WVFD fights baler fire

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire in a corn field on Nov. 25. A baler caught on fire seven miles south and one and a half miles west of Wayne. Firefighters worked to keep the fire from spreading to the nearby cornstalk bales. The baler and one bale of cornstalks burned. Firefighters were on scene for approximately two hours.

Wakefield man sentenced to four years for child abuse

Wakefield man, Patrick Henderson, 55, was sentenced to a four-year prison term in Dixon County Court on Nov. 22.

In January 2019, Henderson and his wife Angel, were arrested on felony and misdemeanor child abuse charges. In September, Patrick, who was charged with one felony and one misdemeanor, plead guilty in exchange for his felony being reduced to a misdemeanor.

District Judge James Kube sentenced Henderson to four years in prison and one year of post-release supervision. Angel, whose charges were increased after the initial investigation is due in district court on Monday, Dec. 9. She has plead not guilty.

The couple was charged with locking two of their four children in a room and feeding them once a day, if it all. If the children, who were alleged to be homeschooled at the time, left the room for any reason, it's charged that they faced physical abuse from Angel Henderson. The children were also allegedly forced to sleep in one-piece pajamas that had the arms sewn to the sides and legs sewn together. Angel Henderson could face up to 50 years in prison if found guilty.

Village of Winside experiences natural gas outage

On Nov. 25, around 3:45 p.m., the Village of Winside was alerted to a natural gas outage. According to a press release from Black Hills Energy, crews got to work immediately after an unnamed third party caused damage to gas lines.

In order to fix the issue, Black Hills Energy technicians had to go from home to home in Winside and shut off gas meters before they could work on the line to restore pressure. Once that work was done, pilot lights had to be re-lit. The company cautioned homeowners not to re-light their own pilot lights on furnaces or water heaters.

Service was restored sometime in the evening of Nov. 26.

Black Hills Energy reminded customers that if they detected the scent of natural gas, to leave their homes immediately, without using the phone or shutting off the lights, as any spark could ignite the gas that could be in the home. Once safely outside, then the homeowner should call 911.

Lunz named 2019 AG-ceptional Woman of the Year

A Wakefield woman has been recognized for her contributions to agriculture.

Lisa Lunz was honored as the AG-ceptional Woman of the Year at the Northeast Community College AG-ceptional Women's Conference on the Northeast campus in Norfolk on Nov. 22. The announcement was made during a video tribute that was played during the opening session of the 11th annual conference. The video was sponsored by Farm Credit Services of America and produced by the Northeast Agriculture Department and District 25 Productions, LLC.

"Lisa is very deserving of this recognition. She makes a difference wherever she goes," said Corinne Morris, dean of agriculture, math and science at Northeast Community College and conference director. "Her ability to listen to all sides and solve problems brings about meaningful change in agriculture, education, and life in general."

A special selection committee made up of professionals from agricultural businesses and operations is assembled each year to select the winner from a very competitive group of nominees.

Lunz was nominated by Jan Frenzen, of Fullerton, a past Ag-Ceptional Woman recipient. She said Lunz is dependable, dedicated and trustworthy.

"Lisa Lunz is truly an AG-ceptional woman who has dedicated her life to agriculture, making an impact on the local, state and national level in the agriculture industry, and perhaps more importantly, helping bridge the disconnect between agricultural producers and consumers."

In accepting the award on Friday, Lunz said every woman in agriculture is exceptional because they all play a role.

"I am proud to have watched as that group (of women) has grown and those voices have grown. And groups like Common Ground have given women a chance to have a voice. ... I encourage you to continue to support our industry and talk about what we do."

She also spoke of how faith, family and friends have been instrumental in her life.

"When you plant that seed in the spring, you have to have faith that you will have a bountiful harvest in the fall. I am also so proud of my family in how they have supported me because they had to do a lot while I was gone."

Lunz and her husband, Jim, farm in a part of northeast Nebraska where they both were raised. Their operation is described as "unique" in that Lisa Lunz is responsible for planting, caring and harvesting the soybeans on their land, while Jim Lunz does the same thing with their corn production. They are good stewards of the environment as they have no-tilled their land for over 20 years.

Frenzen describes the couple as servants of agriculture as they host area fourth grade students and tour groups in order to teach them the basics of agriculture and provide first-hand information about the industry.

"(Lisa's) work with these groups has helped provide the link in the chain between farmers and consumers and building that trust in today's food system. She has hosted several soybean trade teams, participated in international soybean trade missions and has been an advocate for soybean production," Frenzen said. "Telling the agriculture story is something Lisa has a passion for."

Lunz was the first female to chair the Nebraska Soybean Checkoff Board. She has also held other leadership positions on the board during her 12-year tenure, including chair of the Soybean Research Committee and a stint as secretary. In 2018, she was named Soy Promoter of the Year by the Nebraska Soybean Association, and was recognized by the Nebraska Agribusiness Club with its Public Service to Agriculture award.

Lisa Lunz expresses her thanks after she was named the 2019 AG-Ceptional Woman of the Year during the 11th Annual AG-Ceptional Women's Conference on Nov. 22 at Northeast Community College. Her son, Jacob, was among several family members in attendance as she was recognized with the award.

As an active alumni member of Nebraska Lead, a two-year leadership development program for Nebraskans involved in agriculture, Lunz has assisted by being part of the candidate selection committee. She has also served as a board member of the U.S. Farmers and Ranchers Alliance, which has been instrumental in the organization's efforts to build a connection between agriculture producers and consumers. In addition, Lunz is an active member of the Ag Builders advisory group for the University of Nebraska's College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources and serves on the Farm Advisory Board for the Haskell Ag Lab at Concord.

Frenzen said Lunz's involvement with soybean education programs, ag sack lunch programs, Common Ground and Ag Pen Pals demonstrates that she is "always looking out for the best way to continue to tell our story and make that connection."

In 2018, Lunz was elected to the Dixon County Board of Supervisors and was selected by fellow board members to serve as chairperson. She has also served as president of the Wakefield Board of Education and was a 4-H leader for 10 years.

Lisa and Jim Lunz have three children and two grandchildren.

Sen. Joni Albrecht seeks re-election

Senator Joni Albrecht of Thurston announced she will seek re-election to the Nebraska Legislature in District 17, which includes Dakota, Thurston, and Wayne counties in northeast Nebraska.

"In my first term in the Legislature I've fought for Northeast Nebraska and will continue to do so," Albrecht said. "I have worked to grow economic opportunity and protect our values in Lincoln. I am proud of my work including championing pro-life bills, protecting our second amendment rights, ensuring our children receive a quality education and fighting to bring meaningful property tax relief to our ag producers, small businesses and homeowners."

In the Legislature, Albrecht served on the Agriculture Committee and as the chair of the Business and Labor Committee, being the first woman and first freshman senator to do so. She now serves on the Natural Resources, State-Tribal Relations, and Transportation and Telecommunications Committees. Additionally, she is a member of the Nebraska Economic Development Task Force which works with the Department of Economic Development and the Department of Labor to monitor and craft long-range strategic plans to improve economic development within the state.

Professionally, Albrecht worked in the automobile industry as an employee of Huber Chevrolet for 33 years. In 2010 she married Mike Albrecht and moved to Thurston County where she became involved in agriculture.

White Thanksgiving

Elvis may have dreamed of a white Christmas, but much of the state will be treated to a white Thanksgiving this year. With early snowfall projections showing the possibility of up to 13 inches, many area schools, including Wayne State College, Wakefield Community Schools and Wayne Community Schools, called off classes on Nov. 26, giving students an early start to their Thanksgiving break. The snow began in the afternoon of Nov. 26 and went into the early morning hours of Nov. 27. While Wayne didn't receive as much snow as originally forecasted, there was still plenty of the white stuff to clean up for residents, City and County crews alike.

Obituaries

Frederick Dunn

Frederick (Fred) Charles Dunn, 84, of Atkinson, died Saturday, Nov. 23, 2019 at Wayne Countryview Care and Rehabilitation Center in Wayne. Services were held at the United Methodist Church in Atkinson on Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Arrangements were with Seger Funeral Home in Atkinson.

Frederick (Fred) Charles Dunn was born Jan. 12, 1935 in Atkinson to Fred and LuLu (Mitchell) Dunn. He graduated from Atkinson High School in 1953. Following graduation, he helped for a short time at his grandfather's ranch north of Atkinson. In 1954 he joined the U.S. Army during the Korean War and spent two years in Alaska. In 1957 he attended the University of Nebraska, but returned home to Atkinson in 1958 after the sudden death of his father. In 1961 he bought the local Conoco, which was a fuel and oil distributor. Around this same time, he met the absolute love of his life, Jan Gans. They were married on June 7, 1969 at the United Methodist Church. Fred and Jan moved out to the country south and west of Atkinson to help on the Gans ranch, which later became a partnership. Fred and Jan were the parents of three children: Tiffany, Camille, and Mitchell. Fred also worked as a mason for Hamik and Judge Construction Company for 31 years. He retired from there in 2000. At that same time, they decided to sell the livestock and lease the land.

Many of you will remember Fred's witty sense of humor. He had a nickname for everyone that he was fond of. Given that, many of you reading or listening to this probably can remember the special name given to you. He truly loved his friends and developed many deep friendships that withstood the test of time. Fred also loved all sports. He spent 19 years volunteering for West Holt High school where he announced and kept score for the football and basketball games. If the television was turned on at home, it was on the ESPN channel or on a sports game. Mom would often say she wanted to just throw a shoe at the TV because she was so sick of hearing a game in the background.

One of the many joys in Fred's more recent years involved his grandchildren: Caden, Carter, Grayson, and Sabryn. He loved to spend quality time with each of them. And yes, he had nicknames for each of them too. Sadly, it was during this time that he was diagnosed with the beginning stages of dementia. While he would forget small events here and there, the impact that his grandchildren had on his life never left his mind. It really was at the forefront of it. They were likely the first thing he thought of in the morning and the last thing he thought of in the night.

In 2015 Jan died as a result of a car accident. This was a tough transition for Fred. Through the help of HomeInstead Senior Care, Fred was able to remain in his home until the fall of 2018, when he was diagnosed with bladder cancer. At that time he moved into Careage Campus of Care nursing facility in Wayne. While he missed his daily ventures to the local coffee shop with his buddies, his memories of those times were played over and over in his failing memory. Nearly until the day of his death he would tell us that he went to coffee with his friends and drove out to the ranch to see how green the pastures were following the recent rain. It is those memories that helped him believe that he was still the active man he once was. It is for that one and only reason, that I am grateful for dementia. He would forget that he wasn't home, that he could no longer drive, or that the love of his life had died years earlier.

Survivors include his three children, Tiffany and Henry Wiese of Wayne; daughter, Camille and Troy Johnson of North Liberty, Iowa; and son, Mitchell Dunn of Wayne; grandchildren, Caden and Carter Wiese and Grayson and Sabryn Johnson; brother, Dale Dunn of Omaha; nephew, Rick Dunn and wife, Dawn, of Omaha; great nephews, Chance, Ethan, and Parker Dunn of Omaha; and many other family and friends.

He was preceded in death by his wife Jan; parents, Fred and LuLu Dunn; parents-in-law, Herman and Rinnie Gans; and sister-in-law, Kathy Dunn.

Alice Steckel

Alice Hulda Margaretha Steckel, 90, of Fullerton, died Tuesday, Nov. 19, 2019 at Good Samaritan Society-Wolf Memorial in Albion.

Services were held Saturday, Nov. 23 at Mount Calvary Lutheran Church in Fullerton with Reverend Jim Gruber officiating. Burial was in Fullerton Cemetery in Fullerton.

Palmer-Santin Funeral Home served the family.

Alice Hulda Margaretha Steckel was born June 8, 1929 to Carl and Katharina (Thoeming) Koch near Concord in Dixon County. She was baptized at St. Paul Lutheran Church near Concord on June 30, 1929. On June 28, 1942 she was confirmed. She attended country school at District 71 near Concord and graduated from Allen Consolidated High School in May 1946. She then attended Wayne State College in Wayne. She taught school for 10 years in Dixon County, Highland Park in Columbus, and Belgrade Schools for one year. She also worked at Beverly Healthcare for 26 years.

She married Albert Francis Jr. on May 24, 1957 in Columbus and, to this union, four children were born: Arlen Edward, Annette Elaine, Amy Elizabeth and Arden Evans. Albert passed away Jan. 14, 1978. On April 9, 1988 she married Richard Steckel at Peace Lutheran Church near Belgrade. She was a member of Peace Lutheran Church, Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, and Lutheran Women's Missionary League, where she was a local and zone officer. She was an organist for over 50 years at both churches. She was also a member of Cedar Valley Extension Club, American Legion Auxiliary, and a volunteer at Litzberg Long Term Care and Grand Island Veterans Hospital and Veterans Home.

Survivors include her children, Arlen (Tami) Francis of Shelby, Annette (Rod) Serres of Bigfork, Mont., Amy (Patrick) Zaruba of Albion, and Arden (Jeanne Marie Buck) Francis of Berthoud, Colo.; 17 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren; step-son, Robert (Theresa) Steckel of Edmund, Okla.; and brother, Leroy (Delores) Koch of Concord.

She was preceded in death by her husbands, Albert Francis Jr. and Richard Steckel and her parents.

Local Lions Club members receive recognition

The Wayne Lions club hosted a Lions Zone meeting on Nov. 5 at Tacos & More.

The group gathered for a meal followed by the meeting. In attendance were Lions District Governor Dave Emry and Zone Chair Jesse Jackson from Laurel, along with guests from Laurel, Wahoo, Norfolk and Omaha. President Ken Kwapnioski called the meeting to order and greeted members and guests. The meeting opened with the pledge to the American flag. During the business meeting, the Wayne Lions shared with those in attendance about the club's recent Kid's Sight eye screening events at Head Start, St. Mary's School and Rainbow World.

The purpose of the eye screenings is to identify problems with children's eyes early so appropriate corrective measures can be taken. During the recent screenings, over 100 children were screened. Parents of children who had abnormal screenings were notified and encouraged to have their children examined by an eye doctor. Lions Hilbert Johs, Ken Kwapnioski, Mary Ettl. and Teresa Bartlett participated in the screening events. The camera was demonstrated during the meeting.

The Kids Sight program is just one service Lions Clubs offer their communities. The area clubs were encouraged to organize eye screenings in their communities.

Mock Trial team wins regional competition

The Wayne High Mock Trial Red team won the Nebraska Mock Trial Region 6 championship on Nov. 20 in Madison.

Wayne defeated Lutheran High Northeast to qualify for the Nebraska State Mock Trial competition on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 9 - 10 in Lincoln. The Wayne team went 6-0 in regional competition.

"I am so proud of these guys and gal, and all four teams we had this year, on all of their hard work and dedication. They are all so involved in so many things and everything they touch seems to turn to gold. I am so blessed to be able to coach them," said Coach Josh Johnson.

Johnson said this is his 16th year of coaching mock trial at Wayne. In that time span, the school has had four state qualifying teams (2006, 2009, 2012 and 2019) and five Regional/District Runner up teams.

Teams that participate Mock Trial competition have to be prepared to present a different case each year, as either the plaintiff or the defense.

"In the past 16 years I have been extremely blessed to work with a ton of fantastic students and have the assistance of some great lawyers to help out," Johnson said.

This year's team presented each side three times and won all six trials they were involved in.

"This is a competition that the students get no preseason or regular season matches. We dive straight into Districts and if you lose, you are done for the year. We started preparing the case in September and really hit it hard in October and November," Johnson said.

Wayne High has multiple teams and each team prepares their case uniquely. Each team writes their own questions, openings, and closings. It is a big task.

"Luckily we are blessed with a great attorney coach, Judge Robert Ensz. He has been so instrumental with preparing the teams with the legal information and tactics," Johnson said.

Nebraska Mock Trial goals include the following:

•To increase student comprehension of the historical, ethical and philosophical bases of the American system of justice.

•To clarify operation of the law, court procedures and the legal system.

•To help students develop basic life and leadership skills, such as listening, speaking, writing, reading and analyzing.

•To build bridges of mutual cooperation, respect and support between the community (teachers, students, parents and schools) and the legal profession.

•To heighten appreciation for academic studies and promote positive scholastic achievements.

•To bring law to life for students through active participation in the program.

•To encourage participation and growth toward understanding the meaning of good citizenship in our democracy through the system of law. All students who participate are winners.

•To learn to lose a trial gracefully and accept defeat with dignity and restraint.

NSP urges preparedness for strong winter storms

The Nebraska State Patrol is urging motorists to be prepared for a winter storm that is projected to affect most of the state over the next two days.

The National Weather Service has issued a Winter Storm Warning for Nebraska counties throughout western, central, and northern Nebraska, which will take affect at 9:00 p.m. Monday. Heavy snow and strong winds are expected to create hazardous travel conditions for significant portions of Interstate 80 and many other Nebraska roadways.

"Thanksgiving week is a major travel period and this strong winter storm has the potential to make travel difficult," said Colonel John Bolduc, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol. "Drivers should plan ahead and adjust plans accordingly to make sure they reach their destinations safely."

Motorists are encouraged to stay up to date on conditions and plan ahead as travel may become difficult or impossible in some areas. Nebraska 511 is the best resource to monitor road conditions and closures. Motorists can also view real time conditions with the Nebraska Department of Transportation's Plow Tracker system. NSP will provide updates on social media as well.

Troopers will be on the road to assist motorists who need help. Anyone in need of assistance can call *55 from a cell phone or 800-525-5555 to reach the NSP Highway Helpline. NSP also issues the following reminders for motorists traveling in extreme weather conditions:

•Always wear your seat belt and never drive faster than conditions allow.

•Blowing and drifting snow can reduce visibility. Travel only when necessary.

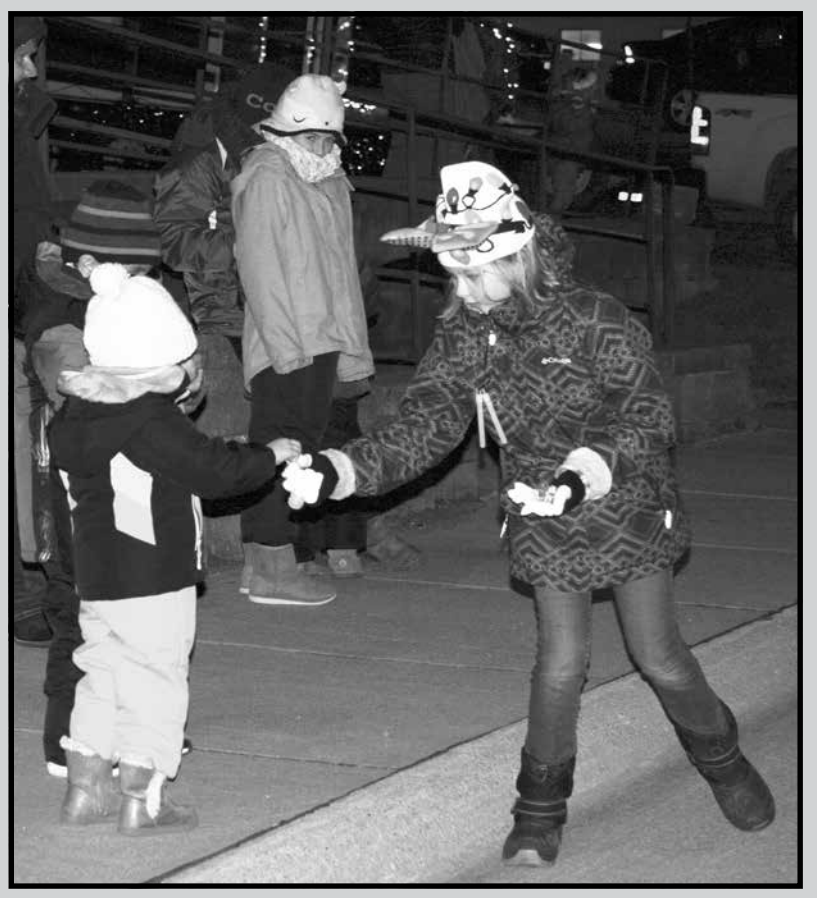

•If you must travel, use well-traveled routes and give yourself plenty of time to reach your destination. Tell others your destination, your route, and when you will arrive.

•If you become stranded while traveling, stay in your vehicle until help arrives. Have a red flag or bandana to signal for help. Freezing temperatures can be life threatening.

•If your vehicle becomes stuck, run your motor sparingly and keep a window cracked to prevent buildup of carbon monoxide.

•Maintain a winter weather survival kit in your vehicle.

Keep your family safe during holiday season

While the holidays can be a time of revelry and joy, there are potential dangers during the holiday season. The Nebraska Regional Poison Center offers the following tips to keep you and your loved ones safe during Thanksgiving and beyond.

Turkey Talk

The holiday meal and its preparation is the centerpiece of the Thanksgiving, and often times Christmas, celebration. To keep your friends and family safe from food poisoning there are certain steps that everyone should know:

- All kitchen helpers should wash their hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds before and after handling food.
- Keep turkey in its original wrapping, refrigerated until ready to cook. Don't defrost a turkey at room temperature.
- Avoid rinsing your turkey before cooking. Let the cooking process take care of the bacteria and avoid the risk of cross contamination.
- Cook the turkey at 325° F or higher.

- Use a meat thermometer until the internal temperature reaches 165° F.
- Store leftover turkey in the refrigerator and use within 3-4 days.
- Don't prepare food if you are sick.

Concerns for Carbon Monoxide (CO)

Cold weather increases the risk of CO poisoning. CO is a gas produced when fuels burn incompletely. It has no color, taste or smell and is often called "the silent killer." Some symptoms can mimic other illnesses including the stomach flu and food poisoning. Symptoms can include; headache, nausea, vomiting, dizziness and even loss of consciousness. Make sure that all furnaces, chimneys, wood stoves and heaters are checked regularly. It is very important to have a CO detector in your home. Here are some tips to avoid CO poisoning:

- Never use barbecue grills or gasoline-powered equipment indoors or in a garage.
- During power outages, gasoline-powered generators should only be used outdoors, away from vents and windows and at least 25 feet from the house.

- Don't use gas ovens to heat the home.

• Avoid sitting in a car with the engine running if deep snow is blocking the exhaust pipe.

• Never leave your car running in a garage, even if the garage door is open. CO can still build up.

Alcohol Awareness

Remember that as Thanksgiving approaches, there may be alcohol in punch and other alcoholic beverages available. If alcohol is left sitting out, this could be very dangerous to a young child. It is important to clean up immediately following all holiday parties. Remove all items that may contain alcohol and keep out of the reach of small children. Call the Poison Center if you suspect a child has swallowed an alcoholic beverage.

A registered nurse or pharmacist is available 24-hours a day, every day at the Nebraska Regional Poison Center at 1-800-1222.

By attending NFC, the FCCLA members ventured to a new city and experienced a new culture which empowered students to return to their families, careers, and communities, with new skills and experiences that will help students excel within college and careers.

More than 2,500 participants from across the nation gathered to hear from keynote speakers, engage in leadership workshops, participate in a community service project, and explore the four career pathways of Human Services, Hospitality and Tourism, Education and Training, and Visual Arts and Design.

In addition, all Wayne attendees competed in various Skill Demonstration Events. These events provide opportunities for members to demonstrate college- and career-ready skills in Family and Consumer Sciences and related occupations. Each of the 10 competitors brought home medals.

'Eight Reindeer Monologues' not your average holiday production

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

"It's not our traditional holiday type of show," Rusty Ruth, Wayne State College professor and director of Wayne Community Theatre's holiday play, "The Eight Reindeer Monologues," by Jeff Goode.

The play follows a scandal that rocks the North Pole.

"Santa has been accused of some wrongdoing with one of the reindeers and then it's sort of, he-said-she-said sort of thing," Ruth said. "You have the reindeers giving their own confessions, some of them support the victim, some of them support Santa. It's very much a #MeToo piece."

While the timely topic seems very serious, Ruth said the show is, in fact, a comedy, albeit a dark comedy. The suggested age range for the show is solidly 18-years-old and up.

"It's just something you know that we hope to see you know you can shine a light on potential issues that can happen in any community," Ruth said.

Though #MeToo and the general theme seems like it could be ripped from the headlines, "The Eight Reindeer Monologues" was actually written in 1994, and Ruth has some experience with the show.

"It's a show I saw originally 10 years ago, and I thought it was it was really funny and I read it and it just struck me as something that was very topical. It's open ended enough where you could say, maybe perhaps this character didn't do anything wrong," Ruth said.

Ruth, who is in his first year at Wayne State, said he's enjoyed working with the small cast including college professors and students.

"Everyone's doing a bang up job with it. I'm getting that nice mix of gallows humor with the stuff that's very serious," Ruth said.

"Eight Reindeer Monologues" will run Dec. 5-7 with all shows beginning at 7 p.m. at the Majestic Theatre. On Dec. 6-7, doors will open at 6 and a cash bar will be available. Tickets are $12 and can be purchased at the door.

Dan McLaughlin, Wayne State's winningest coach announced his retirement last week.

McLaughlin stepping down after 15 years as Wildcat coach

Wayne State head football coach Dan McLaughlin announced late Thursday afternoon that he is retiring after 15 years on the Wildcat sidelines.

McLaughlin leaves Wayne State as the school's all-time wins leader, posting a 79-88 record overall (.473) and 75-77 mark (.493) in NSIC games. Inheriting a struggling program that had nine straight losing seasons when he became head coach in 2005, McLaughlin built Wayne State into a constant winner producing six straight winning seasons from 2007-12 (a feat never accomplished in 104 years of the program) that included the school's only NCAA Div. II playoff trip in 2008 and a berth in the Mineral Water Bowl in 2007.

"I want to thank Coach McLaughlin for his years of service to our football program and athletic department," athletic director Mike Powicki said. "During his career Dan made the Wayne State football program relevant and competitive within the Northern Sun Conference and NCAA Div. II. He has a deep passion for this place and I know he will be a great ambassador for Wayne State College moving forward."

McLaughlin had seven winning seasons on the Wildcat sidelines, highlighted by his 2008 team that posted a 9-3 record and advanced to the NCAA Div. II playoffs for the first time before falling 23-17 at Chadron State. The nine wins that season tied a school record, earning McLaughlin NSIC Coach of the Year and AFCA Div. II Region 5 Coach of the Year honors. The 2008 team also earned a share of the NSIC South Division title with an 8-2 league mark and finished the season ranked 22nd in the AFCA Div. II Top 25 Coaches Poll.

His 2007 team recorded a 7-5 record and earned a berth in the Mineral Water Bowl, just the second bowl appearance in school history.

Wayne State's most recent winning season was a 6-5 mark in 2017. McLaughlin was the second-longest tenured coach in the NSIC (trailing only Tom Sawyer's 24 years at Winona State) and the longest tenured coach ever at Wayne State College. He coached 10 All-Americans and three Academic All-Americans along with 125 All-Northern Sun Conference selections during his time at Wayne State College.

"Late last month, after a freezing four hours standing on the sidelines and a 10-hour bus ride home from Bismarck, N.D., I walked into my home and told my wife, Nadine, that 'I don't want to do this anymore,'" commented Coach McLaughlin. "In each subsequent week little things continued to pop up that only bolstered my feelings. A few years ago, a dear friend of mine retired and I was surprised... and when I asked him why he retired he simply replied 'it was time.' The time is right for my family and me."

McLaughlin added, "I've been fortunate to have a great run in this profession. Thanks to Wayne State College for the opportunity and support, especially our athletic director Mike Powicki and President Dr. Marysz Rames. I would especially like to thank the men, including my son Scott, who have worked with me over the years as assistant coaches, and most importantly, the hundreds of young men who chose to attend Wayne State to further their education and who allowed me to coach them in this great game we call football."

Prior to arriving at Wayne State in 2005, McLaughlin served as offensive coordinator at Minnesota State and was a graduate assistant coach at Nebraska under Frank Solich. Before moving to the college ranks, McLaughlin was a successful high school coach from the mid 1980's-2002 with a 110-59 record in Nebraska winning state titles at three different schools - Broken Bow in 1987, Norfolk in 1994 and Millard West in 2001. He is the only coach in Nebraska history to have won state high school championships at three different schools.

Wayne State finished the 2019 season with a 4-7 overall record and 2-5 mark in the NSIC South Division.

Powicki said the search for McLaughlin's replacement will begin immediately.

Protzman, a 6-foot-4, 250-pound senior defensive end, earned All-NSIC South Division First Team honors this season after leading the NSIC in tackles for loss (22.0-92 yds) and tied for second in sacks with 12.5 for 65 yards. He ranked fifth on the team in tackles with 44 and had five quarterback hurries with one forced fumble. Protzman

Wayne State men get winning streak going, notch Kaminsky's 500th career win

The Wayne State men's basketball team looks to have overcome their season-opening lull, putting together a three-game winning streak that included Coach Jeff Kaminsky's 500th career win.

Wayne State outscored Concordia University 51-34 in the second half, with five players scoring in double figures, as the Wildcat men's basketball team recorded a 92-70 non-conference victory over the Bulldogs last Tuesday at Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State jumped out to an early 15-8 lead, but the visiting Bulldogs used strong shooting to erase the deficit with an 18-6 run to build a 34-25 lead.

Wayne State closed the half with their own scoring spree, turning the nine-point deficit into a five-point lead at intermission, outscoring the Bulldogs 16-2 to end the first half with a 41-36 advantage.

The Wildcats scored 12 of the first 14 points to open the second half to take a 53-38 lead. CU cut the deficit to nine at 60-51 on a 3-pointer from Grant Wragge, but the Wildcats scored the next six points to push the lead back to 15 and led by as many as 24 before settling on the 22-point win.

Jordan Janssen was one of five Wildcats in double figures, notching his fifth double-double of the year with 20 points and 16 rebounds. Nick Ferrarini followed with 19 points while Al'Tavius Jackson accounted for 15. Nate Mohr (14) and Henry Penner (10) also reached double figures.

Wayne State out-rebounded Concordia 40-29 thanks to 16 boards from Janssen. Janssen and Ben Dentlinger each recorded four blocked shots while Janssen handed out a team-high three assists.

Janssen and Ferrarini each scored 20 points as Wayne State helped coach Jeff Kaminsky reach the 500-win plateau with a 73-63 win over Central Missouri in a non-conference matchup Friday at Rice Auditorium.

Wayne State trailed a good share of the first half, but the game was close as the visiting Mules held a pair of six-point leads. The Wildcats had a short-lived advantage at 28-27 following a Mohr 3-pointer at the 4:32 mark, but Central Missouri finished the first half with a 34-31 lead.

Central Missouri opened the second half with a 3-pointer for a 37-31 lead, but Wayne State came to life with a 13-0 run over the next 4:54 to take a 44-37 lead.

The Mules came back and knotted the score at 54-54 with 7:25 remaining, but Wayne State scored 11 of the next 12 points and took a 65-55 lead on a Dentlinger basket with 2:54 to play.

er and closed with the 10-point win to give Kaminsky his 500th career win.

Janssen accounted for 20 points and 11 rebounds for his sixth double-double of the year while Ferrarini also reached 20 points.

Wayne State held a 37-31 edge in rebounding over the Mules with 16 offensive rebounds. Janssen hauled in 11 boards for WSC with Dentlinger adding six boards. Mohr had five steals and four assists for the Wildcats.

Wayne State (3-5) will close out its non-conference schedule Tuesday evening with a game at Nebraska-Kearney at 7 p.m.

Wildcats postseason hopes end in NSIC tournament

Wayne State's postseason hopes crashed Friday in the opening round of the Northern Sun Conference tournament.

Wayne State was held to a .144 attack percentage by St. Cloud State as the seventh-ranked Huskies posted a 25-17, 25-20, 25-23 win over the 12th-ranked Wildcats at the Sanford Pentagon in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Wayne State got off to a slow start in the first set, trailing 6-1 to force an early timeout. The Wildcats never led in the set and got as close as 17-14 before the Huskies scored the next three points to stop a possible Wildcat rally. Katie Stephens had three kills in the set for the Wildcats.

Wayne State rallied from a 14-9 deficit and got within two at 16-14 before the Huskies pushed the lead to 21-16 and overcame four kills apiece from Maddie Knobbe and Alyssa Ballenger to take the 2-0 advantage.

The third set featured seven lead changes and 13 ties, but St. Cloud State produced 18 kills in the set and staved off the Wildcats to complete the sweep and move on to Saturday's semifinals. Ballenger had six kills in the set for WSC while Rachel Walker and Tarrin Beller each had two blocks.

Ballenger paced Wayne State with 10 kills followed by Stephens with eight. Beller accounted for five blocks with Walker adding four. Haley Kauth was credited with 12 digs while Walker handed out 34 set assists.

The loss brought an end to the season for Wayne State (24-7), as they were not included in the Central Region bracket that was announced Monday by the NCAA.

Wayne State women pick up pair of road wins

The Wayne State women's basketball team picked up two road wins this past week in non-conference action.

Erin Norling scored a career-high 32 points and helped Wayne State rally in the second half for a 78-65 non-conference victory over Dakota School of Mines Thursday in Rapid City, S.D.

The host Hardrockers started quickly with an 8-2 lead and led 13-9 before Wayne State countered with a 10-2 run, capped by a Halley Busse 3-pointer to give the Wildcats a 19-18 lead after one period.

Wayne State went cold from the field in the second quarter, making just 5-of-20 shots as South Dakota School of Mines outscored the Wildcats 22-12 to take a 40-31 lead at the half.

The Wildcats came out firing on all cylinders in the third quarter, opening the second half with a 16-2 scoring surge in the first four minutes to erase a nine-point deficit and never trailed again. Wayne State led by five after three and opened the fourth with a 10-2 run to build a double-digit lead and cruise to the win.

Norling led Wayne State in scoring with a career-best 32 points on 14-of-25 shooting from the field. Freshman guard Josey Ryan also hit double digits with 12 points.

Wayne State was out-rebounded in the contest 43-36 despite nine rebounds from Norling and seven by Kylie Hammer. Halley Busse was credited with five of Wayne State's 13 assists while Ryan recorded three steals. Brittany Bongartz was credited with two blocked shots.

Norling and Hammer combined for 48 points as Wayne State defeated Black Hills State 84-74 in a non-conference matchup Saturday afternoon at the Donald Young Center in Spearfish, S.D.

Both teams struggled scoring the ball early, but Norling connected on back-to-back 3-pointers to help the Wildcat offense come alive as the Wildcats ended the opening stanza with a 19-14 lead.

The Yellow Jackets kept the game close early in the second quarter trailing 28-24 at the 7:37 mark, but Wayne State scored the next nine points over the next 2:45, capped by consecutive baskets from Norling to take their first double-digit lead of the night at 37-24 before finishing the first half with a 45-34 advantage.

Black Hills State scored the first five points of the third quarter to get within six at 45-39 and was as close as four at 52-48 at the 4:53 mark before the Wildcats pushed the lead back to double digits at 62-51 on a Hammer layup with 2:18 left in the quarter.

Wayne State led 65-57 as the Yellow Jackets closed within five (65-60) to open the fourth quarter, but the Wildcats responded and pushed the lead back to double digits again at 75-62 and maintained a double figure advantage until the end, holding off a late Yellow Jackets run that got as close as six points before Wayne State answered to hold on for the win.

Norling ended with a game-high 28 points to go with a career-best 12 rebounds. Hammer poured in a career-high 20 points on 7-of-13 shooting from the field. Also reaching double figures were Josey Ryan (14) and Busse (13).

Wayne State held a 47-37 advantage in rebounding thanks to 12 caroms from Norling and nine each from Ryan and Bongartz. Norling also had three blocked shots and three steals while Busse was credited with four assists.

Wayne State (4-1) will play their final non-conference game of the season Wednesday, Dec. 18, hosting Mount Marty College in a 6 p.m. contest at Rice Auditorium.

WSC junior, Erin Norling, was named the women's NSIC-South Player of the Week on Nov. 25.

Wayne State sweeps NSIC South Division honors

It was a clean sweep for the Wayne State basketball teams, as both the men's and women's basketball team had players honored by the Northern Sun Conference as South Division Players of the Week.

On the men's side, Jordan Jansen was named as the NSIC South Division Player of the Week after averaging a double-double in wins over Concordia (Neb.) and Central Missouri. He had 20 points and 16 rebounds in a 92-70 win over the Bulldogs, and followed that with a 20-point, 11-rebound effort in a 73-63 win over Central Missouri.

Jordan has six double-doubles in eight games this season and is averaging a double-double with 18.4

points and 10.8 rebounds per contest. He stands seventh in the NSI in scoring and fourth in rebounds. Wayne State College junior forward Erin Norling was announced Monday afternoon as the Northern Sun Conference Women's Basketball South Division Player of the Week following her performances in two weekend road wins for the Wildcats in the Black Hills. It's the second time that Norling has earned NSIC Player of the Week honors.

Norling, a 5-11 forward from Loretto, Minnesota (Delano HS), averaged 30 points and 10.5 rebounds per game in Wildcat road wins at South Dakota Mines (78-65) and Black Hills State (84-74).

Hawks fall in five-set thriller to end season at the national tournament

CHARLESTON, W.V. — The Northeast Community College volleyball team had its season come to an end on Friday at the NJCAA DII Volleyball National Tournament at the Charleston Civic Center in Charleston, W.V.

The Hawks (22-18) opened the day with a straight-set victory over Montgomery College (Md.). Set scores were: 25-22, 25-23 and 25-19.

Brianna Bauer (O'Neill, Neb.) led Northeast with 16 kills, 12 digs and a .400 hitting percentage. Hannah Heppner (Stanton, Neb.) and Carly Hirsch (Norfolk, Neb.) both had eight kills. MaKayla Davidson (Alliance, Neb.) tallied 35 assists, while Josie Sanger (Crofton, Neb.) had 19 digs. Elizabeth Christensen (Stanton, Neb.) pitched in 17 digs.

With the win, the Hawks had a meeting with Gulf Coast State College later in the day for a chance to play on Saturday for ninth-place.

It didn't end the way Northeast had wanted, falling in five sets. Set scores were: 20-25, 25-21, 25-19, 20-25 and 12-15.

The Hawks battled from the beginning, taking a 2-1 set lead after mounting a large lead in the third set. In the final set of the match, the Hawks rallied to tie the game at 12-12, but couldn't find any answers to top the Commodores.

Bauer added 17 kills and 13 digs, while Caitlin Orton (Mills, Neb.) added 13 kills and Heppner had 11. Davidson notched 44 assists and 13 digs. Sanger recorded 17 digs, while Caitlin Kumm (Osmond, Neb.) tallied 13 digs.

The Hawks end their season as four-time defending Region XI-B champions.

The Prairie Doc

Noise induced hearing loss...what's that?

Of the 40 million people with hearing loss in the U.S., 25 percent of those, or 10 million, have lost their hearing as a result of exposure to excessive noise. But how much noise is too much?

Measured as decibels (dB), the acceptable manufacturing noise standard is to allow a daily exposure up to but not over 85 dB in an eight-hour period. More than that can cause permanent injury to our hearing. This is likely due to wear and tear on the tiny hairs that vibrate when sound is introduced. It's like a line of kids walking across one path on the grass day after day. A little is good, too much kills the grass.

The average conversation, for example, is usually around 50-60 dB, street noises at 70-80, and an operating lawnmower at about 90. Noise levels above 90 come from surprising places like screaming babies, convertibles driving at 60 mph, marching bands, leaf blowers, hand and hair driers, and those noisy electronically amplified concerts. Single loud sounds like gunfire at about 150 dB can also be damaging, but the time exposed to lower volumes are the most significant and unrecognized danger we face daily.

A recent social trend has created a new threat. Tuning out the world

The Prairie Doc
By Dr. Rick Holm, MD

with ear buds, while turning up the tunes for hours, can be like riding on the two-cylinder John Deere tractor with no cab all day while cultivating corn. Those old two-cylinders were loud, and so it can be with ear buds! Ear bud volumes at 100 dB for as short as 15 minutes can damage hearing. Again, it's the volume multiplied by time that makes it so bad. One study showed that 97 percent of third graders had documented exposure to hazardous sound levels. Another showed that 12.5 percent of 6 to 19-year-olds in the U.S. already had hearing loss directly attributed to noise exposure.

What's more, if the volume is too loud, ear buds can be even more unsafe as they may prevent us from hearing the noises that help us avoid danger. For example, walkers, runners, and bicyclists need their ears to hear when a truck might be coming from behind.

Of course, it isn't just noise that can reduce our hearing. Infections, trauma, and even medications like antibiotics, chemotherapy drugs, or pain medications can do it too. Seek medical help if you notice your hearing is changing.

The bottom line: Protect your ears by avoiding exposure to too much noise, get help if your hearing changes and beware of ear bud risks.

High school students attend Northeast's applied technology career day

Students from 45 high schools, including Wayne and Winside, and homeschools had the opportunity recently to learn more about educational offerings in several technical fields. The students took part in Northeast Community College's Applied Technology Career Day on the Norfolk campus.

Shanelle Grudzinski, dean of applied technology, said guests took part in tours of campus and saw students work in the College's applied technology labs.

"This was a day of opportunities for students interested in technical fields and construction to learn more about different career options, as well as a chance to experience the latest technologies, tools, and techniques used in today's high demand, high paying career fields. The approximately 170 students took part in these activities in our state-of-the-art facilities."

Programs hosting students included: auto body technology, automotive technology, building construction, diesel technology, drafting, electrical construction and control, electromechanical, heating, ventilation, and air conditioning, machining and manufacturing automation, plumbing, utility line, welding, and wind energy.

Grudzinski said they also gave away four, $1,000 tuition waivers to four of the students at the end of the day.

Be thankful for seat belt safety — Click It or Ticket

The Thanksgiving holiday is one of the deadliest weekends for America's roads. With more vehicles on the roads and potential adverse weather, it is more important than ever to stress the importance of seat belt safety. To keep drivers and their passengers safe, the Nebraska Department of Transportation — Highway Safety Office is partnering with law enforcement to share an important lifesaving reminder: "Click It or Ticket."

During the 2017 Thanksgiving weekend, 365 people were killed in motor vehicle crashes nationwide. Nighttime crashes proved to be the most deadly, with 57 percent of Thanksgiving weekend crashes occurring at night. Most of these deaths could have been prevented with the simple click of a seat belt.

In 2017, 8 out of 10 (83 percent) of the people totally ejected from vehicles in crashes were killed. Wearing your seat belt is the most effective way to prevent ejection; only one percent of occupants wearing seat belts were ejected in fatal crashes, compared to 28 percent of those who were unrestrained.

"It's our greatest hope that our community members make it to their Thanksgiving destinations as safely as possible," Mark Segerstrom, NDOT Highway Safety Administrator said. "Of the 175 fatalities last year, 66 percent were not wearing seat belts. When used correctly, seat belts substantially reduce the risk of fatal injury to vehicle occupants."

Last year, over 500 law enforcement officers participated in Nebraska's Click It or Ticket Mobilization. The campaign yielded 152 seat belt citations, 54 DUI or DUID arrests, 109 driving under suspension citations and 113 uninsured motorist citations.

"Whether you're driving 10 minutes to the Thanksgiving dinner table, or 10 hours, it's critical that drivers and passengers Buckle Up — Every Trip, Every Time," said Chief Bryan Waugh of the Kearney Police Department. "We want everyone to have a safe and happy Thanksgiving, so please, make sure everyone in your vehicle is buckled before you ever start the car."

Nebraska Department of Transportation details road forward for important Northeast Nebraska Expressway

The Nebraska Department of Transportation (NDOT) released an update on ongoing efforts to convert the remaining 48 miles of US-275 between Norfolk and Fremont from a two-lane highway to a four-lane expressway. The expansion will increase capacity and support economic growth along a key roadway connecting Nebraska's northeast communities to the state's urban hub.

Officially created in 1988, the Expressway System was designed to link communities to the Interstate System using four-lane highways. The NDOT prioritized the remaining segments along the US-275 corridor during the selection processes for the Build Nebraska Act and the Transportation Innovation Act. Due to the state's infrastructure investments, all four segments of US-275 are funded for design or construction.

Segment updates

US-275 Scribner to West Point

The southernmost portion of US-275, the Scribner to West Point segment, is currently in the procurement stage of a design-build delivery project. The procurement is being done concurrent with development of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) to evaluate constraints and permitting issues associated with wetlands, frequent flooding and levees along the proposed alignment. In late 2018, the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) notified NDOT that an EIS would be required and both parties began work to minimize impacts to the project schedule.

In an effort to streamline the federal permitting process, the USACE opted to apply Executive Order 13807 or "One Federal Decision" to manage cooperating agencies and their authorization requirements under one umbrella.

The USACE and NDOT have been working together to keep the proposed project timeline of construction in 2021, with hope work could begin as soon as the agencies could agree on plans for environmental impacts.

Additionally, NDOT made the decision in November 2019 to alter the delivery mechanism for the segment in order to mitigate project risk by directly managing the schedule. Changing the contracting process to a design-build allows the NDOT to build off design work from the shortlisted design-build teams and sequentially manage the final design and construction of the project to ensure efficiency and control for project cost.

About the Segment

US-275 Scribner to West Point will improve approximately 18.5 miles of US-275, located in Cumming and Dodge Counties. The rural portions of this corridor will be upgraded from a two-lane highway to a four-lane expressway with a bypass constructed around Scribner. A five-lane two-way-left-turn-lane section will be constructed north and south of the existing four-lane section in West Point. The existing four-lane concrete section in West Point from 13th Street (R.P. 116+63) to Logan Street (R.P. 118+07) will be used in place.

US-275 Norfolk to N-15 and N-15 to Wisner

To support accelerated delivery, the northernmost portion from Norfolk to Wisner is set to be constructed in two segments. In 2019, NDOT selected a consultant to lead work to improve the approximate 16 miles of US-275 from N-57 just east of Norfolk to the east junction of US-275 and N-15 to Wisner. Preliminary design and National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) review are currently underway and expected to be complete in 2020.

The NDOT submitted an application for the US Department of Transportation's Better Utilizing Investments to Leverage Development (BUILD) Transportation Discretionary Grants program to support construction of the Norfolk to N-15 portion of US-275 in July 2019. Funding for the project was not included in the list of 55 projects selected for the $900 million in grants announced by U.S. Secretary Elaine L. Chao on November 12, 2019.

The NDOT is committed to the delivery of the US-275 corridor and plans to reapply for the next round of BUILD grants with the hope that the Trump Administration continues its commitment to investing in rural transportation. The NDOT will continue work with design and environmental work to best position the project for potential opportunities for competitive funding.

About the Segment

Norfolk to N-15 covers approximately 10 miles from the intersection of US-275 and N-57 east of Norfolk to the east junction of US-275 with N-15. The additional segment of N-15 to Wisner covers the remaining five-and-a-half miles of the highway. The project expands the existing two-lane highway to a four-lane expressway by constructing a new, parallel, two-lane roadway (called 2+2 construction) on one side of the existing US-275. A Restoration, Rehabilitation, and Resurfacing (3R) strategy would also be applied to the existing two lanes to extend the life of the roadway.

Wisner to West Point (West of Pilger)

Currently funded for design with construction estimated between 2024 and 2033.

Opinion

Have you ever wondered about being 58

By MIKE RENNING
mikesportshome@yahoo.com

I know plenty of you have been 58 years-old and I know plenty of you don't know if you need a hyphen between 58 and years.

But sometimes it's kind of cool to think back on the discoveries of convenience from when my Grandpa was a kid until today when I am the Grandpa.

What a gap we have bridged. Literally and figuratively...particularly across the Missouri River.

I remember riding a ferry across the river - I believe from Niobrara, Nebraska to Springfield, South Dakota, with my Grandpa when traveling to his house in Pierre, South Dakota.

Since those days, two bridges have been built across the Mighty Mo, one at Niobrara and one from Newcastle, Nebraska to Vermillion, South Dakota.

Not to mention the dams which span the Missouri from the North Dakota/South Dakota border to the Nebraska/South Dakota border.

I'm not going to get into all the technological...stuff, which I just used because I spelled technological wrong.

We have discussed all this before. We recently talked about telephones actually hanging on the wall instead of being hauled around in your pocket.

Indoor plumbing? Now a must used to be a luxury.

My Grandpa built a cabin in the Black Hills of South Dakota back in the late 1930's which initially had an outhouse - until the 1970's anyway.

That is when my Grandma put her foot down and told my Grandpa, "If you want me to go to the cabin with you, you need to put in a bathroom."

Mission accomplished and I know our children certainly appreciate the convenience of not going "up the hill" in the middle of the night.

I do still use the old outhouse when I'm up there, kind of a quiet trip back to nature in every sense of the word.

A side note here, I recall living in Kadoka, South Dakota in the middle of the 80's and we raced outhouses down Main Street every Labor Day.

Plenty of liquid encouragement accompanied the races and they were actually a pretty nice fundraiser for the Kadoka Volunteer Fire Department.

You can't race an outhouse without the encouragement and certainly not without some wagering.

Why else would seemingly normal, relatively adult individuals push each other up and down Main Street in broad daylight in an outhouse?

My Grandpa was born in 1911, so in his beginning, electricity was a luxury.

Now, we have 20 outlets in every bedroom with some form of charger hooked up to every outlet.

Good heavens, our four-year-old and seven-year-old Granddaughters text us from their iPads.

I always felt pretty special when I would call my Grandpa and Grandma maybe a couple of times a month.

Before cell phones and unlimited calling plans were the norm.

I remember an argument on more than one occasion when I questioned the Darling Wife about long phone conversations with her Mother or Sister.

What in the world could they need to talk about for six hours per week - what they had for lunch?

Incidentally, my Grandpa rarely called me, but always had time to chat when I called him.

In fact, when he was 77, he fell off a cliff at Pactola Lake in the Black Hills and called exactly...no one.

My Mother-in-Law, who lived in Kadoka and received the Rapid City Journal called me the following day and asked if my Grandpa was in the Black Hills.

I wasn't sure, but a quick investigation indicated that the 77-year-old, David Evans from Pierre, who fell some 40 feet at Pactola Lake, was indeed, my Grandpa.

He hadn't even contacted my Grandma for crying out loud.

In this day and age, I could get an app on my phone to know where my Grandpa was located every hour of every day - or at least where his phone was located.

Rest assured, Grandpa never had a cell phone - not even a car phone - and he lived to be 93.

Certainly a lot of the changes from 1911 to 2019 have been very positive changes, but sometimes a yearn for a quiet outhouse full of flies and a ferry ride across the Missouri River.

Try daily gratitude in these troubled times

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association Here's a column inspiration shout out to Lincoln Journal Star sports-writer Steven M. Sipple who discussed gratitude in a recent column about Nebraska Husker Head Football Coach Scott Frost.

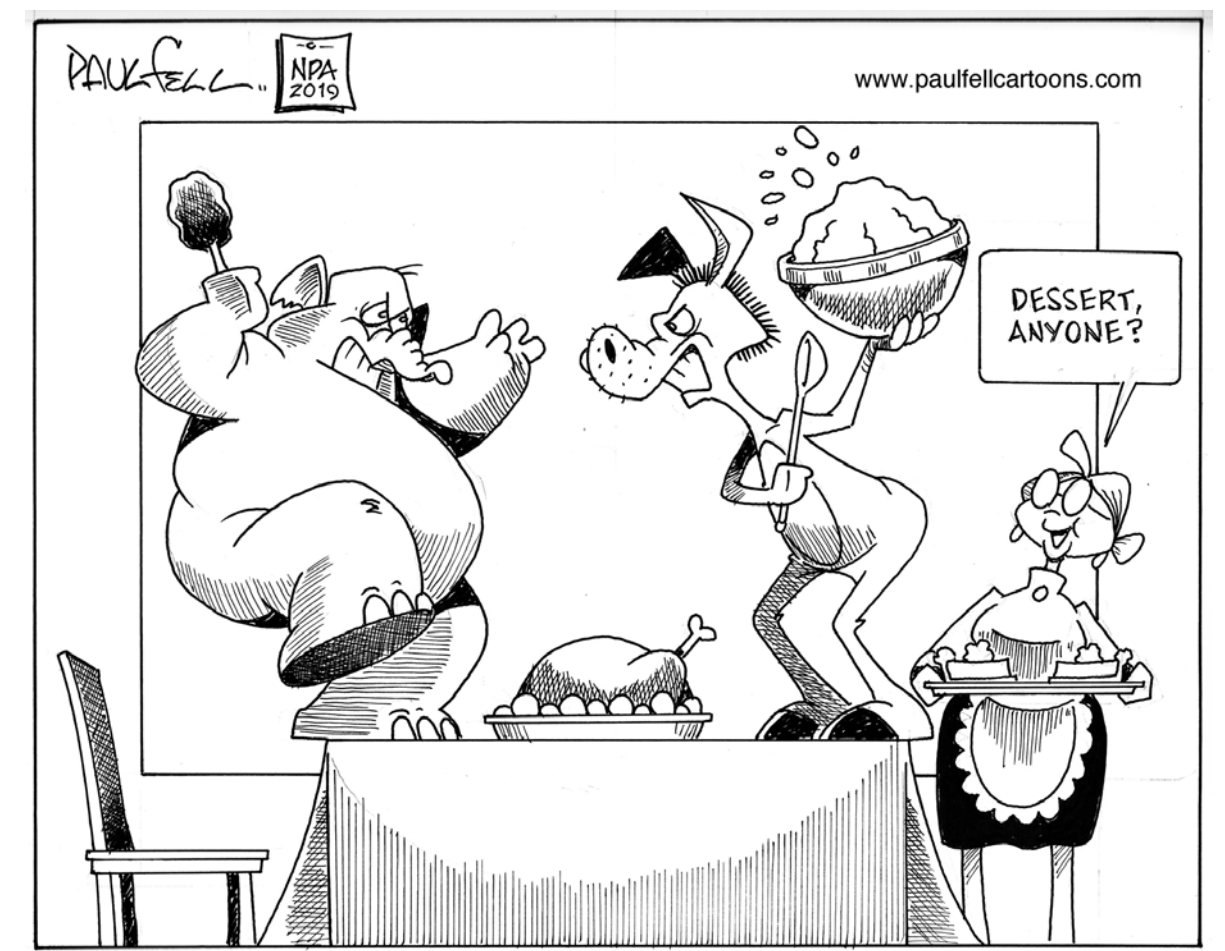

"Gratitude is a beautiful quality. It requires minimal effort, costs nothing and can elicit a smile at any moment," he wrote. "Yeah, it's also powerful. If we would all remind ourselves to be grateful for something each day, the world would be a better place."

Hear! Hear! I sense that Sipple has grown weary of the "nattering nabobs of negativism" - thank you Spiro Agnew -- who are complaining that the second-year coach hasn't fielded a football team ready for the National Championship. No, he hasn't, but he inherited a mess. We should be grateful he's in charge.

In case you've missed it as we head toward Thanksgiving 2019, this country is going through partisan-charged troubled times in Washington DC - what with the impeachment trial and all - and the world scene isn't much better with trouble in all the familiar old places. Perhaps a little gratitude from each of us every day is a great way to start a change movement.

So, those of you at home, play along. Stop your complaining and think of one thing for which you can be grateful. If you're reading this column or listening to someone read it to you, there's two things for starters, eyes and ears. Don't take them for granted, be grateful for them.

If you woke up this morning, be grateful. A lot of people, perhaps someone you know, didn't wake up. I lost another high school classmate recently. He was somebody I first met in kindergarten. Can't tell you the last time I saw him, but I knew him and am grateful for that.

If you have family, a neighbor or a good friend coming to break bread with you tomorrow, be grateful. Many people will be hungry and alone. If you know someone in that dire spot, reach out to them. You will gain a deeper respect for gratitude and your fellow human being.

If you are reasonably healthy, be grateful. Believe me, there are a number of people struggling with everything from cancer to heart disease and a whole menu of health difficulties in between. Look at your friends. Many of them may be quietly struggling with ailments they don't discuss but which are still very real. Perhaps the warranty is slowly expiring on some of their working parts (hips, knees, eyes, ears, backs).

Be grateful for the warm days of November that have allowed you to put up your outdoor Christmas decorations. Be grateful that the electricity will still be available after Thanksgiving so that you can plug them in to brighten your entire neighborhood. Who knows, someone on your block is probably grateful that you still decorate outside. Remember, someone else will likely be grateful that you unplug them as soon after New Year's Day as you can.

If this discussion has enlightened you about or enabled you to practice gratitude, thank the First Amendment that has allowed this newspaper the freedom to print it. Likewise, if you'd rather be more like Ebenezer Scrooge and grump about it, thank the First Amendment anyway because it gives you the right to just be that way!

Happy Thanksgiving. Be grateful.

Legislative Update

Albrecht's docket full ahead of Legislature opening Jan. 3

Things are definitely picking up as we move towards the Jan. 8 opening of the 2020 Legislative Session.

Legislative council: On Nov. 21 and 22, the Legislative Council was held in Nebraska City. At that meeting, members of the Legislature gathered to hear from Committee Chairs about upcoming priorities and potential legislation. Of particular interest is the clear call for property tax relief and economic development throughout Nebraska. Senator Linehan, Chair of the Revenue Committee presented the Revenue Committee's priorities of passing the ImagiNE Nebraska Act (LB720), and passing meaningful Property Tax Relief legislation.

Economic Development has been the topic of conversation throughout the State, with individuals, businesses, local and state Chambers of Commerce, and other stakeholders. Senator Kolterman spoke of LB720 in terms of establishing Guiding Principles of Simplicity, transparency, integrity, and competitiveness. Expect to hear more about the ImagiNE Nebraska Act in the days and weeks to come.

Property tax relief is a primary focus of the 2020 Legislature: With so many Nebraska citizens expressing concern there is no doubt that passing meaningful property tax relief is at the forefront of every legislator's mind. Senator Linehan and the Revenue Committee have been hard at work all interim to craft a solution that is effective, meaningful, and doable. In her presentation, the Senator discussed how we got where we are as a state, and what steps we might take to correct the current property tax situation.

The State does NOT levy or collect property taxes. All of that takes place at the local level. Based on 2017 figures, valuations of real property have risen about 50 percent over the prior 10 years and, while some local taxing entities have lowered their tax levy rates to reflect the increased revenues, many have not, and of those that have, the average rate has been lowered by only 15 percent. For instance, in the largest cities in each state, Omaha ranks as the 11th highest in property tax rates. Of great importance to those of us in rural Nebraska, is the increasing shift of the property tax burden to the agricultural producers in the state. Based on that 2017 census data, looking at the average property taxes paid per farmer in 2017, Nebraska ranks 2nd only behind California. At the same time, most rural schools receive no equalization funding from the state, while transportation and other needs make the cost per pupil for those districts greater than the cost per pupil in the urban areas. A problem ten years in the making, this is not an issue that allows for a quick solution. With these and other important factors in mind, the Revenue Committee and the Legislature must craft something that addresses the issue responsibly and transparently over time. The rural areas are the most affected by the increases in property tax and funding formulas

Legislative Update
By Joni Albrecht
State Senator, District 17

over the past decade, and therefore, there is suggestion that the Legislature's initial focus should be on alleviating the burden to farmers and ranchers throughout the state. As always, I will be paying close attention to, and sharing in, discussions about property tax relief and how it can be addressed to relieve the burden of those in Legislative District 17, as well as others throughout Nebraska.

At the Legislative Council meeting, Legislators also heard from the chairs of the Health and Human Services Committee (Sen. Howard), the Appropriations Committee (Sen. Stinner), and the Judiciary Committee (Sen. Lathrop). The Appropriations Committee report centered on the 2019 Budget report. The Health and Human Services Committee has held 16 interim study hearings and six briefings regarding issues like Medicaid waivers, fingerprinting of child care workers, the August crisis at the Youth Rehabilitation and Treatment Center. Twenty-eight Interim studies were referred to the committee and work continues to evaluate and address these and other issues.

Senator Lathrop, Chair of the Judiciary Committee reported on prison overcrowding and understaffing. The Senator's presentation discussed status of the 2006 Facilities Master Plan, historical and projected populations, readiness for accommodation, and potential solutions for the issue. His presentation also centered on employee vacancies, overtime, attitudes and turnover rate of personnel. The senator discussed the 2016 findings of the Justice Program Assessment of Nebraska Prisons and the consequences of understaffing. The Committee and Legislators continue to work toward acceptable solutions to ensure the safety of correctional staff, inmates, and the general public.

It is my intent to continue to keep you updated on these and other issues as the issues and potential solutions or bills present themselves in the session ahead.

November is National Family Caregivers Month, so let's recognize and honor the more than 83,000 individuals caring for someone with Alzheimer's here in Nebraska. According to the Alzheimer's Association, in 2018, these caregivers provided 94 million hours of unpaid care, valued at $1.19 billion. I was one of these caregivers. My mother was diagnosed with Alzheimer's at the age of 54. She was an energetic fixture in the community and the Methodist Church until the disease pushed her into the shadows and she retreated from her job, her friends, and eventually her family. This month, I am joining the Alzheimer's Association in asking Senator Ben Sasse to cosponsor the Improving HOPE for Alzheimer's Act (S. 880/H.R. 1873), which would increase awareness and access to vital care planning resources available to families affected by dementia through Medicare. Children and parenting: Communication is essential School Lunches Effective communication is critical in every aspect of a person's life.

Communication skills influence relationships in families, children, friends and at work. Good communication helps build relationships in good times, and mend relationships in difficult times. These skills include speaking as well as listening and nonverbal communication.

Nonverbal body language can make up as much as 55 percent of what we communicate, our voice and tone 38 percent, and the words we say merely 7 percent of the meaning that gets across.

Family communication . Family members need to practice positive communications. Positive communication Handling conflict and anger.

Wherever human interactions exist, there is a potential for conflict and anger to arise. Conflict can lead to either breakdown in the relationship, the family, friendship, or work environment, or it can lead to creative solutions and improved relationships.

Anger is a normal, human emotion that can be intense. Everyone gets angry on occasion. The trick is to manage emotions in such a way that positive actions are mobilized and not negative ones. Typically anger is a response to one of many specific things.

Acme Club members share Thanksgiving memories

Members of the ACME Club met for their second November meeting in the Wayne Senior Center conference room on Nov. 18. Once again, all members were present.

Betty Wittig presented the thought for the Day: "Give thanks to the Lord for he is good." Roll call and penny collection was conducted, with each member contributing their memories.

Bonnadell Koch conducted the meeting. New business included a request that each member bring any items to the December meeting that could be included for use by Haven House for the comfort of any who might be staying with HH for a day or even longer. This might include travel sizes of toiletries, paper goods, gift cards, etc.

The club will definitely remember their honorary long-time member with gifts, and Ruth Victor will provide Christmas tray favors for the hospital.

A check was delivered to the Wayne Senior Center to help with the purchase of the new freezer, as well as for the building project.

Each member was asked to tell of their first memorable time having Thanksgiving at their house. Many thoughts, both funny and interesting, were mentioned. Some events mentioned included the time one of the ladies worked very hard to make a beautiful lemon meringue pie, only to have one of the guests ask where was the pumpkin pie.

Another related the time when someone accidentally turned off the oven and the turkey was not nearly ready to eat. Some families never made a turkey and some families always had one. One remembered that she always made her Thanksgiving dinner in the pressure cooker. Another told of the first time she had the family at her house and put all the leftovers into the outside garage, where the neighbor's German Shepherd found a way to open the door and promptly ate all the leftover turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, and part of the cutting board!

ACME Club, at one time, had a group holiday meal and a memory came up of someone who recited "A Christmas Cup of Tea" entirely from memory.

Thanksgiving plans were announced and included the sons in the family loving the competition of making the best meats, including traditional turkey, beef, or wild game. Others will be leaving Wayne to spend time at the house of a friend or relative, or even at a timeshare, or buffet restaurant. Some will have more than one celebration. Others will prepare food at home to serve or to take to someone else's home. It is sure that we all have much for which to be thankful, including family, friends, and our many memories.

Take time to generate thankfulness

It's easy to rush past Thanksgiving to get to Christmas.

Stores have had their Christmas merchandise and decorations up for some time now. The Hallmark Channel started their Christmas movies nearly a month ago. Several people already have their Christmas lights up. We do. My daughter has been listening to Christmas music the last couple of weeks. It's easy to rush past Thanksgiving to get to Christmas.

However, it is good to have a holiday like Thanksgiving because it is a good thing to stop and remember all the good things we have. King David, in Psalm 105, says, "Give thanks to the Lord, call on His name; make known among the

A Word In Faith
By Troy Reynolds
Pastor, Journey Christian Church

nations what He has done. Sing to Him, sing praise to Him; tell of all His wonderful acts" (Psalm 105:1-2).

In order to tell of God's "wonderful acts" we have to tell ourselves.

We need to remind ourselves what He has done and remember what He has given us. Isn't that what we learn from the old hymn? "Count your many blessings, name them one by one, and it will surprise you what the Lord has done."

We can miss so much goodness – the beauty of creation, the love of friends, the joy of work – simply because we don't take time to remember and count our blessings. A good way to generate a thankful heart, a grateful heart, is to simply take out a sheet of paper and list all the things for which you are thankful.

As I write this we are just a few days away from celebrating Thanksgiving and I have many pleasant memories associated with this fall holiday. My memories of Thanksgiving are brought to me by the letter "F", as I'm sure they are for many of you.

The first "F" is food. My thanksgiving memories revolve around a table loaded down with turkey and stuffing and mashed potatoes and gravy and sweet potatoes and corn casserole and dinner rolls. We had relish trays filled with pickles and cheese and olives and pineapple. After dinner there would be pumpkin pie or pecan pie or chocolate-peanut butter pie. It seemed that there was enough food to feed a small army for a month.

The second "F" is football. I remember being as stuffed as the turkey we just ate and relaxing in front of the TV watching football – the Cowboys usually played as did the Lions.

The third "F" is family. Growing up we would go to my grandparents' house in Colorado. Now we visit my in-laws the Sunday before Thanksgiving and then go to Wyoming to have Thanksgiving with my family. Thanksgiving has always been a time to be with family.

But the most important "F" is faith. Growing up in a Christian family Thanksgiving was always a time when we could express our faith in God by remembering all that He had done for us and given to us. Whether we had a little or a lot, we realized how good God had been to us.

Remembering is a good way to generate thankfulness. I encourage you to "count your many blessings." Make your blessings list and write down what you are thankful for. "Give thanks to the Lord, call on His name; make known among the nations what He has done. Sing to Him, sing praise to Him; tell of all His wonderful acts" (Psalm 105:1-2).

Multiple Wayne State College choirs performed at An Evening of Choirs to raise money for WACAM.

Evening of Choirs performs, donates to WACAM

Our Savior Lutheran Church hosted several choirs from Wayne State College for An Evening of Choirs recently. Choirs performing included: Chamber Choir (all men); Women's Choir (all female); Concert Choir (the entire ensemble).

An offering of $500 was received by Pastor Nick Baker of the First United Methodist Church and Meg Osnes, WSC, student representative. The offering was given to Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers (WACAM). The reason for the offering was in reference to the program piece called "The Requiem." Craig Hella Johnson states that his simple, yet beautiful choral arrangement was designed to "let the song speak clearly and meaningful for itself and to give many people an opportunity to experience its universal themes. The goal of the choir groups is to raise funds for WACAM to offer in support of those in this area of Nebraska who are still suffering from flooding earlier this year.

NCC updates shared during the Ag-ceptional Women's Conference

By Liz Viall
For the Herald

Northeast Community College in Norfolk plans to break ground next spring on the first of a three-part expansion to replace and renovate its old college farm, veterinary technology and large animal handling facilities.

The first phase of the project should go out for bid early in 2020, be completed for fall 2021 classes and will cost about $23 million, Tracy Kruse, NCC associate vice president of development and external affairs, said Nov. 22 at the Ag-ceptional Women's Conference on campus.

She said NCC is providing $10 million of the cost of that first phase, while the remainder will come from fundraising efforts.

"We aim to replace our 1920s era college farm," Kruse said, which the college has "repurposed as much as it can." The farm, which was once the site of a regional mental health facility, includes a 100-year-old dairy barn. It was purchased by the college in the 1970s, she said. After the new construction, the old farm's barn will be demolished.

The first phase includes the construction of a veterinary tech building, an animal handling facility and relocating the farm next to the existing Agriculture and Water Center of Excellence on the north side of Benjamin Ave.

Kruse said phases two and three will include an agriculture classroom building, an addition to Pohlman Ag Complex, a greenhouse and an innovation and demonstration center.

She said the planned construction will allow animals, livestock and classrooms to be located in one area, rather than the four locations currently used.

"Ag culture affects everyone here. It's important that we continue to invest in it," she said.

NCC is the home of the largest two-year agriculture program in the state, with an enrollment of 350 students in programs agribusiness, agronomy, animal science, dairy technician, diversified agriculture, horticulture, mechanized agriculture, precision agriculture, pre-veterinary technology, and the new program in precision agriculture and natural resources management.

NCC development officer Susan Green said for many NCC ag students the ultimate goal is to go back to the family farm. "The skills they learn here will benefit their employer but also the family farm," she said. "Every other job in this area is tied to agriculture in some way. It's vital for our part of the state that agriculture remain strong."

Kruse said about 85 percent of NCC ag alumni remain in Nebraska and 57 percent are employed in NCC's 20-county service area.

NCC's fundraising information can be found at agwaternews.com

Wakefield farmer named one of eight CVA Applicator of the Year recipients

Each year Central Valley Ag (CVA) Cooperative selects applicators to receive The Applicator of the Year award. This year eight applicators were named for their efforts throughout the 2019 growing season. Each recipient is chosen based on criteria developed by their Regional Operations Manager. The amount of acres they cover, along with the care and maintenance of their machine play a role in the decision, but it's not just about that.

"We take into consideration how these employees interact with both customers and other CVA team members. Their willingness to help in other areas of CVA, such as helping to train inexperienced applicators," said Brent Reichmuth, CVA VP of Operations North. "Being eager to help and having a positive attitude also plays a significant role in who gets chosen to receive these awards." Additionally, the applicators must limit spray claims and complaints on all acres applied.

The Regional Operations Managers, along with the location managers, select the recipients of these awards.

"Trying to come up with one individual applicator is very difficult for us. Many go above and beyond, and CVA is lucky to have them," said Matt Johnson, Region 4 Operations Manager.

"It's important that they cover the acres, but more so, that they are committed to helping out their CVA team whenever and wherever they can," added Rusty Morehead, Region 7 Operations Manager.

This year eight applicators were recognized for their hard work and dedication.

- Cory Bossard, Tilden - Region 1
- Allen Lindemoen, Wakefield - Region 2
- Tyler Eisenmann, Humphrey - Region 3
- Caleb Meier West Point - Region 4
- Treg Lindsley Benedict - Region 5
- Derek Worm Shelby - Region 6
- Justin L. Murdock Condordia, Kan. - Region 7
- Heath Moravek Courtland, Kan. - Region 9

To show their appreciation, Central Valley Ag took these eight individuals on a hunting trip in November. Each award winner also received a Benelli Montefeltro 12-gauge shotgun.

For me, the rewards CVA gives us are awesome, but receiving the award itself is what means the most to me," said Al Lindemoen, CVA Applicator out of Wakefield. He added, "when I go out to spray or spread, I just look at things and work the land as if it were my own."

"The commitment of these employees does not go unnoticed, this is just one way we can recognize the guys for all their hard work," said Brent Reichmuth, VP of Operations North. "Every individual at CVA plays an important role in getting the product to a customer. From the salesman to the location manager. The truck driver, and finally to the person who gets that product on the field. It takes the whole team working together to provide that customer with what they need."

IT'S NOT THAT WE DON'T LIKE THE BIG SEED AND CHEMICAL CONGLOMERATES. WE JUST THINK WE'RE MAKING BETTER SEED THAN THEY ARE.

When you focus on just one thing, you tend to get pretty good at it. Like seed corn. Wyffels Hybrids is completely focused on creating the best seed corn you can find. Which probably explains why Wyffels is the primary brand on more and more farms in your area. Wyffels Hybrids. Do one thing. And do it better than everyone else.

Take time to be thankful for things in your life

I thought last Saturday's football game was sort of like watching a sleeping giant wake up! I now have high hopes for this week's game, even though I said I was going to stop talking about it! And I thought the volleyball team really showed a fighting spirit against Minnesota, but Wisconsin is just too good. Imagine a girl who is 6'8"!

The Big Farmer has been watching high school championship games all day . . . and we hear that three buses of fans from Scottsbluff turned around because of the weather.

They seem to be giving Skutt their money's worth anyway. We were happy for Osceola-High Plains, while wondering why the dual thing was for only two years. It's getting harder and harder to identify towns by their merged names.

We've had two annual Thanksgiving letters as opposed to Christmas tidings. And a card with a turkey on the front today that is full of news about health changes in their family just in the last month, when they were doing fine until then. Plus, the daughter of one of my nursing classmates died suddenly in Boulder, making sad holidays for that family and reminding me that we cannot take life and its blessings for granted!

Plus, a long time member of our church went to Heaven on Sunday morning, after fighting that darned cancer for years; she is the age of our youngest, way too young. Her goal had been to see her youngest graduate from high school, and she accomplished that, for sure. But more sad holidays for another family.

It makes me take the time for the gratitude thing; they are telling us it's a healthy thing to do, and I'm sure "they" are right. In fact, most experts say that if we can be thankful for three things every day, we can do a lot towards maintaining a positive attitude. I can do that, easily.

I'm thankful for this townhouse, the newest abode I've ever lived in. And for the neat neighbors who surround us. For all the trees and shrubs that influenced our decision to buy here, because we had to have mature vegetation around us.

For a well stocked grocery store, and enough money to buy pumpkin spiced lattes every once in awhile. For Friends! And Family! And a new pastor who can even give a sermon on stewardship sound good. And that's a gift! Plus, he has finished his dissertation for his Ph.D. since he came, and we now have a Rev. Dr. Miller! What more do we need?

Hope your turkey day was lovely, and that the 26 days till Christmas don't come before you get your shopping done! Have a good one!

Cation Exchange Capacity, Organic Matter, and soil pH

Understanding how to interpret the soil test report from a lab is important when establishing your management plan for soil health. Soil readings can help you understand soil texture and a soil's ability to supply nutrients and a good environment for growing the crop. Here, I have laid out 4 different testing measurements that help growers decipher the health of their soil.

Cation Exchange Capacity: CEC is a measurement of the estimated exchange sites available in the soil. The exchange sites are negatively charged and attract positive ions. CEC is strongly related to the texture of a soil due to clay particles having a much higher cation exchange capacity than sand particles. The coarser the soil (higher sand content), generally, the lower the CEC.

Organic Matter: OM measures the amount of plant and animal residue in the soil. OM is a source of many nutrients essential for plant growth. Soils generally range from less than 1% OM to over 5% OM. Soils low in organic matter are less able to hold and mineralize nutrients and will depend more on applied nutrients than soils with higher organic matter levels.

Soil pH: pH is the measurement of hydrogen ion concentration and acidity. Soil pH in a range from 6.3-7.0 is best for corn, soybean, and wheat production. Alfalfa often produces better yields with pH ranges from 6.8 to 7.5. Soils with a pH under 6.0 should be limed to reduce their acidity.

Buffer Index: The Buffer Index (or Buffer pH) is used to determine the amount of lime needed to correct an acidic soil. In general, the higher the soil's CEC the more lime it will take to correct the pH. The soil's buffer pH is really meaningless until the grower makes a decision based on soil pH that he or she needs to lime.

Funding approved for watershed projects across Nebraska

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) announced that four Natural Resources Districts received over $2.5 million in Watershed Flood Prevention and Operations funding. This funding will be directed toward developing watershed plans in the following NRDs:

The Lower Platte South NRD received funding to complete the Little Salt Creek Watershed Plan in northern Lancaster County. This plan will help improve habitat for the endangered Salt Tiger Beetle by protecting saline wetland habitat, providing wetland rehabilitation, and erosion and sediment control.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD received funding to complete the Battle Creek Watershed Plan. This plan aims to reduce the overall flood risk potential in the area as well as provide flood resiliency for surrounding agricultural land.

The Central Platte NRD received funding to complete the Spring and Buffalo Creek Watershed Plan. This effort is focused on reducing flood damages to irrigation canal infrastructure and agricultural land. Goals include identifying solutions to reoccurring flooding issues, soil erosion, and evaluate multi-beneficial projects which can benefit endangered and threatened species within and downstream of the watershed.

The Central Platte NRD also received funding to complete the Lower Wood River Watershed Plan. The goal is to establish a recommended plan to address ongoing flooding events. This includes implementing structural and non-structural projects to create resiliency against future flooding, reduce flood related damages, and protect the local economy.

The Lower Loup NRD received funding to complete the Mud Creek Watershed Plan. This plan will focus on reducing flood related damages to communities and agricultural land, improve flood resiliency, improve recreation opportunities and enhance groundwater recharge.

Nebraska State Conservationist Craig Derickson said, "We look forward to working with these Natural Resources Districts on these new watershed projects. We saw how established watershed projects sprang into action this past spring following the bomb cyclone reducing flood damages and protecting natural resources. These new projects plan to provide more benefits to more areas across Nebraska."
