Positions filled during school board meeting

clara@wayneherald.com

Two open positions within the Wayne Community School district were filled during Monday's regular board meeting.

The board approved the hiring of Kaye Morris to fill the high school English position. Morris has previously served on the board of education and has been a substitute teacher in the district. The board also accepted Morris' resignation from the position after the 2021-2022 school year. This will allow the district to open the position earlier next year and have more applicants for the position.

Abby Wragge was hired to fill the school nurse position for the 2021-2022 school year. Wragge currently is an emergency room nurse at Providence Medical Center. This is a 10-month position.

Board approval was given for Dr. Lenihan and the Finance Committee to offer a qualified candidate the position of Business Manager for the district.

Superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan told han told the board that the state's Desigthe board that the interview process is beginning and due to the fact that the board's next regularly scheduled meeting is June into the "green category" in which masks 14 and current Business Manager Rochelle Nelson will be leaving the position June cedures anyone needing to quarantine is re-30, he would like to have authority to hire someone so they could begin training prior to her departure.

Board members gave second reading approval to the 7-12 grade Student Handbook for 2021-2022 and the Kids Club Handbook for 2021-2022.

In new business, the Classified Staff Salary Schedule was approved.

Dr. Lenihan explained to the board some of the changes, including the raising of kitchen staff and paraprofessionals starting wages.

A two year agreement was approved with Rasmussen Mechanical Services of Sioux City, Iowa for HVAC maintenance. The firm has been doing HVAC work for the district for a number of years.

The Wayne Community Schools Foundation 5019c) (3) status was discussed as part of an annual review.

Foundation Director Brandon Foote explained what has been done so far this year and what is expected to happen in the com-

"I am glad we were able to get through this school year and able to have the activities we did," Dr. Lenihan said.

Administrative reports included information on the Rule 10 Report which included the annual inspection and walk-through of the building. The report indicated the Wayne Community Schools has a safe en-

The district is working toward implementing an Emergency Management Plan.

Options were discussed for working with Marsha Herring with the Nebraska Association School Boards on a date for a strategic planning session.

Information was shared on summer services being provided to students in the district. The number of students being served will be higher than normal as students get caught up after disruptions in the past year.

Jordan Widner, Maintenance Director, updated the board on the restroom renovation project at the high school and said demolition in some areas of the building could begin as early as this weekend. The tentative completion date for the project is Aug.

The Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, June 14 at 5 p.m. at the juniorsenior high school.

All smiles

Danielle Gallardo of Hays, Kansas received a balloon and flowers after commencement ceremony, May 8 at Wayne State College. She earned a degree in sport management. Although weather conditions did not allow for the ceremony to be held outside, graduates were grateful for the opportunity to have an in-person ceremony.

Winside voters approve bond issue

Voters in Winside School District 95R approved a 'not to exceed $14.67 million bond issue' during the May 11 election.

A total of 461 voters cast ballots. Of those, 341 votes were for the said bond and tax and 120 were against the said bond and tax.

There was a 64 percent voter turnout.

Wayne County Clerk Deb Finn said the vote totals are unofficial until the canvassing board finalizes them on Thursday, May 13 at 10 a.m.

With the passage of the bond issue, the district will move forward with renovation of portions of the existing building, addressing outdated mechanical systems throughout the building and improving the building's handicap

In addition, security upgrades will be addressed.

Additional classroom space for Career Technical Education and Agriculture classes will be built as will spaces for community use.

Among the advantages of completing the project at the present time is the fact that bond interest rates are at historic lows.

It is anticipated work on designing the project will begin in the near future, followed by the project going out to bid. Construction would begin in the spring of 2022.

$Tom\ McCright$ Tom E. McCright, 94, of Wayne, died Friday, April 30, at the Norfolk

Mass of Christian Burial was held Wednesday, May 12 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. Burial, with military rites, was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

> Memorials may be directed to the Hidden Valley Wild Horse Fund.

Arrangements were with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne

Thomas E. McCright was born May 30, 1926, near Gross, to Bessie (Lutz) and Floyd McCright and was joyously welcomed by his two sisters, Maxine and Bonnie. Tom enjoyed many aspects of life: hunting, fishing, dancing, boxing, horseback riding, motorcycle riding, reading, training dogs to hunt, and working on cars. His favorite films and shows were Westerns, his favorite dessert was cherry pie, and his favorite candy bar was a Salted Nut Roll. During World War II, from the age of 17 to almost 20, Tom served as a field telephone operator and marksman in the United States Marine Corps. While stationed in Japan, he saw combat and was a member of a unit sent into Nagasaki after the atomic bombing of that city. It was in the military that he learned to box. In 1949, Tom settled in Wayne, with his wife, Margaret, "Marge" (nee Dalton) McCright. They were active members of St. Mary's Catholic Church and the parents of 16 children.

Tom worked many years in several fields. He was a mechanic, artificial inseminator, award-winning feed salesman for Gooch's Best Feeds, and owner of a small engine repair business.

Tom is survived by his daughters: Pamela Lathrop-North, Mary Ellen Green, Susan Cover, and Paula Vazzano; sons: Tommy, Randy, Dustan, Jamie, Mark, Pat, Jon, and Ted McCright; the spouses of his children; numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren; and by his very special friend, Bonnie Dewell.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Bessie and Floyd; sisters, Maxine and Bonnie; wife, Marge in 2004; daughter, Kathleen; and sons, Steven, Jeff, and Daniel (Boone).

Marilyn Simmons Marilyn Ö. Simmons, 96, died Friday, May 7, 2021.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, May 15 at 10 a.m. at the First

Wyoming United Presbyterian Church of Torrington Wyoming. Burial will follow at Valley View Cemetery

Arrangements are under the direction of the Colyer Funeral Home and friends may send condolences to the family at www.colyerfuneralhome.

Marilyn O. Simmons was born March 16, 1925 on a farm near Randolph, the second child of John and Amanda (Davis) Owens. She was homeschooled for a few years. When she was in the sixth grade her folks bought a farm near Carroll, where she had her first experience of attending country school with eight grades and one teacher. The high school she attended was 3 1/2 miles from home so she rode a horse to and from school regardless of weather. She graduated in 1942 as valedictorian of her class. After attending Wayne State Teachers College, she taught several years in eastern Nebraska before moving to Torrington in 1949 to teach second grade. That fall she met Robert (Bob) Lee Simmons. They were married on June 25, 1950. They ranched together on the Simmons family homestead 22 miles north of Torrington until Bob's death in 1990. Marilyn then moved to town and was an even more active volunteer in many organizations and spent time with her family and friends.

Even though her formal teaching career ended shortly after getting married due to the distance from town and poor road conditions, her love of children and teaching continued. She was a substitute teacher and 4-H leader. She taught Sunday and Bible school for countless years. She was instrumental in starting the annual Cattle Women fourth grade tour, which later turned in to the Ag Expo. She organized and proudly presented beef education. Marilyn was baptized and confirmed in a rural Presbyterian Church in Nebraska that was the hub of a Welsh Community. While growing up, many of the older people still spoke Welsh and one Sunday each month the worship service was conducted in Welsh. She has been an active member of the First Wyoming United Presbyterian Church in Torrington since 1953, serving as an Elder, Deacon, Moderator of the Presbyterian Women's Association, and allaround-volunteer for whatever was needed.

Marilyn was a charter member of Goshen CowBelles where she served as President twice. In 1994, she was honored as Goshen CattleWoman of the Year. She was also an active member of the Burge Community Club, PEO, and Eastern Star. She volunteered many years at the hospital and library. Marilyn always found a way to give back to her family, friends, and community.

Survivors include many loving family members and friends, including a sister, Ruth (Walter) Ludwig of Chattanooga, Tennessee, a brother Milton (Jaqulyn) Owens of Carroll; a son, Bruce (Beth) Simmons of Torrington, Wyoming, a daughter, Leanne (Fred) Correll of Saratoga, Wyoming; six grandchildren, twelve great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, husband, two infant sons, sisters Bonnie Lou and Judith, brother-in-law Richard Temme and grandson Michael Coxbill.

problems, these can affect return "The pandemic has posed so many to work, the ability to take care of these areas who can make a huge difference for these people. This is an important time for us to spread the word: Help is available." How They Help

Speech-language pathologists (SLPs) can help people with, or recovering from, COVID-19 who are having short- and longer-term difficulties in the following areas:

• Cognition. Many COVID-19 "long-haulers" are reporting persistent brain fog as a debilitating symptom after their bout with the virus. This can prevent a return to work and impact their ability to tend to family responsibilities. SLPs can work with individuals to improve their memory, attention, organization and planning, problem solving, learning, and social communication—such as re-learning conversational rules or understanding the intent behind a message or behind nonverbal cues. The focus is on the person's specific challenges as well as regaining the skills that are most important to their daily life and priorities.

· Swallowing. People diagnosed which makes it hard for someone to needs. with COVID-19 may experience swallowing problems that can put them at risk for choking or aspirating, which is when food goes into the lungs instead of the stomach. This may be the result of time spent on a ventilator, or it may be another side effect of the virus. SLPs use different types of tests to determine what happens when a person swallows and how the related muscles are working—helping a patient's medical team, including the SLP, decide on the best course of action with the patient and their family. SLPs may recommend modified textures of food and drink for patients; therapy exercises to strengthen the tongue, lips, and muscles in the mouth and throat; and strategies to make eating and drinking safer, such as modifying the pace of chewing/eating, size of food, and more.

·Communication. People diagnosed with COVID-19 are also experiencing speech and language difficulties. Some, such as those who spent a significant amount of time on a ventilator or experienced low oxygen to the brain, may have muscle weakness or reduced coordination in the muscles of the face, lips, tongue, and throat—making it difficult to talk. Others, particularly those who experienced a COV-ID-related stroke, may experience a language disorder called aphasia—

More than 180 athletes from throughout Nebraska took part in the annual Spring Sprints at the Kern Track on May 7. A variety of events allowed for a fun and challenging day for the participants. This resulted in the need for a break in the shade of a tent for the students from Winnebago Public Schools (bottom left).

"The quality of the Schultz-Werth and undergraduate research entries this year are a true testament to the commitment of faculty and students

South Dakota State University to undergraduate research, scholarship and creative activity at SDSU." said Rebecca Bott-Knutson, dean of the Van D. and Barbara B. Fishback Honors College. "Despite CO-VID-19-related delays in research and the temporary closing of laboratories and other facilities at the beginning of the year, our senior papers were as strong as ever. We experienced a 100% completion rate for undergraduate research projects that were funded last year and have a new crop of innovative projects ready to begin this summer. Congratulations and thank you to our students and to everyone who made it possible for them to continue to receive the best possible education

Wayne State College awards more than 600 degrees

Wayne State College held three graduation ceremonies on May 8 to celebrate Class of 2021 and Class of 2020 graduates. The morning ceremony marked the graduation of master's candidates from the classes of 2020 and 2021. Class of 2021 and Class of 2020 undergraduate students graduated in the afternoon.

Because of inclement weather. the ceremonies were held indoors in Rice Auditorium.

The graduate ceremony conferred 212 degrees on students in the college's Master of Science in Education, Master of Organizational Management, Master of Business Administration, and Education Specialist programs. The event also marked the graduation of 44 members of the spring and winter 2020 classes who were not able to participate in a ceremony due to CO-VID-19.

The graduate ceremony featured master's candidate Tia Jones of Omaha, delivering the invocation; Carter "Cap" Peterson delivered greetings from the Nebraska State College System; and remarks were given by master's candidates Kelly Legler of Wayne and Lisa Ryan of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa.

The first undergraduate ceremony confered 444 undergraduate degrees and featured bachelor's candidate Linnea Lee Vogel of Palmer, State Foundation Alumni Achieve-

Rasmussen retires from Forest Service Steve Rasmussen retired from the Nebraska Forest Service (NFS) after 38 years of employment earlier in the month. Throughout his career, he received state and national awards which include State Tree Planter Award from Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, Distinguished Leadership Award from the Great Plains Initiative, LENRD Outstanding Partner Award, SAF Presidential Field Forester Award the David Mooter Legacy Award for outstanding service and was elected as a Fellow in his profession's Society of American Foresters. NFS Foresters Pam Bergstrom and Jorden Smith helped Rasmussen plant an oak tree in honor of his service and dedication for tree pro-

Also, a tree was dedicated in memory of Ernie Swanson, who was one of the original tree board members for the Northeast Arboretum. His wife, Lyla, was present for the dedication.

Following the ceremony, guests planted about 60 hazelnuts on the property, which will be part of a hybrid hazelnut research study.

Lawmakers overwhelmingly advance phase-out of Social Security tax

AND NOW, FOR MY NEXT TRICK, I WILL ATTEMPT

TO CUT NEBRASKA'S

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX!

Commentary by J.L. Schmidt Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Nebraska is one of 13 states that still tax Social Security benefits. Lawmakers have given overwhelming first-round approval to a 10-year plan to phase that tax out, but with a healthy price tag when fully implemented.

This could prove to be one of the biggest tax/revenue discussions of the session. Can we afford to do it? Can we afford not to?

Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and West Virginia also collect state income tax on Social Security payments to at least some beneficiaries.

Omaha Sen. Brett Lindstrom's measure (LB64) received 47-0 firstround approval. An analysis by the Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy shows the phase-out of state income taxation of Social Security I told her I had to be at work in income over a 10-year period would reduce state revenue by more than $130 million a year when fully implemented. Retirees in the top 20 percent of incomes -- those who make more than $114,000 -- will receive two-thirds of the tax cut created, the report says.

A number of lawmakers have expressed concern that the estimated loss of anticipated future revenue could limit the prospects for additional property tax reduction. Lindstrom said "more people may decide to stay in Nebraska to retire" if they are relieved of that portion of their tax burden. He said the measure would also assist Nebraskans whom he described as "vulnerable seniors living on fixed Henderson Sen. Curt Friesen said other considerations, such as property tax rates and proximity to grandchildren, are as important to people as taxation of their Social Security benefits when it comes to deciding where to live.

Security tax exemptions to the level of a taxpayer's income, with a cap on eligibility set at $95,000 for a married couple and $80,000 for a single taxpayer.

Brewer said his more targeted approach would "give relief to those who need it (and not) up to a cost that we can't manage."

Lou Ann Linehan of Elkhorn, who has promised a complete overhaul of the state's tax system next year, said Nebraska is not competitive with neighboring states in terms of tax policy and that is a factor in prompting Nebraskans to move to southern states upon their retire-

The OpenSky Policy Institute opposes the measure and said that retirees with incomes of more than $114,000 a year would receive twothirds of the tax cut benefits while the bill proposes elimination of a current exemption that prevents retirees with incomes less than $75,000 from paying tax on their Social Security Income. That means while higher-income seniors experience an immediate tax cut, low- and Sen. Mike Flood of Norfolk sug- said the Social Security tax break middle-income seniors experience

The think tank also cautions that any revenue reductions lawmakers pass could result in a commensurate Nebraska government and politics Sen. He has been a registered Tom Brewer of Gordon to tie Social said a stepped approach such as per a stipulation in the American Independent for 21 years.

Brewer's would ensure the state Recovery Plan. Guidance from the U.S. treasury regarding the use of state surplus dollars to cut taxes is pending and until it comes, any tax reduction passed by the Legislature could cause a double fiscal hit with loss of revenue from the tax cut and having to refund an equal amount of federal dollars.

> Linehan said the state needs to be more competitive if we want retirees to stay in Nebraska.

> I agree, but I also like the approach of some former lawmakers who support OpenSky. They favor using the federal dollars to bolster the cash reserve or make one-time investments in key infrastructure initiatives. That would move the state forward without tying the hands of future legisla-

In January 2020, Nebraska Community Foundation began working with Center for Public Affairs Research at the University of Nebraska at Omaha to co-create a survey designed to explore young people's perceptions and perspectives of their Nebraska hometowns. While this survey only represents the views of 1,302 Nebraska high school students, the emerging patterns indicate that our hometowns are uniquely positioned to offer precisely the things that Nebraska high schoolers say they want in the places they choose to live.

They value safety. Students expressed an affinity for safe, low-crime, family-oriented places. Contrary to popular perceptions of youth, the students indicated a preference for safety and security over entertainment. They are community-oriented. Many students boast a resume filled with school sports, extracurricular activities, community volunteerism, and parttime jobs. Nebraska youth are not only highly involved, they also have a desire to be a part of their com-

Valuation of ag land reduced for school tax purposes

I gave a green light to LB 2, introduced by Senator Briese, which would reduce the valuation of agricultural land from 75 percent to 50 percent of actual value for the purpose of educational bonds. The bill has been placed on Final Reading.

Consumption tax fails

Senator Erdman introduced LR11CA, which would have allowed Nebraska voters to choose to replace property, income, sales, inheritance, corporate and estate taxes with a state consumption tax under a proposed constitutional amendment. Though I am in strong support of a consumption tax, it has failed to advance this year. I will continue to work to reduce the tax burdens Nebraskans face.

Hearing the voice of God

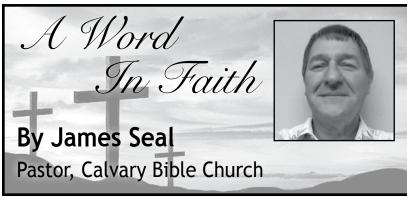

Have you ever heard someone say "God told me...." and wondered how they knew it was God? Have you ever said those words yourself? Have you ever thought you heard the Lord only to find out you were

The thing that many believers want is to hear clearly from God. We want to know God's will for our lives. We want Him to speak to us and show the way to go. We want Him to answer our prayers.

Throughout most of my life I have sought to hear from God. Sometimes I have heard clearly what God has said. I have never heard an audible voice but I have heard a clear prompting within my spirit by the Spirit of God. But to be honest, there are times when I was mistaken about what God was saying.

There are a few things that I have learned about hearing the voice of God that I would like to share in this article. There are five common ways that God speaks to believers

First, God speaks through His Word. Psalm 119 tells us that God's Word is sufficient for all of life. In 2 Timothy 3:16-17 we understand that God clearly tells us how to live righteously. His Word is sufficient for proper instruction. According to Hebrews 4:12 God's word is living and powerful.

circumstances.

tells us that God makes our paths straight when we trust Him. God directs us through our day-to-day activities. He directs situations in our lives that cause us to take a certain direction or course of action. He

Second, God speaks through answered prayer. Jesus said in John 16:24 that we do not have because we do not ask, so we should ask. And in John 14:14 He said we should ask in the name of Jesus. Clearly God wants us to come to Him with our LWML met on May 5 with 9 members and one guest.

Pastor Engebretsen presented a devotion based on Psalm 51, verse 10. Hymns "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," "The King of Love my Shepherd Is" and "Abide with Me" were sung.

The business meeting began by President Claire Brogren welcoming everyone and leading the group in reading the LWML pledge.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report given.

Communications included: a newsletter from our missionary, Jana Inglehart, a letter from Rhonda Sebade reporting on the LWML Wayne Zone workshop, and a letter from our seminary student, Aaron

Daisy Janke reported on letters she sent to the shut in's and Lor-

Trinity is asking each church for donations of pies and workers. The Aid will be asking the congregation to donate pies and also for volunteers to work at the social.

The birthday song was sung for Pastor Engebretsen, DeLana Marotz and Lorraine Prince. Birthday cards were sent to Gloria Evans and Marlin Westerhaus.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, June 2 with Pat Janke serving.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

Corn planting season

Members of the Wayne FFA recently planted a 10-acre field of corn, with assistance from Koenig Enterprises, Grossenburg Implement and Kurt Daum. In addition to field corn, a portion of the plot was planted with sweet corn, which the group will sell this summer.

Management strategies shared for minimizing early pregnancy loss tures can help reduce stress on heif- breeding time has detrimental ef- be a result of embryonic loss or gram is key to optimizing reproduc-

Nebraska Extension Beef Cattle Reproductive Physiologist

As we approach the breeding season, cows and heifers are faced with a variety of stressors from the metabolic pressure of providing for a calf to changes in environment. Stress during early pregnancy is well documented to cause embryonic death and loss of pregnancy. However, making strategic management decisions during the fragile 2 months after breeding can help minimize those losses. Key areas to review management practices to minimize early pregnancy loss are transportation, temperature while being worked or transported, method of pregnancy diagnosis, and nutrition from calving to breeding.

Transportation Stress

Transporting cows to summer pasture oftentimes coincides with the breeding season. Especially, if cows or heifers are artificially inseminated and need to be near working facilities during that time. It is important to plan transportation, or other stressors, strategically to prevent early pregnancy loss and reducing overall pregnancy

Research conducted at Colorado State University has found that transporting cattle between days 5 and 42 post insemination can result in a 10% reduction in pregnancy

This window of time is crucial for blastocyst formation, maternal recognition of pregnancy, and adhesion to the uterine wall. When cattle are loaded into a trailer and transported to a new place, they may become stressed and release a cascade of hormones that can alter the uterine environment making it less ideal for supporting a pregnancy. Prior to day 5, the embryo is still in the oviduct and protected from changes in the uterine environment. After day 42, the embryo has implanted into the uterine wall and is less susceptible to changes in environment. While transporting on days 5 to 42 pose the greatest risk, waiting to haul cows and heifers until a week or two after day 42 may help prevent late embryonic loss. Ultimately, stress during those critical time points may disturb important early embryonic processes and lead to embryonic mortality and increased pregnancy loss.

Some general guidelines for when to transport pregnant cows and heifers post breeding:

·Recommended time to haul: Days 1 - 4 or after day 60

•Risk of pregnancy loss: Days 5

Heat Stress Another key to minimizing pregnancy loss when transportation is necessary, is to avoid hauling cows on excessively hot days (approximately 90° - 110° and 40% humidity or more). Research conducted at Oklahoma State University found that cows exposed to heat stress 8 16 days after breeding, had decreased progesterone concentration, increased prostaglandin concentrations, and reduced embryonic weights. A 2 - 2.5 degree increase in rectal temperature (representative measurement of body temperature) for as little as 9 hours has been found to reduce embryo development. Planning to haul cows on days with more moderate temperaers and cows and ultimately prevent early pregnancy loss.

Pregnancy Diagnosis

Implementing a pregnancy diagnosis method is key for making sound managerial decisions regarding open females. However, some pregnancy diagnosis methods carry more risk than others regarding early pregnancy loss. Currently, there are 3 options available for pregnancy diagnosis: transrectal palpation, transrectal ultrasound. and a blood test. Obviously, a blood test is the least invasive method but results are not immediate and that may not be practical for producers wanting to sort females on pregnancy check day.

Transrectal palpation and transrectal ultrasound allow for immediate results but pose a greater risk for early pregnancy loss and can vary greatly based on stage of pregnancy and skill of the technician. Additional research conducted at Colorado State University found that transrectal palpation between days 42 - 74 had greater fetal losses (2.68 vs 1.38%) than transrectal ultrasound, and that heifers evaluated by inexperienced technicians had greater fetal losses than those evaluated by experienced technicians (2.07 vs 1.06%). It was also found that heifers evaluated prior to 53 days had nearly a 3 fold increase in pregnancy loss than those evaluated after 53 days of pregnancy (3.46 vs 1.26%). While an experienced technician can determine pregnancy by transrectal ultrasound as early as 25 - 30 days or by transrectal palpation by 35 - 45days, pregnancy diagnosis prior to 40-50 days of pregnancy carries an increased risk of disturbing those fragile early stages of development.

Nutrition at Breeding It is well established that deficiencies in protein and energy at at a BCS of 5 and 1st calf heifers should be at a BCS of 6 at calving for optimal reproductive performance. Managing cows and heifers to be on a positive plane of nutrition at the time of breeding is essential for the establishment of pregnancy.

Studies at University of Nebraska have found that thin cows, that are on an increasing plane of nutrition and gaining weight, can have equivalent pregnancy rates as cows in moderate condition that are maintaining their body weight at breeding. However, thin cows that are determined to be losing condition can have a reduction in pregnancy rates up to 30% which may

Activities prove 'it's a small world'

We have already had an inch and a half more rain and the skies are cloudy this morning. I am thankful for any moisture, and I will hate myself for saying this, but could it please warm up a bit?

The friend in Wisconsin went to a grandson's baseball game and wore long underwear! In May! That would be a first for me.

I'm betting most of you read about the huge pool noodle game that took place in Lincoln a few weeks ago. It all started when a fellow in Arizona named Josh Swain learned there are a lot of guys in the US named Josh Swain. He challenged them to come to Lincoln, a pretty good center of the continent, and duke it out! Pretty soon, anyone named Josh showed up!!

After a lot of fun just "noodling" each other, a four year old named Josh, Jr, was crowned king. He reslipped over his head and basically covered his face.

So, yesterday, I had to call a company in Pennsylvania about the Life Call we had for Mike. I used it, too, after the surgeries, because heaven forbid I would fall. But now, I'm ready to send it back.

After we got through name, address, and all, and he found me in the computer, he assured me it would be recorded so I would not be billed anymore. I make it a habit to ask the name of customer service folks, so I did that, and of all things, it was Josh.

I asked him if he was aware of the great "Josh fight" in Lincoln; not only was he aware, but he would have been here, except he had to be at a wedding that weekend. What was even more coincidental, when you consider I was speaking to someone in Pennsylvania, the last name of one of the wedding party is Swain!!
