Wakefield site of sports co-op meeting Tuesday night

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

The Wakefield school board and community members met to discuss the possibility of co-oping with Allen and Emerson-Hubbard for football beginning in 2020, as well as the possibility of doing so in all sports.

The board, superintendent Mark Bejot, parents, community members and a handful of Trojan athletes met in Wakefield Community Schools' gym for the meeting that lasted roughly an hour and a half. The meeting was necessitated by a looming deadline to make a decision about the future of Wakefield's football program.

The Nebraska School Activities Association (NSAA) requires any co-op football teams to declare which schools are involved, a mascot and team color. For football, a co-op also involves a two-year commitment for joined teams. That deadline for the 2020 and 2021 seasons is Nov. 1.

Many at the meeting asked why Wakefield couldn't co-op with Allen only for the next two years. The board, Bejot and head football coach Mike Hassler said nationally, high school football numbers are down and the only way any of the three schools will have the numbers to be competitive is if they come together. The co-op would bring the three-school team to C1 and Hassler said that will require a larger pool of players than any of the schools currently has. Some in the crowd wondered if C1 would be too competitive for the school, but Hassler disagreed.

"I think it's time to seriously look at this co-op," Hassler told the crowd. "Will it be tough? Yeah. Can you survive at C1? Yeah. I could be talking myself out of a job, but I still agree with it."

Zach Keating joins staff at Northeast Nebraska Insurance

Zach Keating is the newest insurance agent serving clients at Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency in Wayne.

"I am honored to have the opportunity to join Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency. I remember when I was a little boy, being so excited to go down to the office to see my dad, Bob Keating, because he would always let me have a donut and chocolate milk. At that time, I never imagined one day I would be in the same office, doing the same job that made me look up to him in so many different ways," Keating said.

Keating graduated from Wayne State College in May of this year with a degree in Business Management. He began work at Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency shortly thereafter and recently became an officially licenced insurance agent.

"I am ready to begin a new chapter in my life. I know there will be a lot to learn, but I must say, I am very lucky to be working at such a fun and supportive office. I feel like it is a perfect fit and I hope to spend my entire career here. I genuinely enjoy coming to work every day," Keating said.

Keating said that while many people his age seem to have a want and need to get out of their small towns, he does not feel the same way.

"Wayne has provided me with a wonderful childhood, great education and sincere sense of community. I believe Wayne is a special place and I want to do everything I can to help keep it that way. My dad exemplified what it means to be an honorable man by giving back to others and his commitment to representing his many clients with integrity. I hope to fill his shoes to the best of my ability and fulfill my responsibilities as an insurance agent in the same fashion he did for over 37 years.

Keating is currently available to assist with auto and property insurance needs and eventually plans to work into other areas of insurance.

"I am honored to be a part of Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency and look forward to serving the many friendly people of the area for years to come," he said.

To contact Keating, call Northeast Nebraska Insurance at (402) 375-2696.

W.H.O. presents Kuhfahl's 'The Holocaust: As Seen Through Art'

Artist and historian Carol Kuhfahl presents "The Holocaust: As Seen Through Art," an in-depth look at the Holocaust and the art that was created behind the walls of World War II concentration camps. The program is free to the public and takes place on Monday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Wakefield Heritage Organization (W.H.O.) and hosted by the Little Red Hen theater.

The presentation will focus on works of art that were created and also discusses the socio-political landscape and events that led to the Holocaust. The Nazis, who came to power in Germany in January 1933, believed that Germans were "racially superior" and that the Jews, deemed "inferior," were an alien threat to the so-called German racial community. During the era of the Holocaust, German authorities also targeted other groups because of their perceived racial and biological inferiority or on political, ideological, and behavioral grounds.

In 1933, the Jewish population of Europe stood at over nine million, but by the end of the war in 1945, the Germans and their allies and collaborators killed nearly two out of every three European Jews as part of the "Final Solution." Kuhfahl's research into the Holocaust and the art that was created under these extreme conditions has led her to create her own works that seek to depict the life of these artists behind the barbed wire fences, including a unique and powerful mural. The presentation will incorporate these works, the historical facts, as well works created during the Holocaust by prisoners.

Through Carol's presentation, the audience will gain a completely different perspective on the people who experienced the Holocaust through the raw emotion and struggle as seen by the prisoners themselves - an insight into the great strength and resiliency of these artists who risked everything to create art, despite their circumstances.

Kuhfahl was born and grew up in rural Burt County Nebraska. She graduated from Nebraska Methodist College of Nursing and married and raised a family while continuing to work as a Registered Nurse. She retired from nursing after 46 years and turned her energy toward history and art. She became interested in WWII as a child listening to family members' tales of the military service. She became more focused

'Be Flamazing' theme for cancer awareness event

Organizers have announced the theme and dates for the fifth annual Pink Flamingo Nite.

This year, those attending will "Be Flamazing" on Thursday, Oct. 10 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Doors will open at 5 p.m. and meals will be served starting at 5:30 p.m. Vendors will be located upstairs in the church and will open for business at 5 p.m. They will include a variety of personal care items, clothing and housewares.

Last year the event provided breast cancer awareness, education and support, as well as a fun evening out, for over 300 people from throughout northeast Nebraska.

Laura Frankl Pedersen of Sioux City, Iowa will be the featured speaker for this year's event. She is a cancer survivor and author. Additional details on her career will be released at a later date.

A fashion show with clothing and accessories will be provided by Swan's and IKT. The Front Porch Pickers will provide music during the evening.

Organizers have added a fund-raising goal to the event to assist with the purchase of the "Smart-Curve Mammogram system" for Providence Medical Center.

Sponsors for the event include Providence Medical Center, Our Savior Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Churches in America (WELCA) and Pac-N-Save.

Supporting funds are being provided by Thrivent Financial.

The $5 tickets will go on sale Sept. 3 and will be available at all Wayne banks, Swans Apparel, IKT, Wayne Area Economic Development Office, Hair Envy, all in Wayne, Missa Sue's in Laurel and at the church office. Tickets need to be purchased by Friday, Oct. 4.

For more information, contact the church office at (402) 375-2899 or oslc@oslcwayne.org.

Looking back...

10 years ago (2009)
Wayne has a new church community and it will be one of the largest congregations in the community.

Members of Redeemer Lutheran and St. Paul's Lutheran Churches in Wayne voted Sunday to consolidate into one church which will have approximately 1,200 members.

25 years ago (1994)
The Q-125 Committee met Tuesday evening at the Coffee Shoppe on Main Street.

50 years ago (1969)
Too many letters incorrectly addressed are ending up in the dead letter file at the Wayne post office and Postmaster Don Wightman is asking for help from the postal patrons in order to halt the trend.

Wightman says that mail for delivery through a city carrier post office must include in the address the name and the street number, the post office box, general delivery designation or the rural route, specification. If the mail doesn't include this information there is a good chance it will never be delivered, Wightman points out.

"Mail addressed simply to Jane Smith in Wayne has a good chance to be returned for better address - if a return address is shown in the upper left hand corner," Wightman says. "If there is no return address on the mail it will likely end up in the dead letter office."

Several new clerks are now distributing the mail in the Wayne post office and they can't be expected to know where every patron lives, Wightman stressed.

Open House for improvements to Highway 275 set in Wisner

The Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) will hold a public information open house regarding proposed improvements to U.S. Highway 275 (US-275) in Stanton and Cuming counties. The meeting will be held at the Wisner-Pilger High School in the Fine Arts Auditorium, 801 18th St. N in Wisner, on Tuesday, Sept. 10, from 5:30-8 p.m. A formal presentation will begin at 6 p.m., with an open house to follow.

The proposed project would expand the existing two-lane highway to a four-lane expressway. The project begins eight and one half miles east of Norfolk, approximately 0.30 mile west of the intersection of US-275 and Nebraska Highway 57 (N-57) at mile marker (MM) 85.80 and extends east and south to the west side of Wisner at MM 101.79, where it ties into the existing US-275 four-lane roadway.

The proposed project would require the acquisition of additional property rights, which could include new right-of-way (ROW), control of access (CA), permanent easements (PE), and/or temporary easements (TE). Property owners who are impacted will be contacted once the final design has been established.

Project costs are estimated at $63 million. NDOT has applied for additional federal funding through a Better Utilizing Investments to Leverage Development (BUILD) Grant. The project would be constructed in two segments - the first would be US-275 from N-57 to N-15, and the second would be US-275 from N-15 to Wisner. Construction of the proposed project is based on the availability of funding.

Personnel from NDOT will be present to answer questions and receive comments. Information regarding the proposed project will be made available on the NDOT website at dot.nebraska.gov/projects/futureprojects/ by clicking on the "Norfolk - Wisner" link.

Pender Community Hospital employee named recipient of Huron | Studer Group Difference Maker Award

Pender Community Hospital District and Huron | Studer Group announced that Pender Community Hospital District employee, Mike Raasch, received the 2019 Quint Studer Difference Maker Award from Huron's Studer Group business.

Raasch, a maintenance mechanic at Pender Community Hospital District, was recognized as a difference maker for his positive impact in ensuring Pender Community Hospital District patients and staff have a clean and safe environment to receive and provide care.

"Mike exemplifies what it means to be a frontline difference maker," said Debbie Ritchie, president of Huron's Studer Group business. "He continues to selflessly prioritize patient and staff needs so the Pender Community Hospital District can provide patients with the best possible care. I congratulate him on this well-deserved recognition."

The Quint Studer Difference Maker Award honors individuals that embody the personal and professional values that are making a difference in the healthcare industry. Individuals from across the industry were encouraged to nominate a peer or colleague at any level and in any department of their healthcare organization.

"It doesn't matter what someone asks Mike to do, when they ask, or what else he has going on," said Melissa Kelly, chief executive officer at Pender Community Hospital District. "He always comes into every project with a great attitude, a smile on his face and ready to do whatever is needed to bring the organization to the next level. That consistency truly demonstrates why he was nominated and chosen for this special award."

The award was presented at the 17th annual What's Right in Health Care® leading practices conference, which took place Aug. 13-15, 2019, in Dallas, Texas. The conference attracts administrative and clinical healthcare professionals from the U.S., Canada and Australia.

Pommer takes plea deal in district court

The Associated Press reported Wakefield accountant, Michael Pommer, accepted a plea deal in Dixon County District Court. Pommer was charged in 2018 with unlawfully taking nearly $110,000 from two separate Salem Lutheran Church bank accounts between June 2016 and September 2018.

Pommer entered a no contest plea to one count of theft by unlawful taking in exchange for prosecutors dropping 14 other counts. Court documents show that Pommer has repaid Salem Lutheran Church of Wakefield nearly $115,000. He is set to be sentenced in district court on Sept. 23.

Co-op

From Page 1A Discussion was also held about coping for all other sports but boys basketball and possibly track further down the line. Numbers are high enough for each individual school to keep those teams separate. However, the general feeling of the public seemed to be to co-op in all sports, with some in attendance calling for an all-or-nothing co-op. There was some discussion about the future of not only extracurriculars, but the schools as a whole. "It's time to get off the pot and time to talk about consolidation," said one member of the audience. "All we're doing is fighting the clock and money." While Bejot and the board agreed that eventually the consolidation conversation would have to happen, right now they're focusing on sports on a "as needed" basis. Discussion about who should have to change mascots and colors also took place with the majority expressing a desire to remain maroon Trojans. The co-op committee from Wakefield also met committee members from the other schools on Wednesday.

W.H.O. presentation

From Page 1A on the Holocaust after taking history classes in high school. Since then she has continued to study and learn more about Holocaust victims and the art. Kuhfahl has made numerous historical presentations at Legion and Veterans posts, museums, schools, libraries and related groups. This past Memorial Day, she was the featured speaker for the events at the Wakefield cemetery. Kuhfahl is available for programs on the Holocaust as well as World War II Nurses. The Wakefield Heritage Organization (W.H.O.) will be partnering with the Little Red Hen theatre later this month to present "Mark Twain and the Lecture Circuit" at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 28, as part of Wakefield's Balloons n' BBQ Festival. That program will feature Humanities Nebraska performer Wally Seiler as noted author and historian "Mark Twain." The Wakefield Heritage Organization (W.H.O.) is a non-profit organization located in Wakefield, that is dedicating to encouraging participation in preserving and maintaining local history.

Book signing benefits Muscular Dystrophy Association

Zach Jorgensen of Wayne signed copies of his book, "Wheelchairs Aren't Scary" during a book signing on Aug. 24. Friends and family joined Jorgensen at the 4th Jug to socialize and obtain copies of the recently released book, which was written and illustrated by Jorgensen. Proceeds from the autographs will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Within an hour of the autograph session, more than 80 copies of the book had been sold. Jorgensen, who has been in a wheelchair much of his life because of Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy, said the goal is help young children understand that wheelchairs are not something to fear. Copies of the children's book are available on Amazon and by contacting Jorgensen at his website, zj-motivation.com.

Five back for improved Lady Bear netters

LCC was playing its best volleyball at the end of the year, and five starters will be back from last year's 14-15 squad.

Coach Julie Kovls said this year's team has some good talent and looks to be much improved in 2019.

"We are very excited to get this season started," she said. "The girls have been working hard in the off-season doing individual and team camps and working in the weight room. We are excited to put all our hard work to the test and get this season started."

Seniors Delaney Ehlers and Makayla Forsberg led a talented quintet from last year. Ehlers was a solid setter with 302 assists and 27 ace serves last year, while Forsberg had 128 kills from her outside hitter position and 22 service aces.

Juniors Erica Wolfgram and Erica Benson are also back from last year. Wolfgram led the team with 191 kills and 32 ace serves, and Benson led the team with 11 solo blocks while recording 81 kills.

Kinsey Hall had a very good freshman year with 293 assists and a team-best 231 digs and she will be a player to watch as well.

"With five returning starters from last year, we're hoping this will make our girls comfortable on the court and we can put together some big wins."

Players to watch this year include junior Kaylee Donner, Jordynn Urwiler and Berniece McCor-kindale.

The Lady Bears open the season Tuesday, Sept. 3 at home against Ponca.

Wildcat cross country runners improved

The Winside cross country team will have several improved runners back this season, according to second-year coach James Plank.

"The team is filled with returning runners that have spent the summer preparing and strengthening themselves to compete," he said. "We have high hopes for the season and look forward to competing for a chance to run at Kearney for the state meet."

Returning letterwinners for the Wildcats include seniors Alex Carlson and Ed Olander, junior Toby Heineman and sophomore Tyler Carlson.

Freshman Dean Kruger is being looked at as a runner to watch for the Winside runners.

The Wildcats start the season Thursday at the Hartington-Newcastle Invitational.

Trojans look to continue success

The Wakefield football team is developing into a consistent winner these last few years, and coach Mike Hassler hopes that will continue in 2019.

The Trojans were 6-2 last year and are ranked in the top 10 in all the preseason polls, and will return a solid group this season.

"The Trojans have seen their fortunes turn in recent years with three consecutive six-win campaigns," coach Mike Hassler said in his preview. "If the boys hope to continue their winning ways, their veteran lines will have to pave the way."

Wakefield will be experienced up front with seniors Nolan Litchfield, Kendall Dorey reaches for a base hit for the Wayne High softball team during action at Saturday's Blue Devil Invitational. Dorey scored the only run of the game in the championship and made a key throw home from the outfield for a double play to help Class B No. 6 Wayne beat Class C No. 1 Arlington 1-0 in the finals.

Defense, pitching carries defending champs to 4-0 start

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

The old saying "pitching and defense wins championships" was on display in the finals of the Wayne Invitational Saturday at the Summer Sports Complex.

Blue Devil senior Tori Kniesche fanned 22 batters and got a huge double play in the bottom of the eighth to help Class B No. 6 Wayne outlast Class C No. 1 Arlington 1-0 in the championship game, capping a 4-0 week for last year's Class C champions.

"Just the way you draw up an international tie-breaker," coach Rob Sweetland said after the team's 4-0 start. "Get a bunt down, get a hit to the right side and throw the girl out at home, just like the draw it up."

The Blue Devils advanced to the finals with two easy wins, beating Ord 10-1 and Highway 91 10-0, but needed some key pitching and some outstanding defense late to extend the team's win streak to 39 games and come away with the tournament victory.

Both teams had chances to put up runs in regulation during the championship game.

Wayne had a chance in the fourth after Aliah Schulz reached on a fielder's choice and reached third on a Brianna Nissen single before Arlington got out of the inning unscathed. In the bottom of the inning, Arlington used two hits and a fielder's choice to load the bases with one out, but Kniesche struck out the next two batters to keep the game scoreless.

"We worked on that earlier in the week where, if they get a runner at third and want to bunt, we're going to put in a play where they'll try to score on that," Sweetland said. "We've been working on it and we're to the point where if the bases are loaded we know we've still got someone who has a high number of strikeouts who can get us out and if they want to bunt we'll have a force at home and we're not just going to throw to first and give up the run."

Wayne had another opportunity in the top of the seventh when Nissen and Hope O'Reilly hit back-to-back singles to start the inning, but Arlington was able to get three infield pop-ups to end the rally and send the game into extra innings.

With Kendall Dorey on second to start the eighth-inning tie-breaker, Kayla Fleming advanced her to third with a sacrifice and Kniesche followed by launching a 2-2 pitch to right field for a triple to score Dorey with the game's only run.

In the bottom of the eighth, Arlington's runner advanced to third on a wild pitch, and on the next pitch a fly ball was hit to Dorey out in center. She caught the ball and fired a rocket home to O'Reilly, who had plenty of time to secure the ball and make the tag at home for the double play. Kniesche struck out the final batter on three pitches to end the game.

"Hope had all day to recover that and it was just perfectly thrown, right at ground level and two feet to the third base side of home," Sweetland said of the defensive gem. "If you put a bucket there, she would have thrown it in the bucket. We knew if it wasn't a tough hop or over Hope's head that she'd get it there in plenty of time."

Kniesche tied her Class B state record of 21 strikeouts in seven innings in the final, finishing the game with 22 strikeouts and two hits. Nissen had two of Wayne's five hits, with Dorey, O'Reilly and Kniesche adding hits.

Experience returns for Wildcat gridgers

Wayne State's football team brings back plenty of experience with seven starters on offense and eight returning on the defensive side of the ball from last year's team that was 3-8 overall and 2-5 in the NSIC South Division.

Despite the number of returning starters in coach Dan McLaughlin's 15th season, more than half of the Wildcat 95-man roster is made up of new faces this season with 27 true freshmen and 25 transfers.

Three of Wayne State's eight losses last season were by six points each with one coming in overtime and all three losses were on the final play of the game.

Offensively, WSC returns only one player with experience at the quarterback and running back positions while losing two of its top three wide receivers that include Nate Rogers, Wayne State's all-time TD receptions leader (38).

Defensively, the Wildcats return plenty of experience with four players that received All-NSIC South Division honors led by senior linebacker Tyler Thomsen, the NSIC's leading tackler last season.

Three players are battling for playing time at quarterback this season. Sophomore Alex Thramer saw action in seven games last season, completing 52 of 104 passes for 625 yards with three TD's and four interceptions. South Dakota transfer Andy McCance and Tavian Willis, both redshirt freshmen, are creating a three-way battle for time at the quarterback spot.

A host of transfers and redshirt freshmen will compete for time at the running back spot this season. The list includes transfers Anthony Watkins (Dodge City CC), Deshawn Massey (Coffeyville CC) and Southwestern (Calif.) CC transfer Ryyan Wilkins along with redshirt freshman Devin Merkuris just to name a few.

At wide receiver, Wayne sophomore Mason Lee is the top returner after hauling in 22 catches for 332 yards in 10 games last season as a true freshman. Transfers Johnnie Hankins (Tarleton State) and Justin Martin (Dixie State) will contend immediately for time at the wide out position along with redshirt freshmen Isaac Schafbuch and Jason Hawkins.

The Wildcats return one of the best tight ends in the NSIC in senior Conner Paxton, who topped all NSIC tight ends last season with 34 grabs for 439 yards and two scores. Senior Corbin Foster serves as backup at the position.

Senior placekicker Ethan Knudson returns after connecting on 24 of 27 PAT kicks and 4 for 7 on field goals while the punting position will be a battle between sophomore Blake Kaiser and freshman Cade Jochum.

Defensively, Wayne State returns a wealth of experience.

Senior linebacker Tyler Thomsen recorded an NSIC-high 120 tackles last season and was first-team All-NSIC South Division to go with several All-Region honors and third-team All-American linebacker by Don Hansen's Football Gazette.

The defensive line features two returning All-NSIC selections with seniors Jacob Protzman and Kolbie Foster. Protzman ranked third in the NSIC last season in sacks (10 for 62 yards) and tackles for loss (16 for 73 yards). Foster was third on the team in total tackles (52) and tied for sixth in the NSIC with 13 tackles for loss for 84 yards. He was also a Google Cloud second-team Academic All-American selection.

The secondary brings back plenty of experience in senior Ian Ailts, who was second on the team in tackles last season (59) despite missing two games due to injury to collect All-NSIC South Division Honorable Mention recognition. Seniors Aaron Wright and Shaq Paddy and junior Kevin Ransom have started in the secondary for the Wildcats.

Wayne State should be much improved in the kick and punt return areas with the return of senior Aaron Wright, who has had a kickoff return for a touchdown the last two seasons, along with senior transfer Justin Martin, who had over 700 return yards and one TD at Dixie State in 2016.

The Wildcats were picked to finish 13th overall and sixth in the NSIC South Division in the Pre-season NSIC Football Coaches Poll. Wayne State has six home games this season, but will open on the road at Winona State at Saturday, Sept. 7 in a 1 p.m. contest. WSC plays its home opener on Saturday, Sept. 14, hosting Southwest Minnesota State in a 6 p.m. matchup at Bob Cunningham Field.

Veteran Eagles hope to improve on 6-4 campaign

The Allen Eagles will look to a veteran team to continue its three-year run of making the playoffs after going 6-4 last year.

The Eagles' 2018 season came to an abrupt end in a blowout loss to eventual champion Johnson-Brock, but coach Dave Uldrich is optimistic the Eagles can get back to the post-season with a 19-player roster that includes 10 returning starters.

"Hopefully, we will jell quickly, play hard and smart, and have a very enjoyable season," Uldrich said. "We have the ability to be a highly competitive squad, but what we do with those opportunities will be up to the team to accomplish. The old saying, 'You are as good as your seniors', will be the challenge to our squad leadership."

The Eagles return five starters on both sides of the football, along with several others who played significant minutes in 2018, and all will be called upon to show leadership.

Six seniors will be on the roster, and youth will supplement the team, but forced playing time in the last three seasons by many of the upperclassmen will lend immense experience to a group that have seen success and should be ready to accept the challenge of a favorable schedule during the campaign.

Seniors leading the Eagles are Brogan Jones, Josh Grone, Noah Carr, Steven Cooks, Lukas Oswald and Austin Gregerson. Jones and Grone were all-district performers in 2018, and will anchor the offensive line, as well as be defensive stalwarts. Carr will play backfield on both sides of the ball. Cooks is penciled in to be an end on both defense and offense. Oswald will enter most likely as the operator of the offense. Gregerson will provide some depth on the defensive line.

The junior class is headed by letter winners, Anthony Isom, Kobe Kumm, Steven Sullivan and Reed Hingst. Isom was an all-district selection in 2018 and will be a third-year starter at linebacker and running back. Kumm has started in the defensive and offensive backfields the past two seasons and again will fill those roles. Sullivan is being molded to play several offensive line positions as well as defensive line. Hingst will be a defensive and offensive back.

Sophomores Ryan Anderson, Nathan Oswald, Ty Krommenhoek, Gabe Reinert all could get field time as early as the first game. Anderson is a potential nose guard, Oswald a cornerback, Krommenhoek at end, and Reinert on special teams and running back. Other sophomores that could play early are Kaleb Kumm and Chase Kallsen on the defensive and offensive lines.

Freshman, Joe Grone, is a quick, shifty player that too could find a role in the early season.

Preseason practices will help better determine who is going to play where on both sides of the ball, and at this point, things are not definite, but surely some are assumable. The preseason will sort out and set the squad in a more definite mold as time unfolds.

"We had a very positive summer football camp experience and hope to keep that momentum alive," he said. "If we play hard, we could be a darn good squad. We hope to be playing as a confident team in November as a goal."

Allen opens the season Friday at home against Cedar Bluffs.

Wildcat volleyball returns loaded lineup

Five returning starters and a group of six incoming freshmen that ranks as one of the top recruiting classes in head coach Scott Kneiff's 15 years at Wayne State excited for the 2019 season.

The Wildcats posted a 22-9 record last season and placed sixth in the always-rugged Northern Sun Conference. Despite winning 20 or more games for the 14th time in the last 15 seasons, Wayne State did not qualify for the NCAA Div. II national

It's been quite a first week for senior hurler Tori Kniesche. She already has two 20-plus strikeout games to her credit, fanning 54 batters in 19 innings to help last year's Class C champions get the 2019 season off to a 4-0 start.

"I felt we played pretty good," Kniesche said after the win. "The underclassmen really stepped up in that last game. Hope and Kendall had an amazing play there and it was a great feeling to get the win." "She's just unbelievable," Sweetland said of his senior hurler, who has recorded an amazing 54 strikeouts in 19 innings of work through the first week. "Sometimes it looks like it's not even fair, but you think about all the hard work she's put in and has been doing it for 10 years, and she deserves everything she gets."

In the opening-round win over Ord, Wayne broke the game open with four runs in the fourth inning, three coming on a bases-clearing line drive by Dorey that was mishandled by the center fielder. Brooklyn Kruse closed the scoring with a two-run single in the fifth to give Wayne the easy win.

Dorey threw a one-hitter in the win, striking out eight. Wayne needed just three hits and used four Ord errors to score the easy win. Kruse had two of the three hits and Dorey added a double.

In the semifinals, Wayne needed just four innings to dispatch Highway 91 in a 10-0 decision.

Wayne used six walks, two hit batters and three hits to put up nine runs in the opening frame. Fleming had a three-run double and Dorey and Kniesche both added an RBI single to highlight the big inning.

Kniesche threw a one-hit shutout in the semifinal win, striking out 11 and walking none.

The Blue Devils opened the season with a 4-2 win at Blair, a game that saw the Blue Devils jump on the hosts early and then sit back and watch Kniesche, who set a Class B single-game record with 21 strikeouts and was one short of the all-class record of 22 set by Wayne alum Molly Hill in 2004.

Wayne scored all of their runs in the first frame. Dorey doubled and scored on an error, Kruse drove home Kayla Fleming with a single, Aliah Schulz singled home Virginia Kniesche and Hope O'Reilly brought Kruse home with a groundout to make it 4-0.

That was all Kniesche would need for offensive support, as she worked around four hits, an error and a hit batter to strike out 21.

With the win streak now at 39 over the past two seasons, it would be easy for the young team to get caught up in the hoopla, but Sweetland said they're handling it very well.

"They seem oblivious to a lot of it," he said. "A lot of people want to talk about the win streak and all of that, but with some of the tough teams we're playing early in the year, I told them to just go out and learn from every experience and try to get better, and I think we've done that. You have to remember that, outside of Tori and Kayla and Nicole (Fertig), all of these girls are 15 years old or younger, so it's going to take some time."

Wayne, 4-0, played at O'Neill on Tuesday and will be in the Lincoln Public Schools Invitational next Saturday, where they will be in a bracket that includes all three state champions from last year, including Class A Lincoln Southwest and Elkhorn from Class B.

"I'm sure they did that to draw some people to watch, which is good for us," Sweetland said. "It gives people a chance to see Tori play against some of the best in the state and we've got nothing to lose. We know how good those teams are and regardless of what happens, it's going to make us a better team."

Fall Sports Kick-off

Ryan Dahl, president of the Wayne Booster Club, welcomed all the athletes, parents and friends to the annual Wayne Blue Devil Tailgate on Aug. 23. The event was an opportunity for the coaches to introduce their players and talk about the upcoming season. Those in attendance were able to support the Booster Club in a number of ways for the upcoming school year. The event kicked off with the Wayne High Band playing the school song. Free hot dogs, chips and drinks were served by the Booster Club.

During the 2018 season, Megan Gebhardt (6) and Jaci Brahmer go up for a block during Wayne State's sweep of University of Mary. Wildcat fans are anxious to see the team step back onto the court after being ranked fourth in the NSIC pre-season coaches poll.

al tournament, and that is motivation for the Wildcats to get back into post-season play for the first time since 2016.

Wayne State was one of the top blocking teams in the NCAA Division II last season – seventh at 2.56 blocks per set – and returns four starters that averaged over two kills per set.

Junior middle hitter Jaci Brahmer was an All-NSIC second-team selection for a second straight year last season, averaging a steady 2.29 kills and 1.16 blocks per set that tied for first in the NSIC with Wildcat teammate Tarrin Beller. Brahmer also led WSC in attack percentage for a second straight season hitting an efficient .307.

Beller, a 6-foot senior middle hitter, accounted for 2.07 kills to go with 1.16 blocks per set that tied for first in the league.

Katie Stephens, a 5-foot-9 senior outside hitter, led the balanced Wildcat attack last season recording 2.94 kills per set.

Senior libero Haley Kauth is a three-year starter for the Wildcats and ranked sixth in the NSIC last season averaging 4.57 digs per set.

Rounding out the senior class in Ord native Morgan Alexander, a 5-foot-7 defensive specialist who produced 2.13 digs per set last season.

Junior outside hitter Alyssa Ballenger and Brahmer headline a talented group of six juniors. Ballenger was second on the Wildcat squad last season in kills per set (2.70) and had three double-doubles.

Junior rightside hitter Maddie Knobbe started 30 matches last season and accounted for 1.20 kills and 0.82 blocks per set. Junior defensive specialist Maddie Duffy tied for third in the NSIC in service aces last season (44/0.42 per set).

Five-foot-9 junior Hope Carter averaged 1.90 digs per set in 24 matches last season while Jacee Weber looks for more playing time as a serving/defensive specialist after seeing action in 12 matches one year ago.

Redshirt freshman Rachel Walker is expected to take over at the setter position for three-year graduated starter Megan Gebhardt.

Six freshmen come into the Wildcat program this year with head coach Scott Kneifl expecting big things from this group of talented players. The list includes rightside hitter Taya Beller, Jessie Brandl (libero/outside hitter), middle hitter Maggie Brahmer, outside hitters Kelsie Cada and Elly Larson, and libero/defensive specialist Jordan McCormick.

The Wildcats open the 2019 season in Joplin, Mo. at the Missouri Southern Tournament on Friday, Sept. 6, battling Cameron (Okla.). WSC has 11 home matches this season, starting Tuesday, Sept. 24 in a non-conference match vs. Augustana University.

Evan Donner, Gabe Peitz and Seth Nuernberger leading the way.

Blake Brown steps into the quarterback position and looks to be a solid leader at that position for the team this season. Justin Erb will step in at running back and Nick Arenas will once again be a big threat at the tight end position.

The Trojan defense has been very solid the last couple of seasons and should be again, but Hassler said they will need to shore up their secondary to continue that success.

Senior Dawson Samuelson is also back and expected to compete for the fullback position. Juniors Mitchell Fischer and Rylan Weaver and sophomore Logan Bokemper are also expected to see a lot of action this fall.

The Trojans open up the season at home against defending state champion Creighton on Friday.

Wayne's Bailee Leise putts to finish out a hole at last week's season-opening West Point-Beemer Invitational.

Bentjen medals at West Point-Beemer meet

BEEMER — Junior golfer Natalie Bentjen earned a medal to highlight the area effort at the season-opening West Point-Beemer Invitational Thursday at Indian Creek Country Club.

Bentjen carded a 98 and finished fourth, one of four golfers to break 100 on the hilly course south of Beemer. She shot a 47 on the front nine and finished with a 51 on the back side.

The Blue Devils brought just three golfers to the meet and did not field a full team. Bailee Leise shot a 137 and Riley Haschke carded a 141 in their first varsity meets.

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge girls golfers shot a 510 as a team to place seventh in the 10-team tournament.

Brianna Campbell paced the Lady Bears with a 115, Glenda Vance shot 131, Maddy Graham and Sarah Karnes each shot 132 and Hope Swanson finished with a 144.

Both teams will compete in the Wayne Invitational on Friday at the Wayne Country Club.

LCC has eight starters back from playoff team

Last year, Laurel-Concord-Coleridge lost a heartbreaker in overtime to end a 4-5 season, but are hoping for better things this season.

Coach Pat Arens said his team has some good talent returning, with eight starters and 13 lettermen back in the Bears' den this fall.

"We are returning a lot of starters on both sides of the ball, same as a year ago," he said. "We had good growth as a team in the last half of the 2018 season. All four of our regular-season losses were to playoff teams, and the loss to Fullerton has fueled the fire. We have seen a more focused group during summer workouts and in the pre-season."

Senior receiver Noah Schutte highlights the eight returning Bears. He was a 1,000-yard receiver last year and will be a go-to player on offense as well as lead a solid defensive backfield.

Ty Erwin moves into the quarterback spot this year and will direct an offense that includes some quality skilled players, including senior running back Austin Brandt, senior tight end Dylan Reimers and junior end Cael Hartung.

Anchoring the offensive line are returning starters are seniors Wyatt Taylor and Cutter Haberman, along with junior Austin Hall.

Non-starting letterwinners who return this year include senior Zach McCoy, junior Nolan Ohlrich and sophomores Lucas Rasmussen, Evan Haisch and Deagan Puppe.

The Bears debut this week at Randolph and have a week off before their Sept. 13 home opener against Winnebago.

Wakefield/Allen co-op will be young this season

The Wakefield/Allen volleyball team has a familiar coach in a new spot this year as Cheryl Greve assumes duties of the co-op squad.

Two starters are back from last season, and Greve said the team will learn on the go this season.

"We are a young team, but the girls are energetic and willing to learn," she said. "This is a group of girls who are willing to work toward our goals."

Setters Abby Heiman and Carly Dickens are back for the Trojans this season, and Greve said several players could become key elements this season, including middle hitters Alli Jackson and Hayden Ek-berg, outside hitters Jordyn Carr and Alex Arenas, right side hitter Rachel Borg and defensive specialist Aishah Valenzuela.

The Wakefield girls debut at the Northeast Nebraska Classic Sept. 5-7 at Wisner. They host their annual tournament the following weekend at Wakefield High School.

Seven return for Winside football team

The Winside football team will look to seven returning starters to help turn their fortunes around after an 0-8 season last year.

First-year coach Mike Naeve said his team is looking to be more competitive this season.

"We are a young team that's willing to learn, and even though we are young, our focus is to be more competitive than last year," he said.

Matthew Frederick is the lone senior back among the seven returning starters and will be a leader on offense at quarterback, as well as at linebacker on defense.

Three juniors returning are all on the line, with end Dominic Reed and linemen Cody North and Casey North.

Sophomores back from last year include running back Cayden Ellis, running back Gabe Escalante and running back/linebacker Art Escalante.

Winside hosts Bloomfield in their season opener on Thursday.

Winside netters have experienced lineup

The Winside volleyball team finished the season strong last year and have a good nucleus to build around last year's 15-13 team.

Coach Teresa Watters said she likes the leadership and experience she's seeing from her six returning starters, and hopes that will translate into a successful season.

"We are bringing back a team with great experience and enthusiasm and are ready to get the season under way," she said.

Only one senior is among the returning starters, as outside hitter Andrea Bargstadt leads the Wildcats this season. Juniors Brooklyn Behmer, Hope Cummins, Kati Topp and Jaden Rastede return, and sophomore McKenna Russell is back in the lineup as well.

Returning letterwinners who should also play key roles include junior Jackie Escalante and sophomore Ashelyn Abler.

The Winside girls play at Plainview on Thursday and host a quadrangular on Saturday to open the 2019 season.

LCC cross country continuing to build

LCC's cross country squad returns five runners from last year and adds three newcomers to the squad for this season.

Coach Alex Glaubius is looking forward to seeing how much his team improves as they get ready to kick off the season.

"We return most of our team from last year along with a couple of new runners this year," he said. "We're looking to continue to build on our success from last year."

Two seniors are among the five returning runners, including Landen Boysen and Vanessa Vance, the lone girl on the squad.

Also back from last year are junior Trace Naeve and sophomores Trevin Boysen and Dillon Olson.

Newcomers to watch this year include juniors Matthew Nelson and Ethan Cross, along with sophomore Branden Meyer.

The LCC runners debut Thursday at the Hartington-Newcastle Invitational.

Northeast volleyball grabs first win at RKP Invite

The No. 11 Northeast Community College volleyball team competed in the competitive RKP Invite on Friday and Saturday in Beatrice, Neb.

The Hawks (1-3) fell to No. 7 Highland Community College 19-25, 21-25 and 21-25 and Barton Community College 21-25, 20-25 and 27-29 on Friday.

Northeast women's soccer gets two wins in Colorado

The Northeast Community College women's soccer team started the 2019 season off on a high note on Friday and Saturday in Sterling, Colo.

Led by Mandy Stricker (Broomfield, Colo.) and Naomi Pedroza (Hastings, Neb.), the Hawks (2-0) dismantled Northeastern Junior College 6-2 on Friday.

On Saturday, the Hawks blanked Pratt Community College 2-0 after Pedroza found the back of the net twice for Northeast.

Despite Northeast taking an early lead on Friday, Stricker sparked the Northeast offense that ultimately gave the Hawks a 5-1 advantage heading into halftime. Mary Perez (Aurora, Colo.) and Kahrena Thompson (Jamestown, Colo.) tallied goals for Northeast. Pedroza put the game out of reach

On Saturday, Northeast opened with Cloud County Community College, falling four sets, 25-23, 18-25, 12-25 and 17-25, before picking up its first win over Southeast Community College, 25-19, 25-18 and 25-23.

Against Highland, Elley Beaver (Columbus, Neb.) led the Hawks with eight kills. MaKayla Davidson (Alliance, Neb.) added 22 assists and nine digs, while Josie Sanger (Crofton, Neb.) had 16 digs. Caitlin Kumm (Osmond, Neb.) pitched in 13 digs.

In the loss to Barton, Brianna Bauer (O'Neill, Neb.) and Hannah Heppner (Stanton, Neb.) each tallied eight kills, while Beaver had seven. Sanger notched 28 digs and freshman Jamie Bonifas (Blue Hill, Neb.) had 12 assists.

On Saturday in the loss to Cloud County, Carly Hirsch (Norfolk, Neb.) had nine kills and Davidson pitched in 12 assists. Sanger recorded 22 digs in the back row for the Hawks.

In the win over Southeast, Heppner tallied 13 kills, Davidson had 25 assists and Kumm added 22 digs.

The Hawks return to the court on Wednesday for their home opener against Highway 81-rival Central Community College at 7 p.m. at the Cox Activities Center in Norfolk.

for good early in the second half. Freshman Mackenzie Byrnes (Brighton, Colo.) recorded 11 saves in the net. "I thought our girls played well," head coach Chad Miller said. "The fact that we were down for the first time in this early season and able to play from behind and not look back was a great thing to see. They kept the pressure on and didn't want to let up." In the win over Pratt, Frida Aguilar-Ximello (Boulder, Colo.) found Pedroza twice in the second half to secure the win for the Hawks. Northeast out-shot Pratt 23-6 in the victory. "The possession was good and we created a lot of great opportunities, especially in the first half," Miller said about the win over Pratt. "We struggled keeping the ball on frame in the first half, but really created some great chances." Northeast returns to the pitch on Saturday as they take on Northeast Texas Community College at 2 p.m. in Mount Pleasant, Texas, followed by a match with Angelina College on Sunday in Lufkin, Texas. ## Gov. Ricketts, DHHS release fourth annual business plan and priority initiatives Governor Pete Ricketts and Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) CEO Dannette R. Smith released DHHS' fourth annual business plan, titled "Helping Hands: Helping People Live Better Lives." The business plan identifies and details 15 key priority initiatives that will guide the work of DHHS through state fiscal year (FY) 2020. "The initiatives in the Department business plan align with my mission of making state government more effective, more efficient, and customer-focused," said Governor Ricketts. "The DHHS business plan builds on our team's efforts to help people live better lives through people-centered initiatives, measurable goals, and overall transparency." The FY20 Business Plan identifies 15 priority initiatives that strategically align with the Governor's leadership. To achieve the Governor's aims, CEO Smith has developed a four-pronged approach: Create an integrated service delivery system. Establish and enhance collaborative relationships. Align DHHS teammates under our mission of Helping People Live Better Lives. Enhance the Department's internal infrastructure to provide more effective, efficient, customer-focused services to Nebraskans. The business plan initiatives constitute the strategies and tactics to operationalize these approaches. "I appreciate Governor Ricketts' support during my first six months leading DHHS. I am excited to share the Department's fourth annual business plan which will serve as the guide to our strategic priorities and initiatives through June 2020," said CEO Smith. "The plan operationalizes my four-pronged approach to living our mission of helping people live better lives." Smith said some of this year's initiatives will build on the progress made on last year's priorities while others provide new opportunities for DHHS to benefit those the Department serves. The 15 initiatives are aimed at integrated service delivery, developing collaborative relationships, aligning teammates under one mission, and enhancing internal infrastructure. Each initiative will result in measurable improvements and continue a commitment by the Department to be accountable, transparent, and fiscally responsible. The initiatives include: INTEGRATE SERVICE DELIVERY There are nine initiatives in this category: •Maintain and Improve ACCESSNebraska's Performance •Family First Prevention Services Act •Access to High-Quality Child Care •Nebraska Olmstead Plan •Identify the Institutional Level of Care Assessments •Medicaid Long-Term Care Redesign •Heritage Health Adult Program Implementation •Child Welfare Adaptation of Healthy Families America •Promoting Wellbeing at DHHS Facilities DEVELOP COLLABORA-

TIVE RELATIONSHIPS There are three initiatives in this category: •SNAP Next Step •Enhance Constituent Outreach •Behavioral Health Workforce Competencies ALIGN TEAMMATES UNDER ONE MISSION •Mission-Driven Teammate Life Cycle ENHANCE INTERNAL INFRASTRUCTURE There are two initiatives in this category: •Fiscal Stewardship •Increase Fiscal Proficiency and Identify New Areas of Improvement Last week, Governor Ricketts highlighted achievements from the past year made by DHHS as part of its third business plan, including: •Expanding SNAP Next Step •Launching Phase II of the Family Focused Case Management pilot •Enacting Family Action Support Teams (FAST) in six more counties •Continuing the transformation of behavioral healthcare for children •Addressing opioid misuse •Implementing electronic benefit cards •Redesigning the DHHS Website Governor Ricketts said the DHHS successes can be attributed to a team dedicated to their mission, a commitment to excellence, and a focus on change and continued improvement. Earlier this week, Governor Ricketts applauded CEO Smith and the DHHS team for accomplishing 90 percent of the 173 deliverables in last year's plan.

Acklie Charitable Foundation contributes $5 million to Nexus campaign

The late Duane Acklie fondly remembered growing up as a young boy in Madison County. From selling produce his family grew at his favorite corner on U.S. Highway 81 at the age of 10 to establishing one of America's largest privately-owned trucking companies with his wife, Phyllis, he understood the importance and the role of education as the couple established a foundation that bears their last name. Now, the Acklie Charitable Foundation (ACF) is supporting a major initiative at Northeast Community College that will ensure agriculture students have opportunities to succeed in their education as they train to become future employees in Nebraska's number one industry. "You here in this room know better than most about the pivotal role Nebraska agriculture plays in not only feeding the world, but in also propelling Nebraska's economy," said family member Halley Acklie Kruse in announcing a $5 million gift from the ACF during a kickoff celebration for a capital campaign to construct Northeast's new Agriculture & Water Center of Excellence. "(Agriculture) does so through exports and providing jobs not only in the fields, but in warehousing, transportation, financing, and service industries. When Nebraska agriculture succeeds, Nebraska thrives. That is why ACF believed it was important to invest in the future of Nebraska's next generation of farmers, ranchers, and community leaders." The Agriculture & Water Center of Excellence is a multi-phased project, and funds are currently being solicited through a capital campaign called "Nexus" for $23 million for initial construction of the new center. Northeast has set aside $10 million of its capital funds to help establish the project, while the remainder will be raised privately. Initial construction planned for the Agriculture & Water Center of Excellence includes a new farm site with farm office and storage, large animal handling facility and other farm structures. In addition, the plan calls for a veterinary technology clinic and classrooms. The new facilities will be located near the Chuck M. Pohlman Agriculture Complex at the intersection of E. Benjamin Ave. and Highway 35 in Norfolk. The vet tech building will be located west of the ag complex, while the farm site and animal handling facilities will be behind the tree line that is north of the current complex. Duane W. and Phyllis Acklie grew up on farms near Madison and Meadow Grove, respectively, and later attended Norfolk Junior College, a predecessor institution of Northeast Community College. They went on to establish Crete Carrier Corp., which has grown into a transporter of virtually any product and operates more than 5,000 tractors and over 13,000 trailers throughout the continental United States. The company's corporate headquarters are based in Lincoln. The Acklie Charitable Foundation was founded by Duane and Phyllis Acklie and their daughters, Dodie, Laura and Holly. The family has been involved in many business and philanthropic ventures over the years. Acklie Kruse, ACF vice president and general counsel, said her grandfather spoke of the importance of education and shared his wish that their foundation could be used to help Nebraskans attain quality education. "I believe that Duane's desire to support education was, in part, due to his understanding of the transformative role higher education played in his life," she said. "And for Duane and Phyl, it all started at Norfolk Junior College." Acklie Kruse said Nebraska is fortunate to have an institution such as Northeast Community College as a partner in developing the center of excellence and what it will mean for the future of agriculture. She said it was a natural decision for her family to contribute to the campaign after seeing what the center's role will be in developing a future workforce. "Northeast has long had a reputation of quality in its agricultural programs, not only throughout Nebraska, but on a national level. Northeast has the dedicated faculty and expertise to teach our next generation farmers and ranchers and the goal of the Nexus campaign is to build the facilities, infrastructure, and technology to match the quality of instruction." But Acklie Kruse said it is more than Nebraska's future; it is also about feeding the world. "Northeast must prepare the next farmers and ranchers for the innovations and developments of the next eighty years, not only for the success of these individuals and their families, but for the success of our state, and the people of the world who eat from Nebraska's fields." With the Acklie's contribution to the campaign, Northeast will be naming its new College Farm after the family. "The Acklie Family College Farm will provide a lasting legacy to the family for their commitment to agriculture in northeast Nebraska," said Dr. Tracy Kruse, associate vice president of development and external affairs and the executive director of the college foundation. "We are so proud to name the College Farm in honor of the Acklies, and after the legacy of Duane, Phyllis and their family. What a testament to the strong value Northeast played in their own lives, as well as the college's value to the community as a whole. This gift will make a strong impact for generations of Nebraskans to come." "So, this family history and connection to Madison County and Northeast Community College brings me to where we are today, the Nexus Kickoff," Acklie Kruse said. "Certainly these family connections played a role in the Acklie Charitable Foundation's decision to support the Nexus campaign. But, just as the Nexus campaign is about what is next – next for sustainable agriculture, next for Nebraska's workforce, next for innovation – an important factor in ACF's decision to support the Nexus campaign was also the consideration of Nebraska's future."

Maintenance work to begin on N-12 near Ponca

An armor coating project began August 28 on N-12, according to the Nebraska Department of Transportation. Armor coating is an application of an asphalt binder to a roadway surface followed by an aggregate. State maintenance forces will be performing armor coating on N-12 from Ponca to Newcastle. Anticipated completion is Wednesday, Sept. 4. Traffic will be maintained with intermittent lane closures with the use of flaggers and a pilot car. Motorists should expect delays and are reminded to drive cautiously in and near construction zones.

Dove hunting season opens Sept. 1 in Nebraska

Dove hunting season begins soon and the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission has some reminders for those hunters, as well as recommendations for areas to hunt. Doves may be hunted statewide. The season is Sept. 1 – Oct. 30, with daily bag and possession limits of 15 and 45, respectively. Bag and possession limits are for mourning, white-winged and Eurasian collared doves in aggregate. Shooting hours are 30 minutes before sunrise until sunset. Nebraska residents 16 years and older and all nonresidents are required to have a valid Nebraska small game hunting permit, habitat stamp and Harvest Information Program (HIP) number. Get the free HIP number at OutdoorNebraska.gov/hip or at any Game and Parks office. A federal migratory bird hunting stamp (duck stamp) is not required to hunt doves. Shotgun plugs are also required, restricting it to no more than three shells. Dove hunters who find a leg band on a dove should contact the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at reportband.gov. In addition, randomly selected hunters will be asked to save one wing from each dove during the first week of the season and mail the wings postage-free to the USFWS. Sunflower, millet and wheat, which generally provide good dove-hunting opportunities, have been planted at several wildlife management areas statewide. Game and Parks recommends hunters scout areas before they hunt. To view a list of these planted areas, see the 2019 Dove Hunting Fact Sheet at OutdoorNebraska.gov/SmallGameSpecies. Other public lands throughout the state can provide good dove hunting opportunities, depending on local conditions. All of Nebraska's publicly accessible lands (including state, federal, and private lands enrolled in the Open Fields and Waters Program) are displayed in the 2019-2020 Public Access Atlas, which can be found online at OutdoorNebraska.gov/PublicAccessAtlas. It is unlawful to hunt on state recreation areas (SRA) until Sept. 3. Regulations prohibit any hunting on SRAs until the Tuesday following Labor Day. Eurasian collared-doves also may be harvested between Oct. 31 and Aug. 31, 2020, with bag and possession limits of 15 and 45, respectively. Dove is just one of many hunting seasons that open in September. Small game – Cottontail and jackrabbit seasons open Sept. 1. Webless migratory birds – Dove, snipe and rail seasons open Sept. 1. Upland birds – Grouse season opens Sept. 1. Waterfowl – Early teal season is Sept. 7-15 in the High Plains Zone and Sept. 7-22 in the Low Plains Zone. Big game – Archery, Whitetail Statewide Buck, Youth, Landowner, Antlerless Only Season Choice and River Antlerless Private Land Only deer seasons open Sept. 1, as well as archery bull elk season. Fall turkey season starts Sept. 15. Muzzleloader antelope and firearm bull elk seasons begin Sept. 21. Furbearers – Raccoon (hunt only) season starts Sept. 1. For summaries of hunting regulations, read publications at Outdoornebraska.gov/guides/. Purchase permits at OutdoorNebraska.org.

Kicking off the season

The Wayne Athletic Boosters hosted the Blue Devil Tailgate on Aug. 23 in the school parking lot. Prior to the introduction of the coaches and teams, those in attendance had the opportunity to view the newly renovated gym floor at the high school. (above) hot dogs, chips and drinks were served by members of the Booster Club. (below) the Wayne High She Devils performed a dance routine for the audience. During the event, all athletes involved in fall sports had the opportunity to introduce themselves and each of the seniors talked about memorable aspects of their respective sports.

Division Of Developmental Disabilities to host listening sessions

The Director of the Department of Health and Human Services' (DHHS) Division of Developmental Disabilities is hosting "Let's Talk" meetings across the state to gather input on services provided by the Division. Courtney Miller has invited stakeholder participation in town hall sessions each of the last four years as part of an ongoing outreach effort to provide more effective and efficient customer service to those the Division works with and serves. "DHHS team members are motivated by our great mission of helping people live better lives," said Dannette R. Smith, DHHS Chief Executive Officer. "Collecting feedback is a key part of our commitment to community engagement, openness and responsiveness as we serve all Nebraskans, particularly the state's most vulnerable citizens." A listening session will be held on Thursday, Sept. 19 from 6-8 p.m. at North Star Services at 1202 East 14th Street in Wayne. "Individuals, their families, friends, providers and advocates are critical voices in the programs that serve Nebraskans with developmental disabilities," said Miller. "That's why it's essential to have these dialogues with the public. We look forward to receiving feedback."

A motion was made by Burbach and seconded by Sievers to approve the claims. Roll call vote: Burbach, Sievers, Rabe - aye; motion carried.

County Treasurer Tammy Paustian reported she had contacted fourteen people to see if they would bid modifying her front counter for handicapped accessibility and cash drawers.

The requirement that work only be done in the evenings or weekends, and be complete by mid-October, resulted in only one contractor bidding the project. A motion was made by Burbach and seconded by Sievers to accept the bid of $1,825.00 submitted by Daryl Lindsay, with the front done in mdI and painted.

Highway Superintendent Mark Casey reported: Construction is set to begin on BRO-7090(20) Wayne West, aka The Temme Bridge.

The FEMA site visitation has been postponed until next Monday. The site listing is based on the damage inventory; quite a few of these projects are now complete.

NextEra may be bringing a representative from Florida to the next meeting to question how the county managed to haul gravel during the winter months.

The 1-Year renewal of a Service Agreement with TRANE for maintenance of the HVAC system for $7,866.00 was approved on motion by Burbach, second by Sievers.

Doug Elting of Berggren Architects answered questions about drainage around the courthouse foundation. Right now the grade is higher than the sandstone by 6-8 inches on the east side of the building.

The Nebraska State Historic Preservation Office approved Saranac Smoke, Freeport Federal, Cappuccino, Driftwood, and Grass Clippings as colors for the simulated slate tile for the courthouse roof.

A budget work session was held. The 2019-20 Wayne County budget hearing will be conducted on Tuesday, September 3rd at 9:30 a.m.

This space serves many purposes

By MIKE RENNING

mikesportshome@yahoo.com

Although this space is seldom filled with a lot of useful information, I have come to discover it is quite versatile for myself and you, the reader(s).

It is time for me to renegotiate contracts with the various papers running my column so I had my staff run some numbers to see if my readership has increased to allow me more leverage when negotiating these big financial agreements.

My cracked staff, which includes me and...well, me, ascertained my readership is up at least 500%.

That is an astronomical figure and one that should allow me to ask for more money, right?

Well, in all honesty, the only person I'm aware of who was reading this wealth of information (according to my cracked staff again) was my Mother.

I have since found out, there are four more, for sure readers at least some of the time – but for very different reasons.

And also, the negotiation will go something like this:

"You still want to run the column?" I'll say. "Are you sure?"

For instance, starting with my number one fan, my Mother, her endorsement clearly states, this space is filled with a sleep enhancer.

Remember she always said she liked to read it before she went to bed so she went to bed with nothing on her mind?

Sominex should include one of these columns in every bottle so the consumer may "sleepa, sleepa, sleepa."

As Lawrence Welk used to say. Is Sominex still a thing?

For the three of you readers my cracked staff has identified under the age of 30 – Lawrence Welk was a bandleader with a weekly show including Bobby and Sissy dancing, Myron Floyd on the accordion and Nebraska's own Joe Feeney, a wonderful tenor who sang Irish songs a lot – most notably "Danny Boy" and "My Wild Irish Rose".

By the way, for you three readers under 30, Lawrence Welk was born and raised in North Dakota and was as popular as Justin Timberlake or Beyonce' in Mr. Welk's time.

To show my own versatility, you try to make a sentence including Lawrence Welk, Justin Timberlake and Beyonce'? Nearly impossible.

And this is a record-breaking offering – as far as the scribbling goes.

Our Darling Daughter, Mikenzie and her fiance', Zach get the Wakefield Republican in Auburn because they are aware I tend to write about our Grandchildren from time to time.

The record-breaking part of this offering? It is the first time in Mike's Mic history I have ever posted a story with that little flair-thing three times after a name'.

Beyonce' twice and fiance' once. Well, now that's six – well seven, counting the one after name - welcome to history.

Now an odd reader that kind of takes me back a little is "Sonny".

You remember my neighbor Mark Casey, whom I call "Sonny" to save him any embarrassment?

He said he reads it for self-preservation and to know when he is going to get crap the entire week after he's mentioned in this space.

Are you kidding me? That's why I gave him the "other" name – so he wouldn't get crap.

Good heavens – try to do a guy a favor.

Now, that brings us to Marsha Roth who reads the scribbling in the Wayne Herald.

Marsha is a friend and work colleague of the Darling Wife and we have become friends over the years.

Now, Marsha's real name is Marsha cause to my knowledge she doesn't really embarrass herself too often.

But according to the Darling Wife, she cuts out my column and wallpapers her office with it.

I know, this sounds a little odd, but once again, I put my cracked staff on it and we, or I found out this was not a situation where I needed security or a security team.

Thank goodness, my contract negotiations won't allow for that type of money – we've already discussed what a fierce negotiator I have on my team.

Every week, I mean every so often, the Darling Wife doesn't really have access to my column due to reasons you all can probably understand.

I have scribbled this thing for at least 20 of the 34 years we've been hitched.

I'll go back to "Sonny's" argument, self-preservation is not only prudent, but necessary in this case.

I know I mentioned Marsha and the Darling Wife are work colleagues? Well, Marsha is making certain the Darling Wife sees every column I write – and leaves a reminder for posterity, I guess?

At any rate, I'm up to five readers confirmed by my staff.

But I guess I am up to six readers now including the Darling Wife.

And by the way, good night Mom.

Let's stop and look at what it means to be a Nebraskan

By J.L. SCHMIDT

Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Here we are, hours away from another University of Nebraska Cornhusker football season. Weeks away from another seasonal change as leaves start falling and the air gets crisper. The hot days will soon be behind us.

It's a great time to look at what it means to be a Nebraskan, one of those "honestly it's not for everyone" residents in one of those mostly square states out west that most people couldn't find on an unmarked map ... and we like it that way! Fly-over country where cows outnumber people.

What does it mean to be a Nebraskan? We're largely and thankfully insulated from the rancor of national politics. Presidential candidates flock to our next-door neighbor, Iowa, but rarely cross the Missouri River – even when it isn't in perpetual flood stage. There is minimal fuss about our U.S. Senators Fischer and Sasse, with the latter more often garnering national commentary than the former.

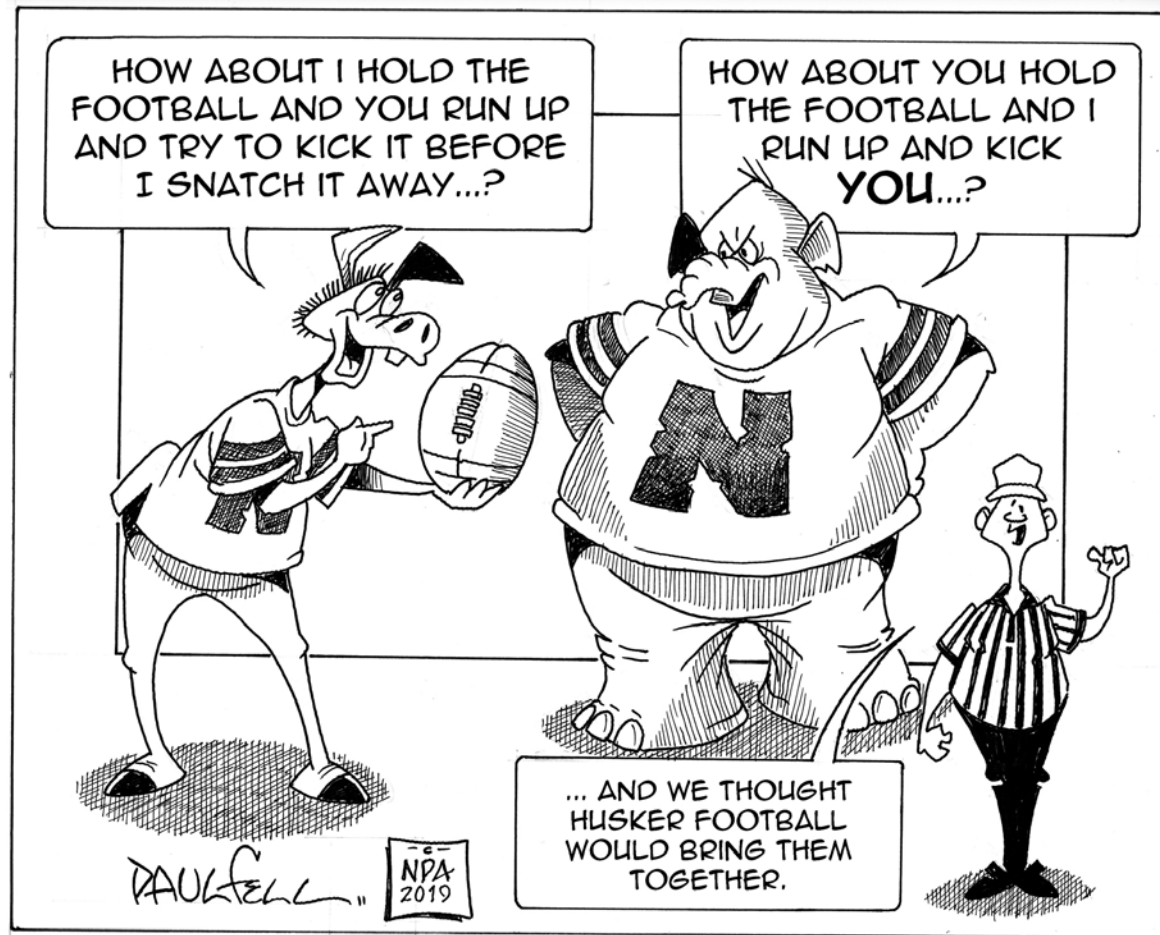

Nebraska is a mostly Republican state. Has been for most of the seven-plus decades I can remember. Exon, Kerrey, Morrison and Nelson were all Democrat governors who exhibited enough centrist qualities to win over sufficient Republican support to get elected. A few Republican governors have really pushed the party label, the last two being the most blatant to the point of "punishing" Republican senators and elected officials who dared stray from the national model, whatever that may be.

It comes as no surprise then that state Sen. John McCollister of Omaha, a Republican in the officially non-partisan Nebraska Legislature, has drawn the wrath of party loyalists and been featured in the national media for recently speaking up and saying his own party enables white supremacy. In short, this isn't his father's Republican Party. His dad, John Y. McCollister, was a beloved member of the U.S. House of Representatives for years.

The younger McCollister said he had to speak up because he didn't want history to reflect that no one said anything. Good for him. That, my friends, is very Nebraskan of him... and quite appropriate given the national mess we call politics.

Celebrating State Fair, events around district

State Fair was a bit wet but totally delightful! I made the trip out to Grand Island this past weekend to celebrate the Grand Opening of the Nebraska State Fair's 150th anniversary and 10th year anniversary of the Fair's move to Grand Island. Though the weather wasn't as cooperative as we had hoped, I want to congratulate the State Fair Board for putting together a fun and exciting event for Nebraskans!

It was exciting to see exhibits from residents of District 17 and I took a lot of pictures that I hope to have on my social media site soon. I attended the Governor's Breakfast, where he spoke of the strength of Nebraskans, who time after time show an ability to share one another's burdens in the fact of natural disasters like this year's flooding and addressed issues like property tax relief efforts since he's been in office and reinforced property tax relief as his top priority in 2020. The Governor also spoke of his hope for China negotiations to go well and the important role good trade relations can play on Nebraska farmers and ranchers. I join him in that hope.

Speaking of property tax relief, I, and many others attended a town hall in Norfolk on the subject on Aug. 20. It's no secret that property tax relief is a huge issue across the state. Nebraska reportedly has the country's seventh-highest property taxes, with Nebraskans paying about $4 billion in property taxes annually.

Though the Governor and the Legislature have been successful in growing the Property Tax Relief Fund contribution, finding a comprehensive solution has proven elusive. Town hall participants from the Legislature discussed efforts past, present and future. Participants included Senators Linehan and Briese from the Revenue Committee, Speaker Scheer and Senator Ben Hansen. Attendees learned that the Revenue Committee has been meeting almost weekly to discuss ways to put in place a plan for needed relief.

Discussions to date and at the town hall include exploring raising the sales tax rate, legalization and taxation of all kinds of vices, making big cuts in government spending, and/or eliminating sales tax exemptions. There is no doubt the discussions will continue and I will be part of them. Be certain you will see further information in future weekly updates.

District 17 was honored to have Senator Jim Smith and the Nebraska Chamber present Blueprint Nebraska at an event hosted by the South Sioux City Chamber on Aug. 21. The event was well attended by Siouxlanders, who were able to set eyes on the plan's goals to achieve economic excellence in every part of the state. The Blue Print Nebraska Summary Report and its powerful recommendations for a strong Nebraska future is a collaborative effort over the last 14 months.

Legislative Update
By Joni Albrecht
State Senator, District 17

The process involved over 2,000 participants and approximately 5,000 respondents across the states. I'd like to invite you to visit the Blue Print Nebraska website to familiarize yourself with the outcomes of the planning effort and the three to four themes the team hopes to introduce and initiate in the year ahead. The information can be found at blueprint-nebraska.org/. I personally appreciate the time and talents invested by the Governor, UNL President Hank Bounds, and the many Nebraskans who participated that's still a problem in Nebraska. If so, let's address it. Think about what John McCollister said.

Let's take a hard look at our politics. Let's take an even harder look at how we treat one another. Let's establish and adopt a Nebraska way to do things ... a non-judgmental, non-partisan way of dealing with people and solving problems.

We can do this. Let's get on with it!

J.L. Schmidt has been covering Nebraska government and politics since 1979. He has been a registered Independent for 20 years.

in building the vision and putting forward meaningful goals to benefit all of Nebraska. Stay tuned and stay involved!

Finally, challenging road closure news for many residents of District 17 came out of the Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) office in Norfolk last week. It is confirmed that, during the planned culvert rehabilitation involving the 11-mile segment of Highway 35, it was discovered that the original plan to modify a box culvert would not suffice. Instead, NDOT will replace the box culvert with a new, larger one.

This means that this portion of Highway 35 will be closing in the near future and remain closed for a period of several months. I am continuing to visit with the Department about detour routes and am encouraging an effort to minimize the impact to local users. Highway 35 will remain open until work on the new box culvert can begin. I will keep you posted in my weekly update going forward about information provided by NDOT regarding length of the closure and detour information.

As always, it is of great importance that I hear from my constituents to effectively do my job as your voice in the Legislature. I encourage you to contact me and I look forward to hearing from you. You can reach me by phone at (402) 471-2716 or by email at jalbrecht@leg.ne.gov

4-H highlight of Nebraska State Fair School Lunches

The 150th Nebraska State Fair began August 23 and will run through September 2, 2019. The Nebraska State Fair is held in Grand Island at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds. The Nebraska State Fair is the premier opportunity for 4-H members to showcase what they have learned and worked on throughout the year. This year there are 2,500 exhibitors and 10,000 exhibits representing all 93 Nebraska Counties.

4-H refers to a static exhibit as an exhibit that does not need to have the 4-H member present to exhibit. These exhibits were entered and judged on Wednesday, August 21. This includes project areas such as Food and Nutrition, Human Development, Veterinary Science, Clothing, Science Engineering and Technology as well as many other project areas. Static exhibits were selected during county fair season. An exhibit must have received a purple ribbon at the county fair to even be considered for state fair. In many of project areas, there are quotas based on classes in the project, or enrollment in each county program. Some areas do not have a quota.

Throughout the state fair, 4-Hers will also be present for events. These events include the Insect and Tree ID Contests, the Presentation Contest, Dairy Judging, Horticulture and Weed/Crops/Forbs ID Contest. These events require pre-registration by the 4-H member. There is also a 4-H Fashion Show, Culinary Challenge and various Livestock shows throughout the fair.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is celebrating its 150th year. There will be a N150 celebration as part of this milestone. 4-H members will showcase their creativity and University pride at a steppinghibit must have received a purple ribbon at the county fair to even be considered for state fair. In many of project areas, there are quotas based on classes in the project, or enrollment in each county program. Some areas do not have a quota.

stone exhibit. Stepping stones were exhibited at county fairs this summer, and one stone from each county will be displayed in the landscape of Raising Nebraska.

Raising Nebraska will also host the N150 traveling exhibit. The exhibit features key moments in the university's history and a computer kiosk that allows viewers to read pages from the commemorative book "Dear Old Nebraska U."

An N150 pep rally at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 1 will feature the Cornhusker Marching Band, Spirit Squad and mascots, the rally will also celebrate the university's longstanding connection to the people of Nebraska by honoring those who live on the land originally granted to help establish the institution.

Information about the Nebraska State Fair can also be found at 4h.unl.edu as well as statefair.org.

Arnold and Joan Marr celebrate 70 years together

Arnold and Joan Marr will celebrate their 70th anniversary on Sept. 4. Their children are having a reception on Sunday, Sept. 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. at Brookdale in Wayne to celebrate the occasion.

Arnold and Joan originally met each other in high school near Plainview, where they were two years apart. After graduation and a two year stint in the Army in the last years of World War II, Arnold used his GI Bill to go to the University of Nebraska Agriculture College in Lincoln. Joan was then a beautician school graduate, but became a telephone operator and she too moved to Lincoln.

It was there that they were reunited and became engaged. They got married at the First Congregational Church in Plainview on September 4, 1949. After Arnold graduated college, and held teaching and agricultural jobs in Nebraska and Kansas, they moved to Wayne in 1957. By this time, they had three young boys, Rocci, Mike and Dan. They probably didn't imagine themselves being residents of Wayne for the next 62 years.

They first lived on Nebraska Street close to the college where one more son, Bill, was added. There was a great park across the street for the boys and they raised chickens in a coop by the alley for eggs. They moved to Pearl Street in 1961 next to a big undeveloped lot, ideal for playing, and a block away from the swimming pool. A fifth and final son, Doug, was added to the family in 1962. In 1974 they moved to what was then a new house near the fairgrounds where they stayed for the next 44 years until their move to Brookdale Wayne.

Arnold and Joan were focused on their family and raising boys to be good young men. School years were filled with scouting, band, sports, and studies - and some discipline. It was also Arnold's goal to ensure he had competition for card games as the boys grew older so what may now be called "family time" by some was filled with cribbage and Pinochle.

Joan passed on a great sense of humor to the boys and still seems to come up with the funniest lines when the family gets together. Family vacations during the summer were camping trips to the Rocky Mountains in Colorado when the family was younger. In the late 1960s they purchased a ski boat that worked just as well for fishing. After that, free summer weekends were spent at Gavin's Point Dam and longer vacations meant fishing trips in South Dakota or Minnesota catching walleyes and huge northern pike.

Arnold was employed by the USDA Soil Conservation Service when he came to Wayne and stayed with them until his retirement in 1981. He is responsible for engineering a lot of the farm ponds and terraces in Wayne County that you can still see today. Joan started working outside the home in 1968, but with five boys to raise, she worked at home all the time until then and afterwards. She was the secretary for the Wayne State College athletic department and then the maintenance department until 1990 when she retired.

Although both "retired" by 1990, it seemed Arnold and Joan were busier than when they were working. They were always active in the First United Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star to name a few. They also took on transporting friends and neighbors to doctors' appointments in Omaha and Sioux City to lend a hand. There wasn't an event that Joan wouldn't bake a pie for — always delicious. Arnold helped with the Vet's salutes at funerals. As their sons started visiting with their 11 grandchildren, and then 9 great-grandchildren, they were always most welcoming and fun.

Their sons include Rocci Marr (wife Chris) of Lincoln; Michael Marr (deceased); Dan Marr of Wayne; Bill Marr (Liz) of Panama City Beach, Fla.; and Doug (Megan) of Overland Park, Kan.

Although they have slowed down now, Arnold and Joan are always happy to greet family and visitors. Their family invites anyone able, to join the family on Sunday, Sept. 1, from 2 to 4 p.m., at Brookdale to celebrate their 70 years of marriage.

The Prairie Doc Organ Donation: The gift of life

A dear physician friend of mine who practices in Florida developed renal (kidney) failure a few years ago at the age of 60. He was initially treated with peritoneal dialysis which involves repeatedly flushing special fluid into the abdominal cavity, letting it sit for a bit to remove poisons and then draining out the contaminated fluid, usually three times a week at night. Later, he moved to hemodialysis where blood is drained from his arm into a filtering machine where the blood is cleared of the same poisons and then pumped back into his blood stream. This is done usually three times a week taking four hours at a sitting.

It must be a burden to be required to do dialysis three days a week or more for something that most of us take for granted. Since a transplanted kidney is much cheaper than dialysis and is better on the body than dialysis, it would be preferable for most people to get a transplant. However, finding a transplant organ can be difficult. In the past year my friend has had at least four scheduled transplant dates, only to be turned down at the last minute. How frustrating that must be!

The National Kidney Foundation notes that more than

The Prairie Doc
By Dr. Rick Holm, MD

120,000 people in the U.S. are currently on the waiting list for an organ and 100,000 of these are for kidneys. Six thousand living and 12,000 cadaver kidneys are transplanted each year in this country while 20 people die every day waiting for an available organ.

Organs that are commonly transplanted from living or cadaver donors include kidney, liver, heart, lung, pancreas and even small intestine. Tissues include cornea, skin, heart valve, vein, tendon, ligament and bone. A healthy living donor may be related, or not, to the recipient.

It is a courageous and altruistic act of loving kindness to donate an organ so another person may live. To explore becoming a living donor go to organdonor.gov. This gift of life has remarkably minimal risk to the donor and, depending on the organ donated, usually means just a few days in the hospital. While you're thinking about it, TALK TO YOUR FAMILY about your intentions and mark "yes" as a potential donor on your driver's license.

Please consider organ donation, a most precious gift to someone in need, like my friend in Florida. It takes courage but you will save a life.

The Gospel according to church potlucks

I am not a native Nebraskan nor did I grow in the Midwest. The Appalachian Mountains of Virginia are where I call home and much of my family still lives there to this day. As you can imagine, I had to deal with some degree of culture shock when I first moved the Husker state in 2012. My congregation in Thayer county welcomed me, their brand new pastor, with a potluck. But while I was familiar with the universal Lutheran love of potlucks, I was unfamiliar with much of the food I saw on the table.

To my dismay, there wasn't any fried chicken to be found. And I don't recall seeing any mashed potatoes either. After nearly seven years in this state, I have yet to spy a pan of cornbread at any church meal. And every time I take a sip of iced tea and realize that it isn't sweet, I suffer a pang of longing for genuine sweet southern iced tea.

That's not to say that Nebraskan potlucks aren't delicious. There's much to celebrate and enjoy including runzas, meatballs, kolaches, and hash brown casseroles. But every time I sit down to eat a homemade meal in Nebraska, I am reminded that churches across the country can be so similar, and yet so different.

The southern Appalachian mountains from Virginia down to Georgia share a unique culture that transcends denominational lines. At just about any congregation in the region the folks are extroverted, full of whimsical stories and jokes, and they will grill you closely about your family tree, looking to find a connection somewhere. And the food is the epitome of traditional American "poor food", old recipes from a time when hard-scrabble farmers had to make do with what they had on hand. Grits are a long-standing tradition in the South, but its origins are rooted in poverty, families eating ground up corn meal because they didn't have anything else. And so, an Appalachian church potluck is one of the best places to see our long history and culture on display.

But this, of course, is true for any church anywhere. Perhaps my favorite potluck experience was the time I worshipped at San Andres Lutheran Church in Omaha, a Spanish speaking congregation with members from El Salvador, Mexico, and other countries. I think I went back for third helpings, devouring the homemade tortillas, the tamales, tres leche cake, and a dozen other dishes I couldn't recognize.

Another time, I happened to be at Salem Lutheran in Dakota City when the Laotian Lutherans of the Midwest had gathered there for a yearly conference. I was invited to their potluck and was treated to a soup I had never seen before. The ladies in the kitchen told me to be careful with the sauce that was on the side; many other Laotian Americans ahead of me in the line had been taking generous helpings of it and pouring it on their soup. I cautiously dropped a small amount of sauce into my own bowl and tucked in. To my surprise, my soup was so spicy my eyes began to water and I broke out in a sweat. But the soup was tasty, so I powered through the pain it until the soup was all gone.

In 2016 I flew down to Argentina in order to visit with the Lutherans there on a synod-sponsored trip. I was fortunate to once again be invited to a Lutheran potluck after worship, but this time it was steeped in Argentinian culture. The men of the congregation had gotten up early that Sunday to build up a traditional "asado" or grill made from stacked logs. There they smoked sausage, sides of pork, and cuts of beef until they were thoroughly drenched in the sweet tasting smoke. Once the Sunday liturgy was finished, the women quickly brought in tables, and placed bottles of Argentinian Malbec wine on each one. For more than three hours everyone ate the food of the asado and drank wine. With a local folk band in attendance providing lively music, many couples even got up and tangoed around the church hall. I can't help but think that if every Lutheran church in the U.S. ended with an Argentinian asado, wine, and folk music concert, we might have more people in attendance more often!

Christians of all different denominations, all around the globe, routinely sit down together to break bread. Christians in the U.S., in Peru, Slovakia, Thailand, Tanzania, Papua New Guinea, and so many more places, gather where they are, share food with one another, and renew their bonds of Christian love. The Holy Spirit is with every gathering of Christians, when they call on the name of the Lord, no matter what happens to be on the menu. While our languages, and certainly our recipes, are often completely foreign to one another, the love of God we share is truly universal.

If you ever have the opportunity to visit a church that is culturally different from your own, either in Nebraska, in another part of the country, or even overseas, I strongly urge you to do so with an open mind and open heart. You may not like everything on the menu (I still don't like gelatin no matter how many gelatin salads are given to me), but in the faces of the people with whom you share a table, you will see Christ. And in the food that is shared, the conversation had, the good will exchanged, you will see the Spirit at work, binding us all closer together as brothers and sisters of the same Lord Jesus Christ.

Legacy program honors Wayne county landowners

Nebraskans preserve, protect and take pride in our 50 million acres of land. Did you know 135,000 of those acres in 13 Nebraska counties helped establish what is now the University of Nebraska-Lincoln?

In Wayne County, just over 15,000 acres of unclaimed land in the mid-1800s were granted by the federal government to Nebraska. The law specified that profits from the sale or lease of this land would be used to open our State's flagship university. This year, we mark 150 years since the University of Nebraska first welcomed students in Lincoln.

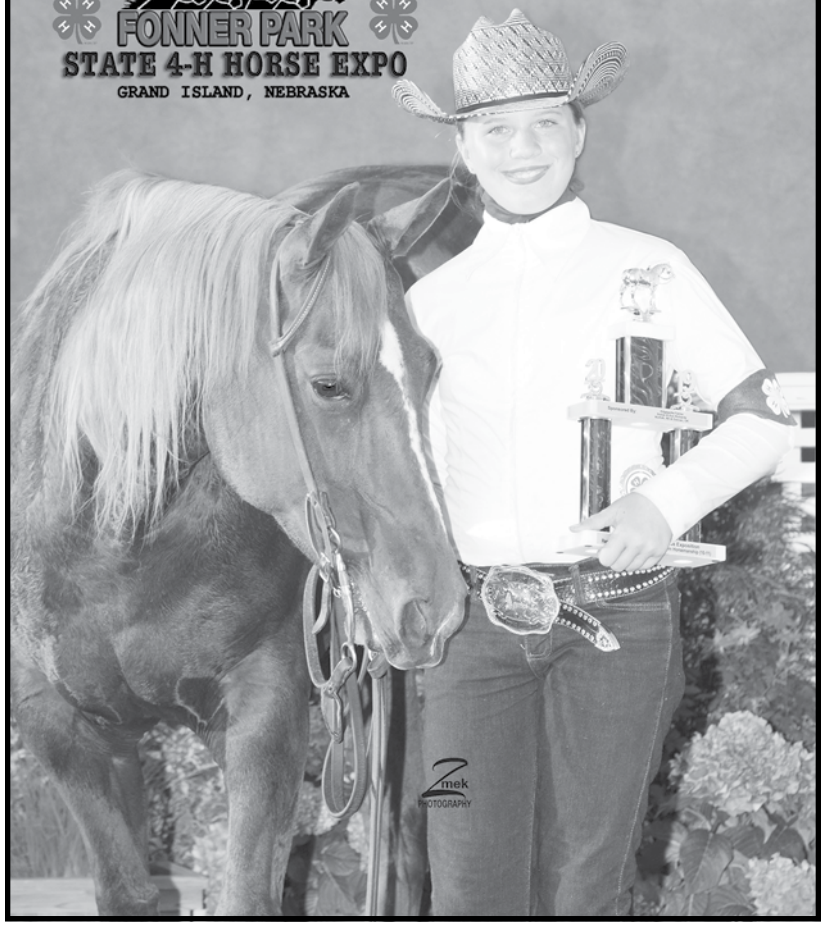

"Nebraska Extension is proud of its role as the front door to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in Wayne County. If you are a land-grant landowner who would like to tell your story visit langrant.unl.edu. We hope to recognize more landowners in the coming months and there will be a recognition at the University of Nebraska 150th celebration at the Nebraska State Fair on Sept. 1. In Wayne County, we are proud of our land, our people and our university," said Amy Topp, Nebraska Extension Educator-Wayne County.

During the Wayne County Fair, four families who are the current land owners of land that was part of this exciting land-grant legacy were recognized, these families will be receiving a plaque from the University in the coming months. The website langrant.unl.edu contains more information about what it means to be a land-grant university.

Sign-up begins Oct. 1st for new irrigated acres

Landowners within the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) boundaries, will have an opportunity to apply for new irrigated acres in some portions of the District this fall.

The LENRD board voted, at their August meeting, to allow up to 450 acre-feet of new depletions, in accordance with their Voluntary Integrated Management Plan for irrigation development in the Hydrologically Connected or 10/50 Area, and to allow up to 2,500 acres of new groundwater irrigation development in the Non-Hydrologically Connected or Non 10/50 Area under the district's standard variance process. An approved variance is a requirement for any expansion of irrigated acres in the LENRD, whether from an existing or new irrigation well.

Geographic portions of the district that are eligible to be considered for standard variances are areas that fall within the top three categories of the classification map. A map of the eligible locations will be available at the LENRD office in Norfolk by no later than August 30th.

Excluded from consideration for this sign-up period will be any parcel of land located in any Quantity Management Subarea or Phase 3 Area located within the LENRD.

"The board also approved the scoring sheets used by staff when processing applications and reauthorized use of the Conditions for Approval policy, which has accompanied approved variances each of the last two years. In addition, a minimum soil score of 90 must be met for any standard variance to be considered for approval," LENRD Assistant Manager, Brian Bruckner, said.

The board established a sign-up period to receive applications for Standard Variances between Oct. 1 and Oct. 31 of this year. Contact the LENRD for more information or visit: lenrd.org/latest-news/ Application forms will be available online and in the office beginning Oct. 1.

Scrap books detail important life events

I love the Plugger cartoons; you can find them in the Norfolk paper, and in the Lincoln Journal. Actual "pluggers," i.e. we old folks write in with ideas and the cartoonist draws them with the punch line.

This summer once, the mother says to her offspring, "Someday, kids, these will all be yours." And she points to a stack of scrap books! That's my legacy to our kids.

I kept scrap books all through high school; complete with birthday and valentine cards, newspaper articles about our 4-H club, and all the mementoes from prom and graduation. As my neighbor said at Book Club last month, she threw away the prom corsage when she moved here! I did, too, but I kept an awful lot of stuff. When we were capped, my Big Sis, a gal in the senior class, gave me a huge white scrap book with my name embossed on the

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

since that. And most of the ones in the intervening fifty years have been hit or miss. There is one for the B and B, but a lot of the things have not been glued in.

There are lots from the kids' school activities, of course; and from the Lutheran Community Hospital and its Home Health and Hospice departments. In fact, there is a very large one about Hospice by itself, starting when it was a really new concept in the US.

The past years seem to focus on the grand kids. They have all given us reason to clip the papers, some more than others, of course. There is a lot of newsprint from both the Wayne and the Norfolk papers stuck in between the covers, with coverage of Norris and Seward High schools sometimes from the Lincoln paper.

My friend Jan tells me that for some reason, her mother started keeping scrap books in the last ten years of her life, telling her kids it would make things simple for them to throw away! I bet that happens to mine, too, but here's hoping they do some reminiscing before they do that!

Now is the time to prepare for harvest

The recent rains may have slowed down other activities on the farm, but this might be a good time to make some preparations for harvest.

Cleaning out bins is never fun, but I remember from growing up on a farm that it's a lot more pleasant to do on a cool day than a hot one.

Growing a crop takes good management coupled with a lot of cooperation from Mother Nature. However, you have almost complete control on whether you keep that stored grain in good condition from harvest until it is fed or sold. Producing a good crop, only to have its condition deteriorate in storage, is an unnecessary loss of income.

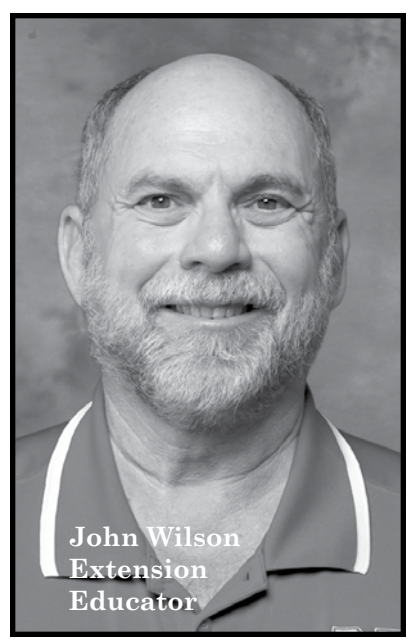

Last year, harvest progressed normally, but a few years ago, it was a disaster - caused by poor harvest and drying conditions. A lot of grain was harvested wet, conditions were not favorable for drying it in the bin, and some of the crop went out of condition in storage. With delayed planting in many areas last spring, maturity may be delayed and we could face these challenges again if the grain moisture content doesn't reach the desired harvest and storage levels in the field.

Proper cleanup before harvest, coupled with good stored grain management, will put more income in your pocket and keep your equipment and facilities in better condition. So before you head to the field, consider this five-step, pre-harvest plan to keep your stored grain in good condition.

First, Pest Proof Bins: Repair all leaks and holes in bins so rain or snow can't get in. This can increase grain moisture and create pockets of grain spoilage. Screen roof vents to exclude birds and other pests. Keep doors shut to keep birds and rodents out. Leave no holes or gaps larger than 1/4 inch.

Second, Clean Outside Bins: Do not allow junk to accumulate or weeds and grass to grow tall next to your bins. These hiding places for rodents makes detecting their presence more difficult. Clean up spilled grain from loading and unloading areas so it won't attract insects, birds or rodents.

Third, Clean Inside Bins: Grain or grain debris may harbor in-bin with brooms, shovels and vacuum cleaners to remove old grain, cracked kernels, and grain debris. Clean walls, ceilings, ledges, sills, and floors. Clean behind partitions, between walls and clean out cracks and crevices. Remove and burn all sweepings and debris.

Fourth, Spray Bins: After the bin is thoroughly cleaned, spray the inside surfaces with a recommended grain protectant, ideally at least two weeks before storing grain. Check the insecticide label for rates and if it is appropriate for the type of grain you will store. Spray around all openings and into the seams. Spray removable doors, behind partitions and under perforated floors and aeration ducts. Before grain is put in the bin, sweep up and dispose of all dead insects.

Finally, Clean Harvest and Handling Equipment: Thoroughly clean trucks, combines, grain carts, augers, dryers and other equipment that might have old grain left in it from the last use. Such grain may contain insects and molds that could start new infestations in your newly harvested grain.

Following these five steps won't insure safe grain storage, but it does greatly reduce the chance for problems to develop in your bins. You'll still need to get grain dried and cooled enough for safe storage this fall, periodically check on it over the winter, then gradually warm the grain next spring. But eliminating problems before you put any grain in the bin is the first step in maintaining your grain quality.

For more information on safe grain storage, go to the CropWatch website at cropwatch.unl.edu and select grain storage under the "management" dropdown menu or contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Are you prepared for weaning season?

With pasture quality quickly decreasing and some pastures drying up due to lack of rain, weaning calves in a few weeks is something many producers and I have visited about. Protein tubs to supplement cows have been an option of choice for many and I believe it to be a smart decision. Body condition scoring is critical right now, so take time to evaluate your cow herd. Our feed sales team at Central Valley Ag is available to help body condition score cow herds. If a cow start losing condition now its difficult to get them caught back up before winter weather moves in. Another observation is the increase in creep feed consumption of calves. Our calves are eating 5-6lbs creep per head/day and have stayed healthy this summer. The pastures are starting to dry up so the rain we received last week was much appreciated. As we begin to plan for weaning, I always start with checking and fixing fence.

Planning for weaning means keeping an eye on the weather. Weaning works best when fronts aren't moving through as that increases the amount of stress on calves. Fence line weaning is our choice, but there are other options such as early weaning programs. If lacking pasture, move calves far from the cows so they don't hear the cows and go through a fence. Weaning when a producer has the time to walk through and observe calves is a great time to consider. Calf health is the top priority during weaning. To help keep calves healthy, work on reducing stress, as well as quickly treating any calves that may have an immune challenge. With technology and research, there are starter feeds on the market to help boost a calf's immune system.

Having a feed program in place and feed on hand is crucial as well. Right now, we are bunk feeding our cow calf pairs as well as giving calves access to creep feed. The calves are learning to eat from the bunk, thus making the transition smoother come weaning time. To create a weaning and grower diet, work with your CVA sales team member to develop a program to best fit your operation. Starter feeds are recommended the first 21 days and we offer feeds such as Precon, Accuration Starter, and Stress Care 5. Take time to create a pen that is convenient for your calves. Bunks perpendicular to the fence line help calves find feed. Feeders and water should be at a height that calves can easily reach. Stress tubs keep calves busy and the salvation created from licking soothes throats that can be sore from bawling.

The last thing to remember during weaning is to make sure vaccinations are up to date. Vaccination programs through your local veterinarian during the pre-weaning stage can also help to boost the immune system. Three weeks prior to weaning is a great time to give pre-weaning vaccinations. For more information on weaning calves contact your local CVA feed location or contact myself at brandi.salestrom@cvacoop.com.

Duck Slam offers new challenge for hunters

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, along with Ducks Unlimited, is thrilled to announce a new challenge for waterfowl hunters - the Nebraska Duck Slam.

The Nebraska Duck Slam challenges hunters to harvest a teal (blue-winged or green-winged) of either sex, as well as drakes of three other species: an American wigeon, a mallard and a northern pintail. All ducks must be harvested in Nebraska, and hunters must upload a photo of each harvest at OutdoorNebraska.org/DuckSlam.

Those who successfully complete the slam will receive an official certificate, a Nebraska Duck Slam pin, four tasty meals and Central Flyway bragging rights. Additionally, all hunters who complete the slam during the 2019-2020 season will be registered to win one of several great prizes generously donated by Ducks Unlimited. A drawing for the grand prize, a Benelli Super Black Eagle 3, will take place at the Ducks Unlimited State Banquet on Feb. 22, 2020.

The Duck Slam officially opens on Sept. 7, and runs through early teal season, the first day of Jan. 27, 2020, when duck and coot season ends in zones 2 and 3. Season dates vary by species and zones.

Hunters can find detailed season dates at OutdoorNebraska.org/DuckSlam and on our Small Game and Waterfowl Guide at OutdoorNebraska.org/Guides. Hunters can view land open to public hunting in our Public Access Atlas at OutdoorNebraska.gov/PublicAccessAtlas.
