Wayne County Commissioners amend courthouse renovation agreement

By Sarah Lentz editor@wayneherald.com

The Wayne County Commissioners held their last 2019 meeting on Dec. 17 at the Wayne County Courthouse. The Courthouse Renovation project agreement was amended and the commissioners' salary was set for the 2021-2022 fiscal year.

An amendment to the original agreement between Wayne County and Kingery Construction was approved unanimously. Kingery is the construction company working on the courthouse renovation. In the original agreement, money from any change order had to go towards tuckpointing bricks on the exterior of the building. Kingery requested more flexibility in directing funds. The commissioners approved the amendment to the agreement.

Approval of alpha change orders for the project however, were tabled for a second time this month. At the Dec. 3 meeting, Kingery brought a number of change orders before the commissioners, but figures were not broken down to individual costs. Commissioner Terry Sievers told Jerry Berggren, engineer of the project, that while some of the change orders had been sufficiently broken down, many had not. The approval for change orders was tabled again.

The commissioners voted to freeze their salary for the 2021-2022 year. Currently, Wayne County Commissioner salary is set at $45,500. The three commissioners agreed that the amount is adequate pay until 2022.

Highway superintendent Mark Casey told the commissioners he's beginning work on the One and Six Year Plan for the county. He also gave an update on the Plum Creek wind energy project, telling the commissioners that as of Dec. 17, there were still 10 foundations left to pour.

According to Casey, the Temme Bridge project is going along. All of the substruction had been poured for the bridge and Herbst Construction will be working until the end of the week before taking a few off for Christmas. Herbst got a late start on the project and as of Dec. 17 were on day 116 of a 95 day contract with an overage penalty of $1,100 per day. Charla Nedza, from Goldenrod Regional Housing Agency, asked the commissioners to appoint a Wayne County representative to the housing agency's authority board. Nedza said Goldenrod services 13 counties in northeast Nebraska, but Wayne and

Knox use the agency's services the most. "We would really like some reresentation from this board," Nedza told the commissioners. "You guys know what's going on in your county more than I do." Wayne County emergency manager Nic

Kemnitz informed the commissioners that there will be a tabletop tornado exercise held in the Frey Conference Suite at Wayne State College on Wednesday, Jan. 8. Several area counties will also be in attendance.

The commissioners approved payments of $170,000 principal, $4,856.25 interest and $200 agent fee for the Highway Allocation Fund Pledge Bonds, Series 2014 and $125,000 principal, $14,268.75 interest and $200 agent fee on the Series 2015 bonds. A contract for auditing services for 2020-2022 from B.D. Redowl, CPA was also approved.

The next Wayne County Commissioners meeting will be held in the district courtroom at 9 a.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse on Tuesday, Jan. 7.

Cedar County man dies after being trapped in grain bin

According to a press release from the Cedar County Sheriff's office, the department responded to a 911 call reporting a person trapped in a grain bin near 56909 881st Road, five miles east and one south of Harington, around 2:51 p.m. on Dec. 17.

Responding agencies worked to locate the victim, identified as Kelly Burbach, age 60, of Coleridge. Burbach was extricated from the grain bin and pronounced dead at the scene a short time later. Burbach was an employee of Hansen Farms of

The repair of the trail near Logan Creek, the city's property and casualty insurance and a request for LB840 Revolving Loan funds were among the items before the Wayne City Council on Tuesday.

David Wiggins, Senior Civil Project Engineer for Leo A. Daly, spoke to the council on the status of the 2019 Wayne Trail Repair project. Portions of the trail were damaged during the March flooding this year.

Wiggins told the council that the construction documents have been finished and he has been in contact with the Army Corps of Engineers to answer questions about the project.

"With the upcoming holidays and the probability of no progress made during this time, we are looking to bid the project out in mid February and construction to begin in May," Wiggins said.

He also explained various parts of the project and the plan to reconstruct the area in hopes of preventing the trail from being damaged by flooding in the future.

Following Wiggins' presentation, the council voted to approve Resolution 2019-73, which will reaffirm the project engineer and approve the plans, specifications and estimate of cost for the project.

Tips offered for a safe and healthy holiday

The holiday season is a time for celebration and joy with our friends and families. Research shows that the number of poisoning incidents involving children rises during the holiday season. During the holidays, it is easy to overlook items in the home that could cause a poisoning. The Nebraska Regional Poison Center would like to offer a few tips on how to make this "the most wonderful time of the year."

· When visitors arrive for the holidays make sure to store their medications up and out of reach. You may want to store all medication in a locked box.

Current Wakefield-Allen volleyball coach, Cheryl Greve, was offered the volleyball position but turned it down.

"We're looking at possible candidates," Farup said. "Junior High athletics is a little more complicated."

During the meeting, board member Bree Brown reported that contract negotiations had been approved. The base salary for the 2020-2021 school year will be $37,490, a 3.87 percent increase. There will also be a 6.71 percent increase in healthcare and dental and 4.13 percent increase in extra duty payment. The total package for Wakefield Community Schools district will be $103,180, excluding extra duty pay.

The board approved the purchase of 40 iPads for the elementary school at a cost of $11,760. Farup requested lowering the credit requirement for health and physical education from 15 credits to 10 and requested requiring five credits of Technology course work for every Wakefield graduate. Those requests will be discussed during a special meeting at 3:45 on Monday, Jan. 6. That meeting will also serve as one of the district's American Civics curriculum meetings.

Wulf reported that for grades Kindergarten through third grade, a new report card will be sent out. Formatting the new report card to reflect assessment information took more time than was expected, so report cards for those grades weren't sent out earlier this year. Now that the new cards are ready, grades from the first semester will be sent out.

He also reported that new Social Studies textbooks have been reviewed and will hopefully be approved to be purchased during the special American Civics curriculum meeting.

The next regularly scheduled Wakefield Community Schools Board of Education meeting will be Monday, Jan. 13 at 5:30 p.m.

Connecting the Dots offered to area freshmen

Freshmen students from Wayne, Wakefield and Winside converged on the Wayne National Guard Armory for a Connecting the Dots Career simulation.

A total of 124 ninth grade students were able to participate in Connect the Dots: A Career Exploration Day. This interactive career exploration simulation program is designed to help students learn more about careers of interest as well as how to "connect the dots" through postsecondary study to the workplace.

Students attending completed a career assessment prior to coming to the event in which they indicated a priority in one of 16 career clusters. This program aligns to the Nebraska Career Education Model and allows for career explomoney in premiums.

He said that while the rural fire district's vehicles are included with the city's policy, the rural district pays their portion of the premium. Following the presentation, council members voted to approve the package at the cost of $356,694 for the coming year. A loan request of $40,000 from the LB840 Revolving Loan fund was approved for Johnnie Byrd Brewing Co. The money will be used to purchase the real estate at 121 Pearl Street and make minor improvements to the building. The purchase will include only the west portion of the building and does not include the 1912 building.

Greg Ptacek, owner of Johnnie Byrd, spoke to the council on his request for funding, the repayment terms and the interest rate for the loan. These will be based on the private bank financing.

Ptacek said one of the things he hopes to do is install air conditioning in a portion of the building.

In other action, the council accepted the membership of Sumaya Ibrahim to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. Ibrahim is a sophomore at Wayne State College.

Council members gave third reading approval to an ordinance that will amend the city code dealing with the moving of mobile homes, both within the city and into the city.

City Administrator Wes Blecke told the council there had been some updates in the language of the ordinance since the second reading, with a goal of making it easier to move mobile/modular homes within the city. The changes would also protect the home owners in the neighborhoods where these homes are located.

BJ Woehler spoke to the council, stating he was opposed to the wording in the ordinance and asked the council to stop the process of amending the ordinance until they had more time to discuss the issue.

Council members voted to move forward with plans and specifications for the Senior Center Freezer/ Pantry Storage Addition project.

Roger Protzman with JEO Consulting told the council the plans and specifications for the project are complete and it is anticipated a bid could be awarded at the Jan. 21 meeting of the council.

Council members discussed several aspects of the project, including getting bricks to match those that are currently on the building.

Resolution 2019-75 was approved. It will allow WayneNet, LLC to use city utility poles for work being done. This will involve mainly the downtown area.

Also approved was Resolution 2019-76, which authorizes an administrative service agreement with ICMA Retirement Corporation. The four-year contract comes with a reduction in fees to those who use these services.

A letter of intent will be sent to the Nebraska Department of Economic Development to apply for an award through the Community and Civic Center Financing Fund program. At this time there is no actual commitment from the city on where the funds would be used; however, discussion centered on renovation of portions of the Community Activity Center.

The Wayne City council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Jan. 7 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Street projects, repairs discussed at Wakefield City Council meeting

editor@wayneherald.com

The Wakefield City Council met for their regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Dec. 11. Curb stop shutoffs and the South Main street project were among the agenda items discussed.

A bid for $163,470.71 from A&R Construction was accepted for work on South Main. At November's meeting, the council discussed plans with Olsson to bid out South Main in December and bid out work on Michner Street in January. A&R have done work in Wakefield before, completing the levee underpass and trail. The engineer's estimate for the South Main project was $226,000, so the council will be looking in to how to use the remaining funds that have already been

Clean Diesel Rebate applications accepted through Jan. 17

The Nebraska Department of Environment and Energy's 2019 Clean Diesel Rebate Program is now accepting applications for two types of rebates – local diesel truck replacements and agricultural irrigation pump diesel engine replacements. Applications must be submitted to NDEE by Jan. 17, 2020, to be considered.

NDEE established the Nebraska Clean Diesel Program in 2008 to distribute funding received from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for the purpose of reducing diesel emissions and improving air quality in the state.

The number of rebates offered in each category listed below may be subject to change, depending on the number of applications received in each category. Rebates will be offered for:

ments - Funding will assist with the early replacement of diesel trucks with new, cleaner trucks. Trucks eligible for replacement are heavy-duty diesel refuse trucks and medium- to heavy-duty diesel trucks used in local construction, delivery, or maintenance operations. The new trucks may be powered by diesel engines or by Compressed Natural Gas (CNG) engines that comply with stricter nitrogen oxide emission standards. NDEE will reimburse 35% of the cost of a new CNG-fueled truck up to a maximum of $120,000, or 25% of the cost of a new diesel truck up to a maximum of $70,000. NDEE anticipates funding replacement of five refuse trucks and seven local construction, delivery, and maintenance trucks. Individual applicants may apply for a rebate for up to two trucks.

Agricultural Irrigation Pump Diesel Engine Replacement Funding will assist farmers with the replacement of irrigation pump diesel engines with electric equipment. Diesel engines may be replaced with an electric motor to power a surface pump or by connecting an existing submersible pump directly to the electric grid. NDEE will reimburse 60% of the cost of the electrical equipment, installation, and required electric line extension up to a maximum of $20,000. NDEE anticipates funding seventeen irrigation engine re-

Wildcat football on Academic All-American list

For the first time ever, the Wayne State football team has multiple Academic All-Americans in the same season as senior placekicker Ethan Knudson and senior defensive end Kolbie Foster were named to the 2019 Co-SIDA Academic All-America Football Team, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Knudson collected first-team honors while Foster is Wayne State's first-ever repeat Academic All-American, receiving second-team honors.

Knudson, a 6-foot-3, 185-pounder, is the first Wildcat to be named First Team Academic All-American since linebacker Luke Hoffman in 2008 and carries a 3.92 grade-point average majoring in industrial technology and con-made 12-of-14 field goals and 28-of-29 PAT kicks for the Wildcats to earn All-NSIC South Division honorable mention for the second time in his Wildcat career (2016). He was fourth in the NSIC in field goals made and seventh in kicking points and was tied with Luke Williams of Minnesota State for the fewest missed kicks in the NSIC this season (three).

Knudson became Wayne State's alltime field goal leader this season (38of-49) and finished second in career kicking points with 226.

Foster, a 6-foot-4 220-pound senior defensive end, is a Second Team Academic All-American for the second straight season and maintains a 3.82 grade-point average majoring in fam-

Wayne boys get on the right track

After a couple of tough road losses, the Wayne High boys basketball team put together a solid effort to get their first win of the year.

On Tuesday, The Blue Devils couldn't get on track offensively, dropping a 41-38 decision at Logan View/Scribner-Snyder.

Cody Rogers and Alex Phelps shared high scoring honors with eight points apiece, with Tanner Walling and Shea Sweetland each adding seven. Tyrus Eischeid scored six and Trevor Deboer put in two.

Sweetland led the team with six rebounds, while Phelps and Josh Lutt both had two assists.

Friday night, The Blue Devils tried to come back from a 14-point fourth-quarter deficit, but came up short in a 66-59 loss at Wahoo.

Sweetland had a team-high 22 points in the losing effort for Wayne. Eischeid had a double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds. Walling added nine points, Phelps had five, DeBoer scored four, Brandon Bartos

Bellar earns third-team All-American honors

Wayne State College senior middle hitter Tarrin Beller has received two more post-season honors this week.

Beller was named American Volleyball Coaches Association third-team All-American Tuesday and added Division II Conference Commissioners Association All-America Honorable Mention honors Wednesday as voted on by the College Sports Information Directors of America. Beller is the first Wildcat volleyball All-American since Alyssa Frauendorfer in 2015.

A 6-foot senior middle hitter, Bellar was the top blocker in the NSIC the last two seasons. She earned First Team All-NSIC, AVCA and D2CCA Central Region honors this season after blocks, averaging 2.90 kills and 1.24 blocks per set. Beller ranks first in the NSIC in blocks per set and is sixth in hitting percentage (.344) and was named NSIC Player of the Week twice this Beller recorded at least two blocks in all but one match this season for the Wildcats. She had 13 matches with 10 or more kills, highlighted by a career-best 18 at Augustana Oct. 31. Beller was named Most Valuable Player of the Shark II Invitational in Florida in early September after averaging 3.08 kills and 1.75 blocks per set while posting a .532 hitting percentage, helping Wayne State to a 4-0 record at the tour-

Wildcat volleyball ranked 13th to end season

Despite not making the NCAA tournament with a record better than more than one-fourth of the 64-team field, the Wayne State College volleyball team ended the 2019 season ranked 13th in the final AV-CA Div. II Top 25 coaches poll.

It marks the 11th time in the last 14 years that the Wildcats ended the year with a Top 25 national ranking after a 24-7 season and a 14-6 effort in Northern Sun Conference play.

National champion Cal State-San Bernardino and runner-up Nebraska-Kearney led the final coaches poll. Other Elite Eight teams in the final rankings included Regis at No. 4, Rockhurst at No. 7, St. Leo at No. 21 and Gannon at No. 23. Molloy and Carson-Newman, the other two members of the Elite Eight, were not listed in the final poll.

Northern Sun Conference schools in the final poll included No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 6 Minnesota No. 25 Northwest Missouri State.

Duluth, No. 8 Northern State, No. 10 St. Cloud State, No. 18 Winona State, No. 19 Upper Iowa and No. 22 Southwest Minnesota State. Concordia, Duluth, Northern and St. Cloud played in the NCAA tournament, while the other four NSIC schools were left out of the tourna-

Dogs and Christmas

By MIKE RENNING

mikesportshome@yahoo.com

I know it's a stretch to include dogs and Christmas in the same offering here, but I think you know me well enough you understand my mind tends to wander from one subject to the next - so here's a couple.

First of all, the Darling Wife/Michala's dog, Yippee will turn 122 if he makes it to February.

Now, I love a dog as much as the next fella, but he has started grunting/growling at me from the time he gets up until the time he goes to He'll growl to go outside, he'll on the bed, he'll growl to get up on the couch, he'll growl to tell me he's growling for crying out loud. I take into account his age and his previous disposition and I realize I need to cut him a little slack. Poor little fella is aging at seven years (according to Lorne Greene) for every year we're both around, but good heavens, four in the morning is not the time to "growl" at me and tell me he needs off the bed for a drink or to go outside.

I don't have to go to the bathroom antil five and sometimes 5:30.

And at four I don't need anything

The other day, I was enjoying myself at home watching a football

The Darling Wife was out shopping, which will be the second part of this scribbling. Yippee came to the couch and had just come inside so I decided to ignore his wishes. I tried to put him on the couch with me – he "growled" to get off.

I was a little upset at this time, the little bas...er fellow, was interrupting my football game and we were home alone besides Jake, the

I explained to him I had given him everything I could possibly give mas morning when you are as excithim and to leave me alone.

I think the old fella has gotten so old, he forgets when he's been fed, but far be it for me to have an opinion about it or him. I have explained in these little bits of wisdom how Yippee has made his thoughts known to the entire family when he feels he is mistreated or neglected. I left my shoes in the middle of the kitchen floor which is a no-no with the Darling Wife – but like I said she was off shopping. Well, Yippee was so disgruntled with my lack of action on his request/"growl", he walked into the kitchen and filled my shoe.

Some people would take this as an act of senility, but I considered it defiance and the little bas...fellow knew exactly what he was doing.

Now to step two.

Christmas is here and I know we have documented how I get out of Christmas shopping.

Number one, I hate it and number two, someone has to take care of Yippee right?

This all started when our kids were little and I just didn't want to fight crowds and shop - it has progressed to the point I just won't do

Now, all you ladies out there, hear me out.

I bought the Darling Wife an engagement ring back in 1984, and she loved it.

How do I match that? Jared might know how to take care of the Bachelorette, but I was not setting any precedence of jewelry at every Christmas – good grief, we had four kids to bear and take care of how do you buy diapers and change them, with rings on your fingers.

I do exactly, zero shopping - including the Darling Wife.

ed as the gift recipient to see what he/she is getting?

I know I have bought her lessthan romantic gifts like a water heater and a dishwasher – but they went out right at Christmastime.

She has also received a sectional couch, a car, a beautiful necklace (which said how much I love her), a trip to Puerto Rico, a trip to Utah, a trip to Hawaii - you have to admit these aren't bad gifts...Oh, and Jake

Not the smartest or bravest dog on the planet, but he hasn't learned to "growl" at me...or fill my shoe.

And remember, I got them all for the Darling Wife.

Unfinished business, interesting proposals on the Legislature's table next session

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Lawmakers hit the ground running when they convene the Second Session of the 106th Legislature next month. They'll have 80-some bills left over on first round debate from last session to deal with immediately.

They'll also address those old familiar topics of placement and treatment for troubled youth, a crisis in nursing home care and management and prison staffing and overcrowding. Oh yes, property taxes will likely take a bit of time to discuss as well as business incen-

But there's an interesting proposal expected – albeit one that stands a snowball's chance in hell of being approved. Speaker of the Legislature Jim Scheer of Norfolk thinks it's time to expand the nation's only one-house, nonpartisan Legislature to 55 members. That's up from the 49 - the smallest Legislature of any state – that has been in place since 1963 when it was increased from 43 to 49.

Scheer reasons that allowing the expansion would ease mandatory redistricting after the 2020 Census and would ensure that some rural districts don't grow so large that one senator can't cover the entire district. He says that constituents tend to lose contact with their senator in such large districts.

Look at Sen. Tom Brewer's District 43, which includes 12 counties and part of Box Butte County. Or Senator Steve Erdman's District 47, which includes nine counties and the other part of Box Butte County. That's a lot of land miles in the scenic Nebraska Sandhills and sprawling Panhandle areas.

These are also areas that have more cows and fence posts than people. When the redistricting criteria sets a specific number of people who must live in an area, assembling enough bodies can take some space.

Scheer says that's a disadvantage also eliminate the oft politically for senators and constituents to meet and greet that could be alleviated by more compact districts.

LEGISLATURE

It's a math thing. Divide the state population by 49 or by 55 to see how many would have to be in each dis-

It's an urban/rural thing as well. But continuing population shifts to Eastern Nebraska don't guarantee representation for smaller areas of the remainder of the state. Scheer says that rural-urban distribution wouldn't change. He also says it wouldn't increase costs much.

There's another math thing. Six new senators at $12,000 a year plus the daily per diem paid based on how far they live from the State Capitol. That's going to run into some money.

Scheer says the change would ball's chance" prediction.

charged decision on which rural district to wipe off the map so it can be moved to Douglas, Lancaster or Sarpy County. Take a look at District 49, which is now Sarpy County. That used to be nestled in between last pay raise. More money might 43 and 47 out in Box Butte County and some points west. He says it comes down to a beauty contest.

Some people are calling the idea interesting. Others are saying "no way." It would take an amendment to the Nebraska Constitution and require approval of 30 of the 49 senators to place it on the ballot and back as well. I ask, what's the point? then a vote of the people to approve

Given that a recent similar proposal to increase the number of senators to 50 never got out of committee, I'm sticking with my "snow-

In my opinion, there are two more important issues that would have a larger impact on the operations of the Legislature. Increase legislative pay and eliminate term limits. It's been years since senators had their give more people - not just the ones who can afford it - to serve.

And those term limits. Yes, they kept Ernie Chambers out for four years, but he came back and is about to complete eight years. Senator Steve Lathrop of Omaha also termed-out for four years, but is and training opportunities. The Board convened on Dec. 6 for its quarterly meeting. After discussion of Nebraska's annual report, we heard from each member in attendance about specific challenges and progress being made in the areas being served by each board member, with regard to efforts and outcomes in their specific area. The Board's purpose is to develop strategic guidelines to help communities develop and measure outcomes of local job-driven "one-stop" delivery systems, with emphasis on core programs and funding in areas dealing with youth, adult and dislocated workers. We heard about growing coordinated training opportunities, industry-specific partnerships, grants, scholarships and apprenticeship programs across various disciplines including the construction and rural healthcare industries, a growing concern for many in District 17 and throughout Nebraska. We also heard about efforts to more rapa workforce development system idly respond to unemployment

I shared some information about investment and workforce opportunities in healthcare taking place in Legislative District 17 with the opening of the surgical center in South Sioux and the new clinic in

Unfortunately, due to lack of enough trained workforce and affordable workforce housing, Wakefield's expansion project planned for Nebraska was moved to Iowa. In addition to matching employers with skilled employees, I will continue to actively participate in furthering policies for affordable workforce housing.

Exciting News for Nebraska. From the Pacific to the Atlantic Oceans, states are working to rename Highway 20 to the Medal of Honor Highway. In Nebraska, The American Legion Family has been leading the charge. Highway 20 crosses Nebraska and passes through Dakota County in Legislative District 17. In October, I joined other state senators from Legislative districts through which Highway 20 runs, in writing a letter to the Nebraska State Highway Commission in support of the name change. On Dec. 13, members of The American Legion Family presented a proposal to rename the portion of Highway 20 that extends across Nebraska. Legislative District 17 was well represented by members of American Legion District 3 at the Nebraska Highway Roads Commission meeting held in Lincoln. The Commission gave unanimous consent to the proposal and the measure has gone to the Governor for approval. Shout out to all who worked on making this hap-

The Wayne Herald – Thursday, December 19, 2019

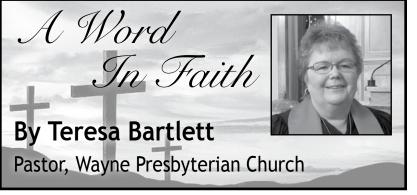

Joseph also went up from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to Judea, to Bethlehem the town of David, because he belonged to the house and line of David. He went there to register with Mary, who was pledged to be married to him and was expecting a child. While they were there, the time came for the baby to be born, and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. She wrapped him in cloths and placed him in a manger, because there was no guest room available for them. Luke 2:4-7 (NIV).

In the Christian tradition, a crèche or nativity have become synonymous for a model of the stable at Bethlehem when Christ was born.

The word crèche comes from the French word for manger which comes from the Italian word Greccio, which was the town where the first realistic manger scene was set up by St. Francis of Assisi in 1223.

Some say Greccio was an alternative stop for pilgrims wanting to go to Bethlehem, which was at the time occupied by the Turks. Before that time, many churches had built nativity scenes in which the mangers were covered with gold, silver, and jewels and didn't represent the original manger in which the Christ child was laid.

St. Francis wanted people to remember that Jesus was born in a humble stable, so he asked a farmer friend to help by bringing an ox, a donkey, a manger and some straw to a nearby cave. On Christmas Eve, St. Francis and the people of Greccio met in the cave and by candlelight, they acted out the story of Jesus' birth." A nativity can be

The unpacking of the family crèche or nativity scene is one of the most beautiful and widely accepted traditions for Christmas.

My mother has had for years with her crèche the following prayer; "Eternal God, we ask your blessing on this holy scene. May this scene be a reminder to pray throughout the Advent and Christmas season. Each time we look upon this scene may we pause to praise God for the gift of Jesus who came to save us. Mary who consented to be his mother, and Joseph who cared for his family. God, we praise you for this holy season. Bless this crèche and this home and all who dwell here.

I don't know the author or origin of the prayer, but in a season often filled to overflowing with activities, taking time to reflect on the story told by a nativity scene reminds us of the reason for our celebration. In addition, praying for deeper faith for our family and ourselves as well as for a blessing for all who view the nativity could be wonderful addition to a family tradition.

May you view each nativity you see with a new appreciation for the story it tells, and may you be blessed as you celebrate the first Christmas gift given by God. Merry Christmas to you and yours.

Advice offered for safely heating with wood

I got a start on this a couple weeks ago, but it looks like the weather is going to cooperate and give me a chance to cut and split more wood for our fireplace. We've already used our fireplace a couple times this year and it looks like the extended forecast has more normal temperatures pre-

I've heard it said that firewood is an excellent heat source, it warms you five times. First, when you cut it... second, when you split it... third, when you haul and stack it... fourth, when you burn it... and finally, when you clean up after you burn it. All joking aside, it's hard to beat the warmth of a glowing fire in the fireplace. But it's also important to remember that fireplaces and wood stoves can create a hazard in the home if they are not managed properly.

fires, according to statistics from brick, tile, flagstone or linoleum. the National Fire Protection Association. Of those deaths, 2,720 or 75 percent of them happened in residential fires... homes or apartments. Because of the risks associated with fires, it's important to understand and practice safety tips when using indoor fireplaces and woodburning stoves this win-

Put a shield around the fireplace to prevent sparks from flying out and starting a fire. Glass grates, which enclose the fireplace entirely are the most effective. Wire mesh grates, though not as impenetrable, also stop most sparks. Make sure the area surrounding the fireplace is clear of flammable items to reduce the chance of a fire in case sparks escape the fireplace. The best hearths are made of non-

In 2018, 3,655 Americans died in combustible material such as wood, maple or elm, which burns in a woodshed, unheated garage

Clean fireplaces, wood burning stoves, stove pipes and chimneys annually. Ash or creosote build-up in the flue or pipes can catch fire if the build-up has accumulated over time and the fire temperature is hot. Reduce creosote by burning big, hot fires instead of small, smoky ones that lead to build-up.

Recent advertisements promote logs you can burn in your fireplace to reduce creosote buildup. While these may reduce some kinds of creosote, they do not take the place of an annual cleaning. Hire a chimney sweep or clean the chimney flue and dampers once a year with a big brush.

Choose the type of wood you burn depending on the type of fire you want. If a fireplace is primarily for appearance, burn cotton-quickly and creates bright flames. utility building or under a sheet If the fireplace is primarily for of plastic or sheet metal roofing to heat, burn harder, heavier woods such as oak and ash. Avoid pine, cedar, or other evergreens because the wood contains more resins which contribute to creosote buildup in your chimney. They also pop and crackle a lot which can lead to sparks that escape your fireplace.

It is possible to bring insects into your home along with firewood, but it can be avoided. If wood is kept below 50 degrees, insects living in it will remain dormant. However, if taken indoors and allowed to warm up, insect activity resumes and they may emerge in the home. Emerging insects can then move out of the firewood, wander into the rest of the house and become a nuisance.

The best way to avoid this invasion is to store the wood outside in the cold until it's ready to be burned so insects don't have a chance to warm up and become house and under a cover, such as sion office.

keep it dry. Leave an air space between the wood and covering.

Do not spray firewood with insecticides. Storing wood outside until you are ready to use it will prevent insect problems indoors. It firewood insects do emerge indoors they are not likely to attack wood in the home. Simply vacuum them

One final precaution, be careful when cleaning ash from your fireplace or wood burning stove. Every winter there are cases where devastating house fires were caused by improper disposal of ash from a fireplace or wood burning stove. Make sure there are no hot embers in the ash. Let it completely cool before removing it and then store it in a metal pail or container. Never dump it in with your regular trash.

Seventy-five years ago, our Allied troops were fighting the Battle of the Bulge! And freezing! Sometimes, I still wonder how they ever won that war; by sheer stubbornness, I guess. I'm eternally grateful they did.

Choose proper equipment for safe, comfortable ice-fishing

Ice-fishing can be a great way to beat cabin fever and it can be one of the best times of the year to catch fish. However, to take advantage of ice-fishing opportunities, some gear is essential to make the experience safe, comfortable and productive.

Never venture onto the ice until it is certain that the ice is a safe thickness that means 4 inches of new, clear ice. Darvl Bauer, fisheries outreach program manager for the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, has the following recommendations for essential icefishing equipment:

Clothing - Many boots are available that have removable liners that are rated for temperatures well below zero. Spend as much monev as vou can afford on a good pair of boots because you will be standing on the ice.

The key to staying warm is layering. Begin with a base layer of silk or synthetic underwear and add layers. Wool garments provide excellent insulation and will maintain warmth even when damp. Outer layers may include sweat shirts and jackets covered by heavy parkas, bibs or coveralls. Carry at least a couple pairs of gloves or mittens. Remove layers during periods of activity to avoid sweating and add layers back on during periods of inactiv-

Safety – The best tool for checking ice thickness is an ice chisel or spud bar that may be used to strike the ice and evaluate conditions. Commercial or homemade ice picks should be worn around your neck in case the worst happens and you need something to grip the ice and pull yourself out of the water. Ice creepers or ice cleats are great for keeping you on your feet. Wearing a life jacket is a good idea until you are sure the ice is safe. All ice anglers should have a long piece of rope in case of emergency. Ice holes – A spud bar may be used to make holes in the ice, but ice augers make the job easier. Hand augers are relatively inexpensive and would be the best investment for beginning ice anglers. Once a person is ready to make a greater investment, powered augers make the job even easier. An ice skimmer is essential for scooping ice chunks from holes.

Rods and reels, hooks and bait – Beginners may use their open-water fishing rods and reels. Specialized, shorter, ice fishing rods allow anglers to sit closer to their ice holes while they are fishing. There are a variety of ice-fishing rods on the market, or anglers can manufacture their own using broken open-water rods.

Think small and light for most icefishing tackle. Fish metabolism rates are slower during the winter so light lines with relatively small hooks, jigs or spoons tipped with wax worms or maggots are the best ice-fishing tools for most species of fish.

Borrow a child's sled to haul your equipment onto the ice. Use heavier lines and larger baits for pike and other large predator fish.

Farmer's Wife By: Pat Meierhenry

Every year in December, Concordia University in Seward does a Christmas performance at St. John's Church across the street from the campus; it's called Christmas at Concordia. Cattle National Bank sponsors it. (That's the last name of the founders, it does not pertain to cattle.)

The tickets are free, and it's become so popular, it's hard to come by them. There is a performance on Friday eve, again at a matinee on Saturday and that evening, and played when that person pulls out at 3 p.m. on Sunday. I'm told that folks stand in line outside that bank on the day the tickets are available. Or, if you try to call the bank to reserve them, you are usually on hold for a very long time.

The Big Farmer and I managed to attend this event several years ago, and were treated to a German dinner in the dining hall of the college after. But I have not even tried to get tickets lately. My cousin and her husband always go; somehow, they always manage to snag a couple of those tickets.

Would you believe, early in the week before the busy weekend, he emailed to ask if I would like to go to Christmas at Concordia on Sunday afternoon because he had extra ones. He did not have to ask twice. They even picked me up; early because he wanted to get a good seat. We arrived at 2 and there was already a line forming in the hall outside of the sanctuary.

It was well worth waiting for, believe me. We were treated to the mixed choir, the men's choir, the band, the bell choir and plenty of lars. And it's such a treat to hear it lopes! Greetings to all of you!

all the stops and pedals!

We also marveled at the synchrony; when one group finished, the next one was on the way to the front. There were all the traditional carols, plus some in Latin, etc. The afternoon ended with "Joy to the World;" you haven't lived until you've heard a bunch of Lutherans singing accompanied by an organ and a band and a choir! It gave me goose bumps; that is my requisite; if it gives me goose bumps, it's great!

My other seasonal offerings included the Lincoln Lutheran Choir production of Advent songs, and the Beatrice Community Playhouse doing a Christmas play called "Greetings." It involves a guy who grew up in a Catholic home whose father reminds you of Archie Bunker bringing home a girl friend who happens to be a non-practicing Jew. But there's more to that story than the typical conflicts.

With all this running around, I'm still doing Christmas letters. If you haven't received yours yet, please know that it's in the mail. And this year, I hope, I did put the letter keyboard. Bio-Mos: Preventing Scours and Promoting Year-Around Health

Most of us have heard about Bio-Mos, but do you know the multiple purposes it can serve to your animal? Bio-Mos is an Alltech technology that is a multi-species feed supplement used to support gut integrity and overall animal performance at any stage of production. This unique product has features that promote good bacteria and enhance gut health to maximize feed utilization and builds natural defenses. Bio-Mos is derived from a selected strain of Saccharomyces cerevisiae yeast using a proprietary process developed by Alltech. Alltech states this product has had market presence for more than 20 years and is supported by over 734 trials and 114 peer-reviewed publications. Studies have shown the leading causes of calf death are due to scours, pneumonia, and a small amount of unknown issues, with scours being over 60%. A USDA: APHIS Dairy study in 96 stated that 62% of all calf deaths occur by 21 days of age. The leading causes of scours are nutrition issues, unfavorable weather, and overcrowding of animals. Signs of scours are runny stools that are yellow, brown, green, or gray in color with some even containing small flecks of blood. Moving those older calves out to other areas during calving and separating sick calves are good management practices to avoid spreading scours. Just like us, our cattle have billions of good and bad bacteria in their intestinal tract and if the bad bacteria overtakes the good bacteria, health is affected, and more than likely, antibiotics are needed. The disadvantage to this is that the antibiotics can kill to good bacteria along with the bad. Bio-Mos is able to support the good bacteria and natural defenses to achieve optimum gut health. How soon to calving time should Bio-Mos be added to a cow's program? 2-4 weeks prior to calving is a great time to start and continue to supplement until the calf is at least 45 days old. Bio-Mos supplementation prior to calving has shown to improve colostrum quality. Bio-Mos can be added to a mineral supplement or fed as a top dress in a TMR. Besides calving, supplementation of Bio-Mos in preconditioning rations promotes a healthy gut supporting overall animal performance, and improved gut health to help increase nutrient absorption, resulting in more efficient feed conversions.
