The Wayne Community Schools District Board of Education met on Monday night, at a later 7 p.m. to accommodate the back to school event allowing students to meet their teachers ahead of school resuming on Wednesday. During the meeting, the board discussed a facility study and HVAC improvements, new staff and budgeting.

Tracy, Morgan and Zach Keating and other family members presented a $9,700 check to the Wayne Community Schools Foundation for a Bob Keating Scholarship. Money came from the proceeds from the first annual Bob Keating Memorial Golf Tournament. Bob Keating was very involved in raising money for the Wayne Community and supporting the Blue Devils before he passed away. Morgan, Bob and Tracy Keating's daughter said her father would approve of the scholarship fund.

"We're glad to give it to some students who need it. My dad would be very proud of that," Morgan said.

New staff, including Lindsey Knutson, new 7-12 counselor; Annette Chase, new 6th grade teacher and Mark Evetovich new Wayne Elementary assistant principal.

Wayne Elementary's HVAC situation was discussed during the meeting. Carlson, West, Provonda Architects were approved to do a facility study and structural analysis for the cost of $7,100. The structural analysis will help in repairing the elementary's HVAC system. As discussed at previous meetings, the current system is not handling the needs of the building.

A quote for $407,893 from Rasmussen HVAC was accepted. The overall project will help fix HVAC plumbing, wiring and make-up air units for the building. The project will also require a crane to place new HVAC systems on the building. Superintendent Mark Lenihan told the board that would mean coordinating a day that's not windy and would require diverting traffic around the building. Director of Maintenance and Grounds, Jordan Widner said he didn't expect these repairs to fix the overall HVAC problems at the school. The board approved the bid knowing more work may need to be done.

"This is a lot of money, but possibly phase one of this (project)," board member Lynn Junck said.

The board also approved a first reading for the Board/Superintendent Goals and Policy 8001, Mission, Vision and Core Value Statement.

An annual addendum was approved with Mid States School Bus Inc. The agreement states the company will charge the school $36,492.28 monthly for a period of nine months and there will be extra charges for field trips. The fee is increased three percent every year.

Lenihan said he will know his budget request once valuations come in on Aug. 20, however, as the preliminary budget request stands now, the tax request is $0.76 less than last year's.

Second readings were approved for the tobacco policy, procurement plans for school food and school funds, wage information policy, admission requirements, military recruiters, student discipline, extracurricular activities, drug substance use and prevention, curriculum, Parent and Family Engagement Policy, standing committees and standing committee on American Civics.

The next school board meeting will be held in room 202 of the Jr./Sr. High School at 5 p.m. on Sept. 9.

Northeast Community College, Wayne State College collaborate to develop transfer initiatives

Northeast Community College and Wayne State College (WSC) have strengthened their working relationship with the signing of a new memorandum of agreement (MOA).

The two colleges have had a long-standing working and transfer relationship to serve students since 1986. Over the years, various institutional and programmatic agreements have been signed to create a seamless transfer of pathways for students between Northeast and Wayne State College.

On Aug. 7, Dr. Marysz Rames, president of Wayne State, Dr. Paul Turman, chancellor of the Nebraska State College System, and Mary Honke, co-interim president of Northeast, signed an MOA that is intended to cultivate student transfer and advising efforts that are designed to create clear pathways to success from Northeast to Wayne State College degree completion.

"This replaces all other Memorandums of Understanding by creating a single institutional transfer agreement that also has 28 programmatic articulated pathways for students to be able to plan their four years of college between Northeast and Wayne State," Honke said. "Programmatic transfer articulation agreements are included in the areas of business, accounting, information technology, education, human services and criminal justice."

"Wayne State College stands proudly behind this updated agreement, which will strengthen our relationship and provide students with a seamless experience in earning their associate and bachelor's degree," said Dr. Marysz Rames, president of Wayne State College. "These types of agreements enhance our ability to effectively serve students by helping them reach their goal of earning degrees in Northeast Nebraska."

Much of the MOA centers around Northeast students who will complete a Northeast associate degree and transfer to Wayne State College. This includes development of program articulations, collaboration on recruitment, advising and retention efforts that will be mutually beneficial to both institutions. Wayne State College will host on-campus visit days at Northeast's extended campus at the College Center in South Sioux City and on Northeast's main campus in Norfolk for all interested Northeast students and faculty once per year.

In addition, Northeast students who transfer to Wayne State are eligible for the Nebraska Access Program, which is designed to increase admittance to out-of-state students.

students also have the opportunity for a tuition discount at Wayne State where they would be charged the same rate as other WSC students for tuition, on-campus housing and food services. They also have the opportunity to apply for WSC transfer student scholarships.

The agreement also provides opportunities for Northeast students to be recognized for honors after 12 credit hours earned at Wayne State College.

"The state colleges have been long-standing partners with the state's community colleges and look for opportunities to create seamless pathways for students to achieve their goals in the most efficient and effective ways possible," said Dr. Paul Turman, chancellor of the Nebraska State College System (NSCS). "The NSCS is excited to partner with Northeast on this collaborative effort and looks forward to future initiatives to provide the best opportunities for students."

The MOA is designed to build on the collaboration between Northeast Community College and Wayne State College and the ten-year joint partnership through the College Center in South Sioux City. Both institutions offer classes in the 39,600 square foot building at 1001 College Way. Through the partnership, students from Northeast may take their freshman and sophomore level courses in business, elementary education and human services, followed by junior and senior level or graduate courses through Wayne State College, all in the same location at the College Center in South Sioux City.

Power outage affects portion of Wayne

The failure of a high voltage cable on Aug. 13 resulted in residents in the Vintage Hill subdivision of Wayne being without power for approximately an hour.

According to Electric Distribution Superintendent Tim Sutton, power went out at approximately 2:25 a.m. Electric distribution employees worked to re-route the circuit and re-energize to those in the northeast portion of Wayne that were affected. Power was restored to the area by 3:10 a.m.

The electric crews are continuing to work on repairing the line and will replace the cable in the near future.

Obituaries

Richard 'Dick' Brown

Richard "Dick" Brown, 78, of Wayne, died Wednesday, Aug. 7 2019 at Edgewood Vista in Norfolk.

Memorial services will be held Saturday, Aug. 17 at 11 a.m. at First United Methodist Church in Wayne. The Rev. Carol Jean Stapleton will officiate. Memorial visitation will be held from 10 a.m. until service time at the church. Burial will be in Graceland Cemetery at Madison, S.D.

Memorials may be directed to the Nebraska Children's Home and Alzheimer's Association in honor of Dick.

Arrangements are with Hase-mann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Richard "Dick" Allen Brown was born in Chester, S.D. on Jan. 29, 1941 to parents Bob and Ann (Merager) Brown and earned his degree in 1963 from General Beadle Teacher's college in Madison, S.D. He taught from 1963-1973 at schools including Rutland, S.D., John Day, Ore., and Winnebago, Allen and Ponca in Nebraska. He became a Nebraska Probation Officer in 1973 in Dakota and Wayne Counties, and from 1987-2007 became the Chief Probation Officer for numerous counties in Nebraska. He was gifted and talented in his guidance and influence throughout his career and beyond.

Dick and Carol (Fritz) fell in love at first sight, and were married in Aurora, S.D. 58 years ago on Aug. 6, 1961. They were an inseparable couple that will be "together forever" again someday. They adopted their son, Scott Richard, in Oregon City, Ore. in 1966 and in 1968 adopted their daughter, Cinda Kay in Scottsbluff. Dick was an extremely proud and supportive parent and a strong advocate for adoption and would talk with pride about this subject. Dick was a member of the Nebraska Foster Care Review board from 1983-2007 and cared deeply for the welfare of children. He was also an active member in the Masonic Lodge since 1970, serving in various leadership and voluntary roles that helped strengthen the community. Dick was an active member of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne since 1973 and served on several committees as well as volunteering whenever his town needed help.

Dick enjoyed spending time in his garden of almost 40 pepper and tomato plants, and loved to give away his harvest. He was an avid pheasant hunter and for years volunteered for the Youth Mentor Hunt. Dick liked walking their dog around town, camping with Carol, and driving his truck to the store to socialize several times a day. He loved talking to people and was an incredible listener and genuinely cared about people. He loved spending time with his grandchildren and was known as a jokester and storyteller, always wanting those around him to have fun and enjoy life to the fullest. Everyone had a "Dick Brown" story that somehow involved a funny ending! He knew no stranger, and even as Alzheimer's pressed on, Dick loved talking to every "bud" and "kiddo" that he saw. Keep telling "Dick Brown" stories and continue celebrating the life of this amazing man, that can now remember again.

Survivors include his wife Carol; and their children Scott (Trisha) Brown of Seattle, Wash. and Cinda Brown (Shawn Empkey) of Norfolk; grandchildren Brittany and Jesse Brown and Calvin and Audrey Empkey, brother Tim (Darla) Brown of Madison, SD, and numerous hearty Norwegian family members including nieces, nephews, cousins, aunts and uncles, along with devoted friends, including Brian and Bonnie Loberg and Kelly Grone.

He was preceded in death by his parents.

Honorary pallbearers will be Brian and Bonnie Loberg and Kelly Grone.

Class of 1947 gives back

During a recent reunion of class members from the Wayne High School class of 1947, a donation was made to the Wayne Public Library.

The nine members of the class present noted that money left in the class treasury should be donated to something that would "focus on early childhood reading and education." A decision was made to give money to the Wayne Public Library to be used for books for young children.

Library Director Heather Headley and Youth Services Librarian Kim Warner spoke to the group on programs available for young children at the library and accepted a check from the class.

The class of 1947 included 57 members at graduation. Of that number, 17 are currently living.

An armor coating project began on Aug. 12 on US-275 from Wisner, west to the US-275/N/57 junction, according to the Nebraska Department of Transportation. Armor coating is an application of an asphalt binder to a roadway surface followed by an aggregate.

State maintenance forces will be performing armor coating on US-275 beginning at Wisner, west to the US-275/N-57 junction. The work is anticipated to take four days. Traffic will be maintained with the use of flaggers and a pilot car. Motorists should expect to see delays and are reminded to drive cautiously in and near construction zones.

Gov. Ricketts announces launch of addiction medicine fellowship

Governor Pete Ricketts announced the launch of the state's first addiction medicine fellowship program. The Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), the Attorney General's office and the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) teamed up to create the program and will partner to oversee it.

"By working together to combat drug addiction, we can come together and build a healthier Nebraska," said Gov. Ricketts. "The addiction fellowship will address substance use disorders, not only illicit drug addiction, but also the even larger public health issues of nicotine dependence, alcohol use, and binge drinking. Thanks to the collaboration of numerous partners, this opportunity will allow Nebraska to train our own specialists, as well as increase visibility for UNMC's excellence in clinical training, scholarship, research, and advocacy."

"Substance use disorder is a disease of the brain, yet we continue to treat this disease outside of mainstream healthcare," added Dannette R. Smith, chief executive officer of DHHS. "The time has come to fully integrate the science of addiction into medical practice, and we look forward to improving the health of fellow Nebraskans through this innovative fellowship. While Nebraska has a commendably low rate of opioid use disorder, we are not immune, and we cannot lose sight of the importance of prevention and education efforts."

Addiction medicine fellowships are multi-specialty training programs that focus on the provision of care for persons with unhealthy substance use, substance use disorders and other addictive disorders. Addiction medicine physicians work in diverse settings, including clinical medicine, public health, education and research. Addiction medicine physicians treat patients across the lifespan who have different degrees of disease severity: from at risk, to those with advanced and complicated diseases, to those in recovery. An addiction medicine fellowship provides fellows with experience in the prevention, clinical evaluation, treatment, and long-term monitoring of substance-related disorders. The training emphasizes the management of medical and psychiatric conditions in the comprehensive care of these patients and is informed by a wide range of evidence-based interventions.

"The fellowship provides an opportunity to normalize the healthcare conversation and healthcare service integration related to substance use disorders," said Sheri Dawson, DHHS Director of the Division of Behavioral Health. "Substance use constitutes the largest and most costly preventable health problem—accounting for almost a quarter of Nebraska's annual deaths. Substance use disorders are preventable—more than 90 percent of individuals are exposed to alcohol or substance use before the age of 21. One in every four deaths in our country is attributable to alcohol, nicotine, opioids and other drugs, including non-opioid prescription medications."

"To provide an integrated approach to fighting the opioid crisis, it is imperative that we address the importance of treatment," said Attorney General Doug Peterson. "This fellowship is a vital part of addressing treatment needs in Nebraska."

This fellowship model provides fellows with experience in the prevention, clinical evaluation, treatment, and long-term monitoring of substance-related disorders. The training emphasizes the management of medical, psychiatric, and social conditions in the comprehensive care of these patients and is informed by a wide range of evidence-based interventions. The educational program in addiction medicine must be 12 months in length and must be completed in no more than a two-year period.

Ken Zoucha, M.D., Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Addiction Division Director at UNMC, will direct the fellowship program. Most recently, Dr. Zoucha oversaw the juvenile chemical dependency unit at the Hastings Regional Center. The first year will be spent building the infrastructure for the fellowship in partnership with the academic institutions, such as UNMC and Creighton University. The first fellow will start in September 2019 and graduate in August 2020. Initial funding is provided through a DHHS Division of Behavioral Health grant. Sustained funding is being sought beyond the initiative's start-up phase.

"UNMC has an opportunity to lead and educate a new generation of physicians that will address the opioid epidemic and other substance use disorders," said Dr. Jeffrey P. Gold, Chancellor of UNMC. "UNMC educates the workforce to serve individuals with organ system disease, trauma, cancer and more. It works as well to continue as a national leader in addressing the prevention and treatment of substance use and addiction. We need healthcare providers who are comfortable and competent with addiction-related care and serve as change agents to transform our healthcare system." Dr. Gold noted that primary care, internal medicine providers and specialists who see and treat patients every day are all a natural entry into healthcare for many Nebraskans with underlying substance use disorders.

As of July, the American College of Academic Addiction Medicine (ACGME) stated that there are 67 addiction medicine fellowship training programs in the United States, 52 of which are accredited by ACGME. They are committed to establishing a total of 125 ACGME accredited addiction medicine fellowship programs by 2025.

The new doctor's clinic, which will be attached to the west side of the hospital will provide a one stop area said Mrs. Thomas.

"The addition will greatly enhance the medical services for the community," She added. Besides the convenience of mul-iple medical services on the same complex, she said the project represents efficiency and better access for patients. More parking will be added for both the hospital and the clinic.

Young Jack Sievers took top honors at the Wayne County Fair market beef show for the second year in a row when his Hereford steer was named the Grand Champion by the judge.

Sievers, only 14 years old, last year won both Grand Champion and Reserve Champion in the show. This year the Reserve Champion went to Kevin Dorcey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dorcey of Wayne, for his Hereford steer. Son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sievers of Wakefield, Jack had beat out Kevin's sister, Susan in last year's competition.

How times have changed! Congress is now discussing postwar pay for persons temporarily idle. The size of the proposed stipend running from $13 to $35 per week. The figures mentioned are probably not too high in comparison with wages paid government workers or paid independent or union-dominated industries. We remember when bank cashiers received $40 per month, and the heads of town schools the same, the latter however, employed and paid only nine months of the year. We remember one fellow who refused the privilege of teaching a rural school at $18 per month because he looked too green. We recall a young lad who served as janitor for five cents a day, and saved enough to buy a pig. Those were the days of jean pants, unmatched patches, paper collars and no underwear. Those were the days when the demand on the family exchequer were as few as were the means to meet them. They represented an unhappy extreme as the present drift reflects the opposite extreme which may become equally burdensome.

The Wayne City Council is one member short following the resignation of Verdel Lutt at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

Wayne Mayor Lois Shelton told the council that she received a written resignation letter from Lutt, and that "he is not making any statements" in regard to the reason(s) he has resigned. She did note that some of the reasons may be personal.

Lutt has served on the council for approximately 14 years, on two different occasions, and was most recently appointed by Mayor Shelton to fill the position vacated by Jim Shanks. He was again elected to the position three years ago.

Wayne FFA chapter earns national recognition

The Wayne FFA chapter was recently recognized in 2019 National Chapter Award Program from the National FFA Organization. The Wayne chapter was named a 2 Star Chapter for 2019. The program recognizes outstanding FFA chapters from throughout the country that actively implement the mission and strategies of the organization. These chapters improve chapter operations using the National Quality FFA Chapter Standards and a Program of Activities that emphasizes growing leaders, building communities and strengthening agriculture. Chapters are rewarded for providing educational experiences for the entire membership. Chapters that received star ratings during judging in late July will be recognized at the 2019 National FFA Convention & Expo, Oct. 30 - Nov. 2 in Indianapolis, Ind. All star-rated FFA chapters receive honors made possible by corporate sponsor John Deere. "Feeding some 9 billion people by mid-century brings with it unprecedented challenges for today's farmers," said Amy Allen, manager, national corporate contributions for John Deere. "The skills and experiences learned through the National Chapter Award Program will help meet the critical needs."

The National FFA Organization provides leadership, personal growth and career success training through agricultural education to 669,989 student members who belong to one of 8,630 local FFA chapters throughout the U.S., Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The organization is also supported by 459,514 alumni members in 2,236 alumni chapters throughout the U.S.

"This award is truly a chapter award. Each of the members of our chapter contribute in some way to the success of our chapter and are responsible for achieving the award," said Toni Rasmussen, advisor for the group.

Scouts travel to Camp Cedars

Scouts BSA from Wayne Troop 174 recently spent a week at Camp Cedars, earning dozens of merit badges and awards for their efforts.

The camp is located near Fremont.

Aiden Bohnert, Gage Jensen, Seamus O'Keefe, Lance Stange, Brayden Worlein, Carlyle Young, Dean Young, and Ty Zach all showed their Scout spirit as they practiced their swimming skills, snorkeling, stand-up paddleboarding, and fishing.

When the scouts weren't on the water, they could be found on one of the shooting ranges, at the climbing tower, or on horse-back.

Aviation, Radio, Game Design, Cooking, and other activities kept the youth busy the entire week.

"Of course, without adults the youth would not have been able to attend. To maintain BSA-mandated "two-deep leadership" all week required the juggling of some schedules, but thanks to Dave Bonhert, Christina Junck, Pam O'Keefe, and Mark Zach, all the transportation and supervision needed was available all week," said Stacy Schenk, Scoutmaster for Troop 174.

The scouts in the troop are already looking forward to next summer's camping adventures.

Wayne Country Club hosts annual championship

Dave Hix-First flight winner

By Kevin Peterson
Of The Wayne Herald

The annual men's and women's club golf championships were held at Wayne Country Club last Sunday and like the saying goes "the more things change, the more they stay the same" was evident once again as the modern era version of Wayne's power golf couple laid claim to yet another championship.

Joey and Kari Baldwin claimed top honors with Joey posting win number nine while Kari topped the women's field for title number eight.

In men's play Joey carded an 8-under par score of 100 over 27 holes with rounds of 34-34-32. "It obviously was great to win a ninth time," Baldwin said. "I don't take anything for granted out here because there are a lot of great players at our club. To be in the hunt you have to be right around par for 27 holes."

Baldwin said his extreme competitiveness to win was evident but he wasn't necessarily convinced he was the guy to beat.

"I haven't played as much golf this summer as in past years between coaching two baseball teams and preparing for a new job," he said. "As far as the round on Sunday, I wasn't pleased with how poorly I hit my driver throughout the day, including an out-of-bounds tee shot on hole 11. I did hit my irons pretty well and I putted decent though I didn't make any long putts, but made some good 6-8 footers to keep my round in check."

An 8-time winner before he hit his first shot of the day Joey said he tried to keep things simple. "I basically relied on competitive nature and past experience which meant staying patient, limiting mistakes and when I made a mistake, to forget about it and move on. Overall, I thought I did that and was happy with the overall performance and outcome."

Joey birdied holes 2-5-13 and 15 on the first round of 18 holes and threw in an eagle on hole 16 to help offset the sting of bogey's on holes 11 (with that out-of-bounds) and 14. His 4-under par round of 68 put him in a comfortable spot, leading by four shots over Mike Varley heading to the final nine holes. In fact, the final pairing for the final nine holes had Baldwin paired with Varley and Doug Rose, another familiar name in the winner's circle multiple times in the past. Rose is the last person to beat Baldwin in a club championship setting.

Baldwin birdied hole two and followed up with a birdie on five before closing out the round with an eagle on hole nine to finish at 4-under par 32. Varley cut into Joey's lead heading to the 16th hole, trailing by two. "I was trying to close the gap but each time I thought

I had a chance he would answer," Varley chuckled. "I birdied 16 only to watch him eagle it and that put me back down 3 shots and then I bogeyed 17 and he parred it and there it was, four strokes."

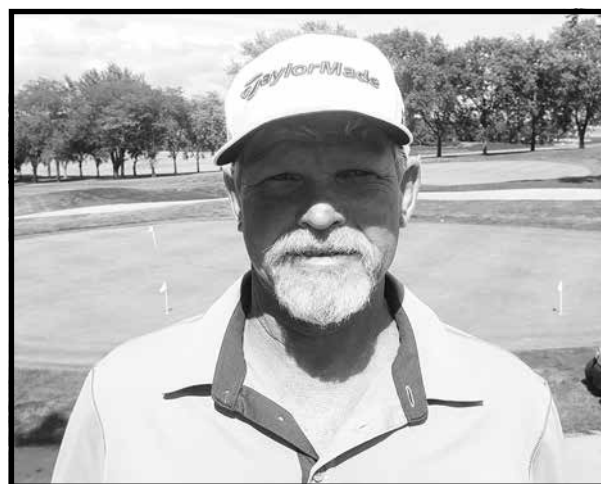

Varley shot a final round of 36 to finish at 108 and runner-up honors. Rose also shot an even par round of 36 over the last nine holes but ended up tying for third overall with Alex Salmon and Adam Severson. Salmon won the tie-breaker with a birdie on the first hole of the day to claim third place while Rose settled for fourth and Severson, fifth. Severson, however, had the gallery talking after he went 4-under par through the first five holes of the final nine as he eagled holes two and five. Both he and Salmon carded 2-under par 34 over the final nine holes.

In flight action Dave Hix won the first flight with a 73 including a pair of birdies while Matt Eischeid placed second with a 78. Ryan Dahl was third with an 80 and Adam Diediker, fourth at 81. Second flight champ was Kelly Hansen with a 76 while Randy Gamble placed runner-up with an 80. Chuck Parker was third with an 83 and Mike Bentjen, fourth at 84.

Craig Walling did start his round in the third flight like he finished as he opened with a triple bogey, only to bounce back with a 79 to win by two over runner-up Jerry Dorcey. Walling carded five birdies in his round. Mike Powicki placed third with an 81, falling to Dorcey in a tie-breaker on the second hole while Joel Ankeny was fourth at 83. Kevin Peterson claimed the fourth flight with an 81, followed by Brad Jones at 89. Jim Curtiss was third with a 91 followed by Dustin Stegemann at 92.

Dennis Murray was the fifth flight champ with an 84 while Rob Burrows was second, edging AJ Longe in a tie-breaker on the first hole. Each carded 86. Mark Putnam's 89 was good for fourth place. As impressive as Joey Baldwin's championship was, it was second in dominance to sixth flight champ Dave Ley who won by 10 strokes and carded a net score of 55.8. His gross score was 83. Don Endicott was second with a 93 while Dallas Hansen netted out third place with Brian Gibson placing fourth with a 95.

On the women's side Jessi Jensen held a two-shot lead through six holes but Kari Baldwin parred holes 7-8-9 to take a one shot lead to the final nine holes at 42. Baldwin went on to card a 39 on the back to garner championship number eight. Nancy Endicott was third and Natalie Endicott finished fourth. "It was a great day to play with the weather being good and the course was in great shape," Kari said. "I didn't play well early but got things going over the final 12 holes and was able to pull out the win."

Ribbons are not the important thing School Lunches

Summer is in full swing and with it brings 4-H fair season. We all know that one of the most exciting parts about fair is receiving ribbons for all of the hard work that was put into a project. But, that is not the only purpose of youth doing 4-H fair projects.

The following story does a good job of explaining the true intentions of the 4-H programs.

"The Important Things aren't the ribbons"

There once was a boy who won

Thurston County

Jennifer Hansen
Extension Educator

UNL Extension

"The important things, son, are not ribbons or pins, and sometimes it's really the loser that wins: Now here are the things most important, it's true your 4-H experience has accomplished for you."

"You've seen how a business meeting is run. This knowledge will help you in years to come. You've conquered the fear or addressing a crowd. You've learned how to stand up big and tall, and speak nice and loud."

"Patience you've learned in your projects too, as well as your skill that will always help you." You've learned the fine feeling it gives you to lend a glad helping hand to a stranger or friend."

"You've learned to cooperate with majority rule, to give in with grace and not be a fool, who must always have his very own way, be in club work in school or at play."

"You've learned how to lose without making a beef, you know the judge judges to his best belief you've learned how to win without boasting to loud, a kid can lose friends if he's overly proud."

"These are the things most important to you you'll remember and use them all your life through they'll help you become a mighty fine man, they'll do more for you than a prize ever can." By anonymous

I love this story for the fact that it references all the life skills that 4-H can teach a young person. Life skills are skills, like critical think and problems solving to name a few that will be utilized by a young person throughout the rest of their lives. So many of us focus too much on the winning and not enough on the learning process.

Hopefully, this story will serve as a reminder about how important the learning process truly is to the 4-H program.

St. Mary's Elementary School to celebrate anniversary

An anniversary celebration for St. Mary's Elementary School on May 19 was postponed due to weather.

That celebration will now take place on Sunday, Aug. 18.

The event begins at 1 p.m. with registration. An opening prayer and a blessing will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wildlife Encounters will have a presentation at 2 p.m. and live music by Mike Geiler at 3 p.m.

Activities planned throughout the afternoon include bouncy houses, face painting, Tae Kwon do presentations and Knights of Columbus bingo.

In addition, food will be available from The Cheese Life.

Ground was broken on East Seventh Street for the school on Sept. 8, 1952 and 65 years later, the school is still in existence.

The school opened for the first time on Sept. 8, 1953 with an enrollment of 43 pupils in grades one through eight.

The school was originally staffed by four Benedictine Sisters from the Mother House at Norfolk.

Currently the school has four teachers teaching in combined classrooms with a total enrollment of 51 students. In 2006, the enrollment was at 13 students; in 2011, there were 22 students and in 2014 there were 30 students.

"We have seen a steady increase in the past 12 years. The school serves students of all faith denominations. At the present time, 15 percent of the students are non-Catholic. We also have diversity in the cultural makeup of our enrollment," said Stacy Uttecht, who serves as principal at the school.

Back to school

Recently, the Salvation Army collected school supplies for area children heading back to the classroom. Wayne's First Presbyterian Church was a collection site, and residents were generous with their donations. The school supplies were dispersed at Calvary Bible Church to students in grades Kindergarten through sixth grade.

Sharpshooters compete at Nationals

Four members of the Wayne County Sharpshooters 4-H Club attended the NFAA archery Outdoor Field Nationals held on July 26, 27, and 28.

The event was held at the outdoor archery ranges of the Easton Archery Complex in Yankton, S.D., the largest comprehensive archery facility in the world.

The contest was a three-day event consisting of both animal and round targets shot at distances from twenty feet to eighty yards depending on competitor class.

Heat, rain, rough terrain, and extremely long days made this shoot challenging for the kids but they all finished the course each day. Archers were put into groups of four and assigned different range locations each day. Everyone got to meet archers and parents from all over the nation, and also professional adults shooting from other countries.

Bailey Lurz was with a group of four girls who were very experienced young ladies. All were under the age of 12 years and one flew from Alaska to participate. Three different national scoring records were broken in just their group over the weekend.

The boys were also impressed with the other archers in their groups.

"Everyone was very professional, friendly, and offered advice to the young archers. It was a great learning experience for them and they were even more excited to all receive awards at the end of the weekend," said Eric Frye, one of the coaches for the team.

Carter Anson received second place in Youth Male Bowhunter Freestyle. Bailey Lurz was second in Cub Female Bare Bow, Bryce Lurz champion in Cub Male Bare Bow and Brayden Lurz champion in Cub Male Freestyle Limited Recurve.

"Participants gained valuable

Youth attend Shootout on the River

Five Wayne County 4-H members attended the Shootout On The River in Neligh on Aug. 10.

The event was hosted by the Antelope County Shooting Club during National Shooting Sports Month to help promote youth and shooting sports.

Archers shot a double match consisting of a placement by score in the first round, then an actual head-to-head match to decide winners and final placement.

Classes varied between age and different types of equipment. Different sized targets at distances from 10 to 40 yards were used in separate individual rounds of four arrows each.

Lindsay Niemann received second in youth female compound. Alexis Frye was first in youth female compound. Rylenn Owens was first in cub female compound. Brayden Lurz was first in cub male compound and Bryce Lurz was first in cub male barebow.

Three of the members also participated in the third Archery Tournament held after the target match.

Alexis Frye received first in youth female freestyle, Bryce Lurz was first in cub male barebow, and Brayden Lurz was first in cub male freestyle.

"It was a busy weekend for the kids but many are working hard to prepare for the upcoming National and World Championships to be held in September," said Eric Frye, one of the coaches of the group.

Migratory game bird hunters must register for HIP

Hunters of migratory game birds are reminded of their requirement to register for the Harvest Information Program (HIP).

Register for the free program at OutdoorNebraska.gov/HIP.

HIP registration is required of residents age 16 and older and all non-residents who plan to hunt migratory game birds in Nebraska between Aug. 1, 2019 and July 31, 2020. These birds are doves, ducks, geese, snipe, rail, coots and woodcock. Among those who must register in Nebraska are hunters registered in another state and holders of lifetime, 64-and-over veteran, and 69-and-over senior permits. Only residents under age 16 are exempt.

HIP, which is required by federal regulation of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, helps wildlife managers estimate the number of migratory game birds harvested each year. Those estimates help justify hunting seasons but also aid biologists in setting limits and seasons.

Hunters who have no internet access can register by calling toll-free at 877-634-8687. A HIP number, which must be carried while hunting, will be assigned to each registrant.

Hunting permits may be purchased at OutdoorNebraska.org.

Sharing memories of bus drivers

By now, you are well aware that I'm a sucker for a good human interest story!

Like the Stuffed Bus in Norfolk with school supplies AND, how well the distribution was organized! Like the photos of first day of school on the Lincoln Journal web site.

AND, the free haircuts that were done Sunday at the College of Hair Design in downtown.

Since we live literally between two high schools, we've learned to schedule our drive times. This morning, we were surprised to see a school bus drive into our cul de sac; a new driver lost or making a change in direction.

We are next to a bunch of apartments where there are a bunch of families; I think he missed that turn. It was the first day, after all.

By: Pat Meierhenry

I think we should never have put air conditioning in schools, and they should all begin after Labor Day! It's too hot for football practice!

I honestly do not remember any first days of school; and I don't think there are any photos of that occasion in our family. I have one of friends Burton and Marlyce, who lived just a quarter mile away so we could car pool. They have lunch pails. I'm sure we did, too, but I have no recollection of them.

We usually walked home; it was only a couple of miles, and flat terrain; no up hill, both ways! I do remember picking milkweed pods for parachutes during WWII. We talked about that at Book Club one day; no one was sure how they were used.

After two years in country school, we were bused into a parochial school next to our church in Waco. The buses were owned by the local trucker, so he could pick up both public and parochial kids and charge each school accordingly. I've often thought of what a good plan that was.

Our driver was Heinie! He had the north route. And tonight, I cannot for life of me recall who had the south one. Boy, once you hit 80, those memories start to fade!

I do know this; there were no tears when our youngest got on that bus. I went back into the house and poured a second cup of coffee! I did my crying when she graduated!

They're back - painted lady butterflies abundant

That sounds like a good title for some horror movie sequel, but that's not where I'm going with it today. As I'm sure many of you noticed, we're getting an abundance of butterflies... AGAIN! These are Painted Lady Butterflies... although I've heard them called many things... some I can't repeat. These are the adults of the caterpillars that were devouring many soybean fields, and lots of other plants, a few weeks ago.

Fortunately, the adults do not injure crops as they only feed on the nectar of flowers. They are a bright, colorful, addition to our summer landscape and really don't do any damage unless you consider smearing up your windshield as you drive down the road. However, the larvae of the painted lady butterfly, sometimes called the thistle caterpillar, can be another story.

To understand when and how these defoliating insects impact soybeans, one of their favorite food sources, you need to understand a little about their life cycle. Painted lady butterflies do not overwinter in Nebraska. They migrated and moved with wind currents from the southern U.S. and Mexico earlier this summer, arriving in Nebraska in June. Where they are concentrated depends a lot on weather patterns, so just because we had a lot of them this year does not mean we will have an abundance of them in 2020.

John Wilson
Extension Educator

Unlike some insects that lay large masses of eggs, Painted Ladies will lay individual eggs on the leaves of thistles, soybeans, and over 100 other species of plants that serve as a food source to the larvae once they hatch. In five to seven days, the eggs hatch and the larva begin feeding. Because the eggs are laid over several days up to a week or more, it is common to have different sized caterpillars on a single plant.

The larvae feed an average of four weeks, but sometimes up to six weeks. However, the majority of their feeding damage occurs towards the end of the larval stage as their size and appetite increase.

To protect themselves from predators, they often pull several leaves together and connect them with a fine webbing, forming a sheltered area to feed.

Mature caterpillars are usually 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inch long and can vary in color, but are covered with numerous branching spines. Once they mature, they form a pupa or chrysalis which hangs from the underside of a leaf and can be blue, brown, or green in color. In seven to 17 days, a new adult Painted Lady butterfly emerges and starts the life cycle over again.

So the butterflies we are seeing now are the adults of the thistle caterpillars that were feeding on soybean fields a couple weeks ago. Knowing the life cycle, we know we can expect to see more larvae feeding in about four to five weeks and can plan our scouting accordingly.

Knowing how to scout is just as important as knowing when to scout. I won't go into the full explanation on how to scout your fields for defoliating insects, but I can tell you most people will overestimate the amount of defoliation because thistle caterpillar feed at the top of the plant where it is most visible. An easy way to estimate defoliation can be found at go.unl.edu/g2259. I really like the images that help you more accurately estimate the percentage of defoliation.

This method applies to all defoliating insects... grasshoppers, bean leaf beetles, thistle caterpillars, woolly bear caterpillars, and any other type of defoliating insect. At this stage of growth for the soybean plant, we don't want to see defoliation exceed 20 percent of the total leaf area. Frequently defoliation on the upper leaves is greater, but when we consider the whole canopy, the defoliation has not reached this threshold.

So be prepared to check your fields because I can just about guarantee we will have more thistle caterpillar feeding... and possibly other defoliators. The important thing to know is when that damage just looks bad versus when it is actually reducing your yield... and your profitability.

For more information on managing thistle caterpillars and other defoliating insects, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Hunters Helping the Hungry meat processors to accept deer donations starting Sept. 1

Hunters may begin donating deer to the Hunters Helping the Hungry (HHH) program beginning Sept. 1 at 11 processor locations around the state. Two additional processors will accept deer for the program starting Nov. 1 and Nov. 16.

Hunters pay no processing costs for deer accepted by processors for this donation-driven program.

The HHH program is funded solely by tax-deductible contributions. Ground venison is distributed by charitable organizations to Nebraskans in need. Hunters should first talk with processors but may keep antlers, head and cape and donate the rest of the deer. Processors accept only whole deer in good condition to ensure a good yield of pure ground venison.

Learn more about the program and how to support it at OutdoorNebraska.org/HHH or contact program coordinator Teresa Lombard at 402 471-5430 teresa.lombard@nebraska.gov.

The participating meat processors are: Amherst - Belschner Custom Meats; Bayard - JM Pack (starting Nov. 1); Elwood - SteakMaster; Humphrey - Country Butcher (starting Nov. 16); Johnson - Pelican's Meat Processing; Lindsay - Melcher's Locker; North Bend - Bob's Custom Meats; North Platte - Kelley's Custom Pack; Oakland - Oakland Meat Processing Plant; Omaha - B.I.G. Meats; Orleans - Harlan County Meat Processors; Table Rock - Den's Country Meats; Ulysses - The Butchery.

Are your calves ready for Accuration?

In the past two weeks, creep feed has been moving out of our CVA mills in Northeast Nebraska at a steady pace. I've also been getting a lot of calls asking when to transition to the intake modifier, Accuration. Lots of windshield time north, south, and west in Nebraska has allowed me to body condition score cattle and evaluate pasture conditions all over the state. From my view, I believe that creep feeding, then transitioning into Accuration, as well as a supplement, such as a high-fat or protein tub, for cows, could prove to be beneficial. Quality mineral programs and protein are going to help our cows going into fall.

By Brandi Salestrom
CVA Feed Sales Specialist

A large number of cattle producers in my territory started creep feeding the beginning of June. Calves took to the creep right away, but not in large amounts. Once the hot spell kicked in, I found that our calves at home have increased to that 5-6 lbs. per head per day intake. Before making the transition to Accuration, it is recommended that each calf consumers at least 120 lbs. of creep. To start the transition, fill feeders 1/3 to 1/2 full of creep feed with an 80/20 mix (80% rolled/ground corn split and 20% Accuration Range Supplement) placed on top of the creep feed. The Purina creep feed is a pellet, and the Accuration meal and corn can work its way down through the pellets making for a slow transition that's safe and easy on the calf.

Some producers hesitate or decline when I bring up Accuration because they have heard that it makes calves to "fleshy" when they get to the sale barn as there is often a fish smell associated with the modifier. To prevent this issue, it's important to track intakes and work through the steps. Besides 80/20 choice, we have options such as 70/30, or even 60/40, to help keep calves consuming 1% of their body weight.

Keep in mind this method of self-feeding requires the calves to have a source of roughage such as hay or pasture. If there is a hay shortage and a producer still wants to self-feed, there are complete feed options available. A high-quality mineral program is going to be essential this year for getting cows rebred. Take time to drive through your cow herd and evaluate their body condition as fall harvest will be here before we know it and it's hard to get cows caught up prior to snowfall. For additional questions about the Accuration programs, contact your local Central Valley Ag feed sales specialist or contact me at brandi.salestrom@cvacoop.com.

Taking part in the Round Robin event at the Wayne County Fair were (front) Colton Vovos, Devon Behmer, Jeht Stateler, Korinna Niemann, Faith Junck, Jamie Janke, Madison Jenkins, Hope O'Reilly, Mia Nelsen and Harlie Wylie. (back) Kyle Schmale, Rachel Gilliland, Henry Greve, Kim Vonasdall, Julie Addison and Jack Sievers.

Round Robin competition involves several animal species

The LeRoy Sievers Memorial Round Robin Trophy was awarded to Faith Junck of Carroll, daughter of Dwayne and Priscilla Junck. The Reserve Champion honors went to Jamie Janke, daughter of Craig and Tonya Janke of Pilger.
 Faith was the champion senior dairy showman and Jamie was the champion senior goat showman, making them eligible to compete in the contest.
 The Round Robin Showmanship Contest was held on July 28, the final day of the 2019 Wayne County Fair.

 It provided an opportunity for the Champion and Reserve Champion senior showman from the 4-H divisions of beef, dairy, goat, sheep and swine to compete for the best all-around showman honors at the fair. If the champion or reserve champion showman from each division has already won the Round Robin Contest, then the next participant in that division was allowed to compete.
 Each individual rotates from species to species while being judged on their showmanship skills with each species. The winner is determined by the overall score.

 Serving as judges in each of the areas were former 4-Hers, Henry Greve for beef; Rachel Gilliland for dairy; Julie Addison for goat; Kim Vonasdall for sheep and Kyle Schmale for swine. Each of the 4-Hers were asked the same three questions by each of the species judges and then received additional points for how they handled the animal.

 Others participating in the contest included purple ribbon winners; Madison Jenkins and Colton Vovos (swine); Jeht Stateler and Devon Behmer (beef); Mia Nelsen (dairy); Hope O'Reilly and Korinna Niemann (sheep); Harlie Wylie (goat).
 The Round Robin Showmanship Contest is in its 21st year at the fair. The plaque is sponsored by the LeRoy Sievers family. Presenting the plaque was Jack Sievers.
