Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council began with a public hearing in regard to the city's tax asking and property

City Finance Director Beth Porter told the council that the city's tax asking is the same as last year and she is required to submit the information to the state auditor by Sept. 20.

Resolutions were approved setting the tax request, approving the allowable one percent increase in base limitation of restricted funds budget and adopting the 2021-2022 budget.

The final item on the agenda dealing with the upcoming budget was an ordinance approving the annual appropriation bill, which allows the city to spend the money that has been budgeted. The three readings on the ordinance were waived, as the budget goes into effect on Oct. 1.

A public hearing was also held on an application for a Community Development Block Grant for owner-occupied rehab

The Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation (WCHDC) had made the application but it was determined that the WCHDC was not eligible to submit this

The city is required to submit the information for a $315,000 grant for owner-occupied rehab funds that would allow for 10 units to receive assistance. The WCHDC will still be involved in working with those receiving funds.

A resolution was approved for the scope of services and task order for the Aquarius Tank Maintenance Project. JEO Consulting Group, Inc. will prepare information on what is needed to replace the diffusers in the Aquarius tank at the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Roger Protzman with JEO and Casev Junck, Wastewater Superintendent, spoke to the council on what the project will ension to lessen the load on the plant.

Funding for the project would come from money received by the city through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA).

An update was given on the 2020 Census and housing study.

The city of Wayne gained 313 residents. from 5,660 in 2010 to 5,973 in 2020. This is a 5.5 percent increase and more than took place between 2000 and 2010.

A housing study is currently underway. Hanna:Keelan has been hired to create the surveys — one for general housing, one for workforce housing and one for student

The surveys can be found on the city's website and hard copies are available at City Hall, the Community Activity Center, Wayne Public Library and Wayne Area Economic Development Office. They need to be completed by Sept. 24 and will provide information that can be used to assist developers build additional housing unit.

City staff was directed to solicit "Requests for Proposals" for the development of the Fourth Street property.

Considerable discussion was held on possible uses for the eight acre parcel, located near the Rugby Field and how a plan for use of the lagoon area might change the use of this property.

The rugby fields are scheduled to be used for a national high school rugby tournament in May of 2022 and nothing could be done with the area until after that.

In other action, the council approved a resolution that accepts the bid and awards a contract for the purchase of a 2022 Chevrolet Silverado work truck. The vehicle will be purchased from Arnie's Ford, Inc. through the state bid system for $32,261.

A resolution was also approved for the temporary use of the state highway system (Highway 15) for the Wayne State College Homecoming Parade and Band Day on Sat-

During Tuesday's meeting Wayne Mayor Cale Giese read a proclamation noting the week of Sept. 12-18 as National Assisted Living Week and noted the benefits of these facilities in a community.

Lyle Trautman

Private family graveside services will be held for Lyle W. Trautman, 65, of Hoskins, at the Wakefield Cemetery in Wakefield. There will be private family visitation only.

He died Sunday, Aug. 29, 2021 at his home in Hoskins.

Memorials may be directed to the Trautman family for later designa-

Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne. Lyle Wayne Trautman was born to

Marlen Lester Trautman and Verdina Annabelle (Shepherd) Trautman in Pueblo, Colorado on Jan. 27, 1956. Lyle attended school in Pueblo, Colorado; Reno, Nevada; and Hardy, before graduating with the class of 1975, from Superior High School. He was married to Jacalyn Mohler on Aug. 21, 1975 in Portis, Kansas, and to this union, three beloved sons were born. At the time of his death, he was working as an Electronic Technician at Tyson Fresh Meats in Madison. Lyle lived most of his formative years in Pueblo, Colorado. He fought back and survived the bullies, which resulted in him becoming an excellent streetfighter and survivalist. By age 12, he was digging trenches for plumbers in rocky Colorado. When life in the city grew more dangerous, his parents chose to move to quiet Hardy, where the family purchased an acreage. There, Lyle lived a fulfilling farm life. He worked alongside his Dad, learning and performing all the typical country farm chores that were necessary to keep the operation running smoothly. He worked after school and in the summer months as a painter at Reinke Manufacturing. He had the opportunity to also learn about horsemanship from Grandpa Shepherd and more about farming from Great Uncle Virgil Hall.

He was an excellent athlete, who never shied away from a challenge. He took second place in the Colorado High School State Wrestling Championship for his weight class. In high school, he was a dedicated member of four championship football teams. He was also gifted in boxing, archery, baseball, and bowling. Whatever the sport, he never backed down. A broken ankle, however, canceled his senior year of wrestling and thus began a nearly 50-year career journey at various meat processing plants.

The closure of The Dubuque Packing Company in Mankato, Kansas led to a move to Hoskins, to transfer his work to the Norfolk DuPaCo. He advanced his career from Cleanup to Supervisor, then Legger, to Maintenance Mechanic, to Maintenance Supervisor, and most recently he worked as an Electronic Technician at Tyson Fresh Meats in Madison. Whatever the task, he conquered it, everything from "clean-up" to maintenance supervision. He was a "legger" on the kill floor and worked two shifts in order to obtain a role in Maintenance. His natural leadership abilities gave him the opportunity to become a Supervisor before the age of 21. Throughout his career, many young men looked up to him as both a mentor and father figure. He outlasted four meat plant closures; every time, it meant starting all over again, yet he never wavered in his dedication as a provider in his chosen career. He never shied away from hard work and believed it was an opportunity for "on-the-job training." He had no time to pause for tech school, as he always felt the need to be working in order to support his growing family. In his "spare time", he also found ways to provide. He was a fur trapper in the bitter cold to gain extra income to support his family. His hands and feet bore the scars that testified to the dependable, diligent, hard work he performed daily for over 50 years.

Lyle's Godly mother instilled the Love of Christ in him from a babe; he grew up in the church, accepting Christ as his Savior as a teen. As an adult, he attended Heartland Baptist Church of Norfolk and was baptized by Pastor Tim Fleener. No matter the mess or life challenge that he encountered, Jesus was there to guide him, like a wandering sheep, back to the path. Lyle testified often of being a witness to the love that was shown to him by Jesus Christ. He knew Christ in an intimate way, that only being washed by the sinless Blood of Jesus Christ can produce.

Lyle loved to fish, hunt, and trap. His "therapy" was riding his motorcycle. His greatest joy was the 12 beautiful and treasured grandchildren that his beloved sons raised with their lovely wives. He was a devoted Grandpa, who was ornery and fun, but never boring or mean. Lyle always had a kind word of encouragement. He expressed his appreciation and love on a daily basis. He was simple, humble, and never judged or complained. He was hard, yet soft; firm, but kind. He survived near-drownings in frozen rivers, electrocution, man-eating machinery, at least four motor vehicle accidents, and even cancer. Ultimately, riddled with injuries from the life he had lived caused his rise to glory in a time when the world was stricken with hardship.

Survivors include his wife, Jacalyn; sons and their families: Trenton (Laura) Trautman of St. Edward and their children, Jason (Anna Stineman) Trautman and Torie Trautman (Devin Burke) and great-grandchildren Cambria and Bjorn; Levi (Andrea) Trautman and their children: Graycen, Ashlyn, Brooklyn, and Logan of Wakefield; Nathan (Nicole) Trautman and their sons, Fayte, Bastian, and Archer of Newman Grove; brother, Loren Trautman of Newman Grove; sisters-in-law: Verna (Ron) Nott of Canon City, Colorado and Jocelyn (Steven) Shroyer of Superior; brother-in-law, Wendell (Susan) Mohler of Pikeville, Tennesse.

He was preceded in death by parents, Marlen (Bud) and Verdina Trautman; sister, Lyndall Disney; brother, Marlin Trautman; granddaughter, Lauryn Trautman; parents-in-law, Vernon and Mary Jane Mohler.

Why?

- The COVID-19 Delta Variant is much more infectious than the original COVID-19 virus.
- People who are fully vaccinated can carry the virus to others without even knowing they are infected.
- There are people in our communities who cannot get the COVID-19 vaccination.
- The Delta variant is causing severe illness and death in young people.

Blue Devils roll to 40-20 homecoming win

West Point-Beemer scored on the game's opening drive, but it wasn't near enough to spoil Wayne High's homecoming. The Wayne offense racked up 300 yards in total offense after giving up the game's first score and celebrated their homecoming with a 40-20 blasting of the Cadets Friday night at Wayne State Colelge's Cunning-

The Cadets marched down the field on the opening drive of the game, capped by a 44-yard run by quarterback Riley Penrose. The extra-point attempt failed, giving the Cadets a 6-0 advantage less than three minutes into the contest. It was all Wayne after that.

The Blue Devils countered with a great 49-yard bomb from Tanner Walling to Alex Phelps to take the lead for good at 7-6, and turned a Cadet fumble into points when Brandon Bartos scored on a sixyard run to make it 14-6 after one

"We didn't have a perfect week of practice and I told the kids that we started out that way tonight, but once they got locked in we played a lot better," coach Russ Plager said.

great football." Both the offense and the defense got in on the action in the third quarter. Eli Barner scored his first career touchdown on a five-yard sweep to the left side to open the second half, and Bartos stepped in front of a West Point-Beemer pass and raced 39 yards the other way for a touchdown to make it 33-6.

Wayne would put one more score on the board in the final period. After taking over on downs deep in Cadet territory, Walling called his own number on a 20-yard keeper up the middle to make it 40-6 with 10:02 to go.

The Cadets would put up a late touchdown on a 31-yard run by Juan Garcia with 6:50 to go and added another score by Keaton Persson to close out the scoring.

Walling had a great night throwing the ball, going 6-of-10 for 186 yards with two touchdowns. Bartos led the ground game with 52 yards on 13 carries, Walling had 31 yards on five tries and Barner had 20 yards on five carries.

"We're throwing the ball more and have been more efficient with games coming and we have to play our passing game, but we still handg our hat on the run game," Plager said.

The Blue Devils face their first big test on Friday, taking the road to Columbus to faced a top five-ranked Lakeview team that just barely lost to defending state champion Pierce last week in a 31-30 decision. "They have their whole team back and they're the real deal," Plager said. "We'll have a battle on our

A slow start and sluggish offensive production in the first half cost Allen on Friday night, as the Mead Raiders took a 38-26 victory.

The Eagles struggled early in the game, only mounting two real threats to score during the first half. Mead struck first on their second possession of the game with a 40-yard pass to take an 8-0 lead. The Eagles responded to the score two minutes later when Gabe Reinert broke loose on a 33-yard run to pull the Eagles to within two points

Mead scored early in the second period on another pass of 32 yards to extend the lead to 16-6. The teams exchanged possessions, but late in the second period, Mead again scored on an 18-yard pass to extend their lead to 22-6. Allen pushed the ball up the field, only to come up short at the goal line as time expired in the first half.

The third period started with some promising play, as the Eagle defense stopped the Raiders and forced a punt. The snap went over the kicker's head, allowing the Eagles to gain two points from a safety. Allen then received the free kick and mounted a two-play drive. Reinert shook loose again from 53 yards to pull the Eagles within striking distance at 22-14.

The Nebraska Beef Council recently partnered with the Campbell University football program, the North Carolina Beef Council, and Crystal Zabka-Belsky, registered sports dietitian from Omaha, to bring a taste of the Beef State to the Tar Heel State. "Beef is truly a performance protein," said Mitch Rippe, director of nutrition and education for the Nebraska Beef Council. "Our goal was to provide student athletes with practical and easy-to-use nutrition strategies that they can implement in their daily lives. These strategies, coupled with the high-quality protein beef provides allows these athletes to train hard and recover effectively."

During the event, players were tasked with building balanced performance meals featuring beef. In a athletes indicated that their lack of knowledge when it came to preparing beef, along with their perception that beef is an expensive protein, led them to seek alternative meal options. The Beef Checkoff helped offer education sessions to over 100 student athletes on the Campbell football team focusing on the nutrient availability and cost-per-serving analysis of various beef dishes. As a result, over 95% of players stated they now consume beef at least two to three times per week with 93% of players indicating they are now very likely to incorporate more beef into their weekly meals.

While the program took place in North Carolina, Campbell's head coach, Mike Minter, is a former Husker and two-time national champion ('94 & '95) who played 10 years in the NFL and understands the benefit beef plays in fueling, performance, and recovery.

"It was great to partner with the two states that were instrumental in my football career," said Minter.

"Our Campbell Football program takes pride in community collaboration and providing opportunities for not only enhancing performance but also building essential life skills. This experience did both. We look forward to continued collaborations aimed at bringing cuttingedge sports science opportunities to our players."

Based on the success of this program and benefit to student athletes, the Nebraska Beef Council is working on additional sports nutrition programming opportunities with colleges, universities, and high school athletic programs across the state to feature beef as a premier protein for athletic performance and fueling.

The Nebraska Beef Council is a non-profit organization served by a nine-member board of directors. The volunteers oversee the beet checkoff in Nebraska and checkoff-funded programs. Programs for marketing and promotion are funded by the $1/head beef checkoff.

Remembering 9/11, Renewing our patriotism

By Governor Pete Ricketts

Twenty years ago, the United States suffered the terrorist attacks of 9/11. No one old enough to remember that day will ever forget it. It was surreal to watch the Twin Towers collapse and heartbreaking to see images of first responders covered head to toe in dust, searching through the debris in Manhattan.

The 9/11 attacks claimed 2,977 innocent lives. The casualties included a number of individuals with ties to Nebraska.

Jennifer Dorsey-Howley, a graduate of Lincoln Southeast, worked at Aon Corporation on the 92nd floor of the South Tower. She was married and five months pregnant with her first child at the time of the Julie Geis, a native of Beaver Crossing, played shortstop for the Husker softball team from 1976-1979 and earned her doctorate from UNL. She worked for Aon Corporation and was on the 102nd floor of the South Tower.

Navy Captain Larry Getzfred of Elgin, a married father of two daughters, was on duty at Pentagon's Navy Command Center. Monte Hord of Central City was a UNL grad and married father of three. A vice president for Cantor Fitzgerald, he was on the 104th floor of the North Tower.

Jerrold Paskins, a graduate of Omaha Central High School and UNO, was married with a son. He had traveled to New York City from his home in California to conduct an insurance audit and was temporarily working out of the Twin

These are just a few of the men and women with Nebraska connections who perished on 9/11. While mourning their loss, Nebraskans have kept their memories alive. Jennifer Dorsey-Howley's family and friends generously donated funds to renovate the Lincoln Southeast High School Performing Arts Center, which is named in Jennifer's honor. Dennis Hirschbrunner worked for a firm with connections to the City of New York's Department of Sanitation. He leveraged these relationships to get access to steel beams from the Twin Towers. A flatbed truck from Behlen Manufacturing Company hauled the beams back to Nebraska, where Jim Hellbusch at Duo Lift led a team that welded them together to create the Freedom Memorial at

As terrible as 9/11 was, we also remember that day as an amazing display of American courage and bravery. Firefighters heroically ran into the burning towers and up stairways to perform rescues. First responders selflessly tended to the wounded, even as they struggled to breathe themselves due to the clouds of dust and ash. Passengers on Flight 93 sacrificed their lives to prevent hijackers from flying the plane into the U.S. Capitol. These stories of courage have become part of our collective memory, and they'll inspire generations of Americans.

Joe Lemm was one of the Nebraskans who helped respond to the 9/11 tragedy. Joe had played high school football in Beemer, graduated, and joined the Air Force. After the service, he became an officer with the New York Police Department (NYPD). For weeks after 9/11, Lemm worked with his fellow NYPD officers, even when off duty, to dig through the rubble in search of survivors.

School board meetings are the new political hotbed

Commentary by J.L. Schmidt Statehouse Correspondent Nebraska Press Association

There was a time when serving on the local school board was a position of honor for businessmen and women, retired educators and sometimes people with aspirations for a higher office. Nebraska communities are filled with those stories and those people.

But that was before the cancel culture and woke attitudes. The combination has resulted in downright chaos in some school districts where school board meetings have become hotbeds for debate and protest over mask mandates and other cultural trends. Some school boards face recall based on decisions and policies they have made.

Cancel culture is the practice of publicly rejecting, boycotting people or groups because of their socially or morally unacceptable views in some people's opinion. In other words, certain members of the public have appointed themselves the arbiters of right and wrong. Woke is a term in the United

So, is the attitude change a result of the George Floyd death at the hands of a Minneapolis police officer and/or the pandemic? All we can say for sure is that before these events, parents rarely filled school board meetings unless an extracurricular activity or a gifted program was getting cut.

The agitated public is not only packing boardrooms, but they have become loud and rowdy. I look forward to seeing the impact across the nation and especially in Nebraska as my pro-life colleagues and I explore new legislation to further advance the protection of unborn Nebraska babies.

Redistricting

Next week begins our Special Redistricting Session in the Legislature. After studying the new census reports, I do not see significant changes coming to District 17 as it relates Congressional, Legislative, Supreme Court Judicial, Public Service Commission, University Board of Regents or the State Board of Education Districts.

It will be an important Session however, as there may need to be some redistribution between rural and urban districts in the state. I consider it a very important process to ensure that all Nebraskans are equally represented, and I and my colleagues will seek to discern the best solution for our State.

State Board of Education Meets

Friday, September 3rd the State Board of Education met in LaVista. I and twenty-six of my fellow Legislators submitted the following letter to the State Board of Education imploring them to indefinitely postpone the Health Education Standards.

I so appreciate the State Board of Education stance and their intuition to do the right thing for Nebraskans. Knowing that all board members would need to vote to advance to open the discussion will help give opponents of the standards the ability to weigh in. This is about the children.

Most new students arriving at Wayne State on Monday had their parents with them, but one newcomer had a distinguished substitute for her parents, who live in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Miss Marianne Winkel Smith came accompanied by Val Peterson, former ambassador to Denmark and former Nebraska governor.

They are pictured on the campus. Peterson became acquainted with the Winkel Smith family during his ambassadorship and suggested that Marianne attend Wayne State, his alma mater in 1927, when she graduated from gymnasium school.

It's Not Like Jogging

It was football practice, but footballs were scarce most of last week on the Wayne State field. Coaches spent most of the time conditioning a team which already was well conditioned when the players arrived.

This week the Wildcats got into more interesting business, preparing for their opener Sept. 18 at Emporia State. Still there were those conditioning drills - like the isometric exercises which don't look like much is happening, but can be misery - for example when Reggie Yates, left, bends Mike Wynn's arms back until his hands touch behind him.

Try that one at home if you think it's easy. Then there were other drills calculated to make a strong man groan, and agility exercises, and running over a line of car tires and lots more, topped off by a run around the cross country course, half a mile or so. After awhile, the coaches have enough of this and toss out some footballs. Then football gets to be fun.

Stay focused on your life mission

Have you ever watched a great action-packed movie thriller? The kind where the hero outsmarts and outfights every antagonist he encounters? As the movie unfolds vou're confident that the hero will accomplish the mission, eliminate all the evil guys, and save the world from complete annihilation. Then, in the last scene, the very final frames of the film, he loses it all and There is a story in the Old Testament book of 2nd Kings that echoes this storyline. It's the story of Jehu, one of the Kings of Israel. His account starts out great but ends in such a way that I can honestly say, I wish it didn't happen that way.

In chapter 9 of 2nd Kings Jehu is anointed as King of Israel. In doing so he is given the job description of wiping out all the descendants of a previous king named Ahab. As the chapters unfold we read that Jehu carries out this mission with zeal.

When healthy, kidneys work continuously at their main job of filtering blood to remove unwanted products and help produce urine. Kidneys clean approximately 200 liters of blood each day removing up to two liters of toxins, waste, and water in the process. Perhaps less well known is the fact that the kidneys are essential for many other functions in the body as well, including managing blood pressure and preventing anemia.

Kidneys release the hormone renin which is part of the complex renin-angiotensin-aldosterone system, or RAAS, instrumental in helping regulate blood pressure. RAAS regulates sodium and potas-

Wayne County District and State 4-H Horse Show results released

The 2021 District 4-H Horse Shows were held mid-June in five locations across the state with a total of 289 exhibitors and 1050 en-

The 4-H Horse Program is an educational program designed to encourage 4-H members to learn about equine science, care, management, and career opportunities related to horses. Youth increase their knowledge of safety precautions needed to prevent injury to themselves, others and their mounts. Learn skills in horsemanship and an understanding of the business of breeding, raising and training horses. They experience the pride of owning a horse or pony and become responsible for its management. Horse competitions teach good sportsmanship through a friendly, competitive atmosphere while developing leadership abilities, building character and assuming citizenship responsibilities.

These events also promote future horse industry development and expansion while promoting a greater love for animals and a humane attitude towards them. The following youth participated

Memories from football game will last a lifetime

I know, I know, it was Fordham. But it was a fun game to watch, after the first quarter, anyway. And Coach Frost said as much to the press after it. And, Vince Lombardi played there; who knew? Hope they can do it again this Saturday.

And, the volleyball team had some wins, also, even though they struggled at times. With all the new players, Coach Cook needs to come up with a starting lineup yet.

The match with Creighton on Wednesday will be a tough one for

AND! Winside not only has won two football games, but have clobbered the other teams. I do wish I could watch one, really! I just finished reading the book, Inseparable, by the Griffin twins. Both played college ball at UCF, and now, both are in the pros. But both agree nothing beats high school

But then I saw a video clip of a bunch of little guys, clapping and grinning and having a great time. Then, I read an article by my favorite sports writer, Dirk Chatelain. He described a little boys' football team a fellow was coaching at Winnebago. That coach immediately called the football aide who put the plan together and ended up taking fifty kids and a dozen sponsors/ chaperones. I'm guessing it was the highlight of the year. And rightly so.

After all, I thought, we had the peanut section. For fifty cents. Friend Marlyce and I got to see a lot of games when we were in grade school. Our parents enjoyed going, even in the days when we weren't winning so much. If tickets had been seventy bucks then, none of us would have been there. I even recall my parents and another couple going to Oklahoma for a game. This was in the days of Bobby Reynolds.

Also, when I was in nurses' training, doctors would make rounds on Saturday mornings and ask who would like some tickets. And they were good seats. I didn't understand much about the game in those days, but just enjoyed the experience. I'm thinking that's what those kids got out of their experience last Saturday. And, they probably know more Adrian Martinez mentioned meet- about the game than I do now. They

Options available for fall forage

Forage options with return of rain

When there is rain; there is opportunity. Although welcome rains have finally reached most of Nebraska, it may have been too late to rescue some severely stressed row

Still, these rains have created opportunities for new crop seeding plans to take full advantage of the moisture. When drought limits row crop yields, many producers seek dual purpose forages which can provide both forage and cash grain income. Wheat is one of those dual purpose crops providing forage grazing as well as a potential early ter wheat seeding dates for grain optimum production vary across Nebraska based on elevation (from Sept. 1 in the extreme northwest to Oct. 1 in the southeastern tip). For central Nebraska, the normal wheat drilling season is Sept. 20 to Sept. 25. This target date might be delayed to the last week of September if producers select wheat varieties susceptible to the Hessian Fly

If forage production is the main goal, then earlier fall drilling is highly encouraged. Oats, barley, turnips and radishes especially benefit from early fall planting. Whereas, rye, triticale and wheat can be drilled later into the fall with success. Nebraska Extension research reveals, though, that total forage production doubles for each month earlier in the fall the forage crops can be planted.

Reversing nitrate toxicity By Ben Beckman,

Besides limiting forage production, dry weather can create anstricken areas of the state receiving some much needed moisture lately, away?

Summer cash grain income. To get soil, transporting it from the roots to actively growing portions of the plant above ground. Once the nitrogen is moved into the leaves; then, the nitrate can be changed into useful carbohydrates through sunlight and the photosynthesis process.

> When dry conditions slow or halt plant growth, this pathway hits a dead end on the delivery side. Nitrate continues to be absorbed, but with no place to go, build in concentration in lower portions of the stem. While all plants can exhibit nitrate toxicity during dry weather, grasses like our small grain species (rye, oats, wheat, triticale) and forage species (sorghums, millets, sudangrass) are particularly suscep-

With the return of precipitation and additional plant growth, nitrates once again have a place to go as plants recover. While this imbalance will eventually correct itself, the process will take time; and it is recommended to wait at least 3 days (after a significant drought ending rain event) before harvesting forage. This may allow the stressed plants to convert the potentially toxic nitrate levels into usable carbohydrates. Plants still displaying characteristics of stress will most likely still be carrying a higher than normal nitrate load.
