

DAMAGE SUITS FILED IN DISTRICT COURT

RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Curtis E. Benshoff Asked to Pay Marie and Frederick Shellpepper $5,000 Each.

Two suits, each alleging damages and asking for $5,000, were filed in the district court at this place yesterday afternoon by Marie Shellpepper and Frederick Shellpepper against Curtis E. Benshoff of Win.

The suits grew out of an accident which occurred July 25, last when the plaintiffs were thrown from a buggy and injured.

The plaintiffs allege that the defendant came up in an automobile and did not give a signal or other warning to announce his approach.

Frederick Shellpepper alleges that he had been riding in a buggy when he was thrown and his right arm was broken, his right hand and wrist sprained, his right eye injured, his right leg and one limb to become permanently stiff.

For such injuries, each plaintiff is entitled to pay $5,000.

Herman Mildner received this week a letter from his brother in Germany. He is a retired officer of the German army after having had eighteen years of active service. He has had in the German army two sons, and in the German army one son, the latter of whom lost his life on the merchant ship Schanthurst which was sunk. One of the other two sons was badly wounded in the battle of Warsaw, and is lying in a German hospital. The remaining son was still alive on the firing line when the letter was written. The letter which required over a month to reach its destination there, further states that Germany has 300,000 Russian and 300,000 English, French and Belgian prisoners; and that every German soldier is willing to fight to the bitter end. The letter says that Germany has 100,000,000 trained soldiers, and is every day rejecting men anxious to enlist. It says people there are not smirking.

PLANS MATURING FOR COMING CHAUTAUQUA

CHOICE OF ATTRACTIONS

Local Management Makes Selections From Best Talent on American Platform.

The local chautauqua management is busily at work making plans for the 1915 assembly which opens in Wayne July 11, and continues eight days. The sessions will cover more day than heretofore, and every session will be made a top-notch one. One purpose of having the chautauqua at this time and of selecting as formerly, to accommodate the State Normal students and faculty. August is the vacation period at the Normal, and members of the faculty whose homes are elsewhere, are not here at the time.

Running the chautauqua independent of any literary bureau this year is the hope of securing better talent and giving greater satisfaction to the managers. They have begun early the selection of talent. Governor George H. Hodges of Kansas, is scheduled for a lecture. Frank Stockton who is on the staff of the Nevada Normal and who is a popular speaker in behalf of community health, will be another attraction already secured. More money will be spent for the chautauqua this year than ever before. The program will be uniformly high order. Support and patronage will lend every interest to the eight days.

STEPHENS' POSITION.

Lincoln Journal Representative Dan Stephens is sending out a form letter to all of his constituents who ask him to support the Hitchcock bill prohibiting the exportation of munitions of war to Europe. He speaks strongly for neutrality, and then wants to know if his beloved constituent wants him to carry the principles of the Hitchcock bill to their logical conclusion. He shows that the armies of Europe can continue to fight without our guns and ammunition, but without food supplies, they will be helpless.

Hughes, clerk of the district court, has received the following instructions in regard to the granting of passports: "A person who is entitled to receive a passport, if within the United States, must make a written application in the form of an affidavit, to the secretary of state. The application must be made by the person to whom the passport is to be issued, and signed by him, as it is not competent for one person to apply for another. The affidavit must be made before a clerk of a federal or state court within the jurisdiction of which the applicant or his witnesses reside, and the seal of the court must be affixed."

A Serious Question —

If there is anything wrong with your sight you have, no doubt, been thinking about glasses, and you may have pondered over the question as to where you would go for them. This is an important matter to Decide

If your eyes are skillfully examined and lenses properly ground for them, you will experience the hoped for relief. If on the contrary, you get a misfit, your eyes will be in a worse condition than before.

It is a question worth your serious consideration, and it is certainly worth your while to come to a place where only accurate work is performed.

THE WEEK WITH THE

CHURCHES

Methoist Church.

(Rev. A. S. Burell, Pastor.)

The ladies of the missionary society served next three hundred suppers last Friday evening.

At the Community school last week Miss Sewell's class entertained the large gathering of enthusiastic young people.

Professor Bowen's class of young men had charge of the opening exercises of the Sunday school last Sunday morning. The items of special interest were the reading of the scripture lesson by Brother Sim Jacobson and the rendering of a special sacred selection by the double male quartet. The primary department will feature the opening of the school next Sunday. We are pleased to note the growing interest and increased attendance in the school.

There was a good attendance at the Sunday school board meeting, and at the quarterly conference, Monday evening. Dr. E. E. Hosman spoke very encouragingly of the work over the district. In sixty days he had visited eighty churches, and had given more than thirty addresses. All of the forty-four charges are supplied with regular pastors. The pastors and people in general are getting into the year with a unity and determination to make this a record year for the Master's work. Many of the charges have increased the support of their pastors. Several good revival meetings have been held and others are in progress. Mr. Hosman, the wife of the district superintendent, is seriously sick at her home in Norfolk at the present time.

We will hold communion service next Sunday morning. This will be our first opportunity to use our beautiful new communion service recently purchased for the church by Mrs. and Sister Charles Gilchrist. Let us make it a communion in spirit and in truth.

Sunday evening will be the opening of the special meetings. On Monday, Rev. Wm. H. Shoaf of Wisner, and Miss Agnes Gerken of Waterbury, will be here to assist during the two weeks meetings. It is hoped that the meetings may last longer than the two weeks, but that will depend upon the interest manifested.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet at 2:30 Friday at the home of Sister Hennick.

Presbyterian Church.

(Rev. S. Xenophon-Cross, Pastor.)

The pastor announces the sermon themes for next Sunday. The morning theme will be "In the Image of God." The hour of the morning service is 10:30, and we hope to, from now on, begin strictly on time. The evening topic is "The Two Baptisms." The attendance at both services last Sunday was gratifying. Come again, and bring a friend with you.

The Sunday school superintendent announces a little change in the Sunday school program, which will be appreciated by all. The idea is to combine the Sunday school and morning service into one service. The preaching service will begin as usual at 10:30. This part of the service will last just one hour. The Sunday school will begin at 11:30 and conclude at 11:50 and conclude in session till 12:30, when the benediction will be said. Remember, Sunday school from 11:30 to 12:30.

The Y. P. S. C. E. president announces plans now under way for the coming year of Christian Endeavor week, February 7 to 14. These plans will soon be fully announced. They will probably include a sermon for the young people Sunday morning, February 7, a service conducted by the young people Sunday evening February 7, a mid-week social, rally at the Wednesday evening meeting, a membership canvass and other features.

The sermon on the morning of February 14 will be: "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" The evening service on that date will be under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society.

First Baptist Church.

(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.)

Dr. J. A. Leavitt gave us a splendid address Sunday morning. It enlarged one's conception of the Christian life, and gave all food for thought. It is good to have our eyes brought face to face with the vast fields of Christian service. These great needs call for a full consecration of the churches of Christ to his work.

An unusually large crowd attended the evening service. To look into the faces of so many young people, to be won and trained for Christ, is an inspiration to any pastor.

Mr. Foster and family have the sympathy of the church during these days of their bereavement.

Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject: "The Relation of Good and Evil." This will be an exposition of another of the Lord's familiar parables.

Miss Helen Norton will lead the young people's lesson Sunday evening.

The pastor will base his sermon upon another Old Testament man who did things. His subject will be: "Joshua, the Leader." It is noticeable that the one thing that made these men great was the place they gave God in their lives.

Considerable interest is being shown in the bible study, just preceding the morning meeting Wednesday evening. Nothing is a greater study than the old book itself. Come next Wednesday evening and hear the lesson.

Plans are being discussed for the holding of some special meetings in our church this spring. We hope soon to be able to give something definite about this.

Every member of the church ought to be interested in every department of our church. We should be a booster for the church everywhere he is.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.

Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Regular morning worship at 11 a. m.

Regular evening worship at 7:45 p. m.

Luther league at 6:45 p. m.

The subject of the Sunday morning sermon will be "The World's Want Supplied." Acts xvii. 21. One of the greatest mediums for conveying truth to man is through the avenue of art. But, a piece of art, though it be perfect in every line, may lose its value if it conveys an untruth. This thought was no doubt impressed upon the mind of Paul when he entered the cultured city of Athens, for Greek architecture was mainly devoted to glorifying the temples of the gods. The Parthenon at Athens, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Temple of Apollo and Diana at Antioch were indeed materially beautiful, but that beauty was eclipsed by the moral deformity of their consecrations to idolatry, to imposture, and to falsehood. The devil eye of the apostle would therefore be much more shocked by the dishonesty done to God and the injury to the moral nature of man than gratified by mere beauty of form, or architectural grandeur and grace. In such display of art, that people saw the weakness and the need of the people; thus does he say: "For as I passed by and beheld your devotions, I found an altar to the unknown god. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you."

The evening sermon will be based upon another representative character of the Old Testament.

The subject for consideration at Luther league will be "Woman's Ministry of Mercy." Acts ix. 36-42.

The ladies Aid society held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Silas Mellick, on last Thursday. The meeting was well attended, and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Choir rehearsal Thursday evening.

Catechetical class meets every Saturday afternoon at 2:30. A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

A COOPERATIVE STORE

(Omaha Trade Exhibit) Here is an exact copy of a letter received by a prominent jobbing house of this territory:

"Gentlemen:—Please send me a salesman. I am about to open up a cooperative store. The plan will be as follows:—The make of the store will be the Farmers' Cooperative Company. The farmers will buy from me for cash, and I will be the company. Yours very truly,"

For barefaced frankness that takes the cake! And I will be the company!—is about right, and should be the case with a good many other so-called "cooperative" stores.

Even at that, this store has as good a chance to win if it ever gets started, as the store that really, and for true is a cooperative venture. Cooperation—what crimes are committed in its name!

Railroads of Nebraska Losing Thousands PAY MILLIONS TO PEOPLE IN WAGES, TAXES AND FOR SUPPLIES EVERY YEAR

It is a strange fact, but nevertheless true, that in times like the present the average state has no regular estimate of its own industry and, next to agriculture, there is not a single central or western state in which railroads do not pay out more money for labor and supplies than they pay any single enterprise, however large. We have known our fertile farm lands and rejoice that our cities are filled with big factories with big payrolls which create a market for farm products; but we forget that more workingmen's families depend upon the railroads for a living than upon any other one industry in either the average state or the nation, and that their welfare is therefore closely linked to that of the farmer and the merchant—not more freight and passenger service, but because the millions they disburse in one way and another contribute tremendously to the prosperity of the state in which we live.

For instance, the railroads are the largest taxpayers in the state of Nebraska, their taxes for the calendar year of 1913 having amounted to over $253,000—and this tally contributed its full share toward the support of every public school, public highway and other revenue enterprise of the state.

Round figures, the railroads of Nebraska are valued at approximately $275,000,000—money which in years gone by was invested in these lands and men and women who live all over the United States and in Europe, and without whose financial aid the wonderful progress of our great commonwealth would have been impossible.

At the close of last year the railroads of Nebraska employed 36,634 men and women in this state, and paid to them over $20,000,000 in salaries and these millions did their full share to create a profitable market for Nebraska farm products and uphold the volume of business of Nebraska grocers, clothiers, dry goods men and others who depend upon public patronage.

In other words, when the people of Nebraska look at the figures in the light of an industry when they look at the figures on the other side of the ledger—they will find that not only do the railroads return to them in every way and another practically every dollar they contribute toward freight and passenger service, but that a number of lines are actually doing this business at a loss, while with others the margin of profit is so small that it doesn't begin to pay a fair return upon the capital invested.

In connection, we wish to digress for a moment to quote some statistics which should have had a place in a former article. It costs an average of 7 mills per mile to haul a ton of freight in the United States, whereas in England it costs 2.31 cents, in Germany 1.42 cents, and in France 1.44 cents. In the United States the average wages paid to railroad employees are $2.23 per day, in England $1.15, and in Germany and France not over $1 per day. The English railroads are capitalized at $371,000 per mile, in France at $114,185—while in the United States the stock and bond capitalization averages only $52,000 per mile. In view of these facts, a remarkable comparison, do American railroads deserve the wholesale denunciation which has been heaped upon them?

Losses Under Present Rates.
As evidence of the justice of the plea of the Nebraska lines that three-cent passenger rates should be restored, during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1913, the Missouri Pacific lost $153,560 on the total volume of its Nebraska business—both state and interstate included. The Missouri Pacific has 371 miles of railroad in the state and its net operating loss for the year ended an actual operating loss of $166 per mile upon properties valued by the engineer of the State Railway Commission at $32,633.60 per mile. During this time, it paid $1,277,260.04 in salaries to its Nebraska employees and spent $105,000 in taxes.

During the calendar year ending December 31, 1913, the St. Joseph and Grand Island railway sustained an actual operating loss of $96,494 or a deficit of $768 per mile on properties valued by the engineer of the only have the same right upon a fair return upon both freight and passenger service. It is their duty to do so in order that one class of patrons may not be compelled to pay an inequitable rate to make up the losses sustained in another department.

If the arbitrary enactment of a two-cent passenger rate is unfair to the railroads of New York and Pennsylvania, where there are large centers of population and where the nation's greatest density of freight tonnage naturally exists, how much more unfair is such a rate in a sparsely settled state like Nebraska, which has a total population of only a million and a quarter with no large manufacturing centers?

The reader is familiar with the recent 5-per-cent increase in freight rates framed by the Interstate Commerce commission to Eastern lines—and again, as the commission wisely says, if the precarious financial conditions created by the European war renders this increase necessary, how much more justifiable would it be on lines which are compelled to carry freight upon an exceptional patronage entitled to some substantial relief? The population per square mile in Massachusetts is 411, in New York 204, in Pennsylvania 181, Ohio 124 and in Nebraska only 15. If, under these circumstances, the Eastern lines need relief, can there be any doubt about the justice of the plea made by Western roads?

Facing Grave Problems.
Unquestionably the problems facing some of our railroads are grave. However confronted as a nation, and these problems grow largely but of a war which is without precedent in history. True, with a rapidly increasing cost of operation on the part of the railroads, as well as of the other, it was merely a matter of time until the railroad question was bound to become pressing—but the great tragedy across the seas has suddenly resolved into an acute crisis, a problem which might otherwise have been solved gradually and without any far-reaching industrial disturbance.

The United States is a heavy debtor Nation. During the average year our balance of trade against the rest of the world amounts to approximately $80,000,000. In the first ten months of this year we owe approximately $20,000,000 which heretofore we have been able to stand off by selling European industrial securities to that amount. Now, however, the marketing countries have severed trade ties. They not only expect us to pay our debts above our trade balances in gold, but that in addition they look to us to buy back from them hundreds of millions of dollars worth of American securities which are now being offered to them at a discount.

It was to deliver this grim message that Sir George Paish of the English exchange paid his recent visit to the United States and when he got through making his statement to a group of New York bankers, he treated the veteran financiers who had survived many a financial storm, remarked to his profoundly silent auditors: "The sheriff, with a writ, is on the doorstep."

That a great nation-wide crop next year will give us the largest wheat and grain harvest in our history is undoubtedly true—and yet, without having to finance all our monetary needs at home from this time on and having back millions of foreign owned securities, the future at best is uncertain. It is a heavy burden, a drain of all will come when the harvestes and when Europe begins to rebuild the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property which has been destroyed—for this period is certain to force the highest interest rates the world has ever known, and it is at that time American railroad securities are not earning a fair return upon the investment, nothing can prevent them from going into the financial scrap heap—and it is to prevent this that the Interstate Commerce commission has been urged to take a point of national weakness, which will bring the whole temple of American investments tumbling down over our heads—to protect the hundreds of backs, life and the thousands of families who depend upon them, are largely invested in railroad bonds, as well as in railroads themselves—this is the fear that is gripping hundreds of financiers, and students of economic conditions in the present hour.

In the present hour, many of us who heretofore have not seriously contemplated themselves over the troubles of American railroads. In the present instance, therefore, the railroad crisis is of tremendous importance because in it is involved the still greater problem of the integrity and safety of the whole superstructure of American business. That we cannot shove it aside by a broadside of demagogic platitudes or minimize it by employing the strategy of an ostrich is apparent to all thinking citizens who are seriously concerned with the good of their country's fiscal welfare.

Up to People of Nebraska.
In his other states have the railroads had a larger share in progress and development than in Nebraska, against local interests they help to divert from their capital of living herds of buffalo and savage Indians—and from that hour to this, they have contributed their full share to a story of faith and enterprise which will pride the breast of every true Nebraskan.

The cost of federal construction shows that from 1890 to 1910 the general value of Nebraska farm lands increased 15 per cent—and in view of these facts, had the men and women who built hundreds of millions of dollars into Nebraska railroad securities by the sacrifice of their money in Nebraska farm lands would not the investment have returned more profitably for them? And have not the railroads played a tremendous part in these Nebraska land sales in the past? Have they not also invested much more in this value which will be added to this time forward? Have you not the interests of the farmer and the rancher always gone hand in hand with those of the Western country? Did they not compare the addressess offered and would the progress of men have been possible without their? Should not the railroads of this state, therefore, have the good will and friendship of the farmer and rancher? They seek it that they be permitted to earn a reasonable income upon their investment?

Spelled as has been our progress in the past, Nebraska today stands near to the threshold of her true greatness. We have ample room for hundreds of additional cities on the plains. So rich, our splendid inland owners and cities plead for factories in order that we may ourselves produce much of the finished merchandise for which our people demand many millions of dollars annually. Significant trends herald the opening of new railroad mileage before we shall be able to make the most of our agricultural and commercial possibilities—and the millions necessary for the construction of these factories and the added transportation facilities will not be forthcoming unless we treat fairly the millions already invested in our midst.

The state is wide as the prairie and it is permitted to remain a fair return on investment from this time forward. Would not such a declaration be fair? Would it not be infinitely wise as a matter of pure business policy on behalf of our state?

It is because Nebraska railroads have that Nebraska people will be especially fair once they know the truth about this great question—that has persuaded them to make the appeal through the public press to those on whom they have tried to stack their side of the story fairly. They have made no attack upon anyone in order to appeal to prejudice—that the reader may be justified in the same credit for sincerity which they have tried to stack their side of the story fairly. They have made no attack upon anyone in order to appeal to prejudice—that the reader may be justified in the same credit for sincerity which they have tried to stack their side of the story fairly.

The Couple of Empire.
Slowly but surely the course of empire is moving westward. Here lands impoverished in fertility, New England as well as the great mountains of the Old World, today look to the Corn Belt for foodstuffs—and sooner or later the center of this mighty nation's wealth will be found here amid the rich valleys of the Missouri and the Mississippi, which in point of productivity are without equal in any similar area upon the habitable globe. Here our people are assured that Nature will always sooner or later amply reward honest thrift and industry. Here our families are farthest removed from those industries which corrode the soul and enfeeble the body—Here American manhood and womanhood find their broadest opportunity, and with a commonwealth so rich in promise and so much in need of additional capital with which to develop its resources, can her people ever have the same credit for sincerity which they have tried to stack their side of the story fairly. They have made no attack upon anyone in order to appeal to prejudice—that the reader may be justified in the same credit for sincerity which they have tried to stack their side of the story fairly.

Cough Medicine for Children.
Never give a child a cough medicine that contains opium in any form. When opium is given, other and more serious diseases may follow. The Fairbury News refuses to print gratis a column and a half of advertising for the "Society for the Prevention of Crooked Teeth." The News doesn't seem so much concerned about the shape of the teeth as it does about having on hand at regular periods some things with which to employ the teeth. And if prices of meats and other solid eatables continue to advance at a rapid rate, it will become so imperative and continuous that it will not be necessary to have teeth at all.

Senator Bourne proposes a plan more far-reaching than the postoffice primary of Congressman Stephens. Senator Bourne advocates a scheme by which not only postmasterships but all federal offices in the states would be filled by election instead of appointment. He would cut out politics and permit voters to vote for federal offices without reference to party affiliation.

A Hotel Joke. Simon Ford, who accomplished the extraordinary feat of running the Grand Union hotel and being a humorist, was on one side of the register at the same time, was asked what he considered the best joke.

"I can't tell stories," said he. "You can't remember them." That looked discouraging. But presently Mr. Ford brightened up immediately and finished the comment in this way: "Here is a bit of humor, however, and a true hotel happening.

Our steward had printed on the bills of fare the following notice: "Articles brought into the hotel and used at the tables will be charged for as though furnished by the house."

"Some one must see copies of these bills and under the notice he had written: "Does this apply to false teeth?"—New York Times.

The Happiest Man. Who drives the horses of the sun. Shall lead it out a day. Better the lowly deed were done. And the high reward be his. The rust will dull the sword of fame. The dust will hide the crown. Aye, none shall null so high his name. Time will not stain it down.

The happiest man here of our time is in some quiet corner. True, for the countess, diligent sweet. And left to heaven the rest. John Vance Cheney.

Regretted Her Rash Wish. "Ours" when Strickland Gillilan was located at the home of "Miss Jim" Wilson in Texas, in the afternoon was dark in the big Chautauque pavilion and the speaker was in almost total darkness.

"They" sneer, a fellow lectured standing near the back of the building. Heard a lady whisper: "My, I wish they'd turn on the foot lights so we could see his face!" "But you see the lights flashed up. He caught a good look at the homely and extraordinary man of our age, and she explained far more forcibly: "My, I wish they'd turn out those footlights!"—Judge.

Amended the Sign. A locally famous sign painter, now deceased, was asked to paint a sign—"The Union Five-Cent Savings Bank."

As this was a new book in town, he was instructed to turn out something rather unusual, and he performed faithfully to his best. When the sign was finished it was brought for the inspection of the trustees, who were somewhat dissatisfied with the effect that the sign read as follows: "The Union Five-Cent Savings Bank."

Considerable discussion ensued when they requested him to add an "s" which he had omitted and he returned that no "s" was necessary, but as they insisted he took it back to the shop, very much disgraced with the entire work of the first principles of education. When he brought it back it read as follows: "The Union Five-Cent Savings Bank."

"That," he said, "is sorry! Be you satisfied now?"—New York Times.

For Good Causes. A man allowed himself to get very much excited about a letter he had written to the editor of a newspaper. He had a friend that he intended to "lick the editor."

"Why?" "The other day I sent him a letter on public affairs, which I signed 'Boustanus.'"

"Didn't he print it?" "Sure he printed it. But what did he do but add an 's' to the signature?"

Flour Prices vs. Wheat Prices

The war in foreign countries caused the price of wheat to advance from 80c to $1.15 or $1.20 per bushel on the local market. The price of flour usually follows the price of wheat, hence the remarkable advance in flour. The Year of 1882, Kenamah, Burr county, Neb., we paid $1.25 for milling wheat flour advanced in the same ratio then as it is doing now. So, after all, it is a matter of supply and demand. Whatever the price on the different flour may be in the future, you can rest assured if you use

Uncle Walt
The Poet Philosopher

THE MERCIFUL MAN.

Oh, friend, protect your faithful steed which cannot well explain its need as human speakers do. It can not tell a tale of woe, but for all comforts it would know, your horse must look to you. When it is suffering distress it can't write letters to the press. Like wretched human and beast, it is burdened it must pant; it has not vote, and so it can't rebuke you at the polls. When warty tempests howl like sin you wain yourself from heels to chin in things that keep you warm; into you your head and shoes and on each hand you put a glove, and you defy the storm. But Dublin stands tied to a post, out where the blizzard blazes most, with shaking hooves and theweez; if horses weep and shed some tears, he has no eyes; muffs on his ears; he has no overcoats. His silent protest is vain. When some officer humane should take him to the barn, you know your horse is freezing there yet look at ease and with no fraction of a darry. I do not see how any gent can sit around in calm seat upon a stormy day, and know his horse is standing tied out where the wind can pierce its hide and turn its blood to wherby.

IN THE TRENCHES.

They're huddled in their narrow pits, mid sleet and ice and snow; and now and then a bullet his and lays a soldier low. Numb'd by the north wind's icy breath, and beaten by the blast, they dread such messengers of death as may be whizzing past. And thus a million useful guys are uselessly employed, such work as theirs is most unwise, of common sense devoid. What boots it if the soldiers shoot until they're tired of gore, and put a crimp in some galoot they never saw before? Ah, better far on frosty morn, to hitch a span of mules, and in the field go shucking-corn with modern hunking tools. I'd rather have a hunking porcin than a sword of lance, and rob a stranger of his leg, or wound him in the pants. I'd rather bring home from the field a load of golden ears, than pack around a silly shield, and from folks who will speak, I'd rather take a monkey wrench and fix a sulkey plow, than be a hero in a trench, a helmit on my brow. I do not jeer at soldiers brave who suffer in the field, who follow where their banners wave, and warlike weapons wield; I have no cheap insulting flugs, the blood stained soldiers for; I merely josh the tinhorn kungs who seek to turn their backs to

TALK HAPPINESS.

Talk happiness, treat of gloom, and keep your face with smiles agloom. There's so much sorrow everywhere, so much of fear and carking care, that one who would increase the woe we size up as public foe. Too many people kick and wail; I have no cheap insulting flugs, the blood stained soldiers for; I merely josh the tinhorn kungs who seek to turn their backs to

THE WAY UP.

Great men from low conditions rose, as history records; from poverty, with all its woes, they reached for high estate, and they'll arrive some day. Study law, be feeble enough, right while stretched upon his couch of straw, on many a winter night. Himself he had to educate, he could not go to school; and so he climbed to high estate, while other boys were poor. And even as we go to press, some boys are striving hard, in poverty and grim distress, to gain the world's regard. In garret dark they see, the page that points the upward way, and walk with thinker and with sage, and they'll arrive some day. Apathetic helpful, wholesome boys, appeal not to the fool; where one this speaks, a thousand boys are

FIELDMEN:

M. H. Cruise, Journal-Stockman; H. G. McMillan, Farmer and Breeder

busy playing pool. I've read ten thousand sprightly tales of boys who rose to fame. From whacking mules or spitting nails, or kindred hum-ble rags. The halls of congress all will praise a score or more of men who in the days of long ago hoed corn to earn a yen. And every-where the great and good from the cows and saved the wood, and coiled the garden hose. I've never heard, though, of a wight (except lions) who reached the height through skill at playing pool.

MISFIT OPTIMISM.

The sun was hid day after day; the lowering clouds were dark and gray, the world was full of gloom; the people seemed depressed and sad and looked as though they'd give a lead to "slumber in the tomb." "Here's where," I said, "my cheycurd will heal the hearts that ache and bleed and make the people gay," and so I blithely stopped my friends, and said "Don't mind the sky that heads above us grim and gray. Dost recollect the poet's lines? 'Behind the clouds, the sun still shines' or words to that effect; remember that when up you glance, and remember that and sing and dance—don't let your joy be wrecked!" My friends replied, "Come off you perch; a weary guy would need to

THE WATER WAGON.

Once again the water wagon creaks along the dusty streets; passengers who have no joy on occupy the upper seats. Run eschewed, but not forgotten, reaches for its victims still, as expectorating cotton they ride slowly up the hill. "Leave that fierce old jolting wagon," murmurs Boozie in siren tones; "come and hit a foaming flagon, 'twill refresh your flesh and bones." Here and there a spineless rider leaves his seat to get a pint of crimson or added sedit-or a smut of crimson ink. But the tourists on the wagon who sit tight are lucky boys; they escape the slimy dragon and drive to wholesome joys. "Oh, the joys of my early sages are the sweetest and the worst; therein every breast thrives such a horizontal thirst! But the thirst that meets resistance quits its victims soon or late, while the wagon, in the distance, hits a swift and merry gait. Then at last the wagon reaches good old healthy Hydrant Town, and the tourists, fresh as peaches, from their perches clamor down, full of joy and hope and laughter, all divorced from boozie ways. To live happy ever after, drinking from the garden hose.

SOME DON'TS.

Don't take medicine for your stomach ailments morning, noon, and night, as usually such medicines only give temporary relief and simply digest the food that happens to be in the stomach.
Don't permit a surgical operation. There is always serious danger in operations and in many cases of stomach ills—no intestinal ailments, the knife can be avoided if the right remedy is taken in time.
Don't go around with a foul-smelling breath caused by a disordered stomach and liver, to the discomfort of those you come in contact with.
If you are a stomach sufferer, don't think you cannot be helped; probably worse cases than yours have been permanently restored by May's Wonderful Remedy.
Most stomach ailments are mainly caused by a catarrhal condition.

May's wonderful Remedy not only removes the catarrhal mucus, but allays the chronic inflammation and assists in revivifying the entire alimentary and intestinal tract anti-septic, and this is the secret of its marvelous success.
Don't suffer constant pain and agony, and allow your stomach ailments to physically undermine your health. No matter how severe your case may be or how long you have suffered, the use of May's Wonderful Remedy should convince you that you can be restored to health.
May's Wonderful Remedy has been taken and is highly recommended by members of congress, justice of the supreme court, educators, lawyers, merchants, bankers, doctors, druggists, nurses, manufacturers, priests, ministers, farmers, and people in all walks of life.
Send for free valuable booklet on Stomach ailments to George H. May, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill.
May's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded with-out question or quibble if one bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.
—In the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska.
In the matter of the application of Ferdinand L. Wollschlaeger, administrator of the estate of Caroline Wollschlaeger, deceased, for license to sell real estate.
On this 20th day of January, 1915, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition under oath of Ferdinand L. Wollschlaeger, administrator of the estate of Caroline Wollschlaeger, deceased, praying for license to sell the following described real estate of the said Caroline Wollschlaeger, deceased, to-wit: The north half of section nineteen (N. 1/2 Sec. 19) township nineteen (Twp. 19) north of range two (R. 2) east of the 6th P. M., and also the south-east corner of section twenty (S. E. 1/4 Sec. 20) and the south half of the southeast quarter of section eighteen (S. 1/2 S. E. 1/4 Sec. 18), township twenty-five (Twp. 25) north of range two (R. 2) east of the 6th P. M., held under contract of purchase executed by Caroline Wollschlaeger as purchased and Minnie B. Hamilton as vendor, and to sell all right, title, and interest in and to said contract belonging to the estate of the said Caroline Wollschlaeger, which said contract is recorded in book seven (7) at page 233 of the Miscellaneous Records in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska. To sell all the above described real estate and interest therein for the purpose of paying the debts of said real estate, and the costs of administration, and for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Ferdinand L. Wollschlaeger, administrator, belonging to said estate to pay its expenses and costs. It is, therefore, ordered that all persons interested in said estate, and in said real estate, appear in open court in the City of Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, on the 15th day of February, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why license should not be granted to said Ferdinand L. Wollschlaeger, administrator, to sell so much of said real estate as was not the homestead of decedent, and the interest of said estate therein, as to so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said debts, expenses, and costs. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate and in said real estate, by causing the same to be published once each week for four (4) successive weeks prior to the date of said hearing, in the Wayne Herald, a newspaper printed and published in said Wayne county, Nebraska.

ANSON A. WELCH.
Judge of the District Court.
J14

ORDER OF HEARING ON PRO- RATE OF FOREIGN WILL.
The State of Nebraska, Wayne county.
At a county court held at the county court room, in and for said county January 14, 1915.
Present, James Britton, County judge.
In the matter of the estate of Theodore Doehndorf, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Clara Sprague praying that the instrument purporting to be a duly authenticated copy of the last Will and Testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof by the district court of the county of O'Brien, state of Iowa, and this day filed in this court, may be allowed, filed, probated and recorded as the last Will and Testament of said deceased, and that the same be admitted to probate in this court.
Ordered that February 8, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., be assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a county court to be held in and for said county, and show cause why the prayer of petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter, by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to the said day of hearing.
JAMES BRITTON,
County Judge.

Dangers of a Cold.
Do you know that far the most ailments, colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the colds themselves that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that they so often lead to. For that reason, every cold should be gotten rid of with the least possible delay. To accomplish this, you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy of great help to you. It loosens a cold, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration and enables the system to throw off the cold. For sale by all dealers.—Ad.

Most disgusting skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters as a cleansing blood tonic, is well recommended. $1 at all drug stores.—Ad.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.
An unprejudiced opinion is your opinion, of course.
"The glad New Year will soon be here, and men will be resolving; no more households shall send their beds high diving and revolving. They'll turn a leaf and cancel grief by climbing on the wagon, while there 's to shun the festive bun, the schooner and the tigon. It is a cruise which many choose when years are young and flicker, and so man cares to pay for shares which stiffen and pickle. But later on in years—because they often took a tumble, and fell from grace and hit the place—by no means meek and humble. In years to come, one forey soule will cut the same old capers; and ask the scribe when they imblibe, to shield them from the papers. Sell those who fry to go it dry should not meet jeer and jolly; to try and fail may make them wail; but not to try were folly." Rufus Hokin.

From Ponca Journal, January 18, 1883:

On Sunday, W. J. Clark proposed to go and fish in the creek through a hole in the ice. Mr. P. E. Rush of this place, learning of this project, told Mr. Clark that he would not catch any fish at all, and to back up what he said, offered to pay ten cents per pound for all fish by him captured.

Then Mr. Clark went and fished all day, catching great numbers. In size, they ranged from one inch to four inches long, and weighed from one-half ounce to eight ounces each. In the aggregate, the fish weighed thirty pounds.

Whereupon he went to Mr. Rush, who had offered ten cents per pound and delivering to him the great multitude of little minnows, duly demanded $3, which same, having been compromised at $2.40, was promptly paid, and thus Mr. Clark gained $2.40, and Mr. Rush went home and scolded his fish.

During Monday forenoon, the devil having entered into two black horses belonging to Mr. Wilbur, caused them to run away. They were hitched to a sleigh when they started on their career, and they seemed to want to get rid not only of the sleigh, but the harness also. They closed their eyes and ran, and without the slightest regard for town stragglers ran over sidewalks, bumping against posts, and sweeping the streets like a beam of destruction. Thus they coursed East street and Third street, the sleigh flopping and floundering along behind them. In front of the store of Stough & Mikessell was an iron pump. The steeds slammed themselves against the pump and broke it off, then they jumped over the sidewalk, leaving a portion of the sleigh in the operation. The balance of the sleigh they deposited against the sign post of the Valley House. When caught they had by their energy and ability also shucked off their harness which they had distributed in infinitesimal particles along the public thoroughfares.

Automobile experts have refused to believe that anyone could produce a full-grown five-passenger, really beautifully equipped car—a car with real high-tension magneto—a car with sliding gear transmission—left-hand drive center control; a car with practically every high-priced car feature for less than $1,000.

Here it is! Here is a real automobile. Here is the easiest car to drive in the world—here is the greatest all-around hill climbing car in the world. Here is an automobile to be really proud of.

The Acoustigrande
Made by Chickering Brothers, Chicago
This Dream Actually Came True
But it required years of earnest research and tireless effort to accomplish it.
Do Not Doubt—Come In and Be Convinced
A Perfect Grand Piano in Upright Form
WE were exceptionally fortunate in securing the agency for this musical marvel. It is really the most sensational achievement of our day in the development of the piano.
We invite every lover of music in the city to come in and learn about it. Don't be a back number—keep informed of what is doing in the most interesting and inspiring profession in the world.
We'd tell you all about it here, but lack of space forbids. Set an hour aside now for a visit to our store.
