 innings of work, Obrecht allowed just 36 hits and nine earned runs while striking out 47 batters with just 13 walks.

Obrecht had a streak of 21 1/3 scoreless innings late in the season that included three straight shutout wins at Minot State, at Winona State and vs. Concordia-St. Paul. He took a no-hitter into the seventh inning vs. Concordia-St. Paul on April 24 and finished with a season-high 10 strikeouts and a onehit shutout in a 11-0 win, resulting in NSIC Pitcher of the Week honors. Obrecht led the NSIC this season in opponent batting average (.191), fewest earned runs allowed (9), fewest hits allowed (36) and tied for fourth in wins (7). He was also one of just two pitchers in the NSIC this season to not allow a home run.

Wienhoff, a 6-foot, 200-pound junior, received second-team All-NSIC honors after leading the Wildcat pitching staff with an 8-2 record in 12 starts and a 2.13 ERA. He was the workhorse of Wildcat staff this season working six or more innings in eight of his 12 starts. Wienhoff pitched a team-high 71.2 innings this season and gave up 61 hits and 37 runs (17 earned) with 62 strikeouts and 25 walks. He tied for first in the league with starts, ranked second in the NSIC in innings pitched, tied for second in wins, fourth in ERA, ninth in opponent batting average (.225) and 10th in strikeouts.

Logelin, a 6-foot, 190-pound sophomore, collected second-team All-NSIC honors following a .309 batting average with five homers and 28 RBI. He led the NSIC in doubles this season with 20 and tied for fourth in the league with runs scored with 51 after starting all 48 games this season. Logelin ranked second on the Wildcat team in hits (55) and total bases (92) and was 11-12 in stolen bases this season.

Hanson, a 6-foot-1, 185-pound sophomore designated hitter, received second-team All-NSIC accolades with a .304 batting average this season. He produced five homers with 31 RBI and ranked second on the team in stolen bases (14-16) and was third on the team in hits with 52. Hanson went 4-for-6 with two homers and a career best six RBI at Fort Hays State (2/14/19).

Madsen, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound outfield junior, was named to the NSIC Gold Glove Team after recording just one error and a .989 fielding percentage making 45 starts in center field this season. Offensively, Madsen hit .292 with one homer and 23 RBI and led the Wildcat team with 28 walks and 16 stolen bases, tied for seventh in the NSIC in walks.

Northeast baseball takes home Region XI Championship

CLINTON, Iowa - In just its second year of existence, the Northeast Community College baseball team won its first-ever Region XI Championship, defeating Southeastern Community College 4-3, before forcing a winner-take-all game to down the Blackhawks 5-3 at Ashford Field in Clinton, Iowa.

"I am so proud of these guys, it is well-deserved in everything that they have accomplished," head coach Marcus Clapp said. "We are looking to move on and we are ready for the next one."

The Hawks (32-18) will travel to Miles City, Montana to take on Miles City Community College May 18-19 in a best-of-three series for the North Plains District Championship with the winner advancing to the NJCAA DII National Tournament in Enid. Okla.

It wasn't easy in the first game against Southeastern as the Hawks trailed 3-1 heading into the sixth inning. The Hawks rallied to score two runs in the top of the sixth to seal the victory.

Donovan Warren (Omaha, Neb.) paced the Hawks at the plate, going 2-for-3 with a run and an RBI, while Christian Dumont (Bellevue, Neb.) and Derek Botaletto (Omaha, Neb.) each added a double.

Andrew Altstadt (Columbus, Neb.) picked-up the win in relief, tossing two and two-thirds innings, allowing no earned runs off two hits, while walking a batter.

A four-run sixth inning proved to be the difference for Northeast in Game 13, after trailing 2-0.

Drew Smith (Elkhorn, Neb.) went 3-for-4 at the plate, with two runs, two RBI and two doubles.

After throwing 113 pitches on Saturday, lefty Andrew Shaw (Dillon, Colo.) grabbed the win, tossing seven innings, while allowing three earned runs off six hits. He also struck out five batters and walked two.

Alex Potter (Parker, Colo.) grabbed his 11th save of the season, holding Southeastern to just two hits in two innings of work.

HARTINGTON — Allen's boys finished a solid third and the girls placed sixth in a tough D-3 district track meet Thursday at Hartington.

The Allen boys swept the three relays and won three individual events. Noah Carr won the 200-meter dash, Avery Fredericksen claimed the 400 and Brogan Jones won the 800.

Also qualifying for state for the Eagles with runner-up finishes were Carr in the 100 and Fredericksen in the long jump.

In girls action, Jordyn Carr was the lone winner for the Lady Eagles, taking top honors in the long jump. Allen also got qualifying marks from Alli Jackson in the 400 and 800.

Winside did not have any state qualifiers. Jackie Escalante placed sixth in the discus and Toby Heinemann was fifth in the 1.600 to account for the Wildcats' district medalists.

Allen's girls 1,600-meter relay team earned a wild card spot in the state track meet with their runner-up finish. Allen's boys picked up three wild card bids, with Steven Cooks in the high jump and Lukas Oswald in both the 110-meter and 300-meter hurdles.

BELLEVUE, NE - Workforce development strategies in place at Northeast Community College have been recognized by one of the nation's leaders in preparing students for lifelong success with career-relevant knowledge and skills.

Bellevue University recently presented its Innovation@Work award to Northeast Community College during the university's Real Learning Summit. The award annually recognizes one organization that shares Bellevue University's mission of preparing America's workforce with career-relevant skills and knowledge - while also helping them develop the agility to adapt rapid changes occurring in both education and careers.

"Northeast was selected based on its innovative and student-focused efforts and its success at breaking new ground in workforce develop $ment-sometimes \, against \, very \, steep$ odds," said Dr. Mary Hawkins, Bellevue University president. "Specifically, Northeast was recognized for its efforts in 2012, where it deemed community stabilization and rural revitalization a priority and create the Center for Enterprise. The center is specifically noted for concentrating on training tailored to meet the needs of local and regional employers, such as technical skills and customer service.'

The Center for Enterprise (CFE), which was established at Northeast Community College in 2013, has been designed to expand the college's rural revitalization efforts by providing advanced education and training opportunities for employers, employees, entrepreneurs, and communities. The Center has been opening doors to new opportunities for business and industry and entrepreneurs through one-stop premium services. Dr. Michael Chipps, president of Northeast, said it was timely in 2013 to establish the CFE and it is such an honor to be recognized for its advancements by an innovative institution like Bellevue University.

"Bellevue University has worked with Northeast to provide partnered training opportunities that have been offered through the Northeast CFE. Dr. Hawkins and her staff have been laser-focused with community colleges across America. You can depend on BU to fulfil its part of any agreement. We are proud to accept Bellevue's Innovation@Work award

SunTrust Bank was the recipient of the 2018 award for innovative custom degree programming in Professional Banking Operations and Leadership.

Northeast Community College and Bellevue University have been working together since 2014. Chipps and Hawkins signed a memorandum of understanding that has particularly focused on non-traditional working adults who, according to Chipps, "deserve the opportunity to take additional college-level courses through the articulation agreement."

The agreement was renewed in 2018.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz participated in active shooter exercises in South Sioux City and Wakefield. Kemnitz and Highway Superintendent Mark Casey attended a FEMA procurement meeting for updated information on contracting procedures. A phone conference with FEMA will be held on Thursday, May 9th, to answer questions on March flooding damages and repairs, and to determine which categories of specialists should be sent to the county. Casey reported the road departments are keeping the project worksheets up to date, and he will see if multiple locations in the same mile can be combined into one reporting site.

The county had been asked if they would sell an 8.5' x 418.9' strip of land located between Runza and the National Guard Armory acquired through a tax sale. County Attorney Amy Miller said the county would need to advertise and hold a public hearing on their intent to sell the property, then set a date to sell the property. The property would be advertised to be sold to the highest bidder. If necessary, a price less the fair market value may be negotiated.

A public hearing will be conducted on Tuesday, May 21, 2019 at 9:30 a.m. to receive public input on the proposed sale or lease of (Tax Lot 14), a tract more particularly described as Beginning at a point 60 feet North and 264.9 feet West of the Southeast Corner of the Southwest Quarter of Section 7, Township 26 North, Range 4 East of the 6th P.M., Wayne County, Nebraska Thence West a distance of 8.5 feet; thence North a distance of 418.9 feet; thence East a distance of 8.5 feet; thence South a distance of 418.9 feet to a point of beginning.

County Treasurer Tammy Paustian told the board she was going to start distributing tax collections monthly and wanted approval to issue payments electronically rather than having to write 94 checks each time. Paustian said there was no cost for the ACH services with Elkhorr Valley Bank of Norfolk, and all that was needed was board approval. A motion to approve Resolution No. 19-04 was made by Burbach and seconded by Sievers subject to electronic distributions starting no sooner than August 1, 2019. Roll call vote: Burbach, Sievers, Rabe - aye

Setting off on the adventure

Stamp number: one Drive time: 0 minutes Miles away: 0 miles Worth the trip?: Absolutely

I've always been a bit of an adventurer. I love to try new things and vou'll NEVER hear me turn down a road trip, which is handy considering going just about anywhere in the Cornhusker state requires a bit of a road trip. To give myself, let's be honest, an excuse to spend my summer traveling I decided I'd participate the Nebraska Passport program put on by Visit Nebraska. As I travel, I'll be sharing my experiences at the various stops with you, dear readers. I have no doubt I won't make it to all the stops, we live in a pretty big state, but I'll do my darndest.

I thought the most logical place to start would be in our very own Nebraska Passport stop, Johnnie Byrd Brewing Company.

I would venture to guess that most of Wayne county has been to the brewery at some point or another, whether it be to just enjoy the brew of the week or at an event in the spacious back room. If you haven't, seriously do, the brewery is one of several newer businesses that are the unsung heroes of the community. They're something unique that can entice outsiders to come to town and pull up a stool at the bar and enjoy Wayne America.

In fairness, I like beer, but I'm pretty sure the wide variety of types on tap can suit even those who will only drink a cold one "if they have to." Johnnie Byrd is great because it can definitely also appeal to the snobbiest of beer snobs. Even a teetotaler can find a beverage at the brewery with its homemade sodas on tap, just like the beer. Recently they've even expanded to carrying Nebraska wines and plenty of in some art or just take a break options for Nebraska liquors. If a cocktail is your thing, they've got it's the type of space we didn't realthat covered too. I, like my friend James Bond, would suggest the martini — for beer guys, they know how to make a good one. To me, the very best thing about Johnnie Byrd is that every single time I've been there, I've had an absolutely lovely conversation with a complete stranger.

Nebraskans are friendly people who regularly talk to strangers (something my coastal friends just can't understand) but in this case, it's more the environment than my incessant need to talk to anyone who will talk back.

Johnnie Byrd really does put out a vibe that encourages conversation. There are no noisy TVs, the music is not blaring and the staff aren't too stuck up or caught up in what they're doing to join in from time to time. In a world with constant distractions, I'm thankful for the temporary escape.

During my stop for the Nebraska Passport I tried the Nebraska Strong Red Ale. It was smooth, a little malty and everything you'd want in a brew. If you're not the biggest craft beer fan in the world, I think it's a pretty great entry point.

One of the things that I appreciate the most about Johnnie Byrd Brewing Company is that owner, Greg Ptacek and his staff are civicminded people and quick to get involved in the community. The Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild encouraged breweries to put their own spin on the Nebraska Strong Red Ale with proceeds going to flood relief. A beer for a good cause? Yes please.

More and more functions are happening at the brewery all the time. Since opening, Johnnie Byrd has added a great St. Patrick's Day celebration, live music (which, frankly, for a college town there just isn't enough of) and lots of lectures, get-togethers, quiz nights and other activities. Having that kind of community space where people can let their hair down a little and just take some time to re-connect, take from the hustle is so nice. I think

Capitol View Property tax relief, so close, so far

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Tax reform in Nebraska. Has the improbable become impossible?

In the waning days of the session, a classic battle between the Executive and Legislative branches looms large. The Governor wants property tax relief but no increases in other taxes or tax shifts. The Legislature says it needs increases or shifts to fund property tax relief.

In a promising -- albeit fleeting -- development, the Legislature's Revenue Committee drafted a plan to reduce property taxes by increasing state aid to K-12 education. That was the top recommendation of the Legislature's 2013 Tax Modernization Committee to reduce property taxes. But the search for new revenue to fund the increase and the tweaking of the legendary state school aid formula remain problematic.

If the Governor's campaign to rally opposition to the plan and a sevenhour hearing on the proposal are an indication, anything beyond the usual Band-Aid approach may not happen this session, or anytime soon. Only four proponents spoke for, while another 36 spoke against it, or in a carefully crafted neutral capacity.

Opposition came from cities, urban schools, chambers of commerce, the Nebraska State Education Association, policy think tanks, retailers, real estate agents and contractors. Even the Nebraska Farm Bureau and allied ag organizations - by far the biggest proponents of property tax relief-told lawmakers while they approved of an increase in the state sales tax rate and broadening of the base, they want the state to maintain the current property tax credit fund.

Critics say that an increase in the state sales tax rate by three-quarters of a cent, taking it from 5.5 cents to 6.25 cents, is regressive and puts more of a load on low- and middle-income residents who pay more of their income in sales taxes than do wealthier residents. Some suggest pairing it with an increase in the state's Earned Income Tax Credit.

The proposal would also tie school district spending growth to the Consumer Price Index, but would not allow spending to exceed a 2.5 percent cap even if the district actually needs more funding to serve its students. The cap limits how much a district's needs will grow and reduces the amount of equalization aid a district gets. Districts at or near their levy limits that can't offset reduced state funding with higher property taxes will need to cut services. That impacts mostly large urban school districts.

Some say that removing sales tax exemptions and expanding the sales tax base to more services is sound tax policy in Nebraska where only 81 services are taxed compared to 176 services taxed in other states. The Governor has taken issue with proposed elimination of sales tax exemptions for plumbing, barbering and certain veterinary services as well as for soda, bottled water and candy.

The proposal calls for reducing the value of agricultural land for property tax purposes from 75% to 65% of assessed value, and residential and commercial property from 100% to 90% of assessed value for local taxing authorities such as schools, cities, counties and community colleges. This could result in levy increases by governments that are under their limits. Others would be forced to cut services. Looking for alternative revenue streams could be particularly difficult for growing localities and those rebuilding from recent flooding.

Proponents say the state will benefit from an estimated $51 million from out-of-state internet retailers to go toward property tax relief. The funds have been so allocated in the Appropriations Committee preliminary budget, but that could depend on revenue forecasts and possible other needs. That same budget also calls for $38.5 million less in school funding than the Governor proposes.

The Open Sky Policy Institute suggested that the proposed three-fourths cent increase in the state sales tax rate is too high. The Platte Institute said the funding source for increased school aid should be elimination of sales tax exemptions, not increased tax rates. The Governor said the state needs to focus on budget control.

In his budget request to the Legislature, the Governor proposed a $51 million increase in the state's property tax credit fund during each year of the upcoming fiscal biennium, along with a constitutional amendment that would limit property tax increases to 3 percent a year. The Appropriations Committee cut that to $26 million and earmarked the rest to help replenish the state's cash reserve.

While I can't say what the final plan will look like, the committee has enough proposals and ideas before it to find an equitable and sustainable solution. It is possible.

Parents and educators I thank you for giving of yourselves to these young people over the years to bring them to this stage of life.

After months of dedication and discussion on creating a balanced budget for the next two years the Appropriations Committee brought forth the proposed budget to the Legislative floor on May 7. After three hours of floor debate the budget passed to Select File. The budget was amended to include a transfer from the rainy day fund of $51-million to the Property Tax Cash Fund. Select File will have another round to address additional amendments.

This is a pro-life, pro-woman bill with emphasis on informed consent.

I was honored to address the Wayne Area Economic Development (WAED) Government Affairs group on May 6. Gathering with our constituents is one of the highlights of serving as a public servant. The exchange of ideas is very important to all elected officials and well appreciated. With the recent flooding and blizzards across the state we need to be mindful of all farming and ranching operations that may not be able to continue this year their share of growing the good life. > National 4-H commissioned a team to determine the critical elements that make up a quality 4-H experience. The team identified eight essential elements that were adopted later by the 4-H program. These elements are summarized in four key concepts: belonging, mastery, independence, and generosity. Here's an overview of the essential elements of positive youth development programs and how each contributes to the four concepts.

> Belonging: Belonging can be accomplished by any one of three elements. A positive relationship with a caring adult who sets boundaries and expectations. Another element is an environment that sup-

Mastery: Mastery as a concept is developed by two essential elements. The first is providing opportunity for mastery or the building of knowledge and skills and the demonstration of this knowledge. This process takes time. The second element to mastery is engagement in learning. An engaged youth works to understand the subject matter and develops relationships and connections in order to remain engaged. Engaged learners are selfmotivated and learn from experience.

Independence: The concept of independence has two essential elements. These youth have an opportunity to see themselves as an active participant in their future. They have hope and are optimistic that they can shape their own life choices. The second element of independence is the opportunity for self-determination. These youth believe that they have impact on the events that shape their lives and aren't just submitting to the wills and whims of others. Youth develop a sense of influence over their own lives in order to become self-directing, autonomous adults.

Generosity: The last concept is generosity. Youth have an opportunity to value and practice service to others. Service is a way for members to gain exposure to the larger community and to the world!

The event included several readings, recitation of prayers and placing of flowers at the altar. The event also marked the of the year for the religious education program.

+ www.mywaynenews.com The Wayne Herald – Thursday, May 16, 2019 Faith comes by hearing the Shepard and the flock

John 10:27-30

"27 My sheep listen to my voice; I know them, and they follow me. 28 I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; no one will snatch them out of my hand. 29 My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all[b]; no one can snatch them out of my Father's hand. 30 I and the Father are one."

We are all sheep that belong to Jesus. He knows us and calls us to follow him. We are also a scattered flock, broken and dispersed into our communities. Each of us searches for the shepherd's voice. We hope that we can find our way by hearing his voice and following him. As we stumble along our way, separated and apart, we are all led by that one voice that brings us together as one body

As sheep, let us remember this quote from Brian Volck:

"I am a sheep. My task is to feed forgotten the voice entirely, though on the lush pastures to which the the shepherd remembers them. He shepherd chooses to lead me. My remembers all of them. They're not task is to listen – first and foremost a problem to be solved. They, too, for the voice of the shepherd, but are beloved sheep. also for my fellow sheep, whether in my own little band, a neighboring patient, to wait on the shepherd's one, or a group just over the crest of voice. And walk with my fellow the hill, whom I'd imagined lost for- sheep. For now, I feed on the good

"I am a sheep. My task is to be ever. There are other sheep who've Word, on the gift of prayer, and on the many graces I've been granted. I listen for the call of other sheep, even those with whom I sincerely disagree. They may know something of the shepherd's voice I've forgotten or ignored. They can help me to hear that voice rightly, or at least better than I hear it now. I am a sheep in the flock with many other sheep. O Lord, teach me to be truly grateful, and let me graze in your green meadows awhile longer. May I listen and hear your voice in the midst of all the sheep that you shepherd. I'm a slow learner. I am a sheep. We are sheep together."

We remember these words from Jesus, "I give them eternal life, and they will never perish. No one will snatch them out of my hand. What my Father has given me is greater than all else, and no one can snatch it out of the Father's hand. The Father and I are one."

Sharing a tornado experience

We have always had sort of a tornado plan; living in Nebraska, you have to ... but I've only been involved in a couple real warnings. One, at Winside school, when Sue was in sixth grade and they were putting on a little play for parents on a spring afternoon.

When the sirens went off, we all went to a basement; I think it was the place where the students did ceramics, and hunkered down to wait for the all clear. Some of the little ones were crying. When we got out, we heard that it had touched down just west of town, and it had! But it also hit Omaha, bad, including Bergan Hospital, so ours did not receive any special notice.

Then, my last summer at the hospital, I was night supervisor when we had to move patients into the halls. I ended up with the new was the post operative recovery moms and babes in what I think rooms. Again, no big deal.

The Farmer's Wife By: Pat Meierhenry

On the evening of May 5, a good it was scary. friend of ours who is now head of the Cather department at UNL was impatient with the red lights. I husseeing the fruition of an idea of hers to use one of the books to create a song cycle. The composer read the most significant novels and chose "Mv Antonia."

He even visited Red Cloud and of course, the Cather archives at the University. The Lincoln Symphony Orchestra was to perform it at the Lied, featuring a guest violinist and vocalist. It was a big night for our friend, and we were excited to hear it.

Kay went to an early "pre-talk" and I elected to go for the 6 p.m. performance. Sue came to stay with her dad, and I left the house at 5:15. When I was almost downtown, the tornado sirens started wailing. I right? Time to review our plan. And could not see a funnel and the other hope for the best. cars kept moving, so I did, too. But

It started to rain and I was very tled into the car park and grabbed my rain coat and headed for the elevator. I decided that might not be such a good idea, so walked down the steps. When I came out, I was right across from the performance hall, so ran in the puddles in the street. Ushers were saying, "don't worry about your tickets. Get in and go to any seat"!

As you probably know, a tornado did hit west of town and we waited quite a while for our program, but it was all worth it. The famous Lee's chicken place looked kind of beat up; after all, it's an old building. But, once again, I was fortunate. And the season has just begun, by matching-up your hybrid corn and beans with our hybrid lenders.

Tis the season for terrible ticks

It may be a late spring for everything else this year, but not for ticks. I, and especially my dog, have found plenty of them this spring. Ticks are close relatives of mites and spiders and pass through four stages in their life cycle: egg, larva, nymph and adult. All stages except the egg are blood-sucking parasites that can also carry diseases.

Prompt removal of embedded ticks is important as the risk of disease transmission increases the longer ticks are attached and feeding. The best method to remove a feeding tick attached to an animal or human is to grasp it as close as possible to the skin with tweezers.

Gently, yet firmly apply steady pressure on the tick until you pull it out. If you try to jerk or twist the tick out, you risk the mouthparts breaking off and remaining in the skin where a hard nodule will form until your body naturally breaks it down. Always clean out the wound with a good antibacterial product to help prevent infection.

Do not grasp or squeeze the rear portion of the tick's body. This can force the gut contents of the tick into your tissues and increase the potential for disease transmission if the tick is infected with disease-causing organisms. The use of tape, alcohol, or Vaseline to cover the tick and cause it to voluntarily pull its mouthparts out of the skin is not effective.

Ticks usually crawl onto people below the knees and then crawl upwards. When you are outdoors in known tick areas, wear protective clothing, such as long-sleeved shirts and long pants. Wear light colored clothes so it is easier to see ticks on you. For added protection, tuck pants inside your socks. This is not necessary to treat your lawn helps keep them on the outside of your clothing, giving you more time to see and remove them before they get to your skin and start feeding.

Use repellents for additional protection. Apply them to socks, pant legs, and parts of clothing that may brush against vegetation. DEET and permethrin are effective repellents. You can apply DEET to clothing and skin, but permethrin should be applied only to clothing.

Check your clothes and yourself when you've been outdoors in known tick areas. Particularly examine yourself around the waist, under your arms, inner legs, behind your knees, and around your head, including in and around your ears and in your hair. Adults should check their young children for ticks.

Tick numbers around your home are influenced by the amount of favorable habitat found there such as brushv or tall grassv areas. You can reduce tick numbers by modifying your landscape to create a less favorable environment for ticks and their animal hosts.

around homes, where it borders lawns, along paths, and in areas where people may contact ticks. It for ticks because ticks rarely infest maintained yards. But you will want to remove leaf litter, weeds and brush, especially from buffer areas where the lawn borders grassy, weedy or brushy areas.

It is generally not effective to treat large areas of woods, brush, or grass with insecticides as insecticides do not always penetrate into areas where ticks are found in the leaf litter. Ticks can also be reintroduced into areas when wildlife carrying ticks move into a previously treated area.

In cases where high numbers of ticks are present in areas adjacent to home yards, treating the edges of wooded or brushy areas and paths can help reduce tick numbers. Use an insecticide labeled for a turf area and contains permethrin, cyfluthrin, or carbaryl as an active ingredient.

For more information on ticks and tick control, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Was your alfalfa damaged by a freeze or frost recently? Frozen alfalfa usually needs some time to recover before damage can be estimated.

To assess the extent of the damage, don't just look for frozen or wilting leaves. You need to determine if the growing point was killed. This growing point, also called the apical meristem, is where all new leaves, stems, and branches initially develop on alfalfa. It is located inside the dense cluster of unfolded leaves at the top of the main stem.

Because it is inside a cluster of leaves, the growing point is somewhat protected from cold injury. Exposed leaves and stems all around it can be frozen, wilted, and dying while the growing point cluster survives, waiting for warm weather before continuing to grow. If the growing points in your alfalfa survived the freeze, just wait for growth to begin again.

If the growing point was killed, however, growth will cease on that stem. Any new growth must come from new crown shoots or from lower branches. While the existing plant remains intact, regrowth often is delayed. But you don't have to harvest this damaged growth; plants will begin to grow again on their own although it might take a little longer. Cutting off dam-

Feedlot Expansion

Opportunities in livestock production abound across all of CVA's trade territory in Nebraska, Kansas, and Iowa. CVA recently teamed up with Settje Engineering and Agri-Services to offer comprehensive nutrient management planning for livestock producers. Besides helping our livestock producers with managing their manure nutrients and compliance with regulatory requirements, Settje can help livestock producers expand their existing operations or even launch into a new livestock opportunity. I have traveled with several of Settje's staff to visit with livestock producers. Some are looking to expand a cattle feedlot, and others are looking at converting a portion of outdoor feedlots to cattle confinement barns. Pork producers may want to consider putting up a new hog barn or adding capacity to an existing operation. Central Valley Ag and Settje will work together to show each producer options and walk them through the permitting, design, and building process. We can look ahead to your soil fertility needs to help you manage the nutrients in your manure. If your operation is already well supplied with past manure nutrients, we can help you market that manure product to operations in need of those nutrients.

Starting the conversation with CVA and Settje early will help a new or expanding livestock producer simplify the process and avoid missteps along the way. Settje's relationships with NRCS and NDEQ/DNR will make the permitting process go smoothly and make sure all of the proper steps are taken. Settje has experience with multiple building configurations both for managing the animals and managing the manure from those animals. Together we can find a solution that works for your operation and your goals.

Central Valley Ag strives to be your trusted advisor in many aspects of your business. Our relationship with Settje Engineering and Agri-Services provide CVA to expand our offers on how we can assist our livestock producers.
