Board of education listens to options for coming school year

By Clara Osten

Considerable time was spent discussing what the coming school year may look like and how the Wayne school district is preparing for possible scenarios regarding the education of students.

This was just one of the topics discussed during an in-person meeting of the Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education on Monday at the Wayne Elementary School.

Superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan listed a number of options for education of students during the 2020-2021 school year.

"The coming year is going to look different than in the past and we will have to adapt to being flexible. We will have to face challenges," he said.

Listed as priorities in the coming year were the safety and health of students and staff, the social and emotional well-being of the students, the need to have Pre-K through fourth grade students in school the maximum amount of time and allowing Special Education and English Language (EL) students to receive direct services.

In addition, Lenihan said remote learning will have accountability and activities will occur to the extent possible within the health department and Nebraska School Activities Association guidelines.

Lenihan shared three possible options for school to take place in the coming year.

These include having students in school with regular attendance, a hybrid of remote and in-person attendance with staggered start times and remote learning with students and staff at home.

Meetings within the district are continuing on a regular basis and decisions will be made as information becomes available.

In regard to the rest of the summer, Lenihan told the board that summer school will be held during a four-week session and the moratorium for activities will be held earlier than originally planned. The tentative dates would be in the Fourth of July time frame. Voluntary conditioning is taking place with Tim Ellis monitoring those using the weight room area.

Graduation plans continue to move forward with the ceremony set for Saturday, Aug. 1 at 10 a.m. in the Wayne State College Willow Bowl. Health Department guidelines will be followed. In case of inclement weather, the event will be held in the Wayne High School gym.

Wayne Community Schools superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan discussed both what the rest of the summer and first semester of the 2020-2021 school year may look like during Wayne's Board of Education meeting Monday night.

A related agenda item involved how to pay staff members for extra-duty activities in the event these activities are not held during the coming school year. Several options were discussed; however, no decision was made and additional details will be worked out in the coming weeks.

During the public presentation portion of the meeting Food Service Manager Judy Poehlman presented information on the district's Wellness Policy. She explained the "I Did a Lap" program that is based on individual activity. She noted that she hopes to continue the activities in the coming year. A plan has been put together to have a specific activity for each month.

Lenihan shared information on the district's multi-cultural activities. He listed a number of multi-cultural programs that took place during the school year and noted there would have been more, had the year finished in normal fashion.

These included activities for black, Hispanic/Latino, American Indian, Asian and Pacific Islander cultures.

"Our role as a district is to educate our students on being kind and respectful with an appreciation for diversity. It is important for us to listen," Lenihan said.

In other action, the board approved lunch and milk prices for the coming year. Lunch prices for students will remain the same for the coming year with possible adjustments to the adult prices. The bid for milk and milk products was accepted from Deans' Foods.

2020 Wayne Aquatic Center season not sunk yet

When DHMs started to loosen at the end of May, municipalities across the state began to make some tough decisions, one of which was what to do with public pools. COVID-19 or not, Wayne's Aquatic Center needed some care before opening. With work complete the pool in Wayne may open this year as early as Saturday, June 27.

Even before the coronavirus pandemic began, the City of Wayne was aware the Aquatic Center was going to need a little TLC before the start of the season, according to Wayne City Administrator, Wes Blecke.

"The engineer saw that there was some water loss in and around the gutter line, so they investigated that a little more carefully and suggested that we do some extra caulking on there," Blecke said.

A company came in to apply a heavy-duty commercial pool caulking in the area. Additionally, the pool's deep end was causing concern because it was discovered it's sitting lower than it was when it was poured in 2016.

"The concern there is what's going on. Is it the deep end actually sinking somewhat? Is the shallow end heaving? So they've been doing some tests and some measurements on that and hopefully we will know once we fill a pool to see if it's if the weight of the water is causing any issues or if it's stabilizing," Blecke said.

Before the pool could open, repairs needed to be finished, the pool needed to be filled and heaters, which have been malfunctioning in previous summers, needed to be worked on. Initially, pool work was supposed to be finished by May 15, but like many things, was delayed partially by the COVID-19 situation. Luckily, work was completed on the gutters June 5, and pool manager Terran Sievers will be able to start filling the pool in the next week.

Blecke said once it's full and the heaters can begin to work, training for the 16 Wayne Aquatic Center lifeguards will begin.

"We have a handful of new lifeguards so they would have to be trained first. That's going to happen hopefully next week, and training is scheduled through the 23rd, at this point," Blecke said. That's why we said we think the 27th is the earliest we can open."

With repairs aside, there's still the issue of social distancing and operating under the new DHMs released by Gov. Ricketts for June. At the time of print, Blecke said the City still doesn't have every detail worked out, but Sievers will present the pools plan with room for comment at the June 16 Wayne City Council meeting. Even with so many questions in the air, what we do know is that the pool can accommodate 75 swimmers at one time under the current DHM. Swimmers will most likely sign up for allotted times, some sort of swimming lessons will most likely be available and there will be a waiver swimmers will need to sign the first time they use the pool. Like everything during this pandemic, the situation can change from day to day so Blecke is asking for patience from the public.

"It's all really evolving and you never know when the governor is going to come out with different health directive," Blecke said. "Be patient with us, it's no fun when you got to come in and sign your waiver and we're going to make a parent be there the first time that that underage kid comes through just because we need to make sure that we're aware of the risks associated with swimming. It's for your protection as well as ours on the liability standpoint, so just be patient."

Wayne pool manager Terran Sievers and staff have been busy prepping the pool to be filled after work was completed on June 5. City administrator Wes Blecke says the pool could open as early as June 27.

Wayne Volunteer Fire Department respond to fire

Wayne Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire 8 1/4 miles south of Wayne off Highway 15 on the afternoon of June 3.

The call was received just before 3 p.m. and firefighters were on scene until approximately 5 p.m.

W.W. Galore's larger space offers more room for Northeast Nebraska makers

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

After a visit to a large decor and vintage boutique in Sioux Falls, W.W. Galore owner Jamie Anderson told her husband she wished she had more space in her Wakefield store. Like the vendor in Sioux Falls, Anderson's shop carried an assortment of hand-crafted, vintage and refurbished items including home decor, yard signs, cosmetic goods and more, but space was an issue.

"My husband and I were chatting about it and I couldn't figure out a way to do it in Wakefield," Anderson said. "First of all, there just wasn't the space. Second of all, there wasn't enough foot traffic to justify charging people booth rent."

That's when her husband told her about a space for rent in downtown Wayne. Initially, Anderson said she was hesitant to jump in to a store move.

"It took me a couple weeks, but I called (the landlord). I spent a long time just looking, just standing here and just looking at it and all these things were going through my head and it's a little more than I'm doing now, but could be a big improvement," Anderson said.

After more consideration, Anderson closed her shop in Wakefield in January in preparation for the move to a much larger space, allowing her to offer more room to local artisan vendors.

"I spent the last six months working on things for here, working on custom projects. I kept myself busy, plus spent a little time at home because I knew that once I opened I wasn't at home very much," Anderson said.

W.W. Galore's new location in Wayne opened on May 31, and not only does the store now have nearly 50 vendors, all from Northeast Nebraska or the Siouxland area, eventually, Anderson will add more of her own work as well. The extra space at 301 Main Street allows her to offer unique booth space for crafters and makers to show off their work.

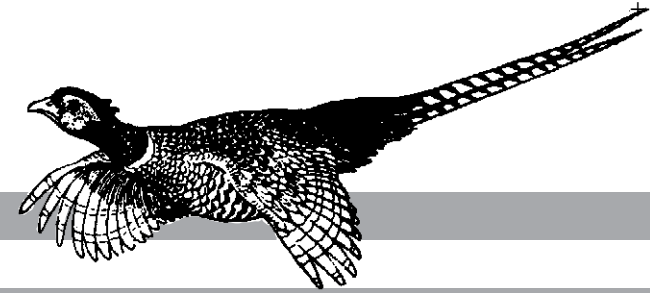

"I have a few loyal vendors from over in Wakefield, but the booth rental exploded once I showed the pictures of the window walls and people could kind of visualize it," Anderson said. "They come here and see it

Nebraska state colleges lower online rate, offer opportunities for degree completion

Chadron State, Peru State and Wayne State Colleges are lowering their online rate to $299 per credit hour and creating avenues to assist working students in completing their degrees.

The cost of a four-year degree and changes in personal circumstances can impede a student's educational goals. The Nebraska State Colleges are creating solutions to get students back on track to complete their college degrees.

"Affordability and accessibility are core pillars of the State Colleges," said Dr. Paul Turman, Chancellor of the Nebraska State College System (NSCS). "Our students come from a variety of different backgrounds and experiences and often balance competing work and family commitments making earning their degree challenging. That is why Chadron, Peru, and Wayne State College are removing as many barriers as possible to enable students to complete their degrees."

The State Colleges will lower their undergraduate online rate for the 2020-21 academic year to $299 per credit hour, making it the best education value in Nebraska. The rate is a flat cost per credit hour and does not require any additional fees. The new online rate is pending Board approval at the June 16 meeting of the NSCS Board of Trustees.

The State Colleges' degree completion program offers a flexible and fully online pathway for anyone who would like to complete an unfinished four-year degree including a Bachelor of Applied Science (BAS) degree program. Chadron, Peru, and Wayne State College will consider a variety of experiences for credit toward completion of a degree. The program is designed for:

- Substantial career experience of adult learners;
- Experience earned as veterans and members of the armed forces
- Up to 66 credit hours from accredited community colleges including special consideration for stu-

NENCAP Immunization Program continues despite COVID-19

Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership reminds the public of the importance of routine vaccination. The decline in routine vaccinations raises concern for two reasons, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the drop in coverage rates increases vulnerability to disease outbreaks, putting children at risk, and the lack of routine care at pediatric offices could erode our healthcare infrastructure in the long term.

it's important to remain vigilant, there have been high coverage rates and low disease rates for many years for a reason: there is a strong system in place to ensure on-time vaccination of children aged zero to 18, including the federal Vaccines for Children program.

NENCAP Immunization Program is open for appointments only. Locations for appointments include Pender, Norfolk, and South Sioux City. For immunizations call (402) 385-6300 (Pender), (402) 844-4422 (Norfolk), or (402) 494-1429 (South Sioux City). NENCAP accept uninsured, under-insured, Medicaid and private insurance. No one will be denied immunization for inability to pay.

and I've had only a couple people come in here and look at it and not just instantly take a booth, just because it's just really a beautiful fun way to (sell their merchandise)."

Anderson said one of the best things about W.W. Galore is that the inventory will always be changing with new seasons, new vendors and new items from vendors that come back. She also said she's proud to offer such a variety of handmade goods.

"For me, the handmade is just nicer in every way. It's better quality, it's better made, it's prettier, it's more unique," she said. "If you want a unique gift for someone, handmade is the way to go. It shows that you put some thought and effort into it. Supporting local is a big passion of mine. Everything in the store supports a family in this area, whether that's Wayne, Wakefield, Wisner, Ponca - everything in here (is made locally)."

Those interested in renting space in W.W. Galore can contact Anderson at (402) 660-3607. She said the best way to see if a vendor is interested in selling through her is to stop in to the shop.

"I prefer that they come in and look around at the space so I can show them the different types of booths I have and explain the concept and show that we're not going to have the traditional flea market shelving or metal shelves, I want it to be unique I want to be custom to their product," Anderson said.

W.W. Galore is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. and 12-4 p.m. on Sundays. For more information, find W.W. Galore on Facebook.

Conley announces resignation, first semester learning mapped out at Wakefield Community Schools Board of Education meeting

By Sarah Lentz
editor@wayneherald.com

Wakefield's school board met June 8 in person for the first time since March. At the meeting, board member Arianne Conley announced her resignation from the board, bids were heard, and a senior was presented his diploma.

The meeting began with high school principal Matt Farup and school board president Bree Brown presenting senior Dawson Samuelson with his diploma. It was also noted that Samuelson was a three sport participant for all four years of his schooling.

During the meeting, Wakefield Community Schools' Outstanding Secondary CTE Program Award was read out. The school's commitment to CTE, or Career and Technical Education, classes won it the award this year. Wakefield offers 21 CTE courses and offer a number of extracurricular activities like FCCLA, FBLA and Skills USA that encourage CTE education.

During reports, both elementary principal, Jerad Wulf and Farup laid out preliminary plans for the start of the 2020-2021 school year.

At the May school board meeting, the board approved a $234,892 to purchase, replace and repair technology for the district. Both principals and superintendent Dr. Mike Moody told the board that through the remote learning process due to COVID-19, Wakefield Community Schools has been shown that from a technology and communication standpoint, they had to do better. Farup and Wulf told the board they were both working on online learning environments so that teachers and students and their parents can know what's being done in the classroom, even if that classroom happens to be at home. The elementary teachers will all be trained on Google Classroom while the high school staff will be utilizing Canvas to update assignments and learning opportunities.

Moody, asked the board to approve expanding school nurse Angie Borg's position from 0.6 FTE to 1.0 FTE for the next school year.

"Our biggest concern with coming back after a pandemic is safety," Moody said. "This will help."

Moody said Borg expressed interest in working five days a week and told Moody that if the school decides at a later date that she's not needed all five days, she'd drop back down to a few days a week. The board unanimously approved.

The board approved a proposal and feasibility study from Carlson West Pavondra for the school's Bus Barn and paint booth.

Also approved was a milk contract with Hiland Dairy. A number of kitchen items were also approved for surplus auction.

At the end of the meeting, Conley announced she and her family were moving to Sioux City, Iowa. As a result she will resign her position after the July meeting.

"It's been quite a journey but I will treasure creating those relationships," she told the other board members.

The next Wakefield Community Schools Board of Education meeting will be held on Monday, July 13 at 5:30 p.m.

Girl Scouts goes virtual

With social distancing still in place, girls are experiencing significant changes in their routines – disruptions that can make them feel disconnected. With that in mind, Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska is shifting its programming online.

Girl Scouts at Home offers a collection of virtual experiences, activities, and challenges designed to give girls something familiar and fun to do and to keep them connected to Girl Scouts. There are also free resources for families and troop leaders.

The activities align with the Girl Scout Leadership Experience pillars (STEM, outdoors, life skills, and entrepreneurship). Examples include horse lessons with Dusty Trails of North Platte, virtual campouts, yoga, sing-alongs, interviews with women entrepreneurs, science experiments, and nature and conservation projects. Programs are offered at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. every weekday on Facebook, and past events can be viewed on YouTube. Calendar listings can be found at GirlScoutsNebraska.org/programs.

To ensure all girls can participate – and to give non-members a taste of what Girl Scouts is about – membership is not required to participate in Girl Scouts at Home programs.

For families interested in learning more about Girl Scouts, Spirit of Nebraska is hosting online informational open houses for parents. Free virtual troop meetings are being offered for girls interested in giving Girl Scouts a try.

Open houses for parents are at 7 p.m. Thursdays. Meetings for girls in kindergarten through third grade are at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, and meetings for fourth and fifth graders are at 7 p.m. CDT Mondays. Families can learn more and register for these opportunities at GirlScoutsNebraska.org/discovers.

The Girl Scout Leadership Experience is a one-of-a-kind leadership development program with proven results. It is based on time-tested methods and research-based activities that empower girls to take the lead in their own lives and in the world.

Families are invited to engage in Girl Scouts at Home by visiting GirlScoutsNebraska.org/GirlScoutsAtHome ary student handbook and the Kids Club handbook were approved on second reading.

First reading of a number of board policies was also held. These updates include items such as extracurricular activity discipline, search and seizures, student fees and return to learn protocol.

A bid of $8,450 was accepted from Jorgensen Concrete & Construction for the removal of several sections of concrete in the parking lot west of the high school and near the storm drain in the southwest corner of the parking lot. It is anticipated the work will be completed in the near future.

Board members spent considerable time discussing the parking lot south of the high school and possible plans to make it safer.

Jordan Widner, director of maintenance, has gotten quotes for paving the area. It was determined that paving the area would require first having a survey of the area completed and an architectural and civil engineering plan.

A second option for the parking lot would be to repair the areas of most concern and put rock on the lot.

No action was taken on either option.

Board members shared concerns about spending a large sum of money on the parking lot without having a plan for future use of the area.

Prior to the start of the regular meeting, a hearing was held on the district's American Civics activities. Lenihan detailed to the board what the district does in regarding to civics teachings in the classrooms. He said a form is sent to each teacher asking for information on what activities take place in the classroom for Martin Luther King Day, President's Day, Constitution Day, Native American Heritage Day, Veterans Day and Memorial Day.

The Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, July 13 at 5 p.m.

Northeast Community College to begin fall semester early in order to end by Thanksgiving

Northeast Community College will begin the Fall 2020 semester a week early in order to end instruction by Thanksgiving. Classes will now begin on Monday, Aug. 17, and conclude on Wednesday, Nov. 25.

Many colleges and universities around the country, including others in Nebraska, have decided to start earlier in the fall and wrap up their semester by Thanksgiving. The adjusted schedule is designed to reduce the risk of any health hazards associated with COVID-19 due to travel.

Dr. Michele Gill, interim vice president of educational services, said the change in the start and end of the semester is designed to ensure the delivery of a quality educational experience for Northeast students.

"These changes are being implemented for everyone's safety as we deal with challenges of COVID-19. Change is not easy as it often asks us to pivot quickly, but we know that our faculty all are up to the task," Gill said. "I would like to thank every one of our instructors for their willingness to design their courses with adaptation in mind for the coming term."

Instructors will work with their colleagues and academic deans to develop the appropriate social distancing and classroom safety protocols when close contact is required due to the nature of the skill being taught. Gill said changes in delivery of instruction will include moving from many traditional face-to-face classes to more online and synchronous online (virtual) classes, as well as reduced numbers of students and social distancing protocols in limited face-to-face classes.

"If a cohort of students is exposed to COVID-19 and require quarantine to suppress the spread, the adjustment in the schedule allows time between Thanksgiving and the winter holidays to complete the term," Gill said.

The new beginning date, which is one week earlier than originally scheduled, is designed to help minimize any spread of COVID-19 during the peak flu season, said President

Dr. Leah Barrett.

"We need to be proactive and take steps that are necessary should there be a second wave of the virus, which some health experts predict could occur this fall," Barrett said. "This is one of many ways we can reduce the risk to our faculty, staff and students. By ending at Thanksgiving, students won't come back en masse for finals, which could help curtail any potential spread of the virus."

In order for the longer break after Thanksgiving, Northeast Community College students will have classes on Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 7, and Fall Break on Monday, Oct. 19, will be canceled.

Barner named Penn Mutual Coach of the Month

Darrin Barner, head coach of Wayne State College Men's and Women's Rugby Clubs has been selected as the Penn Mutual Coach of the Month for May.

According to a release from National Collegiate Rugby, "looking at the wins and losses at the seasons end can paint a picture of a coach's understanding of strategy and structure. What it does not always capture is the impact of the coach beyond the X's and O's, usually. In the case of Coach Barner the impressive trophy cabinet speaks to his technical ability to teach a high standard of play, but more so it is testimony to his capacity to reach and connect with student athletes who have often never played the game and generate a love for the game like few others can."

The release cited Barner's countless hours and commitment to his teams both during the season and off-season, as the secret to his success including 11 championships for the women's side.

"They see him as a student of the game with a passion for lifelong learning who shares responsibilities based on trust with his captains. But more than anything his players see him not only as coach but a life changer," the announcement said.

Do you know your movement vital signs?

By Karen Longe, MPT, DPT
KEL Physical Therapy & Wellness

Most people think of heart rate or blood pressure when they think of vital signs. It is common to use numbers to quantify health and risk of disease. The American Heart Association encourages people to "know their numbers" referring to blood pressure, blood cholesterol, blood glucose and weight. However, research is now showing the importance of moving properly for health. Let's take a look at some of the numbers you can use to quantify your movement health:

Walking Speed
Walking speed has been called the "sixth vital sign" in medical literature recently. It is easy to measure, and takes into account strength, balance, coordination, confidence, cardiovascular fitness, tolerance to activity, and a whole host of other factors. It has also been shown to be predictive of future hospitalizations, functional decline, and overall mortality. Normal walking speed is considered to be 1.2 to 1.4 meters per second.

Push Ups
Push ups are popular to build strength, but a recent study found that they can show us a lot about your heart too. Researchers found that men who could do 40 or more consecutive push ups were at a 96% lower risk for cardiovascular disease than were men who could do less than 10. The push up test was also more useful in predicting future cardiovascular disease than aerobic capacity measured on a treadmill.

Grip Strength
Hand grip strength has been shown to be strongly correlated with health. The stronger your hand grip is, the less likely you are to suffer from cardiovascular disease, respiratory disease, COPD, and all types of cancer. In the study, muscle weakness was defined as grip strength <26 kg for men and <16 kg for women. Grip strength below these numbers was highly correlated with an increase in disease.

Standing From the Floor
If you can't easily get down on the floor and back up your health might be in trouble, according to a study that looked at more than 2,000 people. The study asked people to go from standing to sitting on the floor

Mikey C Productions donates $1,000 to Haven House

A springtime fundraising project by Mikey C Productions to raise local awareness on sexual assault and domestic violence netted $1,000 for Haven House Family Services Center.

The project was put together by Michael Carnes, president of Mikey C Productions LLC, and Mary Vanderbeek, MCP Creative Director, and was initially intended to be conducted during April, which is Sexual Assault Awareness Month. "When the COVID-19 pandemic hit, it pretty much knocked out our entire schedule of events to cover for high school sports and other community events, so we really needed something to do to keep us active and involved in the community," Carnes said. "Mary had noticed some other photographers in other towns doing a 'front porch picture' package for their clients, and we had been looking for an idea to help support Haven House, so it worked out perfectly." Mikey C Productions thanks the families who were involved in the project, which raised $1,000 to help Haven House Family Services Center to continue doing their work to help survivors of sexual assault and domestic violence. "It's something that hits close to home for both Mary and I, and we're happy to be able to support Haven House in its efforts to help those dealing with those who are in need," Carnes said.

Legislative Update

COVID-19 recovery may take a team effort

This past week was one of some good news for the nation and for Nebraska, even in the midst of civil unrest. Riots and civil unrest dominated the media, mostly drowning out the good news that as the economy in many states begins to reopen, jobless claims are down and there is reason for optimism as we emerge from the limitations of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

The protests in Lincoln turned to violent and destructive riots, resulting in property damage to businesses including some broken windows at the Capitol. Calm has been restored in the city and damages are being repaired. There was no damage that will negatively affect the planned return of your legislature on July 20.

While there were protests in many cities throughout the United States, District 17 and most rural areas of Nebraska were largely peaceful, working to stay healthy during the pandemic and starting to re-open businesses that are important to our economy and our quality of life.

Dakota County began Phase 1 reopening under loosened limitations, while Thurston and Wayne Counties began Phase 2. You can find more information on the reopening guidelines for District 17 counties in my May 22 Weekly Update at my legislative webpage: news.legislature.ne.gov/dist17/

On the economic front, we have seen the USDA work alongside the State of Nebraska to begin bringing much needed relief to the agricultural community and, as counties begin to open up under loosened restrictions, we have seen optimistic signs as people return to work.

The jobless claims rate came in unexpectedly low this past week and 2.5 million jobs were added during the month of May. The national unemployment rate fell from 14.7 percent to 13.3 percent. Nebraska unemployment figures for May are not yet available but, while Nebraska's April unemployment rate rose to a historical high of 8.3 percent, it fared far better than the national rate of 14.7 percent.

Here in Nebraska, economist Ernie Goss, PhD continues to analyze and give updated numbers as they are released every Thursday. In a recent Platte Institute webinar featuring Dr. Goss, he analyzed the latest numbers. Manufacturing in Nebraska is on the rise, but the service industries were hit harder, and the agricultural sector hit the hardest by the economic shutdown resulting from COVID-19 concerns. Dr. Goss estimates that the fiscal impact to Nebraska from March 14 to May 5, 2020 is $80 million. However, this figure does not take into account relief brought by the CARES Act.

Dr. Goss said he expects Nebraska hit the peak of unemployment mid-May. He expects a rebound in the stock market and, although optimistic about recovery, does project that it will take longer than originally hoped.

As I studied the video and analysis, I was pleased to hear the experts say that although this may be the most severe recession we have experienced, it should also be the shortest in duration.

The legislature must take a leadership role in the recovery process. I do not believe any of us are surprised at Dr. Goss' prediction that the State will need to tap into its reserves to make up for the decline in revenue brought about by COVID-19. As your representatives, we must focus on reducing property tax burden and concentrate providing a regulatory environment that facilitates business start-ups and growth.

We will not know the total impact to the reserve funds until we know the revenue from income tax. Those figures will not be available until after the delayed filing deadline of July 15. The Governor and Chair of the Executive Committee have called for a special meeting of the Economic Forecasting Advisory Board on July 23 to consider the impact of COVID-19 and to review and revise the forecast of net general fund tax receipts for the remainder of the biennium accordingly.

The key to successful recovery is unified purpose and shared sacrifice at both the State and local levels. The Legislature, along with local government entities, including our

K-12 and secondary education providers must work together to reduce the tax burden on already stressed property owners, businesses and agricultural producers by restructuring the property tax system.

We have already seen plans to rein in spending by the University of Nebraska and Creighton University. We also need local school districts, specifically the larger districts in Lincoln and Omaha, to step up and support property tax reform that allows flexibility in property valuations and that reduces school districts' reliance on property taxes.

So far, Senators representing the largest school districts have made a concentrated effort to stall that reform by use of filibuster. These districts continue to have higher property taxes than most of Nebraska, while also receiving the largest amount of supplemental state funding under the current formula. As I have noted in prior newsletters, the current property tax reduction proposal (LB1106) would decrease the schools' reliance on property taxes while increasing state aid and provide per pupil state aid funding equally to school districts across the state.

This approach would reduce the burden to individual, business, and agricultural property owners. It is time that these large school districts release the senators representing their districts to do the right thing for all of Nebraska by joining with senators who have been working tirelessly to bring balanced tax relief to all taxpayers across the state.

As always, I invite you to let me know your thoughts, ideas, concerns, or suggestions by contacting me at jalbrecht@leg.ne.gov or by calling my office at (402) 471-2716.

Northeast Nebraska region awarded federal funds for emergency food, shelter programs

Northeast Nebraska Region has been awarded federal funds made available through the Department of Homeland Security (DHS)/Federal Emergency Management Agency under the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program.

Northeast Nebraska region has been chosen to receive $20,000 under Phase 37 and $20,000 under the CARES Act to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the county.

The selection was made by a national board that is chaired by the U. S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency and consists of representatives from American Red Cross; Catholic Charities, USA; National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA; The Jewish Federations of North America, The Salvation Army; and, United Way Worldwide.

The local board is charged to distribute funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country. A local board made up of the mayor, United Way, et al. will determine how the funds awarded to Northeast Nebraska Region are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service agencies in the area. The local board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds made available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private voluntary non-profits or units of government, 2) be eligible to receive Federal funds, 3) have an accounting system, 4) practice nondiscrimination, 5) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 6) if they are a private voluntary organization, have a voluntary board. Qualifying agencies are urged to apply.

Northeast Nebraska Region has previously distributed Emergency Food and Shelter funds. Agencies receiving funding during Phase 36 were responsible for providing rental and utility assistance, as well as meals and shelter services to homeless person and victims of domestic violence.

Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds must contact Krista Heineman at (402) 385-6300 ext 276 for an application. The deadline for applications to be received is no later than 4:30 p.m. on Thursday June 19.

Free fans, cooling assistance programs available to some Nebraskans

With summer on the horizon, the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) is again distributing free fans and offering other cooling assistance programs through the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

DHHS has partnered with organizations to distribute fans purchased with federal funds to Nebraskans in need. A list of fan distribution locations can be found on the DHHS website. There is a fan distribution location in Pender, the Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership office at 603 Earl Street To be eligible for a fan, households must have an active LIHEAP case. Households can assist the partner organization in the eligibility determination by providing the LIHEAP approval notice of action.

In 2019, partner organizations purchased 3,863 fans for distribution across the state, up from 3,321 in 2018. Due to COVID-19, there will be fewer distribution locations than in previous years. Those looking to participate in the program should call their nearest community partner provider first to see what policies that provider has put in place for safe distribution during the pandemic.

NDA director Wellman comments on dicamba ruling

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit issued a ruling on June 3 that vacated U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) registrations for three dicamba herbicides (Xtendimax, FeXapan and Engenia).

It is anticipated that the EPA will seek some type of further review, and possibly under emergency circumstances. Therefore, until such legal process is concluded, the Nebraska

Department of Agriculture will continue to allow utilization.

"The Nebraska Department of Agriculture has not issued a stop sale order and will enforce the sales and applications of these products as they are currently registered in Nebraska," said Director Steve Wellman.

Reflecting on the week's events

I can't believe the year is almost half over! When you don't have any events to mark off on the calendar, the days all seem much alike. We've had some welcome rain, and today, it was HOT!!

About once a week now, on a nice day, our neighborhood has an "Attitude Adjustment Hour" under the pines, in the cul-de-sac. We each bring our own lawn chair and our own liquid refreshment; it's just good to see some familiar faces and catch up on their lives, even though they, too, have not had much excitement.

One fellow actually bought a new car; and was extolling all its features last week; all kinds of bells and whistles. They kind of scare me off; I'm not sure I could learn them all. He's older than I am, but still plays basketball almost every morning.

Since our Ford Escape is now twelve years old, and has 128,000 miles on it, I think we will just hang onto it. For some reason, that outfit who wants to sell us an extended service agreement still sends a letter every so often; or sometimes, they call.

We've also had a couple calls lately that said our Social Security card had been compromised. I'm totally suspicious of anything like that. So, when we received a debit card in the mail that was mailed from a card service, I almost threw it away. Something told me to hang onto it, and sure enough, it's for real.

Obviously, what happened in Minneapolis was awful! And we can't blame folks for being upset. And we cherish our First Amendment rights in this country. But those rights do not give us the right to loot and destroy. There always seems to be some who will take advantage of the unrest.

I have a hunch that all the weeks of shelter in place have led to the explosions. And now, there is concern about the spread of the virus in those close quarters. I commented to the Big Farmer when I saw how tired our mayor appeared this afternoon, that I'm sure when she ran for office, she never dreamed she would be simultaneously dealing with a pandemic and riots. She needs our prayers, as do all the personnel charged with trying to control the crowds, and all our leaders, and all those who are protesting.

Please let it end soon, both the quarantine, and the protests.

Tips to prepare for the summer heat

By Erin Laborie, Extension Educator

As cattle feeders hold on to fat cattle until the opportunity to be harvested arises, it is important to prepare for periods of extreme heat by developing a heat stress management plan.

The combination of hot temperatures, high humidity, and lack of air movement can result in severe cases of heat stress for cattle. When temperatures remain above 70°F during the night, cattle are unable to recover before the next episode of heat exposure. This can result in reduced intakes and gains, and in extreme cases, death. Cattle have not acclimated to summer conditions yet, so helping ease this adaptation is critical, especially for all the heavy cattle on feed right now. Some heat stress mitigation strategies to consider include:

- Proper management during heat stress conditions starts with providing plenty of water and space around water tanks for each animal.

- Sprinkler systems can be effective in cooling cattle and pen surfaces in dry conditions; however, limit use when humidity and moisture are high.

- Bedding pens is also an option to help lower the temperature of the pen surface.

- Providing shade can help reduce the heat load on cattle up to 20 degrees.

- Avoid working or transporting cattle during extreme temperatures. If necessary, handle cattle early in the mornings and not any time after 10 a.m.

- Consider reducing the amount of feed delivered in the morning to help lower the heat load on cattle.

- Improve air flow by incorporating tall mounds and placing cattle in pens with fewer windbreaks in the summer.

- Monitor weather frequently for potential heat events. The U.S. Meat Animal Research Center Cattle Heat Stress Forecast and Nebraska Mesonet Cattle Comfort Index can be helpful in determining when cattle are at risk for heat stress.

For more information, see the Heat Stress Mitigation in Feedlot Cattle webinar at beef.unl.edu/webinar/heat-stress-mitigation-feedlot-cattle or the Feedlot Heat Stress Information and Management Guide at extensionpublications.unl.edu/assets/pdf/g2266.pdf.

NDA selects students to attend first virtual NAYI event

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) has announced the student delegates selected to attend this year's Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI).

Area students chosen to attend include Faith Junck and Kylie Kempf of Carroll, Korinna Niemann of Wayne, Katelyn Pehrson of Laurel and Jehl Stateler of Hoskins.

Josie Thompson of Wayne serves as one of the members of the Youth Council.

In its 49th year, NAYI challenges its delegates to learn more about the agricultural industry and careers available to them in their future. To help slow the spread of COVID-19, this year's Institute will be held virtually. NAYI is coordinated by NDA and the members of the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Council (NAYC).

"NAYI is the longest running program of its kind in the nation and is a popular event for our student delegates," said NDA Communications Director and NAYC Advisor Chris-tin Kamm. "While the COVID-19 situation has kept us from hosting an in-person event this year, we are pleased to be able to still offer all of the typical learning aspects that our delegates are accustomed to. Moving to a virtual format has also allowed us to provide additional opportunities for learning that we have not previously been able to offer before. This year's theme is 'Building Your Brand' and we intend to help our delegates do just that."

Since its inception, NAYI has helped educate more than 6,500 youth from around the state. NAYI is made possible through numerous donations from agricultural businesses, commodity groups and industry organizations. This year's virtual NAYI will be held July 6-10, and the 2020 delegates will receive additional information as the week approaches.

NAYI and additional youth learning opportunities throughout the year are organized by the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Council (NAYC). The 21 college students who serve on NAYC are chosen by NDA to share their passion and knowledge about agriculture with young people across Nebraska. During NAYI, NAYC members provide valuable insight and advice about agriculture, college coursework and career building.

To learn more about NAYC or NAYI, or to view the listing of delegates selected to participate in NAYI 2020 - visit NAYI's website at nda.nebraska.gov/nayi/index.html. Follow NAYI activities on Facebook by searching and liking the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute. On Twitter, follow @THE_NAYC or #NAYI20.

Celebrate Nebraska Pollinator Week June 22-28

In honor of the role pollinators play in Nebraska's economy and ecosystems, Gov. Pete Ricketts has proclaimed June 22-28, Nebraska Pollinator Week.

Bees, birds, beetles, butterflies and small mammals pollinate one in every three bites of food we eat. Pollinator species are essential for the ecological services they provide humans, ecosystems and natural resources.

The celebration of Nebraska Pollinator Week, typically commemorated with pollinator-related events across the state, has taken on a new form this year in the interest of public health due to COVID-19. Virtual events will be hosted, and Nebraskans can join the Nebraska Pollinator Week 2020 Challenge, head outside, look for pollinators, and be a part of a national citizen science program.

To enter the challenge, visit nebraskapollinatorweek.org and complete the commitment form. Participants will be sent a package of pollinator resources. Participants then should head outside to look for pollinators and enter at least five species they find on iNaturalist, a web-based citizen science program.

The Nebraska Pollinator Week website also contains free resources, tutorials, lesson plans, and information about Nebraska pollinators. Discover more at nebraskapollinatorweek.org.

Those who participate in Nebraska Pollinator Week should continue to honor all local, state and federal public health guidelines, including social distancing and wellness recommendations.

Proper care of a breeding bull prior to turn out

As we wrap up calving season and start the calves on creep feed, the next item of importance is bull care. Proper care of breeding bulls prior to turnout can improve the fertility, and as a result increase the percentage of next years calf crop. Supplying bulls with a quality mineral program year-round will aid in a bull's overall structure and foot quality, as well as health and sperm quality. When choosing a mineral, I like to suggest an option with organic trace minerals to aid in the bull's overall health. An animal uses these trace minerals for immunity, reproduction, skin and hoof health, growth and muscle development, fiber digestion, energy metabolism, and stress effects. Central Valley Ag offers many options when it comes to minerals in either loose or tub form and will have a product to fit your bulls needs.

For a bull to remain sound and active for the duration of the breeding season, condition plays a crucial role. A bull that is too thin at the start of the breeding season may not perform as expected and tire out early in the season. An over-conditioned bull may face structural and soundness issues that will hinder his ability to be active and run a risk of injuring heifers or smaller cows. To achieve an ideal body condition score of 6 at the start of breeding season, bulls should gradually be conditioned over a five-month period. Allowing slower gains over 100 days versus pushing for 3 pounds per day in a month, will promote longevity, better performance, and higher quality semen. Our feed sales consultants will work with producers to create a year-round program to keep bulls in ideal condition and performing at their best.

Breeding soundness exams by your veterinarian prior to breeding season can also play a role in the results. Conducting the exam early will provide enough time to find replacements should a bull fail. Bulls that fail an early exam may recover in time, and follow-up exams may be needed. Additionally, keeping bulls current on vaccinations will reduce the risk of disease affecting health, performance, or semen quality. Visit with your veterinarian for recommendations on vaccinations.

For more information on preparing bulls for breeding and product options, stop by your local Central Valley Ag Feed location.

4-H STEM Reading Connections has gone virtual Caption This!

Looking for a way your child can be involved in the summer program any time, any place? Nebraska 4-H has you covered. Nebraska 4-H is offering 4-H STEM Reading Connections virtually. This is the same great program that has been offered in partnership with local libraries each summer across the state for the past 10 years.

New this year, Nebraska 4-H has created a series of four interactive videos that coincide with this year's summer reading theme, Imagine Your Story. These videos are created with youth grades K-6th in mind and each have fun myth busting twists.

Each lesson has a featured story that is read for added convenience. Book recommendations are highlighted to keep your avid readers engaged between lessons.

The 4-H STEM Reading Connections videos are hands-on and interactive. A list of simple supplies found around the house accompany each of the lessons so youth can be engaged and learn right along with the presenter.

Featured videos include: Germ, Germs Everywhere Learning Child Nebraska Extension Educator Sarah Roberts highlights the many myths surrounding germs. Are any of them actually true? In this video, youth will learn about the different types of germs and the importance of good hygiene as they investigate real germs.

Spider: Myths vs. Facts 4-H Youth Development Nebraska Extension Educator Chandra Giles explains that many early cultures have some kind of spider myth or legend. In this video, youth will explore the scientific process to create their own insects and spiders.

Bust Your Breakfast Food, Nutrition, and Health Nebraska Extension Educator Ann Fenton challenges you to think critically about what is in your breakfast. During this video, youth will bust some common breakfast myths and test their knowledge about vitamins and minerals.

The Truth About Weather 4-H Youth Development Extension Educator Jennifer Hansen shares that many of us have heard myths about the weather but question whether they are true. During this video, youth will explore three different weather related myths using experiments.

Access to these free videos can be found at <https://go.unl.edu/srplaylist>. Simply visit the website, select the video you want to view, and enjoy.

The 4-H STEM Reading Connections program is designed to support literacy development, encourage curiosity through STEM, and spark an interest in 4-H. With the current restrictions in place, this is another way that you can stay connected to your local library's summer reading program and Nebraska 4-H STEM Reading Connections.

Eagles Auxiliary resumes meetings

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met June 8 with President Amber Schlines presiding.

Due to social distancing guidelines, the Auxiliary and Aerie will be alternating meeting times for the foreseeable future.

Eagles Bar Manager Amber Sch-lines announced that the Eagles Club will be open temporarily on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, being at 5:30 p.m. until closing. Department of Health guidelines are being observed.

The two Wayne High School scholarships of $250 each were presented to Madison Kaup and Stuart Hasemann.

Membership dues are all due now. If they are not paid by June 30, the member's name will be dropped from rolls. After that date, members will need to pay an initiation fee to re-join.

May was the end of the auxiliary's fiscal year. All charitable money raised during the year was given to the Eagles-sponsored charities. Money was also given locally to the Wayne Public Library for large print books, the Wayne Food Pantry and the Backpack program.

During the lock down, two members passed away. Condolences were sent to the families of Bob Addison and Catherine Sears Hammer.

The Eagles State Convention will be held June 11-12 at Divots in Norfolk. There will be no banquet.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be Monday, June 22 at 7 p.m.

School lunch menus for the week will be posted on the school website. Both meal offerings (breakfast and lunch) will be available for pick-up between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Drive up to the circle drive and a staff member will deliver them to your vehicle. If you are unable to get to the school and need a meal delivered to you, contact Dawn Lubberstedt at the school (402-287-2012) and meals will be delivered.

In an attempt to contain costs and control waste, families are asked to submit a meal order form for each day of the week that a meal is needed. There will be a link to the School Lunch Program order form posted on the School's webpage. Requests for lunch and breakfast meals should be made before 3 p.m. the day before the meals are to be available. Requests for Monday meals need to be made on Fridays.

Pastor Jim Splitt led the confirmation ceremony for, Jase Dean, Kate Hill, Maya Spahr, and Grant Onderstal, with Deb Hammer serving as Parish Ministry Associate.

Four confirmed at Our Savior Lutheran Church

Our Savior Lutheran Church of Wayne celebrated the Rite of Confirmation on Pentecost Sunday, May 31 at the 10 a.m. worship service.

God and share in the Lord's Supper; proclaim the good news of God in Christ through word and deed; serve all people following the example of Jesus; and strive for justice and peace in all the earth."

Wanted ... Church news

The Wayne Herald would like to print information and schedules from area churches.

Four youth affirmed their faith and were received into the fellowship of Our Savior Lutheran Church. Pastor Jim encouraged the confirmands, saying "this is not the end of the journey, but rather a journey that keeps on going."

Only the confirmands and their parents were present in church for the live streaming Worship and Holy Home Communion Celebration.

All information submitted to the Herald by Monday at 5 p.m. or emailed by 8 a.m. on Tuesday will be included in that week's edition of the paper.

Those confirmed were Jase Dean, Paul and Lori Dean; Kate Hill, daughter of Mark Hill and Karen Longe; Grant Onderstal, son of Pat Onderstal and Rebecca Onderstal; and Maya Spahr, daughter of Chad and Marcia Spahr.

Each confirmand at Our Savior Lutheran Church selects an adult member of the congregation to serve as their mentor during the year before they are confirmed. Those serving as mentors include: Ron Carnes, mentor for Jase; Karma Magnuson, mentor for Kate; Kelly Grone, mentor for Maya and Darrell Miller, mentor for Grant.

Look for the gifts God is offering

1 I lift up my eyes to the hills—from where will my help come?
2 My help comes from the Lord,
who made heaven and earth.
Psalm 121:1-2

I recently heard a story — A terrible storm came into a town and local officials sent out an emergency warning that the riverbanks would soon overflow and flood the nearby homes. They ordered everyone in the town to evacuate immediately.

A faithful man heard the warning and decided to stay, saying to himself, "I will trust God and if I am in danger, then God will send a divine miracle to save me."

As the man stood on his porch watching the water rise up the steps, a man in a canoe paddled by and called to him, "Hurry and come into my canoe, the waters are rising quickly!" But the man again said, "No thanks, God will save me." The floodwaters rose higher and the man had to retreat to the second floor. A police motorboat came by and saw him at the window. "We will come up and rescue you!" they shouted. But the man refused, saying, "Use your time to save someone else! I have faith that God will save me!" The flood waters rose higher and higher and the man had to climb up to his rooftop. A helicopter spotted him and dropped a rope ladder, but the man STILL refused, saying, "No thank you! God will save me!" Shortly after, the house broke up and the floodwaters swept the man away and he drowned.

When in Heaven, the man stood before God and asked, "I put all of my faith in You. Why didn't You come and save me?" And God said, "Son, I sent you a warning. I sent you a canoe. I sent you a motorboat. I sent you a helicopter. What more were you looking for?"

While I don't know that the story is actually true, I think it illustrates a great point. We can sometimes be like that, totally blind to the many gifts God is offering, the many acts of help and care he is extending. The last few months have been difficult and challenging, to say the least. And yet, despite this, I have seen the hand of God in so many places.

Working in the hospital, I've seen it in the dedication of my fellow healthcare colleagues to care for every patient who comes through the doors, in the focus of the hospital administration to prepare as best they could for different contingencies, in the concern of patients, families, and loved ones, who show love and support to one another in complicated circumstances, in people following health guidelines in order to protect the most health vulnerable amongst us. I see the hand of God in each person who answers the call to love their neighbor and speak for those who are ignored or forgotten.

Our verses from Psalm 121 today asks, "Where does my help come from?" "My help comes from the Lord," the psalmist answers. While we have been self-quarantining and socially distanced, God has been near at hand. This God who made all of creation, the heavens and earth and everything in it, also made you, cares about you, and is surrounding you with a spirit of help and care this day.

May you feel that blessing in your life today. Amen

Baha'is of Wayne invite public to celebrate Race Amity Day

Peaceful protests and prayers for racial harmony and justice will continue on Race Amity Day in Wayne on Sunday, 14. The Baha'is of Wayne invite people of all faiths, all races and ethnic groups to celebrate Race Amity Day at 8:30 p.m. in Bressler Park.

There will be a short program with prayers from diverse faith traditions and thoughts about race unity from inspirational leaders throughout history. The event will conclude with a candle lighting ceremony at sunset.

Bring chairs and masks, as social distancing will be observed. Also bring a candle if possible.

Call (402) 369-4302 or (402) 922-0314 or email joweixe1@wsc.edu for more details.

The National Center for Race Amity (NCRA) was established in January 2010. It is based in Boston, Mass. and received its founding grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. A sustainable organization, NCRA's programs generate income to support itself and its programs. The National Center for Race Amity has several initiatives: expansion of the Campus Conversations on Race model in a national network of colleges that employ the strategy of training student co-facilitators to guide peer group discussions on race and ethnicity; development of theater based race amity education programs targeting middle school students; impacting the public discourse on race through the annual National Race Amity Conference and other events and forums, and organizing the Towards E Pluribus Unum initiative which seeks to establish National Race Amity Day.

The Prairie Doc

Give the gift of organ donation

At the bottom right hand corner of my driver's license there is a small heart and the word "donor." The print is small and easy to miss among all the other information contained. That one word, I would argue, is the most important piece of data there. Displayed next to my height, weight, and eye color, I proudly declare that when my organs are no longer of any use to me, I want to give them to someone in need. This is a personal decision and, according to United Network for Organ Sharing, donation is supported by all the major religions. It is also a decision that can impact up to eight other lives.

Donation of my organs, cornea, and tissues is a gift that will cost me and my family nothing. There is no cost to the donor's family or estate, and it doesn't affect funeral plans or prevent a viewing. When I die, my organs, tissue, and corneas will be available to people in dire need of them. I don't want my body to be like an Egyptian Pharaoh's tomb filled with treasures that could be better used by the living.

The ancient Egyptians removed the organs from the body before they mummified someone. These organs were placed in canopic jars and buried. Let my canopic jars be living, breathing people who need them to live their life to the fullest.

Right now, there are more than 113,000 people waiting for lifesaving organ transplants. Of those people, 8,000 will die each year waiting for an organ that will not come in time. The thought that I can lower that number when I die brings me a sense of pride and joy. Organ donation is the ultimate way for a physician, and anyone else, to help someone be healthier. Organ donation is truly giving the gift of life.

I have seen this gift of life personally. My cousin's husband, his mother, and his sister all had heart transplants due to a genetic condition. He had a heart transplant on Dec. 29, 1999 and a kidney transplant on March 31, 2005 giving him an additional 20 wonderful years of watching his three children grow. A significant gift for someone who was not sure that he would live much beyond his wedding. Before his kidney transplant, he was dependent on a dialysis machine three times per week. The organ donations have changed his life and the lives of his family. I hope that I can change the life of someone else through my gift of organ donation and I hope you will consider donating as well. Find out more at organdonor.gov.

Winside St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid meets in June

Pat Janke opened the June 3 meeting of Winside Ladies Aid and LWML with seven members and Pastor Engebretsen present. Everyone recited the LWML pledge in unison.

Pastor Engebretsen gave a devotion on Luke 6 verses 20 to 26. Songs "Just As I Am Without One Plea," My Song Is Love Unknown," Take My life and Let It Be," and "Beautiful Savior" were sung.

The secretary's report was given and approved as read. The treasurer's report was given and filed for financial review.

Keri Dangberg was remembered at Easter with a card and monetary gift.

A thank you note was read from the Seminary student, Jordan Schut.

Visiting committee: Bev Voss called shut-in's instead of visiting due to the COVID-19. Janice Mundil will be on visiting for June.

The 2020 LWML district convention that was supposed to be held June 26 - 27 in Columbus has been canceled due to COVID-19. It will be decided later if the Wayne Zone LWML Fall Rally will be held.

Get well cards were sent to Bev Voss and Gertrude Vahlkamp, Thinking of you cards to Esther Carlson and LaJeane Marotz. A birthday card was sent to Faunel Weible.

The birthday song was sung for May birthdays - Pastor Engebretsen, Gloria Evans, Marlin Westerhaus, Lorraine Prince and DeLana Marotz. Claire Brogren has a birthday in June.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and Table Prayer. Cupcakes and cookies was served by Lorraine Prince. The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 1 with Arlyn Vahlkamp serving.

Grant writer Sandra Hansen reported the recoverable damages from the March 2019 flood totaled a little over $274,000. The straight-time has been removed, and an equipment code for a gravel trailer has been changed. FEMA wants to inspect the repair sites before making payment.

Hansen also reported FEMA is starting to require precise maintenance records on roads, bridges, and culverts. The county needs to develop a basic road maintenance policy. Once a policy is written, the county can focus on daily records.

Guidelines for COVID-19 related expense reimbursement were summarized by Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz. Reimbursable expenditures include acquisition and distribution of personal protection equipment, sanitizing products, medical supplies and equipment, temporary emergency staffing, payroll costs for public health and public safety, equipment to conduct meetings by telephonic or electronic means, etc. The courthouse and county offices must be open to the public on a non-appointment basis by July 16th for the county to qualify to receive funds.

Doug Elting of Berggren Architects, and Eli Dull and Tim Christensen of Kingery Construction met with the board to present an update on the courthouse restoration project. The original contract called for the existing slate tiles to be removed from the four turrets. The sheeting would be replaced before the broken and missing tiles were replaced and the remaining tiles reinstalled. It was estimated that 30% of the tiles needed replacement. The board was asked if they would consider replacing all of the slate tiles while the crew was working on the turrets. Black tile is available to do the job now, or matching tile could be obtained in a year. A motion was made by Sievers and seconded by Rabe to stay with the original contract and just replace the broken and missing tiles. Roll call vote: Sievers, Rabe, Burbach – aye; motion carried. Additional action taken on change orders:

- Motion by Sievers, second by Rabe to approve PR-018 additional door labor and lintel $4,040, and PR-018A new door opener w/o swing guard $2,844. Roll call vote: Sievers, Rabe, Burbach – aye; motion carried.
- Motion by Rabe, second by Sievers to approve PR-023 replace deck & fix joists and fix coping on the south roof $6,979, and PR-024 reinforce east entrance-landing floor structure $2,560. Roll call vote: Rabe, Sievers, Burbach – Aye; motion carried.
- Motion by Rabe, second by Sievers to approve PR-025 to add snow guards to the roof adjacent to walkways $8,761. Roll call vote: Rabe, Sievers, Burbach – aye; motion carried.

After discussing different dates, a motion was made by Sievers and seconded by Rabe to re-open the courthouse to the public on Monday, June 8th. The building has been restricted to appointment only due to the Covid-19 virus. Roll call vote: Sievers, Rabe, Burbach – aye, motion carried. Treasurer Tammy Paustian asked how she should handle customers waiting in line at the courthouse at 5:00 p.m. She had no problem helping them, but she did not have money in her budget to pay her staff overtime. Paying overtime vs. granting comp-time will be discussed at the next meeting.

Highway Superintendent Mark Casey introduced Resolution No. 20-06 stating the repair work has been completed for No. ER-90(7). A motion was made by Rabe and seconded by Sievers to adopt Resolution No. 20-06. Roll call vote: Rabe, Sievers, Burbach – aye; motion carried.

WHEREAS: The total emergency repairs reimbursement is $5,746.57, and no further costs relating to this project will be incurred or submitted to the State.

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Nebraska Department of Transportation is hereby requested to act on behalf of Wayne County to administer Federal funds.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Chairman of the County Board is authorized to sign this Resolution on behalf of said Board."

Casey also reported:

- A&R has completed both culvert projects in District 1
