Taking to the sky

Weather conditions were not ideal over the weekend for balloon launches at the Wakefield Balloons-N-BBQ event. However, winds were just right for kites of all sizes and shapes to take to the sky. The weekend was filled with activities for all ages in what was billed as "Best Husker Tailgate Ever." Attendees were able to take part in an omelet feed, parade, street faire, kids games, wings cook-off and the opportunity to re-connect with old friends. Pictures from the event can be found on page 6B of today's Herald.

Fall Shopping Bazaar to benefit Laurel Senior Citizen Center

A Fall Shopping Bazaar is being planned for Saturday, Oct. 12 to benefit the Laurel Senior Citizen Center in Laurel.

Manager Diana Badley said the funds raised during this event will be used to expand opportunities offered to seniors in the Laurel area as well as for improvements to the building.

The event runs from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and breakfast, lunch, coffee, cocoa and cider will be available. The admission fees includes an entry in the drawing for a door prize.

More than 15 vendors have already signed up to be a part of the event, including several home-based businesses, artists and crafters. Several of the clothing boutiques are working to put on a fashion show of their items.

Local artist Elizabeth Benson, who has been featured in Nebraska Rural Living, will have artwork on display.

Live entertainment will be happening during the bazaar as well.

"Our goal as a senior center is to reach more folks in the 60+ range and provide a safe and fun place for them to gather," Badley said.

"In the past, the Senior Citizen Center has done a breakfast fundraiser as part of Laurel Ag Days, but with the average age of those attending the Senior Center nearly 85 years, they are no longer able to do that. The Senior Center operates on a limited budget and we hope this event will help with improvements for our Center," she said.

Council approves funds for Ace Hardware

By Clara Osten

The community is one step closer to having a business in the former Shopko building following action taken at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

A request was brought to the council by Ace Hardware & Home for $200,000 to be used for start-up costs associated with opening a store in Wayne. The money will come from the LB840 Revolving Loan Fund. Steve LeGrand, Mike McManigal and B.J. Woehler, representing an investment group planning to bring the business to Wayne, spoke to the council on the benefits of granting the business a zero percent loan for 15 years to the business.

"I own an Ace Hardware in Blair and know having an Ace Hardware and Home in Wayne will generate sales tax revenue to the community that will offset the fact that there will be no interest on the loan," LeGrand said. He is also the CEO of Sand Creek Post & Beam in Wayne.

He noted that Ace has 5,000 stores across the United States and has moved into six locations that were once Shopko stores.

"We want community involvement in the project. The hardware portion of the business will be only a part of the store. We want to tailor the rest of the store to Wayne and offer the products the community needs," LeGrand said.

He said the plan is to have the store open by March 1, 2020.

LeGrand said the building is in the process of being purchased by a local investment group and the Ace Hardware and Home would be purchased by a separate group.

Council member Matt Eischeid said that he felt this was "a great idea, but we need to be fair to all those requesting these funds."

The LB840 Revolving Loan Fund Review Committee met prior to Tuesday's council meeting and proposed the $200,000 be a zero percent interest loan for five years and a two percent loan for the remaining 10 years.

Following discussion, council members voted unanimously to approve the zero percent loan for the full 15 years.

In other action, the council approved a request for the temporary use of the state highway (Main Street) for the Christmas on Main Celebration/annual Parade of Lights on Thursday, Nov. 21. Also, in conjunction with the event, approval was given to prohibit parking in the 200 Block of Main Street from 5:30 to 8 p.m. that day.

Resolution 2019-58 was approved. It re-

Wakefield man pleads guilty to two counts of child abuse

Patrick Henderson, of Wakefield, pleaded guilty to one felony and one misdemeanor count of child abuse in Dixon County District Court on Sept. 25.

Henderson, 55, and his wife Angel, were arrested in January, charged with abusing two of their children. Court documents show the couple were accused of locking the children in a bedroom, only letting them out to use the bathroom. They were also accused of withholding food, hitting and choking the children.

In the plea agreement, prosecutors will recommend probation at Henderson's Nov. 22 sentencing hearing.

Angel Henderson pleaded not guilty in March 2019, and thus faces up to 100 years in prison if convicted of two felony child abuse charges.

Board of Equalization, Wayne County Commissioners meet

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

On Oct. 1 Wayne county's Board of Equalization and Wayne County Commissioners met for their first of two monthly meetings.

District No. 2 commissioner, Dean Burbach, opened the Board of Equalization meeting at 9 a.m. First on the agenda was a request to approve tax list acceleration for Lowell Olson, which was approved. Next the commissioners were presented with proposed tax rates for the 2019-2020 fiscal year, based on this year's budget requests. Most tax rates changed very little. The village of Winside will have a roughly 0.16 cent increase based on $100 of actual valuation, thanks to the village's bond. The tax rates were approved and Burbach closed the Board of Equalization meeting.

District No. 3 commissioner, Jim Rabe, then opened the meeting of the Wayne County Commissioners.

Roger Protzman, of JEO Consulting Group, and Wes Blecke, Wayne city administrator, joined highway superintendent, Mark Casey to discuss road work necessary for the City of Wayne to complete installation of a water transmission line. The line will run through 575 Road, south and east and will run through Muh's Acres. The project will cross county roads, but Protzman said installers will run through the bottom of west side ditches whenever possible, per an earlier request from the commissioners.

Protzman said the expected start date for the project is March 2020 with a completion date of Oct. 1, 2020. He also added that the crew would try to restrict work to a one-mile stretch at a time.

The commissioners declined to pass a resolution that would provide a change fund for offices in the courthouse. Treasurer Tammy Paustian told the commissioners that anyone who needs change has to come to her busy office and wait. She told the commissioners she felt the County could provide better customer service if every office has a change fund. Other County employees said they would not feel safe having a large amount of cash in their offices with no security measures in place.

"To me it's common sense to have to go to the treasurer's office to get change," Rabe said.

The commissioners moved ahead with a plan to pay off bonds and heard an update on the courthouse renovation project. The Wayne County Courthouse will close at noon Friday, Oct. 4 for work to begin on the entrance.

The next Wayne County Commissioners meeting will be Oct. 15 at 9 a.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke,
City Administrator

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets. Name one thing you'd rather do on a Tuesday night than come see your City government at work!

Parade of Lights

While the snow hasn't fallen yet, Wayne Area Economic Development has already secured Thursday, Nov. 21 for the annual Parade of Lights on Main Street. Along with Main Street being closed that evening for the parade, there will also be some temporary parking limitations in the 200 block that night. Contact the WAED office for more information regarding the parade.

LB 840 Funds Ace Hardware & Home

At its last meeting, the City Council approved a loan to a new business forming in Wayne to occupy the old Shopko building.

Ace Hardware & Home received a loan for $200,000 to help bring in extra home goods that a traditional hardware store doesn't typically carry. The hope is that the new Ace store will be as close to offering the same goods as Shopko did when they open next spring.

Senior Center Addition

The City is currently taking bids to add an approximate 13 ft. by 14 ft. storage area to the Wayne Senior Center.

You might think that is a very small addition to a building if you need space. And it is. However, the purpose of this addition is only to provide some additional storage and to house a new walk in cooler/freezer for the Center.

To keep the integrity of the existing building, which is architecturally beautiful, this small addition made sense.

This project is a great joint effort between the City (tax payers) and the Senior Center (patron donations) to fund both the physical addition as well as the cooler/freezer.

Why does the Center need more space for food? To begin with the Senior Center was never built to cook meals; it was built to cater food brought to the site. Since the decision to cook in house was made other upgrades have been made to try to retrofit the kitchen for more usable space.

In FY 17 (fiscal year 2017) the Center served 11,799 individuals; FY 18 - 13,977; and, in FY 19 - 14,650! As you can figure out, a kitchen serving that many meals needs the equipment and space to function.

Diane, Misty and the crew at the Senior Center provide a great service to the community! We hope this addition makes that service easier to deliver.

Little Red Hen Theatre to hold multi-session acting class

The Little Red Hen Theatre is presenting a seven-session acting class, appropriate for ages 14 and older. The class, "Scene & Ensemble Work," will have participating actors working with each other through a series of exercises and scripted scenes to develop their basic acting skills, develop creative expression and collaborate to create performance. The class will culminate in a showcase of scene work and created ensemble pieces for friends and family.

The class will be taught by managing director T. Adam Goos.

"I'm developing the class to be highly interactive and collaborative, really focusing on how we connect and create with each other on stage, both through scripted and un-scripted work. It will be fun and challenging - as any good artistic endeavor should," Goos said.

Goos will be drawing upon his own experience as an actor and arts educator to deliver an accessible and structured experience for the participants. Goos says that the class can be beneficial for everyone, even if they aren't ready to step onto the stage.

"The act of exploring your creativity can be empowering in so many ways. And the structure of an acting class, which isn't tied to a script or formal performance allows you to take risks, try new things, and explore in ways that participating in a full play doesn't. You get to be your own director, script writer, etcetera. It's just a great way to explore acting and creativity," Goos said.

Goos holds an MFA in theatre performance from the Theatre Conservatory of the Chicago College of Performing Arts at Roosevelt University. As an actor, he worked professionally at various theatres throughout Chicago, including the Court Theatre and Lifeline Theatre of Rogers Park, before focusing his career on Arts Education and Non-Profit Arts Management. As an arts educator, Goos says he tries to create "an accessible and engaging structure that encourages learners to safely explore, grow, and learn new things."

The class will be held on Saturday mornings from 9-11:30 a.m. beginning on Saturday, Oct. 12 and culminating in a showcase performance on Saturday, Nov. 23. The class is limited to 20 participants, who will be taken on a first come, first served basis. The cost is $35 per participants, but financial assistance is available for those who qualify. Those interested in taking the class should visit littleredhentheatre.com to sign up or learn more.

Arnie's Ford was able to present Providence Medical Center with a check for $2,000, money raised during PMC's Drive 4 Ur Community event, sponsored by Arnie's Ford. The money raised will go towards purchasing a new ambulance.

Providence Medical Center sees benefit from Drive 4 Ur Community event

When Arnie's Ford in Wayne learned an ambulance was on the wish list for Providence Medical Center in Wayne, they presented the Drive 4 UR Community event to PMC's CEO Jim Frank.

Drive 4 UR School began in 2007 as a way for Ford to give back to communities across the country. The idea was simple: Test-drive a Ford vehicle from a local dealership, get money for the local school. The success of the school program inspired the launch of Drive 4 UR Community, allowing Ford dealers to partner with nonprofit organizations as well. Thousands of events and $35 million in donations later, participants are still test-driving for a cause that they - and Ford - are equally passionate about.

PMC's event was held on Aug. 10 and was supported by employees and many community members. Over 100 drivers were logged. PMC employees said they were grateful to have this support and are excited to add the proceeds to their ambulance fund.

PMC is one of only two hospitals in the state of Nebraska that operates an ambulance service. This allows the hospital to offer a high-quality service to the community.

PMC can provide ALS (advanced life support) services whereas volunteer services generally offer BLS services (basic life support). Since PMC's ambulance services isn't a volunteer service, their response can be quicker.

The hospital maintains a fleet of three ambulances used for response and transfer. The oldest (1996) ambulance will be replaced with the new one. The others on hand are 2006 and 2014 models and are used for response and transfers.

Providence Medical Center's goal is to continue providing this service in the most safe and efficient manner and with the addition of the new ambulance they are confident in their ability to do that. The total cost for a new ambulance will be in excess of $200,000 and PMC is planning additional fundraising efforts to help make this purchase possible in the next 12-18 months.

Going for the cash

Mason Kramer had 20 seconds to collect as much cash and other valuable items during the kick off to a financial literacy event at Wayne Elementary School last week. From Oct. 24 to April 30 students will have the opportunity to deposit money in a savings account at the school. Student "tellers" will assist in the project designed to teach students about the value of saving. Incentives will be offered to those making deposits.

Presidential finalists named at Northeast

The Board of Governors at Northeast Community College has named three finalists in its search for the institution's ninth president. The candidates represent a broad and diverse background of service in higher education.

The finalists, in alphabetical order, are: Dr. Leah Barrett, vice president for student affairs for the Northern Wyoming Community College District (NWCCD), Dr. Lenny Klaver, president of North Central Missouri College, and Dr. Charles Nwankwo, vice president of technology and business partnerships at Chandler Gilbert Community College (CGCC) in Arizona. They were among 63 applicants for the position.

A Presidential Search Advisory Committee, which is made up of board representatives and members of college administration, faculty, staff, and students, reviewed all of the applications and identified candidates for screening interviews that were conducted in mid-September. The committee forwarded the names of Barrett, Klaver and Nwankwo to the full Board of Governors for its formal consideration.

Board Chairperson Steve Anderson is pleased with the caliber of the finalists.

"We have an excellent pool of candidates. Northeast Community College has earned a stellar reputation and as a result, we have attracted some talented individuals who have the credentials to continue to move the college forward in meeting the needs of our students and constituents across the 20-county service area. We are now looking forward to meeting our finalists in person and learn more about their qualifications," he said.

Before coming to NWCCD, Barrett served as the associate vice president for enrollment management and student affairs at The College at Brockport (N.Y) from 2008-2016. She began her career in higher education in 1992 at the University of Wyoming, where she worked at the Wyoming Union. Barrett has been employed at several colleges across the United States including Arizona State University, Valparaiso University, and Boise State University.

Barrett earned a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Wyoming and a doctorate in Education from St. John Fisher College in Rochester, NY.

Klaver began serving as president of North Central Missouri College in Trenton, Mo., in 2016. Previously, he held the position of vice president for institutional advancement and enrollment at Finlandia University in Michigan for three years. Klaver served as a tenured faculty member, chair and director of athletics in the Department of Health, Exercise Science, and Sport Management for five years at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside (UW-P). affirms JEO Consulting Group, Inc. as the project engineer, approves plans and specifications and estimate of costs for the Transmission Water Main from the North Well Field to city limits project.

Roger Protzman with JEO told the council the Wayne County Commissioners has approved the application for the project, which is currently in the final design stage.

Protzman said the project will go out for bids next week with two options. The estimate cost for the entire project is between $3.03 million and $3.65 million, depending on the type of pipe used.

Council members took no action on a resolution that would have sold a portion of property owned by the city to Ed Brogie and Lee Brogie. The small piece of property is located at the corner of 10th and Main Streets.

Instead, the council authorized city staff to advertise for bids on the land in question. The bids would then be part of the council agenda in early November.

It was noted that the piece of property is too small to build a house on, but could be used in other ways.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

The Wayne Herald now has a home on the Internet.

Thursday, the newspaper is debuting its new Web site, www.mywaynews.com, which will offer a variety of unique features that will enhance the local newspaper's traditional coverage.

"A number of weekly newspapers across the state are joining their big-city daily brothers on the Web, and this is an opportunity to provide local residents with an enhanced online source for news and information, but will serve as a vehicle to further promote our area," managing editor Michael Carnes said.

The Wayne State Foundation and Wayne State College alumni and friends will hold a victory celebration during homecoming weekend Saturday, Oct. 8, in Wayne to mark the successful completion of the $13.5 million Building Bright Futures campaign.

At the college's opening faculty meeting in late August, Dr. Donald Mash, Wayne State president, credited private fund raising and the additional revenues generated by the college's dramatic enrollment growth, as the "difference-makers" in the college's significant progress in recent years. Since 1988, full-time equivalent enrollment has increased 55 percent and dormitory occupancy is up 53 percent.

The Building Bright Futures campaign is the first time the college and the Foundation have undertaken a national comprehensive fund-raising effort.

Preparation began in 1989 with a needs assessment on campus followed by feasibility studies with alumni and friends in 31 locations around the country. The campaign goal had two parts, $5.5 million in cash gifts and cash pledges, and $8 million in estate commitments.

What some people consider a potentially dangerous setup in the city's communication system will be changed as soon as the paperwork can be completed, matching funds obtained and qualified people hired.

The city council Tuesday night authorized Vern Fairchild, chief of police, to begin taking steps which would result in a central dispatch station being set up to handle all the radio calls for the city, county and the college.

The central dispatch station, which will probably be located in the police station, will blot out those "communication gaps" which could at some time prove disastrous.

Decision to go ahead with the station was reached after Fairchild told the council how it was by mere luck that an emergency message was received recently when the Wayne ambulance was involved in a wreck near Laurel. With a central station such dangerous gaps would not long exist, according to Fairchild.

Wayne county's quota in the united war fund drive this month is $5,200 and the aim is to have this completed by October 9.

Due to gas rationing, the committee is conducting the campaign this year by mail and asks 100 percent cooperation in this worthy cause. This organization includes U.S.O., war prisoners' aid and civil relief, and is the only drive to help service men except that of the Red Cross.

Interviews will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 2 (Klaver), Monday, Oct. 7 (Nwankwo), and Tuesday, Oct. 8 (Barrett). Two public forums will be held each day from 11 a.m.-12 p.m. and 3:15-4:15 p.m., in the Cox Activities Center Theatre on the Northeast campus, 801 E. Benjamin Ave. in Norfolk.

Less than ideal weather conditions greeted those taking part in the Youth-Mentor Hunt in 2018.

Youth-Mentor Hunt set for Oct. 13

Logan Creek Chapter of Pheasants Forever's 20th Annual Youth Mentor Hunt will be held Sunday, Oct. 13 at the Izaak Walton Lake northwest of Wayne.

Registration begins at 11 a.m. Lunch will be served from 11 until around 12:15 p.m.

Pre-registration is required for youth ages 11-15 who have successfully completed a Nebraska Game and Parks Hunter Safety Course.

"We encourage all youth who meet the requirements to register to participate, even if they have participated in the past. We especially encourage those who have not had an opportunity to participate in previous hunts to sign up for this year's hunt. This year's hunt will be limited to 16 youth," said Tim Reinhardt, one of the organizers of the event.

The day's activities will get started at 12:15 p.m. and should be wrapped up by 5 p.m. with numerous activities during the afternoon, including the opportunity to participate in a live hunt. Darin Greunke with the Sharpshooters 4-H Club will also be on hand to give attendees a chance at some long range air rifle shooting.

Each youth taking part in the event will receive a hunting vest, which is provided by Nebraska Game and Parks and Pheasants Forever, a blaze orange hat, and will be entered in a drawing to win a shotgun which will be given away at the chapter's banquet next March.

This year thanks to Nebraska Game and Parks, the Logan Creek chapter of Pheasants Forever will also be giving away one lifetime hunting permit on the day of the hunt.

Pheasants Forever mentored pheasant hunts are the ideal way to introduce youth and teens to hunting, as experienced volunteer hunters from Pheasants Forever coach youth on the importance of firearm safety, wildlife habitat and hunting technique.

Along with the need for youth to participate, there is also a need for adult volunteers to serve as mentors for the youth.

"This is a great opportunity for the kids and adults to learn some things and have some fun in the great outdoors. These kids are the next generation of sportsmen and we would like to teach them the importance of firearm safety and also the importance of wildlife habitat," Reinhardt said.

For more information, to sign up or to volunteer to help with the hunt, contact Tim Reinhardt at (402) 518-0597. Information can also be found on the chapter's Facebook page— Logan Creek Pheasants Forever Chapter #303.

Kniesche K's her way to 1,000-strikeout club

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

When Tori Kniesche struck out the second batter in the seventh inning of Wayne's 1-0 win over Milford at Saturday's Adams Central Invitational, her teammates ran to the pitcher's circle to celebrate what they thought was the senior's milestone achievement of 1,000 career strikeouts.

There was only one problem — she wasn't there quite yet.

After order was restored, she fanned her 20th batter of the game, officially joining the 1,000-strikeout club as the second Blue Devil and one of an elite handful of pitchers in Nebraska state high school history to have achieved the feat.

Kniesche said she knew how many strikeouts she needed to reach 1,000 going into Saturday's tournament.

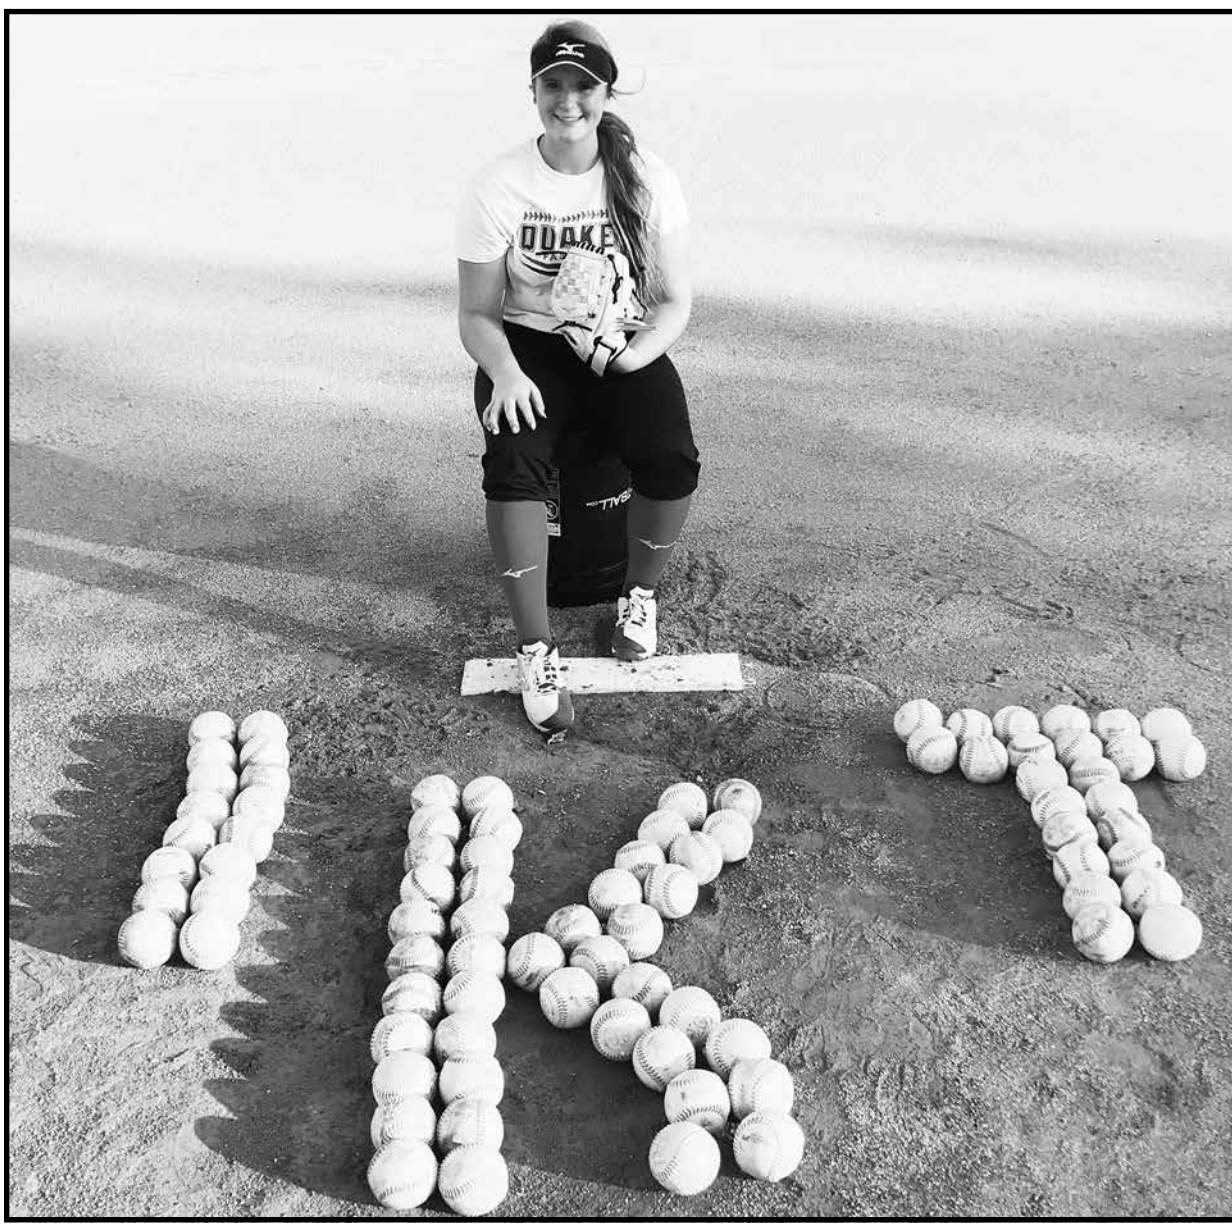

"I was counting it down," she said, "and it was an awesome feeling to reach it and have my teammates and all the parents there to celebrate it."

It's a mark Wayne High coach Rob Sweetland considers one of the toughest to reach, and he was happy to witness it — even if the celebration was premature.

"It would have been better if the girls had waited for the actual 1,000th," he said, laughing. "They all stormed her on 999 when it was the second out, but we still had one more out to go and the 1,000th was the last out of the game. It's a mind-boggling number when you look at today's game and how good hitters are these days. It's not something you see a lot."

The quest for 1,000 had its beginnings about 10 years ago when Kniesche wanted to play softball with her older sister, Annie, when she started in the Dirt Devils program.

"I wanted to play with my sister, but you had to be 9 years old to play," she said. "I'd try to dress up like she did, and finally they let me play the next year."

Wayne High senior pitcher Tori Kniesche joined the 1,000-strikeout club Saturday, joining a very elite group of pitchers in Nebraska history to have achieved that plateau.

It was then when she was discovered by Kevin Hill, a local pitching coach and the father of Blue Devil legend Molly Hill, whose name is listed all over the state high school record books for pitching statistics.

Hill could see immediately that Kniesche had the capability of being a top-notch pitcher.

"She was in a group of kids that I was watching and trying to figure out who might be a good pitcher, and I could tell right away that she had very good arm speed for her age," he said.

"He told me that my arm speed was incredible for my age and he picked me out right away and started working with me," Kniesche remembered.

Her arm speed was evident right away. Controlling that speed, though, was another matter.

"When I start working with younger kids, we focus on fundamentals and technique," Hill said. "She's always had pretty good speed, and her movement has developed really well."

"I remember a lot of people being scared of me because I was so

Trojans roll to 68-6 win over Omaha Nation

MACY — After playing three teams who will likely be in the playoff hunt to start the season, the Wakefield Trojans needed a "breather" game and got one in a 68-6 pasting of Omaha Mercy on Friday.

The Trojans limited the Chiefs to 40 yards in total offense and four first downs while building a 61-0 halftime advantage, which was just what the doctor — or coach Mike Hassler — ordered.

"This game really came at a good time in our schedule," Hassler said. "After three very physical games it was nice to get our starters off the field early and reward our younger players with a little extra playing time. They put in a lot of hours too and have to serve as our scout team week in and week out. We were happy to get them some minutes under the lights on a Friday night. I thought the starters got in there in took care of business, the young guys got a lot of minutes, and we got out injury-free. That's a good Friday night in my book."

The Trojans moved the ball at will in the first half, scoring five times in the opening period. Blake Brown scored a pair of touchdowns and threw a pass to Gabe Peitz, while Blake Heimann and Justin Erb both found the end zone to make it 33-0 after one period.

Gabe Lamprecht scored a pair of touchdowns in the second period, and Samuel Nuno and Logan Bokemper also found the end zone. The defense chipped in with a safety to give Wakefield the huge halftime advantage, and Dawson Samuelson closed out the scoring for the 3-1 Trojans with a five-yard run.

"A lot of guys got to see the field, the part that impressed me most was I don't think our physicality dropped off when the JV came on to the field," Hassler said. "I think our younger players know that first in foremost we need to be aggressive and take the fight to our opponent. I always tell them I can fix an aggressive mistake, I can't fix someone that stands there flat-footed and lets the opposing team bring the fight to them. Our JV squad stepped on to the field and got after that, it was fun to watch."

Blake Brown had three carries for 54 yards and Bokemper added four carries for 54 yards to lead the Trojan ground attack. Samuelson added 48 yards on 11 tries, Lamprecht had seven carries for 41 yards, Heimann had six carries for 31 yards, Nuno added 18 yards on five carries and Peitz had 12 carries for two yards. After a 400-plus yard game last week, Erb carried the ball just twice for four yards.

Brown was 4-of-7 passing for 79 yards in the game. Heiman (30), Peitz (23), Erb (15) and Nick Arenas (11) each caught one pass in the game.

Defensively, Bokemper had eight tackles and Nuno added six. The defense had five quarterback sacks and picked off three passes.

Next up for the Trojans is a much-improved Homer squad that will come to visit on Friday. Hassler said his team will be ready for the Knights.

"Homer is a much improved team from last year," he said. "I've been very impressed with their physicality on game film. We only have four games left in this season. Not only that, it's our last four games of 8-man ball and our last four games of Wakefield Trojan Football. We have a lot on the line and a lot left to play for, I'm confident the guys will be ready to roll."

Volleyball team wins three in home debut

After spending most of the month of September on the road, the Wayne State volleyball team got to enjoy some home cooking and came away with three conference home wins this past week.

On Tuesday, the 17th-ranked Wildcats used a balanced attack with three players over 10 kills as the Wildcats topped Augustana 25-22, 22-25, 25-12, 25-16 in the 14th annual Pack the House/Black Out Night sponsored by the WSC SPORTS Club.

The non-conference match attracted a crowd of 1,147 fans, making it the ninth-highest attended single game volleyball match in Rice Auditorium.

Both teams came out strong, attacking the ball in a first set that featured eight ties and five lead changes. Augustana held a 20-19 lead, but Wayne State took control late with four straight points on kills from Tarrin Beller, back-to-back kills from Katie Stephens and a kill by Jaci Brahmaer to lead the Wildcats to the first-set win.

Augustana battled back in the second set and produced 17 kills, surging late in the set to tie the match, but Wayne State responded in the third set, never trailing while building a big early lead.

With the score tied early at 5-5, Wayne State scored six of the next seven points to take an 11-6 lead. Back-to-back kills from Stephens forced an Augustana timeout at 14-7 and the 'Cats banged out 17 kills while holding the Vikings to just five in the set.

The Wildcats never trailed in the fourth set, taking an early 4-0 advantage. The Vikings got as close at 9-7 before the Wildcats scored five straight points for a 14-7 lead. They extended the lead to 19-11 and were able to finish off the Vikings for the four-set win.

Stephens led a balanced Wildcat attack with 14 kills followed by Kelsie Coda with 13 kills and 16 digs and Brahmaer with 12 kills.

Libero Haley Kauth and defensive specialist Hope Carter each recorded 24 digs. Rachel Walker was credited with 50 set assists, 15 digs and three service aces.

On Friday night, Brahmaer recorded a match-high 11 kills to go with nine blocks to lead the Wildcats to an easy 25-13, 25-15 and 25-14 victory over Minot State.

Tarrin Beller knocks down a kill for Wayne State during Friday's three-set win over Minot State at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats never trailed in the match, holding Minot State to a .000 attack percentage in the first set, breezing to a win in the second set, and using everybody who was suited up in the final set to complete the sweep.

Brahmaer hit .786 with 11 kills on 14 attacks with no errors and also had nine blocks on the night. Beller finished with seven kills and three blocks, Coda, Stephens and Maddie Knobbe each had six kills and Knobbe had eight blocks. Kauth and Coda both had 14 digs, Maddie Duffy had three ace serves.

The Wildcats capped their 3-0

Soccer team splits home matches

The Wayne State soccer team scored an exciting win and suffered a tough loss in their first home matches of the season over the weekend.

On Friday, Gabi Rosa's header off a corner kick from Skylar Stueckrath with :49 to go in regulation gave Wayne State the winning goal in a thrilling 2-1 Northern Sun Conference women's soccer win over Minot State, marking the Wildcats' first win in eight tries against the Beavers.

Minot State struck first in the 17th minute when Daniela Fonseca scored on a goal with an assist from Kelsey Pena to put the visiting Beavers ahead 1-0.

Wayne State answered at the 31:55 mark of the first half when Rylie Wehner scored her second goal of the season off a rebound from Rosa to make it 1-1 at the break.

The game appeared headed for overtime until a late surge by the Wildcats got a corner kick with just under one minute left. Sophia Ketchmark booted the ball from the left side into the box where Rosa headed the ball past Minot State goalkeeper Erin Rafferty to give the Wildcats a thrilling 2-1 win.

Wayne State finished the contest with a 15-6 advantage in shots over the Beavers including 8-4 in shots on goal. The Wildcats had four corner kicks and both teams were called for eight fouls.

Wehner and Megan Phillips led WSC offensively with four shots each with Phillips credited for three shots on goal. Rosa finished with three shots (two on goal) and had one goal with one assist for WSC. Goalkeeper Rachel Grisham earned the win with two saves and one goal allowed.

On Sunday afternoon, University of Mary came in and recorded a 4-0 shutout over the Wildcats.

Wayne State had the wind at their back in the opening half, but could not take advantage as the visiting Marauders struck for two goals within two minutes of each other before the midway point of the first half.

Sidney Burrell scored at the 14:13 mark with Noelle Vigneri finding the back of the net two minutes later for a 2-0 Marauder advantage despite WSC recording a 7-6 edge in shots during the first half that included one from Rylie Wehner that hit the crossbar.

Mary used another quick scoring surge to produce two goals in the second half as the Marauders scored in the 54th and 57th minutes to make the final score 4-0.

Mary ended the contest with a 12-9 advantage in shots over WSC and 6-4 in shots on goal. The Marauders held a commanding 9-1 lead in corner kicks over the Wildcats while WSC was called for 12 fouls to eight on the Marauders.

Late score helps Golden Bears edge Wildcats, 28-21

Wayne State was looking to get back in the win column Saturday, but let a halftime lead get away as Concordia-St. Paul's Darios Crowley-Reid scored on a three-yard run with 3:00 remaining to give the Golden Bears a come-from-behind 28-21 win at Cunningham Field.

The visiting Golden Bears capitalized on an early Wayne State turnover and scored on a Danny Laudet 49-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead with 10:19 to play first quarter, but the Wildcat offense picked things up after that to take a 14-3 lead in the second quarter.

Reserve quarterback Andy Thramer engineered a 13-play, 75-yard drive that was capped by an 18-yard scoring strike to running back Ryyan Wilkins to give Wayne State a 7-3 lead with 9:37 to go in the first half. After a Golden Bear punt, the Wildcats made it 14-3 after an eight-play, 82-yard drive that was capped with an 11-yard run by Lorenzo Logwood with 2:46 to go in the half.

The Golden Bears responded with a score just before halftime as quarterback Maxon Hutton tossed a six-yard scoring pass to Marcus Gustavson with :27 to go to make it 14-10 at halftime.

Concordia-St. Paul took the second half kickoff and drove 72 yards before settling for a 21-yard field goal by Laudet, then took the lead early in the second half when Hutton broke loose on a quarterback keeper and raced 76 yards for the touchdown to give Concordia-St. Paul a 20-14 lead.

Early in the fourth quarter, Wayne State was pinned at their own nine-yard line, but starting quarterback Tavian Willis engineered an eight-play drive that was capped with a 17-yard pass to Taurean Grady to give the Wildcats a 21-20 lead with 7:44 to go.

Concordia-St. Paul responded with a scoring drive of their own, driving 75 yards on 12 plays with freshman running back Darios Crowley-Reid finding the end zone on a three-yard run with 3:00 to play for the go-ahead score. A two-point pass conversion gave the Golden Bears a 28-21 lead.

Wayne State had the ball one last time, but the drive stalled at the Golden Bears' 48-yard line with 1:11 to play and the Golden Bears ran out the clock to seal the victory.

The Wildcats held a 440-363 advantage in total offense over Concordia-St. Paul. Wayne State had 227 yards rushing and 213 passing while the Golden Bears produced 191 yards on the ground and 172 passing.

Willis, starting in place of injured starter Andy McCance, completed 10-of-13 passes for 129 yards and one TD while rushing for another 68 yards on 16 attempts. Alex Thramer saw action and was 7-of-12 for 84 yards and one score while rushing for another 37 yards.

Ryan Wilkins led the Wildcats in the ground attack with 70 yards on 14 carries. Grady had four receptions for 64 yards and a score, Corbin Foster made four catches for 62 yards and Jason Hawkins had four catches for 31 yards.

Defensively, Ian Ailts led the Wildcats with 10 tackles and Kevin Ransom added six.

The 1-3 Wildcats will be at home again next Saturday, entertaining Minnesota Crookston in the Homecoming/Hall of Fame Game at 1 p.m.

Kniesche

wild," Kniesche aded. "I never knew where the ball was going to go and I'd get mad and throw a temper tantrum when I didn't throw right."

Over time, she was able to corral her fastball and soon began playing for select teams like Team Nebraska and Quakes Softball, where she discovered that she could take her pitching to another level.

"I first started playing (select ball) when I was 14 and it gave me the opportunity to compete at the next level," she said. "When I'd play for these teams, I started seeing all these college scouts there and that's when I realized that I needed to play at this level to get an opportunity to be seen by college coaches."

By the time she reached high school, Sweetland said he knew she had the potential to be a special pitcher, and she had the opportunity to work with two older players when she made varsity her freshman year.

"Her physical stature, even then, was one you'd want if you were grooming a pitcher," he said. "I knew if she kept at it, she could be what she is today, and we were fortunate that we didn't have to throw her to the wolves right away because we had two seasoned pitchers in Hannah Belt and Ashten Gibson and she was able to mature and learn from those two."

"Having Ashten and Hannah there really helped me a lot," Kniesche added. "They helped me push myself to the next level because I wanted to be as good as they were."

That year served her well, as she was the only pitcher back her sophomore year and led the Blue Devils to another state tournament appearance while throwing numerous no-hitters in the process.

"She pretty much did all the work," Sweetland said. "I know there was one tournament where she was hurt and we had to score 20 runs to win because she was the only pitcher we had. That really helped her grow and understand that she could throw that many innings."

Last year, it all came together for Kniesche and the Blue Devils, as they posted a perfect 35-0 record and won the Class C state title. And while Kniesche's pitching was dominant, she credited her teammates for helping her succeed.

"That was awesome, and I give a lot of credit to our six seniors," she said. "They backed me up and covered up a bunch of my mistakes and it was really a great team effort."

Now, as a senior leading a young team, she has the opportunity to provide the leadership that she experienced coming through the program. The Blue Devils are 21-3 and will host subdistrict play next week, a sign that the young team is coming around.

"That first year on varsity is really hard, and with me being out there I can help them settle in their positions and understand that if they go all out and make an error, it's still OK and we can deal with that," she said.

Reaching the 1,000-strikeout club puts her in a position where she has been compared to Molly Hill's numbers that were put up 15 years ago. She never saw Hill pitch, but Kniesche said she is honored to be compared to her pitching coach's daughter.

"I've heard a lot of stories about her, and Kevin told me I'm the only pitcher he's had that reminds me of her and that is really special," he said. "It gives me something to push myself to because she was such a great pitcher and I wanted to be just as good as her and be remembered like she is."

"The biggest thing for Tori is how consistent she has gotten," Hill said. "She and Molly were the only pitchers I've had who consistently throw in the mid 60's (miles per hour). Cassy Miller could throw around 60 and a lot of other pitchers have thrown in the 58-60 range, but throwing in the mid 60's puts her at a different level."

For Kniesche, it comes down to focusing on that next pitch.

"Kevin taught me to block out everything and that it's more of a mind game than a physical game," she said. "There's a lot of pressure on a pitcher that people don't understand, and he's taught me to cope with that and that the next pitch is all that matters."

After this season, Kniesche plans to take her talents to the Div. I level and pitch for former Wayne State coach Krista Wood at South Dakota State University.

The familiarity she had with Wood when she was in Wayne was one of the main reasons she chose to become a Jackrabbit after her days as a Blue Devil softball player come to an end these next few weeks.

"I went to a bunch of her camps when she was here, and coach (Kylie) Koch and Caitlin (Simon) Fehringer played for her and told me she was a great coach," she said. "Cassie Miller pitched for her at Wayne State and she didn't change Cassie's pitching much and that's something I'm looking forward to as well."

Hill said Kniesche needs to develop a better change-up by the time she gets to Brookings, but feels she has the tools to be a Div. I pitcher.

"She has really good stuff and I think she'll be able to go to South Dakota State and be an impact player there," he said. "I think she'll go in there pretty well-prepared."

Allen's Steven Cooks brings down a Bloomfield ball carrier during action Friday at Isom-Hill Field. The visiting Bees claimed a 42-26 win in the battle of unbeaten.

Eagles fall to Bees 42-26 in district opener

ALLEN — It might be early to declare a district champion, but Bloomfield certainly made their case Friday.

The third-ranked Bees visited Allen on Friday and used their size advantage up front to post a 42-26 win over the Eagles in a battle of undefeated teams at Isom-Hill Field.

After a scoreless first quarter, Bloomfield got on the board with a 27-yard run by Braden Eisenhauer, then surprised the Eagles with an onside kick on the ensuing kickoff. Allen couldn't handle the squib kick and the Bees got a 35-yard run from Eisenhauer to make it 14-0.

The Eagles put one on the board on their next possession, driving down the field and scoring on a fourth-down play when Lukas Oswald found Anthony Isom for a two-yard touchdown pass to make it 14-6.

Bloomfield took any momentum that score might have shifted and sent it back their way on the very next play, as Logan Johnson galloped 65 yards to make it 20-6 at the half.

Allen would stay within a score when they scored on the opening drive of the second half, thanks to a 46-yard sprint by Isom.

Every time Allen scored, though, Bloomfield would answer.

Eisenhauer scored again on a 3-yard run to make it 28-12, and when Oswald scored on a 36-yard run a minute later, Eisenhauer scored again on a five-yard run to make it 36-20 and Allen couldn't get any closer.

"The kids gave us all that they had for 48 minutes tonight," coach Dave Uldrich said. "We had chances that we gave away, and we created some. The injury to Noah Carr early in the game, did change a few things for sure offensively and maybe on our defense, but all the kids stepped up and played as focused and physically as they could and the coaches could not be prouder of the effort."

The Eagles just couldn't handle Bloomfield's 50-pound-per man advantage up front, as the Bees put up 410 yards in total offense on the night.

Oswald led the Allen ground attack with 85 yards on 14 carries while Isom added 53 yards in five tries. Oswald was 11-of-34 passing for 118 yards, with Ty Krommenhoek the leading receiver with four catches for 82 yards. Isom had three receptions for 29 yards and Kyle Kumm had five catches for seven yards.

Defensively, Brogan Jones had 22 tackles and Isom had 20 to lead the way. Nathan Oswald, Ryan Anderson and Steven Cooks each had 10 tackles.

The Eagles will look to get back on the winning side of the scoreboard Friday when they play a 7 p.m. matchup at Hartington-Newcastle.

Winside plays at Winnebago on Thursday and is at Randolph for a Saturday triangular before coming home to host Niobrara/Verdigre on Tuesday.

Wildcats run over by Riverside

The Winside football team ran into an offensive juggernaut on Friday as Riverside rolled to a 74-30 win over the Wildcats.

The hosts were not very gracious, racking up 50 points in the opening period against the Winside defense. Winside was able to get on the board in the first stanza, thanks to a 70-yard touchdown pass from Art Escalante to Matthew Frederick to make it a 14-6 game.

Riverside continued to dominate at the line of scrimmage on offense, but Winside's passing attack kept things from getting way out of hand, and they were actually to cut the first quarter deficit down to 42, trailing 66-24 at the half.

Gabe Escalante caught a 23-yard pass from Frederick and also returned a kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Frederick also found Dominic Reed for an 18-yard touchdown pass. Frederick closed out the scoring in the fourth quarter with a 12-yard touchdown run.

Frederick was 9-of-18 passing for 91 yards in the losing effort. Gabe Escalante caught three balls for 58 yards and Cayden Ellis had three catches for 15 yards.

Defensively, Ellis led the team with 10 tackles, Mason Topp and Casey North each had six and Reed, Frederick, Gabe Escalante, and Jacoby Mann each had five stops.

The 0-4 Wildcats will play at Humphrey St. Francis on Friday.

Softballers take Adams Central title

The Wayne High softball team continued its winning ways this past week, beating NEN and sweeping three games to take the Adams Central Invitational title.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils won on the road in Wisner with an 8-1 win over NEN.

Blue Devils fall to Pierce

It was one of those nights for the Wayne High Blue Devils.

The ninth-ranked Blue Devils opened district play on Friday with a matchup against top-ranked Pierce, and the Bluejays dominated from start to finish in a 42-0 shutout at Pierce High School.

Nothing went right for Wayne in the early going. After Pierce scored on its opening drive, the Bluejays blocked a Wayne punt to set up their next score, setting the stage for a dominating first half that saw Pierce take a 35-0 lead into the locker room.

Wayne drove into Pierce territory once in the second half, but were unable to put the ball in the end zone as Pierce's defense held the Blue Devils to 113 yards in total offense on the evening.

Tyrus Eischeid was 9-of-22 passing for 93 yards. Trace Jackson caught three balls for 35 yards, Blake Bartos and Noah Lutt had two catches apiece for 36 and 19 yards, respectively. In the rushing game, Victor Kniesche led the way with 20 yards on nine tries while Reid Korth had 12 yards on 12 carries.

Defensively, Korth had 10 total tackles. Bartos added eight, Kniesche and Tanner Walling each had six and Mike Leatherdale added five.

Wayne, 3-2, is back home Friday for a 7 p.m. matchup with Logan View/Scribner-Snyder.

Aliah Schulz and Kayla Fleming both had 2-run doubles to highlight the win. Tori Kniesche fired another masterpiece with 18 strikeouts and two hits over seven innings.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils beat Ord (16-3), Milford (1-0) and Adams Central (13-0) to run the table and win the Adams Central Invitational.

Wayne lit up the Chanticleers for 12 runs in the second inning to open with an easy win.

Kendall Dorey 2 hits, 3 runs scored and 3 RBI, Tori Kniesche 2 hits including a solo homer, Brooklyn Kruse 2 hits, 2 runs and two RBIs, Brianna Nissen and Nicole Fertig each scored twice.

In the semifinals, Tori Kniesche's 20th strikeout of the game not only capped a no-hitter, but was her 1,000th career strikeout, joining 2004 WHS grad Molly Hill among a short list of 1,000-strikeout pitchers in Nebraska history.

Wayne had three hits in the game, with Hope O'Reilly bringing in the only run in the game on a bases-loaded walk in the fourth.

In the finals, Kniesche tied a Class B state record with her ninth no-hitter of the season, fanning 12 Patriots and allowing three walks. O'Reilly had two doubles to lead an eight-hit attack. Dorey had two hits and four RBIs while Kniesche, O'Reilly and Taytum Sweetland each had two RBIs.

The 21-3 Blue Devils close out the regular season this week with home games Tuesday and Thursday against Logan View and Guardian Angels Central Catholic. They host the Mid State Conference tournament on Saturday, and will be the likely host for B-6 district play Monday and Tuesday.

Nebraska's manufacturing resurgence

October is Manufacturing Month, a time to celebrate the makers, builders, and inventors of Nebraska. Nearly one in ten jobs in Nebraska is in manufacturing. Thanks to recent job growth, this summer Nebraska's manufacturing employment reached its highest point in more than ten years.

The U.S. economy suffered through the Great Recession from December 2007 to June 2009. As a result of the economic downturn, many companies laid off workers or went out of business altogether. Our state's manufacturing industry was not immune to the Great Recession. From December 2007 to December 2009, Nebraska's manufacturing employment plummeted from 102,200 to 91,100. That's a drop of 10.9 percent in just two years.

The good news is that Nebraska manufacturing has bounced back. Manufacturing employment is currently at its highest level since October 2008. According to the National Association of Manufacturers, Nebraska's manufactured goods exports have grown 40.9 percent from 2010 to 2018.

The growth of Nebraska manufacturing is occurring all across the state. Here are several examples:

- In Scottsbluff, Aulick Industries plans to construct a new 30,000 square-foot building. The new space will allow the company to ramp up its production of truck chassis by 50 percent and to add numerous jobs.

- Lindsay Corp. has announced a multimillion dollar investment in a 332,000 square-foot plant. The facility in Lindsay will manufacture lining for pipes that makes them extremely resistant to corrosion.

- In Holdrege, Allmand Inc. broke ground on a plant expansion in May that will add around 20 jobs. Founded in Huntley in 1938, Allmand designs and manufactures portable jobsite equipment including light towers, generators, compressors, heaters, and portable lights.

- Becton Dickinson in Columbus is currently building a cutting-edge, $60 million manufacturing facility. When operational in 2021, the plastic molding plant will produce vials, syringe caps, and other plastic components used in the medical field.

- Timpte Inc., a trailer manufacturer, has embarked on a significant project to expand its presence at its longtime home in David City. Among other additions, the company is building a new research and development center and increasing capacity at its main factory. In total, the new project will bring between 30 and 60 jobs to the community.

- Scoular's expansion to Seward this year represents a $50 million investment and will create up to 100 new jobs. Scoular has been creating jobs for Nebraskans since the 1800s. It has grown into one of America's most successful private companies, with operations around the globe.

- This summer, Veramaris in Blair began commercial production of omega-3 acids from fermented algae at a new $200 million facility. The sugar (dextrose) used in the production process comes from Nebraska-grown corn. The omega-3s will be used as nutrition for salmon on fish farms, eliminating the need to catch other wild fish to obtain

Gov. Pete Ricketts

Whether making equipment, producing medical supplies, or engaging in value-added agriculture, Nebraska manufacturers are creating jobs and enriching communities.

As impressive as our state's manufacturing growth has been, we've only scratched the surface of Nebraska's manufacturing potential. To see even greater growth, we must help people get the skills they need to fill the many jobs available. Oftentimes, our state's manufacturers simply cannot find the welders, machinists, or engineers they need to expand their business.

To turbocharge our manufacturing growth, we're equipping the current generation of students to take advantage of the rewarding, great-paying jobs in manufacturing. Our Developing Youth Talent Initiative (DYTI) partners with local companies and schools to familiarize middle-school students—and their parents—with the many career opportunities to earn a great wage in manufacturing. As of this summer, DYTI had reached 7,000 students in 23 school districts. In July, we announced $250,000 in additional DYTI grants. These projects will expand DYTI to as many as 5,500 new students in up to 44 school districts. Career academies bring together area businesses and postsecondary educational institutions to provide high school students with hands-on, interactive learning activities in manufacturing. At the college level, students can earn as they learn through a Registered Apprenticeship (RA). The Nebraska Department of Labor is collaborating with businesses, educational institutions, and the US Department of Labor to develop new RA programs across a variety of industries. We've increased the number of RAs 44 percent since 2016. On July 2nd, Nebraska's Department of Labor announced that it had received over $840,000 in federal funds to launch even more RAs across the state. Together, these initiatives are creating a talent pipeline of skilled young professionals to fill in-demand jobs in manufacturing.

By developing our people, we can spur on the growth that's already taking place in Nebraska's manufacturing industry. If you have ideas on how to best prepare young Nebraskans to excel in manufacturing careers, I hope you will email me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or call 402-471-2244.

Let's encourage the Corps of Engineers to 'manage' the Mighty Mo

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Driving along the Missouri River on either the Nebraska side or through Iowa, Missouri and Kansas leaves one feeling like a frog on a lily pad. There's water everywhere, mostly in places where it shouldn't be.

Some roads that were closed since the March 'Weathermageddon' have been re-opened, more than once. Many of those are being closed again as the area prepares for another flood, at any minute.

Meanwhile, Nebraska Governor Ricketts and the governors of adjacent states are calling on the Corps of Engineers to make a new game plan concerning management of water in that River.

It might not seem like much in the greater scheme of things, but managing the release of water from Gavins Point Dam might be the only thing man can control. Part of that management includes the strengthening of vital levees along the river and making them taller when possible.

The governors started meeting with the Corp in April and have met several times since. Ricketts said recently the group is determined to push the Corps to "change the way we're managing the river" following this year's devastating flooding. In case you missed it, there have been at least a couple 500-year floods in recent years that make the case for managing the river differently.

It boils down to convincing the Corps to reconsider how to protect people and property downstream from Gavins Point Dam. Ricketts says Gavins Point, on the Missouri River in the Dakotas, is the last one to release the river water that pours downstream.

In March, snow, rain, ice and a raging river caused more than a billion dollars damage to Nebraska farmland. Bridges, roads and dams were broken and, in some cases, disappeared. Cattle and other livestock floated down rivers. Some areas were isolated when major roads were damaged or submerged. Some communities lost more than 50 percent of their inhabitable building stock.

It doesn't take a lot to believe that more violent and unusual weather is in the cards. Heavy rain and hail has pelted large portions of the Panhandle and Central Nebraska almost all summer. Eastern Nebraska rainfall amounts have been running above average. In early July, heavy rains flooded areas from Lexington to Wood River and caused millions in property damage. Kearney lost more than half of its available hotel rooms and the recovery there continues.

Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds

has touted looking at the need from a regional perspective and in terms of the short- and long-term response. Ricketts said the collaboration of governors demonstrates the importance of the issue.

Missouri Gov. Mike Parson has said he wants to see some straight-up answers from the Corps with a number of options on the table. Parson suggested the inclusion of an outside agency in addition to the corps to help oversee Missouri River management.

"We want a seat at the table to make sure, moving forward, (we're involved in) how those issues are addressed," he said.

Ricketts said the four states are committed to working with the corps to examine basin and levee management practices going forward. He said the group is also looking at recommendations that, in the past, perhaps didn't have enough "political will" behind them to succeed.

He said the Corps has been receptive to the states' request to be more involved. One would think the Corps would appreciate a unified voice from the people who have been hardest hit. Perhaps those higher up the food chain will be supportive of the four-state's pleas and cooperative spirit.

Kudos to Ricketts for giving teeth to the "Nebraska Strong" flood recovery motto.

Let's hope the right people pay attention.

Legislative Update

Page program, bridge work on Albrecht's radar

Deadline October 4

As a reminder, this Friday is the final date for applications to be a page at the Nebraska Legislature! If you have a student in your family who has an interest in learning more about Nebraska's State Capitol, now is your chance. The Clerk of the Legislature's Office is currently accepting page applications for the 2020 Legislative Session. A Legislative page is typically someone who serves as an aide on the Legislative floor to the Senators with copy work, delivery, answering phones and assisting in many other ways throughout the legislative session. It is a great opportunity to get involved in state government. The deadline for submitting page applications and letters of recommendation for the 2020 Legislative Session is this Friday, Oct. 4 at 5 p.m.

Safety first

As harvest season kicks off, and with news of a recent fatality involving a vehicle and slower moving farm equipment please use caution and watch out for slow moving vehicles. Our sympathies to the family of the recent tragedy. Remember that farm vehicles and equipment are wider and cannot travel as fast as other vehicles, so please be aware that posted speed limits are not always the wisest speed to travel. This time of year it is not unusual to come over a hill and find yourself behind a slower moving vehicle without enough time to stop. I wish everyone a safe and productive harvest.

Bridge work on-target

On Sept. 27, I made an on-site visit to the Hwy 94 Bridge that was damaged in the March 2019 flood. The road crew was working especially hard and informed me that the bridge is on-target for completion by mid-October, barring interference by any weather events. Good news for community members and area visitors just in time for harvest. I gathered good pictures as I witnessed and visited with those construction workers who are doing a great job.

Rural Nebraskans thrive

capital. The benchmark index tool was developed by UNL's Bureau of Business Research and the University of Nebraska at Kearney's College of Business and Technology to identify trends in various regions throughout a state. Especially exciting is the finding that on the index, the Siouxland region ranked third in the state. According to its website, "the 2019 Nebraska Thriving Index provides economic developers, local elected officials and community leaders with economic and quality of life indicators to identify thriving and lagging regions so strategic, future focused investments can be made."

The regions identified by the index are matched and compared with peer regions in other states. The Siouxland region was not only compared to others in Nebraska, but also to regions in North, Northwest, and Southeast Iowa as well as Southwest Illinois. You can learn more about the index and the trends and view the 2019 report online at ruralfutures.nebraska.edu/nethrivingindex/.

As always, it is of great importance that I hear from my constituents to effectively do my job as your voice in the Legislature. I encourage you to contact me and I look forward to hearing from you. # Wakefield Balloons 'N BBQ

(Photos by Clara Osten)
Less than ideal weather conditions did not deter hundreds from taking part in the annual Balloons 'N BBQ events in Wakefield last weekend. Cook-offs were held from both the young and not so young. Other activities included pony rides, a car show, a Wakefield Heritage Organization presentation of "Mark Twain", a parade, corn hole tournament, omelet feed served by members of the Wayne State College baseball team and vendor fair. The only thing missing from the festival was balloons in the air. Weather conditions throughout the weekend were windy and rainy and did not allow the balloon to lift off.

Advice offered for snacking on the go School Lunches

Over the last 30 years, the average number of snacks consumed by adults per day has doubled, according to the USDA Food Surveys Research Group. Snacking by adolescents has also increased significantly in recent decades. On average, snacks provide about one-third of daily calories. For many, the snack foods and beverages contributing the most calories aren't always the most nutritious options. However, snacking can be part of a healthy eating plan. Healthy snacks can provide lots of nutrition with fewer calories. Check out the following information on making smarter snacking easier.

•MyPlate and snack food selection. Choose snack foods from the MyPlate food groups. Choose a variety of fruits and vegetables to help get the full range of vitamins, minerals, and fiber needed for health. Whole fresh fruits, dried fruits, and packaged pre-cut vegetables are easy snacks to carry along. Snack on whole grains such as popcorn, low-fat granola bars, brown rice cakes, or snack mixes with whole-grain cereal. Consume three cups per day of fat-free or low-fat dairy, such as yogurt, string cheese, or cottage cheese. Eat a variety of lean protein such as meat, poultry, beans, eggs, nuts, and seeds.

•Create your own trail mix. If you make your own trail mix, it is likely to be more nutritious, and have ingredients that you enjoy. Some ideas of items to include in a snack mix are nuts, sunflower seeds, raisins, popcorn, or pretzels.

•Develop a smarter snacking plan. To keep snacking under control, plan what to eat, how much, and when to eat a snack. Planned snacking reduces the likelihood of overeating on not-so-healthy foods at a fast-food restaurant, vending machine, or convenience store. To keep snacks from replacing meals, avoid eating snacks within one hour of meals.

Keep nutritious snacks handy: Research shows that availability often drives snack selection. If your cupboard is full of cookies, chips, and candy, it's easy to make them your snack. Fresh, frozen, dried, or canned fruits can be easy "grab-and-go" options that need little preparation. Store sliced vegetables in the fridge and eat them with dips like hummus or low-fat dressing. Have healthy snacks portioned into snack-size bags or containers. If you have your snacks in baggies in the refrigerator or on the counter ready to grab, both you and your family will be more likely to eat the foods that are good for them.

•Compare food labels. Read the Nutrition Facts Label on products to find food with the most nutrition for your money. Using the Nutrition Facts Label helps you compare fat, calories, fiber, sodium and sugar found in different items. They also provide information on the serving size and how many servings are in an item.

•Eat snacks only when hungry. Thirst is often misinterpreted as hunger, so it's important to drink plenty of water during the day. Avoid eating snacks out of boredom or frustration; try physical activity instead. Every person has varying needs when it comes to snacking, depending on activity levels, portion sizes at meals, and work schedule. Elderly adults and toddlers may have difficulty eating large meals because of stomach capacity, and may do well with several small snacks throughout the day. Children and teens are more likely to need snacks because of their growth and higher physical activity levels. Plan ahead for children's snack needs to avoid last-minute unhealthy snacking decisions.

Minerva Club holds regular meeting

Minerva Club met Monday, Sept. 23 at the Wayne Senior Center Fauneil Bennett was hostess.

Nine members were in attendance along with two guests: Gloria Menke from Montana and Rita McLean from Wayne. Some of Dr. Ben Carson's inspirational notes were read for roll call.

President Phyllis Rahn opening the meeting with some of Hallie Sherry's Sunshine Notes such as "You know you are getting old when you and your teeth don't sleep together." and "Your back goes out but you stay at home." Dues were collected. Thinking of you cards were signed for Hollis Frese and Donna Hansen. The program schedule for the year was completed.

Fauneil Bennett presented a program on Dr. Ben Carson who may be a renowned neurosurgeon and humanitarian now, but growing up he never had it easy. Abandonment by his father, the turbulence of life in inner-city Detroit, being called stupid at school and a violent temper pointed him to a harsh future and a bad end. But that's not what happened. Once Ben's mother got her life in order, she was able to lead Ben and his brother on a solid path to apply their true potential based on principles of harnessing power of talent, honesty, insight, knowledge, books, in-depth learning, and God and find inner strength he never knew he had.

Today Ben serves in the Trump Administration as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and continues to draw on the principles he grew up with.

Susan Boust will host the next meeting, which is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 14 at the Senior Center.

Choosing joy, finding hope

It is so easy in our everyday lives to go through the motions of life and be down for all the things that just don't go our way. When someone tells us to choose joy in the midst of something awful that is happening to us, we think it is impossible to find happiness, we begin to lose hope.

I think choosing to see the goodness of God in the midst of all we do, even when the storms of life bring us down, is just where we may find God. God being the anchor of our faith.

Brokenness, anger and frustration can fill our hearts and that is when we let them start to take root and cloud our view of everything. So, what if we decide to choose joy in our lives, finding hope instead? Believe me, it is not the easiest thing to do. If we boldly give thanks to God for his being by our side and we look for His light to shine, we face God's unwavering love for us in the joys and struggles of life.

Joy is not the same thing as happiness and is not necessarily the absence of pain. God gives us strength to face our trials and pain. Part of choosing joy is choosing His goodness.

"I can do all things through him who gives me strength." Philippians 4:13

"Be joyful always; pray without ceasing, give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18

Finding joy is a reminder to see the beauty in life, even when it looks nothing like you had hoped for. Joy is having an inner peace with God and knowing we can do great things with him. Joy is knowing God loves all of us and wants us to have a relationship with him.

If you wish to hear an inspirational speaker speak on Joy, please join us at Pink Flamingo Night 2019 on Thursday, Oct. 10 at Our Savior Lutheran Church and hear Laura Frankl share the story of her sister, Sara Frankl. The topic is Choose Joy: The decision that changes everything.

Where to find happiness

Have you ever said to a friend or family member, "I just want you to be happy", as they were considering marriage, a new job or some other major decision?

Recently I watched a documentary on a highly accomplished NBA basketball player from the 1980s and 90s. The program ended with the camera on him as he said, "I have five NBA Championships and I'm world famous. Is that supposed to make me happy?" Then he bowed his head and began to weep.

Happiness is that inner experience some label as a state of contentment and well-being. How many of us want that for ourselves or wish it for those whom we love? It often seems the inner experience of happiness is tied to something external. Like if we find marriage or love externally, that will provide us happiness internally. If we find success externally, that will provide happiness internally. As a result, we search the world over for something that will provide us that inner happiness.

I firmly believe we were all created to want this happiness for ourselves. This is the common human experience. Rich or poor. No matter our race or religion, we hunger to be

Jesus once made a startling claim to a crowd about Himself, "I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst" (John 6:35).

These words of Jesus show His understanding of the human heart. He knew people were searching outwardly for what they longed for inwardly. Sometime after these words were spoken, Jesus went on to suffer, die, then rise again. After He arose and ascended back to His home in heaven, He sent His Spirit to live on the earth. His Spirit indwells anyone who turns from their evil ways and trusts in Jesus alone for complete forgiveness for all they have ever done wrong.

When this happens, the Spirit brings the life of Jesus into that individual which gives, "love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control" (Galatians 5:22-23). Right there, that is what every human truly longs for. It is something deeper and more profound than superficial happiness.

What we are looking for is not found in marriage, success or any other earthly human experience we can control or create for ourselves.

The contentment, joy and meaning in life we seek is found in Jesus and nowhere else. And it is not something He dispenses outside of Himself. He embodies it all. When we come to our senses and realize we have been going after the wrong things and receive the Spirit of Jesus within us, we receive all of who He is.

Are you ready to stop going here and there looking for temporary happiness? Are you ready to surrender all to Christ?

A prayer for you - "Lord God, I pray you will lead those who are searching for contentment and inner well-being to Christ. Open their spiritual eyes to see that Jesus is all they are looking for, that in Him all their desires and longings will be met. Bring them to surrender all, to turn from their ways and trust in You with all their heart. In Jesus' name. Amen."

The Prairie Doc

A tall drink of water

By Andrew Ellsworth, MD

What if there was something you could drink that could help you live longer and was free? Would you drink it? What if I offered something else to drink that could shorten your life and would cost you one dollar? Would you want to buy it?

As you might have guessed, the initial question refers to water, which is healthy and free, for the most part. Meanwhile, the latter question refers to a less desirable alternative, soda pop.

A recent study involving half a million people in Europe found that drinking soda pop was associated with a greater risk of death from any cause. What's even more interesting is how this study found that both regular and diet soft drinks were bad for your health. Drinking sugar sweetened beverages, such as regular sodas, increases your risk of digestive disease deaths. Meanwhile, drinking artificially sweetened beverages, like diet sodas, increases your risk of dying from cardiovascular diseases.

I'm sorry to say, but that diet soda may increase your risk of a heart attack or stroke. These findings were most significant when people drank two or more sugar or artificially sweetened beverages per day, compared to less than one per month.

This study was published in September 2019 in the Journal of the American Medical Association Internal Medicine. It showed associations, which means it saw connections, but it doesn't necessarily prove a cause and effect relationship. However, this was an impressive study involving half a million people followed for over 16 years. It excluded people if they already had cancer, diabetes, stroke, or heart disease and it tried to account for body weight and smoking as well. Furthermore, other studies have found similar results.

If you really want a soda pop, it's not going to kill you to have one, but you probably don't need several every day. If you do, why not try cutting down? If you don't feel like drinking a glass of water, consider trying a sparkling water, or maybe take a glass of water and put a slice of lemon in it. Maybe try a natural sweetener like honey. Or, have a glass of milk.

In the last several years, people are drinking less soda pop, and the large soda corporations are listening to consumer demands. You may notice some alternatives the next time you walk down the beverage aisle at the grocery store. However, pay close attention to what's in them. Many are still loaded with sugar, and others have artificial sweeteners. Be wary of sports drinks, juice, supplement drinks and other alternatives.

My recommendation is to enjoy a tall glass of water. It's good for your health, good for your pocketbook, and you just might feel the satisfaction of self-care.

Luncheon, Craft Show to benefit Winside Museum

The Winside Museum will be holding their annual Spaghetti Luncheon and Craft Fair in the Winside Auditorium on Sunday Oct. 13.

The craft fair will begin at 8 a.m. and run until 1:30 p.m., while the spaghetti dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The menu will consist of spaghetti with meat sauce, lettuce salad, garlic bread and dessert bar.

The Winside Museum has recently installed a new sidewalk in the front of the doctor's office and would welcome all donations to help offset the cost of the project.

The committee will also have numerous items they will be selling tickets for. Winners will be drawn at the Saturday, Dec. 7 Foundation Craft Show that will be held at the school. The museum will also have a table at that craft show.

Anyone wishing to make a donation, buy raffle tickets, make a dessert for the Oct. 13 dinner or work at it, is asked to contact Rose Janke at (402)296-9010 for more information.

Wayne FFA chapter hosts dairy judging event

Wayne FFA members hosted District Dairy Judging at the Wayne County fairgrounds on Sept. 24. A total of 279 students from 11 different schools took part in the event.

"The students did a fantastic job setting up, competing, and cleaning up. Behavior was above average, they were willing to help, and represented Wayne and FFA very well," said Advisor Toni Rasmussen.

The students judged (placed) six classes of dairy cattle, had questions on two of those classes, and had a test on the industry.

Members of the Northeast Nebraska Cattlemen and Wayne County Farm Bureau grilled hamburgers for those in attendance at the event.

Dairy animals were brought in by Terry Gilliland, Junck Dairy and MPM Farms.

The Leland Herman Memorial Arena was filled with students and dairy animals on Sept. 24 for the annual competition. (Photo by Clara Osten)

The FFA's next competition will be Area Land Judging on Tuesday, Oct. 8. The group is also hosting a 5K run/walk on Saturday, Oct. 19. Anyone interested in taking part is asked to register at runreg.com/HalloWayne-5K. Proceeds will go to the local Christmas Drive that Mrs. Misty Bear coordinates.

Below are the placings and ribbons received for the Wayne students from the dairy judging event.

Sharp Shooters compete in State Silhouette Match

A total of 91 youth from across Nebraska converged on the Pressey Wildlife Management Area south of Broken Bow on Sept. 28 to compete in the 41st annual Nebraska Youth Smallbore Silhouette Invitational.

This event, sponsored by the Nebraska Game and Parks, is open to youth ages 11 to seniors in high school who have completed the Nebraska Firearm Hunter Education course.

Many coaches warn their shooters to expect the unexpected at "Pressey". This year was no exception, as cold, breezy conditions greeted the competitors as the sun played peak-a-boo with the clouds all day.

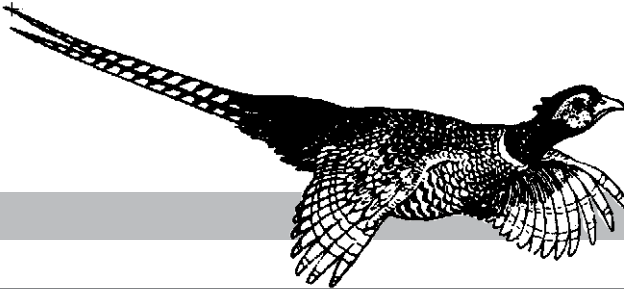

"The breezy conditions were unique this year, as it was a cross wind from the east. Sometimes blowing at 10-15 mph one minute, then quiet the next," said Darrin Greunke, Coach of the Wayne County Sharp Shooters 4-H Club. "That's what makes this match so challenging but yet fun."

Commenting on pumpkin spice, Nebraska fans

Last day of September, and HOT!! But it sounds as if relief is in sight. We do NOT need more rain, however. I remember telling Fr. Rick Arkfeld that one rainy day at a conference; I told him to ask the Father to turn it off. His response to me was, "The Father knows when it is time to stop it." In other words, it wasn't up to him, or me, to try to tell God what to do and what not to do, and he was right!

It's pumpkin spice time. We splurge on a pumpkin spice latte about once a week. But I'm with Diane Becker in the fact that pumpkin taste and smell is now being overdone. Some of it has to do with cinnamon, I get that, but too much of a good thing, like rain or pumpkin, is overkill.

sad. The Big Farmer's cousin has a son who lived his whole life in California but always heard from his Nebraska relatives how great our football games are. So, to celebrate his birthday on the 28th, he flew to Nebraska to take it all in. I hope he got to participate in the ESPN Game Day stuff, that looked like fun.

We saw one marriage proposal sign, with an affirmative response. And we saw lots of others, like "LeBron left Ohio, twice!" Ha.

The PTA who does my heat treatment on Wednesdays is from Sonoma County, California. She ran cross country and track in high school and had no idea where she wanted to go to college. She noticed on the computer that Coach Pepin was looking at her times, and her Dad said they had to check it out.

He told he had heard we have a lot of school spirit! Boy, that's an understatement! They came on a game day, and she was so excited at the end that she ran across the street and bought a pair of red and white overalls!! She's still glad she came, and has graduated, and also works as a personal trainer. She says her friends just do not understand!!

I think in order to understand, you have to live here awhile. Those of us who grew up with it don't realize it's unusual, but if you went to school in a state that had umpteen colleges, you would find our fanaticism unusual, to say the least. Hey, at least the volleyball team is still winning!

Pirate bugs, lady beetles are signs of fall

Fall is my favorite time of year! Football games... cool, crisp mornings... crops maturing in the fields... less humidity... these are all things that make fall great.

If I could find some place to live where it was fall year-round, I'd consider moving there in a heartbeat. The only problem is, so many other people would want to live there, too, and it would be so crowded I wouldn't enjoy it.

Fall is not without its drawbacks and I first experienced one of those this last week. Minute pirate bugs have been around us all summer, but we didn't notice them as they

a small insect, about 1/5 of an inch long, oval to triangular in shape, somewhat flattened and black with whitish markings on the back. They do not feed on blood or inject a venom or saliva.

People differ in their response to the bites. Some people will swell up like a mosquito bite, some will turn red, and for others there is no reaction at all. Control of minute pirate bugs is not practical. Repellents generally are not effective, although some people have found liberally applying baby oil or suntan oil to the skin may prevent some bites.

Another beneficial insect that becomes a pest in the fall is the multicolored Asian ladybird beetle, or ladybug. Actually there are many species of ladybugs, or more correctly lady beetles, in Nebraska. However, this species is particularly beneficial as it feeds on other insects, particularly aphids, in the summer. However, in the fall they are particularly annoying, congregating on homes and finding any available opening to get inside.

This lady beetle follows a similar pattern to minute pirate bugs, spending its summers in fields and moving to homes in the fall, although it's usually several weeks later when they migrate from fields to around homes. They can also deliver a bite, although their bite is probably better described as annoying compared to the painful bites of minute pirate bugs. They also emit an unpleasant odor, especially when they congregate in large numbers in the fall.

Both insects will try to get in homes in the fall as they look for a protected place to spend the winter, although lady beetles are more notorious for this. Once inside a home, neither will damage house plants or contents, although lady beetles can emit a secretion that will stain fabric or wallpaper, especially if they are squished.

The best method to control either of these insects inside the home is to keep them outside. Locate possible entry points and use caulking to seal cracks and crevices. Use weather stripping to insure a tight seal around doors and windows, and make sure screens are in good repair. Spraying them with an insecticide has limited effects because others will migrate in, replacing any you might have killed.

For more information on minute pirate bugs or multicolored Asian ladybird beetles, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

spent most of their time in fields, feeding on other insect eggs and other small insects. They are beneficial insects, limiting the number of pests in fields and gardens.

As crops mature and are harvested, they will migrate out of fields. It's hard to remember that they are a beneficial insect this time of year when they begin their disagreeable behavior of biting humans. Their bite is surprisingly painful for such simple, as there are 40 steel targets down range, 10 each of chickens, pigs, turkeys and rams. Each set is at different distances; chickens at 40 meters, pigs at 60 meters, turkeys at 77 meters and rams at 100 meters. The object is to shoot one shot at each target and knock it down. All shooting is done from the offhand or standing position.

Shooting 35 animals to claim the State Championship was Emily Eilers from Wayne.

"Emily has really put in the practice time this year," Greunke said. "Hard work always pays off."

Other members of the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club competing were James Simpson, Mason Edwards, Carter Anson and Allen Brenner. James shot a 33, Mason and Carter finished with 15 hits and Allen knocked down 9 targets.

There is a team division in this match. Emily, James, Mason and Carter combined their scores to finish in third place in the 4-H division team race.

For more information about this event or the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club please contact Darin Greunke at 402-286-4895.

Setting up for Success: Zone Sampling

This week, Jason Kock, our ACS Mapping Center Specialist, and I discussed why growers would consider doing zone-based sampling of their fields. Most growers will take some soil samples to try to understand the nutrient levels in their fields. Some growers will try to use just one or a few samples to make fertilizer decisions.

With zone-based sampling we break a field up into zones based on soil and field characteristics like texture, elevation, previous yield, and satellite imagery of current and previous crops. These zones are then sampled separately for fertilizer needs such as lime, phosphorus, potassium, sulfur, and zinc. These zones can also be used for making variable population planting prescriptions or variable rate nitrogen application.

Geographical Information Systems (GIS) hardware and software has allowed us to come a long way in the last 25 years. We no longer have to just look at your operation on a field-by-field basis. We can now look at 10 to 30-acre management zones or even sub-one-acre zone sub-areas. The technology does not replace good agronomy, but it lets us apply good agronomy on a subfield basis.

See your CVA Field Sales Agronomist or your Regional ACS Manager for more information on technology applications most appropriate for your operation or visit us online at cvacoop.com to learn more about CVA.
