Dr. Glenda Gallisath

and Mr. Kevin Armstrong, CEO of the Wayne State Foundation, will present the Alumni Achievement Award to Dr. Glenda Gallisath. The award is presented to a graduate who has attained outstanding achievement in his or her career and/or through community service and has provided support to WSC.

Student speakers Sabrina Sack and Emma Todd will also give their commencement address. Sack is from Waverly, Nebraska and is graduating with a bachelor's degree in Elementary Education with endorsements in English as a Second Language and Reading/ Writing. Todd is from Neola, Iowa and is graduating with a master's degree in Clinical Mental Health Counseling.

Mr. Steven Elliott, Vice President for Academic Affairs, will do the presentation of candidates for degree while President Rames confers the degrees.

Dr. Anne Power, Dean of the School of Business and Technology, will present the Baccalaureate candidates with Vice President Elliott presenting the Graduate candidates after.

Wakefield resident paticipates in marathon

By Morgan Cardenas editor@wayneherald.com

The 125th Boston Marathon recently simple, however, they had run out of small took place in October and participants had shirts and only had larges or extra larges the chance to compete either in-person or virtually. Sonia Lopez of Wakefield decided to participate in the virtual race.

For the virutal race, all participants were to complete the marathon distance of 26.2 miles in one, continuous attempt in order to earn their unicorn finisher's medal, but were not limited to any time restrictions. Lopez used the Wayne Bike and Hiking Trail as the route for her run instead of running in Wakefield due to the length of the trail and the constant changing of scenery that kept her from getting bored.

This is Lopez's first marathon, but she and 5ks. Lopez is part of a group of runners and a majority of the group also ran in the marathon. The signup process was very for Lopez so she did not get the original shirt from them.

Lopez trained ahead of the marathon. She ran multiple different distances in order to prepare since she has never run this long of a distance.

"First, I really liked it and enjoyed it because I was able to do it," Lopez said. "Then two weeks before the marathon. I started feeling tired and it was my longest distance to run.'

She could tell that she was running her distances in shorter periods of time during her training so she felt more motivated to keep pushing forward.

"It feels great when you get to the finish line," Lopez said. "Sometimes the circumstances make you feel like you're not going to make it. Your mind tells you that 'Yeah, you can do this, I want to do this' but your legs just want to quit on you."

When Lopez finished the marathon, she felt very happy. She planned to run the marathon for four hours. She started having problems with her knees and cramping in her legs around the 20th mile and jogged the rest of the way.

"The support [of my friends and family] was my motivation," Lopez said. "They believed I could do this."

After the marathon, Lopez was tired and stopped running for a month because she couldn't run due to her knees hurting. She started doing physiotherapy and she thought her knees were getting damaged. They told told her to rest her legs in order to continue running in races.

"What I learned is that you need to be hydrated and need to eat nutritious food while you are running," Lopez said.

Lopez has lived in Wakefield for almost 16 years now with her husband Jose and two daughters, Andrea and Jamie. She hopes her daughters will follow in her footsteps of running but doesn't think that will happen until they are older like she did.

Lopez started running before her family moved here from Mexico, after she married her husband. The reason she started running was because her husband had moved to the United States while she was still in Mexico. She had felt sad and lonely so she started walking and running to feel better.

Lopez has signed up for the Chicago Marathon for next year and will find out this December if she is eligible to partici-

Terry Mead with JEO spoke during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council on several topics related to the Pine Heights Road & Utility Improvement project.

City Council discusses option of at-large representation

By Clara Osten,

clara@wayneherald.com

Discussion on how a new make-up of the council would look with both ward and atlarge representation was part of Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

The agenda item dealing with the change was presented to the council members, along with a description of how this change would take place.

It was noted that the city of Wayne would have to be represented by council members elected both from within wards and at-large. This would result in all current council members being up for election in 2024 and several of those would serve two year terms.

Mayor Cale Giese, who said he was origthe council that after looking into the re- the work on his own time. quirements "I don't think the instability is worth it."

City Administrator Wes Blecke said having at-large representation could result in more candidates filing for the positions as those running would not necessarily be running against someone in their ward.

Council member Chris Woehler said he felt having ward representation was best as those in his ward often come to him with

Council member Nick Muir said there are still going to be challenges should a council member resign or move, as that person could only remain on the council if he or she were an at-large representative.

After considerable discussion, council members took no action on the agenda

A change order resulting in a decrease of $15,921.60 to Myers Construction, Inc. for work on the Pine Heights Road & Utility Improvements Project was approved, as was a payment in the amount of $29,020.20 to Myers Construction, Inc. for work that has been completed.

Terry Mead with JEO spoke to the council on both the change order and the paynent. He said the decrease "squares up the 'as built' quantities with the 'contract quantities.

He also told the council that there is just over $36,000 still being held before a final payment is made. Discussion will take place at a future council meeting on how much, if any, of this amount will be kept as liquidated damages due to the fact the project was not completed by the date agreed upon.

The council did take action on the certificate of substantial completion for the proj-

A resolution was approved stating the city 'may' sell excess power generated during emergencies to Northeast Power.

The agreement does not force the city to sell but is seen as 'a neighborly thing to do.' t will be in effect through February 2022. Discussion was held on whether or not the agreement would benefit the city and how enforceable it is.

In other action, the council approved a resolution authorizing the purchase of a 2022 pickup truck for the Park and Recreation Department.

The low bid of $36,023 came from Arnie's Ford, Inc. through the state bid system.

Parks and Recreation Director Lowell

Heggemeyer explained to the council that the pickup would replace a 1991 Chevy pickup currently in use by the department. He also said that while the council could approve the bid, orders are not currently being filled.

Mytzy Rodriguez-Kufner was appointed as a commissioner to the Wayne Housing Authority Board. She will replace Jean Lutt on the five-member board.

Resolution 2021-72 was approved, reaffirming the interlocal cooperative agreement between the city of Wayne and the village of Carroll.

It will allow a city of Wayne employee to use the city's operating license to handle water testing outside of normal business hours. The agreement has been in place since 2009 and the change was made to al-

A resolution amending the city's personnel policy in regard to holiday leave for Juneteenth and cell phone stipends was approved.

All city offices will be closed on Juneteenth.

Discussion was held on the date for a town hall meeting to discuss annexation. Although there is a business being built outside city limits that is one of the reasons this item is being brought forward, it was noted that the town hall meeting would allow for discussion of annexation in general This meeting was originally set to take place in April of 2020, but postponed due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 5:30 p.m. at the Wayne Senior Center. This to take part in the town hall meeting.

Gary A. Appel was born on July 28, 1953 in Fremont, the son of Elmer and Letha (Bernstrauch) Appel. He lived in Fort Calhoun until he was five when he moved with his aunt and uncle to a farm near Randolph. Later, they moved to a farm near Hoskins. He attended Randolph High School and Winside High School, where he graduated in 1971.

On June 30, 1972 Gary married Darlene Larsen in West Point. To this union, four daughters were born.

Gary entered into the workforce after graduating, working at Midwest Beef, Richmond Willhoy Construction and then Nucor Steel, where he worked for 33 years until his first retirement in 2005. He stayed retired for about six months before he went to work at Norfolk Iron & Metal as a truck driver. Then he worked for Charter Steel in Cleveland, Ohio, before he became a traveling maintenance consultant for American Axel in Wisconsin, Nebraska, Alabama and South Carolina. He finished his career in Hastings, at Floserve, retiring in September of 2019. Gary took great pride in his work and received many achievements and awards over the Gary was a devoted husband, father, grandfather and friend to many. He enjoyed being outside tinkering with small engines and working on the many projects he had going. He loved going on road trips to buy new projects and never sold anything, it all became part of his collection. He was the one who had a solution to everything, he knew how to fix anything and had the best advice.

He loved spending time with his grandkids and you could be sure to see him at their activities cheering them on. Gary was the truest cowboy you will ever meet. You'd never see him without a denim shirt, blue jeans, boots and his hat. He loved collecting guns, watching old westerns and

Lucille M. Peterson

Lucille M. Peterson, 95, of Wayne, died Friday, Dec. 3, 2021 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services will be held Friday, Dec. 10 at 11 a.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. The service will also be live streamed at oslcwayne.org for those unable to attend. Visitation will be Friday from 9 a.m. until service time at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne.

Memorials may be directed to the Walter and Lucille Peterson Memorial Scholarship/ Wayne State College and Our Savior Lutheran

Arrangements are with Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne.

Born as Lucille Marie Husband on April 27, 1926, in North Platte, she was the daughter of a bricklayer and a traditional homemaker. During the summer of her junior year in high school, she began working in the school office and eventually worked as a secretary in the superintendent's office of North Platte Public Schools. During that time, Lucille met Walter J. Peterson (Pete), a World War II veteran originally from Kearney, who had become the junior high school principal. They were married on July 22, 1951 at the First Baptist Church in North Platte. Four years later, the couple moved to Wayne, where they would live out most of the rest of their lives.

Pete taught in the Education Department at Wayne State College, beginning in 1955, and eventually became Dean of Education, a position he held until Aug. 15, 1971, when he succumbed to cancer. While their children were young, Lucille worked part-time in the Placement Bureau and Registrar's Office of the college. She became secretary to the college president on June 15, 1971 and remained in that position for 31 years. Her service spanned the tenures of nine college presidents. In that capacity, Lucille became a prominent, highly respected, and valued fixture at the Hahn administration building.

Even after her official retirement, however, Lucille voluntarily continued her faithful service to the college by collating, organizing, and filing historically important documents that could be transferred to the newly emerging digital technology. She was remarkably adept at learning how to use computers in this ongoing work. It is hard to overestimate how important Lucille was to both the administration of the college and to the preservation of its history. Well after her retirement, many relied on her memory of former staff and students and of minute details about Wayne

Lucille was also a devout member of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. She rarely missed a Sunday service, and even while residing in assisted living at Kinship Pointe, she listened faithfully to the church services broadcast online. She was a firm believer in the Christian Gospel, in its core teaching to love one's neighbor as oneself, and in its promise of resurrection and life after death. Lucille was a remarkable example of someone who tried diligently to serve others rather than to be served.

Her hands were rarely still. She enjoyed jigsaw puzzles until near the end. Many who knew her still have a set of her embroidered dish towels and remember her skill at bridge, other card games, and crossword puzzles. She was an active member of PEO and WEOPA (Wayne Educational Office Professionals Association).

Survivors include two daughters, Winona (John) Schneider and Chris (Bill) Fletcher of Wayne, and by four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren: Jeremy (Amy) Fletcher and their children, Erick and Joshua; Shannon (Cory) Wheeler and their son Evan of Lincoln, and their daughter Madison (Mike) Houghtaling; Solomon Schneider; and Thomas (Rita) Schneider and their children Ethan, Simon, and Chloe Lucille. Other survivors include niece Deb (Tom) Ryan, nephews Mike Peterson and Bob Leeper, and Teresita Soriano, who lived with the Petersons as a high school exchange student from 1969-1970.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Pete; her parents, Vernon and Irene Husband; her siblings, Marjorie (Bob) Leeper, Ralph (Pat) Husband, and her twin sister, Luella Husband.

How about one from the archives?

By MIKE RENNING mikesportshome@yahoo.com

"Sonny" and I haven't done a whole lot stupid together...lately.

This is a far cry from saying we haven't done anything stupid together - just lately. You all remember "Sonny"? He's my neighbor, Mark Casey whom I call "Sonny" in this space to prevent him from a lot of embarrassment from some of the, well, stupid things we do.

Yes, "Sonny" and I have had plenty of opportunities to share a good laugh together, again, showing our ignorance...or at least mine.

Mark, I mean "Sonny" used to have his farm some miles east of Emerson, where we are neighbors... in town in the CRP program.

At any rate, every five years or so, he was required to burn off the ground to allow for new seeding and better, newer cover.

Now this chore was welcome for Mark, I mean "Sonny" and myself as it encouraged a couple of things we both loved to do.

Most notably, starting a fire. You give two arsonists, I mean friends like "Sonny" and I the green light on making fire and we are all

We both enjoy the Fourth of July. When our kids were younger we had quite a lot of fun scaring our dogs with a wonderful fireworks display celebrating the birth of this great nation.

On other occasions, we would gather everything burnable in the neighborhood and beyond for a bon-needed to be pre-burned to make fire the "big burn" go smoothly, and more safely.

Yes, he knew us.

I'm here to tell you, you give the pair of us what they call a drip-torch, a disc and tractor and 20 gallons of diesel fuel and the Darling Wife, nor "Sonny's" wife Nancy would not see us for weeks.

Remember, Nancy is "Sonny's" wife, I call her Nancy because that is her name and she has never done anything to embarrass herself... except the time she...never mind.

There were several contributing factors to the tale I'm about to relate; hour of the day, age of the participants, what we had enjoyed before torching the countryside and probably while we were setting the blaze(es).

Thankfully, "Sonny" was a good steward of the land and did all of the preliminary dirt-work prior to our late-in-the-day fire work, well and there was a house and buildings on the site, which may have factored into his decision to leave me out of that particular process.

Like I said, during the evening hours, "Sonny" and I would gather up the drip-torches, a flashlight and several matches and head east to do the work necessary to prepare the ground for the incoming fire department visit to torch the rest of the

One evening, we were burning the fence line and road ditch on the north end of the property and it was going along wonderfully.

Fire was going the right direction, disced barrier between our burn and the CRP ground was going swell, but there was an issue with a fence post that evidently caught fire as the set fire traveled past to burn the remainder of the fence line and the ditch.

Being the conscientious friend and neighbor, I went to save the fence post.

Around a fence post, there is invariably a jumbled mess of old and current barbed wire.

I'm sure you can see where this is

Winside EMTs get real-life training

Several members of the Winside Volunteer Fire/Rescue Department took part in unique training on

The UNMC Simulation in Motion-Nebraska (SIM-NE) trailer was in town for the first in-person training in this region since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic began.

CJ Prewitt, the Northeast Regional Coordinator for trailer and Adele Anderson were in Winside to provide training on two different scenarios.

During the training the Winside EMTs were divided into two groups and spent the evening assessing the "patient" and working to determine the best course of action until that patient could be transported to a hospital for further care.

Each group was able to train with both an adult patient and pediatric patient.

Following the treatment portion of the training, a de-briefing was held on what possible outcomes could have taken place and other issues that could have been contributing factors that would have been vital to the victim's care.

The training was conducted in a 44-foot-long, customized truck that provides a mobile, real-life experience designed to enhance life-saving skills for those in rural areas.

"This training shows how committed Winside Fire and Rescue is to keeping up on their training and the time it takes to do so. This is a great opportunity that this department has been able to participate in and, in their own town," Prewitt "SIM-NE is a program that provides free training to local EMS and critical access hospitals. Participating in high-tech simulation training is not only a great chance for hands-on team-based education, it will also show the community that EMS and critical access hospitals are taking measures to make the local emergency medical response the best possible," Prewitt added. The trucks were launched in 2017 and are stationed in Scottsbluff, Norfolk, Kearney and Omaha. Rather than having learners travel to larger cities for training, the training is taken to rural emergency medical service agencies and critical access hospitals. This also allows training to be team-based as learners train side-by-side with the people they normally work with.

The customized trucks feature dual slide-out room extensions, a simulated emergency room and ambulance, a control room, as well as high-tech, computerized patient simulators that talk, breathe, have heartbeats, and can react to medications and other actions of the learners. Each mobile unit is equipped to recreate a realistic environment for learners including medical supplies, pre-programmed computerized medical and trauma scenarios; monitors that display vital signs of patient simulators; heart monitors/defibrillators; audio and video recording/playback capabilities and mock drugs.

SIM-NE was initially funded with a $5.5 million grant from The Leona M. and Harry B. Helmsley Charitable Trust. The funding supported four SIM trucks, equipment, patient simulators, supplies and operational expenses for the first three years allowing training to be at no cost for EMS providers.

Partners and funders are being sought to sustain the training program. Rural emergency medical service agencies and critical access hospitals can request training at www.unmc.edu/SIM-NE.

Commissioners look at a new IT agreement

By Morgan Cardenas editor@wayneherald.com

At Tuesday's meeting, the Wayne County Commissioners received updates and discussed new agree-

Representatives from Bradly Construction Management gave the Haystack Wind Project. They informed them of the new site manager that was added to the project.

They are going to finish up a few more troubleshooting on the 18 -2.4 turbines and the 5.0s are starting to turn and see some troubleshooting as well. They believe the Haystack Wind Project should be fully online by spring of 2022.

There are still four main cranes the Commissioners an update on that are on sites and will take 4-5 days to break down and remove. They are planning to have a night crew for the next couple of weeks that will work through the winter weather to the best of their abilities

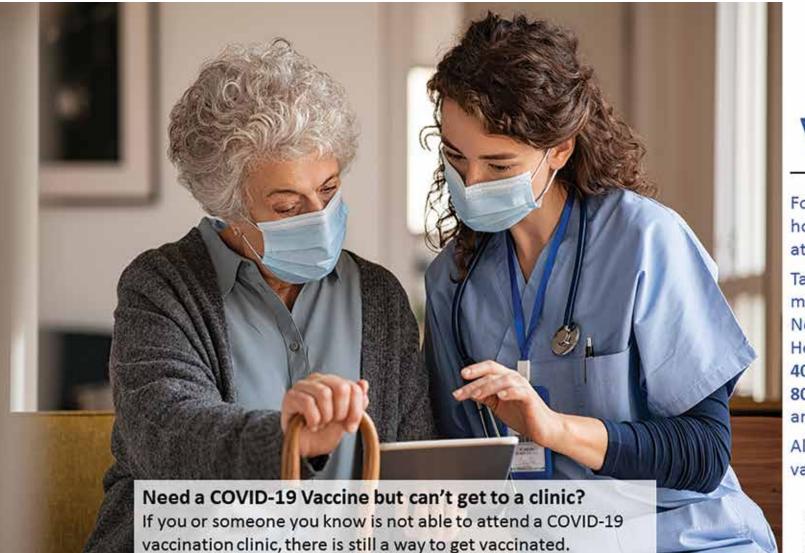

Next Pat Brentlinger presented a three-vear Trane renewal agreement for the Commissioners to discuss and vote on. The cost for year one is $8,800, and will increase to around $9,100 the second year and around $9,500 in the final year. The Commissioners voted to approve the renewal.

The Commissioners were then told that their current IT agreement with the company they were using, MIPS, was coming to an end this month. They decided to make an agreement with Applied Connective Technologies out of Norfolk for next year.

Dean Burbach in District 2 passed along information about the state-bid system for a John Deere motor grader and will continue to look for more information.

Finally Highway Superintendent Mark Casey notified the Commissioners that he has completed the bridge inspection list and there was some silt and vegetation built up at the end of box culverts and culverts. He will be sending a final approval email after the wind farm driveways in Sholes received certification which was required by the Commissioners.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse

Woodwards Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodward of Allen will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 19, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. with an open house reception at the Allen School Auditorium.

All relatives and friends are invited to attend. No invitations will be mailed.

Henry Woodward and Erma Isom were married Dec. 29, 1921, at the farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Isom, east of Concord. The couple have three sons, Thaine Woodward of Concord; Nyron Woodward of Wayne, and Jimmie Woodward of Wakefield. There are 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The Woodwards have spent their entire married life in the Allen area.

Wool contest runner-up

Cynthia Walde of Winside was the runner-up in the 1981 Nebraska Make It Yourself With Wool Contest held Nov. 27-28 in Kearney.

Thirty-five contestants from seven Nebraska districts competed in the contest. Miss Walde received a Bernina 801 Sewing Machine for her garment fashioned from wool.

Cynthia's teal wool skirt in a slim style was fashioned from a Vogue pattern. Her knitted sweater of wool and angora in shades of teal, rust and natural was a pullover style with a bateau neckline. A banded knitted cuff fashioned the sleeves.

Prochaska signs to play at UNK

Allen volleyball standout Angela Prochaska signed a national letter of intent to play volleyball at the University on Nebraska-Kearney next fall. Prochaska becomes the first Allen female athlete to play collegiate volleyball at the NCAA Division II level.

Prochaska lettered in volleyball and basketball for three years and holds several school records.

Prochaska led the Eagles to a 64-15 record the past three seasons.

School records include career kill spikes (661); kill spikes in a season (295); kill spikes in one match (27); spike attempts in one match (55); most kill spikes in a two-set match (21).

She averaged 5.26 kills per game with a .410 kill average - equivalent to a baseball players batting average.

She helped the Eagles to a pair of conference titles and two state tournament appearances.

She posted 20-plus kill spikes in four matches last season. She was named to the World Herald State D-2 Second Team.

Treating a disease in the palm of your hand

As a family physician living on the upper Great Plains, I have many patients of Norwegian and German descent. Thus, I am familiar with some diseases that are prone to affect people of northern European ancestry. One such example is Dupuytren's contracture.

Dupuytren's contracture is a gradual thickening of the connective tissue of the palm of the hand. It may begin innocently as a nodule in the palm or joint stiffness, which are common for anyone. However, with Dupuytren's contracture, over time the fingers curl inwards and cannot be straightened. Cords can become visible in the palm of the hand. This is often a slow progression over several years and may or may not become painful. It can make it harder to grasp objects and use the hand in general.

Sometimes called the "Viking Disease," Dupuytren's contracture most often affects men of northern European descent over the age of 50. Other risk factors making a per-

Vikings may be a risk factor, but fascia, releasing the contractures. that is probably just coincidence.

The condition is named after Guillaume Dupuytren, a French military surgeon who was skilled in anatomy. He described the condition well and was the first to perform a successful operation for it in 1831. Interestingly, Dupuytren gained prominence from treating Napoleon Bonaparte's hemor-

Although a steroid injection or physical therapy may be helpful, in general, Dupuytren's contracture cannot be cured, only treated. For a long time, surgery was the mainstay treatment, especially for more advanced cases. Surgery can involve cutting the fascia, the affected laver of connective tissue. A less invasive procedure involves using needles to weaken the thickened cords of fascia.

In the last decade a new treatment became available. Injecting the enzyme collagenase weakens the bonds in the collagen of the Extracted from the bacteria Clostridium histolyticum, the collagenase offers an effective nonsurgical option for treatment.

I am not sure what my Norwegian and German ancestors would have thought about injecting an enzyme from a bacterium into their hands. However, patients today appreciate regaining the use of their hands for daily activities and to clap and cheer for their favorite football team.

Jesus is the center of the Jesse Tree

If your house is anything like mine, then one look out any window will remind you that there are many kinds of trees. For instance, in my backyard alone I have a birch tree, ginkgo tree, and even a fairly big blue spruce that I absolutely love! The qualities of each are unique and beautiful. But those aren't the only trees that have brought beauty into my life. In fact, trees have been a big part of my family's history for years. From a huge Century Oak on the campus of Texas A&M to baby peach trees that my mom is trying to turn into an orchard. From marriage proposals to Sunday brunches, trees are indeed very important.

But you see these aren't the only trees that mean something to us or even for us today. Because there is another kind of tree that is even more important than the ones providing shade in our backyards, over our favorite swimming holes, or even on our parent's farms.

This tree is a family tree that started a very long time ago! In fact, it is a tree that started so long ago that nothing else even existed when the tree was planted and took root. And no, I'm not talking about the trees in the Garden of Eden that God created. I'm talking about a lineage that God used to save the entire world. I'm talking about a seed that had been passed down from one generation to the next from Adam and Eve all the way to Abraham and Moses, and finally reaching our main man named Jesse!

Now you may be wondering, who is this Jesse that we are talking about? And why is Jesse important?

The truth is that on his own, Jesse wouldn't be significant. Jesse would just be another person in a long line of human beings to have ever walked this earth. He would have lived, died, and probably never been spoken about again because he wasn't a very big man. He wasn't a king. He wasn't a ruler. He didn't even have an important job. He was merely a farmer and sheep breeder. Someone that really would have been like any of us. He lived his life, he had a family, and then he was

But it is in that middle part that Jesse became a man that all the world would come to know. It was in the fact that he had a family. A family who could trace their lineage and heritage back to the very beginning. But even more than that. It was a family that had been specially selected. Selected for a very important task.

But it was also a family that could easily have been killed off. It could have been snuffed out of the history books. It could have been erased

St. Paul's Ladies aid and LWML held a potluck Christmas luncheon on Dec. 1. Pastor Blanken opened with prayer before the meal.

After the meal Claire Brogren welcomed the four guests, seven members and Pastor Blanken. The Aid was reminded of when they would be packing the shut-in boxes. The Aid decided to give a monetary gift to the Winisde Pride organization and to the Winside Christmas

Christmas cards were signed for Keri Dangberg, our seminary students Aaron Wendorff and Jordan

The program was The Birth of Jesus. The afternoon closed with singing of Christmas hymns.

It was because of the day evenings at 6:15 p.m. and of love of our Heavenly Father that course Sunday mornings at either Jesse had been born at all. And it 8 a.m. or 10:30 a.m. Because when was because of God's plan that Jesse's sons had come into this world. The youngest of Jesse's sons was born to be a ruler. He was born to sit on the Israelite thrown. And he was born to be a child of God. And this man's name was David. But ous times with the loss of his life from his predecessor, King Saul. So, David understood what his grandparents Boaz and Ruth would have gone through. He understood what hardship and suffering would have been like. He understood what it meant to cry out like humanity had been doing for centuries. Asking the most important question to ever proceed from the mouth of man, "How long oh God must we endure?"

And that is what I think we have asked again this year. How long oh God will this go on? How long can we expect to face hardship and turmoil, stress and suffering, hatred and anger? And I think the answers to our questions are the same answers that David and his father Jesse and even Adam and Eve would have heard and passed on to

Because there is only one answer that can change all of life. And there is only one answer that HAS CHANGED all of life. It is the only answer that has the power to wipe away every tear, calm every fear, and heal every sorrow. And it is the answer that God wanted us to know from the very beginning.

So, hear again the words from Genesis 3:15, "I will put enmity between you and the woman" God said to the snake in the garden, "Between your offspring and hers; He will (crush) your head, and you will bruise His heal!" That seed. That offspring. That promise was a promise that God watched over and tended too. It was a promise he constantly fanned the flame on and kept alive. It was a promise that He remembered from one generation to the next. And it was the promise that he fulfilled when a virgin got pregnant, had a son, and named Jesse's tree was the family tree that is recorded in so many places throughout the pages of the Bible. It is the tree that was kept alive by the unlikeliest of men and the bravest of women. It was the tree that sprouted the largest branches and will never be chopped down or die.

Because at its very center is our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. And it is the tree that David prayed for, Solomon sought after, and thousands more longed to see sprout. Jesus has won! He defeated Satan when he went to the cross. His heal was bruised and pierced by the nails driven into it, but His hands and feet would not remain pinned

Instead, they burst through those chains when on the third day He rose again and crushed Satan's evil claim upon you and me. This year we wait again to celebrate the sprouting of that amazing tree. We wait in full trust that we have been made His own through His great love for us. So, while we wait, I in-

Nearly 75 people took part in an Advent Retreat at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Dec. 4.

Hosted by the parish grouping of St. Mary's in Wayne, St. Mary's in Laurel and St. Anne's in Dixon, the speaker for the morning was Sister Rosann Ocken (in the background). She also spoke on the role of St. Joseph and his obedience to God. Sister Rosann offered those in attendance suggestions on how to have a more meaningful Advent, leading up to Christmas.

Discussing hay issues for your livestock

Removing net wrap and twine By Jerry Volesky

Is twine or net wrap good feed? Obviously not, but it can cause health problems if animals eat too much of it.

Feeding hay is work. To lighten the work load feeding hay, we often take short cuts and leave some twine or net wrap on the bales. And whether we want them to or not, animals eat some of that twine.

There is the potential for twine to accumulate in the rumen of cattle and cause obstruction. Research at North Dakota State University has confirmed this risk and provided further information on what happens to twine when cattle eat it. In a series of experiments, the North Dakota research first showed that neither plastic net wrap nor biodegradable twine get digested by rumen microbes. The old fashioned sisal twine, however, does get digested, although quite a bit more slowly than hay.

an extended period of time. Then, 14 days before the steers were harvested, the net wrap was removed from the feed to learn if the net wrap eaten earlier might get cleared out of the rumen and digestive system. Turns out it was still in the rumen even after 14 days. So what should you do? First, remember that it doesn't appear to be a health concern very often. And cows obviously are more at risk than feedlot animals. So, it might In another study net wrap was in- especially plastic twine, as can be used is TDN or Total Digestible trol feed costs.

feeding. Twine in ground hay may is likely to pass completely through the animal.

Think about how shortcuts and work-reducing actions you take this winter might affect your animals. Then act accordingly.

Deciphering a hay test protein & energy By Ben Beckman

All hay is not created equal. Two major values we often judge hay quality on are protein and energy, both of which vary from year to year and between crops. So how do we use these values when deciding what and how much hay to feed? Protein values in hay tests are typically reported as percent Crude Protein (CP). This measures the nitrogen portion of the hay. Not only is this protein important for rumen microbes, it is also important for animal maintenance and growth.

When looking at hay energy valbe wise to remove as much twine, ues, one common measure often properly fed but can also help con-removed easily from bales before Nutrients. TDN is the sum of the digestible fiber, protein, lipid, and be less of a problem since more of it carbohydrate components of a feedstuff.

Knowing TDN is useful especially for diets that are primarily forage. Without consideration, diets may be lacking energy as much or more than crude protein. Low energy diet can be as impactful to animal condition and performance as those lacking in protein.

Being familiar with how animal requirements for protein and energy change between animal class and with demands like pregnancy or lactation can help with decisions about how hay is fed. Keep in mind that in addition to these base demands, environmental conditions like temperature can impact animal needs in the short term as well. With this knowledge, we can feed lower quality hay to dry cows and save high quality hay for pairs at peak lactation or growing animals. This not only ensures animals are

Candidates reminded not to use the state seal in campaigns Secretary of State Bob Evnen re-

minds candidates running for office in 2022 and political consultants that the use of the state seal is prohibited, for political or campaign Evnen, who is the keeper of the Great Seal of Nebraska, reiterated that the use of the seal was limited to state government and educational use. Anyone wishing to utilize the Great Seal must request written permission from the Secretary of State. Each request is evaluated to determine if it meets the guide-"Citizens often will tell us of someone using the state seal on a website or social media page," Evnen explained. "Occasionally, it is in connection with a campaign. Other misuses we discover are associated with a product or an organization." Evnen said it is a common misconception that the state seal is available for public use. Furthermore, there is only one official and correct image. "Images that are available on the internet are frequently inaccurate. So, not only could someone be using the image inappropriately, that person may not even be using the right one."

"Using the state seal is like having a stamp of state endorsement which is a wholly inaccurate message if being conveyed by political campaigns or product marketing, Evnen elaborated."As a recognized icon and honored symbol of the state, the Great Seal should be treated with integrity and respect." Evnen said warnings will be issued to anyone who uses the seal inappropriately. "Fortunately, in recent years, we have been able to get the word out and are having better luck with people seeking written permission from my office to use the state seal," said Evnen. "It is important that this continues to be the policy going forward."

Making preparations for Christmas

It suddenly got very cold here; quite a shock, after all the nice days we've had.

I've just watched the Nebraska women beat Minnesota in basketball; these gals remain undefeated, which is a lot more than we can say about the guys. And it's fun to watch the two Nebraska freshmen, especially when Alexis Markowski is playing and Dad Andy is in the stands, and the cameras focus on him. Plus, the Jaz, the gal from Australia who makes threes. Just a fun team to watch; with plenty of

Thanks to Kay and Ann, my tree is up and loaded with my angels. Plus, the nativity set is on the buffet, and the stockings are hung by the chimney with care; actually, they are hung on a couple more angels made just for that task. # NDA announces retirement of state veterinarian

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is announcing the retirement of State Veterinarian Dr. Dennis Hughes. He started working for NDA in 1990 as a veterinary field officer and became state veterinarian in 2005. Hughes' last day with NDA will be Dec. 30.

"As state veterinarian, Dr. Hughes has been instrumental in keeping Nebraska livestock healthy and the state's agricultural industry strong," said NDA Director Steve Wellman. "We want to thank Dr. Hughes for his years in public service and for his leadership at the state and national level. His dedication to agriculture and the livestock and poultry industry will be re-

During his tenure at NDA Dr. Hughes enforced state and federal livestock programs and became proficient in animal disease diagnostics. As a field veterinarian, Hughes was instrumental in the eradication of pseudorabies and brucellosis from Nebraska swine and cattle herds. As Nebraska state veterinarian, Dr. Hughes led several animal disease response events of concern to the livestock and poultry industry including avian influenza and bovine tuberculosis.

Prior to his work at NDA, Dr. Hughes worked in two private large-animal practices in northeast Nebraska. He started his own practice in state veterinarian is named.

"Healthy Forests = Healthy Com-State Competition. munities" was the theme for this year's Stewardship Week and Post-Elkhorn Natural Resources District

Trees and forests are critical to providing clean air and water, healthy soil, abundant wildlife habitat, and valuable products we use every day. LENRD Information & Education Specialist Julie Wragge said, "It's important that each of us does our part to care for trees."

Over 100 K-12th grade students participated in the contest. Trees, branches, and wildlife were some of the examples shown in the winning posters, created by students from across the Lower Elkhorn NRD's 15-counties in northeast Nebraska.

Husker team gains momentum toward developing nitrogen-efficient crops

across the country, a research team that includes University of Nebraska–Lincoln scientists has gained new resources and partners as they work to decrease the amount of nitrogen that crops such as sorghum and corn require to reach their maximum yield potential.

The National Science Foundation recently awarded supplemental funding to the project, which received $3.9 million in 2018 for a Charles O. Gardner Professor of phenotyping. Recent increases in the price of nitrogen fertilizer, a critical input for farmers growing crops in Nebraska and around the world, underscore the need for new crop varieties that can produce more grain from less fertilizer. Soaring energy prices, elevated freight costs, increased tariffs and extreme weather events are driving the costs of nitrogen fertilizer production and distribution to new heights.
