Property insurance, school website discussed

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

A presentation on the district's property and casualty insurance and a look at what the district's new website will look like highlighted Monday's meeting of the Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education meeting.

Cap Peterson with Northeast Nebraska Insurance, walked the board and staff through the coverage the district has with EMC Insurance Company in regard to the buildings, vehicles, liability and workers' compensation. The policy for this coverage needs to be renewed in December.

Peterson said the district currently has $38 million worth of buildings and property and is insuring 20 automobiles. He also explained what the district's liability coverage entails and praised the district for the work it has done in keeping the workers' compensation modular lower than the state average.

The total cost of the coverage is $98,947 for the policy that runs for one year, starting in December.

Board member Lynn Junck asked if the district could look at a policy that would have a different deductible. Peterson said the board could approve the current policy and make changes in the future. He will present other options at the next meeting.

Board members also listened to information from Diana Davis on the school's new website, which is scheduled to be put into effect this week.

Superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan told the board that the district had been in a partnership with the city of Wayne, Wayne County and Wayne Area Economic Development for the school's website. Upgrades to this system were expensive and not necessarily designed for a school district.

The new system will allow for Twitter and Facebook feeds and will be linked to the websites for the city, county, Wayne Area Economic Development and Wayne State College.

Additionally, the new website will be able to be updated by staff in all the buildings and will be much more mobile friendly.

Board members were updated on the status of installing lighting at the Kern Track.

Ace Hardware meeting gives public a voice in new store

On Nov. 6, Wayne's Fire Hall was packed for a townhall-style meeting about the Ace Hardware store set to move in to the old Shopko building at 615 Dearborn Street in Wayne. The meeting was held so that the investors, Stephen LeGrand, Chris and BJ Woehler, Wes Blecke, and Mike McManigal could hear from the community and achieve one of their goals - bringing in products that will keep residents shopping local.

"This is a huge opportunity to solve a community problem," LeGrand said.

LeGrand owns an Ace Hardware store in Blair and is familiar with the company. He assured the crowd that he and the rest of the investors are working with suppliers to bring in the types of products Wayne shoppers want, and that extends well beyond tools and building supplies.

Other Ace Hardware stores carry clothing, craft supplies, cards and gifts and more. LeGrand said one of his goals is to make Wayne's Ace a Hallmark Crown store. LeGrand also said that Wayne will not be alone in filling a retail void with Ace, as six other former Shopkos are now or are in the process of being replaced by Ace.

To get a better sense of what the community needs and wants, meeting moderator Stephanie Liska asked tables to work together to answer several questions: what does a good customer service experience look like versus a bad one, what specific products would be necessary and what products would be nice to have locally and finally, how an Ace store should best be involved in the community.

After group work was over, BJ Woehler, LeGrand and McManigal opened the floor up to questions from the audience. The investors said they were working to bring in as many products as possible for opening day, which they hope will be by late spring.

"We want to take time to bring the whole store with lots of home goods at one time to win over Wayne," Woehler said.

The investors also encouraged continuing dialogue between themselves and future shoppers by either getting in touch with them individually or speaking to the Wayne Area Economic Development office at (402) 375-2240.

"I got into this to help the community out," LeGrand said. "This is your store. Help us. Let's make sure this dialogue doesn't stop after this (meeting)."

Wayne Auto Parts celebrating half century of service

By Clara Osten
clara@wayneherald.com

Both Larry and Jeanne Lindsay say they have been "very blessed with loyal customers" during their 50 years in business.

On Nov. 3, 1969, Larry and Jeanne, along with Cliff and Elaine Pintelman opened Wayne Auto Parts at 210 Main Street.

Three years later, the business moved to its current location at 117 South Main and is now providing service to a third generation of residents of the community.

"Larry and I both grew up in this area and Larry had experience with another parts store in town. We got together with the Pintelmans and decided we could do this financially. We also had a store in South Sioux City. In 1978, we dissolved the partnership and the Pintelmans operated the South Sioux City store," Larry said.

Now, 50 years after opening for business, the couple, along with their son, Daryl, who has worked with his parents since high school, are celebrating.

Wayne Auto Parts will host the weekly Chamber Coffee on Friday, Nov. 15 at 10 a.m. at the store.

Larry stressed the fact that the business is an independent, family-owned business.

"CarQuest is our main supplier of parts, but we can get parts from anywhere," he said.

The Wayne business can get needed parts overnight from the warehouse in Des Moines, Iowa and is able to source needed parts from across the United States.

Wayne Auto Parts changed from a Big A store in 1999, when Big A was bought out by CarQuest.

"One of the biggest changes in the last 50 years is parts proliferation. At one time there were approximately 5,000 different parts numbers. Today, there are 30,000," Larry said. These part numbers are all computerized, allowing for easy access to filling customers' needs.

Another change during the past five decades is an increase in the number of parts for imported vehicles.

Wayne Auto Parts stocks automobile, truck and ag parts, along with batteries and hydraulic hoses. These hoses can be custom-made to the desired length. Truck and semi-tractor parts are a part of the inventory. A limited number of farm tractor parts are available.

In addition, Larry and Daryl are automotive machinists and do light machine work.

Jeanne said that through the years, five of their grandchildren have helped out at the store during their years at Wayne State College.

In addition to the three Lindsays, the business has two full-time employees, including a driver who delivers parts throughout the area four days a week. Deliveries are made to a number of wholesale customers in Wayne each day.

The business is open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and from 7 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Jeanne has served as the bookkeeper for the business all but five years. She took a break from the time of Daryl's birth until he was ready for kindergarten.

She said that with computers, her work is easier as she does not have to hand-write bills.

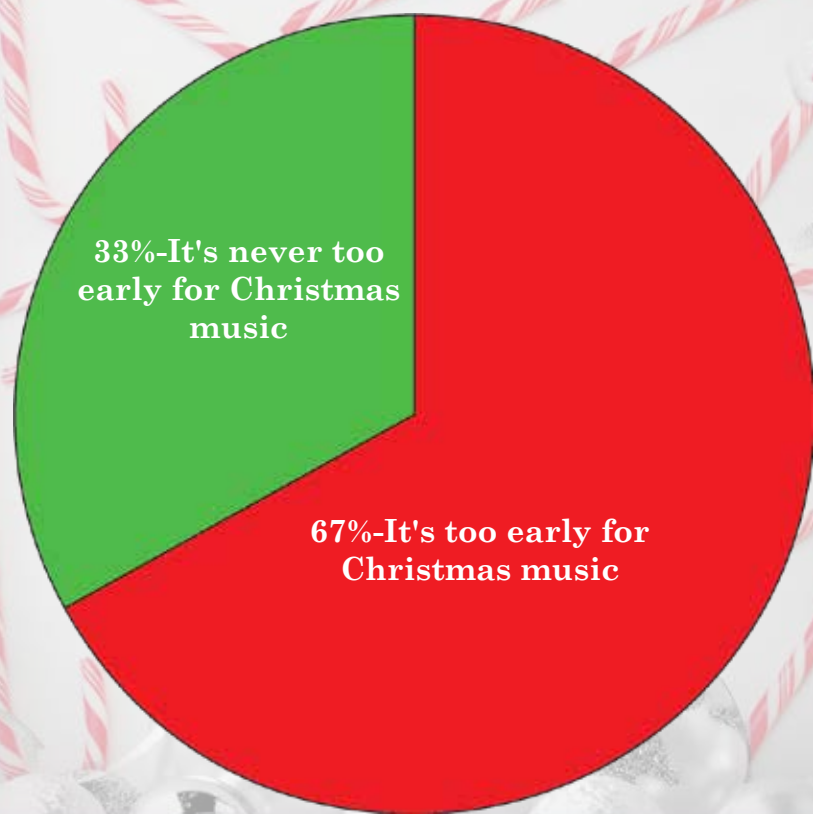

In addition to Daryl, the Lindsays have another son, Allan, and a daughter, Brenda. They have nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Wayne Community Schools hosts Veterans Day program

Wayne Community Schools' gym was filled with students, staff, community members and, most importantly, veterans for the annual Veterans Day program on Nov. 11.

Introductory remarks were given by Mad-die Beair, a senior at Wayne High School, and Anthony Hansen, a junior.

This year's featured speaker was Jean (Pieper) Steen, a 2006 graduate of Wayne High School and current Special Education teacher at Wayne Elementary School.

In addition to Steen's talk on her military career, she was assisted by several elementary students who talked about the military people in their lives and the need to honor veterans.

These included Jack Wieland, Cohen Woehler, Winora Dorcey, Veronica Rivas, Hadley Woehler, Tenley Widner, McKaeya Becker, Mallory Redden, Desirae Bacon and Eric Rocardez.

Quilters with the Quilts of Valor Foundation were on hand to present quilts to those who have served in the military. These included those from World War II through those still on active duty.

Quilts, which were constructed by quilters at The Quilt Shop in Wakefield, were presented to Dennis Junck, Charles Maier, Ken Nolte, Loren Park, Bob Ensz, Allan Wititg, Mike Mallette, Christopher Woehler, Lawrence Sprouls, Merlin Frevert, Sandra Hansen, Delmar Holdorf, Jean Steen and Bill Long. Unable to be present, but also receiving quilts, were Darrel Heier, Bob Woehler and Mike Fluent.

Music for the day was provided by Tracy Anderson, playing the National Anthem, Monica Jensen and the Wayne Elementary students singing a medley of patriotic songs, the St. Mary's Elementary students, under the direction of Jilliane Allemann, singing "We Will Not Forget" and the Wayne High Band, under the direction of Alex Wieland, playing the Marches of the Armed Forces.

Taps were played by Sam Perry and Michah Carson.

Wakefield school board discusses technology, Allen co-op

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

The Wakefield Community Schools Board of Education held their regular monthly meeting on Nov. 11. There, the board members heard updates from committees, discussed iPad purchases and discussed renewing the current co-op with Allen Consolidated Schools.

Elementary principal, Jerad Wulf and superintendent Mark Bejot made a request to purchase new iPads for the elementary school. The iPads the students are currently using are too old to update and as a result, some curriculum software, like Exact Path, a program to help enrich individual learning, can't be supported. Wulf said his goal is to have students spend at least one hour per week using the program.

Journey Christian Church an Operation Christmas Child drop-off location

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

Ask Holly Doring, of Wayne, about Operation Christmas Child and you'll see her eyes light up as bright as the childrens' who benefit from the program started by Samaritan's Purse.

Operation Christmas Child is a program that sends shoeboxes packed with small gifts to children all over the world. Since 1993, boxes have been sent, along with a word of faith.

"The nice part about the Operation Christmas Child, because of the religious connection, is that they do offer The Greatest Journey to every kid that gets a box," Doring said. "They get the opportunity to do this nine week Bible school, study program and then they take that back and tell their families. Sometimes it's the first time that they've ever even heard the word Jesus or even been exposed to anything like that."

It's the mix of ministry and providing a special experience for a child that makes Doring so passionate about the program. In fact, she's the coordinator for Journey Christian Church's Operation Christmas Child activities.

Doring has put together or organized thousands of individual boxes for the program, and this year, Journey is an area drop-off, or Relay Center.

"Anybody can make a box or put the boxes together. You don't have to be from a specific church or even have to go to church if you don't want to," Doring said. "It's just giving a Christmas present to little kids that have probably never even had a present before."

Once boxes are dropped off at Journey, Doring and her volunteer's work begins. From the Relay Center, the boxes will be packed off to Denver or Minneapolis for processing, ensuring that there is no food, liquid or any other disallowed material in the boxes. Once the boxes are cleared to be sent, they're packed into cartons of roughly 25 boxes and then shipped and carried to the hands of children waiting gifts.

"In a lot of our videos in training, they're carrying the boxes and those, I'm not kidding, are strapped on their backs or they put them on horses and mules and they put them in canoes," Doring said.

Occasionally, people who participate in Operation Christmas Child can even see where their boxes have gone.

Doring has been involved with Operation Christmas Child since Samaritan's Purse came to Wayne to help with tornado clean-up and since then, the Christmas boxes have been growing in number. Doring said now, about 600 boxes are the average for Journey's Relay Center, but she's aiming high.

"Last year, we had 603. I would love for that number to get into the thousands," Doring said.

Participation in Operation Christmas Child is open to anyone regardless of religious affiliation. The process is simple. Find a shoe box or small plastic storage container and fill it with a "wow" item, as the organization calls it. Wow items can be things like a doll, soccer ball and pump or any other toy (preferably not one that encourages or glorifies violence) and add in a few other gifts like school supplies, hygiene products or even socks or wash cloths. Participants are encouraged to include a short note for the recipient as well. Once a box is packed, a $9 donation is encouraged to help cover shipping. Envelopes for the donation can be picked up at Journey.

National collection week for Operation Christmas Child this year is Nov. 18-25. Doring said if someone wants to participate, but would prefer not to put together a box, monetary donations are accepted and can either go towards purchasing items for a box or to go towards shipping expenses.

Doring said the average shoe box costs about $10.

"It doesn't have to be fancy," Doring said. "The kids appreciate it."

For Doring, the great thing about Operation Christmas Child is that it's a different way to spread the word of her faith.

"It's not necessarily about the items. It's about taking Jesus to those kids, and those kids are going to hear the word of Jesus and sometimes for the very first time ever, and that's way more lasting," Doring said. "Those socks are going to wear out, the flip flops are going to break, those things are going to break down, but the whole idea of this program is to get Jesus into some of those areas."

For more information about Operation Christmas Child, visit samaritanaspurse.org. For more information about the Journey Christian Church Relay Center, call (402) 375-4743.

where they want to be right now, according to Wulf, staff is working on targeted intervention and enrichment activities to help get them there.

The board also discussed renewing the cooperative agreement for athletics and activities with Allen Consolidated Schools. Currently, Wakefield and Allen are together for the wrestling, volleyball, girls basketball, golf, junior high sports and FFA. The relationship between the two schools seems to be working well, and the board voted to renew the current co-op unanimously.

Wakefield's FCCLA chapter also attended the meeting to present to the board. The group's officers gave an overview of the organization's activities this year.

Bejot gave a budget update as well. The general fund's percentage of budget remaining is currently sitting at 85.85 percent. At this time last year, it was at 95.95 percent.

"We're right where we need to be," Bejot said.

The next Wakefield Board of Education meeting will be Wednesday, Dec. 11 at 5:30 at the school.

nity Schools Foundation began the process of fundraising for the cost of the project. The Foundation has raised approximately $220,000 of the $250,000 cost of the project.

Lenihan and Foundation Director Brandon Foote showed pictures of the proposed lights and noted that with lighting, the track will be able to be better utilized by groups such as the junior high football program and the Wayne High Marching Band. In addition, the community will be able to operate the lights and use the track for walking. The lighting will not impact those who live in the neighborhood as they will be pointed downward.

The Foundation will continue to move forward on the project, as the quote for $250,000 can only be guaranteed through the end of the year. Fundraising will continue and includes the upcoming annual appeal.

After the project is completed, the Foundation will donate the lights to the school.

Lenihan also discussed with the board the 2018-2019 Wayne Community Schools' audit. The audit was completed by Dana F. Cole & Co. of O'Neill and all the information has not yet been received by the district.

Lenihan told the board the process went well and the firm was complimentary of Rochelle Nelson and Diane Peters. He also said suggestions were received on what can be done differently in regard to segregation of duties in regard to some of the school's finances.

This is the first year the district has used the services of the firm.

While the board takes no formal action on the audit, it will receive the information at the December meeting.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Dec. 9 at 5 p.m. in the junior-senior high school conference room.

Christmas on Main aims to tell Wayne's 'Christmas Story'

It will begin to look a lot like Christmas in Wayne after Thursday, Nov. 21. Christmas on Main will be celebrated that evening. This year's theme is "A Christmas Story."

"It can be however you want to interpret that. It can be the movie, it can be stories you read throughout the season," Wayne Area Economic Development marketing, events and tourism coordinator Abby Schademann said.

Businesses are encouraged to decorate their windows ahead of the event. The Parade of lights will begin at 6:30 p.m. and participants are asked to pre-register this year.

Downtown businesses will also have numerous sales and promotions, just in time for WAED's Holiday Stamp Card promotion to start.

"There will be double punches on Christmas on Main Day as well as Black Friday and Small Business Saturday," Irene Mock, WAED assistant director said.

Once a stamp card is full, customers will leave the card at participating businesses. The full cards go into a drawing for Chamber Bucks.

"There will be three drawings for $50 each on Dec. 6 and Dec. 13, and on Dec. 20 we will do two drawings for $200," Mock said.

The Jolly Trolley will also be back for Christmas on Main 2019, giving rides around Wayne and by Tour of Homes spots from about 5:30-8 p.m. The trolley stop will be located in front of Hwy 15 Salvage Company.

There will be lots of family activities during Christmas on Main.

The cost for the purchase was $12,960, which included 40 iPads and protective covers. Board member Arianne Conley said she would have rather this purchase been brought before the Curriculum, Americanism & Technology committee first. The request for purchase was tabled until teachers, the committee and Wulf can meet to discuss iPads or alternatives.

Wulf spoke about the school's NSCAS, state-wide assessment, results. Students in grades three through eight were tested and ACT results were also discussed. Wakefield students seemed lagging in English Language Arts, but were testing much stronger in math and science.

"We've put some things in place to address the deficit areas," Wulf said.

Tour of Homes just over a week away

The Friends of the Wayne County Museum's Holiday Tour of Home will be held Friday, Nov. 22 and Saturday, Nov. 23.

Tours will run from 5 to 8 p.m. on Friday and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday. Tickets are $18 each and may be purchased at all Wayne banks, Rustic Treasures, 1912 Emporium and at the museum during the hours of the tour.

Proceeds from the event will go toward maintenance and major projects at the museum.

This year's tour will feature the Wayne County Museum and the homes of Tracy Keating, Dave and Diane Zach, Matt and Melissa Eischeid, Jeff and Peggy Triggs and Scott and Chele Meisenbach.

The home of Jeff and Peggy Triggs is located at 1026 West Third Avenue in Wayne.

This four bedroom, 3 1/2 bath, 3,000 square foot home was originally built by Dick Carman as a "Spec Home" in 1973. Many upgrades and renovations have been completed since that time, but none more important to the family than the Christmas Room build that was completed in the 1980s.

It was at this time that Steve and Donna Schumacher built the Christmas Room together as a hobby, adding many Department 56 Village pieces. This is the room where children and grandchildren spent hours playing "I Spy."

Work had just begun on the second layer when Donna unexpectedly passed away. The decision to keep it up as a tribute to Donna (wife, grandma, mom) was easy to make due to her love of family and Christmas.

This traditional tri-level home has gone through many changes with additions and remodeling since it was purchased on New Year's Day in 1973.

An interesting feature is the fireplace in the master bedroom which was redesigned with 1895 wood from the Wayne Grain and Feed Elevator, which was beautifully built by Daryl Lindsay.

The Triggs note "When we recall Christmas past, we usually find that the simplest things - not the great occasions - give off the great glow of happiness."

Matt and Melissa Eischeid's home is located at 235 Fairway Circle.

After remodeling their first home extensively, and then building a house in 2010, Matt and Melissa decided to build another house with more of a modern-chic style.

In 2017 the Eischeids felt the time was right. They incorporated some new ideas which included the garage layout design and unique cement siding design. Custom metal work by John's Welding also is displayed before reaching the front door. John's Welding also fabricated the stair railings and handrail which were designed by the Eischeids.

Paint and finish was completed by Mike Brudigam of Tom's Body and Paint. The Eischeids are happy to showcase work completed by local talent.

Open concept was the ultimate goal and to use the views of the Wayne Country Club as wall coverings. Large windows are found throughout the main floor showcasing the views of the golf course.

A large covered deck adjoins the house which carries on the open concept feel with the vaulted ceiling.

The kitchen is a simple design and is highlighted by counter to ceiling tile and white cabinets.

The master bedroom offers great views as well with the large windows. The master bath has a floor to ceiling walk in shower with an adjoining large master closet.

The basement is also very open and offers easy access to the backyard and is highlighted by a projector which allows the family to enjoy a movie and also watch sports.

The Eischeids enjoy entertaining friends and family and having the open concept design has been very welcoming to guests.

The Eischeid family wishes everyone a happy holiday season.

No. 13 Wildcats sweep No. 18 Mustangs Tuesday

Freshman outside hitter Kelsie Cada recorded a match-high 11 kills and three service aces to lead No. 13 Wayne State College to a 25-18, 25-21, 25-20 sweep at 18th-ranked Southwest Minnesota State Tuesday in Marshall, Minn.

The Wildcats set the tone defensively from the start as Wayne State forced five SMSU attack errors with two blocks to an early 7-1 lead in the opening set. The Mustangs rallied and got as close as 16-13, but the Wildcats responded and finished the set by forcing 11 SMSU attack errors (five blocks) in the opening-set win. Katie Stephens led Wayne State with four kills in the opening set, followed by Cada with three.

Wayne State never trailed in the second set, building a 22-13 lead on their way to the 2-0 set advantage. The Wildcats forced nine more Mustang attack errors in the set (five blocks) with Tarrin Beller producing four kills to pave the way for the Wildcats.

Wayne State had to rally in a third set that featured 10 ties and five lead changes. The Wildcats were down 9-6 and scored four straight points that culminated with an ace from Haley Kauth, winning Wayne State a 10-9 lead.

Southwest scored three straight to regain the lead at 12-10, and neither team held a lead of more than two points until the late stages of the set. With the score knotted at 20-20, Wayne State closed out the set, scoring five straight points that were highlighted by back-to-back service aces from Cada to finish the three-set sweep.

Cada accounted for a match-high 11 kills to lead Wayne State, followed by Katie Stephens with seven. Beller and Jaci Brahmmer each had five blocks for the Wildcats while Cada had three of Wayne State's six service aces. Kauth produced 15 digs with Hope Carter adding 10, and Rachel Walker handed out 29 set assists.

The win marked the 15th time in the last 16 years that Wayne State College has won 20 or more matches in a single season.

Wayne State (20-5, 11-5 NSIC) will be on the road again this weekend, visiting Minot State Friday at 6 p.m. and the University of Mary Saturday at 11 a.m.

Gucci? Chanel? Versace? Forget it — this Cinderella wears Blue.

The Wayne High football team continued its march toward Lincoln Friday with a dominating front-line effort, frustrating third-ranked and previously-undefeated Ashland-Greenwood in a 28-13 outcome at Wayne State College's Memorial Stadium, propelling the 9-2 Blue Devils into the Class C-1 finals for the first time in school history.

Wayne's invitation to the 16-team C-1 dance got its start with a road win at No. 6 Kearney Catholic, and the 11th-seeded Blue Devils took care of business in a 28-21 win to earn the opportunity to host the Bluejays, who some were pointing to as the sleeper pick in the race for the C-1 title two weeks ago.

The clock has yet to strike midnight for Wayne High, however, thanks to an inspired effort by the Blue Devil front line that has helped to define this year's Blue Devil as a selves on being physical. We've developed an identity as an offense and two scores.

Blue Devils lose momentum, fall to Broken Bow at state

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

LINCOLN — The Wayne High volleyball team came out strong in the early going, but couldn't keep up with Broken Bow's front-line attack.

The Blue Devils were able to claim the first set in their opening-round matchup at the C-1 State Volleyball Championships Thursday at Lincoln North Star High School, but the Indians responded with a dominating effort after that, sending the Blue Devils home with a 22-25, 25-20, 25-8, 25-18 defeat to bring Wayne's season to a close at 29-6.

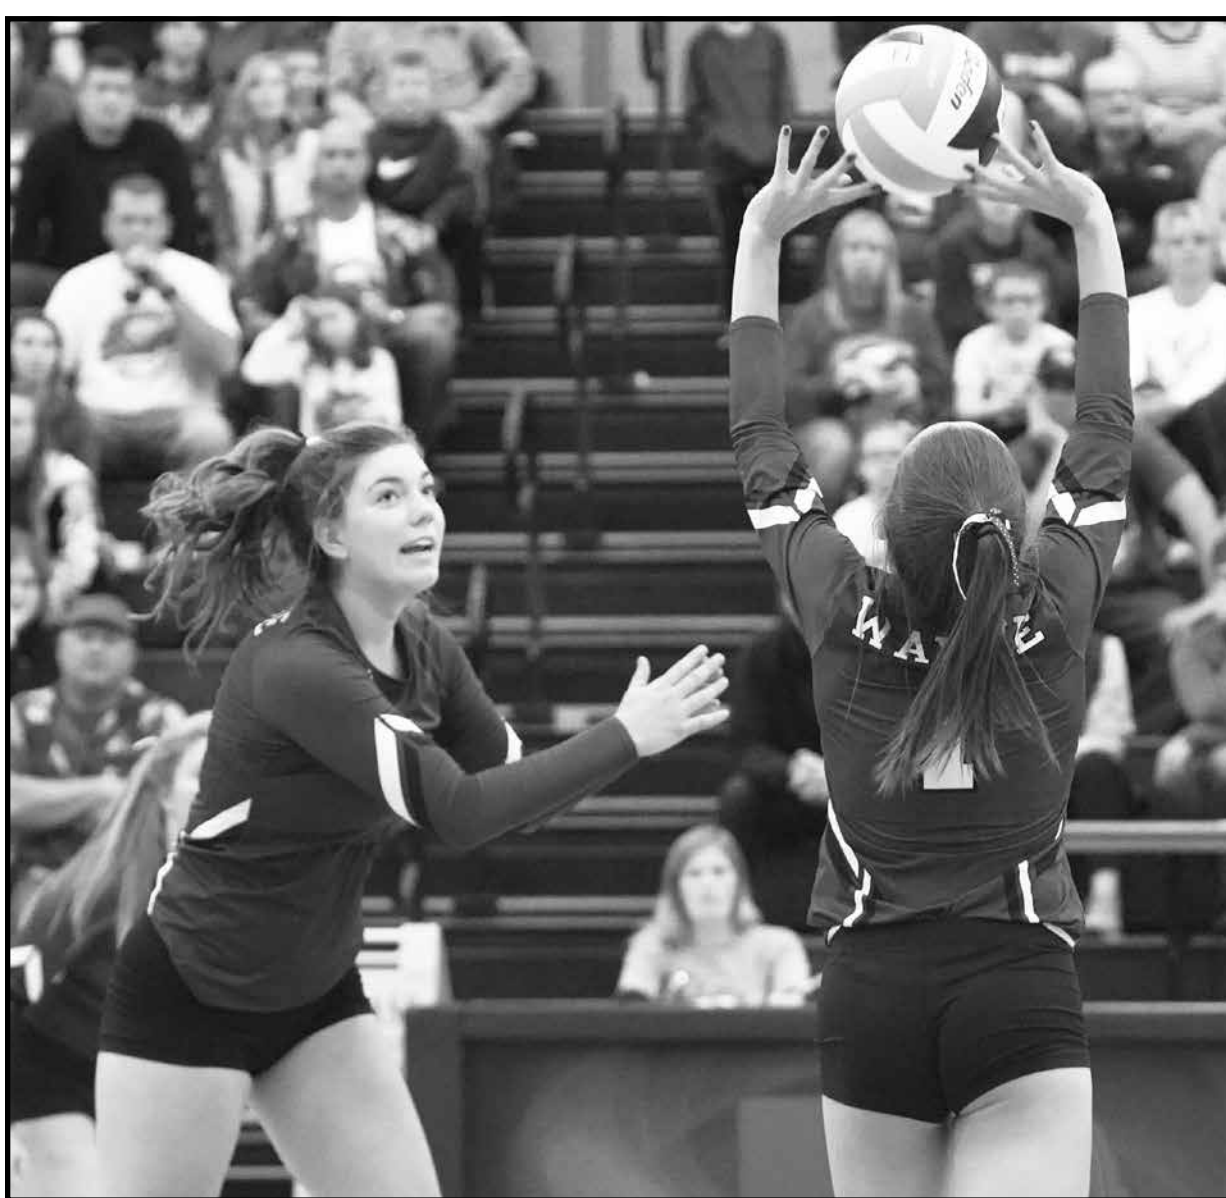

Coach Traci Krusemark said she thought her team did a great job of establishing their game in the early going, but credited Broken Bow for making the adjustments they needed to take over the match.

"Credit to them, they took us out of our game," she said after the game. "We did a good job the first set. We wanted to come out tough and strong and ready and I thought we did that, but then they started serving tougher, hitting the ball in different spots. It's not that we let down, it was that they started playing better and took us out of what we wanted to do."

Wayne was the aggressor in the early going, getting out to a 3-1 advantage on a pair of Broken Bow hitting errors and a kill by Lauren Pick. The game went back and forth through most of the first set, with neither team able to establish a significant run.

Wildcats hang 62-0 shutout on Upper Iowa in Egg Bowl

Wayne State rushed for 415 yards and gained 559 yards of total offense in rolling to a 62-0 shutout win over Upper Iowa Saturday afternoon in the 31st annual Egg Bowl Game played at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne.

The Wildcats scored on their first two possessions of the game to take an early 14-0 lead. Redshirt freshman quarterback Andy McCance fired a 27-yard TD pass to Taurean Grady on fourth-and-4 to take a 7-0 lead. Redshirt freshman Devin Merkuris followed with an 85-yard TD run, the third-longest run from scrimmage by a Wildcat running back, to grab a 14-0 advantage with 8:14 to play in the quarter.

Wayne State closed out the scoring on the final play of the first quarter as senior Ethan Knudson made a 32-yard field goal to give the Wildcats a 17-0 lead. It was his 37th career field goal, making him the school's all-time leader in field goals, eclipsing the 36 made by Nick Hope from 2006-09.

The lone score in the second quarter was on a 15-yard scoring strike from McCance to Mason Lee at the 1:12 mark giving the Wildcats a 24-0 lead at intermission.

The opening drive of the third quarter for Wayne State was Merkuris rushing the ball on every play as the drive covered 75 yards on eight plays with Merkuris capping the drive on a one-yard run putting Wayne State in front 31-0. The last score of the third quarter for the Wildcats came from the defense as junior linebacker Jalen Burgess intercepted a Peacock pass and raced 48 yards for a touchdown, putting Wayne State in front 38-0.

Reserves played the fourth quarter for the Wildcats. Knudson opened the scoring for Wayne State with a 25-yard field goal, followed two Ryann Wilkins touchdown runs of 13 and eight yards for a 55-0 Wildcat lead. Wayne State closed out the scoring on a Deshawn Massey 20-yard run.

Wayne State finished the game with 559 yards of total offense that included 414 yards on the ground, the most by a Wildcat team since 415 yards gained against Minnesota Morris in 1999.

Merkuris collected Egg Bowl Game MVP honors for Wayne State with 237 yards of total offense. He gained 187 yards rushing on just 16 carries and two scores to go with two receptions for 50 yards. Massey added 136 yards rushing on 21 carries and one score while Wilkins finished with 64 yards on eight rushes and two scores.

McCance completed 9-of-10 passes for 144 yards with two touchdowns and one interception. Merkuris led Wayne State receivers with 50 yards on two receptions followed by Taurean Grady with two grabs for 44 yards.

Linebacker Nicholas Joynt led Wayne State on defense with nine tackles followed by linebacker Tyler Thomsen with seven. Defensive end MJ Blankenfeld had six tackles with one sack and one fumble recovery while Jacob Protzman had four tackles with two sacks and three tackles for loss.

It was the largest shutout win for the Wildcats since a 41-0 win over MSU Moorhead in 2009. The 4-6 Wildcats will close out the 2019 season at home next Saturday, hosting University of Sioux Falls at 1 p.m.

Soccer seniors earn CoSIDA honors

Three Wayne State seniors were voted to the 2019 Academic All-District Women's Soccer Team as selected by College Sports Information Directors of America.

Goalkeeper Rachel Grisham, defender Madison Burgard and midfielder Sophia Ketchmark each received First Team honors and now advance to the All-American ballot with honorees to be named in early December.

Burgard is a 5-foot-8 senior defender who maintains a 4.0 grade-point average majoring in chemistry and health sciences. On the field this year, the captain has started 16 games on defense and ranks fifth on the team in minutes played with

Cinderella story

 from earlier in the year, and that identity is to run the football.”
 It took a little time for the orchestra to warm up and provide the dance music for this Cinderella’s night at the Class C-1 playoff ball.
 Wayne scored on its first possession when Reid Korth rumbled in from four yards out for a 6-0 lead, but the Bluejays countered with two scores of their own, a pair of one-yard runs by fullback Bryce Kittrel and quarterback Hunter Washburn, to take a 13-6 advantage midway through the second quarter.
 It appeared that would be the score at intermission after a long

Wayne drive ended with a shanked punt that gave the Bluejays tremendous field position at the Wayne 45-yard line. Two plays later, that all changed when Washburn was scrambled and lost the football. Mike Leatherdale recovered at the Ashland-Greenwood 46, and on the next play, Korth rambled 43 yards to set up a first-and-goal with less than a minute to go.
 Two plays later, Korth scored his second touchdown from a yard out and Victor Kniesche ran in the two-point conversion, giving Wayne a 14-13 halftime advantage they would never relinquish.
 “That made us feel so much better,” Korth said of the late score. “We knew when we came out we had to keep our foot on the gas, and it just kept going up a level with each touchdown.”

 The Blue Devils got a key score on their opening drive of the third quarter. Tyrus Eischeid handed the ball to Kniesche on a reverse, and the junior sprinted toward the near sideline, shook off a defender and scored from 32 yards out to make it 21-13.
 Wayne’s front line, meanwhile, was causing fits for the Bluejays on both sides of the ball. Ashland-Greenwood turned the ball over on downs on each of its first two possessions in the third quarter and crossed midfield only twice in the final two periods. Wayne completely dominated the time of possession when it had the ball, holding the ball or more than 18 minutes in the second half.

 Wayne was able to put the game out of reach early in the fourth quarter, thanks to its special teams and defense.
 Eischeid got off a 59-yard punt that sailed over an Ashland-Greenwood receiver’s head and rolled to the Bluejays’ 2-yard line. When the Bluejays could not get out of the hole, they punted and the ball shanked off the punter’s foot, going out of bounds at the Bluejays’ 11.
 Wayne scored early in the fourth quarter on Korth’s third touchdown, a one-yard run that sealed the deal. Wayne ended Ashland-Greenwood’s final two drives with a recovered fumble and an interception to complete the upset and send them into Friday’s semifinals against Wahoo.
 “That was a big punt that pinned them back and it was going to make them go the whole field,” Plager said. “If our defense doesn’t give up a big play, they’re tough to score on.”
 Korth, who finished the night with 148 yards on 31 carries and three touchdowns, said he and his team wanted to show they were the more physical team on the field Friday.

 Mission accomplished.
 “We just came out and stuck to our game plan and rammed it down their throat,” he said. “We wanted to be more physical than they were and we just came out and showed it.”
 Wayne’s defense was led by Kniesche with eight tackles, Korth and Blake Bartos with seven apiece, Brendan Swanson with five and Leatherdale, Tanner Walling, Noah Lutt and Mason Frevert with four each.
 Cinderella’s next dance partner are the second-seeded Wahoo Warriors, who administered a 47-0 whitewashing to Wayne in the season opener.
 Both Plager and Korth said they hope for a different outcome when they meet Friday at 7 p.m. in Wahoo.
 “They’re a really good football program,” he said. “I think that we have played a challenging schedule and played tough teams every week and played a lot of fourth-quarter games throughout the year and have been able to wear people down physically. I hope our kids believe in the changes we have seen and hopefully we can go in there and fight.”

 “We’re a 100 percent different team,” Korth added. “We held them pretty well the first half and then came out and shot ourselves in the foot a lot. This time it’s a different story, we’re going to come out with everything we’ve got.”
 Don’t forget the glass slippers.

first set at 16-10 with the help of kills by Pick, Emily Armstrong and Rubie Klausen. Broken Bow made a game of it and got within two points late, but the Blue Devils were able to get a termination by Armstrong to close out the opening set and give Wayne the early lead.

Winning a set for the first time since 2002 got the Wayne fan base excited and Krusemark hoped it would help the team carry that momentum forward.

"Volleyball is a game of momentum," she said. "We made it one more step by winning a set and I thought maybe we could start the second set strong as well, but Broken Bow came out swinging."

The Indians got out to a 4-2 lead on a kill by Madison Neely, but the Blue Devils were able to keep the set close, leading 8-6 after a kill by Emily Longe and an ace serve by Kiara Krusemark.

The Indians built their lead to five points at 17-12 with a kill by Majesta Valasek and a Sydney Carziales block of Longe, but Wayne got it back to within three with an ace serve by Erin O'Reilly and a Pick kill.

Three points later, Pick hurt her shoulder on an attack that went into the net, and that seemed to bother the Wayne team for the next couple of points.

"She's our go-to player and has had some shoulder troubles as the year has progressed," Krusemark said. "I don't think we were too stressed about it. Obviously we don't want her to be hurt, but she came back and swung the ball well a few plays after that."

Wayne did try to bounce back, getting a kill from Rubie Klausen to close to within five at 23-18, but Broken Bow served out the set to even the match, and then carried that momentum over into a dominating third set.

Wayne opened the first set with a Broken Bow error and an ace serve by Armstrong, but the Indians got a kill by Neely that started a 10-point run that gave Broken Bow control of the match. Wayne couldn't get any kind of rally going to come back from the early deficit, putting them in a 2-1 hole going into the fourth and final set.

"We didn't get as many touches on the block as I was hoping for and had to play really tough defense, which we did," Krusemark said. "I was hoping to slow them down a little bit, but we just couldn't do it."

Wayne hung with Broken Bow early in the fourth set, tying the match for the final time at 6-6 on back-to-back kills by Armstrong. Wayne could never get closer than two points after that, closing the match with a trio of kills by Valasek and a service ace to end Wayne's hopes of a state title.

Pick led the Blue Devils with 27 kills, Armstrong added 10, Emily Longe had five, Rubie Klausen added three, Kiara Krusemark had two and Sydney Redden had one. Krusemark had 42 assists and one ace serve, while O'Reilly, Armstrong and Pick added ace serves. Defensively, Armstrong and Hailey Backer each had 21 digs, Pick added 15, Redden had 12, Frankie Klausen had eight, Krusemark and Klausen had three apiece, O'Reilly had two and Longe had one.

It was the final match for Wayne's four seniors — Armstrong, Backer, O'Reilly and Frankie Klausen, all of whom were significant contributors to this year's success, Krusemark said.

"Erin came in and served well and could put together a string of points for us, Hailey really came out of her shell and plays a lot of the floor and was so calm and consistent, Emily played six rotations for four years and was a good all-around player, and Frankie started the last two years and kept us organized and played well, so losing those four will be a lot that we will miss," Krusemark.

At the same time, things look good for next year's Blue Devils with three starters and four key players returning to the lineup.

"Our sophomore group is really tough," she said. "They really love to compete and we'll have them back. Emily and Lauren will be back in the middle and we have a pretty good setter back as well, so it should be interesting."

Wildcat teams 24th in Central regional race

The Wayne State College men's and women's cross country teams both placed 24th in the NCAA Div. II Central Region Championships held Saturday in Joplin, Mo.

The Wildcat women finished with a team score of 594 points. Their 24th place finish was a three-spot improvement from last year, and the team score of 594 was an improvement of 169 points from last year as well.

Jade Rickard was the top Wildcat finisher with the best run at a regional meet by a Wildcat runner in 10 years. The freshman placed 68th out of 223 runners with a time of 23:05 on the 6,000-meter course. It's the fastest time for a Wildcat runner at regionals since Megan Zavorka in 2009 (22:53).

Allie Rosener was next in 114th place at 24:01, followed by Wayne sophomore Andrea Torres in 135th place with a time of 24:30.

Other Wildcat finishers included

Kim Johnson and Brianna Crouch (tied for 147th, 24:43), Marin Jetensky (166th place, 25:08) and Alex Bauer (172nd, 25:14).

The Wayne State men posted their best finish at regionals since 2016 and improved by 61 points in the team score.

Bailey Peckham was the top WSC runner, crossing the tape in 98th place out of a field of 192 runners with a time of 33:20 on the 10,000-meter course. Peckham improved by 45 positions from last year and improved his time by 38 seconds on the same course as last year.

Brock Hegarty and Dylan Kessler were the next Wildcat runners, with Hegarty placing 128th (34:10) and Kessler 133rd (34:14). Other Wildcat finishers included Bryce Holcomb (145th, 34:53), Jakob Kemper (147th, 34:53), Nathan Pearson (157th, 35:23) and Nathan Hiemer (169th, 35:54).

Wildcat soccer falls to Augie, NSIC playoffs next Augustana used a pair of first half goals to stand up in a 2-0 win over Wayne State Friday afternoon in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Even with the loss, the Wildcats (6-8-4, 6-7-2 NSIC) were able to earn the eighth seed for the NSIC tournament after Upper Iowa beat Winona State 1-0 in overtime, knocking the Warriors out of contention for the final spot. The win puts Wayne State in the NSIC tournament for the first time since 2006, and they will play in a 3 p.m. matchup next Wednesday at Concordia-St. Paul.

Augustana recorded goals at the 17:23 mark followed by another at the 33:48 mark of the first half to take a 2-0 lead at intermission. The Vikings held an 11-3 edge in shots and 6-2 in shots on goal during the first half.

Neither team scored in the second half with stats on the two teams fairly similar. Wayne State held a 3-1 edge in corner kicks during the half but could not convert into goals. Augustana outshot the Wildcats 12-9 while both teams had four shots on goal.

In Friday's regular-season finale, the host Vikings controlled the first half and scored a pair of goals. The two teams played to a stalemate in the second half with both teams recording four shots on goal.

Wenhner led WSC with five shots, all on goal. Abby Sutton added three shots while Megan Phillips made two shots with one on goal. Rachel Grisham faced 23 shots and recorded eight saves while allowing two goals.

Knudson named NSIC Special Teams Player of the Week

Wayne State senior placekicker Ethan Knudson was announced by the Northern Sun Conference as the Special Teams Player of the Week following his play in Saturday's 62-0 victory over Upper Iowa.

Knudson became Wayne State's all-time leader in made field goals with 38 after hitting 25 and 32-yard field goals Saturday while also going a perfect 8-for-8 on PAT kicks in Saturday's shutout of the Peacocks. He also averaged 59.7 yards on 11 kickoffs with five touchbacks.

With his two made field goals Saturday, Knudson surpassed Nick Hope's 36 field goals made from 2006-09. He also ranks second in career points by a kicker at Wayne State with 223, trailing Nick Hope's mark of 245 points.

For the season, Knudson is 12-of-14 on field goals and 25-of-26 on PAT kicks. He is tied with Minnesota State's Luke Williams for the fewest missed kicks this season in the NSIC (three).

Bison hit from long range to beat WSC men

Oklahoma Baptist drained 13 3-pointers and shot over 50 percent in both halves as the Bison cruised past Wayne State, 83-58 to wrap up the Bison Conference Men's Basketball Challenge in Shawnee, Okla., on Saturday.

Wayne State built an early lead in the first half at 18-11 on a Nate Mohr jumper with 13:23 to play before halftime. The Wildcats still held a 23-18 advantage at the 11:14 mark until the host Bison went on a 16-2 run over a span of 4:49 to take a 34-25 lead on the Wildcats before finishing the first half with a 38-31 lead at the break.

The second half saw Wayne State get as close as five a pair of times until a big scoring surge by Oklahoma Baptist put the game out of reach midway through the second half.

The Wildcats' last run at the Bison got WSC within five at 54-49 following a Jordan Janssen jumper with 14:38 to play. Oklahoma Baptist then outscored the Wildcats 18-3 over the next seven minutes and took a commanding 72-52 lead on their way to the 25-point win.

Nate Mohr led Wayne State with 15 points while Jordan Janssen and Al'Tavius Jackson each scored 11.

The Wildcats (0-5) will play their home opener Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in Rice Auditorium, hosting Nebraska Christian College.

 Among the many Veterans Day celebrations on Nov. 11, both Winside and Wayne Community Schools held public programs honoring our nation's veterans. Both programs featured presentations of Quilts of Valor, made by the Wakefield Quilt Shop Quilters. Students took an active role in both celebrations, whether by performing with bands or choirs or by giving speeches about the importance recognizing those who have sacrificed so much for our freedom. Northeast named among the nation's Top 150 community colleges

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Aspen Institute College Excellence Program has named the nation's top 150 community colleges eligible to compete for the $1 million Aspen Prize for Community College Excellence, the nation's signature recognition of high achievement and performance among America's community colleges. Northeast Community College is among those institutions.

Based on strong and improving student outcomes - including in learning, completion rates, employment rates and earnings, and equity - 15 percent of community colleges nationwide have been invited to apply for the Aspen Prize. Data show that over the last two years, student retention, graduation rates, and degree completion have improved at the top tier of 150 Aspen Prize-eligible colleges.

"Community colleges play a vital role in developing talent and enabling social mobility across the country, and it's critical for them to get better at what they do," said Josh Wyner, executive director of the Aspen Institute College Excellence Program. "We're pleased to see evidence that these institutions are improving, that more are delivering on their promise. We're also pleased to play a role in honoring outstanding community colleges and sharing what works to ensure great outcomes for students - through graduation and beyond."

"Northeast Community College has a stellar reputation that recognizes what our faculty and staff do each and every day to make sure our students are on the right path to achieve their goals," said Mary Honke, co-interim president at Northeast. "Being named a Top 150 community college by the Aspen Institute is an accomplishment in itself and acknowledges our work of ensuring that our students and the region are successful in their endeavors. Speaking on behalf of the entire college community, it is certainly an honor that we can all be proud of."

The 150 community colleges named as eligible to compete for the 2021 Prize were selected from a pool of over 1,100 public two-year colleges nationwide using publicly available data on student outcomes. Located in 39 states in urban, rural, and suburban areas, serving as few as 500 students and as many as 75,000 students, these colleges represent the diversity and depth of the community college sector.

Northeast Community College has been recognized by the Aspen Institute in the past. It was named as a Top 120 institution in 2011, Top 120 in 2013, a Top 10 college in 2017, and Top 150 in 2019.

WSC President's Holiday Gala kindles festive spirit

Unreserved seats will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis the afternoon of the performance. Doors will open at 1:30 p.m. with the holiday ambience of the Peterson Fine Arts atrium welcoming concert-goers.

De-stress the holidays with helpful tips School Lunches

This fall is flying by at record speed it seems. I came across this article I had posted a few years back and it seems more important now than ever. We have all dealt with a lot of highs and lows this year with the flooding issues we have all had to deal with.

The holidays are right around the corner. Please take a minute to de-stress for the holidays. I hope this finds you and your family well and "warm" this holiday season. Holidays and high expectations

Stanton County

Extension Educator

UNL Extension

that accompany them can often mean stressful times more than meaning time together. When trying to make the holiday event perfect, sometimes people end up making themselves feel perfectly awful. Focus on what the holidays are really about: spending time together with family and friends. Here are some helpful hints to help make your holidays a true celebration: Feed the spirit and the stomach. This holiday season is a great time to reflect on your spiritual wellbeing. Teach the children about their family heritage and culture. Incorporate family values in activities. Consider helping those who are less fortunate

The Teammates Mentoring of Winside Board invites the community to join them for Coffee & Conversation on Saturday, November 16th from 8:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m. at the Multi-purpose Room in the Elementary Building

An informational presentation will start around 8:30. This is for those interested in learning more about the Winside Teammates Program with your gifts. This year, with the economic situation, it may be more helpful to give than to receive.

Deal with separation. There are many reasons why your family might not be able to be together: work schedules, travel costs, weather, or maybe you have to share them with other families. Keep in touch with family members and let them know they are loved. Don't pressure adult children to choose between families. Alternate celebration times. Focus on the entire season, not just the actual day. Spend time with friends, or volunteer somewhere you might be able to lend a hand.

Expand your family celebration. Include a friend or neighbor in your holiday celebrations. They will appreciate it if they have nowhere to go and their presence will add fun and sharing to your celebration.

Be flexible. Things happen and holiday schedules can be unpredictable. Be open to change. Keep your old traditions if possible, but be open to new ones. Families grow and change, allow their traditions to be incorporated into yours.

Do things ahead of time. The more you can plan ahead and make things ahead, the less stress there will be during those holiday events. Make your candies and cookies ahead and freeze them, purchase presents ahead of time, and avoid the holiday crowds if possible. You will have more time to enjoy those children and grandchildren.

Turn chores into memories. Decorating the house or those cookies can become a fun tradition when shared with family and friends. When traveling, sing songs, share stories of holidays past and present, and involve the children in sending out those cards.

Relax. If you have to, block out time on your calendar to relax and renew your spirit. Do something for you; read a book, take a bubble bath, watch a movie, whatever it takes to help you unwind during the holiday season. Just Breathe!

Advent is a call to awakenings

Life can awaken many things in us. Perhaps the holidays have been a cause for disappointment, anger, or exhaustion in the past. If the experiences of life have made you bitter, let this Advent be different. Advent is a call to awaken to something beautiful; it awakens us to a God who arrived in the starry night of a backcountry stable. Advent is an opportunity to marvel over God's goodness, His simplicity, His generosity. Advent is a call to awaken anew to the spiritual realities all around us.

I know that I get caught up with the busyness and consumerism of Christmas. I need help to stay grounded and remember what the holiday is really about. In case you are like me, here are some practical tips to prepare yourself and your family. Each week invite your friends and family to share their memories and/or participate in the activities.

Awakening Wonder (First Week of Advent) - This week, awaken wonder and awe in your family!

- Share a childhood memory of wonder during the Advent season.
- In what areas of your life do you experience wonder and awe?
- How can you be more "awake" to spiritual realities this Advent?
- Take a drive around your neighborhood after dark to see the holiday lights.

- Has the snow fallen yet? Take your family on a walk while it's still fresh.

Awakening Hope (Second Week of Advent) - This week awaken hopeful anticipation in the coming of Jesus!

- What has been positive about Advent so far?
- Why is God becoming man in Jesus a source of hope to you?
- Do you know anyone who seems stuck in anxiety and discouragement? How might God be calling you to reach out to them?
- Read the Nativity story from Luke chapter 2. Talk about what it means that God became man.

Awakening Joy (Third Week of Advent) - This week awaken a spirit of rejoicing!

- Who is a friend that brings you joy? Why are you so joyful when you're with him or her?
- Where do you look for God? Where do you expect to find Him? When do you hear that God wants to meet with you like a person meets with their friend, how does that make you feel? How can you grow in your friendship with God?
- Look back on old Christmas photos and share funny Christmas memories.
- Invite friends over for a cookie decorating party.

Awakening to Life (Fourth Week of Advent) - This week awaken renewed anticipation for Jesus by bringing life to others!

- When was a time you had to wait for something? How did it make you feel when it finally arrived?

- Can you think of any places where God might be asking you to be more aware of His life?
- Who is someone God is calling you to "bring life" to this week?
- Buy hot chocolate for a Salvation Army bell ringer. Ask them why they choose to volunteer at Christmas time.
- Shop for an item to donate to a local non-profit collecting gifts for families in need.
- Gather some other families to sing Christmas carols at a local nursing home. Bake cookies ahead of time to pass out to the residents.

An Advent Prayer
Come, Lord Jesus, as we keep watch in wonder.
Come, Lord Jesus, as we prepare your way with hope.
Come, Lord Jesus, as we rejoice in your light.
Come, Lord Jesus, as you awaken our hearts to your life.
Amen

Pastor Engebretsen led the devotion "It will be different for me" based on 2 Samuel verse 11. Songs "What a friend we have in Jesus, We praise you and acknowledge you O God" "My song is have unknown," and "For all the Saints" were sung. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given. Mites were collected.

Halloween gift given to our adoptive, Keri Dangberg. News letters were received from Jana Inglehart from the Dominican Republic and Haiti Lutheran Mission Society. Visiting committee: Lorraine Prince gave a report on visiting some of our shut in's. Next month several of the aid members will visit the shut in's with a Christmas basket which will be packed and delivered on Dec. 9. Old Business: Reports were given on the status of the Fritz and Faye Mann and Karl Frederick memorials. The Anna Group reported on serving the Pastor's Circuit dinner held on Nov. 5. New Business: The Mary Group will serve the advent supper which will be on Dec. 11. Get well cards were sent to Cassidy Olsen, The birthday song was sung and cards sent to Marilyn Brockman, Bonnie Frevert, LaJeane Marotz and Paul Dangberg. Thank-giving cards were sent to our Seminary student, Jordan Schaller, and Kerri Dangberg. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Dec. 4 for a Christmas carry in Dinner at 12:30 p.m. All ladies of the congregation are invited. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table Prayer.

Retired school personnel meet in Wayne

The Wayne Area Association of Retired School Personnel met at Brookdale in Wayne on Nov. 4. Coffee and cookies were served at a social gathering prior to the meeting. Twelve members attended the meeting. Charles Maier gave a report on scammers to the group. This led to a discussion of preserving each person's identity and safe practices over the phone when receiving calls from unknown sources. Additional group discussion was held about the high cost of medications and what measures are in process to help lower costs. Alice Rohde led a discussion about Alzheimer's disease after reading an article she selected from a magazine. Even though you may feel that someone with this disease is not the same, you may be able to find some common ground. One example was a mother and daughter who cooked together.

The daughter saw her mother do things in the kitchen like she used to do so many years ago, and she commented that her mother was still teaching her. In Lincoln there is a statue and water fountain that was established many years ago to honor all the teachers in the state. It is located at 27th and Capitol Parkway in Lincoln. This fountain and statue are in desperate need of repair, and contributions are being accepted by the Lincoln Parks Division to help with this project. The group decided to contribute individually if desired, and let Nebraska State Teachers Association know that we would like them to help contribute. Donations can be made to Lincoln Parks Foundation, c/o Maggie Stuckey, Executive Director, 3131 O Street Suite 301, Lincoln, Neb. 68510. Jenny Gubbels attended the State Convention. She gave a report to update the group on what is going on through the state in the organization. One memorable report was on volunteerism. There are 10 units throughout the state including, the Wayne group. Members reported 45,308 regular volunteer hours and 8,417 volunteer hours with youth. If these were paid hours, the value of these volunteer hours is $1,152, 282.42. Pat Jenkins-Rohde presented the program entitled Book Review of Reminiscence, Vintage Forever, Food Fads and Fun. Many interesting items were displayed, and the group visited about collections they keep. This step back in time was fun and enjoyed by all. Alice Rohde presented the group with a challenge at the beginning of the meeting. She brought an antique item that was given to her from a volunteer at the school where she taught. Although there were many good guesses about what this item was, it remained a mystery until its identity at the closing of the meeting. It was a pencil sharpener used in classrooms over one hundred years ago. One small saw-like blade beneath the polished wood did the sharpening work as you moved the pencil across. Imagine the work it took to sharpen even one pencil. The next meeting for this group will be Monday, March 2, 2020 at the Brookdale in Wayne at 9:30 a.m. Any retired area school personnel is welcome to join this group, and visitors are always welcome.

Discussing mailing letters, cards

November 11, Veteran's Day. VERY COLD! I'm not really ready for this.

But, after watching the news, in the places where the wind and snow are so much worse, and the fires in California seem to be dying down, and there seems to be no recent tornadoes, I think I will just hunker down in my blankie and be grateful we are here in good ol' Nebraska!

I think I've been reelected to class correspondent by default! I had the job right after we graduated, I had each member of the class on an index card in a file box, with a name and address for a parent in case I couldn't get the gal. We had excellent turn outs for our first few reunions. In fact, we've always had good turnouts.

After several years, my friend Jo, in Cozad, took over, and we continued to have great reunions every five years . . . and finally, Joyce, here in Lincoln, who now lives in my cul de sac, did the honors. She begged off last year and it's back to yours truly.

I just finished addressing some thirty envelopes, and stuffing them with a newsletter and a photo of the student nurse who was awarded our scholarship this year.

Meanwhile, the Big Farmer has been watching a movie that is bugging me! It has background music by a violin that just never quits! No real melody, just there! I think it took place in the thirties, judging by the record player they were dancing to. I think Mike just likes to have the TV on for company while he reads the paper and the latest Nebraska Farmer.

I haven't convinced him yet to try the Hallmark channel; which I grant you, is really cheesy. BUT, as my friend in Wisconsin points out, no nudity, no profanity, and her grandchildren can watch without concern. However, she admitted lately that even the granddaughter has figured out the ending!

Anyway, now I can get the annual Christmas letter written; then, I will have to address on hundred envelopes! Every year I cut it down, and every year, I still seem to have that many. Only a couple send them by email; I guess my generation is just too traditional to go that route. We still enjoy getting them, so we have to send them, right?

I'm still going to resist sending them until after Thanksgiving; I don't care if that time span till Christmas is shorter or not! I still think we need to take time for the turkey! And for gratitude, which seems in short supply some days. Stay warm!

Fall field fertilization explained

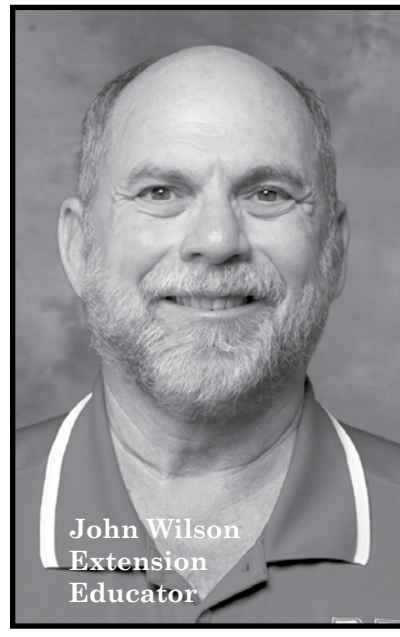

Lower nitrogen fertilizer costs, time availability, and generally drier soils compared with normal spring conditions often contribute to a preference for fall nitrogen fertilizer application. However, when compared with spring or in-season applications, fall application can result in relatively high levels of soil nitrate-nitrogen when the potential for leaching and denitrification is high.

Nitrate-nitrogen is highly vulnerable to loss by leaching, runoff, and denitrification. This can result in contamination of surface and groundwater. The risk is greatest from late April through June. This suggests there is a need to minimize the nitrate-nitrogen in the soil at that time. This is especially true for sandy loam or sandier soils where the risk of nitrate leaching is high for much of the year.

Nitrate contamination of ground-water happens when water moves through a soil profile that contains excess nitrate-nitrogen. When nitrogen fertilizer, manure, or some other nitrogen source is added to the soil, soil microbes gradually convert the various nitrogen forms to nitrate-nitrogen. Nitrate-nitrogen is highly soluble in water and since soil is a porous system and water passing through the soil will carry some nitrate with it to the groundwater.

Soil microbial activity and the rate of conversion of ammonium forms of nitrogen to nitrates is very low when the soil temperature is less than 50F. The ammonium form of nitrogen is not as percent of field capacity. However, given the current soil water levels, it is likely that soil water levels will be even higher in the spring of 2020, even with normal winter precipitation, resulting in an even higher potential for compaction.

If you are planning a fall nitrogen fertilizer application, consider the following:

- Apply nitrogen fertilizer and manure when the soil temperature is below 50°F at the 4-inch soil depth and trending cooler. You can check soil temperatures at cropwatch.unl.edu/soiltemperature
 - Apply anhydrous ammonia rather than other nitrogen fertilizers.
 - Limit fall application of nitrogen to silt loam, silty clay loam, and finer textured soils.
 - Use nitrification inhibitors to slow the conversion of ammonium to nitrate, especially on sand-dominant soils.
 - Avoid fall application on wet soils.
 - Consider applying a lower base rate of nitrogen in the fall and plan on applying the rest at planting, or as a side-dress application.
 - Follow the UNL recommendations and plan to apply five percent more nitrogen fertilizer compared with spring application to compensate for likely nitrogen losses.
- For more information on applying nitrogen fertilizer on cropland this fall, contact your local Nebraska Extension office.

likely to leach and move through the soil profile. As soil temperatures increase, soil microbial also increases and there is a more rapid conversion of the ammonium form of nitrogen to nitrate-nitrogen.

The soil water content at this time also is a major consideration when considering a fall nitrogen fertilizer application. Soil water is higher than normal for much of Nebraska's cropland, indicating a higher than normal likelihood of leaching and denitrification potential for next spring.

Soils are also more compacted by traffic when they have a high water content as compared to when the available soil water is less than 60

You wear that jacket with pride to many events and competitions as an FFA member," said Stacey Agnew, Executive Director of the Nebraska FFA Foundation. "FFA jackets are costly and this is a great way for deserving students to apply and be selected to receive a jacket. This program rewards and encourages members who are eager to continue Nebraska's outstanding FFA tradition."

This year's program brought in over 650 applications from members across the state and of all ages. "We are excited to see them wear their jackets with pride, representing an outstanding legacy of youth in agriculture," Agnew said.

Agricultural educators, former state officers, FFA officer teams and other generous contributors have come forward to support the annual campaign. For more information about the Nebraska FFA Foundation's annual campaign, contact Stacey Agnew at (402) 472-5846 or stacey@neffaoundation.org.

Nitrogen Stabilizers

There is often quite a bit of confusion about nitrogen inhibitors. The two inhibitor categories we normally look at are urease inhibitors and nitrification inhibitors.

Urease inhibitors keep surface applied urea-based N products, such as urea or UAN, in the urea-form longer to allow a rain or irrigation event to move the urea into the soil to avoid loss to ammonia volatilization, which happens when urea converts to ammonia on the soil surface. We normally think about urease inhibitors in the spring and early summer.

Nitrification inhibitors keep ammonium in the soil from converting to nitrate. Ammonium holds to soil clay and organic matter particles very well. Nitrate does not hold well to the soil and tends to move through the soil profile with water and can leach out of the root zone and into our groundwater. Nitrate in waterlogged soils can also be attacked by soil bacteria, which strips off the oxygen leaving nitrogen gasses which then leave the soil and move into the atmosphere.

When we talk about fall or spring applied anhydrous ammonia, we focus on the nitrification inhibitors. Central Valley Ag works with three vendors for inhibitors intended for anhydrous ammonia. Corvea provides N-Serve, one of the most popular and proven nitrification inhibitors intended for anhydrous ammonia. It contains the active ingredient nitrapyrin.

Kock Agronomic Services provides Centuro, a new nitrification inhibitor also intended for anhydrous ammonia. It uses a newer active ingredient called pronitrodine, which is intended to be less corrosive than some other inhibitors have been. Verdesian Life Sciences provides Nutrisphere-NH3, a copolymer intended to slow the conversion of ammonium to nitrate.

Talk to your Field Sales Agronomist to see which products are available at the locations near you for more information on how we can become more efficient in our nitrogen application.
