Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services reports Mumps outbreak in Northeast Nebraska

The Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) has seen a significant increase in mumps cases related to two recent outbreaks. At least 30 cases have been identified mainly among attendees of a wedding in Northeast Nebraska (Public Health Department's (NNPHD) jurisdiction, which covers Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne counties, and a workplace in Four Corners Health Department's jurisdiction (Butler, Polk, York and Seward counties).

DHHS is working with local health departments to investigate reported cases.

"Mumps is a highly contagious illness and it's spread by coughing, sneezing and sharing saliva," said Dr. Tom Safranek, State Epidemiologist for DHHS. "If people start experiencing mumps-like symptoms, they should contact their health care provider, and health care providers should be on the lookout for mumps cases."

Mumps causes swelling of glands in the face and neck. Other symptoms may include:

- Ear ache
- Jaw pain
- Testicular pain
- Fever
- Fatigue
- Muscle aches

"Mumps can start off like the common cold, which makes it hard," Julie Rother, health director of NNPHD, said.

Initial symptoms aren't the only thing that makes it difficult to pinpoint mumps before the tell-tale swelling begins according to Rother.

"Incubation period, from the time a person is exposed to when have symptoms can be 12 to 25 days so that also makes it difficult. That long incubation period also means we may see this coming in waves, which can be frustrating" Rother said.

There are several easy ways to protect against mumps:

- Get vaccinated
- Do not share drinking glasses, eating utensils, water bottles, or other things that have saliva on them

- Always cover your nose and mouth when you cough or sneeze
- Stay home when you're sick
- Wash hands frequently
- Clean and disinfect surfaces

Rother stressed that if someone doesn't feel well, even if they're not sure it's mumps, they should stay home from work or school. If swelling of the glands begins or any other symptoms that may indicate mumps, they need to contact their doctor as soon as possible to confirm whether it's mumps or not. If it is, the infected person should contact NNPHD.

"Contact Public Health. We'll want to do a follow-up as well as an interview to see where things started," Rother said.

The mumps virus is typically infectious between three and five days, so if someone shows symptoms or has mumps, they need to stay isolated for five days. Rother stresses however, that those five days should be extended if need be.

"You need to stay home for at least five days. If you have swelling, stay home longer if it persists," Rother said.

It may be worth checking into immunization records if a person isn't sure they've had both MMR (Measles, Mumps and Rubella) vaccines.

We are seeing cases in people who have been immunized," Rother said. "We really stress that if people don't have two MMR or don't know if they have, to make sure they've gotten the MMR booster. If you've been vaccinated and you get the mumps, it's not that the vaccine didn't work, it's just that the effectiveness wanes over time."

In 2018, DHHS reported 12 cases of the mumps. So far in 2019, there have been 30 confirmed cases of mumps.

Wayne County Commissioners Dean Burbach, Terry Sievers and Jim Rabe pass the 2019-2020 budget.

Commissioners pass budget, hear courthouse restoration update

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

September means budget season for the Wayne County Commissioners. At their first September meeting, they passed the 2019-2020 budget, as well as hearing a road update and courthouse restoration update.

The commissioners passed a total budget of $23,511,291.79. Both the total tax dollar request ($4,861,483.61) and total county valuation ($1,922,404,934) went up by two percent. The county tax levy will be $0.575 on every $100,000 of valuation. The unused budget authority created for 2019-2020 is $1,634,236.18.

Each of the three road districts cut their operating budgets by $50,000, saving the county a total of $150,000. $500,000 was paid down on the bond that helped pave South Centennial Road. It was also announced that Blattner Energy has reimbursed the county for $214,584.58 worth of road maintenance work for the Sholes Wind Farm.

Highway superintendent Mark Casey updated the commissioners about several items. According to Casey Plum Creek Wind Energy is already doing preliminary work on some area minimum maintenance roads ahead of construction of that wind farm.

He also said he's meeting with representatives from the Sholes project to discuss both an overdue final bill for road maintenance and drive way access compliance. At the last few meetings Casey has talked to the commissioners about several of NextEra's driveways because they aren't sight-line compliant. Casey won't release NextEra from liability without that being fixed, but he's told the commissioners he feels the Florida-based company is looking for a way out.

Jerry Berggren, of Berggren Architects, came to the meeting to update the commissioners about progress on the Wayne County Courthouse Restoration Project. Berggren told the commissioners that he believed roof work would begin sometime this week, but that shingles are still five weeks out from delivery. He also verified that the gutter work discussed during the Aug. 20 meeting has resulted in a plan that the commissioners were more comfortable with.

A custodial workshop is scheduled in October and will be held in Wayne. Berggren has helped line up speakers and requested one of the commissioners speak at the event.

The next Wayne County Commissioners meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 9 a.m. in the district courtroom.

Wakefield senior competes in national Miss Amazing Pageant

Allison Bruckner, a senior at Wakefield Community Schools, and her family attended the National Miss Amazing Pageant in Chicago recently.

Allison currently holds the title of Nebraska Miss Amazing Teen Queen.

Once a year, Miss Amazing coordinates a celebration of girl power and diversity by holding a National pageant. At this year's National Miss Amazing pageant the Queens participated in a variety of events that explored the ways that girls and women with disabilities can step up to power - ways that they can be powerful in their independence, powerful in leadership, and powerful in the impact that they have on the people around them.

Bruckner participated in a variety of events throughout the three-day event. The first night she attended a gala with special guest singer Paulina Jayne, and ended the night with a dance party and several new friends.

The following day she was interviewed by a panel of judges that asked her simple questions about herself. The interview allows the participants to practice one-on-one communication and conversation skills.

Instead of a talent showcase, Bruckner gave a passion presentation. These multimedia productions feature a variety show of performances, digital entertainment, and presentations from the Miss Amazing Queens — all to celebrate the value that girls and women with disabilities offer our world.

Bruckner gave her passion presentation about how music has positively impacted her life. She ended her passion presentation by singing her favorite verse from Lady Gaga. "I'm beautiful in my way, 'cause God makes no mistakes, I'm on the right track, baby I was born this way."

After an action-packed adventure at National Miss Amazing, everyone came together to recognize the girls and women who have accomplished amazing things on the Miss Amazing stage and in their communities.

Bruckner dressed in her best evening gown and was escorted by her brother, Jack, to give her introduction and show off her confidence and poise. Jack volunteered as a Right Hand Man for the third time. Right Hand Men have the opportunity to escort young ladies onto the stage during the evening wear portion and are then awarded a medal during the final show.

"The best part of the event was the new friendships I made with my sister queens and giving my passion presentation. I felt so loved and celebrated," Allison said.

Her mother, Jennifer has also witnessed the benefits of participating in the event.

"This was the best thing that could have happened for Allison and our family. We all made a lot of new friends and connections with parents and other family members from all over the country," Jennifer said. "The level of inclusion was unlike anything Allison has ever experienced. Her confidence and pride was beaming out of her. I cried happy tears all weekend. It also opened our eyes and inspired us to think about how we can become even better advocates for people with disabilities."

The Miss Amazing Pageant is a program that gives girls and young women with disabilities the opportunity to build self-confidence in a supportive environment.

He also commented on getting an FFA program up and running since he believes it would be very beneficial to our school and community.

Even though his job is serious, he still likes to have fun with the students and family. For example, he mentioned a time when he was with his elementary students and they were doing a fundraiser, which involved them turning him into an ice cream sundae!

Authorization to issue highway allocation bonds and refinance other bonds, approval of the fiscal year 2019-2020 budget and accepting a bid on the Phase 2 Trail project were on the agenda when the Wayne City Council met in regular session on Sept. 3.

Andy Forney, a Public Finance Banker with DA Davidson, spoke to the council on the process of authorizing the issuance of Highway Allocation Fund Pledge bonds for the Nebraska Street Project. Forney told the council now is a good time to get the paperwork done and take advantage of historically low interest rates. He also recommended the city re-finance bonds the city currently has out on previously completed projects.

Council members unanimously approved the ordinance for this project and waived the three readings of the ordinance.

Several agenda items at the meeting were connected to the city's upcoming budget.

The first of these was a public hearing on the budget, during which no one spoke.

Following the adoption of the budget, a public hearing was held on the city's tax asking and property tax levy.

The resolution involving the property tax request for 2019-2020 was approved. The total levy for the coming year will remain the same. The general levy will go up slightly but the levies in other areas will drop.

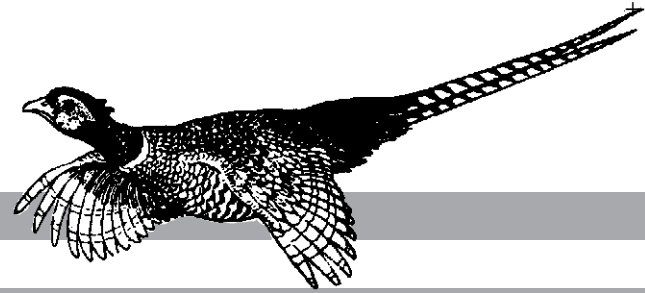

Finally, the ordinance was passed and

Frank Teach, Jr.

Frank G. Teach, Jr. 74, of Wayne, died Saturday, Aug. 31, 2019 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 7 at First United Methodist Church in Wayne. There is no visitation. Private burial will be at a later date at Riverside Cemetery in Osage, Minn.

Memorials may be directed to Frank's family for later designation. Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne

Frank (Skip) G. Teach, Jr. was born Sept. 27, 1944, in Sioux City, Iowa to Frank G. Teach, Sr. and Marcella A. (Johannsen) Teach. He attended elementary school through high school in Sioux City, graduating from East High School in 1962 where he excelled in football and obtained the rank of Eagle Scout in the Boy Scouts of America. Frank attended Wayne State College (WSC) in Wayne, graduating with physical education and history degrees as well as a MSE in Education. He met his wife, Linda Hoppel, while they were in graduate school. They were married June 14, 1969 at the First United Methodist Church of Norfolk.

Frank served as a graduate assistant at WSC; then taught two years at Pershing College in Beatrice. While teaching at Pershing, Dr. Brandenburg, then President of WSC, asked him to return to cover a leave of absence, a position that became permanent. Frank continued to serve in various capacities at Wayne State until his retirement in 2009. During his 41 year career at WSC he was a faculty member and served as Assistant Athletic Director, but spent most of his time as Director of Student Activities, Intramurals and the Student Center. Frank loved Wayne State and the Wayne community, where he was active in many organizations to serve both. He was a lifetime member of Kiwanis, served as advisor for Circle K, and was on the Wayne Agricultural Committee. He was a Master Mason of 50 years in both the Landmark Lodge (Sioux City) and the Corinthian Lodge (Wayne), as well as a 50 year member of the Scottish Rite Temple and Abu Bekr Shrine (Sioux City). Frank was also a member of the Cornhusker Shrine Club and the Wayne Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. In addition, he served in various roles as a Boy Scout Leader, assisting many Boy Scouts in their Eagle projects. He was a member of the Wayne First United Methodist Church where he served on various committees and assisted in worship activities.

Frank loved life and was a rock for his family; his quiet demeanor, humor, and strength of character enabled him to fulfill his commitment to family, friends, faith, and community. He so enjoyed spending time working in his yard - his pride and joy - and Straight Lake (Osage, Minn.) was where he spent most of his vacation time. He loved visiting with people, was an engaged listener, and genuinely cared about others. Frank treasured spending time with others, and there was always much laughter when he was around. He loved working with students. Being employed in higher education for over 40 years enabled him to touch many lives in a positive way; some who often viewed him as their "father" away from home. He will be sorely missed.

Survivors include his wife Linda; children Tammy Teach (Matt Meyer, fiance) of Nevis, Minn. and Ryan Teach of Bloomington, Minn.; brother Fred (Marilyn) Teach of Blair; three brothers-in-law, Ron Hoppel of Long Beach, Calif., Lon (Kathy) Hoppel of Waverly and Larry (Susan) Hoppel of Lincoln; as well as several nieces and their families.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents and parents.

September is National Preparedness Month

September is National Preparedness Month and the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) encourages everyone to take time out of their busy schedules this month to prepare for the unexpected.

This year's theme is "Prepared, Not Scared." Take steps to: be informed, make a plan and build a kit.

"When disaster strikes we need to be prepared to take care of ourselves for at least 72 hours," said NEMA Assistant Director Bryan Tuma. "A disaster supplies kit is a collection of basic items your household may need in the event of an emergency. Local officials and relief workers may not be able to help everyone immediately after a disaster so it is recommended that you have your own food, water and supplies. National Preparedness Month reminds us to build a kit or update the one we already have."

Tornadoes, floods and fires could affect Nebraskans with little or no notice. Be prepared to take care of yourselves and those you care about until help can arrive. The best time to plan and assemble an emergency preparedness kit is right now. Whether at home or on the go, have emergency plans in place wherever your family spends their time: work, daycare, school, houses of worship, sports events, commuting or traveling. Be disaster ready, wherever you may be.

NEMA has a Family Disaster Preparedness Kit at <https://nema.nebraska.gov/files/doc/preparedness-kit.pdf> that you can use to assemble your own supplies in case a disaster strikes. Other preparedness information can be found on the NEMA website at www.nema.nebraska.gov. Store your kit and support materials where you can find them easily and move them quickly. The best-supplied kit may not do any good if you can't take it with you. Consider using a buddy system with nearby families, to help and support one another in the case of extreme emergencies.

"Local emergency managers in counties across the state and NEMA have plans to address a wide range of natural and man-made disasters, but individuals and families must be prepared to assume a role in personal health and safety emergency preparedness," Tuma said. "Do you have plans for where to meet your family if your home is destroyed? Do you have a list of important personal information, including medical information, for every family member? Our health, and the health of our loved ones, could very well depend on our kit and our plan if there is a major disaster."

NEMA works to reduce the vulnerabilities of the people and communities of Nebraska from the damage, injury and loss of life and property resulting from natural, technological, or man-made disasters and emergencies. For more information, visit www.nema.nebraska.gov and check out these tips for being prepared for severe weather: <https://nema.nebraska.gov/operations/spring-and-summer-severe-weather-preparedness>, <https://nema.nebraska.gov/operations/floods>, <https://nema.nebraska.gov/operations/fire-drought> or <https://nema.nebraska.gov/operations/winter-weather#ind-fam>.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke,
City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. Name one thing you'd rather do on a Tuesday night than come see your City government at work!

Budget

At its Sept. 3 meeting, the City Council passed the budget for the 2019-2020 fiscal year (or FY 2020). The tax levy (or rate) remained virtually the same as last year at 0.411663. This levy translates into the fact that for every $100,000 of assessed value your property has, your tax liability would be $411.66 to the City next year in property taxes. This includes the general fund (police, administration, etc) as well as debt service (i.e. streets).

***Your tax bill as a resident of the City of Wayne will obviously be more than this as the other taxing entities, besides the City, include Wayne County, Wayne Community Schools, Northeast Community College, Natural Resource District (NRD), Educational Service Unit (ESU), Rural Fire District and the Wayne County Ag Society (County Fair)

***You will soon be able to access the City's approved budget for FY 20 on the City of Wayne's website. The new fiscal year starts on Oct. 1.

Trail Phase II

The State opened bids for the Wayne Trail Phase II on Aug. 29. The Wayne City Council recommended approving the low bidder, TR Harris, with the State hopefully following suit in mid-September. If all continues to go well with this project, next year at this time we will be having a ribbon-cutting for Phase II...I almost promise!

Hank Projects

The Council also just approved a bid from Ardent Lighting to replace the old lights and poles at Hank Overin field. This will be a $310,000 project. The old lights were first installed in the early 1980s.

Also, the City and many volunteers (coordinated by Councilman Matt Eischeid), are rebuilding the pitching mound, adding new sod to the infield and simply making a much nicer playing field (smoother and easier to drain). The City hopes this will entice more tournaments at the field, both area and state in the near future.

Bressler Park and Roosevelt Park Improvements

City workers have been very busy this past month making improvements to parks. The old Bressler Park "bandshell" came down, and a new concrete base is in place that will be accessible for all to enjoy. This accessibility will include sidewalks to the "stage" as well as additional sidewalks through the park.

Roosevelt Park (Boy Scout Park) on South Nebraska Street now has a turnaround for vehicles as well as handicap parking. A portable rest room has also been added. This park is serving as a trailhead while the Victor Park area is closed due to the trail collapse at the underpass.

***The City is currently soliciting engineers for this portion of the trail to be repaired!***

Remembering 9-11

Laurel Veterans Lloyd Luedtke, Gene Twiford, Dwayne Freeman and Regg Ward display the flag that will be flown and items that will be on display on the Plaza near the city office in Laurel on Wednesday, Sept. 11. Laurel veterans want to make sure area residents remember the sacrifices others have made for their country. In recognition of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the Twin Towers in New York City and on the Pentagon, the Laurel veterans will display a table featuring two plaques describing the Flag of Heroes and then another flag with all the names of the emergency service personnel who gave their lives to save others on the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11. The display plaques were made by Freeman.

Wayne Green Team to hold annual electronic recycling event

The Wayne Green Team invites all surrounding communities to its annual electronics recycling event Saturday, Sept. 14.

The recycling will be eastbound on 3rd Street between Lincoln and Pearl, next to the Wayne City Hall parking lot. This block of Third Street will be closed to traffic. Recyclers should enter from Lincoln Street to unload their electronics and exit onto Pearl Street. The event starts at 8 a.m. and ends at 10 a.m., or earlier if the truck fills up.

Bring old TVs, computers, cell phones, printers, cords and more.

No large appliances, batteries or VHS tapes accepted. Visit the Green Team's FAQ for a complete list of acceptable items.

Requested donation of $10 per carload or $50 per business load of reasonable size, and fees for CRTs (tube) of $5 per monitor and $10 per TV, except flat screen, which carry no extra charge. There is a $10 fee per microwave.

Funding comes from the Nebraska Department of Environment and Energy with electronic recycling services by First Choice Recycling from Sioux City. Volunteer support comes from the Wayne State College Men's Basketball team and Women's Soccer team.

This is the seventh electronics recycling event hosted by the Wayne Green Team. Since then, the Wayne community has recycled over 100,000 pounds of electronics, which means 52 tons of harmful materials kept out of our landfill. The Wayne Green Team thanks the public for recycling right by bringing electronics to the event.

See their website for more details at cityofwayne.org/greenteam and find them on Facebook.

Blood donations needed locally

LifeServe Blood Center is urging blood donors to roll up a sleeve to save local hospital patients this September.

LifeServe Blood Center is the sole provider of blood to more than 120 hospitals across Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. In order to make sure LifeServe's hospital partners' needs are met, blood donors, whether first time or gallon level, are needed each and every day.

Blood cannot be created in a lab and there's no substitute available, so if a hospital patient in our area needs a transfusion, that blood comes directly from LifeServe Blood Center blood donors.

LifeServe will be hosting a blood drive on Wednesday, Sept. 25, from noon - 6 p.m. at Wayne Fire Department at 510 Tomar Drive.

Sign up to save a life today online at lifeservebloodcenter.org or by calling 800-287-4903.

LifeServe is committed to saving lives by providing premier service to volunteer blood donors and access to a safe, quality blood supply for hospitals and patients.

Providence Community Pharmacy has an app for that

More options are being added at Providence Community Pharmacy. The retail pharmacy offers prescription medications, over-the-counter medications and other healthcare products. To accommodate changing customer preferences, the retail pharmacy recently added a couple of new medication refill request options.

"Although Providence Community Pharmacy prides itself on friendly, personal service, we recognize some people prefer the convenience of a high-tech method to order refills," Becky Barner, pharmacist at Providence Community Pharmacy said.

Providence Community Pharmacy announces that now, they've got an app for that. Refills can now be submitted via a free app using an iPhone or Android device.

The app is called RefillRx. To request a refill, customers will need an active prescription number, patient's birthdate and pharmacy phone number (402) 375-8862.

Requesting a medication refill online is also a new option for customers. To register for this service customers will go to refillrx.com and will be asked to enter the Wayne zip code (68787), the pharmacy phone number (8862), and an active prescription number. Once a username and password are created, customers can use this method for all future refill requests.

If the app or online option isn't ideal, Interactive Voice Response (IVR) is available. This is simply a voice messaging system that allows a customer to call in during the day or after hours and leave a refill request. Patients can call (402) 375-8862 to access this service and can leave a message stating their request.

The pharmacy team loves to hear from their customers electronically and in person. For those that prefer a personal touch, contact a member of the pharmacy team and they will be happy to help you with your healthcare needs.

No matter which option customers choose, Providence Community Pharmacy will remind them that their medications are ready. ## WEB announces 2019 Fun Run

Wayne Elementary Boosters (WEB) are hosting the sixth annual Fun Run for elementary students Tuesday, Sept. 17, from 8 a.m.-11:30 a.m. at the high school track. Friends and family are invited to watch students run, skip, hop or walk around the track for 20 minutes.

Once done, students receive a snack and reusable water bottle. Students who bring their own water bottle instead, can receive an ice cream cone certificate to Wayne's Runza.

This event is WEB's biggest fundraiser of the year, with a goal to raise $7,000. WEB member Sandy Brown said the event is about more than just raising funds.

"What we really love about this event is that it really builds a community. Our school with the teachers and students is a community and that's really what we want for our school," Brown said.

Students are not required to collect pledges to participate, but are encouraged to reach an individual goal of $25. All students who raise funds are entered into a drawing to win a 2020 Wayne Outdoor Family Swimming Pool Pass donated by Wayne Area Economic Development (WAED). Additional incentives for the top three fundraisers include a one-year family membership to the Community Activity Center, donated by WAED; a Wayne High Sports Activity Pass for a family of four, donated by Wayne High School; and four football and tailgate tickets to a Wayne State College football game, donated by WSC Athletics.

Other generous donors include WSC and WEB for the water bottles, Runza for the ice cream certificates and WSC student-athletes as volunteers. Funds raised are used to host experiences for students and families, purchase classroom supplies and recess equipment, and show staff appreciation, among other things in support of Wayne Elementary School.

All parents and friends are welcome to join in the fun or volunteer to help at the sixth annual WEB Fun Run at the Wayne High track. For more information, like Wayne Elementary Boosters on Facebook or visit wayneweb.org.

Great Dane employees will be celebrating a milestone next week during a company sponsored party marking the 20,000th refrigerated truck trailer built at the plant.

The celebration will also mark a period of unprecedented growth and expansion for Wayne's leading employer which is currently providing 500 jobs and over $8.4 million in annual payroll for the community.

Three years ago the firm was working through a market downturn. Production fell to under 40 units a week and there were minor layoffs among the 250 workers employed at the plant. Payroll then was $4.5 million.

That's why the plant will be throwing a party for its employees next week to mark the rolling out of the 20,000th trailer. Gifts will be given to mark the occasion and one employee will be chosen to cart away 20,000 pennies (125 pounds worth).

the three readings waived approving the appropriation bill, which gives the city the authority to collect the taxes.

The city's fiscal year runs from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30 each year.

A bid of $1,990,000.04 was accepted from T.R. Harris Construction, Inc. for the Phase 2 Trail Project. Funding for the project is in the city's budget, with additional funds coming from the state and a grant from the Natural Resources District.

City Administrator Wes Blecke told the council that the State of Nebraska still has to approve the project and that additional work, such as removing trees, would need to be done before the actual work on the project begins next spring.

Planning for the Phase 2 Trail began in 2003.

In other action, council members approved a bid for $310,000 from Ardent Lighting of Knoxville, Iowa for the Hank Overin Field Lighting Project.

The new lights that will be installed will be more energy efficient and provide better lighting for the field. It is anticipated that the work will begin this fall and be completed by March 1, 2020.

An ordinance dealing with the height of structures near the Wayne Municipal Airport received first reading approval during the meeting. It will provide protection for the airport's north/south runaway and meet Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) requirements.

The Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) is currently working to sell the property that was once Pacific Coast Feather Company near the airport and needs to make clear what some of the areas can be used for and the heights of buildings in certain areas.

A change order in regard to the completion dates for the 2018 Pedestrian Curb Ramp Project was approved.

City Administrator Blecke told the council that "overall, the contractors have done a good job."

The substantial completion date was moved to Sept. 27 and the final completion date was extended to Oct. 11.

An application for a liquor license for David Staab with Pizza Hut was approved by the council.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Northeast Nebraska students get up-close look at agriculture during third annual festival

More than 200 fifth graders from eight classrooms in Northeast Nebraska gained firsthand experience on where their food, fiber and fuel come from by attending the third annual Growing Potential Agriculture Festival that was on Aug. 29.

The annual festival is put together by the Nebraska Farm Bureau Foundation and the Northeast Nebraska Corn Growers Association, with 15 sponsors and volunteers coming together to help put on the successful event. The Wayne FFA Chapter also volunteered at the festival.

"Through this event, our organizations connect their common interest of agricultural literacy to offer a hands-on learning experience for Northeast Nebraska students. The aim is to create an understanding and knowledge of agriculture to prepare students to be informed citizens," said Courtney Schardt, director of outreach education at the Nebraska Farm Bureau Foundation.

Students made their way around learning stations that covered different facets of agriculture. At one station, the students discovered how livestock, such as beef cattle and chickens, rely on corn to produce the products they enjoy. Other activities included exploring the machinery farmers use to plant and harvest corn, how farmers care for the land, and the importance of ethanol to Nebraska's economy.

"This is our third year coming to this festival and each year it gets better and better," said Nicholas Kleve, fifth grade teacher at Louis and Clark Elementary in South Sioux City. "The kids are exposed to so many different agricultural career opportunities they have here in Nebraska from business to science. There's something for everyone."

Schools participated from towns across Northeast Nebraska including Wayne, Wisner-Pilger, Hartington, and South Sioux City.

"Every year the festival continues to grow in importance as students no longer live on farms," said

Mitch Schweers, president of the Northeast Nebraska Corn Growers Association. "We are excited to provide an opportunity to showcase how students can connect with agriculture in our communities. We thank the agriculture groups who joined together to sponsor and volunteer at this event."

Sponsors and volunteers include Channel, F&M Bank, Farm Credit Services, Grossenberg, Hefty Seed and Chemical, Hoegemeyer, Michael Foods, Nebraska Corn Growers, Nutrien, Pioneer, Sietec, Siouxland Ethanol, State Nebraska Bank, Wayne FFA Chapter, and Wayne County Farm Bureau.

The mission of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Foundation is to engage youth, educators, and the general public to promote an understanding of the vital importance of agriculture in the lives of all Nebraskans. The Nebraska Farm Bureau Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. For more information about the Nebraska Farm Bureau Foundation, visit nefbfoundation.org.

Former Wildcat to play professionally in Portugal

Former Wayne State College men's basketball standout Kendall Jacks recently signed a professional contract to play overseas in Portugal this fall.

Kendall Jacks

Jacks, a graduate of Bettendorf High School in Iowa, signed a one-year contract with Team Barreirense from Barreiro, Portugal, a team in the top professional league in Portugal that won its division (second tier) last season and moves up to the top professional league (LPB) in Portugal.

The 6-foot-4 guard is one of three import players to be signed by the club and Jacks will play the point guard position. He will depart the United States in early September and begin play with the Portuguese team starting the first week in October.

Jacks was a standout guard for the Wayne State men's basketball team from 2014-19. ## Trojans knock off defending D-1 champs in thriller

WAKEFIELD — If you're not going to be able to play in the postseason, you might as well start by taking down the defending champion.

The Wakefield got off to a hot start and then came up with a huge defensive play down the stretch to pull off the state's first upset of the high school football season, beating Creighton 28-22 in an exciting battle Friday at Eaton Field.

The Trojans staked themselves to an early two-touchdown lead and made last year's Class D-1 champions play catch-up the rest of the night, sealing the game with a late turnover to come away with a hard-fought win in their 2019 debut.

"I'm just so happy for my boys," coach Mike Hassler said. "We've been chasing Creighton ever since we dropped down to eight-man. They have been our measuring stick, and to be able to finally come out on the winning end was a big accomplishment for this program. My hat's off to that Creighton team, they gave us everything they had and didn't go down without a fight."

Justin Erb and Blake Brown helped get the Trojans on the board early. Erb opened the scoring with a three-yard run and Brown followed with a 33-yard gallop to give the Trojans a 16-0 first-quarter lead.

Creighton cut the deficit to 10 at the half with a touchdown pass, but Erb moved the lead back up to 16 early in the second half with his second scoring run, a 30-yard gallop that make it 22-6.

Creighton would again score midway through the third to make it an eight-point game, but Erb found the end zone for a fourth time, scoring on a one-yard run that make it 28-16 going to the final period.

Creighton scored again to get the lead down to six and were driving in Wakefield territory in the closing minutes when Wakefield forced a fumble inside their 15-yard line and recovered with 2 1/2 minutes left. Wakefield's offense picked up two first downs and ran out the clock to seal the big win.

Hassler said his team's offensive line deserved a lot of credit for how they handled Creighton's defensive attack.

"Nolan Litchfield, Evan Donner, and Gabe Peitz are three senior boys who deserve a lot of credit for our success in moving the ball," he said. "They have invested the time in the weight room and this program and they paved the way up front. It started with them; we don't win this game without those guys."

Hassler was also excited about his defensive effort against a Creighton team that, in previous years, has lit up the scoreboard against the Wakefield defense.

"Creighton had averaged 64 points per game in the past five years against us. To hold them to 22 points says a lot," he said. "Our level of physicality is what impressed me most. We may not have always executed our assignments correctly or used the correct technique, but the one thing we did do is fly around and hit people. The first two I can fix. The last one has to come from the kids just wanting to get it done."

Brown finished the night with 121 yards on 21 carries and was 7-of-11 passing for 50 yards. Erb had 17 carries for 67 yards and Blake Heimann finished with 38 yards on seven carries. Erb has three catches for 19 yards, Peitz added two for 19 yards and Nick Arenas caught two passes for 12 yards.

The 1-0 Trojans have a bye week this week, and Hassler said they'll need the extra week to get ready for another state-ranked team in Howells-Dodge.

"We get two weeks to clean up some things and get ready," he said. "They are another team that has historically been one of the best teams in our area. The road doesn't get any easier. I know my boys will be eager to get back out onto the field."

Softball win streak ends in LPS tourney

The Wayne High softball team reached the 40-win plateau in their consecutive win streak before an 0-3 effort at the Lincoln Public Schools tournament.

Wayne racked up its 40th consecutive win, including last year's 35-0 run to a state title, with an 8-0 shutout at O'Neill on Tuesday, as Tori Kniesche and Kendall Dorey combined on a no-hitter.

Kniesche pitched the first 1 1/3 innings before turning the ball over to Dorey. The duo combined to strike out 10 while allowing just three walks.

Dorey and Hope O'Reilly each had two hits to lead Wayne's eight-hit attack. Dorey hit her first home run of the season, a solo shot in the fifth that sealed the win, while O'Reilly added a double. Aliah Schulz and Kayla Fleming both had doubles. Dorey scored three runs while Fleming came home twice and Brooklyn Kruse, Virginia Kniesche and Hailey Schroeder added runs.

Wayne's winning streak came to an end Saturday morning in their pool of the Lincoln Public Schools Tournament at Doris Bair Park, but not without a wild battle.

The Blue Devils and Waverly hooked up in a pitcher's duel in the first game. The game was scoreless through seven innings, with hits by Dorey and Kruse being the only safeties in the contest.

In the eighth inning, Wayne had the first chance to break the tie. Schulz started on second and was sacrificed to third by Amara Hurlbert. Taytum Sweetland drew a walk to put runners on the corners, but a strikeout and groundout left both runners on base.

In the bottom of the inning, Waverly moved a runner to third on a stolen base, and after a runner was hit by a pitch and moved to second on a fielder's choice, the winning run came home on a 1-2 pitch that got away from the catcher, giving Waverly the 1-0 win.

Kniesche was near perfect in the losing effort, throwing a no-hitter with 22 strikeouts, one walk and one hit batter. Dorey and Kruse each picked up hits for Wayne.

In their second game of the day, a matchup between last year's Class B champions and the defending Class A champions went down to the final at bat, with Lincoln Southwest slipping away with a 5-4 win.

Wayne scored in the top of the first on an RBI single by Brianne Nissen, scoring Dorey. Southwest came back with two in the bottom of the inning, but Wayne tied the game in the fourth when Kruse scored Schroeder with a base hit.

It stayed tied until the top of the eighth when Wayne took the lead. Hurlbert started the inning at second and came home on a double by Fleming, who later scored on an RBI groundout by Nissen.

Southwest responded with three in the bottom of the inning, getting a bases-loaded walk and a two-out, two-run single to post the win.

Dorey and Kniesche both had two hits to lead a seven-hit attack. Nissen had two RBIs in the losing effort. Kniesche struck out 14, but walked four and hit two batters to take the loss.

In the finale, defending Class B state champion Elkhorn got to Wayne early, coming away with a 14-0 shutout.

Elkhorn scored 10 runs in the opening frame and limited Wayne to three hits to hand the Blue Devils a third straight loss on the day.

Dorey finished with two hits and Sweetland added a hit for the 5-3 Blue Devils. Dorey pitched all three innings, striking out four.

Wayne had a home triangular on Tuesday and hosts South Sioux City on Thursday.

Both WSC cross country teams to be led by experience

The Wayne State cross country teams will have solid experience in both the men's and women's rosters this year for coach Marlon Brink, who starts his 20th year as the Wildcats' mentor.

On the women's roster, Wayne State improved two spots last season and took 11th at the Northern Sun Conference Championships, and Brink hopes to fair better than the 11th place prediction in this year's NSIC Preseason Coaches' Poll.

Eight of the 10 runners on this year's Wildcat squad are returners from last season. This year's Wildcat Runner to Watch in the NSIC is junior Molly McCartney. She was Wayne State's top finisher in four meets last season and in all six meets as a freshman in 2017.

Kim Johnson is one of two seniors on the Wildcat roster and was the top Wayne State runner in the other three meets last season. Wayne sophomore Andrea Torres had a strong first season in a Wildcat uniform last year, placing second for WSC in five meets.

Two new runners join the Wildcat squad this season — freshmen Alex Bauer and Jade Rickard.

On the men's side, eight of the nine top runners return for the Wildcats.

The men's roster features a roster of nine runners this year with three seniors, four juniors, one sophomore and one freshman.

Headlining the list of returners for the Wildcats is senior Dylan Kessler, who had four top-20 finishes last year and was Wayne State's top runner in all seven meets after transferring to WSC from Mesa Community College. Other Wildcat seniors this year are Jack Doughty and Nathan Pearson.

The four juniors on the Wildcat squad each have two years of collegiate cross country experience and Coach Brink hopes they will bring depth and help WSC post improved team finishes this season.

The lone newcomer on the team this year is Will McGonigal from Hailey, Idaho.

Wayne State placed 12th last year at the Northern Sun Conference Championships and is listed 12th out of 14 teams in this year's Preseason NSIC Men's Cross Country Coaches' Poll.

Six meets are on this year's Wayne State College schedule, starting with the Augustana Twilight Invitational on Friday in Sioux Falls, S.D.

The Wildcats will have two home meets on this year's schedule — the Wildcat Classic on Friday, Sept. 27 and the 2019 Northern Sun Conference Championships on Saturday, Oct. 26 on the back nine of the Wayne Country Club.

Wayne State concludes the 2019 season at the NCAA Division II Central Region Championships in Joplin, Missouri on Saturday, Nov. 9.

Wayne High School will be honoring the volleyball team and their parents on Tuesday, Sept. 10.

Parents should be at the Wayne high school gym by 6:30 p.m. They will be introduced between the JV and Varsity volleyball game. Wayne will be hosting Scotus Central Catholic.

LCC comes back, posts 32-20 road win

RANDOLPH — It was a back-and-forth battle on opening night in Randolph, but the Laurel-Cocnord-Coleridge Bears had the final say in a 32-20 win Friday.

LCC scored in the opening period on a 2-yard run by Cael Hartung to take the early advantage, but Randolph's Carter Schnoor threw a touchdown pass and ran for another to give Randolph a 14-8 lead.

The Bears bounced back and led 16-14 on a 1-yard dive by Ty Erwin, but Schnoor threw his second touchdown pass later in the half to give the Cardinals a 20-14 halftime advantage.

LCC came out in the second half and took control of the game. Erwin scored on a 10-yard run in the third period to give the Bears the lead for good, and Evan Haisch finished off the Bears' win with a three-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Haisch led the ground attack with 43 yards on 12 carries, while Austin Brandt had 20 yards on nine tries and Hartung had 11 yards on three attempts.

Erwin was 9-of-20 passing for 124 yards. Noah Schutte had five catches for 83 yards and Hartung had three receptions for 33 yards.

Defensively, Austin Hall and Wyatt Taylor each had 11 tackles, Hartung had 10, Cutter Haberman had nine and Schutte had eight tackles along with two interceptions.

Allen coach Dave Uldrich shakes hands with quarterback Lukas Oswald after an Allen touchdown drive during the Eagles' 44-6 win over Cedar Bluffs on Friday night.

Eagle ground game leads to a big opening night win

ALLEN — The Allen Eagles started the 2019 season doing what they do best, running the football and rolling to a 44-6 win over Cedar Bluffs Friday night.

The Eagles amassed 403 yards on 43 carries, scoring five times. The first of the five scores came on the second play of the game, as Lukas Oswald ran the left side 42 yards. Oswald then followed that score minutes later from a yard out to put the Eagles up 12-0, then added a 12-yard pass to Ty Krommenhoek to balloon the score to 18-0 after a period.

Anthony Isom pushed through the interior shortly after the start of the second period from two yards out to get the Eagle lead to 24-0. Following a pair of Eagle turnovers on drives that looked very promising, the Eagles settled back in offensively, as Oswald hit Noah Carr on a 16-yard screen pass and Carr added a the PAT run to make it 32-0 at the half.

The Eagles picked back up where they left off in the second half, as Carr carried over from 14 yards to move the Eagles to a 38-0 lead less than 2 minutes into the third period. Sophomore Ryan Anderson tacked the last score on the board for the Eagles with a one-yard run early in the fourth period.

Reserves played liberally in the second half, and Cedar Bluffs hit their lone score late in the game on a 44-yard pass on fourth down.

"The team played fairly well for a first game," coach Dave Uldrich said. "We had a few mistakes, penalties and fumbles that we can work on in practice. Defensively, we played a good game, while the offensive game was good as well excluding the penalties. We are going to get back to work and fix a few noticeable things, add a few things, and see how we improve to our second game."

Offensively, the Eagles totaled 440 yards of offense, while holding the Wildcat squad to 133.

Carr carried nine times for 160 yards and a score. Oswald added two scores and 118 yards on seven carries, and was also 3-of-6 passing for 37 yards and two scores. Krommenhoek and Carr had touchdown catches.

Defensively, Brogan Jones and Isom anchored a solid defensive effort wrestling down 14 and 13 Wildcat ball carriers. Isom also covered two Wildcat fumbles. Josh Olesen added a recovery as well.

The Eagles have a bye week return to action on Sept. 13 at Emerson-Hubbard.

Good news, bad news for Wildcat soccer team

There's good news and bad news for third-year head coach Joe Cleary entering the 2019 women's soccer season.

The good news is that the Wildcats return four of its top six scorers from last season, while the bad news is the WSC defense took a major hit due to the graduation of six seniors.

Wayne State was 4-12-1 overall and finished 12th in the NSIC in 2018 with a 4-10-1 league mark. In two years as leader of the Wildcats, Coach Cleary has played 13 overtime contests and is just 1-9-3 in extra session games, a stat that will have to improve if Wayne State looks to make the NSIC Tournament for the first time since 2006.

"We need to improve defensively and in holding leads," remarked Cleary. "We were 13th in goals conceded last year and we lost too many games where we scored the first goal."

The Wildcats will be relatively young this season as the teams' 26-player roster has six seniors, three juniors, six sophomores and 11 freshmen.

"Our recruiting class was the largest it has been since my time here," added Cleary. "All 11 are unique in both the way they play and their personalities. I am excited to see what they can add to our current roster. I thought the competition for playing time last year was fierce, but it will be at another level this year."

The Wildcats do return plenty of firepower offensively and Coach Cleary feels one of the team's strengths will be its' attack.

"We were in the top half of the conference in scoring last year and while we graduated Christina Stasi we still have a lot of returning and incoming firepower to our forward line."

Senior midfielder Sophia Ketchmark, an All-NSIC honorable mention selection last season, is the most experienced returner after producing two goals and three assists (seven points) in 2018.

Another key returner is junior forward Rylie Wehner, who accounted for seven points with three goals and one assist while tied for the team lead with 26 shots last year.

Sophomore midfielder Megan Phillips produced two goals and five points last year while tied for the team lead in shots on goal (13) while Madison Kemp, another sophomore, scored two goals in 12 games before suffering a season-ending injury to cut her season short. Other returners that scored goals last season for Wayne State were senior forward Carleigh Wilson and junior defender Megan Schuster.

At goalkeeper, senior Rachel Grisham is a 2 1/2-year starter and brings experience between the posts. Freshman Regan Ott is the other goalkeeper on the Wildcat roster and will contend for playing time.

Wayne State has just seven home contests this season and Cleary says the goal for the season is to make the conference tournament.

"Outside of that, we just want to improve from last season," stated Cleary. "As much as we want to say our record doesn't do us justice, at the end of the day it is how we are measured as a program."

The 2019 season opener for Wayne State is Friday, battling Harding (Ark.) at the Nebraska-Kearney Tournament. The first home contest for the Wildcats is Friday, Sept. 27, battling Minot State at the WSC Soccer Complex in a 3 p.m. game.

"The six seniors this year want team success more than anything," boasted Cleary. "They will each have an important role in our success this year and so far they have embraced their roles and I hope that continues. We are blessed to have all of them as the faces of our program."

nightcap against North Dakota State College of Science, 25-23, 21-25, 22-25, 25-23 and 12-15.

Against the Royals, Caitlin Orton (Mills, Neb.) and Elley Beaver (Columbus, Neb.) tallied five kills apiece. Freshman setter Jamie Bonifas (Blue Hill, Neb.) had 11 assists.

In the loss to the Greyhounds, Brianna Bauer (O'Neill, Neb.) led the Hawks with 13 kills, while MaKayla Davidson (Alliance, Neb.) recorded 28 assists. Freshman libero Josie Sanger (Crofton, Neb.) added 23 digs.

On the second day of the tournament against Williston State, Hannah Heppner (Stanton, Neb.) notched seven kills and three blocks. Bonifas had 26 assists and Sanger pitched in 14 digs.

In the final game of the tournament, the Hawks faced off with NDSCS, a familiar foe from last season. Northeast previously defeated the Wildcats at the NJCAA DII National Tournament in Charleston, W.V., where the Hawks came out on top.

But, Saturday evening was a different story as both teams went neck-to-neck in the five-set thriller.

Beaver recorded 14 kills and 19 digs, while Orton, Heppner and Megan Wehrbein (Burchard, Neb.) added 10 kills each. Sanger and Davidson had 38 and 37 digs, respectively, while Bonifas recorded her first double-double of the season with 49 assists and 22 digs.

"Overall we played a good tour-namment," head coach Amanda Schultze said. "We had our struggles against a quick and in-system Fort Scott team, but we came back Saturday and played some competitive volleyball. NDSCS is a good team and was in to get revenge from their loss to us last year at the national tournament. We played a good game against them, but fell a few points short."

The Hawks hit the road for their first ICCAC match up of the season when they face Iowa Lakes Community College at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Estherville, Iowa.

Blue Devils shut out by No. 2 Wahoo

WAHOO — The Wayne High football team drew a tough opener Friday, and the No. 2-ranked Wahoo Warriors showed why they are one of the teams to beat in Class C-1 this season with a 47-0 shutout of the Blue Devils.

Wayne held their own in the early going and had a couple of drives that fizzled out. Wahoo eventually broke the ice in the second quarter, thanks to senior Trevin Luben, who opened the scoring in the second period with a 51-yard run and then provided the play of the game with a 91-yard punt return that helped stake the Warriors to a 17-0 halftime advantage.

In the second half, Wahoo took to the air for a pair of touchdown connections. Thomas Waldo found Peyton Walling on passes of 22 and 29 yards to make it 38-0, with Luben adding another run of five yards.

Wahoo's defense came through with a safety and they closed out the scoring on a seven-yard run by Colin Ludvik to close out the 47-0 win.

Wayne was limited to 71 yards in total offense on the night by the Wahoo defense.

Reid Korth led the Wayne ground game with 38 yards on 10 carries. Casey Koenig added 11 yards on eight tries and Victor Kniesche had 10 yards on four carries.

Tyrus Eischeid was 4-of-12 passing for 44 yards with one interception, while Tanner Walling completed his only pass of the night for two yards. Leading receivers were Noah Lutt with 23 yards on one catch, Eli Barner caught two passes for 14 yards, Gunnar Jorgensen had one catch for seven yards and Korth had one catch for two yards. Defensively, Kniesche led the WINSIDE — The Winside football team kicked off the season at home Friday, dropping a 56-0 decision to a physical Bloomfield squad.

Growing Trade with Vietnam and Japan

To grow Nebraska, we must continue to develop new international partnerships and deepen our existing trade relationships. Trade missions allow leaders in our state to meet face-to-face with overseas buyers, government officials, and businesses. They allow our farmers and ranchers to tell the story about Nebraska agriculture and to promote their world-class commodities firsthand. They also give Nebraska businesses an opportunity to showcase their goods and services directly to prospective customers. These personal connections help establish lasting relationships, built on personal trust, that open markets for our exports and bring jobs to Nebraska.

I am leading a trade delegation to Vietnam and Japan from September 3rd to September 10th aimed at boosting exports and attracting investment in our state. Japan has long been one of Nebraska's best and biggest trade partners. With $412.1 million exported in 2018, Japan is Nebraska's top market for beef exports. Japan is also Nebraska's top direct international investor. For example, Kawasaki has operated a major manufacturing facility in Lincoln since 1974, which now employs around 2,000 Nebraskans. Currently, the Lincoln plant is manufacturing hundreds of railcars for the New York City subway system as part of a $1.4 billion contract.

Recently, the Trump Administration has been in talks with Japan to make the relationship even stronger. Last week, Japan announced plans to import an additional two million tons of U.S. corn each year, an annual increase of about 25%. A renegotiated trade agreement with Japan is also in the works. It significantly reduces tariffs on U.S. beef, pork, wheat, and dairy products and makes it easier for U.S. companies to export ethanol to Japan. This new deal should be finalized in September, and it greatly benefits our state's ag community.

We'll spend the upcoming trade mission to Japan in Tokyo, the country's largest city. I plan to meet with Japanese governors, business federations, and food processing companies during the visit. Our delegation will also participate in a reception with Nebraskans who now live in Japan. Many of these "friends of Nebraska" grew up in the Good Life or graduated from our state's universities, and they serve as unofficial ambassadors to help promote our state in Japan.

Vietnam is one of our fastest-growing international partnerships. In a single year, from 2017 to 2018, Nebraska's beef exports to Vietnam increased 127 percent. With 96 million people, Vietnam has a larger population than California, Texas, and Florida put together. The country's middle-class has been growing rapidly, and as it gains wealth, Vietnamese customers are looking to buy higher-quality goods. This creates demand for the premium beef and pork that comes from Nebraska and is recognized around the globe for its superior quality.

Nebraska has a special connection to Vietnam. The current U.S. Ambassador there, Daniel Kritenbrink, is a native Cornhusker who graduated from the University of Nebraska Kearney. When Nebraska Department of Agriculture Director Steve Wellman traveled to Vietnam a year ago, Ambassador Kritenbrink shared his memories of growing up on a farm near Ashland and highlighted Nebraska's global leadership in agriculture. Our delegation will reconnect with the ambassador on this trip. We'll also meet with high-ranking officials in the Vietnamese government and sit down with local business leaders to discuss opportunities for partnership.

Strengthening ties with Japan and Vietnam is of great strategic importance to our state in light of current trade challenges with China. Nebraska and China have shared an important trade relationship for many years, and I have led two trade delegations there. However, China has been an inconsistent trade partner. President Trump is right to insist on a trade deal with China that protects intellectual property rights and includes more equitable terms for American businesses. Given the uncertainty of ongoing negotiations with China, it's wise for Nebraska to focus on expanding trade with other Asian nations.

Nebraska's farmers, ranchers, and manufacturers work tremendously hard to grow crops, raise livestock, and make products of the finest quality. It's vital that we work every bit as hard to ensure that we are opening up new markets for our goods—both at home and abroad.

I invite you to visit governor.nebraska.gov over the next couple of weeks for updates on the trade mission to Vietnam and Japan. If you would like to share how trade and/or international investment have grown your community, please write me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or call (402) 471-2244.

I look forward to hearing your stories and to giving you a full report on the trade mission after I return.

Youth center movement is a positive step

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The Department of Health and Human Services says moving 24 girls from the Youth Rehabilitation and Treatment Center in Geneva to the center at Kearney will allow the department to refresh programs for the youth while the Department of Administrative Services assesses the physical needs of the four-building Geneva Campus.

DHHS CEO Dannelle Smith says the girls will be housed in a separate building from the boys on the 130-acre campus which started out as the Nebraska Training School in 1881 and actually housed both male and female youth for a decade before the Girls Industrial School at Geneva opened. Both campuses were part of the Nebraska Department of Corrections until 1997 when they switched to the current status with DHHS.

Sadly, the most recent move came after the Geneva treatment center reached a crisis point from both physical conditions — two buildings were deemed uninhabitable — and allegations of a lack of programming, treatment and medical care. Four state senators made a surprise visit to the center and the Nebraska Inspector General for Child Welfare and a representative of the state Ombudsman's office are also investigating conditions and allegations of inappropriate room confinement, overmedication of youth, inadequate management of prescribed mental health drugs and accusations of violations of the Prison Rape Elimination Act.

The four senators — Sara Howard and Steve Lathrop of Omaha, Patty Pansing Brooks of Lincoln and Tom Brandt of Plymouth inspected the facility and interviewed residents. The girls showed the senators their living quarters and told them they spend most of the time sitting around with no activities or outdoor time.

As a kid growing up in the Nebraska Panhandle I remember when a couple boys I knew got sent to Kearney. Our parents referred to it as reform school. In fact, after the girls moved out of Kearney in 1892, the place was known as the Nebraska State Reform School for Juvenile Offenders. In 1994, both schools became YRTC.

The DHHS website says the Mission of the Kearney center is to "help youth live better lives through effective services, giving youth the chance to become law-abiding citizens." The Mission of the Geneva Center is to "return youth to their community as productive and law-abiding citizens." Those similar sounding missions sound like they should rely on programming, not "warehousing" which is a common complaint about the overcrowded, understaffed Nebraska correctional system. Sitting around with no activities sounds like prison.

I don't know what the move means for the future of the Geneva facility. There have been bills in recent years in the Legislature calling for a physical move to co-locate at Kearney. But none have been successful. If we can believe Smith, this current move is temporary and will allow her department to get its act together while the DAS Building Division looks at needed repairs and upgrades to the Geneva living units.

Smith says DHHS has been assessing how it serves the youth in its care, the condition of its facilities, and what changes may need to be made to further enhance safety, programming and outcomes. She adds that she wants to give youth the opportunity to thrive as they transition from the YRTCs into a successful adulthood.

That's a laudable goal, it's just sad that it took a crisis and an intervention by four lawmakers to make something happen.

Let's hope that both centers can live up to their name as Rehabilitation and Treatment facilities. Decent facilities that are safe and clean and programming that teaches right from wrong and life skills is a big step in the right direction.

Labor Day week, busy for Albrecht

Hats off to the first responders of South Sioux City! I was honored to attend the City Council meeting and personally congratulate several South Sioux City first responders who were presented with Code Save awards from the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (NDHHS). Code Saves are given out when first responders go on a cardiac call, and their lifesaving efforts, such as C-P-R, result in the patient returning to life as normal after treatment.

South Sioux City has had four Code Save Awards in the past year, putting their success rate at over four times the national average. I am so proud of these fine people who serve so many residents of District 17. They rose up over and over again as exceptional examples of how we Nebraskans strive for excellence as we care for one another. Congratulations on well-deserved awards!

Mumps outbreak! On August 29, NDHHS issued a press release about a significant increase in Mumps cases. According to NDHHS, at least 30 cases have been identified in Nebraska this year, with a large number of them reported in the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department's jurisdiction, which includes Thurston, Wayne, Cedar, and Dixon counties.

Mumps is contagious—spread by coughing, sneezing and sharing saliva. Symptoms may include swelling of the face and neck, earache, jaw pain, testicular pain, fever, fatigue or muscle aches. If you have symptoms of mumps, health officials say you should see your doctor right away and stay home to avoid contact with others. For more information, you can visit the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Dept. website at nnpd.org/

In news affecting both economic growth and affordable housing in Nebraska, recently Habitat for Humanity was recognized for its new Registered Apprenticeship Program. The program reinforces Habitat's dedication to providing affordable housing and to providing its teammates with opportunities to advance their skills and careers, while connecting generations in support of growing businesses.

In a recognition ceremony, Governor Pete Ricketts was joined by Habitat for Humanity of Omaha, Metropolitan Community College, the Nebraska Department of Labor (NDOL) and the US Department of Labor (USDOL), all involved and/or strong supporters of the RA program. Registered Apprenticeships are recognized by the USDOL. After completing 4,000 hours of on-the-job training and classroom learning, and working with mentors, the apprentices will receive a nationally recognized credential from USDOL.

"Our Registered Apprenticeship Program provides another opportunity for Habitat for Humanity of Omaha to support Nebraskans in their goals to build strength, stability and independence," said Amanda Brewer, Habitat Omaha Chief Executive Officer. "We see every day in our work to create quality, affordable housing how these outcomes are transformational not just for individuals but for our entire community."

Companies interested in starting a Registered Apprenticeship program should contact Elliott Cain at elliott.cain@nebraska.gov or Scott Asmus at scott.asmus@nebraska.gov. Job seekers interested in participating in a RA should contact their local Nebraska Department of Labor office. More information is also available on the Department's YouTube channel and at dol.nebraska.gov.

Finally, The Nebraska State Fair wrapped up its season on Labor Day, Sept. 2. District 17 was well represented by 4-H members from all three counties. I saw lots of Blue Ribbon performances! Hope you had a chance to get out and see it. Kudos to the Fair Board for providing shuttle transportation from the parking area, making the trek easier for everyone! Already looking forward to next year.

Growing leaders in 4-H School Lunches

Leadership is defined as the ability to influence and support others in a positive way to meet a common goal.

4-H offers many leadership opportunities in many capacities to help each member reach their full potential. Every child is capable to become a leader.

Leadership with youth participants helps create an environment that encourages all members to develop skills, imagination, and creativity so that they can contribute to a project or vision of the goal and purpose they are trying to achieve.

4-H is an organization that can help give leadership opportunities to youth who have a desire and crave these skills. Youth who build these skills along with all contributing members will become successful adults. As a 4-H leader, you must play that role in encouraging kids and offering them many different hands-on experiences to help build confidence and grow those necessary leadership skills. Youth need to be given experiences to use strategic thinking, problem solving and decision making skills on their own. Win or lose; success or failure these opportunities will help mold the leaders of tomorrow.

4-H provides an environment to "try" their leadership skills in many different roles such as club officers, committee chairs and members, event planners, mentors, role models and other roles during their 4-H career. With the assistance of adult volunteers, they can complete these roles and work towards using the skills gained in many different levels of 4-H as well as in other youth organizations that participate in. In addition to leadership opportunities within the club, consider your community.

Have members do a needs assessment of the community and see what their skills can be used for. Whether a book drive for local youth, a food drive, highway clean up or simply visiting home-bound residents, youth will not only be developing leadership skills, but also making a difference in their community and making connections with leaders in the community that can help support and maybe even fund future endeavors.

Building leadership skills in 4-H can lead to accomplishments and the success that youth will carry with them into their future careers and lives. Developing communication skills, conflict resolution skills, teamwork, confidence, public speaking skills, and the ability to standing up for what they believe in, setting goals, being creative, and making to a decision are skills youth will use for the rest of their lives.

To learn more about becoming a leader in 4-H, contact your local Nebraska Extension Office.

The Prairie Doc

Understanding Dementia

Over a six-month period, a 78-year-old businessman with a clever wit and superb leadership skills became less able to talk. He gradually became more confused and lost his ability to learn new things. In the end, he lost his capacity to swallow well and started inhaling some liquids and food until finally pneumonia gently shuffled him off this mortal coil.

Dementia is a progressive deterioration of intellect, memory and social skills which, by definition, interferes with normal activities and relationships. It is an umbrella term which includes various types and causes. Alzheimer's disease and vascular disease (caused by small and large strokes) make up the lion's share of dementias. Other rarer forms of dementia include frontotemporal dementia, Lewy body dementia, traumatic brain injury and various combinations of any of these conditions.

Classic Alzheimer's accounts for more than 60 percent of dementias. Early symptoms include recent memory loss or loss of the ability to learn a new thing. Until very late in the disease, people with Alzheimer's usually retain the capacity to walk normally. Gait abnormalities, by comparison, are usually found with most of the other causes of dementia. It is important to note that some people can have gait abnormalities without dementia. (Try to walk a mile a day, if you are able.)

The prevalence of dementia increases with age. Five percent of those aged 71 to 79 have dementia, while the incidence increases to 38 to 50 percent in those 90 or older. This also means more than 50 percent of the very old DO NOT HAVE DEMENTIA.

Your care provider should evaluate and treat, if apropos, some of often reversible or temporary causes for dementia-like symptoms. These include depression, low thyroid, certain infections, multiple sclerosis, low blood sugars, too low or too high sodium or calcium, chronic alcohol use, malnutrition (along with vitamin B1, B12 and D deficiency), dehydration, bleeding under the lining of the skull of the brain, poisoning from heavy metals or pesticides, smoking, high levels of carbon monoxide (check your furnace), low levels of oxygen, moderate to severe sleep apnea, brain tumors, any major medical illness and, last but not least, side effects from certain medications (especially tranquilizers like Ativan or Xanax). Look at that list again and make sure those conditions are considered when you or your loved one is first being evaluated for dementia.

Beware of scammers, who are thick as thieves, looking to sell you false treatments. For more credible information about dementia, go to medlineplus.gov. There is no changing the devastating nature of dementia but knowing all about it can help.

In our world today, we need to focus on love

"The heart of the human being aspires to great things, lofty values, deep friendships, ties that are strengthened rather than broken by the trials of life. The human being aspires to love and to be loved. This is our deepest aspiration: to love and be loved; and definitively." —Pope Francis

I have struggled lately on how to address the pain and suffering that we have in our world today. It seems every day I hear about political scandal, social injustice, racial divisions and mass shootings. I decided that instead of focusing on the negatives of the world I would instead focus on Love. I have decided to use the words of a man I greatly admire — Pope Francis.

When Pope Francis speaks about the universal human desire "to love and be loved," listeners sense a genuine understanding of human nature. His voice rises with excitement. He becomes animated, and a world of emotions plays across his face. Joy. Tenderness. Hope. Rage against hatred and injustice. Delight in kindness and goodness. Confidence that "all will be well," because God's love will triumph in the end.

Here are some of his most intimate thoughts about the purpose and promise of love, "the greatest power for the transformation of reality."

God takes the first step

"The first step that God takes toward us is that of a love that anticipates and is unconditional. God is the first to love. God loves us because he himself is love, and, by its very nature, love tends to spread and give itself.

Repeat it: I am sure that God loves me

"It is easy to say: God loves us. We all say it. But think a bit. Each one of us is able to ask: Am I sure that God loves me? It is not so easy to say it. But it is true. This is a good exercise, to say to oneself: God loves me. This is the root of our certainty, the root of hope. This is a certainty: God loves me. "But in this difficult moment?"—God loves me. "I, who have done this bad and cruel thing?"—God loves me. No one can take this certainty away. We must repeat it

A Word In Faith
By Amy Woerdemann
St. Mary's Catholic Church

as a prayer: God loves me. I am sure that God loves me. I am sure that God loves me."

An overflowing love

"God's forgiveness is the symbol of his overflowing love for each of us. It is the love that leaves us free to distance ourselves, like the prodigal son, but which awaits our return every day. It is the resourceful love of the shepherd for the lost sheep. It is the tenderness which welcomes each sinner who knocks at his door. The Heavenly Father—our Father—is filled, is full of love and he wants to offer it to us."

Dive into the sea of God's love

"In the weakness and frailty of our lives, we can turn to God with the confidence of children and enter into communion with him. In the face of so many wounds that hurt us and could harden our hearts, we are called to dive into the sea of prayer, which is the sea of God's boundless love, to taste his tenderness."

The love of God never leaves us

"God is love. And we move toward the light to find the love of God. But is God's love within us, even in the dark moments? Is the love of God there, hidden away? Yes, always! The love of God never leaves us. It is always with us.

Bring love and peace to all

"Some people ask how it is possible to speak of good news when so many people around us are suffering. Where is the good news when so much injustice, poverty, and misery cast a shadow over us and our world? But I want a very clear message to go out from this place. I want people to know that you are not afraid to believe in the good news of God's mercy, because it has a name and a face: Jesus Christ. As messengers of this good news, you are ready to bring a word of hope to the Church, to your own country, and to the wider world. You are ready to bring good news for your suffering brothers and sisters who need your prayers and your solidarity, but also your enthusiasm for human rights, for justice, and for the growth of that "love and peace" which Jesus brings."

I pray that one of his messages spoke to you and touched something deep within your heart. Today, more than ever, the world needs a revolution of tenderness. We need to acknowledge the suffering that is going on in our world today but not feed it with more suffering....we need to combat it with love and compassion for our friends, family and neighbors.

"Far from being reduced to sentimentalism, tenderness is the first step in overcoming the withdrawal into oneself, to emerge from the self-centeredness that ruins human freedom. God's tenderness leads us to understand that love is the meaning of life." ~Pope Francis

When only a miracle will do

By Clint Decker
Hope For Today

Clay Center, Kan. — For nearly 10 years I served inmates in our small rural county jail as a minister, and saw over 100 of them come through our Bible studies and annual Christmas outreaches. They were there because of drugs, alcohol, theft, sexual violations and more. Men and women. Young and old. While they sat with me in their white and orange jail issued clothes, I would often say, "When you were young and thought about the future, none of you set out to be in jail. You are here because something went wrong."

Have you ever known someone, where at some point, something went terribly wrong and one bad decision seemed to pile on another? And maybe you thought, "If they continue down this path, outside of a miracle of God, they are going to wind up in either jail, the hospital, on the street or dead?"

Jesus told a story about a young man like this. One day he came to his father in a spirit of anger and hate and demanded his inheritance while his father still lived. His dad amazingly and graciously complied and gave his younger son what he wanted. Then his son packed up his belongings and abruptly left home and family. He travelled far away to a large and bustling city, where bad decisions began to mount. Jesus said he, "squandered his property in reckless living" (Luke 15:13) and eventually he spent everything he had been given. And things got worse when a famine hit the region. He became penniless, friendless, jobless, foodless and homeless. At this point in his life, his dad described him dead and lost. Something had gone wrong and he was speeding head-first down a path of destruction and ruin. His only hope was a miracle.

And that is what began to happen! God's invisible hand was mysteriously working on the young man's heart, where in a moment of wise reflection he said to himself, "How many of my father's hired servants have more than enough bread, but I perish here with hunger!" (Luke 15:17) This led to a key turning point where he stood up and began a long and discouraging walk back home.

While still a long way out, his father saw him and immediately ran to meet him. After the father's compassionate embrace, his son began his humble confession, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son" (Luke 15:21). Wow! That was all his dad needed to hear, when he said, "For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found.' And they began to celebrate (Luke 15:24).

That miracle caused the young man's life to go from death to life and ruin to overflowing joy. What everyone else thought was impossible; God knew was possible.

This is what Jesus was sent from heaven to earth for. This is why he died and rose again. To do miracles just like this. When people are living for themselves and leaving a wake of heartache and pain wherever they go, it is easy to get frustrated and angry with them, to look down at them and write them off. But God is merciful and patient. He does not treat any of us as we deserve. Instead, in His kindness, He keeps drawing us to Himself until we humble ourselves and surrender all to Him.

A prayer for you - "Lord God, I pray for those who are living destructive lives. God, you are their only hope. Intervene, I pray. Save their physical lives and their eternal souls from destruction. Open their spiritual eyes to see the danger they are facing, then mercifully bring them to repentance that they might live again. In Jesus' name. Amen."

Future of Ag Banquet

Wayne County Farm Bureau sponsored the third annual Future of Ag Banquet in Randolph on Aug. 24. Jerry's Hilltop in Randolph catered the meal. The fundraiser included a free-will donation meal and auction. The Peterson Farm Brothers did a presentation on how they raise agricultural awareness through parody music videos on YouTube featuring their family farm in Kansas. Today, they tour all over the country speaking, performing and connecting consumers to farmers and ranchers with their original music videos. Approximately 200 people were in attendance from the Wayne and Randolph communities. Funds raised will be divided between the two FFA chapters. "A huge Thank you to everyone who made this a successful fundraiser to support our Wayne and Randolph FFA Chapters," said Chris McGuire, President of the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

Local youth take part in 2019 Elite Showman competition

The Nebraska State Fair ended on a high note with one of the biggest livestock competitions of the season. 4-H and FFA champions from around the state came together to represent their counties and participate in the 14th annual Nebraska Elite Showman competition this weekend.

Local youth take part were Katelyn Pehrson of Dixon County and Jamie Janke of Wayne County.

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) and the Nebraska Rural Radio Association coordinate this event in cooperation with the Nebraska State Fair.

"I'm pleased that NDA and our partners are able to coordinate and sponsor events like the Elite Showman Competition to reward 4-H and FFA students for their hard work and dedication to Nebraska agriculture," said NDA Director Steve Wellman. "Congratulations to the winners and to all of the participants for making this year's Elite Showman Competition so exceptional."

Elite Showmen competitors must be between 14-18 years of age and enrolled in 4-H or FFA. Counties are able to select only one student to represent them to compete at the Elite Showman competition at the State Fair. Agricultural business and organizations generously contribute to the contest in order for the winners to receive prize money along with their statewide recognition.

In this year's Nebraska Elite Showman Competition, 34 participants represented their counties. Competitors are scored on beef, swine, sheep and goat showmanship, as well as interview skills and knowledge via a written test. Along with first, second and third place overall winners, winners are selected for each division. The top overall Elite Showman receives $2,000, the second place finisher receives $1,000 and the third place overall winner receives $500. Division winners are awarded $300 each. All other competitors receive a $50 prize.

Raising kids, not house plants Fair Results

We have a conservative college friend who now lives in South Dakota who must spend a lot of time on his computer. For one thing, he's unhappily living alone, and for another, is dealing with a lot of back pain, which keeps him less mobile. I can relate.

Last week, he sent a series of photos of young people; the first said they were dying of the Black Plague (must have been in about 1500). The second showed some very young boys and girls working 16 hour days. I know I've read about kids as young as five rolling cigars, and very young small boys in mines because they could get into small spaces. I think we all know there was a lot of abuse of children in the 18th century; if we didn't know, we could read Dickens.

The third scene was a war zone

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

and it said "we fought a war" and of course, you only had to be eighteen to be drafted.

Finally, in color, young college students holding their heads in their hands, saying they were offended! Point taken.

I'm with Ben Sasse on this; you must see that your youngster spends at least one summer detasseling corn so they know what hot, dirty work is. One couple in our Home Owner's Association has a granddaughter in Boston who comes to her uncle's farm at Raymond every summer and detassels with her cousin to earn big bucks. When she goes back, she tells her friends she's been to "Corn Camp". I think it's great!

I marvel at kids who attend one sports camp after another in summer, and play on elite teams that travel all over the country. I picked up a copy of Sports Illustrated in the doctor's office the other day and read an article about how we are getting these young, mature, well-trained quarterbacks in college; most have been working with private coaches since eighth grade!

I'm even taken aback by those athletes who skip the last semester of their high school years to get an early start in college and get that play book memorized. I think they miss so many milestone events in their senior year when they do that. I'm just too sentimental for that; besides, what will they have to put in their scrap books if they aren't there for the last prom, senior sneak, and graduation?

Let's let them be kids, but let's not raise hot house plants, either. There must be a happy medium. The trick is to find it.

Frogeye leaf spot in soybeans discussed

In a year when it seems like we've seen just about anything possible that could go wrong in our soybean fields... from too much rain and delayed planting, to too dry, to hail, to soybean gall midge, to delayed canopying and poor weed control, to herbicide-resistant weeds, and let's not forget about all of those thistle caterpillars... now another problem is starting to show up in some soybean fields in northeast Nebraska. Frogeye leaf spot is a fungal soybean disease that has been spreading across the state.

Frogeye leaf spot infection can occur at any stage of soybean development, but most often occurs after flowering and is typically in the upper portion of the canopy. Initial symptoms are small, dark spots on the leaves. These spots eventually enlarge to about 1/4 inch and the centers of the lesions become gray to tan and have a reddish-purple margin. Individual leaf spots can coalesce to create irregular patterns of blighting on the leaf. Frogeye leaf spot can be difficult to identify because it is easily mistaken for other diseases and disorders such as herbicide injury.

Unfortunately we do not have good thresholds on when you need to treat for frogeye, or a lot of the other fungal foliar diseases. That is because the variety's resistance to a disease and the stage of growth play a big role in disease development. Generally, the later it is in a plant's development, the less likely you are to see an economic return from a fungicide application. Treatments at R3 to R4 are more effective while treatments after R5 to R6 rarely give an economic return over the cost of the application.

John Wilson
Extension Educator

Also, how fast these diseases develop is largely dependent on the weather. Frogeye leaf spot is most severe when warm, humid weather with frequent rain persists for extended periods. Several days of overcast weather also favor disease development and spread. Overhead irrigation may increase the risk of severe frogeye leaf spot compared to flood or furrow irrigation or dryland production systems.

In the past, QoI (or strobilurin) fungicides have been used and were quite effective at controlling this disease. However, most populations of this disease in states where it has been present longer have developed resistance to this family of fungicides. There have been four counties in Iowa and another four counties in South Dakota where this resistance has been confirmed. This resistance is also suspected in two fields in Nebraska and more testing is currently being done to confirm if this is a resistant strain of the disease.

If you sprayed a soybean field with a straight QoI or strobilurin fungicide and it did not appear to slow the development and spread of this disease, please contact your local Nebraska Extension office. We would like to test a sample from that field to determine if resistance is present and how widespread this problem is. Please collect a gallon food storage bag of symptomatic leaves prior to an additional fungicide application, refrigerate the sample, and then take it to your local Extension office who will forward it to the UNL Plant & Pest Diagnostic Clinic.

Frogeye leaf spot's effect on yield can vary greatly, depending on disease timing, varietal susceptibility to this disease, and weather conditions during soybean reproductive stages. However, severe cases of frogeye leaf spot have resulted in yield losses of 30 percent or more.

If you have a problem with frogeye leaf spot in your soybeans this year, there are several things you can do to reduce the problem in future years.

• Many soybean varieties have partial or complete resistance to this disease. Visit with your seed dealer and try to identify varieties with the Rcs3 gene. Also, planting high-quality, certified seed will reduce the risk of introducing infected seed into a field.

• Crop rotation helps reduce the disease that overwinters on plant debris left in the field, but a corn-soybean rotation may not be long enough to reduce the problem in fields with a severe problem. Where erosion is not a problem, tillage will reduce the amount of the fungus available to infect the next soybean crop.

• Well-timed foliar fungicide applications can effectively control frogeye leaf spot. Fungicides applied during pod development (R3-R4) are most effective for managing this disease and protecting against yield losses.

For more information on identification and control of frogeye leaf spot in your soybean fields, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

Become a certified youth fishing instructor this fall

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission will certify youth fishing instructors in Lincoln and North Platte this fall.

Workshop participants will receive training and tools to conduct youth fishing clinics. These volunteers will have access to Nebraska Game and Parks Commission loaner fishing equipment and educational materials for events. They also will receive program incentives.

Instructors are a key part of Game and Parks' Youth Fishing Program, and they are encouraged to volunteer for such Game and Parks programs as Community Fishing Nights and the Outdoor Expos.

The workshops, which are scheduled from 2-6 p.m., are:

Sept. 29 - Nebraska Game and Parks Outdoor Education Center, 4703 N. 44th St., Lincoln

Fall Weed Control

We normally think of weed control as a summer activity. Sometimes the difficulty of controlling winter annuals means we need to change our focus. Problem winter annuals such as marestail may require a different game plan than we use with most weeds we need to control in our fields.

Summer annual weeds act much like our corn, soybean, and sorghum crops - they germinate in the spring and early summer and can be controlled when they are actively growing alongside our crop or, better yet, before they sprout. Winter annuals will often germinate in the fall and grow after we harvest our crop. They will go dormant over the winter and start growing again over the summer. Unless you walk your fields, you often will not even notice them until spring when they come out of dormancy and really start to grow. Unfortunately, they can be more difficult to control once that happens. A good example is marestail after it starts to bolt.

A good way to get on top of this problem is to use a fall herbicide that has some residual effect as well and killing weeds already growing. These fall herbicide options are often very reasonably priced and can give you a little extra time to get your spring herbicides on before significant weed pressure hits your fields. In this week's Agronomy Focus video that can be found online at cvcoop.com, Thad Russell, Field Sales Agronomist from our Hampton, Neb. location, and I discuss this issue and talk about strategies to control problem winter annuals such as marestail.
