Wayne State College to host Homecoming festivities for 2022

Wayne State College will host its 2022 Homecoming festivities Oct. 3-8 on the WSC campus.

Homecoming weekend kicks off on Thursday, Oct. 6 at 6:30 p.m. with royalty coronation, a pep rally and a concert, featuring the Tegan Nissen Band.

Due to the cooler temperatures predicted, the Thursday events have been moved to the Wayne State College Student Center Atrium.

All community members and students are welcome to attend.

Planetarium shows will be featured Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7-8.

Reunions and activities scheduled for Oct. 7 include: Carhart Math and Science Alumni Reunion from 3 to 5 p.m., Walking Art Collection Tour starting at 3 p.m. in the Student Center, Opening Reception for WSC Alumni and Faculty Art Exhibit from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery in Conn Library and a concert starting at 7:30 p.m. in Ley Theatre by Chanticleer, a Grammy award-winning a cappella ensemble.

The Homecoming Parade and Band Day will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 8. Campus Tours are available from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., starting in the Student Center.

The President's Society and Honored Classes Brunch will take place from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Frey Conference Suite. Honored classes this year include the Classes of '62, '72 and '82 for their 60-, 50- and 40-year reunions.

The Wildcats will take on Minnesota State at 1 p.m., Saturday.

The Outstanding Alumni Awards Banquet will take place Saturday, Oct. 8, honoring an alumnus from each of the four schools at WSC and an Alumni Service Award. Recipients include Neal Schnoor '90, President at Northern State University in Aberdeen, South Dakota (School of Arts and Humanities); Cheri (McDonald) Polenske '08, Chief Information Officer at the Nebraska State College System in Lincoln (School of Business and Technology); Johanna Barnes '97, '06 MSE, Professor of Education at Wayne State College (School of Education and Behavioral Sciences); and DaVarryl Williamson '93, 10-time national amateur champion and former professional heavy-weight boxer, two-time national Golden Gloves champion, Colorado Sports Hall of Fame inductee and owner/operator of TOS Boxing gym in Englewood, Colorado. (School of Science, Health, and Criminal Justice).

The Alumni Service Award is given to an individual who has enhanced the college through dedicated service, promotion, financial support and other efforts that have benefited Wayne State College.

The 2022 recipient of the Alumni Service Award is Dr. Donald Koeber, a native of Wayne and a 1970 graduate of Wayne State College. He earned his Doctor of Optometry degree from Illinois College of Optometry in 1978.

Koeber is involved in the community and serves on many organizations, including service as the President of the Wayne State Foundation, where he has been a board member for 36 years.

Koeber and his wife, Claudia, also a 1970 graduate of WSC, reside in Wayne. They have been active with the Wayne State Foundation and have supported many campus projects and initiatives.

Student events throughout the week include a comedy show, the Nearly Naked Mile and Beach Volleyball Tournament, Willy Olympics, men's basketball Black vs. Gold scrimmage, Silent Disco dance and Homecoming Coronation and pep rally in the Willow Bowl on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 6.

For more information about Homecoming 2022, to see the detailed schedule of events and to RSVP to attend, visit www.wsc.edu/homecoming or contact the Alumni Office at 402-375-7370.

Nicole Owens and Jonathan Webb spoke to the Wayne City Council on their request to open an alley behind their property.

Council approves alley request

By Clara Osten, clara@wayneherald.com

A public hearing on a request to open an alley in the southeast portion of Wayne was among the items on the agenda when the Wayne City Council met in regular session on Tuesday.

Jonathan Webb and Nicole Owens came before the council with a request to open the alley behind their property at 319 South Nebraska. They told the council the alley is very rough and they would like to be able to get their camper in and out of the area. They also indicated they only use the alley in the summer and would not need the alley open in the winter.

City Planner Joel Hansen said the alley is presently a grass alley and not open to traffic. He also explained the process the city would go through to level the area and put down rock. He said the city would not have a lot of cost involved if the alley would be opened and after the initial rock it put down, the adjacent property owners would be responsible for additional rock in the future. This would only apply to those property owners who sign a petition asking for the rock.

Following the public hearing, the council voted unanimously to approve the request.

In other action, the council approved a resolution and a request to prohibit parking on a portion of Main Street in connection with Christmas in Wayne/Parade of Lights on Nov. 17.

A resolution is required to comply with the Nebraska Department of Transportation requirements for the temporary use of a state highway for the event.

In addition, parking will be prohibited in the 200 and 300 Blocks of Main Street from 5:30 to 8 p.m. that evening.

Three resolutions regarding the certifying of mowing costs to the Wayne County Clerk and Wayne County Treasurer to become liens on property were approved.

City Administrator Wes Blecke explained the process the city goes through and said during the past summer approximately 70 letters were sent out to property owners in regard to overgrown weeds.

He told the council that most of these situations were taken care of by the property owners.

"We send out letters and give the property owners seven days to comply. After that time, the city employees mow the property at a cost of $300 per hour. We did have to mow five properties this year," Blecke said.

The owner of three of the properties involved has not paid the cost of mowing, which ranges from $375 to $900.

Council members approved the appointment of Amy Bloomquist to the Library Board.

Discussion was held during the meeting on sidewalk installation along the Chicago Street Project.

City Planner Hansen told the council that during the installation of the street, there was some damage done to a sprinkler system on one of the properties. Also, with the installation of the street, there is a gap in getting to the trail.

Council members also discussed which properties in the area would be affected by the need to install sidewalks.

City staff was directed to inform the property owner at 309 South Sherman Street they had until July 1, 2023 to install the sidewalk.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Sept. 20 at 5:30 p.m.

Steve Muir with Elkhorn Valley Insurance Agency presented the Wayne County Commissioners with a check for $24,374.01 during Tuesday's meeting.

Commissioners approve ARPA grant fund requests

By Clara Osten, clara@wayneherald.com

Distribution of a portion of the funds Wayne County received through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) and an insurance rebate check were among the items on the agenda when the Wayne County Board of Commissioners met on Tuesday.

Commissioners approved an application for ARPA funds from the Hoskins Rural Fire Department for $124,054.50 for the purchase of a new water tanker for the department. This amount was one half of the department's request. Commissioners felt the cost of the tanker should be shared with Stanton County, as the Hoskins department serves Woodland Park, which is in Stanton County.

A request for $49,396 in ARPA funds for the purchase of a law enforcement cruiser for the Wayne County Sheriff's department was also approved. This includes only the purchase of the vehicle and not the items needed to equip the vehicle.

An application from the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD) for $635,000 was denied at this time.

It was noted that the NNPHD was looking to possibly purchase the former Magic Wok building, tear it down and build a new building at that location. However, at this time, it is not known how much, and from where, other funding could be obtained.

Commissioners said they felt some of the funding should come from the other counties the department serves.

With the approval of the two applications for ARPA funds, Wayne County has approximately $973,000 left from the $1.8 million allocated to the county.

Commissioners said they would like to stop taking applications until they can figure out the costs of projects such as windows for the courthouse.

Steve Muir with Elkhorn Valley Agency was at the meeting to present the county with a check for $24,374.01. The money represents the 2021 Medical Loss Ratio from United HealthCare.

Muir said the check was nearly double from last year.

Clerk of the District Court Deb Allemann-Dannelly and Clerk Magistrate Ashley Siebrant came to the meeting with information on technology updates for the courtroom.

The two explained what the $62,000 grant the county received would pay for and what the county would be responsible for.

County Attorney Amy Miller said she has reviewed the Memorandum of Understanding and noted that the county would be required to make the upgrades in the future and it was in the county's best interest to do so at the present time, with grant funding.

A purchase agreement was approved for the purchase of 1.41 acres of land from the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

The land is located at the edge of Winside, adjacent to the county property that houses District 3 equipment.

District 1 Commissioner Terry Sievers told the board that he is in the early stages of looking to purchase a motor grader through Sourcewell. This is similar to a state bid. Sievers will bring more information to the board as he obtains it.

Commissioners discussed options for the property and the possibility of acquiring more land in the area.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 18 at 9 a.m. in the Wayne County Courthouse.

Eagles auxiliary conducts successful events

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met Oct 3 with President Sharon Fleeer presiding.

The Aerie and Auxiliary are both again sponsoring the WSC Shotgun Club, The members are in competition for marksmanship. They also are teaching the correct and safe way to handle firearms.

The MDA Poker Run had 94 participants, raising $2100. The winners of best poker hands were Dennis Rodby, Bo Armstrong and Eileen Lutt. Marsha Roth won the Split the Pot.

The Man Cave Membership Drive

netted six new Auxiliary members and one Aerie Member.

Thanks was given to all who provided venues, snacks, and provided transportation. The $656 raised will go to the State Presidents Project which is Alzheimers/Band of Strong.

The annual Watkins/Rada Knives Party will be held Tuesday, Oct 25 from 5-8 p.m. with many products available at the club. Products can also be ordered and will be received in a couple of weeks. For more information contact Cheryl Henschke.

The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Wes Blecke, City Administrator

City Council meetings
Regular Wayne City Council meetings are at 5:30 pm on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at 3rd and Pearl Streets. We get lonely when it's just government officials talking to ourselves...please join us!

Owner Occupied Rehabilitation Grant

If you receive a utility bill from the City, please look at the last insert you received. If you have "lost" the insert, please contact the City if interested in owner occupied rehabilitation grants.

Yes, that's right, grants! If fact these grants are up to $25,000 for improvements to your home. Sure, but what's the catch? It is government money so there are hoops you have to jump through, but for up to $25,000 in upgrades to your home, I might at least inquire about this. First, the homeowner has to financially qualify, meaning you must meet income limits set by the State of Nebraska for Wayne County. Also, your home must be inside City limits.

The Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District (NE-NEDD) is currently administering the grant program, so you will need to ultimately talk to these fine people in Norfolk. But you can always reach out to the City first, and we can get you what you need to get started. There will be paperwork...this is again a government program! Home improvements can include but are not limited to weatherization, roofing, siding, foundations, electrical, plumbing and insulation. The NENEDD will help you evaluate the best uses for these funds in your home if you qualify. Again, give the City a call and we can talk you through the process and then turn you over to the NENEDD staff if you want to proceed.

Redevelopment Areas

Not many people like being told their property is "blighted and sub-standard." This is a term that the Nebraska Legislature used initially when they allowed areas needing to be redeveloped to use the funding incentive of tax increment financing (TIF). You will also hear this same property referred to as being in a redevelopment area. No matter how you phrase it, the bottom line is that it doesn't affect your property in a negative way. In fact it allows redevelopment to happen in these areas with a financial incentive, so it actually could enhance your property especially if you are wanting to sell it or redevelop it yourself. The City is having three of its "boards" (Planning Commission, Community Redevelopment Authority, and City Council) look at the existing map and determine areas to add or subtract to areas to be redeveloped in Wayne. If you have an interest in this, let City staff know and we can meet to show you existing areas and get your input on adding or subtracting properties.

Seventh and Main

There is activity happening at Seventh and Main! I repeat, there is activity happening at Seventh and Main! I wasn't sure I would ever be able to say that. Stay tuned as that corner will soon be transformed. And it can't happen soon enough.

Alumni Service Award given to Donald Koeber

Dr. Donald Koeber a native of Wayne, graduated from Wayne High School in 1966.

He enrolled at Wayne State College and earned a Bachelor of Science in Education in Chemistry in 1970.

For the next four years, he was employed as an assistant cashier with State National Bank in Wayne.

In 1974, he enrolled in Illinois

College of Optometry, obtaining a Doctor of Optometry in 1978.

Koeber then joined his father, the late William A. Koeber, at his family practice, Wayne Vision Center, where he spent 40 years serving the Wayne community with their eye care needs.

Koeber retired from his practice in 2018 and is a lifetime member of the Nebraska Optometric Association.

Koeber stays very involved in the community and serves on several organizations. Currently, Koeber serves as the president of the Wayne State Foundation where he has been a board member for 36 years.

He is the current Master of Wayne Corinthian Lodge No. 83 and is a member of Wayne Kiwanis Club, Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Ambassadors, Wayne State Cat Club, Wayne Country Club, Abu Bekr Shriners Association and the Wayne First United Methodist Church.

Koeber and his wife, Claudia, graduate of WSC in 1970, reside in Wayne. The pair have been very active with the Wayne State Foundation and have supported many campus projects and initiatives.

They are currently trustees and President's Society members of the Foundation. They recently established the Donald E. and Claudia E. Koeber Endowed Scholarship and supported the Peterson Fine Arts renovation project, along with his three brothers, Charles, Bill and Phil Koeber, by naming the Koeber Family Music Practice Room.

The Koebers have two children, Todd and Kayla, along with four grandchildren, Alayna, Jonathan, Miles and Madelyn.

First Presbyterian Church plans coat giveaway

Are you ready for cold weather? To help area families get ready for winter the First Presbyterian Church Deacons will be hosting a coat giveaway on Saturday, Oct. 15.

Coats for all ages will be available; however, the selection will be limited to stock on hand.

The event will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. In addition to coats, there is a limited selection of hats, scarves and gloves and other winter accessories. Each "shopper" can select one coat and accessories, parents may select for their children. The event is open to all area individuals and families and will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Given the space constraints no more than 20 "shoppers" will be allowed in the building at one time. Your patience is appreciated during the busy times.

First Presbyterian Church is located at 216 West Third Street and those taking part in the giveaway are asked to use the office door on the west side of the building (nearest the ramp).

The First Presbyterian Church Coat Closet will open for the season beginning on Tuesday, Oct. 18. The closet's normal hours are Tuesday to Friday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The Coat Closet accepts clean, used coats in good condition for all ages and sizes. Coats can be dropped off at the church Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. Please do not leave coats outside the building hours.

For more information about the Coat Closet or the Oct. 15 event, call (402) 375-2669.

Area teams claim state spots in exciting district

By MICHAEL CARNES
For The Herald

With only three teams qualifying for the state tournament, Tuesday's four-team battle royale in the C-3 district golf tournament came down to the final hole.

Wayne edged O'Neill by three shots for the team title and LCC was one stroke better than Pierce for the third and final team qualifying spot in an exciting district tournament held at the Wayne Country Club.

It came down to the final foursome, with golfers from each of the top four teams trying to finish off their round and keep their teams in the chase for a spot in next week's Class C State Girls Golf Championships.

Wayne coach Josh Johnson, who was trying to keep track of all the numbers as he watched the final groups report their scores, knew Tuesday's race would be a close one.

"I knew the last three weeks that it would be a four-horse race between us and Laurel and Pierce and O'Neill," he said after the tournament. "It would come down to whoever played well today that would go to state, and luckily that was us."

It didn't start out the way for the host Blue Devils, though.

Senior Riley Haschke, who was an individual qualifier for state a year ago, felt the pressure early on and struggled to a 51 on the front nine.

"I was nervous because at conference we didn't have the greatest round and I was kind of nervous and just was getting ahead of my-

"That's why it's a team sport," Johnson said. "It was great to see people step up when we need them to and help each other out. Our that it was close and I just needed to be more aggressive, and once I got to the back nine I just said let's relax and everything is going to be OK," she said.

A par save on the par 3 12th hole got Haschke going, and she made par on the 13th hole before stringing together three pars in a row on 15, 16 and 17.

Asked about her goal at the start of the year to bring the team along to state this year, Haschke smiled.

"It's amazing to know we're going to state together as a team," she said.

Haschke and Johnson were joined by Carli Canham, who shot a 103; Niemann followed with a 105 and Charli Sievers had a 109.

While Wayne was piecing together its district title effort, the LCC Lady Bears went down to the wire before edging Pierce by one shot for the third and final team spot.

Coach Christina Patefield said it was a battle all the way to the end. "It was very close and it was a great effort by the girls," she said. "I felt they played well and played up to their averages, and Sarah shot under her average so it was a great day for us."

It was a special day for senior Sarah Karnes, who caught fire early in the day and cruised to a three-shot win over Molly Heimes of Battle Creek for individual honors.

Karnes played extremely well on the front side, shooting a 3-over par 39. She hit one in the water on the 11th hole and stumbled to a 47 on the back, but had enough of a cush-

Taya Beller goes up for the kill for Wayne State during the top-ranked Wildcats' straight-set win over Bemidji State Friday. The win set a new school record for consecutive wins to start a season, the Wildcats' 17th of the campaign.

Top-ranked Wildcats breeze to home volleyball wins

It was easy pickings for the top-ranked Wayne State volleyball team as they set a new school mark while posting sweeps over Bemidji State and Minnesota Crookston.

On Friday, the Wildcats set a new school record with its 17th consecutive victory following a 25-15, 25-15, 25-15 win over Bemidji State at Rice Auditorium. The Wildcats eclipsed the previous school record of 16 straight wins set by the 2010 Wildcat team.

WSC never trailed in the entire match against the Beavers. Tied at 5-5 early in the first set, the Wildcats used a BSU service error and attack error and a Taya Beller kill to take the lead for good at 8-5.

Kelsie Cada and Taya Beller each had five kills to leads the Wildcats in the first set as WSC forced eight attack errors on Bemidji State while holding the Beavers to a .028 hitting percentage.

Bemidji State battled with WSC for the first half of the second set until the 'Cats pulled away. Leading 13-10, WSC used a block by Rachel Walker and Beller and kills from Maggie Brahmaer and Cada for a 16-10 lead. Leading 19-15 WSC scored the final six points of the set, highlighted by a pair of service aces from senior libero Jessie Brandl, to take a 2-0 advantage. WSC created seven attack errors on BSU in the second set while Cada recorded four kills.

The final set saw the Wildcat post five service aces while Brahmaer had six kills on six attempts as Wayne State closed out the easy three-set win. Brandl and sophomore Brooke Peltz each served up two aces in the third set while Beller and Jordan McCormick each posted solo blocks.

Cada led WSC in kills with 12 followed by Brahmaer with 11. Brandl accounted for 10 digs while setter Rachel Walker was credited with 32 assists. Brandl ended the match with four service aces while Peltz had three.

On Saturday, WSC made quick work of the Golden Eagles, allowing only 28 points in three games in a 25-8, 25-10, 25-10 sweep.

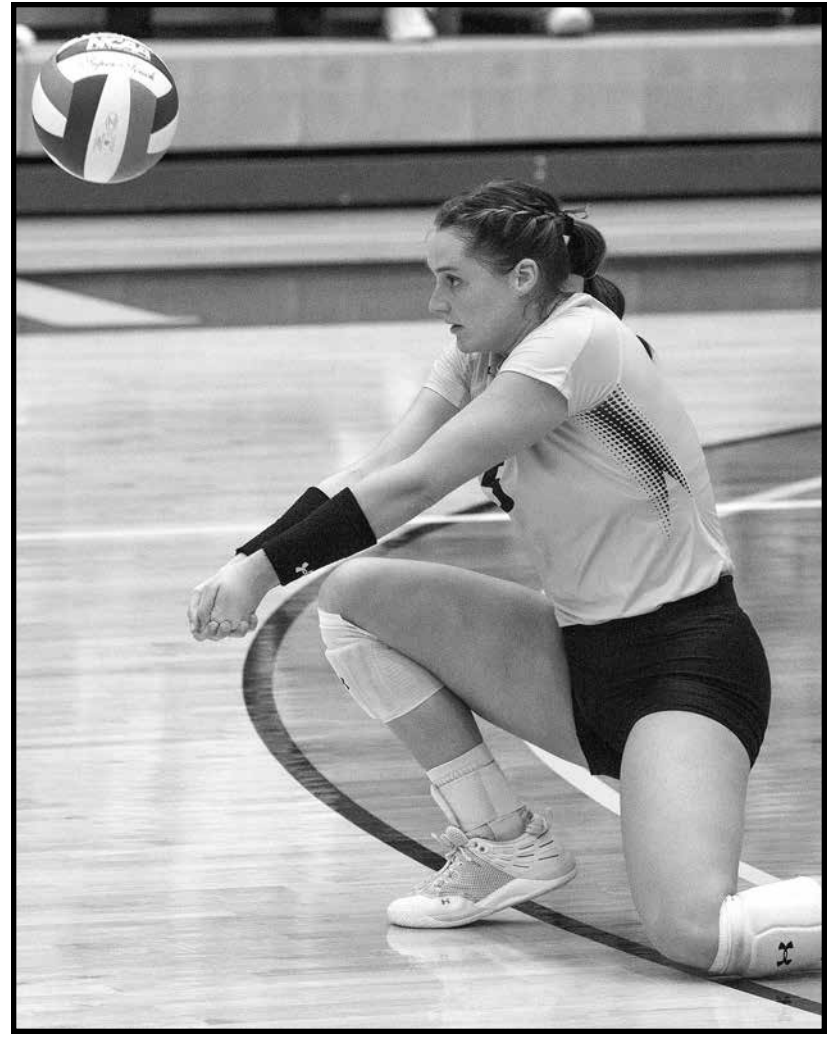

Wayne State scored the first six points of the match behind pairs of kills from Kelsie Cada and Maggie Brahmaer. A Rachel Walker ace serve forced a quick Crookston time out, trailing 8-1.

Walker and Cada to build the lead to 17-5, and an 8-3 run closed out the quick first set. Cada and Taya Beller both had three kills to lead the way.

A 10-0 start to the second set helped Wayne State take a fast 2-0 advantage, thanks to three kills from Beller and two from Cada. A pair of kills from Beller later on in the set made it 17-6 as she would have eight in the set with Cada adding five.

Brahmaer opened the final set with a pair of kills and back-to-back terminations by Baylor Bunjer built the lead to 11-3. Blocks by Bunjer and Isabelle Vacek helped and have nine service aces. Beller led the 'Cats in kills with 12 followed by Cada and Brahmaer with 10 each. Cada led the team in digs with nine followed by Brandl and Hayvn Heinz with five each. Cada and Beller each had three blocks and Jordan McCormick added two ace serves. Walker finished with 27 assists.

The 18-0 (8-0 NSIC) Wildcats were at Augustana on Tuesday and play at Northern State and MSU Moorhead this weekend. They are back home next weekend to host University of Mary and Minot State.

Wildcats remain unanimous No. 1 in AVCA poll

The Wayne State volleyball team was a unanimous No. 1 selection for the second straight week in the American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II Top 25 Coaches Poll.

The Wildcats set a new school record with their 17th and 18th consecutive wins over the weekend in home sweeps over Bemidji State and Minnesota Crookston and received all 47 first-place votes in this week's rankings.

Five Northern Sun Conference schools make up half of the top 10 this week, including the top-ranked Wildcats, No. 3 Concordia-St. Paul, No. 6 Minnesota Duluth, No. 7 St. Cloud State and No. 8 Southwest Minnesota State.

Five other Central Region teams are in this week's rankings, including No. 5 Nebraska-Kearney, No. 10 Northwest Minnesota State, No. 12 Washburn, No. 23 Central Missouri and No. 24 Central Oklahoma, which makes its first rankings appearance of the season.

Wayne State played at Augustana Tuesday and will go on the road this weekend for matches at Northern State Friday (6 p.m.) and MSU Moorhead Saturday (3:30 p.m.).

The AVCA Div. II Coaches poll is as follows (last week's ranking in parenthesis):

- Wayne State (1)

Turnovers hurt Wayne in 55-7 loss

ALBION — The Wayne High football team couldn't keep pace with C-1 rated Boone Central on Friday as the host Cardinals ran away with a 55-7 win.

Wayne trailed 21-0 in the first quarter before getting on the board late in the period with a little trick-ery. Ashton Munsell took a pitch from Kaden Keller and found Alex Phelps all alone in the secondary as the two seniors hooked up for a 65-yard scoring connection to make it 21-7 after one period.

That was as close as Wayne would get, as the Cardinals added three more scores in the second, capped with a 75-yard interception return for a touchdown, to make it 42-7 at the half.

Boone Central added two more scores in the third as the 35-point running clock was in play throughout the second half.

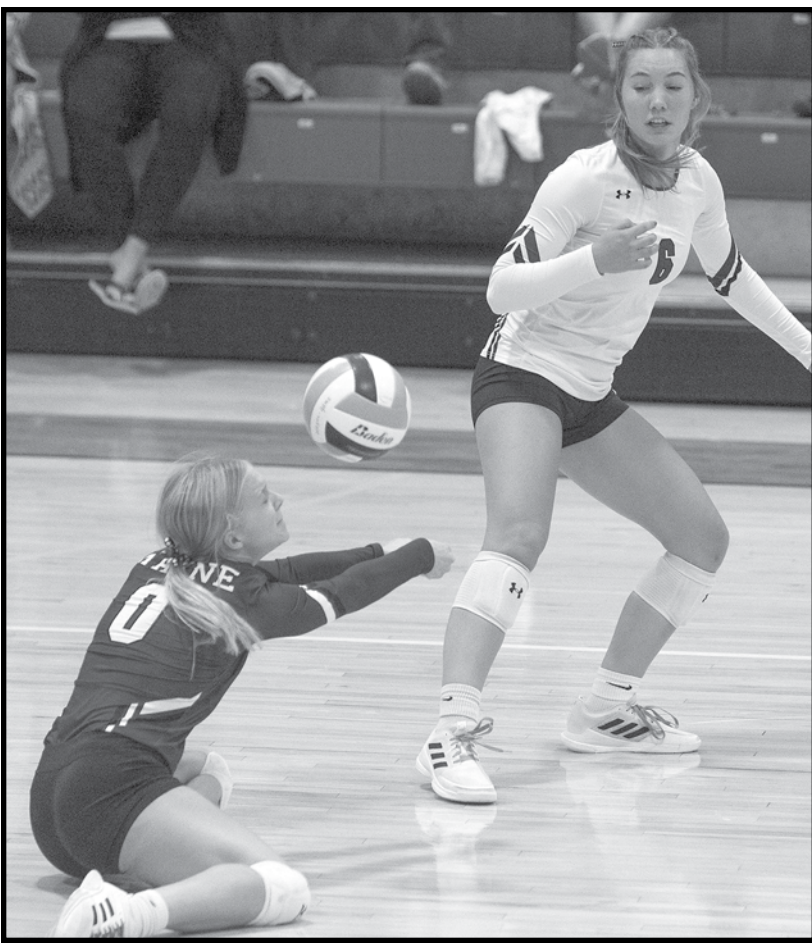

Keller was 15-of-22 passing for 108 yards to lead the Wayne offense. Munsell was 1-of-1 for 65 yards and Gavin Anderson was 2-of-4 for 16 yards under center. Phelps led the receivers with 110 yards on seven receptions, Zach McManigal caught three balls for 27 yards, Daniel Judd had two catches for 17 yards and Jamison Meyer added a 13-yard catch.

Wayne had only 77 yards on the ground Friday, led by Will Leseberg with 50 yards on eight tries. Brody Munter had seven carries for 29 yards and Garrett Schultz ran eight times for nine yards.

Defensively, Judd led with six tackles, Schultz had five, Phelps and Eli Barner both had four and Munsell, Austin Heiser, Taven Ocampo and Calvin Ankeny had three apiece.

The 1-4 Blue Devils are back home Friday for their home finale against West Point-Beemer at Wayne State College's Cunningham Field.

Wayne wins five-set thriller

Wins have been hard to come by for the Wayne High volleyball team this season, but they pulled through in a big way last Tuesday with a five-set thriller at home over West Point-Beemer.

Wayne rallied from a 2-1 deficit to win a close fourth set, then fought off several match points before finally outlasting the Lady Cadets in a heart-stopping fifth set, winning 25-16, 19-25, 13-25, 25-22, 21-19.

Three Blue Devils recorded double figures in the kill department, led by Kate Hill's 16 terminations. Haley Kramer added 11 and Amelia Legler put away 10, with Jaycee Bruns adding nine and Elle Powicki and Gabbi Judd four apiece. Isabelle Francis had a career-high 45 assists.

Kramer had four of Wayne's 10 ace serves in the win, with Hill adding three, Legler two and Bruns one. Legler and Judd each had three blocks. Hill had a team-high 36 digs with Faith Powicki adding 33, Kramer 19 and Bruns and Francis 13 apiece.

On Thursday, the Blue Devil girls dropped a three-set decision at Stanton, 25-8, 25-17, 25-18.

Hill led the offense with six kills, Legler added three and Bruns and Kramer both had two, with Francis recording 13 assists. Kramer had four ace serves.

Defensively, Powicki had 16 digs, Bruns added eight, Hill had six and Kramer picked up three.

Wayne (3-18) traveled to Albion Tuesday for a triangular with Boone Central and Pierce, and will host Crofton on Thursday in their home finale.

DAVID CITY — Three of the top four places in the girls race at the Aquinas Invitational cross country meet were dressed in Blue Devil blue-and-black.

The trio of Jala Krusemark, Kyla Krusemark and Laura Hasemann finished second, third and fourth to help Wayne run away with the team title in action last week.

Lilyan Hurner finished 18th overall round out Wayne's 27-point team score, and Olivia Hanson (23rd) and Frantzie Barner (28th) both finished strong to help Wayne to the easy win.

In boys action, Drew Miller was seventh and Kasen York finished 18th to help the Blue Devils to a fifth-place finish out of 15 teams. Ethan McCraney finished 29th and Adrian Klinetobe was 30th, with Easton Blecke (39th) and Mason Ley (41st) rounding out the Wayne effort.

In JV action, Wayne had five runners in the top eight, led by winner Yama Kantai. Kennasyn Blecke was third, Norah Armstrong finished sixth, Josie Ley was seventh and Ava Elliott placed eighth. Alex Frank led the JV boys with a second-place finish, while Boden Dobbins was 21st.

Essynce Owens-Webb was sixth in girls junior high competition, and Cole Zach finished second with Emmanuel Gonzalez sixth for the Wayne junior high boys.

Wayne hosts the Mid State Conference meet on Thursday, the final event before the C-3 district meet next Thursday, Oct. 13 at Pierce Community Golf Course.

Haley Kramer has her eyes on the ball as she picks up a serve during the Blue Devils' thrilling five-set win over West Point-Beemer last Tuesday.

Wildcat gridders suffer first loss of season

After sprinting to a 14-0 lead, the Wayne State football team stumbled and saw Winona State come back for a 38-14 win Saturday in Winona, Minn.

Wayne State controlled the game early on, scoring on a 46-yard pass from Nick Bohn to David Elder in the first and making it 14-0 on a 19-yard keeper by Bohn midway through the second quarter.

It was all Warriors after that. Winona State scored late in the first period to make it 14-7 at the half, then took advantage of turnovers and special team miscues to erupt for 24 points in the final period to pull away with the win.

Winona State tied the game in the third and took the lead for good early in the fourth on a 38-yard touchdown by Ty Gavin.

After holding the Wildcat offense on a three-and-out, the Warriors made it 28-14 when Daryl Williams broke several WSC tackles and returned a punt 79 yards for a 28-14 lead.

Winona State later blocked a punt and returned it for a touchdown with 7:26 to go, capping the big fourth-quarter rally that helped them post the win, handing WSC its first loss after a 5-0 start.

Wayne State outgained Winona State 344-318 in the contest, gaining 140 yards on the ground and 204 passing but four turnovers — two fumbles and two interceptions — and a blocked punt killed the Wildcats' hopes for a 6-0 start.

Bohn rushed for 74 yards on 16 carries with one TD and completed 18-of-36 passes for 204 yards with two interceptions. Elder was the top Wildcat receiver with six receptions for 91 yards and one score. Shane Orr followed with four grabs for 36 yards while Mason Lee had three catches for 33 yards.

Defensively, Dexter Larsen was credited with eight tackles followed by Jacob Byrd and Alex Kowalczyk with seven apiece.

The 5-1 Wildcats return home next weekend hosting Minnesota State for homecoming starting at 1 p.m. at Cunningham Field.

Wildcats earn win, tie at home

The Wayne State women's soccer team scored one goal in each of two home games last week, but they were good enough for a win and a tie in Northern Sun Conference action.

On Friday, freshman Christina Marlow scored a goal with just over seven minutes remaining to forge a 1-1 tie against Southwest Minnesota State.

After a scoreless first half, the visiting Mustangs scored 10 minutes into the second frame as Haley Mason found the back of the net with an assist to Alex Lotts.

It would stay that way until the closing minutes. With just over seven minutes to play, Marlow scored off a rebound with an assist to Payton Haliburton, and the two teams couldn't break the tie in overtime, settling for the 1-1 deadlock.

The Wildcats held a 10-3 edge in shots during the second half and finished the contest with a 15-9 advantage in shots. Both teams had eight shots on goal. SMSU had one more corner kick than WSC (4-3) and two more fouls than the Wildcats (6-4). Eight different players had shots on goal for Wayne State. Marlow scored her first goal of the season while Haliburton notched her first assist of the season. Hayden Wallace was credited with seven saves while allowing one goal.

On Sunday, the Wildcats scored late in the first half and made it stand up with a 1-0 win over University of Sioux Falls to improve to 2-5-4 (2-2-3 NSIC) on the season.

The only goal came from Wildcat forward Abby Sutton at the 43:59 minute of the first half. She was assisted by Leah Bennett. Wallace made four saves and kept the Cougars off the board for a clean scoresheet.

Wayne State would have 11 shots in the game with six on goal compared to the Cougars' six shots with four on goal. The Cougars would end up with more corner kicks with three to the 'Cats one. Sutton would lead the Wildcats in shots with four in the game with three of them being on goal. She was followed by Morgan Rhodes and Paige Pemberton with two shots.

The Wildcats, currently in 11th place in the NSIC standings with nine points, go on the road this weekend for a 3:30 p.m. battle Friday at fifth-place University of Mary and a 12 p.m. kickoff Sunday at second-place Minot State. They are back home Oct. 14 to host Minnesota Duluth.

Jay Sherer

Jay Sherer inducted into Augustana Hall of Fame

Jay Sherer was inducted into the Augustana University Athletic Hall of Fame Class of 2022 on Sept. 2022.

That class was also recognized at half-time of the Augustana vs. Northern State football game.

Jay is the youngest child of Charles and Carla (Utecht) Sherer. He was born in Schuyler, and grew up in Columbus, where he wrestled for the Columbus Discoverer High School Team. During his early years, Jay wrestled for the Schuyler and Columbus Youth Wrestling programs.

Chuck and Carla are originally from Wakefield.

Jay was a Division II National Champion in 2010 at 141 lbs. During his career at Augustana, he was a 4-time National Qualifier; 3-time All-American and 5-time Academic All-American. Teamwise, Jay was a member of the National runner-up 2010 Team and a member of the nationally ranked third place 2011 team. The 2011 team also captured the NSIC Championship that year. Sherer also garnered the coveted NCAA Post Graduate Scholarship award to attend medical school at Creighton University after his 2011 graduation from Augustana.

The two-time All-Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference team performer (second in 2010 and first in 2011) left his mark on Augustana wrestling; including a member of the 100 win club; 5th in all-time career wins with 128, 4th all-time career takedowns with 350; an individual National Championship in 2010; member of the National Runner-up team in 2010, and member of the 3rd place team in 2011. Jay finished seventh in 2007-2008 at the National Tournament and 4th in 2010-2011. The top 8 in each weight class are All-Americans.

Jay states that winning a National Championship in 2010 was his most memorable moment at Augustana. At that tournament, he beat the #1 ranked wrestler in the country in the Quarterfinals, the #4 ranked wrestler in the Semifinals and the #3 ranked wrestler in the Finals. As the TV announcers stated, "Sherer picked a good week to peak!"

Jay credited his teammates as a group, but especially Chism Fink who worked tirelessly with Jay to prepare him for his Championship tournament. Jay also credited his coaches who drilled him, tutored him, and drove him to succeed both on and off the mat.

Today, Jay is married to his wife Michaela, they have two girls, Lennon, 6, and Hendrix, 4. They live on an acreage near Murdock where they have 4 horses and a couple of mules.

While attending Creighton University, Jay was a member of RHO CHI and graduated from Creighton in the top 5% of his class with a Doctor of Pharmacology Degree. In 2013, Jay received an award for the Pharmacist of the Year in the State of Nebraska as recognized by the Nebraska Pharmaceutical Association. Most recently Jay was an emerging leader with CVS pharmacy in Nebraska, in charge of all pharmacies in the state of Nebraska until he made a decision to spend more time with his family and return to his home Pharmacy on 10 & Superior in Lincoln.

Winside loses 42-34 heartbreaker battle

WINSIDE — A wild back-and-forth battle saw visiting Humphrey/Lindsay Holy Family come away with a 42-34 win over Winside at Winch Memorial Field.

The two teams traded shots throughout the game, with the Bulldogs drawing first blood. Dax Behmer answered with a two-yard run to tie the game at 6-6 after one period.

In the second quarter, Winside was able to carry a 20-14 lead into the locker room as Kaden Hunt scored on a 40-yard run and Behmer scored late in the half from 37 yards away.

The visiting Bulldogs scored on their opening possession to reclaim the lead at 22-20, but Winside answered with Hunt's second score, a 47-yard gallop that made it 28-22.

Late in the third quarter, Winside was able to force a H/LHF turnover and turned that into points. Behmer's one-yard sneak early in the fourth quarter made it 34-22, but the Bulldogs were able to bounce back.

The visitors scored on an eighty-yard run to pull within six, then took the lead with :26 left after another short run.

Winside had one last chance and moved the ball to the Bulldogs'

Blue Devils lose on walk-off homer at subdistricts

MILFORD — The Wayne High softball team saw its season come to an end in heartbreaking fashion Monday, as Aquinas hit a walk-off homer to win an extra-inning thriller 8-7 in the semifinals of the C-5 subdistrict at Welsch Park.

The Blue Devils trailed 3-0 in the sixth when they launched a late comeback. Kierah Haase got the rally started with a two-out single to left and came home on an opposite-field double by Caitlyn Mostek. Jordyn Gamble came on to pinch run and scored on a single by Logan Miller to make it 3-2.

In the top of the seventh, Wayne came through with some two-out magic that started with a Taytem Ellis single to right. She moved to third when Brooklyn Kruse reached on an error, and Ellis and courtesy runner Jerri Jensen came home on a double by Delaney Kruse. Haase followed with an RBI single to give Wayne a 5-3 lead, but Aquinas came back to tie the game and send it into extra innings.

Wayne put up two in the eighth when Haase started the inning on second and scored on a single by Miller, and pinch-runner Reagan McGuire made it 7-5 when she scored on a Mackenzie Nissen single.

Aquinas scored one in the bottom of the eighth on an error, and with two outs in the bottom of the seventh, Aquinas' Claire Wisnieski hit a 3-1 pitch over the wall in center to give the Monarchs the win.

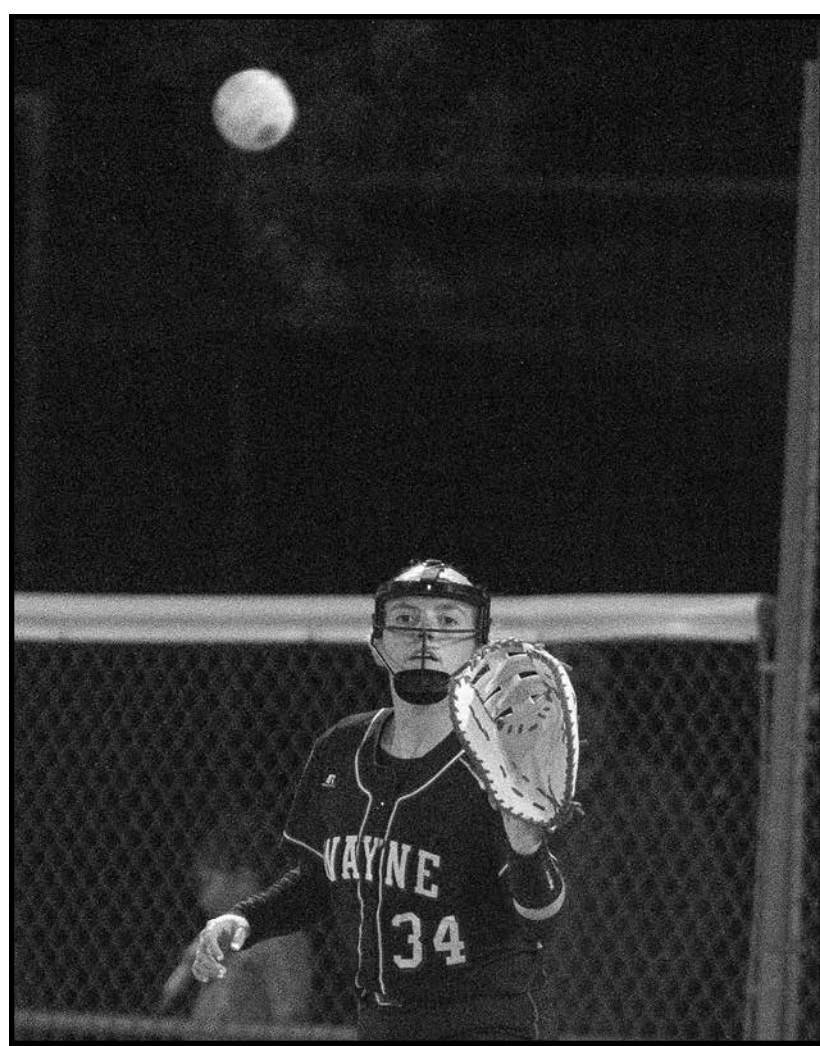

Both teams had 10 hits in the game. Miller led Wayne with three hits, Haase had two and Ellis, Brooklyn Kruse, Delaney Kruse, Mostek and Nissen each had hits. Sammi Gubbels pitched the first two innings and Nissen worked the final 4 2/3 innings, taking the loss.

sion to GACC in the championship game.

The Bluejays, who blew out Wayne 9-1 in Thursday's regular-season finale in West Point, trailed 4-0 going to the fifth and scored five to take a 5-4 advantage.

The Blue Devils got on the board in the first thanks to an error that scored Ellis and pop fly by Delaney Kruse that scored McGuire, who was pinch-running for Brooklyn Kruse, who was in the lineup for the first time after dealing with an ankle injury during the season.

Wayne put up two more in the third on a two-run single by Haase that scored Nyla Bolles and Ellis to make it 4-0, but the Bluejays used two hits and a Wayne error to highlight their big inning.

Wayne tied the game in the fifth Gamble scored on a fielder's choice, but GACC put up two in the top of the sixth to break the 5-5 tie.

Wayne got a run in the bottom of the sixth when McGuire singled home Haase, but couldn't get the tying run home.

Wayne advanced to Saturday's conference final with an easy 7-0 win over host O'Neill. Wayne scored two in the first and two more in the second to take control of the game. Brooklyn Kruse's two-run single brought home Bolles and Ellis in the first, while a Gubbels groundout plated Liberty Titiml and a Bolles single scored Miller in the second.

Titiml had an RBI single in the third, Kruse added one in the fourth and Nissen added a third in the fifth to close out the scoring.

Brooklyn Kruse was 2-for-2 with three RBIs and Bolles scored twice in the win. Gubbels and Nissen combined on a four-hit shut-out, striking out eight and walking three.

TCNE 1-3 in triangular volleyball

Tri County Northeast' volleyball team went 1-3 in two triangular last week.

On Tuesday, the Lady Wolfpack dropped two games at Ponca, falling to the host Indians (25-11, 25-12) and Wynot (25-19, 25-10).

In the loss to Ponca, Brianna Bousquet and Mica Tornez each had three kills, Rylinn Mitchell added two and Getsemani Ferrusca and Kiya Tornez each had one. Sydney Baker had six assists. Bousquet led the defense with six digs, Baker and Brianna Novak each had four and Myleah Mackling had three.

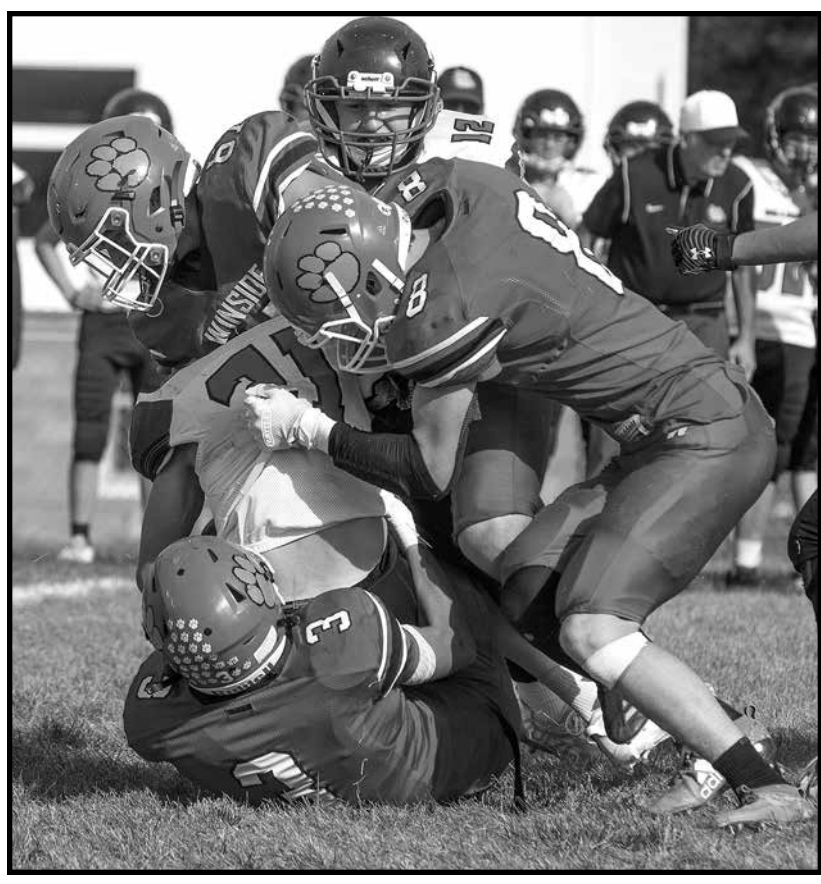

Against Wynot, Bousquet had four kills and Novak and Mica Tornez had two apiece. Baker had six assists. Bousquet had nine digs and Ferrusca added eight.

On Thursday, TCNE hosted a triangular and defeated Neligh-Oakdale (25-21, 25-17) before losing to Pender (25-12, 25-19).

In the win over N-O, Bousquet had seven kills and Mitchell, Mica Tornez and Kiya Tornez had three apiece. Baker had 11 assists and Novak added four. Bousquet, Baker and Mackling each had nine digs, Mica Tornez had six and Ferrusca and Novak had four apiece.

It's a battle in the trenches between Wakefield's Walker Lundahl (62) and LCC's Kolby Casey during Friday's matchup at Haskell Field in Laurel.

LCC runs to 48-16 homecoming win

LAUREL — The LCC football team kept its record unblemished Friday and celebrated homecoming with a 48-16 win over Wakefield in a matchup of area teams.

The Bears raced to a 32-0 lead in the first half before Wakefield got on the board right before half-time on a five-yard run by Tim Kaufman. Jesse Lundahl caught the two-point pass from Cade Johnson to make it 32-8 at intermission.

Dan Puppe put LCC in the driver's seat early with scoring runs of five and 38 yards, and the defense came through with a safety to make it 18-0 late in the first period. Puppe caught a 43-yard pass from Dylan Taylor to make it 24-0 after one period, and extended the lead with a six-yard run midway through the second period to put the Bears in control.

Sutton Ehlers scored on a one-yard run and Taylor scored from 16 yards out to bring the running-clock period into the game midway through the fourth quarter. Wakefield was able to find the end zone on a 49-yard pass from Johnson to Lundahl to close out the scoring.

"We just didn't come out and compete right away," Wakefield coach Mike Hassler said. "When you are playing a top-rated team like LCC, you can't afford to do that. I felt once we settled down, we hung in there with them, and we'll look at the film this week to see what we need to clean up."

The Bears really shut down the Trojan running attack, limiting them to 84 yards on the ground.

"Their experience and speed gave us problems the whole night," Hassler said. "We didn't stay on blocks very well and when we did our backs didn't trust that the hole was going to be there."

LCC's offense racked up 438 yards in total offense, highlighted by a 10-carry, 165-yard rushing effort by Puppe. Ehlers added 89 yards on 15 tries and Taylor had 72 yards on 10 carries while going 5-of-9 passing for 85 yards and a touchdown. Jake Rath caught two balls for 38 yards and Puppe had a 43-yard touchdown reception.

Wakefield's Cade Johnson makes a touchdown-saving tackle of LCC's Sutton Ehlers during Friday's matchup between the two area teams. LCC claimed a 48-16 win on their homecoming.

Johnson led the ground attack with 49 yards on 21 carries and was 5-of-11 for 107 yards passing with one touchdown. Adrian Flores had 19 yards on five carries and Kaufman ran for 16 yards in 11 attempts. Lundahl caught two balls for 84 yards and a score, Cael Johnson had two catches for 17 yards and Kaufman caught a six-yard pass.

Defensively, Ehlers led LCC with 16 tackles, Kolby Casey added 11, Taylor, Carter Kovls and Aaron Bloom each had six and Rath and Caleb Lipp each had five.

Wakefield's defense was led by Cade Johnson with 14 tackles, Flores added nine, Cael Johnson had eight, Maynor Vargas made seven and Anthony Valenzuela had four tackles and an interception.

The 6-0 Bears travel to Hartington-Newcastle on Friday, while the 2-4 Trojans host Homer. Both games are 7 p.m. kickoffs.

Wakefield 15-8 after three wins

Wakefield's volleyball team was a perfect 3-0 on the week, sweeping a triangular at Wausa and beating Crofton at home.

Last Tuesday, the Trojans took care of business with a three-set win over the host Viqueens (25-22, 22-25, 25-22) and a two-set win over Hartington-Newcastle (26-24, 25-15).

In the win over Wausa, Daveigh Munter-McAfee had 11 kills and Alex Arenas added 10, with Alli Brown recording eight kills and Jordan Metzler picking up 31 assists along with four digs. Arenas had six ace serves and Brown added two along with two blocks. Katie Borg had 45 digs, Brown added 16, Munter-McAfee had 13, Arenas had seven and Laken Rahn picked up five.

Against the Wildcats, Munter-McAfee had 12 kills, Arenas had six, Brown had four and Metzler and Brianna Martinez each had three, with Metzler picking up 24 assists. Borg had three ace serves. Defensively, Martinez and Arenas both had two blocks, Arenas led in digs with 10, followed by Borg with nine, Munter-McAfee with seven and Brown with six.

On Thursday, Wakefield swept Crofton in three sets at home, winning 25-18, 25-20, 25-12. Arenas had 13 kills, Munter-McAfee added eight and MaKenna Decker picked up four, with Metzler serving up 27 assists. Brown and Metzler each had two ace serves. Arenas led in digs with 17, Borg added 12, Metzler had nine, Munter-McAfee had eight and Brown had six.

Wakefield (15-8) was at Ponca Tuesday and is at Creighton Thursday. They will play at Allen against Tri County Northeast next Thursday, Oct. 13.

Wildcats pull away for 37-8 win over TCNE

ALLEN — Hartington-Newcastle scored 37 unanswered points Friday to pull away with a 37-8 win over Tri County Northeast in action at Isom-Hill Field.

The Wolfpack scored first in the second period on a 24-yard touchdown run by Dylan Boyle. Michael Dickens ran in the two-point conversion to give the hosts the early 8-0 advantage.

It was all Wildcats after that. Hartington-Newcastle scored twice to take a 14-8 lead into the locker room, then shut down TCNE in the second half to pull away with the win.

"The wheels fell off in the second half and pieces of the puzzle were hard to put together after several injuries," coach Evan Colfack said.

Boyle ran for 99 yards on 17 carries and Dickens added 58 yards on 20 tries for the Wolfpack. Dickens was 10-of-15 passing for 77 yards, with Hunter Heikes (5 for 52) and Boyle (3 for 12) the top receivers.

Defensively, Jackson Belt led with 10 tackles, Dickens had nine, Boyle recorded eight, Morgan had seven, Colton Stallbaum and Bernard Juarez each had six and Brody Koopman had five.

TCNE (1-5) will host Crofton in district action Friday in Allen. They close the regular season next Friday, Oct. 14 at LCC.

TCNE girls runner-up at Stanton

The Tri County Northeast girls cross country team earned runner-up honors behind Oakland-Craig on Thursday at Stanton, medaling three girls along the way.

Leading the Wolfpack was Rhyanne Mackling with a fourth-place effort. Mackling was clocked in 22:40, just short of her season-best time.

Alejandra Hermosillo earned an 11th place medal running 24:24, also just short of a season-best mark. Bre Millard rounded out the medalists, clocking 25:10 and earning 17th place.

Shantel Miller finished 30th in 28:34, and Jenny Olson clocked a 30:28.

TCNE's lone boy runner, Gabe Franklin finished 58th in an 80-boy field with a 23:45 clocking.

"We did not run any personal best times today, but gusting winds and some nagging physical issues may have played a part in the times," coach Dave Uldrich said. "We did though, work through them and competed well. We are a definite work in progress, but now the time is here for the work to start showing bigger and even better results."

Next on the schedule for the Wolfpack will be the Lewis & Clark Conference meet on Friday at the Rolling Hills Country Club at Wausa.

Lady Bears bounce back with win

After losing on the road at Pierce, the LCC volleyball team bounced back with a three-set win over Creighton.

On Tuesday, the Lady Bears fell at Pierce, 25-16, 25-13, 25-18.

Tali Erwin led the LCC net attack with four kills, while Mollie Schutte, Mallory Eriksen, Delaney Johnson and Berniece McCorkindale each had three kills. Haley Christensen recorded 13 assists.

Erwin and McCorkindale each recorded three blocks in the losing effort. Ella Hartung led the team in digs with seven, Christensen and Erwin both had six and Eriksen picked up five.

LCC took care of Creighton at home Thursday, sweeping them with a 25-14, 25-16, 25-17 victory.

Erwin led the way with seven kills while Schutte and McCorkindale had six apiece and Eriksen and Johnson each had four. Christensen had 24 set assists. McCorkindale and Avery Hahne each had four ace serves, Erwin added three and Christensen and Eriksen had two apiece.

Defensively, Hartung picked up nine digs, Eriksen and Baylie Graf each had eight and Erwin recorded five.

The Lady Bears (11-10) travel to Hartington-Newcastle for a Thursday matchup and are back home Tuesday to host Hartington Cedar Catholic.

WSC's Beller earns national VB honor

Taya Beller of Wayne State College was announced Tuesday afternoon as the GameChanger/AVCA Div. II Women's National Volleyball Player of the Week following her play over the weekend in NSIC road sweeps at No. 4 St. Cloud State and No. 9 Minnesota Duluth.

It's the first time since Alyssa Frauendorfer on Nov. 11, 2014 that a Wildcat player has earned AVCA National Player of the Week honors and sixth time overall a WSC Wildcat has received the honor.

The 6-foot-2 sophomore middle hitter was named NSIC Offensive Player of the Week Monday after averaging 4.83 kills and 1.67 blocks per set with a stellar .463 hitting percentage in six sets. Beller accounted for 16 kills and eight blocks in Friday's 3-0 sweep over the Huskies and followed that with 13 kills and two blocks with a .500 hitting percentage in a 3-0 sweep at Minnesota Duluth Saturday.

For the season, Beller leads WSC with 4.04 kills per set to rank fourth in the league while also ranking second in hitting percentage at .437. She ranks seventh in NCAA Division II in hitting percentage this season.

WSC Wildcat linksters defend NII title

The Wayne State women's golf team dominated the field, putting their four scoring golfers in the top five to run away with the team title at the Nebraska Intercollegiate Invitational for the second straight year.

The Wildcats shot rounds of 323 and 330 for a two-day, 36-hole total of 653 at Norfolk Country Club to finish well ahead of runner up Nebraska-Kearney at 700 (353-347). Concordia University placed third at 722 followed by Hastings College (726), College of St. Mary (731) and Doane with a 839.

Individually, Abigail Brodersen and junior Jazmine Taylor led a balanced Wildcat effort, placing in a tie for second overall out of a field of 33 players each shooting scores of 161. Brodersen recorded rounds of 78 and 83 while Taylor shot 81-80. Right behind in fourth place was junior Abbey Kurlmel at 163 (77-86) while freshman Saffire Sayre tied for fifth at 168 with rounds of 87 and 81.

Individually, junior Viktoria Bortkiewicz-Hamelin tied for eighth at 171 (85-86) while junior Tricia Hemann was 21st overall with a 183 (95-88).

Wayne State will compete on Saturday and Sunday at the Augustana Fall Preview in Larchwood, Iowa.

Community Chest receives pledges

The first phase of the 1972 Community Chest drive was conducted Monday morning at a 7 o'clock breakfast when board of directors members and top donors during the 1971 fund-raising campaign made their contributions or signed pledge cards.
 Cards containing names of 100 other prospective contributors were distributed among the 32 persons present, who are to make contacts and invite those 100 persons to a second breakfast, next Monday morning.
 Community Chest President Bob Jordan and drive Chairman Lyle Syemour hope that the drive will be completed by each of the solicitors no later than Oct. 23.
 The goal for this year's Community Chest drive is $10,000. The '72 theme is "Thanks to You, It's Working."

'Takin' it to the strip'

What starts out as a joy ride on the street has turned into a joy ride on the strip.
 I'm talking about drag racing. To many, drag racing is a sport, but for about 10 drivers from the Wayne area, it's just an expensive hobby.
 "Drag racing is as expensive as you want it to be," Ron Heikes of Wayne, who has raced a 1972 Chevy Nova since 1994, said.
 From late April to early October, you can find a number pf pca; drivers at a drag strip in the tristate region.
 The closest track to Wayne would be the Nebraska Motorplex near Scribner. The former air base is a popular place for local drivers to race.
 Wayne Denklau has raced the longest of the local drivers. He has been racing since 1978.
 "It was the thing everybody did when we were growing up," Denklau said. "I decided to race on the strip instead of the street."

NDA reports two additional cases Of HPAI

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) in conjunction with the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) is announcing two confirmed cases of highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI). This brings the total number of cases of HPAI in Nebraska to 11.

The 10th farm, a commercial flock, is in York County. The 11th farm, a backyard flock, is in Box Butte County.

According to NDA State Veterinarian Dr. Roger Dudley, both flocks will be humanely depopulated and disposed of in an approved manner.

NDA will establish a 6.2-mile control zone, as is USDA policy, around the affected premises. Poultry producers in these zones should know the signs and symptoms of HPAI and notify NDA immediately of sick or dying birds.

HPAI is a highly contagious virus that spreads easily among birds through nasal and eye secretions, as well as manure. The virus can be spread in various ways from flock to flock, including by wild birds, through contact with infected poultry, by equipment, and on the clothing and shoes of caretakers. Wild birds can carry the virus without becoming sick, while domesticated birds can become very sick.

Symptoms of HPAI in poultry include: a decrease in water consumption; lack of energy and appetite; decreased egg production or soft-shelled, misshapen eggs; nasal discharge, coughing, sneezing; incoordination; and diarrhea. HPAI can also cause sudden death in birds even if they aren't showing any other symptoms. HPAI can survive for weeks in contaminated environments.

NDA is encouraging bird owners to prevent contact between their birds and wildlife and to practice strict biosecurity measures. If producers suspect signs of HPAI in their flock, they should report it to NDA immediately at (402) 471-2351. More information for producers can be found at <https://nda.nebraska.gov/animal/avian/index>.

html or <http://healthybirds.aphis.usda.gov>.

Enhanced biosecurity helps prevent the introduction and spread of viruses and diseases including HPAI. NDA and USDA have resources available to help poultry owners step up their biosecurity efforts.

- Know the warning signs of infectious bird diseases like HPAI. Be on the lookout for unusual signs of behavior, severe illness and/or sudden deaths.
- Restrict access to your property and poultry.
- Keep it clean. Wear clean clothes, scrub boots/shoes with disinfectant and wash hands thoroughly before and after contact with your flock.
- If you, your employees, or family have been on other farms, or other places where there is livestock and/or poultry, clean and disinfect your vehicle tires and equipment before returning home.
- Don't share equipment, tools, or other supplies with other livestock or poultry owners.

• In addition to practicing good biosecurity, all bird owners should prevent contact between their birds and wild birds, making sure wild birds cannot access domestic poultry's feed and water sources.

• Report sick birds immediately to: NDA at (402) 471-2351; the USDA at 866-536-7593; or your veterinarian. Early detection is important to prevent the spread of disease.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the risk to people getting HPAI infections from birds is low. No human cases of avian influenza viruses have been detected in the United States.

All poultry entering Nebraska must be accompanied by a VS form 9-3 or Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (CVI, or health certificate). If you are considering moving an animal into Nebraska from an affected state, please call 402-471-2351 to learn more. Nebraska poultry owners wanting to ship poultry out of state should consult the state veterinarians of the destination states for import requirements.

Best Management Practices are key, especially in dry times

As dry conditions continue, it not only affects this year's crop, but could impact next year's as well, leaving aquifers deeply impacted.

At their September board meeting, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) voted to formally declare a drought across their 15-county district.

Mike Sousek, general manager for the LENRD, said, "It's important that we're all conserving the groundwater we share. If this situation continues, our board will have some tough decisions to make by Nov. 1." If the district remains in a D3 or D4 drought designation, Nov. 1 is the deadline for the board to make any decisions concerning water use restrictions for next year.

Many cities and towns across the district have water-saving measures in place, encouraging residents to limit their water use on their scheduled days. The LENRD reminds citizens to work together to conserve water. Sousek said, "We can help each other by using less water and being mindful of our day-to-day usage."

Best Management Practices (BMPs) are important when managing any conservation plan, especially in dry times. The district has cost-share funding available for BMPs and encourages producers to stop by their local Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) office or the LENRD office in Norfolk, to look over their options and apply for the best program to fit their needs.

Water can be efficiently applied at different rates throughout the field, using Variable Rate Irrigation (VRI). Over-applying water to the soil could cause nutrient runoff or leaching beyond the root zone of the plant. Using VRI and other management tools can help prevent over-watering and could potentially improve water quality.

Soil moisture sensors are another tool that can be cost-shared with the LENRD. The sensors can help determine when and where the water is needed, saving the producers time and money. Telemetry programs are also available to connect with the sensors, giving producers quality information at their fingertips.

Sousek said, "Water flow meters are another management tool used to protect current water users and allow for the development of new water users. Meters became a requirement across the LENRD in 2007. After the drought of 2012, it became evident that we needed to be even more proactive in the management of our groundwater since numerous in-season shortages were reported across the district, from all types of groundwater users. Therefore, in 2018 and 2019, all high-capacity wells located within the 15-county district were required to install a meter."

Many growers installed flow meters in response to regulations, but now realize their importance. By periodically checking your irrigation meter, you can see how fast you're using the resource and the amount being used. Meters allow you to keep track of your allocation (if you have one), to check your pivot's efficiency, and to detect any well or pump problems before they become severe. Everything in agriculture is constantly measured and calculated. Measuring and managing the water with flow meters is another important part of a producer's management plan.

Sousek added, "Keeping track of your water meter during the growing season can help determine how close you are getting to the annual allocation. You can also improve your irrigation efficiency by keeping track of how much water was applied the previous week and comparing that number to the crop water use data. If you applied more water than the crop used the previous week, you may not be making room to store potential rainfall or water may be leaching below the root zone."

Water savings can also be found with healthy soils. Soils with more organic matter can hold more moisture but building up the soil profile takes time. The LENRD encourages producers to take advantage of cost-share money available for planting cover crops and continue to develop healthy soils for enhanced water infiltration, water holding capacity, and nutrient management. Watering less often, saving time and money is the key. Good ground cover also prevents further wind erosion, keeping the soil in place. Healthy soils can also assist in protecting the quality of the water.

With the LENRD's Conservation Cost-Share Program, there are many options for producers who are looking to conserve water, but also to protect the quality of their water at the same time. Sousek said, "Stop by or give us a call. We can work together to find the program that is right for you and your operation."

The next Committee meeting for the LENRD board is Thursday, Oct. 13 at 7 p.m. at the LENRD office in Norfolk and on Facebook Live.

FFA members take part in dairy judging event in Wayne

A number of FFA members from Wayne and Winside were among the 400 individuals taking part in the District 3 FFA Dairy Judging event at the Wayne County fairgrounds on Sept. 27.

Students were asked to evaluate five different categories of dairy animals, ranging from calves to dry cows.

Martey Stewart served as the judge for this year's competition.

For Wayne, the junior team, made up of Landen Roeber, Madi Janke, Rylin Hall and Joslyn Johnson finished in second place.

Individually, Landon Roeber finished seventh, Madi Janke finished eighth, Rylin Hall finished 25th and Joslyn Johnson finished 29th.

There were 229 students in the junior division.

The senior team of Nina Hammer, Kierah Haase, Faith Powicki and Chance Schultz, received fifth place at the event.

Nina Hammer placed second; Kierah Haase, placed 11th; Chance Schultz placed 40th and Faith Powicki placed 41st.

For Winside, Jerzi Carlson finished in 12th place and teammate Kody Fuchs was 13th in the junior division.

The team of Jerzi Carlson, Kody Fuchs, Gavin Schutt and Chase Genereux finished in fifth place.

In the senior division, the Winside team made up of Natalie Kruger, Daxton Behmer, DeAndre Redwing and Mason Topp finished in fourth place.

Individually, Natalie Kruger placed fifth; Daxton Behmer was 15th; DeAndre Redwing was 16th; and Mason Topp finished 25th.

There were 164 students competing in the senior division.

Dairy animals for the event were provided by MPM Farms, Terry Gilliland, Junck Dairy, Sievers Farms and Temme Dairy.

Week filled with entertaining

Well, this time, I just forgot! You would think that, after all this time, that could not happen. But a column was not the only thing I forgot last week. One of my neighbors has a diabetic cat and cannot see well enough to draw up insulin in the syringe, so I go once a week and draw up a week's worth. I forgot him, too! It might be because I'm not really fond of cats. But I like my neighbor and volunteered to help him out with this.

I did a lot of entertaining last week; I think that had something to do with it. At a lunch for three friends from church, we got into a discussion of how silly we are about saving a buck here and there. I started the conversation because I had a bowl of cut up fruit: blueberries, strawberries, and grapes. The grapes were red ones and I realized, too late, how much better the green ones would have looked, but the red were a dollar a pound cheaper! All agreed with me they would have bought the red.

For a dollar, I did not have the right colors for my fruit! And that is not the only thing I'm often "penny wise and pound foolish" about. We all do it. One of the guests said her husband has to use oxygen when doing anything that takes exertion. He likes to play golf, and he convinced himself the oxygen backpack was a good investment. The next day he refused to pay twelve dollars for something he also could have used. (The backpack was a bit more, we won't say how much.) A few years ago, my neighbor, Shirley and I were commending ourselves for buying TWO rolls of stamps, thus saving ourselves a total of ten dollars because they were going from fifty cents a piece to fifty five. Now, they are sixty cents and I just peeled one off an envelope I was going to have to throw. I'm seriously thinking of doing away with Christmas cards this year. Holy cow, by the time you print a letter with photos, buy envelopes, and then put those expensive stamps on, you've spent a lot. I do like to get them, but sometimes, if all they have is "Merry Christmas" and a signature, you feel a bit cheated. Plus, I found lately that when I look back on all those nice photos I've received through the years, I don't know whose kids those are! And I have kept all photos while throwing the letters.

By: Pat Meierhenry

The friends in Orlando bought a generator after the last hurricane and were mighty glad to have AC and power last week. They also live in a senior living conglomerate that is on higher ground in Orlando, so they got along okay. Thank goodness! Others were not so fortunate; the death toll is still growing. Sis-in-law Linda in South Carolina does not get too worried about weather; she says she prepares as best she can and leaves it in the Lord's hands. We should all pay attention to that advice.

And, of course, they remind us about tornadoes. It does seem as if Nature is getting wilder all the time. I believe the climate is changing; I'm just not sure how much we could do about it. And we have nothing to complain about when compared to the flooding in Pakistan. Unbelievable.

Meanwhile, the Ukrainians keep winning territory. I am amazed at their spirit and their ability. I grieve for all the loss of lives and property and such. And we wonder where and when it will end. I have a letter from Samaritan's Purse detailing tons of food and other products going into the country every week. It takes a lot of work to feed folks whose grocery stores are gone, and they don't necessarily have something to cook on. Again, we have nothing to complain about. I remind myself daily.

AND, last but not least, we won a football game--in the Fourth Quarter! And in the total scheme of things, it really is not that important, is it?

Nebraska Extension Board - Wayne County meeting planned

The Nebraska Extension Board in Wayne County will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 11, 2022 at the Wayne County Courthouse. The 6:15 p.m. meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office, 510 N. Pearl Street, Suite C in Wayne for public inspection during normal business hours.

Apply now for Dairy Business Builder Grants

Dairy farmers, manufacturers, and processors in Nebraska can apply now until Thursday, Nov. 10 at 5 p.m. (CT) for a new round of Dairy Business Builder grants through the Dairy Business Innovation Alliance (DBIA), a partnership between the Wisconsin Cheese Makers Association and the Center for Dairy Research at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

The reimbursement grants of up to $100,000 each, aim to support small- to medium-sized dairy businesses in diversifying on-farm activity, creating value-added products, enhancing dairy byproducts, and creating or enhancing dairy export programs. In addition to Nebraska, dairy farmers and processors in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, South Dakota, Kansas, and Wisconsin can apply.

"Dairy products are one of Nebraska's top 10 commodities, so there is a strong focus on dairy growth and development in this state," said Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) Director Steve Wellman. "We welcome these grants as an additional source of support for Nebraska dairies and processors looking to expand and improve their businesses and make a positive impact on rural Nebraska."

Application materials and resources are now available online at cdr.wisc.edu/dbia. Successful applicants will be notified by Dec. 15, 2022. Questions may be directed to Allissa Troyer at 531-220-9211 or allissa.troyer@nebraska.gov.

Since its creation in the 2018 Farm Bill, the DBIA has administered more than $3.7 million in grants to dairy farms and businesses in five Midwestern states. Additional funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture is now supporting an expansion of the program's service area to include Nebraska, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, and Ohio.

Effects of drought, frost discussed

Drought Recovery Essentials

By Daren Redfearn
So, what happens to forage plants during a drought? Nearly three-fourths of Nebraska's pastures are classified in poor to very poor condition from the drought. Stick around and I'll help you understand the drought recovery process for pastures.

The goal of drought planning should focus on reducing negative impacts on forage plants that occur during the drought from overgrazing. Following a return to more favorable growing conditions hopefully next spring and summer, practicing proper grazing management could aid pasture recovery after the drought. Pastures can recover from drought with proper management, but overgrazing and prolonged stress can limit productivity for many years.

Drought alone rarely kills well-managed pasture plants. The most noticeable effect on forage plants during droughty conditions are reduced forage production. Root growth is also limited which restricts the ability of the forage plant to extract deeper soil moisture and nutrients.

Sometimes, drought-stressed pastures are in better condition than they appear. This can be especially true for pastures that were well-managed prior to drought. In many cases, pastures can quickly recover from drought. The key elements for pasture recovery are rain and rest.

Frosted Sorghum And Prussic Acid

By Brad Schick
Colder temperatures have already caused some freezing in the Great Plains and Midwest. What have those temperature done to the forages and how can livestock be kept safe?

Short-term freezing temperatures may cause sorghum species such as sorghum-sudangrass or any grain (milo) or forage sorghum to become lethal to livestock. Prussic acid forms when plant cell membranes are broken due to freezing and allows the chemicals in the cells to mix. This forms a cyanide compound that can be deadly to livestock if consumed. Sudangrasses have the lowest risk while forage and grain sorghum have the highest. The millet species do not have prussic acid issues.

The good news is that after seven days, the toxic chemicals dissipate into the air. Every time there is a freeze (without temperatures low enough to completely kill the plants), that seven day clock resets, just like the 30 minute lightning delay at football games. The new growth on sorghums that have had frost damage are very dangerous as they have the highest concentrations of prussic acid. The forage can also be cut and hayed to reduce prussic acid by at least 50%.

If there is a chance of freezing temperatures, remove livestock from the pasture and wait the seven days before grazing once again. The hours immediately after a frost have the highest level of toxic compounds. If there is regrowth in the days after a freeze, wait to begin grazing until those shoots are 15-18 inches tall or five to seven days after the plant has been completely killed by the frost. If sorghum family plants have had extra nitrogen applied or are growing in high nitrogen soils, the risk of prussic acid is even higher.

Grazing Drought Stressed Crop Residue

By Todd Whitney
Welcome rains have occurred in many Nebraska regions; but our hot and dry summer impacts are extending into the fall; and drought stressed forage stalks are deteriorating more rapidly than normal. These conditions along with shorter than normal grass pastures may be motivating livestock producers to begin fall crop residues grazing earlier.

When it comes to stalk residue, grain sorghum stover will retain nutrient grazing value longer than corn. This year, though, rapidly declining stalks quality, may be encouraging earlier residues grazing of both corn and sorghum soon after grain harvest. Both crop residues provide good nutrition for mid- to late-gestation cattle following fall harvest. Sorghum leaves have similar quality to corn husk and leaves; but their quality still decrease over time.

Although both residues provide the highest nutrient content when grazed soon after grain harvest; prioritize grazing corn stalk fields first. Corn leaves tend to detach from stalks within one to two months after harvest and then blow out of stalk fields; thus, dramatically lowering grazing nutritional content. In contrast, grain sorghum stover leaves remain attached to their stalks much longer into the winter and early spring retaining nutritional value.

Previous grain sorghum yields can be used to set optimum grazing stalling rates. For example, grazing rates might be 1 acre per cow per month for every 100 bushels of harvested sorghum.

Unlike corn residue, grain sorghum stover can have prussic acid toxicity along with possible nitrate toxicity risk especially if cattle are forced to graze the lower 1/3 of drought stressed stalks. Other sorghum stover residues advantages include being less prone to lodging; and lower acidosis (founder disease) from grazing spilled grain than corn.

More crop residues research information is available on our cropwatch.unl.edu and beef.unl.edu websites.

Bringing manufacturing back home

Over the past three years, we've dealt with shortages of many goods, from lumber to cars to toilet paper. Supply chain shortages have shown that the United States is overreliant on foreign suppliers. Instead of depending on China for medicine, Taiwan for computer chips, or Russia for fertilizer, we need to return the manufacturing of our products to America.

In Nebraska, we're doing our part to make "made in America" the norm. We're developing our workforce, supporting research of cutting-edge technologies, and investing in affordable housing to strengthen manufacturing in the Good Life.

Workforce Development

According to a study by The Manufacturing Group and Deloitte, U.S. manufacturing is on pace to have 2.1 million unfilled jobs by 2030. This shortage of workers threatens to stunt the growth of American manufacturing. Since I took office, my team has been building a talent pipeline to connect our students with the great-paying manufacturing jobs being created in Nebraska.

To familiarize students with manufacturing, it's important to give them experiences building and creating early on in their education. Our Developing Youth Talent Initiative (DYTI) brings together schools and local manufacturers to provide these hands-on learning opportunities to 7th and 8th grade students. Since launching in 2015, DYTI has reached 24,500 students across 66 Nebraska school districts.

This year, MetalQuest in Hebron received a grant of $125,000 to purchase equipment to introduce students to industrial robotics automation and coding. They're also partnering with schools in Gage, Jefferson, and Thayer counties to create a classroom curriculum with the grant award. It's the second time MetalQuest has received a DYTI grant. The company used its 2016 grant to work with Sandy Creek and Lawrence Nelson Public Schools on a manufacturing career pathway. Before creating the pathway, only 39% of students reported being interested in a career in manufacturing. After the DYTI program, around 75% expressed interest in a manufacturing career.

Students who develop an interest in manufacturing through DYTI can then take part in a high school career academy to gain industry-specific skills. For example, CNH Industrial partners with Grand Island High School through its Career Pathways Institute. In 2017, CNH donated new fabrication equipment to the school for students to use in learning labs. The equipment is very similar to what CNH uses in its actual manufacturing process. This allows students to get a head start learning the specialized skills needed for industrial careers even before they graduate. CNH also offers a Youth Registered Apprenticeship program for welders and industrial manufacturing technicians. Apprentices earn course credit while getting paid and gaining valuable experience at CNH on the manufacturing floor.

High school graduates can sign up for a Registered Apprenticeship (RA) to gain nationally recognized industry credentials. On average, apprentices in the U.S. have a starting salary of $77,000 after completing their program. They can also earn credits toward a college degree.

We grew RA programs by 15% in 2021, and they continue to increase. Central Community College started its RA program in August 2021 and has already brought on major manufacturing partners such as Chief Fabrication, CNH Industrial, Lindsay Corporation, and Standard Iron. This summer, community colleges in Nebraska won a $4 million federal grant to grow their RA programs. They'll be able to offer more opportunities for students to earn while they learn trades in manufacturing as machinists, welders, or heavy equipment operators.

In 2020, we created the Career Scholarship program in our community colleges, state colleges, and University system. It's helping to pay the way for students to receive specialized education in high-demand fields, like engineering, that are essential to manufacturing. Last year, we added private colleges to the program. With that expansion, there will now be at least 2,110 career scholarships by 2023.

Cutting-Edge Technology

We're supplementing our workforce development with investments in automation that allow manufacturers to do more with less. For example, the State awarded Marble Technologies $155,000 of Business Innovation Act funding last fiscal year. The company is using the grants to design technologies that automate many of the labor-intensive, repetitive tasks in beef and pork processing facilities. These products are helping to address the labor shortages that sometimes serve as a bottleneck in meat processing.

Last month, Invest Nebraska and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development were part of a coalition that won a $25 million federal grant to create a Heartland Robotics Cluster. The goal of the initiative is to spur robotics innovation so that we can boost labor productivity in Nebraska. The Nebraska Manufacturing Extension Partnership will use $1.4 million from the award to build a manufacturing automation program and space to demonstrate breakthrough products. Northeast Community College will receive funds from the award to develop an automation fabrication lab designed to support the needs of area manufacturers. The grant will also go toward robotics research and development at The Combine—the program supporting agricultural entrepreneurship at Nebraska Innovation Campus.

Affordable Housing

We're prioritizing affordable housing to support the manufacturing growth happening across Nebraska. Our manufacturing companies can best recruit talent when there are plenty of local housing options available. Housing funds have been a key part of our strategy to increase inventories of high-quality, reasonably priced homes. We awarded $7 million of Rural Workforce Housing Fund grants in 2018, and another $10 million in 2021. We also awarded $10 million of Middle Income Workforce Housing grants in 2021 for home construction in Douglas, Lancaster, and Sarpy counties. This legislative session, we allocated an additional $128.5 million to address the need for affordable housing across the state.

Our efforts to grow manufacturing are paying off. This year, manufacturing employment in Nebraska has reached its highest point since 2003! I'm proclaiming October as Manufacturing Month in Nebraska to celebrate the great work of manufacturers in our state and to highlight the State's commitment to manufacturing.

If you have any questions about the State's work to support manufacturing, please contact me at pete.ricketts@nebraska.gov or 402-471-2244.

Capitol View

Thank heavens for Nebraska congressional district debates

Commentary by J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

With the presumptive next Nebraska Governor refusing to debate and a general election ballot largely devoid of Democrat challengers, this hardly seems like an election year.

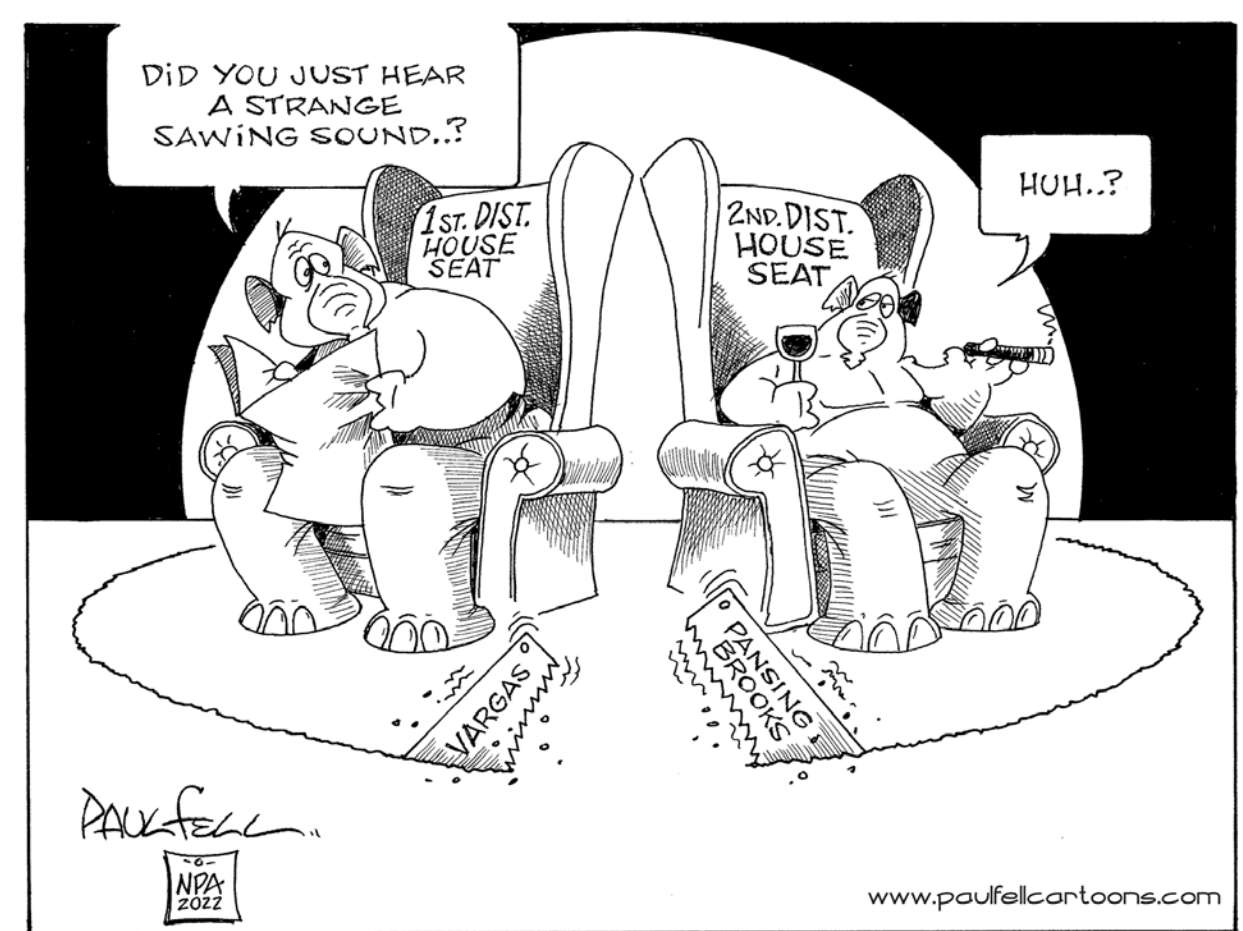

Thanks to the candidates running for the First and Second Congressional Districts, there are at least two races worth watching come Nov. 8 and both are providing live TV debates, albeit along predictable party lines.

For the last 30 years, Republicans have won all three of Nebraska's seats all but twice. This election cycle, Nebraska's 2nd District is officially considered a toss-up with challenger Tony Vargas, currently a state Senator, challenging incumbent Don Bacon. Bacon flipped the seat from the Democrats in 2016 with less than 50% of the vote; he won in 2018 with 50.8%.

In the First District, state Sen. Mike Flood of Norfolk faces off with term-limited state Sen. Patty Pansing Brooks of Lincoln. Just months ago, the Republican Flood won a special election to replace incumbent Rep. Jeff Fortenberry of Lincoln who resigned after conviction of federal charges dealing with accepting campaign contributions from a foreign national. He defeated Democrat Pansing Brooks 53 percent to 47 percent. In their first televised debate on Omaha's KETV, Flood took the Republican line of attacking President Joe Biden and his "out-of-control federal spending" and the need to focus on control of the nation's southern border. He said he's been working on those things in his initial weeks in Congress.

Pansing Brooks said she is "the only candidate who will fight for women's reproductive rights" in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court's recent decision overruling Roe v Wade protections of a woman's right to choose to seek an abortion.

Flood said inflation is out of control. "It's creating problems for families, and I am talking to families who are telling me they have less money at the end of the month than a year ago," he said.

Pansing Brooks agreed and said she is considering solutions such as "lowering prescription drug costs, lowering ACA premiums." She said her nonpartisan experience in the Nebraska Legislature has taught her the importance of coming together and not just fighting according to what the party is dictating.

Flood said he wants to shut down the border and fix the immigration process. "This is a national security issue, a humanitarian crisis, what's happening on the border is not right, it's heartbreaking," he said.

Pansing Brooks said a more secure border comes from funding agencies that are working there. "Stopping immigrations saying we're going to build a wall is the same as sticking your heads in the sand and saying there's not a problem," she said.

On the topic of a woman's right to choose, Flood said his opponent's views on the topic are extreme. "She supports abortion up until the day of birth," he said.

"I do not believe in abortion up until the last minute, I do not believe in abortion on demand," Pansing Brooks said.

Pansing Brooks said she's the bi-partisan choice for Congress. "I wouldn't have been able to pass over 60 bills in the Nebraska legislature, if I were a flaming liberal with no ability to work across the aisle," she said.

Flood served several terms as Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature and was at one time considered a leading contender for the office of governor. When his wife was diagnosed with cancer he dropped out of politics for a few years. With her cancer gone, he returned to the Legislature two years ago representing his old district.

So, could Flood also be the bi-partisan choice for Congress or is he towing the party line? For that matter, is Pansing Brooks towing her party's line?

Incumbent Bacon of Bellevue and challenger Vargas of South Omaha face off in two upcoming debates.

At least that gives some sense of normalcy — boring — to an otherwise strange election year.

But, given that Nebraskans survived a Trumpster-infused gubernatorial primary in May, boring actually looks pretty good, thank you.

Legislative Update

Senator Albrecht provides updates

Fall is here, harvest is in full swing and school has been in session for almost nine weeks. With harvest in full swing, I want to remind you to be aware of the increase in traffic on the roads due to harvest.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce new staff in my office. After session finished, I went most of the summer with limited staff. Jacki O'Neill, administrative assistant, is still working hard in my office. I would like to introduce my new Legislative Aide, Glenda Ward, who came to work for me on Aug. 1. She is married to her husband of 28 years, Kevin, and she is a former Nebraska music educator. She currently teaches piano lessons to 12 students. She is a welcome addition to my staff and she looks forward to working with me and taking your phone calls.

I would like to take a moment to comment on questions and concerns I have been hearing about Senator Ben Hansen's Truth in Taxation law that passed in 2021 and went into effect in 2022 (<https://nebraskalegislature.gov/FloorDocs/107/PDF/Intro/LB644.pdf>).

State Senator, District 17

This law provides taxpayers a well-defined time and place to let their elected officials know how they feel about plans to raise their property taxes. You should have received a pink postcard in the mail this month stating your property taxes will be raised by more than two percent and there is a public hearing about the increase. Dakota and Wayne Counties were destined to have pink postcards sent while Dixon and Thurston Counties did not meet the threshold for property tax increases.

I am proud to be a part of the Revenue Committee. This past year the Legislature passed the largest tax credit in Nebraska history. "The State of Nebraska's financial responsibility has made record tax relief possible," said Gov. Ricketts. "For tax year 2022, the property tax credit rebate on taxes paid to K-12 public schools will grow from 25% to 30%. Nebraska property taxpayers will also be eligible for a new 30% rebate on property taxes paid to community colleges. This relief is especially significant as families deal with historic high inflation. I encourage Nebraskans to make sure they claim all the tax credits they're eligible to receive."

I feel a sense of urgency to share with you about this tax credit as only 60% of Nebraskans have taken advantage of this on their taxes. These tax credits are retroactive for the past 3 years and you will need to file an amended tax return in order to claim these tax credits.

There are 2 types of tax credits that you are eligible to receive from LB873 (<https://nebraskalegislature.gov/FloorDocs/107/PDF/Intro/> LB873.pdf). Tier 1 is Property Tax Credit which automatically shows a credit on your property tax statement that you receive in the mail from the assessor's office. Tier 2 is the Credit Against School Taxes Paid which you have to claim on your tax return. This rebate was 6% in tax year 2020 and 25% in tax year 2021. LB 873 also creates a tax rebate on property taxes paid to community colleges. For tax year 2022, this equates to a 30% rebate. For more information you can go to revenue.nebraska.gov/about/nebraska-property-tax-credit and click on the Nebraska Property Tax Look-up Tool. You receive this credit on parcels you own, but you won't receive this credit if you are renting a house or live in an apartment. If you know your parcel ID number, you will be able to look up information on the credit you will receive. There are also links on this website for more general information as well as frequently asked questions.

I will not be in the office much in the next few months as harvest is in full swing and my husband will be having surgery in November. I do anticipate many calls from you and my staff will gladly take your calls and inform me of your questions and concerns. Please call (402) 471-2716 or email me at jalbrecht@leg.ne.gov. Please stay safe and watch for increased traffic on the roads.

Dear Editor:

Ensuring the safety of a community, let alone a state, is no small thing. It has been my entire life's work as well as the mission that I brought with me when I became director of the Nebraska Department of Correctional Services (NDCS). Facing the agency were well-known. A string of incidents during the first few years of my tenure were equally serious.

As I prepare to retire, I am very proud of our achievements over the past eight years. We have adopted evidence-based tools and practices. We are better able to assess inmate risks and provide clinical treatment to address those issues. We have a reentry process that begins the moment someone arrives and continues after they leave. Decisions are data driven and we have forged relationships with multiple community partners to provide job training and other services that foster success upon release. We have initiated professional development and training programs for staff, invested $150 million in much-needed construction, launched a career pathway program with Peru State College, and most recently, managed a pandemic and onboarded hundreds of new staff.

Those are just a few of our many accomplishments. They speak not only to our progress over the past eight years, but also to the hard work and commitment of our 2400 teammates.

Keeping people safe remains their top priority, as it has been mine. I offer my deep appreciation to the citizens of Nebraska for giving me that opportunity.
Scott R. Frakes
NDCS Director

Final garden steps of the season offered School Lunches

By Kathleen Cue, Nebraska Extension Horticulture Educator

As the first frost of the season becomes imminent, look around the garden for any final tasks to tidy up the garden.

Harvest any warm season crops that will be damaged by frost, including tomatoes, green beans, cucumbers, basil, and zucchini. Pumpkins, if they've begun turning orange, can be harvested from plants and will continue to ripen. Food is food, so look at those things you can still take advantage of.

For instance, squash blossoms are edible and highly prized for their delicate flavor. You can harvest the blossoms for yourself or leave them in place for the pollinators to partake of that last delectable bit of nectar.

Once frost has collapsed the warm season annual plants, they can be pulled from the garden. The rule of thumb is to gauge whether a plant can be added to the compost pile based on the amount of diseased foliage. Plants with leaf spot, anthracnose, phytophthora, or a host of other foliar diseases should be buried or set out for yard waste pickup, while plants with relatively clean foliage can be composted.

For perennials like ornamental grasses and Rudbeckia, stems should be left in place over the winter to protect any native bee eggs overwintering inside hollow stems. For peonies, diseased stems should be pruned out and removed from the site to reduce overwintering pathogens. This criterion should be used for things like asparagus and rhubarb too. If asparagus stems are growing in a spiral pattern, this is an indication of the presence of asparagus beetle, a damaging pest that overwinters in the egg stage on foliage. Good sanitation means removing foliage to manage pests, resulting in fewer asparagus beetles next year.

If you've not ever planted a green manure crop on your vegetable garden space, consider doing so. The organic matter from planting vetch, radishes, or annual rye will benefit soil fertility and friability. It's a great way to protect the soil from the ravages of wind and downpours too.

Those potted perennials, trees, or shrubs you've been waiting for cooler weather to plant can be planted now. Water plants thoroughly and then mulch with wood chips or shredded bark in a 2-4-inch layer. This will delay soil temperature changes a bit, allowing plant roots a longer time to establish. Be sure to note in your garden journal what you've planted and include a date to provide more water if rainfall continues to be scarce.

Check the siding on your home for any cracks or openings. Boxelder bugs, brown marmorated stink bugs and Asian lady beetles will take advantage of openings in the siding to overwinter inside walls. Although a little more difficult to work with, use a silicone-based caulk to close openings as this doesn't shrink like latex caulk does.

Don't forget to water! Newly planted trees will need attention, followed by trees and shrubs planted within the last 5 years, evergreen trees and shrubs, established trees and shrubs outside of irrigation zones, and lastly those trees and shrubs within irrigation zones. The healthier the tree or shrub is, the more likely it can withstand drought. Drought AND mitigating factors can bring down even seemingly healthy trees. Those factors include girdling roots, wounds on the trunk, raised beds around trees, the presence of a pest or disease problem, and mulch volcanoes.

Life Chain

More than 40 individuals took part in the annual Life Chain in Wayne on Oct. 2. The event is held annually across the country in support of life. The Wayne event included people from several churches in Wayne and the surrounding area. Those taking part spent one hour in silence in all directions from the corner of Seventh and Main Streets, praying for those affected by abortion and those facing choices during pregnancy.

Evangelize others with love

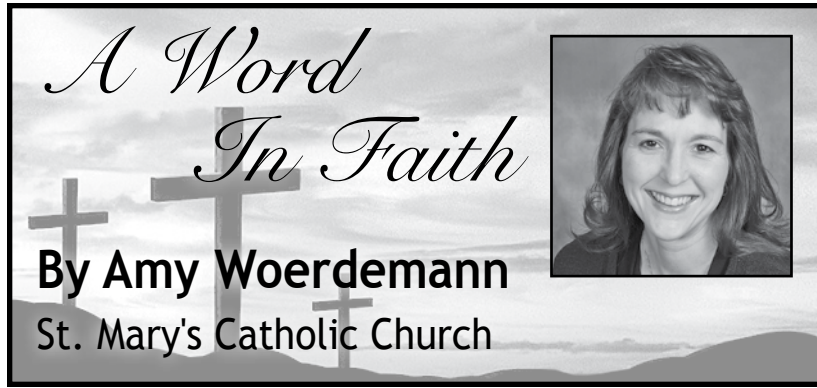

This past Saturday I attended a conference where we heard about how the majority of individuals no longer attend Church or affiliate with a religion anymore.

The statistics were disheartening. They said that only about 25% percent of Catholics actually attend Mass each weekend. I have been doing some research and this isn't something that is just affecting the Catholic faith, it is all faiths. One thing we were all challenged to do to bring others to know Jesus is to evangelize.

Perhaps some of you might think of evangelizing as what I used to think it was. It was someone who would knock on my door and hand me pamphlets, a stranger who would try and give me a Bible and talk about God or anyone who would try and push their beliefs on me. That isn't the evangelization that I am referring to. Evangelization is being more like the 12 disciples Jesus chose to go with him and spread the Good News. Jesus didn't choose the "perfect" people. Jesus didn't have pamphlets, Bibles or a Church. He simply had 12 people who chose to follow him and share with others.

I didn't always believe in God or have a relationship with Jesus. I went to Mass each Sunday with my family but I rarely prayed. I kept this unknown entity (God) away on some shelf. I would pull him out when I was really struggling and then put him back again. I knew who the person Jesus was but I didn't really KNOW Jesus. He was just someone in a book that we celebrated at Christmas and Easter.

All of that changed on Oct. 6, 2010 when I had what some would call a huge conversion. After that date, I left my career and began to work for the Catholic Church. I'm not perfect. I'm a sinner. I struggle each day just like everyone else.

I have learned a lot about evangelization in the last 12 years. Evangelization isn't pushing your beliefs on others but more simply introducing them to the love of Jesus and eventually the Gospel. I want to share some of those steps to evangelization I have been taught. Some might disagree with these and that is okay. Simply know that these steps come from a place of love.

1. Be Yourself. Jesus doesn't need super humans. He needs you. This should be a relief and a challenge at the same time. It's a relief because you don't have to pass through some hard core training program. It's a challenge because you no longer have any excuse not to evangelize.

2. Meet people where they are at. Many people in your life might not believe in God, attend Church or have any faith at all. Simply meet them where they currently are and love them.

3. Form a relationship. Friendship is one of the best ways of helping others to discover life's deeper truths. Evangelization takes place in the normal, daily routine. It occurs at the grocery store, the gas station, the post office. It is about taking the time out of your normal routine to say "hi" to someone, talk to them about something they are doing, showing them that you care.

Invite them for coffee or lunch. Take the time to let them share about what is going on in their life.

4. Don't treat others as evangelization projects and instead, treat them more as people you love. Your job isn't to fix others or to get them to convert to your way of thinking. Your job is to love other people. While you want what is best for them, you shouldn't be pushy, argumentative, aggressive, or annoying. Rather, be personable, interested in them, and genuine.

Your evangelization should always flow out of a real relationship. Real relationship means we have the other person's best interest at heart. This means being merciful and accepting folks (loving them) right were they are.

5. Realize that understanding someone else's viewpoint does not necessarily mean you agree with it. This is a tough one for many people especially when you talk about some tough issues. If you are open to having an honest conversation, you might just understand their beliefs without compromising your own. It allows you to enter into their experience and walk with them. You don't always have to agree with someone to love them. Allow yourself to be used as a channel of God's grace.

6. Keep your eye on the goal. The goal is loving Jesus and sharing that love. To share it, you have to share it with the person that you have in front of you. Evangelization means stepping outside of your comfort zone and putting yourself in other people's shoes. If you aren't making sacrifices, you probably aren't evangelizing.

None of us will ever be a perfect evangelist, but all of us can get better. Evangelization doesn't have to be awkward or scary. It can mean being a better friend and Christian. It can be natural. Always know that Love is the greatest form of evangelization because it makes an invisible God visible.

Advice from the archbishop

More than 40 people from Laurel, Dixon and Wayne Catholic Churches took part in a Pastoral Conference on Oct. 1. Archbishop George Lucas was joined by several others in sharing thoughts on how the Catholic church can best serve its members in coming years. The event was livestreamed to all the all the churches in the Omaha archdiocese. Attendees were encouraged to find ways to be missional in their approach to dealing with others.

treatment plan. There are other treatments beyond avoidance and steroid nasal sprays, such as certain inhalers. As always, talk with your doctor to determine if other factors such as polyps, tumors, or a systemic disease could be causing your condition.

Accounting for more than half of all non-allergic rhinitis is vasomotor rhinitis. Vasomotor rhinitis is an exaggerated reaction to irritants such as air pollution, perfumes, or temperature changes, especially cold, dry air.

Cigarette smoke, alcohol, cocaine, and occupational exposures may cause a runny nose along with different medications, such as aspirin or some blood pressure pills. Certain conditions such as pregnancy, acid reflux, as well as the use of your CPAP machine for sleep apnea have been known to affect the nasal membranes.

Personally, I know that if I eat something spicy or hot in temperature, I am going to need a Kleenex, for my gustatory rhinitis. While there might not be a cure for your runny nose, sometimes it is just nice knowing the cause, because I am not going without my favorite pad Thai meal.

THANK YOU

Thank you to everyone who came to my great party for my 90th birthday celebration. A big thanks to our grandson and wife, Tony and Melissa Hansen and family who hosted the party at their farm.

Our own children, who did a lot also - made lots of food, beautiful decorations making the big building look festive. Also, grandchildren, who brought their favorite cakes and bars. Angie who made two beautiful decorated cakes.

Music by the Burt Heithold Band.

I have received many beautiful birthday cards. Such a joy to read them.

Being 90 years old is such a blessing from the Lord.

Beverly Hansen

Concord Volunteer Fire Dept. would like to thank everyone for their support and donations for our Pancake Breakfast.

Special thanks to our community and the surrounding communities for their support.

Friends like you make it possible for us to update our equipment, so we can take care of our communities.

The family of Robert "Bob" Jones would like to thank family and friends who visited him in the hospital and at home.

Thank you to everyone for their kind words, cards, flowers, plants, food, paper supplies, memorial donations and love given us during this difficult time. Thank you to Pastor Dave, Pastor Adam, Pastor Justin and the Praise Team for Bob's wonderful celebration of life service.

Thank you to Hospice of Providence Medical Center and Hasemann Funeral Home for their assistance and support.

God bless each of you
Karen, Brad, Barry, Brenda and Families
