Approval given for additional SPED instructor at Wayne Community Schools

From listening to an audit report for the district, to the need for an ag facility for those enrolled in ag classes to property insurance and the need for an additional Special Education instructor, the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education had a full agenda for Monday's meeting. Lori Olson with Dana Cole presented information, via Zoom, about the recently completed audit for the district.

She said the audit was an "unmodified audit" which is the highest level of audit. She explained the auditor's responsibilities and the district's responsibilities during the process.

In addition, she shared a summarized list of tax funds received by the district and said most of the numbers on the audit were "pretty consistent. Wayne does not receive a lot of state aid."

One area of discussion during the presentation was the district's cash reserves and Olson told the board she was pleased the cash reserves were going back up. She concluded her presentation by stating she had good cooperation from the dis-

The students shared information about the number of students enrolled in the ag classes and said there is not enough room in the current classroom. A number of students wishing to take ag-related classes are not able because of this.

They showed pictures of the ag facilities in other schools and explained what they would like to see in an ag facility.

In addition, a number of sources of funding were discussed.

Board President Jeryl Nelson said he was excited about how quickly the program has grown in the five years it has been in

Board member Jodi Pulfer said she feels "there is tons of support for the program." In other action, the board approved a quote for the district's property and casualty insurance package.

Cap Peterson with Northeast Nebraska Insurance presented information on several parts of the package, including the cost of the Workers' Compensation portion. The cost for this will be slightly less due to fewer claims in the previous year.

Coverage has been provided by EMC Insurance Company for a number of years.

The school's deductible on property incidents will be raised to $10,000 per incident.

Total cost for the package is $116,449. This includes coverage on the district's property, vehicles, Workers' Compensation and an increase in coverage for cyber liabil-

Board members also approved a position for a 7-12 Special Education position for the district. This will begin with the second semester of the 2021-2022 school year.

Approval was given to move forward with the installation of new lights for the high school gym. Cost for the new LED lights is $9,850. These will be more energy efficient and save the district in energy costs. The project will be paid for with funds from the building fund.

In addition, approval was given to have Sports Facility Maintenance repair the east bleachers at the high school and the several areas need to be addressed.

The cost for the work is $9,653.39 and will also be paid for with funds from the

During Administrator reports, Superintendent Dr. Mark Lenihan told the board that the scores from the NSCAS/NWEA -MAP Assessments are still embargoed and will be discussed at a future board meeting. He also gave an update on COVID-19 cases and said there has been an increase in the number of infections in the area. District staff will continue to monitor the situation.

Special Education Director Misty Beair told the board that the Unified Bowling season is underway and the Wayne teams are doing well. She also said that there is still a need for paraprofessionals for the

During a report from the Curriculum and Committee on American Civics, information was shared on having a Community ELL Night on Thursday, Dec. 2 at the Early Learning Center. This will begin at 5:30 p.m. and allow those attending the opportunity to comment on district needs.

By Sarah Lentz, For the Herald

Wakefield Community Schools approved a contract for the highly anticipated stadium project during Monday night's school board meeting. Also discussed during the meeting were several policies as well as partnering with a school fundraising service.

The Trojans are another step closer to a football and track stadium on school grounds. School board member Jeff Keagle motioned to approve a $3,781,050 contract with Nemaha Sports Construction for the creation of the facility. Initial budgeting for the project was projected to be about $3.8 million according to Superintendent Matt Farup.

"We owe Nemaha Construction a hig thank you for working so hard on the bids and working the bids and re-working the bids to get it down into our budget number," Farup said.

An official groundbreaking ceremony for the sports complex will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 23 at 4 p.m.

An agreement between Wakefield Community Schools and GiveCampus was also approved during Monday's meeting. Farup fundraising both on the school's end and make it easier for those who want to donate. The agreement is for three years and will cost the district $27,620. While this will help with fundraising for the stadium project, it is not limited to that.

"This can be used by all organizations and groups affiliated with the school," Farup said.

Revisions were approved to the district's Extracurricular Drug Testing Policy. The changes helped cover the district and close loopholes for students who test positive during a season. Farup told the board the changes mirror the school's actual practice when it comes to extracurricular drug screening. Sport Safe Testing Service, Inc. was also approved as the drug program administrator.

Policy 3058 was introduced and passed, regarding naming school facilities and properties. Revisions for Policy 4057, regarding superintendent evaluation timelines was approved and passed during the meeting as well.

The next regularly scheduled Wakefield School Board meeting will be held on Monday, Dec. 13 at 5:30 p.m. at Wakefield Com-

Wakefield band students to take part in D-Day event in France

Three band students from Wakefield Prado said. Community Schools, along with their band morial Parade and Musical Salute To The Veterans in Normandy, France next year.

Wakefield Band students: Rachael Nuernberger (trumpet), Susana Prado (clarinet) and Cataleena Lortz (flute) and band director Ms. Esly Ovando will take part in the trip from June 1 through June 9, 2022.

The girls are all seniors at Wakefield High School and Ms. Ovando is in her second year of teaching at Wakefield.

Ms. Ovando came upon this opportunity in January 2021. She had several members of her band try out. To try out for this opportunity, band members had to submit an application, audition and write an essay.

In May of this year, Ms. Ovando received word that Nuernberger, Prado and Lortz were accepted.

"This honorary event that we will be attending is a once in a lifetime opportunity for my students and me. I did not expect the response we are getting from the community. They are so supportive and proud of these girls for participating in an event that was, and still is, America's history. I am figuring out a way to bring something back to the community such as a documentary video of what our experience is like. That is the least I can do in return for the love and support we are receiving. I am grateful for Wakefield community schools, business, families and individuals that have contributed to our trip," Ms Ovando said.

"I am truly thankful and excited for this opportunity that was given to me. It is such an honor to be able to play and represent Wakefield High School and honor our veterans by attending the All American D-Days! Big thank you to my amazing band teachers, Mrs. Esly Ovando and Mr. Bill Trenhaile. Without them, this opportunity would have not occurred in my life," Sara Fundraising began immediately. The cost director, will be taking part in D-Day Me- of the trip: $3,500 per person, which does not include the flight to and from Washington D.C., passports and extra trip insurance, brining the total cost of the trip to approximately $4,050.

> Since learning they were accepted to take part in the event, the group has raised approximately half the money needed.

Fundraising to date has included: letters to all Wakefield businesses, bake sale, nachos and fresh fruit cups at the Wakefield Market days (with help from the Michoacana Restaurant), tattoos and popsicles for kids at the WakeFest celebration in August, baked items at the home volleyball games (with help from the Wakefield Women's Legion Auxiliary), serving and bussing tables at Sidelines Bar and Grille, applications for grants, taking orders for homemade potato sausage and Swedish Rye bread - delivery in December (made by Verdel Lutt).

The girls, along with the Wakefield Optimist Club, are hosting a Festival of Trees on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Wakefield Civic Center. Music, hot cider and a hot cocoa bar will be provided and a free will donation will be accepted. Funds raised will go towards the D-day trip 2022.

Monetary donations can be made to: Wakefield Community Schools. Please note on the check/ letter that it is intended for the D-day trip 2022. They can be sent to: Wakefield Community Schools, c/o Esly Ovando, P.O. Box 330, Wakefield, Neb. 68784.

Taking part in the D-Day Trip 2022 will be (left) Rachael Nuernberger, Susana Prado and Cataleena Lortz (back) Band Director Ms. Esly Ovando.

Born Nov. 11, 1946, in Owensboro, Kentucky, he was the son of the late Milton H. Collings, Jr. and Jean Ladmore Collings and stepmother Gertrude Miller Collings. Dr. Collings held a Bachelor's Degree in International Studies from the University of Louisville, the first in his family to attend college. He also earned a Master's Degree in Latin American Studies and Doctorate in Political Science, both from Tulane University. He served stateside in the United States Army during the Vietnam War. Richard spent his career serving smaller state colleges, where he could pursue his top educational priorities of student-centered teaching and learning. He was President of Wayne State College in Wayne, from 2004 until 2010. He previously served as Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs at Western Carolina University from 1996 until 2004. Dr. Collings was Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Kutztown University from 1989 until 1996. He began his career as professor of Political Science and Assistant Provost at Southeast Missouri State University from 1977 until 1989. Richard was a caring husband, father, grandfather, brother and educator. He loved God, served as a leader in his United Methodist churches and was active in Rotary Club and other civic and volunteer activities. Richard's dry sense of humor kept the family laughing and everyone who knew him benefited from his kind and gentle manner. His career took his family to several cities and towns and he encouraged his family to explore the surrounding area for the best local restaurants, museums, and natural and historic sites.

He was preceded in death by his parents and step-mother; a brother, John Russell Collings and his wife of 46 years, Marilyn Linville Collings.

Spread Good Cheer on World Kindness Day

We learned it as preschoolers: be

World Kindness Day, which is Saturday, Nov. 13, takes the idea global.

On World Kindness Day, groups and individual people are encouraged to go out of their way to be kind to others, whether that be at home, work, school, or just out in public. Perform at least one intentional act of kindness on that day to benefit someone else. No matter what you decide to do, your act of kindness will unite you with others dedicated to changing the world. Every kind act, even the smallest one, creates a ripple effect.

This day is also meant to celebrate and encourage the good deeds that others already do. On World Kindness day, be sure to let others around you know how much you appreciate their kindness and generosity. Sometimes saying, "thank you," is one of the kindest things

Ideas and Simple Ways to be Kind, courtesy of the World Kindness Movement:

·Being kind doesn't need to look or be extravagant. Sometimes the simplest things make the most significant difference.

 Look for opportunities while you go through your day to infuse kindness into someone's day. Smile when you walk by others.

While World Kindness Day happens every Nov. 13, remember that being kind is equally important on every other day of the year. Also, don't forget to be kind to yourself. Don't judge yourself without mercy. We all deserve to be treated kindly, and that includes the harsh perfec-

Pender Medical Clinics receive 2021 Press Ganey Guardian Of Excellence Award®

Pender Medical Clinics has announced it has been named a 2021 Guardian of Excellence Award® winner by Press Ganey, the national leader in healthcare consumer and workforce engagement.

Press Ganey recognized Pender Medical Clinics as a top-performing healthcare organization achieving the 95th percentile or above for performance in patient experience.

The Press Ganey Guardian of Excellence Award® is a preeminent, competitive achievement for leading healthcare organizations. Presented annually, the award applauds hospitals and health systems that consistently sustained performance in the top 5% of all Press Ganey clients.

"Press Ganey is honored to recognize Pender Medical Clinics as one of the nation's leaders in patient experience," said Patrick T. Ryan, chairman and chief executive officer, Press Ganey. "This award reflects an unwavering commitment to earn the trust and loyalty of patients throughout unimaginable challenges. We are humbled by Pender Medical Clinics' incredible efforts, and their ability to adapt to imperatives of COVID-19 on top of the increasing demand for consumerism in healthcare."

"We are so pleased to receive this prestigious award that recognizes the steadfast commitment our providers, nurses and staff have to our patients and our community," said

Shane Shuster, Pender Community Hospital interim CEO. "It's a true honor to be chosen and we are grateful to receive this award recognizing our efforts."

Director of Rural Health Clinics Lori Minert added, "Our team cares deeply about every patient, so it's wonderful that their hard work and talent has been recognized with this patient experience award. We are fortunate to have such excellent staff and providers at Pender Medical Clinic and its satellites.

Nebraska's Global Reach is discussed

Nebraskans often talk about how we feed the world. It's true now more than ever. The crops and livestock we grow and the goods we make reach far-flung places across the globe. Diners in Japan, drivers in Germany, and farmers in Africa all benefit from the products we make and grow. Our international relationships are having a big impact. Over the past decade, Nebraska exports have totaled almost $10 billion per year. Continuing to grow international trade will create more great-paying jobs to keep our kids and grandkids in Nebraska and attract more people here to

To do this, we brought together all the major stakeholders involved in trade in Nebraska. In July 2017, I convened a Council for International Relations in Nebraska. It aligns the work of leaders in agriculture, business, education, and state agencies to more effectively promote our state. One of the Council's first initiatives was to advocate for a renegotiated North American trade agreement. By signing USMCA, the Trump Administration delivered on our Council's goals of reducing tariff barriers and modernizing the trade deal to reflect technological advances. USMCA took effect on July 1, 2020. In 2021, USMCA has helped put the United States on track to break the previous record for annual ag exports to both Canada and Mexico.

The Trump Administration also worked to open China to U.S. beef, reduce tariffs on exports to Japan, and reopen the Vietnamese market to dried distillers grains. These trade deals have greatly benefited Nebraska. For example, China has purchased over $135 million of Ne-

September) after buying virtually no beef from our state from 2004-2016. Japan, which is the top international destination for Nebraska agricultural exports, is purchasing near-record amounts of U.S. ag products this year now that lower tariffs are in place. Vietnam, which halted imports of U.S. dried distillers grains in December 2016, has already purchased more than a quarter-billion dollars of them in

There are still big opportunities for trade deals out there. The Trump Administration was nearing completion of a trade agreement with the United Kingdom in 2020, but negotiations have stalled under the Biden Administration. When I met with UK diplomats in August, they informed me that formal talks hadn't occurred since President Biden took office. It's time for President Biden to step up, jump start these talks, and demonstrate a commitment to expanding markets for our farmers and ranch-

We've been doing this work in my administration. Over the years, I've led a number of trade missions to help grow Nebraska's international commerce. I've been to Japan three times, Mexico twice, Germany twice, China twice, Hong Kong, Macau, Vietnam, Belgium, Italy, Denmark, and Canada.

As part of our state's Council for International Relations, the Department of Economic Development (DED) researches markets and industries where Nebraska has high potential for growth. This allows us to be strategic about where to pursue international investments. For example, DED identified Advanced Manufacturing as a high-growth industry, and Germany as a top investor in this segment of the economy.

Last week, I led a small team to Germany to thank companies for choosing to invest in Nebraska. We also promoted our state as a place for even more German firms to do business. While in Germany, our team visited CLAAS, which manufacturers combines, tractors, and harvesters. Its North American operations are based in Omaha, and the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce named CLAAS as our state's Large Manufacturer of the Year in 2020. CLAAS recently opened a 20,000 square foot training academy in west Omaha. The company's innovative German apprenticeship program is providing graduates of Nebraska's high schools with great opportunities to earn income while studying for industry certifications and an associate degree in their field of work. Trade missions give us the opportunity to promote the innovative products manufactured in our state. For example, our 2019 trade mission helped Lindsay Corporation land a deal to deploy its Road Zipper systems on Germany's motorways. The Road Zipper is being used outside of Munich to allow the city to rapidly reconfigure traffic lanes to ease congestion.

Through the years, the relationships established on these trade missions have opened doors for our ag producers to sell their premium grains and meats. For instance, Smithfield in Crete signed a major contract to supply a Japanese restaurant chain (Sagami) with pork during our 2017 travels to Tokyo. Just before the pandemic, a Vietnamese trade delegation came to Lincoln as a follow up to our 2019 trade mission to Hanoi. During the visit, they committed to buy $3 billion of beef, corn, distillers grains, soybeans, and wheat from Nebraska.

Aided by the trade relationships we've built, we're seeing strong momentum in ag exports. Nebraska's beef exports so far in 2021 are higher than they've ever been at this point in the year. U.S. corn exports are having a historically strong year. Corn exports over the first nine months of 2021 are greater than they were in all of 2019 and 2020 combined! U.S. soybean and wheat exports are also up compared to last year.

Nebraska's global reach will continue to create great opportunities in the Good Life here for generations to come. As we move forward, we'll continue to prioritize international engagement to grow our

Help for retirees to keep dreams alive during the golden years

Are you among the millions of Americans who have high aspirations for how you'll spend the extra time during your post-retirement years? Whether you plan to travel the world, pick up fishing, spend more time woodworking or sign up for a golf league, your physical fitness level will be a factor.

A 2010 study suggests that the fitness declines we typically attribute to advancing age are largely caused by living sedentary lifestyles-which are on the rise due to the prominence of desk jobs in the workplace and activity-limiting personal technologies including smart phones and remote controls in the home.

Still, this runs contrary to the widely held belief that any declines in our physical abilities are caused solely by biological aging. Do we really have control over how active we'll be in our "golden years"?

In a word, absolutely. The study—which examined 900,000 running times of marathon and half marathon participants aged 20 to 79—found no significant age-related performance declines in those younger than 55 years old, and only moderate declines among the older cohorts. In fact, more than one-quarter of runners aged 65 to 69 were faster than half of the runners aged 20 to 54.

And for those thinking that these runners must have been lifelong enthusiasts of the sport, the study revealed that 25% of runners aged 50 to 69 were relative newcomersand had started marathon training within the previous five years. The researchers concluded that even at an advanced age, people in the "non-athlete" category who engage in regular training can reach high performance levels.

If this revelation is intriguing, then perhaps it's time for you to get moving! If you aren't currently active, then you likely have questions and concerns about where to start. And if you regularly engage in physical activities, then you've probably set goals that you'd like to achieve. Either way, there's no shortage of tools and resources to help you live a more active lifestyle but one reliable place to start is with a physical therapist.

The benefits of beginning with a physical therapist consultation are many: physical therapists are trained to assess your abilities and limitations, consider your health concerns, demonstrate safe exercises and build a plan to increase strength, function and mobility. Whatever your passion is, physical therapy will help you be fit and injury-free so you may enjoy life's culture program at Northeast Community College are trained to develop technical skills and learn to interpret, analyze, and utilize data gathered from precision agriculture technologies in order to improve production. But, there's no reason why they can't have a little fun along the way.

In preparing Northeast's annual field plans for the growing season earlier this year, Chance Lambrecht, precision agriculture instructor, and Rob Thomas, college farm manager, discussed utilizing a multi-hybrid planter that was built in a precision hardware course to plant a design on one of the farm's soybean fields. It was decided that Northeast's athletic mascot of the Hawk could showcase the planter's technological capability and promote the spirit of Northeast Community College.

Thomas designed the logo into a planting prescription.

"Using Climate Fieldview, I was able to take the Northeast Hawk and draw it on the GIS (geographic information system) program," input the specific varieties and before this planter is deemed 'fieldplant populations needed for the ready.' I also knew the clutching onfield to create the logo."

Lambrecht said the design was created by planting a long season variety for the Hawk and a short season soybean variety for the background.

"The principle behind a multi-genetic planter is to respond to variability within a field. This includes planting offensive genetics in the high-yielding environments, and conversely, planting defensive genetics in the lower-yielding environments within a field," Lambrecht said. "The variation in this field surely doesn't take the shape of a Northeast Hawk. However, modern equipment has the capability to respond in such a manner to address yield-limiting factors with such resolution.'

Each spring, students in the precision hardware course build the planter from the toolbar up, which means there are many calibrations that need to take place. Lambrecht said if equipment is uncalibrated, it will not perform at its optimum level.

"The students don't just get to pull it out of the shed and plant. Ev-and-off of seed meters were down to the inch, as we were digging behind the planter to verify. Not only that, but it was an assignment to ensure clutching was impeccable. You could say they everyone received an

A+ in that department. The planter setup was completed by students and supervised by Lambrecht. In addition, students in the precision hardware class had the opportunity to plant the field with soybean seed that was provided by the Ag program's partnership with Norfolk Helena, in coordination with Alan Colsden, branch manager for Helena, and Keith Mach, agronomist with AGRIntelligence. Everyone was hoping to see the Hawk throughout the growing season, however, since the two varieties looked so similar throughout the growing season, it literally didn't show its face until the early season variety began to turn yellow. Lambrecht said this fulfilled their reasoning behind using a short season and long season varieties.

With the information collected at planting, I was confident the equipment executed the prescription as expected, but the "what if" scenario always sat in the back of my mind throughout the season. With such a large canvas to paint, it is very hard to see from the ground. You actually needed a 'Hawks-eye view' to catch this one in its all its glory."

Capitol View — Prison's plumbing problem symbolic of a broken system

Commentary by J.L. Schmidt Statehouse Correspondent Nebraska Press Association

The Nebraska prison system has more than a plumbing problem. There are also problems with parole, personnel and programs that are just as serious as leaking

I don't want to gloss over the deferred maintenance problems with the 152-year-old penitentiary that has served the state well. Deferred maintenance is a problem in a number of old buildings on university and college campuses, especially in a culture that favors new and bright and shiny.

Incarcerated people and staff spent two days without running water while the pipes were fixed. The inspector general of the state's correctional system, Doug Koebernick, said "They're in a tough situation. This is not something you really plan for."

The Department of Correctional Services summoned a plumbing

New store's grand opening

Arnie's Super Saver will hold the grand opening of its completely remolded food market today, Friday and Saturday.

The recent remodeling is the third such project since Owner Arnold Reeg began operation of the store in December, 1949. The food market building is now approximately four times its original size. Complete details of this week's grand opening sale will be found in the Special Section A of today's Wayne Herald.

Speaker tells farmers they have tremendous untapped potential

More than 500 area farmers attended the 10th annual Farmers Appreciation Night in Wayne, Saturday. The evening's activities were sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Following a free meal in the Wayne State south dining room, John Sullivan of Lincoln, executive director of the Nebraska New Car and Truck

Dealers Association, addressed the farmers. The Wayne State College graduate centered his address around the theme "You can be better than you are."

Sullivan shared with the crowd his personal checklist for success: 1. self image, 2. attitude, 3. values, 4. goals, 5. work.

The speaker pointed out that Columbus had the idea the earth was round but everyone knew it was flat. Imagine what his banker would say when Columbus wanted to borrow money to sail around the world. Sullivan said.

Social hours were held at the Wayne Fire Hall and the Wayne State College Student Union prior to Saturday's meal.

Dickey accepts invitation

Bob Dickey of Laurel nearly threw away an invitation to spend an evening with President George W. Bush in Washington, D.C. Dickey received what he thought was junk mail on Oct. 14 inviting him to travel to the nation's capitol. He said no one else from Nebraska received such an invitation.

The event, held Oct. 25, was in conjunction with the National Republican Governor's Convention. Dickey said he has been a member of the National Republican Party Committee since 1972 and this is where the invitation may have come from. After finding that the couple could get inexpensive airfare to Washington, D.C., a decision was made to accept the invitation. They arrived in the capitol city several days early to attend several other events. Among the speackers during the Washington trip was Karl Rove, Senior Advisor and Assistant to President George W. Bush. Rove was with the president in Florida on Sept. 11 when the bombing took place and spoke of the activities of that day. Due to the events occurring in the United States, President Bush was unable to actually attend the reception. Instead, Vice President Dick Chency spoke to the group of approximately 400. He explained what is happening in the government at the present time.

Later Dickey got a chance to speak with the governor of Oklahoma who, during an invocation, had prayed for an Oklahoma vitory over Nebraska. The two men later had a chance to discuss this prayer request.

Schools celebrate Red Ribbon Week

Red Ribbon Week was celebrated at Wayne Elementary and Wayne Middle Schools during the week of Oct. 24. Members of the Wayne FRIEND's Drug Free Youth Group Leadership Team visited all elementary classrooms and explained the meaning of the Red Ribbon celebration, providing Red Ribbon Week pencils and stickers for all students.

Red Ribbon Week began in 1985 in California, following the kidnapping and death of DEA Agent Enrique Camarena. He was murdered by drug dealers during an undercover investigation of drug trafficking. His home community started the Red Ribbon Week campaign to honor his memory and to help stem the tide of drug-related deaths by helping people - especially young people - make the right choices about illegal drugs and alcohol.

Wayne Community Schools has celebrated Red Ribbon Week since 1990, when the Wayne FRIENDs group was formed by seventh and eighth grade students. "FRIEND" stands for "Facts Raising Interest Ending Needless Drugs." This year, FRIENDs group decorated the middle school for Red Ribbon Week, and led students in celebrating each day of the week with a different theme. Monday was "Wear Red Day." Tuesday, students and staff said "Peace Out" to drugs and wore tie dye or hippie clothes. On Wednesday, the theme was "Give Drugs the Boot" and people came to school decked out in western wear. Thursday was "Black Out Drugs" Day and on Friday the theme was "Drugs are Ridiculous," which inspired all kinds of crazy outfits. The Wayne FRIENDs appreciates the generous support of Wayne United Way for funding the portion of their activities.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska November 2, 2021

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners meeting was called to order by Chairman Terry Sievers at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, November 2, 2021, in the Wayne County Courthouse courtroom Chairman Sievers, Members Dean Burbach and James Rabe, Sheriff Jason Dwinell, Attorney Amy Miller, and Clerk Debra Finn were present. Notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on October 21, 2021. A copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted

Chairman Sievers presented the following consent agenda items:

Approve minutes of October 19, 2021, as printed in the Commissioners Record Approve payroll, with each commissioner abstaining from approving a personal claim.

The consent agenda was approved on a motion made by Rabe and seconded by Burbach. Roll call vote: Rabe, Burbach, Sievers - ave: motion carried.

The regular agenda was approved on a motion made by Burbach and seconded by Rabe. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, Sievers - aye; motion carried.

etery Association representative JoAnn McKenzie presented a list of the current trustees, a map of the cemetery, a fee schedule, and a listing of proposed projects. The county purchased land for 144 pauper graves from Greenwood for $250 in March of 1885. The cemetery currently has thirty-three unused single graves that the association would like to swap for pauper graves. That way, the single graves would be used by someone rather than staying empty. An exchange of this type was approved for the Winside Cemetery in 2013. A motion was made by Rabe and seconded by Burbach to exchange the single sites with pauper sites as needed. Rol call vote: Rabe, Burbach, Sievers-aye; motion carried.

District Court Clerk Deb Allemann-Dannelly reported the state gave the District Court Judges a computer with two screens for their offices. As a result, the Judge is asking for an L-shaped desk so he can put his terminals off to the side when he has a hearing. Dannelly presented desk quotes obtained by Cuming County and requested permission to proceed with the purchase. The desk purchase was approved since there was money in the District Judge budget.

Treasurer Tammy Paustian issued and delivered thirty Distress Warrants to the Wayne County Sheriff totaling $7,304.37.

Attorney Amy Miller presented a settlement agreement and release between Herbst Construction Inc., Nebraska Department of Transportation, and Wayne County on BRO-7090(20) Wayne West. Liquidated damages were based on the project going over 102 days @ $1,112 a day, totaling $113,424. The NDOT settled at 52 days since the project started 50 days late, for a total of $63,424. A motion was made by Rabe and seconded by Burbach to authorize the Chairman to sign the Settlement Agreement and Release. Roll call vote: Rabe, Burbach, Sievers

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz reported on an upcoming communications exercise emergency response exercise at the Plum Creek Wind Farm, and traffic incident management Highway Superintendent Mark Casey reported on completing bridge inspection refresher training. A motion was made by Burbach and second by Rabe to authorize the Chairman to sign the contract with A&R Construction for a concrete box culvert for project STWD-CBP(4) C-90(623) C009004310. Roll call vote: Burbach, Rabe, Sievers- aye; motion carried.

The meeting was recessed until 2:00 p.m. to work on redistricting the commissioner voting districts as a result of the 2020 Census. The meeting reconvened at 2:00 p.m. The 2020 census figures were reviewed by the board. The goal was to give everyone the ability to vote for the commissioner responsible for the maintenance of their roads. A conflict is caused by keeping the voting areas contiguous and equalizing the population, which means bringing all three districts into the City of Wayne. A public hearing on the proposed districts will be conducted on Tuesday, November 16, 2021, at 9:30 a.m. in the Public Safety Annex.

The claims were approved on a motion made by Rabe and seconded by Burbach. Roll call vote: Rabe, Burbach, Sievers-aye; motion carried.

Bonnadell Koch presented an informative program on the Wiseman Monument, which includes an exact reproduction built of the log cabin once inhabited by the Henson and Phoebe Wiseman family in Cedar County about four miles northeast of Wynot, Nebraska, where in 1863 all five of the children in the family were massacred by a band of renegade Santee and Yankton Sioux Indians on a day when their mother had gone by train and foot to purchase food and supplies. The names of the family are inscribed on the monument that was placed by the women's club when they chose to honor the lost lives of this pioneer family.

The circumstances that led to their deaths are printed in a book published by a relative of the Wiseman family, titled "THE WISE-MAN MASSACRE" by Louise Guy.

·Go outside! You knew that was coming! I know it's getting colder, but I encourage vou to put on your winter gear and head out. Even a few minutes outdoors will do wonders for your mood and energy level.

 Look at pictures. My son loves to look at pictures and ask questions about what is going on in each one. It is so fun to reminisce and learn about family memories.

· Bake some cookies. Children love to watch and help with the baking process, and they especially love the tasting part! Bonus: The heat of the oven helps warm up the house in cold weather!

· Watch a favorite holiday movie together. While screen time for young children may not always be beneficial, talking about what makes the movie fun for you is a great way to engage and connect.

What other ways can you think of to spend quality time with family? Remember to not let the days pass by without taking time to appreciate the things around you. Put down your devices, take a break from social media, and engage in quality time with family this holiday season.

All sins have their root in coveting

In Faith

By Michael Buchhorn

Pastor, Grace Lutheran Church

Of all the attitudes and actions which God dealt with in the Ten Commandments, the one that comes up twice is coveting. In Exodus 20:12 twice He says "You shall not covet..." Coveting is a sinful desire for what we cannot or should not have.

It is easy to think coveting somehow matters less than idolatry, murder, adultery or theft. Maybe because it is a sin that occurs only in our thought life and seems victimless, or perhaps because it is not a crime in the eyes of the state, we tend to dismiss it as less consequential than other grievous sins.

Yet when we trace back those other sins, don't they have their root in coveting? I think it is fair to conclude that this may have been the first sin. Hadn't Eve already sinned before she took the bite? In desiring the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil which she knew was off limits, wasn't she already guilty of coveting?

Satan is continually at work to feed the fires of discontent. He tries to make sure we notice the good which our neighbor seems to have and we do not. No matter how good for discontent. Faith trusts that God knows best. The things He grants to us are to be received with thanksgiving, the things He withholds we learn to trust were not intended for us. The book of Hebrews makes a similar point when it says, "Keep your life free from love of money, and be content with what you have, for he has said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you" Heb. 13:5. Contentment flows from the prom-We trust God's provision because race. Black women face a risk of pregnancy related death more than triple that of white women, and indigenous women face approximately twice the risk. Wealth, health, and education are not enough to close these gaps. Serena Williams and Beyonce have both spoken publicly about their own life-threatening pregnancy complications. More research is needed to understand and address these disparities, and maternal mortality rates in gen-

Sometimes death is caused directly by a pregnancy: bleeding, eclampsia, embolisms of amniotic fluid into the mother's lungs, infections. Sometimes death results from the added stress of pregnancy combined with another disease. Weakened hearts, for example, may not meet the additional demands of pregnancy and delivery.

Historically, influenza has killed disproportionate numbers of pregnant women. My own great grandmother was one of them. Similarly, a pregnant woman who contracts Covid is 20 times more likely to die than one who doesn't. Women who struggle with depression or substance abuse may fall victim to overdoses or suicides triggered by the stress of pregnancy and caring for a newborn. Domestic violence may start or escalate during pregnancy, and too many women die at the hands of current or former part-

The good news is that nearly two thirds of maternal deaths are thought to be preventable. We simply need the societal will to make changes and save lives.

Senator discusses revenue committee's special meeting

I am looking forward to celebrations throughout the nation honoring the brave men and women who have sacrificed to keep America the home of the free and the land of the brave. I would like to personally extend my gratitude to those of you who have served in the military to uphold the freedoms and liberties we enjoy everyday. I also want to recognize the families who have paid the ultimate sacrifice and lost a loved one for the sake of this great nation. The theme for the year's Veterans Day is "Honoring All Who Served." I hope each young person will sit down and visit with a Veteran. Get to know their story and where they served. Let a Veteran know how much they are appreciated and we will always honor their service.

I find it very interesting that the University of Nebraska also came out with a memorandum last March, the same month that the Nebraska Department of Education published the first draft of their Health Education Standards. Memorandum #40 is the University's Policy on Chosen Name and Gender Identity. During a time when thousands of parents gathered at public hearings to express their concerns about similar ideologies, the University was putting very similar policies in place.

It seems to me like a lack of transparency. It should be recognized resents District 43 with Chadron that it is often the parents who State College, in writing a letter to finance the college their children Chancellor Turman and the Board attend. In visiting with Chancellor Turman and asked this question, "Has there been any related issues to these policies at this time?" He assured me there was not. It makes me wonder why they feel they need to adopt these policies? Nebraskans need to wake up and pay attention. The next generation doesn't have to stay in Nebraska to be educated. Students and parents have many choices where they can be educated, and I hope they choose to stay in Nebraska.

Farm Service Agency county committee elections are under way

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will begin mailing ballots this week for the Farm Service Agency (FSA) county and urban county committee elections to all eligible agricultural producers and private landowners across the coun-

Elections are occurring in certain Local Administrative Areas (LAA) for these committee members who make important decisions about how federal farm programs are administered locally. To be counted, producers and landowners must return ballots to their local FSA county office or be postmarked by Dec. 6, 2021.

"Now is your opportunity to elect fellow farmers and ranchers in your community to serve on the local county committee," said FSA Administrator Zach Ducheneaux. "These committees are a critical piece to the work we do by providing knowledge and judgment as decisions are made about the services we provide. Your voice and vote matters."

We apologize if we missed your name or business. In addition to those listed, there are many volunteers who give of their time and talents to the 4-H program. Thank you for supporting the Nebraska Extension 4-H Youth Development Program in Wayne County.

Fire Prevention Week

During Fire Prevention Week, the Winside kindergarten and first grade students visited the Winside Volunteer Fire Department. Fire Chief Don Skokan along with volunteer fire fighters Kyle Skokan, Ryan Prince, Susie Rabie, and Chris Olander facilitated the tour. The fire fighters demonstrated fire safety techniques and equipment use, showed lifesaving videos, and fire emergency vehicles. The boys and girls left with a special goody bag from the department. Many thanks were extended to these dedicated EMTs and Fire Fighters. Pictured are the first grade class (above) and kindergarten class (below).

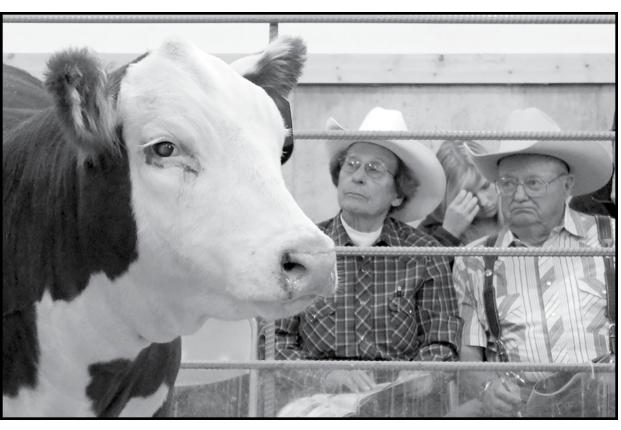

Successfulsupply drive

Winside Public Schools recently finished a Domestic Violence Awareness Drive. The school was able to collect 953 items all together. The second grade won the competition with 202 items. They got their dessert party on Oct. 29 with treats such as Frankenstein rice krispie treats and peanut butter spider cookies. Following the completion of the drive, the FCCLA officers delivered the supplies to both Haven House in Wayne and Bright Horizons in Norfolk. Taking part in the delivery were officers Skylar Spann, Nevaeh Rastede, Natalie Kruger and Camrynn Marx, and members Aubrie Edwards and Hannah Gubbels.

JB Ranch inducted into Hereford Hall of Fame

Hereford Crossroads is a reception held each year for current and former Hereford breeders and cattle producers to get together and talk about their cattle. Years ago Tom Sellman called the event a "Hereford family reunion."

This year the annual event was held in Bassett, Nebraska at the American Legion. Ronny Morgan of Burwell was the emcee for the event. Nine tables of display items from attendees, showcasing photos of their cattle and awards were viewed and enjoyed by the attendees. Homer and Darla Buell of Rose made many of the local arraignments for the reception.

A beef meal was prepared by Christie Leonard.

Inducted into the Hereford Crossroads Hall of Fame was JB Ranch of Wayne. Owner Bev Beeson and her son, Jock Beeson of Crawford accepted the honor.

Jack and Bev Beeson were well-known polled Hereford breeders and active in the showring for many years. Sadly, Jack passed away in 2019.

Jack and Bev have been involved in the Polled Hereford cattle business for 66 years and came to Wayne years ago to work with Leland Herman.

The bull Prince Domino Mischief (1920-1924) owned by the Mousel Brothers of Cambridge was also inducted. HC chairman Richard Brown of Lincoln made the presentations.

Closing out the evening was a production sale of the Hereford centerpieces.

The Hereford Crossroads exhibit is housed in The Sandhills Heritage Museum at Dunning.

Next year's event will be held Oct. 8, 2022 in Val-

New television production explores how data can help farmers manage water

Water is essential for successful agriculture. While Nebraska has some of the best water resources in the world for farming, experts say the abundance shouldn't be taken for granted or mismanaged.

A new Nebraska Public Media program produced in partnership with the Twin Platte Natural Resources District in North Platte will discuss how a water data management program combines new and existing technologies so farmers can better manage water during the growing season.

Business Park

803 Providence Road

next to Providence Pharmacy

"Using Data to Conserve Water" will air at 7 p.m. CT, Thursday, Nov. 18 on World.

With the goal of keeping decision making on the farm, a water data management program provides near real-time information in an easy-to-use format.

Using less water not only lowers expenses for farmers, it assists the Twin Platte NRD in meeting state and other streamflow requirements. This helps other water users in the state.

Mystery of sleepiness solved

Until the last two years, I was a faithful church goer, seldom missing unless I was at work, and I don't think I ever fell asleep during a sermon, no matter how long or hard to follow. Sometimes, I might have worked the evening before, or even the night shift, but made it to church and then collapsed when I

But . . . I think I must have slept this past Sunday. Because of the virus, we have had access to services via You Tube, and it can make one lazy very quickly. Of course, it was ideal for Mike, and he loved being able to have a second cup of coffee and staying in his pajamas for the service. And I have followed suit for much of this year.

This past Sunday, the forecast was for nice weather, and because of the time change, I would even get an extra hour of sleep, so I told myself it was time to start going in person again. The 10:30 service is the contemporary one, not my favorite, but the other choice is 8 a.m. At that late service, the ser-

About 9 p.m., I got out my mediset, intending to take the bedtime pills. I have been taking a sleep aide for almost two years now, and I'm not in a mood to quit just yet. But, the pills for Sunday eve were not there! And, Sunday mornings were. Yes! I had taken the evening meds with breakfast and sure enough, they put me to sleep in church! It's a miracle I drove there and back safely; my Guardian Angel was working overtime again.

Well, at least I knew why I had been so sleepy in church and still, after getting back home. And, of course, since I had taken that nice nap I was definitely not sleepy now, even with the med, which I had to get from the bottle in the closet. So, I flipped channels and found Hoosiers, a great movie I had never seen, and stayed up late watching it. But I've been chastising myself, and laughing at myself, ever since. And I must apologize to our minister; his sermons do not put one to sleep, either via You Tube, or in person!! This was another old lady escapade of the kind we really do

Grazing corn stalks has number of livestock benefits

By Brad Schick, Extension Educator

Having corn stalks to graze is a great resource for livestock producers. For dry cows, it is a relatively inexpensive feed that can typically meet or come very close to meeting nutritional needs. Grazing can also help get rid of corn remaining in the field and help reduce volunteer corn the following year.

Cattle primarily consume leaf, husk, and leftover corn. The stem or stalk makes up about 48.5% of the residue by dry weight, while the leaf blade and husk make up 39.6%. Cattle will consume leaf and husk if available. That diet will consist of 52 to 55% TDN (total digestible nutrients) and 5 to 5.5% crude protein.

When thinking about how long to graze corn residue, start your calculation as follows: For every bushel of corn produced, there is 16 lbs. of dry leaf and husk available immediately after grain harvest. If your grazing plan is to remove 50% of the leaf and husk, this leaves us with about 8 lbs. of good forage, on a dry matter basis, available to graze for every bushel of corn produced. This takes into account trampling, defecation, wind, and other losses. Therefore, if the field produced 200 bu. per acre, that's 1600 lbs. of forage grazing per acre now available. A general stalk grazing rule is there is about 30 cow days per 100 bushels of corn produced.

What about assessing how much downed corn is in a field? Cattle to eat more than 10-15 lbs. per day need to be worked up on heavy corn diets and cows shouldn't be allowed especially right away. To know how many bushels per acre are in the field, walk 100 feet in three places in the field. Count the ears you find between two rows and divide that number in half. That's how many bushels per acre of downed corn.

Grazing corn stalks is a great resource and done right can really add value to any operation.
