THE FLOOD HORROR

Mountains of Water from the Great Reservoir BREAK AWAY THE LOWER DAMS. Nearly One Hundred and Fifty Workmen have been employed to repair the dam and to place a new dam expected to fail as soon as a fair.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 24.—A courier has just arrived here from the lower dam on the Hassayampa river, and reports that another tremendous mountain of water came down the Hassayampa about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, and that 104 men were lost at the lower dam, where they were at work. They were all white except three Chinese. He reports Wickburg all right. The loss of life in the valley between Wickburg and the dam may not be known for some time, but will be thirty or forty. The courier states that the upper dam had suddenly broken and carried the two dams below with it.

MRS. CUBBER'S LOVES

Four Ex-Husbands Quarrel While She Enjoys Her Sixth honeymoon. Mrs. M. C. Jones of Shelbyville, who is enjoying her ninth honeymoon, is about 42 years of age. She is handsome and possesses a frequent sunny indulgence and will not be interviewed by newspaper men. She became a resident of Shelbyville, Ind., in 1883, and has since then lived in that city ever since. Eight of her husbands are living and four of five of them are residents of Shelbyville. Her first husband was a man of fortune, but his jealousy of her was so far from being a frequent sunny indulgence that she was obliged to leave him and go to the city of Philadelphia, to whom he had shipped her and got married to the National Bank of Homer. The draft is worthless. Business men here, under a constant escort. Mrs. Jones, with whom Walker went away, is a very handsome brunette, about 25 years old, attractive, vivacious and well informed. Mr. Walker's first wife was the

THEIR FATE IN DOOM

New York, Feb. 23.—Henry S. Van Buren, president of the Walnut Water Storage Company, recently went out to Walnut Grove to inspect the property. One of the largest stockholders of the company, thinks he understands the house occupied by the Van Burens was near and below the dam and he fears it must have been destroyed.

THE WORLD'S FAIR

'Twas Ballot and Change the Whole Day Long.

AND CHICAGO TOOK THE PRIZE.

Washington and St. Louis Lost Strength from the Start, and Chicago Won on the Right Side Call—Other News from the Capital. There was much excitement at this time. It was 10 o'clock and the New York men were voting a yeas for the purpose, it was rumored, of transferring their strength and that of St. Louis over night to Washington. The yeas and no vote showed 138 in favor and 154 opposed the yeas. "Call the roll," came from the Chicagoans, and the 25th ballot was taken; 311 yeas were cast—154 for Chicago, 118 for New York, 23 for St. Louis and 17 for Washington. Chicago was just two votes short of a majority. A member from Pennsylvania, forward, and he said he would not change his vote. It was expected that this would lead to a stampede to Chicago, but it did not. Chicago followed his example and Chicago with the total of 154 was yet one vote short of a majority. The yeas and no vote in Chicago came out victorious, and out of 311 yeas cast the yeas and no yeas 137, three more than enough; New York received 130, St. Louis 23 and Washington 18.

Mr. Chandler in the senate, rising to object of personal privilege, called attention to the fact that Senator Sherman had uttered words personally offensive to him, which he had not done. He followed up with a trench of order-tying charges and adding to the official record the remarks. The paragraph still more offensive. He, therefore, offered a preamble and resolution to the effect that the senator from Florida had charged him in a debate with personal responsibility for the outrageous and unprovoked words of a child and the destruction of happiness of households in the south by means of a new scheme for the extermination of the colored race. The senator had in addition inserted the following paragraph, which he had not spoken of.

The head of Sanders, if the evidence shall show to the contrary, was connected with the proceedings in United States courts which were his conscience. The striking thing was that the senator from Florida had inserted a section of his will and his property in the hands of the southern white people and the negroes. The senator had in addition inserted the following paragraph, which he had not spoken of.

The resolution concerns such action as a branch of privilege, for which the senator (Mr. Call) is captured, and a resolution to be introduced in the senate on a bill, to be introduced from the report in the Congressional Record.

gained more, and so from and Washington. The yeas and no yeas. The yeas and no yeas. The yeas and no yeas.

Mr. Chandler wanted the senate to decide whether such language might be used by one senator in relation to another. He sent the original of the objectionable paragraph by a page to Mr. Call, and asked whether it was in his handwriting. Mr. Call repeated his assertion that he had in debate clearly and distinctly charged that senator with responsibility for the death of Saunders and for other iniquities in the south.

expressed substantially the same ideas as was expressed in the additional paragraph. He had simply changed the phraseology, as he had right to do; therefore, the statement made by the senator from New Hampshire was not true.

known to the commission, giving a knowledge of the secrets of the commission, handing the records of the commission—a privilege denied members and representatives—without compensation and in direct violation of the law.

Mr. Ewart said to the committee that he had gone to the office of the secretary of the commission and asked the privilege of examining the papers in the Child's case, and that the secretary, and the committee, had refused to allow him the privilege, and he requested the committee to issue them orders to that effect, as attorney in this investigation, could get information which he deemed necessary. The committee then adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the investigation will be continued.

Wicked Newspaper People

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The senate has just determined to investigate the wicked newspaper men who insist upon publishing to the world the secrets of the executive session. The matter was under discussion and the question of the propriety of opening the doors during the discussion of nominations was debated at length. During the discussion, Mr. Teller urged upon the senate the advisability of adopting his proposition to open the doors. Mr. East supported Mr. Teller, the chair man of the committee on rules. After the adjournment of the senate the matter was brought to the attention of Senator Aldrich through a United Press reporter, and he said that he would call a meeting of the committee on rules to consider the resolution. Senator Aldrich knows to be a man in favor of open executive sessions, and Senator Blackburn probably will be in favor of the same. The committee—Senators Ingalls, Sherman and Harris—were supposed to be opening the doors to the world, but it is believed will be reported adversely with a strong minority in its favor.
