Sidewalks, 'burn out' on council agenda

By Clara Osten,
clara@wayneherald.com

A request from BJ Woehler, who lives at 902 Bressler Court, was among the items debated during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Woehler requested a waiver of the sidewalk agreement.

He told the council that he has had discussions with city staff and noted that he lives in a cul de sac in which "the sidewalk doesn't go anywhere. Also, there are no sidewalks to Western Ridge."

Woehler listed several reasons for not installing a sidewalk, including snow removal issues, the location of a mailbox and the need to drive over the curb. He encouraged council members to look at the frontage of properties before making a decision on the need for sidewalks.

Council member Matt Eischied said the council needs to develop a plan for new development areas going forward that is consistent. He said that as a council, "we need to stay informed and make sure there are sidewalks where people that need to use them can do so."

Following discussion, council members voted to deny Woehler's request for a waiver.

Considerable time was spent discussing a request from Dustin Soden to close Fifth Street from Main Street to Pearl Street for a "Burn Out Competition" during upcoming Cruise Nights.

Soden explained what a "Burn Out" consists of and said that only the pavement portion of Fifth Street would be used, not the bricks. He also talked about safety and said concrete barriers would be installed to block the intersection and caution tape installed on both sides of the street.

He said he had contacted his insurance agency in regard to liability insurance and was working on additional details.

Wayne Area Economic Development Director Luke Virgil spoke on the issue of insurance and whether or not the event could be included with other WAED-sponsored events. He said that it would be possible to apply for grant-funding for a portion of the event, because it does bring tourists into the community. He said his office will look into what assistance would be available.

Wayne Police Chief Marlen Chinn said that the event will produce lots of smoke and noise, but there are not a lot of residential homes in the area.

Following discussion, council members suggested moving the event to the former Riley's parking lot on South Main Street.

The benefits of this area were discussed and several positive benefits were listed.

Approval was given to Soden to hold the event at the Riley's parking lot on Aug. 20 and Sept. 17.

Several resolutions were approved during Tuesday's meeting.

These included Resolution 2021-32 which creates a Master Services Agreement with HunTel.net, Inc. doing business as American Broadband Nebraska Communications, Inc.

The five-year agreement is for a lease on the 'dark fiber' provided by American Broadband. There will be no cost to the city for this service and the new agreement will save the city nearly $1,000 per month.

Resolution 2021-33 was approved, accepting the work on the Greenwood Cemetery-West Driveway Project. A payment of $75,350 will be made to TR Harris Construction, Inc. for the 10 foot driveway.

Resolution 2021-34 approved an addendum to an agreement between the city of Wayne and the Wayne Country and Golf Club.

The agreement will allow the country club to pump water from city well #6 for irrigation at the golf course. Well #6 is not currently in service to the city, and the city is also working on several water concerns with well #7.

Resolution 2021-35 will allow the Chief Elected Official to sign an application for Community Development Block Grant Funds in the amount of $250,000 for owner occupied rehabilitation.

The Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation would be the grant manager and no matching funds from the city would be required for the grant.

The final resolution of the evening, Resolution 2021-36, approves a memorandum of understanding between the city of Wayne and Wayne Area Economic Development regarding Public Art.

Luke Virgil discussed the current art project and the $10,000 that was paid to the artists for the 10 sculptures located throughout the downtown area.

Virgil also said plans are underway to create a phone app with details on each of the sculptures. In addition, plaques will be installed with each to provide the name of the piece and the artists.

Budget work sessions for the 2021-2022 fiscal year were scheduled for July 20 and Aug. 3, following regular council meetings.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, July 20 at 5:30 p.m.

Wayne County Commissioners question representatives of Blattner Energy about the noise created when concrete is poured during wind turbine construction.

Commissioners discuss current wind turbine construction

At Tuesday's meeting, the Wayne County Commissioners discussed many things but mainly focused on some complaints about the wind turbine construction.

Steve Muir from Elkhorn Valley Insurance talked about the renewal of their United Healthcare policy.

Muir explained that they are asking for a 4.3% increase from the previous year. They also have a high deductible plan already that saves money.

He talked about how there was no notable change from last year and this year from COVID-19. The renewal was approved.

After Nic Kemnitz gave an update on the Emergency Management. He went into detail on how they will be handling the upcoming county fair.

Kemnitz outlined the exits and entrances for parking that they are planning to implement as well as shuttling from the high school.

He explained the concerns they may face in regards to missing children during the fair. They are hoping to have extra people there to help if something like this were to happen.

Kemnitz said there will be a radio system that multiple people at the fairground will have access to so they can communicate with one another for these situations as well.

Finally, the commissioners discussed the concerns from residents that have been brought to them about the wind turbine construction.

One of the main concerns was over concrete being taken to a site at 4 a.m. This concern has come from multiple residents.

Another concern was some of the roads were left in bad condition after construction drivers have used it.

Tim Praska and Christ Nyhuf from Bradley Construction Management were in attendance to answer these concerns.

Nyhuf explained that before the construction had started, it was understood that concrete would be laid at night due to temperature issues. This falls outside of the agreement of working during daylight hours.

Nyhuf said that if they limit putting down concrete from sunup to sundown, it would cause them trouble and would lose concrete from the temperature.

The final decision was that they would continue to lay concrete at night but will notify residents when they do this. They will create a map of what roads will be used when they are going to lay the concrete.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, July 20 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Multiple departments battle house fire in Winside

A total of eight volunteer fire departments, along with a number of local farmers with water trucks, worked to contain a house fire in Winside early Saturday morning.

According to Winside Fire Chief Don Skokan, a call came in at approximately 3 a.m. of a fire on the porch of a house.

At that time, firefighters from Winside, Hoskins, Carroll and Wayne worked to get the blaze under control. The fire at that time was hot enough to melt some of the siding on the house next door.

Firefighters were on scene until approximately 6 a.m. when it was believed the fire was out.

7:15 and took care of a flare up.

They were called back to the scene again at approximately 8:30 and shortly after that mutual aid was requested.

Firefighters from Winside, Carroll, Hoskins, Wayne, Randolph, Pierce, Wakefield and Stanton worked to get the fire under control.

Water was brought in by F&S Farms, Owens Farms, Helena, the Carroll Fire Department and Hoskins Fire Department. Additionally, water was brought in from MPM Farms.

The house was considered a total loss.

There were two adults and two children in the home when the fire broke out. They were able to get out and there were no injuries reported.

In addition to the firefighters, assistance was provided by the Wayne County Sheriff's Office and the Red Cross.

Obituaries

Dale Robert Krusemark

Dale Robert Krusemark, 94, of Pender, died Tuesday, June 29, 2021, surrounded by his family at his home in Pender.

Services were held Wednesday, July 7 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Pender, with Pastor Karen McNeill-Utech officiating. Burial with military honors was in Rosehill Cemetery in Pender.

Arrangements are under the direction of Munderloh-Smith Funeral Home in Pender.

Dale Robert Krusemark was born Feb. 12, 1927 in Pender to Fred L. and Emma Rose (Fuscher) Krusemark. Dale was baptized on June 5, 1927 and was confirmed on March 17, 1940 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Pender. He attended and graduated from Pender High School in 1944. Dale served in the United States Army during the Korean War. Dale married Margaret "Peggy" (Buchholz) on Jan. 3, 1951, in Caledonia, Minnesota. Together the couple had three children, Jacqueline "Jackie", Dale "Scott", and Robin.

Dale was a lifelong farmer and cattle feeder in northeast Nebraska and was the founder of JDR Farms, Inc. He was proud of his military history and was an active member in the Pender Legion and VFW. On Memorial Day weekend, Dale would provide everyone helping setup flags with donuts to show his appreciation for their help. Dale and Peggy enjoyed traveling all over the world and traveling on many cruise ships with their family and friends and would occasionally stop at a casino and play the slot machines. Dale liked hosting parties and spoiling his children and grandchildren. Dale enjoyed his daily stops down to Smith's Farm Service to get the "News of the Day" from his friends and occasionally snag a big bag of popcorn to bring home.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret "Peggy" Krusemark of Pender; son, Dale "Scott" (Joanne) Krusemark of Wisner; daughters, Jacqueline "Jackie" (Gene) Elsassner of Springdale, Arkansas, Robin (Gager) Christiansen of Pender; grandchildren, Joel Elsassner, Jaime Elsassner, Jodi Morrison, Brandie Krusemark, Jona Keeler, Karlee Peterson, Cole Christiansen; nine great-grandsons; one great-granddaughter; one great-great-granddaughter; sister, Barbara Greve of Wayne; brother, Larry (Dorothy) Krusemark of Pender.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, Donald (Miriam) Krusemark; and a brother-in-law, Howard Greve.

Verdelle M. Reeg

Verdelle M. Reeg, 95, of Wayne, died Wednesday, June 30, 2021 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services were held Wednesday, July 7 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to a cause of your choice, Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid, St. Paul Lutheran Church (Winside) or Greenwood Cemetery Association.

Arrangements were with Hase-mann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Verdelle Mae Reeg was born June 16, 1926 in Wayne County to Florenz and Paula (Roggenbach) Niemann. She was baptized and confirmed at Theophilus Evangelical Church near Winside. It was at Theophilus Sunday School where she first remembers a young prankster named Ray Reeg. She graduated from Winside High School where she cherished friends and special events. One memory was Senior Sneak Day to Lincoln, riding in the back of an open stock truck since gasoline rations were dear during the war.

Verdelle completed study at National Business College in Sioux City, Iowa. Then she worked at the Benthack Hospital where she went into surgery with Dr. Walter to take shorthand notes, a task not mentioned in her job interview. On Easter Sunday 1947, Verdelle and Ray were married at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside. She carried Easter lilies for her bouquet. They farmed northwest of Wayne for 42 years. When daughter, Jana went off to kindergarten, Verdelle began a 30 plus year career as St. Paul's Lutheran Church secretary. She was a Sunday school and VBS teacher as well as a member of Ladies Aid and Lutheran Women's Missionary League. Retiring to town in 1990, Verdelle and Ray enjoyed card clubs and were members of Grace Lutheran Duo Club. She was active in Ladies Aid, Alter Guild, and Acme Club. She especially liked caring for the church plants. She and Ray moved to Wayne Country View senior home in 2015.

Survivors include a daughter, Jana Reeg Steidinger and her husband, Mark, of Menomonee, Wisconsin; brother, Leon Niemann and his wife, Ann, of Lakewood, Colorado; nephew, Paul Niemann of Lakewood, Colorado and Jeff Niemann, and his wife, Perrin and their daughter, Ava Grace of Ft. Collins, Colorado.

She was preceded in death by Ray, her loving husband of almost 65 years; parents; father and mother-in-law, Fred and Mathilde Reeg, and brother-in-law Donald Reeg.

Connie Granquist

Services for Connie L. Granquist, 61, of Wayne, are currently pending with Hase-mann Funeral Home of Wayne.

She died Monday, July 5, 2021 at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk.

Roberta J. Carman

Roberta J. Carman, 101, of Wayne, died Thursday, May 20, 2021 at the Wakefield Health Care Center in Wakefield.

Services will be held Friday, July 9 at 11 a.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. Visitation will be Friday, July 9 from 9 a.m. until service time at the church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Memorials may be directed in care of the Carman family for a later designation.

Arrangements are with Hase-mann Funeral Home of Wayne

Roberta Jeanne (Wert) Carman, was born May 20, 1920 in Otoe County, Nebraska to George J. Wert and Hazel F. Redman, and baptized in the Methodist Church at Elk Creek, Nebraska. She had one sister, Bonita Nadine Tucker. She lived in Idaho and Oregon before moving back to Nebraska. Roberta married Richard Carman at Camp Howze in Texas on April 5, 1944. A graduate of Peru State College, she taught art in Hamburg, Iowa and Tecumseh, Nebraska public elementary and secondary schools. As a licensed cosmetologist, she operated her own shop in Tecumseh. The couple moved to Wayne in 1951. Roberta was active in Our Redeemer and Our Savior Lutheran churches in Wayne, where she served women's auxiliary groups. Roberta assisted and led several civic organizations in Wayne, including leadership of the Wayne High Band Boosters for 20 years. She worked several years at the Wayne Care Center in Social Services and as its Activities Director. As a survivor of her personal battle with cancer, her efforts expanded the local network and nationwide fund-raising projects of Relay for Life and the American Cancer Society. She organized interest groups and taught classes in several creative endeavors: ceramics, photography, bridge, gardening and camping. During her early days living in the country, she developed a love for dressage with her favored American Saddlebred chestnut "Tops," and expanded her equestrian skills through competitive marksmanship events with Richard, both practitioners of the Second Amendment. She also promoted celebrity fan-clubs for several favored entertainers and athletes, including Mickey Gilley and Bart Starr and made no secret of her enjoyment for Husker collegiate athletics.

Another celebrity she cited as influencing her interest in sharpshooting is Wm. F. Cody. From an early age, she recalled, her father George, a hotelier, often hosted Cody and key members of his Wild West troupe, so she carried on a life-long interest in his career, enjoined by several fishing expeditions to his family homestead on the Shoshone River in Wyoming. She was a life-long enthusiast and participant of community bowling leagues, earning recognition and winning team championships with Richard. She and Richard loved traveling across Canada, Mexico and all 50 states.

She was a devoted gamer and competitor, especially the Los Angeles and New York Times crosswords and specialty puzzler editions. Her charity work included knitting hundreds of caps for hospital newborns, and afghans/kitchen cloths/sweaters for distribution through worldwide church social relief agencies. She attained statewide office and recognition in two of her favorite endeavors, wine making and woodworking. One of her greatest interests was serving as a competitor and leader of the Midwest Woodworkers Club for 40 years, attaining a large collection of red, blue, and gold ribbons of first prizes and grand championships.

Survivors include three children, Michael Lynn Carman (MaDonna Carman) of Springfield, Nebraska; Steven Allen Carman (Thomas Magruder), Alexandria, Virginia; and Dawn Melanee Middleton (Alan Middleton) of Windsor, Colorado; two grandchildren: Jennifer (Paul) Broderick and Katherine Middleton; and three great grandchildren: Jocelyn, Xavier, and Gavin.

Roberta and Richard celebrated 70 years of marriage before Richard preceded Roberta in death in 2014.

Pallbearers will be family and friends.

Dwaine H. Rethwisch

Dwaine H. Rethwisch, 92, of Wayne, died Monday, July 5, 2021 at his home at Kinship Pointe in Wayne.

Services will be held Monday, July 12 at 10:30 a.m. at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. Visitation will be Sunday, July 11 from 5 to 7 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne with family present. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be made to the Orphan Grain Train and Grace Lutheran Church.

Arrangements are with Hase-mann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Dwaine Henry Rethwisch was born Nov. 8, 1928 on a farm north of Carroll to Henry and Florence nee Becker Rethwisch and was the first of three children. He received Holy Baptism on Thanksgiving Day at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Carroll by Rev. Brackensieck.

The family moved to a farm west of Wayne in 1936 (didn't have electricity nor running water until 1939 there) and began attending Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. Dwaine was confirmed in 1942 and was part of the class confirmed on Mother's Day in the 'new' church building that was dedicated in March.

Graduating from Wayne District #20 grade school and then Wayne High School, he began farming with his dad as well as traveling with a threshing crew to earn money and became a dealer for Moews Seed Co. On Oct. 6, 1957 he married Carol Mae Peters at Salem Lutheran Church in Fremont. Their union was blessed with five children- Michael, Gregory, Marcia, Steven, and Stuart who were raised on the home place as Dwaine actively farmed until 2002. They also hosted many international students from Egypt, Japan, France, Switzerland, and also for a year from Belgium -Alain Guillot-Pingue who also attended Wayne High School and graduated in 1976. The couple was also involved in a group of five families who continued to meet monthly, fondly called Supper Club, for over 50 years.

Dwaine was active in his community and church throughout his life. He served as secretary and president of School District #51; led Wayne County Hi-Raters 4-H club for 20 years; served on the Wayne County Weed Board for 28 years, often as secretary; Wayne Lions Club - secretary and twice president and was honored to represent the local Lions club in 2013 in Hamburg, Germany. He also served as president of the International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Nebraska host family association and president of the Wayne County Republican Party.

Aiding the church at home and abroad, Dwaine assisted Grace Lutheran in most lay positions, ranging from voting member to assistant usher, trustee, elder, Evangelism Board, and was a Stephen Minister. He was also the current president of Grace's Duo Club. Outside the local congregation, he was treasurer and president of Zone 3 of the Nebraska Lutheran Layman's League and also volunteered time sorting clothes at Orphan Grain Train in Norfolk. After retiring from farming, Dwaine and Carol also did construction on church and school buildings in Nebraska and Texas through Laborers for Christ.

Survivors include Michael and Dana (nee Sheesley) of Blythe, California, Marcia and Jim Brown of Orange, Texas, Steven and Mary (nee Polodna) of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Pastor Stuart and Jennifer (nee Schilmoeller) of Victor, Iowa; grandchildren Cassandra, Adam, and Alesha Rethwisch; Rebecca Brown; Sarah (Josh) Wudtke, Rachel, and Nathan Rethwisch; and Lydia, Elizabeth, Logan, and Elijah Rethwisch; sister-in-law Darlene Johnson of Wayne; nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Henry and Florence; son, Gregory, in a farm accident in 1963; brother Lowell Rethwisch; and his wife of 61 years, Carol, in January of 2019.

Violin player is the next display in the Sculpture Walk

The sixth installment of this series is called "Gotta Practice First" and was created by Lee Leuning and Sherri Treeby.

This sculpture is made of bronze and can be found in front of F&M Bank.

Leuning and Treeby are a duo from Aberdeen, South Dakota. They have created multiple pieces of art together.

Treeby serves as a lead judge for the South Dakota High School Activities Association's State High School Art Competition.

She hosts a free art clinic for children and for adults several times a year at the Sioux Falls and Lake Richmond Studios providing her vast knowledge over many media and all the art materials. Treeby has been twice selected as "Sculptor of the Year" by American Mothers, Inc.

Leuning works on developing wildlife habitat through native prairie grass and wildflowers, shrubbery and trees on his 4 acre Lake Richmond studio grounds.

He is a four-time Tennessee Wildlife Officer of the Year for Region 3 and Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency - State Wildlife Officer of the Year 1986.

Leuning and Treeby reserve a portion of their time away from commissioned artwork to produce two original bronze sculptures of a Norman Rockwell type realism to enter into community year-long sculpture walk venues.

They excel in humorous, and insightful sculptures that have a hidden story, that when the viewer figures it out they feel good about themselves.

Their ability to connect with the common man and make viewing sculpture as really fun has led to their winning a Sioux Falls Sculpture Walk Award or purchase for each of its 16 years.

They are the only artists to have been juried in each and every year. What is truly notable of this achievement is the national status of Sioux Falls Sculpture Walk.

It is by far the largest yearlong exhibit in the US with 56 major artworks downtown, 25 at Avera complex and 20 at Sioux Falls University. Most artists selected are nationally recognized and over 200 apply each year to be able to exhibit in Sioux Falls.

Other Cities Sculpture Walks advertise that they have artwork that made it previously into SFSW.

They are selected every year to appear on television and radio coverage of the opening day of the Walk and to give sculpting demonstrations at the Walk's major fundraisings.

They have been accepted into all of the major Midwest cities that the now increasingly popular art venue is growing into.

They include St. Louis, Springfield, Chesterfield, St. Joe, Marysville, Missouri.; Salina and Hutchinson, Kansas; Mason City and Sioux City, Iowa; Decatur, Indiana; Mankato, St. Cloud, Stillwater, Bemidji, Victoria-Minnesota; Sheridan, Wyoming; Golden, Colorado; Castlegar, B.C. Canada; and Watertown, Yankton, Milbank, South Dakota.

They have won "People's Choice" or judges awards at all these events on a regular basis. To the extent that other artists hate to see that they are entered.

A pickup truck was destroyed by fire after fireworks left in the bed of the truck caught fire Sunday night.

Fireworks cause fire in truck

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department responded to a fire on Pine Heights at approximately 11:15 p.m. on July 4.

According to Wayne Fire Chief Phil Monahan, fireworks that were left in the bed of a pickup truck caught the bed liner on fire.

The fire quickly spread and the truck was considered a total loss.

Approximately 15 Wayne Volunteer firefighters responded to the call and remained on scene for approximately one hour.

Wayne Police Department and Wayne County Sheriff's Office were also on scene.

Our antiviral Founding Father discussed

When the Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776, the American colonies still needed to win the Revolutionary War to truly gain their independence from the British Empire. The war continued another seven years until Sept. 3, 1783. One of the deadliest threats to the Continental Army, however, was not the British Army, it was disease, especially smallpox.

Boston had an outbreak of smallpox in 1775 from British Redcoats arriving to fight the rebellion. George Washington knew very well the dangers of smallpox after having had it himself as a young man, which left scars on his face. To keep his soldiers safe, Washington did not allow anyone from Boston near his troops. Washington wrote to John Hancock, the president of the Continental Congress, that he would "continue the utmost vigilance against this most dangerous enemy." Later, when the British withdrew from Boston, Washington allowed only soldiers with immunity into the city.

Most of the Continental Army had never had smallpox while most of the Redcoats had. This put the Americans at a big disadvantage. An attempt by the Continental Army to take Quebec failed in part because of heavy losses due to smallpox. In fact, General John Thomas died of smallpox in July 1776.

This was before the advancement of vaccinations. However, there was a procedure known as variolation, an early form of vaccination which involved exposing a cut on the recipient's arm to a small dose of the virus, hopefully just enough to trigger immunity without causing severe illness or death. The procedure was illegal in many places including Washington's home state of Virginia.

Washington knew they could not afford to lose more soldiers to smallpox. Thus, despite push back from the Continental Congress, Washington ordered this primitive form of vaccination for the entire army, and by the end of 1777 more than 40,000 soldiers had received it. Infection of the army dropped from 20 percent to one percent and lawmakers repealed bans of variolation for smallpox across the colonies.

The Prairie Doc
By Andrew Ellsworth, M.D.

George Washington's efforts at quarantine and primitive vaccination helped protect the Continental Army from disease which helped them eventually defeat the British Army and earn independence for the United States of America.

The war on COVID-19 may take several years as well. History shows how vaccination can be a great weapon against disease. Unfortunately, many remain unvaccinated, and hundreds in the U.S. continue to die each day. We need to rally both nationally and locally, to unite our efforts so we can gain our independence from Covid-19.

It's amazing the positive impact those small things can have on people and how they talk about our great community to others.

Budget Work

The City department heads have all met with Finance Director Beth Porter and me to discuss each of their department's budget requests for 2021-2022.

Beth now puts these requests together along with personnel costs, property insurance, bond payments, etc. to formulate a budget document to take to the City Council for discussion. Next, the Council will meet at budget workshops on July 20 and Aug. 3 (after the regular Council meetings) to discuss the budget for the next fiscal year (Oct 1, 2021 - Sept. 30, 2022).

Each Department Head submits a write up for the Council to review regarding each of their substantial budget requests. After the workshops, Beth takes the comments and figures from the Council and finalizes a draft to be acted upon at a future meeting.

The public is always welcome and encouraged to attend these budget sessions/workshops. If you can't make it but want to have input on next year's budget, reach out to your elected officials directly, or contact City Hall, and we will make sure to pass the information along to the Mayor and Council.

Pine Heights Project

The Pine Heights project will begin on July 19. This project will be phased-in and will be a difficult project to coordinate with paving, storm sewer, sanitary sewer and water lines all being upgraded for approximately a block and a half. The project should be complete in October sometime.

As with all projects please have patience, and feel free to reach out to the City should any issues come up with the project. Thank you in advance for your understanding with the inconvenience.

Wayne 12U struggles at Class C state tourney to end season

By Mark Vrbicky

The Wayne 12U Dirt Devils' appearance at the Class C State Softball Tournament in Hastings this past weekend was short-lived, as the local girls went 0-3 in their games to end the season with a final record of 18-15.

Any glimpse of hope Wayne had of remaining in the state tourney was quickly diminished by the Aurora Edge Red Saturday afternoon. With Wayne trailing by just two runs after three innings, Aurora put up eight runs in the top of the fourth to pull away for good, defeating the Devils, 18-10, in a game that featured lots of hits and lots of runs between the two squads - a combined 28 of each.

Courtney Roeber had three hits to lead the Wayne bats. Justice Olson, Kinnley McGuire, Alex Legler and Anna Dutcher also contributed with two hits apiece.

Jordyn Gamble took the pitching loss, tossing the softball for three and a third innings where she struck out three batters, walked seven and allowed 15 runs on nine hits.

In their second game of the state tournament on Saturday morning, the Dirt Devils outhit the Pierce Pacers, 8-1, but somehow managed to let the game slip away as Pierce got the 5-4 win in a walk-off.

had two hits for the Wayne 12s.

Taking the loss on the hill was Reagan McGuire who pitched for four and two-thirds innings where she sat seven Pierce batters and surrendered five runs on one hit.

Things got off to a rocky start for the local girls in their opening game of the tournament last Friday night against the Central City Stampede. Central City put up nine runs in the first two innings and outhit Wayne, 14-2, to cruise to a 13-0 victory over the Devils.

Gamble put up Wayne's only hits with a pair of singles. K. McGuire surrendered nine runs on nine hits, striking out two Stampede batters over two innings to take the pitching loss.

Wayne's 12U team had better luck in its preparations leading up to state, taking two games in a doubleheader at Wisner last Tuesday, June 29.

A 10-run third inning really put Wayne over the top of the host squad in a 13-8 victory in game one.

Sidney Nelson, Makenna Mattison, Legler, Gamble and Olson all had hits in the win.

Gamble was the winning pitcher, going three innings where she sat eight batters and allowed two runs on two hits.

The second contest favored the Dirt Devils early, as they put up nine runs in the top of the first inning and kept Wisner at bay the rest of the way to take the "W," 12-2.

Gamble was Wayne's top hitter with a double, a single and two RBIs.

R. McGuire got the win from the mound, pitching a complete game with nine K's, seven walks and two runs allowed on one hit over four innings.

Wayne Seniors finish 3rd in Ralph Bishop League tourney

By Mark Vrbicky

The Wayne Seniors went 2-1 during last week's Ralph Bishop League Tournament, closing things out on a high note with a 5-4 victory over Columbus Lakeview in extra innings on Saturday afternoon in the consolation final at Pierce.

The Blue Devils (12-4), trailing by three runs heading into the sixth, caught up to Lakeview during that inning, highlighted by a home run from James Dorcey, who provided the offensive spark to keep Wayne's hopes alive. With the game tied and Wayne Post 43 batting in the top of the eighth, Blake Bartos doubled on a 2-1 count to bring in what would end up being the winning run.

The Devil Seniors tallied 11 hits on the day. Dorcey went 3-for-5 at the plate to lead the charge, followed by Max Miller and Jake Kneifl, who both made two hits.

Kneifl started the game for Wayne on the mound. He surrendered four runs on eight hits over five and two-thirds innings where he struck out six batters.

The Blue Devils had to settle for the third place game after falling to Pierce, 8-4, the night before during the divisional final in Wayne.

Wayne led 4-0 after the opening inning, but Pierce put up three runs in the top of the second and then tied things up in the third when Dorcey threw a wild pitch, which allowed a runner to come across the plate. Pierce pulled away for good with four runs in the fourth inning.

Reid Korth, Toby Braun and Bartos accounted for Wayne's three hits in the contest. Dorcey started the game toeing the rubber for Post 43. He struck out two and allowed eight runs off four hits over three and a third innings.

As the top seed in the north division of the RBL tournament bracket, Wayne used its extra day of rest to its advantage in an 11-4 win over Ponca during their second round matchup, played last Tuesday, June 29, at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

The Blue Devil Seniors put up five runs in a decisive fifth inning thanks to singles from Bartos, Dorcey and Kneifl. Dorcey went 3-for-4 at the plate to lead Wayne, which accrued 10 hits overall.

Kneifl recorded nine K's and allowed just one run off three hits over five innings to pick up the pitching win. Korth and Bartos later entered the game from the bullpen and helped close out the game in relief.

The Blue Devils were next scheduled to host Wisner-Pilger/Howells-Dodge Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in Wayne.

14U Dirt Devils ready for state tournament in Hastings this weekend

By Mark Vrbicky

The Wayne 14-under Dirt Devils have been preparing for the Class C State Tournament in Hastings this weekend. And, if their play in a triangular at Wisner last Tuesday, June 29, is any indication, it seems like they're ready.

Wayne shut out both Wisner and Logan View in dominant fashion that day to improve to 22-8 on the year.

In the first game against Wisner, the Dirt Devils got off to a slow start with a scoreless first inning. Once someone found the "on" switch for the bats, they were off to the races, putting up seven runs in both the second and the fourth to cruise to a 16-0 win over the host squad.

Taytem Ellis and Rylin Hall led the Wayne 14s with four and three hits, respectively. Ellis also accounted for five RBIs.

Sammi Gubbels threw for eight strikeouts in the pitcher's circle.

The second game against Logan View was just a continuation of the first, with Wayne only needing two at bats to put away its opponent in a 16-0 thrashing.

Everyone seemed to be invited to the hit party, with the Devils tallying 10 of them, just as they did

High school students get exposed to health care careers through Northeast's summer expos

Approximately 60 high school students from across the region had the opportunity to get exposure to various careers in the health care industry recently. Northeast Community College held its annual Health and Wellness Summer Expos on its campuses in Norfolk and South Sioux City.

"Working in health care can be rewarding," said Dr. Karen Weidner, interim dean of health and wellness and director of nursing. "Through Northeast's summer expos, students in grades 9-12 explored several health care-related careers through hands-on activities that were led by instructors and health care professionals. It really showcased potential opportunities that can lead to a successful and fulfilling career."

Four Northeast Community College program areas were featured during each of the two-day expos – Physical Therapist Assistant, Nursing, EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) / Paramedic, and Health Information Management Systems (HIMS).

Students had a chance to participate in hands-on activities, ask questions and learn from professionals in various fields of health care, become certified in cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR), meet other students interested in health care, and visit one-on-one with faculty about the college application process, admission requirements and student experience.

The Physical Therapist Assistant activities were focused around a scenario of a patient with osteoarthritis (OA) who had a total hip arthroplasty (THA).

"The students were divided in groups and each group was charged with a different task of searching and sharing information about the scenario such as: What is OA? What is a THA," said Laura Schwanebeck, PTA program director/instructor. "One group searched YouTube videos of patients receiving physical therapy after surgery

After the group work, the students moved into the lab where students practiced activities related to transfer training, donning and doffing compression stockings, patient education, and a progression of physical therapy exercises. The students were given handouts of the information and a crossword puzzle to complete later in an attempt to pull all the information together.

EMS/Paramedic activities focused on a patient in cardiac arrest. Students were divided into groups to practice all of the skills and use of equipment an EMT or paramedic may need to use when called to a scene where a patient has no pulse and is not breathing. Once the students learned how to assess the patient and start CPR, they learned how to attach a LUCAS mechanical compression device, ventilate a patient with a bag valve mask, insert both oral and "King" airways, place and secure a patient to a backboard, and transfer a patient to an ambulance stretcher and into the ambulance.

Once this was done, Carol Rodenburg, director of the EMS/Paramedic program, said students simulated an entire cardiac arrest call. "They learned why certain interventions were necessary and how to perform them, and the need for rapid responses," she said. "They also experienced the amount of bending and lifting a paramedic needs to do, as well as how to make order out of chaos to ultimately save a life."

In the field of nursing

For the field of nursing, students learned how to properly put on and take off personal protective equipment, administer intramuscular injections, change a wound dressing, and remove staples.

"We wrapped up the day with a virtual Escape Room where students applied what they had learned," Weidner said. On the second day, students earned a certificate in Basic Life Support."

Heather Claussen, director of Allied health, said the HIMS section of the expo focused on helping the student answer the question, "What is Health Information Management?"

Students looked at the types careers in HIMS such as Coding and Revenue Cycle, Informatics, Data Analytics and Information Governance," she said. "For many of them, this was their first experience with HIMS and they had the opportunity to get a better understanding of how Patientcare Records and the Healthcare System work."

Students from 26 area communities participated in the two expos. Cities include Bancroft, Bassett, Battle Creek, Clearwater, Coleridge, Columbus, Dakota City, Hartington, Humphrey, Jackson, Laurel, Meadow Grove, Monroe, Norfolk, Oakland, O'Neill, Osmond, Pender, Pierce, Platte Center, Ponca, South Sioux City, Stanton, Tilden, Wakefield, and Walthill.

Didgets

Wayne Blue

Wayne's Blue Didgets (10-1) earned a first round bye as the No. 2 seed in the Upper Division bracket of the Tri-Co League tourney. They were scheduled to face the 10th seeded West Point Patriots (7-4) Tuesday night in second round action.

Wayne White

The Wayne White Didget baseball team was eliminated in the opening round of the Tri-County League Tournament with a 9-8 loss to North Bend Orange last Thursday in North Bend.

Wayne White ends its season with a final record of 6-6.

Broncos

Wayne Blue

The Wayne Blue Bronco squad advanced to the championship game of the Tri-County League tourney's Lower Division bracket after defeating Logan View Gold, 11-6, in the semifinals last Wednesday, June 30.

Wayne Blue (6-7) was set to host Bancroft/Lyons (5-8) in the 7 p.m. tournament final on Wednesday at the Wayne Summer Sports Complex.

Wayne White

Wayne White saw its season come to an end at the hands of Schuyler's Bronco baseball club in the Upper Division's second round of the Tri-Co League Tournament. Schuyler (10-1) scored a walk-off run in the bottom of the sixth inning to vanquish Wayne, 9-8, last Wednesday, June 30, in Schuyler.

Will Patefield took the pitching loss for Wayne White, lasting five and two-thirds innings where he allowed nine runs on seven hits while striking out 10 batters.

Dylan Jensen, Jenner Dorey, Herwin Bernal and Patefield were responsible for Wayne's four hits in the game. Jackson McMenamin accounted for two of Wayne's five stolen bases in the contest.

Wayne White finishes its year with a 7-5 final record.

Ponies

Wayne Blue

The Wayne Blue Pony ball club advanced to the second round of the Tri-County League Ponies Tournament with a 16-6 defeat of Schuyler last Thursday in Wayne.

Kaden Keller made four hits for Wayne, which racked up 16 total in the victory. Jamison Meyer pitched for three innings where he allowed two runs off two hits while sitting six Schuyler batters.

Wayne White (9-3) hosted Pierce (4-8) Tuesday night in the tournament quarterfinals.

Wayne White

The Wayne White Ponies (8-4) easily moved on to the Tri-Co League tourney's quarterfinals with a 12-4 win over Bancroft/Lyons last Thursday at the Wayne Summer Sports Complex.

Wayne outhit its opponent, 9-3, led by three hits from Gavin Redden, who also registered four RBIs. Wayne White was set to face West Point (8-4) in a second round game Tuesday evening in Wayne.

Nebraska powered through together Capitol View

On March 13, 2020, I issued a proclamation declaring a State of Emergency related to the coronavirus pandemic. The State of Emergency existed over the last year to help Nebraska mobilize resources to respond to the pandemic. This is a separate measure from the State's Directed Health Measures (DHMs), which ended a few weeks ago. The DHMs had included quarantine directions and other restrictions that varied over the course of the event. Last week, I announced that the State of Emergency would end on June 30, 2021, removing the last official pandemic measure issued by the State of Nebraska.

Gov. Pete Ricketts

Looking back over the course of the pandemic, Nebraskans did what they do best by pulling together. In spite of the circumstances surrounding the virus, our state did very well. We slowed the spread of the virus. According to the Kaiser Family Foundation, we had the third lowest coronavirus fatality rate in the nation among people who contracted the disease. Our state now has the second lowest unemployment rate in the nation at 2.6%, which is the lowest unemployment rate for Nebraska since 1999. We achieved all this without a stay-at-home order, without a statewide mask mandate, and with no vaccine mandate or passport system.

While I oppose vaccine mandates, I firmly believe that vaccines work and people should get vaccinated. Coronavirus is here to stay forever, and the vaccines can help keep people healthy. There are a couple of reasons why I oppose vaccine mandates. Right now, the vaccines are still under emergency use authorizations. And regardless of whenever it may receive full authorization, there will always be some people who cannot take the vaccine for personal health reasons. I continue to encourage Nebraskans to take responsibility for their own health, and to visit with their doctor about the vaccine to learn more about it and what is right for their health.

As the last vestiges of the pandemic fall away, Nebraskans can expect a few changes in the coming days.

First, Executive Orders (EO) that I issued during the pandemic are coming to an end. With the emergency ending, generally all remaining Executive Orders will expire July 30. There are some limited exceptions that will continue. My EO regarding telehealth will continue through Aug. 27 at 11:59pm CT. The Legislature enacted LB 400 and LB 487 to make permanent changes, and these bills take effect on August 28th. Two EOs related to ease of doing business and complying with federal requirements regarding unemployment will continue into next year to allow the Legislature to pass LB 567, which makes permanent changes to improve our unemployment system.

Second, I have laid out some expectations for school in the fall. Over the last 12 months, we had a very successful school year. Nebraska had the sixth-highest rate of kids learning in person in K-12 schools during the 2020-2021 academic year. The University of Nebraska was one of the first major university systems in the nation to announce a return to in-person learning. I've gotten many questions from Nebraskans about measures some education systems are weighing in the fall. I want to be clear that I have three key expectations: Learning will be in person; no masks will be required - even for those who are unvaccinated; and school systems shouldn't mandate the vaccine.

Third, the state is winding down our Test Nebraska operation. This initiative provided no-cost, barrier-free coronavirus testing to Nebraskans for over a year during the pandemic. It delivered hundreds of thousands of free tests to Nebraskans, and helped hospitals and schools provide access to testing along the way. The last day to get a test will be July 18 before the operation closes down on July 31.

Fourth, Local Health Departments (LHD) will be returning to more normal operations now that much of their work regarding the virus is wrapping up. At my press conference this week, I announced that I am encouraging LHDs to retire their risk dials as life returns to normal. The risk dials were used to calculate restrictions and other requirements by businesses and organizations.

Finally, I want to strongly urge private businesses and other organizations to drop any remaining coronavirus restrictions moving forward. There are certainly important habits such as handwashing and staying home when you feel ill that we can all continue to practice. But it's time for the other measures to fall away. Whether you play college sports or work in private business, it's time to move forward. While many organizations can move forward on their own, it's important to note that there are some facilities that are still governed by federal rules. These include airports governed by the Transportation Security Administration and skilled nursing facilities, which have to follow federal rules from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

As we look back on all we've been through, I believe Nebraskans can be proud of the work everyone did over the last year. We helped keep people healthy while living a more normal life. We came together and avoided many of the battles and controversies that ensnared other places. And above all, we protected hospital capacity.

If you have thoughts you'd like to share on this topic or any other, please email me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or call 402-471-2244. Together, we powered through this difficult chapter with strength, grit, and resilience.

The Legislature has adjourned. Football season hasn't started. Awkward time in Nebraska, but there's still a lot going on.

There's drama at Memorial Stadium where popular University of Nebraska Athletic Director Bill Moos has retired or been retired. It was all so sudden for folks who believed the 70-year-old with big plans for the future of the sprawling athletic complex on the Lincoln campus would finish his career here, but not abruptly.

It is just so hard not to read a dramatic scenario into what may really just be a retirement. Moos admitted that navigating the ship through the Coronavirus Pandemic was tiring.

He said he was told the end of June would be the best time for the University to accept his retirement. I'm not buying it. We'll just have to see what leaks out.

Just a week after public appearances by four finalists for the job, the Capital City has its first female police chief ever. The mayor tabbed 55-year-old Teresa Ewins of San Francisco for the top job.

She's leaving a 25-year career as a commander with the California police department where she was responsible for more than 600 police officers.

She'll be in charge of 350 in Lincoln's department, which officially started in 1870. She said only about 1 percent of the police chiefs in the United States are women.

She received the endorsement of the Lincoln Police Union. She apparently impressed those who interacted with her by saying she wants to be the "communicator-in-chief." That's commendable and I hope it works for all concerned.

Senator discusses proposed Health Education Standards

Happy 245th Birthday America! I stand eternally grateful to have been born and raised in the most amazing place on earth! We appreciate the military who allow us to be the home of the free and the land of the brave.

This week I joined forces with 29 other State Senators to take a public stand in opposition to the Nebraska Department of Education's new Health Education Standards.

Thursday morning, July 1, the following press release was sent out to media outlets across the state.

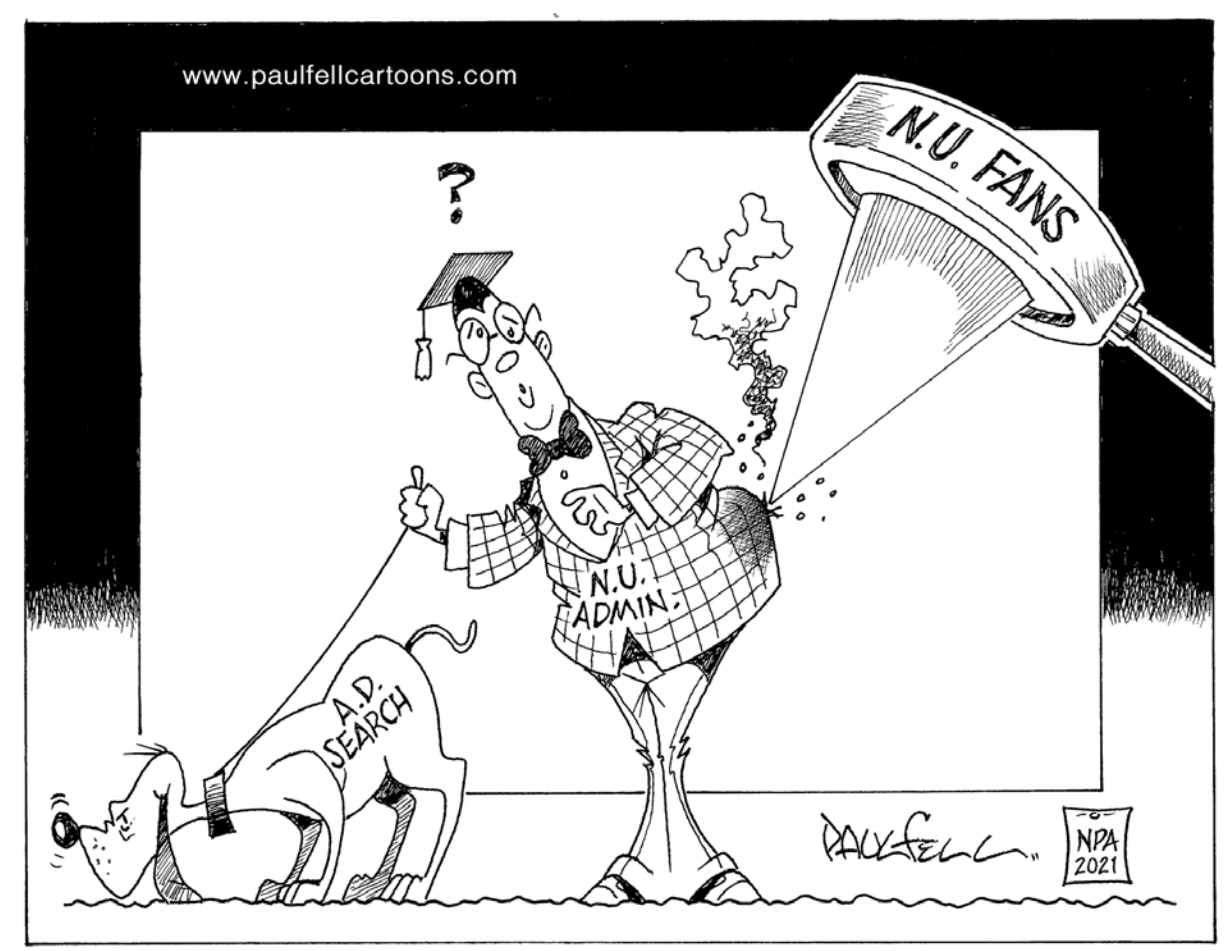

Thirty Nebraska State Senators stand together in support of Resolution for school boards across the state to oppose Nebraska Department of Education's new Health Standards.

Nebraskans have spoken loud and clear—they do not want their children subjected to the Health Education Standards proposed by the Nebraska Department of Education.

To our disappointment, despite three months of feedback from parents, the NDE has not been responsive to their objections and concerns.

But Nebraskans can always count on parents and local school boards to take action. The Nebraska State Senators listed below respect parents as the first educators of their children.

We therefore call on local school

The Governor says it's time to get back to normal. He has let the state of emergency declared in March 2020 because of the pandemic expire.

He said he wants to see kids back in the classroom without masks whether or not they have been vaccinated. Nebraska had 224,330 recorded cases of Coronavirus and 2,259 deaths.

To his credit, he did tell the media that "the vaccine works." In what may not seem of consequence to Nebraskans, Kearney native Jon Bokenkamp -- the creator of the popular NBC television drama "The Blacklist" -- announced that he was stepping down as co-producer and exiting the show after eight highly successful seasons.

"The Blacklist" launched in 2013, with Megan Boone starring as FBI agent Elizabeth "Liz" Keen alongside James Spader as criminal mastermind Raymond "Red" Reddington. Season 8 ended with Keen killed off.

With a ninth season on the horizon and a controversial season finale in the books, fans might wonder what will become of their favorite show when it returns this fall.

Bokenkamp's parting statement said he "genuinely believes the series remains full of life, creatively strong, and that bright days lie ahead." I'm a big James Spader fan, but we'll see if he can carry the load by himself.

Finally, July 8-11 is the 100th anniversary celebration of Oregon Trail Days in Gering. Trail Days board member Bill Schlaepfer said, "Oregon Trail Days is the longest, continuous running celebration in Nebraska." Further, he called it "Western Nebraska's safe, fun-filled weekend."

Perhaps the best thing about the venue is that you can actually see the Oregon Trail from Gering.

children, especially in matters of faith and morals, including sex education; and

(b) The school district is to support and assist the education of children, not to replace the parent or guardian; and

(c) The Nebraska Department of Education has proposed Health Education Standards which could infringe on parent's and guardian's role as primary educators of their own children; and

(d) Parents and guardians in this district have voiced their concerns over some of the proposed

Standards, making it clear that they do not intend to relinquish their role as primary educators of their own children; and

(e) Parents and guardians who support some or all of the proposed Health Education Standards have every right and every opportunity to avail themselves of any and all educational material necessary to educate their own children in a manner consistent with the proposed Health Education Standards from the Nebraska Department of Education, and their right and ability to do so is not adversely affected by this District's decision to decline the adoption of the proposed Health Education Standards.

Section 2. The Board hereby directs and determines that the District will not adopt or utilize the Health Education Standards proposed by the Nebraska Department of Education.

The District will make its own determinations regarding the content of its health education curriculum.

Section 3. At such time as the Nebraska Department of Education removes all content which promotes ideological positions on human sexuality, the District will consider the adoption of new Health Education Standards.

RESOLVED on this ____ day of _____, 2021

Again, I strongly encourage all Nebraskans to read the Standards and inform themselves about content that is being considered.

Take some time to review the entire document for yourself and let the State Department of Education know what you think.

A draft of the Health Education Standards are available for review at: <https://www.education.ne.gov/health/health-education-standards-development/>.

You can submit a formal comment by emailing nde.standardsinput@nebraska.gov.

The most important step you can take moving forward is to contact your state and local school board members and representatives and ask them to sign on the Resolution rejecting the first draft of the proposed Health Education Standards.

AN END TO COVID-19

This week, Governor Pete Ricketts announced that the State of Emergency implemented in March of 2020 would end on June 30, 2021, removing the last official pandemic measure issued by the State of Nebraska.

Isn't it wonderful to be on the other side of this unprecedented event. We will never forget how we made it through together!

Wayne Boy, 9, Finds Stamp Collecting Instructive Hobby

Johnny Kessler, age nine, began collecting stamps when he was seven. He took after his older sister, Linda, who also collected stamps since she was nine as well. It first started after his teacher gave him semi-rare stamps and he then had 400 stamps in his book after. He specialized in United States stamps. Kessler's oldest stamp was from 1861 with George Washington's face on it. His stamp that is worth the most money was a 1919 Franklin one. The first stamp to appear to Kessler was an Olympic stamp that showed a man sprinting in a Los Angeles athletic meet. His favorite presidential stamps include one with Harding and another with Coolidge on it. He received his stamps from Ohio and Wayne and was expecting some stamps from the west coast as well.

Progress Fatal for First City Established in This County

The first county seat of government here, LaPorte, was located two miles south and four miles east of Wayne and was once a flourishing community. Willard Graves traveled to Nebraska in 1867 trying to find help for his severe rheumatism. He loved the area and tried to convince others to travel here. Many families from Illinois, Iowa and Missouri started to settle new LaPorte. New buildings started going up such as a postoffice, courthouse and a bank. The community held different events like quilting bees, debates, clubs and singing contests. They also suffered from many different issues going on. Some of the obstacles they faced were severe winters, cyclones, droughts, etc. After the addition of a railroad, more people started moving to Wayne and LaPorte slowly became deserted.

Thomas Mercers Now Serving Springbank Church in Allen

Pastor and Mrs. Thomas Mercer arrived in Allen June 23 to serve the 60 members of the Springbank Friends Church which is located two miles east of town. Mercer, who delivered his first sermon Sunday morning, is no stranger to the Allen area. In the summer of 1968, he had assisted the Rev. Phyllis Hickman who was serving pastor at that time. Mercers are replacing Keith and Judy Morse who are now serving at Hay Springs Friends Church. Morses had been in Allen a year.

Danes Study American Education

It's something of a busman's holiday for 33 Danish educators spending two weeks at Wayne State College. They are studying American education - its philosophy, techniques and equipment. One of the techniques they practiced was micro teaching with television. Just as Wayne students practice the micro teaching technique, the Danes watched a videotape playback of each lesson and then shared comments on their proficiency.

Sparking interest in STEM through animals and literacy

What sparks your curiosity? What sparks the curiosity of your children? I would venture to guess that nature and animals might rank pretty high on the list of interests for you and the children you work with every day. Using animals and nature with children is a wonderful opportunity to teach empathy, conservation and environmental stewardship. Fortunately, Nebraska Extension has an exciting early childhood resource to share with you this year around animals and their habitats. This year, we are thrilled to provide eight guides highlighting habitats such as the tundra, rainforest, and desert.

Nebraska Extension has created this great resource for parents, early childhood professionals, care takers, grandparents, and anyone who loves to read with young children that ties directly with local libraries' summer reading programs. Summer reading programs are taking place right now and the theme across the state is Tails and Tales. Our STEM Imagination Guides are designed to provide several opportunities to connect with each year's theme by featuring:

- Familiar storybook suggestions: The stories that have been selected for each guide are well-known stories and often children's favorites. It is okay if you child has already heard the story prior to taking part in the lesson. Sharing a story multiple times helps children develop language and listening skills.
- Conversation starters: When a two-way conversation is initiated with children during story time, participation in dialogic reading is encouraged. Open-ended questions are provided in each lesson to foster dialogic reading which has tremendous academic and social-emotional benefits for young children.
- STEM connection experiments: Children love finding out how things work through fun, hands-on projects. The experiment included in each guide relates to the featured habitat and teaches a variety of STEM concepts that are engaging and educational.
- Sensory explorations: Sensory play stimulates children's senses and is important for brain development. During the suggested sensory activities, chil-

Cedar County

children use multiple senses which allows them to learn more from their experiences and retain more information.

• Music and movement activities: Research shows that music ignites all areas of child development and enhances skills for school readiness. Not only is singing songs and playing games fun, but these activities also encourage self-expression and physical activity.

• Creative arts investigations: When children create pictures of stories that they have read, comprehension improves and often motivates children to want to read and interact with books even more. Art is an early form of communication. Creative art suggestions allow children to express themselves and make meaningful connections with the stories.

• Additional related readings: Since each of the Imagination Guides focus on a different habitat, children often have additional questions and are interested in learning MORE! Supplemental fiction and nonfiction books are suggested so children can expand their knowledge.

The STEM Imagination Guides can be utilized in a variety of ways. No need to panic if you do not have access to the featured storybook. Consider listening to the story online or sharing the story orally from memory. Each Imagination Guide has a variety of options and can be customized to meet the needs and interests of the children in your care. Incorporate all of the activities or just a few. It is up to you! The shared reading experience and creative play opportunities are sure to create an excitement for animals as well as foster a joy for reading.

All of these resources are free and available for download and print at <https://go.unl.edu/imagination>. This website also houses the previous year's resources focusing on fairy tales. This website is like a treasure chest of great literacy and STEM resources right at your fingertips. All Imagination Guides, whether from this year or previous years can be utilized at no cost. Enjoy this year's habitat exploration!

Summer reading activities continue at the Lied Winside Public Library

Two special events are being planned at the Lied Winside Public Library in coming weeks.

On Tuesday, July 13 at 6:30 p.m. Tammy Marshall will read from two of her published books and describe her writing process with her novels and newspaper column.

She will also give a preview of her two new books and have a question and answer session. Books will be available for sale.

The event will be held at the Library Meeting Room, located at 417 Main Street in Winside.

A second presentation, sponsored by Humanities Nebraska, will be held Tuesday, July 20 at 6 p.m. It will provide information on Nebraska's Historical Monuments

The rich and diverse history and heritage of the state of Nebraska as told through its often secluded historical monuments and markers is the subject of a Lied Winside Public Library presentation for Tuesday, July 20, at 6 p.m. The talk is free and open to the public.

Marking Nebraska: Our (Mostly) Hidden Historical Monuments by historian Jeff Barnes is a review of the state's earliest historical markers, from setting its borders to marking its trails to honoring its people. Drawing from his site visits and photographs collected from across the state, Barnes shares some of the more interesting, colorful, and even controversial ways Nebraskans told their stories through boulders, tablets, plaques, and statues.

The presentation is in conjunction with Barnes's newest book, Cut in Stone, Cast in Bronze: Nebraska's Historical Markers and Monuments. Sponsored by the Nebraska State Historical Society Foundation, the book is a full-color, comprehensive guide to the nearly 300 monuments, statues, markers, and plaques erected and placed across the state from Territorhood to the 1967 Centennial in commemoration of historical events, places, and people. In addition to the photographs of the markers and the history behind them, Barnes has included the locations and GPS coordinates to allow for site visits.

"Many of these sites are in remote locations far from towns and cities," said Barnes. "I think with the 'social distancing' that we're encouraged to adopt, seeing these monuments in natural settings that haven't changed greatly is a great Nebraska weekend adventure."

Barnes is also the author of Forts of the Northern Plains, The Great Plains Guide to Custer, The Great Plains Guide to Buffalo Bill, Extra Innings: The Story of Modisett Ball Park and 150 @ 150: Nebraska's Landmark Buildings at the State's Sesquicentennial.

A fifth-generation Nebraskan and former newspaper reporter and editor, Barnes writes and lives in Omaha. He is a past trustee of the Nebraska State Historical Society, former chairman of the Nebraska Hall of Fame Commission, and former marketing director of the Durham Museum.

Quilt raffle to support Dixon County Fair

By Cris Bathke

The Dixon County Ag Society is currently conducting a Quilt Raffle for a quilt that will be raffled off Saturday, July 31.

The raffle is scheduled to take place in front of the grandstands at the Fair Ground in Concord, before the National Anthem is sung at the start of the Demolition Derby.

Diane Peterson has pieced together a Scrap Sample Quilt sashed together with Friendship Stars.

For some time now, the fair grounds has been without an office. Peterson wanted to help raise funds to build a new office building that can house the quilts entered as exhibits for the fair. She approached the board with a "can-do" offer and with her talents, asked Thrivent Lutheran to supply funds for the materials.

Peterson pieced the quilt top together and the quilt top was quilted by Carol Fuoss as a donation to the project. The Dixon County Ag Society now has a beautiful quilt. Those interested in purchasing raffle tickets can go to a local bank and purchase raffle tickets in the area.

Peterson is a quilter who wanted to donate her efforts and quilt to the "home" fair where she has exhibited her hobby for the last 40 years.

Diane said, "Everyone can do something, and this is what I do... quilting." She chose the Friendship Star as it was symbolic of the Dixon County Fair. Friends and family are able to congregate, and the 4-H'ers are the stars of the community. Each star has been stitched so that it looks as if it was a shooting star.

Raffle tickets for this quilt can be purchased at any local bank and all proceeds will be used for the building of a new office building/quilt exhibit hall.

Raffle tickets will also be sold at the Dixon County Fair, Thursday July 29 from 5-9 p.m. at the booth in Ag Hall and Friday, July 30, from 5-9 p.m. and all day Saturday up to 6:30 p.m.

The Dixon County Ag Society would like to thank Diane, Carol, Thrivent, and the banks in Laurel, Wayne, Wakefield, Newcastle, Allen and Ponca for assisting with the ticket sales. All efforts are appreciated.

The quilt has been exhibited in Newcastle, Wayne, and will be moved from each location weekly.

Health care access for rural Americans

By Philip Meyer, D.O.

For most of us, seeing the doctor means making a trip to the local clinic to see our primary care physician in person, but an increasing number of patients are seeing their doctor remotely by telehealth, using two-way video telecommunication technology.

The popularity of telehealth services soared during the COVID pandemic much like Zoom and similar technologies. Historically, patients and health care providers alike have been reluctant to adopt it, but federal health policy changes have removed many of the barriers to telehealth access and have promoted its use in both primary and specialty care.

According to the National Institutes of Health, 20 percent of us live in rural America where less than 10 percent of physicians practice. I personally have known patients who live more than one hour from their primary physician and more than three hours from a medical specialist. Taking time off work and the travel expense required cause many patients to delay seeking care until their acute illness becomes complicated or their chronic condition deteriorates.

Thankfully, as telehealth services have grown, time and expense of travel to a specialist have decreased and access to care has increased for many. Rural emergency physicians and hospitalists utilize telehealth services for additional support and expert opinions for issues ranging from acute trauma and cardiac arrests to coordination with critical care specialists regarding the optimal management of a patient's ventilator. Although not every specialty is available, the advent of telehealth has afforded many outpatients the opportunity to stay in their hometown and see a specialist.

While my patients and I have had many positive experiences with telehealth, none exemplifies the power of a remote video connection better than one of my first encounters with a critically ill COVID patient in my local ICU last Fall. Moments after placing a call to my telehealth affiliate, I was video chatting with a critical care specialist in Seattle - America's first COVID epicenter. I was in my central South Dakota rural ICU wearing my PPE standing beside my patient who was now on a ventilator struggling with a disease I had never seen or treated and in the room with us virtually, but 1300 miles away, was a specialist with six months of experience treating dozens of patients like the one before me.

There will never be a replacement for in-person health care and a physical examination is required for proper diagnosis in most cases, but I urge you to keep an open mind to seeing a physician remotely by telehealth when necessary and consider the power it can add to your overall health care.

Philip Meyer, D.O., a hospitalist in Pierre, South Dakota, is a contributing Prairie Doc® columnist. He appears as a guest during On Call with the Prairie Doc® a medical Q&A show streaming on Facebook Thursday, July 1 at 7 p.m. Central. For free and easy access to the entire Prairie Doc® library, visit www.prairiedoc.org and follow Prairie Doc® on Facebook.

Want the TRUTH about the vaccine?

Ignore the politics. Ask a doctor.

These days, it seems like everyone on social media thinks they're an expert on infectious diseases. And there's been a lot of talk about the COVID-19 vaccine.

When it comes to medicine, your doctor can give you the real deal on what's best for you. So ask someone you trust. Someone who's trained. Ask your doctor about the vaccine if you have questions.

Who is raising these kids?

It started when I read about a CEO of a major company who is no longer hiring Ivy League graduates; his reason? They all have a huge sense of entitlement, and all they worry about is the use of pronouns!

Then, a few weeks ago in Omaha, two teenage boys went around a neighborhood at midnight, knocking on doors and waking people up, just for fun. An off duty policeman arrested them, may have handled a bit roughly, which I also would have done, and hauled them in.

The kids were under age, so were released to their parents, who complained about the roughness and now, the cop is on leave without pay. Huh? I won't elaborate on the way my Dad would have dealt with my brother in that case.

Finally, the Supremes, SCOTUS,

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

handed down an 8 to 1 verdict in favor of the teenage girl who did not make the varsity cheerleading squad, so got on Facebook and used profanity, the "f" word kind, to call out the school, the squad, and society.

The school punished her, and the parents took it all the way, saying it is a free speech issue, and I'm assuming, paying an attorney to take it on for them. I've been using a lawyer lately, for a completely unrelated reason, and I know what I'm paying per hour. Again, you do not want to know what my Dad would have done to me in the same circumstances.

For that matter, you don't want to know what I would have done to my own kids if they behaved like that! Today, it would be called child abuse.

I was going out of a parking lot yesterday, at a busy time of day, waiting for the chance to make a right turn; I was at that exit because the other one would have been a left turn. Traffic was heavy, and I was patiently waiting to venture out when the folks behind me leaned on the horn. Five minutes later, they did the same thing as I waited for a left turn signal light.

Why are we so impatient? Why are teens out of the house at all hours? Why can they use this kind of profanity for any situation they perceive as unfair? And, the 64 dollar question, where are the parents? The ones who do not take a case like the above to the Supreme Court! I wouldn't hire the kids or the parents!

Cattle Risk Management Workshop to be offered

Nebraska Extension will host a risk management workshop for cattle producers on Wednesday, July 28, from 5 to 8:30 p.m. at the Life-long Learning Center, 601 E Benjamin Avenue in Norfolk.

Cattle producers will learn strategies designed to reduce risk exposure to achieve a profitable outcome in uncertain times. Topics covered during the workshop include current issues and opportunities in the cattle industry, trends in grazing land cash rental rates and managing price risk for cattle with futures, options, and insurance.

Current issues facing the cattle industry will be discussed to allow producers to make more informed decisions facing the in. Trends in grazing land covers current regional and county-level cash rental rates along with strategies for designing flexible cash leases for pastures or rangeland.

Specific marketing tools covered during the workshop to manage price risk include futures and options as well as Livestock Risk Protection (LRP) Insurance. Funding for this project is provided in partnership with the USDA-NIFA under Award Number 2018-70027-28586.

The workshop is free, and a meal will be provided, but registration is required one day prior to start of workshop to ensure an accurate meal count.

For more information and to pre-register by July 27, please call Nebraska Extension in Madison County at (402) 370-4040 or register online at <http://go.unl.edu/cattlerisk>.

USDA launches new poultry biosecurity outreach effort aimed at youth and student audiences

The United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) is launching a new outreach effort specifically aimed at helping youth and student poultry owners learn about and practice good biosecurity. This new effort is called #FlockDefender.

Youth are the future of our nation's poultry farming and industry. The #FlockDefender outreach program shares the agency's existing Defend the Flock message that encourages and prepares all poultry owners to implement diligent biosecurity practices with future and aspiring growers. APHIS provides youth, students and their leaders and teachers with many electronic resources they can use during meetings, classes and when caring for their flocks.

APHIS is also encouraging these young poultry enthusiasts to share photos of their poultry or biosecurity practices. With a growing number of small poultry flocks across the country, now is the time to spread the word to young enthusiasts. It's always best for flock health to have solid biosecurity in place from the very beginning. Making biosecurity an every day, every time practice helps keep poultry healthy and prevent the spread of infectious poultry diseases.

But it's not just youth – anyone who works with or raises poultry should follow good biosecurity practices all the time. Some European and Asian countries are dealing with highly pathogenic avian influenza outbreaks right now. These practices will make a difference in protecting your flock, should we face similar circumstances in the future. Here are some tips anyone can follow:

- Choose new birds from National Poultry Improvement Plan participating flocks.
- Quarantine new birds for at least 30 days before introducing them to an existing flock.
- Designate a Line of Separation between your flock and the rest of the world, along with rules for crossing that line.

When launching #FlockDefender, APHIS updated and refreshed the whole Defend the Flock website. You can explore the site, the campaign resources and more detailed biosecurity information at www.aphis.usda.gov/animalhealth/defendtheflock.

Deadline is July 15 to enter NDA's annual Poultry Photo Contest

If you're in 4-H or FFA, have a passion for poultry and like to take photos, the Nebraska Department of Agriculture's (NDA) annual Poultry Photo Contest is for you! This year's contest will be even easier to enter as NDA is accepting photo entries online. Official contest rules and entry forms are available at nda.nebraska.gov. The deadline to submit photos is July 15, 2021.

"4-H and FFA members work hard every day caring for their poultry and show birds," said NDA Director Steve Wellman. "NDA's annual Poultry Photo Contest gives them another opportunity to showcase their birds and take pride in their work. We look forward to seeing this year's creative photos and hope that the new online entry process will make it even easier for people to submit photos."

Winners of NDA's Poultry Photo Contest will be announced this fall. NDA will feature winning photos throughout the year in promotional materials, an online calendar, and on social media. NDA teammates will judge photo contest entries based on originality, composition and photographic skills. Submit entries online at <https://tinyurl.com/NDAPhotoContest>.

The contest also gives NDA the opportunity to share information on biosecurity measures that poultry owners can use to keep their flocks healthy and prevent the spread of diseases. Bird owners in Nebraska should always practice sound biosecurity measures to help prevent diseases like Virulent or Exotic Newcastle Disease and avian influenza.

If a disease outbreak is suspected, poultry owners can call their local veterinarian or NDA at 800-831-0550.

WAYNE COMMUNITY REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY PROCEEDINGS
May 25, 2021
 The Wayne Community Redevelopment Authority was called to order at 4:00 p.m. on May 25, 2021. In attendance: Chair Brodersen; Members Meyer, Ptacek, Giese and Powicki; City Administrator Blecke; City Attorney Miller; and City Clerk McGuire. Absent: Members Lenihan and Sievers.

Attorney Miller updated the CRA on the property legally described as Lot 3, Block 5, John Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska (717 Main Street), and on the property legally described as Lot 4, Block 5, John Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, and Lot 5 and Part of Lot 6, Block 5, John Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska.

There were no potential properties of interest discussed.

Chair Brodersen reconvened the CRA as a Committee-of-the-Whole for the CRA Retreat.

> Discussion points included, but were not limited to, the following:
 > To focus on redevelopment rather than development (renovation, retrofit, etc.)
 > Availability of upper scale homes - there are not many lots available for those that are looking to upgrade to a larger home
 > To accumulate/purchase multiple houses and build nicer, multi-story type developments
 > Requesting a line of credit from the City
 > Looking at property that comes up for sale that is zoned anything but R-1 and R-2
 > CRA - landlord?
 > Incentives - lease-to-own for developers

The CRA briefly discussed the blighted and substandard redevelopment areas in Wayne.
