School board approves budget, debates property purchase

By Clara Osten

A budget that is virtually unchanged in tax asking from last year and whether or not to move forward in an attempt to purchase property adjacent to Wayne High School were among the items on the agenda when the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education met in regular session on Monday.

The meeting began with a budget hearing and tax request hearing in which Superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan provided information on the proposed budget for the 2019-2020 year. He noted that while the General Fund request was slightly higher than last year's request, the Building Fund request was slightly lower.

Lenihan told the board and those in the audience the district's total tax asking was $9.672 million. This amounts to a tax rate of $1.0279 per $100 of property valuation.

During the regular portion of the meeting, the board unanimously approved the budget. It will now be submitted to the state of Nebraska, Wayne County and the Nebraska Department of Education prior to the Sept. 20 deadline.

Following discussion in an executive session, the board took no action on the purchase of a piece of property just west of the Wayne Junior-Senior High School parking lot.

During open session, board member Lynn Junck said he did not see where the purchase would fit into the long-term facility plan.

"It doesn't make sense to buy this property. We would just be taking money away from something else," Junck said.

Board member Jodi Pulfer agreed, saying "we don't have a specific plan for the property at this point. A feasibility study may show we don't need it."

In other action, the board approved the creation of a Kids Club account to be used in conjunction with the teaching of financial literacy at Wayne Elementary School. A state-wide program will be used with the students to teach about the importance of saving money for the future.

Lenihan presented enrollment statistics for the district for this school year.

He noted that in Pre-K through 12th grade, the total enrollment is 980 students. Additionally, services are being provided to nine youth in the birth to two year age category, bringing the total enrollment to 989 students. This compares to 948 students for the 2018-2019 school year.

He told the board that there is currently a waiting list for the four-year old preschool and discussed possible options for providing for these students.

Written reports were presented from administrators and included information on the number of students in each specific class at the high school, statistics from the summer school program and information on a program entitled Behavior Flip that is being used with the junior high school students.

Athletic Director Dennis Dolliver reported on the fact that the number of students involved in athletics is down across the country. He also expressed thanks to the Wayne Athletic Boosters for all their contributions, both financially and in volunteering of time, to the school.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Oct. 14 at 5 p.m.

Mumps cases identified in northeast Nebraska

Eleven cases of mumps have been identified in the Northeast Nebraska Health District (Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne Counties) in the past month.

Pender Public Schools reported a confirmed case of the mumps at the school on Sept. 3. In a letter sent out to parents and guardians, the administration stated:

"We feel it is our duty to inform you that PPS now has a confirmed case of mumps in the building...It is important to note that the individual in this confirmed case was immunized and left the building immediately upon becoming aware of symptoms.

While that was an important step to take, the individual was unknowingly contagious for a few days prior to the onset of any symptoms."

The letter goes on to recommend everyone at the school assume they have been exposed to the virus and take precautions and be mindful of their own health. Administration also stressed that they are doing all that they can to take precautions to stop the spread of mumps in the school.

On a larger scale, Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD) is working with partners including schools, medical clinics, the State of Nebraska Health Department and others to control the spread of the disease and educate people about the symptoms, spread and prevention of mumps.

One of the most important steps someone can take to prevent getting and spreading the disease is to make sure they and their loved ones are up-to-date with the MMR vaccine.

Mumps is a viral illness that causes swelling of glands in the jaw and neck. Other symptoms may include, earache, fever, jaw pain, fatigue, testicular pain and muscle aches. If a person is experiencing mumps symptoms they should contact their doctor to ask if they need to be seen or tested. Because mumps is a viral infection, antibiotics are not a treatment option; it may be helpful to treat the symptoms, like pain and fever, with over the counter medications.

Mumps is very contagious. People with symptoms can spread the germs to others from three days before symptoms start until five days after symptoms start. The virus can also pass to others as long as there is swelling in the jaw or neck. Those who have symptoms need to stay home and away from others during this time to help limit the spread. The mumps virus is spread by coughing, sneezing and sharing saliva. To prevent the spread of mumps:

- Always cover your nose and mouth when you cough or sneeze.
- Throw away used tissues and other similar objects appropriately.
- Wash hands often.
- Do not share drinking glasses, eating utensils, water bottles, etc.
- Stay home and away from others if you are sick.

People who have had mumps are likely to be immune to the virus. If a person has had their shots, they are less likely, but still could become infected because over time immunity decreases.

Officials from the NNPHD said, "We think that people who are younger are better protected because they got their shots more recently. Those who have not had their shots or are behind on their shots should consider getting these now by calling their doctor, the public immunization clinic (NENCAP 800-445-2505) or their pharmacy. Women who are pregnant and people with weakened immune systems are at increased risk of having problems from the disease."

Anyone with questions is asked to visit cdc.gov/mumps or to contact NNPHD at (402) 375-2200. Follow Northeast Nebraska Health Department on Facebook and Twitter to get the latest updates.

Ken Burns' 'Country Music' premieres on NET in September

Step back in time and journey through the compelling history of a truly American art form when "Country Music" premieres in September on NET, Nebraska's PBS and NPR Stations.

The new eight-part, 16-hour film directed by Ken Burns and produced by Burns and his long-time collaborators Dayton Duncan and Julie Dunfee, airs at 7 p.m. CT, Sunday, Sept. 15 through Wednesday, Sept. 18, and continues Sunday, Sept. 22 through Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The program repeats each night at 9 p.m. CT, except for Tuesday, Sept. 24, when it repeats at 10:30 p.m. CT. The series will stream on station-branded PBS platforms, including PBS.org and PBS apps.

The documentary, written by Duncan, chronicles the highs and lows of country music's early days, from southern Appalachia's songs of struggle, heartbreak and faith to the rollicking Western swing of Texas, California's honky-tonks and Nashville's Grand Ole Opry.

The film follows the evolution of country music over the course of the 20th century as it eventually emerges to become "America's music."

"Country Music" explores crucial questions: "What is country music?" and "Where did it come from?" It focuses on the biographies of the fascinating trailblazers who created and shaped it, including the Carter

Family, Jimmie Rodgers, Bill Monroe, Bob Wills, Hank Williams, Patsy Cline, Johnny Cash, Merle Haggard, Loretta Lynn, Charley Pride, Willie Nelson, Dolly Parton, Emmylou Harris, Garth Brooks and many more. It also dives into the times in which they lived, and, much like the music itself, the film tells unforgettable stories of hardships and joys shared by everyday people.

In advance of the premiere of "Country Music," NET debuted the two-hour special, "Country Music: Live at the Ryman, A Concert Celebrating the Film by Ken Burns" on Sept. 8.

Hosted by Burns, the show features performances and appearances by celebrated musicians Dierks Bentley, Rosanne Cash, Rhiannon Giddens, Vince Gill, Kathy Mattea, Marty Stuart, Dwight Yoakam and more.

NET, Nebraska's PBS & NPR Stations, is the statewide public media service dedicated to creating opportunities for Nebraskans to engage with critical issues, compelling stories and quality entertainment. DHHS reminds residents to avoid wild animals including bats and vaccinate pets

Late summer is prime time for bat activity in Nebraska and Nebraskans should take care to avoid rabies exposure as the season wanes,

Highway 35 closed southwest of Hubbard

The Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) previously announced an unplanned closure of Highway 35. After evaluation by NDOT personnel and the contractor, it has been determined that Highway 35 must be closed for a period of time to facilitate work on the box culvert and to repair an embankment failure.

Highway 35 will be closed three miles southwest of Hubbard. The closure began on Sept. 9 and work is anticipated to be completed in October 2019.

Traffic should follow the marked detour onto Highways 9 and 20.

according to state health officials.

"Bats are responsible for carrying much of the rabies virus in Nebraska," said Dr. Bryan Buss, State Public Health Veterinarian for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. "We're well into the peak time of the year for bat activity. People should be cautious around bats and other wild animals, like skunks, which are another common rabies carrier."

Fifteen animals have tested positive for rabies so far this year, 12 of them bats.

In addition to bats and skunks, other wildlife such as foxes, coyotes and raccoons can have rabies and transmit it to people. Rabies is caused by a virus that affects the nervous system and is transmitted by the bite of an infected animal or if saliva from a rabid animal gets directly into an open wound or a person's eyes, nose or mouth. Rabies is generally fatal without preventive treatment.

Help prevent the spread of rabies by following these tips:

- Be a responsible animal owner. Keep vaccinations up-to-date for all dogs, cats, ferrets and other animals.

- Seek immediate veterinary assistance for a pet if it's bitten by a wild animal or exposed to a bat.

- Call local animal control agency about removing stray animals in neighborhoods.

- Do not touch, feed, or unintentionally attract wild animals with open garbage cans or litter.

- Never adopt wild animals or bring them into the home. Do not try to nurse sick, wild animals to health. Call animal control or an animal rescue agency for assistance.

- Teach children never to handle unfamiliar animals, wild or domestic, even if they appear friendly. "Love your own, leave other animals alone" is a good principle for children to reduce the risk of contact with rabid animals.

- Maintain homes and other buildings so bats can't get inside.
- If a bat is in the house, don't let it outside until speaking to animal control or public health officials.

What to do about direct contact with a bat:

- If a person has been bitten or wakes up and find a bat in the room, they should try to safely capture the bat and have it tested. The same precautions should be used if one sees a bat in a room with an unattended child.

- For those who have been in close proximity to, had direct contact with, or been bitten by a bat, consult a doctor or local health department for assistance to determine if exposure to rabies may have occurred and preventive treatment is needed.

- People might know when they've been bitten by a bat but its small teeth can make a bite mark difficult to find. It's better to be safe than sorry. Try to safely capture the bat or call animal control and have the bat tested.

No human cases of rabies have occurred among Nebraskans since the 1920s.

College Savings Month is the perfect time to plan for the future

By John Murante
Nebraska State Treasurer

With back-to-school season in full swing, it seems education is the topic on everyone's mind—and for some, it might prompt discussions about higher education. Even if your child is just starting grade school, the thought of one day paying for college expenses can feel daunting. Fortunately, September is College Savings Month: the perfect opportunity to begin building a plan of action and working towards securing a stable financial foundation for your child's academic future.

This month, I encourage you to evaluate your options, which include beginning to save or increasing your savings in a NEST 529 College Savings account. From one parent to another, here are some additional tips for developing your savings strategy:

- Tailor your action plan. Assess your unique situation: what portion of your child's educational expenses do you plan to cover? How much and how often can you afford to contribute? Identify and lay out a list of objectives based on your specific needs, and hone in on the individualized option that best suits your family.

- Start sooner rather than later. You can start saving for college at any point in your child's life—but of course, it is best to begin at an early age. The sooner you do, the more you will be able to save—and, if you opt for a 529 plan, the longer your savings will have to grow. The big picture: every dollar you set aside now is one less that you will have to borrow and pay back.

- Use your resources. Seek out additional savings opportunities whenever possible. For instance, contribute extra money from tax returns, salary raises or bonuses towards your child's college fund. Additionally, stay on top of upcoming NEST 529 bonuses and scholarship drawings for the chance to increase your savings at www.NEST529.com/scholarships.

- Automate your savings. For greater convenience, it can be wise to set up an automatic way to contribute to your 529 plan. With payroll deduction direct deposit, a portion of your paycheck can be sent directly to your 529 account. You can also automatically contribute directly from your personal checking or savings account by using the Automatic Investment Plan (AIP). It couldn't be simpler: just set it, forget it, and watch your savings grow.

- Tap into loved ones. Whether gifting for a birthday, holiday or special occasion, financial stability is one of the greatest gifts your child can receive. Consider asking friends and relatives to contribute toward your child's college savings account instead of purchasing a gift.

- Get answers from the pros. Don't be afraid to ask questions. Navigating your child's financial future can be tricky, but you don't have to steer the ship alone. Reach out to a trusted financial advisor, or take advantage of our team at clientservice@nest529direct.com.

As soon as you begin the initial planning and preparation process, you'll find the pathway to higher education isn't as challenging as you imagined—and that saving in advance is well worth the effort. Here's to a new school year, and to helping fuel your child's dreams for the academic future and beyond. Wishing you the best of luck every step of the way.

WSC guest lecture recital examines gender in song

Gender in song is a complex issue. If a set of poems reflecting a women's perspective is authored by man and then composed into song by another man, is the perspective maintained? Should the songs be sung by a female or male vocalist?

Dr. Steven Soebbing, bass-baritone, explores gender in song during a Guest Lecture Recital, Monday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in Ley Theatre at Wayne State College. Frauenliebe und -leben: Gendered Singing in Song examines the historical context of women versus men singing from a woman's view. Soebbing's goal is to provoke conversation regarding gender specificity.

Frauenliebe und -leben or Woman's Love and Life was written by German poet Adelbert von Chamisso in 1830. The poems express a woman's love from courtship through marriage and widowhood. German composer Robert Schumann set the poems to music in 1840. The eight-song cycle is lyrical and emotive. Historically, male vocalists received critical reviews when performing this song cycle. Soebbing's recital format, which includes discussion of the issues involved, has generated positive dialog.

Soebbing earned his doctor of musical arts from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He serves as instructor of music and theatre at John Wood Community College in Quincy, Ill.

This recital includes piano accompaniment by WSC staff accompanist Shelly Armstrong. The performance is free and open to the public. For more information, contact the WSC Music Department at (402) 375-7359.

Earl Norman of Wayne fulfilled a lifelong dream again this last summer, as he made his journey across country on this touring bicycle.

He made his first trip last year after he retired at age 67 from Wayne State College, where he had been the engineer for the college radio station for 11 years.

Last year Norman had travelled across the country, starting June 6 and ending on July 31, his 68th birthday. At that time, he traveled by himself, meeting people along the way.

"I enjoyed the solitude by myself, it wasn't lonely. I had a chance to meet a variety of people throughout the trip," he said.

Enrollment at Wayne State Teachers college, which is about the same as last term, is the largest of the four Nebraska teachers colleges. The fact that the four institutions have done as well in attendance during war time is highly gratifying to the administration of the schools as well as the state board of education which met in regular session in Lincoln Monday.

Budgets for the institutions were discussed by the board Monday though no action was taken.

The release of J.H. Morrison, who has been in service with the Red Cross in England nearly two years has not been secured. But the local college administration is hopeful of his return to his duties as physical education director for men during the school year.

Dr. J.T. Anderson and Dr. Walter Benthack attended the state board meeting. Their wives accompanied them.

Wildcats start season with four-match win streak

The Wayne State volleyball team had no problems running the table at the Missouri Southern Tournament over the weekend in Joplin, Mo., easily defeating all four opponents to start the season 4-0.

On Friday, the Wildcats opened the season with a straight-set victory over Cameron (Okla.), 26-24, 25-10, 25-11.

Freshman Kelsie Cada and junior Maddie Knobbe combined for 25 kills with a .466 attack percentage to power the Wildcats in the victory. The first set was close with Wayne State leading the entire match until Cameron scored three straight points to take their lone lead of the set at 22-21. Wayne State countered with a Tarrin Beller kill and a service ace from redshirt freshman setter Rachel Walker to take the lead for good. Cada recorded six kills in the opening set followed by Beller with five to pace the Wildcat attack.

In the second set, the Wildcats used an efficient attack posting a .464 percentage with 15 kills and just two attack errors. Junior Jaci Brahmmer accounted for five kills while senior libero Haley Kauth notched two service aces with six digs for the Wildcats.

Wayne State's defense took over in the third set as the 'Cats forced nine attack errors on Cameron for a -.107 attack percentage to go with two blocks and Wayne State completed the sweep. Cada and Knobbe were each credited with four kills in the set.

Cada and Knobbe reached double figures in kills to lead WSC with 13 and 12, respectively. Kauth topped the 'Cats with 11 digs followed by defensive specialist Hope Carter with 10. Kauth had three of Wayne State's eight service aces while Beller and Knobbe each had three blocks.

In the second game of the day Friday, Carter recorded seven service aces and a team-high 16 digs to lead the Wildcats in a 25-12, 25-11 and 25-13 sweep of Southwestern Oklahoma State.

Wayne State never trailed in the match. Carter established her serving prowess in the opening set, recording three straight service aces to put the 'Cats in front 5-0. The 'Cats finished with six service aces in the set and used five kills from senior outside hitter Katie Stephens to post the easy win.

The second set saw the 'Cats force eight attack errors on SWOSU and had three blocks. Carter added another three aces in the set to go with six digs while Tarrin Beller produced a team-high five kills.

The Wildcats completed the sweep in the third with a convincing effort, hitting .395 as a team with 17 kills and just two attack errors. Cada had five kills and five digs while Carter added one more service ace in the third set to go with seven digs to cap her stellar outing.

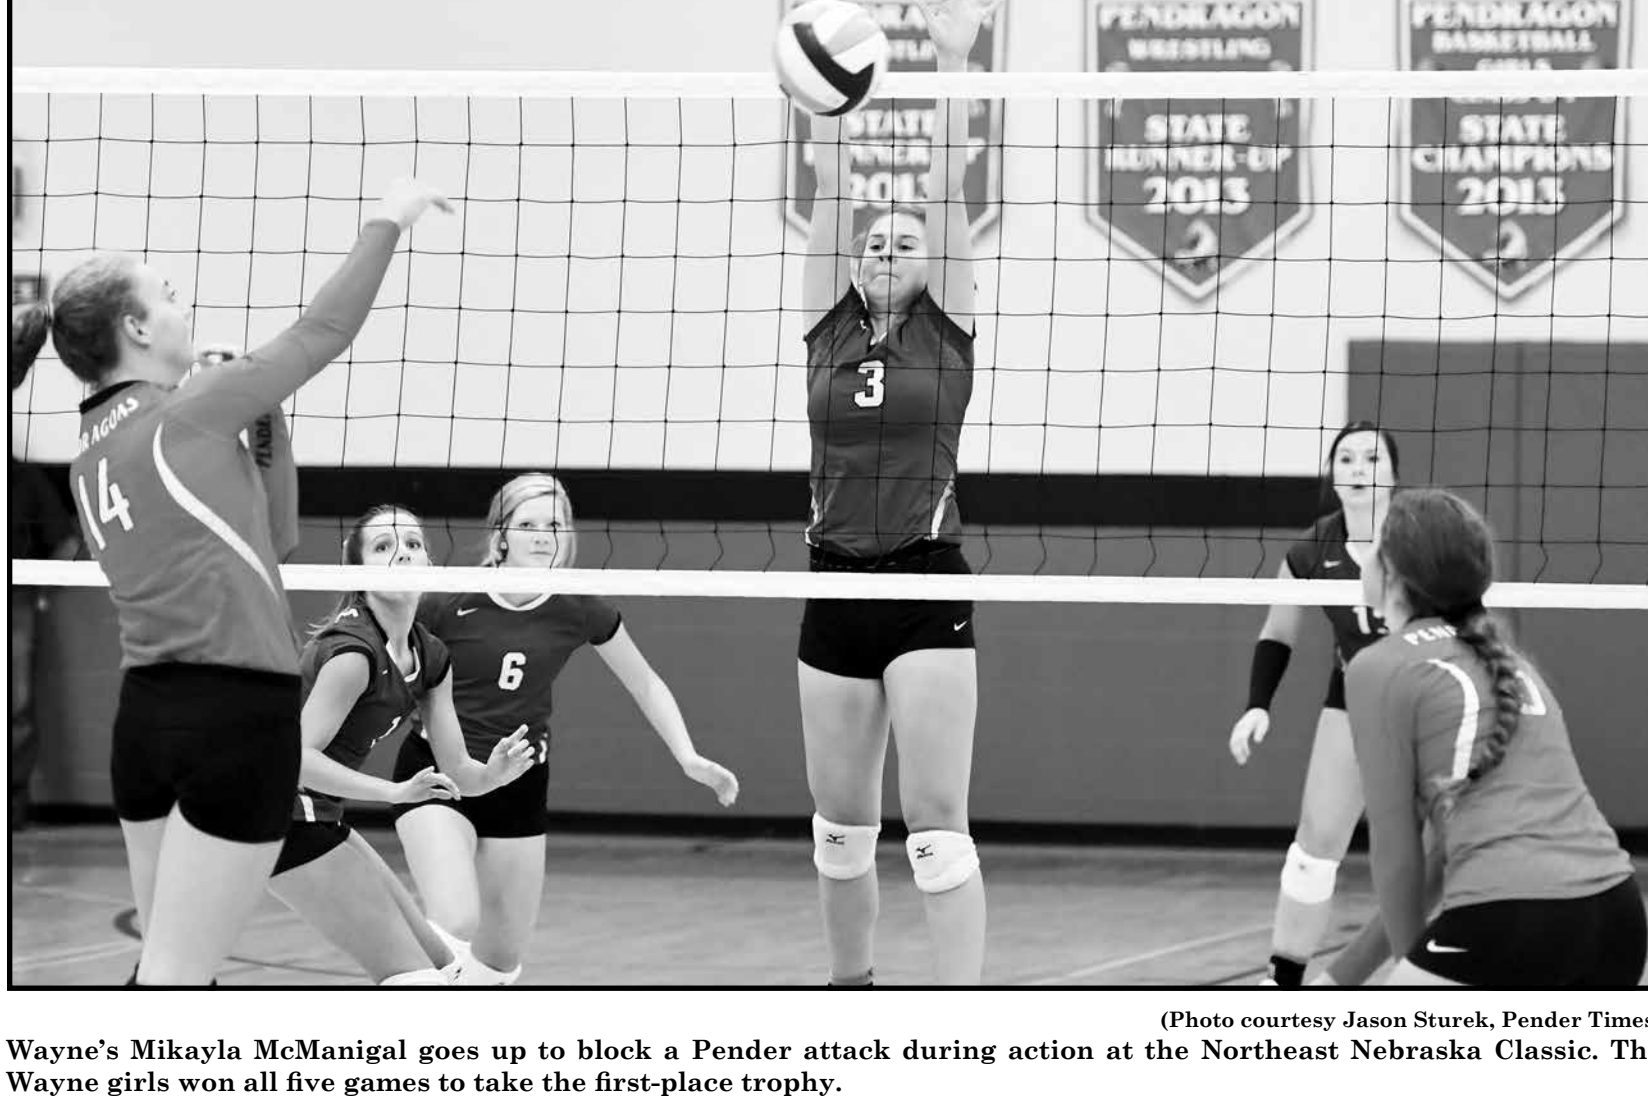

Carter led Wayne State in the match with seven service aces, tied for the second most in a single match by a Wildcat player in school history. She also notched a team-high 16 digs.

Beller and Cada each had nine kills to lead a balanced hitting attack, followed by Maddie Knobbe and Stephens with seven kills apiece. Cada also had 11 digs with Kauth adding 10 while redshirt freshman setter Rachel Walker handed out 37 set assists.

On Saturday, Wayne State forced 20 attack errors with seven blocks, holding Black Hills State to a .037 attack percentage, as the Wildcats cruised to a 25-16, 25-16, 25-17 win. The 'Cats trailed just once in the first set at 5-4, then used serving streaks from Morgan Alexander and Cada to take a 12-6 lead. The Wildcats cruised the rest of the set, forcing eight Black Hills State attack errors while Jaci Brahmmer connected on five first set kills for WSC.

The second set saw WSC take an early 6-1 lead, but the Yellow Jack-rabbits rally for their lone lead of the set at 12-11. The 'Cats then used three straight points served by Walker and five in a row from Carter that included an ace as WSC took control of the set.

Wayne State jumped out to a quick 7-2 lead in the third set and never let BHSU get closer than three points as the 'Cats completed the sweep. Six different Wildcats

It looks like magic, but Wayne's Blake Bartos is tripped up by an O'Neill defender during the first half of the Blue Devils' 27-13 homecoming win over the Eagles.

Blue Devils bounce back with homecoming win

After getting steamrolled by the No. 2 team in the state to open the season, Wayne High needed a bounce-back win in their home opener Friday night.

And boy, did they get it.

The Blue Devils played well on both sides of the ball, capitalizing on an early O'Neill miscue and taking a 21-0 halftime lead on their way to a 27-13 homecoming win over the Eagles at Wayne State College's Memorial Stadium.

The Blue Devil offense was handcuffed all night in last week's 47-0 loss at Wahoo, but put together a solid effort in staking themselves to a three-touchdown advantage at the half.

After an O'Neill fumble, Wayne struck paydirt on a two-yard plunge by senior quarterback Tyrus Eischeid. Yair Alcantara's point-after kick made it a 7-0 game midway through the opening stanza.

Wayne's offense would find the end zone again later in the period when junior fullback Reid Korth galloped in from 14 yards away to make it a 14-0 lead after one quarter.

The Blue Devils got another one just before halftime. On a second-down play, after Eischeid rolled to his right and missed a receiver on the right side, the Blue Devils went back to the same play on third down and Eischeid found Noah Lutt all alone behind the O'Neill secondary. The two seniors connected with Lutt making a diving catch in the end zone to complete the 29-yard touchdown pass and give Wayne a 21-0 halftime lead.

O'Neill would make things interesting in the second half. They got on the board late in the period on a 37-yard pass from Mason Walsh to Brady Sidak, then got within a score midway through the fourth on a three-yard run by Kolby Dean.

The Blue Devils were able to put it out of reach in the closing min-

Blue Devils back on track with three wins

The Wayne High softball team erased last week's three-game losing streak with a trio of wins as they took home-field advantage to a pair of triangular wins Tuesday and an easy win on Thursday. On Tuesday, the Blue Devils got a no-hitter from Tori Kniesche to post a 2-1 win over Bishop Neumann, then shut out Highway 91 in a 12-0 whitewashing at the Summer Sports Complex. Neumann scored a run in the top of the fifth and held that lead until the bottom of the seventh when Wayne came from behind to score a pair of runs for the win. Virginia Kniesche got the winning rally started when she reached on an error and moved to second. She advanced to third on a single by Amara Hurlbert, then came home on Niki Fertig's single to center to tie the game. After a walk to Kendall Dorey, Kayla Fleming sent the first pitch she saw to right, allowing Hurlbert to come around and score the winning run. Kniesche allowed a walk and a hit batter, which accounted for the Cavaliers' run. She struck out 19 batters and finished with a no-hitter to get the win. Brooklyn Kruse had two of Wayne's five hits in the comeback win. Wayne lit up the Cyclones in the finale, scoring six in the first and four in the second before Kniesche ended the game with a two-run bomb over the wall in center field, part of a three-hit, three-RBI effort at the plate for the senior. Fleming, Fertig, Aliah Schulz and Taytum Sweetland each scored two runs in the win. Fleming and Dorey also had hits and Dorey, Kniesche, Kruse and Brianna Nissen each scored a run. Kniesche struck out eight and threw a three-inning perfect game. On Thursday, the Blue Devils had no problems with South Sioux City, limiting the Cardinals to a single hit in an 11-1 win. Eight of Wayne's 10 hits went for doubles, including two each from Schulz and Dorey. Sweetland, Kruse, Kniesche and Nissen also had doubles. Dorey scored three times and had two RBIs, Schulz scored two and drove in two, and Sweetland had three RBIs and scored twice for the 8-3 Blue Devils. Kniesche struck out nine in three innings before Dorey finished off the game with one inning of one-hit relief. Wayne plays host to Columbus Lakeview on Tuesday before heading to Tekamah-Herman on Thursday and to the Omaha Mercy Invitational on Saturday. They are at Schuyler for a triangular on Monday before returning home for a triangular with Pierce and Boone Central/Newman Grove.

'All in the Timing' delivers laugh out loud comedy to WSC's Black Box Theatre Prepare to laugh out loud as All in the Timing delivers six one-act comedies to the Black Box Theatre Oct. 3-6 at Wayne State College. Shows are 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 3-5 and 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 6.

American playwright David Ives has penned a witty, romantic, and absurd evening of theatre in "All in the Timing." In "Sure Thing," a couple on a first date try over each time they say the wrong thing. "Words, Words, Words" turns into reality the idea that given enough time, three monkeys in a room could compose any text, including Shakespeare's "Hamlet." In "The Universal Language," a shy young woman places faith in her fraudulent language tutor who changes for the better when he discovers the language of love. "Philip Glass Buys a Loaf of Bread" is an existential mini-musical parody of the works by composer Philip Glass. In "The Philadelphia," a man discovers a strange pocket of the universe where he gets what he wants by asking for the opposite. Finally, "Variations on the Death of Leon Trotsky" is a hilarious vision of the famous Marxist waxing poetic while dying, over, and over, and over again.

The Black Box Theatre is located in the Lied Performing Arts Annex of the Peterson Fine Arts Building. Tickets are $5 per person, with free admission for WSC students, faculty, and staff. Tickets are available at the door, with no reserved seats. Seating is limited. All in the Timing has a PG-13 rating for some adult humor and language.

Rusty Ruth, Assistant Professor of Communication Arts, directs the production. Brian Begley, Assistant Professor of Communication Arts, is scene, sound, and lighting designer, as well as technical director. WSC students Mary Joan Waterhouse of Spirit Lake, Iowa is stage manager and Samantha Henery of Madison, Neb. is make-up designer.

The cast and crew include WSC students: Daniel Oldenkamp of Sioux City, Iowa; Sophie Pascoe of Porirua, New Zealand; Griffin Presnell and Skyler Stefanski of Lincoln, Neb.; Caleb Cohen of Missouri Valley, Iowa; Hannah Urban of Bellevue, Neb.; Maria Ostry of Bruno, Neb.; Dakota Schroll of Wood River, Neb.; Miranda Trowbridge of Murdock, Neb.; Nathaniel Ruhl of Cairo, Neb.; Jaci Torres, Sarah Wibben, Claire Barnes, and Jack Osnes of Wayne, Neb.; Amanda Stuhr of Bellwood, Neb.; Austin Burkhardt of Winnetoon, Neb.; Benjamin Bjorklund of Wakefield, Neb.; Kaylee Moe of Homer, Neb.; Christopher Cruz of Emersion, Neb.; Sarah Eriksen of Omaha, Neb.; Michaela Timmerman of Wausa, Neb.; Isabelle Hatfield of Grand Island, Neb.; Katelyn Deschane of Milford, Neb.; and Zachary Chromy of Schuyler, Neb.

Wildcats drops season opener at Winona State

A fourth-quarter comeback was not enough for the Wayne State College football team, as they dropped their season opener Saturday with a 37-20 setback at Winona State.

Warrior placekicker Paul Ortiz booted a 25-yard field goal on the first series of the game for Winona State to account for the lone first quarter scoring. He connected on two more field goals in the second quarter – 33 and 27 yards – combined with an Owen Burke scoring pass of six yards to Dakota Matthews to give Winona State a 16-0 lead at halftime.

The Warriors took a 23-0 lead late in the third quarter when Burke fired a 31-yard scoring strike to Tyler Knutson, but Wayne State mounted a fourth-quarter comeback to make things interesting.

The Wildcats got on the board early in the fourth quarter when redshirt freshman quarterback Andy McCance found Taurean Grady on a four-yard scoring play to make the score 23-7.

Winona State added two more scores to take a 37-7 lead at the 7:57 mark of the contest, but Aaron Wright returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown to make it 37-14 with 7:41 to play, marking the third straight season that Wright has returned a kickoff for a touchdown. It was also his second career 100-yard return for a score.

Wayne State closed the scoring with 1:29 to play when Wayne sophomore Mason Lee grabbed a nine-yard scoring pass from McCance, but the Wildcats wouldn't get any closer as the Warriors came away with the win.

Winona State outgained Wayne State in the contest 546-372. The Warriors produced 324 yards through the air and 222 on the ground while the Wildcats collected 88 yards rushing and 284 passing.

McCance completed 21-of-37 passes for 284 yards with two TD's and three interceptions. Lee grabbed five receptions for 72 yards and one score followed by Grady with five catches for 68 yards and one TD. Senior tight end Conner Paxton added four grabs for 56 yards. McCance led Wayne State in rushing with 47 yards on 14 attempts.

While everyone may have their own definition of what age range constitutes a "youth leader" it is important to remember that all of them are our future leaders. These youth are the ones who will be leading our country in the near future. Yes, sooner than everyone realizes! As community members, the responsibility falls on everyone to ensure these youth leaders are being provided every opportunity they deserve.

Developing youth leaders happens because of the relationships they build with adults, mentors and other youth. Just like any relationship, these are not formed overnight. It is important to remember that these take time and more importantly, effort. One of the most effective ways to begin building these relationships is by individually reaching out to a potential youth leader. The strongest role model youth have in their lives is their parents. That is why it is equally important to include parents on any communication, especially with younger youth leaders.

Youth leaders come in a variety of ages, backgrounds and personalities. While it is natural instinct to view the most extroverted and boisterous youth as the most influential leaders, that is not always the case. Why? Because not all of the other youth have that same personality. Just as with any effective team, it takes a variety of personalities and strengths to make it a success. That is why, when seeking out potential youth leaders, it is important to tap into a variety of personality styles. There is a need for youth leaders that enjoy the "behind-the-scenes" work just as much as there is for the ones who love to present the ideas. When working with youth, remember to have each stretch their comfort limit. If youth do not feel as comfortable with the planning, make sure they still get the practice. Just be sure to offer more guidance during this process.

Just as important is tapping into a variety of youth leader personalities. It is equally vital to offer a variety of leadership opportunities. Within 4-H, depending on the county, youth have a vast array of experiences awaiting them. This is important because youth are busy. Plain and simple, they have schedules as busy as an adult with a full-time job. Creating a variety of leadership roles will help to ensure each youth feels they have something that might fit them and their family.

Youth leaders are extremely effective when there is youth representation on a board. For example, a 4-H Council might have six youth members and six adult members. This allows the youth leaders to feel as though they have an equal say. 4-H Jr. Leaders or a 4-H Youth Ambassador Program are both unique opportunities for the youth leaders to experience different leadership roles. Youth can plan their events, elect their own officers and serve as a representation of all 4-H members in their county. For those youth who are extremely busy, episodic leadership opportunities tend to work better. Youth can serve as Junior Superintendents during the county fair assisting the superintendents and helping with the event programming. This requires less time commitment while still allowing them an opportunity to show leadership.

In every case of working with youth leaders, organization, communication and clear expectations are a must. Be sure to set dates as far in advance as possible. Be clear about expectations of participation. If youth leaders need to attend six meetings a year, explain that up front. The opportunities in 4-H to grow community youth leaders are limitless. Remembering that youth and parents need to be selective on what they will be involved in, making sure it fits the needs and vision of their family. Setting out those expectations, however detailed they may be, are vital for forming that relationship of trust. Teaching youth how to schedule and plan is just as important. Do the youth leaders have a planner? Do they know how to use it? These can be simple questions adults take for granted.

Youth leaders are a cornerstone to the success of every community. There is a sense of commitment and pride to their community when youth have helped shape its future. When moving forward to help grow the youth leaders in the community, remember to take it slow and grow it effectively. Parents can evaluate what opportunities they are introducing their youth to for leadership opportunities and community members can look at what is being offered. 4-H is the nation's largest positive youth development and youth mentoring organization, empowering six million young people in the U.S. (4-h.org). Nebraska 4-H grows communities. Nebraska 4-H grows leaders.

'Ever Fallen' premieres during WSC Homecoming

"Ever Fallen," an original film by Dr. Michael White, premieres Oct. 1. A second screening, which is free and open to the public, takes place Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 7 p.m. in the Majestic Theatre. The event is scheduled in conjunction with Wayne State College homecoming. Seating is limited and will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

The movie's premise centers on the struggle for inclusion and relevance. Julie, a high school senior, is frustrated with the academic and social expectations of her socialite mother. Ari, a troubled punk girl, draws Julie into a world of music and counterculture escapism. Remy, a classical music prodigy who rejects the piano for the punk music scene, falls for Julie. Expectations and feelings collide as their lives spin dangerously out of control.

"Ever Fallen" is my punk rock "Romeo and Juliet," explains Dr. White, Assistant Professor of Communication Arts at WSC. "I have always had an interest in counterculture. It is interesting that punk culture has endured for nearly 30 years. Yet, there are still youth who self-identify as punk for social and political reasons. I wanted to tell a story through that lens. The primary theme is that the greatest expression of love is selflessness."

The film's cast and crew includes a mix of Wayne State College students, professional actors, and local theatre actors. WSC junior Shelby Hagerdon of Smithland, Iowa is cast as Julie. Sophomore Alyssa Boyd of Papillion, Neb. serves as project colorist. Senior Sean Dunn of Coleridge, Neb. is production assistant. WSC Alum Brendan Smyth of Sioux City, Iowa serves as assistant director. Cast members also include Nathan Taubert of Beaver Creek, Minn.; and Ryan Shearer, Leslie Werden, Gary Lewis, and Tim Hess of Sioux City, Iowa.

Ever Fallen is rated PG-13 and runs about two hours.

For more information contact Dr. White at (402) 375-7595.

God is there during in the trials of our lives

I'm writing this on Sept. 10 and on the news I'm hearing many remembrances of 9/11 one of the horrible days in our collective lives when dreadful and shocking events happened. Unfortunately, we can name more such times as senseless mass shootings occur which shake our faith and feelings of safety.

I served a church in Maryland not long after 9/11 and traveled with a group of people to Ground Zero. There I talked to many people from all over the world who came to pay their respects and pray against evil in our world. I had the chance of speaking with a few people who were actually there that day and I remember how clearly and honestly they could recall the events of that day - almost as if it happened the day before.

I'll be honest, I thought I'd hear more lamentations against God but what I heard was just the opposite. Although the people who were there certainly remember that day as one of the lowest of their lives, they didn't see God as absent in their lives. Instead, they expressed how much they see God's hand in all that occurred and they felt they had a greater understanding of God's goodness because of all that happened. I didn't find one person

A Word In Faith
By Jeanne Madsen
Pastor, Our Savior Lutheran Church

who believed that God brought this suffering on the world as a punishment, instead they all felt that God held them through hard times - God didn't bring on the hard times.

We all have trials in our lives, hard times when it could be very easy to point our finger at God and blame Him. We could lament to God and ask why - why would God allow such things to happen to His people that He loves so much. We wouldn't be alone in thinking this the Bible is full of people who thought exactly the same way. Many times in the Bible people struggled to understand God's purpose during times of distress and turmoil.

It is exactly during those times when we need to remember that God is always present - God was present before our distress, God is present during our distress and God will be present after as well.

When we're experiencing troubles it's often hard to see God, but we have faith that He is there and we know, that when we get through it, we will look back and see God's love and care in ways that surprise us. May we all have the faith to look back and see how real God has been in our lives, how real God is in our lives at present and how God will be there for us in the future.

Word in Faith is a collaboration of Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers (WACAM), an organization partially funded by the Wayne United Way.

Celebrating grandparents

Students at St. Mary's Elementary School celebrated their grandparents with several special events on Sept. 6. The day began with Mass and was followed by singing songs about the importance of grandparents, socializing and donuts. It wrapped up with several games of bingo. Many of those in attendance traveled several hours to be able to spend time with the children.

'Dialogues: A Conversation About Refugees and Immigration' planned in Wayne

Refugees and immigration are very much in the news these days.

Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 24, the community will have an opportunity to enter a dialogue about refugees and related issues. Initiated by Our Savior Lutheran Church and First Presbyterian Church, the weekly conversations will be led by a variety of individuals from the community.

Immigration is a complex subject and it is hoped that this conversation will help each of us gain a better understanding of the underlying issues that drive immigration including economic factors and violence, such as war or gang violence.

Pastor Teresa Bartlett said, "It is hoped this conversation will be educational and informative and promote greater understanding of what refugees and immigrants encounter in the immigration process. The goal is not to cause conflict or division but have thoughtful conversation informed by faith and voices of experience."

Participants will also recall the stories of transition and change in their own families.

The group will meet weekly at Ekeko, 110 Main St., Wayne at 7 p.m.

Participants will also recall the stories of transition and change in their own families.

These conversations are open to the community. Participants are encouraged to attend all eight sessions; however, people are free to join at any point during the series.

A RSVP is appreciated so that Dialogues books will be available, the books are available for a $10 donation.

The group will meet weekly at Ekeko, 110 Main St., Wayne at 7 p.m.

Preparing for a good death

In 40 years of practice, I have seen how the final moments of one's life can be inspiring or agonizing, no matter the manner of death. As I see it, the fear of death is a greater enemy than death itself. This has brought me to make the following recommendations for approaching our final moments.

Be prepared
Scientific advances, along with health care providers' driven desire to save lives, have wrought life-saving techniques that sometimes cause suffering (an unintended consequence). To correct this, making an advanced directive (living will) can help prevent great suffering. Going without is like arriving at the airport with no plans as to where you are going. Remember, a written advance directive is a tool to encourage discussions about end-of-life expectations. When you reach your end-of-life situation, do you want antibiotics, intravenous (IV) fluids, feeding tubes, resuscitation? (I don't.) Speak to your family members about your wishes now in case you later lose your memory and ability to speak for yourself.

Also, there has been a growing emphasis and payment for hospice and palliative (comfort) care. Why not welcome these added financial benefits from Medicare and insurance if you or your family member qualifies? (These you control and can be stopped at any time.) When death is imminent, comfort care can be a blessing as it brings less emphasis on intervention which might cause suffering. Talk to your doctor and family about your choices.

Dehydration can be our friend

When a person has a terminal condition, is no longer wanting or able to take oral feedings or fluid, I see it as cruel to force artificial fluids through IV or feeding tube means. Without fluids, the patient's internal pain relievers (endorphins) turn on while setting the stage for living only about ten more days. Dehydration does NOT cause suffering. Considering the prolonged suffering that can result from artificial fluids, dehydration can be our friend.

Reconciliation brings harmony

As we get closer to our own time of death, it is prudent to say to those who matter, this wisdom phrase, originating from Hawaii,

The Prairie Doc
By Dr. Rick Holm, MD

called "Ho'oponopono," and made popular by Dr. Ira Byock. "I am thankful for you, forgive me, I forgive you and I love you." This can help restore harmony with others and with oneself.

Bottom line: The fear of death can keep us from making important plans for an advanced directive and hospice, can trap us on a feeding tube and can keep us from finding harmony with the ones we love. A good death requires the courage to be prepared.

ALLEN CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS NEWS

Wind turbine information
 By Michael Pattee
 Superintendent of Allen Consolidated Schools
 September is a busy month for the office of the Superintendent and for the local school board. In September, school districts officially reach the end of the fiscal year on Aug. 31 and the beginning of the new fiscal year on Sept. 1.

During the month of September, the new budget is adopted and tax levies are set. One of the more common questions I have received recently concerns the wind turbines that have been built in the Allen Consolidated School District and how much money will they generate for the school. At this time there are both knowns and unknowns regarding the revenue generated by the turbine project.

We know that money generated by the wind turbines will be collected at the state level and then distributed to the county. At designated times of the year, the county will then distribute those dollars to the local taxing entities ie-school district, townships, fire districts, etc. At this time we do not have an exact figure on what will be sent to the taxing entities nor do we know exactly when those monies will be distributed first at the county level and second, at the local taxing entities level.

The Allen Consolidated School Board is committed to using portions of the money from the wind turbines to help lower the tax levies of property owners. The full effect of the wind turbine money will not fully impact the 2019-2020 school year due to the established timeline for identification of fiscal need, budget development and adoption. The fiscal year budget is voted on by the board of education during the September meeting. By this time next year, when the 2020-2021 school year budget is being determined, we will be able to accurately account for the monies that will be allocated to the school as well as a timeline for disbursement.

If you have any questions about the wind turbines or about the budgeting process for the school, please contact in the office of the Superintendent.

Legislative Update

Watermelon, Husker Havest Days observed

Watermelon Days--the sweetest end to summer. I, and so many neighbors, had such fun at Watermelon Days in my hometown of Thurston this past weekend. At the end of summer each year, Thurston throws a party to "ring out" summer. People come from near and far to enjoy events for every member of the family, including live music, a children's parade, inflatables, tractor pull, and more. Watermelon Days takes place over an entire weekend, and ends in the sweetest way possible—an all you can eat watermelon feed! I was invited to ride along with the Thurston American Legion on their float and saw so many happy, friendly faces. I always appreciate their gracious invitation. Pender Public Schools had the cutest entry showing dance steps along the route. The Blue Jet band marched with excellence. Three sets of Shriners entertained the crowds with those crazy cars and other motorized vehicles. A special summer end treat indeed!

Focus on agriculture: Husker Harvest Days took place in the Grand Island area. I'm looking forward to attending the event. Billed as "The Nation's most modern outdoor show site," Nebraskans continue to lead the way with "the world's largest totally irrigated working farm show." The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) will be there to offer programs spanning the agricultural spectrum, from information on animal health, farmer mediation, farming tax credits, pests and noxious weed control. In addition, this year, through a joint effort with the Governor, the NDA, and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, the event adds an International Visitors' Center, that provides opportunity to better promote Nebraska agriculture and International Commerce. All visitors, including international guests, are able to "experience the latest in farming equipment, supplies, and crop technologies." Available programs include beef production seminars, upgraded cattle handling demonstrations, products, equipment and breed exhibits. Organizers say "Husker Harvest Days isn't just the world's largest totally irrigated working farm show — it's also the Midwest's premier agricultural event." Every year, Nebraskans show the world why that's true.

Highway 35 partial closure/detour update: Last week I shared about the upcoming closure of Highway 35 Southwest of Hubbard due to the need for a previously unplanned box culvert replacement. On Wednesday, the Nebraska Department of Transportation issued a press release informing residents that the road closure would begin on Monday, Sept. 9, with anticipated completion of the project in October 2019. Traffic detours have been marked, directing traffic onto Highways 9 and 20.

summer ending and school back in session, the 2020 Legislative session is fast approaching. The Revenue Committee continues to work with senators, and the Governor's office on the property tax relief issue and more and more hearings are being scheduled for Interim studies on other issues as well. As a reminder, I serve on the Natural Resources Committee, the Transportation and Telecommunications Committee, and the Special Committee for State-Tribal Relations.

The Natural Resources Committee is holding hearings next week. The Committee is responsible for processing legislation involving the state's water, public power, Natural Resources Districts, the Natural Resources Commission, Environment, Energy, and Recreational lands. The Committee will be holding interim hearings in the western part of the state September 18-19 as follows:

Scottsbluff 9 a.m. (MT)
 Wednesday, Sept. 18 L R 1 4 2
 (to examine any matter concerning the Game and Parks Commission)

Gov. Ricketts visits Shizuoka Prefecture government, concludes Japan trade mission

Governor Pete Ricketts and the trade delegation joined the closing ceremonies of the 51st Annual Midwest-U.S. Japan Association Conference in Tokyo. Throughout the meeting, the delegation met with key trade partners and joined sessions highlighting opportunities to expand trade and investment between the two countries.

On the final day of his trade mission, Governor Ricketts met with Vice Governor Akihito Yoshibayashi of Shizuoka Prefecture. During their meeting, the Governors discussed continued collaboration between the two states. The University of Nebraska—Omaha has an ongoing partnership with Shizuoka University. The capital of the prefecture, the City of Shizuoka, was Omaha's first sister city, and the two have been sister cities since 1965.

Cattle in North Dakota Texas test positive for anthrax; NDA encourages livestock owners to protect animals

With recent announcements from North Dakota and Texas of cattle testing positive for anthrax, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is encouraging livestock owners to protect their animals by watching for this disease and by consulting with veterinarians about the use of vaccines.

Anthrax is a deadly disease caused by a spore-forming bacteria (Bacillus anthracis) that can remain alive, but dormant in the soil for years. The anthrax bacteria can contaminate soil and grass after periods of wet, cool weather, followed by hot, dry conditions. Animals can ingest the bacteria by consuming contaminated grass and hay, or by inhaling spores.

"Although anthrax is rare, it is not uncommon," said State Veterinarian Dr. Dennis Hughes. "A few cases are reported in the United States almost every year. Fortunately, there's an effective vaccine available. Producers are encouraged to discuss preventative vaccinations with their veterinarians. If anthrax is suspected and confirmed by your veterinarian in your livestock, you need to vaccinate as quickly as possible."

Acute fever, staggering, difficulty breathing and seizures, followed by rapid death (usually within 48 hours), are all common signs of anthrax in livestock. After exposure to the anthrax bacteria, it usually takes three to seven days for animals to show symptoms of the disease.

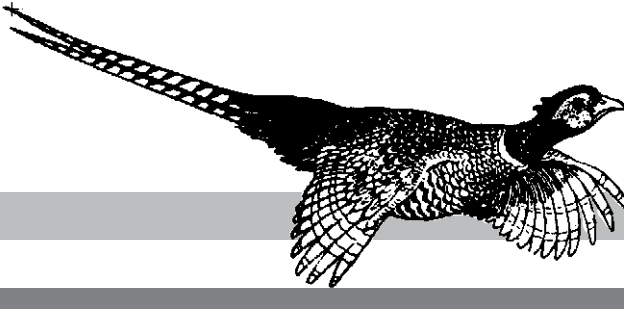

Anthrax can affect cattle, deer, other livestock, dogs and even people.

"Farmers and ranchers make it a priority to protect the health and safety of their animals," said Dr. Hughes. "If a laboratory confirms the presence of anthrax, NDA will work closely with the affected livestock owner to stop movement of animals and implement control measures on the property. Control measures include removing animals from the pasture where anthrax deaths are suspected so spores can't infect the remaining animals, vaccinations, and properly disposing of dead animals and infected materials."

Since anthrax also carries a risk to people, those handling the anthrax vaccine, infected animals and/or contaminated animal products should do so with care. Wash hands thoroughly, wear long sleeves and gloves, do not move carcasses as that could release bacteria into the air, and do not salvage hides, horns, antlers, skulls or any other tissue from dead animals.

If owners suspect anthrax in their livestock, they should immediately notify their local veterinarian or NDA at (402) 471-2351.

For more information about anthrax, visit: nda.nebraska.gov/animal/diseases/anthrax/index.html and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at cdc.gov/anthrax/basics/index.html

Column focuses on football

We exchange daily newspapers with the neighbors; they get the Lincoln, we get the Omaha. About 5 p.m., I put the Omaha paper on the red chair beside our door, and he picks it up and leaves the Lincoln. Only on Sundays, we don't exchange until Monday.

Therefore, we had the Lincoln sports columnists to read this evening, after poring over what the World Herald scribes had to say yesterday. Actually, the Big Farmer decided not to read them anymore; as he told friend Loren yesterday, "I don't know what went wrong, and I can't do anything about it, so I'm not going to worry about it."

I had to smile at the start of Shatel's column: "welcome home, Coach Frost. Did you enjoy the honeymoon?"

When I think of $300 per ticket, transportation, and a hotel room at least for one night, I think of how disappointed all those Husker fans were. It really did look as if there were more of them than of the Buffalo's.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Mike's right, Scott Frost gets paid $5 million a year to figure it out; far be it from us to try. At least, the volleyball gals are still unbeaten, even though San Diego got them to the fifth set.

Friend Ron was here, as usual. That first half was great fun. We had chili and pie during half time, and I left for church about 5 p.m. When I got there, one of the ushers was on his phone and told me it was suddenly 17 to 14! I thought to myself, surely they can still pull it out.

I really did concentrate on the sermon, as I was sitting closer to the front than usual. To be honest, there were more in attendance than I had expected. And there was a baptism, which is always special. Little Kelcee was in a traditional long white gown with a big white bow, and her big sister was also in white.

As I was walking out, I saw faces fall, and I knew what must have happened. When I got home, I chastised the guys for allowing Colorado to beat us just because I left for the second half! They were appropriately contrite. As were Adrian Martinez and Coach Frost. I said it at the start of the season, and I will say it again, "Do not count championships yet; I will be happy if we win six games and get to a bowl."

Years ago, when we pulled up at church for our Saturday night service, the game was close and we listened on the car radio as long as we could. When I turned around to exchange the peace with the gal behind me, she said, "we won!" Someone had texted her; only in Nebraska!

Japan Mission

During the conference, Governor Ricketts also took the opportunity to thank Consul General Naoki Ito of Japan for his service. Consul General Ito has represented Japan to Midwestern states for the past few years, and has worked tirelessly to strengthen the Nebraska-Japan relationship. Japan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs will be deploying Consul General Ito on a new mission in near future.

Are late-season herbicide applications valuable?

I was recently asked a question I didn't have a good answer for, so I searched for an answer online. The question was, "Can weed seed production be reduced with late-season herbicide applications?"

I came across the following information from Bob Hartzler, Extension Weed Specialist from Iowa State University. He had the perfect answer to a question I'd guess is on the minds of many farmers, especially considering the challenges from the growing season we've had this year.

Problems caused by unfavorable conditions this season resulted in greater than normal weed escapes. These weeds may reduce crop yields and definitely will contribute to future weed problems via new seed. While it is too late to protect crop yields, a common question is whether herbicides can be used to reduce the quantity of viable weed seed produced by weeds. While there is no simple answer due to the many different scenarios, in most situations late-season applications are not warranted.

The potential to limit seed production is affected by two main factors: 1) the susceptibility of the weed to the herbicide, and 2) the stage of seed development at the time of application. It is important to recognize that herbicides that are effective early in the season will be much less, if at all, effective on the mature weeds in fields now. Waterhemp is unlikely to be killed by any labeled herbicides at this time of the year. While other species may be killed with herbicides, the impact on seed production will be highly variable.

John Wilson

Research in the early 1980's looked at the effect of late-season 2,4-D applications in corn on seed production by velvetleaf and cocklebur, the 1980's equivalent of today's waterhemp. While brown-silk 2,4-D applications were able to kill both species, the treatments were much more effective at preventing seed production by cocklebur than velvetleaf.

Much of the velvetleaf seed had filled by the time of the 2,4-D application, whereas cocklebur was still in early flowering stage. Seed that had filled prior to 2,4-D retained their viability even if the parent plant was killed prematurely. Before committing to any late-season treatments, examine weeds to determine the stage of seed development.

Both waterhemp and giant ragweed present in fields had fully developed seed during the week of Aug. 26. The 2,4-D label for late-season applications was changed in the 1980's from after brown-silk to after the dent stage, this change will reduce the effectiveness of the treatments since it provides more time for weed seeds to mature.

Reducing weed seed production is essential in order to minimize the seed bank. By reducing the size of the seed bank, future weed management will be simplified and the risk of new herbicide resistant biotypes will be reduced. However, late-season herbicide applications are unlikely to provide significant benefits for most fields.

Hand pulling weeds is an alternative, but at this time of year the plants would need to be removed from the field. In situations where a patch of a weed is present that is suspected to possess a new resistant trait for that field, removal of the weeds probably would be worth the effort. Rather than spending money on a questionable herbicide treatment, spend time determining why this year's program failed and develop an effective weed management plan for 2020.

I'd like to add to Bob's information that the practice of hand pulling and removing weeds from a field is particularly timely for Palmer amaranth escapes in soybean fields. If you haven't experienced it, Palmer amaranth is a particularly aggressive weed similar to waterhemp. If you already have Palmer in your fields, you know what I'm talking about! Removing those escapes from a field now is critical to reduce the seed buildup and future problems with this weed.

For more information on late season weed control in crops and planning next year's weed control program, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

USDA to provide help to rural communities affected by natural disasters

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Development Nebraska State Director Karl Elmshaeuser has announced that USDA is making $150 million in grants available through the Community Facilities Program to help rural communities continue their recovery from the devastating effects of hurricanes, fires and other natural disasters such as FEMA declared disaster areas from the Nebraska flooding.

"With the communities deeply impacted here in the Nebraska flooding, this comes as great relief," Elmshaeuser said. "USDA works hard to help small rural communities thrive and this funding supports in their long-term recovery."

The $150 million is included in the Additional Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Relief Act that President Trump signed into law on June 6, 2019. The grants may be used for relief in areas affected by Hurricanes Michael and Florence; wildfires in 2018; and other natural disasters where the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has provided a notice declaring a Major Disaster Declaration and assigned a FEMA disaster recovery (DR) number. View the list of designated communities as of Sept. 8, 2019. Please check the FEMA website for regular updates and names of additional communities that may be added.

Nebraska declared counties are: Adams, Antelope, Banner, Blaine, Boone, Box Butte, Boyd, Brown,

Fall Mineral & Tub Promotion

September is here and now is the time to be planning ahead. It's important to create a plan with the correct protein and mineral supplements to help improve body condition scores going into winter which will then in turn, help produce healthy calves next spring. Now through Dec. 1, 2019, for every ton of loose mineral or tub purchased from CVA, a producer will receive a $25 gift card to Cabela's or Bass Pro Shop. Going into fall, mineral complete tubs or increasing your loose mineral to a 12-phosphorus mineral may be a good idea. When going into calving season, Availa 4 minerals are ideal to have on hand at least 45 days prior to calving as it can help boost the immune system and get your cows cycling sooner.

Weaning season is quickly approaching and I know many of you are only a few weeks away. Purina has come out with a new product called RX3 that is available in Accuration Starter, Precon Complete, and Stress Care 5. The RX3 technology has been added to these products since July and aids in the fight against Bovine Respiratory Disease. RX3 can be associated with the Recognize, Respond, and Return to health- thus the name, R X 3. The RX3 technology contains prebiotics, probiotics, and plant extracts to prime the immune system to support overall health during the stress of weaning time.

RX3 is used as a compliment to a vaccination program and does not require a VFD. Research has shown producers who have fed RX3 to their herds have a more uniform calf crop, less variation in average daily gains, and on average, a total of 6 more pounds of gain compared to the control group over 30 days. Running at the same time as CVA's Fall Mineral and Tub Promotion, we are also offering producers a free vest for every 5 ton of starter feed purchased with RX3 technology. If producers are not using a starter but would like to use the Supermix RX3 supplement, at a quarter lb feed rate, a one-ton purchase of this will also get you a free vest.

Now is the time to take advantage of the great savings on mineral. I encourage producers to stop by your local CVA feed location, visit with your feed sales specialist to learn more about our fall mineral promotions! To learn more about CVA, visit cvacoop.com/feed.

What to consider when choosing a college

By EducationQuest Foundation

Narrow your college choices during your junior year so you'll be prepared to apply for college and financial aid early in the fall of your senior year.

Answer these questions to determine which schools might be the best fit:

What do you want to study?

If you know what you want to study, research schools that offer degree programs in that area. If you don't know, it's okay. Many students begin college "undeclared" and some start at a community college and then transfer to a four-year school.

What kind of school do you want to attend?

Do you prefer a large university or a small college? Are you interested in a community college? What kind of student/teacher ratio do you want?

What can you afford?

Consider the overall cost of college: tuition, room and board, books, transportation costs, and personal expenses. Determine what you and your parents can afford to pay out-of-pocket and plan to apply for financial aid to help make up the difference. Calculate the loan debt your family may need to incur for your college education.

Where do you want to go to college?

Do you want to live close to home and commute? Do you want to be in a large city or a small town? How big of a factor is out-of-state or private college tuition? If you want to go out of state, investigate reciprocity programs such as the Midwest Student Exchange Program.

Avoid these college search mistakes:

Don't limit your search to familiar institutions. Just because your parents or siblings went to a certain college doesn't mean it's right for you.

Don't limit your search to colleges you think you can afford. The more expensive the school, the more financial aid you may be eligible to receive. Wait until you receive financial aid award notifications to determine which school is the most affordable.

Don't choose a college just because it's near your boyfriend or girlfriend. The school may not be a good match for you – and he or she may not be either!

Don't insist on an out-of-state school just because you want to "get away." Even if you attend college in your hometown, you can still "get away" by staying on campus most weekends.

Wayne State's new programs and partnerships create a better future

Wayne State opened the 2019-20 academic year with a 7 percent increase in enrollment, new academic programs, new and revitalized partnerships, and new NCAA sports and club-level Esports. These new opportunities for our students demonstrate the College's tenacious dedication to student success and improving and expanding quality academic programs and partnerships.

New Academic Program
In addition to a wealth of new concentrations in graduate and undergraduate programs added in 2018, Wayne State also has added an Engineering Technology degree, which is aimed at educating specialists focused on product improvement, manufacturing, construction, and engineering operational functions. The College continues to refine its existing academic pathways, which can be explored at www.wsc.edu/programs.

New Partnerships Create

New Agriculture and Transfer Programs

The College entered an agreement with the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources (CASNR), University of Nebraska-Lincoln and Nebraska Technical College of Agriculture for agricultural degree programs to co-create pathways for WSC students to continue their education with CASNR to complete degrees in Animal Systems, Plant Systems, Applied Science and other related agriculture programs.

Wayne State and Northeast Community College strengthened their working relationship with the signing of a new memorandum of agreement in August. Wayne State and Western Iowa Technical Community College (WITCC) signed new articulation agreements in February that allow WITCC students to transfer a wide array of associate degrees to earn a bachelor's degree at WSC. Wayne State and Little Priest Tribal College (LPTC) in Winnebago signed new articulation agreements in the spring that allow LPTC students to transfer associate degrees in business to earn bachelor's degrees in business at WSC.

New Varsity Sports and Club-level Esports

The College added two new women's varsity sports this summer with the creation of beach volleyball (formerly known as sand) and the reinstatement of our women's golf team. Wayne State will compete in the NCAA's National Collegiate Division for beach volleyball and in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference (NSIC) in golf. Wayne State is a member of the NSIC and will now offer 15 varsity sports (six male and nine female) in the 2019-

20 season.

Wayne State will compete as an independent member of National Collegiate Beach Volleyball and joins the University of Nebraska as the only other school in the state of Nebraska to have a beach volleyball program. WSC becomes the 18th program in NCAA Division II to have beach volleyball.

The reinstatement of the women's golf program, will bring the sport back for the 2020-21 school year. Newly hired Coach Joey Baldwin will spend the 2019-20 school year recruiting student-athletes to begin competition again during the next school year.

In addition to traditional sports, Wayne State College is exploring esports – competitive online gaming – as a new club activity. Esports on campus includes a team of students competing against another student team on gaming platforms. Wayne State's club program would give on-campus students who are already into gaming a more formalized outlet for their interest, as well as bring in more students who are passionate about gaming. The College plans to coordinate resources to build the arena and announce the formal program this academic year, and by 2020-21, officially launch the club sport complete with its own facility.

Bound Wrapping up your senior year

By EducationQuest Foundation

The last part of your senior year is packed with college deadlines and decisions. You may feel like you have one foot in high school and the other in college. Here's how to stay on the right track in both worlds.

Watch your grades. If you slack off and get poor grades, your college admission could be revoked, so pay attention to coursework, grades, and extracurricular activities.

Complete the financial aid process. By now, you should have filed your FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). If you haven't, apply at fafsa.gov. After filing, you will receive a Student Aid Report (SAR) acknowledging that your FAFSA was processed. Use the SAR to make any necessary FAFSA corrections.

Compare financial aid award notifications. After you submit your FAFSA, the colleges you listed on the form will send you a financial aid award notification detailing the financial aid they can provide. Compare the notifications to determine which college provides the best financial aid package. Colleges try to offer a combination of scholarships, grants, work-study, and student loans, if you qualify for them.

Make your final college selection. In addition to financial aid, consider the schools' academic programs, location, typical class size, and the campus culture. Once you make your final selection – typically by May 1 – notify the other colleges so they can take you off their mailing list.

Pay attention to deadlines. Submit your housing deposit before the deadline to increase your chances of getting your top-choice residence hall. Also be aware of deadlines to register for new-student orientation and courses, as well as deadlines for accepting financial aid and admissions.

Get a job. Work as much as you can over the summer to help pay for dorm essentials, textbooks, and other college-related costs. Plan to work part-time after you start college to help with daily living expenses.

All of this can be overwhelming, but you don't have to do this alone! Involve your family, teachers, counselors, and friends who are already in college. Also, check out the "College Students" section at EducationQuest.org for tips on how to make a successful transition to college.

Realities of student loan debt

By EducationQuest Foundation

After a six-year college career and $36,000 in student loan debt, Brad from Lincoln finally has his teaching degree – but there's a problem. He can't afford to be a teacher. Not with a $400 a month student loan payment on top of his other expenses.

Brad, who currently works construction to earn a living, had to rely on student loans to finance much of his education. As he looks back, he sees how he could have ended up with less debt. Follow his advice to avoid a similar situation:

- Carefully research your college to make sure it's a good fit. Brad transferred to two different colleges adding two additional years of school and loan debt.
- Compare your future estimated salary to your estimated college debt. Use Reality Check at EducationQuest.org to get an idea of future earnings and monthly bills.
- Work while you go to college, and use that money to pay room and board or rent.
- If possible, use your student loan money only for tuition, books and fees. Don't borrow more than you need!

- Keep track of your student loan debt throughout college at nslds.ed.gov. Brad didn't realize how much debt he had accumulated until his senior year of college.

Student borrowing – keep it manageable

By EducationQuest Foundation

If you have to take out student loans to help pay for college, here are ways to minimize loan debt.

Follow these tips in high school:

- Take advanced placement or dual credit courses to earn college credit while you're still in high school.
- Apply for LOTS of scholarships!
- Take a financial literacy or money management course.
- Get a part-time job, and save as much as you can for college.
- Create a budget for college by analyzing your future expenses and sources of income.
- Borrow only what you need in student loans, even if it's less than the amount offered in your award letter.

Follow these tips in college:

- Complete the FAFSA at fafsa.gov each year you attend college.
- Borrow only what you need, even if it's less than the amount offered in your award letter.
- Continue to look for scholarships.
- Use credit cards for emergencies only, and pay off the balance each month.
- Get a part-time job to cover personal expenses.
- Buy used textbooks.
- Reduce food costs by using your dorm meal plan or by eating at home.
- Limit fast food, designer coffee, and bottled water. What seem like small daily expenses can add up to hundreds of dollars each year.

By EducationQuest Foundation

If you and your parents haven't saved for college, these options may help take the sting out of tuition payments.

Open a college savings account

It's never too late to start saving! Ask your parents to consider making monthly deposits into a 529 College Savings Plan – even small amounts will add up. Pitch in part of your earnings from a part-time job along with money you receive for your birthday or holidays. For details, visit nest529.com.

Apply for financial aid

Complete the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) on or after October 1 of your senior year to apply for grants, work-study, student loans, and some need-based scholarships. To minimize loan debt, borrow only what you need to help cover tuition, housing, books, and fees.

Apply for scholarships

Apply for as many as you can! ScholarshipQuest at EducationQuest.org has over 2,000 Nebraska-based scholarships. You'll also find links to free national scholarship search sites.

Explore career paths that require less education

Nebraska is experiencing a shortage of skilled workers in trades such as manufacturing, plumbing, electrical, carpentry, and robotics. Many of these occupations require only one to two years of education beyond high school.

Start at a community college

If you're striving for a four-year degree, consider starting at a less expensive community college and then transfer to a four-year college.

Plan to live at home

Living at home during college can save as much as $10,000 per year!

Work while you're in college

Get a part-time job to cover personal expenses such as eating out, gas, and shopping.

Consider the military

All branches of the military offer education assistance ranging from the Montgomery G.I. Bill, to tuition reimbursement, to student loan repayment. Talk to a recruiter for details.

Fremont's Midland University successfully deploys Apple iPad initiative for students

FREMONT, Neb. – Midland University recently launched a campus-wide digital learning initiative to create digital solutions for innovative teaching and learning, utilizing the latest in Apple technology.

To kick off the newly-established initiative, the university hosted a special rollout event on campus in Fremont on Aug. 27 for students to pick up their Apple devices. The event hosted more than 1,000 Midland students in a transformed space specially designed to foster the essence of a contemporary, tech-oriented environment. From iPad kiosks to Apple TVs, contemporary furniture to a fresh fruit smoothie bar, the event intentionally enhanced the exciting receipt of new tech gear for students.

"The Midland 1:1 rollout event was a profound success," said Midland University President, Jody Horner. "We looked forward to this day in earnest throughout all of our incredible planning and cross-departmental efforts the past several months leading up to the iPad deployment. We wanted to build the momentum of excitement for students, faculty, and staff with this incredible new component of our education, and we felt hosting this special event would help us generate the shared feeling of creative innovation across campus, especially for our student body, and I believe we achieved that goal."

Midland 1:1 centers on the university's institutional core value of learning and developing citizens who can respond to an ever-changing world – one that is dependent on technology – by enhancing learning resources and embracing the digital experience of already tech-engaged classrooms.

"Thanks to the continued support from Apple, our faculty, staff, and generous donors, we have been empowered to facilitate creative teaching and learning across every program, department, and organization for dynamic impact," said Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Susan Kruml. "Through our Midland 1:1 program, we are able to provide universal access to a common set of learning technologies that inspire exploration and discovery for an integrated environment of innovation never before seen at Midland University."

Removing the constraints of the typical classroom, Midland students will have the ability to utilize iPad devices to access learning resources and recreational applications from anywhere. Additional program benefits include personalized learning, improved collaboration, enhanced technological and digital fluency, greater connectivity and mobility, as well as better preparation for success in an increasingly digital world.

The Apple devices have been provided to every full-time, undergraduate student in Fremont at no cost and considered part of their college education, thanks to generous Midland donor support.

Since the initial program announcement, the university has focused on the facilitation of Apple Professional Learning (APL) for faculty members to ensure optimal success, both in and out of the classroom. As part of on-going training sessions with Apple, faculty have taken part in 8 APL development days, had three workshops, office open hours training, and attended 'Appy Hours' to become Apple Teacher Certified.

Midland University has additionally invested in more than four dozen Apple TV's for use in classrooms and shared spaces across campus for consistent digital accessibility, as well as completed an extensive infrastructure reconstruction to upgrade Wi-Fi capabilities to increase network bandwidth.

Acknowledging the benefits of peer-to-peer learning, Midland has also invested in the implementation of a student-lead Apple technology support structure for students to become hardware and software experts and support peers as a second tier of existing IT helpdesk service resources.

The university maintains an active ambition to achieve recognition as the first Apple Distinguished School in Nebraska.

Founded in 1883, Midland University is a liberal arts college providing relevant opportunities in more than 30 academic areas, four graduate programs, and a variety of professional studies programs to students at both their Fremont and Omaha locations. Recently recognized by the Chronicle of Higher Education as the ninth fastest-growing private, nonprofit baccalaureate institution in the country, Midland takes a modern approach to liberal arts education. Their innovative approach of working from the marketplace back provides students with the relevant skills to lead in the world with purpose.

Preparing for college entrance exams

By EducationQuest Foundation

When it comes to the ACT and SAT college entrance exams, preparation can mean higher scores – and that means increased college admission and scholarship opportunities.

About the exams
The ACT includes test areas in English, math, reading, science, and an optional writing section. Scores for each section are averaged to create a composite score. A perfect score is 36.

The SAT has four components: evidence-based reading, writing, math, and an optional essay. Scores for each section range from 200-800 points, which are added together to determine your overall score. A perfect score is 1600.

Historically, Midwestern colleges prefer the ACT and coastal schools prefer the SAT; however, most colleges will accept either. Consider taking both to see which exam suits you better.

In Nebraska, you'll take the ACT in the spring your junior year – and you might consider taking the SAT as well. Retake the exams in the fall of your senior year to get the best score possible (you can retake them several times if you wish). Colleges will use your best score for admission and scholarship consideration, but be aware of the last test dates colleges will accept.

How to prepare
To prepare, take challenging

classes in English, math, reading, and science throughout high school.

Ask your school counselor about test-prep resources that fit your budget and learning style. They may include self-study preparation books and online resources. If you prefer a group setting, consider school-sponsored workshops and test preparation businesses, though these often require a fee.

You'll find free test-prep products at actstudent.org or collegeboard.org.

Here are some test-taking strategies from ACT:

- Carefully read the instructions for each section of the test.
- Pace yourself so you can attempt all questions on the exam.
- Answer the easy questions first and then tackle the more difficult ones.
- For difficult questions, eliminate all incorrect answers then make an educated guess among the remaining options.
- Answer every question because there is no penalty for guessing.
- Review your work.
