Memories Made in 2021

This is the second part of the annual recap of the year. As the world worked to get back to normal, annual events and activities started back up.

July

The annual Chicken Show was hosted again this year. The theme for this year was Chicken Vacation. Rain during the second day of the event, forced activities at Bressler Park to be canceled; however, the rest of the festivities still took place.

have been many service projects, including a glaucoma screening event for over 200 people and gutter cleaning.

It allows graduates who complete their associate degrees at Northeast Community College to transfer all of their completed academic credits to Wayne State College to study industrial technology and earn a bachelor's degree.

The football team from 1941 was remembered this year. The football and basketball teams were both ranked high among northeast Nebraska teams. They had won eight straight games and were untied, un-scored upon and undefeated.

Rocky Ruhl received the Ed Johnson Award this year. Ruhl has had 34 years of coaching experience at Wayne. He coached six state qualifying boys' basketball teams, earning a 360-194 overall record, and was twice elected to coach the NCA all-star game.

State Nebraska Bank & Trust held the grand opening for their new SNBuilding located at 1010 Main Street.

The SNBuilding is a 14,000 square-foot facility located across from Wayne State College. This state-of-the art building is home to the bank's second location in Wayne, the Campus Branch, featuring a walk-in lobby, 24-hour ATM, and drive-thru lanes. The building has a basketball/pickleball court for community use. Since opening late last year, over 200 people have used the community gym for nearly 500 hours of play time.

As the sports season started back up after COVID-19, many of the WSC sports team got ready for their return to competition. Many of the teams expressed their anxiousness about playing again and were working hard to prepare after their break in athletics.

Housing, developing a lake and park name highlight council meeting

By Clara Osten,
clara@wayneherald.com

The need for housing, the possibility of developing a city-owned parcel of land, how a lake could be developed in the city and options for naming a park in the city took up the majority of the Wayne City Council meeting on Tuesday.

Representatives of Hanna:Keelan Associates, PC spoke to the council, via Zoom on the results of the Community Housing Study.

City Administrator Wes Blecke told the council the city's last housing study was completed approximately five years ago and due to changes in regulations regarding TIF financing, a study needs to be less than 24 months old to qualify for grant funding.

Discussion centered on how numbers were calculated for Wayne State students living off-campus and three scenarios for the number of housing units needed in the city in the next five years.

The Hanna:Keelan representatives told the council that they plan on having a community meeting in the next 30-45 days to allow for public input on the demand for and types of housing needed in the community.

On a related note, the council voted to move forward with discussion with R. Perry Construction of Sioux City, Iowa on a housing proposal for land along Fourth Street.

Last fall, the city went out for proposals for the 7.94 acre parcel of land located south of Fourth Street and Jaxon Street. The land was formerly the Community Garden/Upper Soccer field.

Two proposals were received. One was from R. Perry Construction and the other from Heritage Homes in Wayne. Both would result in projects valued at approximately $21 million when completed. However, there were differences in the housing units that would be constructed and the number of phases in which the building would take place.

Council members discussed some of the requests of each proposal and felt there were fewer unknowns with the R. Perry proposal.

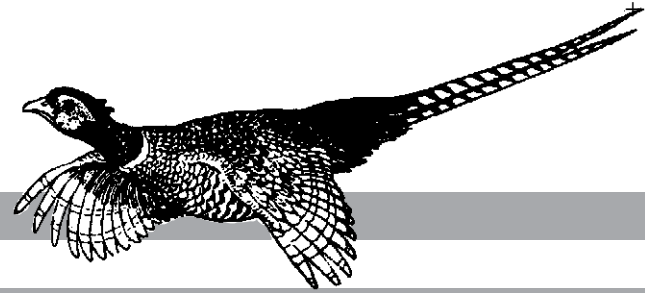

Additional details will be worked out between the city and the developer and council members encouraged interested citizens to contact them or city officials with questions and concerns.

Scholarship blood drive held

Over the past year, blood donation has sky-rocketed in Wayne, not only due to the lingering pandemic but also due to the heart and determination of two Wayne High School students.

Logan Miller and Brooklyn Kruse were looking for unique scholarship opportunities when they found LifeServe Blood Center and the rest is history.

Over the last year, they've championed three blood drives with the most recent occurring Dec. 22. At that drive 47 donors registered, leading them to collect 53 units of blood. These units have the ability to save up to 159 local lives.

The following are the numbers from this past year:

148 registered donors and 162 units collected.

Logan and Brooklyn have had a part in saving over 450 local lives and have encouraged 54 people to donate for their first time ever with LifeServe. With their help, all 148 of these donors will be lifetime LifeServers and save lives for years to come.

Their next scholarship blood drive is on the calendar for Wednesday, June 22.

"Thanks to everyone who came out to show their support. Be sure to text 'LIFESERVE' to 999-777 to make your next appointment and we look forward to seeing you next time!" said Allison Brumels, LifeServe Blood Center Territory Representative.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council meetings

Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

It's a great new year's resolution to attend more Council meetings!

Housing Study Review - Fourth Street Development

The City is finalizing a housing study that was written by Hanna:Keelan Associates. HK Associates were at the last Council meeting via Zoom to present and answer questions about the study.

The study shows the community needs all types of housing, not unlike most other communities across the state.

The Council also discussed two proposals from housing developers for the property just south of Fourth Street by the Summer Sports Complex. The Council voted to work with R. Perry Construction out of Sioux City to develop those eight acres of property into multi-family units.

The City will now meet with the developer to propose a development contract that will come back to the Council for approval. This development could mean as many as 144 dwelling units (with about 300 bedrooms) built in the next 2-3 years.

Lagoon Development - Lake or No Lake?

Olsson presented results from a Lake Study they put together on behalf of the city for a potential lake in the southwest area of the old lagoon area.

The Council discussed the study and potential lake. Much discussion took place regarding if a lake was built, what would the water source look like (storm water runoff or fresh water from the city system). No action was taken but it is assumed that this idea will come back soon to Council for more discussion and a decision.

Sales Tax Initiative

The City Council approved an interlocal agreement with the Wayne Community Schools as the next step to potentially place on the May ballot an initiative to fund Community Activity Center (CAC) improvements and additions. The funding asked for would be through an additional half cent sales tax. The School Board will now consider the interlocal at its next meeting.

The purpose of this partnership is for the CAC to undergo needed renovations/updates as well as provide additional space for the community. The school would utilize additional gym space and other possible upgrades to the facility. The only commitment from the school is the willingness to meet at least once a year with the city to make sure the improvements are working for both entities.

The City is also looking into the possibility of placing the expiring sales tax measures (c. 2024 for pool bonds, LB 840, capital improvements, etc) on the ballot as well to have all sales tax measures voted upon on the same ballot. This coordination is still being worked out by staff and the City's bond counsel. Stay tuned for more on this.

Marjorie F. Lux

Marjorie F. Lux, 95 of Laurel, died Monday, Jan. 3, 2022 at Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

Marjorie requested her body to be donated to science and research at the University of South Dakota in Vermillion. A memorial service will be held at a later date following her use at USD. Her cremated remains will be buried at the Ionia Cemetery in Newcastle next to her husband Lawrence.

Marjorie Frances was born Dec. 20, 1926 to Albert Ruben and Olive V. (Hayward) Linn in the Linn family home in Cedar County, Nebraska. She grew up here and attended country school until the eighth grade. She then graduated from Laurel High School in 1944. Marjorie worked as a secretary in Laurel for the city and later in Sioux City, Iowa as a secretary in the Badgerow Building.

She married Lawrence Henry Lux on November 26, 1947 at St. Mary's Church in Oto, Iowa. Marj and Lawrence lived at Mapleton, Iowa for five years where they farmed and raised livestock. They then moved back to Dixon County Nebraska on three different farms for a number of years. Marj and Lawrence raised six children, Janet, Diane, Rich, Alice, Donnie, and Susan.

In 1974 Marj fulfilled her dream of living in the Big Woods and they moved to Sebeka, Minnesota. They lived there for 20 years, loving every moment of it. Because of Lawrence's health problems, they moved back to Laurel in 1994. Marj was a social butterfly and enjoyed visiting with the Amish and attended many Amish Quilt sales. She would work and show her quilted items at these sales. Marj enjoyed visiting with the many neighbors and friends they made while in Minnesota. She also loved all the company and relatives who would come and stay with them. The upstairs of the garage was turned into a Bunkhouse full of beds that the guests slept in while there. A lot of guests enjoyed good times spent in the Bunkhouse.

Marj worked on family history for 50 plus years. Most of her vacations were planned around meeting people and relatives to get more family history. Her best trip was the summer of 1976 when Lawrence and son, Donnie, got jobs working in Alaska on military barracks. They stayed there for the entire summer and Marj and another lady cooked for the crew.

Marj loved collecting dolls, dancing, doing crafts, cooking on her wood stove, collecting antiques, sewing, walking in the woods, going to the woods to pick out a Christmas tree, looking for agates, taking care of her large gardens and flower beds. She always kept a pan of water outside for anything that might need a drink. She kept her lawn and yard in tip top shape. She loved watching and feeding the birds and chipmunks, her spoiled rotten dogs and 21-year old cat. She loved visiting and entertaining the many neighbors and friends. Her number one thing to do was working on her many quilts and wall hangings.

Survivors include her two daughters, Diane Sullivan of Allen and Alice (Mark) Roeber of Allen; a son Rich Lux of Dixon; 13 grandchildren; 28 great grandchildren; 11 great great grandchildren; brother James (Marietta) Linn of Laurel; brother-in-law, Darrell Lux, of Sioux City, Iowa; sisters-in-law, Dorothy Lux of Sioux City, Iowa and Mary (Marlyn) Stewart of South Sioux City.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband Lawrence, in-laws, Andrew and Alta Lux; son, Donnie Lux; two daughters, Susan Fandrich, and Janet Roeber; son-in-law, George Sullivan; great grandson, Malik Rucker; three sisters-in-law Carol Lux, Clara Winn and JoAnn Lux; three brothers-in-law Chris Koch, Edmund Lux, and Jerome Winn.

A memorial service will be held in Nebraska in late April. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery at Emerson.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hillcrest Family Services, 2005 Asbury Rd., Dubuque, Iowa 52001.

Martha was born in Wooster, Ohio on Feb. 21, 1930 to the late Oliver Perry and Martha Helen (Wolfe) Frary. She graduated from Creston High School and attended Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio. Martha graduated from the Oberlin School of Theology and served as the Director of Christian Education for Methodist Churches from 1952 - 1965 having served in Lockport, New York, Salem, Ohio, Des Moines, Iowa and Marshalltown, Iowa. On Dec. 30, 1965 she married Albin Amos Svoboda and together they lived on a farm near Emerson. Albin preceded her in death in November 1982 and in 1987 she moved to Wayne. Matthew Smith with Olsson explained the findings of the Lake Feasibility Study during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Olsson spoke to the council on the findings of a "Lake Feasibility Study" recently completed in regard to the area in the southeast portion of Wayne known as "the old lagoon." Information from the geo-technical report showed that the soil is compatible with holding water for a lake. In addition, the study looked at the driest year in the last 20 years (2012) as a model for the amount of water that would be lost due to evaporation.

"We don't think a secondary source of water is necessary, but it is a good idea to have a backup plan," Smith told the council.

Discussion also involved the depth of the proposed 2-3 acre lake, ways to keep vegetation at a minimum and maintenance of the lake.

Preliminary cost estimates indicate construction could cost approximately $1.2 million.

Following a presentation by members of the Voices for Vision Coalition, council members voted to name the park located in the area of the former swimming pool "Freedom Park."

Karen Granberg and Sherry Dor-man, members of the group, said that they were aware of all the work that has already gone into turning the old bathhouse into a building to be used by the community.

They suggested the park be named Freedom Park, as freedom is "a core value in the community and also implies responsibility."

"The building could host activities for the community and could be used to provide information about the history of Wayne and the opportunities available," Granberg said.

Council members approved a resolution that would create an interlocal agreement between the City of Wayne and Wayne Community School District 90-0017.

This agreement is necessary to move forward with a ballot issue involving additional sales tax asking.

The requirements for the agreement would be for representatives from the city and school to form a committee to meet at least once a year.

The agreement is for what has been labeled "Wayne Community Activity Center Project and Improvement." Actual ballot language for the proposed sales tax would still need to be determined after the agreement has been approved by both parties.

The Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education will consider the agreement at the Monday, Jan. 10 meeting.

In other action, council members approved Resolution 2022-3, directing the city to certify mowing costs to the Wayne County Clerk and the Wayne County Treasurer to become a lien on Tax Lot 74.

Ordinance 2022-1 was passed and the three readings waived. It involves amending Exhibit B to the transmission substation service agreement between the City of Wayne and Nebraska Public Power District.

Approval was given on the contractor's application for payment (final) in the amount of $36,303.98 to Myers Construction, Inc., for the Pine Heights Road & Utility Improvements Project.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Jan. 18 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Nicelle Daum named new volleyball coach at Wayne High

Wayne High School Athletic Director Dave Wragge has announced the hiring of Nichelle Daum as the next Wayne Blue Devils Head Volleyball coach.

Daum, who has been an assistant coach for the Blue Devils the past two seasons, will replace Traci Krusemark. Krusemark has led the program the last 10 seasons and is stepping down from the position.

During that time she has compiled an overall record of 215-109. Under Coach Krusemark's leadership the Blue Devil volleyball team has earned the school's only Conference tournament championship, two Midstates conference season championships, and three state tournament appearances.

Athletic Director Wragge said, "Coach Krusemark was a great coach who produced consistent teams year in and year out. She did a great job of developing younger players and creating camps and opportunities for them to improve during the off season. The foundation built by Coach Krusemark will help future Blue Devil teams as well."

"We are looking forward to having Coach Daum leading the Lady Blue Devils. She has proven to be a knowledgeable volleyball coach who has a great passion for the game," Wragge added.

Positions are voted on by the County Commissioners

By Morgan Cardenas
editor@wayneherald.com

At Tuesday's meeting, the Wayne County Commissioners discussed a database and representatives for the board.

The meeting started by talking about the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Nebraska Department of Veterans' Affairs. They have a web based "VetraSpec" database. This is a program that allows the county to view and add certain information to the web based program in order to assist veterans and or their eligible dependent(s) to access benefits. This will be in effect from Jan. 1, 2022 through Dec. 31, 2023. The county has voted to sign a contract and can be extended up to six years.

Next, the Highway Superintendent, Mark Casey, gave some updates on the roads and bridges. He notified the Commissioners that the 911 address signs for the Haystack Wind Energy project are in as they'll need to be posted on the tower number posts. Wayne County submitted three applications for the next round of County Bridge Match Program projects and should be finding out Jan. 14 which ones were accepted or denied.

The meeting recessed until Wednesday at 9 a.m. They discussed and elected for positions on the second day. The Commissioners voted to have Jim Rabe as Chairman of the Board of Commissioners with Dean Burbach as his Vice-Chairman. Terry Sievers was voted as the Chairman of the Board of Equalization with Burbach as his Vice-Chairman as well. The Commissioners also voted to appoint the same representatives for positions as before. They are as followed: County Highway Superintendent, Mark Casey; County Coroner's Physician, Dr. Mark McCorkindale; Northeast NE Area Agency on Aging, Burbach; Northeast NE Economic Development District, Burbach; Northeast NE Joint Housing Agency, Burbach; Northeast NE Juvenile Services, Inc., Sievers;

Legislative Update

Senator discusses school property tax credit

Happy New Year! I hope you and your loved ones have enjoyed some special time together during this Christmas season. Our family had some illnesses this month and though we were not able to get together until a week later, it was wonderful to celebrate all we hold dear.

The 107th Legislature, Second Session will convene January 5, 2022. My staff and I are diligently working to prepare new legislation that I feel is vital, as well as carrying through on the bills I introduced last Session that are still in General File. Among others, I will be introducing a bill to ensure that Nebraska customers maintain the ability to choose natural gas, propane, electricity or other utilities in their communities; and a bill for the Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles and the Nebraska State Patrol to harmonize Nebraska Statute with Federal Regulations. Stay tuned, there will be more to come. It is a privilege to serve as your Legislative Representative again this year and I very much look forward to all that is in store for the Unicameral, our communities and this great state and in 2022!

Taxpayers will receive this credit when they file their state income taxes in 2022. The 2021 tax filing deadline was extended due to the pandemic. According to an Omaha World-Herald article, as of mid-October 2021, only $73 million out of the $125 million has been claimed by property owners, leaving around 40% unclaimed.

If you filed your Nebraska income tax return without claiming the credit for school district property tax you paid, you can claim the credit by filing an Amended Nebraska Individual Income Tax Return, Form 1040XN, and attaching a completed Nebraska Property Tax Incentive Act Credit Computation, Form PTC. Questions regarding the tax credit provided by the Nebraska Property Tax Incentive Act may be directed to: Tom Milburn, Revenue Tax Specialist, Policy Section 402-471-5814 or tom.milburn@nebraska.gov.

Lowest Unemployment

According to Governor Ricketts, "Nebraska has beaten our own national record for the lowest unemployment rate—now at 1.8 percent," said Gov. Ricketts. "This historic achievement is a sign of the unwavering resilience and work ethic that define us as Nebraskans. It's clear for all of America to see: Nebraskans just don't quit!"

CDL Commercial License Changes

We have received several questions about new federal regulations for drivers of covered farm vehicles so I thought I would share more information. After checking with the Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles and Nebraska Farm Bureau, we have learned that the major change to federal requirements will affect farmers and ranchers who want to obtain a CDL or let their CDL lapse to drive a commercial vehicle. If your vehicle meets the definition of a covered farm vehicle, this will not affect you as long as you, your family, or employee are hauling your commodity in your covered farm vehicle to or from your farm or ranch within the state of Nebraska, or within 150 miles of your farm or ranch if traveling across state lines. This will not affect farmers and ranchers who already have their CDL, but if you have let the CDL lapse, if you are upgrading your CDL or you want a new CDL, it is best to get it soon rather than later. The federal rule for required entry level driver training goes into effect Feb. 7, 2022. The entry level driver training regulations are not retroactive for individuals holding a valid CDL or an S, P or H endorsement issued prior to Feb. 7, 2022. The rule aims to maintain higher

School Property Tax Credit

In 2020 Nebraska Legislature enacted a new property tax relief program under Legislative Bill 1107. The program created a state income tax credit that went into effect for the 2020 tax year. Nebraska real property owners were able to file in 2021 and receive credit from the state for a portion of the local school district property taxes they paid. The Refundable Income Tax Credit created in LB 1107 is set to grow as tax revenues exceed expectations. Last year's credit was worth $125 million, offsetting 6% of local school property taxes. This year's credit will jump to $548 million, offsetting 25.3% of local school property

Buzzer-beating deja vu gives Blue Devils Shootout title

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald
Baseball legend Yogi Berra once said, "It's deja vu all over again."
He might very well have been describing the efforts of Wayne senior guard Brandon Bartos, who pion Auburn in the semifinals.

Coach Rob Sweetland said he felt coming in that playing that many extra periods the night before wasn't going to have as much impact on the Trojans as one might think.

Bartos led all scorers with 12 points, followed by Daniel Judd with nine, Nelsen with six and Walling with five.
Sweetland said it was good to see the Blue Devils continue to play well, especially after the five-day holiday break.

"Playing three games in three days is tough, especially coming off a five-day brea, and we're learning a lot as we go," he said. "As long as we keep getting wins, that's even better. We'll need to go to work on the zone in practice this week, because we're going to see a lot of that in the next week or so, especially with Norfolk Catholic. They run a good 2-3 and that's something we're going to need to figure out."

The Blue Devils opened the tournament with an easy 86-53 win over Winnebago.

Wayne scored 35 points in the opening period and built a 27-point halftime advantage to put the Indians away early.

Five Blue Devils scored in double figures in the win, led by Walling's 16 points. Alex Phelps added , Judd had 12 and Nelsen and Carter Junck both had 11.

In the semifinals, the Blue Devils shut down Pierce's offense and pulled away in the second half for a 42-22 win over the Bluejays.

Pierce got off to an 8-4 lead after one period, but Wayne came back and limited the Bluejays to one field goal in the second period, turning that four-point deficit into an 18-11 halftime advantage. Wayne continued to put the screws to Pierce defensively in the second half to pull away with the 20-point win.

Walling was the lone player in double figures in the game, finishing with a game-high 12 points. Sedjro Agoumba added eight and Judd put in seven.

hit a three-point shot in the closing seconds to help the Blue Devils slip past Hartington Cedar Catholic 32-31 to claim the championship of the Elkhorn Valley Bank Northeast Nebraska Shootout Thursday at Wayne State College.

One year ago, Bartos drilled an off-balance trey at the buzzer to give Wayne a win over the Trojans in the consolation game. Twelve months later, from almost the exact same spot on the other side of the floor, Bartos let fly with a three-pointer that broke a 29-29 tie with :04 left.

"It was nice," the senior said after the game. "We thought we'd get the shot for Tanner (Walling), but they were face-guarding him. I got the ball to Alex (Phelps) and got a screen for him, then I went to other wing and when I got it, nobody was there."

The game was a classic matchup between the two longtime rivals and came one day after the Trojans had won an incredible six-overtime game against defending C-1 cham-

"It's always a battle with those guys," he said. "Both teams are tired after two games and we only played six guys 30-32 minutes the day before, so you can't really count on that. You're going to get their best shot."

The Blue Devils got out to a 10-7 lead in the first period, then used back-to-back treys from Colson Nelsen, as the freshman came off the bench to drill the trifectas and extend Wayne's lead to 19-14 at intermission.

Cedar Catholic was able to chip away at the deficit, tying the score at 29-29 late in the fourth quarter. Both teams had chances to break the tie, but neither was able to get it done until the Blue Devils set up their final play with :21 left in regulation.

Cedar had a chance to tie the game, but Ethan Becker's three-point attempt missed the mark. Carter Arens put back the miss as the buzzer sounded for the final score of the game.

Wayne girls claim consolation honors

The Wayne High girls basketball team won two of three games and claimed consolation honors at the Elkhorn Valley Bank Northeast Nebraska Shootout.

On Tuesday, the girls played one of their best games of the season and came out of the holiday break with a 61-33 win over Winnebago.

Wayne was able to build an 11-point halftime advantage and rode the shooting of senior Rubie Klausen, who hit three 3-pointers in the third period on her way to a game-high 21 points.

Brooklyn Kruse added 14 points for the winners. Frantzie Barner chipped in seven points, Kierah Haase had five, Mia Nelsen and Gabbi Judd each had four and Madi Sievers and Madi Urbanec both had three points.

In Wednesday's semifinal matchup, the Blue Devils weren't able to keep up with Pierce down the stretch as the Bluejays went on to a 53-35 win.

Wayne was within four at the half, but couldn't get things going offensively as Pierce was able to outscore Wayne 31-16 in the final two periods to advance to the final.

Kruse led the Blue Devils with 10 points, followed by Nelsen with nine and Klausen with eight. Barner put in three points while Haase scored two.

In Thursday's consolation game, Wayne was able to outlast Hartington Cedar Catholic in a tightly-contested matchup at Wayne State College, earning a 41-36 victory over the Trojans.

It was a back-and-forth game throughout much of the first half. Wayne held a six-point lead at intermission and hit several key shots down the stretch to come away with the third-place trophy.

Klausen scored 16 points and Kruse added 14 for the 5-5 Blue Devils. Kiara Krusemark scored five points while Nelsen, Barner and Judd each had two.

Wayne girls compete at Winnebago Invite Wayne sent a pair of girls wrestlers to last week's Winnebago Invitational and both girls wrestled well in what is described as a mini-state meet with more than 40 teams and 200 girls participating.

Ishell Rivas reached the finals at 100 pounds, going 3-0 in her pool and getting a first-period pin to advance to the finals. She met Riley Hohn of Weeping Water in a great match that came down to the wire when Hohn counted a Rivas throw for a takedown and three-point nearfall to win the match, 10-3.

Jaycee Burns was 3-1 on the day, coming back from a first-round loss to win her final three matches by pin. She ended the day with a pin over Chloe Ellingsen of Harrisburg to finish ninth in the 126-pound bracket.

Wayne's boys and girls wrestlers were both competing in Plainview on Tuesday. The boys head to the Malcolm Invitational on Saturday.

The Tri County Northeast girls basketball team came home with runner-up honors from the Summerland Invitational, while the Wolfpack boys earned consolation honors.

In girls action, TCNE handled Walthill 59-21 in the opening round Monday before falling to host Summerland 48-40 in the championship on Tuesday.

TCNE got out to a 20-0 first-quarter lead and never looked back against the Blujays. Rhyanne Mackling led the way with 20 points, Jordyn Carr added 14 and Brynn Schock put in 10. Also scoring were Breanna Millard with five, Myleah Mackling with four and Micaela Tornez and Brianna Bousquet with two apiece.

Wildcat teams come out cold in losses to Augie

In their first game back from the holiday break, the Wayne State basketball teams both came out cold in losses Sunday at Augustana.

In men's action, Augustana shot nearly 54 percent from the field while keeping Wayne State winless on the road this season with a 71-55 win.

The Wildcats never led in the contest as the host Vikings jumped out quickly, taking a 10-2 lead less than 3:30 into the contest.

First Lego League offers fun with Robotics

Youth are actively engaged in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) learning experiences across the U.S.

Why is this a need? In the next decade, 80% of all jobs will require STEM skills. Forty percent of U.S.

companies report difficulty in filling positions because of a lack of STEM knowledge. Sixty-three percent of American teens have never considered a career in STEM-related fields.

A recent study conducted by Tufts University, The Positive Development of Youth, revealed 4-H programming does indeed get young people more connected to science. According to the study, 4-Hers are two times more likely to participate in science, engineering and computer technology programs during out-of-school time and 4-H girls are two to three times more likely to take part in science programs compared to girls in other out-of-school time activities.

There is a great opportunity to get youth, families, and volunteers engaged with STEM through robotics in Northeast Nebraska.

First Lego League is a special interest club for youth 9 to 14 years-old to explore the field of robotics through real-world engineering challenges. Local teams have been practicing since this fall. They will be competing at local qualifiers in Nebraska coming in January 2022.

There are four parts to the First Lego League experience: Robot Design, Innovation Project, Core Values, and Robot Games. Each team will conduct an innovation project based on the theme this year called, "Cargo Connect". They have been researching the challenges of delivering cargo using the engineering design process to create new solutions to solve the problem. Local experts such as train engineers, truck drivers, pilots, have visited with the teams to share real-world knowledge to guide them through their research.

Each team will design a robot using Lego Education kits. The robot table has over 18 missions for the teams to write a code, build attachments, and see how many points their robot can get in 2 1/2 minutes. The missions are built out of Legos and follow the theme, "Cargo Connect". A few of the favorite missions at practice have been moving cargo containers, unloading a cargo plane, and repairing a train track.

Core values focuses on the following: Discovery, Innovation, Impact, Inclusion, Teamwork, and having Fun using Cooperation and Gracious Professionalism during practices and competitions.

The youth at each practice learn valuable skills in STEM, develop public speaking, and team building skills. Robotics is one project to get youth enrolled during the 4-H year. Now is the time to enroll in the 4-H program. There are over 150 projects in which youth can enroll in 4-H.

For more information about becoming involved in 4-H this year, interested persons are encouraged to contact their local Nebraska Extension Office or visit the website at www.extension.unl.edu.

Humanity in medicine has many benefits

What does it mean to practice humanity in medicine? The phrase is used as a tagline and in book titles. Humanity and compassion in medicine is touted as something to aspire to, a noble accomplishment.

But in reality, the biomedical model of health, the business model for healthcare, is not set up to support it. Algorithms and best practices set forth by insurance companies and Centers for Medicare and Medicaid do not account for the time required to establish meaningful human interaction between patient and caregiver.

This conundrum can be frustrating. Understanding the nuances of each individual patient and each situation cannot be rushed. Yet opting to practice 'slow medicine' can have negative ramifications; constantly running behind schedule, having more work than you can handle and knowing that there are more critical and needy patients waiting to be seen.

Thankfully, the benefits far outweigh the frustrations. Medical professionals who choose to share in the human condition with patients are better able to care for the whole person in a way that is nurturing and fulfilling to both parties. When we are successful in this effort to see our own fear and our own death and our own vulnerability in our patients, we will meet them and treat them with an open mind and open heart. We will listen actively, without bias or judgment and we will do what is best for them in this moment in their life.

Regardless of our profession, experiencing a sense of powerlessness can creep into us and lead to isolation and avoidance. We can lose connectedness with our own emotions and our own self. Striving to have an awareness and acceptance of grief, pain and knowing when to accept our inability to change circumstances can help us avoid feelings of helplessness.

Being a doctor helped create who I am as a person. I am grateful for all the patients who have enriched my life and taught me lessons of humility, joy, interconnectedness, and impermanence.

My patients and my experiences have indeed opened my mind and my heart. In my exam rooms, my patients and I collaborate in a communion of sorts. We share and connect as we learn about and better understand each other. That is what it means to practice humanity in medicine.

Perhaps these words by one of my favorite authors David Whyte say it best, "Put down the weight of your aloneness and ease into the conversation. Pay attention to everything in the world as if it is alive. Realize everything has its own discrete existence outside your story. By doing this, you open to the gifts and lessons the world has to give you."

Taking a trip down memory lane as new year begins

Brrr! That was one deep freeze we experienced over the New Year weekend. Fortunately, not as much snow as forecast, but the wind chill was COLD!!

I had not seen the New Year in for decades, but could not get to sleep last Friday eve and was treated to the firecrackers that were going off at midnight, even in the cold. I wonder if they actually keep some over from the Fourth, or where do they get them? I never thought ahead that well.

We had a fun gathering at Kay's in her new abode. It's an excuse to get out all the decorations, the good china and glassware, and the nice tablecloths. Anymore, it takes two long tables, and the cousins all ate at the one in the basement. There was a good amount of hilarity from there.

Right now, I'm listening to a Christmas cantata by the choir of St. Paul's, Winside, from sometime in the Seventies. The quality of the recording is not that great, but it certainly brings back memories. G W Gotberg was our pastor and his wife was the organist. Most of the choir consisted of couples, and we had a good time. Our kids were young enough we had to have a babysitter; the Big Farmer and I called it our one night out a week!

By: Pat Meierhenry

In fact, when the choir sang for Sunday morning services, we needed someone to ride herd, also; C O and Jane Witt volunteered. They sat upstairs because they left early to get the Sunday dinners ready at the cafe. And those were real Sunday dinners, complete with homemade pie! A few years ago, Kim Leighton hosted a gathering of former Winside folks who now lived in Lincoln and Jane Witt, Jr, came in a T-shirt that read, Witt's Cafe.

When I keep things like that, I can't find them when I want them! One time, at our high school alumni affair, friend Don displayed one that said Waco Little League. His father, our rural mailman, coached those kids and he had managed to keep one of the shirts. He had dug it out because some organization had been on their phone asking about the oldest T-shirt in the house! It was probably forty years old by then. I think the caller was surprised; I know I was!

I got a gift for Christmas I have already tried out and enjoyed; car seat warmers! I drove to PT today and that heat felt so good; I'm not sure how I got along this long without one. I also received one of the weekly memo calendars Elkhorn Valley Bank has provided for ages.

Mike kept one on his desk, and in later years, on the end table by his recliner. Such data as the high and low temps, the rainfall amounts, and other items were duly recorded. When we were still on the farm, he wrote how many hours were spent on such things as fencing, livestock feeding, and all other chores. I think he had some plans for computing the numbers by the end of the year, but that never happened. Regardless, he had to have one of those calendars near by. Sometimes, while preparing taxes, it helped us to recall some hours spent volunteering, for instance, which were deductible. Believe me, he was an expert at things that were deductible!

It sounds like I'm nostalgic this eve, and I am! I think seeing the old year out causes it; there have been so many collections of events in the papers, deaths of famous folks, and such that make us aware of just how much time has past.

Hopefully, 2022 will see the end of the pandemic; we should be so fortunate.

Preparing for this year's forage, alfalfa crop

Forage Outlook
By Daren Redfearn

Looking back at last year's forage management and production can help us learn what to improve to make it better this year. Stick around and I'll give you some ideas to consider.

Some of you may have planted a winter annual forage to graze this spring. If so, manage grazing so there is not the temptation to begin grazing perennial grass pastures too early this spring. This will help give them some additional rest and early forage production. You might also consider frost-seeding legumes, such as red clover, in February through mid-March to boost the yield and improve the quality without adding additional nitrogen fertilizer.

When did your pastures run out? Was it mid-summer? late-summer? or fall? Remember that you have plenty of annual forage options to fill any gaps—there are few common ones that can be very productive. Forages like sudan grass and pearl millet can be planted from June until September and used to fill summer and fall forage gaps. Oats and turnip mixtures can be planted as early as mid-August and used to fill late-fall forage gaps.

Plant and use these annual forages when your other pastures have slow growth and are stressed so you have plenty of grazing for your cattle. Your regular pastures will bounce back quicker as well.

Several of you may have taken an extra cutting of alfalfa late in the fall because of excellent September and October growth. That hay was high quality, so it should be sold for a premium price or used for special feeding situations. This coming spring, though, it may start to grow a little slower. If so, let it begin to bloom before cutting.

We all can do better this year than we did last year. One of the best ways to accomplish this is to look back to learn what we hope to do better in the future.

Have a Happy New Year!

Alfalfa Fertility Management
By Todd Whitney

Successful alfalfa production begins with proper decisions regarding cultivar selection; weeds / insects & diseases control; water management; and a good fertility program. Although some growers may still use three tons per acre as their alfalfa yield goal, many producers (especially irrigators) may now be using six or nine tons per acre for their target yield goals.

Due to high fertilizer prices, soil testing will likely improve fertilizer return on investments for the upcoming growing season. Since alfalfa roots absorb most nutrients such as phosphate and potassium from the top six to eight inches of soil, surface and shallow subsoil soil sampling will likely provide adequate nutrient availability assessment.

Alfalfa is more sensitive to pH than other crops; and grows best at 6.8 soil pH with a pH range from 6.5 to 7.5. If alfalfa fields have low pH or strong acid content, then lime may be required used to raise pH. Conversely, if lab results indicate high pH levels, then sulfur can be applied to help lower pH levels.

Alfalfa hay harvest removes about 55 pounds of potassium per ton of production. Potassium is also needed by alfalfa in high quantities and about 1/3 of Nebraska fields now test low for potassium. Phosphorus removal in alfalfa forage averages 12 pounds per ton of production. While sulfur and magnesium removal is about 5-6 pounds per ton of alfalfa produced.

To extend fertilizer investment dollars, consider topdressing nutrients immediately after forage harvest before regrowth resumes. Split apply fertilizer applications with topdress fertilization following first cutting and in early September to increase winter hardiness.

Do you desire to share your faith and help children become disciples of God? St. Mary's Catholic School is accepting applications to fill the 3rd and 4th grade combined classroom teacher position starting in the 2022-2023 school year. We are a small PreKindergarten through 6th-grade school that focuses on faith, academics, service, and joy in all. Why applicants should consider St. Mary's Catholic School:

We are one to one with technology and use a variety of applications for blended learning experiences.
•St. Mary's sets high expectations for students.
•We are a virtue-based restorative discipline school.
•St. Mary's looks toward the future to provide staff and students with the best practices and choices for success.
•St. Mary's has created a family atmosphere where staff, parents, and students all work together to grow as disciples of Christ.
